"Hmm, why would you do something like this? The 'Demon King of Salvation' will definitely be fine if you call him."

Nihterida, realizing that the situation was unfavorable, looked at him then quickly turned back and began to run away.

[The exclusive skill 'Red Pheonix Shinpo Lv.10' is activated!]

Yoo Joonghyuk's thigh muscles wriggled like an animal once again. His footsteps pushed into the ground deeply with a loud noise. Yoo Joonghyuk concentrated his magic power by spinning it around in the air. [Breaking the Sky technique], which extended toward the sky with its centrifugal force.

[The exclusive skill 'Flashlight Lv.8' is activated!]

The magic power gathered turned into holy light and created a large hole in Nihterida's upper body.

['Redemption of Truth' ends.]

As soon as his magic power was exhausted, Yoo Joonghyuk took out the 'Advanced Magic Power Recovery Potion' from his arms and drank it.

The liquid that fell seeped into his entire body.

Yoo Joonghyuk lightly wiped his mouth with a somewhat tired expression then immediately looked at the equipment items dropped by the demon species.

'Ancient demon's necklace.'

'Half armor of great strength.'

'Ammu Belt.'

All three were not bad pieces of equipment.

The 'half armor of great strength', which increased strength, was suitable for Lee Hyunsung, whose main focus is hand-to-hand combat, and the 'ammu belt' was suitable for Yoo Joonghyuk himself to wear.

'I guess I can give this to him.'

The 'Ancient Demon's Necklace', which increases stun resistance, was for the guy who fainted frequently.

It's useless in its current state, so filling it in would be of some help.

Anna asked in bewilderment as she saw Yoo Joonghyuk standing up after finishing maintenance in an instant.

"What on earth did you do?"

"There is no part for you. You didn’t help in the battle."

"That’s not what I’m talking about."

In fact, Yoo Joonghyuk knew what had surprised Anna Croft.

He was incredible. The level of prowess he had just shown was incomparable to any incarnation of the same scenario.

"Did you really make a 'story imprint'? Have you forgotten what the villains who used it said?"

Yoo Joonghyuk also knew the fate of those 'villains'. Some of them had their existence sealed because they could not find a way to get rid of it.

"It’s about borrowing and writing a fictional 'story'. Its power will eat away at your soul and memories."

"It’s none of your business."

"What have you lost in return?"

Yoo Joonghyuk did not answer, but Anna Croft knew what he had lost.

「"Prophet. There is a necessary memory. Use [Future Sight]."」

To a Regressor, 'memory' is everything to existence.

"Why did you do that... Sealed memories don’t come back! Now you’ve lost them forever. Do you even know what that means?"

The disappeared worlds exist only through his memories, and he also maintains his identity by not forgetting those memories.

Yoo Joonghyuk gave his memories in return.

"You will end up becoming someone else. You will not even know who you are."

"You talk like you know who you are."

As if any further conversation was meaningless, Yoo Joonghyuk began to walk away again. There were traces of the demons' blood in each of his footprints.

Anna Croft stared blankly at the footprints he left behind.

If he fails, what meaning will these footprints have?

If there ever comes a moment when even she gives up reading her past with [Future Sight], then who will remember that long record of failures of that Regressor?

Should she make it difficult?

"Wait a minute. Wait, King!"

Anna Croft, who belatedly woke up from her thoughts, quickly followed Yoo Joonghyuk.

However, before he could walk even a short distance, Yoo Joonghyuk suddenly stopped walking. She didn't need to ask what was going on. This is because he saw someone walking out from inside the Capitol.

A formidable magical energy that made his whole body tremble.

"Run, Prophet."

For the first time, Yoo Joonghyuk's expression hardened.

"It’s a 'Marquis' level demon."

---

That's where Anna Croft's story ended.

"Wait a minute. So what happened?"

Wasn't some important information missing?

What happened to Yoo Joonghyuk, who fought a marquis-level demon?

If something like that happens, how can you be sure that your companions will be safe?

So who is the 'Demon King of Salvation' over there?

In the end, I couldn't bear it anymore and insisted.

"Could it be that you threw Yoo Joonghyuk there and ran away alone?"

"Before we continue, there’s something I need to ask you."

I already knew what Anna Croft would 'ask'.

In the first place, she started this story to earn time.

The incarnations surrounding the outside of the living room from earlier were proof of this.

Of course, no matter how many incarnations surrounded this place, it wasn't a big threat to me. That is, as long as the combat power of the incarnations is within the realm of probability.

"We have 'tactical nuclear weapons'."

"So?"

Tactical nuclear weapon. It seemed like they had managed to secure modern weapons from the generation before the scenario.

"You're not planning on flying that thing at the Washington Dome, are you? You know there's no point in doing something like that."

A nuclear weapon with that level of destructive power cannot be activated due to the scenario structure.

Perhaps the moment the launch button is pressed against the Washington Dome, the nuclear weapon will stop operating due to the probability aftereffects.

But now, instead of launching a tactical nuclear weapon at the Washington Dome, she brought that weapon to me.

"I heard from Christina that you are a 'family member' of the Demon King."

Perhaps Anna Croft had made up her mind. If necessary, she will use that 'nuclear weapon' here.

"Is the name of the Demon King you serve 'Demon King of Salvation'?"

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

700 Episode 25 Demon King (3)

---

I calmly examined Anna Croft's face. A lot of information could be obtained just by looking at her complexion.

Eyes that have lost some layer. Eye shadow that extends deep to the bottom of the eyes.

She probably hasn't been able to sleep well at night ever since the Washington incident began.

That's why she made this rash judgment now.

"What if I really am a subordinate of the 'Demon King of Salvation'?"

Anna Croft just paused in response to my question and gave no answer.

"Are you going to detonate a nuclear weapon right now? Are you willing to blow up the entire city of Las Vegas just to eliminate one member of demon family?"

"It was me who asked the question."

“Are you going to believe me if I tell you? Don’t you know that [Lie Detection] doesn’t work on me?"

"That’s your argument."

"Do you want to try it out?"

Anna Croft bit her lip instead of answering.

"Anna, you cannot detonate a nuclear weapon. You are the one who wants to protect 'Zarathustra'."

I doubt that the tactical nuke in question will work properly, but Anna Croft probably has no intention of using it in the first place.

If she does that, 'Zarathustra', whom she protects, will also disappear.

"Cheon Inho, what do you know about me—"

"Well, tell me. How full of a sense of duty you are, and why you want to erase all diseases from this world. So, what kind of 'end' do you dream of every day?"

「"Please. You too, come with me to my 'end'."」

I remember what Kim Dokja once heard.

Eventually 'Anna Croft' will arrive at her own 'end'. It might be a brighter end than she thought, and it might not be out of this world either.

"How on earth did you—"

"I know quite a bit about you like this, don’t I?"

Anna Croft's countenance grew serious as the one dominating the conversation changed.

"Anna Croft. It doesn’t matter what my relationship with the 'Demon King of Salvation' is. What matters is that you are desperate right now, and I am the only one left to fight. If you leave it like this anyway, the American continent will be destroyed. Do you want to end this round as a failure?"

Anna Croft looked as if she had been bombed repeatedly. Normally she wouldn't have lost her composure after an attack like this.

But now she was very tired.

"What do you want, Cheon Inho?"

"It looks like we can communicate a little better now."

There were many things I was curious about.

What I wanted to ask most was the fate of Yoo Joonghyuk and his colleagues.

But that question was not appropriate here.

Anna even assured me that they were alive and I had problems to solve first before I could ask that question.

I organized my thoughts in my head.

Kim Dokja is not here right now.

However, if it were 'Kim Dokja', this is definitely how he would have started the conversation.

"Then let’s get straight to the point. Please stop. I know what you’re hiding."

"What do you mean suddenly?"

"No matter how difficult the scenario becomes, it makes no sense for you to be this incompetent."

I remember all of Han Sooyoung's description of 'Anna Croft'.

Although Anna got in trouble every time she ran into Kim Dokja, she only did it because it was Kim Dokja.

She is the embodiment of America's strongest, which even the Regressor Yoo Joonghyuk was wary of. Fulfilling her own prophecy, she eventually deceived even the Nebula and dreamed of a 'perfect end'.

There is no way for a character like that to struggle like this in only the seventh scenario.

"If you don’t want to come out, I’ll make you come out."

That is, unless there is a very deadly interference.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.10' is activated!]

"Anna Croft. You are currently under [Hypnotic Incite]."

With those words, Anna Croft's pupils shook.

"From now on, you will wake up from [Hypnotic Incite]—"

"No, wait! Wait!"

Anna Croft fell back in her chair with a loud thump of someone hitting her head.

Then, the air shook and a woman appeared from within a transparent cloak. 'Hermit's Cloak'. It was a face I knew well.

"How did you know?"

After possessing a character in this world, a bad habit arose in me.

When a new person appears, use [Reader Comment List] first.

[Check the reader's profile information.]

| |
|---|
| ID: FantasyQueen90Platform: Best NobleTotal number of comments: 80Reader Level: 5Number of completed readings: 1 time |
| *You can use coins to check the comments left by the reader.*Currently, the number of comments that can be checked for free is 3. |

When I got into the car heading to Las Vegas, I had already used the 'reader comment list' with Christina, so I knew.

That she is America's 'apostle'.

I slowly looked at the window that appeared before my eyes.

'Best Noble' is an unfamiliar name, so it seems to be an American platform.

Number of complete reads: 1 time.

"It’s strange not knowing. You made Anna Croft look like that. No Anna I know has that much poor judgment."

"..."

"If you brought me here, there must be a purpose. What is the reason?"

Christina Page.

She brought me here even after confirming the indirect message of the 'Demon King of Salvation' in Korea.

It was impossible to think that the Demon King of the Washington Dome was the real 'Demon King of Salvation'.

It would be no different from bringing the enemy's subordinate into her own base.

Still, she did it.

The answer is obvious.

"What is your relationship with the 'Demon King of Salvation'?"

She knows that the 'Demon King of Salvation' in the Washington Dome is a fake.

"Please answer me. Is the 'Constellation' you serve really the 'Demon King of Salvation'?"

Not a 'Demon King' but a 'Constellation'.

I met her eyes again.

The moment I saw her deeply sparkling eyes, I realized what she was expecting.

I slowly got up from my seat, walked over to the window, and opened the curtain that Anna had closed.

The darkness descended faintly. Stars were twinkling in the distant night sky.

I quietly looked up at a star shining there.

"Then what are you going to do?"

How long has it been since then?

Slowly I turned my head and saw Christina on her knees.

"Please."

A broken expression, letting go of everything that had been held in for so long.

"Washington again... Please save our Zarathustra."

---

I installed several safety devices, including [Sound Wave Blocking], to prevent other Constellations from hearing the story.

[Some Constellations are suddenly complaining that they can't see you.]

Fortunately, Anna was also very strict with security, so the Constellations didn't seem to hear our story at all.

"First, let’s release the [Daily Invoice] you placed and then talk about it."

Christina wiped away her tears and canceled [Daily Invoice].

[Your soul returns to its original body.]

The senses of my body were regained for the first time in a while.

Right. This was what it felt like to be alive.

After taking a deep breath, I sat down on the sofa and asked Christina.

"What on earth happened in America?"

Calming down a little, Christina placed the fallen Anna Croft on her lap and began to talk slowly.

After hearing the story, I finished my judgment while controlling my emotions as much as possible.

"To conclude, are you saying that the Demon King who appeared in 'Washington Dome' is not the 'Demon King of Salvation'?"

"Yes."

"What about the symbol of the 'Demon King of Salvation' that you saw?"

"It is true that I saw the symbol of a high-ranking demon species. But he is not a real 'Demon King'. I knew it right away the moment I saw him in person."

I guessed that might be the case.

No matter how much she met the Demon King through the [Nightmare] skill, Christina was still too fine to say she had faced a real Demon King.

If they weren't Yoo Joonghyuk or Kim Dokja, it would be natural for an ordinary incarnation to go crazy.

"Then why does Anna think that Demon King is the 'Demon King of Salvation'?"

"Because I said so."

"Why did you lie like that?"

"That..."

"And according to Anna's story, the people in the Washington Dome also mentioned the 'Demon King of Salvation'."

Christina bit her chapped lip. She rolled her eyes back and forth as if she was looking at me, and it seemed like she had decided that there was no answer other than to be honest.

She said, "I need a little explanation to tell that story."

"Say it as briefly as possible."

"I didn't intend for things to turn out like this from the beginning. I had no intention of ruining the scenario this much."

Christina protested.

Hearing her speak, it seemed to me that Christina had not made the situation worse through malice.

And it was the same for other American apostles.

「"In times like this, you have to catch bugs. Everyone, look for bugs."」

「"Protect your children first. If we fight together, we can kill even the monster species!"」

「"We must not fight each other! We must all solve the scenario together!"」

The initial situation in the United States was not that different from Korea.

The problem started right after the first scenario ended.

「"Now… what should I do next?"」

American readers had little advantage from the start.

There was no guarantee that the American scenario would be the same as the Korean one, and even if it were the same, it would have been difficult to take advantage of the geographical advantage.

Even communication between the apostles was not smooth due to translation issues.

In such a situation, there was only one way the apostles chose to survive.

「"We must find Anna Croft."」

They eventually found Anna Croft and rallied around her.

After they met the main character, Anna, they thought maybe they could survive.

That was until they found out the identity of this world.

「"Oh my god, I don't think 'Kim Dokja' is here."」

The point is that this world is not 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

This world is the 41st round of 'Ways of Survival'.

It was a world where 'Kim Dokja' could never exist.

The apostles were overcome with great despair. Some began to believe in the apocalypse, while others let go of the scenario or ended their lives, saying they were destined to die anyway.

In the meantime, Christina and a few apostles fought steadfastly to help Anna Croft.

They cleared the second, third, and fourth scenarios with amazing results.

And they got some items as a reward.

"Disaster option."

They were given the opportunity to choose the 'disaster' that would come to them in the fifth scenario.

Normally, it would have been better to choose 'Kronos' there.

Because the disaster of Kronos was a disaster they were familiar with.

But then someone had an idea.

Couldn’t the 'disaster' here summon someone they know?

"Wait a minute, no way."

Just as Disaster of Floods Shin Yoosung did, some 'disasters' come from beyond this world line.

Then.

Christina lowered her head as if she had been shamed.

"Yes. We asked to summon the 'Demon King of Salvation' as the 'Disaster'."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

701 Episode 25 Demon King (4)

Christina pursed her lips and continued speaking.

"I had to make decisions quickly," she said. "Too many people died before we even got to the fifth scenario."

How did she manage to get to the fifth scenario?

However, the apostles who knew the ending of this story knew that if the scenarios continued like this, everything would go wrong.

The ultimate resolution of the scenarios were impossible in this world line where Kim Dokja does not exist.

No matter how well they clear the previous scenarios, they will end up frustrated in front of the 'Final Wall'.

So they decided to take a risk in the fifth scenario.

Summoning the 'Demon King of Salvation' with the 'Disaster Summoning Rights'.

Even if it was called crazy, it was a choice that I had nothing to say about.

"What were you going to do if you failed?"

"That..."

"Besides, even if you succeed, it’s still a problem."

If the 'Demon King of Salvation' had been summoned as a disaster, something truly absurd could have happened.

Nevertheless, I could not find fault with the readers’ heart for looking for Kim Dokja at the most desperate moment.

Maybe it's because I too had a similar experience like them.

「"I will sign a contract behind the scenes."」

Just like searching for God, anyone who knows Kim Dokja's name has no choice but to find him.

This is probably the same for all readers who came to this world.

I asked, looking down at Anna Croft, who was sleeping soundly on Christina's lap.

"She was [hypnotized], so Anna doesn’t know the details of the situation."

"Yes..."

Anna Croft is the most cautious character in 'Ways of Survival'.

There is no way she would suddenly agree to summoning a being that she has never heard of or seen, the 'Demon King of Salvation', as a disaster.

In the end, Christina and the apostles hypnotized Anna and they secretly summoned the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

In return, the 'Washington Dome' became a demon realm.

"At first, we were planning to do whatever we could to stop it. We gathered all the apostles in America and headed to the Washington Dome. That happened a few weeks ago."

It would not have been possible to honestly say that Washington was destroyed because of their choices.

To make up for their mistakes, the apostles attempted to attack the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

"You failed."

"…Yes."

"Is that why you brought me here?"

"I'm ashamed."

Christina must have thought the moment she confirmed my sponsor.

The 'Demon King of Salvation' they were looking for was already in this world line, and maybe that's why their 'summoning' failed.

"Is there really a 'Demon King of Salvation' in this world? Is there a 'Kim Dokja' we know?"

Is there a 'Kim Dokja' they know in this world?

I thought for a moment and answered like this.

"There is a friend who is much more real than the 'Demon King of Salvation' over there. What on earth is the 'Demon King of Salvation' over there?"

"I don't know. What's certain is that he wasn't the 'Demon King of Salvation' that we know. And…"

"And?"

"The Demon King continued to grow stronger every time the apostles visited."

Did he continue to get stronger every time the apostles visited him?

There was a theory that came to mind, but I wasn't sure yet.

But I have one person who can confirm all these hypotheses.

'Kim-ssi.'

This guy said he was going to exchange coins, but where on earth did he go?

At that moment, with a chirping sound, 'Midday Tryst' was reconnected.

'No, where did you go and why are you coming back only now?'

—Youngest, I’m in big trouble.

'A big problem happened here too.'

I was trying to explain what incredible things have happened while he was away.

However,

—I think my modifier was stolen.

It seemed like something really big had happened over there too.

---

Everything in the <Star Stream> is a 'story', that is, a 'tale'.

However, since the concept of 'tale' seemed so abstract, 'currency', a practical processing of it, appeared.

This is the story of the 'coin' we know.

—Constellations spend coins just by breathing.

'Do Constellations need to breathe?'

—It means that coins are consumed just by existing.

'I know, but I didn't know that it costs money to maintain a modifier.'

Since Kim Dokja never mentioned it once, I never thought about it either.

I never thought it would cost coins just by using a modifier. Is that why the Constellations have always been keen on earning coins?

'But are you saying that your Constellation modifier has been taken away?'

—Not the Constellation modifier.

'what do you mean then?'

—I also have a Demon King modifier.

According to Kim Dokja's claim, Constellations that suddenly came from other 'world lines' like Kim Dokja had to pay additional fees to use the <Star Stream> system.

However, Kim Dokja was both a 'Constellation' and a Demon King, so the cost of maintaining the modifier was doubled.

'How did you maintain the Constellation modifier, but you couldn’t pay the cost of maintaining the Demon King modifier?'

I wondered why this person was so obsessed with 'coins'…

—I was thinking of exchanging some of the story fragments and monster parts I got this time and buying the modifier again... but the Management Bureau had already sold off my Demon King modifier.

Suddenly I felt like I knew how things were going.

I briefly explained to Kim Dokja about the events that occurred in the United States.

When he heard the story about the apostles of the American continent and the 'right to summon disaster', Kim Dokja let out a sigh.

—Oh, that was the spam message from the Management Bureau. They said it was a disaster blah blah blah.

It looks like he didn't even read the Management Bureau's message.

'Then the Demon King of Salvation who is currently in Washington...'

—It’s probably the new 'Demon King of Salvation' that the Management Bureau has found.

'This is the guy who bought the Demon King's nickname.'

In other words, the 'Demon King of Salvation' currently in Washington is a counterfeit, 'Demon King of Salvation' in name only.

'Is he also a 'Demon King'?'

—It won’t be at the level of a Demon King. Because they have a lot of pride, they don't steal and use other people's modifiers. He's probably a demon trying to use this opportunity to ascend to the throne of the Demon King.

No matter what the guy's identity was, for now I had no choice but to head to Washington.

I had Christina wake Anna up and explain what was needed. Anna Croft looked very embarrassed, but she quickly calmly accepted the situation.

"I'm angry, but I can't help it. I'll take strict action for this later, Christina."

"I'm sorry, Anna."

"Please swear an [Oath of Existence]. You will never [Hypnotize] me again."

"I swear."

Anna did not press Christina any further. Maybe it's because she knows that persecuting her now won't solve her situation.

Anna had her artisans bring the completed '4th grade Earth Dragon' equipment.

"You've caused trouble. Cheon Inho, let's leave right away."

After completing preparations, we immediately opened the portal to the 'Washington Dome'.

As the situation got to this point, I too became confused.

Are my companions still safe?

What happened to Yoo Joonghyuk, who met a marquis-level demon species?

How strong is the 'Demon King of Salvation' in the Washington Dome?

The moment I sort out my complicated thoughts and stepped into the portal.

[Someone has killed the ruler of 'Washington East'.]

A message was heard.

---

The 'demon' had no name.

[You are a 7th grade demon species 'Dark Sentinel'.]

He, like most other demon species, existed only as a part of a scenario designed by Dokkaebis. Killing the incarnations that come to the 'Treasure Storehouse of the Earth

River Lord' and offering their souls to the Demon Kings.

The demon had no complaints about it. Just as gopher rats never question their breathing, breathing black ether, and collecting treasures, he also never once questioned his work.

The whole incident started with him killing some humans who were hiding in his 'treasure warehouse'.

「"It is the Keeper of Darkness!"」

「"It’s true. It’s just like the novel."」

He dealt with the incarnations as usual. Attack using tentacles.

But surprisingly, the duo skillfully repelled his attack.

「"Through! Kim Dokja's method works! Push on!"」

「"If you attack the left ankle, the upper right tentacle moves!"」

Not only did humans know his attack patterns, but they also used weapons with 'divine attributes' to which he was vulnerable.

He screamed every time his tentacles were cut.

「"It’s over! Finish it!"」

Looking back, if he had been an ordinary 'dark sentinel', he certainly would not have been able to withstand the attacks of that duo.

But the duo was unlucky.

The period of time he lived as a 'Dark Sentinel' was a little longer than other 'Dark Sentinels', and because of that, he was able to display a little more wisdom in battle than other entities.

When he pretended to be weak and stumbled, the humans attacked him with great force. He did not miss the gaps between the humans and radiated pitch-black darkness.

「"What? This is a pattern that didn’t exist before!"」

「"Novels didn’t originally show detailed patterns! Damn it, run away!"」

One of the duo was missed, but the other was caught in the tentacles and could not escape.

「"Save me! Please save me!"」

An obvious appeal that he had always heard.

The demon, not interested in human tears, lightly pierced the human's heart with its tentacle. The man who was crying and bleeding out died.

「It’s boring.」

The moment that thought occurred to him, he was surprised at himself.

「What is 'boredom'?」

It's a feeling he's never had before.

He suddenly lowered his head and looked down at the tip of his tentacle. There was a small doll statue that gave off a faint light.

An item he had never seen before while living as a demon.

As if he was possessed, he moved his tentacles and grabbed the doll, and countless emotions that he had never felt before came flooding back to him.

A very precious, sad, and nostalgic feeling. What followed was a very strong appetite.

He could not overcome his desire and eventually swallowed the doll.

"What is 'I'?"

That's how the demon recognized his existence for the first time.

"I am the 'keeper of darkness'."

No.

That is not an accurate expression.

"I am an 'extra'."

Even though he didn't really understand what 'extra' was, he felt the nuance of the word.

He wanted to know. What is this feeling?

[You have evolved into a 5th grade demon species, 'Dark Seeker'.]

He participated in the scenario and started hunting. He learned to fight from the humans who came to hunt him. He no longer fought like a 'Dark Sentinel'.

He used weapons and wore equipment possessed by humans.

「"Oh my god! It's a 5th grade demon!"」

「"There is no proper information about the Dark Seeker—"」

「"Run! Everyone run!"」

Just like that, one, two, three... killing people again and again.

And very occasionally, he could get something from particularly strong humans.

['Kim Dokja's Fragment' has been acquired.]

He didn't understand the meaning of the message, but he understood at least one thing.

The more of these 'fragments' he acquires, the stronger he becomes.

He began hunting humans at an increasingly faster rate. He became familiar with the habits of humans and learned their mannerisms.

He set traps targeting humans looking for hidden items, and even deliberately disguised himself as a weak monster species.

How many fragments could he have eaten that way?

When he came to his senses, he had already become a demon noble.

[You have evolved into a 'Demon Noble'.]

And that 'being' came to visit him.

[Wow, this is my first time seeing a devil like you.]

A group called 'Management Bureau' by the public.

[Don't you want to have a 'name'?]

The Dokkaebi from the Management Bureau asked and he nodded.

[If you give me all your Coins, I will give you a 'name'.]

He willingly paid with the coins he had collected after killing the incarnations.

[From now on, you are the 'Demon King of Salvation'.]

That's how he became the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

When he actually heard it, he felt like it was a name that suited him very well. The stories boiling inside him were saying so.

「Collect the fragments.」

「Become the one and only 'Kim Dokja'.」

There was a feeling of elation welling up from deep within his soul.

He will become the 'Demon King' of this world. He will break away from being an 'extra' and become a ‘being’ who longs for the real ■ ■ .

However, as if laughing at his efforts,

"You’ve just ascended to the rank of marquis."

The real hero of this story came to visit him.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

702 Episode 25 Demon King (5)

---

[Someone has killed the ruler of 'Washington Dome'.]

At first I couldn't understand the message.

"What happened?"

"Maybe... the King did it."

To put it simply, the situation was clear.

Yoo Joonghyuk defeated the 'Ruler of the Washington Dome'.

Otherwise, such a message would not have occurred to me.

We went straight into the 'Washington Dome' to confirm the facts.

A gray stream stained by the invasion of the Demon Realm.

Demon species and human corpses were scattered all over the streets.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

I shouted, but there was no answer. We quickly started running towards the Capitol.

Through the flowing scenery, I could guess what kind of fight my colleagues who came here first must have gone through.

"Dansu ahjussi! Sein-ssi!"

I kept calling people's names.

Dansu ahjussi, Kyung Sein, Killer King, Cha Yerin, Ye Hyunwoo.

Yoo Joonghyuk's colleagues Lee Hyunsung, Lee Jihye, and Kim Namwoon. And...

"Yoosoung-ssi!"

Even though I shouted at the top of my lungs, there was no answer.

Washington was locked in a strangely deep silence. No sign of 'living things' could be detected anywhere.

"Anna Croft."

I glared at Anna.

Obviously she said that my colleagues were safe.

In fact she still maintained that opinion.

"The Korean group is safe."

"How can you guarantee that if you can’t even use [Future Sight]?"

"When Yoo Joonghyuk declared a head-on confrontation with the Marquis-class, all 'Korean members' except him moved to the 'next scenario'."

Next scenario?

"The Washington Dome scenario is the final part of the 'seventh scenario', but it is a kind of 'selection scenario'."

Anna Croft looked up at the sky over Washington as she said those words.

There was a swirling vortex in the sky, showing a faint light.

A half-broken rope ladder was seen swinging down the vortex.

['Star Ladder' has been created.]

[Incarnations that meet certain conditions can use the ladder.]

A certain fact came to mind belatedly.

Here on the American continent, the 'seventh scenario' and the 'eighth scenario' were currently underway together.

"As you probably know, incarnations who have hunted enough monsters can move on to the next scenario without having to clear this scenario."

In short, that ladder was the door leading to the 'eight scenario'.

"There is no way the other party members would have left Yoo Joonghyuk alone."

"It was the King's last command. He threatened to kill everyone if they didn't move on to the next scenario right away, so his companions had no choice but to listen."

If there had been a threat from Yoo Joonghyuk, it wouldn't have been surprising if the group had left first.

But why did Yoo Joonghyuk give such an 'order'?

—Did this kid try to monopolize the items by himself again?

'Is that really the reason?'

—How do you know if you haven't even read Ways of Survival?

'Even without reading Ways of Survival, I know that much.'

While bickering with Kim Dokja, an additional message came to mind.

[You have completed the mission to subdue a 4th grade monster species.]

['Star Ladder' responds to you.]

[Would you like to use 'Star Ladder'?]

[You can enter the 'Eighth Scenario' area when using the ladder.]

Is it because the subjugation of the 4th grade species was completed in Korea? I also qualified to move to the eighth scenario.

By the way, that 'Star Ladder' is a device that I have never seen in the main story.

'Wasn't the original eighth scenario 'Dark Castle'?'

—Hmm...

Deep down, I thought it was a good thing. That's because 'Dark Castle' is one of the scenarios that boasts the worst difficulty level in all of Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

It is the place where the 'Demon King of Salvation' was born, and a scenario where someone must 'sacrifice' themselves.

It was better to avoid it at all costs if possible.

However, our 'Ways of Survival expert' seemed to have a different opinion.

—If possible, don't use that ladder.

'Why?'

—If you are lucky, it may be a more comfortable scenario than 'Dark Castle', but if you are unlucky... you may end up in a place worse than 'Dark Castle'.

'They say my colleagues have already passed.'

—I hope those friends are lucky.

I was about to ask how someone could say such an irresponsible thing, but with a light spark, the connection to 'Midday Tryst' was temporarily disconnected.

If you look closely, it seems like this person does this on purpose whenever he is in trouble.

"Anyway, I guess the situation isn't that bad."

Anna Croft, whose expression became brighter, looked around and said.

"If it is true that the King defeated the Demon King, it is safe to say that the scenario has already ended. Excluding the core ruler of the dome, all that remains are henchmen."

As she said, the key to this situation was a 'marquis-level Demon King' in the Capitol.

However, if Yoo Joonghyuk had defeated him alone, this scenario should have been considered over.

[The seventh scenario is currently in progress.]

One ominous thing is that the scenario ending message is still not displayed.

It was clearly said that the 'ruler of the Washington Dome' had been killed.

So why hasn't the scenario ended yet?

It was then that Anna, who had been a few steps ahead, suddenly stopped.

"Cheon Inho."

A portal appeared opposite the building on the right. We were nervous and each took out our weapons and held them.

Could it be that another 'demon species' has appeared? Or not—

All right.

The light footsteps coming from beyond the portal were not human.

Next, a white horse with dazzling fur appeared, lightly touring, accompanied by a bright halo of light.

The knight on the horse lightly stroked the horse's head.

"Calm down Griffith."

Shiny silver chain mail and a red surcoat wrapped around the chain mail. At first glance, the man's bright blonde hair swaying in the wind made you guess that he came from a great family.

"Are you Anna Croft?"

Anna, who suddenly came to her senses at the knight's grave voice, asked back.

"Are you really Sir Elliot?"

"This is my first time seeing you in real life, Prophet."

The knight lightly got off his horse and approached with a gentle smile.

"As expected, you are just as beautiful as I saw in my dream."

Then he knelt down on one knee in front of Anna and held out his hand to her. It looked like he was trying to kiss her on the back of her hand.

But instead of giving the back of her hand, Anna looked down at the knight with expressionless eyes.

"Tell us the purpose of your visit, Sir Elliot."

The knight stood up with an embarrassed expression.

"It looks like the Lady is very angry. I came here to help my sister through her difficulties, but I am disappointed to receive such cold treatment."

Only then did I feel like I knew how the story was going.

—That's one of Britain's representative incarnations.

Kim Dokja, who only appears when he has something to say, appeared again this time without fail.

'Who is it?'

—Him? Elliott Haston.

'So who is that?'

—Have you ever heard of the Knights of the Round Table?

I was startled and looked at the man's clothes again. The man who looked like he was cosplaying as a knight had a pattern drawn on his coat that I had seen before somewhere.

[The Constellation 'Knight of the Lake' is proud of his incarnation.]

Knight of the Lake.

Only then did I realize who the man was.

'Could it be the incarnation of 'Lancelot'?'

—That’s right.

Lancelot, one of King Arthur's knights.

It was a famous Constellation in Korea as well.

'But wasn’t Lancelot originally born in France? He chose a British incarnation.'

—Oh, you know that too?

Of course I know. Even after all this, I am a writer.

As far as I know, Lancelot was a fictional character created in France while reinterpreting the 'Legend of King Arthur'.

—Because a French Constellation does not necessarily have a French person as its incarnation. Neither Jecheon Daeseong nor Uriel are Constellations from Korea.

'Of course, that's true.'

We checked Elliot’s condition through [Character List].

| |
|---|
| Chivalry, Advanced applied swordsmanship, Equestrianism, Position defense... |

The proficiency level of all skills was very high. All of their overall abilities are at or above Korea's 'King' level.

—Courner 'Griffith'. He even managed to save a rare species of spirit creature.

Hee hee hee, the crying horse snorted at me.

A great powerhouse with expensive equipment and means of transportation.

It would have been nice to welcome such a great force coming to help, but Anna Croft didn’t look happy.

"I asked for help three times, but there was no response."

"Haha, Prophet. Of course we wanted to help too, but..."

It seems that the UK has consistently rejected requests for support.

It is understandable that support will be difficult for any country at this point.

But the problem is this.

Why did the UK accept the request for support now?

To put it simply, it could be because there is more room in their country's scenario.

—That can’t be possible.

Regardless of country, all incarnations of the destroyed world are selfish.

Their only motivation is survival, so they are naturally reluctant to do anything that poses a threat to their survival.

Nevertheless, if they moved, it meant that there was a reason to take that risk this time.

"Who is this person?"

When Elliot's eyes turned to me, Anna answered on my behalf.

"This is Cheon Inho from Korea."

"South or North?"

"It’s south."

"Hmm."

Elliot looked at me with a strange gaze as Anna explained.

A look that seems to be evaluating the breed of horse. Then he quickly smiled and turned his head.

'Constellation-nim.'

—This is a person that will soon be beaten by Joonghyuk.

'Huh?'

One after another, portals appeared on the other side.

"Is this Washington?"

"It’s a city with nothing special about it."

Incarnations of different races.

It seems that not only the UK but also other countries participated in this scenario.

Among them were some faces I recognized.

"Sister Ren, did we come to the right place?"

"Well, according to the coordinates, this is the right place."

'Asuka Ren', the incarnation of Miyamoto Musashi, and his fellow incarnations.

These were the incarnations that cleared the scenario together with Kim Dokja in 'Peace Land' in Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

Unfortunately, the 41st round of 'Peace Land' took place while I was passed out, and I had no connection with them.

In the back portal, a large number of Chinese incarnations appeared.

I looked at the Chinese who took the lead and asked Kim Dokja.

'Is that Fei Hu?'

—No, I don't think Fei Hu came.

Fei Hu is the representative incarnation of the Chinese Nebula, <Emperor>.

His face was not visible as he was busy participating in the mainland's scenario.

—Still, it's not easy to get together like this in the beginning, but it's quite a unique scene.

Although there were no famous incarnations like China's Fei Hu or India's Ranbir Khan, the sight of incarnations from all over the world gathered together was spectacular in its own way.

"Ren-san. You're here?"

"Prophet."

Asuka Ren and Anna exchanged warm greetings, probably because they were already familiar with each other.

"Who is this person…?"

"This is Cheon Inho-ssi. He came from Korea to help us."

"Korea! Is this the King’s group?"

Asuka Ren bowed to me as if she was happy to see me.

"I am Asuka Ren."

"I am Cheon Inho."

"It’s a pleasure to meet you, Cheon Inho-san. I received a lot of help from the Korean incarnations in the last scenario. How is Killer King?"

Was 'Killer King' among the many incarnations there?

I was about to ask what Killer King had done there, when a gruff voice came from behind.

"Prophet! Where is the 'Demon King in Washington' you spoke of?"

An incarnation whose country was difficult to guess from their appearance.

At the same time, the murmurs around me disappeared all at once.

That made it clear.

They have all come to kill the 'ruler of Washington East'.

"The Demon King has already been caught."

Anna Croft's answer made the incarnations stir.

"That can’t be possible. We came here with a scenario."

Scenario?

"A sub-scenario has been sent to eliminate the disaster in Washington."

It was a word that gave me an uncomfortable feeling.

Did they receive a 'sub-scenario' instead of a main scenario?

"The disaster has already been eliminated. We have just received the message."

Even with Anna Croft's explanation, the incarnations' excitement did not seem to subside.

"That can’t be possible. There’s a scenario like this out there!"

"Do they want to monopolize compensation in the United States?"

"We don’t have time, so stop talking nonsense and give me directions quickly! Where is the Demon King?"

"I came here to help as much as I could, but the Americans don’t even know how to thank me."

What happened?

Anna Croft and I looked at each other without understanding what was going on, and then we saw Christina, who had gone exploring nearby, come back in a huff.

"Anna. Something’s wrong. The invasion zone hasn’t been lifted yet."

When the hunt for 'Disaster' ends, the planetary invasion automatically ends.

But Washington was still gray.

The land is deeply polluted by the 'roots of darkness' that have spread everywhere.

[The 'seventh scenario' is currently in progress.]

A scenario that still doesn't end.

At that moment, a pitch-black light rose from the distant Capitol.

"That’s—"

Even though no one told them to, the incarnations ran towards that direction at the same time.

Eliot, the Chinese incarnations, Asuka Ren was also riding a skateboard and riding away.

Anna and I exchanged glances and then ran after them.

How long did we run like that?

We soon arrived at the Capitol in question.

Someone was sitting on top of the Capitol building, stained with hazy smoke.

Elliot muttered.

"That’s the 'Demon King in Washington'."

What was there was not a human figure.

A beast reminiscent of a pitch-black wolf.

An ominous aura felt from the black hair growing all over its body.

As its golden eyes slowly looked around, several incarnations screamed.

An overwhelming feeling that makes you feel suffocated just by looking at it.

"Ah, Demon King—"

"All armies ready for battle!"

"We’ll hunt the Demon King!"

While everyone was frightened and took out their weapons, I stared blankly at the monster.

For some reason I couldn't take my eyes off that monster.

'Constellation-nim.'

Because.

—Damn, I guess that’s true.

No matter how I look at it, in my eyes,

'Yes?'

Because that 'Black Beast' looked like Yoo Joonghyuk.

[A new scenario has arrived!]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

703 Episode 25 Demon King (6)

A Black Beast looking down on Washington City with vague eyes.

Other people might not have noticed, but I couldn't not recognize that guy.

Without a doubt, that guy is Yoo Joonghyuk.

[Check the 'new sub-scenario'.]

<Sub Scenario – Beast Hunting>

Category: Sub

Difficulty: ???

Clear conditions: Defeat the 'Black Beast' that rules Washington City.

Time Limit: —

Reward: narrative grade story, 300,000 coins, S grade skill selection, ???

Failure: —

What on earth is going on?

Clearly, what I had come to exorcise was the 'ruler of the Washington Dome'. But why did a scenario to exorcise Yoo Joonghyuk suddenly arrive?

'Constellation-nim?'

But Kim Dokja had no answer.

Instead, I heard a faint voice in my head.

—Constellation. So, how did this happen...

A voice of non-formality.

Meanwhile, Kim Dokja seemed to be questioning Bihyung about the scenario.

—This wasn't our intention... It's true that we sold the Constellation's modifier, but…

It seems that this scenario was not Bihyung's intention.

Anyway, the situation was bad.

Slowly, the eyes of the incarnations were changing.

"Hey. Did you check the reward?"

"Uh."

"If I do this well, I will make a fortune."

The incarnations that were initially afraid of the Black Beast were returning to the vicinity of the Capitol one by one.

300,000 coins and a narrative grade story.

Plus, you can even select S grade skills.

It was a reward that could never be received in an ordinary 'sub-scenario'.

—Youngest. From now on, listen to me carefully.

Kim Dokja returned just in time and spoke to me.

—That bastard has now activated two 'Story Imprints'.

'What exactly is a story imprint?'

Since 'engraving a tale' was a setting that did not appear in 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint,' I calmly listened to Kim Dokja's explanation.

According to Kim Dokja's words, there were a total of three 'Story Imprints' engraved on Yoo Joonghyuk's body.

「Redemption of truth」

「Restraint of Emotions」

「Redemption of Life」

—'Redemption of Truth' is a power that can be used at the cost of some of the memories of the past. Ordinary people would turn into idiots if they abused it, but for that guy who still has memories, it's not a big burden.

I had also heard about the first story imprint from Anna Croft.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who activated that imprint, slaughtered four viscount-level demons at once.

The problem was the second story imprint.

—'Emotional restraint' is the imprint of paying a price for one's emotions. If you use that imprint, you will gradually lose your identity as a human being. As if it were…

'It means becoming an animal.'

—Yes.

Could it be that that's why Yoo Joonghyuk turned into a beast?

—But usually, using 'emotional restraint' does not lead to 'beastization' to that extent. At most, your arms or legs will turn into a beast. But that bastard has now become a complete beast, and his physical level has risen several levels.

'I think I just found a clue.'

Small sparkling debris on the floor near the Capitol.

—Catch it! Hurry!

I walked quickly and bent down to catch the fragments.

[A very small 'Kim Dokja Fragment' was obtained.]

[The fragment is too small to be recognized as 'loss'.]

[Legendary story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' looks dissatisfied and eats the fragment.]

[Your lifespan increases.]

[5 minute time limit has been added.]

Although it is slight, lifespan has increased.

And.

「…」

A story began to be told.

It was the story of a demon.

A demon who was born as a guardian of darkness and evolved by collecting 'Fragments of Kim Dokja'. A memory of a being who just wanted to escape from being an extra.

"You'll die here."

「[Incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk' activates 'Binding of Truth'!]」

Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st round was surprisingly strong.

A level of combat power equivalent to that of a 'marquis-level demon'. The two, who had engaged in over 100 exchanges in an instant, caught their breath and explored each other's gaps.

Scratch, tear, cut, stab.

As the wounds on his entire body increased, the demon shrank little by little.

He thought he was strong enough.

He killed and ate many humans, took their power.

But what on earth is this 'human'?

「"After all, just one engraving is enough. It wasn’t the power to use here, but…"」

As Yoo Joonghyuk muttered that, his whole body was covered in pitch-black light.

「[Incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk' activates 'Emotional Restraint'!]」

Finally, Yoo Joonghyuk's second story imprint was activated.

Yoo Joonghyuk's entire body began to be covered with black fur. His chest and thighs swelled, veins protruded, and his rough muscles twitched.

After that, the demon's memory was partially damaged. A scene where something pitch-black is running. A scene where the body is cut, torn, and eaten.

Only emotions stained with fear and horror were concentrated in the fragments.

「The demon had bad luck. Because the person he met was the 'king'.」

The torn apart demon stretched out his hands with all his might, as if begging for his life. It was something he had learned from the countless people he had killed.

「The demon was lucky. Because the last person he met was 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.」

If it were an ordinary Yoo Joonghyuk, he would not have held the demon's hand.

However, at that moment, Yoo Joonghyuk had activated two 'Story Imprints'.

Part of his memory was controlled due to the 'Restraint of Truth', and part of his reason was paralyzed due to the 'Restraint of Emotions'.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had only instinct left, stretched out his hand as if possessed the moment he saw the shining fragment at the demon's fingertips.

「Fragment of Kim Dokja.」

Yoo Joonghyuk's hand touched the fragment, and Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes became blurred.

As his soul wavered, a gap appeared in [Sage's Eyes] and his [Mental Barrier] was disturbed.

The demon did not miss his last chance.

「The demon finally got a chance to become the main character of this story.」

Goosebumps ran down my spine.

I reflexively muttered to Yoo Joonghyuk, who was standing above the Capitol.

"Yoo Joonghyuk?"

Then the Black Beast looked down at me. It wasn't a look that recognized me.

"Demon."

A Black Beast left with only deep distrust and hatred towards the world.

The beast let out a long roar at Washington.

Several incarnations fainted and fell to the ground at the howling that seemed to shake their souls.

However, there were also some who were more motivated.

"Kill him! We'll have the reward!"

The first to step forward was a group of incarnations from the Middle East.

Wearing old combat uniforms and caps, they immediately grabbed their guns and started firing.

"Shoot!"

As magic bullets reminiscent of [Gangmashi] formed a fire net, the entire Capitol was soon filled with pale dust.

"Wait a minute! Stop! Stop!"

I shouted as I ran toward them. Of course, it wasn't Yoo Joonghyuk that I was worried about.

"Kwaaaaaak."

Blood splashing through the pale dust. The incarnations with only their lower bodies remaining collapsed like dolls.

—Fuck, Youngest.

'The demon is now in Yoo Joonghyuk, right?'

—Yes.

'Do I need an exorcism?'

—The Vatican guys didn’t come. And any exorcist can’t do. That demon is also at the 'Marquis' level.

'Are you sure?'

—You have to remove the Story Imprint first.

So, the moment I asked how to do that.

[There are special clear conditions in this 'sub-scenario'.]

A scenario message appeared before my eyes.

> 1. In order to exterminate the ‘Black Beast’, you must remove the 'eight fragments' stuck on the beast’s back.
>
> 2. You can receive great rewards when you consecrate the successfully removed fragments to the Nebula.

It was obvious what the eight fragments that sprouted from Yoo Joonghyuk's back were.

'Fragment of Kim Dokja.'

I remembered the 4th grade Earth Dragon, who possessed abnormal strength.

The Earth Dragon, which absorbed only one fragment, was also '4th grade', so how strong is Yoo Joonghyuk, who absorbed eight?

At that moment, the beast's golden eyes turned in this direction.

To be precise, he was not looking at me, but at the woman next to me.

「The demon felt an unknown killing intent.」

It was almost simultaneously that I looked back at her and the beast disappeared.

That 'Black Beast' had its reason removed and only instinct remained.

"Anna!"

And right now, the person next to me was Yoo Joonghyuk's most hated enemy.

In an instant, the beast's front paw lunged right in front of her, aiming for Anna's head. The moment Anna, with her eyes wide open, took a step back, the king's guardian who had been waiting behind her moved.

"Goddess!"

The 'Shield of Aegis' was summoned from the back of Selena Kim’s hand.

In the 3rd round, Selena Kim received the blessings of the goddess Athena.

Perhaps she received her sacred relic as a gift this time too.

Quaaaaaaaaa!

The 'Shield of Aegis' collided with Yoo Joonghyuk’s front foot.

A relic of a legendary Constellation.

And Selena Kim, who uses holy relics, was a powerhouse in the '100 strongest people in Ways of Survival' as time passed.

She couldn't withstand the single blow and fell dozens of meters.

Selena Kim exclaimed, standing up unsteadily as if one of her knees had been broken.

"Anna, run…!"

"Stand back, Prophet!"

The one who ran bravely after her was Elliot Haston, the incarnation of Lancelot.

Eliot drew his sword, scattering pure white light, and galloped away on his own horse, Griffith.

I also saw a dozen knights following him.

"Constellations of the Round Table!"

[At the request of incarnation 'Elliot Haston', 'Round Table Justice' is activated!]

[The 'Round Table Council' is convened.]

Round Table Council.

I asked with wide eyes.

'Constellation-nim, is that—'

—Wow, this is my first time seeing that too.

Just like the 'Judge of Destruction' activates [Time of Judgment] with the consent of Constellations from the 'Absolute Good', the 'Knights of the Round Table' can activate [Justice of the Round Table] with the consent of the 'Round Table Council'.

['Round Table Council' agrees to activate the skill.]

[The incarnation 'Elliot Haston' activates 'Round Table Justice'!]

The spirit of the great round table surged from Elliot Haston's entire body.

As if responding to their spirit, a dazzling brilliance flowed from the knights' bodies.

"Kill the monster!"

The knights in a wedge formation fiercely charged towards Yoo Joonghyuk. For a moment, I thought that it might be able to cause damage.

And explosive magical power surged from the Black Beast's whole body. The magic power contained in the beast's paws soon poured towards the knights like a cannonball.

「Breaking the Sky technique.」

Screams and moans coming from everywhere.

As the thick dust cleared, the horrors of the battlefield were fully revealed. Throughout the Capitol, knights with torn limbs were hanging out like dolls.

It was messy.

"Uh, how—"

Elliot also had a small hole in his stomach and was vomiting blood.

Even the powerful Knights of the Round Table could not subdue Yoo Joonghyuk.

In my head, I heard the sound of Kim Dokja clicking his tongue.

—You can’t beat that one. It's better to just withdraw. The current Yoo Joonghyuk cannot be stopped even by Fei Hu and Ranbir Khan.

When Kim Dokja said that, a faint feeling of guilt came over me.

Because I felt like maybe all of this was because of me.

「"Stop it."」

Perhaps Yoo Joonghyuk knew that he would end up like that, and that's why he tried to take me with him.

「"I don’t really know why, but when I receive that memory, I stop acting."」

I bit my lip.

'There is still a way.'

The reason Yoo Joonghyuk's mind was shaken was because of the memory of the 'Kim Dokja fragment'.

So what if I shake his head vigorously again?

So to speak, if you get hit in the back of the head with a very powerful memory.

'Constellation-nim. Possess me again.'

Unfortunately, it was something I couldn't do on my own.

—No.

'Why?'

—The cooldown hasn’t started. And there aren't enough coins to pay for the probability.

'I’ll pay for the coins. How much cooldown time is left?'

—10 minutes.

My mind felt dizzy.

In 10 minutes, it would not be surprising if the entire Washington area was devastated and all incarnations here were annihilated.

I looked back at Anna.

There is no choice. From here, we have no choice but to withdraw and look for another opportunity—

"Cheon Inho."

But Anna’s eyes looked strange. She was spinning with an ominous glow in her eyes. Sparks bouncing wildly.

I realized what was happening.

"Can you see the future?"

"He’s coming."

Anna's voice was embarrassed.

Before I could ask who was coming, I saw a portal swirling in the distance.

Haven't all the incarnations that were worthy of coming have already come?

In any case, no matter what incarnation came here, they would just die.

Even if Fei Hu and Ranbir Khan come, the situation will not change even if someone comes to a situation that cannot be stopped.

Eventually, what appeared beyond the portal was the front paw of a huge animal.

Coo coo coo coo.

Incarnations riding on monsters resembling elephants.

Are they Indian incarnations? Could it be that Ranbir Khan has come?

The sound of laughter coming from somewhere.

The moment I saw incarnations occupying the center of the line, something suddenly popped into my head.

"Hahaha! Yoo Joonghyuk! I’m here!"

Why had I forgotten his existence?

I remembered the 'seventh scenario' from the 3rd round.

In the original third round, Seoul was occupied by a religious denomination.

But this time, I didn't hear any particular news, so I wondered if the 'church' had disappeared as the scenario changed.

It was a complacent thought.

—Oh, maybe.

He was the only incarnation who defeated the 'King' in the 3rd round.

A beautiful man with his arms wide open like a lotus flower in full bloom spoke to Yoo Joonghyuk.

"You look great, Yoo Joonghyuk."

The leader of the Salvation Church, Nirvana Moebius, has arrived in Washington.

"But why are you becoming one with a being other than myself?"

Perhaps a little angry.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

704 Episode 25 Demon King (7)

Nirvana Moebius.

A 'Reincarnator' with the Constellation 'Guardian of Mandala' as his sponsor.

Like Anna Croft, they are a being who can preserve a certain amount of memory by resisting Yoo Joonghyuk's [Regression].

They are the leader of the Salvation Church and was the 'counter' of Yoo Joonghyuk in the 3rd round.

"Only live in the present!"

They stomped their feet as the elephant bells thumped, accompanied by the cries of the Salvationists.

"There is no salvation in the afterlife!"

"What's important is now!"

"What must be liberated is 'today'!"

As the ground vibrated like a giant drum, the incarnations of the area shook loudly.

"W-what is it?"

"Salvation Church? Dammit, they came?"

Some of the incarnations were already aware of their existence, as some of them were preparing to withdraw the moment they saw the elephant monster.

"I'm falling for it. I shouldn't get involved with those crazy people."

However, there were still some incarnations who remained and watched.

Those who do not yet know much about the Salvation Church or are confident in their own abilities.

"Nirvana, the leader of the Salvation Church."

"Oh, Prophet?"

As Nirvana waved their hand happily, Anna Croft frowned and averted her gaze.

Nirvana slowly approached us and opened their mouth.

"Why did my Yoo Joonghyuk end up like that? Was it your fault?"

"The King is not yours."

"Answer me. What is that Demon King who is entangled with my Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"It's none of your business."

"If I don't care, who would care?"

Nirvana declared, spreading their arms wide.

"The relationship between me and Yoo Joonghyuk is connected by the wheel of eternity. You know because you secretly stole our story."

Anna Croft turned away from Nirvana and glanced towards me.

—Cheon Inho. You never met Nirvana in the last round, right?

It was [Transmission].

This is probably because she was wary of the existence of Nirvana.

It wasn't strange.

In this world, the only incarnations that know of Yoo Joonghyuk's [Regressions] from the beginning are Anna Croft, who can use [Future Sight], and the reincarnated Nirvana.

Therefore, the Prophet and the Reincarnator have no choice but to be endlessly wary of each other over Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Why are you making such a fuss?"

In an instant, Nirvana came right in front of her and suddenly stuck out their head.

Also a Reincarnator. Did they notice even the use of [Transmission]?

The guy glared at Anna and craned their long neck to ask.

"Who is this guy? Prophet, is this your new toy?"

My face was captured in the guy's eyes that were shining with pure white light.

"Why are you closing your eyes? Are you saying you don’t dare look at me?"

The moment I was about to reply that I had been watching, their right arm moved directly towards my forehead.

「Relationship story.」

I also knew that skill. A skill to read the other person's memories by weaving the bonds of stories with the power of the mandala.

But someone blocked their movements.

Quaaaaaaaaa!

Yoo Joonghyuk's fist flew in an instant and exploded into the guy's face.

Nirvana, who had rolled dozens of times against their will, shouted while holding one side of their face.

"Kaaaa! What are you doing, Yoo Joonghyuk!"

A blow that would have exploded the head of a normal incarnation.

However, in this round, Nirvana appears to have steadily increased his stamina and did not die even after being hit by Yoo Joonghyuk, who had become a beast.

Nirvana, with black bruises on their face, cried out again as if they were aggrieved.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

Of course, Yoo Joonghyuk, unable to communicate, just growled and cried.

"Where on earth are you looking? Look at me in front of you!"

Enraged, Nirvana's hands began to move brilliantly.

This guy's signature technique was activated.

[The incarnation 'Nirvana Moebius' activates 'Thousand-Armed Guanyin Lv.8'!]

A dazzlingly rotating mandala settled behind the creature, and soon a thousand arms poured out like a waterfall around the mandala.

"Look at me! Me! Look at me!"

As the palms of Thousand-Armed Avalokitesvara poured out and hit Yoo Joonghyuk’s head repeatedly, the beast's body began to sink to the ground little by little.

"Oh, that’s—"

"Is there also the leader of the Salvation Church?"

"We too are joining!"

I don't know how strong Nirvana will be when they grow up to the later scenarios.

In the main story, while fighting against Kim Dokja, Nirvana was absorbed by the [Fourth Wall] and became a librarian at the library.

But this world's Nirvana will never be absorbed by the [Fourth Wall].

[The Constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' is glaring at incarnation 'Nirvana Moebius'.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' twitches his lips, saying that this incarnation is arrogant.]

[The Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is concerned about your safety.]

A [Reincarnator] that does not die even if they die.

[Thousand-Armed Avalokitesvara] that overwhelms even Yoo Joonghyuk, who used [Gigantification.]

In addition, there are mental abilities including [100 Torments] and [Eternal Nightmare].

Even Yoo Joonghyuk, no matter how much of a beast he has become, might not be able to deal with the current Nirvana.

"W-what!"

I thought so.

"He’s coming up!"

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been nailed to the ground by the blow of [Thousand-handed Avalokitesvara], began to stick his head out of the hole little by little.

Quad deud deuk!

A spear was held in the hands of Yoo Joonghyuk, who finally stuck his head out, pushing up his body with his paws, little by little.

Nirvana's eyes widened.

"Yoo Jong—"

Yoo Joonghyuk has lost his reason and only his instincts remain. Nevertheless, he was still a disciple of Breaking the Sky Saint.

I don't know about other people, but only Kim Dokja and I could recognize the skill.

[Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship.]

A sword technique created to tear apart the Constellations of this world.

The swordsmanship extended into the sky.

"Yuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuck—!"

Nirvana's [Thousand-Armed Avalokitesvara] was torn apart by a blow that felt like a black lightning strike.

The power that comes from pure differences in 'level'.

The sky made of palms shattered, and the beast holding the spear let out a harsh cry toward the sky.

Nirvana, spilling his blood, rolled around on the floor with half of their upper body blown away.

I was almost daunted by the incredible scenery.

'Shall we run away?'

Does it make sense that that is just an incarnation of the 'seventh scenario'?

Tsutsutsutsutsu.

Sparks of probability began to rush through Yoo Joonghyuk's whole body.

But no matter how much he becomes the prey of a 'sub-scenario', the strength that exceeds the probability limit of the scenario cannot be sustained for a long period of time. If things continue like this, it won't be long before Yoo Joonghyuk's whole body is burned by the aftermath.

—Well.

But Kim Dokja didn't seem to think so.

—The balance of probabilities is not only determined through aftermath.

Before I could ask what that meant, Nirvana, who was thought to be dead, suddenly stood up.

[The incarnation 'Nirvana Moebius' activates 'Possession Lv.4'!.]

After all, a Reincarnator is a Reincarnator.

In an instant, Nirvana's upper body, engulfed in lotus, began to regenerate rapidly.

By reviving part of their own story, their physical defects were restored.

Nearby, incarnations staggered and crawled towards Nirvana. They were the 'Salvationists' who followed them.

"Sect leader, I offer you my story."

"My story..."

Salvationists who suffered from [Thought Infection] volunteered to become sacrifices for the recovery of Nirvana.

Nirvana, lightly holding their hands, nodded their head.

"I will remember your story."

That was the identity of the Salvation Church.

All believers are merely pawns to complete the 'ultimate story' pursued by Nirvana.

Nirvana, having regained their strength, took a deep breath and opened their mouth.

"You are really strong in this round. It will be more rewarding to become one."

"..."

"I'm already looking forward to seeing what amazing stories you've built up... Wait a minute! Aren't I speaking to you! Kaaaaaaah!"

I asked Kim Dokja as I saw Nirvana starting to get beaten up as soon as they recovered.

'How much time is left now? They won't be able to last much longer.'

—5 minutes.

Nirvana, who was blocking Yoo Joonghyuk's attack by spreading the palm of the [Thousand-Armed Avalokitesvara], shouted.

"Prophet! What are you doing? Help me quickly!"

"How can I help you?"

"I, become one with Yoo Joonghyuk— keaaaaaa!"

"Even if I die, I won't become one with you!"

"Actually, I have no desire to become one with you!"

Nirvana, who had been hit dozens more times in that short period of time, said as their blood flowed.

"I don’t think that’s possible. I don’t want to further damage the body that will become one with me."

"Wait a minute! Nirvana, you—"

At the same time, the dark power of the story flowed from Nirvana's whole body.

—Looks like that bastard will end up using it.

Kim Dokja already seemed to know what technique he would use.

Of course, so did I and Anna Croft.

"Cheon Inho. We must stop it. The Reincarnator will use [Eternal Nightmare]."

[Eternal Nightmare.]

In the 3rd round in Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint, Yoo Joonghyuk fell victim to that technique.

"Right now, Yoo Joonghyuk has activated two story imprints and is in a state of insanity. In such a situation, if he were to receive that stigmata—"

"He’ll go crazy."

"I know. If we don’t stop it now—"

But even before we could move, Nirvana’s skill was already activated.

"Yoo Joonghyuk. I don’t know why you looked like that."

The nightmare of eons resided in the white-stained fingertips of this guy.

"It doesn’t matter what you look like now. I can be anything. Man, woman, animal, monster! Only I can understand your eternity!"

Nirvana's hand stretched out like a sword and touched Yoo Joonghyuk’s forehead.

"So you too will understand me."

And like magic, Yoo Joonghyuk’s movements stopped.

Nirvana became proud and burst into laughter.

"Hahahaha! Yoo Joonghyuk! Finally—"

Slowly, Yoo Joonghyuk’s eyes turned towards Nirvana.

"Yoo Jong—"

With a fluttering sound, one of Nirvana's arms flew through the air.

"Uh?"

The moment Nirvana made a stupid expression, their other arm also flew in the air.

"Kaaaaaaak!"

The pain came late. Nirvana, whose arms were torn off in an instant, let out a desperate scream.

Anna Croft, shocked, staggered back.

I said, sighing inwardly.

'As expected, it doesn't work for the current Yoo Joonghyuk.'

—Yes.

「Eternal Nightmare is a technique that brings up the opponent's most terrible memories and traps them in those memories.」

But what if the 'opponent' is a beast with only instinct left?

"Oh, how!"

For example, if your mind has become so stupid that you cannot recall any memories.

"Yoo Joonghyuk! Come to your senses! Your present—"

Nirvana's left leg was crushed with a loud sound.

"Kaaaaaaak!"

A spark of probability flew once again. An ecstatic Nirvana crawled on the floor on their haunches.

The Black Beast trampled on Nirvana's body and slowly looked around him.

King.

The man who suited that nickname better than anyone else cried out to the world.

And with that one howl, all the incarnations here realized.

[All incarnations of the 'Washington Dome' are terrified.]

No incarnation in the world can call itself 'king' in front of that monster.

[The scales of probability are moving.]

As long as it is 'incarnation'.

—Youngest.

I nodded.

Even though Yoo Joonghyuk is showing off such a powerful personality, the probability of the <Star Stream> did not stop him.

That said, the probability of this scenario is—

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.10' is activated.]

It means allowing the emergence of a strong person to stop that 'Supreme King'.

[The third stage of 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' is activated.]

Now it was the 'Demon King’s' turn to step forward.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

705 Episode 26 Star Ladder (1)

---

With Yoo Joonghyuk's roar, the atmosphere of the battlefield changed. The frightened incarnations began to leave the battlefield one by one.

[Someone uses the 'Star Ladder'!]

[Someone uses the 'Star Ladder'!]

This scenario was a 'sub-scenario' and did not necessarily need to be cleared.

"Wait a minute, you guys—"

Because they didn't come here to protect Washington in the first place.

"I’m sorry, Prophet."

As the allies she trusted disappeared one by one, Anna Croft's expression became anxious.

The 'Star Ladder' in the sky continued to emit bright light.

"Anna."

Selena Kim and Christina stood by her side. Her colleagues also knew that there was no chance of victory at this rate.

Anna and Zarathustra's elites have already completed the subjugation of the 4 Grade Disaster Species. They could also use that Star Ladder if they wanted to.

Nevertheless, Anna did not leave the scenario.

If she abandons Washington, America will collapse. The invasion of the Demon World will continue and eventually hit Las Vegas.

As the representative of 'Zarathustra', she had a duty to protect this continent.

"Cheon Inho."

Anna Croft looked at me.

She was so desperate that she had to resort to her least favorite scammer.

"I will stop it. Instead—"

So, now was the only time for the scammer to set a 'condition'.

"Please lend me some of your skills."

"Which..."

"I know you have the 'Elixir Maker' trait."

The real reason I came to see Anna Croft.

I took out the ´Lesser Dragon Heart' from her arms. A reward obtained from defeating a 4th Grade Earth Dragon.

However, because the processing process for Dragon Heart is so complicated, there is currently only one way to refine it into an elixir.

"I need your blood."

It is to mix it with the blood of the 'Elixir Manufacturer'.

A startled Anna Croft stared at me closely and said.

"You know what happens if you drink my blood."

"I will become a member of your household."

I said this, recalling Kim Dokja from the Third Round, who was revived after drinking Anna's blood.

"But that’s when I’m of a lower rank than you."

"Are you saying your level is higher than mine now?"

Certainly, when I looked at me now, I was insignificant.

I do not have a solid embodiment like Yoo Joonghyuk, nor do I have powerful mental skills like Nirvana.

I do not lead a powerful group like Anna, nor do she have a sponsor that everyone knows about.

But there is one thing I am confident about.

[Story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is hungry.]

'Stories.'

"How can you—"

Anna's eyes widened as she sensed the story flowing from my body.

It has to be that way.

Because I have already collected three stories. And exactly in those three stories, there was a clear difference in class between me and the other incarnations.

"We don’t have time. What are you going to do?"

Anna Croft still seemed hesitant.

The fact that her 'blood' is an elixir is still a top secret. The moment this fact is revealed, incarnations from all over the world will target her.

So for her to display this ability in front of me now was already a gamble.

Anna, who was worried, eventually received the Dragon Heart.

"It will take about 5 minutes. You are confident, right?"

I stepped in front of her with my back to Anna.

"Of course."

Yoo Joonghyuk, trampling on Nirvana, was crying towards the sky.

[The attribute 'Cyclic Delay' is activated.]

I slowly took a breath and circulated the magical energy throughout my body.

—Youngest.

'Yes. Is it possible now?'

[Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint’s cooldown has already ended.]

[Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint 'Stage 3' is in effect!]

The problem was probability.

Even if Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint was at level 3, it was not completely free from the influence of probability.

—Is it possible?

But it's different now.

I knew it instinctively.

Like when Yamata no Orochi descended on [Peace Land], the 'probability aftermaths' do not blow in their normal form in this scenario.

In other words, this scenario works by putting each other's status on the 'scale' and canceling out each other's probabilities.

Then.

「This time, we may be able to use the true power of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.」

I activated [Incite] at the right time.

「I am Kim Dokja.」

['Incite' goes hand in hand with 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint'!]

[The synchronization rate with the sponsor is increasing!]

It feels like a layer of film is being placed on my soul, like wearing hard yet soft clothes.

As I slowly blinked, the scenery of the world changed. The high sky became even lower, and the gaze of the Constellations felt more blatant.

[Some Constellations are surprised by your status! ]

[The Constellations of the National Tree pay homage to your status .]

[The Constellation 'Bald General of Justice' is surprised as to whether you actually have hidden powers.]

[The Constellation 'Maritime War God' is looking closely at your story.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' looks at you with his eyes wide open.]

Christina, who was standing a few steps away, stumbled.

As for her, if she really is an 'apostle', she will have no choice but to recognize who is possessing me now.

"As expected of you…"

Finally, Yoo Joonghyuk looked this way. The moment our eyes met, I knew the bastard would move.

"Come, Yoo Joonghyuk."

At the same time as control of the body was transferred to Kim Dokja, 'Unbreakable Faith' flashed in the air.

Yoo Joonghyuk's flying front foot and the brilliantly rising 'Blade of Faith' collided with each other.

Coo coo coo coo!

The blade and forepaw collided and a loud noise erupted.

I was taking the attack from that monstrous beast.

—Woah! Are you that surprised? Even if I look like this, I am 'fable grade'.

I realize it again.

That playful 'neighborhood brother' is actually a shining 'Constellation' in the sky.

—I cannot properly use even 10% of my power in this incarnation.

To be exact, even that '10%' was difficult.

The muscles of my entire body were screaming, and I could feel my magic power quickly depleting in real time.

—The decision will be made within 5 minutes.

The tale began to tell its story on Kim Dokja's behalf.

[The story 'King of a Kingless World' begins its storytelling !]

The first story obtained by Kim Dokja, the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

「No king under the heavens of this world can call himself true.」

The 'King of a Kingless World' was declaring to the 'Supreme King'.

「Only the king who denies the king will exist.」

The power of the story exploded and I kicked the ground and ran. I felt confident that I could cut down anything that got in my way.

'Blade of Faith' expanded explosively.

For the first time, a hint of confusion appeared in the eyes of that scary beast.

Sugagak.

The cut off black fur fluttered in the air and blood splattered. Yoo Joonghyuk's stance, which was focused on attack, was changing.

A cautious defensive stance centered on [Strong Self-Defense].

In that brief moment, the beast made a decision. This 'story' cannot be used for very long.

'Is it smart?'

Even Yoo Joonghyuk was instinctively suppressing the story of the 'Supreme King'.

As if he knew that the moment he used that story, 'King of Kingless World' would be used.

All he uses are 'beast' techniques that rely solely on instinct.

—I don’t know if Yoo Joonghyuk is smart or if the demon possessing him is smart.

The story of 'King of a Kingless World' was spreading in real time.

As he expected, my incarnation body could not maintain the power of a legendary story for long.

'What should I do now?'

—We have to use other means.

Other means?

The moment I was about to ask what else there was, a message rang in my head.

A sigh flowed from within.

This is the technology that made 'Kim Dokja' into a 'reader'.

He defeated numerous enemies with this technique and absorbed their power as his own.

[Exclusive skill 'Bookmark' is activated!]

In my head, I ran through a list of countless characters that Kim Dokja had read about so far.

Some characters I knew, some I didn't even know.

Some characters were too weak to be appropriate for use at the moment, while others were so strong that it was impossible to know if probability would allow it.

—There are people to choose from.

However, there was no hesitation in Kim Dokja's choice.

[Bookmark number 11 has been activated!]

—If this guy is the '41st Round', there is someone who must be chosen.

I felt like the magical energy in my whole body was shaking violently and I got goosebumps.

I realized who I had become.

「The pure white coat was covered with white fur.」

I never thought I would see this scenery with my own eyes.

[Bookmark number 11 'Disaster of Floods Shin Yoosung' is activated!]

[Exclusive skill 'Beast Lord’s Sensitivity Lv.???' is activated!]

White fur fluttering like white snow.

Yoo Joonghyuk's pupils wavered as he looked this way. Even someone with only instincts would have noticed.

No matter how strong the beast-turned-guy is, he can't defeat me now.

「"I am the 'Beast Lord'."」

Shin Yoosung, the Disaster of Floods.

「"King of all 'monsters'."」

Kim Dokja rushed over in an instant and hit Yoo Joonghyuk on the head with the side of the blade.

One shot, two shots, three shots.

Even though it seemed like an attack that could be easily avoided, Yoo Joonghyuk could not avoid it. Like a subject who cannot disobey the king's orders.

Every time Yoo Joonghyuk's head was hit, 41st Shin Yoosung's story was told.

「"What on earth were we to the Captain?"」

「"I hate you for living alone in this world."」

「"I will end your world in the most horrific way."」

No matter what anyone says, they cannot say that this pain is a lie.

41st round Shin Yoosung's very existence was the crime of 41st Round Yoo Joonghyuk.

As if receiving punishment for his crime, Kim Dokja delivered a powerful kick to Yoo Joonghyuk's stomach.

Yoo Joonghyuk flew about ten meters and fell, breaking the window of the National Assembly building.

「"Ahjussi… Can I call you that too?"」

The moment Kim Dokja heard that voice again, he stopped.

Whose memory is this?

Shin Yoosung, or Shin Yoosung in the 41st Round?

Or not,

'Are you okay?'

Is this a memory of Kim Dokja, who was the 'Demon King of Salvation'?

—What if I'm not okay?

For the first time, I felt a certain emotion in Kim Dokja's voice.

He spoke like a person who does not want to let go of those emotions.

'Isn't it okay to say that I miss her when I miss her?'

Why is he so cold? Was the Kim Dokja I knew really that kind of person?

No.

At least the 'Demon King of Salvation' I know is...

—Because that's not my 'role'.

Role?

—It's up to the other 'Kim Dokja' to feel sad when he sees people.

The moment I heard those words, all my questions suddenly seemed to make sense.

When he first saw Jung Heewon, Lee Hyunsung, Lee Jihye, and Shin Yoosung.

The reason why the words Kim Dokja used to call them felt somehow distant and unfamiliar, could not be—

'Why is that?'

Any Kim Dokja has the right to be sad. It's nice to see someone you like and you can call them in a friendly way.

You can talk about your feelings.

But he didn't do that.

—Because I am 'The First, Kim Dokja'.

Kim Dokja was looking at Yoo Joonghyuk.

Yoo Joonghyuk, the beast that rose up from inside the Capitol, ran screaming.

He said, "Kim Dokja likes 'Ways of Survival'."

If seen from afar, it would have looked like black and white monsters swinging their claws at each other.

「Kim Dokja is more cold-hearted than anyone else.」

At the moment when Yoo Joonghyuk's claws caught on the tip of the fur of the 'Beast Lord's sensitivity', 'Unbreakable Faith' radiated light.

「Kim Dokja, who hates losses and hates Constellations.」

Yoo Joonghyuk stumbled after being hit.

Kim Dokja pushed forward without giving him any time to rest.

「In order for all other 'Kim Dokjas' to exist, Kim Dokja had to survive before anyone else.」

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was on the defensive, activated his skill.

「Breaking the Sky Meteor Strike.」

The strongest skill that Yoo Joonghyuk can use now was revealed.

A bundle of force that tears the world apart poured towards me.

「Kim Dokja chose to become the Demon King to save someone.」

Kim Dokja was not embarrassed and slowly opened his arms. As if embracing a shattered world.

['Monster Gate' is activated.]

Dozens of portals swirled in the air, and Disaster-level monster species popped out at the same time.

The various breaths that poured out from the mouth of the monster species offset the bundle of strong energy of the broken meteor shower.

「He is the 'Demon King of Salvation'.」

As he slowly approached, a feeling of fear appeared in the black beast's pupils.

Kim Dokja smiled faintly, as if to appease Yoo Joonghyuk.

"I'll just take what's mine back."

The 'Kim Dokja fragment' that was stuck in Yoo Joonghyuk's back was pulled out along with blood.

And at that very moment, the forgotten memories of the 'Demon King of Salvation' returned.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

706 Episode 26 Star Ladder (2)

I looked at Kim Dokja in the window of a broken building.

He was standing there with Cheon Inho's face, but he was still a Kim Dokja.

The first Kim Dokja of this world.

He existed before any Kim Dokja.

He was courageous to live, so he decided to keep or not keep things.

He chooses and decides before all Kim Dokjas.

He is the most responsible.

「Kim Dokja's salvation is cruel.」

The Demon King of Salvation.

「The person who was saved by him is injured as if he saved a person who was drowned by the tip of the knife.」

He was resented for saving someone. He was reprimanded by the people he saved for hurting them.

「"I tell you not to be funny... What is this salvation..."」

But the people who were so saved knew.

「"Why are you...?"」

They saw Kim Dokja's hand when he was holding his sword.

「The reader has a lot of scars in his hand.」

When Kim Dokja saved someone with the tip of the knife, he also had a blade.

「"Don't worry. If I die once and survive, it will disappear."」

The wounds of the hand quickly disappeared, but people remembered the wound.

I checked his hand over and over again, and I was relieved to see his hand.

One day, Kim Dokja accepts that he will save them again with his hands.

'Constellation-nim.'

The Demon King of Salvation was looking down at his hand.

The hand was my hand, so there was no scar.

What memory had he regained?

Even though I used [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] I did not see his memory.

'Constellation-nim?'

Kim Dokja, who raised his head at my question, looked up at the sky.

His smile's meaning was unknown. It seemed broken, bitter, or seemed to understand everything.

"One more."

With that expression, Kim Dokja grabbed the head of a black beast. And with the other hand, he began to draw his own fragments on the back of the beast.

"One more."

Yoo Joonghyuk incarnation trembled as if he had seizures every time the fragments that were stuck on his back disappeared.

Oh oh oh oh!

With the painful roars that burst out of the beast's mouth, the people who heard it moaned.

"Ahhh…"

"What the hell—"

People were now watching the Demon King of Salvation, not the Black Beast.

People's expressions reflected in my eyes sharing his view.

Watching me, walking back, fearing me, and running away.

Kugu Gugu!

I once again called Kim Dokja.

'Constellation-nim!'

Kim Dokja didn’t answer. He just recovered the fragments from Yoo Joonghyuk’s back.

Three, four, five...

More than half of the fragments were now recovered.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was on his knees, looked up at me with half-empty pupils.

Suddenly I felt ominous.

「Only one Kim Dokja.」

Perhaps all Kim Dokjas dream of a single Kim Dokja.

Then that 'Demon King of Salvation'.

Wouldn't he want to be a single 'Kim Dokja', which was the first.

"Don't move."

Kim Dokja, who lifted the black beast's head with his left hand, bent his knees as if he was overpowering him. Subsequently, he continued to extract the fragments with his right hand.

Every time the fragments were pulled out, more and more memories were coming back.

His memories were his stories.

As the stories come back, the power of the Demon King of Salvation becomes stronger.

Tsutsutsutsu!

Now it was really dangerous.

The demon that was tired of Kim Dokja’s beating was completely silent.

But Kim Dokja did not leave him alone.

"Stop it and come out. If you don't want to die."

In a word, the soul of the demon that had been harassing us so far came out from Yoo Joonghyuk.

Oh oh oh oh!

The Demon, who lost his place to go, shed a story like a flame.

「I didn't have any bad intentions. I didn't have any bad intentions.」

He was incredibly shabby for a Marquis-level Demon.

「Please save me. Please save me.」

The Demon continued to talk as if he were Kim Dokja.

「I just. I just ...」

Kim Dokja said to such a Demon.

"You would have wanted to be the Demon King of Salvation."

The soul didn’t reply.

"Do you still want to be the 'Demon King of Salvation'?"

The soul trembled once again.

"Then come here."

As Kim Dokja opened his mouth, the Demon's soul was sucked into my mouth. It wasn't in me. I could senses it. The Demon's soul was absorbed into the story of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

When the Demon disappeared, Yoo Joonghyuk, who lost his consciousness, became limp.

'Kim Dokja.'

I finally called Kim Dokja. If he did not answer this time, I would forcibly release Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint. However.

—I'm listening.

Kim Dokja replied.

—I thought about the old days.

I was a little relieved because Kim Dokja was still the 'Demon King of Salvation' that I remember.

'Did you regain your memory?'

His appearance of ruthlessly extracting fragments was not forgotten.

What kind of memory did Kim Dokja see to lose his reason?

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' makes a dissatisfied look.]

Even the fragments were not absorbed by my stories.

In other words, it meant that the Demon King of Salvation had absorbed all eight 'Kim Dokja Fragments'.

—That…

The moment Kim Dokja tried to say something in a bitter voice.

Tsutsutsutsutchut!

Sparks began to drive in the air and lightning struck the ground.

Is there a probability aftermath?

It could not be. This scenario would be a safe zone in the aftermath.

Is the price of the Demon King of Salvation transcending the scenario’s standard?

My body was trembling in jeopardy. Even though I used [Omniscient Readers' Viewpoint], I could not afford the price of the Demon King of Salvation.

But that's... no, wait a minute.

Kurreung!

Once again, some incarnations were approaching this side.

The incarnations who have been watching the situation so far.

As soon as he confirmed the '4th grade Earth Dragon' equipment they had, Kim Dokja frowned at them.

Zarathustra?

"James. What are you trying to do now?"

Anna Croft blocked them. She was embarrassed by his actions as Zarathustra's sudden behavior was unexpected.

"I'm trying to run 'prophecy.' Why?"

"Prophecy? I have never told you of prophecy."

"I know. I'm tired of your prophecy now."

The man called James grumbled and looked back on other incarnations.

"I was used because I had no strength. I was trampled by the monster. All of us are tired."

"What do you want to say?"

"We have made a contract."

The woman at the back of James came forward and said.

"Anna Croft, like you."

Anna, who looked dazzled, muttered as she shook her head.

"No way ... what are you—"

[The Constellation 'Bald General of Justice' is astonished at the choice of the incarnation!]

[The Constellation 'Maritime War God' is questioning his eyes!]

[The Constellation 'King Heungmu the Great' shouts that you are insane!]

However, even the dissatisfied Constellations could not dare to take a gesture beyond indirect message.

The Nebula, which exists behind the incarnations now, was a group of historical-grade Constellations.

[Nebula <Asgard> watches the scenario.]

The night sky of the highest star stream. One of their highest seats.

Only an indirect message rang, but there was a strong pressure.

Some incarnations had difficulty to breathe and knelt down to the ground.

Anna Croft, who lost her calm, shouted at Zarathustra’s members.

"Do you know what the hell you did? You are now—"

"Asgard's representative incarnation."

The woman laughed and talked.

"So far, the representative incarnation of 'Asgard' was one of you, but—"

James received her words.

"Now it's not."

At the same time, the light rose from ten Zarathustra’s members.

I realized what happened.

They chose to be the incarnations of Asgard.

[Incarnation James Johnson receives the will of the Nebula 'Asgard'.]

[Incarnation Olivia Harris receives the will of the Nebula 'Asgard'.]

[Incarnation Harper Davis receives the Will of the Nebula 'Asgard'.]

The dazzling light shone onto ten incarnations.

"<Asgard>! Save us!"

"We have kept our promise! Now liberate us from this terrible scenario!"

Anna urgently shouted at them.

"No! Stop!"

The incarnations of Zarathustra opened their arms towards the sky. Soon their bodies began to oxidize in the light.

The incarnations who realized that something was wrong too late struggled and shook their hands and feet, but the situation was already irreversible.

"Uh, why—"

"Aaaaaa!"

The skin of the incarnation was scattered with ash powder.

And.

[The Constellation 'Cleanser' descends!]

The stars began to descend into their bodies.

[The Constellation 'The One Who Married Three Times' descends!]

[The Constellation 'Valkyrie's Daughter' descends!]

…

The Constellations that entered the bodies of the incarnations opened their eyes one by one.

Half-body advent.

Again, it was only the seventh scenario. The great Constellations attempted a half-descent in the seventh scenario.

It was impossible.

Even if it was to match the 'balance of probability', which was destroyed by the Demon King of Salvation.

"No, run away!"

The incarnations who confirmed the situation began to run away without looking back.

It was natural.

The half-body advent of the Constellations was shocking enough to turn over the entire scenario.

So I was not worried.

[The Management Bureau is urgently involved in the region.]

The Management Bureau cannot intervene in this situation.

[The sub scenario’s probability is suspended.]

[The probability of the <Star Stream> moves.]

[The management country is in contact with Asgard.]

The situation could not be resolved in the yard by the Management Bureau.

But why is it?

The half-body advent of the Constellations was not solved.

[Nebula <Asgard> declares 'Gineunggap' all over the scenario area.]

Subsequently, a shocking system message was heard.

[Giant story 'Long Farmhouses' starts its storytelling.]

['Stage' occurs.]

The sky in the area swirled and all the lights of the sky turned off.

Long Farmhouses.

[NOTE 1]

The first empty space where the myth of Asgard began.

The first void where there was no scenario and no story.

If the Nebula allowed the stage, the meaning was obvious.

—They're going to hide what happens here now.

But why did they suddenly have such a great transfer?

No matter why the Nebula <Asgard> does this, it is a huge blow to the Giant Story of the Nebula.

Nevertheless, doing this meant that there was something to get even if they lose money.

Ten seats, including Valkyrie's daughter, were looking at us.

[We finally meet, 'Demon King of Salvation'.]

The moment I heard that, I thought I understood.

「Asgard knows about the Demon King of Salvation.」

If all this scenario was planned from the beginning.

「Why did the Demon appearing in Washington impersonate the 'Demon King of Salvation?」

Suddenly everything felt clear.

「If this scenario is a scenario created to attract the "Demon King of Salvation. '」

If the Dark Sentinel impersonating the Demon King of Salvation, Yoo Joonghyuk becoming a black beast, and all the rest was someone's plan.

If so, their goal was clear.

「The Nebula of this world are already gathering 'Kim Dokja's Fragments'.」

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: Not sure about this name.I also knew that name.

707 Episode 26 Star Ladder (3)

---

The 41st round was unlike any other round that had ever existed.

Because in this world, there was something called 'Kim Dokja Fragment'.

A piece that can evolve a Dark Sentinel into a higher monster species by collecting just one.

If you think about it, even Asmodeus, who evolved into an Outer God, was gathering 'Kim Dokja Fragments'.

In such a situation, there was no way that the Constellations of Giant Nebulas, who had better information than anyone else, would not know about Kim Dokja's Fragments.

[Is it you?]

The Constellations that descended before my eyes were proof of that.

'I should have expected it!'

The situation is such that apostles are scattered in various countries and the intensity of filtering has decreased. The Giant Nebulas should have made their moves while being aware of 'Kim Dokja'.

But the situation was already bad.

They dug a trap to catch the 'Demon King of Salvation' and we were caught in it.

'Constellation-nim.'

—It's okay.

Even in the face of crisis, Kim Dokja remained calm.

[You don't look as strong as I heard.]

[The level of the incarnation is also poor.]

[Is it really worth bringing in? I cannot understand the intentions of the Mythical Constellations.]

[Don’t look at it. Still, it is the first fragment of the 'Oldest Dream'.]

[Are you talking about the abolished god?]

Unlike the Constellations in the sky, the Constellations here talked carelessly.

This place is 'Ginnongagap'.

Is it because they know that no one records the story of this place and that no Constellation except them can see this place?

Kim Dokja asked the arrogant Constellations.

"Are you looking for me?"

Even in front of the ten Constellations lined up, Kim Dokja was confident. As if he were certain that they alone could not do anything about him.

The Constellations seemed both impressed and angry at Kim Dokja's attitude.

The Constellations, who were twinkling as if radiating all their emotions, finally gathered their opinions and closed their mouths.

The first to step forward was 'Valkyrie’s Daughter'.

The Constellation, wearing a winged helmet and plate armor decorated with alabaster metal, glared at Kim Dokja once, then smiled and spoke.

[To be exact, you came to visit us.]

"I don’t remember looking for you."

[We called you. I was curious whether the real 'Demon King of Salvation' would come.]

As expected, was this scenario a trap designed by <Asgard>?

"So what are your thoughts on seeing me?"

[Come to us, 'Demon King of Salvation'.]

Valkyrie's daughter smiled seductively and beckoned. Kim Dokja asked, tilting his head with a crooked expression.

"What do you mean?"

[It means that I will accept you as a Constellation of <Asgard>.]

It was an unexpected suggestion.

An invitation from <Asgard>.

This has happened often in the main story, and I also received an invitation from <Asgard> right after hunting down the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'.

But it was not in the same form as it is now.

[Nebula <Asgard> invites the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' to join the Nebula.]

[There is no penalty of any kind for this request.]

Join the Nebula with no conditions.

Have they ever offered such unconventional conditions?

When I was asked to join, <Asgard> put forward an 'absolute command' as a condition for the next 200 years.

[This is not everything. If you come to our Nebula, we will also support your incarnation.]

Was it because of an unexpected suggestion? Kim Dokja did not answer right away and remained silent for a moment. The 'Valkyrie's Daughter' probably thought the silence was a positive sign and continued speaking.

[I will give you a privilege that no other incarnation has received before. You will also be able to share our legendary stories and relics. Then your incarnation will be able to climb these scenarios faster than anyone else.]

Asgard's legendary stories and relics.

If their proposal is true, as soon as I accept the proposal, I will be treated better than 'Anna Croft'.

At that moment, I made eye contact with Anna Croft, who was looking at me from a few steps away. She was listening to this conversation with a confused look, as if she didn't know what was going on.

Kim Dokja briefly glanced at Anna and then asked again.

"If I just sign up, you'll do it all for me?"

[Yes]

"What kind of telecommunication company are you?"

[Telecommunication company? What does that mean?]

"Can you swear by the name of 'One-Eyed Matreya'? You really won't put any conditions on it?"

The Constellations just looked at each other without answering. Then, one of the Constellations belatedly took action.

[How dare you mention my father's name—]

"That doesn't seem possible."

Kim Dokja lightly sneered.

"I don't believe in unconditional favor. It's obvious that there will be strange clauses attached. You Nebula people have always been like that."

I also had the same thoughts as Kim Dokja.

In the first place, there is no reason for ten people to come here out of pure kindness.

Finally, one of the Constellations couldn't stand it anymore, frowned at him and stepped forward.

The one who had defended her father spoke up.

[I won’t talk too much. Return the 'fragments' you have collected to <Asgard> immediately.]

[One who washes cleanly. Step back!]

[Daughter of the Valkyrie, we have no time to waste. 'Gingagap' doesn't last very long.]

Kim Dokja shrugged his shoulders and laughed.

"Look at this. How good is it that we can be honest with each other?"

Ten Constellations looked this way at the same time.

[I will ask you one last question. Are you going to join our Nebula?]

"I’m sorry, but I’m already the representative of a certain Nebula."

The moment I heard those words, my heart started beating without me knowing.

This is because the 'Demon King of Salvation' who spoke those words was like Kim Dokja from the story I remembered.

Perhaps the memories Kim Dokja recovered from the past were about <Kim Dokja Company>.

The noisy Constellations frowned and said.

[Which Nebula did you join?]

"Kim Dokja's Company."

[Such a Nebula does not exist.]

As he said, there is no Nebula called <Kim Dokja Company> in this world line. Maybe there won't be any in the future.

Then Kim Dokja said:

"Yes. Low-level guys like you wouldn’t know about them."

[You...!]

As as many as ten Constellations stared at me, I felt an enormous sense of pressure.

Gazes that have saved and killed countless incarnations so far.

But Kim Dokja did not feel intimidated at all.

If I thought about it, he had endured this kind of gaze all along. After the scenario began, maybe even before it began.

[If you reject our offer, you will perish here. With your incarnation.]

"Can you do it with just you?"

Kim Dokja laughed darkly.

The monster that had grown by devouring the gaze of the stars was now glaring at them from the same spot as the stars.

Coo coo coo coo coo.

As an unusual current began to flow, the embarrassed Constellations also expressed their anger in earnest.

I paid attention to the black hand of the 'Cleaner' who was leading them.

'Constellation-nim, that black hand.'

Kim Dokja also seemed to remember that hand and nodded his head.

—That's right.

The hand that has retrieved the souls of readers whenever they have died.

A white scar remained on the back of the Constellation's hand.

It was a wound I cut with my 'Unbreakable Faith'.

Hell, these guys are one of the criminals who kidnap the souls of readers whenever they die.

"Rather, I should make a suggestion. Give me all the 'Kim Dokja Fragments' you have collected so far."

[What?]

"Then, I will help you prevent Ragnarok from happening in this world line."

[How dare you to <Asgard>—]

"You must speak clearly. You are not <Asgard>."

My body, possessed by Kim Dokja, slowly rose into the air.

「Way of the Wind.」

Hair and coats were blowing violently in the wind, accompanied by fierce wind pressure.

"At most, you are only ten 'historical-grade Constellations'."

[It seems like you don't really understand what kind of situation you're in.]

In response to Kim Dokja's provocation, the Constellations of <Asgard> continued to speak with a calmer tone.

[I already know about you. You were quite a famous Constellation in other world lines.]

[But whoever you are, your story will not work here.]

[Because this is a stage before the 'stories' have yet been written.]

In hindsight, I understood their leisure.

This is the stage of the beginning, 'Ginnongagap'. Kim Dokja's story does not show its true power here.

Nevertheless, Kim Dokja did not lose his composure.

"Okay?"

[Capture him.]

Ten Constellations flowed out at the same time and rushed towards Kim Dokja.

Kim Dokja looked at them and said.

"It looks like the Constellations above have heard about my story, but it looks like no one has told you exactly what it is."

The person who claimed to be the leader is 'The One Who Washes Cleanly'.

As soon as he held out his hand, wearing pitch-black gloves, dozens of shadow hands came rushing in.

"They don’t know either."

Beast Lord's Sensitivity protected me from the flying shadow hand, and at the same time, the disaster species released their breath from the Monster Gate that opened. It was the same tactic that had previously subdued the 'Black Beast'.

Coo coo coo coo!

But this time, the opponent is a 'Constellation'.

From an incarnation’s point of view, Shin Yoosung's monsters are strong, but from the stars' point of view, it is different.

[Just like a monster!]

A Constellation dressed as a Viking sent his ax flying towards the gate. The ax, loaded with fierce fighting power, created a gust of wind, blowing off the heads of the monsters and even tearing off the entrance to the gate.

Some of the frightened disaster species stuck out their necks and ran away in panic.

[Give up your head!]

After all, a Constellation is a Constellation.

This was an enemy on a different level from the enemies I had fought so far.

So why am I not that nervous?

Is it because Kim Dokja is with me?

—Did you forget that we killed the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'?

Memories of confronting the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne' at the end of the fourth scenario.

It was like that.

Come to think of it, I have already faced enemies stronger than them.

—You said that back then.

I still remember the events of that day vividly. The day I gained the Demon King of Salvation as a sponsor and came back from the dead.

The day Han Sooyoung disappeared.

—You are Kim Dokja.

That day, I swore to Han Sooyoung.

I accepted who I was.

'I think it should be so.'

But if I accept that, does that mean I become 'Kim Dokja'?

—It’s still not enough.

I was angry, but I had no choice but to admit it.

If he, and no one else, said so, it would be so.

'I know.'

I have an excuse.

Even if I am a part of Kim Dokja, I have not lived 'Kim Dokja’s life'.

I've written and read stories about him, but I really don't know what he was like.

I don't know him as a person. I do not know how he laughed, what tone of voice he spoke, or what thoughts he lived through the many lines that are not described.

In a way, I'm finally starting to understand it little by little.

—Youngest.

I am learning about Kim Dokja.

—I hope you survive.

It's still difficult.

—Remember. How does 'Kim Dokja' fight? See it clearly with your own two eyes and write it down.

Sometimes it's lonely, lonely, and difficult, so it's hard for me to do it alone.

[The synchronization rate with your sponsor is increasing!]

At that moment, a scene unfolded in my mind.

It was a library.

As we moved on, Kim Dokja was standing beyond the swaying candela lights.

Kim Dokja quickly passed by the bookshelves, then stopped and took out a book from one of the shelves.

There were traces of Kim Dokja reading and rereading the pages he opened.

When I turned my head, Kim Dokja was looking at me.

—From now on, we will read together.

I nodded.

[The exclusive skill 'Bookmark' is activated!]

Ten Constellations attacked us at the same time.

A blade that shines pure white. Frozen Changgeuk. Arrows blazing with flames and shadowy hands piercing like awls.

I couldn't take on any of them on my own.

But it's different when we're together.

[Bookmark 5 has been activated!]

[Your current body composition is different from that of the character.]

[Your 'strength' overcomes the physical condition penalty.]

I felt goosebumps deep inside my mind and an indescribable sense of liberation.

「He is truly Kyrgios's disciple.」

It's different from the time when all I could do was just barely imitate with [Incite].

「The paradoxical White Blue, the successor to the vision of 'Kyrgios Rodgraim'.」

The magical power of white and blue, burning like a wildflower, dyed us blue.

[Exclusive skill 'Electrification Lv.???' has been activated.]

Kim Dokja, who became a blue holy light, passed by the first line of Constellations.

The Constellation 'the Cleanser' who was standing in the first line, looked back at us with astonished eyes.

"If you really wanted to catch me."

Kim Dokja said without even looking at him.

"You should have brought at least a Mythical-grade Constellation."

The three Constellations in the first row were split in half.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

708 Episode 26 Star Ladder (4)

---

One day after 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' was completed, there was a time when Ji Eunyu was collecting comment questions for a questionnaire survey.

Among them, one question was noticeably overlapping.

"How strong is Kim Dokja?"

World, I was curious too.

How strong is Kim Dokja?

When I actually tried to write the answer, I couldn't figure out how strong Kim Dokja was.

This is because the standard of strength in 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' is 'stories'.

Kim Dokja accumulated stories through indiscriminate efforts, and the more stories he accumulated, the stronger he became.

In Part 1, five stories were collected to become the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

In Part 2, he obtained his first 'Giant Story' by defeating 'Surya', The Supreme God of Light, a Mythical-grade Constellation.

In Part 3, he got the second big story after the 1,863rd round and ‘Gigantomachia’.

In Part 4, he became the youngest member of 'The Great Sage Heaven Equal', which became complete after the Holy Demon Battle, and completed the rest of the 'Giant Story'.

Kim Dokja, who finally reached Part 5, became this world itself.

What does it mean to become a world?

Is it possible to measure the 'strength' of the being that has become the world?

Even now, I don’t know the answer.

However, I have something to say about 'Kim Dokja before he became the world'.

For example, Kim Dokja in 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint Part 1'.

Kim Dokja became a Narrative level Constellation and earned the title 'Demon King of Salvation'.

If someone asks, this is how I would describe his strength.

「"Well, wouldn’t it be possible to wipe out about ten historical-grade people?"」

And unfortunately, the Constellation in front of me did not hear my answer.

[I’ve never heard of a story like this—]

The incarnation of the 'Cleaner' who was muttering in disbelief slowly separated into upper and lower parts.

[The Constellation 'The One Who Washes Clean' has suffered a terrible blow to his true body!]

[The Constellation 'The One Who Washes Clean' leaves the scenario!]

The incarnation body, freed from half-body descent, crumbled into white bones, and the exit messages of the other two Constellations that had suffered the same thing rang out one after another.

[The Constellation 'Survivor of a Secret Country' exits the scenario!]

[The Constellation 'The Wise Young Man' leaves the scenario!]

A tragedy that occurred in an instant.

The Constellations were speechless.

The power of the Constellation cannot be used in the form of Half-God Advent.

But even so, Constellations are Constellations, beings that are recognized as such by gathering as many as five stories.

These were never great people who would suffer in vain like this.

[Valkyrie's daughter. How did that happen?]

[How on earth did that guy—]

[Everyone, don’t panic. That level is far below his original status.]

[A lot lower? Just how strong was that Constellation—]

'Valkyrie’s Daughter' answered with a cold expression.

[The final classification grade of the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' was 'Myth Grade'.]

A Mythical Constellation.

At those words, the seven Constellations opened their mouths at each other at the same time.

[Mythical level? Aren’t you misunderstanding something?]

[Why didn’t you inform me of that fact sooner!]

Kim Dokja said, as if he was enjoying the commotion.

"You seem to know something. Those poor historical-grade seem to have come without knowing anything."

The Constellations now looked as if they were about to scream.

But in fact, Kim Dokja was not in a situation to relax that much. I knew more than anyone else because I was the one who lent him my body.

Crumble.

Even though I was not receiving any probability aftermath, my body was already tearing in various places.

An incarnation that was destroyed by just one 'Constellation'.

This is the 'class' of a Mythical-level Constellation.

'Constellation-nim.'

—I know.

Now, there is a limit to the number of [Full-Personalization] that can be done with this body.

On the other hand, there are seven remaining historical-grade Constellations.

Nevertheless, Kim Dokja did not lose his composure .

"If you die here, no record will be left behind. Are you all ready to disappear cleanly?"

I thought it would be better if they got scared and ran away like this, but there was no way the situation would be resolved that easily.

'Valkyrie’s Daughter' stepped forward and spoke.

[Constellations of the great <Asgard>. There's no need to be scared. 'Mythical grade' is just a story from another world line. Now he is just a fragment of a discarded god.]

A discarded god. They used that expression before too.

[His true body has already been cruelly torn apart by the great 'Mythical Constellations'. He cannot use the power he had in his prime. Just like the monkey star in <The Emperor>.]

I was a little embarrassed.

What is that punk talking about now?

Kim Dokja's 'true body' is torn?

And the one who did that was a Mythical Constellation?

Is it possible?

I didn't understand.

Based on the completion of Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, Kim Dokja has a status that goes beyond a Mythical Constellation and can be called the absolute ruler of this world.

Did Kim Dokja suffer like that?

Are other Mythical Constellations that strong?

I thought of the Mythical Constellations representing each Nebula.

For example, the Constellations of the 'last scenario' such as Odin, the 'One-Eyed Matreya' in <Asgard>, or the 'Seat of Lightning' in <Olympus>.

Kim Dokja in the main story also chose to avoid them rather than confront them head on, so their strength was clearly proven.

But that was all before Kim Dokja became the 'Oldest Dream'.

Will Odin or Zeus be strong enough to deal with Kim Dokja after seeing the end of the scenario?

[Arrogant fragment of god. You are no longer the only observer in this world.]

What is clear is that 'Valkyrie's daughter' in front of us knows who the 'Demon King of Salvation' is.

[I'm sure you're still under the illusion that you can see and shape this world at will.]

And that he knows something about the secrets of this world.

'Constellation-nim, what does that mean? What does it mean that your body was torn?'

I wondered what would happen if he avoided answering, but Kim Dokja answered obediently.

—Literally. You already know. There is not just one 'Kim Dokja' in this world.

'Then what about the 'Oldest Dream'?'

According to what they said, there was a high probability that the 'Oldest Dream' did not exist in this world today.

When I thought about it that way, there were some things that immediately made sense.

「"You can only press the reset button once. In the next round, everything in this universe will be destroyed forever."」

In a flashback seen through Anna Croft, Yoo Joonghyuk of the 40th round said: the 41st round is his last life.

If Yoo Joonghyuk found out that there was a problem with his sponsor, and that caused a problem with his [Regression], then it was understandable that he said that.

However, if the 'Oldest Dream' had truly disappeared, the real problem was different.

'Who on earth is observing this world right now?'

The entire universe exists through Kim Dokja's observations, which became the 'Oldest Dream'.

But if the 'Oldest Dream' is absent, who will watch over this world on his behalf?

—Youngest, you probably have a lot of questions right now.

Just as Kim Dokja was about to reply to my words, the Constellations that gained courage once again surrounded us.

Kim Dokja opened his mouth with a bitter smile.

"Do you want to keep fighting? Even if I can’t show the strength I had in my prime, it’s easy to rip you to death."

[Maybe so. That is, if your incarnation body was fine.]

'Valkyrie's Daughter', who had suddenly changed her speaking style to an honorific one, smiled subtly and her bright eyes shone.

Stigmata "Sharp Eyes".

Although it is impossible to find out detailed information about the other person like with [Character List] or [Sage's Eyes], it is a technique to analyze the other person's current state through close observation of the other person's breathing, movement, tone of voice, or facial expression.

[Even if you have that much power, your incarnation body is already limited. Do you think I don’t know?]

Indeed, weren’t there not only stupid Constellations in <Asgard>?

After doing a complete analysis of our situation, Valkyrie's daughter gave orders to the other Constellations.

[Please gather your strength. I will deal with him directly.]

'Valkyrie’s Daughter' stood at the front representing the remaining Constellations.

Eventually, the Constellations continued, and the status of the seven Constellations was concentrated on a single Constellation.

The aura of 'Valkyrie's Daughter’, which had been fluttering red and blue, soon began to burn fiercely with pure white light.

「This place is now a yawning abyss.」

The spear she held in her hand burned fiercely, and a string of story stirred.

「The worlds of ice and fire were divided across the primordial void.」

The moment I read that line, I was depressed. Although it was a short sentence and not a full sentence, there was no mistake.

'Isn't that the Crest of Creation?'

I never thought it would come this far in <Asgard>.

The fact that they gave the Creation Crest to a Constellation that was only historical-grade means that they are that serious about this situation.

—I got caught by crazy people.

Kim Dokja also seemed troubled this time.

In any case, from a Nebula’s point of view, historical-grade Constellations are expendable. If only they could capture Kim Dokja by handing over the Creation Crest to them, it was a reasonable enough expense for <Asgard>.

[Well, try using that technique one more time.]

Now, that skill can only be used once.

My body has reached its limit, and now 'Valkyrie’s Daughter' risks her life.

If I defeat her, the remaining six Constellations will unite against us at the same time.

If that happens, it's over.

—Don’t worry, Youngest.

However, even in the face of an imminent situation, Kim Dokja remained calm.

Kim Dokja took a deep breath and shouted in an even louder voice.

"I don’t understand what you’re saying. You guys can’t do it. Why don’t you just call stronger Constellations?"

[We are enough for you—]

"Even if you say that the Mythical-grade Constellations are lazy, what are all the Mythical-grade Constellations doing? Don’t you guys have any of the 12 Olympus-grade Constellations? Is this the only Asgardian foot?"

Of course, there is a grade of '12 Olympus' in <Asgard>.

"Guardian of the Great Horn Bridge! Flame of Muspelheim! God of Harp and Horon! Where are you all hiding?"

As the Narrative-grade Constellations' descriptions flowed from Kim Dokja's mouth, the Constellations, including 'Valkyrie's Daughter', were startled.

Kim Dokja continued as if enjoying their reactions.

"Heimdall! Surtur! Tyr! Baldur! Where are you all hiding so you can’t see me? I’m here! Come get me!"

The Constellations, who belatedly noticed the situation, shouted in anxious voices.

[How dare you—]

I was equally anxious.

They say we're crazy, so we act like we’re crazy too.

So what are we going to do?

If a really angry Heimdall or Surtur shows up...

Then suddenly a strange thought crossed my mind.

Those bastards, really, why didn’t anyone come?

<Asgard> paid a great deal of probability for this event, to the extent of bringing 'Ginnungagap' to the stage. Why didn't they bring in the crucial Constellations when they were even given the Crest of Creation?

To put it bluntly, if a Constellation like Odin, the 'One-Eyed Father', a Mythical Constellation, or Thor, the 'Thunder of Thursday', had come from the beginning, we would have been reduced to ashes on the spot.

The fact that they couldn't do that....

"Coward Odin! If you want to catch me, come and see for yourself!"

As soon as Odin's name came out of Kim Dokja's mouth, the Constellations of Asgard turned pale.

[No—!]

Normally, lightning should have fallen from the sky by now.

The world was dead quiet.

Kim Dokja looked up at the sky for a moment and spoke as if laughing at the silence.

"It must be scary. The scale is tipping."

As soon as he said those words, the sky tore apart and a ray of lightning struck.

Grumble!

It was lightning from <Asgard>.

The high-ranking Constellations of <Asgard>, who had been silent throughout, eventually responded to Kim Dokja's provocation.

But at that very moment, the sound of something being torn apart was heard from across the sky struck by lightning. A terrible roar sounded as if the stars were being erased, and the sky became quiet again.

The historical-grade Constellations looked up at the scene with wide eyes.

[W-what on earth—]

It was clear what had happened. One of the Constellations of <Asgard> beyond 'Ginnongagap' caused an uproar, and almost at the same time, someone struck a fatal blow to that Constellation.

But who on earth could do such a thing?

Who can bring down a Constellation of <Asgard>, which no Constellation in this universe can touch?

"If the scales tip, someone you can’t handle may come to you."

Kim Dokja looked up at the sky with a distant gaze. I looked up at the sky with him.

The moment the pitch-black sky of Ginnungagap rippled like a black coat, I also realized something.

I don't know who the 'Oldest Dream' that observes this world is.

However, I knew one person who was looking for Kim Dokja more than anyone else.

He is a being who is not afraid to face Nebulae.

The one who killed the most 'stars' in all of the universe and saw the end of the scenarios with Kim Dokja.

The protagonist of 'Ways of Survival',

「Beyond that curtain is the 'Yoo Joonghyuk' I knew.」

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

709 Episode 26 Star Ladder (5)

---

As the chatter of <Asgard> subsided, the sky over Ginnungagap was covered in silence again.

A sky where no star dares to shine.

It was not simply because the veil of 'Ginnungagap' hid the starlight. Beyond that veil, there was a being that caught the light of all the stars.

Kim Dokja burst into laughter under his breath.

"Look, you can’t do that."

The historical-grade Constellation remained silent, unable to respond to those words.

They probably felt it too.

Just now, a Constellation from <Asgard> fell from beyond the sky of 'Ginnungagap'. I don't know what the Constellation's modifier or true name is. However, judging from the reactions of the historical-grade Constellation, it seems that he is not a weak guy.

That Constellation fell all at once.

'Is Yoo Joonghyuk over there?'

Kim Dokja looked up at the sky without answering.

What Kim Dokja can see, I can also see. However, Yoo Joonghyuk was not visible in Kim Dokja's eyes. All that was reflected in my eyes was a landscape that looked like a pitch-black blackout curtain.

—There is.

Still, we could imagine.

The fragments recovered by Kim Dokja were talking to us.

「"Kim Dokja. Are you there?"」

It was a voice from the distant past.

Words that his colleagues once searched for him with.

「"Dokja-ssi."」

「"Ahjussi! Can you hear me? Ahjussi!"」

Since this world line did not allow communication with them, their voices were nothing more than auditory hallucinations created by Kim Dokja's memories.

Still, we knew. Even if the voice is different, even if the pitch and content of the words are different, <Kim Dokja Company> is looking for Kim Dokja beyond the stage.

Because this is 'that kind of story'.

—In the end, all that remains is the story.

This story is all about Kim Dokja.

'Do you miss them?'

The agitation felt like a faint ripple and then subsided.

—I told you. That's not my responsibility.

Suddenly my emotions soared.

I wanted to tell the Demon King of Salvation.

You don't have to be that kind of person. There is no reason why you have to be the only 'Kim Dokja' like that.

But on the other hand, I understood what he was saying.

His story was telling.

「This is the way of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.」

He can only say that. From the time he was born, he had no choice but to live like that.

Just like that stubborn Yoo Joonghyuk.

At that moment, this thought occurred to me.

If every 'Kim Dokja' had his own role. If you live a story appropriate for that role.

So what is my role as 'Kim Dokja'?

['Ginnungagap' will be lifted soon.]

The pitch-black sky was shaking.

The first thing that came to me was relief that I had survived.

When this 'stage' is lifted, the Constellations will no longer be able to harm us.

Even if it was a scenario where the scale of probability was at play, even if the opponent was <Asgard>, one of the three powers of the 'Nebula', there was no way they could have suffered a bigger loss than this.

However, the historical-grade Constellation showed no sign of giving up yet.

[Don’t bluff. No great being can cross that veil now.]

Valkyrie's daughter was right.

In order for the Yoo Joonghyuk I know to descend here, at least a Mythical Constellation would have to appear and balance the scales.

But there is no way that 'Odin' would appear here just to catch us.

"That means the Constellations can’t come to help you."

[There is no need for help from other Constellations. Because we alone are enough to hunt you down.]

"The three of them were torn apart earlier."

At those words, a bright roar flowed from 'Valkyrie's Daughter', who inherited the status of the seven historical-grade Constellation.

[I know what the 'old you' looked like.]

The old Kim Dokja?

[I have seen it several times in the stories of the Mythical Constellations that hunted you. It was so fascinating that I couldn't help but watch it over and over again. In that story, you were truly beautiful.]

I was wondering.

Is Kim Dokja's true identity really as they claim?

Even if it remains as a 'story', there is no guarantee that the incident was true.

In some stories, the facts are contaminated by false propaganda.

'Valkyrie's Daughter' continued speaking in a cold voice.

[You are imitating God well despite the skin that God has shed.]

Those words struck my heart in a strange way.

"Imitate."

The Demon King of Salvation laughed without denying those words in any way.

The air around us began to vibrate. Seven Constellations, led by 'Valkyrie's Daughter', were approaching with all their might.

'Ginnungagap' is not over yet.

'What are you going to do?'

Three Constellations have already left. The remaining historical-grade Constellation will now risk their life to attack.

'If I use that skill one more time—'

—Then you'll die.

I know. But there is no other way.

—There is a way.

'Valkyrie's Daughter' flew into the air and threw out a spear, spewing out chills. A fierce gust of wind struck my waist as if the space around me was being compressed.

It's enormous.

Even if it is not a Mythical-grade attack, if it is an attack of this level, one hit will kill me instantly.

Even in that situation, Kim Dokja was still smirking.

"Seven of you attack someone with nothing but fault? If we do this, we'll have no choice but to call our side."

[There is no one on your side here—]

Kim Dokja put his hand into his chest and threw something toward the front.

Acrid smoke spread out with a small explosion sound.

'Poison Bomb.'

It was a trophy obtained when dealing with the Misreading association guys in the Star Labyrinth.

Naturally, it was an item that would not cause any harm to the Constellations.

[With just this insignificant skill!]

"Insignificant skill?"

The Constellations, startled by Kim Dokja's words, stopped for a moment.

Then, instead of running straight this way, they started creating wind pressure to blow away the smoke from the poisonous bomb.

They suspected that Kim Dokja might have set a trap.

But that was exactly the effect Kim Dokja was aiming for.

"Anna Croft."

Anna Croft, who was standing in the back, trembled at Kim Dokja's call.

Kim Dokja said, reaching out his hand toward her.

"Heart."

The processing of the 'Lesser Dragon’s Heart' that I requested earlier has just been completed.

Valkyrie's daughter, who witnessed the scene, warned.

[Prophet! What are you trying to do now!]

Anna Croft's movements stopped at the bloody voice.

[I'm sure you're not trying to betray <Asgard>.]

At those words, both Anna Croft, Selena Kim, and Christina Page who were by her side turned pale.

[Have you forgotten whose incarnation you are?]

The reason 'Zarathustra' was able to become as strong as it is now is because of the support of the Nebula <Asgard>.

Helping me in a situation where I and <Asgard> were at a loss was tantamount to betraying the Nebula behind her.

Anna Croft's 'Eye of the Great Evil' was seen turning red for a moment.

Tsutsutsu.

Anna Croft stumbled, frowning as sparks flew through the air.

She attempted to read the future with [Future Sight]. Judging by the expression on his face, [Future Sight] probably failed.

Anna Croft, who looked at us for a moment, lowered her head and said.

"I am definitely the incarnation of <Asgard>."

I understood.

In the seventh scenario, it was obvious what the price would be for betraying the third-tier Giant Nebula.

If she helps us now, Anna's group will be defeated. So her judgment now was extremely reasonable.

"But."

Anna Croft slowly raised her head, looked at 'Valkyrie's Daughter' and continued her words.

"I’m not sure if you can represent <Asgard>."

The moment I looked into Anna Croft's eyes, I slowly got goosebumps.

I forgot for a moment.

That she is a 'Gambler in Las Vegas'.

[What are you saying now?]

"This stage is from the beginning, 'Ginnungagap', what happened here is not recorded. Since it is not handed down, no one outside can know what happened here."

Anna Croft has just placed a bet.

"If you all die here, who will remember what I did?"

[What nonsense are you talking about? Prophet!]

A gamble with little chance.

A situation in which a normal 'Anna Croft' would never have intervened.

And yet now, Anna Croft has placed her entire stake on the conman she hates the most.

"Cheon Inho. Can you do it?"

I don’t know if Cheon Inho can do it or not. However, it was not Cheon Inho who was answering now.

"It is possible."

The Constellations realized something was wrong and shouted.

[Attack!]

In the meantime, we received the 'Refined Lesser Dragon Heart' from Anna Croft.

I wanted to ask her.

Why did you decide to help us?

In a situation where there is no future in sight, what on earth did you believe and bet on us?

"In no round was I recognized as a 'companion' by the Supreme King."

Anna Croft's gaze was focused on the fallen Yoo Joonghyuk.

"If such a powerful king recognized you as a comrade, there must be a good reason."

Anna Croft had a feeling that this round was the end of the world lines. Therefore, she may also have taken her last gamble.

"Joonghyuk has an eye for people."

The Constellations that cleared away the poisonous fog each fired their weapons.

The one that flew first was again the spear fired by 'Valkyrie's Daughter'.

The thunderous strike contained in the weapon flew over, turning the entire floor over.

[Kill! Recover the fragments!]

Kim Dokja dodged the spear and immediately swallowed the 'Lesser Dragon's Heart'.

[Use 'Refined Lesser Dragon's Heart'.]

My heart was beating loudly and my body was shaking violently. The magical power emanating from the dragon's heart was merging with my heart. Like the fable of a chrysalis becoming a butterfly, I felt my body breaking through its limits.

[Your body evolves!]

[The story of the 'Braqui Clan' dwells in your heart.]

But the opponents were Constellations.

It was not possible to overcome the defense just by absorbing a single 'Lesser Dragon's Heart' and increasing the amount of magical power.

The weapon that had passed us was flying back to us across the distant sky.

Considering that the range of the lightning discharged was larger than before, it seemed difficult to avoid it by fluke.

This time we have to hit with all our might.

—Youngest.

'Yes.'

The moment my heart beat loudly, the dragon's heart carried rough magical energy throughout my body.

As I felt pain due to torn blood vessels, pages started turning in my head.

[The exclusive skill 'Bookmark' is activated!]

We are Kim Dokja.

Readers fight in their own way.

—The person we need right now.

'It's a monster that can take on seven historical-grade Constellations.'

—It’s hard to do just that. The physical size doesn't match, so the cost of class is too high.

'It won't work even with a broken sword.'

A character who can defeat seven historical-grade Constellation.

There were many people that came to mind, but it was hard to think of anyone who could take them down without unduly harming the balance of the scales.

—There is one.

But will it work? That person is a 'Constellation'.

Originally, [Bookmark] only works on 'characters'.

In fact, in the Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, Kim Dokja never once borrowed the power of 'Constellations' as a bookmark.

—Maybe, because I happened to get the 'Dragon Heart' too.

But it wasn't impossible.

There was definitely an increase in understanding of bookmarks for 'Constellations'.

'Then let's do it.'

An existence that is at the limit that my current body can handle and that the probability of the scale allows.

「"This guy was born to be a businessman."」

As the pages stopped turning, his history filled my ears.

「"I was born with the blood of a dragon."」

In the main story, there was no opportunity to borrow his power as a 'bookmark'.

This is because there was insufficient understanding.

[You possess the 'Dragon Heart'.]

[Your body specifications are similar to the person's body specifications.]

But what about now?

[Bookmark number 21 is activated.]

My heart was pounding loudly and my vision was distorted.

The rushing Constellations shouted as if they were struggling.

[I don't know what you're trying to do—]

[Kill him! At best, he can only use the power of a historical-grade Constellation!]

At best, he is a historical-grade Constellation.

However, even historical-grade Constellation have a hierarchy.

[Exclusive skill 'Three Swords Lv. ???' is activated!]

He is the most powerful Constellation.

He is a being who has never swung his sword at the same opponent more than three times in his life.

A warrior who cut down a thousand people with one sword, collapsed a mountain with two swords, and split the sea with three swords.

[Bookmark number 21 'Goryeo First Sword Cheok Jungyeong' is activated!]

The Constellation at the rear, who belatedly realized something, shouted.

[Wait, stop! Valkyrie's daughter! Something is wrong! Now he is—]

Before he could even finish his words, the entire landscape in front of him was torn apart.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

710 Episode 26 Star Ladder (6)

---

Cheok Jungyeong's first Japanese meal that serves a thousand people at once.

One Sword That Splits The Sky.

I was familiar with its grandeur and performance. Because I wrote that sentence with my own hands.

When was it? Was it when Kim Dokja, who was imprisoned in [Hundred Days of Seal], borrowed 'Ganpyeongui' and summoned Cheok Jungyeong?

「A swordsmanship cultivated over a lifetime by a great genius who may only appear once every tens of thousands of years. The most ideal cut created solely for destruction.」

But now that I look at it, I feel like I need to change that sentence a bit.

Why didn't I write down that it hurts to use it?

No. Did I write it down? If it was written, it was insufficient.

It felt like someone had bent all my joints in a way that made them impossible to move. Even though [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] was activated, the pain was felt right down to my soul.

Looking at my tattered right hand, I wondered how on earth Kim Dokja could endure something like this.

—This is barely a sword, Youngest.

It's barely like this.

So, just what level of destructive power are Cheok Jungyeong's three swords and the four swords created after that?

—That Cheok Jungyeong was also blocked at 'historical-grade'. The guys you have to deal with in the future are higher than that.

I can't even guess.

What kind of story must we build to reach that place? Is it really possible to reach it?

How was it possible for Kim Dokja not to be scared even when facing that high sky?

—You can do it. Because we already did it once.

The thick dust cleared and there was only one Constellation left where the blade passed.

[How...]

The six brilliantly shining stars of <Asgard> have set.

There is only one thing left. Only 'Valkyrie's Daughter' remained. Even then, more than half of her incarnation body was blown away.

As her spear, which had been resting on the floor, scattered into powder, Valkyrie's Daughter fell to the ground.

[This technique is definitely that monster's...]

The trembling woman also seemed to recognize Cheok Jungyeong's sword.

Cheok Jungyeong, like Kim Dokja, was cursed with [Fate] and became an enemy of the Giant Nebula, so it was no surprise that Valkyrie's Daughter recognized this technique.

Afterwards, Valkyrie's Daughter, whose magic power flowed back, began to vomit.

[Oh, no. It can't end like this—]

And.

['Ginnungagap' ends.]

I felt the curtain surrounding me disappear. The curtain of 'Ginnungagap' staged in <Asgard> is finally about to disappear.

[The effect of 'Ginnungagap' is activated.]

[What happened in 'Ginnungagap' is not recorded in the world line.]

The curtain disappeared, revealing the ruined city of Washington. The incarnations nearby looked at each other blankly.

Valkyrie's Daughter, who had not yet been lifted from 'half-body advent', also looked embarrassed.

[How on earth did this happen...]

The reason that 'half-body advent' was not lifted is probably because the power of 'Valkyrie's Daughter' was damaged.

What was puzzling was her reaction.

[Wh-where has everyone gone! Constellations, what's going on! Why me—]

Valkyrie's daughter, who had been spouting off a bunch of stories, croaked. It seems as if she had forgotten all previous events.

She wasn't the only one having this strange reaction.

"Cheon Inho?"

Anna Croft, who had been watching the battle by my side, was asking with a confused look on her face.

"What on earth happened? Why is Valkyrie's daughter…? No, these traces…"

With those words, Anna activated [Past Sight]. But all that came back was a light spark.

Afterwards, it was felt that the incarnations of the area were shaking in confusion.

"What happened to the Black Beast?"

"What? Why am I here…"

"The Black Beast has fallen!"

"It’s a Constellation! A Constellation has descended!"

"I feel like my head is going to explode."

What happened inside 'Ginnungagap' is not recorded. However, this 'record' apparently also included the 'memories' of humans and Constellations.

Anna Croft, who had been staring blankly into space, came to her senses and muttered.

"No way... 'Ginnungagap'?"

She was also a prophet. Did she realize what had happened in that short period of time?

Anyway, it was disappointing.

The fact that everything that happened in 'Ginnungagap' was not recorded also meant that the things that happened there could not be made into stories.

It was unfair that the incident of executing as many as ten 'historical-grade Constellations' was not recognized as a story, but somehow they survived.

But when I thought about it, something felt strange.

「I remember all the incidents that happened in 'Ginnungagap'.」

Along with the feeling of my heart becoming cold, I felt the power of the story surrounding Kim Dokja and me.

[The story 'Recorder of Things That Will Disappear' is in effect.]

[You are not affected by the record erasure effect of 'Ginnungagap'.]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Asgard> are greatly embarrassed.]

[The Nebula <Asgard> protests to the Bureau.]

.

.

[Your record will be sent to the <Star Stream>.]

[Your achievements have been recorded in the <Star Stream>.]

[You have achieved an achievement that does not exist!]

[The <Star Stream> reviews your achievements.]

Since when did it start? 'Valkyrie's Daughter's' expression was grotesquely distorted as she looked at me.

[Nonsense—How to do 'Ginnungagap'?]

She also realized what was happening.

She urgently looked up at the sky and burst out with her loud mantra.

[Stop it! Constellations! We must kill him quickly! Right now!]

Sparks of probability were swirling around 'Valkyrie's Daughter'.

[He remembers everything that happened inside 'Ginnungagap'!]

What it meant was clear.

I don't know why, but the incident we committed was recorded as a 'story'.

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' requests to view the records.]

[The Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' requests to view the records.]

[The Constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' requests access to the records.]

[The Constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' requests to view the records.]

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' requests to view the records.]

…

Endless indirect messages.

[The Management Bureau is reviewing your 'new story'!]

I said, suppressing my overflowing heart.

'Constellation-nim.'

If this incident is recognized as a 'story', I will get a story about the massacre of 'ten historical-grade Constellations' in the seventh scenario.

An impossible story told on a stage where recording is impossible.

An achievement that not even Kim Dokja in the main story could achieve.

I couldn't even guess what kind of story I was going to receive.

However, Kim Dokja—that is, the 'Demon King of Salvation'—looked strangely reluctant.

—This is not good.

'It's not good?'

—Youngest, do you remember that I was given [Fate]?

Of course I remember.

Because of the [Fate] he received at that time, Kim Dokja died several times and was even expelled from the scenario in the tenth scenario.

—That was the 'eight scenario'. But if this happens in only the seventh scenario, what do you think the Giant Nebulae will look like?

'Ah...'

—Shit. I thought it would be okay because it was 'Ginnungagap'.

I remembered what the 'Giant Nebulae' were.

In this <Star Stream>, these guys are more serious about the fight for food than anyone else. They were the ones who called on [Fate] to stop Kim Dokja.

There's no way those guys would just sit by and watch us, who defeated ten 'historical-grade Constellations'.

The intervals between thunder sounds, as if representing our anxiety, were becoming shorter and shorter.

I asked, swallowing my ominousness.

'Are they going to deploy additional Constellations?'

<Asgard> would have suffered enormous losses just by bringing in 'Ginnungagap'.

I wanted to believe that no matter how large the Nebula was, it would be difficult to sustain any further damage.

—It would be nice if not...

['Bookmark' is released.]

['Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' is temporarily disabled.]

With a tremendous recoil, my vision darkened as if a fuse had blown, but slowly recovered.

Anna Croft helped me as I stumbled.

"Cheon Inho? Are you okay? Cheon Inho!"

I nodded at her and stood upright with her support.

"What is this, what happened in 'Ginnungagap'?"

"I’ll explain later, but for now, Yoo Joonghyuk—"

The moment I said that, light sparks flew throughout my body and my vitality returned, albeit slightly.

['Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' is activated again!]

—Additional probability was paid.

Additional probability?

—Something seems wrong. Be careful, Youngest.

This 'scenario' is a scenario that balances the scales instead of causing repercussions.

The fact that extra probability arose on this side meant that someone other than us was using that much probability on the other side of the scale.

What appeared beyond the portal were incarnations in exotic costumes. Judging by the atmosphere they gave off, they seemed to be from the Balkan Peninsula or the Mediterranean.

Anna Croft, who discovered them, greeted them first.

"Are they the Greeks incarnation?"

One of the group nodded.

"The scenario is already over. You can go back."

It was just as Anna Croft said.

[The current sub-scenario has ended.]

Yoo Joonghyuk, who became the Black Beast, has fallen, and the reward for the 'sub-scenario' is out.

It became Kim Dokja’s responsibility.

But now additional personnel have been dispatched?

It was a bad situation no matter who looked at it. In fact, instead of responding to Anna Croft's words, the guys quickly looked around.

"As expected, <Asgard> came first."

The man who found the fallen 'Valkyrie's Daughter' muttered, and the incarnations nearby helped.

"You bastards. Did you really use 'Ginnungagap'?"

"You paid that price just to deal with one incarnation?"

'Valkyrie’s Daughter' growled, her eyes wide.

[You guys. Who are you?]

The angry mantra uttered by 'Valkyrie’s Daughter' caused an uproar throughout the area.

However, despite the Constellation's attack, the incarnations seemed completely unfazed.

"It’s pathetic. Even after using 'Ginnungagap', you failed."

Clearly they were incarnations. However, no matter how you look at their tone, it was not like incarnations.

The enraged 'Valkyrie’s Daughter' spewed out her mantra once again.

[This is the area of <Asgard>! I don’t know who you guys are, but—]

The words of 'Valkyrie’s Daughter' could not continue. Because her head had already been cut off and sent flying away.

The Greek man who brushed off his bloody shamshir grinned, held her severed head and shook it.

"Good things must be shared, friend."

No matter how much strength is exhausted, it is a power that can cut down a Constellation that has 'half-strengthened' in one blow.

[The Constellation 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' grins.]

Thebes? Damn it. no way.

—I know what kind of guys they are.

[The Constellations of <Olympus> are looking at you.]

After <Asgard>, it's <Olympus>.

'I think they came looking for fragments too.'

—I guess there was a rumor that we were a good restaurant.

The incarnations that appeared were all incarnations of <Olympus>.

Looking at the flow of probability flowing around, it seems that the Constellations of Olympus are controlling the incarnations by raising the synchronization rate to the limit.

Kim Dokja borrowed my mouth and said something.

"You guys seem to be misunderstanding something, but this isn’t 'Holy Demon War' or 'Gigantomachia'."

Even if it is a scenario where the 'scale of probability' works, there is a degree.

If the weight that the scale cannot support rises, the scale will eventually break and the scenario will end in catastrophe.

"Are you all here just to be burned to death by lightning? No matter how absurd the odds are—"

As if to prove Kim Dokja's words, lightning flashed in the air.

However, a new portal was opening in the place where the lightning flashed.

There wasn't only one.

Incarnations wearing various costumes were popping out one after another from dozens of portals that opened simultaneously.

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Ghost> are looking at you.]

<Ghost>.

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Tree of Protection> are looking at you.]

<Tree of Protection>.

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Vedas> are looking at you.]

...<Vedas>.

When I checked there, I heard Kim Dokja's voice.

—Youngest.

'Yes.'

We began to run away, carrying the fallen Yoo Joonghyuk on our backs.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

711 Episode 26 Star Ladder (7)

---

A space painted in neutral colors.

There was a white board with a boring design hanging there.

Kim Dokja Company

Lee Gilyoung stared at the writing on the board.

On the board, traces of various people's handwriting remained as they had been written and erased.

When Han Sooyoung first wrote these words, Lee Jihye asked:

She said, "But wasn’t our company disbanded?"

Han Sooyoung, who heard those words, muttered, "That makes a lot of sense," and corrected the handwriting.

<Han Sooyoung Company, formerly Kim Dokja Company>

Then Lee Seolhwa tilted her head.

"Wasn’t it Han Sooyoung Corporation?"

Han Sooyoung tilted her head and asked, "Did I lose that memory the last time I created an [Avatar]?"

While she was muttering this, each member of the group holding a pen wrote different words on the board.

<Company looking for Kim Dokja ahjussi>

<Kim Dokja Therapy Company>

<Kim Dokja Collection Company>

<Kim Dokja ★ Company>

<Kim Dokja Lee Gilyoung Company>

Someone laughed and someone else corrected what someone wrote.

As they erased and erased it again and again, the white board became dirty, like melted snow.

「"Joonghyuk-ssi, is there anything on your mind?"」

Yoo Joonghyuk glared pitifully at his companions as if he had no intention of getting involved and only looked out the window.

They wrote and erased it dozens of times.

Kim Dokja Company

In the end, those are the only words left to them. Those were the only words they were allowed to write.

Lee Gilyoung reached out to the blank space between 'Kim Dokja' and 'Company'. A blank space where only traces of what people wrote and erased countless times remain.

"Shin Yoosung. Should we not have done anything?"

Shin Yoosung did not respond and just like Lee Gilyoung, she stared blankly at the blank space between 'Kim Dokja' and 'Company'.

In that blank space was the history of their lives.

This was the 41st time she crossed the world lines to find Kim Dokja.

There, she met a new 'Kim Dokja'.

Interfering with the world line to change the story of the 41st round.

And...

Lee Seolhwa stuck her head out through the wide open door. Yoo Sangah, who looked a little tired, was also there.

Lee Gilyoung suddenly stood up and asked.

"Noonas. How did it go?"

"What about Sooyoung?"

It's already been a week since they lost connection with the 41st round.

It was only a week, but they had no idea how long a week here would be over there.

"Certainly not, right?"

Unlike them, Han Sooyoung did not go through the 'Story Connector' created by Lee Seolhwa, but directly infiltrated the '41st round'.

There, she used enormous probability and opened up the story, and as a result, saved Lee Hakhyun, the 49% Kim Dokja.

And.

"Sooyoung was in an avatar."

Han Sooyoung's avatar rescued Lee Hakhyun and disappeared.

"Even if the avatar dies, it’s okay as long as her main body doesn’t die."

Among her group, Han Sooyoung is the only one who can change [Avatars] freely.

She is a person who understands 'Ways of Survival' and this world better than anyone else.

Han Sooyoung left her own body here just in case.

Even if something unpleasant happens in the 41st round, she will be able to regain consciousness here.

But why?

"Why isn’t she waking up?"

After the 41st round’s 'Absolute Throne' scenario ended, Han Sooyoung did not wake up.

At first, they thought she might be secretly moving around using an [Avatar] somewhere.

But even after a day, two days, and a week, Han Sooyoung did not wake up.

More precisely,

"Why can’t I feel anything from Sooyoung?"

They didn’t feel her story.

What that meant was clear.

In the <Star Stream>, existence is a 'story'.

But her story stopped—

"She’ll be alive."

Yoo Sangah said.

"She must be alive. You know what kind of person Sooyoung is."

What kind of person is Han Sooyoung?

Neither Shin Yoosung nor Lee Gilyoung could easily answer that question anymore.

They’re not sure if the Kim Dokja they knew was really Kim Dokja.

What were they looking at in Kim Dokja? Did they look after each other properly?

"What about the black one?"

To make matters worse, Yoo Joonghyuk also lost contact. As expected, the last contact was immediately after the 'Absolute Throne' scenario.

It's time for him to come back, but why is there no contact at all?

[The 'Story Connector' responds to the flood of probability!]

The companions simultaneously raised their heads at the sudden message.

[An extra probability has arisen in the world line!]

Extra probability. They knew what that meant without anyone explaining it to them.

"I want to connect."

They didn't know why, but a margin of 'probability' has emerged in the world.

In other words, now it is possible to interfere in the 41st round with minimal cost.

"I told you I was going this time."

Shin Yoosung radiated her murderous spirit towards Lee Gilyoung, who growled.

Yoo Sangah said, trying to dissuade the two children who seemed ready to fight.

"I'll go."

"Not noona! We have to keep noona here."

"No, I just have to go and summon the bugs! Just wipe out the Constellations or whatever __"

It was Lee Seolhwa who interrupted their conversation.

"Someone is already using probability."

That couldn't have been possible.

The flood of probability has just occurred, so who on earth is already using probability?

The group looked at each other at the same time.

The first to open her mouth was Yoo Sangah.

"An analogy. Show me the area where the probability flooding occurred."

A sound was heard from somewhere, and a moment later a screen appeared.

"Sooty bastard!"

Beyond the screen, there was Yoo Joonghyuk confronting the Constellations.

---

Immediately after failing to conquer the Void Curtain, Yoo Joonghyuk hid in the nearby and bided his time.

There were hunting dogs who chased him for interfering with the world line, but fortunately he had one useful companion.

—Damn it! You dude, you brought me here to take care of this mess.

A man named 'Jaehwan' brought from the ≪Imaginary Tree≫ worldview.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who entrusted the 'Hounds Chasing the Abyss' to him, hid his existence with the minimum probability and waited for an opportunity.

Normally, he would not have continued to wait so inefficiently.

But this time things were a little special.

'Han Sooyoung!'

Immediately after Han Sooyoung disappeared, something broke through the void curtain and entered the 41st round.

Yoo Joonghyuk immediately recognized what it was.

'Kim Dokja.'

It was definitely Kim Dokja.

At least a very large part of Kim Dokja that he remembered.

So Yoo Joonghyuk waited.

He doesn't know why, but Kim Dokja appeared right after Han Sooyoung disappeared.

If it is really clear that 'Kim Dokja' is beyond that ‘Void Curtain’.

If that 'Kim Dokja' is really the Kim Dokja he remembered,

"That guy will definitely distort 'probability' at least once."

Yoo Joonghyuk believed it and waited.

He waited and waited, enduring the shattering of his stories and the wear and tear of his memories.

And.

[The Great Tale 'Ginnungagap' begins its storytelling.]

Finally the signal came.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was behind the moon, immediately checked the state of the Earth for the 41st round.

The Earth was covered with a void veil, so it was impossible to see inside.

But it was possible to know what was happening.

The Giant Tale 'Ginnungagap'.

If the grand narrative of <Asgard> was moving at this point, it was definitely related to Kim Dokja.

Because it couldn't have happened without him doing something strange.

[The scales of probability have tipped!]

[Additional probability abound!]

Yoo Joonghyuk ran across space. The explosive narrative accelerated his entire body. This would have been impossible under normal circumstances. Because there was no probability allowed for him anymore.

But this 'scenario' was different.

[In this scenario, the 'balance of probability' rule is in effect.]

In this scenario, someone can intervene as long as they tip the scales first.

He can ignore the laws of probability and interfere with the scenario.

[What are you—]

At that moment, one of the Constellations that was trying to enter the void curtain using the power of their Nebula was grabbed by the neck by Yoo Joonghyuk.

The Constellation that had been intoxicated by Yoo Joonghyuk struggled and spewed out in anger. Perhaps it was a Constellation related to fire, but flames oozed from its red-hot incarnation.

Of course, Yoo Joonghyuk didn’t even flinch.

"Is this a great person?"

Yoo Junghyuk silently grabbed the guy by the neck and exploded his story. The Constellation was completely reduced to powder along with the incarnation body. The story that was once part of the Constellation crashed into the veil and broke into fragments.

Yoo Joonghyuk quietly looked down at the scattered remains of the Constellation and opened his mouth.

"Stop hiding and come out, you scum."

Subsequently, the incarnations of the Constellations hiding nearby appeared. It seemed like everyone had witnessed the previous battle, as their expressions had hardened.

[Hey, who was that guy who just died?]

[Guardian of the Little Horn.]

[He was a Constellation who was about to be promoted... but he was defeated in one hit?]

Yoo Joonghyuk lightly circulated his magic power and checked his condition.

Perhaps because he stayed in the other world for too long, his story did not listen to what he wanted.

'I can't even use half my power.'

His body is a mess. A state in which even his story does not listen. Still, this is enough to fight.

At least he can prevent the Constellations from intervening in the 41st round.

And if he’s lucky, he might be able to find a way to get under the Void Curtain.

"<Asgard>. Why did you appear here?"

The Constellations were startled by Yoo Joonghyuk's voice and trembled.

"Answer me. Why was 'Ginnungagap' activated? Earth is only in the seventh scenario, so why did you decide to intervene?"

The moment Yoo Joonghyuk took a step closer, a small twisting occurred in the distant universe.

As the interstellar world swirled, space-time repeatedly contracted and expanded.

The nearby Constellations sighed and retreated.

[Oh, here it comes—]

Yoo Joonghyuk also felt it.

Something was coming here.

Very old and powerful beings.

[The Constellation 'Goddess of Love and Cats' is staring at you!]

A terrifying threat swirled before his eyes, and before he knew it, four Constellations arrived in front of Yoo Joonghyuk.

[The Constellation 'God of the Harp and Horn' is showing hostility towards you.]

[The Constellation 'The One Who Lost His Arm to the Wolf of Destruction' frowns!]

[The Constellation 'Guardian of the Great Fire Bridge' warns you.]

Narrative-grade Constellations representing <Asgard>.

After recognizing them, the other Constellations shouted.

[Seoul, the Narrative-grade Constellations—!]

[I can't believe it.]

Freya, the Goddess of Love and Cats.

Bragi, God of the Harp and Horn.

Tyr, The One Who Lost His Arm to the Wolf of Destruction.

Heimdall, Guardian of the Great Fire Bridge.

They were all Constellations of <Asgard> equivalent to the 12 gods of <Olympus>. The most powerful Constellations and beings that are difficult to even encounter.

Four such Constellations appeared at the same time.

What is even more shocking than that is,

[Are you the discarded puppet of the Oldest Dream?]

[Just as I heard from my father, you have great momentum.]

It is only after the appearance of the four Narrative-grade Constellations representing <Asgard> that the collapsed balance of the 'scale' gradually returned to its proper place.

[Are you really saying that one guy is like the four of us?]

The person who stepped forward with a frown was Tyr, 'The One Who Lost His Arm to the Wolf of Destruction'. Tyr, who inherited the blood of a giant and had a large body, approached Yoo Joonghyuk, revealing his story without hesitation.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked up at Tyr and muttered.

"It’s smaller than Master."

[What?]

The moment Tyr asked back, Yoo Joonghyuk took a step forward.

Two steps, three steps.

It was just a walk.

But why?

Tyr felt an inexplicable tremor as he watched Yoo Joonghyuk approaching through the void.

He had felt this same tremor a long time ago.

He couldn't believe it. He is a Narrative-grade Constellation. It was also a Narrative-grade Constellation located at the top of <Asgard>.

The being he fears is the 'Wolf of Destruction' that bit his arm.

And it was only his father who was greater than any other star in the world.

"Do you want the rest of your arm cut off too?"

The moment when Yoo Joonghyuk slowly drew his sword.

Rumbling.

A terrifying wave rang out from across the universe. A sound like thunder from very far away.

If you hit it the right way, no matter how strong Yoo Joonghyuk is, he won't be safe from it.

Something also flashed across Yoo Joonghyuk’s expression. Because he knew who the owner of lightning was.

[The Constellation 'One-Eyed Father' is glaring at you.]

One-Eyed Father.

The strongest Mythical Constellation in <Asgard>, Odin.

Although he did not intervene directly, the Mythical Constellation expressed his opinion.

Coo coo coo coo.

An explosion was heard from beyond the void curtain. Perhaps something was happening over there as well.

"Is it."

Yoo Joonghyuk's 'Black Heavenly Demon' was dyed in bright golden light.

"If you want to go down, I’ll drop you all."

The stars moved with the signal. A huge cluster of meteor showers hitting together.

The story of the Constellations and the trajectory of Breaking the Sky swordsmanship became intertwined, and the sky of the <Star Stream> became dazzlingly colored.

Stars began to fall from the night sky.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

712 Episode 26 Star Ladder (8)

The sky was changing in real time. It was pitch black, then white, then there was thunder, then rain.

On the other side of an unpredictable weather event, beyond the swaying void curtain, supreme beings were shaking the universe.

What on earth is going on over there?

Has Yoo Joonghyuk really appeared and is grabbing the Constellations and stomping them?

—Oh, Youngest. There's a piece of story of quality falling over there.

41st round Yoo Joonghyuk’s head hung on my shoulder.

I couldn't figure out what was really going on.

If the being over there is really Yoo Joonghyuk, why didn't he appear here in the form of a possessed person like Shin Yoosung? Just as Shin Yoosung used herself in the 41st round, he could also use himself in the 41st round.

—That’s bullshit. If that kid comes here, he'll be in big trouble.

'Why? If Yoo Joonghyuk comes, we can wipe them all out, right?'

—Why do you think Yoo Joonghyuk will help us?

For a moment, I felt a tingling sensation in the back of my head. As I was only thinking about Shin Yoosung's case, I forgot for a moment what the original purpose of <Kim Dokja Company> was.

According to Han Sooyoung’s memories, the purpose of <Kim Dokja Company> is to retrieve Kim Dokja.

Maybe my presence was a distraction to them.

—It would be nice if the Earth didn't explode like this.

'No, but still...'

I always think about it, but Kim Dokja's impression of Yoo Joonghyuk was a bit crooked. How could Yoo Joonghyuk have even done something like that?

Still, it was true that I was worried at the same time.

If, like Han Sooyoung, Yoo Joonghyuk also tries to get Kim Dokja back in the form of 'quickly destroying this world'...

—But shouldn’t you run fast?

Right. Now is not the time to leisurely think about such things.

Because even now, the incarnations of the Giant Nebulae were chasing me in real time.

"Tear off his legs!"

"Tear him limb from limb!"

Why on earth are they running and saying things like that?

Anyway, I just think that I should never get caught. But I quickly ran out of breath.

—You need to do some exercise.

'It's refreshing to hear something like that from someone who was born weak.'

—You can’t do that. Let's borrow it one more time.

[Stage 3 of 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is strongly activated!]

I seemed to feel a stronger overlap with Kim Dokja, and [Way of the Wind] wrapped around my toes, covering over a hundred meters in an instant.

In reality, if I had competed in the Olympics, I would have set a new record right away, but right now, even this wasn't enough.

[The character 'Alexander Mihailidis' activates the exclusive skill 'High-Speed Driving Lv.6'!]

[The character 'Leila Al Hasan' activates the exclusive skill 'Runaway Lv.8'!]

These guys are really persistent.

'Constellation-nim! Back! Back!'

A dizzying sensation felt in the back of the head. As Kim Dokja reflexively twisted his head, a breathtaking beam of light passed by his earlobe.

Arrow? Or a spear?

Anyway, if I had been a little late, I would have had a hole in the back of my head.

'Left!'

The moment he urgently changed direction, an arrow aimed at a blind spot hit his thigh. Fortunately, it was not me who was hit, but Kim Dokja.

—You said it's on the left? It came from the right!

'It looks like it came from the right too!'

Kim Dokja pulled out the arrow and fired the broken arrow behind him.

The sound of an arrow loaded with [Way of the Wind] piercing something was heard, and a scream rang out.

But neither Kim Dokja nor I looked back.

—Youngest. That.

I checked the ladder hanging in the sky.

'Star Ladder.'

It was the road leading to the 'eighth scenario' that I checked as soon as I arrived in the eastern Washington area.

'You said I shouldn't use that?'

—No way, surviving is the priority now.

'How do you use it?'

Instead of answering, Kim Dokja raised his right hand with all his might and shouted.

"I call the Star Ladder!"

It's simple, I think.

['Star Ladder' does not respond to you.]

Damn it, then that's right.

There is no way the scenario with Kim Dokja would be that smooth.

What was absurd was that, except for us, all other incarnations were moving on to the next scenario through the 'Star Ladder'.

"Jump out! If you get caught up in here, you'll die!"

"I will call the Star Ladder!"

The incarnations ran away to the next scenario through the 'Star Ladder' amidst a proliferation of Giant Nebulae.

Although the shape, size, and degree of damage to each ladder were different, the ladders came down to everyone except us.

'Why can't we just come down the ladder?'

Perhaps Kim Dokja was in the midst of looking into it, too, when he faintly heard a message from a conversation with Bihyung in his head.

—Constellation. So now... with authority...

Authority?

[The Constellations with permission to use the 'Star Ladder' are not responding to you.]

[The right to use the 'Star Ladder' is limited to some Constellations that contributed to the creation of the 'Recycling Center'.]

I don't know exactly what you're talking about, but anyway, it seems impossible for anyone to lower the ladder.

[The Constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' frowns, wondering what the hell that means.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' asks what the 'Recycling Center' is.]

[The Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is complaining that the 'Star Stream's System' seems to have become more difficult these days.]

I'm glad I'm not the only one who's stupid.

I asked Kim Dokja without any expectations.

'Constellation-nim. Don't you have ladder permission?'

—What do you think?

'Do you have a friend I could ask for?'

—What do you think?

'So what happens now?'

—Just wait a moment.

'They all came after me?'

Before I knew it, the incarnations were forming a circle and narrowing the siege.

Incarnations of <Olympus>, <Ghost>, <Guardian Tree>, and <Vedas>.

"We've caught him! Surround him slowly!"

Judging from what it felt like, there were no people with Narrative-grade sponsors.

They are all incarnations of Historical-grade Constellations.

These were all guys who had raised their synchronization rate to the limit.

This scenario is subject to the rules of 'probability'. However, if the number of Constellations that raised the synchronization rate to the limit increased, it was normal for the scale to naturally fall out of balance.

'If this is the case, shouldn't someone come help us?'

Yoo Joonghyuk, or even another member <Kim Dokja Company> since Kim Dokja said no for Yoo Joonghyuk earlier.

At least one person can come.

—Do you think a hundred bugs weigh the same as a lion?

I realized how great <Kim Dokja Company> had become.

What a bug. Still, those guys are also Constellations of their own.

—Giant Nebulae aren't stupid either. It's all calculated based on probability. The proof is that there are so many incarnations, but they don't have any Narrative-grade sponsor.

Does that mean they are also adjusting the probability in their own way?

I sighed lightly and counted their numbers. Even at first glance, their number is well over thirty.

On the other hand, this side was now at its limit.

My body, strengthened with 'Dragon Heart', was reduced to rags as soon as it was used with the power of Cheok Jungyeong, and [Bookmark]’s time limit was exhausted.

If that Thebes were to stab me with the tip of a spear, my body would collapse. Now the only one I can trust is Kim Dokja.

—Youngest.

'Yes.'

—Earn some time and say something.

'Huh?'

[Exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' Lv.3 is deactivated.]

It was absurd.

No, if you leave it like this, what will happen to me?

I hurriedly thought of 'Thoughts of Almost Everything'.

What items are useful right now?

The 'Poison Bomb' has already been used up so there is no more, so should we try hiding using the 'Everchanging Stealth Suit'?

Or should I at least use [Incite]?

Fortunately, the incarnations that were closing the distance stopped with about ten meters left.

Looking closely, I saw that they were also keeping each other in check.

One of the incarnations, who had been spewing out threats and killing intent to me, opened his mouth first.

"<Olympus>. You didn’t forget your promise, right?"

Looking at the Halloween party-like costume, it is an incarnation belonging to <Ghost>. The answer was the 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' from <Olympus>.

"Don’t worry. You’ll get your share as well. The Mythical-grade Constellations have just concluded an agreement."

When the 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' answered, the incarnations of <Ghost> looked at me.

"Then everyone shares equally."

Share? What do you share?

You should ask my opinion too, you bastards.

As I watched the guys approaching me step by step, I gathered my strength once again.

I felt like I was relying too much on my sponsor.

Now I have to do some work too.

"I am Kim Dokja."

I began, slightly twisting my lips.

"A lot of people have gathered. But what happened in your 'Ginnungagap' and is it like this?"

"Don’t listen to him. He’s just trying to kill time. Now—"

"Aren’t you curious? Why did 'Valkyrie’s Daughter' end up like that?"

"At most, he dealt with one Historical-grade..."

After all, these guys don’t know everything.

I grinned and snapped my fingers in the air. Of course, I didn't have to snap my fingers, but I did it anyways.

"Now, for the first time in the <Star Stream>, the inside of 'Ginnungagap' is revealed."

[The story of a tale whose name has not yet been decided begins!]

My story, whose name has not yet been revealed, began to speak. Then, as if they had been waiting, I heard a message from the Constellations.

[The Constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' is viewing the tale!]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' is viewing the tale!]

[The Constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' is viewing the tale!]

[A few Constellations are surprised after reading your story!]

Originally, 'Ginnungagap' was a stage where no records of any stories were left.

However, I was able to leave a story safely thanks to the effect of 'Recorder of Things That Will Disappear’.

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Asgard> are astonished.]

[The Nebula <Asgard> requests the management to restrict access to the records!]

The truth about 'Ginnungagap' is spreading widely.

<Asgard>'s disgraceful behavior to catch me was quickly spreading throughout the <Star Stream>.

<Asgard> belatedly started to block it, but the Constellations had already read the story that was heard infrequently.

"Gatekeeper of Thebes, is that true?"

One of the incarnations of the <Guardian Tree>, who had been silent the entire time, asked.

"That guy took care of ten historical-grade Constellations who used half-descent?"

"It doesn’t make sense… It can’t be like that."

"Didn’t 'Valkyrie’s Daughter' go out alone?"

Some incarnations take a step back. A hole was opened in the circular siege of the incarnations.

I could vividly feel the stirring of the Constellations.

I didn't miss the opportunity and took a step forward.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.10' is activated.]

"Now you know who you guys are dealing with."

The surprised incarnations took a step back one after another.

'Gatekeeper of Thebes', who realized that the atmosphere was unusual, shouted.

"It’s bullshit! Don’t be fooled! Even if that story is true, he has already used up all of his strength in 'Ginnungagap'. If we join forces and kill him now—"

I burst out laughing. The gatekeeper of Thebes silently fell silent due to that maniacal laughter.

"It seems like you didn’t understand even though I gave you a chance."

"You, what—"

"I killed ten historical-grade Constellations in the seventh scenario. And the story I’ve accumulated hasn’t been given a 'name' yet. Don’t you know what this means?"

I saw a few quick-witted incarnations rolling their eyes.

An unnamed tale.

In other words, my story wasn't 'complete' yet.

"If you help me here, you will be able to receive a share of the tale I will receive."

[A very small number of Constellations are surprised by the proposal of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.]

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' admires your tongue.]

[The Constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' is interested in your remarks.]

A confused silence fell among the bustling Constellations.

They came here to join forces to eliminate the 'Demon King of Salvation' and obtain 'Kim Dokja's Fragment'.

However, looking at their expressions, the majority of people here did not yet understand exactly what 'Kim Dokja's Fragment' was.

"Choose. Either attack me foolishly and get kicked out of the scenario without even getting your money's worth."

They now have another option.

"Or maybe you will join hands with me and share a story that is definitively 'legendary' or higher."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

713 Episode 26 Star Ladder (9)

Either attack me and act foolishly, or take my side and get a 'legendary story'.

[The synchronization rate with the sponsor performance increases.]

Although I spoke quite like Kim Dokja, in fact, I was not naive enough to believe that this alone would persuade the Constellations.

"Everyone, don’t be fooled! This is an issue that the Mthical Constellations have already agreed upon!"

Anyway, they all belong to a 'Giant Nebula'.

As the 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' said, if the 'Mythical Constellations' had truly agreed on this issue, there was no way that a mere historical-grade could refuse the order.

"There is no guarantee that you will receive a legendary story by collaborating with that guy in the first place. Rather, the story you’ll get by killing him will be much more valuable."

"I see, that’s true."

"Then let’s kill him quickly without hesitation."

I slowly bit my lip.

I have to somehow wait until Kim Dokja comes.

It certainly seems that the Constellations are not stupid.

"You guys are cowardly."

Hmm?

"Are those who have the Giant Nebula on their backs persecuting just one incarnation?"

There was one fool.

Red flowing hair. A woman holding a Japanese sword embossed with a calm flame was blocking my path.

'Asuka Ren?'

It was the representative incarnation of the Japanese side.

I wondered why she was helping me, but her gaze briefly rested on Yoo Joonghyuk hanging on my shoulder.

Now that I think about it, I heard that Yoo Joonghyuk helped Asuka Ren clear 'Peace Land''in the 41st round.

Perhaps Asuka Ren is trying to repay the debt.

—Take the Supreme King and run away.

With [Transmission], the Japanese incarnations, led by Asuka Ren, lined up in front of me.

"Are they the incarnations of the East? They look like they want to die. Are they out of their minds?"

The Gatekeeper of Thebes smiled, but Asuka Ren did not smile. A quiet magic bloomed from her whole body. The sincere story she had built up through consistent effort was felt in her whole body.

"You are the one who needs to come to your senses. Did you go into a Giant Nebula just to do something like that?"

"What—"

"I am speaking to the 'incarnations' here."

Asuka Ren's eyes sparkled.

The people she was talking to were not the Constellations, but the incarnations that were controlled by the Constellations.

"Alexander! Leila! We cleared the sub-scenario together. I remember you from back then. Have you already forgotten your promise to survive to the end of the world and meet again?"

I once again realized what kind of person Asuka Ren was in 'Peace Land'.

She is someone who chose the 'little people' camp even when faced with the easy option of 'disaster'.

"Come to your senses. If you are ruled by the Constellations now, you will forever be—"

"An insignificant incarnation who is so arrogant."

The 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' jabbed at her and three incarnations rushed towards her at the same time.

An old sword, a broken spear, a club.

Looking at the weapons used as main weapons, it seemed like it was a case of medieval knights or barbarians who gained status and became Constellations.

However, whether they are knights, barbarians, bastards, once they ascend to Constellations, they become beings on a different level.

Coo coo coo coo.

As the story of the historical-grade Constellation, whose synchronization rate increased, was revealed, the wide-eyed incarnations came screaming and waving their weapons. A blow that would shatter the limbs of an ordinary incarnation.

However, 'Asuka Ren' was not an ordinary incarnation.

「She is one of the '100 strongest people' in Ways of Survival.」

Her blade flashed in her hand as she dodged the flying club. A strike like a holy war. At first glance, the speed was reminiscent of Lee Jihye's skill.

"Ugh—"

The incarnation, whose club was broken, staggered and grabbed her own neck. Fush-shist, blood bursting out. The incarnation, foaming with her blood, fell to her knees.

Asuka Ren looked down at the incarnation and spoke in a calm voice.

"I avoided the critical point."

Before we knew it, faint sparks were fluttering all over Asuka Ren's body.

[The incarnation 'Asuka Ren' increases the synchronization rate with her sponsor.]

Belatedly, the expression of the 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' changed.

"No way, her sponsor is—"

[The Constellation 'Goryeo’s First Sword' is interested.]

Her Constellation is Japan's strongest swordsman.

[The Constellation 'Two Thousand Top Masters' is glaring at the Constellations of the Giant Nebula.]

The Master of Icheon Ilryu, 'Miyamoto Musashi'.

As a cold, murderous feeling spread from Asuka Ren's entire body, the expressions of those who were frightened stiffened and they retreated.

Even among the same 'historical-grade', there is a level of rank. While there are Constellations that are close to the level of historical-grade, there are also Constellations that have just reached historical-grade.

'Icheon Ilryu Master' was a Constellation closer to the former.

"Stand back, Gatekeeper."

It was then that a voice came from behind the group of incarnations.

"A warrior from the East. A swordsmaster who made a lot of fuss. I wanted to try it for once."

As the Gatekeeper of Thebes hesitated and retreated, a man with bronze red hair and a strong presence stepped forward. At first glance, it was a Constellation with a more powerful status than the Gatekeeper of Thebes.

[The Constellation 'Sorrows of Troy' increases the synchronization rate with the incarnation.]

Behind him, another giant was radiating a formidable force.

[The Constellation 'Wrath of Ithaca' makes an interested expression.]

The 'Sorrows of Troy' and the 'Wrath of Ithaca'.

They were 'Achilles' and 'Odysseus', the heroes of『Iliad』.

Even within <Olympus>, they are great Constellations of a different rank.

Asuka Ren’s expression was tense.

—Take the Supreme King and run away. I can escape at any time.

It seems that Japan has already secured a Constellation to support the 'Star Ladder'.

—Now!

"I’ll take care of you."

With Asuka Ren's signal, the temple flashed and one side of the siege was breached.

"He’s running away!"

Miyamoto Musashi and Achilles collided and magical energy exploded.

I ran with all my might, carrying Yoo Joonghyuk on my back, avoiding the swords flying from all directions.

However, there was no way I could run away for that long as I did not have any useful light attack skills.

"Cheon Inho! This way!"

With a screeching sound, a sports car stopped, leaving skid marks.

Without hesitation, I threw Yoo Joonghyuk into the back seat and got in.

As Anna Croft, who was behind the wheel, stepped on the accelerator, Christina waved her chin in greeting.

"Selena was sent up because her injuries were severe."

"What about you?"

It was a question that didn't need to be asked.

They delayed using the 'Star Ladder' to save me.

Honestly, I was moved.

Because they were the incarnations of <Asgard>.

"If you help me here, <Asgard> won’t leave you alone."

"We’re doomed because of you, anyway."

Anna Croft gritted her teeth and answered.

"Because of the story you revealed..."

It occurred to me later that I had revealed the events in 'Ginnungagap'.

Inside 'Ginnungagap', Anna Croft processed the 'Lesser Dragon Heart' for me, and with her help, I was able to wipe out the Constellations.

Anna Croft must have helped in 'Ginnungagap' because she believed in the characteristics of 'Ginnungagap', which leaves no records, but since I made the story public, her actions have now become known throughout the <Star Stream>.

"It’s not just that they suffered losses. They also probably gained a lot of benefits thanks to you."

"You’re saying that now—"

Anna Croft roared. She seemed really angry, so I felt a little sorry.

"What did Asgard say?"

"Nothing yet. They seem to be busy right now too."

Thunder crashing down from the sky without stopping. Seeing as the meteor shower has been falling for several minutes now, it seems like they won't be paying attention to us right now.

"Why didn’t you use the Star Ladder? You would have already met the qualifications—"

"There were no Constellations willing to send a ladder."

"Are you sure you haven’t made friends with the Constellations of the 'Recycling Center'?"

An arrow flew from behind and lodged in the trunk with a loud noise.

Anna stepped on the accelerator harder.

"I will go to the outskirts of the dome. Use the valuable portal there. If you return to Korea, you will be able to avoid their pursuit."

"Is this why you are helping us like this?"

"I hate to admit it, but I need you to see the end of this world."

Anna Croft still believes that I am 'Cheon Inho of the 40th round'.

But there was something I didn't understand with that alone.

No matter how great Cheon Inho was in the 40th round, he was a villain. Although I said I would help Yoo Joonghyuk, is it possible for the Prophet Anna Croft to trust me based on such a weak promise?

"Please calm down, Cheon Inho."

"What do you mean?"

"Exactly what scenario did you go to in the last round?"

I was momentarily taken aback.

What does that mean?

"I know that you didn’t die even after Yoo Joonghyuk regressed."

I remembered seeing Anna Croft's [Future Sight].

In the 40th round, the final showdown between Yoo Joonghyuk and Cheon Inho.

The final scene where the stars in the sky fell and the world approached destruction.

"How many scenarios did you go to after that? In that world where all incarnations disappeared, you…"

Goosebumps slowly appeared.

That memory wasn't the last scene of the 40th round?

Looking back, Cheon Inho's death was not properly described in her memory.

So does that mean that Cheon Inho continued to live even after Yoo Joonghyuk regressed?

"Cheon—"

Anna Croft's words did not last until the end. This is because a lightning strike that fell from thin air directly hit the bonnet of the car.

My body was lifted up with a loud noise, and the shock of my bones being torn apart swept through my entire body.

I rolled around on the dirt floor, holding onto Yoo Joonghyuk tightly.

When I stood up, coughing and spitting out dust, I saw Anna and Christina who had collapsed.

'Constellation-nim.'

Instead of Kim Dokja's answer, all that was heard was the harsh sound of lightning. Lightning was striking continuously across the dark sky.

A much bigger shock than what was witnessed in 'Ginnungagap'.

Due to the deafening weather change, the fire gods that were chasing us suddenly stopped walking. The number of falling meteor showers was increasing in real time.

At this point, even I was scared.

What on earth is Yoo Joonghyuk doing over there?

Is he planning to destroy the <Star Stream> like this?

Is this an intention to summon an Outer God?

At that moment, a question arose.

Yoo Joonghyuk intervened in this world line.

This was possible because the Giant Nebulae were using equivalent probability on the other side of the scale.

However, 'Ginnungagap' has already been lifted. Although the pursuers caught up, the only ones who appeared here were historical-grade Constellations with high synchronization rates.

So where on earth are the Giant Nebulae using 'probability'?

My heart was pounding loudly and I had an ominous feeling.

Sentences began to appear in my head.

「The Giant Nebulae know.」

<Asgard> knew.

「What kind of being is the Demon King of Salvation? What kind of stories has he built up?」

The distant sky split and lightning struck once again.

I slowly became out of breath. Something was happening that shouldn't have happened.

It feels like a distant sense of the causality of time being distorted. It feels like the whole world is looking into me.

[The Constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' shouts in anger!]

[The Constellation 'Maritime War God' warns you!]

[The Constellation 'Bald General of Justice'...]

Indirect messages from the Constellations echoed in my ears, distorting the air like a whirlpool.

Only then did I realize what the 'Giant Nebula' had done.

[The Giant Nebula <Asgard> has announced a new 'Fate'.]

An order that cannot be resisted.

The probability of stars that a mere mortal cannot escape no matter how hard he struggles.

「...It is.」

My [Fate] was being written down.

「...I will die.」

The very moment when the inevitability of the stars was imprinted on my soul along with nausea.

—Youngest.

I felt like someone was pushing my soul hard.

—I'm resting now.

I screamed as I felt the pressure of the world disappear. Because I realized what was about to happen.

It can't be.

Not this time.

You are-

—Because I'm good at this.

At the last moment, I felt like I saw Kim Dokja's brightly smiling face.

「The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' will die in the story he loved.」

Destiny is decided.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

714 Episode 26 Star Ladder (10)

As my vision narrowed, I realized what was about to happen.

「The Demon King of Salvation wants to sacrifice himself.」

The situation is desperate. The Washington Dome was under siege by historical-grade Constellations, and there was no Constellation to help us.

To make matters worse, he was sentenced by [Fate].

Kim Dokja made a decision in a situation where death was inevitable no matter what he did.

Only through his death can this obstacle be overcome.

'Stop!'

But I couldn't leave it like that.

This is my [Fate]. It's my share to bear.

'Stop!'

There is no reason why the Demon King of Salvation should receive it instead.

'Kim Dokja!'

—You're not ready to fight them yet.

I felt like someone was supporting me.

I turned my head and saw Christina Page.

Just as I was about to say thank you, my eyes met hers with a faint hint of guilt. Her fingers moved with an ominous foreboding.

My vision went dark.

---

Christina Page.

Anna Croft's closest associate who leads 'Zarathustra'.

She is an FBI forensic hypnosis expert and is called 'Finger Snapper' in 'Ways of Survival'.

Just before she possessed this character, Olivia was playing TRPG with her friends.

'Kevin, Jim, Amelia.'

Olivia thought about her own friends.

She had friends who liked subculture.

Kevin only read webtoons with 'SSS' in the title.

Jim loved martial arts novels.

Amelia loved virtual idols.

'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' was a Korean web novel brought by Kevin.

—Guys, how are we supposed to survive once we enter this novel?

—Oh, Kevin. It's starting again.

—This is set in Korea. I think we'll be at a bit of a disadvantage.

—No, America is also included.

—Kevin, but the title of this novel doesn’t include 'SSS'?

— As you read, SSS appears. Olivia, can you write an email to the author? You said before that you have a Korean friend. Let's add this novel's world view in the next session.

What would it have been like if she hadn't listened to Kevin at that time?

If she hadn't sent the email to the author, all of this wouldn't have happened.

'Oh my God.'

It was sheer luck that she survived.

It turns out that the person who she possessed was 'Christina Page'.

She has always enjoyed playing TRPGs, so it wasn't difficult for her to play the role of 'Christina Page'. She was glad the task wasn't difficult.

Olivia was able to forget who she was, at least while she was playing 'Christina Page' .

—Demon King of Salvation.

She could forget Kevin, forget herself, forget Amelia, forget her dead friends.

—Can you really save my friends?

A message from the 'Demon King of Salvation' delivered through the exclusive skill, [Nightmare].

—Yes.

The Demon King of Salvation said.

If she grants his request, he will definitely save her dead friends.

And the request is—

[Exclusive skill 'Daily Invoice Lv.5' is activated!]

Christina hurriedly helped Cheon Inho, who fell in front of her.

She was startled to see Anna Croft stumbling in the distance.

"Christina! What are you doing?"

"It is the order of the Demon King of Salvation."

"What?"

"He told me to place a [Daily Invoice] on his incarnation."

"What the hell is that—"

She doesn't know why the Demon King of Salvation made such a request.

"It doesn’t matter. This person can ignore my [Daily Invoice] and move his incarnation."

She doesn't know, but she thought they were planning to use [Daily Invoice] to fight.

The strange thing is why he communicated directly through [Nightmare] rather than using his incarnation.

"Then why doesn’t Cheon Inho wake up? Last time he woke up right away."

"I know that too—"

It was then that a bright beam of light burst from the Capitol.

This was the area where the 'sub-scenario' occurred earlier.

The place where the fake 'Demon King of Salvation' and the ‘Black Beast’ appeared.

However, the false Demon King of Salvation was defeated, and Yoo Joonghyuk, who became the Black Beast, also fainted.

The scenario has already ended.

But why are sparks flying around the Capitol?

"Christina. The something is not right."

Dark clouds filled the sky and covered the Capitol.

A pitch-black thunderbolt falling between dark clouds.

[The 'Demon King of Salvation' is resurrected in the scenario.]

The demon king, who was thought to be dead, appeared in Washington.

---

The 'Dark Keeper', hugged in the warm abyss, thought.

「I.」

A question that has been asked for a very long time.

「Who am I?」

That moon gate was all that explained him. The answer he couldn't get even though he gave up all his resources.

In order to find it, the 'Dark Keeper' contracted with the Dokkaebi and became part of the scenario.

Nevertheless,

「I was not the Demon King of Salvation.」

He couldn't find the answer he wanted.

There couldn't be an exact answer.

The stars turned away from him and the script abandoned him.

He is just a nameless character.

Or a monster that didn't even become a character. A consumable to make the main character shine.

「That’s fine.」

He already knew that this world was a playground for Constellations. Even if it was just a sand castle that was built for a short time on the playground and then collapsed, he wanted to have his own name.

He wanted to be a proper part of the playground.

He wanted to become the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

—Do you really want to become the 'Demon King of Salvation'?

The 'Dark Keeper' looked up blankly at the Demon King of Salvation.

—Whatever the cost?

He wants to have a name.

He wants to have a proper role and die after fulfilling it.

The 'Dark Keeper' nodded with all his might.

He's good even if it's just one sentence, so if there's a story given to him.

—Then let’s give it a try.

He wants to write down that story.

[The story 'Demon King of Salvation' begins its storytelling.]

The cold snow covered him.

「I.」

The dark sentinel soon became one with distant eternity.

「We are the Demon King of salvation.」

His tattered body was once again filled with probability and filled with the story of the Constellation.

Tsutsutsutsu!

In the midst of wild sparks, Kim Dokja, the 'Demon King of Salvation', opened his eyes.

When he lightly tilted his head, his body screamed along with a crunching sound.

A demonic body full of traces of being cut to pieces by Yoo Joonghyuk.

Even though no limb was intact, it was important that the plan was successful.

[The Constellations of <Asgard> are astonished!]

A plan that was dramatically successful.

This could not have been realized if several probabilities had not been interlocked like cogs.

A Giant Nebula uttered [Fate].

That [Fate] was given to him, a Narrative-grade Constellation, instead of an incarnation.

The probability ran wild due to a calculation error in the twisted [Fate].

Under the pretext of extra probability, he was given the right to move to a new body.

Above all, the plan could not have succeeded if it had not been for the help of the demon 'Dark Keeper' who impersonated the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

[The incarnation body resonates with your story.]

[The synchronization rate between you and the incarnation body increases.]

Perhaps this will be his last story.

"It’s him! He’s over there!"

The incarnations who sensed his status began to flock to him.

The great Constellations belonging to the Giant Nebula that were chasing Lee Hakhyun just a moment ago.

"W-what is that—"

"Why in a body other than your own incarnation..."

"Could it be that you were trying to protect the incarnation?"

The Constellations looked at each other in disbelief.

Someone said with a sly smile.

"They say he’s a fragment of a discarded god, but he’s incredibly stupid."

Stupid.

That was correct.

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Ghost> shake their heads at your foolishness.]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Guardian Tree> are saddened by your choice.]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Olympus> laugh at your judgment.]

The body of the resurrected demon species creaked. The word was resurrection, but the body was already dead. An incarnation that can't last even 10 minutes at best.

From afar, the 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' shouted loudly.

"You've finally been caught, Demon King of Salvation! There's nowhere to run now!"

As if victory had already been achieved, the 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' walked towards him with great strides and spoke in a triumphant voice.

"You have no idea how much effort I put into catching you. I persuaded the Nebulae one by one…"

Now that [Fate] has been declared, it will be difficult to avoid death.

The situation might have been a little better if there had been a story like 'I, the Opponent of Fate', and Cheok Junkyung's 'The One Who Fights Against Fate', which the 1,865th round of <Kim Dokja Company> had.

But there was no such story.

There were many stories that he does not have today.

「Maybe the Youngest will find everything.」

The Youngest was a strange guy.

Among the 'Kim Dokjas' he knows, he is the only one who can write.

He was curious at first.

He was curious about what the guy who possessed this petty villain would talk about.

The guy who clumsily imitated 'Kim Dokja' was cute, and he was a little proud of the guy who took care of the things that 'Kim Dokja' didn't do.

Sometimes he was so frustrated that he wanted to say something.

Still, it was fun to see the story of such a guy.

「But he’s the Youngest.」

Maybe that's why he's here now.

「This damned world won’t read the story you wrote.」

The 'Gatekeeper of Thebes', who had been talking for a while, frowned.

"...So, are you listening to my story?"

The Demon King of Salvation looked at him for a moment and laughed.

Among the tales of the 'Gatekeeper of Thebes', there was the 'Final Cubic Crystal'.

A tale that makes one confess one's desires at the last moment in exchange for raising one's status.

"Uh, go ahead."

While the 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' was talking, the Demon King of Salvation looked through the coat the demon servant was wearing.

There was a cigarette pack in the coat.

As he took out a cigarette, the thought of a person who liked cigarettes came to mind.

Who was it?

Memories dispersed like smoke. The place where the memories disappeared hurt. That pain immediately proved that he was Kim Dokja.

The 'Gatekeeper of Thebes', who came to his senses belatedly, blushed and shouted.

"Kill him! Retrieve the fragment!"

Incarnations rushing towards him.

The Demon King of Salvation said, tossing away his cigarette.

"Youngest, let me borrow some weapons."

Silver light flew from somewhere and settled in the right hand of the Demon King of Salvation.

[The tale 'The One Who is Loved by All Things' begins its storytelling.]

[The item 'Thoughts of Almost Everything' is suitable for your story.]

In a flash of bright light, one of the incarnations that was running at the front was split in half.

"Kaaaaaaak!"

'Thought' mimicked 'Broken Faith'.

'I activate 'Blade of Faith'.

"How can you still—"

The Constellations retreated in awe.

The power to kill the incarnation of a great Constellation with increased synchronization.

The 'Gatekeeper of Thebes', with his eyes wide open as if torn apart, screamed loudly.

"It’s just a fluke! Keep pushing! Even he’s at his limit!"

The hesitating Constellations rushed forward again.

The Demon King of Salvation swung his sword without hesitation. Cut off their arms, cut off their legs, and slit their throat.

Every time that happened, the wounds on the demon species' body also increased.

「This world is an obvious tragedy.」

He pulled out the arrow stuck in his shoulder and kicked away the spear that grazed his thigh.

「A world created to cause pain to Yoo Joonghyuk.」

The moment he removed the blade aimed at his side, a pain arose in his back. The torn wings of the demon species fluttered across the floor.

「A story marred by big and small failures and never-ending despair. This world was the fate given to Yoo Joonghyuk.」

The moment the torn wing fell to the ground, lightning struck again from the sky.

「Therefore, anyone who tries to share that responsibility will surely be cursed.」

The void curtain fluttered and another star fell into the white shining night sky.

[Some great fate is wishing for your death.]

He is the Demon King of Salvation who cannot feel emotions.

Nevertheless, at this moment, he was also Kim Dokja. Maybe it was because I met the Youngest.

"Hey. Are you fighting too, right?"

Yoo Joonghyuk couldn’t answer.

Just as the writing on the monitor does not respond.

Some communication never happens. And where communication is impossible, there is just a story.

「The Demon King of Salvation lives to read that story.」

The Demon King of Salvation smiled like a prisoner accepting a deserved punishment.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

715 Episode 26 Star Ladder (11)

---

「"Die! Kill him somehow!"」

「"This guy has already been managed. We can defeat him here!"」

「"Defeat him and get the story!"」

「"You crazy guy. Die! I’m telling you to stop and die!"」

Historical-grade Constellations were shouting urgently on the pale screen.

Every time the sword’s trajectory moved, someone's head was taken away.

「"That’s not enough to kill me, you bastards."」

「"Kaaaaaaak!"」

Historical-grade Constellations that receive a terrible blow and exit every time their incarnation bodies fall.

The 'Demon King of Salvation', who had defeated another Constellation, looked up at the sky covered in blood.

As if he were aware of someone's gaze looking at him.

【I don’t think he’s tired of it either.】

Asmodeus took a sip of the diet cola next to him and let out a sigh.

When he took his eyes off the screen for a moment and looked around, he saw kkomas Kim Dokjas looking at the screen with absorbed expressions.

The little Kim Dokjas had different clothes, heights, and facial expressions.

When he first brought them in, they definitely looked the same, but as time went by, they changed a little.

A kid wearing a brimmed hat with 'SSS' written on it. A kid wearing a uniform from a martial arts novel. A kid recording something while wearing horn-rimmed glasses...

The kids, all with different tastes and favorite stories, were concentrating on the same story at this very moment.

Asmodeus muttered with a light bitter smile.

【Like you.】

An explosion sounded from the screen again. The sound of someone falling. Screams and screams. Asmodeus was a little amazed as he watched the rain of meteors fall.

【By the way, this is my first time seeing something like that done in the seventh scenario area. The Nebulae have really gone crazy. I don’t know if the follow-up will be done properly.】

Perhaps the Nebulae also know. Even though only historical-grade Constellations were being replaced, that level was almost catastrophic.

【Well, when did those idiots think before moving?】

The 'Giant Nebula', which will be the main theme of this event, will probably suffer a huge blow of at least ten percent.

Nevertheless, the Nebulae carried out this operation. Even while resisting the probability of that terrifying <Star Stream>.

「For the first Kim Dokja, the 'Demon King of Salvation', is worth it.」

【I remember the day I first met him.】

Even before becoming the 'Demon King of Salvation', the 'Demon King of Salvation' was a bold personification.

He dared to touch the 'Dark Keeper', a member of the Demon King's family, and even used shallow trick to avoid Asmodeus's curse.

Even though Asmodeus saw the entire process, he turned a blind eye.

This is because it was very interesting that a mere incarnation who did not have a single story did such a thing.

[The story 'The One Who Watched the Demon King of Salvation' nods.]

For the first time in a while, Asmodeus recognized the story stirring inside him and shook his head.

Long-term relationships sometimes become tales. Even if it was a bad relationship.

[Some Constellations that share stories with you have noticed your presence.]

[Some Constellations are displeased with your presence.]

Asmodeus burst into laughter.

Just in case, he did it anyway.

It seems that the Constellations of 'that world line' who like Kim Dokja were still alive.

【There’s plenty of cola and popcorn, so why don’t you come here too?】

The stars did not answer.

They wouldn't dare intervene either.

Because all the Constellations from other world lines, including Asmodeus himself, are bound by special restrictions.

Then someone pulled his sleeve. When he turned around, a kkoma Kim Dokja was there.

A particularly small individual among kkomas Kim Dokja.

【Is there a problem?. Kkoma Kim Dokja.】

Kkoma Kim Dokja looked up at him with wide eyes. Then he looked at the screen once, then at Asmodeus, and again.

【Hmm?】

Asmodeus's brow twitched greatly.

【Are you really asking me to help him now?】

He nodded his head vigorously.

Asmodeus gave a somewhat stern look.

【Kkoma Kim Dokja. Have you forgotten who I am? I am 'Representative Kim Dokja'. I am their enemy.】

Kkoma Kim Dokja tilted his head as if he didn't understand Asmodeus's words.

Asmodeus did not reply any further. Nevertheless, those clear eyes were looking at Asmodeus.

What kind of being is Kim Dokja?

Although he had gathered quite a few of his fragments, Asmodeus still could not understand Kim Dokja.

Kkoma Kim Dokja's fingertips touched the back of Asmodeus's hand. Asmodeus, startled by the sudden warmth, shook his hand away and muttered as if it were bothersome.

【Sorry, I can't help him. Have you forgotten that the theater suffered a huge blow due to our hasty intervention?】

Even though he knew that the kkoma Kim Dokja would not understand what he was saying, Asmodeus continued his speech.

【At that time, some of the theater's functions were damaged, so aren't we unable to properly 'recover the fragments' now? Why would I support someone who ruined my theater—】

Asmodeus, who had been talking up to that point, closed his mouth. This is because the kkoma Kim Dokja did not look like he understood anything at all.

【Why am I talking about it when you can't understand what I'm saying?】

There was no justification or reason for that, but if Asmodeus wanted to, he could have saved the Demon King of Salvation.

The problem is that if that happens, the story becomes complicated.

[The Nebula Alliance is watching your intervention.]

A message that seems to have been waiting for him.

Due to the previous intervention, the Giant Nebulae also noticed his presence.

If he were to intervene in that scenario here, Asmodeus would have to suffer a significant amount of loss.

【Anyway, his story won't end easily even if I don't come forward.】

Kkoma Kim Dokja's small hand, which hesitated, grabbed Asmodeus's cold hand again.

Asmodeus, who was tired of even shaking it off, did not avoid the hand.

He just stared at the screen with bored eyes.

【The end of this world will be much crueler than he thinks.】

---

How many incarnations had he cut down? He even forgot the count.

The fallen incarnations were piled up one after another under the lightly bouncing white and blue lightning.

[Some Constellations cannot withstand the shock of probability and fall into sleep.]

As the Constellations that had taken a huge hit due to unreasonable intervention in lower-level scenarios exited one after another, the number of those attacking them gradually decreased.

[Your incarnation body has reached its limit.]

Every time he swung his sword, he could taste the fishy taste of blood in his mouth. He can't remember the last time he fought like this.

"I've thought about it a lot."

The Demon King of Salvation swung his sword, swung it, and swung it again.

"After all, it’s a shame to die here."

Looking at the decrease in the number of historical-grade Constellations entering, they are also tired.

At this rate, there won't be any historical-grade left who can touch the Youngest, at least for the time being.

"I haven’t been able to fully tell my Youngest who 'Kim Dokja' is yet."

"What are you talking about? Stop and die! Please!"

He cut down another incarnation of the charging historical-grade Constellations.

"I also want to read 'Ways of Survival'."

Every Kim Dokja loves stories. The same was true for the 'Demon King of Salvation'. More than any other Kim Dokja, he loved 'Ways of Survival'.

However, in his opinion, the Youngest was the best when it came to persistence in telling stories.

Kim Dokja just likes the 'story' itself.

Kim Dokja reads even the stories that all other Kim Dokja ignore. After reading all those stories, Kim Dokja now wants to write a new story.

[The tale 'Demon King of Salvation' continues its storytelling.]

[The 'Dark Keeper' communicates with your tale.]

"Could it be possible to use something like 'Ways of Survival'?"

[Some great fate is wishing for your death!]

This is already the second message of fate he has heard.

Once three messages are filled, the power of [Fate] becomes more powerful.

He’s sure the Nebulae guys will fill that number.

"But you."

An arrow flew and struck close to the heart. Blood poured out from the mouth of the Demon King of Salvation, who had stumbled greatly. Nevertheless, the Demon King of Salvation did not fall.

"If this continues, even if you catch me, you will all be doomed."

Forcing [Fate] on an incarnation and forcing [Fate] on a Narrative-grade Constellation have different levels of probability.

However, the Giant Nebula did not correct the error of [Fate].

In other words, in order to force this [Fate], the Giant Nebula would have sacrificed a huge amount of probability.

"Forcing [Fate] does not end. At least the minimum probability of executing that [Fate] must be secured."

Even though he was stumbling, the Demon King of Salvation kept walking forward. One of the incarnations that was rushing towards him collapsed again.

"It means that you are far from being enough. Even our Youngest knows that."

The blood-stained Demon King of Salvation grinned. Incarnations were scattered everywhere he walked. Without collapsing, he cut down the historical-grade Constellations again and again.

"Damn you, you crazy person. You are crazy!"

"How could it be like that—"

No one could stop him from swinging his sword with arrows stuck all over his body.

They knew that if they pushed a little further he would collapse, but no one dared deal him the final blow.

"How could such a monster—"

It was a fight with a decided outcome.

The probability of a Giant Nebula supported them, and the greatest incarnations of historical-grade flocked to them.

Although it was not the power of their true bodies, the incarnation bodies with increased synchronization were dropped, and dropped, and dropped again.

And yet.

"Why?"

The 'Demon King of Salvation' did not fall.

The 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' muttered as if he were lost.

"Why don’t you fall down?"

He began to grow shy, afraid that he might not be able to kill him. As his head became stained with fear, the tales surrounding him began to come into view little by little.

[The tale 'Demon King of Salvation' continues its storytelling.]

Why do the 'Mythical Constellations' covet the 'Demon King of Salvation'?

Why did they want a piece of him so much, even though they called him a 'discarded god'?

The 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' foolishly thought that he would finally understand everything.

"Everyone—"

He couldn't bear to say anything.

Even though he knows he just needs to push a little harder, he’s not sure.

「I don’t think I can possibly kill that Constellation.」

[The Constellation 'Gatekeeper of Thebes' is persuaded by the story.]

This was the power of stories.

The reason why a historical-grade Constellation cannot defeat a Mythical-grade Constellation.

The great Constellations whose fighting spirit was broken began to hesitate and retreat.

But not all Constellations were convinced.

"As expected, it seems like historical-grade idiots weren’t enough."

A long spear flew from somewhere and pierced the back of the Demon King of Salvation.

One knee of the staggering 'Demon King of Salvation' broke for the first time.

He is not intimidated by such a powerful tale.

Likewise, only stars with great stories could do this.

[The aftereffects of probability begin to blow.]

A tailwind of probability that creeps in despite the rules of the 'scale'.

Clearly, this was proof that this scenario did not allow the existence of that 'Constellation'.

[The Constellation 'God of War' increases the synchronization rate with his incarnation!]

Ares, the God of War.

As many as 12 God Constellations of <Olympus> entered the war with their own incarnations.

[The Constellation 'God of War’ announces the end.]

The historical-grade Constellations that had been intimidated by Ares's orders rushed forward again.

The Demon King of Salvation grinned.

"Youngest, are you watching?"

The lightning striking from the sky became even stronger. Perhaps the Giant Nebula is sacrificing enormous probability for this transfer.

"You have to see a lot to write well."

Cutting down the Constellations that rush at him with one knee bent.

「White Blue lightning, which had not been supplied with sufficient magical power, blinked. The Demon King of Salvation actually took advantage of the imbalance in magical power to cut down the incarnations as if performing acrobatics.」

Every time the 'Blade of Faith' flashed intermittently, a historical-grade's incarnation fell.

[The influence of the story 'Demon King of Salvation' is gradually decreasing.]

The ground in the area was set on fire by the heat wave wrapped in Ares's spear.

The Demon King of Salvation changed the mimicry form of 'Broken Faith' to 'Unbreakable Faith'.

He held his sword on the floor and took a deep breath.

A sentence for him was written above the [Fourth Wall].

「The Demon King of Salvation had people he wanted to see.」

When he lowered his head, he saw a cigarette on the floor. A lit cigarette smoking white smoke.

「He won’t be able to see them anymore.」

Smelling the acrid scent, the Demon King of Salvation read the sentence written on the wall.

A story narrating his death.

In the end, it was a sentence for Kim Dokja who wanted to read the story as well.

「Kim Dokja decided to accept the story.」

The Demon King of Salvation did not know who was writing the sentences on the wall.

It's like when he can't confirm whether the person behind that curtain is Yoo Joonghyuk or not.

However, some people write, some read, and some live.

Together, they will complete this story, forever unable to touch each other.

The Demon King of Salvation picked up the fallen cigarette and took a drag. Then, exactly one sip of the story seeped deep into his soul.

The Demon King of Salvation said while looking down at his cigarette.

"Keep writing, Han Sooyoung."

Seeing Ares approaching, the Demon King of Salvation mustered his last strength and held on to 'Unbreakable Faith.'

"Because I can still read more."

He was still curious about the end of this story.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

716 Episode 26 Star Ladder (12)

Cigarette smoke scattered in the air.

From a distance, the God of War Ares frowned and spoke.

"Are you taking the demons' favors? You are an unholy bastard."

"I don't smoke either. But…"

Memories slowly came back along with the cigarette dropping.

"There was someone who really liked this."

['Kim Dokja Fragment' responds to your emotions.]

With the memories slowly seeping in, the Demon King of Salvation recalled an old face. The girl who especially loved smoking.

'Kim Dokja', who used the rest of his life to save one person—

「The Demon King of Salvation looked down at his incarnation body that was slowly breaking apart.」

Did Han Sooyoung in the 1,863rd round feel this way?

Did she endure this feeling every time she used [Avatar]?

"Youngest."

It wasn't his job to remember someone. The Second one does it much better.

But since meeting the Youngest, old memories have often come flooding back to him. He was filled with old tales, as if asking people not to forget him.

[Old tales begin to tell you a story.]

The Demon King of Salvation slowly looked back, as if looking back at his own life. The history he lived in was torn apart and it was difficult to find the proper path to it.

However, this place had its own history.

In the distance, Anna Croft and Christina Page were talking toward the sky with Cheon Inho on their back.

It seemed like they were negotiating a 'Star Ladder' with someone.

[Fragment of the story 'The Right Arm of a Poor Sword Master' reacts to you.]

His right arm felt like it was twitching, and a faint fragment of a story came to him.

'The Right Arm of a Poor Sword Master Who Was Stabbed in the Back by a Colleague'.

The Demon King of Salvation remembered fragments of the story. When he first obtained the fragment of the story, his incarnation body was in tatters, just like it is now.

[Fragment of the story 'The Right Arm of a Poor Sword Master' feels your longing.]

Yes, you remember too.

"The sword master’s tale? You have a trash story."

Ares's brows furrowed slightly as he watched the Demon King of Salvation from afar.

"You haven’t been able to subdue that guy yet, Gatekeeper of Thebes."

"We’ll kill you right now! Everyone charge!"

The historical-grade Constellations, energized by the command of the Narrative-grade Constellations, shouted and rushed in once again.

The Demon King of Salvation dodged the incoming attack with minimal movement. Every time he shook his head or turned around, a bloody trail passed over his body.

[Your incarnation body will disappear after 5 minutes.]

The 'Dark Keeper's' body began to tremble as if he was nervous.

The Demon King of Salvation spoke as if to reassure him.

"Don't worry. I can kill them all."

"I still think this makes no sense—"

[The story fragment 'The Right Arm of a Poor Sword Master' begins its storytelling.]

This story fragment was a story that the Demon King of Salvation discovered in the 'Scenario Horizon'.

A tale that was abandoned because no one wrote it.

Waste excluded from the scenario.

Ares was looking 30 steps ahead.

"It's just this story—!"

The incarnation of the great Constellation that shouted like that was split in half. The astonished incarnations of historical-grade screamed.

Sword Master.

The incarnations of the historical-grade Constellations were collapsing helplessly due to the 'mass-produced stories' that the Constellations ignored.

One step at a time. The number of corpses increased at every corner of the path that the Demon King of Salvation walked.

「There are no useless stories.」

No matter how much the Constellations have increased their synchronization rate, this scenario is ultimately the 'seventh scenario'.

The Constellations were unable to fully reveal their status, and they were not familiar with the fighting methods of the lower-level scenarios they had graduated from a long time ago.

In the end, lower level scenarios are advantageous to those who are better at using 'lower grade' stories.

And the Demon King of Salvation,

[The story 'The One Who is Loved by All Things' continues its storytelling.]

He was the Constellation that could do that job best in this world.

"Kill him! Kill him!"

Twenty steps.

"Please, please stop him!"

Ten steps.

"Kaaaaaaak!"

The Demon King of Salvation was just around the corner.

Ares's expression suddenly hardened.

"Bouncer!"

As the story of Ares began to unfold, the Demon King of Salvation could no longer move forward.

In an instant, a fierce battle ensued.

[Fragment of the story 'The Right Arm of a Poor Sword Master Who Was Stabbed in the Back by a Colleague' fulfills his calling.]

The fragments of the story could not withstand the pressure and broke apart. For a moment, his body lost its balance and tilted. Ares's spear tore through the air.

Blood dripped down.

The right arm of the Demon King of Salvation rolled on the floor.

"It's all over. Fragment of a discarded god."

The moment Ares was about to deliver the final blow to the one-armed Demon King of Salvation.

"Ares."

The Demon King of Salvation said.

"I’m so glad you came here."

"What?"

"Do you know why?"

Tsutsutsutsutsu.

"I’ve already killed you before."

[The story 'The One Who Defeated the God of War' begins its storytelling.]

As the tales flowing from the Demon King of Salvation began to encroach on the surroundings, Ares's pupils widened.

"How dare you—"

The story of the defeat of the 'God of War' in the 3rd round. However, in order to unleash the power of this story, a condition was needed.

「"Kim Dokja, you only get one chance."」

Yoo Joonghyuk in the 3rd round.

And the 'long spear of Hercules' that will defeat him.

「"For me, it was always just once."」

However, compared to the 3rd round, Yoo Joonghyuk is beyond the curtain, and the spear they threw together back then is not here.

Props to recreate the stage do not exist here.

"Back then, we killed you with a 'fake story'."

But here, however clumsily, there was an item that could satisfy both at the same time.

"I really wonder what it will be like this time."

['Thoughts of Almost Everything' respond to your will!]

A pre-saved image appeared in his thoughts along with a bright beam of light.

['Thoughts of Almost Everything' mimics 'Weolgeuk'.]

Weolgeuk.

In the 41st round, 'Yoo Joonghyuk's 'spear' was in his hand.

The Demon King of Salvation also knew this spear well.

One of Yoo Joonghyuk's favorite weapons along with 'Jincheon Paedo' and 'Heukcheon Mado'.

Someday, this window will be completed as 'Amcheonwolgeuk'.

"You—!"

Unfortunately, he won't be able to see that scene.

Coo coo coo coo!

Ares, who had raised his level, and the Demon King of Salvation clashed. As the story of the formidable <Olympus> became entangled with Ares's spear, the battle became a high pitched battle.

In an instant, Ares's thigh burst open, piercing the side of the Demon King of Salvation. Every time attacks were exchanged, the two incarnations bodies were brutally destroyed.

"I will definitely kill you—!"

As if he couldn't accept the story of how he was murdered, Ares unleashed a storm of blows.

Now it was time for the finale of the story.

[The exclusive skill 'Bookmark' is activated!]

The Demon King of Salvation thought of an incarnation who was better at using weapons than anyone else in this world.

"I am."

But he couldn't continue talking.

Tsutsutsu!

Wild sparks flew out as if even the scale would not allow that probability.

Perhaps after using this [Bookmark], he will no longer have any possibility of existing.

Still, he had to complete this story.

"Han Sooyoung."

At some point, the sentences written on the [Fourth Wall] for him were cut off.

The Demon King of Salvation instinctively knew.

「Han Sooyoung will not be able to write the next sentence.」

There is no way that the one who started the story to save Kim Dokja could write a story that kills Kim Dokja.

However, there was one more writer in this world line.

"Youngest."

「Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint is now active. The Youngest, who fainted, would also be looking at this scene.」

"You have to do it."

Ares's enraged voice was getting faster and faster. Every time the spear's blade was struck, the new form of the Demon King of Salvation stumbled dangerously.

"Just one line."

Finally, as if preparing for the final blow, the incarnation body of Ares erupted into pitch-black flames.

The moment when the entire story exploded to burn down the entire area.

"I am."

The Demon King of Salvation said.

「"I am Yoo Joonghyuk."」

Lightning struck and the world became bright.

The incarnations of the area stared at the battlefield with their eyes wide open.

The two weapons flew towards each other, and the sound of something being roughly torn apart was heard.

And after a while.

"Ugh, uhm, uwwaaaaa!"

Gatekeeper of Thebes screamed in fear.

The incarnation of Ares, whose entire lower body had been blown away, was writhing on the floor.

[The Constellation 'God of War' has suffered enormous damage!]

[The Constellation 'Gad of War' writhes in pain!]

Across from him, the Demon King of Salvation, who had lost both legs, was breathing heavily.

['Bookmark' is released.]

[Your incarnation has suffered non-regenerative damage.]

The dying incarnation of Ares looked up at him.

"Demon King of Salvation. I will admit it. You are really strong."

The next moment, Ares's incarnation body was engulfed in a pitch black air current.

"Enough to be worth sacrificing our greatest."

The incarnation body engulfed in demonic energy was regenerating Ares's severed lower body.

[The Nebula <Olympus> sacrifices their giant story.]

A feat that sacrificed Olympus’s 'giant story'.

The revived Ares roared into the air.

Even in the face of his death, the Demon King of Salvation had a calm expression.

Now, <Olympus> and <Asgard> will not be able to intervene in the scenario in any way for the time being. If they go against probability even further, the 'Outer Gods' they fear will come.

The Youngest will be able to continue his own story.

[Your incarnation body will soon disappear.]

[Some great fate is wishing for your death.]

The third fateful message finally fell. The end that not even the stars can resist had come.

[The 'Dark Keeper' closes his eyes, satisfied with the story he shared with you.]

Thank you. I will go soon too.

[A new story has been born in the <Star Stream>!]

One character exits and the story comes to an end.

Through his darkening vision, the Demon King of Salvation recalled the story he loved.

When he thought about it, there was one last scene I wanted to read.

"For Dokja, a dokja’s (reader) life."

And, for the Demon King of Salvation...

He didn't even have the strength left to open his mouth anymore.

The Demon King of Salvation closed his eyes as he watched the flying weapon.

As always, death was something he was familiar with.

But this time, even after this, he didn't feel any pain.

Is he already dead? But has there ever been a painless death like this?

Did his incarnation disappear and even the sense of pain disappeared?

At that time, a breeze blew from somewhere.

A nostalgic scent followed.

The sound of the old subway lingered in his ears like an auditory hallucination.

The Demon King of Salvation slowly opened his eyes.

"I missed one."

A faintly fluttering silhouette.

The story on the wall was speaking.

「The Demon King of Salvation knows that this story is impossible.」

Nevertheless, the story became reality and picked him up as he fell.

「If you think about it, his life began in reality, not in a novel.」

As if whispering the origin of a memory he had long since forgotten.

"For Sangah, an sangah's (ivory) life."

The Demon King of Salvation smiled faintly.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

717 Episode 26 Star Ladder (13)

Bullets flew from somewhere and rained down on his head. The cargo's surprise commission accomplishments evacuated the incarnation.

"What kind of guy—!"

At the same time, shells more than twice the amount of charge poured out. It was not ordinary bullets.

Each magical bullet was filled with concentrated magical energy.

As several incarnations fell after being attacked, the enraged Constellations looked in the direction where the fire started.

"Those scum-like incarnations—"

The incarnations dressed as refugees continued shooting.

"Keep shooting."

There was a man standing in the center of the refugees.

Jacob Martinez.

Las Vegas’s 'King of the North'.

The historical-grade Constellations, running at remarkable speed, quickly broke through the ranks of refugees and rushed at Martinez.

The moment Martinez opened his eyes, the historical-grade Constellations in each direction cut off Martinez's arms and torso.

"Hahaha! You idiot!"

The severed limbs along with the blood flowed through the air.

[The character 'Jacob Martinez' activates 'Cutting Magic Lv.7'!]

Martinez, who quickly put the cut off limbs back together, looked toward the back and spoke.

"We can’t take too long. The opponent is <Olympus>."

"I know."

"Go. With this, the North has paid its debt."

The woman nodded her head and hugged the fallen Demon King of Salvation. Her body trembled as he entered the process of extinction.

"Don’t move."

The Demon King of Salvation looked up at the woman. An off-white color that shines brightly even on the battlefield.

It wasn't the face he remembered.

"I thought it was Yoo Sangah."

Ji Eunyu laughed heartily.

"I am her incarnation."

The incarnation of Yoo Sangah. Maybe that's why the atmosphere strangely resembles Yoo Sangah.

"It’s dangerous out here. If you’re here to save the Youngest, you’re in the wrong place. The Youngest is over there—"

"They’re still negotiating with the 'Recycling Center'."

Are the negotiations still not over?

Then the situation was not good.

A situation where <Olympus> resurrected Ares by burning a giant tale. If he doesn’t send the Youngest up quickly—

"Is that all you have to say?"

Ji Eunyu said as she ran while holding the Demon King of Salvation in her arms.

"There’s something I need to say first."

An incarnation that resembles Yoo Sangah not only in her mood but also in her tone of voice.

Ji Eunyu continued her words with a light sigh.

"I was asked to keep an eye on you because you might still do something like this."

"..."

"She wanted to use the Golden Headband, but she also asked me to tell you that it’s a pity that she couldn’t do that."

Golden Headband.

The Demon King of Salvation opened his mouth without realizing it.

"I am not the Kim Dokja that Yoo Sangah is looking for."

As he said those words, the Demon King of Salvation thought of the Third child. The Third had the main memory related to the 'Headband'.

"As if that person isn’t Yoo Sangah."

In the rapidly rushing scenery, the Demon King of Salvation felt his stories dispersing.

[The story 'Demon King of Salvation' continues with a stutter.]

Ji Eunyu's hand wrapped around him and held on to the scattered stories.

"You are the Kim Dokja she is looking for."

It was a very warm hand.

"I've read more stories about you than anyone else, so I guarantee you."

Is it because the woman telling that story really looked like Yoo Sangah?

The Demon King of Salvation slowly opened his mouth.

"How is Yoo Sangah?"

"Are you okay?"

"Tell her I'm sorry."

"Please tell her directly."

"You say you are the incarnation of Yoo Sangah."

"You heard I'm not Yoo Sangah."

"For now, let's assume you're Yoo Sangah. So—"

The Demon King of Salvation knew.

Yoo Sangah cannot come here.

He doesn't know if it's because of the 'scale of probability' or the restrictions of the 'Void Curtain', but at least she won't be able to come until he dies.

Perhaps his words will not be conveyed properly to Yoo Sangah.

"Thank you so much, Yoo Sangah."

But at least it will remain as a story.

And one day, Yoo Sangah will read his story left on this wall.

The Demon King of Salvation was satisfied with that.

"Really, thank you."

His scenario is now over.

Now the protagonist and characters of this story have changed.

"I don’t know what you’re thankful for."

Nonetheless, the story continues.

"I’m going to ask, so make sure you’re alive until then."

Is it because there is still a story left unfinished?

The Demon King of Salvation slowly blinked his eyes and asked.

"Is that what Yoo Sangah just said?"

"That’s just what I said?"

"You are just the incarnation of Yoo Sangah."

"I just decided to be Yoo Sangah."

Ji Eunyu said, kicking the ground with all her might and running.

"I don’t know, but Yoo Sangah would definitely have said that."

The explosion sound coming from behind was gradually fading away.

The northern king's troops were annihilated.

"I heard about you from my Youngest."

Editor Ji Eunyu.

In his Youngest's memory, she was quite an important figure.

She was the first to read and edit the stories the Youngest wrote. Perhaps, without her, his 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' written by his Youngest would not have been possible.

「"Writer, look. Kim Dokja’s lines here are a bit strange."」

"I think this line suits him."

"No! Look, he wasn’t a character who spoke like this before—"

"Isn’t that the character’s three-dimensionality?"

"This is not three-dimensional, it’s a kabung."」

A thought suddenly occurred to him.

If he and Yoo Sangah had been reincarnated in a different world, wouldn't they have been like that?

「Doesn’t Kim Dokja want to be someone else sometimes?」

A world without scenarios and Constellations. A world where all these tragedies are just imagination in the lines of text.

The Youngest came from that world.

"You stayed here to save the Youngest?"

Ji Eunyu did not answer.

"You’re like the Youngest Yoo Sangah."

"I’m not Yoo Sangah. Stop talking. The story will be scattered."

"I’m going to die anyway. There’s less than a minute left."

Ji Eunyu’s steps stopped.

The historical-grade Constellations hidden in the front line appeared one by one. Additional historical-grade Constellations dispatched from <Olympus> appeared accompanied by their incarnations.

"Turn off [Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint] and run away! That’s it."

"No. I’ve put restrictions on it."

It is different from the general [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint].

The Demon King of Salvation risked his own life to kill the incarnations of historical-grade and kill the incarnation of Ares, a Narrative-grade Constellation.

"This [Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint] cannot be canceled on its own."

In other words, when this incarnation body disappears, he also disappears.

"What on earth were you thinking? You're the one they're after."

"I know."

"Then why—"

Why did he do such an unreasonable thing?

The Demon King of Salvation doesn't know much either.

He may have believed that his stage was not over yet.

He may have wanted to recreate the days when he was hunting down Constellations as the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

When he saw the story of the Youngest fighting desperately alone, his blood boiled without him knowing, and he may have wanted to prove that he, too, was a 'Kim Dokja'.

The 'Thought' borrowed from the Youngest hummed and cried.

"The Demon King of Salvation I know never dies."

"..."

"You know that he is a person who survives no matter what he does, right?"

Historical-grade Constellations approached from all directions.

There was no place to run now.

There was no way for them to escape unless the 'Star Ladder' came down.

But what star would dare to lower the 'Star Ladder' against the 'Giant Nebula'?

"So please save him."

As Ji Eunyu said those words, her gaze rested on Cheon Inho in the distance for a moment.

"Please, save Kim Dokja."

The Demon King of Salvation listened to those words blankly. Perhaps he came all the way here because he wanted to hear those words.

[The story 'Demon King of Salvation' wants to continue its storytelling.]

The Demon King of Salvation, who stumbled out of Ji Eunyu's arms, spoke.

"Okay."

Beyond the incarnations of historical-grade Constellations that surrounded them, a man with a fearsome appearance was walking.

"Demon—King—of—Salvation"

It was the resurrected incarnation of Ares.

Tsutsutsu!

Ares walked forward, enduring aftereffects that exceeded the probability limit.

Even if all his remaining stories were exploded, it was impossible to defeat him.

Thunder struck once again across the night sky. The Demon King of Salvation thought of Yoo Joonghyuk.

Perhaps Yoo Joonghyuk or Kim Dokja Company will not be able to come. Because the Giant Nebulae will be blocking them by sacrificing their giant stories.

Not only them, but no one else in this world can intervene in this scenario where the Giant Nebulae run rampant.

「Except for only one place.」

The Demon King of Salvation raised his head.

"Are you there?"

They are the group that controls this 'world' itself.

Those who control the scenario in the torrent of the <Star Stream> and guide the world to the ■■ of everything.

"Bihyung."

Sparks struck in the air at the call of the Demon King of Salvation. And,

—Are you serious?

Bihyung, a Dokkaebi belonging to the 'Management Bureau' responded.

"Yes."

The Demon King of Salvation knew. Bihyung is probably not the only one listening to him now.

The Great Dokkaebis of this world line— even perhaps the Dokkaebi King beyond—are also listening to his story.

And what he's going to say, he's already guessing.

—The price will be very high.

He knows. Perhaps it would be more cruel than death.

"It does not matter."

Nevertheless, he has to meet his Youngest again.

When they meet, he has to tell him what he hasn't told him yet.

What kind of person is the 'real Kim Dokja'?

Where is Han Sooyoung, whom he was searching for?

How can readers from other world lines be sent back?

Who is the guy who killed us?

And—

「Why does this 'world' exist?」

The Constellations noticed something unusual and rushed towards this direction.

"That bastard! Stop him—!"

Looking at them, the Demon King of Salvation grinned.

「You will get nothing.」

The Demon King of Salvation declared.

"I will dedicate myself to the <Star Stream>."

Then the world responded to his words.

[The <Star Stream> accepts your offer.]

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' is consecrated to the 'Star Stream'.]

"Stop! You bastard!"

The fact that the Constellation sealed itself in the 'Star Stream' was tantamount to voluntarily becoming the subject of a scenario.

[The mayor of 'Jeonsang City' wants to incorporate the 'Demon King of Salvation' into his scenario.]

[The host of 'Ragnarok' wants to incorporate the 'Demon King of Salvation' into his scenario.]

[The 'Fallen ruins' owner wants to incorporate the 'Demon King of Salvation' into his scenario.]

[The creator of the 'Holy Demon War' wants to incorporate the 'Demon King of Salvation' into his scenario.]

…

[The director of the 'Recycling Center' wants to incorporate the 'Demon King of Salvation' into his scenario.]

He didn't know how he would be used in which scenario. But now he had offered himself and was entitled to ask for it in return.

"I accept the granting authority of the 'Star Ladder'."

[The 'Management Bureau' approves your payment.]

Ares arrived right in front of the Demon King of Salvation and swung his spear.

In a split second, a dazzling beam of light appeared and the incarnation of the 'Demon King of Salvation' disappeared.

"No!"

At the same time, a bright ladder began to come down from thin air.

「Star Ladder.」

An opportunity to ascend to heaven given to several incarnations in exchange for the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation'.

Anna Croft and Selena Kim climbed the ladder to help Cheon Inho and Yoo Joonghyuk, who had fallen, and Ji Eunyu also held onto the ladder with Martinez.

The ladder carrying all the scheduled incarnations began to ascend to the sky.

Coo coo coo coo!

Ares was furious and went berserk.

"I can’t admit it!"

Ares's angry body stretched out his hand toward the Star Ladder.

"Stop it! Stop his incarnation from using the Star Ladder! Just make him drop it somehow!"

Historical-grade Constellations, including the Gatekeeper of Thebes, belatedly attacked the ladder.

However, a translucent curtain created sparks and blocked their intervention.

"How dare you—"

At that moment, Ares felt like the scales of the scenario were balanced.

It was impossible.

If there is a being who can achieve equilibrium with a Narrative-grade Constellation—

[Stop, Ares.]

All the Constellations, including Ares, stopped along with their incarnations at the mantra filled with tremendous power.

Ares lifted his head and looked up at the sky in disbelief.

At the end of the Star Ladder leading to the 'Recycling Center' were beings with pure white wings spread out.

Unlike <Olympus> and <Asgard>, which participated in the scenario, these stars were the only ones among the three Giant Nebulae that remained silent.

"Eden!"

[The Constellation 'Lilies Blooming on Water Ice' reveals themselves!]

A line of Constellations was blocking the road leading to the Recycling Center.

[The scenario is over. Without further compromising probability, go back to your own context.]

"How dare you, how dare you—"

Ares couldn't understand. Why is <Eden> involved in this situation?

Especially at this timing.

Ares bit his lip and revealed his fierceness to the being standing beyond the Archangels.

"Center Director! I know you’re hiding there!"

There is no need to fight <Eden>.

After all, the 'Star Ladder' is not under the jurisdiction of <Eden>.

"Cancel the Star Ladder! The 'Demon King of Salvation' is ours!"

[No. Now he belongs to the '<Star Stream>'.]

With a hollow laugh, the Center Director's voice was heard from the Archangel's shadow.

[<Olympus>. Have you forgotten the Nebula Agreement? You cannot interfere with the 'Recycling Center' scenario.]

"Asgard has declared [Fate]. Three [Fate] messages have been sent to him! He cannot avoid them! He—"

[The Fate that came down to him was to 'die in a loved story'.]

When all the incarnations completed their ascension, the 'Star Ladder' began to disperse. The portal to the Recycling Center was closing little by little.

The Center Director, with a strange smile, left his last words while looking at the ruined Washington Dome.

[I guess that story isn't here.]

"Wait! Wait! You guys—"

['Star Ladder' has disappeared.]

[All scenarios in the 'Washington Dome' area end.]

[The scales of the scenario are tipped.]

[The balance of probability is lost.]

Ares and the historical-grade Constellations that were left behind hurriedly looked at each other.

Unusual sparks were raging throughout Washington.

"Everyone withdraw—"

[A potential storm begins to blow!]

The aftermath that followed erased everything in Washington.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

718 Episode 27 Recycling Center (1)

---

「I wanted to show it to the world. Even ordinary stories can become great stories.」

---

I heard a tinnitus buzzing in my ears. I felt dizzy, as if someone was shaking my skull.

「"Youngest."」

Words flowing through my head.

What followed were scenes that came to mind.

The Demon Marquis of the Capitol. The Demon King of Salvation who possessed him. Great Constellations rushing towards him. Ares, the 12th god of Olympus, came to kill the Demon King of Salvation.

「"You have to do it."」

The sense of the sentences I had unconsciously written in the blurry atmosphere was vivid at my fingertips.

「"I am Yoo Joonghyuk."」

[The Constellations of the Giant Nebula are astonished by your achievements!]

Twisted probability.

The Demon King of Salvation rushing towards Ares.

[Some small and medium-sized Nebulae are depressed by your presence.]

[Some Constellations in the little Nebulae are starting to cheer for your presence.]

[The Constellations of the Korean Peninsula are worried about your future.]

The fate message.

Ares was resurrected.

[The Constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' is proud of you.]

[The Constellation 'White Shark' is full of admiration for your achievements.]

Giant Nebula. Falling meteors.

[The Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is worried for your safety.]

[The Constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' nods to your courage.]

Ji Eunyu.

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' curses at the cowardly Giant Nebula…]

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'… ]

And.

[Your new story has been born.]

[The new story will be shared with your sponsor.]

I muttered absentmindedly.

"Kim Dokja."

I looked around.

"Kim Dokja."

No one answered.

"Demon King of Salvation!"

Even though I screamed at the top of my lungs, my voice was weak and muffled. A cold feeling touched my cheek.

It was snowing.

Pure white snowy field. Footprints of someone walking ahead.

I walked along those footprints. At first I walked, but soon I started running.

I ran, suppressing my rising breath. On the way, I fell a few times and ended up in the snow. My feet suddenly fell into the cold, with sore eyes.

「"I will offer myself to <Star Stream>."」

A strange sound, neither a scream nor a regular sound, came from inside me.

That can't be possible. There's no way he's dead.

There is no way that Kim Dokja, that Demon King of Salvation, would disappear like this.

How long did I run like that?

Finally I reached the end of the footprints.

A shaking white coat.

There stood the person I was desperately looking for.

I staggered towards him. The moment I slowly stretched out my hand and touched his shoulder, Kim Dokja looked back.

「Huh.」

I looked blankly at his face. Clearly, he had the face of the 'Kim Dokja' I knew. The calm eyes and neatly smiling lips were clearly Kim Dokja's.

But he.

「He was not the 'Demon King of Salvation' I knew.」

Only then did I slowly come to my senses.

I realized where this place was.

I have entered the snowy field.

"You—"

And the 'Kim Dokja' in front of me now was the 'Kim Dokja of the Snowy Field' that I had met for the first time.

Kim Dokja feels sometimes sad, sometimes incomprehensible, and at the same time distant.

I asked him.

"Where is the Demon King of Salvation?"

As usual, Kim Dokja took out a teacup from his chest, lazily poured his tea and took a sip.

Steam rose from the teacup, and Kim Dokja slowly looked up at the sky, following the dispersing water vapor.

A falling meteor shower decorated the empty sky of the snowy field. Perhaps it is the Historical-grade Constellations of the 'Giant Nebulae' that were sacrificed in this fight.

「It was a really interesting story.」

Interesting story.

「It’s been a long time since I’ve seen the Giant Nebulae get into trouble like that.」

His enjoyment was not unusual. Because he is Kim Dokja, who loves stories more than anyone else in this universe.

Normally I might have talked about him and the Constellations for hours.

"Kim Dokja. Where is the Demon King of Salvation?"

But I didn't feel like it right now.

"You saw it too. Everyone was watching it."

A cold flame boiled inside me. A feeling that I didn't have before.

The snow on the ground was melting around me.

Kim Dokja looked down at my feet and asked.

「Do you remember what I said before?」

What he said.

「I told you to say whatever you want.」

Right.

「Is that really what you wanted to talk about?」

"What is that—"

「Why did you sign a contract with the 'Demon King of Salvation'?」

Kim Dokja was looking at the sky, so I couldn't see his expression.

But I could tell just by the way he spoke.

Now he was angry.

「I thought you would make a wise choice.」

Why is he angry?

「You shouldn’t be a 'Kim Dokja' like them.」

Kim Dokja’s words sounded very strange to me.

Until now, I thought he would support me no matter what I said.

But actually, did he also have a story that he wanted to see through me?

I don't know. Honestly, I didn't have time to think about such things right now.

"Kim Dokja. I’ll say it again. I want to save the Demon King of Salvation. Please tell me how to save the Demon King of Salvation."

「I can’t help you.」

"Why?"

「Because he and I pursue different ■ ■.」

"What are you talking about? You and him are both Kim Dokja. You—"

At that moment, a strange question occurred to me.

The Demon King of Salvation once said something like that to me. It is said that 'Kim Dokja' in this world line was divided into several large chunks centered on modifiers.

"The Demon King of Salvation said he was the First Kim Dokja."

So then, who is the Kim Dokja in front of me right now? How many 'Kim Dokjas' is this?

"What number are you?"

The Demon King of Salvation called me the 'Youngest'. In that case, Kim Dokja in front of me would be a brother before me.

Second or Third?

"Kim Dokja?"

But strangely enough, as I looked at him, it seemed like he was neither of those things.

Who is Kim Dokja?

He is,

「You.」

Was this really the 'Kim Dokja' I knew?

「You shouldn't be Kim Dokja's 'Youngest'.」

"That's up to me to decide. If I really am the reincarnation of Kim Dokja—"

Even as I said this, I was surprised.

Because I never thought I would say those words out of my mouth.

Is this the influence of the Demon King of Salvation?

Do I really think of myself as 'Kim Dokja' now?

「Hakhyun-ah.」

Kim Dokja sighed lightly and extended his hand towards me. But at that moment, I instinctively felt wary. I felt like I shouldn't touch his hand.

As I was staggering back, thunder struck again in the distance.

But Kim Dokja's hands were fast, and I couldn't avoid it.

Tsutsutsu.

It was then that sparks flew in the air. My hand moved of its own accord and grabbed Kim Dokja’s wrist.

Then an unfamiliar voice came out of my mouth.

"I’m disappointed. Are you trying to break the rules?"

Then Kim Dokja, whose expression hardened, spoke.

"Don’t disturb. Cheon—"

Thunder struck again and the snowy landscape was torn apart.

---

When I came to my senses, I was lying face down on the unfamiliar dirt floor, nauseating.

It felt like someone had disassembled my body into joints and reassembled it.

It was natural.

「Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint was maintained for a long time, and 'Goryeo’s First Sword' was summoned using Bookmark and even used the Three-Sword Style. If the scale of probability had not prevented the aftermath, it would not be surprising if my body had been torn apart long ago. Surviving itself was a miracle.」

After taking a few breaths, I opened my mouth as if squeezing my throat.

"Is there anyone?"

No one answered.

[Transmission via 'Star Ladder' has been completed.]

[A new main scenario will begin soon.]

Even while I was unconscious from [Daily Invoice], I checked the situation on the battlefield through [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint].

Clearly, Anna Croft and Christina used the 'Star Ladder' with Yoo Joonghyuk on their backs.

"Is there anyone?"

I suddenly felt alone.

[Main Scenario #7 —'Invasion of the Demon World' has ended.]

[Sub-scenario—'Beast Hunt' has ended.]

When I think about it, I have been alone ever since I entered this world.

And yet, once again, I realize that I am alone.

"Constellation-nim."

It may be because I remembered that I was not alone for a brief moment.

[A total of 600,000 coins were obtained as compensation.]

It felt like he was talking in my ear like usual.

The Youngest has earned so many coins. It seemed like he would be happy to finally be able to buy the 'Demon King's modifier'.

[You have been given the option to choose a 'Narrative-grade story'.]

That we did it together.

[Your achievements will be announced on the <Star Stream>.]

[The modifier 'Demon King of Salvation' is announced on the Star Stream.]

Those damn Giant Nebulae have finally been dealt a blow.

[In recognition of your amazing achievements, the 'Management Bureau' will improve and adjust the rewards of the sub-scenario.]

[You have been provided with an 'SS-grade skill selection'.]

Check out the newly received rewards and think together about what to choose.

I felt like he was going to make a fuss because this story was good and that skill was good.

"Constellation-nim."

There was no voice heard. Instead, faint sparks flew out in the air. An unprecedented feeling that faintly flows into me.

A sense of relief washed over me.

「The sponsorship contract has not been cut off.」

It was proof that he was still alive somewhere in this world.

"Why."

I wanted to ask.

"Why did you do that?"

Even though I knew it was meaningless to ask such a question to the 'Demon King of Salvation', I wanted to ask.

He offered himself to the <Star Stream> in exchange for saving me.

Just like Shin Yoosung in the 41st Round.

He had fought against the story his whole life, and ended up becoming part of it to save me.

"Why—"

Am I worth it?

"You, you are the real Kim Dokja."

If there is only one Kim Dokja left in this world, shouldn't it be you?

Tsutsutsut.

A sound was heard once again. It wasn't a probability spark. The sound was coming from inside my arms. The smartphone was vibrating.

Smartphone.

I reflexively took out my phone. It wasn't my phone.

It was Kim Dokja's.

The phone that Kim Dokja always had in his hand.

A screen appeared on the liquid crystal display. There was a file lying all over the empty desktop.

I looked at the file blankly and pressed the button without realizing it.

「There are three ways to survive in a ruined world.」

There was a star who loved this story more than anyone else.

A sentence he must have read countless times.

「I've forgotten a few things now. But one thing is certain.」

A sentence that would have saved him from death time and time again.

I also read that sentence.

「That is the fact that you, who are reading this now, will survive.」

This is what he left me.

I read that sentence over and over again.

And then I stood up and started walking.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

719 Episode 27 Recycling Center (2)

---

The place I fell into was a dense forest area.

[Enter the eighth scenario area.]

[The will-o'-the-wisp guides you.]

The will-o'-the-wisp buzzed before me like a little firefly.

But I didn't move right away. Because I needed to know where this place was.

It's late at night. The forest with lush broadleaf trees covering the sky felt somewhat mountainous and scary.

There were no stars in the sky.

Even indirect messages were not heard.

I came up with a hypothesis in my head.

First, this is an area that the Constellations cannot yet see.

Second, the Constellations are not interested because the area I am in is outside the scenario.

Whatever the theory, it was best to avoid battle as much as possible in my current state.

The cries of animals were often heard.

I crouched as low as I could and went into the bushes holding my breath.

"Dokkaebi Bag."

Fortunately, the 'Dokkaebi Bag' worked normally.

I bought items needed for the homeless from the bag.

[You purchased the item 'Body Odor Removal Spray'.]

[You purchased the item 'Small Bed'.]

[You purchased the item 'Someone’s old blanket'.]

[A total of 800 coins were used.]

These were the things that the Demon King of Salvation once told me were 'great items for homeless people'.

After spraying the surrounding area, I set up a 'bed' and covered it with 'someone's old blanket'.

The blanket fluttered like ectoplasm and slowly seeped into the background. From the outside, there was no way to tell that there was a hiding place in the bushes.

[The hidden item combination has been completed.]

[The special option 'It’s dangerous outside the blanket' is activated.]

When I squeezed inside the transparent blanket, I could clearly see outside.

The downside is that the interior is so narrow that one adult male can barely lie down.

It didn't matter because I was the only one in the group anyway.

As I slowly curled up under the thick blanket, for some reason, a familiar memory came to mind.

「"If you look at books there, your eyes will get worse!"」

Memories of hiding under a blanket and reading a book with a small light on.

Is it my memory or Kim Dokja’s memory?

「"Is it okay?"」

Is it really that important to reveal the origins of anyone's memories?

「"You have to sleep not too late."」

I turned on the smartphone that Kim Dokja left behind and started reading 'Ways of Survival'.

---

One day passed, and then two days passed. My daily routine was simple.

[The will-o'-the-wisp guides you.]

When the sun rose, I followed the ghostly fire through the forest area, and at night, I took a nap in a blanket tent while reading 'Ways of survival'.

Sometimes I encountered monsters.

Grrrr—!

The monster species encountered are mainly 7th grade or 8th grade species.

After two days of camping, my body recovered quite a bit and I was able to fight against monsters.

The main thing I encountered was a huge wild boar.

[7th grade monster species 'Forest Wild Boar' has appeared.]

As I was trying to take out my weapon as usual, I suddenly realized that the Demon King of Salvation had borrowed my thoughts of almost everything.

Fortunately, there was one weapon left to replace it.

'Unbroken faith.'

Kim Dokja's main weapon, and the weapon left behind by the disappeared Han Sooyoung.

The bright blade of [Baekcheon-ganggi], which was now quite proficient, flashed.

「Youngest, how do you use [Baekcheon-ganggi]?」

I narrowly avoided the giant forest boar and refined my sword using the story 「Persistent Murin Master」.

The wild boar fell down in an instant, blood pouring from its side.

[The 7th grade monster species 'Forest Wild Boar' has been defeated.]

After collecting its core, I immediately started butchering it. Because I haven't eaten anything for two days already.

「You can never starve. If you don't have enough energy, your head won't work well. Yoo Joonghyuk eats eight meals a day.」

I looked for and read about the 'Forest Wild Boar's butchering' in 'Ways of Survival'.

The poisonous horns were removed, the skin was removed, the intestines were taken out, and the meat was sliced along the spine.

I gathered twigs and lit a fire.

There was no [Magic Brazier], but now it is possible to light a cooking flame without a brazier.

「Youngest, Yoo Joonghyuk, the best cook, what number of sessions did he say?」

For cooking wild boar, refer to Yoo Joonghyuk's recipe from the 81st Round. However, even though I followed Yoo Joonghyuk's recipe, the dish did not turn out well for some reason.

Probably because I am not Yoo Joonghyuk.

「Yoo Joonghyuk thought. 'Is it possible to achieve transcendence through cooking?'」

There are some obvious facts I learned while living alone.

For example, not all monster species are as delicious as 'Ground Puppy' or 'Yana Spreta'.

「Yoo Joonghyuk thought as he watched Kim Namwoon spitting up what he just ate. 'You can’t eat these ingredients by cooking them'.」

Monsters must be slaughtered three or four times a day, and emergency food must be stored in case the hunt fails.

「Yoo Joonghyuk thought as he looked at Kim Namwoon foaming at the mouth. 'If you eat this fruit, you will die within 1 minute'.」

Even in the apocalypse, you have to maintain hygiene and occasionally wash your body under running water.

「"Kim Namwoon, you smell bad."」

Then Lee Jihye held her nose and walked away.

「"Eww.…."」

If you don't have a place to wash, you can purchase [Clean Body] from the 'Dokkaebi Bag' and use it.

「Kim Namwoon used [Clean Body] right away.」

[Use the item 'Clean Body'.]

[50 coins were consumed.]

Three days, then four days passed.

It's been a long time since I've been alone like this.

Suddenly, memories of the day I first started living here came to mind.

「Kim Namwoon prayed. "Captain, can’t I eat first this time?"」

The fact is that humans need to eat something every day to survive.

「Yoo Joonghyuk gave the order. "No. From now on, you will be in charge of doing the laundry, Kim Namwoon!"」

The fact is that someone has to constantly run the washing machine in order to wear clean clothes.

「Yoo Joonghyuk gave the order. 'It’s your responsibility to clean up after monsters, Kim Namwoon."」

The fact is that if you don't clean up what you eat right away, bugs will be attracted.

「Yoo Joonghyuk gave the order. "And pay back 10,000 coins a day, Kim Namwoon."」

The fact is that you have to work and earn money to pay rent and resident tax.

By experiencing those extremely obvious facts firsthand, I managed to grow into a decent member of society.

「Yoo Joonghyuk gave the order, "Practice cutting 20,000 times a day!"」

Things that must be done to become an ordinary adult.

「Namwoon asked, "Damn it, how can I do all that!"」

Since when did Kim Dokja start doing things like that on his own?

「Yoo Joonghyuk answered, "I did it!"」

I often thought about Kim Dokja, who endured his childhood alone without the help of his parents—the Demon King of Salvation at a time when no one could yet save him.

A boy who worked to earn money, did laundry, cooked meals, washed dishes, occasionally paid rent, and read Ways of Survival before going to sleep.

「Yoo Joonghyuk answered, "You can do it too."」

Thinking of that boy, I also read 'Ways of Survival'.

And a week has passed.

Now monster hunting has become much more natural. The speed of butchering has also increased, and the skill proficiency has also increased.

I read 'Ways of Survival' repeatedly, looking for the information I needed.

I was able to properly distinguish between what was edible and what was not.

Whenever there was a stream, the water quality was checked and drinking water was stored.

I often washed my face with cold water. My face was reflected in the eerily clear stream.

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' is looking at you blankly.]

For some reason, my face seemed to have changed a little. Is it an illusion?

[Collect the new 'Kim Dokja Fragments'.]

[Time remaining until death: 9 days 12:53]

"I guess I'll have to go get some new fragments soon."

['Recycling Center' responds to your self-talk.]

Recycling Center.

Over the past week, I've searched through the entire 'Ways of Survival' and found every bit of information about the eighth scenario.

['Recycling Center' senses the potential for a new 'main character' in you.]

Originally, the eighth scenario on the Korean Peninsula was 'Black Castle'.

New Demon World—A stage that exists to elect the 73rd Lord of the Demon World.

However, the eighth stage of the 41st Round was 'Recycling Center'.

「If 'Black Castle' is a stage for electing a new Demon King, then 'Recycling Center' is a stage for electing a new Constellation.」

An area that can only be reached through the 'Star Ladder'.

「Any incarnation that graduates from the 'Recycling Center' can definitely become a 'Constellation' regardless of their origin.」

According to the explanation of the 'Ways of Survival', it was possible to rise to the status of a Constellation with a sponsor by using the 'Recycling Center'.

If you look at it up to this point, it wasn't a bad scenario.

「But Yoo Joonghyuk almost never used the 'Recycling Center'.」

The problem is that the level of difficulty of this 'Recycling Center' is such that even Regressor Yoo Joonghyuk shakes his head.

It was understandable that the Demon King of Salvation was reluctant about this scenario.

But he eventually sent me here.

[Guide ends.]

[Arrived at the 'assembly point'.]

Finally, the wisp's guidance came to an end. I looked around.

The place we arrived was the entrance to somewhere. At the entrance stood an usher holding a small attendance board in her hand.

"Hmm."

It was a guide wearing a sheep-shaped mask.

"Is there anyone who hasn’t come in yet?"

The receptionist looked me up and down and spoke in a bored voice.

"It looks like you’re from the Frontier Nebula. Is that right?"

"I am not affiliated with any Nebula."

"Huh. Oh my. There’s no Nebula?"

The receptionist must have felt sympathy for my answer, and suddenly started saying something strange.

"It looks like some crazy sponsor is pushing their incarnation to death again. Were you also deceived by a story like 'A dragon arises in a stream'?"

There seems to be a story like that.

"I don’t know where you came from and what you heard, but if possible, it would be best to just go back. An incarnation like you will become prey as soon as you enter."

"Thank you, but I would like to go to the 'Recycling Center'."

The receptionist, who didn't know my situation, shook his head as if another pathetic fool had appeared.

"Yeah, well. It’s your life. I have to ask you a few questions to pass, is that okay?"

I nodded.

"Where are you from?"

"Seoul Dome."

"Do you have any stories?"

"Yes."

"How many stories do you have?"

"There are three that I have accumulated myself."

"You accumulated three stories yourself…"

The guide who had written down that far stopped and asked.

"Count the stories. You piled it all up? Who recommended this?"

"The Demon King of Salvation."

I thought he might know my background, but the guide was wearing sheep's clothing so I couldn't tell his expression.

The guide who checked something nodded and asked.

"Your name is?"

I was about to answer Cheon Inho, but hesitated for a moment.

"Your name is?"

I don't know why.

However, I had a feeling that I shouldn't say that.

"I asked your name. I’m sure you didn’t forget it, right?"

[The guide doubts your identity.]

[If you answer the wrong name, you will be immediately kicked out.]

"There are a lot of unusual friends today. Including the black haired and black clothed kid who came in earlier…"

I thought of the Demon King of Salvation.

"I'll tell you in advance, if you say the wrong name, you will be immediately expelled. Only invited incarnations can come here—"

My playful Constellation.

It was he who let me in here.

"My name is—"

I slowly said one person's name.

The guide looked at me for a moment and said.

"That's a strange name."

"I hear that a lot."

"Welcome to the 'Recycling Center', Kim Dokja."

I nodded.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

720 Episode 27 Recycling Center (3)

"Now, choose this before you go in."

The guide searched in her arms and immediately handed me a catalog.

In the catalog, there was a drawing of an animal-shaped mask similar to the one worn by the guide.

"What is this?"

"This is the mask you will use there."

Some masks are tigers, some masks are rabbits, and some masks are snakes.

I realized the identity of the masks without difficulty.

This is the 'zodiac sign'.

Rat, cow, tiger, rabbit, dragon, horse, sheep, monkey, chicken, dog, and even pig.

There are twelve animal gods that Koreans memorize as 'Jinsaomi Shinyusulhae'.

"You’d better choose carefully. You’ll be taking the placement test soon."

Placement test.

Does that mean that I will soon be taking a test related to the Chinese zodiac?

It was something that did not appear in the 'Ways of Survival' that I had been reading for the past week.

It was said that the 'Recycling Center' has a slightly different worldview in each round, so is that the case this time as well?

After thinking carefully, I chose a mask.

"Then I will do this."

What I chose was the white rat mask. The receptionist waved his hand as if he knew that would happen.

"It’s too bad, but someone already took it."

When I looked closely, the catalog indicated that it was in stock.

"There are almost no masks left in stock?"

"Heh, that’s right. They usually make a reservation before coming in."

"Reservation?"

"Sometimes it is done by a sponsor, and sometimes it is made by an incarnation who researched it in advance and made a reservation…"

I wondered if my sponsor had reserved a mask for me, but I had no chance.

I ended up choosing the only mask that was in stock. It was a white mask without any animal images engraved on it.

"It’s a free ride. There are no advantages, but there are also no disadvantages. It’s only 500 coins."

"Does this place also accept coins?"

"Shouldn’t we make a living too?"

Either prepare the items properly and say something like that.

The guide cleared his throat and added.

"Hmm, and it’s not necessarily a disadvantage to be free of face. In fact, it’s good because you don’t stand out."

The following slogan was blinking next to him:

「Are you tired of the glares from the Constellations? Are you frustrated by the tyranny of Giant Nebulae? Do you think the stories you have built up are too ordinary?」

「There are no useless stories in this world.」

「Dream of becoming a Constellation. Achieve it right now at the 'Recycling Center'.」

I looked at the slogan for a moment and said.

"Here are 500 coins."

"Good luck."

The moment I put on the mask, I felt a light breeze envelop my whole body.

[Item 'Faceless Mask' was used.]

[Your personal information is protected due to the effect of 'free access'.]

As I entered the open space inside the gathering area, the first thing I saw was the running track. The track was divided into a total of twelve lanes.

On the side of the track, there were a bunch of people who came before me, and most of them were faceless masked like me.

As expected, the majority of people are behind the scenes.

Of course, there was one incarnation that particularly stood out among them.

At first glance, his physique looks like he is no older than ten years old. The moment I saw the kid with his body covered in black rags, I remembered that the guide had mentioned the word 'black kid' earlier.

Interestingly, the guy was wearing a 'white rat mask'.

Judging from his outfit, it doesn't seem like he met a nice Constellation, so did he buy the mask himself?

"Huh? There’s number 12! Nice to meet you!"

When I turned to the direction the voice came from, I saw a man with '11' written on his chest waving his hand in that direction.

"You’re the last player in our group, right?"

"I guess so."

I answered by looking at the number '12' written on my chest.

If this is really a test related to the 'Zodiac', the number '12' would be the last one.

Man number 11 smiled broadly.

Judging from his tone of voice and gestures, the man seemed to have a quite sociable personality.

I immediately activated [Character List].

['Character List' is not available in this region.]

[The use of skills is prohibited in this area.]

The use of skills is prohibited?

Honestly, I was a little surprised.

[Character List isn't an ordinary skill, but even that has been restricted?]

Man number 11, unaware that his identity was at stake, looked at me with curious eyes and asked.

"So you also chose the Faceless mask?"

"Actually, I was going to choose a different mask."

"Do you mean a rat mask?"

I hesitated and nodded. Man number 11 seemed to have thought the same thing.

Well, it's a thought that anyone who knows even a little bit about the 'Zodiac' lore would think.

But the man who looked at me for a moment fell silent and said.

"Well, you’re lucky."

I was lucky? It's not a bad thing?

As I was about to ask what it meant, a small screen appeared in the center of the track.

The screen showed the twelve people who had participated in the race before us.

As expected, they, wearing their own masks just like us, ran to the end of their respective lanes and reached the finish line one by one.

The moment when the eleventh incarnation finally crossed the finish line.

—Oh, no…!

The last incarnation, who had not yet crossed the finish line, collapsed in despair.

—Sa-save me, please! Help me! I don't want to go back...!

The center of the track disappeared like a sinkhole, and the incarnation fell to the ground.

The eyes of the incarnation watching his fall were all the same. They seemed to be thinking roughly that no matter what happens, they won't end up like that.

When I looked to the side, I saw that man number 11 was also slightly frightened.

I asked him cautiously.

"If he’s lucky, maybe he’ll survive?"

This world is 'Ways of Survival'.

There are plenty of flying skills and items. I myself had 'Sylphid’s Jumping Boots'.

If the only elimination penalty is 'falling', there is a good chance that the man is alive.

However, man number 11 seemed to have a slightly different idea.

"Are you serious?"

"Yes?"

"The 'fall' here has a symbolic meaning."

Suddenly, the expression about the 'Recycling Center' written in 'Ways of Survival' came to mind.

「The graveyard of all possibilities in the world.」

A place where incarnations gather where only one possibility remains, and where there is no longer a hill to cling to.

"Because all the incarnations that come in here admit that they are 'scenario trash'."

The final destination of those who were not selected by a giant nebula or a powerful Constellation.

"If you fall from here, there is no place to return to. Even if you go outside, you will only suffer a miserable death."

"But there is a chance of sponsorship."

"It looks like Constellations are pretty nice over there."

I realized it again.

It did hit. The Constellations in the <Star Stream> were such beings.

I answered with a bitter smile.

"No, my Constellation was very poor."

"Really? Then you can’t fall for that either."

"Yes, I will definitely become a Constellation."

Constellation. That was the purpose of my going up to this 'Recycling Center'.

"If you fully graduate from the 'Recycling Center', you can become a Constellation."

Even though I knew the information from 'Ways of Survival', there were still many secrets in the 41st Round.

In order to retrieve the 'Demon King of Salvation' who contributed to the scenario, and to prevent this '41st Round' from ending in destruction.

I needed to be at least on equal footing with the stars in the sky.

"Haha, a Constellation. You have big dreams. I don't expect that much, but it would be nice to be recognized by small and medium-sized Constellations. If you're lucky enough to get noticed by the Center Director, even better—"

"Who is the Center Director?"

"I don't know either. He's never revealed his identity. All I know is that he's the head of the Small and Medium Nebula Alliance."

The head of the Small and Medium Nebula Alliance?

I thought about the contents of 'Ways of Survival', but I had never read anything like that.

Is this also a feature unique to the 41st Round?

[New sub-scenario has arrived!]

A scenario message rang in my ears just at the right time.

It was finally our turn.

<Sub-scenario — Chinese Zodiac Race>

Category: Sub

Difficulty: C

Clear conditions: Avoid finishing last in the Zodiac Race.

Time limit: 10 minutes

Reward: Entry to the 'Recycling Center'.

Different rewards are paid according to rank.

Failure: Expulsion from the 'Recycling Center'.

I immediately checked the 'different rewards list'.

Of all the items, the one that caught the most attention was the second place product.

> 2nd place. Fragment of the story「The Right Arm of the Sword Master Who Was Stabbed in the Back by a Colleague」.

I blankly read the product name.

It's definitely true.

This fragment clearly belonged to the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

But why is it here now?

「The Demon King of Salvation became part of the 'scenario'.」

Could it be that this was what it meant?

I don't know.

Anyway, once I learned of the existence of this fragment, I couldn't pretend not to know.

However, as I looked through the list, there was one item that bothered me just as much as the story fragments.

> 1st place. Item 'Battle boots of the noble one'...

The moment I saw the shiny black combat boots, my mouth opened without me knowing.

No, why is it here?

It couldn't have happened.

Because the owner of that item is already—

"Anyway, this time I just don’t have to finish last. Then I can qualify to enter the Recycling Center."

Man number 11, who had no idea how I felt, wiped his nose and held out his hand.

"Now that I think about it, I haven’t even said my name properly. My name is Weilong Wang."

I thought as I held the man's hand without showing it.

「Weilong, King of Bicheonhori.」

I thought something was strange from the beginning.

Who would have guessed that Bicheonhori, one of the 100 strongest members of the 'Ways of Survival' and Yoo Joonghyuk's tactician, was this man.

By the way, seeing as his way of speaking hasn't changed like that of a martial artist, it seems like he hasn't visited the <Second Murim> yet.

Well, it's still an early scenario.

"I am Kim Dokja."

"Okay, Kim Dokja-ssi. Why don’t we join forces?"

"Do you mean to form an alliance?"

"Only for this game."

The goal of this race is to cross the finish line without being in last place.

In other words, Bicheonhori’s proposal was clear.

"Only one person needs to fall in this match."

At the same time, Bicheonhori’s eyes turned somewhere.

I turned my head to follow his gaze and paused. A pitch-black kid wearing a 'white rat mask' was there.

"Honestly, I don’t feel like it."

"Why? Is it because he’s a kid?"

When I didn't answer easily, Bicheonhori shook his head.

"Kim Dokja-ssi, you are naive. No one knows whether that incarnation is a child or not."

Of course it is like this.

The same applies even to children. Like the children of the Beggar Sect, there are many children in this apocalypse who deceive or kill adults.

However, the reason I am reluctant is.

"It’s just because I don’t like obvious stories."

"The obvious?"

Bicheonhori blinked his eyes several times and slowly nodded.

"Kim Dokja-ssi, you are an unusual person."

[Each player is requested to enter the lane.]

[The 'Zodiac Race' will begin shortly.]

The incarnations who heard the system message entered the lane one by one.

Bicheonhori, standing next to me, relaxed slightly and said.

"But keep in mind, that kid is going to die anyway. He chose the 'white rat mask'."

I couldn't ask what that meant. Because the countdown was starting right in front of my eyes.

[The use of items, souls, and skills is restricted in this race.]

['Zodiac Race' begins!]

With a bang, the incarnations all started at once. Although their running postures were different, everyone had a serious expression on their faces.

This race is a competition based on pure physical ability. Skills, items, and the power of the sponsor cannot be borrowed.

However, there was one force that prevailed in this 'Prosperous Domain'

The scenery around the area began to sway, and although it was only a slight level, an air current of 'staging' was created.

[The story latent on stage begins!]

And then the pitch-black kid started running ahead of the incarnations.

[The story 'The Winning Rat' begins its storytelling!]

As expected, the pitch-black kid seemed to know about the story of the 'Zodiac Race'.

"The 'Zodiac Race' is a story in which the white rat wins."

The problem is that it was not only the little boy who knew this story.

A sharp shuriken flew into the kid's back with a 'snap' sound.

The kid barely managed to avoid the first shuriken by taking steps, but he couldn't even avoid the kick of another incarnation that was quickly approaching.

With a light groan, the little boy tripped over a rock and fell.

"You idiot. How dare you choose 'rat'?"

In an instant, five or six incarnations rushed in and started trampling on the kid.

The kid couldn't even scream and was beaten.

Arms, legs, shoulders.

Although he was crouching down to reduce the impact, it was clear that the kid would no longer be able to run again.

What the incarnations need is 'one dropout'.

And just now, the incarnations decided that the one eliminated would be that kid.

"I told you so."

Bicheonhori glanced at the little boy as if there was nothing he could do, then looked back at me and said,

"It was a decided game anyway."

After leaving those words, Bicheonhori ran away.

The end of the track was far away, and the leading incarnation was already far ahead. If I delayed any longer, I wouldn't be able to catch up with them.

[The 'Recycling Center' responds to your choices.]

The kid was struggling and grabbing the dirt on the floor. It looked like he was trying to get up, but his legs seemed to have no strength at all. The ligaments may have been torn.

I walked towards the kid.

"Get on my back."

The pitch-black kid looked up at me. I could see the guy’s round eyes beyond the white rat mask. His eyes trembled inexplicably, as if he couldn't understand my choice.

"Quickly. Are you going to be eliminated like this?"

Eventually, the kid who hesitated grabbed my shoulder. I put the kid on my back and then got up and started running.

The kid who was breathing hard behind my back said.

"What are you doing?"

"What?"

"If you save me, you too will be eliminated."

The kid on my back let out a gruff voice. I chuckled because the way he spoke seemed exactly like a cirtain someone.

"Are you saying thank you?"

"Something like clumsy sympathy—"

"I don’t pity you."

[The synchronization rate with the sponsor increases.]

"I saved you because I wanted to win, my goal is not to avoid last place."

"What—"

My physical ability was now superior to that of any other incarnation of the same level.

That's because my overall abilities have reached the scenario limit standard.

However, the distance was so far that it was impossible to catch up with that alone.

Nevertheless, I faithfully ran while carrying the little boy on my back.

How long did I run like that?

The distance that seemed impossible to catch up began to narrow little by little.

The kid let out a startled voice.

"How—"

It wasn't just the kid. The incarnations, who realized I was pursuing them, were looking back one by one with wide eyes.

I smiled at them and opened my mouth.

"You don’t know how the rat won?"

"You guy, you can’t—"

The fact that 'the rat wins' the 'Zodiac Race' is already widely known. That's why the incarnation who wears the 'rat mask' is under the greatest pressure.

However, the incarnations were so obsessed with the fact that 'the rat wins' that they forgot one important fact.

[The story of the 'Zodiac' responds to your choice!]

[The Constellation 'The One Who Won the Rat’ watches your choice with interest.]

[The spirit of a charging bull pervades your entire body!]

['Simple staging' begins!]

The reason I saved the kid is simple.

If it were Kim Dokja, he would definitely have made this choice.

「An animal carrying a 'rat' can definitely take 'second place' in this race.」

That's it.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

721 Episode 27 Recycling Center (4)

---

The other incarnations stretched out their hands towards me. I dodged their hands with quick movements and kicked the floor. As the acceleration began to pick up, the incarnations began to move backwards one by one.

"How could that—"

"He’s carrying a kid!"

11th, 10th, 9th, 8th…

A ranking that goes up in an instant.

As the acceleration increased to the point where I was right in front of the leading incarnation, the back of Bicheonhori, who had run ahead, came into view.

He exclaimed in admiration as he rose to the top of the rankings with his uniquely agile legs.

"Huh, that’s a novel method."

Fortunately, Bicheonhori did not attack me.

"Are you using the story of the 'Rat'?"

I nodded.

Originally, the 'Zodiac Race' was a story in which the 'rat' won.

To be exact, it is a story about a 'rat' riding on the back of a faithfully running 'bull' and winning.

In other words, I was now playing the role of a 'bull' carrying a rat.

['Simple staging' is in effect!]

「Simple staging.」

It was difficult to expect the same effect as the general「Staging」, but in a situation where the skill and stigmata were sealed, this was an excellent buff.

Even that quick-footed Bicheonhori was slowly falling behind me.

"It’s not over yet. Don’t let your guard down."

Bicheonhori warned.

"All the incarnations that have come here are poisonous people."

Before he could finish speaking, one of the incarnations of the leading group threw a shuriken towards me.

I quickly ducked to avoid the shuriken, then took a big step and hit the guy hard on the back.

"Ugh!"

As the incarnation who had been hit on the back rolled around on the floor, the other incarnations in the lead group also joined in with murderous looks in their eyes.

"You can’t go! Stop him!"

Yes, whatever.

How can they stop me in a situation where their stigmata and skills are sealed?

Of course, there are ways to use 'stories', but an incarnation that can handle 'story' in only the eighth scenario is—

"Tie his feet!"

I thought it was rare.

[Fragment of the story 'The Farmer Plowing' begins its storytelling!]

Coo coo coo coo coo.

[Fragment of the story 'The Farmer Plowing' ruined the farming!]

I felt like my feet were sinking into the track I was running on, but soon the terrain changed to become as uneven as a furrow in a field.

「The farmer plowing a field.」

Did they have 'land reclamation experts' or 'developers of rice transplanting methods' as hints?

However, using that fragment of the story was a mistake.

Because now I was under the protection of 'Bull'.

[The energy of a charging bull explodes from your body!]

[The Constellation 'The One Who Won the Rat' grins.]

Originally, bulls did the field work.

"Damn, he’s faster!"

"It’s stupid, because you use fragments like that!"

The leading incarnations were embarrassed and attacked each other, blaming each other.

I struck a spear lightly with 'Unbreakable Faith' and took the lead.

Now there are only two incarnations left in front of us.

One incarnation, who was running in second place, blew toward the floor.

[Fragment of the story 'Sigh of the Frozen One' begins its storytelling!]

I felt my leg muscles rapidly becoming stiff due to the cold wind.

[Story fragment 'Sigh of the Frozen One' wraps around your ankles.]

I never thought there would already be incarnations that can handle fragments of stories to this extent.

I checked the stories I had in my head. But I couldn't think of a story that was particularly suitable for this situation.

At that time, the kid on my back opened his mouth.

"Keep running."

[The story fragment 'Scream of the Scorching Flame' begins its storytelling!]

I was a little surprised.

「Scream of a Scorching Flame.」

It happened to be a fragment of a story I read about in 'Ways of Survival'.

A fragment that can only be obtained by those who fought against the 'Red Flame Dragon', one of the kings of the dragon race.

However, it was a story that made no common sense. Is there any chance of an incarnation fighting against the Red Flame Dragon in only the eighth scenario?

Unless he happened to pick up a fallen piece of story—

[The story fragment 'Scream of a Scorching Flame' melts the cold.]

The kid shouted with a frown, probably because it seemed like using the fragment of the story was too difficult.

"There's no time! Faster! I must come in first place!"

Now there is only one incarnation left at the forefront.

Before I knew it, the finish line began to appear in the distance. But with the finish line just around the corner, the incarnation, who was running in front of me, looked back.

It was an incarnation wearing a tiger mask.

"He’s quite the guy."

Contrary to what Bicheonhori said, the 'Recycling Center' was not necessarily a place where only weak people gathered.

[Fragment of the story 'The Chosen One of Self-defense' begins its storytelling.]

When weak animals gather together, there are bound to be wild beasts that come to hunt those weak animals.

The leading incarnation was also that kind of guy.

His hands swelled greatly and soon took on the shape of a tiger's front paws.

Looking at the fragments of the story, it may be an incarnation related to the 'tiger' in the Chinese Zodiac.

I asked breathlessly.

"Do you know the ´Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'?"

The tiger mask's shoulders trembled at the words I suddenly shouted.

I continued with a grin.

"He’s a friend who sponsors me often."

"Don’t lie! A Historical-grade Constellation is with you—"

"Tiger Eating Rice Cakes! Are you watching!"

The surprised guy looked up into space. Unfortunately, there was no response from the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

But it didn't matter. I just needed an opportunity to catch up with him.

"You bastard!"

Before I knew it, the tiger mask found me running alongside him and lashed out with its ferocious front paw.

I supported the kid's butt with one hand and swung 'Unbreakable Faith' with the other hand.

[The story 'Tenacious Martial Arts Expert' begins its storytelling!]

I wonder if my level has improved considerably during this time. The feeling of holding a Narrative-grade story in my hands was quite different.

As 'Unbreakable Faith' spewed out magical power and unleashed harsh energy, the Tiger Mask’s eyes widened.

"It’s not a fragment of a story, it’s a real 'story'…?"

As the blade wrapped with the power of stories collided with the forepaw, a series of magical waves erupted.

[The story 'Tenacious Martial Arts Expert' stutters its storytelling.]

Perhaps because it was not a story I had built up myself, the story of the Ark did not demonstrate satisfactory destructive power.

It might also mean that my level is not good enough yet.

But it's only a Narrative-grade story.

I realized once again that there was still a long way to go.

"Gaaaa! I can’t lose! Self-defense! Give me the energy of a tiger!"

A bright blue aura soared from the whole body of the guy who shouted a strange slogan.

While I was blocking the flying front paw, the tiger mask began to take three or four steps ahead of me.

There are now about 100 meters left until the finish line.

The products for this scenario were on display inside the finish line visible in the distance.

Fragments of Kim Dokja’s story.

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' is craving it.]

'If you want to eat, help me, you bastard.'

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' snorts as if it is annoyed.]

At that moment, fierce magical power surged from my right arm.

"Kaaaaak!"

While the tiger mask, unable to withstand the impact of the magic wave, was rolling around on the floor, I jumped over him and sprinted as fast as I could.

It would be nice to win first place like this, but unfortunately, that is impossible since I have claimed the role of 'Bull'.

If we lose first place here, we'll probably be swept up in the possible aftermath of a 'simple staging'.

"Kid. Go."

The kid grabbed my shoulder as if asking if I was really going to be okay.

"It’s okay. Anyway, what I want is the second-place product."

"You are such a strange person."

"In times like that, you say 'thank you'."

The kid just kicked my shoulder and crossed the finish line.

"I am indebted to you."

A very thin and faint voice remained behind the guy soaring into the sky.

I smiled bitterly without realizing it.

In fact, that was a huge step forward.

If that kid is 'the guy' I think of.

[Sub-scenario has ended!]

[You have successfully completed the 'Zodiac Race'.]

[You finished the 'Zodiac Race' in 'second place'.]

[Obtained the story fragment 'The Right Arm of the Sword Master who was Stabbed in the Back by a Colleague'.]

[The constellation 'The One Who Won the Rat' is satisfied with your reproduction of the story.]

[The constellation 'The One Who Won the Rat' sponsors you with 1,000 coins.]

「Permission to enter the 'Recycling Center' has been obtained.」

Afterwards, the incarnations crossed the finish line one by one.

"I lived! Damn it!"

"Constellation-nim! I passed!"

"No! I don't want it! Argh!"

A sinkhole occurred on the track, and the incarnation, who came in last place, crashed.

Unfortunately, the person who was eliminated was the incarnation of the Historical-grade who was trading blows with me until the very end. It looks like he suffered quite serious internal injuries from the impact of the final clash.

I immediately checked the prize I had won.

「'The Right Arm of the Sword Master who was Stabbed in the Back by a Colleague'.」

This is a fragment of a story that Kim Dokja obtained from 'Scenario Horizon', and a fragment of story that the 'Demon King of Salvation' used to save me.

The moment I activated the fragment, I felt a surge of strength in my right arm and heard a nostalgic voice.

「Well done, Youngest.」

I couldn't tell if it was really something he left behind, or if it was accidentally buried in the fragments of this story.

However, the moment I heard that voice, I was reminded again of what I had to do.

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' nods.]

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' declares that it will eat now.]

What?

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' feasts on the story fragment 'The Right Arm of the Sword Master who was Stabbed in the Back by a Colleague'!]

[A 15-day time limit has been added.]

[The status of the story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' increases slightly.]

[Understanding of the story fragment 'The Right Arm of the Sword Master who was Stabbed in the Back by a Colleague' has greatly increased!]

The stories it preyed upon did not disappear. Rather, understanding of the story increased.

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' looks at you as if you are pitiful.]

If you think about it, it was natural.

The 'Heir to the Eternal Name' is a story that exists to complete 'The One and Only Kim Dokja'.

There is no way Kim Dokja could not use the power he had.

"You’re really fast. I’m impressed."

Bicheonhori, who came in third place, patted his pants and said.

The third place prize is 'Shoes of Greed'.

Although it was a somewhat inferior item compared to 1st and 2nd place, he seemed satisfied.

"Do you have company? If you don't mind, I think it would be nice if I could accompany you inside the Center."

Bicheonhori was the only incarnation that didn't attack me, so there was nothing wrong with going around with him. But...

"I have company."

I saw the pitch-black kid holding the first prize from a few steps away.

Bicheonhori asked in a somewhat surprised voice.

"Were you with that kid?"

"To be exact, we will be joining the group soon."

I left behind Bicheonhori, who was tilting his head as if wondering what that meant, and went straight to the pitch black kid.

The kid was mumbling as he held on with both hands to the 'Battle Boots of the Noble One' given as the first prize.

"I finally found it..."

I wonder if my eyes looked like that when I got the fragment of the story of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

Anyone can see the sparkle in the eyes of a child who has recovered a precious item.

"Is it important to you?"

The little boy didn't answer. Of course, it wasn't a question I wanted an answer to.

Because I already knew what those boots meant to him.

I thought of lonely footprints in a distant snow field.

「"Captain, but why don’t your feet smell?"」

5th Round.

「"Master, can I put a sticker here?"」

98th Round.

「"Are you planning on exchanging those boots for my military boots?"」

186th Round.

No matter what round he lived in, he was always wearing those battle boots.

As the rounds changed, the stickers Lee Jihye had put on and all traces of Lee Hyunsung's blood disappeared, but he continued to wear those boots.

He put on those boots and walked the same path again and again.

"Please stop and confess now."

At my question, the pitch-black kid looked up at me.

"Why on earth did you become like that?"

I was suspicious from the first time I saw it.

My doubts turned into certainty right after I saw the fragment of the story of the 'Red Flame Dragon' that he had.

There is no way in this world line that there will be an incarnation that has already met the 'Red Flame Dragon'.

Except for just one person.

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

If it was Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st Round, it wouldn't be surprising if he had fragments of that story.

He will have already had experience facing the 'Red Flame Dragon' in the 40th Round.

Anyway, it was fortunate to be reunited with Yoo Joonghyuk here.

The eighth scenario was the 'Recycling Center', which Kim Dokja also avoided.

He was unconscious when fighting the Constellations, so he wasn't helpful at all, but as long as Yoo Joonghyuk stays sane, there's nothing to be afraid of no matter what scenario comes for the time being.

"I was wondering if you wanted me to pay for my meal, but then you asked why I turned into a kid."

The problem is that body, which has become weak even at first glance.

Who would think that scrawny figure is that 'Yoo Joonghyuk'?

"I don’t know what you’re talking about. Get out of the way."

Is he trying to hide his identity?

But there was something strange about him for me to think that way and move on.

In the <Star Stream>, fame soon becomes a story. Yoo Joonghyuk, who knows this well, had no reason to hide his identity.

"Yoo Joonghyuk?"

At that moment, my Constellation's words came to mind along with an ominous premonition.

「'Redemption of Truth' is a power that can be used at the cost of some of the memories of the past.」

No way.

I looked down at little Yoo Joonghyuk. Then little Yoo Joonghyuk also looked up at me.

Little Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been glaring at me with his characteristic gaze for a long time, asked with a frown.

"Who on earth is Yoo Joonghyuk?"

For a moment, all kinds of thoughts came into my head and then became quiet.

I slowly opened my mouth, looking into the clear eyes of little Yoo Joonghyuk, who did not show any lies.

"Yoo Joonghyuk…"

The last thing I thought of was Yoo Joonghyuk from the 1,863rd Round.

My favorite Yoo Joonghyuk.

I smiled kindly at little Yoo Joonghyuk.

"This is a friend who really likes dirt."

Finally, the opportunity to change the 41st Round has come.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

722 Episode 27 Recycling Center (5)

Throughout the rounds of 'Ways of Survival', Yoo Joonghyuk lost his memory several times.

At the edge of the 800th Round, he met an outer deity belonging to the 'Great Ancient One' and his spirit collapsed.

Around the 1150th Round, he was caught up in the Giant Nebula's 'Regressor Dissection Plan' and became a test subject for the Nebula for a while.

Sometimes, like when 'Mad Soldier Yoo Joonghyuk' was born through a wrong transfusion of Lee Hyunsung’s military stories, not only did he lose his memory, but his personality itself completely changed.

But has he ever become as small as he is now?

At least it doesn't appear in the 'Ways of Survival' that I remember. Of course, it appears once in 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint'…

Watching Yoo Joonghyuk move his small hands to put on his battle boots, I had a really strange feeling.

Should we really recognize this creature as Yoo Joonghyuk?

[The Constellation 'The One Who Won the Rat' thinks the 'little rat' is cute.]

Is there something going wrong in this world?

"You're a really good runner."

One by one, the incarnations who had completed acquiring their respective prizes gathered by my side.

"It was an amazing response. I never thought you would use stories in such a way... It would be nice if we could work in the same area at the Center."

"Which district will you choose? Why not join us?"

"I'm holding the 'pig' side of the line. If you join me, I can connect you to that side too…"

Same area. Apparently, the 'Recycling Center' is divided into sections.

[The lower level of the 'Recycling Center' is the area of the Nebula 'Zodiac'.]

Also.

[1st, 2nd, and 3rd places in the 'Zodiac Race' will be given 'Zone Priority Selection'.]

I answered, asking for understanding from the gathered incarnations.

"I'm sorry, but I don't have any plans to choose a specific faction yet."

Of course, it would be nice to get on the line. But now was not the time to make that decision.

Some of the incarnations looked disappointed at my answer, while others frowned and swore.

Bicheonhori, who was watching the scene from the side, nodded his head. He didn't show any signs of being angry or disappointed with my choice.

"Good. Choosing nothing is also a choice."

"Nowadays, such choices have become commonplace."

"Oh."

Bicheonhori must have thought what I said was interesting, so he took out a notebook and started writing down something.

"You said your name was 'Kim Dokja', right?"

"Yes."

Come to think of it, he was the person who wrote the famous book on characters, "The 100 Strongest People".

Bicheonhori must have noticed my gaze and made an answer.

"Oh, because records are my hobby."

Is it okay?

What would happen if 'Kim Dokja' was listed as one the 'Strongest 100 People'? I guess that means the future will be transformed too seriously.

"Hmm. I guess this is what happens this time…"

This time?

Bicheonhori muttered something meaningful and smiled slightly as he looked at me.

"I hope we get a chance to meet again, young man."

Did something just change in his tone of voice?

With those last words, Bicheonhori chose his 'Zone' and disappeared into the Recycling Center.

I felt a little disappointed, but I didn't really care. Since we were destined to go to the same 'Recycling Center' anyway, there would be another opportunity to talk, as he said.

I checked the 'zone selection message' that appeared before my eyes.

[You can select a total of 12 areas.]

[Select an entry area.]

As previously explained, the 'lower level' of the Recycling Center is the area of the Nebula Zodiac.

There were twelve zones according to the tendencies of each Zodiac Sign, and incarnations could choose the zone they wanted.

[Zone 1 - Rat-district (자 동)]

[Zone 2 - Bull-district (축 동)]

[Zone 3 - Tiger-district (인 동)]

[Zone 4 - Rabbit-district (묘 동)]

[Zone 5 - Dragon-district (진 동)]

[Zone 6 - Snake-district (사 동)]

[Zone 7 - Horse-district (오 동)]

[Zone 8 - Goat-district (미 동)]

[Zone 9 - Monkey-district (신 동)]

[Zone 10 - Rooster-district (유 동)]

[Zone 11 - Dog-district (술 동)]

[Zone 12 - Pig-district (해 동)]

From the rat that belongs to 'Ja' to the pig that belongs to 'hae'.

If I were Dansu ahjussi or Sein-ssi, which one would I have chosen?

Looking at the results, little Yoo Joonghyuk was also staring at the options with serious eyes.

"Which one will you choose?"

"It’s none of your business."

Of course you would say this.

[The Constellation 'The One Who Won the Rat' recommends Zone 2 – 'Bull-district' to you.]

The One Who Won the Rat.

Judging by the modifier, that Constellation was the Constellation corresponding to 'Bull' in the Zodiac.

Considering that I came in second place in the Zodiac Race and that one of the Constellations that sponsored me in the beginning was the 'original bull', it wasn't a bad idea to choose 'Bull-district', which corresponds to 'bull'.

[The Constellation 'The Dog That Threw Itself into the Flames' pays attention to your choice.]

Zone 11, Dog-district, represented by 'dog', was also worth considering. 'The Dog That Threw Itself into the Flames' is the only Constellation that took Kim Dokja's side even in the main story. Maybe this is the time to build a relationship.

[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' pays attention to your choice.]

Nail-Eating Rat.

Were you watching too?

If I was conscious of the 'Zodiac Race', it was also a good idea to select Zone 1, where the winner of the story, the 'Rat', belongs.

However, on the 'rat' and 'snake' side, there are Constellations of the Misreading Association.

If you want to catch a tiger, you have to go into the tiger's den. One way would be to choose their base...

Tiger.

Come to think of it, I had forgotten about the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

Considering my promise to him, Zone 3 'Tiger-district' was a good choice. The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' has helped me and shown me favor at times.

It's strange that the indirect message of 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is not heard at all, but...

In addition, I could also choose 'Zone 5 - Dragon-district', represented by the dragon, or 'Zone 9- Monkey-district', represented by the monkey.

[1 minute left to complete selection.]

My worries didn't last long.

Because now I am 'Kim Dokja'. And what Kim Dokja will say in the face of this choice is decided.

"I will not choose any district."

"I will not choose any district."

If Ji Eunyu were next to me, she would have said, "Writer, the lines here have been copied."

But I didn't say it twice.

"You there."

Those words were just said by the little boy next to me, Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Don’t copy me."

I shrugged my shoulders without answering.

Afterwards, indirect messages flew in one after another from thin air.

[The Constellation 'The Dog That Threw Itself into the Flames' asks if you are sincere.]

[The Constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' respects your choice.]

[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' feels sorry for you.]

Several people who confirmed my choice also voiced concerns.

"Are you serious? This friend is out of his mind."

"Hehe, you didn’t choose the Chinese Zodiac Signs? That’s ridiculous—"

[This decision cannot be undone.]

[Do you want to keep this selection?]

I know it's a risky choice.

However, if you choose a certain Zodiac Sign, you will eventually fall under the Constellation to which that Zodiac Sign belongs.

I don't want that situation. The 'Demon King of Salvation' must have had the same thought.

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' nods.]

Little Yoo Joonghyuk and I nodded at the same time. Afterwards, a halo of light came down from the air and embraced us warmly.

[You did not select any 'Zodiac Sign'.]

[Hidden options are activated.]

[A new achievement has been achieved.]

[Zone 13 – Move to 'Void-district'.]

Zone 13, huh.

As expected, there was an option not to choose a 'Zodiac Sign'.

What unfolded before my eyes along with the warp was a city with flashing neon signs. The buildings are somehow reminiscent of the Earth of the near future. The lights of a skyscraper flashing in the distance.

No matter how you look at it, it was a scene that was somewhat far from the world view of the 'Zodiac'.

This is Zone 13?

[Linked scenario activates!]

<Main Scenario #8 - Zone 13>

Category: Main

Difficulty:???

> Clear conditions: ???
>
> Time limit: —
>
> compensation: ???
>
> Failure: —

The title of the main scenario was also changed. However, key details such as clear conditions and rewards were still not revealed.

We have to find out for ourselves.

[Linked scenario activates!]

[An 'event scenario' occurs every night in this area.]

It is an event scenario that occurs every night.

This feels a bit like déjà vu.

[You can obtain rewards when you survive the event scenario.]

As I lightly scanned the street, I saw incarnations glancing at us.

Most of them were beasts.

A giraffe with one leg replaced by a machine. An elephant with broken tusks. A lion with all its fur removed and one eye missing.

Looking closely, I saw that it wasn't just the prisoners. Other races with animal origins, such as orcs and gnomes, were also seen.

What they have in common is that they are also equipped with mechanical arms or mechanical legs.

It was a worldview reminiscent of cyberpunk.

[Tonight’s event is 'The Three Little Pigs'.]

[Find an 'accommodation' before the event starts and survive.]

[One hour left until the event starts.]

Still, there was a good beginner's guide.

One hour isn't that much time. I need to hurry up a bit.

I glanced at little Yoo Joonghyuk and started walking away, leaving him behind.

I felt someone following me a few steps away.

After walking about twenty steps, I deliberately stopped. Then the sound of following footsteps disappeared.

As I started walking again, the sound of hesitant footsteps followed.

I grinned and looked back.

"Why are you following me?"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk, startled, froze in place.

"Because I’m suspicious of you."

This was little Yoo Joonghyuk, who followed me eagerly, dragging his big boots.

If the Demon King of Salvation had heard this, he would never have believed it.

"Tie your shoelaces properly."

"It’s tied up."

The shoelaces were tied in a mess.

"Do you know that there is a special option for those shoes?"

"Special options?"

"How much did you forget?"

Would I have felt this way if I had a younger sibling?

If I had a younger sibling, I thought it would be a good kid like Yoosoung.

I bowed lightly. Little Yoo Joonghyuk took a step back as if on guard, but my hands were faster.

"This is how we tie it."

'Battle Boots of the Noble One' activates special options when the shoelaces are tightened and tied in a specific way.

[The special option of the item 'Battle Boots of the Noble One' is activated!]

The basics of Yoo Joonghyuk, these battle boots had 'solid durability' and 'resistance to various properties'.

In addition, as an auxiliary option, 'phenomenal elasticity' can be activated, and the size can be adjusted comprehensively to the extent that it can handle Yoo Joonghyuk, who activated 'Gigantification'.

[The size of the item changes to suit the wearer!]

Little Yoo Joonghyuk asked, looking down at the battle boots that had been tightened to fit his feet.

"You, how do you know this?"

"Are you surprised that I know how to tie my shoelaces?"

"…"

"I want to ask you how you don’t know any of this."

"Is my name 'Yoo Joonghyuk'?"

I quietly looked into the eyes of little Yoo Joonghyuk.

According to my guess, the reason why Yoo Joonghyuk lost his memory was due to the side effects of 'Story Imprint'.

I don’t know, but it’s probably because of 'Restraint of Truth' or 'Restraint of Emotions'.

Even looking back, it was strange that Yoo Joonghyuk's combat power, when he became the 'Black Beast', did not suffer the aftereffects of probability.

"Yes. You are a dirt eater."

"I don’t eat dirt."

"Once you try it, you might change your mind."

"Do you want to die?"

"If you kill me, you will never know who you are."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk thought about something for a moment, then frowned and asked.

"What is your name?"

"It is Kim Dokja."

"That’s a strange name."

"I’m sick of hearing things like that."

Even though we didn't really talk, I somehow felt nostalgic.

"What else do you know about me?"

"Before that, what do you remember?"

"Ten days."

"Ten days?"

"After ten days, most of my memories will return."

Ten days. That's enough time.

"And that we have to find the stolen equipment."

"When was the equipment taken away?"

"I don’t know. It was like this when I woke up."

I think he lost it while climbing up the 'Star Ladder'.

Considering that Battle Boots were released as a product from the 'Recycling Center', key items such as 'Infinite Dimension Subspace Coat' and 'Wolgeuk' could have been in a similar situation.

Even if nothing else was known, 'Wolgeuk' had to be recovered. That's Yoo Joonghyuk's key weapon in the 41st Round.

"And..."

"And?"

"I have to meet a guy named Cheon Inho."

I paused for a moment.

"Why him?"

"I don’t know. I just remember that I have to meet that bastard. When I meet that bastard __"

I quietly grabbed the dirt from the floor. If this little guy remembered anything, I was going to throw dirt in his mouth and run away.

"I thought I could last at least ten days before I recovered my memory."

I was dazed for a moment and then looked down at the dirt in my hands. When I opened my tightly clenched fist, dirt flowed down.

I felt fortunate that I was still wearing the mask.

"I will accompany you for about ten days. I will help you not die."

"What are you planning?"

I said, holding out my right hand covered in dirt.

"There are conditions."

Yoo Joonghyuk nodded as if he knew that would happen.

"Say it."

"You can’t kill me after ten days."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk looked up at me with an expression that he didn't know what that meant, and he held out his clean right hand.

"I don’t kill people for no reason."

"Yes, of course you won’t."

Our 'survival contract' was concluded.

And an hour later, little Yoo Joonghyuk spoke.

"I will definitely kill you, Kim Dokja."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

723 Episode 28 House (1)

---

「"When he comes back, we will live in a very, very big house."」

Shin Yoosung, who was quietly looking up at the sky, said.

"The house will be so big that there is the Han River and the sea inside the house. There is also a PC room and a library. Even if you don’t go outside, you can eat pizza by the Han River or go to the sea and eat chicken. We will all go to the PC room together and talk to Joonghyuk ahjussi. We can learn games, and..."

"You idiot. There is no house that big."

Lee Gilyoung gave a scolding. Shin Yoosung was silent for a long time before answering.

"I know."

---

An hour ago, the first thing we agreed on was finding a place to stay.

"I don’t know what the scenario for the event that will be in an hour is going to be, but first, let’s find accommodation."

In fact, it's a lie to say that I don't know what's coming.

Since the name of the event scenario is 'The Three Little Pigs', a related event will definitely occur.

Fortunately, little Yoo Joonghyuk nodded without any hesitation.

"Guide me."

"Yeah."

I feel like I have somehow become a servant serving his master.

I walked along, looking closely at the signs installed throughout the city. Obviously, this place functions as a city in its own way, so there will be places that can be used as temporary accommodation.

Since it is a cyberpunk world, there might be a hotel.

"You."

"Yeah."

"You walk quickly."

I glanced back at little Yoo Joonghyuk and slowed down my pace a little.

But after a while, Yoo Joonghyuk opened his mouth again.

"I would have said you walk fast."

"What are you saying?"

When I turned around, Yoo Joonghyuk looked up at me without answering.

I looked at that guy and sighed.

He has a body that makes me think he's barely ten years old. Since he didd not receive the benefits of any skills or Stigmas, he must have not yet recovered from the fatigue of the previous 'Zodiac Race'.

I had no choice but to get down on my knees and stick out my back.

Yoo Joonghyuk seemed to have been waiting, and he jumped up and stood on my shoulder.

Wait No, it's like he's riding a surfboard.

"Can’t you just piggyback like a normal person?"

"It would be better to pay more attention to training."

"Huh?"

"The balance of the body was lost because the scapula and deltoid muscles are not properly developed. From now on, when holding a sword, I have to move my shoulders while paying attention to the range of motion of the wing bones."

"Isn’t it a lie to say you lost your memory?"

I grumbled and started walking, picking up little Yoo Joonghyuk.

If Uriel was watching, she would have given me coins, saying it was nice.

For some reason, the Constellations I was normally close to were nowhere to be seen here.

"But will your body return to its original state after ten days?"

"I do not know either."

"If it doesn’t come back, I’ll be in a bit of trouble."

"There will be recovery. I don’t know how much will return."

If Yoo Joonghyuk in this round didn't continue to grow up in this state, a disaster could happen.

Then what should I do?

Should I throw this little bastard into the Time Fault of the Dark Dimension and wait for him to grow up?

"I don’t know about you, but there is a place in the Dark Dimension called a Time Fault."

"Do you by any chance have a skill called [Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint]?"

"What nonsense?"

"Why did you mention the Time Fault?"

"It’s a good place for a weakling like you to train his body."

Ah, did he mean that?

"Why exercise when you can increase your stats with coins?"

"It’s not 'real'."

"What is real or fake? It’s a world where coins are all you need anyway."

While we were chatting casually, we arrived at a building labeled 'Fox and Crane Hotel'.

The name is a hotel, but no matter how you look at it, it looks like an inn.

As I opened the door and entered, there was a musty smell of beer.

The prisoners sitting at the bar table gave us wary looks.

I ignored them and headed straight to the counter.

"Oh, welcome back."

The owner who found us stuttered and opened his mouth.

For reference, the owner was a crane.

"Guys, what are you doing in such a shabby place—"

"Isn’t this Iggy’s dorm?"

"Yes, yes, that’s true, but is there a place where precious Naori can stay…"

Precious Naori?

I watched our movements. Although I was wearing a nice coat, I was only clad in tangled rags. Except for wearing a mask...

「Mask.」

I felt a sense of discomfort.

Since we first entered Zone 13, Yoo Joonghyuk and I have encountered quite a few incarnations.

But they had something in common.

「No one is wearing a mask.」

Pig? I'm sure everyone came in wearing masks at first, but now—

"Are you by any chance new?"

"Yes."

"A-are you sure you didn’t choose a 'Zodiac Sign' and came directly to Zone 13?"

I nodded slightly.

The owner muttered with his eyes wide open.

"Why such a crazy choice…"

As expected, there didn't seem to be many cases of people choosing Zone 13 right away.

I guess so. It would be normal for someone to choose a zodiac sign and grow with support.

Only crazy people like Kim Dokja or Yoo Joonghyuk make choices like this.

"Do you have a room?"

"Oh, of course."

As soon as they realized we were beginners, their tone changed.

Not a very nice crane.

"How much is it?"

"One child and an adult. 2,000 coins."

No matter how you look at it, the price was exorbitant, but finding a room was the most important thing right now.

The moment 2,000 coins materialized in the palm of my hand, the owner's expression hardened.

"Are you kidding me?"

"No?"

"Hehe, it looks like you didn’t read the guide’s explanation properly."

As soon as the owner spoke, a message came into my head.

[Existing 'coins' are not distributed in this worldview.]

[The mainstream currency in this worldview is 'recycled coin'.]

Recycled coins?

"Like this."

The owner opened the cash register drawer.

I asked while looking closely at the 'recycled coins' that filled the drawer.

"Isn’t it a bottle cap?"

"This is the currency here."

From old bottle caps to new bottle caps, bottle caps of all kinds were sparkling in brilliant colors.

"Everything has its own use. This is the spirit of the 'Recycling Center'."

Is the center director’s nickname 'environmental movement expert'?

"We only have coins. Can’t we exchange money?"

Some of the people who were drinking beer took notice of us.

"Ugh, that’s what the incarnations are like these days."

"I was just trying to make everything easy."

"I heard he doesn’t know that the story he worked hard to obtain is true."

"He must be someone who only raises his abilities with coins."

Just because I tried to exchange money, I became a person who lives life easily.

When little Yoo Joonghyuk glared at them with a menacing gaze, the people immediately shut their mouths.

The owner shrugged his shoulders and answered.

"I’m sorry, but currency exchange is not possible."

"I’ll give you 10,000 coins per night."

"I said I can’t do it."

"50,000 coins per night."

"No, well—"

"100,000 coins."

The owner, who thought for a moment, looked at his guests and asked again.

"Are you serious?"

"No."

It won’t be.

"…Get some recycled coins. Night will come soon, so you’d better hurry."

We were immediately kicked out of the inn.

It looks like the currency used here must be earned here.

It's a very harsh world for beginners.

[There are 50 minutes left until today’s 'Event Scenario'.]

[Find 'accommodation' that will tolerate the room.]

Little Yoo Joonghyuk, who had already come down from my shoulder, asked.

"What are you going to do now? Didn’t you tell me to trust only you?"

"I didn’t say that."

Perhaps the 'night' of this worldview is as dangerous as the 'night' of the Demon World. That's why the message asking us to find accommodation appears again and again.

However, right now we have no way to utilize 'recycled coins'.

"What are you worrying about? Get recycled coins."

"Do you have any idea how?"

It was something I threw out without much expectations. I'm sure he'll come up with something like, "Kick down passers-by," or "Wipe down the inn and steal the lodgings and coins," or something like that, or just destroy this world.

"Buy recycled coins with coins."

I pondered the meaning of those words and asked with admiration.

"Oh, you mean give them the coins and take the recycled coins away?"

"What nonsense?"

"They say you can’t exchange money here."

If you look closely, you might find illegal money changers, but there wasn't enough time to find money changers when we didn't even know where they were.

I wonder if it would be a good idea to follow Yoo Joonghyuk's style and shake off a passerby.

"Recycled coins are bottle caps."

"Bottle caps are recycled coins."

"This means that all you have to do is get bottle caps, not recycled coins."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk said that and pointed to a street vendor. Various potions were on display at the street vendor.

I looked there in confusion and muttered.

My God, I can’t believe I didn’t think what little Yoo Joonghyuk was thinking too.

After a while, we were stacking up a bunch of potion bottles and opening the bottle caps. Of course, I didn't steal it from a street vendor, I bought it myself.

How did I purchase a potion when I didn't have any recycled coins?

[A total of 2,000 coins were spent in the 'Dokkaebi's Bag'.]

[You purchased 100 'lowest level health recovery potions whose expiration date is near'.]

We worked hard to open the bottle cap.

I opened the bottle cap and threw away the remaining potion.

[The Constellation 'Polar Bear Guardian' gapes at your judgment.]

Of course, the environment is important, but right now we have to survive. Only then can we protect polar bears.

After a while, we got the bottle caps and went back into the inn.

The owner looked shocked when he saw the bottle caps we brought.

"Aren't they all 'new bottle caps'? Could it be that you opened a potion bottle?"

"Yes."

"What happened to all the remaining potions?"

"I threw it away."

"Stupid! Just sell potions!"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk and I looked at each other with dumb expressions.

"Hmm, just kidding. Those potions are trash here anyway. The 'Recycling Center' only handles 'recycled potions'."

He was an owner who loved to joke.

"By the way, this is only worth '500 recycling coins'."

The owner clicked his tongue slightly and shook his head.

It seems to be of low value as it is the lowest level potion lid.

"Even a small room is fine. How could you not do that?"

[The 'Event Scenario' begins in 15 minutes.]

There wasn't much time left now.

If I don't find a place to stay, I might end up in a situation where I'm just opening bottles again.

It is impossible.

"Actually, there is... but would it be okay to live in a very shabby place? It would be a bit inconvenient since there are people sharing the room."

"It’s okay. Please take us there."

The owner nodded his head and gestured with his chin as if to ask us to follow. We quietly followed the owner. The owner went out of the inn and led us to the street behind the house.

"Are the accommodations outside the inn?"

"Think of it as a guest house."

After walking about a hundred meters past the inn alley, an unidentified abandoned village appeared.

"It’s here. You can go into room 101."

The place where the owner stopped was a wooden villa that looked almost collapsed.

This feels like a haunted house experience, not a guest house.

"Meals will be served in the morning, so come to the hotel when the sun rises."

"There is also breakfast service."

"Of course, that’s only if we survive until tomorrow morning."

The owner who left meaningful words disappeared and I was left alone with little Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Are you okay?"

"It doesn’t matter. I’m used to being homeless."

"Why did someone who remembers such things forget their own name?"

Yoo Joonghyuk didn't answer for a moment. I wondered what he was thinking.

A faint feeling of guilt came over me as he looked at that guy like that.

Abilities that are activated at the cost of 'normal memories' tend to disappear starting with 'unnecessary memories'.

And Yoo Joonghyuk forgot his own name before any other memory.

"It’s been a while since I went to a house."

"I’ll try to find better accommodation next time."

"It doesn’t matter."

We immediately opened the door to room 101. The noise of people making a fuss was heard from inside.

"Oh, looks like someone new has arrived."

"Welcome—"

A welcome greeting from inside the entrance. Fortunately, they seemed to be polite people.

The moment I nodded and raised my head, I made eye contact with the woman who came to meet me.

Unlike us, the face of the woman who had taken off her mask was full of vitality.

Next to her, as expected, a handsome-looking man was standing with soot smeared on his philtrum.

Before I knew it, I had no voice coming out of my throat.

「"I will not choose any district."」

Maybe I should have expected it.

If it were Kim Dokja, of course he would have had no choice but to make the same choice.

I was happy about that fact, but I was also sad, so my voice didn't come out.

Kyung Sein was the first to open her mouth.

"Ah…"

The man standing next to her also widened his eyes.

In addition, Cha Yerin, Literature Girl 64 who was sitting on a shabby chair and looked this way, and Ye Hyunwoo, the 7th Apostle, who lied helplessly on the floor and turned his head this way.

"Everyone."

The moment I barely managed to utter this word after swallowing my emotions, Ye Hyunwoo, who was lying on the floor, suddenly got up.

"No way—"

At the same time, a man leaning against the window also turned around.

I was about to nod happily and then looked down at little Yoo Joonghyuk. When I think about it, I am not Cheon Inho now.

"Nice to meet you. My name is Kim Dokja."

My companions looked blankly at my words.

Kyung Sein didn't know what to say so her lips twitched, Dansu ahjussi had a pitiful expression on his face, and Ye Hyunwoo was looking at me like I was crazy.

Only the man at the window wearing the 'black wolf mask' showed a different reaction.

Even though he was wearing a mask, it was very obvious who he was.

I don't know where he got it from, but a man wearing a black coat that resembles Yoo Joonghyuk.

"I see. I guess you've finally arrived."

Wait a minute, isn't that really Yoo Joonghyuk's coat?

"I was waiting, Kim Dokja."

[The 'Event Scenario' will begin soon.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

724 Episode 28 House (2)

---

To conclude, my companions recognized me.

Who are these people?

They are monsters that have read the main story once, or up to 100 times.

Even if other people don't know, they can't not recognize me just because I'm wearing a mask.

Even the oblivious Kyung Sein asked this in a whisper.

"Are there circumstances where you have to say 'Kim Dokja'?"

The 7th Apostle Ye Hyunwoo rolled his eyes, wondering why I said that, and Literature Girl 64 Cha Yerin was looking at me with bewildered eyes.

Dansu ahjussi looked like he was worried that I might have lost my mind, and finally, Killer King—

"Yes, Kim Dokja. Are you here to see me?"

When I thought about it, that person had always called me Kim Dokja.

I ignored him and continued talking.

"The event scenario is starting soon, so let’s start preparing the scenario."

"Oh, you don’t really have to worry about that."

"Yes? Why?"

"This scenario is safe as long as you stay at home."

Is it safe to stay at home?

"The same event has happened a few times in the meantime, but it was okay as long as we stayed home."

[Event scenario will begin soon.]

[The 'Event Scenario' in question is 'The Three Little Pigs'.]

I looked closely at the scenario message flashing before my eyes.

It was strange.

If the 'Three Little Pigs' story I know is true, then this 'house' is absolutely not safe.

"By the way, Inho… No, Dokja-ssi. How did you come here?"

"It’s similar to you guys."

"Ah, as expected, Dokja-ssi…"

"It looks like you’ve been through a lot of hard times."

"Don’t talk about it."

I heard briefly about the events so far from Kyung Sein.

The group that came here from Washington via the 'Star Ladder' was put into the 'Recycling Center' scenario early on.

As we heard, Killer King, Ye Hyunwoo, and Cha Yerin each ranked in the 'Zodiac Race' and chose 'Zone 13'.

Of course I thought that would be the case for them.

If you line up the rankings of incarnations on the Korean Peninsula, they will definitely be in the top ten.

Dansu ahjussi and Kyung Sein said that although they did not take first place, they chose 'Zone 13' among the options.

"When I arrived at Zone 13, I thought it was over. Wow, this is the hidden piece I've only heard about. This is the path of a protagonist!"

It's the main character's path.

Kim Dokja and Yoo Joonghyuk would have made the same choice.

Dansu ahjussi shook his head dully.

"This is hell."

In fact, the group members seemed to be in bad condition.

Not only was Kyung Sein in shabby clothes and Lee Dansu covered in soot, but even Cha Yerin looked like a beggar, Ye Hyunwoo was lying on the floor like a lethargic patient.

Kyung Sein said, shaking her head.

"We're like that because we're hungry. We haven't eaten anything in days."

"Can't we buy something to eat?"

"I do not have money."

"Can't you just earn it?"

"Did you know that the currency here is 'recycled coins'?"

I nodded.

"Then you probably already know. The coins we collected are useless here."

"Yes, but still—"

"Oh, you just came here so you don't know much about it. After all, this place doesn't even appear in the novel."

Right. This is a place that does not appear in 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

Yes, but… Do these people not know that 'recycled coins' are bottle caps?

There's no way that they don’t know what little Yoo Joonghyuk doesn't know.

"We’ve already been here for a month. We’re seniors here, so feel free to ask us anything."

"You’ve been here for a month already?"

"To be exact, a month and a week has passed!"

One month.

This meant that time inside the 'Recycling Center' passed at a different pace than the 'scenarios' on Earth.

It was a good thing for me.

The enemies I have to deal with in the future are giant Nebulae targeting the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

In order to fight them, it was necessary to reserve strength for as long as possible.

"But what’s going on outside? What about Yoo Joonghyuk?"

Everyone here is a member who entered Washington with Yoo Joonghyuk. They might be curious about what happened so far.

"Yoo Joonghyuk is safe."

"Has he defeated the Demon Marquis? I heard that it is also a difficult enemy for Yoo Joonghyuk to defeat—"

The Demon Marquis.

As expected, the group members did not seem to know what happened at the Washington Dome.

That's because they must have climbed the 'Star Ladder' before Yoo Joonghyuk turned into the 'Black Beast'.

If they knew what happened so far, they would be shocked.

…Now that I think about it, these people don't even know that I signed a contract with the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

Honestly, I didn't even know what to explain.

"No, that’s strange. Does it make sense that the 'Demon Marquis' appears in the seventh scenario?"

That doesn't make sense.

"Who on earth would beat that scenario?"

I woke up.

"I wonder if there is a Demon King of Salvation—"

The Demon King of Salvation has awakened.

"If things continue like this, huge Nebulae will soon come and ruin the entire scenario!"

What? Do you actually know everything that happened?

"Anyway, Yoo Joonghyuk has to come. There is no way to solve this scenario if the Supreme King doesn’t come."

I couldn't tell Kyung Sein, who was full of anticipation, that the kid next to me was actually Yoo Joonghyuk.

"However."

A unique ending to a speech.

It was Cha Yerin who opened her mouth.

"That."

"Yes. Please tell me."

"Little."

"Kid."

"Who?"

Why is Yerin suddenly speaking like that? The way she spoke was strange to begin with, but not to that extent.

Killer King, leaning against her window, interpreted her words.

"My sister is asking who that kid is."

The group's attention was focused on little Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Ah, this guy."

I was thinking about just saying that I picked him up on the way, but little Yoo Joonghyuk opened his mouth as if he had been waiting.

"I am-"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk looked back at my companions, then looked up at me one last time, frowned, and answered.

"According to this guy, my name is 'Yoo Joonghyuk'."

It was a strange introduction, but it was the best answer for the current Yoo Joonghyuk.

My companions looked at me as if they were wondering what kind of joke this was.

I sighed lightly and started talking.

---

I briefly explained what had happened.

First, starting with the contract with the 'Demon King of Salvation'—

"No, who did you contract with?"

"The Demon King of Salvation."

"Who?"

"The Demon King of Salvation."

"Was he really— there?"

Looking at Kyung Sein’s almost fainting expression, I thought that if I had known that she would like it this much, I should have told her a long time ago.

"Yes."

With my answer, the house became almost festive. Kyung Sein and Lee Dansu, who were leaning on the table, embraced each other, Ye Hyunwoo, who had been lying down, got up, and Cha Yerin, who was sitting at the table, had tears in her eyes.

Everyone was happy except for Killer King, who muttered, "Then which one is the real Kim Dokja?"

To those happy people,

"Well, then the 'Demon King of Salvation' is…"

I couldn't possibly say that he was dead.

Strictly speaking, it is a bit ambiguous to say that he is 'dead'.

"He is temporarily unavailable."

"But he must be the 'Demon King of Salvation', right? Is he the 'Demon King of Salvation' we know?"

"That."

My companions held their breath and looked at me.

"He seems to have a slightly bad personality, but he is the Demon King of Salvation."

Once again, the group cheered.

"Are you sure?"

"Yes, that’s true."

I slowly laid the groundwork to calm down my excited companions.

"But he might not be able to contact you for a while. You shouldn’t expect too much—"

"What do you mean?"

How should I say it?

These are all people who have fragments of Kim Dokja. They were the people who had waited for Kim Dokja in this world more than anyone else.

How can I report the truth to such people?

"By any chance… did he die after saving you again?"

I hesitated for a moment and answered.

"That is..."

When I didn't answer for a long time, Kyung Sein and Lee Dansu, who had been embracing each other, parted ways. Cha Yerin had tears in her eyes in a different way, and Ye Hyunwoo lay down again.

Only Killer King muttered, "Kim Dokja is one again."

"What should I do! What should I do! What should I do!"

"Well, calm down."

"It’s all over now!"

Kyung Sein screamed.

"We can't use our skills, and we can't use our Stigmas ! We can't even get support from our sponsors here! We don't even have any stories, and now even Kim Dokja—"

Kyung Sein, whose spirit had collapsed upon hearing the news of the Demon King of Salvation, stumbled.

I quickly added, covering little Yoo Joonghyuk’s ears with both hands.

"It’s okay. I’ll do my best."

"Well, of course… I’m glad you came, but—"

Kyung Sein looked like she didn't know what was going on.

Still, I can't help it. The 'Demon King of Salvation' is no longer with us.

However, the Demon King of Salvation recognized me as the Youngest, so in situations where he was not around, I had to take on the role of 'Kim Dokja'.

"Even though he became a little kid, Yoo Joonghyuk came here too."

"So, why did Yoo Joonghyuk become a kid?"

"Let me explain it again…"

While the group was in confusion, Killer King with his arms crossed spoke to little Yoo Joonghyuk.

"You are not Yoo Joonghyuk."

Then little Yoo Joonghyuk looked up at me as if he was confused.

"Wasn't I Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"You can just ignore what he says."

Seriously, I want to quit being Kim Dokja.

[The 'Event Scenario' is currently in progress.]

Along with the scenario message being heard once again, the sound of an explosion was heard from afar.

I took a quick look around the house. The window frame looks like it will crumble if you just touch it, and the pillars are awkwardly erected. No matter how you looked at it, it was a roughly made wooden building.

"Let's talk about the details later. Is it really okay for it to stay like this?"

"Hey, it's okay. It's a sturdy house."

"It's okay. I've been through the same scenario several times already."

Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi answered optimistically.

I looked at the two people blankly and asked.

"What is that behind you?"

"Oh, this. Isn't it cute?"

A squirrel tail was growing behind Kyung Sein's buttocks.

It wasn't just Kyung Sein.

If you look closely, you will see that something is on the back of Dansu ahjussi.

It had a thick shell that looked like that of a turtle.

Ye Hyunwoo had panda ears sticking out on his head, and Cha Yerin... Honestly, I don't know. If you look at the way she speaks or moves, it seems like something has changed.

The only one that didn't change at all was Killer King.

Next, I heard Killer King's [Transmission] in my ears.

—These guys have already made a mistake.

Killer King was the only 'incarnation wearing a mask' among them.

A mask. It's a mask.

For reference, the following sentence appears in 'Ways of Survival' regarding masks:

「Only humans wear the mask of 'another creature' than themselves.」

Only humans.

My back felt cold.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

725 Episode 28 House (3)

---

I looked closely at the faces and actions of my companions.

There were a total of four people without masks.

Kyung Sein, Dansu ahjussi, Ye Hyunwoo, and Cha Yerin. It's hard to express, but apart from their appearance, it felt like something had changed. It feels like the 'story' that makes up their essence, so to speak, has changed.

[An incarnation that loses its 'mask' will become a beast.]

In simple terms, it would mean that they have become 'animals'.

But for some reason, the moment I heard that, the expression 'beast' had a slightly different meaning.

—These guys are now prisoners of the story.

Prisoners.

—Let’s go out together for a while.

Killer King spoke in a serious tone. I once again realize that this person is someone who can speak normally.

I followed Killer King outside under the pretext of wanting to get some fresh air. Little Yoo Joonghyuk was also there.

Outside the wooden villa, rain was falling steadily. The sound of a building collapsing was heard from afar.

[The 'event scenario' is currently in progress.]

The screams of incarnations were heard one after another. A horribly spreading sibilant sound. The sound of hard flesh being torn apart.

Killer King seemed familiar with all of this and calmly took out a cigarette from his chest and asked.

Has this person always smoked?

"We were honestly confident when we first came up, because it was us and not the other incarnations."

Killer King's confidence was not strange.

These people were all 'complete readers', that is, readers who survived by going through as many as seven scenarios. Even if an unfamiliar scenario appeared, they now had the power to go through it.

Some had a good sponsor, and those who did not have a good sponsor had their own specialties.

"The positions were perfect as well. Kyung Sein is Lee Hyunsung. Lee Dansu is Lee Gilyoung. Cha Yerin is Lee Jihye. For me, Yoo Joonghyuk."

Even though the last one was a little strange, it was a group composition that would definitely not be overlooked anywhere.

But that's what happened to them.

"It might have been a little different if you had been around, but it would be meaningless now."

"What on earth happened?"

"It’s an obvious story. We let our guards down and got caught in an unfortunate event scenario."

The hazy smoke melted into the air.

"We had no idea what losing one’s mask meant. The first to suffer was Kyung Sein. Next was Lee Dansu. Ye Hyunwoo. And even my younger sister."

Killer King's voice became heavier with each word.

"They were no longer able to live as humans."

"What does that mean?"

"I’ll show you."

Killer King took the lead and started walking down the alley as if telling me to follow him.

Why?

The sight of him walking ahead was unfamiliar. In just one month and a week, Killer King seemed to have become someone else I didn't know.

It was then that the event scenario contents arrived.

<Sub-scenario — The Three Little Pigs>

Category: Sub

Difficulty: B

Clear conditions: Find a 'safe house' to avoid wolves and avoid 'hunting'.

Time limit: 8 hours

Reward: 500 Recycled Coins

Failure: Loss of 'mask' and progress to dehumanization.

As expected, this scenario is about finding a safe home where you can avoid the 'wolves'.

[The area you are located in is Zone 13, District 64.]

[You can proceed with the scenario by selecting the 'Pig' faction.]

[Find a safe home and avoid the 'wolf'.]

[When you are hunted by a wolf, you lose your 'mask'.]

[If a victim occurs in the area, the event scenario in that area ends.]

According to the explanation, this area is never safe until the 'hunt' is completed.

But Killer King spoke in a carefree voice.

"Don’t worry. The wolf has already chosen its prey."

The place where Killer King arrived was an old house located one block away from the guesthouse.

To be exact, it was an old tent that was embarrassing to call a house.

Killer King rang the bell installed in front of the tent.

"Who are you?"

Killer King responded to the voice coming from inside.

"It’s the wolf."

I looked at Killer King in surprise. Next, I heard a system message in my ear.

[A 'wolf' has appeared in that district.]

A frightened gasp was heard from inside the house. The one that stuck its head out was a pale prairie dog.

"Yes, are you here?"

"Yes."

"Preparations are complete."

"Good night."

Inside the tent were several small animals, including prairie dogs. And there was a hippopotamus chained to a chair.

The prairie dog said, pointing to the hippopotamus.

"This is the 'prey' volunteer for this time."

The hippopotamus cried, shaking his shoulders. Killer King slowly approached the hippopotamus.

"Let’s get started."

What do you want to start with?

A ferocious energy flowed from Killer King's right hand as he took off his half-mask.

Feeling ominous, I grabbed Killer King's shoulder.

"Wait."

Killer King's eyes flickered as he looked back at me.

At the same time, someone grabbed my hand. It was little Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Leave it alone."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk was speaking.

"It’s none of your business."

In fact, the prisoners in the tent didn't look like they were happy with my dissuasion.

"I don’t know who you are…"

As soon as the prairie dog opened his mouth, the meerkat beast next to him helped.

"Please don’t get involved."

"Please."

As I looked at the trembling beastmen, I let go of Killer King's shoulder.

Then Killer King spoke.

"Don’t worry. I’ll finish it soon."

With those words, Killer King stood in front of the hippopotamus. The moment the hippopotamus closed his eyes, Killer King let out a long cry into the air. It was a long, lonely howl reminiscent of a real wolf.

[The wolf checks the 'prey'.]

At the same time, Killer King grabbed one of the hippopotamus's arms. With a clunking sound, the hippopotamus's arm was torn off in an instant, and blood splattered out.

Other prisoners grabbed the hippopotamus struggling in pain and quickly began providing first aid.

Killer King put the torn hippopotamus's arm to his side, took out a jingling sack from his chest, and handed it to the prairie dog.

The prairie dog that checked the inside of the bag became happy and muttered.

"Thank you. Thank you."

"This is another week…"

The bag was full of recycled coins.

Killer King looked at the prisoners gathered around the coin bag for a moment, then turned his back and walked out of the tent.

Little Yoo Joonghyuk and I hurriedly followed him.

['Hunt' occurred in Zone 13, District 64.]

[The 'sacrifice' conditions for the district are met.]

A message that comes one step late.

Only then did I understand what Killing King had done.

"This is the core of this scenario. If the wolf hunts the prey, the event conditions are met, and the remaining beasts can survive."

"Is it possible that you have survived this way?"

"Yes."

The reason why the group was able to survive so far in the old wooden villa.

That's because Killer King has been working as a 'wolf' and hunting other preys.

"The other party members chose the pig camp. They planned to form a community with the beastmen and fight against the wolves."

If you think about it, it was natural.

The group read Kim Dokja's story, and above all, he took the side of the 'little people' in Peace Land. So, it was natural to take the pig's side in 'The Three Little Pigs'.

Above all, 'The Three Little Pigs' is a story where the pig wins in the end.

"They failed."

"That’s right. And their mask was taken away."

"And you?"

"I chose the wolf."

"But there was only one choice."

Apparently, all I got was the message 'you can choose the pig side'.

"The wolf camp has hidden options. It is designed so that you can only join the wolf camp by harming other 'beasts'."

In other words, Killer King chose the 'wolf camp' despite harming other prisoners.

"Why did you do that?"

"Because this scenario is a game the pigs can’t win."

I had no idea that Killer King, let alone anyone else, would say such a thing. I was puzzled and disappointed at the same time. Is it because I believed in Killer King that much?

"You don’t know what Zone 13 is."

"I asked you why you did that."

Killer King's eyes, seen through the mask, were slightly widened. He said as if it had been a long time since he had heard anything like that.

"Yes, you can say that. You are indeed Kim Dokja."

"There is a strategy for every scenario. You know that."

Even if you choose the pig camp, there are many ways to attack as long as you use the original story well.

There were even many smart people among the group. Neither Ye Hyunwoo nor Cha Yerin were people to be taken lightly. But why—

"I know what you're thinking. I also know the origin story of this scenario."

"Then why—"

"I guess you checked the other houses on the way here. Did you notice anything strange?"

I looked around.

The street I walked with little Yoo Joonghyuk. The inn we entered when we first warped, the wooden villa where the group lived, and the old tent house. and…

"No way."

Goosebumps slowly appeared.

A cigarette fell on the floor. Killer King took out a second cigarette, lit it, and said.

"There are no brick houses here."

The original content of『The Three Little Pigs』is clear.

This is a story about the youngest pig who built a sturdy 'brick house' in preparation for the wolf and ultimately manages to prevent the wolf from attacking.

"I don't know why, but no matter what I do, I can't find bricks in this area."

However, in Zone 13, there are no 'bricks' to build a 'brick house'.

In other words, it was a place where it was impossible to reproduce the original story.

"So you chose 'Wolf'?"

Killer King nodded.

"Zone 13 is divided into a total of 64 districts. Once hunting activities are met in one district, no more 'event scenarios' will occur in the same district that night."

By 'hunting' different preys, you meet the scenario clear conditions in this area each time.

Killer King has been protecting his companions like that for as long as a month.

"This is the solution I chose."

Killer King, who was staring at the distant sky, looked at me once, then looked at little Yoo Joonghyuk and smiled bitterly.

"If it were Yoo Joonghyuk, it’s a choice he would never have made."

Explosive sounds were heard again amidst the rain. The sound of a tent collapsing and flesh being torn apart. The sound of ominous footsteps was getting closer.

"Wolf Harvest House. I’m coming to collect today’s rewards."

Killer King said, shaking the hippopotamus arm in his hand.

"It doesn’t matter since the hunting in this area is over, but just in case, take him and hide."

I hid behind the tent with little Yoo Joonghyuk.

After a while, harvesters wearing wolf masks appeared one by one. At a glance, they were incarnations with unusual physical strength.

I could tell just by feeling their stories. They were all incarnations that had ruled this area for a very long time and survived.

"Newbie. What’s the harvest today?"

"It is here."

Killer King snapped and threw out the hippopotamus paw.

After checking the front paw, the wolf harvester took a piece of flesh and chewed it lightly.

"It’s a stinky part. Doesn’t this guy even have a proper story?"

"If you got it, get out of here."

The wolf harvester spat on the floor and laughed bitterly.

"You're still rude. Are you overconfident in your abilities?"

"If you want to check, I'll show you."

The wolf harvesters flinched and backed away at the growling voice of Killer King.

One of the harvest officers said with a hardened expression.

"Ever since you took over this Earth, harvests have dropped significantly."

"So?"

"I heard a rumor that you were secretly raising skins."

"It's a rumor."

"I'll know if it's a rumor or not when I check."

With those words, the Wolf Harvester looked towards the wooden villa. Only then did Killer King realize the true intentions of the harvesters and frowned.

"The beastmen of this Earth belong to me."

"The newly arrived leather belongs to the central district. You cannot take it as you wish until it is assigned."

"This is my Earth. I decide that."

I guess he has already collected a lot of stories, so the stories flowing from Killer King's body were unusual. At that level, he is on par with the other top-tier incarnations I met at the Washington Dome.

At that moment, a strange thought occurred to me.

Even though Killer King had reached such a level, why did he have to choose the 'wolf camp'?

If you think about it, the answer was simple.

An entity he cannot dare to confront belongs to the 'wolf camp'.

From behind the wolf harvest stands, an individual that was two heads taller than the other wolves slowly walked out.

[That's funny, young wolf.]

The moment I heard the mantra, the fluff on my forearms stood out.

[You have no decision-making power.]

According to the explanation in 'Ways of Survival', the 'Recycling Center' was clearly a place where incarnations gathered.

But why does someone like that exist here?

[The Constellation 'The Wolf Who Covets Little Red Riding Hood' smiles evilly.]

There was a 'Constellation' in Zone 13.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

726 Episode 28 House (4)

---

It was not simply an incarnation of a Constellation with increased synchronization. That was truly the 'incarnation body' of the Constellation himself.

Why is there a guy like that in a place like this?

The nightmare of Washington East emerged again. Memories of being chased by the Constellations along with the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

I came all the way here to avoid them, but I met a Constellation here too.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' looks at you pitifully.]

No. Now is not the time to feel intimidated.

[The story 'Recorder of Things That Will Disappear' tells you to come to your senses.]

Now that I think about it, since when have stories been able to express their opinions to me?

[The story 'Tenacious Martial Arts Expert' says that anything can be done as long as you are persistent.]

Right. Whoever my opponent was, I also didn't have a very easy story to tell.

Above all, my sponsor is the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

As I observed the incarnation of the Constellation while taking deep, light breaths, the composition of the story that made up the incarnation caught my eye.

[Exclusive attribute effect activates!]

Now, I guess my sense of vision has improved, and I was able to read fragments of the other person's story just by paying attention.

「I like Little Red Riding Hood」

「Good at collecting wind」

「I hate brick houses」

…

Fragments of old and sick stories are visible.

[The story that makes up this incarnation has been greatly worn.]

Kim Dokja said:

There is no scenario that cannot be conquered.

[During the event scenario, 'wolves' are not killed by other animals.]

I was reminded of Kim Dokja's 'Revolutionary Scenario'.

For example, the 'wolf' now had the same role as the Executioner of the Demon World.

A position that enters a kind of 'invincible state' during the time when the scenario occurs.

If this scenario were the same, there was also a way to somehow endure the 'night' phase of the wolf and then aim for 'day' when its weaknesses were exposed.

If only it weren't a Constellation.

[Young wolf. Do you want to die?]

At the Constellation's voice, Killer King was taken aback and took a step back.

Even if it is a weakened Constellation, there is an indescribable difference in rank from a normal incarnation.

Killer King probably also knew that fact. That's why he probably chose to survive by protecting his companions instead of attacking the scenario.

Unlike during the Demon World, there are not even 'Revolutionaries' in this scenario.

There is no way to kill that 'wolf', day or night.

Killer King came to that conclusion.

「The incarnation can only be killed through the rules of the 'Event Scenario'.」

In my head, I remembered the contents of 'The Three Little Pigs'.

According to the story, a 'brick house' is needed to deal with the 'wolf'.

However, there are no 'bricks' in this worldview.

[If you had chosen 'Wolf', you would have known. Weak animals are eaten. It is neither sad nor painful. It's just the providence of the story.]

"I gave the hippopotamus's front leg."

[I won't say it twice. Offer one of the 'livestock' you raise. Then, I will leave obediently today.]

Finally, Killer King showed his teeth. Before we knew it, Killer King, who had taken out his bowgun, took a step back and aimed at the wolves.

"Maybe there's another way to just kill you all here."

The leading wolves frowned.

In this 'Event Scenario', the wolf is not killed by 'other animals'.

That meant that they could be killed by other wolves.

Even if there was a Constellation over there, if Killer King had his heart set on it, there was no way he wouldn't be able to catch a wolf or two.

—Kim Dokja. It'll be there.

Killer King’s [Transmission] was heard in my ears.

—Run away with your companions. Since you have packed your luggage in advance, you can leave through the back door.

Killer King smiled as he caught a glimpse of where I was hiding.

—Don’t worry about me. I won't die.

Actually, I don't think Killer King is very similar to Yoo Joonghyuk. It is the same as Kim Dokja, who constantly shouted, "I am Yoo Joonghyuk," and cannot become Yoo Joonghyuk.

The reason I'm shaking now is probably because I read 'Ways of Survival' right before I came here.

「"I will not die."」

That's what Yoo Joonghyuk of 'Ways of Survival' always said right before he died.

I won't die.

Yoo Joonghyuk always left those words behind when he died.

To Yoo Joonghyuk himself, those words must have been true. Because he is a Regressor who never dies.

But are those words true for those left behind after his death?

[Kill him.]

At the same time as the Constellation gave an order, three wolves rushed towards Killer King.

In an instant, the wolf's claws rushed in, aiming at Killer King's front, back, left and right sides.

[The story fragment 'Heir of the Black Coat' begins its storytelling!]

When did he collect such story fragments?

Killer King's brilliant coat fluttering gesture made his claws snap off cleanly.

A fierce lion's roar erupted from the corner of Killer King's mouth with a heartless smile.

[Fragment of the story 'A person who resembles the voice of the Supreme King' shouts loudly!]

I thought he might be able to imitate regression, but of course I didn't have the courage to test that.

Killer King, who was hit on the back of the head, gritted his teeth and let out a loud noise.

—Kim Dokja! hurry!

It is actions, not words, that determine a person's essence. Sincere actions remain as stories, and they are talked about and become stories.

[The story 'The Lone Savior' begins its storytelling.]

The legend accumulated by Killer King was shining brightly.

It is not the same as Yoo Joonghyuk's, but it is no less noble.

That narrative dominated Killer King. It was leading him to his death.

"If you leave him like that, he will die."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk was right.

If we leave him like this, Killer King will die.

Just like Sergeant Jung Moonho in Seoul Station and Jung Jaewoo in the Theater Dungeon.

"Yoo Joonghyuk. Let me ask you a favor."

"Ask?"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk looked up at me. Facing his suspicious eyes, I searched for items in the 'Dokkaebi Bag'.

This worldview is a place where the use of 'Skills' and 'Stigmata' is prohibited. The effect of the item is also halved and it cannot perform as well as it should.

In other words, no matter what I buy from the 'Dokkaebi Bag', there is no way to kill that 'Wolf Constellation'.

However, it may be possible if it takes some time.

[1,000 coins were consumed in the 'Dokkaebi Bag'.]

[The item 'Red Riding Hood (Replica)' has been acquired.]

I placed the items purchased through the 'Dokkaebi Bag' on little Yoo Joonghyuk's head.

[The item's effect increases the target's attention!]

Little Yoo Joonghyuk was startled and struggled.

The effect of this item is simple.

The wearer becomes a little cuter, more appetizing, and attracts attention.

Although the effect of the item is halved here, this should be enough for now.

"What are you doing—"

The moment little Yoo Joonghyuk, who had barely peeked his head out of the hood, stood up, the gaze of the wolf Constellation turned towards him.

[The Constellation 'The Wolf Who Loves Little Red Riding Hood' finds prey!]

If that wolf was a normal Constellation, it wouldn't have fallen into this trap.

But there was something different about him.

I was confident because I had already met several other Constellations.

An unstable status for a Constellation.

The story contained in its incarnation was unbalanced, and its 'character' was not perfect.

A rag-like incarnation made up of old story fragments that have not been properly repaired for a long time.

Crucially, 'The Three Little Pigs' was not the only story that constituted the incarnation of the wolf.

[The story 'The Wolf Who Covets Little Red Riding Hood' begins its storytelling.]

Constellations that have lived for a long time have difficulty distinguishing between their own will and the will of the story.

As the story began its storytelling, the instinct of the guy who had been consumed by the story awakened.

[Little Red Riding Hood.]

Its bright red, bloodshot eyes began to shine, and it started running toward little Yoo Joonghyuk, wagging its tail like a mad dog.

I nodded solemnly towards little Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Let’s run."

"You—"

"If you don’t run fast, you will die."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk gritted his teeth and looked back at me and said.

"I will definitely kill you, Kim Dokja."

Almost at the same time, I ducked for cover.

With the fierce wind blowing, Yoo Joonghyuk and the new form of the wolf Constellation disappeared at the same time.

Coo coo coo coo coo.

When I looked up outside the cover, I saw little Yoo Joonghyuk running away and a wolf Constellation chasing after him.

It was a dangerous sight, as if he was about to be caught, but Yoo Joonghyuk will be fine. I don't know if the guy's stamina was as low as before, but Yoo Joonghyuk's stamina had recovered quite a bit now.

I saw him sitting on my shoulder, secretly taking out an elixir from his pocket, and consuming it with my own eyes.

He eats eight meals a day, so he should have fully recovered by now.

That's not all.

[The effect of the item 'White Rat Mask' is activated!]

['Animal Mask' does not receive the 'performance reduction effect' of the corresponding world view.]

Is it because it is a 'Zodiac' worldview?

'Mask' is the only item here that maintains its original performance.

If the effect of 'Rat Mask', which won first place in the 'Zodiac Race', is that there will be no chance of getting caught for a while.

"You guys."

Meanwhile, Killer King, who had defeated all the other wolves, turned to look at me.

Indeed, Killer King is the Second Apostle.

Is it possible to subdue a wolf that is not a Constellation without using skills or stigmata?

Killer King wiped away his bloody nose and said, glaring in this direction.

"Do you know what you did?"

"I know."

"The southern part of Zone 13 is the territory of the 'wolves'. Now you—"

"I am the enemy of the wolves."

Killer King looked at me as if he was dumbfounded and muttered.

"Have you really become Kim Dokja?"

We started collecting items and story fragments from the fallen wolves.

Some of the story fragments were useful and some were trash.

Not all stories are recycled when they enter the 'Recycling Center'.

"It’s not too late. If you’re going to leave, now is your only chance."

Killer King, who was picking up items, stood up and said.

"Go to another Zodiac Area. You haven't lost your mask yet, so there must be a way to escape. I will take care of the rest of the group somehow."

"I don't like it."

"Kim Dokja."

At first glance, a scar was revealed on the back of Killer King's hand. It was a wound that had never appeared before.

"This is only the eighth scenario. Do you know how many of the characters we know died on the way to here?"

"…"

"You don't necessarily need everyone to see the ending."

What Killer King said was right.

Not all characters are needed for the ending of this world.

"I and my companions have now accepted it. This world is not the 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' we used to know."

No one knows how many more people will die on the journey to the end.

Some people will live and some people will die. Some will be forgotten and others will be remembered.

I also know Killer King knew.

This story will not end with a beautiful ending like a fairy tale.

"I need you to get the ending I want."

"It's typical of Kim Dokja to be unreasonable. Are you really going to take on that role? I'm sure you know what that means."

I quietly looked into Killer King's eyes. Now I had no choice but to admit it. That person really read 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' a hundred times.

He really knows what I'm thinking.

I opened my mouth, feeling inexplicably comforted by that fact.

"I know."

"Even though you know that—"

"You seem to be mistaken, but the reason you are needed is because you are so useful."

No matter what I do, I cannot become 'Kim Dokja, the Demon King of Salvation'.

Just as Killer King cannot become 'Supreme King Yoo Joonghyuk' no matter what he does.

Killer King looked at me with blank eyes for a moment, then smiled brightly.

"I see. Somebody needs help…"

"Yeah."

Killer King's eyebrows twitched.

"Is there some kind of solution? As of now, even if you and I work together, we can't catch that wolf."

"In theory, yes. But isn't there something strange about this scenario?"

"Strange?"

"The name is 'The Three Little Pigs', but the structure of the scenario is very similar to a scenario we know. The wolf's position and, of course, the fact that the scenario begins at 'night'."

A game to catch a 'werewolf' that kills people by biting them every night.

We already know a 'scenario' that is very similar to that.

"Have you ever wondered why this center is called 'Recycling Center'?"

Recycle. It literally means to reuse something that has been used. Killer King, who was thinking about something in response to my question, took a deep breath and muttered.

"No way…"

I don't know who the director of this 'Recycling Center' is or for what purpose this stage was designed. But.

"If what I think is right…"

I swept the dirt off the floor and gauged the flow of the surrounding stories.

Since when did it start?

One by one, the group approached behind Killer King.

Kyung Sein, Dansu ahjussi, Ye Hyunwoo. And even Cha Yerin.

I thought as I looked at them.

Only the eighth scenario.

As Killer King said, many readers have died. Readers died again and again, as if the world was hostile to them.

"We are the people in the world who can tell this story better than anyone else."

Nevertheless, 'Kim Dokja' still did not die.

"Let's start the 'Revolutionary Game' now."

From now on, it is Kim Dokja's time.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

727 Episode 28 House (5)

---

"From now on, we will become 'little pigs'."

[Someone declared 'Little Pig'!]

I smiled bitterly as I looked at the scenario message blinking in the air. Again, this scenario is similar to the Demon World's 'Revolutionary Game'.

[Some Constellations from the Chinese Zodiac are interested in this declaration.]

I checked the indirect messages floating in the air and summarized the facts I learned after entering this 'center'.

「One, incidents at this 'Recycling Center' are not reported outside of the center.」

This was what was described in the 'Ways of Survival'. Originally, the 'Recycling Center' was a place where incarnations of small and medium-sized nebulae strengthened their power to fight against the 'Giant Nebulae'. Naturally, the Constellations of the 'Giant Nebulae' cannot know what is happening here.

「Two, the only ones who have jurisdiction over events within this 'Recycling Center' are the Constellations related to the 'Recycling Center'.」

This is also an extension of the first fact.

In other words, only the zodiac or animal Constellations can observe the affairs of this '13th Zone'.

[The Constellation 'The First Pig to Die' is looking forward to your performance.]

[The Constellation 'The Nail-Eating Rat' pays attention to your judgment.]

This at least lowered the possibility that <Asgard>, <Olympus>, and other large nebulae that had been bothering me would directly intervene in the situation.

The task at hand now is to recreate「The Three Little Pigs」.

That's the only way to deal with the wolf, which isn't invincible only at night.

I asked, looking around at my companions.

"First of all, could you please tell me what kind of animal each of you became?"

"I… as you can see, I'm a squirrel."

"I'm a turtle."

Kyung Sein is a squirrel. Dansu ahjussi is a turtle.

Ye Hyunwoo, who was pursing his lips in annoyance, looks like a panda, and lastly, Cha Yerin—

"Sna (달)."

Cha Yerin, who had spoken up to that point, was unable to continue speaking for a long time. Instead, it was Killer King who answered again.

"She's a snail (달팽)."

Cha Yerin slowly lowered her head, perhaps because she was embarrassed that she had become a snail.

Now that I think about it, all the people gathered here have become animals that have nothing to do with the 'Zodiac'. Is it a coincidence?

"Are there any 'pigs' by any chance?"

Now that I think about it, while coming here, I have never once encountered any animals belonging to the Chinese zodiac. Although I saw similar animals, most of them were subtypes or variants.

"There can’t be a pig. This is Zone 13. You would know what that means."

It was only after hearing Killer King's answer that I became convinced of the meaning behind the name of this place.

Zone 13.

All of the incarnations here did not enter the Chinese zodiac.

"Now that I think about it, what kind of animal are you?"

"I didn’t choose an animal."

"I know you chose to wear a no-animal mask. But even if you chose a no-face mask, you end up using an animal mask."

You end up wearing an animal mask?

"That mask is designed to understand the user’s story and change into the most appropriate animal mask. But you—"

I looked at my reflection in the window of a nearby building. My mask was still a maskless mask.

A face where no animal shape is visible.

I looked at the smooth surface of the mask for a moment and then turned around.

"It’s okay. It’s not important right now. The only time Yoo Joonghyuk can earn is about 20 minutes at most."

Currently, 'The Wolf Who Loves Little Red Riding Hood' is chasing after Yoo Joonghyuk, a kid wearing a hood.

No matter how much of a Constellation in love with stories he is, he will come to his senses in about 20 minutes.

Before Yoo Joonghyuk, who became Little Red Riding Hood, is eaten by the wolf, we must somehow establish an operation.

"The operation is simple. To recreate 'The Three Little Pigs'."

"I would have said that was impossible."

Killer King frowned and walked away.

"It wasn’t just fools who chose the 'pig camp'. We also tried to do something similar to you at first."

"What exactly did you do?"

"I was planning on hiding in the house and killing him with a brick, just like the original story."

"Yes?"

I thought I had heard something wrong.

"Do you know what The Three Little Pigs is about?"

Killer King nodded confidently and answered.

"It’s a story about the three little pigs killing a wolf with a brick."

In what universe is this「The Three Little Pigs」?

If you think about it broadly, it was difficult to see that the story was completely wrong, but in any case, it seemed clear that Killer King did not know the exact original story.

When I looked at the other party members, it was Kyung Sein who answered first.

"Actually, I haven’t read many fairy tales."

Even if it's a famous story, at least one person may not know it.

I turned to Ye Hyunwoo. Of course the smart 7th apostle would know this.

Ye Hyunwoo asked back, scratching his cheek in annoyance.

"Um, like an old-fashioned version of Baby Shark?"

Come to think of it,『The Three Little Pigs』is already an old story.

It's natural that friends these days don't know.

But what about Dansu ahjussi?

"That’s because my Jiyoon doesn’t like fairy tales…"

"..."

"It’s been so long since I read anything. Heh heh. Heh heh."

I looked at Literature Girl 64 Cha Yerin, my last hope. Then she, Cha Yerin, secretly avoided my eyes.

"You really don’t know? No?"

"My younger sister only read complete world literature and Korean novels."

I was devastated.

Does this mean that none of them know 'The Three Little Pigs'?

I remembered hearing somewhere that the average amount of reading per year for Koreans was 1.5 books.

Still, there are people among them who have read 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' a hundred times, so does it make sense that they do not know famous fairy tales such as 'The Three Little Pigs'?

Wait a minute, when I thought about it, wouldn't reading 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' 100 times mean that they were deprived of the opportunity to read other books?

"So... you planned along well and attacked?"

In response to my question, the panda who had read 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' fifty times nodded confidently.

"To be exact, we couldn’t find bricks, so we fought with stones. It was a brilliant plan aimed at staging it."

"So the staging occurred?"

"That…"

The panda became sullen. The wolf, who had read the 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' a hundred times, added, shaking his head.

"So everyone lost their masks. As expected, if I hadn't chosen the 'wolf camp' with my genius judgment, everyone would have been wiped out."

It seems that Killer King did not participate in the operation, but hid alone and chose the 'wolf camp'.

"There was no other way. In a world without bricks, there is no way to fight against them. As you can see, the leader of the wolves is a Constellation."

"It's a half-formed Constellation. There is a way to kill it."

"You're probably trying to use 'staging' too, right?"

I nodded.

Although my companions failed, 'staging' is always activated in scenarios with stories as a motif. That's for sure.

"But there are no bricks in this worldview."

I know.

In this world, there are no houses made of bricks and no walls made of bricks.

It was as if someone had deliberately cut out the concept of 'brick' from this world.

It's probably the wolves' doing.

They destroyed all the bricks in Zone 13 to prevent this scenario from proceeding normally.

But that didn't mean there wasn't a way to get bricks.

"Let's buy it."

I called 'Dokkaebi Bag' in my head. The 'Dokkaebi Bag' can also be used here. Even if you go to Moro, you only have to go to Seoul.

[The 'brick' item cannot be purchased in this world.]

That's how it comes out.

I then opened an 'exchange'.

Fortunately, there were bricks at the exchange. A lot of that too.

| Old Brick — 50,000 C |
|---|

50,000 coins each?

[A very small number of Constellations are chuckling at you.]

I understand roughly how things work. It's definitely the work of the Constellations who sell items through gaps in the scenario like this.

It's not that I couldn't buy it if I wanted to, but I didn't want to enrich the merchants like this.

Even just buying that doesn't mean you can build a brick house.

Kyung Sein asked in a nervous voice.

"What should I do? Should I dig up any stone?"

"Bricks are made of clay, not stone."

"Really? Really? How do you know?"

How do I know? It's a story that also appears in 'Ways of Survival'.

"All you have to do is mix sand or petrified clay and heat it at a high temperature of over 1,100 degrees. This is the method of making 'clay bricks' as we know them."

"Were you originally a bricklayer?"

Again, this is an explanation that also appears in 'Ways of Survival'.

I don't know why that was even explained, but there was an explanation anyway.

"You said that the method is sand and petrification, right? If you can somehow get it—"

"It’s impossible to build it in time. Plus, you have to build a house."

It was a strange scenario to begin with.

With wolves coming right around the corner, does it make sense to build a 'brick house' by making bricks that will take a year to make?

Was this scenario really designed to be cleared that way?

"There was no 'Revolutionary' in the revolutionary scenario."

It was Killer King who said those words.

'And there are no 'brick houses' here."

I looked at Killer King. Then Killer King also looked at me.

"Perhaps."

"If I’m right."

I hate to admit it, but we were thinking the same thing.

"This scenario resembles the 'revolutionary scenario'."

There is a 'brick house' in this world.

"I think I found a solution."

However, no one admits that it is a 'brick house'.

---

After a while, we arrived at the hotel 'Fox and Crane'.

As soon as I kicked in the door, a startled crane jumped out screaming.

"What’s happening all of a sudden?"

"I’m going to stay here for a day."

"I’m sorry, but there are no rooms available right now, so please leave."

I ignored the crane owner's words and looked around the inside of the inn.

Looking around the inside, it was an ordinary wooden building.

"It’s an ordinary wooden building."

Killer King said after returning from examining the outside wall of the inn.

"The interior and exterior walls are quite solid, but they don’t look like they were made of any other materials. At least that’s what the naked eye sees."

A crane with a pale complexion shouted.

"I don’t know what you’re thinking, but please go away. I don’t want to get involved anymore!"

"The house is very sturdy. There isn’t a single scratch, and it looks like it’s quite old."

"Because we worked hard to build that—"

"Who built this?"

At my question, the crane gasped and took a deep breath.

"I can’t tell you."

"This is a wooden building, right?"

"Of course it’s a wooden building!"

"I guess so."

I said, lightly digging my ear.

"Even the building says so."

[Fragment of the story 'The House That Is Not a Brick House' continues its storytelling.]

I don't know what kind of trick was used, but this building had 'fragments of stories' embedded in it.

To be exact, it was only stuck in this building in the entire area.

[Fragment of the story 'The House That Is Not a Brick House' continues its storytelling.]

At first, I had no idea where the sound was coming from, but I was convinced only after passing by the inn a few times.

"It is not a brick house."

There’s something strange about this inn.

"It’s strange. Anyone can see that it is not a brick house, but you are saying that it is not a brick house."

"What?"

"It means that a person who is not a liar does not have to say that he is not a liar."

"…"

"What on earth are you hiding?"

"Now, you guys don’t know anything. Don’t get involved in this scenario!"

I slowly reached out to the inner wall of the house. Killer King and his companions subdued the owner who ran towards me while shouting.

As I closed my eyes, I immediately heard the birth of a story within the wall.

[Fragment of the story 'The House That Is Not a Brick House' begins to tremble.]

I slowly grabbed the fragment of the story stuck on the wall. It would be a good idea to just pull it out like this, but there was something I wanted to test.

[The sub-skill 'Sentence Enhancement' is activated!]

[You can enter your actions.]

[The action you entered will be 'reinforced'.]

As expected, [Sentence Enhancement] can now be used again.

「Sentence Enhancement is a skill that is activated and even ignored scenario restrictions.」

I always used this skill only to strengthen [Incite].

However, wouldn’t it be possible to use this skill a little differently?

[Fragment of the story 'The House That Is Not a Brick House' stops its storytelling.]

For example, slightly modifying the 'story' that has already been written.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

728 Episode 28 House (6)

---

Ji Eunyu once said,

"Writer, your sentences are very neat. There is no unnecessary information."

When I first heard that, I didn't think it was a compliment.

"I just don’t have confidence in the sentences I went with."

I am a writer who neither knows how to write elegant descriptions nor write complex sentences.

Nevertheless, Ji Eunyu praised my half-baked sentences for my eloquent speaking skills.

"No, that’s not true. How difficult it is to choose and use only the words you need. There are times when you can make a better sentence by just leaving out a few unnecessary words or particles, but it’s harder than you think."

Ji Eunyu said.

Take it out.

Even if you think you need it, take it out. Think about it and then take it out. Look again and take it out. Anyway, take it out.

Good sentences are built on such solid margins.

Those are really good words.

However, anyone who has ever written anything will know that leaving something out is not that easy.

It is not easy to remove even a single particle, much less a comma.

This is probably because it involves erasing something that took time to write.

The blank space created by erasing the sentence certainly feels different from the original blank space.

It feels like the soul of a sentence that has disappeared above the margins is alive and hovering around.

As a result, I sometimes had that thought while deleting sentences.

It's not that I don't want to erase the sentence, but maybe the sentence is telling me not to erase it.

Like now, so to speak.

[Story fragment 'The House That is Not a Brick House' refuses your touch!]

The moment I touched the fragment of the story, sparks flew out. A heart-stopping shock hit my chest, and I even drooled like someone who had been electrocuted.

"No, what are you thinking!"

"Sparks strike! Stop!"

Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi rushed in and helped me up.

But I couldn't stop. No matter how much I thought about it, this was the only way.

"I think I found a brick."

"Yes? Really?"

The explosion that was echoing in the distance was getting closer. 'Little Red Riding Hood' ran towards us, destroying every building we saw.

And Yoo Joonghyuk, Little Red Riding Hood, was running dangerously in front of us.

"Kim Dokja—!"

There is no time anymore.

I once again grabbed the fragment of the story.

The story fragment was speaking.

「I am not a brick house.」

I realize once again how much difficulty Ji Eunyu has been through all this time.

It is not easy to change what has already been written. What is written is read, and what is read is remembered by those who read it. Memories soon become the basis of reality.

Therefore, changing the story means changing reality.

Tsutsutsutsu.

I had no idea that it would be this difficult to fix just one fragment of a story.

Sparks flew every time the fragment of the story in my hand fluttered.

[Your 'fourth story' has fully blossomed.]

It was then that the message occurred to me.

[The story 'The One Who Rewrites Fate' begins its storytelling.]

「The One Who Rewrites Fate.」

This was the new story I got with 'The Demon King of Salvation'.

[Your understanding of the story 'The One Who Rewrites Fate' is low.]

[You will have 'very little' resistance to probability aftermaths.]

Surprisingly, the effect of this story is a certain level of immunity to 'probability aftermaths'.

When the spark of the story fragment became endurable, [Sentence Enhancement] shone once again.

[Sub-skill 'Sentence Enhancement' is activated.]

[Receives the effect of the story 'Recorder of Things That Will Disappear'.]

[The trait of 'Story Repair' will bloom in you!]

The struggles of the story fragments were gradually calming down.

[The target is a 'low-level story fragment'.]

[Would you like to edit this 'story fragment'?]

As I slowly touched the fragments of the story, I could clearly feel the sentences written on the story. From the time this story was first created until now, the years that have accumulated on the sentence were vividly conveyed.

「I am not a brick house.」

I looked back at the inn 'The Crane and the Fox' while holding the story tightly. I thought it was strange from the beginning.

Killer King and others also said this. This house is not a brick house, perhaps because the story says so.

But at least to me,

[The 'story fragment' did not convince you.]

This house was a 'brick house'.

The fragment of the story was trembling.

I held on to the fragment of the story and placed my hand on the sentence that came to mind.

Kim Dokja said: There is no scenario that cannot be conquered.

Ways of Survival said. It is said that this world is made up of 'stories'.

I persuade it while holding on tightly to the story. Or [incite].

"You."

Unravel the history accumulated in story fragment. Remove the words written on the fragment one by one. Take out 'n', take out 'o'. Remove spaces between words.

By subtracting, subtracting, and subtracting again, we finally create one neat sentence.

It brings out the original story fragment of a story that has been stained over a long period of time.

"You're a brick house."

The next moment, the story fragment began to melt together with a bright light.

A brightly shining gemstone of story appeared from the melted debris.

「I am a brick house.」

The fragment said.

「I am a brick house.」

I nodded. Then, I quietly inserted the fragment of the story into the wall of the house.

[Story fragment 'The Brick House' begins its storytelling.]

This world is made up of stories. And the story is made up of fragments of the story.

The smallest particle that changes the world.

The moment that particle hit the wall, reality changed.

Tsutsutsutsu.

The interior of the inn, which was finished with wood, was rippling like waves. The old wood was replaced with hard, dense orange-colored bricks.

My companions opened their mouths.

Cha Yerin closed her eyes as if listening to the story fragment, and Kyung Sein and Lee Dansu touched various parts of the brick house as if they were curious.

"It's a brick house! It's a brick house, really!"

"How could this—"

Killer King nodded as if he knew that would happen. Ye Hyunwoo, who was surprised, looked back at me as if asking what I did.

"The Recycling Center is a world made of old stories."

The background of this event scenario is 'The Three Little Pigs'.

In order for this story fragment to be recreated, a 'brick house' is necessary.

But there are no bricks in this world.

"Then, of course, 'bricks' are also made of stories."

What we needed to find in the first place was not a real 'brick' but the story of a 'brick'.

"We have to close the door!"

A pack of wolves came right in front of us. But Yoo Joonghyuk hadn’t come in yet.

I shouted as loud as I could as I closed the door to the brick house.

"Yoo Joonghyuk! Chimney!"

Through the closing door, I saw little Yoo Joonghyuk nodding.

The sound of something hitting one after another was heard from beyond the closed brick house. Then, I heard something like a flying squirrel running across the roof.

A moment later, little Yoo Joonghyuk, covered in what looked like black soot, jumped out of the fireplace under the chimney.

"Kim Dokja—!"

I left Yoo Joonghyuk's arrival behind and shouted to my companions.

"Boil water in the furnace! Quick!"

『The Three Little Pigs』 started now.

Then, water began to boil under the chimney stove.

[The constellation 'Rat Eating Nails' looks forward to what will happen next.]

[The constellation 'Primordial Cow,' likes it as it is the first reenactment he has seen in a long time.]

[The constellation 'The First Pig To Die' says he is excited for the first time in a long time.]

A strong wind was blowing outside. The wolves are probably forcing air into their lungs with all their might.

[Like this house—!]

In the original work, 『The Three Little Pigs』, the wolves blow down the house the little pigs built with their breath.

The first pig's house made of straw and the second pig's house made of wood are destroyed by the wolf's breath.

However, the 'youngest pig's' house, built of bricks, is different.

Coo coo coo coo!

A strong wind once struck the house. Two, three, four times.

The wind's speed was quite strong, so the brick house shook precariously.

Every time that happened, I whispered to the story fragment.

"You are a brick house."

「I am a brick house.」

[Story fragment the 'brick house' becomes even stronger.]

[The constellation 'The Wolf Who Loves Little Red Riding Hood' is astonished!]

I could feel the wolves' agitation beyond the wall.

[How did you build a 'brick house'?]

Now they too are realizing that something is wrong.

[No way… I'm sure I couldn't find that 'story'.]

I expected it.

Obviously, in a normal scenario, fragments of the 'Brick House' story would not be obtained in this way.

What I used was a kind of shortcut.

It was the same principle as Kim Dokja's impersonation of a revolutionary in 'Revolutionary Game'.

Strictly speaking, it is a 'house that is not a brick house' transformed into a 'brick house'.

[Very few constellations ask if that was possible.]

[A constellation that has not yet revealed its modifier nods to your solution.]

A constellation whose modifier is not disclosed.

As far as I know, the only one who has ever sent a message in that form is the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

However, the 'Demon King of Salvation' is currently not in a state to send indirect messages.

So who is the owner of that message?

Perhaps the owner of that message is also like the 'Demon King of Salvation'…

Doo doo doo doo.

I heard something jumping on the brick roof. As expected, the wolf incarnations began to move.

'Little Red Riding Hood’s wolf' shouted.

[Stop, you idiots! This means don’t move carelessly!]

Still, the wolves did not stop.

[Review the reproduction requirements for stage productions in your region.]

In order for a story to be 'staged', several 'conditions' related to the stage, including the 'story', must be met.

For example, in order to reproduce 『Spring of the Demon World』 of <Kim Dokja Company>, key members of <Kim Dokja Company>, including Kim Dokja, and the 'chariot' of Surya, a narrative-grade constellation, are needed.

So what about the case of 『The Three Little Pigs』?

[Story fragment 'Leader of the Wolves' begins its storytelling.]

First, the villain of the story, 'Wolf'.

[Story fragment 'The Brick House' begins its storytelling.]

And the 'brick house', the core material of the story.

The last thing we need is the 'youngest pig', the main character of the story.

But unfortunately, there was no 'youngest pig' here.

[Fragment of the story, 'The Last Born' begins its storytelling.]

Instead, here is me, the 'youngest' Kim Dokja.

[Story fragment 'The Man Who Eats Eight Meals In One Day' begins its storytelling.]

And although the reason is unknown, there was a guy who had fragments of a story that could replace the 'pig' story.

The moment when Yoo Joonghyuk, a frowning little boy, was about to board the flag.

[Representation requirements for staging were incompletely met.]

[The story 'The Three Little Pigs' begins its storytelling.]

「Staging has begun.」

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

729 Episode 28 House (7)

---

I reflexively looked back.

"Tie up Killer King. Quick!"

Wolves aren't just outside your home. There are wolves in this house too.

"Kim Dokja. I don’t give in to 'staging'."

Killer King, wearing a black wolf mask, spoke confidently.

Of course I know he won't attack us. I believe in him too.

"I know."

However, I believe in 'stories' more.

"This is to protect you. Please believe me."

Killer King looked at me for a moment and then nodded his head.

"I believe you, Kim Dokja."

Even during this time, one concept was clear: He was just an incarnation and can be affected by the story.

Kyung Sein moved quickly like a flying squirrel and tied Killer King tightly to a chair, and Cha Yerin spread snail slime on him. Ye Hyunwoo, moving leisurely, tied the bamboo stem around Killer King's legs as if twisting a rope.

I never told them to do something like that.

Ye Hyunwoo asked Killer King, who frowned.

"Are you hurt?"

"A little."

"Okay."

The moment Killer King was about all tied up, sparks began to strike in the air.

Tsutsutsutsu.

Old stories are remembered by the Constellations.

Constellations look back on their memories, reminisce, and sometimes even add probability for reenactment, and enjoy stories in their own way.

[The Constellations from the zodiac who remember the legend are happy.]

[The story 'The Three Little Pigs' accelerates its storytelling.]

The strength of the story fragment 'Brick House' has become stronger. That wasn't all. The eyes of the wolves that were blowing deathly sounds outside the window were changing.

[You—]

The embarrassed wolf Constellation issued an order.

[Stop! Stop! Stop right now!]

The wolf incarnations jumped onto the roof of the brick house one by one, paying no heed to the Constellation's order.

The wolves that were blowing, and the wolves that were headbutting the brick house, all started jumping on the roof as if they were possessed.

Even the tightly bound Killer King trembled, his eyes turning red.

This was the power of stories.

"Kwaaaaaaaa!"

The wolf incarnations that came through the chimney fell into the boiling water and screamed. Under normal circumstances, it would have been impossible to get rid of them with just boiling water. If you've reached the eighth scenario, the incarnations will also have a certain level of pain tolerance.

However, under the influence of this「staging」, such introspection was useless.

Their core attribute now is 'wolves', and the water in the furnace will inflict pain on the 'wolves' equivalent to Uriel's [Hell Burning].

Even if you ask why something like that happens, there is no answer.

Because this is just that kind of story.

The story of a little pig who built a brick house and won over the wolves.

The wolf incarnations that entered the chimney started convulsing and screaming as soon as their feet touched the water. Some crawled out of the chimney passage with their feet melting in the steam, while others bounced like popcorn.

[The Constellation 'The First Pig To Die' cheers!]

[The Constellation 'The Chicken That Crows First' makes an interested cry.]

[The Constellation 'The Sacrificial Lamb of God' says that the story of the pig is long overdue.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' yawns.]

And there were Constellations that enjoyed observing their suffering.

[The Constellation 'The Pig Who Built the Brick House' nods.]

And the protagonists of the「stage」were us.

The poor 'Three Little Pigs'.

Although the original story includes the sacrifice of the 'first pig' who built a house with straw and the 'second pig' who built a house with wood, it was omitted in this stage.

Nevertheless, no Constellation raised an issue.

[The Constellations from the Chinese zodiac giggle, saying it has been a while since they heard this story.]

Because this is a story that everyone already knows.

Obvious sacrifice and obvious death give no inspiration to the Constellations.

What they are curious about is not the ordeal of the little pigs.

'So what happens next?'

Only how exhilaratingly can someone take revenge. And how miserably the Constellation that was in the position of a predator fell.

[Some Constellations are looking forward to your 'narrative reenactment'.]

[8,000 recycled coins were sponsored.]

[A few Constellations want you to torture the wolves even more cruelly.]

[A very small number of Constellations suggest what it would be like to change the furnace water to hydrochloric acid.]

Now we were agents of that revenge. People who reproduce old stories on behalf of the Constellations and reinterpret stories on behalf of the Constellations.

Thus, the incarnations that receive coins and live.

[5,000 coins were sponsored.]

This was the world that Kim Dokja had lived in all along.

Kyung Sein grabbed my sleeve.

"If."

A faint tremor passed through my sleeves.

"If we all chose the wolf camp… what would have happened?"

There was no need to ask.

"Everyone would probably be dead."

[3,000 recycled coins were sponsored.]

The story was successfully recreated, and the wolf incarnations that threatened us were exterminated.

Did we make the right choice? Did we successfully clear the 'Event Scenario'?

[The 'Recycling Center Director' pays attention to your choice.]

So why is the center still waiting for my 'choice'?

「Is there still something left to 'choose' in this story?」

As I slowly turned my head, I noticed other prisoners who were unable to evacuate and remained inside the inn.

Even though the wolves that had been harassing them were suffering miserably, their expressions did not look happy. There were also some who were distorted or sad.

「This is a place where animals that do not belong to the zodiac live together.」

And the guys watching this story from the sky right now were all from the 'zodiac'.

"Dokja-ssi. Killer King—"

Killer King's eyes were red and his breathing was becoming rough. The rope tying Killer King also became tense as if it might break.

The story was encroaching on Killer King.

[Very few Constellations wonder why there is a 'wolf' inside the brick house.]

[A very small number of Constellations order to kill the 'wolf' inside the brick house.]

"Tie it stronger! You just have to hold on a little longer!"

"Shall we turn on the drink?"

"Do it yourself!"

Killer King’s screams were heard. But screaming is better than dying.

[Some Constellations are puzzled by your judgment.]

[Very few Constellations say that if you eliminate all wolves, you will receive a greater reward.]

Bigger rewards. Their Words sounded almost convincing.

No one in the group wanted to sacrifice Killer King.

He chose the wolf camp himself and protected his party for a month.

Are we going to kill him just so we can finish one「staging」?

"Hey, wolf!"

I shouted to the wolf Constellation beyond the wall, 'The Wolf Who Likes Little Red Riding Hood'.

"Just do it in moderation. It’s obvious what will happen if the「staging」continues like this."

'The Wolf Who Likes Little Red Riding Hood' hasn't climbed onto the roof yet.

Perhaps this is because this「staging」is imperfect, and the Constellation can overcome the influence of the staging to some extent by his own will.

Nevertheless, if time passed like this, the ending of the story was obvious.

[The Constellations from the Chinese zodiac want you to put an end to the 'wolf'.]

But will Killer King be able to hold out until then?

I took a deep breath, organized my thoughts, and continued speaking.

"I know. It’s probably unfair to you too. You’re not even a part of the story. So let’s stop."

『The Three Little Pigs』was an old story.

Now there is no wolf that tried to eat the pig, nor is there the youngest pig that fought bravely against the wolf.

All that remains are the Constellations in the sky, twinkling calmly, chewing, biting, and tasting old stories.

[The Constellations of the Zodiac look at 'The Wolf Who Loves Little Red Riding Hood'.]

Outside the dimly lit window, I could see the incarnation body of the wolf trembling.

Clearly, the 'wolf' was the villain in『The Three Little Pigs』. But even in this story called the <Star Stream>, are wolves still the villains?

What is that predator afraid of that makes it tremble like that?

[The Constellation 'The First Pig to Die' tilts its head towards you.]

[A few Zodiac Signs are puzzled by your choice.]

[A very small number of Constellations ask whether you are now supporting wolves.]

[Some Constellations ask the wolf whether he feels sorry for the dead incarnations.]

Right. Clearly, the wolf of Zone 13 was a villain. However, the animals here did not seem to be very afraid of the wolves.

Rather, they were worried about the wolf's behavior.

In particular, the crane owner looked like he was going to collapse at any moment.

"Please, please stop. That wolf cannot die. An even bigger tragedy will occur."

What on earth are these animals afraid of?

[The Constellation 'The Wolf Who Likes Little Red Riding Hood' roars.]

The blood vessels around his eyes burst and the wolf lost his temper and his body hit against the brick house. A dull impact sound rang out.

Coo coo coo coo.

The wind blowing out from the wolf created a strong gust and shook the brick house. Once again, his huge body crashed into the brick house.

Again and again, it was not the brick house that was broken, but the body of the guy.

The crane owner and the other beastmen screamed.

"No! I would rather offer meat. Please, please!"

"Isn’t this the wolf that was harassing you?"

The owner of the crane opened his eyes wide at my words and said.

"Yeah, it might seem that way. But you don’t really know how this district works. His death doesn’t change anything. This story—"

For a moment, I felt like I knew something.

It wasn't the wolves they were afraid of.

Rather, they are beings that are 'far above' those 'wolves'.

[Some Constellations belonging to the nebula <Zodiac> are happy.]

The wolf Constellation was dying. The incarnation was a mess, and most of the stories it had were destroyed.

Now, the wolf barely had any memories of the 'Three Little Pigs'.

Even his modifier has nothing to do with 'little pigs'.

Nevertheless, he became part of the stage because he was a fellow wolf.

I spoke to the guy. But he couldn't hear me.

A blood-covered wolf Constellation was looking at the sky.

He was talking to the stars that were laughing at him.

[Okay, if this is the story you guys want, look. However much.]

As I watched the wolf crashing into the unbreakable wall, I had a strange feeling for a moment.

I was swept away by emotion.

[Some Constellations belonging to the Nebula <Zodiac> rejoice at the fall of the wolf.]

Perhaps I too know the story of a man similar to me.

The man was born against his will and was caught up in a scenario that had nothing to do with his will.

He threw his life away many times to break the scenario, but he was never able to overcome the final 'wall'.

In the end, the 'wall' is,

[The story 'Heir To The Eternal Name' squirms.]

This is because it was a wall that only opened when opened from the other side.

I heard someone shouting at me. A sound of dissuasion. Indirect messages from the Constellations. Screams and howls.

All those voices mixed together like a discordant sound.

The moment I opened the door to the brick house, it dissipated like magic.

The scenery outside the house was surprisingly calm. Neither the indirect messages from the Constellations nor the screams of the incarnations were heard.

Raindrops falling from the gloomy sky.

A wolf Constellation wearing a bloody wolf mask was looking down at me.

I told the guy.

"Please come in."

[What?]

A sharp anger rose from the front paws of the wolf Constellation. It was expected that he would tear me to pieces at any moment.

"The game is over. Don’t you know that there is no way for you to win once「Staging」has occurred?"

The chance of success was slim, and the risk was too great.

Nevertheless, the reason I dare to do something like this is,

"You don’t seem to know, but this 'story' has no definite end."

Maybe it's because I have a similar story flowing through me.

"The Three Little Pigs is a traditional fairy tale. Depending on the oral tradition, there are various endings. It is the same that the three brothers worked together to defeat the wolf, but the story after that is different."

If I remember correctly, this story has an 'open ending'.

Like some story I know.

"In some versions, the wolf is thrown into boiling water and turns into soup. In other versions, the wolf is fried to death like popcorn. And in other versions—"

I know the chances are slim.

The probability that the ending I want will come is probably as low as the probability that <Kim Dokja Company> will finally get Kim Dokja back and they will all live together in a big house.

Nonetheless, if this gamble pays off...

"The wolf reconciles with the three little pigs and they live together in a brick house."

In this 41st Round, stories that were impossible in any world line may finally become possible.

[I—]

The wolf opened his mouth.

But unfortunately, the wolf had no say in this story.

[The Constellation 'The First Pig To Die' is against your 'recycling method'.]

[The Constellation 'The Liverless Rabbit' is opposed to your 'recycling method'.]

[The Constellation 'The Philosopher's Words' questions your 'recycling method'.]

[Some zodiac signs strongly oppose your ending!]

With an ominous indirect message, the wolf's eyes began to turn red again.

[The probability of「Staging」is strengthened!]

Lightning struck from a stormy sky. A huge hole appeared beyond the swirling sky.

"Kim Dokja."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk hurriedly stepped in front of me and said.

"Something is wrong."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

730 Episode 28 House (8)

"I think so too."

In a situation like this, who doesn't know that something is wrong?

My mind was complicated.

Was the ending also a problem?

Constellations prefer certain revenge, unexpected developments, and exciting endings. But what I chose was the lukewarm ending called 'Reconciliation with Wolves'.

[Some Constellations belonging to the Nebula <Zodiac> are criticizing your actions!]

[A very small number of Constellations look dissatisfied with the outcome you chose.]

Of course, the Constellations would not like it.

If you think about it, something similar happened when Kim Dokja declared that he would not kill the 'Disaster of Floods'.

Geaaaa—!

'The Wolf Who CovetsLittle Red Riding Hood' began to struggle and howl. The guy, who had hit his head on the floor several times as if in pain, opened his eyes wide and looked up into space.

It was the same for me, little Yoo Joonghyuk, and the rest of the group.

Something was coming down the black open portal outside. At first, I thought it was an Outer God, but fortunately, that wasn’t the case.

The first thing I saw was a pig's head.

The moment I saw the whitish tail, a slight shiver ran down my spine.

There was no shock like when I met the Outer God or when the Historical-grade Constellations descended.

Still, my senses were warning me.

[The Constellation 'The First Pig To Die' is glaring at you.]

They are the ones who occupy the lower sky of this star stream.

[The Constellation 'Pig That Builds Houses Out of Wood' is staring at you.]

They were great figures of the Chinese Zodiac.

[The Constellation 'Liverless Rabbit' is looking down at you.]

Indirect messages from the Constellations announcing their appearance one by one.

As many as three Constellations appeared at once, which would have been startling under normal circumstances.

However, despite that, there wasn't enough pressure felt.

Looking closely, I saw that each of the powerful Constellations had the appearance of a symbol.

...Is that why?

'The first pig to die' was a pig's head with a bill in its mouth.

'Pig that builds houses out of wood' is a log with a pig tail growing like sprouts.

Lastly, the 'liverless rabbit' was in the form of a bright red raw liver.

Anyway, I never imagined that the Constellations would come directly as symbols. This is because, no matter how 'symbolically' they descended, descending into a lower-level scenario incurs a considerable probability cost.

In my mind, I remembered the record of 'Ways of Survival' regarding the 'Recycling Center'.

「The Recycling Center is a kind of floating castle that travels around lower-tier scenarios.」

「The Recycling Center has a thin border with the other world in order to accommodate 'various types of stories'.」

「Constellations that have been recognized for their area within the Recycling Center can use symbols at a relatively low cost.」

Perhaps the reason the Constellations were able to descend as symbols was because of the special environment of the Recycling Center.

By the way, why did those bastards attempt to 'descend symbolically' at this moment?

They probably know that it's dangerous because they can't fully use their original power if they are in a symbolic state.

[It’s been a while, wolf.]

My doubts were quickly answered.

The moment I heard their mantra, I realized it right away.

[It’s still a smelly place.]

[Are there any new turtles?]

The fact that they took risks and attempted to 'descend symbolically' shows that they are confident.

[All the prisoners in Zone 13 kneel in front of the Nebula Zodiac.]

It was proof that no one in this 'Zone 13' would dare to oppose them.

The owner of the crane and the beastmen who were hiding in each house ran out of the house one by one to show their respect.

The same was true for our group. Ye Hyunwoo, Kyung Sein and Cha Yerin, and Dansu ahjussi were all prostrated on the floor.

It would not be their own will. This was simply the power of the Zodiac, the Nebula of animals.

[The Constellation 'The Wolf Who Loves Little Red Riding Hood' pays homage to the owner of the story.]

Little Red Riding Hood's wolf was also bowing his head to the floor.

The only ones who didn't kneel were Killer King, who was tied to a chair, me, and little Yoo Joonghyuk.

'The First Pig To Die' stared at me quietly and then spoke to the wolf Constellation.

[Have you forgotten your 'contract' with us?]

The wolf growled and his shoulders shook.

[No. Absolutely not.]

I didn't understand.

That one was just a pig and this one was a wolf.

Looking at the laws of the ecosystem and the logic of the law of the fittest, it was clear that carnivores were stronger than herbivores.

Nevertheless, the wolf was trembling like a prey that had encountered a top predator.

[You should be thankful just for continuing the lineage of parasites like you.]

The 'Liverless Rabbit' said sarcastically.

[Pig teachers, I told you so. All wolves should be killed. Do you know how many of my compatriots they preyed on?]

[I can't count them.]

[You should be grateful if you hired those guys as 'villains'. How dare you try to change the original story of a sacred tale?]

The wolf Constellation did not respond and just shed a sweat. I could see the story of the guy being crushed in real time screaming.

[Some Constellations of the Nebula <Zodiac> enjoy the suffering of the wolves.]

I think revenge for the weak is right. I also believe that the person who was harmed has the right to return what was harmed.

[Story fragment 'Hunted Wolf' cries.]

[Story fragment 'Little Red Riding Hood' cowers in fear.]

I had no intention of pointing out whether their ways were correct or not.

But…

No matter how I looked at it, this stage was somehow distorted.

[Didn’t you promise? You will pay for the crime your brother committed.]

Suddenly, a sentence from 'Ways of Survival' crossed my mind.

「Animal-shaped Constellations often take on the original sin of a race in exchange for sharing that story.」

Some stories go beyond individuals, to species, and even from generation to generation.

The wolf Constellation hurriedly put down his head and said.

[Well, didn’t we promise to raise a wolf as a tribute this month as well? The wolf will be ready.]

[It must be a plump wolf.]

[Of course. He gained weight by eating a lot of animal meat—]

Fragments of other beastmen's tales—the wolf harvesters who roamed around collecting 'meat' came to mind.

A hippopotamus struggling with its arm cut off. The prisoners donating meat but not blaming the wolves.

Is it.

Why did the wolves want 'meat'—

[That's strange. The wolves that have been coming up as tributes recently aren't that chubby, are they?]

[That's because of the lack of supply of stories in Zone 13... There are not enough recent local story fragments. If we no longer exploit prisoners—]

[Should I take your situation into consideration?]

[No! It was my mistake. I will offer up a wolf that has somehow grown fat, a wolf that has been fed a lot of story fragments, as an offering!]

Only then did I begin to understand many things.

The reason why the story fragments of the prisoners here were all a mess.

The reason why the arms and legs of prisoners were replaced with machines.

[We have already been patient enough.]

Just as the Constellations of <Olympus> used giants as their sacrifices, the pigs of <Zodiac> exploited other beastmen at the Recycling Center and received 'wolves' as tribute every month.

Just to continue their legacy.

[The story 'The Three Little Pigs' is complaining about hunger.]

The pig-headed symbol slowly descended to the ground and slowly looked around at the wolf incarnations.

The moment one of the wolf incarnations screamed and tried to run away, its head exploded.

The pig head laughed, chewing on the head wearing the wolf mask.

[He’s a guy who doesn’t even have anything to eat. I don’t even have enough soup to cook.]

[Sorry!]

[Can’t you hear the story’s voice? The story wants a sacrifice. Are you hoping that its existence will be erased from the <Star Stream>?]

[Please give me one more chance. I will do well!]

[Then.]

The Pig Constellation said.

[Prove it.]

He felt the fur on his arms rise. The sound of a story’s song reached my ears. The staging was starting again.

[Offer tribute.]

The wolf looked up at the pig's head with trembling eyes.

The Pig Constellation continued to speak.

[Reveal your ugly nature and die.]

At the pig's command, the wolf Constellation slowly stood up.

Ye Hyunwoo said while holding my sleeve.

"We need to get into the house."

Kyung Sein was the same.

"Inho-ssi! It’s none of our business. Run away. Quickly. If you don’t run now—"

The prisoners who were prostrated hung their heads and trembled.

"Oh, no! Please forgive the wolf! Forgive him!"

"Please, great <Zodiac>—"

Little Red Riding Hood’s wolf looked back at them. He saw prisoners with missing limbs and fragments of their stories that had lost their speech.

And he said.

[All right. I will be the 'tribute'.]

From the beginning, this was a story with a fixed end. A story that everyone can watch with confidence. There is a set protagonist, and the stage ends only when the set villain dies.

[「Staging」resumes.]

An ominous aura began to flow from the entire body of the Wolf Constellation.

That wasn't all.

Our brick house was growing.

[The influence of the story fragment 'Brick House' becomes stronger!]

A brick house that looks as if it can withstand any wolf attack, reminiscent of Gong Pildu's [Armed Fortress].

"Ah, ah, it was all wrong—"

"Everyone run away!"

The frightened prisoners began to run away one by one into the brick house.

The 'pig that died first', who was watching with satisfaction, looked back at me for the last time.

[The one who is favored by monkeys. You found the right answer. Our story will become even greater with the 'brick' you found.]

[Don’t even think about interfering. If you successfully complete the story, you will also receive a reward.]

With those last words, the Constellations ascended back to heaven.

[Some Constellations in the Nebula <Zodiac> want the destruction of the wolves.]

The muscles of the wolf Constellation began to twitch. It was a sign that the power of「staging」was about to dominate his entire body.

"Stop!"

I shouted at the guy.

But my words didn't reach him. A fierce wind was already blowing throughout the entire body of the Wolf Constellation.

Little Yoo Joonghyuk, who was standing next to me, took a step forward and said.

"Are you planning to change the story?"

I nodded.

"Pig? It’s just like the Chinese Zodiac guys say. If you stay like this, you can get a new story."

"I know. But if that happens, the remaining incarnations in this area will—"

"You must have felt it from the beginning: the 'beasts' here wanted us to become the wolves’ victims."

I know. So, the crane owner guided us to an old 'guest house'.

"The wolves here exploit these beastmen to obtain fragments of stories. They feed them to one of the wolves and offer them as an 'sacrifice' to the pigs."

"…"

"Whether the beastmen or the wolves die is none of your business."

"That too. But—"

"This world calls that hypocrisy."

Hypocrisy.

I laughed bitterly.

"This world looks a lot like a place I used to know."

It was sweet, but definitely different.

The 'Demon World' I knew was not like this. Good and evil were a little more clear than this.

Maybe this is also a result of 'recycling'.

"I don’t have any particular cause. I just—"

What would Kim Dokja do?

"I just don’t like this story."

I didn't even think I could persuade him. However,

"If you oppose the Chinese Zodiac, you will die."

I hesitated for a moment and asked.

"Are you really worried about me?"

"If it takes just a moment, you can break through."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk's small fists were filled with unusual magical energy.

「100 Steps Divine Fist.」

It was impossible. Because [Skills] cannot be used in this worldview. Even when he became a kid, Yoo Joonghyuk is still Yoo Joonghyuk?

The guy created his skill [100 Steps Divine Fist] purely through his own talent.

"Please."

Yoo Joonghyuk's fist punched into the air. In an instant, an explosive vortex surrounded the wolf, creating a wound in the wind.

I dug into the gap and grabbed the Wolf Constellation by the shoulder.

"I told you to stop!"

My voice was scattered in the harsh wind. To the point where communication is barely possible. At this rate, outside Constellations will not be able to hear our voices.

[The house… Go in. You… This story… It cannot be changed.]

It was not simply because of 「staging」. The guy's long Story's shadow was looming.

"Did they cause your Story to make us run away?"

[If you are at home… safe. There… Remember the wolf's last story.]

I knew of several Constellations where shadows had run away.

He will die soon.

Even if he doesn't die, he will be in the same state as dead.

The Wolf Constellation laughed as if it had read my eyes.

[Me… Are you sympathizing?]

"Pity? Do you think I'm such an idle person?"

To begin with, the <Star Stream> is a broken world.

This world is just a 'story'.

All stories sparkle and are consumed by fleeting emotions.

Over a long period of history, causes and effects have become mixed, and harm and damage have become indistinguishable.

All that remains is the laughter and cheers of the stars.

Even though I know that,

"Don't you want to create a new 'story' of wolves?"

I can't give up on the story.

This is the last story in which he will shine as a Constellation.

After hitting that brick house several times, he will fall down the chimney and die a horrible death.

And to future generations of wolves, he will be remembered as the new wolf of 「The Three Little Pigs」.

"Are you really going to end it like this?"

The Wolf Constellation's eyebrows twitched greatly.

[You guy… there's…]

"I know what you're going to say. There's nothing you can do. You're going to die anyway. The Zodiac is a Nebula you can't handle."

Even though he is a Constellation, he is a fallen Constellation who has lost all his stories.

No matter what he does, he cannot beat the <Zodiac>. It is impossible to destroy the 'stage' that has been solidified by the gaze of Constellations over hundreds and thousands of years.

But there are things even such a Constellation can do.

"Sacrifice your Story to summon the God of the Other World."

Ruining this stage.

[What… Are you talking nonsense? If you do something like that…]

"The existing 'stage' will be destroyed. And a new story will begin."

The wolf's eyes widened as if wondering what I was talking about.

[Then Zone 13 is—]

"Don't worry. I will stop the God of the Other World'."

The wolf's voice trembled harshly, as if he belatedly understood what I meant.

[You can't possibly be—]

"That's right."

I nodded.

"I plan to steal the story of 'The Three Little Pigs'."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

731 Episode 28 House (9)

The Wolf Constellation, whose expression was distorted, shouted.

[What nonsense—]

Even when I thought about it, it was crazy.

It might sound strange to say that we would steal the story of「The Three Little Pigs」. However, if this <Star Stream> really was a world that worked as I thought and as Kim Dokja read, it was not an impossible story at all.

"Shut up and listen to me."

The tone of my voice was unfamiliar. Is this really my voice, or is it the remnants of the story that the 'Demon King of Salvation' left me?

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' listens to your story.]

It didn't matter either way.

However, if Kim Dokja is also reading this story, if he is also seeing me from somewhere in this world,

[A Constellation whose modifier has not yet been revealed is looking at you.]

At least I want to tell him a story that is not embarrassing.

"However, you must not summon just any 'Outer God'."

I took a deep breath and spat out the words. Because now is the important part.

"The Outer God to be summoned is—"

The surrounding wind was getting stronger again. I desperately raised my voice. I couldn't tell if the wolf heard me or not.

[The Constellation 'The First Pig To Die' is furious!]

The sparks that came from the wolf's whole body bounced me away. In the dizzy spinning vision, something small caught me.

It was little Yoo Joonghyuk.

He picked me up and quickly ran towards the brick house. Kyung Sein quickly came out to meet us, pushed little Yoo Joonghyuk into the brick house and closed the door.

One by one, the prisoners hiding in the brick house looked up from between the tables and looked at me. Some people looked at me with resentment, and some looked at me with fear.

There were also people who were worried about me.

"What the hell are you thinking? You're going to die! You're really going to die!"

Kyung Sein was crying.

"What's wrong with your head? You've really come to think that you've become Kim Dokja!"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk turned his head and looked up at Kyung Sein. However, it seemed like Kyung Sein had no energy left to defend the concept.

"Please, please, stay hidden here! You'll be safe if you stay hidden."

The Kyung Sein I knew was a very timid person. She was the one who was afraid of the ground rats. The person who was hiding behind Jung Heewon.

But I also remember other aspects of her.

A person who endured Yoo Joonghyuk's hellish training.

A person who threw her body to stop monsters in order to save the characters in the novel.

A person who risked her life several times to protect me and the others.

"It’s a story that has nothing to do with us. Just stay still. Then it will pass."

She was never the type of person to say things like this.

"It doesn’t matter."

"Huh?"

"They are the ones who turned you into a prisoner."

I looked at my colleagues standing behind her. Ye Hyunwoo, Dansu ahjussi, and Cha Yerin.

"Didn’t you all come here before me? You probably know better than me what Zone 13 is like."

Solving event scenarios is important. But that alone wasn't enough.

My companions had already lost their masks and failed the scenario.

In order to save them, there is no choice but to break the 'rules of Zone 13'.

And for them.

「I must face the <Zodiac>.」

Kyung Sein looked at me with blank eyes. Her eyebrows were fluttering.

"Aren’t you afraid of the Constellations?"

"It’s scary."

It’s scary. It's really scary.

Because I was scared of those guys, I also ran all the way here.

"But I’ve also seen guys that are scarier than them."

It was different from what I had imagined. The power of the stars was beyond what I thought.

The power to literally split mountains and seas.

Even now, when I close my eyes, the image of Ares fighting against the 'Demon King of Salvation' clearly comes to mind. I had no confidence that I could face such a monster.

"The enemy we must defeat is at a height so high that it cannot even be compared to that of the Zodiac."

However, even Ares was only one of the 12 gods of <Olympus>.

The sky in the <Star Stream> is so distant.

"We must not lose to the Constellations. We must not see the world the way they see it. We must—"

No matter how hard I struggle, I cannot defeat the Constellations now.

I could tell just by looking at their symbols. But I couldn't just obey their rules just because I couldn't beat them.

"We are readers."

Each of my colleagues raised their heads or looked at the ground to see what they were thinking.

In the short silence, the strong wind outside the house was gradually getting stronger.

It was Cha Yerin who opened her mouth first.

"How."

"My sister is asking how she can help."

"From now on, we will change the narrative."

The core of this event scenario is to change the fundamental story of 「The Three Little Pigs」.

Even if this is accomplished successfully, the changed narrative will be nothing more than dust.

But now I desperately wanted that one speck of dust.

"Just like Kim Dokja did."

"It is a story that has already been staged. You know that it is not easy to change."

"That’s true. But it’s not impossible either."

The power of「staging」once activated is absolute. The power of the stage overturns even differences in power.

At least as long as「The Three Little Pigs」is activated, the 'Wolf' will never be able to destroy the 'Brick House'.

"I’ve already created a foreshadowing."

If it's just an ordinary 'wolf'.

Coo coo coo coo coo.

This is a gamble.

Just as Kim Dokja risked his life every time, I too will have to risk my life this time.

Fortunately, we have this 'brick house'.

It may not be as reliable as the [Fourth Wall] that Kim Dokja had, but at least as long as this 'brick house' exists—

[Story fragment 'Brick House' becomes stronger.]

We will definitely have an opportunity to turn this situation around.

It was then that the sound of the wind stopped.

I could see the wolf Constellation fluttering outside the window. The guy's long Story’s shadow was finally reaching the sky.

[The Constellation 'Pig That Dies First' is greatly shocked!]

[The Constellation 'Pig That Built Its House Out of Wood' is furious at the wolf’s judgment!]

[The Constellation 'Liverless Rabbit' is surprised by the wolf’s choice!]

[Some Constellations belonging to the Nebula <Zodiac> condemn the atrocities of the wolves!]

Looking at the reactions of the Constellations,

[The Constellation 'The Wolf Who Loves Little Red Riding Hood' is famous.]

It seemed like things were going well.

"This—"

Dansu ahjussi, who felt an unusual current, took a step back.

"Did he really summon an Outer God?"

Through the pitch-black dust, a small 'Great Hall' was visible in the sky. Although it was smaller than the 'Great Hall' I saw before, it was definitely a 'Great Hall'.

"Oh my god."

"Ah ah ah ah ah—"

"It’s all over! It’s all over!"

The prisoners who entered the inn together also seemed to know about the 'Great Hall' and held their heads under the table.

Well, they too must have been incarnations of scenarios at one time.

Tsutsutsu!

The probability aftermaths near the 'Great Hall' were weaker than usual.

I heard that the 'Recycling Center' has a thin border with the other world, so maybe that's why.

Unless—

[A God of the Other World prepares for his descent.]

"Uh, what should we do, Dokja-ssi!"

Meanwhile, Kyung Sein, who had recovered a little bit of her mentality, started calling me Dokja.

"If even a 'Great Old One' appears—"

Then, from now on, I will have to live up to my name.

"Not all deities in this world are of the 'Great Old One' level. You know that."

Rather, most of the 'Outer Gods' are closer to nameless things. Strange monsters that have lost their ego and wander the world lines.

"Still, it’s a problem. If someone like the 'Dream Eater' shows up, Zone 13 will be over!"

"It would be of a lower level than that."

In the main story, the 'Dream Eater' descended.

However, the 'Dream Eater' is a being who has been summoned as a sacrifice by the story of a 'Narrative-grade Constellation'.

On the other hand, what was offered as a sacrifice this time was the story of a 'Historical-grade Constellation', which had lost most of its own stories.

"If a guy like that had appeared, all the Constellations would have run away. But look, they’re still watching."

[Very few Constellations are frightened by the existence of the 'Outer God'.]

[The Constellations from the Nebula <Zodiac> are astonished by the 'Outer God' who appears in the scenario!]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' makes an interested expression.]

Although they are afraid, they are maintaining their position. That means that the guy who appears now is at least of a lower grade than the 'Dream Eater'.

The next moment, the sound of something hitting the roof was heard.

Thud. Thud. Thud.

The house, which had been shielded from the wolf’s wind until now, was shaking precariously.

After all, no matter what it was summoned for, an 'Outer God' is an 'Outer God'.

[Fragment of the story 'Brick House' falls silent.]

I said, putting my hand on the wall.

"Don’t worry. Even if it is an 'Outer God', they are not free from「staging」."

Deities from another world.

Beings excluded from the scenario and wandering the outer reaches of the <Star Stream>.

However, that does not mean they are completely free from 'stories'. Once they become involved in a scenario, they also become bound by the rules of the scenario.

The problem is which guy showed up.

I glared at the darkness outside the window. However, perhaps because of the dust that filled the darkness, the descending god of the other world could not be seen.

I don't know, but he probably took over the body of the wolf Constellation. And, following his will, he will try to destroy this 'Brick House'.

Kudddddddd.

The ground was shaking unusually.

A completely different sign than before.

"Kim Dokja."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk also had a serious expression.

"The 'wind' has changed."

I was feeling it too. The wind blowing from beyond this 'wall' was on a completely different level from the wind blowing from the wolf Constellation so far.

It feels as if the god of storms had descended.

"What kind of Outer God has appeared—"

"Maybe something like the 'Wolf of Destruction' came?"

Ye Hyunwoo answered Kyung Sein’s question.

"The 'Wolf of Destruction' is not a God from Another World. He is a Constellation from <Asgard>."

"But Hyunwoo, are you able to speak normally?"

"Only the Seventh Apostle reacts like that."

The house began to shake violently.

I clung to the wall, trying my best to pretend to be calm. It was definitely not a reassuring situation.

"Everyone, please stick to the wall and supply magical power."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk was the first to come out, and the other members of the group also clung to the wall one by one.

The faces of the companions who sensed the shaking of the wall turned pale.

"Dokja-ssi, I don’t think I can last long. At this rate—"

"Don’t worry. It won’t break."

"But I think our magical power alone won’t be enough."

Right. It would take a huge amount of mana to maintain a 'brick house' of this size.

And above all—

"The brick house is barely a 'story fragment'."

It was just as little Yoo Joonghyuk said.

The status of the 'brick house’s story' was too low.

A 'fragment of a story' that did not even become a story.

Even lower class.

"But that’s okay. Brick houses don’t collapse, because—"

I added, grinning as I stared into the darkness beyond the sky.

"If this 'Brick House' breaks down, there are people who will lose something bigger than us."

[The story 'The Three Little Pigs' stutters its storytelling.]

[The Constellation 'The First Pig To Die' urgently supports the story!]

[The Constellation 'Pig Building a House of Wood' requests reinforcement from other Constellations!]

Killer King, who was tied to the chair, seemed to have realized my intention only then and groaned.

"No way, you Kim Dokja."

"Yes, that’s right."

"So, the deity of this world—"

Ye Hyunwoo also nodded his head as if he understood the situation.

"I see. If the 'wolf' wins here—"

"History will change. So the Constellations can’t ever give up."

[The story of 'The Three Little Pigs' continues.]

[The story fragment 'Brick House' is strengthened!]

"Because this is their 'origin story'."

My operation is simple.

「To simultaneously destroy the Constellations of the Chinese zodiac and the 'God of the Other World'.」

The Constellations hidden in the darkness were not visible.

But I could feel their anger and fear.

"They can never give up. So—"

Not ending this「stage」until all the stars fall.

[The synchronization rate between you and your sponsor increases significantly!]

"Let’s create a story that will last forever."

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' smiles mysteriously.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

732 Episode 28 House (10)

Lee Jihye still remembers the day she first met Kim Dokja.

In the dark Chungmuro Station tunnel, a man with a white face appeared like a ghost through the Specter area.

「"Who are you guys? Don’t you know that this area is our hunting ground?"」

Right. That was her first meeting with Kim Dokja.

「"…Did you guys come here after defeating the specters?"」

Lee Jihye stood in the tunnel, looking down at the fragments of the story that continued their storytelling.

"Ahjussi, if you’re in a place like this, they're scattered ."

She bent down and picked up a fragment of her story. This fragment was the purpose of her visit to this 'world line'.

[The story fragment 'First Meeting with the Maritime Admiral' has been obtained.]

Lee Jihye smiled faintly after checking the name of the story fragment.

"This also becomes a story."

She’s a little happy.

This meeting remains recorded. She realized that her ahjussi made up a part of her that she cherished during her time living with him.

"Hmm. I guess it’s no longer here."

After retrieving the fragment, Lee Jihye looked around her several times before activating the Kim Dokja tracker that Lee Seolhwa had made.

[There are no 'Kim Dokja Fragments' in this world line.]

Her mission, she said in <Kim Dokja Company>, is to collect Kim Dokja’s fragments scattered around the world.

At first, she was with her companions, but after 'a number of Kim Dokja fragments were discovered in the 41st Round', the only one left to wander around other world lines and collect the story fragments was Lee Jihye.

So many months.

Finally, the 'fragments' of the target were almost resolved.

"It’s been a while since I’ll be returning home. Biyoo! Send me back!"

A moment later, a 'baaat' sound was heard in her head and the portal inside her swirled around, sucking her into it.

[You have reached the target dimension.]

"Utcha."

The transfer was instantaneous.

When she first started traveling around the world, she wasn't able to travel back and forth this fast, so perhaps her metaphorical abilities have grown over time.

Lee Jihye, who came out of the portal, took in a breath and shouted loudly.

"I’m here—!"

But despite her cries, there was no sign of her companions.

Lee Jihye felt a little sad and trudged her feet to find her companions.

"I’m here! Where has everyone gone!"

The moment she opened the transmission room and turned down the hallway across from her.

"Ah, is Jihye here?"

"Seolhwa unnie!"

She ran into Lee Seolhwa, who looked tired for some reason.

Lee Seolhwa immediately grabbed Lee Jihye's wrist and muttered something to her, then nodded her head and said:

"You’re healthy. Your balance is stable, I was worried a lot."

"Why are you worried about other people?"

"Huh? Jihye noona!"

When she turned around, she saw Lee Gilyoung and Shin Yoosung coming out of the room.

"Unnie!"

Shin Yoosung rushed over and hugged Lee Jihye.

"Wow, you’ve grown up a lot, my little girl."

She stroked Shin Yoosung’s head. Seeing Lee Jihye and Shin Yoosung getting along well, Lee Gilyoung made a yuck sound.

“What about Sangah unnie?"

Shin Yoosung suddenly raised her head and answered.

"She’s in the observation room. We’re all on our way there at the same time."

"Is Master there too?"

"The sooty guy is in the closed training room."

"Again? Master says I have some training left to do."

"He’s recovering from internal injuries."

"Has Master suffered internal injuries?"

"He got into a fight with a Myth-grade Constellation."

A Mythical Constellation.

Lee Jihye's expression hardened slightly.

"Mythical grade?"

There were almost no Constellations left that could pose a threat to the current <Kim Dokja Company>.

However, if the target is 'Myth-grade', the story is a little different.

"Odin. And the Narrative-grade scoundrels of <Asgard>."

Lee Jihye opened her mouth.

"What, did Master really turn the situation around?"

"That bastard is as strong as he was originally."

"No, that’s only when the conditions are the same! That’s their world line. What about the probability aftermath?"

"That’s why he got hurt like that."

"Sooyoung said you left it alone?"

When Han Sooyoung's name came up, the expressions of her companions visibly darkened.

Lee Jihye asked while carefully observing the eyes of her companions.

"What’s wrong with everyone’s expressions? Why did Master fight with Odin? Did Dokja ahjussi even show up?"

Lee Gilyoung and Shin Yoosung looked at each other.

Lee Jihye felt trouble.

"Wait a minute. Really?"

"To be exact, it was a 'hugely large fragment' of hyung."

"A huge fragment?"

"A fragment with the story of 'Demon King of Salvation'."

"At that level, he’s almost like him, isn’t he?"

"He’s not 100% my hyung."

In response to Lee Gilyoung's answer, Shin Yoosung glared at Lee Gilyoung.

Lee Jihye observed the nervous battle between the two, then tapped the two children on the shoulders and opened her mouth.

"Lee Gilyoung. That’s what I thought about when I was walking around collecting fragments."

"One thought."

"After all, no human being can be 100 percent."

At that solemn declaration, Shin Yoosung suddenly raised her head, and Lee Seolhwa also muttered, "Oh my," and covered her mouth.

Lee Jihye let out a triumphant voice towards Lee Gilyoung, who was making a bad expression.

"Why? Are you impressed by this sister’s insight?"

"It’s amazing that my noona thought of something like that."

"Do you want to hang upside down for the first time in a long time? Anyway, what I want to say is—"

"You’re saying I should accept it even if my hyung’s return isn’t 100% perfect."

"Hmm..."

"Do you think I'm stupid? I know that too. But—"

In the first place, no human being can be '100 percent'. Because humans always lose and forget something.

The only thing Lee Gilyoung is afraid of is.

"What if hyung, who I barely got back, forgot about noona?"

"Uh?"

"Can you still say that? Can you say with confidence that it’s okay even if he’s not 100% hyung?"

Lee Jihye looked blankly into Lee Gilyoung’s eyes. And then she saw Shin Yoosung and again Lee Seolhwa.

"That’s not possible. Of course he has to remember me."

"What, just now—"

"It’s unfair. I can’t even go to MIT and I’m doing this here, and if that person had forgotten about me—"

"You didn’t get accepted into college."

"It’s okay. He remembers me, so I don’t have to worry about that."

"How does noona know that?"

"You’ll be surprised when you see what I brought."

Lee Jihye, with a meaningful expression on her face, put her hand into her backpack.

But where were they?

Apparently, the fragments of Kim Dokja that she had put in her backpack were not in her hands.

That couldn't have been possible.

She has certainly collected a lot from her travels around the world —

"Eh?"

The moment Lee Jihye dropped her backpack on the floor in surprise, something quickly jumped out from inside her backpack.

Lee Jihye's eyes widened.

"Oh my god."

Shin Yoosung screamed.

"Ahjussi!"

Kkoma Kim Dokja, the size of a small doll, was looking up at his companions.

The first to move were Shin Yoosung and Lee Gilyoung.

"Where!"

"Move, Shin Yoosung!"

Kkoma Kim Dokja ran somewhere to avoid the two children.

"Catch him!"

The group hurriedly chased after kkoma Kim Dokja.

How long did they run like that?

"Ah."

The place kkoma Kim Dokja headed to was the observation room where Yoo Sangah was located.

The sound of a door opening.

Yoo Sangah and kkoma Kim Dokja, who were checking the monitor in the observation room, met their other's eyes.

Yoo Sangah looked down at kkoma Kim Dokja, who opened his mouth in surprise. Kkoma Kim Dokja raised both of his hands towards Yoo Sangah. Looking down at the kkoma Kim Dokja whom Yoo Sangah knew, she soon smiled bitterly and asked.

"Did you miss me that much?"

Yoo Sangah stretched out her hand and carefully picked up the kkoma Kim Dokja and placed him on her table.

As the gaze changed from day to day, kkoma Kim Dokja's eyes turned to the monitor in the observation room.

The story of the '41st Round' was being played there.

Inside the monitor, a masked man was speaking.

"I plan to steal the story of “The Three Little Pigs."

The man's shining eyes and white skin were glimpsed through the area that the mask could not cover.

Before they knew it, the arriving party members were also looking at the screen.

Yoo Sangah waved her hand.

"Has Jihye arrived?"

"Yes, unnie. But maybe that…"

Yoo Sangah saw the man yelling beyond the screen.

He is a man who clears storms and negotiates with wolves.

"Right? He is Dokja, right?"

A man who hides his companions in a brick house and confronts the scenario in a way no one could have imagined.

Yoo Sangah watched the man’s story.

—Let’s create a story that will last forever.

It would take several books to tell exactly who he is.

Yoo Sangah was not the person who could have written that book. Because the only person who could decide the contents of the book was the man himself.

Instead, Yoo Sangah was able to read the title of the book.

"Yes, he is Dokja-ssi."

"Of course. Who else would do something like that other than him? Shouldn’t we help him? If he dies like that—"

"Not now. There is no extra probability."

"Damn it, it’s all because of that sooty guy! That bastard got into a fight with Odin…"

"What happened to the Constellations in our world line? Can we contact them?"

"Yoo Sangah, there is still a situation where we can easily communicate—"

At that time, kkoma Kim Dokja, who was being held in Yoo Sangah's arms, flinched his shoulder.

At the same time, a strong probability storm began to blow beyond the screen.

Beyond the great hall that opened above the sky, a God of Another World was being summoned.

"What."

However, the expressions on the faces of the party members who confirmed the summoned 'God of Another World' were strange.

"That… That’s him, right?"

---

The storm pounded on the brick house.

Every time the wind hit the wall, it felt like the house would be uprooted.

The power of the 'God of the Other World' was stronger than I thought.

[The Constellation 'The First Pig To Die' breaks into a cold sweat.]

It looks like the Pig Constellations that are slowly supporting it are also having a hard time.

Kyung Sein asked.

"What kind of guy was summoned?"

I recalled what I said to the Wolf Constellation.

In order to overcome this situation, I asked him to 'designate summon' the 'God of Another World' that I wanted.

"I think—"

"The story is getting weaker!"

Dansu ahjussi shouted urgently.

[The voice of the story 'The Three Little Pigs' decreases.]

That couldn't have been possible.

If this story collapses, the Constellations will lose their origin story. At best, for those who are considered historical-grade, the 'origin story' is the story that determines their status. To protect their position, they will not give up until the very end.

Nevertheless, if the story has become weaker...

[The conditions for the reproduction of 'staging' are incomplete.]

Damn, there's that too.

It was staged incompletely from the beginning.

In order to fully recreate this stage, a 'youngest pig' was needed to stand against the 'wolf.'

But we just fulfilled the conditions 'The Three Little Pigs' through expedient means.

[Fragment of the story 'The Last Born' begins its storytelling.]

One is a fragment of the story of the 'youngest' Kim Dokja.

[Fragment of the story 'The man who ate eight meals a day' begins its storytelling.]

The other was a fragment of Yoo Joonghyuk's story.

"Kim Dokja."

But from earlier, little Yoo Joonghyuk's expression was strange.

"I'm hungry."

What?

[Fragment of the story 'The man who eats eight meals a day' complains of hunger.]

No, wait a minute. Is there any reason why I should be anxious about the 'stage adaptation'?

"Everyone! Food! Please bring me food!"

"Huh? Why is food suddenly—"

"Hurry! I have to feed this bastard!"

For some reason, I thought that little Yoo Joonghyuk's strength was noticeably weaker. This guy, who was supposed to eat eight meals a day, ended up like this because he couldn't eat even one meal properly.

The good news among the misfortunes is that this is an inn.

"Food! Give me food! Owner!"

Kyung Sein thanked the crane owner and quickly served the food.

Freshly boiled soup, freshly steamed sweet potatoes and potatoes. Wheat bread with jam, etc. Even at first glance, the food looked quite delicious.

I shouted to Kyung Sein.

"Feed him! Feed him eight meals at once!"

"Huh? Can I feed him like that?"

"Hurry!"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk is unable to use his hands as he is busy supplying magical power to the 'Brick House'.

Kyung Sein, who hastily made soup, took the spoon to little Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Now, aah. Do it, aah!"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk suddenly turned his head.

"I hate it."

"Huh? Why? You said you were hungry."

Kyung Sein tilted her head and smelled the soup.

"I didn’t put anything poisonous or anything! Look! Delicious food that I can eat too…"

I didn't understand.

Yoo Joonghyuk refused food.

Why?

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' speaks.]

Lately, I felt like my head was pounding.

Damn, now that I think about it, Yoo Joonghyuk had 'that kind of setting'.

Yoo Joonghyuk, frowning, looked up at me and declared.

"I don’t eat food prepared by others."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

733 Episode 28 House (11)

Ye Hyunwoo, Cha Yerin, and Dansu ahjussi, who were supplying magical power, turned to look at Yoo Joonghyuk at the same time.

The expressions on their faces asked if he was really speaking in his right mind.

Dansu ahjussi with cognitive dissonance asked.

"What did you just say…"

I could also hear Ye Hyunwoo muttering quietly.

"Ha, there was a setting like that."

Killer King, who was tied to a chair, also shook his head in admiration.

"He was the true Supreme King."

He is truly the Supreme King, and if he continues like this, the entire story will fall apart. The brick house was getting thinner in real time.

[The representation of 'staging' is weakened!]

When the「staging」collapses, the tale will stop its storytelling.

In that case, the Constellations that were forcibly tied to this stage will be able to leave the scene without any significant damage.

[Some of the Constellations in the nebula <Zodiac> are taunting you.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' makes an excited expression.]

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' is curious about your plan.]

If things continued like this, everything, whether it was a plan or not, was going to fall apart along with this brick house.

The dust and sand that fell down scattered on my face. I looked down at the fallen dirt and asked.

"Can’t you just not eat 'food' made by others?"

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at me.

"What?"

“Isn’t it enough to fill your stomach no matter what you feed it?"

"You, you can’t—"

For the first time, a feeling of fear appeared in little Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes. Anyway, I held the powder in my hand and brought it to his mouth.

"Eat, you bastard!"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk stubbornly rebelled.

My companions looked at me at the same time.

"Are you really feeding him dirt right now?"

"No, no matter how you can do that to a child—"

"As expected, Kim Dokja."

I ignored their words and forced little Yoo Joonghyuk's mouth open and let out what was in my hand. Yoo Joonghyuk's trembling neck moved.

I barely sighed and said.

"You can’t eat real dirt, right?"

Of course, it might be possible to use the [Incite] skill, but I didn't want to go that far here.

"Ah."

Cha Yerin found a small piece on my hand and let out a small exclamation. It seemed like she realized late what this was.

What I fed was fragments of stories.

More precisely, it was a part of the 'story fragment' that the 'Heir of the Eternal Name' had swallowed.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' looks dissatisfied.]

[Your lifespan decreases.]

A 'story fragment' that I managed to obtain through my earnest request.

"If it’s a story fragment, this guy could eat it too."

Yoo Joonghyuk, who has had a twisted personality since birth, has a 'set value' in which he does not eat food unless he has made it himself.

Of course, there is an exception with 'Murim dumplings', but I don't know how to make them.

So the next best option was 'story fragments'.

"Yoo Joonghyuk. Come to your senses."

This is because even Yoo Joonghyuk, who does not eat food prepared by others, has received stories from other people.

The problem is that the look in Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes when he received it was slightly bitter.

"Yoo Joonghyuk?"

If possible, I wanted to avoid doing this.

In 'Ways of Survival', it is said that Yoo Joonghyuk once received a wrong transfusion of military story from Lee Hyunsung and briefly turned around.

But for now there was no other way. I had to feed him something to fill his stomach.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' grins.]

Wait for a sec. But what is the story that Yoo Joonghyuk is obsessed with now?

Yoo Joonghyuk was trembling and his eyes were rolling. The guy just looked up at me and put his head down on the floor.

And.

"No, wait a minute."

Wack wack. Wack wack.

"Hey! Spit it out! Pick something up and eat it!"

Either way, the guy started digging up the dirt. Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes slowly returned to their senses. The guy with dirt on the corner of his mouth glared at me with wide eyes.

"You bastard, you made me suffer, right?"

The loud-mouthed Killer King answered for me.

"It’s dirt."

"I don’t eat dirt."

"No, you eat dirt. That’s Yoo Joonghyuk."

Killer King pointed to the window with his chin. Little Yoo Joonghyuk looked at his own mouth reflected in the window with blank eyes.

I tried my best to ignore the look in the eyes of little Yoo Joonghyuk.

[Story fragment 'The man who eats eight meals a day' is satisfied.]

[The conditions for 'staging' have been met.]

[The Constellation 'The First Pig To Die' screams.]

The story has been enriched once again. As the crumbling stage became solid once more, the Pig Constellations that had been preparing to step back rushed forward again.

[The Constellation 'Pig who built his house out of wood' groans.]

Cheer up, pigs. If you don’t want the story to be taken away by a wolf.

[Some Constellations in the nebula <Zodiac> are showing hostility towards you.]

The storm started to rage again.

---

I don't know how much time has passed. Have I been this exhausted since I was trapped in the ichthyosaur's stomach?

[The head of the Recycling Center admires your determination.]

The party members who were supplying magical energy were also exhausted one by one. Some people were leaning against the wall, gasping for breath or completely fainting.

I too was on the verge of losing my mind. What made me endure was the story engraved on the other side of the wall.

「A wolf howled in the storm.」

A storm came and the brick house withstood the wind. A story was created every time the wind left a scar on the wall.

「A lone wolf who lost his home asked.」

It is a new story of wolves.

「"Is that your home?"asked the lone wolf.」

「"Then where is my home?"」

The brick house did not answer.

「"If I can’t have a house."」

Then the wolf spoke.

「"I will not stop the storm until every house in the world is destroyed."」

All stories are written on the 'wall'.

Because there is a wall, events finally become 'stories' and the Constellations can safely indulge in stories.

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' is impressed by your 'hands-on-slaughter' skill.]

[Animal-shaped Constellations that are not part of the Chinese zodiac are amazed by your story.]

Yeah, feel free to take a look.

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' likes the sensibility of the wolves.]

[Some Constellations from the Chinese Zodiac are angry at your story.]

I used the characteristic of [Circulatory Conservation] to gather as much magical energy as possible to strengthen the 'Brick House'.

I wanted to make this story continue a little longer.

[The Constellation 'The First Pig To Die' screams!]

[The Constellation 'Pig That Built its House out of Wood' cries out for help!]

It was then that something snapped.

I felt my stomach turn, and a handful of blood spilled onto the floor. My head was dizzy.

The moment I raised my head to see what was going on.

[The story 'The Three Little Pigs' is destroyed.]

[Some of the Constellations corresponding to 'Pig' in the Chinese zodiac have suffered a huge blow to their true bodies!]

[The Constellation 'The Pig That Died First' exits the scenario.]

[The Constellation 'The Pig That Built its House out of Wood' exits the scenario.]

Only then did I realize what had happened.

['Staging' ends.]

The Constellations were defeated.

['The God of the Other World' roars!]

[Some of the Constellations belonging to the Nebula <Zodiac> are afraid of the 'God of the Other World'.]

Perhaps it was natural.

No matter how low the level of the 'God of the Other World' was, there was no way that a historical-grade Constellation could rush in and suppress the power of the Outer God.

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' mocks the Constellations, asking if they are just that scared.]

From now on, it was a complete gamble.

"Don’t open the door."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk spoke quietly as if he knew what I was going to do.

"If you go out, you will die."

"Even if we stay here, everyone is still going to die."

"But—"

"Do not worry."

I lightly tapped little Yoo Joonghyuk on the shoulder and then spoke.

"No one will die."

When I opened the door, the streets of Zone 13 appeared, engulfed in silence.

It was strange. It's so quiet even though a storm is raging.

Nevertheless, the pressure pressing down on my entire body was several times stronger than when I faced the 'Wolf Constellation' earlier.

It didn't take long to realize what was happening.

「Eye of the storm.」

Now our 'Brick House' was exactly in the 'center' of the storm.

Now,「Staging」cannot protect us. If the storm twists in any direction, the brick house will be torn to pieces.

"O great god of the other world."

I took a slow, deep breath and said.

"Stop the storm. Haven't you had enough of the stories?"

A new story that sprouts in the place where the story of「The Three Little Pigs」was destroyed.

[Your new story begins to germinate.]

This story will now become the story of the wolf and us.

And maybe the 'God of the Other World' who led this storm can also receive a share.

"The ending of every story is important."

'Gods of the Other World' have different levels depending on the status they have.

The ancient species that once shook the entire scenario is crowned as the 'Old One', and the dominant species that filled the entire universe with fear is crowned as the 'Great Old One'.

But whatever their original grade, they all have something in common.

"You can now go 'home'."

Deities who were excluded from the scenario and lost their Constellations bodies to stay in.

They endlessly wander around the world, looking for a place where they belong. After a long wandering, someone becomes a disaster in another world line, and someone else even colludes with Dokkaebis.

"The story can only be completed if you stop the storm here."

And someone makes an 'otherworldly covenant'.

['The God of Another World' is looking at you.]

All 'Gods of the Other World' are terribly lonely.

"It means you will have a Constellation body to stay in."

My body trembled just from him looking at me. If it was a normal incarnation, it wouldn't be strange if blood spilled from my eyes.

Still, I was able to endure it.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' yawns lightly.]

The 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is a story about defeating the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'.

In other words, I was more resistant to the gods of the other world than anyone else in this world.

In fact, the god of this world seemed perplexed when he saw me like that.

But even for a moment.

【My house disappeared a long time ago.】

The terrible storm began to move again. A force that seems to tear me to pieces at any moment.

"Four winds meet to form a direction, and four more winds are added to that direction. It forms the tomb of the eight trigrams."

I slowly closed my eyes and felt the wind blowing.

As if I had become a 'wall'.

As if the story of that wind would be engraved on my body.

I uttered the sentence with all my might, as if I was pressing down to write it.

"Thereby the wind exists everywhere and nowhere."

For an instant, the storm that had been rolling in stopped like magic.

【How do you know that enlightenment?】

Through the storm that was slowly clearing, the appearance of the God of the Other World was revealed.

I smiled as I looked at that guy's story.

"How would I know?"

It seemed like the Wolf Constellation had safely summoned the 'God of the Other World' I mentioned.

However, I was not sure that the 'God of this world' was the 'wolf' of the 'world line' I knew.

Nevertheless, just as Asmodeus came in this 41st round, and just as <Kim Dokja Company> appeared here—if that wolf also overcame the long time and finally became a 'God of Another World'.

Slowly, the wolf with wide eyes approached me.

【No way.】

If I were 'Lee Hakhyun', this gamble would have been impossible.

But now I was acting under the name of 'Kim Dokja'.

If so, there is a possibility.

[The synchronization rate with the sponsor is increasing!]

The wolf hurriedly came towards me. Looking at his height, which seems to be about three meters, his first description came to mind again.

「He is about three meters tall. He is a wind fighter with both monster-like stamina and giant-like strength.」

The wolf slowly lowered its gaze towards me. And he looked at me for a long time, as if reading the story buried in my eyes.

【P-Protector? Is it really you?】

He is the 'guide' of the destroyed planet Kronos.

The prince of Imyuntar who taught Kim Dokja the [Way of the Wind].

"It is, Lycaon Isparang."

Kim Dokja once said: It is said that those who make an 'Outer World Covenant covenant of this world' will not be able to see the true ■■.

But in the end, he too made a covenant with another world. He probably couldn't find the answer either. Because this damned world is designed so that no matter what you do, you can't reach the right ■■.

Same goes for me.

"Make an 'Outer World Covenant ' with me."

No matter how much I thought about it, this was the only way to fight against the Zodiac.

---

[Some Constellations belonging to the nebula <Zodiac> request a 'probability judgment' regarding the 'Zone 13' incident.]

[Some Constellations belonging to the nebula <Olympus> ask for your permission to enter the 'Recycling Center'.]

[Some Constellations belonging to the nebula <Vedas> ask for your permission to enter the 'Recycling Center'.]

[Some Constellations belonging to the nebula <Tamra>...]

Indirect messages from Constellations pouring in endlessly.

When the Recycling Center director waved his hand in the air as if he was annoyed, the messages scattered like a swarm of insects.

A screen appeared where the messages were scattered.

A screen showing the scenery of Zone 13.

[As you know, I like 'old stories'.]

The head of the Recycling Center smiled as he saw the incarnation and the wolf confronting each other on the screen.

[Seeing that you are moved by that story, it seems that your story has already become an 'old story'.]

As he said that, he looked back at the flask behind him.

Inside a huge flask the size of a person was a man wearing a white coat with his eyes closed.

The Recycling Center director asked, slowly placing his hand on the wall of the flask.

[How many points would you give to that story, Demon King of Salvation?]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

734 Episode 29 Recorder of Fear (1)

---

「The universe is a very large secret room. There is a wall at the end of the secret room. We have never touched that wall.」

—Recorder of Fear

---

Belonging to the planet Kronos.

Prince of the Imyuntar race and the first wolf—'Lycaon Isparang'.

This wolf, who appears as a guide in the 'fifth scenario' in the main story, was a character whose whereabouts were unknown after clashing with another guide, 'Antinus'.

"Is it really that 'Lycaon'?"

After the identity of the 'God of the Other World' was revealed, the party members expressed their surprise in different ways.

Dansu ahjussi, who could not join in on the surprise, asked hesitantly.

"Who is Lycaon?"

"You know, the guide from the 'Disaster Scenario'. The wolf from the meteorite."

"Oh, that guy… wasn't he dead?"

"There was no mention of his death. His whereabouts became unknown after that."

"Yes. That's true, but…"

Ye Hyunwoo, who was shaking his head at Killer King's words, glanced at me.

"Dokja-ssi, how did you know that 'Lycaon' had become a God of Another World?"

Indeed, I thought Ye Hyunwoo would ask. Even though he has read it less times than the other apostles, he is the most quick-witted.

Ye Hyunwoo even called me 'Dokja-ssi'. That probably means that he expects this answer to be like 'Kim Dokja'.

"I wasn't even sure. It was a gamble."

Not surprisingly, there was no additional setting or follow-up story regarding Lycaon.

There are bound to be characters whose importance decreases as the scenario progresses, and Lycaon was also a character who naturally existed in that way.

However, I did not mention Lycaon as a candidate for 'God of the Other World' without thinking.

"It just occurred to me. Perhaps among the people we know, there are individuals who have evolved into 'Outer Gods'."

Many of the 'Gods of the Other World' in the main story were left without seeing the 'end' of the scenario.

Most of them lose their ego and become 'nameless', but sometimes there are those who maintain their ego outside the scenario and increase their power by becoming Outer Gods.

For example, 'Asmodeus' who appeared in this round was of that type.

So that's what I thought.

Perhaps among the characters who are not fully described in the main story, there may be someone who has become a 'God from Another World'.

"It was a gamble with very low odds."

Ye Hyunwoo was right.

The odds were low.

However, this was the 'Recycling Center', and I thought there was a high possibility that that kind of probability would have a positive effect.

And above all.

"There were two alternatives besides Lycaon."

"Three precautions. As expected of Kim Dokja."

"Who were the other two?"

"As you know, among the gods of another world, there is another being related to 'wolves'."

As I said those words, I looked down at little Yoo Joonghyuk.

Is this because the previous battle was too much?

Or did he get sick from eating dirt? Yoo Joonghyuk was lying on the floor, completely exhausted.

I put a thin blanket over him.

"'Kkoma Yoo Joonghyuk' also appeared in the main story."

The second 'Outer God' I was going to call did not have a story related to 'wolves'.

However, there was a scene in the main story where he was compared to a 'wolf', so I thought it might be possible to call him that.

"Hmm. Do you mean 'King of the Lone Wolves'?"

"But would the 'being' respond to the summons?"

"The probability would have been low. In fact, we haven't even seen him in this Round."

The second 'Outer God' I considered was a 'Secretive Plotter'.

However, the 'Secretive Plotter' had reached his ■ ■ and crossed into a completely different world, so there was no certainty that he would respond to the call.

"Then what about the third?"

"The third is..."

I looked up at the sky. In fact, the third response probability was as low as the second.

The third one was even less related to 'wolves'.

However, this is a world where「a man who eats eight meals a day」is recognized as a 'pig'.

"Wolf ears headband. Do you remember?"

「The man wearing the wolf ears headband may also be recognized as a 'wolf'.」

Ye Hyunwoo, who was thinking about something, opened his mouth.

"Wolf ears? When they went to the amusement park in Oz…"

"Yes, that's right."

In a world where all of Kim Dokja's memories become stories, the story of going to the amusement park with Han Sooyoung would certainly survive as fragments of stories.

[A Constellation whose modifier has not yet been revealed is looking at you.]

Even if he is not a deity from another world, Kim Dokja, who possesses that 'story fragment', exists.

If Kim Dokja is a being with a modifier like the 'Demon King of Salvation'…

['Sub-scenario—The Three Little Pigs' has ended.]

At that moment, a scenario ending message appeared.

[500 recycled coins were obtained as a reward.]

[You have cleared the scenario in a way no one has tried before!]

[Your achievements will transform the very foundation of the scenario!]

[The story 'The Three Little Pigs' loses influence in the <Star Stream>.]

"Ah—"

The surrounding scenery shimmered and the night began to fade.

Only then did my companions' faces brighten one by one, as if they realized it.

The event scenario has been lifted and 'wolves' can no longer threaten us. Because the 'wolf' has just joined our side.

"If we're going to fight the <Zodiac> in the future, we'll need that guy's power."

I looked back at Lycaon, who was standing about ten steps away.

Kyung Sein asked with a slightly frightened expression.

"Is it okay? He's a God from Another World."

"There is nothing to be afraid of as a God from Another World. Even in the main story, they negotiated with a God from Another World."

From earlier, Lycaon had been muttering something at the sky.

Perhaps he is exchanging messages with the Management Bureau regarding the 'Otherworld Covenant', or perhaps he is negotiating with the 'Recycling Center'.

I sighed lightly and looked back at my companions.

"And here. These are the 'masks' we recovered earlier."

One of the main purposes of this 'scenario' was to obtain new 'masks' for the group to use.

"Ah. When did this happen—"

It was a mask obtained from previously deceased wolf incarnations.

"Are you sure you don't mind if we take it?"

When Dansu ahjussi lowered his head as if he was sorry, the other party members also lowered their heads as if they were being shamed.

Kyung Sein said in a trembling voice.

"I-I really couldn’t be of any help."

"No, you all did well."

I slowly looked back at my companions and spoke emphatically.

As the party members who recovered the masks put them on one by one, their bodies, which had been transformed, began to return to their original state.

Instead, faces that reflected the characteristics of their time as prisoners appeared on the surface of the mask.

Kyung Sein is a squirrel.

Dansu ahjussi is a turtle.

Cha Yerin is a snail.

Ye Hyunwoo is a panda.

As expected, the 'mask' seemed to reflect the user's original characteristics.

Then, why am I still thinking, 'I’m free from impunity'? Is there any animal that looks similar?

While the group was breathing a sigh of relief, Killer King, the only one among them who had not lost his mask, approached me.

"By the way, you were lucky this time. You know that."

I nodded and said,

"The 'original owner' of the story did not intervene."

The reason why this「staging」collapsed faster than expected was because the original owner of the story, the 「Pig in a Brick House」, did not help us.

If the 'Pig in a Brick House' had intervened on stage, the fight would not have ended so easily.

Of course, even if that happened, it wasn't the worst.

Even if the 'pig' won and the existing narrative was strengthened, we were fighting on the 'pig' side anyway. Even if I couldn't write a new story, I would have benefited from it in some way.

Anyway, I was curious.

Why didn't the 'Pig in a Brick House' intervene on stage? If I think about it, it was a Constellation that had been watching me from the beginning of the scenarios.

"Ah, ahhh… I know what you guys are doing!"

"We're all going to die! We're all going to die!"

After the scenario was over, the prisoners hiding under the table came out one by one.

"The other Zodiac signs will not forgive Zone 13."

"Why, why are you doing this—"

I smiled bitterly as I looked at the terrified prisoners.

Since I couldn't fill up after the first drink, I didn't have high expectations. Because people who are stuck in this scenario are afraid of change.

But not all incarnations were like that.

The crane owner was looking at me with an expression of disbelief.

"Did you say Kim Dokja…?"

Some stories are unchanging prisons.

A prison that restricts existence to a set frame, repeats the same schedule, and transforms it into mere material.

But the prisoners saw with their own eyes that the prison could be broken.

[Your new 'story' begins to influence 'Zone 13'.]

[The name of 'Kim Dokja' is starting to become known at the 'Recycling Center'!]

That's enough for now.

I stood side by side with Killer King and watched the beastmen for a moment.

"The Demon World scenario would have been similar to this."

"I guess so."

"It’s my favorite scenery."

Before we knew it, Ye Hyunwoo, who had changed his mask, came towards us.

The moment Killer King opened his mouth, his eyes widened as if he was dissatisfied with Hyunwoo standing next to him.

"Inho-ssi. But is it okay? You can continue to work under 'that name'?"

"7th Apostle. This guy is Kim Dokja—"

"I’m asking Cheon Inho now, not Dokja-ssi."

I looked into Ye Hyunwoo’s clever eyes beyond the mask.

Come to think of it, there was once a problem with Ye Hyunwoo over using the name Kim Dokja.

"Are you uncomfortable?"

"No, not really. I admit it now. Inho-ssi is the one closest to that name among us. However."

For a moment, I thought I knew what he was worried about.

The story of the <Star Stream> is more sensitive to names than anything else.

That is, if I were to impersonate Kim Dokja—

"If this continues, all the stories Inho-ssi builds will become 'Kim Dokja’s' stories."

That was a sharp point.

"It’s okay. It was intentional."

"You did that on purpose?"

Actually, I had a crucial reason why I impersonated 'Kim Dokja' when I entered the 'Recycling Center'.

[A new story begins to be recorded under the name of 'Kim Dokja'.]

Along with the message, the newly germinated power of the story floated within me.

The name hasn't been decided yet.

A story that has not been lost.

Still, is it because I am also the 'youngest Kim Dokja'? Part of the story was absorbed into me, but the rest slowly rose upward through the ceiling of the Recycling Center.

[Your story will be shared with your sponsor.]

I felt a small sense of relief as I saw the tail of the story moving away.

Thank god. He's still there.

"A similar thing happened in the demon world. Do you remember?"

"You mean when Kim Dokja impersonated Yoo Joonghyuk?"

All stories have a main character and are written around that main character.

While I am impersonating Kim Dokja, the stories I have accumulated will continue to raise Kim Dokja's status.

The created story will make Kim Dokja's name known, and people will call Kim Dokja's name.

And Kim Dokja will also hear that name.

"Wait a minute, it can’t be—"

"I thought about it for a long time. But no matter how much I thought about it, it seemed like this was the only way."

I liked this 41st round. So I hope this world line does not perish.

However, I know that if I protect this world line, other world lines may be destroyed. A much bigger disaster may occur than what happened in the main story.

But the tragedy has not yet been written and the story continues.

So I can do it.

Just what I need.

「A being who can 'reread' all the endings of this story.」

Someone who can turn my 'square circle' into reality.

"I intend to bring 'The Oldest Dream' on this world line."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

735 Episode 29 Recorder of Fear (2)

---

When they first heard my story, my companions seemed to think I was crazy.

I understand.

It might sound strange to suddenly call for 'The Oldest Dream'. So I told them again what had happened.

About the 'Demon King of Salvation' I met—and about his 'Brothers' he told me about.

"So, the story is that there may be another 'Kim Dokja' besides the 'Demon King of Salvation'."

When the smart Ye Hyunwoo stated this premise, Killer King twitched his lips and asked.

"Then how many Kim Dokjas exist?"

"It’s probably divided by modifier."

Then Kyung Sein asked in a voice that showed she could not understand.

"Why did it happen like that? Didn’t Kim Dokja come back in the end?"

"That is..."

I don't know exactly about that part either.

According to my intention, 'Kim Dokja' should have returned to the group at the end of the main story. However, something went wrong along the way, and Kim Dokja's existence was split into modifiers.

The companions put their heads together and thought hard about it.

"Then how many Kim Dokjas are there? Is there even an 'Ugly King'?"

"As expected of a guy who read it less times. That’s not a modifier. And it’s not 'ugly', it’s 'ugliest'."

"Who is the 'Prisoner of the Headband' in this world line?"

"That’s a matter worth thinking about, Yerin."

As I listened to the conversation of my companions, I also thought of Kim Dokja's modifiers in my head.

As far as I know, Kim Dokja's modifiers were a total of four.

The Demon King of Salvation.

Watcher of light and darkness.

Prisoner of the Constrictive Headband.

The Oldest Dream.

Kim Dokja obtained the modifiers through different scenarios.

'Demon King of Salvation' is from 'The 73rd Demon King', 'Watcher of Light and Darkness' is from 'Holy Demon War', and 'Prisoner of the Constrictive Headband' is from 'Journey to the West' scenario.

And the 'Oldest Dream'…

"But if it’s the 'Oldest Dream', wouldn’t he still be watching us?"

It was Dansu ahjussi who asked a very fundamental question.

"The 'Oldest Dream'... if I understand it, isn't it 'Kim Dokja, who watches over all world lines'? I think he's already watching us without even needing to call him."

It was just as ahjussi said.

Ye Hyunwoo asked me.

"Have you ever talked to the 'Oldest Dream'?"

"I already tried it."

When I signed with the 'Demon King of Salvation', I called the 'Oldest Dream'. However, the sparks around only grew stronger, and the 'Oldest dream' did not respond at all.

"Why was there no response? Could it be that the 'Oldest Dream' does not exist…?"

"If this world is the '41st Round' we know, then the 'Oldest Dream' definitely exists, because his incarnation is here."

"Oh, that's right."

The group looked down at little Yoo Joonghyuk, who was sleeping soundly.

The 'Oldest Dream' is Yoo Joonghyuk's sponsor.

So there's no way he doesn't exist.

"Now that I think about it, Yoo Joonghyuk also never received a reply from his sponsor."

If you think about it, it was similar in the main story.

Yoo Joonghyuk did not know who his sponsor was and he had never communicated properly.

That's because the 'Oldest Dream' in this story was Kim Dokja's childhood self.

There was a strong [Fourth Wall] between the two.

So, should the 'Oldest Dream' of this world also be seen as 'Kim Dokja's childhood self'?

"Have you tried any other modifiers? Like Watcher of Light and Dark—"

"I tried it, but the only one that succeeded was 'Demon King of Salvation'."

Then Ye Hyunwoo, who was thinking about something, hesitated and spoke as if confessing.

"Actually, I have tried something similar. When I had accumulated a certain amount of coins, I purchased a 'sponsorship contract' and tried to make a contract with the Demon King of Salvation…"

As expected, Ye Hyunwoo has already tried it.

Since he was still without a sponsor, it was entirely possible.

"It failed. None of Kim Dokja's modifiers, including the 'Demon King of Salvation', responded. But Inho-ssi succeeded in signing a contract with 'Demon King of Salvation'."

At those words, the eyes of my companions simultaneously turned to me.

Ye Hyuwoo continued.

"I think this way. In order to communicate with Kim Dokja in this world line, certain 'conditions' are necessary. And among us, only Inho-ssi meets those 'conditions'."

"I agree."

At this point, I was struggling to tell them that I am related to 49% Kim Dokja.

However, Ye Hyunwoo's expression was a little strange.

"It's embarrassing, but I gave up on the scenario right before Inho-ssi came."

Killer King, who intervened midway, muttered, "That wasn't me," and Cha Yerin glared at him.

Ye Hyunwoo continued his words.

"I didn't give up from the beginning. This place was full of scenarios I'd never read about in the Book of Revelation, but I thought I could do it. I thought my companions were strong enough, too. But."

I couldn't tell what kind of expression Ye Hyunwoo was making through the mask.

However, his sunken eyes vaguely hinted at the despair he must have been experiencing.

"It’s only been a month. Everything fell apart in that one month. I thought I could do half as much, if not as well as the characters in the Book of Revelation…"

I recalled the first time I met Ye Hyunwoo.

Seventh apostle with strong pride.

A reader who has read the entire novel 50 times and who analyzes and predicts the world better than anyone else.

The confidence he had back then was no longer visible in his eyes.

"After entering the center and the team with Pildu-ssi was torn apart, things got even more messy. I realized then. I really am nothing. I can't change this world just by knowing a little bit about the contents of the Book of Revelation. Even hoping to survive. It must be arrogance."

Kyung Sein, Dansu ahjussi, and even Cha Yerin silently lowered their heads and looked down at their toes.

"I felt relieved because I gave up. Maybe there was no need for me to take risks in the first place. Maybe this is my nature. Maybe it would suit me to just chew bamboo all day like a panda."

"Hyunwoo-ssi."

"Inho-ssi."

Ye Hyunwoo, re-dressed in his own panda mask, was looking at me.

"I don’t know if I can call 'The Oldest Dream' using Inho-ssi’s method or not. But even if I can’t find the 'Oldest Dream'…"

Ye Hyunwoo took a deep breath and said.

"From now on, I will call Inho-ssi 'Kim Dokja'. This world needs 'Kim Dokja'."

Cha Yerin nodded her head.

Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi also helped.

"Actually, I thought Inho-ssi resembled Kim Dokja for a long time."

"I agree."

The last person to respond was Killer King.

"That guy was Kim Dokja from the beginning."

"You finally got your wish."

At Kyung Sein’s words, the group burst into light laughter.

Ye Hyunwoo took a step towards me and said, holding out his hand.

"So, Kim Dokja, please promise me. You will definitely see the end of this world with us."

Can I become their 'Kim Dokja'?

Maybe it's the opposite.

I said, extending my hand towards him.

"Rather, I would like to ask you a favor. Please join me in creating the story of 'Kim Dokja'."

I can't do it like Kim Dokja on my own. This is possible only with these people.

The strange Killer King and the cold-hearted Cha Yerin.

Smart Ye Hyunwoo and good Dansu ahjussi. And there must be Kyung Sein.

Only with their help can we see the end of this world.

Thinking like that, I was about to hold Ye Hyunwoo’s hand.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is craving it.]

It felt like an electric current was flowing down my spine.

I reflexively withdrew my hand.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' frowns.]

'No.'

The story was desperately put to rest. Nevertheless, my story continued to shake dangerously.

A terrible hunger was coming.

[Legendary tale 'Heir of the Eternal Name' tells you not to interfere.]

The 「Heir of the Eternal Name」 noticed. That there is a 'fragment of Kim Dokja' that he likes in these readers in front of me.

The story whispered.

「There is only one that can become Kim Dokja.」

'No. These are a no-no.'

「You will regret it.」

In the end, the story stopped talking first. When I looked up, my companions were looking at me with worried expressions.

I opened my mouth to them.

"I will definitely see the ending with all of you."

---

Late afternoon.

Smoke began to rise from every chimney in Zone 13. The incarnations were making food.

Killer King stood on the roof of the brick house and watched the changes in Zone 13.

"I guess I can eat some decent food tonight."

Then Ye Hyunwoo, standing next to him, muttered.

"Yeah."

Over the past month, the two have experienced what Zone 13 is like.

For them, the night in 'Zone 13' was hell. Days of trembling in fear while waiting for the wolf harvester to arrive at any time.

But there was something different about the atmosphere tonight.

The smoke rising from the chimneys was the evidence.

The residents here do not normally cook at night. This is because lighting a fire and using a chimney itself could stimulate the wolves.

Ye Hyunwoo said.

"I’m sorry, Second Apostle."

"What."

"We couldn’t have survived the past month without you."

The person who protected the group in Zone 13 for the past month was Killer King.

If it weren't for him who became a 'wolf' himself and protected his party, his party would never have been able to survive the threat of wolves.

"And…"

Instead of speaking next, Ye Hyunwoo looked down at the empty space below the roof.

In the center of the vacant lot, Cheon Inho was standing face to face with Lycaon and talking.

Ye Hyunwoo opened his mouth.

"You know that Dokja-ssi is hiding something."

Killer King nodded his head.

"Kim Dokja is that kind of guy."

"Have you ever used [Eyes of Sin] on Dokja-ssi?"

「Eyes of Sin.」

The exclusive holy soul of Archangel 'Jophiel' who can identify evildoers.

Killer King nodded his head.

"He was bitter."

"How did it go?"

"At first, he was marked as a villain who killed more than ten people. But something was strange, so I used the stigmata once more and—"

Killer King slowly blinked and recalled his memories from that time.

The day he first met Cheon Inho.

That day, Killer King headed toward Cheon Inho.

[Eyes of Sin was activated twice in total.]

"I couldn’t see anything."

"Nothing?"

"Everything was pure white."

Although the skill ended quickly, Killer King saw the scene clearly. A distant and barren white snowy field spread around Cheon Inho.

"What does that mean? A villain or—"

"I do not know either."

The wind blew intermittently from the open space below the roof.

Cheon Inho was waving his hands in the air as if he was learning the tricks of [The Way of the Wind].

Lycaon was also seen touching his forehead as if something was not going well.

"I guess Kim Dokja is right."

"I guess so."

The two people laughed. As the light laughter dispersed with the wind, Killer King asked this time.

"Are you going to be okay?"

"What?"

"I won’t ask twice."

Ye Hyunwoo smiled bitterly at Killer King’s question.

"There’s nothing to do about whether it’s okay or not. In the first place, I’m the kind of person who can’t play the role of Kim Dokja."

"Not everyone needs to be Kim Dokja. You just have to do what you’re good at. Like me."

Killer King said those last words and jumped down to the roof.

After a while, a loud noise was heard from the vacant lot. Surprisingly, the wind was moving, albeit faintly, at Killer King's fingertips.

Lycaon's small wind elasticity.

Ye Hyunwoo muttered as he looked at Killer King, who was smiling meaningfully.

"You look a little like Yoo Joonghyuk."

Ye Hyunwoo thought that maybe that was why he was so angry.

If that guy was Yoo Joonghyuk, he should have been Kim Dokja more than anyone else.

He should have stood next to the guy, defeated the enemies, compensated for the guy's mistakes, and cleared the scenario confidently.

But he hasn't been able to fulfill that role for the past month.

It was someone else who took on the role of Kim Dokja.

He had similar thoughts during the 'emergency defensive battle' in Chungmuro and when he faced the 'absolute throne' in Gwanghwamun.

He just didn't admit it.

However, as he watched him stage the 'brick house', open the door, and go through the storm, Ye Hyunwoo couldn’t help but admit it.

Kim Dokja of this world is that person.

Above that detached confidence, only one question remained.

So what am I in this world?

"I…"

The moment he unconsciously opened his mouth, a star in the sky looked down at him.

The star, with its extremely ominous light, was asking him.

"Do you want to become the 'real Kim Dokja'?"

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

736 Episode 29 Recorder of Fear (3)

From the next day, the party participated in the scenario again.

"As expected, wearing a mask makes me feel at ease."

Dansu ahjussi also nodded at Kyung Sein’s words.

"It feels like I was naked and then put on clothes."

I may be wondering how they could feel that way when they only wore a mask, but after actually wearing a mask, the attitudes of my companions changed significantly.

[The character 'Kyung Sein' regains confidence.]

I also felt fortunate that I was wearing a mask. Because I wasn't confident in hiding my expression.

I slowly turned my head and looked at Dansu ahjussi.

[Character information regarding the character 'Lee Dansu' is being updated.]

A cold sensation clung to my spine. I once received a message in Gwanghwamun that Ye Hyunwoo had become a 'character'.

However, following Kyung Sein, now there is even Dansu ahjussi.

What are the standards for 'alternative characterization'? What is the difference between a 'character' and a person who is not a 'character'?

Cha Yerin said.

"Hide in a small story to avoid being eaten by a huge story."

"Yes?"

"There are stories that can only be seen objectively if they are hidden."

A bit late, I realized that it was a story about 'masks'.

I could see prisoners bustling around outside the window.

It was easy to read the facial expressions of all the maskless beastmen. Happy, sad, angry or tired faces.

Now that they have become part of the Recycling Center, they can only make facial expressions enforced by 'Zone 13'.

Kyung Sein muttered as if she was impressed.

"They said everything in the <Star Stream> is a story."

This 'mask' is the minimum narrative that can protect us.

The Recycling Center was informing us now. In order not to be swept away by the big story, you have to keep your own story straight.

Just like Kim Dokja once did.

[You understand the essence of the 'Recycling Center'.]

[Main scenario updated!]

The main scenario was updated as if it had been waiting for it.

I immediately checked the message.

<Main Scenario #8 – Zone 13>

Category: Main

Difficulty: S+

Clear conditions: Unite the beastmen of Zone 13 and challenge the throne of the <Zodiac>.

Time limit: 60 days

Reward: Obtain a ticket to attend the Chinese Zodiac Banquet, choose between 300,000 coins or 50,000 recycled coins and obtain the story fragment 'Understanding of the Unemployed'.

Failure: —

* There are 'additional clear conditions' in this scenario.

Kyung Sein, who had confirmed the reward, opened her mouth with joy.

"Zodiac Banquet? Isn’t this something like the 'Constellation Banquet'? I really enjoyed the 'Constellation Banquet' episode."

"Can we see Uriel and Jecheon Castle?"

"This is in the name of the zodiac, so I think only people from the zodiac will come."

Chinese zodiac Banquet.

It was the very event that 'The Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' once mentioned.

I didn't know that it was an event that occurred at the 'Recycling Center'.

If you think about it, this round's <Zodiac> was a bit unusual. Originally, the Constellation of the <Zodiac> was not a group with proper solidarity.

However, in this round, it even has a scenario through a stage called 'Recycling Center'.

In a situation where I don't know what kind of <Zodiac> I will face in the future, the reward for conquering this scenario was quite fascinating.

「'Understanding the Unemployed' is a story fragment that must be acquired in order to confront the <Zodiac>.」

A story fragment that is mentioned in Yoo Joonghyuk's recollection in 'Ways of Survival'.

I must clear this scenario at all costs.

The problem is the clear conditions.

[Check additional clear conditions.]

—You must secure the support of prisoners to challenge the 'unification of Zone 13'.

—When more than 80% of the population supports you, you will be elected as the 'representative' of Zone 13.

—When elected as a district representative, you can form a committee responsible for Zone 13.

[Currently, 9% of prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

"Have you all checked the additional clear conditions?"

In response to Ye Hyunwoo’s question, the group members nodded one by one.

"Should we each tell our approval ratings? It says 3 percent."

"I’m… zero percent."

"It’s one percent."

As Kyung Seun and Dansu ahjussi spoke, Cha Yerin also opened her mouth.

"Two percent."

The last answer was Killer King, who was smiling meaningfully.

"5%. Kim Dokja, what percentage do you have?"

"Nine percent."

Ye Hyunwoo nodded his head.

"The representative will be Dokja-ssi."

---

After 「The Three Little Pigs」, the inn's crane owner changed his attitude towards us. Not only did he not charge us for meals, he even changed our accommodations.

"I don't have anything in particular to wish for."

That's what he said, but the crane owner seemed like he wanted to tell us something every time he saw us.

"If there's anything you want to ask for, please let me know anytime."

The crane owner said with a bitter smile.

"I think you are very brave. Just don't be too disappointed if not everyone is as brave as you."

At his unexpected honesty, I hesitated for a moment and then added.

"It's okay. That's…"

"It was truly an amazing sight when you slaughtered the pig. I'm sure some beastmen were impressed by your performance. There were also others whose hearts were boiling. But."

After a short pause, the owner continued his words.

"Not everyone can do that. The beastmen here will be more afraid of you when they see you."

I didn't understand it at first, but when I thought about it carefully, it made sense.

"Are they afraid of change?"

"It's similar."

"But they can't live like this forever, right? Even with 'The Three Little Pigs'—"

"The prisoners stayed here too long."

They stayed too long.

It was a bit of a feeling of déjà vu.

Was it the demon world? Or was it paradise?

I think Kim Dokja also heard something similar somewhere.

"Not everyone wants to have their own 'mask'."

The owner's voice conveys a strange sense of fatigue. A thought suddenly occurred to me.

Maybe the beastmen here are not afraid of the Zodiac.

Having a mask means building your own story.

They are now afraid of taking responsibility for their own stories.

After quickly devouring the omelet rice made by the chef, I went out to the vacant lot and checked the stories I had accumulated so far one by one.

[A new story is germinating within you.]

Excluding the 'Persistent Murim Master' obtained from Dragon Head Ark, there were a total of four stories that I accumulated on my own.

「Recorder of things that will disappear obtained at Seoul Station.」

「Heir to the Eternal Name obtained after defeating the Deity of the Other World together with Han Sooyoung.」

And 「The One Who Rewrites Fate」 obtained by dealing with the giant nebulae with the Demon King of Salvation.

Lastly, the new story I will get this time.

Since the sponsor contract has already been completed, completing five stories won't suddenly make me a Constellation, but I felt that I had built up stories quite steadily, even compared to Kim Dokja in the main story.

[A new story awaits your new achievements.]

[Additional achievements are required to fully blossom the story.]

It was a message I had never heard before, but it wasn't a bad situation.

Rather good.

The longer it takes for blossoming to occur, the higher the level of the story I obtain. If high-level stories are successfully developed, the name of 'Kim Dokja' will become even more widespread.

[A few Constellations in the nebula <Zodiac> are showing hostility towards you.]

As if they knew that fact, the Constellations of the Chinese zodiac seemed to be keeping me in check.

However, there were no Constellations directly interfering with Zone 13.

I know why they are hesitant to intervene.

【Student.】

It's because of this wolf.

【That’s not how you do it.】

A god from another world who defeated the pig Constellations that activated「Staging」.

Since yesterday, I have been learning [The Way of the Wind] from him.

【I'll show you again.】

「Way of the Wind was Kim Dokja’s main skill.」

Kim Dokja also had a hard time learning this skill.

【I don't understand why you can't do this.】

"Hmm, maybe it’s because I don’t have a charm?"

Originally, [Way of the Wind ] was a skill that only incarnations with the 'Imyuntar Charm' could learn.

However, I have no luck as I did not participate in the 'disaster scenario'.

【Since I am no longer the 'guide' of the scenario, I can teach [Way of the Wind] regardless of whether the charm exists or not.】

"The use of skills is blocked in Zone 13. Maybe that's why I can't learn it—"

【That's why it's being taught in the form of story fragments. Skills are stereotypical surnames, and surnames are refined tales. In other words, if you know how to handle stories, you can use [Way of the Wind] without activating the skill.】

"Okay."

Yes. I am a talentless piece of trash.

【I'll show you again, so follow along carefully.】

Lycaon blinked slowly and took a deep breath.

【A gale in my left hand, a storm in my right hand. Where straight lines and curves collide, the path of the wind will open.】

The fierce wind split before my eyes, truly opening the [Way of the Wind].

Once again, I was amazed.

That's the original [Way of the Wind].

It feels different from what the Demon King of Salvation used.

【Now, try following along. A gale in my left hand.】

I hesitantly followed Lycaon.

"Gale in the left hand."

【Crung! Bigger! A storm in my right hand.】

"In my right hand... a storm!"

【Where straight lines and curves collide, the path of the wind will open! Shout out with some confidence!】

The only people who are okay with reciting lines like this are probably Kim Namwoon or Yoo Joonghyuk. The former is that kind of guy, and the latter is a cool guy no matter what he says.

As neither of the two, I had to mumble like a small octopus.

"Where straight lines and curves collide, the path of the wind will open..."

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' likes 'Way of the Wind'.]

Naturally, [Way of the Wind] was not opened.

Lycaon looked at me blankly and asked.

【Why can’t you do it? I told you everything. again! A gale in your left hand!】

Finally, I couldn't bear it anymore and answered.

"That’s just shouting out words like that."

【No. It is important to understand this 'enlightenment'.】

What kind of enlightenment is there?

【You must understand the meaning contained in the story.】

No, I mean, in a gale and storm, what great meaning does it have?

【Look at them.】

Lycaon pointed to the group of people who, like me, were practicing [Way of the Wind] in an open space about a dozen steps away.

The first person that caught my eye was Cha Yerin.

"Left hand. Gale. Right hand. Storm."

The energy of the wind was rushing from both her hands as she freely chanted the spell.

Although it was not as grand as Lycaon's, it was definitely the [Way of the Wind].

【Incredible! Oh, she is a very outstanding incarnation. She truly understands the nature of the wind.】

For reference, it only took 30 minutes for Cha Yerin to learn [Way of the Wind].

I was curious about the secret and asked, and Cha Yerin answered as follows.

"I just… just did it and it worked."

There are just geniuses in this world.

I gave up trying to figure out the secret and looked back at the other group members.

The man who had been repeatedly clenching and unclenching his fist in a corner from earlier said with a light sigh.

"As I get older, it's not easy to learn new things."

For your reference, Dansu ahjussi succeeded in learning [Way of the Wind] in five hours.

Kyung Sein, who was practicing [Way of the Wind] next to him, also added a word.

"You have too much humility. You learned an hour faster than me…"

"Hmm, that's what Kim Dokja said. In this world, age and gender don't matter."

"Wow, you remember that too."

"I actually have a good memory."

I doubt whether that person is really Dansu ahjussi who mistook Sneaky Schemer for Secretive Plotter.

"Anyway, Hyunwoo is late."

"He went out scouting to test the Way of the Wind, so why not come back around evening?"

Ye Hyunwoo, who had mastered [Way of the Wind] early on, was also flying around Zone 13.

For reference, it took 3 hours for Ye Hyunwoo to get his first wind.

Among the group, he had the second best score after Cha Yerin.

"Kim Dokja, could it be that you still haven’t mastered [Way of the Wind]?"

I grinned at Killer King, who was approaching me sloppily. I never thought the day would come when I would be happy to see that face.

"Killer King-ssi, didn’t you learn it too?"

"What nonsense? I mastered it right away."

Killer King, with a confident expression on his face, spread his hands wide and shouted loudly.

"A gale in my left hand! A storm in my right hand!"

When I thought about it, there were people other than Kim Namwoon and Yoo Joonghyuk who could confidently shout that spell.

"…The way of the wind will open!"

I felt a slight wind moving along with the spell.

I asked while looking at Killer King.

"Isn’t that just clapping your hands quickly?"

"The training stops at this point, I have learned everything about [Way of the Wind]."

No matter how you looked at it, it was the back of a person who had given up and was running away. Lycaon, who was watching Killer King from afar, muttered in admiration.

【It was successful.】

"That was a success?"

【It's faint, but I can feel the texture of the wind. You really are a great hard worker. That's impressive. But No matter how I look at it, I don't think you understand the gist of 'Way of the Wind' at all...】

Suddenly, I became the only person who couldn't learn [Way of the Wind].

Still, I didn't feel too bad.

I saw the group of people lined up laughing and talking, and then I saw little Yoo Joonghyuk sleeping leisurely on the bench.

Behind them stood our little brick house. Although it wasn't as big of a house as Kim Dokja Company wanted to live in, it was still our first house.

【Student.】

"Yes."

【Even if you are reincarnated, you are still the same.】

Shortly after being summoned, Lycaon realized that I was the reincarnation of Kim Dokja.

It was natural.

Because he is a 'god from another world'.

Lycaon must have quickly realized that the story I had was different from the 'Kim Dokja' he remembered.

Nevertheless, Lycaon did not change his attitude toward me. Even though he didn't have a 'favorite friend' and couldn't recall any memories with him, he still treated me as the 'Kim Dokja' he knew.

Perhaps it was not me, but his courtesy to the story left behind by the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

"I'm sorry. I thought it would be easy this time since I learned it in my previous life, but I guess I'm not talented."

Lycaon looked at me with strange eyes.

An expression that seems sympathetic, lonely, or quietly observing.

【Even in your previous life, student never learned any skills. Even though you've used it before.】

"Well... I did."

I also want to steal it, but damn, I don't have [bookmark].

【Does student know why he can't learn [Way of the Wind]?】

"Hmm."

I thought of a sentence about [Way of the Wind] in my head.

「'When one wind meets another wind, it forms Taegeuk, and when one wind meets another wind, it forms yin and yang.'」

It is explained in 'Ways of Survival', and [Way of the Wind] read again by Kim Dokja.

"'Four winds meet to form a direction, and then four more winds are added to form the Myo of the Eight Trigrams. As a result, the wind exists everywhere and nowhere.'"

I remembered every single sentence about it.

Maybe that's where the problem lies.

【You are a being that cannot understand [Way of the Wind]. To be more precise—】

Some understanding comes only when you let go of what you know.

But I can't do that.

【It seems that [Way of the Wind] has already been 'recorded' in you.】

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

737 Episode 29 Recorder of Fear (4)

「For me, [Way of the Wind] has already been recorded.」

I wondered what that meant.

Since I am also a part of Kim Dokja, does this mean that Kim Dokja's story is sleeping within me?

Kim Dokja had no talent for anything else, but he had a talent for storytelling.

Even when the 'Demon King of Salvation' descended on me, he used that talent to fight.

Then why can’t I use [Way of the Wind]?

Several hypotheses came to mind, but the most reliable way to verify them was to ask the person making the statement directly.

"What does that mean?"

Lycaon, who had been groaning, slowly opened his mouth.

**【■■■ ■…】

A strong spark flew out along with the sound of Tsutsutsu. Lycaon frowned.

Is this filtering as expected? I wondered when information I couldn't hear would come out.

Perhaps it is related to the end of this world line. I don’t know how Lycaon knows that information, but…

Lycaon thought for a moment and said this.

【Student. It is reading records that have not yet been written. I could tell you, but now is not the time.】

To put it simply, it goes against probability.

【As you know, the very fact that I am here now is against probability.】

Not yet now. In the sky, the Constellations of the Chinese zodiac were gathering together to hold a contest.

[Some Constellations belonging to the Nebula <Zodiac> are asking why that wolf does not return to the other world.]

[Some Constellations from the Nebula <Zodiac> request a 'probability suitability judgment'.]

[Some of the Constellations of the Nebula <Zodiac> question whether it makes sense for an 'Outer God' to intervene in the scenario.]

[The Bureau is currently reviewing the matter.]

System messages emerging in real time.

But I wasn't particularly shaken or embarrassed.

[The Dokkaebi 'Bihyung' admits that the existence of the Outer God is probable.]

[Some Constellations in the Nebula <Zodiac> question whether that makes sense.]

[The Management Bureau certifies that there is no problem in the matter.]

This was because Lycaon’s current existence did not conflict with the probability of <Star Stream>.

[A few Constellations in the Nebula <Zodiac> are puzzled by the Management Bureau's judgment.]

It must be embarrassing for the Constellations.

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' is observing you with curious eyes.]

If you think about common sense, their decision was right. Regardless of the status of the 'God of the Other World', it was improbable that the 'God of the Other World' existed in only the eighth scenario.

But they won't know.

What kind of 'covenant' did Lycaon and I make?

[You have currently entered into an Outer World covenant with the 'Lost Guide'.]

A lost guide.

That was the pseudonym of 'Lycaon Isparang', who became the god of another world.

[The 'Otherworld Covenant' you currently have with the 'Lost Guide' is as follows.]

* The 'Lost Guide', a deity from another world, stays in 'Zone 13' of the Recycling Center for a total of 30 days based on the 'lower floor of the Recycling Center'.

* During the residency period, the 'Lost Guide' will not directly interfere with the scenario.

* The 'Lost Guide' will not protect you during your residency.

* While the 'Lost Guide' resides in the area, you must supply him with the story of「The Three Little Pigs」in return.

* The 'Lost Guide' can teach you and your companions [Way of the Wind] during your stay.

* Even if you do not master [Way of the Wind], the 'Lost Guide' does not take any responsibility for this.

This was the entire 'Otherworld Covenant' I made with Lycaon.

The summary of the contract was as follows.

「For the next 30 days, Lycaon will exist as a 'wind doll' next to me.」

Aside from being able to teach me the [Way of the Wind], he can't help me at all, and he doesn't even protect me when the Constellations attack.

In fact, at the time of signing the contract, Lycaon asked this question.

—Student… Are you really a fanatic?

I answered with a grin.

"Anyway, it would be impossible to conclude a contract with other details."

Around the eighth scenario, I started to see something.

There are limits to the 'otherworldly covenant' that can be made in a scenario of this scale.

—Student will gain nothing by proceeding with this covenant. Considering student's talent, even learning the [Way of the Wind] is not guaranteed...

"It is a condition that was intentionally put in place. The more unfavorable the terms of the covenant are, the higher the probability that it will not go against probability."

If you just read the contents, I really could have gained nothing from this covenant and ended up only losing my stake in the story.

But it wasn't really that bad.

"Instead, this condition must never be made known to the Constellations."

Because that was the core of this 'otherworldly covenant'.

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' realizes your trick and is amazed.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon of the Abyss' asks what is going on.]

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' says it's not fun to say that.]

It seems like Waryong noticed, but it doesn't matter.

They can visit the 'Recycling Center' because 'dragon' is included in their modifier, but they will not interfere with the work of the <Zodiac>.

[Some Constellations from the Nebula <Zodiac> are targeting the 'Lost Guide'.]

Lycaon, who had been silently receiving the Constellations' gaze, opened his mouth as if he belatedly realized something.

【Student is still the same even if you are reincarnated. You are truly an exceptionally cowardly person.】

"I often hear compliments like that."

My strategy is simple.

「Put up a ‘wind doll’ next to me, but don’t let anyone know it’s a 'wind doll'.」

【The covenant could have failed. Weren’t you afraid?】

Even if it was an 'otherworldly covenant' with unfavorable conditions, if the Dokkaebi in charge was a guy like 'Paul', my plan could have gone wrong.

"I thought it wouldn’t fail."

I knew right away that it was a local Dokkaebi. And above all, this scenario area was the 'Recycling Center'.

[The 'Recycling Center Director' is interested in your scheme.]

Since the name was 'Recycling Center', I believed that the center director would not abandon the 'God of the Other World'. Because the gods of the other world are the ones who need 'recycling' more than any other material in this universe.

[Some Constellations belonging to the Nebula <Zodiac> disobey the management’s judgment…]

It may seem noisy on the outside, but the cowardly Constellations of the Chinese zodiac will not be able to interfere with Zone 13 for 30 days.

The group who had been practicing [Way of the Wind] returned to their lodgings one by one, and the sun began to set in Zone 13.

I opened my mouth as I noticed that the Constellations from the Chinese Zodiac, who were venting their anger in the dark sky, were disappearing one by one.

"Lycaon. Let’s talk about the past for a moment."

I thought it was time to bring up that story.

I was curious about other things, too, but I also wanted to know what happened to Lycaon.

As far as I know, Lycaon went missing around the time the 'Disasters of Floods' descended.

But how was it possible for Lycaon to become a 'God From Another World' and descend to this world line?

【That...】

If we figure out how he did that, we might be able to get clues about other enemies that exist in this world line.

"Is that also a record that hasn’t been written yet?"

Lycaon seemed to think about it for a moment, but then he opened his mouth.

【It's not a very interesting record, but if you don't mind.】

---

The story returns to the 'Disaster Scenario', the fifth scenario of the 1,864th round.

At that time, Lycaon was swept away by the explosion of the 'Disaster of Questions' while fighting with Antinus, the 'Queen of the Parasites', another guide.

Lycaon, who lost consciousness, was mentally controlled by Antinus and was liberated after meeting Lee Gilyoung.

「"This is the first time I've seen a bug like you! "」

After 'Antinus' was eliminated by Lee Gilyoung, Lycaon's body began to die.

「The 'Guide' cannot bear the power of a disaster.」

It was due to the aftereffects of the explosion of the 'catastrophe meteorite'. The durability of his body had reached its limit, but Lycaon struggled to survive somehow.

「Your tale responds to your will.」

As a result, Lycaon entered a new evolution. He had succeeded in taking a leap forward from being a '5th grade alien species'.

「The new skill 'Restorative Predation' has been acquired.」

[Restorative Predation, which eats the bodies of other monster species and revitalizes their incarnation bodies.]

Just then, the 'Flood Disaster' began and the [Monster Gate] opened, and he was able to survive by eating the bodies of dead monsters.

However, the wounds received from the 'disaster' were not easily healed.

【When I fully recovered, student had already entered the ninth scenario area.】

Ninth scenario, 'Dark Castle'.

【I also followed student into the Dark Castle.】

"You were in the Dark Castle?"

【Yes.】

However, nowhere in 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 was there any information that Lycaon was there.

Did Han Sooyoung omit that information?

【I only had a chance to meet student once...】

"When?"

【When student fought the 'Dream Eater', student couldn't see me, but I saw student.】

Memories came to mind again and again.

The Dark Castle's 2nd floor. To save his mother Lee Sookyung, Kim Dokja fought alongside Yoo Joonghyuk against the 'Dream Eater'.

【Even now, the student of those days is vivid in my eyes.】

Lycaon's eyes twinkled dimly.

【Some stories, regardless of their level, sometimes captivate your being just by watching them. If you are someone like me who doesn't have your own ■■, you are even more vulnerable to it.】

Under the dazzling light of the mortal stars, Lycaon made a decision.

【I thought that since student gave me enlightenment, I should also repay my debt.】

"Wait a minute, no way."

【Yes. When student was swallowed up by the 'Dream Eater', I also entered into it.】

"Did you meet Kim Dokja there?"

【No, unfortunately I couldn't meet student. This is because the 'Dream Eater's' stomach was too wide.】

The 'Dream Eater' is a powerful deity from another world.

Its stomach was so large that it was located outside of outer space.

So, it was not strange that Lycaon and Kim Dokja could not meet.

"But the 'Dream Eater' would have died in the end. No, not exactly—"

If I remember correctly, the 'Dream Eater' is eventually absorbed into the [Fourth Wall] and becomes a librarian at the library.

However, Lycaon was inside the stomach of such a 'Dream Eater'.

【Yes. That was the problem. That's where the story gets a little complicated. I was trapped in the stomach of the 'Dream Eater' who was eaten by the [Fourth Wall].】

"No, what…"

It was harsh. While trying to save Kim Dokja, he got trapped in the stomach of an Outer God.

【I was trapped inside for a very long time.】

"…Sorry."

【I don't know why you're apologizing, but it wasn't a very bad time. I was able to watch your story through the tales read by the 'Dream Eater'.】

Only then did I understand.

The reason why he knows the story of Kim Dokja that he could never know.

"How long have you been there?"

【Until student saw the '■■' of everything.】

"Then after that…"

【The 'Dream Eater' realized my existence too late and released me.】

When he was released, the world line's scenarios had ended.

The bureau collapsed and the story that bound him disappeared.

He, who had been the 'guide' of the scenario, was no longer given a role. And the fate of those who lost their role in this world was determined.

【It was an empty but common ending.】

Most beings in this world die without even finding out what their ■■ is, let alone reaching it.

Lycaon suffered the same fate.

【If only I hadn't met that being.】

There was someone who took care of the dying Lycaon.

He exists outside of the scenarios.

「Like the 'Oldest Dream'.」

There Lycaon met one of the 'Great Old Ones'.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

738 Episode 29 Recorder of Fear (5)

Great Old One.

There were names that came to mind the moment I heard them.

"Who was it?"

The 'Great Old Ones' are probably the highest level 'Gods of the Other World' or those who are considered the kings of the 'Gods of the Other World'.

'Secretive Plotter' was an example—or the incarnations who saw the end of the world in the 999th Round.

However, at the end of the 1,864th Round, the 'Secret Plotter' and the 999th Round's gods met the 'Oldest Dream' and disappeared after ■■.

There is no reason to come back to save Lycaon.

So, apart from them, are there more 'Great Old Ones'?

【Student, I can't talk about it carelessly.】

I thought so.

I asked back while roughly predicting the reason.

"Why?"

【When I utter that name, the 'Great Old One' will also recognize you.】

In this world, a name is a coordinate.

There was a similar reason why it was considered taboo to call someone by their true name.

"Still, if I want to hear it?"

【Sorry.】

"Is even a hint difficult?"

【Yes, sorry.】

I shook my head to show that it was okay.

In fact, the stories I heard from Lycaon so far were quite high-quality information. In particular, the story about the 1,864th round is not strange even if it is filtered along the way.

Nevertheless, the fact that no filtering occurred proves two facts.

First, in this world line, the 'scenario progression speed' is that fast.

Two, there are people other than me who are curious about this story right now.

[The 'Recycling Center Director' listens to your story with interest.]

"What is certain is that the 'Great Old One' has brought you back to life. So what is his mission for you?"

I thought this could also be a secret, but unexpectedly Lycaon answered obediently.

【Collecting 'records' of twisted world lines.】

'Twisted World Line' and 'Record'.

The moment I heard those two words, something came to mind.

Lycaon made eye contact with me and slowly nodded.

【In the world, people like me are called 'Recorders of Fear'. I am the lowest among them.】

Recorder of Fear.

I knew we would meet at least one, but I never thought it would be 'Lycaon'.

There was more than one thing I wanted to ask.

What exactly do 'Recorders of Fear' do?

What do you know about this world line?

Does the 'twisted world line' he is talking about refer to this round?

Why are you still active after everything ■■ is over…?

【Student.】

Lycaon looked at me for a moment as if he understood all my questions, and then closed his eyes.

【Sorry, but I will sleep a little.】

"Yes?"

【I guess I said too much.】

Since when did the concentration of sparks floating around Lycaon become thicker?

The 'otherworldly covenant' that Lycaon made with me is to exist in Zone 13 for 30 days.

In other words, Lycaon had no right to answer my questions.

In such a situation, the probability was about to become dangerous because he was telling me stories about other world lines.

Just before closing his eyes, Lycaon added.

【Be careful, student. This world line is one of the 'unknown beginnings'.】

It was a voice filled with gentle concern.

【Many 'Old Beings' are watching your choices. According to your choice—】

Pushushushu, I heard the sound of wind falling from somewhere. At the same time, Lycaon's body rapidly became smaller. Eventually Lycaon, who had grown to the size of a dog, sat cross-legged and closed his eyes. He seemed to have entered a temporary state of probability conservation.

[The 'Recycling Center Director' looks disappointed.]

I was equally disappointed, but it would have been difficult if Lycaon had been canceled here.

This is because Lycaon’s presence is absolutely necessary for this scenario to go according to my plan.

In any case, I also found out that Lycaon was a 'Recorder of Fear', so it was not without gains.

To soothe my worries, I began practicing the [Way of the Wind] taught by Lycaon again.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is starving.]

[Currently, you have 9 days left to live.]

There is still time.

---

The next day, and the day after that.

My companions and I continued to practice [Way of the Wind].

But no matter how much I practiced, the wind did not come out of my hands.

「It seems that [Way of the Wind] has already been recorded in student.」

What did Lycaon mean by those words?

If [Way of the Wind] is recorded in me, why can't I use this power?

"You’re so eager."

It was the voice of little Yoo Joonghyuk. He was in a state of fainting right after「The Three Little Pigs」, but it seemed like he had finally woken up from a long sleep.

"Are you awake?"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk nodded and slowly approached me.

Looking closely, it seems a bit difficult to call him a 'kid' now. Perhaps it was because he had grown taller while he was sleeping, but Yoo Joonghyuk had become a full-fledged boy.

I never thought I would be watching Yoo Joonghyuk's growth process in real time.

"I had a strange dream."

As he said those words, the boy Yoo Joonghyuk wiped his mouth. When I saw the crumbling dirt, something occurred to me later.

「"You bastard, you made me suffer, right?"」

Boy, did you really decide to believe it was a dream?

While it was absurd, I also thought it was a good thing. If Yoo Joonghyuk grows up to be an adult with memories of eating dirt, my life will be in danger.

"[Way of the Wind] isn't like that."

"Yeah. I've heard this a lot already."

Yoo Joonghyuk, standing next to me while I was grumbling, wiggled his small hands and tried to do something.

"Do it like this."

A refreshing breeze blew from the boy's fingertips.

It was definitely [Way of the Wind].

This [Way of the Wind] is different from Lycaon's wind and the wind of the Demon King of Salvation.

I smiled bitterly as I looked across the strangely lonely and dreary path of wind.

After all, the main character is the main character.

By the 41st round, is it possible to lightly imitate fragments of these stories?

"Unfortunately, I don’t have any talent."

"I saw you communicating with fragments of the Brick House’s story. This technique is the same. You just have to read the wind like you would understand a brick house."

It's easy to say, but a brick house and wind are different.

The boy, Yoo Joonghyuk, added as if he could read my thoughts.

"The shape of 'wind' that people think of is different. It is important to specify the wind you believe in."

The 'wind' I believe in.

I imagined the image of the wind in my head. Still, I once lived with the title of writer, but the image of wind rarely came to mind.

"I will teach you special enlightenment. In my left hand, I hold a gale—"

"A storm in your right hand. That’s not enlightenment."

"You already knew."

"I can tell you more?"

I recited the [Way of the Wind] spells I knew.

The boy Yoo Joonghyuk's expression changed every moment. At first he seemed surprised, then he showed interest, and at the end he had a sad look in his eyes.

"I see. You know too much."

"Isn’t the more you know the better?"

"You don’t need to know that much."

"Yes, people who can learn everything easily don’t need to know much—"

"I don’t learn everything easily either."

"You can use [Transmission], right?"

「Transmission. With that special skill, Yoo Joonghyuk has endured the world of Ways of Survival, inheriting the abilities of 'last round' several times.」

Yoo Joonghyuk seemed a little surprised that I knew that, but then he shook his head and said,

"[Transmission] just changes the starting point slightly."

It was indeed a remark like being born with a silver spoon in your mouth.

"You don’t realize that having a different starting point from others is a huge benefit."

"It’s probably true the first time. But as the number of rounds increases, it becomes more difficult to catch up with the Constellations."

"That can’t be right."

It was something I didn't understand.

Accumulating rounds means that the total amount of accumulated experience increases. You will learn more about how to become stronger, and you will naturally realize the shortcuts to reaching a certain level.

But as the rounds accumulate, it becomes more difficult to catch up with the Constellations?

"Do you know about the 'Transcendental Sea'?"

"A 'ladder' that mortals can choose to ascend to stars and power."

Yoo Joonghyuk nodded his head.

"The first step to transcendence is to go beyond the limits of the body."

I know.

Reach 100 overall abilities and overcome your physical limitations.

"The second process is 'training all skills to their limit'."

"That’s right. As expected, you know a lot."

"It’s just a matter of knowing."

If it seemed like everyone could transcend, the world would be overflowing with Transcendents.

Yoo Joonghyuk opened his mouth again.

"And the final step is—"

"Forget everything you’ve built up and find your own path."

Forgetting skills, forgetting levels.

Forgetting the numerous 'universal' paths presented by the system and finding your own story.

That was the methodology of 'transcendence' defined by the Breaking the Sky Swordsman.

However, her disciple seemed to have annotations to add to this methodology.

"The final process of transcendence is special, because the 'transcendence' process of finding one’s own story requires enlightenment every time."

"Isn’t it easy for you? Because you have an insight from before."

"It seems you don’t know what enlightenment is."

If you think about it, there is a reason why 'enlightenment' is 'enlightenment'. It is enlightenment because you gain insight into something you did not know before.

"It is impossible to transcend twice with one enlightenment."

It was a worry that other Transcendents did not need to worry about. Because they don't regress.

But Yoo Joonghyuk is different.

Yoo Joonghyuk, whose level is reset at the start of each round, had to gain new enlightenment and reach 'transcendence' each time.

"It's not difficult at first. Once, twice, three times. You can gain as much new enlightenment as you want. But ten, twenty times, when the realizations start to accumulate, the problem becomes complicated."

Now that I think about it, Yoo Joonghyuk in 'Ways of Survival' did not always transcend at the same time.

There were times when he transcended a little early or a little late.

Could it be that it was because of this?

"If enlightenment accumulates more than 1,800 times, transcendence will become almost impossible."

"What nonsense? There is no reason for so much enlightenment to accumulate."

"Of course it won't."

Respect to you, Secretive Plotter.

"So, what did you do when transcendence became difficult?"

"Initially I tried to somehow find new enlightenment. But as time passed, I realized that it was impossible."

"That too is enlightenment. You must have achieved transcendence once through that."

I thought it was a joke and threw it out, but Yoo Joonghyuk didn't laugh.

Instead, he answered:

"From then on, I forgot what I already knew."

"Do you forget that?"

"Sometimes you forget when you hit your head with [Hundred Steps Godly Fists]."

I couldn't tell if it was a joke or not. Because with Yoo Joonghyuk it really felt like that could happen.

"Anyway, when enlightenment disappears, you just have to fill its place with new enlightenment."

The so-called 'overwriting' of enlightenment.

It was a story that had never been mentioned in detail in 'Ways of Survival'.

"Some enlightenments can only be realized properly if you forget them."

It was somewhat of a touching story.

If it weren't for the part where he hit his head.

"Are you telling me to forget the [Way of the Wind] that I know?"

Yoo Joonghyuk nodded and took the [Hundred Steps Godly Fists] stance and glared at my head.

I hurriedly waved my hand and backed away.

"No, wait a minute! I don’t want to forget anything right now."

"It looks like you’re not that desperate. Is there no reason you need to learn [Way of the Wind]?"

The reason why I want to learn [Way of the Wind].

"I..."

There was a face that came to mind reflexively. A star who sacrificed himself for me.

I had to become stronger.

Just as much, or even more, I had to become strong enough to save him.

This was only possible if Kim Dokja, more than anyone else, did it.

Yoo Joonghyuk slowly lowered his fist and continued speaking.

"There’s no need to force yourself to learn something you’re not good at. There’s probably something you’re good at."

I didn't know that I would hear such a story from Yoo Joonghyuk's mouth, so I stood there in silence for a long time.

"Thank you for the advice."

Stars shed intermittent light in the lonely night sky.

The boy Yoo Joonghyuk stared at the sky for a moment. However, he soon turned his gaze to the ground and asked as if there was no starlight in the sky he was looking for.

"So, what do you plan to do next?"

"We have to get the support of the prisoners."

"Do you think you will gain support from the beasts if you learn things like [Way of the Wind] here?"

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at me as if I was pitiful. It seemed that this time it was my turn to give him new insight.

"How long do you think the prisoners here have stayed here?"

"That..."

The temporal density in the 'Recycling Center' is much higher than in the outside world. Perhaps there are prisoners who have spent decades or over a hundred years here.

"Judging by the atmosphere of the city, it must have been a very long period of time. There must have been several revolutions."

Zone 13 is where prisoners who could not enter the Zodiac gather.

Has there never been a revolution in a place like that? Whether it's a crane, a wolf, a turtle, or a squirrel. Anyone would have resisted the <Zodiac> at least once.

Maybe twice, or three times.

There will be prisoners who fight back just as Yoo Joonghyuk challenges transcendence.

But.

"Probably everyone was affected by the Chinese Zodiac."

The revolution failed. It was natural. Because they were not Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Then one day."

I continued speaking as if at the beginning of a fairy tale.

"These guys who suddenly appeared shattered the existing 'story' and took down one of the <Zodiac Signs>."

The prisoners must have been surprised. To be precise, they were surprised, but I guess it was just surprise.

As the crane owner said, they had been in 'Zone 13' for too long.

"The prisoners must have thought that this would just be a temporary thing. Those guys lounging around in Zone 13 would soon be killed by the other Zodiac animals. Just like they have been doing up until now."

The prisoners will think.

Another member of the <Zodiac> will come soon.

The owners of the story will return to drive out those who believe they are the main characters.

"But no matter how much time passes, what if no one from the Chinese Zodiac comes to harm them? What if not even a shadow of the Chinese Zodiac can be seen, let alone the <Zodiac>?"

"You, you can’t—"

Slowly, Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes grew bigger.

I asked with a grin.

"What are the prisoners thinking now?"

It was then that I heard someone shouting in the dark.

Elongated animal shadows cast between the streetlights.

It wasn't just one or two.

A nervous Yoo Joonghyuk stood next to me in the [Hundred Steps Godly Fists] stance.

But I wasn't particularly nervous.

A voice flowed through the elongated shadows.

"You-all."

The owner of the shadow was the crane owner and other animals who stayed at the inn.

Everyone who witnessed our「Three Little Pigs」.

"Can you change other 'stories' as well?"

I nodded.

[Your approval rating increases.]

[Currently, 10% of the prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

It was time to do what I was good at.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

739 Episode 30 Zodiac (1)

---

「The essence of the Chinese zodiac lies in the creation and destruction of all things, and this means that it does not represent any animal.」

—『Understanding the Unemployed』

---

After the scenario began, most people stayed up all night with their eyes wide open.

A situation where you never know when and where a monster or enemy will appear.

Fatigue can be alleviated by consuming 'Elaine Forest Spirit' or restorative medicine, so there was no need to take risks unless there was a sleep penalty.

A world where sleep has become a luxury.

In that sense, all incarnations living out the scenario had lost their dreams.

The same was true for the incarnations in front of me right now.

The prisoner, who had been trapped in the prison of a scenario for a long time and had forgotten to dream, asked.

"A-are you really going to change the story?"

The crane owner looked at me with a nervous expression.

"I can change it for you."

"If the <Zodiac> finds out..."

"The <Zodiac> can’t come."

I pointed to the entrance of the inn with my chin. Lycaon was sitting there, cross-legged, with his eyes closed.

Several beastmen looked at each other and nodded.

They also confirmed Lycaon's power. There was no fear of not believing what I said.

"What story can I change?"

"That is…"

“Is it 'The Fox and the Crane'?"

"How did you know?"

How do I know? There is nothing to do.

[The story 'The Fox and the Crane' has been discontinued.]

This is because after repairing the story fragment 「Brick House」, I could gradually see the flow of stories floating around this 'Zone 13'.

The crane owner sighed lightly and opened his mouth again.

"Recently, the status of my story has become unstable."

In order for a 'story' to maintain its original function, the actual owner of the story must be continuously active in the <Star Stream>, or the story must be continuously talked about.

"So, I tried to tell the story through a 'staging', but I couldn’t stage it on my own."

I guess so. That's because the story isn't just about the crane.

"Are there no foxes in Zone 13?"

The crane owner nodded his head with a sigh.

"There used to be one, but the last fox disappeared a few months ago."

"What happened to the last fox?"

"We stopped hearing from him after he was captured by the Zodiac."

<Zodiac>.

It was obvious why they did what they did.

[The presence of the story 'The Fox and the Crane' opens up.]

This is probably because it would be difficult if someone who has built up a legend in Zone 13 threatens their position.

I slowly looked around at the beastmen.

Perhaps some of these were Constellations, like the 'wolf' in 「The Three Little Pigs」, or were beings that came close to being Constellations.

It's just that as time goes by, they lose their own story and their original status.

The owner muttered in a weak voice.

"The fox is probably dead."

Perhaps that's what the 'story' said.

Because he and the fox are tied together by stories.

"At first, I thought about disposing of the stories in the <Zodiac>. If I hand over the stories there, even if the stories are deformed, their status will be maintained."

I thought of the wolf Constellation struggling to maintain 「The Three Little Pigs」.

"But I couldn’t do that. I didn’t want to bow down to the guys who captured the fox, even if it meant losing the story."

The owner lowered his head as he said that.

"I know that I have to let go of the story now. It’s a story I can’t protect alone, and it’s not particularly important to the <Star Stream>. But…"

A strange desire was shining in the eyes of the crane owner who slowly raised his head.

"I thought you might have a way."

I nodded.

"There is a way."

"Really?"

A scenario message suddenly appeared before my eyes.

It's probably a scenario initiated by the 'Recycling Center Director' or the management bureau who was watching the situation.

[A new sub-scenario has arrived!]

<Sub Scenario – The Fox and the Crane>

Category: Sub

Difficulty: C

Clear condition: Succeed in reproducing the story 『The Fox and the Crane』.

Time limit: —

Reward: 12,000 recycled coins or 2,000 recycled coins and an unidentified story fragment

Failure: —

The situation was different from the time of 「The Three Little Pigs」. Since the situation did not specifically involve the <Zodiac>, there was no hesitation in participating on stage.

The problem is finding a role to play the role of a 'fox'.

Killer King raised his hand.

"I will do it."

"Killer King-ssi is a wolf."

"Just change it to wolves and cranes."

"If we want to make a staging, we need a fox."

However, no one in our group had a 'fox mask'.

Fox, fox.

It would be nice to have a story similar to 'Fox'.

Oh, wait a minute.

[Check the delayed 'compensation list'.]

Now that I think about it, there was a 'story reward' that I had not received yet.

[Check the rewards for the seventh main scenario.]

[Currently, 'S-class skill selection' is waiting to be received.]

[Currently, 'historical-grade story selection' is waiting to be received.]

Even if it's 'S-level skill selection', 'historical-grade story selection'?

I guess this wasn't the original scenario reward?

[You have achieved an impossible feat in the seventh main scenario.]

[The Bureau recognizes your achievements.]

[The scenario reward 'random historical-grade story' has been upgraded to ‘historical-grade story selection'.]

The management bureau did something helpful for the first time in a while.

Well, considering what happened at the Washington Dome, upward payment is quite possible.

By the way, it is a historical-grade story selection.

Historical-grade stories are mostly trash, but there are some useful ones, such as 「The Persistent Murim Master」.

There are also things that display processing abilities when fused, such as 「earrings when worn on the ear」 or 「nose rings when worn on the nose」.

I checked the reward list with some anticipation.

[Check the list of historical-grade story rewards.]

[You can choose one of a total of 461 stories.]

461.

Could it be that some of this is useful?

1. Poop pretending to be soybean paste

2. Cat with tanned whiskers

3. Silla-Tang Allied Forces

…

For some reason, all I could see were lame stories.

There is also a story that would have happened if the Demon King of Salvation was next to me.

I continued to look at the stories.

Number 10, Number 30, Number 50, Number 100..

122. I'm not getting my hair cut.

123. Head Shoulders Knees Toes

124. A chef who can't distinguish between salt and sugar

125. Ornamental Beard Specialist

Occasionally, stories that seemed to come from the 'Random Story Box' were also seen.

As the ranks passed the 200th, and even the 300th mark, an ominous feeling slowly came over me.

No matter how I looked at it, it seemed like they had just picked up and collected stories discarded by other Constellations.

There were even stories like 「Earrings on your ears」.

The moment when I finally felt resigned to whether or not I should give up.

461. Owner of the Fox Ears headband

I looked closely at the last story that came out.

Why on earth is this story here?

'Owner of the Fox Ears Headband''

According to my thoughts, this 'story' was definitely that 'story'.

Probably when <Kim Dokja Company> visited the amusement park in <Oz>.

「"What are you doing here?"」

When I turned around, Yoo Joonghyuk was there, wearing a fox headband as expected.」

… Even if it's not that story, it doesn't matter. Anyway, since 'fox' was included, it was a story that could be used immediately.

'I will choose number 461.'

[The historical-grade story, 'Owner of the Fox Ears Headband' has been acquired.]

I immediately started talking.

Of course, if you use this 'story', a fox that wasn't there won't suddenly appear.

After all, what is included in this story is not a fox, but 'fox ears'.

[The story 'Owner of the Fox Ear Headband' begins its storytelling.]

I looked at my mask reflected in the window.

It is said that in this world, the 'mask' is a story that protects oneself.

But if this 'mask' is really a story.

'Stick.'

It would also be possible to tie together stories and stories.

'Stick.'

How many times has the story been told like that?

[The story 'Owner of the Fox Ears Headband' responds to your will.]

My mask began to emit a faint light. The prisoners watching us nearby let out exclamations.

"Oh, oh—!"

The shape of my previously invisible mask changed in real time. The mask's snout grew pointed, and small ears also sprouted from its head.

It literally looks like a 'fox mask'.

[The story 'The Fox and the Crane' is looking at you.]

The owner of the crane also held my hand with an expression of emotion.

"So, you… were you the fox?"

"No."

The fox in this story is dead.

Even if I were to act as the fox's replacement and successfully stage the story, the story would only be talked about for a moment.

"I can help you, but even if you recreate the 「stage」 like this, the effect will only be temporary."

"I know that."

As in 「The Three Little Pigs」, there may be ways to change the plot of the story and introduce new stories or make other animals appear, but these are also temporary measures.

"Don’t you want to become famous again?"

"What do you mean?"

"Originally, 'The Fox and the Crane' is a story as famous as 'The Three Little Pigs'.

The owner looked confused.

"Don’t you want to share your story with the <Star Stream> once again?"

Creating a story that everyone knows about in the <Star Stream>. It is the dream of every Constellation shining in the sky.

"As you know, the reason Zone 13's stories are weakening is because you're trapped in the Recycling Center."

"I know, but we can’t leave the center."

"You are like that. But what about 'stories'?"

The crane owner looked at me with an expression of disbelief.

I nodded and added.

"We are spreading the story inside the Recycling Center throughout the <Star Stream>."

"That’s impossible. The Constellations outside the center cannot know what happened inside the center. The stories that occur here cannot possibly become famous."

"In principle, yes."

And from here was the second stage of my operation.

'Bihyung'.

If you can't see it, just make it visible.

'Please open the channel.'

---

—You crazy person!

As expected, Bihyung appeared quickly.

—You crazy person! You crazy guy!

'Stop and listen to me.'

—Shut up, you crazy!

'…'

—Outside now, do you know what's going on? Are you out of your mind?

'What happened?'

—Are you asking because you really don’t know? Have you forgotten what you and your sponsor did right before entering the 'Recycling Center'?

I remembered what happened at the Washington Dome.

—The Constellations are now gathering outside the Recycling Center, you know?

'What Constellations?'

—Who could it be?

I can roughly guess.

<Asgard>, <Olympus>, <Ghost>, <Vedas>, <Tree of Protection>.

There must have been a lot of Constellations from the Nebulae that were targeting us from the Washington Dome.

There will also be other Constellations of the Nebulae that flock to us after hearing the rumor.

When I think about it, it's a little scary.

—Do you feel it now?

Considering the scale of what I and the 'Demon King of Salvation' had done, it was not strange.

The 'Demon King of Salvation' killed dozens of Historical-grade Constellations belonging to each giant Nebula in 'Gingagap' of the mythical stage <Asgard>.

Where is that?

He even defeated 'Ares', who was Narrative-grade and was listed as one of the 12 gods of <Olympus>.

Naturally, the Constellations of <Asgard> and <Olympus> would have been greatly strengthened. Other Nebulae may also be starting to become curious about us.

Some Nebulae must have confirmed that the contract between me and the 'Demon King of Salvation' has not been terminated.

—I'm sure you'll be trapped in the underground torture chamber of 'Tartaros', where you'll be treated horribly, your ego will be removed, and you'll be used as a doll weapon!

'That's very specific.'

—So you must never get caught. You're definitely hidden inside the 'Recycling Center'. Never go outside. Outside Constellations cannot enter here, so you'll be safe...

'Thank you for your concern.'

—Why would I be worried about you? I'm just afraid that the value of my product will be damaged! Do you remember that our contract was extended? Your sponsor…

'I know.'

—Who knows that? Let's open the channel?

'I'm not asking to open a live channel. We want to open a channel through which only stories can be distributed.'

—No, what are you talking about…

'If the product has value, you must sell it before its value falls.'

—What?

'I heard everyone is waiting for me?'

Even if I'm trapped inside the Recycling Center, there's something I can feel.

[The power of the story 'The One Who Rewrites Fate' becomes stronger.]

Even now, the story of the Demon King of Salvation and me is becoming famous.

However, at this exact moment, I, the incarnation of the 'Demon King of Salvation', ended up in the 'Recycling Center'.

As Bihyung said, this is a place where external Constellations cannot intervene or spy.

The Constellations' curiosity about me will continue to grow.

'Then I have to live up to their expectations.'

We cannot remain trapped in the 'Recycling Center' forever. The moment will surely come when I have to escape from here and face the Nebulae.

Until then, the vast gap between the Constellations and me must be bridged.

'Bihyung, you like coins, right?'

And in this <Star Stream>, there is a very efficient means to fill that gap.

[The story 'The Fox and the Crane' has stopped its storytelling.]

[The story 'The Magpie Who Returned the Favor' has stopped its storytelling.]

[The story 'The Goose that Laid the Golden Egg' has stopped its storytelling.]

…

I said, rewriting my mask.

'From now on, I plan to appear in all stories of Zone 13. So you—'

After all, trends come and go.

I grinned as I looked at the endless 'recycled stories'.

'Sell the stories I will appear in to the Constellations who pay coins.'

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

740 Episode 30 Zodiac (2)

---

We immediately tried to 'reenact the story'. The first thing we did was divide into teams.

"I'll take charge of the stage."

It was Cha Yerin who took care of the stage.

"I gained new abilities."

Wearing a snail mask, she was recently able to handle the stories embedded in the 'mask'.

Cha Yerin muttered softly as she placed one of her hands on the floor, and a moment later a snail's nest grew from the floor.

[The story 'Snail House' begins its storytelling.]

It was no ordinary snail house. It was a space large enough for two adult men to stay there without any problems.

What's more interesting is that inside of this house is not actually a 'snail house'.

If it's a bathroom, it's a bathroom. A living room is a living room. A kitchen is a kitchen.

The ability of her story 'Snail House' was to be able to recreate its interior in whatever form she wanted.

Cha Yerin said, avoiding our gazes as if she was embarrassed, "I'm not yet familiar with stories, so it only lasts a day. It also takes about 30 minutes to make."

A house where you can decorate the interior the way you want. As long as I had this, there was no problem no matter where I stayed.

Kyung Sein said with admiration,

"If you had acquired this ability a little sooner, we could have cleared 「The Three Little Pigs」 with it."

"It would have been difficult because it doesn't look like a brick house from the outside."

"Ugh, I can't lose, Dokja-ssi. I'll bring the stage props. Can I get a gourd and a plate?"

Before I could answer, Kyung Sein, who activated [Way of the Wind], flew into the sky.

Cha Yerin said,

"She has become a real flying squirrel."

Perhaps because it was combined with the story of the flying squirrel mask, Kyung Sein was able to use [Way of the Wind] faster than anyone else in the group.

Dansu ahjussi, who was watching next to her, also added a word.

"Then I…"

"You can stay still."

The man's face turned sour, so I quickly added.

"There are quite a few stories of turtles appearing. You will have a chance to become active soon."

"Then, I will practice [Way of the Wind]. Since I am a turtle, I should at least practice it consistently…"

"Good. If you gain any new insight, please let me know."

Meanwhile, Cha Yerin, who had completed preparing the stage, reported.

"The stage is ready."

The key event in this recreated story, 'The Fox and the Crane', was that the fox and the crane invited each other to their homes and served soup.

"Oh wow, it really is just like my old kitchen."

The crane expressed his admiration for the kitchen created by Cha Yerin.

Perhaps lost in a brief memory, the crane looked carefully at the two kitchens.

"This side too… yes. That fox friend’s kitchen was just like this."

[‘Staging’ activation conditions have been met.]

I nodded.

"If you’re ready, let’s get started right away."

['Staging' is activated!]

[The story 'The Fox and the Crane' begins!]

[Your 'mask' corresponds to the fable.]

With the system message, my body temporarily changed to resemble that of a fox.

It seemed like it was probably a phenomenon that occurred due to 'staging'.

I took a deep breath and spoke.

"I’ll treat you today."

「The grumpy fox said to the crane.」

The voice of a story flowing out.

The crane owner looked at the sentence for a moment with eyes filled with longing, and then nodded his head willingly.

"Good, let’s go to your house."

「The crane answered with a smile.」

We entered the fox's kitchen together. As everyone knows, the events that would occur in the future were predetermined.

The fox deliberately offers soup on a flat plate to the crane. The long-beaked crane cannot eat the soup on the plate, and the grumpy fox licks the soup clean from the plate as if teasing the crane.

It's a very mischievous and simple story.

"Now, please eat."

The crane saw the plate I served and smiled.

"The soup looks delicious."

"It’s a very delicious soup."

"I remember the first time you served me this soup."

"It was already a long time ago."

The crane looked into the soup and he asked.

"Do you still think people will like this soup?"

That's a line that didn't exist originally.

I had no idea that the crane would make such an ad-lib, so I thought for a moment before answering.

"Not all soups can be loved equally."

"I guess so. I know."

The crane had somewhat sad eyes.

I watched the crane and opened my mouth again.

"But."

「The grumpy fox looked down at the soup for a moment and then added.」

"Someone will miss this soup. It must mean something."

The crane that heard those words was silent for a moment.

How much time has passed like that?

The crane's tears fell on the plate.

"As expected, I can’t eat your soup this time."

With no one speaking, only the story continued to talk.

「The fox ate the delicious soup, and the crane looked down at the plate of soup he couldn’t eat.」

It was truly a perfect recreation of the first half.

If only the next sentence hadn't been added.

「And outside the kitchen window, a panda was chewing bamboo.」

---

[Your approval rating drops.]

[Currently, 9% of prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

After the first half of the 「staging」 was over, Cha Yerin was the first to open her mouth.

"Is the panda a MacGuffin?"

In another corner, there was Ye Hyunwoo, who repeatedly bowed his head to his companions.

"I’m sorry… I suddenly wanted to eat bamboo."

"No, why are you suddenly eating bamboo there?"

In response to Kyung Sein's scolding, Ye Hyunwoo lowered his head as if he had no shame.

"These days, strangely enough, I keep wanting to chew bamboo in prominent places…"

Dansu ahjussi asked me with a worried expression.

"Can you film the first half again?"

"This is not a movie."

There is no concept of reshoots in the story. Once activated, 「Staging」 is recorded as is.

In other words, all stories are like one-take movies.

"Why a panda! There's a panda there!"

Meanwhile, the owner of the original story was also turning insane.

I answered while ignoring the original owner's screams.

"For now, we don't have time, so let's start the second half."

The staging resumed immediately.

This stage is the crane's house.

「Meanwhile, the crane that was tricked by the fox decided to take revenge.」

The crane owner confidently placed a gourd on the table.

"Please enjoy, I will treat you today."

"It will taste good."

As expected from the owner of the story who has recreated the story countless times, the crane skillfully stuck its beak down and began to suck the soup from the gourd.

Of course I couldn't eat the soup. This is because the spout of the gourd containing the soup was too thin for me to eat.

「Then the crane smiled and asked.」

"Why aren't you eating? Are you wondering if you've been poisoned?"

I smiled bitterly.

"The soup in the gourd looks so delicious that I can't eat it."

"Is that so?"

We looked at each other and laughed.

This was the ending of 「The Fox and the Crane」, which everyone knows.

The story of the fox is that he gets back the karma of his mischief and decides to treat others well from now on.

I don't know if this kind of story is still popular these days, but it was sure to be popular with Constellations who like good stories.

If it weren't for the next sentence.

「But the fox foresaw this situation and called his friend.」

When I suddenly raised my head, the crane owner was also looking at me.

"Friend?"

I don’t remember doing something like that?

Before I could respond in embarrassment, the crane’s kitchen door opened.

「The fox’s friend, the wolf, was there.」

"I never understood it since I was young," said the wolf.

「The wolf came straight towards the fox and the crane.」

"Why can’t you eat this?"

「The wolf muttered as if he didn’t understand and snatched the gourd from the fox’s hand.」

"Isn’t it okay to drink it like this?"

「The wolf put the bottle in his mouth and gulped down the soup.」

I looked up at the wolf blankly. The surprised crane was also the same.

「After a while, the wolf who had eaten all the soup in the vial spoke.」

"It’s delicious."

「While everyone was silent, a panda was chewing bamboo outside the kitchen window.」

---

"Cut! COOOOOOOO!"

[Your approval rating drops.]

[Currently, 8% of prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

"Kooooooooo!"

The crane's feathers fluttered. If the prisoners nearby had not stopped him, I would have been killed at any moment.

"You guys! You guys ruined my story!"

[The 'stage' is polluted!]

[The plot of the story is distorted!]

"Just calm down for a moment."

"Do I really look like myself now!"

I spoke to reassure the crane, who was almost out of breath.

"Don’t worry, it’s all intentional."

"Intentional? Did you just say intentional?"

"Aren’t you here to ask us to change the story? That’s why we changed it to the way that’s popular these days."

It was a lie.

"I swear on my name."

This story is ruined.

Perhaps now the story 'The Fox and the Crane' will be changed to 'The Fox, the Crane and the Wolf—often a Panda'.

The name of the story became strange, and the moral or standard of the story collapsed.

But I think this way.

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' likes the idea of wolves.]

Just because it's a bad story doesn't mean it's not popular.

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' says he has learned a new lesson.]

In fact, some stories sell well just because they fail.

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' says the panda is so cute.]

"The evaluators say it’s okay."

The crane looked puzzled at my words.

"Are they…?"

"These are people who have been summoned to serve as story evaluators."

I didn't start this bold plan without any safety measures in place.

If you are supplying stories, there must be standards for the stories to be delivered.

For reference, there are a total of three Constellations that I have invited through Bihyung.

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' tells you to bring a hot story next time.]

The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon'.

This guy, who only likes 'cider'-centered stories, was perfect to represent the impatient Constellations.

Of course, not everyone likes cider like the Black Flame Dragon.

There are certainly Constellations in the <Star Stream> that like elegant and cultured stories.

For example,

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' feels profound insight in the transformation of the story.]

In the cultured faction, the 'Reclining Dragon'.

This smart Constellation was perfect for representing Constellations with intellectual vanity.

However, in the case of this type, there were cases where they insisted that messy stories were good, perhaps because of their compulsion to somehow find meaning in the stories.

The third Constellation was recruited to prevent it.

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' likes the friendship between the fox and the crane.]

Sensitivity, 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs'.

I invited this Constellation on the recommendation of Bihyung, but I have not yet found out their identity.

Even though sheep is included in their modifier, they don’t seem to belong to the <Zodiac>.

However, looking at the standards for evaluating the story, I felt that it was somewhat emotional, so it could make up for the shortcomings of the other two Constellations.

"If we can satisfy all three, we will be able to capture 80% of the <Star Stream>."

"Really?"

I nodded and looked at the sky.

'Bihyung, are you ready?'

Then Bihyung responded as if he had been waiting.

—Are you really confident?

'I heard the Constellations are waiting for news from me outside right now?'

—Yes, but.

'Then, even if you come up with a story like 「Dung pretending to be soybean paste」, they will still eat it. Which channel will you distribute the stories through?'

—I decided to stop by the Gourmet Association. The center director said it was okay if it was distributed through there.

Right. It's called 'Gourmet Association'.

'That's good because there are a lot of Constellations with weird tastes there.'

—Did you have any friendships with the Gourmet Association Constellations?

'I just heard something somewhere.'

[The story you were involved in was submitted through the Management Bureau.]

[The name of the story has been changed due to malformed staging.]

[The story 'The Fox, the Crane, and the Wolf—often Panda' is transmitted.]

The strange story we created pierced the ceiling of the center and disappeared, leaving behind a long tail.

As I watched the tail of the story drifting away, I felt a sense of nostalgia.

I felt this way when I started my first series.

After a long time, I turned on my smartphone and checked 「Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint」 posted on the platform.

The side story was still being serialized in real time on the platform.

I clicked on the most recent episode and checked the comments.

[One free daily pass will be deducted.]

[Regardless of the order, one comment from that episode will be revealed at random.]

| |
|---|
| —Poo■Oh? |

I looked at the comments for a while and then tilted my head. ■What is that?

'Oro Castle' in the dark dimension.

In this place, the territory of 'Immeasurable Strictness', one of the 72 Demon Kings, there were informal gatherings held periodically.

In the <Star Stream>, a group of Constellations who love stories more than anyone else, and who loved stories so much that they slightly turned away.

The Gourmet Association.

Like the hipsters of the <Star Stream>, it was their routine to criticize each other's tastes in stories from different generations.

But today, a different gastronomic wind was blowing at the Gourmet Association.

"Hey, have you tried that?"

"Oh, of course."

Normally, they would have been retelling sword master stories, but today they were telling strange stories.

The Demon King 'Worthless Darkness' said with admiration.

"My God, isn’t this a fable? A First-Generation story."

"It’s based on the first generation, but it’s properly arranged."

He added, as if he found the idea of 'a person who overcomes trials one step too late' interesting.

"If you look at the title, it sounds a bit like 'The High Plain of Heaven'. Old Drinking Man, do you know anything?"

"Kyung! We didn’t make it. I thought the stories about animals would be really boring."

As the 'Old Drinking Man' spoke in a grumpy voice, the 'Brash Swamp Predator' added:

"The part this fox says is pretty delicious."

"What is this panda?"

"I think that’s the point. It’s unique."

Next, the 'Lord of Forgotten Envy' and the 'Owner of the White Castle' added their words.

"Interesting."

Even the Constellations that would normally be at odds with each other agreed.

A rare peace that came to the Gourmet Association.

The Constellations were immersed in their own thoughts for a long time in the brief peace.

It was at that time that some thugs had burst through the main gate of Oro Castle.

"What are you all eating?"

A young monkey that has grown into a golden beauty. Some of the Constellations that discovered the monkey muttered in contemplation.

"Damn it, the monkey bastard is here."

While the Constellations were slowly leaving their seats, there was the only Constellation that greeted him.

He was 'One Who Overcame the Trials One Step Too Late'

"Oh, King Mifu. Are you here?"

Then the 'King of Stone Monkeys' also nodded slightly and asked.

"I can't see Jeongjunjwa today?"

"That guy doesn’t show up often these days. Instead, you should try this."

"What is it?"

"It’s a popular story these days. It’s a story from the animal world. Have you never heard of it?"

The 'King of the Stone Monkeys' looked down at the story presented by the 'One Who Overcame the Trials One Step Too Late' and frowned.

"It doesn’t look tasty. It’s a story about kids who didn’t make it into the Chinese Zodiac."

"Try it and tell me. It’s a story that we worked hard to obtain."

The Monkey King tilted his head and reluctantly picked up a piece of story.

And after a while, hair sprouted from the Monkey King's arms.

"This... where does this story come from?"

"From the Recycling Center."

"Who made it?"

The speed at which King Mifu extended his hand toward the story became faster and faster. The 'One Who Overcame Trials One Step Too Late' smiled and replied to King Mifu.

"It’s a guy named Kim Dokja."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

741 Episode 30 Zodiac (3)

---

I will start with the conclusion.

[Your approval rating increases.]

[Currently, 16% of the prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

Our story was a success.

[Your approval rating increases.]

[Currently, 25% of the prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

To be more precise.

[Your approval rating increases.]

[Currently, 32% of the prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

Our stories have become quite popular.

The system message I heard from earlier was proof of that.

[The influence of the story 'The Fox, the Crane and the Wolf—often the Panda' is strong.]

The name may be a bit strange, but it somehow became famous. And as I keep watching, I feel like this is more sensational than 'The Fox and the Crane'.

It's like how the name Yoo Joonghyuk feels more beautiful in terms of naming than Kim Dokja.

"I-I am becoming famous. My story is becoming famous again."

The crane, who checked the message in real time, was glaring at the system window as if his eyes were tearing.

Is it because the story has regained its power? I could feel the magic power overflowing from his whole body.

The other beastmen's expressions also changed when they saw the change in the crane.

"Can you make stories like the crane's?"

A prisoner, who had been hesitating all along, asked.

"My stories too! I want my stories too!"

All the prisoners who were seeing an opportunity also grabbed me and started shouting.

"You should make an appearance yourself!"

"Please let the panda appear too!"

"It’s okay even if the story turns into a mess. I want to be remembered once again. Oh my __"

Those who have lost their dreams recognize the void in their dreams more clearly than anyone else.

"I want to let the Star Stream know that I also existed."

"All right."

As I watched the prisoners' expressions change, I felt an inexplicable sadness.

What drove them like this? Why do they want to become famous and spread their stories?

[The story 'The Swallow Carrying Gourd Seeds' wants to tell its story again.]

Is it their will or the will of the story?

[The story 'The Dove and the Jackdaw' wants to talk again.]

I don't know. It's not a problem I can discuss.

However, I am a writer who writes stories.

[The story 'The Goose that Laid Golden Eggs' wants to tell its story again.]

If there is a story that wants me, I will just live up to its expectations.

"Now, please come here one by one and line up."

The <Zodiac> was not the <Zodiac> from the beginning.

So, do you know?

Who among the beastmen here will become the new <Zodiac> and be on our side?

It doesn't matter if that's not the case.

[Your approval rating increases.]

[Currently, 33% of the prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

Even at this moment, the approval rating is steadily rising.

---

Two more days passed like that.

[Your approval rating increases.]

[Currently, 70% of the prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

Over the course of two days, we transformed numerous stories into stages.

For example,「The swallow carrying gourd seeds」.

The swallow said that the stage production could not be created because there were no humans during that time.

"As expected, it is possible to escape without notice. I thought it would never be possible to recreate it in Zone 13."

[The name of the story has been changed due to malformed staging.]

[The story 'The Panda Who Saw the Swallow Carrying Park Seeds' was born.]

Stories related to pigeons, jackdaws, elephants, parrots, and hyenas were also performed.

The way we changed it was up to us. Sometimes a wolf appeared, sometimes a panda appeared, and I, who was able to transform using the mask, performed the role they were lacking depending on the time.

"Thank you, thank you so much!"

Of course, not all story transformations were smooth. It was especially dangerous during 「The Goose That Laid the Golden Egg」. A goose that had not laid eggs for too long fainted while laying eggs.

"This guy won't wake up. If the staging ends like this—"

"He's dead."

"Yes?"

A catastrophe occurred on stage in which the actual owner of the story died. In fact, the 「Goose That Laid the Golden Egg」 is destined to die from having its stomach ripped open, but isn't it still a premature death?

When opinions arose about whether this story should be abandoned, I called Dansu ahjussi.

"Ahjussi."

"Yes."

"Don't turtles lay eggs too?"

Dansu ahjussi looked back at me with an expression of bewilderment.

"I am not a goose. I am not a goose."

"I'm not asking you to give birth to them either. But wouldn't it be possible for you to incubate the egg?"

Dansu ahjussi was urgently deployed as an assistant incubating geese.

Dansu ahjussi had a strange expression on his face as he held the lukewarm egg.

"It looks like something is wriggling."

He worked hard to hatch the golden egg, and when a goose was finally born from the egg, everyone was so moved that they clapped their hands.

With this, the story of the goose continued.

Dansu ahjussi shed tears as if he were seeing his own child.

"I understand Han Myungoh now."

[The name of the story has been changed due to malformed staging.]

[The story 'The Turtle With the Golden Goose Egg and The Panda Who Happened to be There' was born.]

"Evaluators!"

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' says it was fun because he stupidly didn’t cut open the goose’s belly.]

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' deplores the fate of the goose meta-sacrificing itself to the golden universalism, and is moved by the tragedy of the story that will once again lead to the birth of a new life...]

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' says that the turtle’s fatherly love brings tears to his eyes.]

"Verification complete! Send!"

We repeated sending the story as soon as it was completed.

The temporal density of the 'Recycling Center' is much longer than outside, so new stories will continue to be supplied in real time outside.

According to Bihyung's fuss, so many Constellations were paying coins to read our stories that it would be incomprehensible to anyone outside the center.

—This is an indirect message sent by the Constellations outside. Read it when you have time.

Messages from the Constellations?

I looked at the list of compressed messages I received from Bihyung.

[The Constellation 'Lily Blooming in Aquarius' says the panda is really cute.]

[The Constellation 'Friend of Justice and Harmony' says that cute things are always right.]

[The Constellation 'Goddess of the Morning Star' asks when the Panda will appear again.]

…

The ones that responded were mainly the Constellations of the absolute good faction.

I looked to see if there was a message from Uriel, but Uriel was nowhere to be seen.

I felt strangely sad.

For some reason, the fact that Uriel wasn't there felt like proof that I wasn't a proper Kim Dokja yet.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is starving.]

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is glaring at you.]

[Currently, you have 3 days left to live.]

3 days.

Now is the time to replenish.

Now that I think about it, the time has come for it to come in.

—By the way, the compensation that was delayed has also arrived.

Also.

[The reward for the sub-scenario 'The Fox and the Crane' has been obtained!]

[12,000 coins obtained!]

['Unidentified story fragment' has been acquired!]

The reward for the sub-scenario we cleared earlier—'The Fox and the Crane' has now arrived.

There was a reason for the delay in compensation.

—It was a bit late to explain things to the higher-ups. This is my first time clearing a scenario like this.

I had an idea what the situation would be.

Although the story was reproduced, the name of the story was changed in the process, so the Management Bureau would have been at a loss as to whether to view this as a reproduction of 'The Fox and the Crane'.

—Anyway, I got scolded for insisting that it was to protect the Story when the fox and the crane showed up.

'Thank you.'

—No. Rather, the story is going really well, so keep it going.

It seemed like Bihyung's eyes were slowly starting to turn when he saw the coins coming in.

—Did you see the Constellations' messages? There are many Constellations requesting that the Panda to continue to appear. I don't really understand, but the panda you featured is really hot these days.

'Pandas are cute.'

—Anyway, I don't know the tastes of the Constellations. Why do they like that?

I smiled bitterly.

This is why the Constellations like pandas.

'It's probably because they're so lonely.'

—Lonely?

Kyrgios once said the following about 'scenarios'.

「It would be because this universe would be so lonely without them.」

Even Constellations do not necessarily know why they like certain stories.

However, at some point in their lives, they encounter a certain story as if by fate, and seeing that story, they burn themselves and shine.

The story shines brighter under the light of the stars, and it eventually becomes the story that attracts attention in the <Star Stream>.

'If everyone is watching the same story, it'll be less lonely.'

—What is this nonsense?

Instead of answering Bihyung's words, I tried using the 'unidentified story fragment'.

['Unidentified story fragment' reveals its identity.]

[The story fragment 'Kim Dokja's Third Way' has been acquired.]

The reward received was, as expected, 'Fragments of Kim Dokja'.

When I first entered the 'Recycling Center', I acquired Kim Dokja's 'story fragment' as a scenario reward.

As expected, the 'Recycling Center Director' seemed to be giving out stories like this on purpose as a reward.

Why? For what purpose?

I don't know right now, but it was a very fortunate thing for me now.

Without hesitation, I ordered the story to feast.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' feasts on the story fragment 'Kim Dokja's Third Way'!]

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name''s hunger is appeased.]

A warm feeling spread deep within my heart, and a message immediately came to mind.

[The synchronization rate with the sponsor has increased.]

[You can use the story fragment 'Kim Dokja’s Third Method'.]

'Kim Dokja’s Third Method'.

What ability does this fragment have?

[8-day time limit has been added.]

It was then that someone grabbed my shoulder.

"Dokja-ssi."

When I turned around, Ye Hyunwoo was there.

Ye Hyunwoo asked as if he had read my expression.

"Are you okay?"

"Oh, yes. I’m sorry."

The reason I was surprised was simple.

This is because I could not notice Ye Hyunwoo’s presence at all.

I used predation after confirming that there were no people around, but when did he approach me?

No matter how much he mastered [Way of the Wind], he was not skilled enough to completely hide his presence.

"I was thinking for a moment. What’s going on?"

I remembered what happened when I absorbed Kim Kyungsik's soul.

I couldn't forget Goo Seonah's shocked face when she saw me eating the 'Kim Dokja fragment'. After that, I never met Goo Seonah.

Ye Hyunwoo asked me with the same expression as Goo Seonah back then.

"Would it be okay?"

"Yes?"

"Stories. I was wondering if it would be okay for us to mend the stories as we please."

Ah, was that the story?

I answered with some relief.

"It’s okay. They are historical stories anyway."

[The influence of the story you are involved with, 'The Panda Who Saw the Swallow Carrying Park Seeds', becomes stronger.]

[The influence of the story you were involved with, 'The Turtle With The Golden Egg and The Panda Who Happened to be There', becomes stronger.]

[The name of 'Kim Dokja' begins to become known throughout the <Star Stream>.]

Originally, it would have been impossible to repair the stories in this way.

However, this was only possible because this was the 'Recycling Center', permission was obtained from the owners of the stories, and the grade of the story itself was low.

"As you know, if the story level increases, you can’t fix it this way."

It is not easy to intervene on stage in a legendary story.

If the repair had been easy, Kim Dokja would have gotten a lot of stories like 「The Secretive Plotter and Kim Dokja」 or 「The Dokkaebi King and Kim Dokja」.

[Attribute proficiency increases.]

Anyway, this 'Operation Repair' was quite enjoyable for me.

I earned coins, acquired story shares, and built up proficiency related to characteristics.

I think my skill level related to 'writer' has probably increased. I can't check it because the Attribute Window is still not open.

"I knew that there were 'story repairers' in the demon world, but this was the first time I knew that we could fix stories like this."

"Because it’s a method that doesn’t appear in the main story."

"How did you know, Dokja-ssi?"

"I read Ways of Survival."

Ye Hyunwoo chuckled, probably thinking it was a joke.

"At times like this, you really seem like Dokja-ssi."

"It’s a compliment, right?"

"Dokja-ssi."

"Yes."

"Dokja-ssi."

"Yes."

"Are you really Dokja-ssi?"

Come to think of it, Ye Hyunwoo had asked the same question before.

"In a way."

At my answer, which was different from before, Ye Hyunwoo was silent for a moment.

Night was falling again in Zone 13.

Ye Hyunwoo asked as he looked at the smoke rising from the chimney of the house across from the vacant lot.

"Do you have a family?"

"I have my parents."

For the first time in a while, I remembered my parents' faces. Parents who remind me of a gentle spring night.

"I’m jealous. I don’t have one."

I stood there in silence for a moment, not knowing what to say.

In times like this, should I comfort him or ask him something more?

Now that I think about it, I still didn't know anything about Ye Hyunwoo.

He is the 7th Apostle of the Apostle Society, and a friend of Noh Jiyoon, the daughter of Dansu ahjussi.

That was all I knew about 'Ye Hyunwoo'.

What is his real name? Is he a man or a woman, where does he live, and what are his favorite hobbies?

I have no idea.

"Even when I go back to reality, there’s no one waiting for me."

I recalled that Ye Hyunwoo was listed as a 'character'. At that time, I asked what our goal was, and Ye Hyunwoo answered like this.

「"Being happy?"」

The air in the area felt subtly distorted.

"Hyunwoo, it’s not like that. It’s definitely true in real life too—"

"Was Kim Dokja happy in real life?"

I closed my mouth.

Ye Hyunwoo continued to ask.

"Could it be that Kim Dokja also ran away to this world because reality was painful?"

I couldn't answer. It was a question that should not be answered now.

"If someone should become 'Kim Dokja'."

Ye Hyunwoo’s voice from behind changed.

"Wouldn’t it be more reasonable for someone who has nothing more to lose to become 'Kim Dokja'?"

In that moment I turned my head due to an eerie feeling and realized something sharp passed by my cheek.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

742 Episode 30 Zodiac (4)

---

Spots of blood and thin cuts.

A few hairs fluttered and fell to the floor due to Ye Hyunwoo's wind.

I looked down at the hair and said.

"If it is reasonable for someone who has nothing more to lose to become 'Kim Dokja', then it is not right for Hyunwoo to become Kim Dokja as well."

"I know."

To conclude, Ye Hyunwoo's attack was not directed at me.

Ye Hyunwoo's wind passed by me and collided with something in the air on the other side.

The sound of something falling on the floor. Sounds reminiscent of the claws of large animals were scattered about.

When [Way of the Wind] was activated from Ye Hyunwoo's fingertips, the face of the assassin hiding in the alley was revealed.

"Tsk-"

The assassin had the face of a bear. The so-called Bear Beastman.

It was an animal that had never been seen here before.

The guy must have sensed danger and immediately growled and ran out of the alley.

But Ye Hyunwoo was faster.

Ye Hyunwoo, who flew with [Way of the Wind], was already standing behind the beast.

“Quad deuk.”

The bear's knees bent to opposite sides, making an eerie sound.

As the bear howled in pain, Ye Hyunwoo grabbed the back of its neck and asked.

"What are you doing, you?"

A completely different tone from usual. Gurgling, blood bubbles flowed from the mouth of the frightened bear beast.

"Who ordered you here? Tell me. If you don’t speak until the count of three, you will die."

A menacing tone of voice that he never showed in front of me. I once again realize what kind of person he is.

He is the 7th aApostle of the Apostolic Association and the actual representative of Chungmuro.

"One."

While coming this far, Ye Hyunwoo must have been caught up in countless plots and schemes that I was unaware of.

The bear beast panted and spoke as if in a fit.

"You will never succeed."

The prisoner was left lying limp on the floor. It looks like the stories and magic power he had were not enough.

It was almost surprising that a surprise attack was attempted in this condition.

Ye Hyunwoo frowned.

"Shall we wake him up again and torture him the Kim Dokja way?"

It was then that I heard a system message in my ears.

[Your approval rating drops.]

[Currently, 68% of prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

It was strange.

Since the start of full-scale narrative repair, the approval rating has not fallen even once.

But why is the approval rating dropping at this time?

[Your approval rating drops.]

[Currently, 67% of prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

Ye Hyunwoo also looked at me, probably feeling uncomfortable.

"Something doesn’t feel right. I guess my companions…"

I saw a group of shadows approaching through a dark alley.

Lanterns rising one by one from the darkness.

It wasn't like they came to ask for a change in the story. This was because the faces of the prisoners swaying like ghosts above the lanterns were unfamiliar.

Not only the face but also the size was the same. Their physiques are at least twice as large as those of the beasts in the nearby area.

[It was true that the southern wolves were exterminated.]

A mantra that sends shivers down your spine.

There was a brown bear there, a meter taller than the other beasts, wearing a skull mask that covered half of its face.

[The Constellation 'A bear that will Spare One's life if One pretends to be Dead'’s eyes are flashing.]

Judging by the pressure felt and the atmosphere it gave off, there was no doubt about it.

That guy is a 'Historical-grade Constellation'.

[The story that makes up this incarnation has been greatly worn.]

To be precise, it is the incarnation of a Historical-grade Constellation that has lost most of its stories and whose status has been greatly reduced.

An animal-type Constellation that failed to enter the <Zodiac> and remained in Zone 13.

It seemed to be a similar case to 'The Wolf Who Covets Little Red Riding Hood', which we fought against before.

In the darkness, the brown bear's huge claws gave off a cold light.

[Kill them all. The southern part of Zone 13 is the 'Bear' area from today.]

After repeating his words in unison, the bear beasts began plundering, crushing all the surrounding houses with their huge paws.

"W-what! Kwaaaaaaaa!"

Claws flew in without asking or answering. The prisoners, their entire houses torn apart, were screaming.

[Your approval rating drops.]

[Currently, 66% of the prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

I understand why the approval rating continues to decrease. Those bears were randomly slaughtering the prisoners in Zone 13 who supported us.

Looking at the numbers, the number of troops seems to be well over 300.

Ye Hyunwoo opened his mouth.

"That guy is the same case as the 'wolf' back then, right?"

"Yes. I think we need to be careful. This time, there is no story to use."

With the wolves, the「Three Little Pig」scenario was in effect, so staging could be used.

This time the case is different.

But Ye Hyunwoo had calm eyes.

"Here, would I be like Kim Dokja by taking the lead and fighting, or would I be more like Kim Dokja if I had to hide behind and encourage my companions?"

I thought for a moment and then answered.

"They both feel like Kim Dokja."

Kim Dokja would have been at the forefront of the fight while encouraging his companions to fight behind the scenes.

Ye Hyunwoo nodded his head as if he understood what I said.

"Then I'll do as I please here."

Black magic power flowed from Ye Hyunwoo's whole body. I was a little surprised because it was my first time seeing him truly start a story.

[The story 'Armless Panda' growls.]

Originally, Ye Hyunwoo was a supporter-type incarnation who mainly used [Magic Charge] and [Magic Sharing] skills.

A skill position with a combination in mind with Gong Pildu, who uses [Magic Turret] from the beginning.

However, here, Ye Hyunwoo gained the power to change his position.

"Kaaaaak!"

Every time Ye Hyunwoo's sword moved, there was a cracking sound of something breaking. It was the same fist that had grazed my mask earlier.

The bears who saw Ye Hyunwoo screamed.

"Bear?"

"Stop! We are the same kind!"

"I'm not a bear."

Ye Hyunwoo said without a smile, holding a bamboo stick near his mouth.

"I'm a panda."

Most of the beastmen in Zone 13 are incarnations whose stories have been damaged.

However, there were also people who had made a name for themselves before joining the 'Recycling Center'. Those prisoners were unable to stop Ye Hyunwoo and fell out one after another.

Now Ye Hyeonwoo has combat power comparable to that of the highest-level incarnations, even with his support-related skills sealed.

"Oh my god, is this guy really him?"

"The 'panda' is here!"

"Kill the damn story thief!"

A story thief?

As the angry bears all rushed towards Ye Hyunwoo, Ye Hyunwoo's hands and feet also was ready to get busy.

Just then, my colleagues sensed the commotion and ran out from inside the brick house.

"What are those bears?"

"No, those bastards— Hyunwoo-ssi!"

Dansu ahjussi, Kyung Sein, and Cha Yerin, who must have been sleeping, also rubbed her eyes and stuck her face out the window.

Afterwards, the crane owner came out screaming. The crane owner, who quickly looked around, seemed to have realized what was going on.

"Brown bear! What on earth are you doing? Why are you doing this—"

The brown bear paid no heed to the crane's words and continued to trample on the southern house site.

Kyung Sein asked with a frown.

"What are those bears?"

"These are the bears that rule the northern part of Zone 13. They never crossed over when there were wolves…"

The crane owner, his beak clenched, answered.

"I don’t know either. Why are they suddenly doing something like this… I heard that the northern beastmen are also showing favor towards them recently."

[Your approval rating drops.]

[Currently, 65% of the prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

In the end, the crane owner also made a decision.

"All southern beasts, take up arms! Defend your home from the northerners!"

"Those who are injured, hide inside the brick house!"

The situation was not good. If this is the case, it will ultimately lead to conflict between the north and south.

[Your approval rating drops.]

[Currently, 64% of the prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

The fight must be stopped.

If we cannot stop it, we must at least protect the prisoners in the southern region.

"If you can’t fight, just pretend to be dead! Then you have a chance of survival!"

The modifier of the brown bear that leads the bears is 'a bear that will Spare One's Lifeif One pretends to be dead'.

Judging by the story, if you're lucky, there's a chance that 'pretending to be dead' might work.

But that too is nothing more than a makeshift.

[Your approval rating drops.]

[Currently, 63% of the prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

How do we stop fighting?

Let's think. There is a reason for every incident in the <Star Stream>. There may be a reason why the bears came to the south now.

At that time, a shout from a corner caught my ear.

"Kill the panda!"

"Why does it appear in all the stories!"

"What’s so fun about chewing bamboo all the time!"

"I can roll around too!"

No way.

"Caught you!"

A bear whose nose was hit by Ye Hyunwoo passed out.

The number of bear beasts that Ye Hyunwoo had defeated had already exceeded ten, but the bears were still desperately clinging only to Ye Hyunwoo.

The reason was obvious.

"These bears want to become 'pandas'."

I shouted with all my magic.

"Everyone, stop!"

One by one, the bears surrounding Ye Hyunwoo turned to look at me.

"I will help your stories become famous again."

The bear beastmen's eyes were shaking when they heard what I said. It works.

"There’s no need to fight like this. If you’re jealous of the panda, you too can—"

[Shut up!]

With the brown bear's mantra, the bears stopped. The bears looked at each other and bared their teeth at us again.

[Kill him! Don’t let anyone who pretends to be dead live!]

I didn't understand. I told them this much, but they're still attacking me?

I activated 「Persistent Murim Master」 and cut down the two charging bears.

As I watched the bears' claws that had been clawing at me break apart, I realized how serious their condition was.

Each and every one of the seemingly fearsome bear beastmen was in need of immediate reinforcement.

These are people whose balance in their incarnation body has been completely destroyed due to the accumulation of life in the impoverished Zone 13.

They were attacking, ignoring their own lives.

[The story of the lost name is falling apart.]

Tales that are so old that it is unclear whether they can be staged.

Stories whose names have even disappeared and even the <Star Stream> has forgotten them.

A conversation with Lycaon from a few days ago flashed through my mind.

【I understand what student wants to do. But not everyone can be saved by student.】

At the time, I didn't know what that meant.

【Can we force our dreams on those who have lost their own stories forever, student?】

There are people in the world who have lost 'their own story' forever.

"Kill the panda! If you kill it, you will get the story!"

"It’s mine. It’s mine!"

"Aim for him! He has more stories than the panda!"

"There’s a wolf over there too!"

In a world where their own stories disappeared, what they could do was limited.

"Aim for the brick house! Most of the new stories are held by the beastmen over there!"

Stealing other people's dreams.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

743 Episode 30 Zodiac (5)

Killer King, who killed a charging bear, took a deep breath and said.

"This reminds me of the Demon World. Something similar happened there too."

I smiled bitterly.

Certainly, something similar happened in the demon world in the main story. The crowd, incited by the duke's henchmen, harassed Kim Dokja like they are doing now.

"You sound like you were there at the scene."

"If you read a story a hundred times, it becomes no different from what you actually experienced."

"Then you must know that something is strange about the current situation."

I saw bears looting houses. Even though we killed quite a few bears, there were still a lot of them. In fact, the number seemed to have increased even more than before.

"There is no way the bears would attack at this time."

"Why do you think so? It’s enough for those who are hungry for stories—"

"No matter how greedy you are, it won’t be more precious than your life. The rumor that we have an 'Outer God' would have spread throughout Zone 13."

Of course, according to the contract with me, Lycaon cannot intervene in the battle in any way. However, the <Zodiac>, including the beastmen of Zone 13, do not know that fact.

There was no way the northern bears would have hastily invaded this place, knowing of Lycaon's existence.

"That means—"

"Plundering the stories is only in name. Their real goal is probably to cause as many casualties as possible in Zone 13."

Among the casualties, there must have been prisoners who supported us or had feelings for us. When they die, our approval ratings naturally drop.

Killer King's eyes narrowed.

"Did these guys receive orders from the Chinese Zodiac?"

"Maybe so."

The <Zodiac>, which wanted to avoid direct conflict with us, has moved the bears in the north and is killing the beastmen in Zone 13 who support us.

It was reasonable to think so.

"Then can I kill that leader?"

I saw a brown bear displaying its mighty strength from afar—'a bear that will come back to life if One pretends to be dead.'

"I’m not sure. If he wasn’t the one who planned this invasion, killing him won’t end the fight."

I narrowed my eyes and stared into space.

Bear Beastmen are beings who are swayed by other people's stories because they do not have 'their own stories'. If so, there must also be a story that led them here.

If only we could find the source of the story—

"It takes time."

"How much."

"Five minutes is enough."

"No problem."

Killer King answered confidently, but everyone knew that he could never be sure.

It’s different from when he faced the wolves in「The Three Little Pigs」.

Although the brown bear was a discarded Constellation, it still had some of the power of a Constellation, and its subordinate Bear Beastmen numbered in the hundreds.

On the other hand, our beastmen are only herbivores with weak fighting power.

"Kaaaaak!"

The fleeing southern prisoners hurriedly hid in the 'Brick House', but the brick house did not function properly as it did in 'The Three Little Pigs'.

"Are the wolves really not able to destroy houses like this?"

"You idiots."

Bears are not affected by「The Three Little Pigs」. Their physique was also much better than that of a wolf.

Moreover, crucially—

[The story 'A group who covet the throne of the Overthrown' continues its storytelling.]

The power of the 'brown bear’s story’ was formidable. It's usually a story about hyenas, but I never thought a brown bear would have it.

「The group that covets the throne of the Overthrown is a story in which the group becomes more powerful as the number increases.」

Perhaps because of the power of the story, the bears that had fallen were getting back up and attacking.

"We’re being pushed back!"

The southern prisoners who were fighting began to run away one by one.

As the battle line suddenly collapsed, the crane owner also screamed.

"Don't run away! Fight back!"

Once the battle line was broken, it could not be recovered and began to fall back to ruin. It's The moment when even the crane owner lost his fighting spirit.

"Aaaah! Not even one of them can pass by!"

Kyung Sein let out a loud cry and jumped up like a flying squirrel. [Way of the Wind] crushed the charging bears.

It was Cha Yerin who exploded the heads of the fallen bears.

Cha Yerin is more skilled at [Way of the Wind] than anyone else in the group.

She was decapitating the heads of all the bears with her kicks.

At that time, a bear hiding under the corpses of his colleagues took advantage and aimed at Cha Yerin's side.

The person who stopped him was Dansu ahjussi who came running like a tank.

With a loud bang, the bear with its torn body flew through the air.

"When we were all gathered together in the brick house, I felt like I was with my family…"

The speed is unbelievably fast for a turtle.

Dansu ahjussi grinned at me.

"I feel angry for the first time in a while."

At the forefront of the group was a man wearing a pitch-black coat.

"Don’t let anyone die. I won’t allow it."

Killer King added without looking back.

"Same goes for you, Kim Dokja."

「Way of the Wind created small storms throughout the battlefield.」

Until a few days ago, even dealing with the wolf harvesters was difficult for the group.

They were now pushing back Bear Beastmen that were several times their size.

Truly incredible growth.

The battle lines that had been pushed back quickly recovered, and even the brown bears began to retreat, unable to withstand wave after wave of attacks from the party. It got to the point where I thought maybe we could just push on like this.

[Gaaaa— you guys!]

The brown bear, hit by Killer King's bowgun in succession, roared in anger.

[Catch those guys first! Take away their masks!]

The bears, ignoring the attack, immediately blocked the group's escape route and rushed towards them.

I urgently shouted to my companions.

"Avoid everyone!"

We must not lose our mask here. If the mask is taken away, 'humanization' occurs again and the person is excluded from the scenario. Power is taken away.

[The 'Mask' exists to cover something.]

As if reading my thoughts, the brown bear spoke.

[Stagnation, weakness, neglect. Or the truth. The will to cover up a weak mind soon becomes a 'mask'.]

A brown bear wearing a half-mask looked at me and smiled evilly.

[Wearing a mask means hiding behind one's own deficiencies. You guys who wear masks without knowing that—]

The brown bear's eyes, which burst into flames, gave off a dazzling light.

[Rather, it is begging for attacks on its weak points.]

The first to suffer was Kyung Sein.

A mask is an item made up of stories.

The mask of Kyung Sein, who was attacked by the Bear Beastmen, cracked, and the story of the mask began to flow.

「Kyung Sein wanted to become strong.」

Kyung Sein 'mask' is a squirrel.

「He grew his small body and trained his muscles. He felt like if he did that, others wouldn’t look down on him.」

I remembered the muscular man wearing the [Judge Heewon] name tag.

「But can you really say that you have become stronger because of that?」

It seemed like Kyung Sein was shouting something as she stretched out her hand towards me.

The rushing bear trampled on Kyung Sein's hand.

The sound of something being torn apart.

"Sein-ssi!"

The first to jump among the bears was Dansu ahjussi. Dansu ahjussi, who charged like a cannon, curled up with his body holding Kyung Sein.

A story flowed from the broken mask of the man named Lee Dansu.

「I want to live a long time.」

The mask of Dansu ahjussi is 'turtle'.

「I want to live even a little longer.」

The image of Dansu ahjussi wearing a patient gown came to mind.

The moment I finally couldn't bear it anymore and was about to run towards them, someone grabbed my shoulder.

"I'll go."

It was Cha Yerin.

"Yerin-ssi."

"I'll look for a story about controlling bears."

Cha Yerin used [Way of the Wind] like an acrobat to break through the path and approach Kyung Sein and Lee Dansu.

A huge shadow appeared behind Cha Yerin.

"Yerin-ssi!"

The brown bear's huge front paw hit Cha Yerin's back. However, Cha Yerin, who crouched down with good timing, created a 'Snail House' and blocked the blow.

[Like this shell—]

As the brown bear with bright eyes continued to hit the snail house, the corner of the house broke and fell.

「I need a place to go back to.」

Cha Yerin's 'mask' is a snail.

「We also need a home.」

Her stories, which she had grown up with in an orphanage with her brother, were being cruelly crushed by the bear's paw.

It was Ye Hyunwoo who blocked that front step.

The brown bear growled.

[How dare you eat bamboo.]

The weight of the brown bear's front paw collided with Ye Hyunwoo's fist.

Ye Hyunwoo, who was exhausted, was easily pushed aside due to his physical strength. With the sound of air bursting, Ye Hyunwoo's body rolled around on the floor.

The brown bear spoke while trampling Ye Hyunwoo's chest.

[Kill it.]

The bears that rushed in bit Ye Hyunwu’s entire body.

A story flowed from Ye Hyunwoo’s torn panda mask.

「You must live faithfully.」

Ye Hyunwoo was always sincere.

「Only in this way can we survive.」

For a moment, I thought I knew why his mask was 'panda'.

「Only then can we avoid extinction.」

He was more planned and systematic than anyone else, but maybe he actually wanted to rely on someone.

「Actually, I don’t want to do anything.」

Peacefully, quietly eating bamboo like a panda that can only live in a zoo.

"Is he going to lie down so pitifully?"

[Tsk—]

The shadow that flew in in an instant blew away the brown bear that was trampling Ye Hyunwoo.

"Breaking the Sky Crumble Fist!"

The startled brown bear backed away in horror.

[What-]

"Red Pheonix Shimpo! Breaking the Sky Kendo! Breaking the Sky Meteor Strike!"

Killer King, who arbitrarily used Yoo Joonghyuk's technical names, was pushing the brown bear with [Way of the Wind].

"Meteor Cham!"

[Wolf bastard—!]

The brown bear roared and hit Killer King on the head.

"Psst", a story flowed from the broken Killer King's mask.

「I am a lone wolf.」

The brown bear laughed as if it was dumbfounded by the story that was being told.

[Foolish wolf, stop back. All your colleagues are finished.]

"My colleagues."

Killer King said, wiping the blood from his lips.

"They will barely die like this."

[Your companions have already become beasts. And you too—]

The huge brown bear's fist moved rapidly. Before he could stop it, Killer King's mask began to break apart.

「I will become a beast.」

Losing one's mask means becoming a prisoner.

The moment I finally couldn't stand it anymore and took a step forward, Killer King shouted.

"Don’t come, Kim Dokja! This is our story!"

I stopped walking.

"Don’t make us feel horrible anymore!"

[You idiot.]

The brown bear laughed. The bear's fists hitting Killer King's face became faster and faster.

Hit it down, get it down. Hit it, hit it again.

Killer King's wolf mask was disastrously broken. Nevertheless, Killer King did not kneel in the end.

I clenched my fists and felt the strange omens of a story rising around me.

I can't explain it well, but I had a feeling.

My companions will be fine.

The stories they had accumulated so far said so.

「"Hyunwoo, how much longer are you going to practice [Way of the Wind]?"」

「"Just one more hour!"」

「"Okay, then I have two hours!"」

「"I've already been there for three hours."」

The sound of wind blowing from somewhere.

「The group is now ready to take off their 'mask'.」

What is the purpose of masks?

The 'mask' in Zone 13 is an item that prevents the incarnation from 'being transformed into a beast'.

However, according to the 'Ways of Survival', that was not the only meaning of the existence of 'masks'.

「The 'mask' exists for the moment when the face hidden beneath the 'mask' is revealed.」

Killer King's face was revealed through the broken mask. Killer King, with his lips burst, grabbed the brown bear's fist.

"Wearing a mask means."

It's been a while since I saw Killer King — Cha Sungwoo's bare face, his lips smiling wryly.

"It means you want to hide something."

The mighty brown bear retreated.

[How… You! The mask would have been broken—]

"Why don’t I become a beast?"

When a person sheds a mask and becomes an animal, it is a type of immune response used by a person with exposed weaknesses to protect themselves.

Nevertheless, Killer King did not become a beast.

That means—

"Because I realized that the world is full of people weaker than me."

[What nonsense—]

"There is no need to hide my weaknesses in front of those who are weaker than me!"

"Stupid, that’s not it."

Ye Hyunwoo woke up before he knew it and was standing next to Killer King. His mask was also broken.

The stories of the broken mask were being absorbed into his face.

"I learned that weakness can also be a 'story'."

"You could say that."

Suddenly, Cha Yerin walked out between the broken snail houses.

"You’re both wrong."

She, standing to the left of Killer King, had also taken off her mask.

"It’s because I gained comrades who will protect each other’s weakest parts."

Kyung Sein, standing on the mountain of fallen bears, shouted.

"You all speak well! Now that the mask is broken, I can see much better!"

With the mask gone, Kyung Sein’s expression looked much refreshed.

The man standing next to him also added a word.

"It’s like we are masks for each other."

The colleagues who had lost their masks stood tall like a breakwater and faced the waves of bears.

Seeing them like that made my heart pound too.

[An incarnation who realized the meaning of 'mask' has appeared in Zone 13!]

They have now proudly become the pillars of this world.

"I’m sure everyone hasn’t forgotten why we are here."

The group nodded one by one at Killer King’s words.

There was a group of people there, facing the stars with their backs to me.

Killer King said.

"I protect Kim Dokja."

I once again realize what my companions were fighting for.

「The Three Little Pigs, The Fox and the Crane, and again, The Goose that Laid the Golden Egg.」

While they re-enacted and re-enacted other stories, this was actually the story they wanted to re-create more than anything else.

[Your story resonates.]

What kind of face do I have?

Will my mask have a matching expression even if I am among them?

I thought of the person who should have seen this scene for me.

Let's remember this scene for him. Let's talk about it when we meet again someday.

There are people who have their own stories because of you.

"Kim Dokja."

Someone came and stood next to me. He, too, had lost his mask on his face. He also overcame the constraints of the mask.

It was natural.

Because he was someone who believed in his own story more than anyone else in this world.

"You guys."

The protagonist of this world.

A regressor who lost his memories and became a boy.

The eyes of the boy, who had grown a little taller in a short period of time, were watching the scene in front of him.

How does this scene appear through the eyes of a regressor who has gone through the same scenario over and over again?

"It seems like there’s something you want to protect."

I opened my mouth for a moment and then slowly nodded.

"Yes. Just like you did."

I saw the back of the group moving forward.

There are countless universes and even more planets.

One of those ephemeral planets.

Born in the same era, choosing one story out of many, reading it and liking it over and over again.

If such a thing is truly possible, the surprise certainly cannot be explained by words such as coincidence or miracle.

Because it cannot be explained, it finally becomes a story.

A story that fascinates the stars, sets the night sky on fire, and ultimately changes the universe.

[A new story begins to sprout in your group.]

The Constellations of this world call the story a tale.

[The possibility of a Nebula germinates in your group.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

744 Episode 30 Zodiac (6)

---

The possibility of a Nebula.

I read the message over and over again.

My heart was beating deeply. Even though there is no incarnation that has become a Constellation yet, there is a 'possibility of a Nebula'.

Perhaps this is also the influence of the newly developed story?

The voices of the group rejoicing were heard from afar.

"They say a new story is sprouting?"

"This can’t be—"

"It was worth including a panda every time I repaired a story fragment."

"Is it really because of that?"

This is a story that neither I nor Han Sooyoung can write.

It was a story that was not found in 'Ways of Survival' or 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' and could only be created by those who read it.

The story was now slowly sprouting before our eyes.

「People who wanted to see the story of a very 'big house'.」

I felt certain that it was fate.

Someday I will transcribe their stories. The emotions and scenery of this moment will be sketched out in crude sentences.

I held on to 'Unbreakable Faith'.

"Yoo Joonghyuk, please protect the brick house."

For the story that will be written someday, I must hold the sword now.

We must protect this moment.

As I slowly blinked, the sound disappeared from my ears. Instead, all I could hear was the sound of stories talking.

[Exclusive attribute effect activates!]

Some stories were familiar and some were unfamiliar. There were disturbing stories, and there were also sad stories.

「I hate pandas」

「I want to be like a panda too」

「All you have to do is defeat the southern guys and steal their stories.」

「Actually, I don't want to do that.」

And there was a story floating around about bears.

A story that incites the bears' desires.

[Story fragment 'Fanning' continues its storytelling.]

「Fanning.」

It was the identity of the story fragment that moved the bear beastmen.

Someone must have used this story fragment to fuel the bears' desire and lead them here.

I looked closely at the way the fragments of the story had been spread.

While the Constellation 'A bear that saves Ones life if Onepretends to be dead' and other bear beastmen are all affected by this 'story fragment'—

「There was one bear that was unaffected by this 'story fragment'.」

The moment our eyes met, he turned his back to me and started running away.

[The item 'Sylphid's Leap Boots' activates!]

[The item's performance is halved due to the scenario effect.]

It doesn't matter if it's halved.

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' opens its eyes!]

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' admires your judgment!]

Fortunately, he wasn't that fast.

Dead end street.

Without hesitation, I swung my 'Unbreakable Faith' at him. With a popping sound, the bear's appearance changed.

There was a 'rat' the size of a small child.

[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' is looking at you!]

「The zodiac.」

It was definitely true.

He is a 'rat', one of the Chinese zodiac animals, belonging to the 'characters'.

I tensed and held the hilt of the sword tightly.

If that is really the <Zodiac>, it must be a Constellation of at least Historical-grade level.

The 'bear that will come back to life if you pretend to be dead' that was talking in the vacant lot was also a Constellation, but it was not of the level of a proper Historical-grade.

But the <Zodiac> is different.

A proper 'Historical-grade Constellation'.

It was a difficult opponent for me now. All kinds of thoughts flowed quickly through my head.

I expected that the <Zodiac> was related to this matter, but I had no idea that the Constellations from the <Zodiac> would be there in person.

Should I run away?

Or should I give it my all and give it a shot before it shows its true power?

What if we use stories?

What if we use Kim Dokja's story from 「Heir of the Eternal Name」?

Or-

[Now, wait a minute—]

Unexpectedly, it was the rat who spoke first.

[Don't hurt me! I didn't come to fight!]

"What?"

Something was strange.

The use of mantras and indirect messages, as well as the sensations felt, were clearly from a Constellation. But the Constellation barely has this level of status?

[I was just watching! I'm curious about what kind of guys you are—]

If you think about it, it was strange that a proper Constellation appeared with its incarnation in tow, but there was no repercussions.

This is the eighth scenario area. If a 'Historical-grade Constellation' had unleashed its true power, the scenario should have exploded a long time ago.

However, there were no signs of a probability aftermath in the surrounding area.

"Don't lie."

[It-it’s true!]

After buying some time by saying something, I observed the guy.

The incarnation of the 'Nail-Eating Rat' is a small, small rat.

No matter how much I tried to sharpen my senses, I could barely feel any fighting power. At this level, it was safe to say that it was almost below a symbolic body.

What is his purpose? Why on earth did he appear here in such an incarnation?

I narrowed my eyes.

The scream of a brown bear was heard behind me.

Finally, the group began to herd the bears. I said, looking back at the bodies of the dead bears.

"That’s what you guys did. You used story fragments to control the bears. Are you going to act like a fool?"

[Well, that might be so! But I didn't order it! I swear!]

[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' shouts that it is real!]

A strangely fearful 'Nail-Eating Rat'.

I glared at that guy and said.

"You didn’t do it?"

The 'Nail-Eating Rat' nodded enthusiastically.

"Then why were you here?"

[I told you earlier! I just want to see you in person—]

"Say it straight."

As I took a step closer and aimed with 'Unbreakable Faith', the 'Nail-Eating Rat' made a 'hissing' sound and quickly continued speaking.

[Yes, actually, I came to ask for an alliance. You guys are also going up to the next 'floor', right?]

"Alliance?"

The eyes of the 'Nail-Eating Rat' rolled to both sides.

[You guys are planning to fight against the Zodiac. Right?]

"You are also part of the Chinese zodiac."

[That's true, but I'm a little different. So, I…]

At that moment, I had a strange feeling.

Rat eating fingernails.

Come to think of it, this Constellation was one of the Constellations that had been watching us from the beginning.

A Constellation that even appeared in my 'behind the scenes selection'.

In other words, this guy has been watching the story of me and my companions for a very long time.

That means.

"You-"

A puzzle that slowly comes together in my head.

There were several Constellations that showed behavior patterns that were clearly different from 'Ways of Survival' or 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' that I had suspected from the beginning.

The 'Nail-Eating Rat' was one of them.

The 'Nail-Eating Rat' must have found some hope in my tone of voice and shook his head fervently.

[Yes, that's right. I am also like you. Me too.]

The guy with his eyes tightly closed seemed to have decided on something and started talking.

[I am a reader like you—]

"I found you, Kim Dokja."

A voice that flutters cold blood. Killer King was there, covered in bears' blood.

Killer King spoke while aiming a bow gun filled with black magic power.

"Get out of the way. I'll kill that rat."

[Heeeeeeeeek!]

The rat, startled, quickly hid behind me.

I continued speaking while stopping Killer King.

"Wait a minute, Killer King-ssi. This is—"

"The 'Nail-Eating Rat'. He is from the zodiac."

"I know that, but he—"

"Possessed people like us."

As if he already knew, Killer King did not withdraw his bowgun. An unusual anger was boiling all over his body.

"This guy is the 'Misreading Association'."

Misreading Association?

"Have you already forgotten what happened at the Edge of Darkness?"

I didn't forget. Of course I remembered it.

The place where I first met the Killer King siblings. There, I fought against the incarnations sent by the Constellations of the Misreading Association.

The guy who sent those incarnations back then was also a 'rat'.

[Oh, no. I am not a tyrant! Really!]

"It's a lie. They know we can't use [Lie Detection] here, so they're deceiving us."

[Because it's not! It's really unfair!]

"I saw you exchanging indirect messages with the Misreading Association Constellations in the past."

At Killer King's words, the 'Nail-Eating Rat' once again rolled its eyes.

[Oh, no. Is it so. I did talk to them a bit! But really, I’m not from the Misreading Association!]

"Questions and answers are useless. Die."

[Eeeeeek!]

The moment I thought about whether I should stop Killer King, the white-faced 'Nail-Eating Rat' crouched down and shouted.

[Shit! It's ruined! The 'Misreading Association' you know is already ruined!]

For the first time, Killer King stopped moving.

"What does that mean?"

[After all, there is no such thing as the 'Misreading Association' that you know! So, stop targeting us!]

If you look at it that way, the Constellations on the side of the 'Misreading Association' have not been visible at all recently.

Killer King, who had been staring at the guy for a while, slowly lowered his bowgun.

"Explain."

The very excited 'Nail-Eating Rat' started saying things like "This is why I didn’t want to come" and then started crying and screaming.

[I feel really unfair. I didn't really do anything! I'm not the one who moved the beastmen! I, I just want to let you guys know, how much I—]

It was at that time that I heard a thump and a vibration echoing from somewhere.

[How much, how much, ah, ah, ugh—]

The 'Nail-Eating Rat' that was licking its lips suddenly started violently eating its own fingernails.

[Oh, it’s coming. Come. He's coming. The guy is coming.]

What?

[Woa woa woa woa woa woa woa woa woa woa woa woa woa.]

The 'Nail-Eating Rat'’s eyes turned white and he soon collapsed.

Killer King checked the guy’s pulse.

"He’s not dead. But—"

"Something is strange."

The sound of weapons that filled the vacant lot until the end of the war could not be heard at all. The screams and shouts of the prisoners disappeared.

Killer King and I ran toward the clearing.

The prisoners waving their weapons at each other were still there.

They all had their weapons laid down on the floor, their heads buried in the ground, and their palms turned toward the sky.

As if they were worshiping their god.

Even the 'Bear That Spares One's Life if One Pretends to be Dead' was lying quietly on the floor as if he were dead.

A disturbingly strange sight.

"Kim Dokja."

Killer King’s voice trembled.

He was looking at the sky and pointed at something with his finger. A swirling portal was visible high in the sky.

The portal to the upper floor was open.

It was a portal that also appeared in「The Three Little Pigs」. At that time, the symbolic body of the pig Constellations came through that portal.

So what happened this time?

I heard someone approaching from behind.

【Student.】

Lycaon, who had always been in the lotus position while maintaining a small incarnation, returned to his original form.

【Run away right now.】

And then, from somewhere, I started hearing a story.

「…"I won’t eat you."」

A voice from a very old story.

「...delicious.」

I felt a chill as if someone had grabbed my heart.

So far I have met several Constellations. I fought against an Outer God, and even saw 'Ares', a Narrative-grade Constellation.

So, deep down, I thought I wasn’t afraid of things like the Chinese Zodiac.

However.

「Give me a piece of rice cake.」

The moment I saw the shadow of a huge Constellation that seemed to be about a hundred meters tall, I cursed my poor imagination.

Above the distant shadow that covered the ground, glowing red eyes were looking down at us.

Is that really a <zodiac sign>?

「I won’t eat you.」

Its pattern burns like a flame.

A story heard occasionally and intermittently.

I thought I knew who this guy was.

A shadowy pressureslowly raised its head towards me.

Sparks exploded violently in the air, and cold sweat formed on the back of my neck. I felt like my heart was being squeezed and blood was flowing from my nose.

I knew it instinctively.

「That is God.」

There was a Historical-grade Constellation that descended in a form close to its true body.

But how?

How was it possible for that Constellation to descend to this place, where even the pig Constellations had to come as symbols?

It was impossible without a probable cause.

「Probability justification.」

I raised my head, biting my lip. The guy's eyes were right in front of my nose.

"The Tiger Eating Rice Cakes…"

Only then did I realize.

The reason he was able to come here.

"Do you want to take me to the 'Zodiac Ball'?"

It was because of me.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

745 Episode 30 Zodiac (7)

---

The <Zodiac> appears often in 'Ways of Survival', and has clashed with Yoo Joonghyuk several times.

A representative example is the '137th Round'.

However, in order to talk about what happened in the 137th Round, we cannot help but mention the 136th Round first.

As any reader who has succeeded in re-reading the novel like Killer King more than two times knows this, in the 136th Round, Yoo Joonghyuk fights and wins against the 'Dream Eater', an 'Outer God'.

「"I have become stronger."」

To be precise, it wasn't a proper fight, but a one-sided fight, and Yoo Joonghyuk's psychosis broke out — and that psychosis infected the 'God of the Other World', and he won by luck.

But no matter how you win, a win is a win.

The story remains.

[The story 'The One Who Murdered a God of The Other World' begins its storytelling.]

And that was the beginning of the 137th Round in question.

[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' is glaring at incarnation Yoo Joonghyuk.]

[The Constellation tells you to attend the 'Zodiac Ball' if you want to clash with the 'Plague-Carrying Rat'.]

It was a provocation that he would not normally respond to. However, in the 137th round, Yoo Joonghyuk had defeated the 'Dream Eater', a deity from another world, and his liver had come out of his stomach (this is Han Sooyoung's expression), and although he usually did not avoid fights, he did not avoid it even more this time.

As a result, Yoo Joonghyuk falls into a trap at the 'Zodiac Ball' and is lynched to death.

The last thing the dying Yoo Joonghyuk saw was a rabbit stealing his liver and a rat eating his fingernails.

There is no way to know whether the 'Nail-Eating Rat' lived under the guise of Yoo Joonghyuk after that, but there is one clear lesson.

「"A Historical-grade Constellation is also a Constellation."」

The final lesson left by Yoo Joonghyuk in the 137th Round, where his liver and fingernails were torn off.

「So, if you encounter the true body of the Constellation, run away at all costs.」

It was exactly the advice that is valid for me now.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is looking into you.]

A pitch-black shadow covered Zone 13.

At one edge of the shadow, the outline of a tiger was slowly revealed, as if its skin was peeling off.

A height reminiscent of an alpine mountain.

Two red eyes hanging from the top of the mountain were observing me.

They look as if they are carefully examining whether the product they ordered arrived safely and whether there are any stains or scratches.

After a suffocating silence, the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' smiled as if he was satisfied.

[Have you finally arrived?]

The moment I heard the voice, I felt very sick to my stomach.

Yoo Joonghyuk was right.

A Historical-grade Constellation is also a Constellation. A being who built great stories and became a star in the sky.

And this was the true voice of a 'Historical-grade Constellation'. If you were an ordinary person, the moment you heard it, your head would explode.

The reason my companions and I were safe was because the stories we had built up so far were not easy.

"Dokja-ssi, what is that—"

When Kyung Sein opened her mouth, Ye Hyunwoo put a finger to his lips as if to stop her from interfering.

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' smiled strangely, as if he was amazed at us.

[My little bean sprout, you have grown a lot during this time.]

It was an unpleasant expression.

[Now it will be about a small section.]

Is that a joke from the days of 「Sun and Moon」?

Only then did the frozen companions regain their composure one by one.

It seemed that the newly appeared Zodiac sign had no hostility towards us.

That's because with the appearance of this guy, the bear beastmen also stopped their activities.

[I waited for you for a long time.]

I surveyed the atmosphere and tried to say something.

"For all the waiting you've been waiting for, there hasn't been any response lately."

A lot of time has passed since I entered the 'Recycling Center'. Meanwhile, I took first place in the 'Zodiac Race', cleared 'The Three Little Pigs', and defeated the Pig Constellation Brothers.

But while all these things were happening, 'The Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' never once cheered for me.

Even though this place is the home of the <Zodiac>.

Still, it was a Constellation that I believed I had personal exchanges with, so I felt a little disappointed.

Above all, I received support for the 'core of the demon race' in the beginning, and I wanted to say thank you if possible—

[Little one, why did you choose Zone 13?]

A tone that doesn't seem like joking at all.

If you think about it, I had always communicated with him through 'Indirect Messages', so there was no way to know his actual personality.

'The Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' didn't wait for my answer and shook his head to himself before continuing.

[Well, it doesn’t matter. You just have to change the area.]

"Change areas?"

[There is no more time to devote to children's play.]

The Tiger Eating Rice Cakes lightly waved its hand in the air as if it was annoyed.

Then the high portal in the sky swirled, emitting bright light.

[Come with me. I will be your sponsor.]

It's literally a Constellation-like tone and a Constellation-like suggestion.

I opened my mouth nervously.

"I already have a sponsor."

Even though he's in a moribund state and out of contact, and is hardly helpful even when he's not in a moribund state and out of contact, that kind of sponsor is definitely still my sponsor.

So I just can't betray him over something like this. I have no intention of betraying him in the future.

[The synchronization rate with the sponsor increases.]

The tiger twitched his lips as if he was very displeased with that fact.

[That doesn’t matter. Because I want to be your 'supporter', not your 'sponsor'.]

"What does that mean?"

[You will be my agent in the next 'Zodiac Scenario'.]

The 'agent' of the following scenario.

I don't know, but what is certain is that the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is looking for an incarnation to act on his behalf in the next scenario.

If that were the case, the hilt of the sword was on this side.

"Sorry, but I have a scenario to clear in Zone 13."

[If you come with me, you don’t have to worry about such miscellaneous scenarios.]

A system message came from the air along with a humming sound.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' activates the power of the zodiac.]

[The agent selected by the Constellation, 'Tiger' can omit the sub-scenario of the 'Recycling Center'.]

I had an ominous feeling.

Wait for a sec. Are you 'omitting' the scenario I've played so far?

The moment when a bright beam of light flashed from the tiger's huge right hand.

[No, no, no, no.]

A timid mantra was heard from behind. A faint and pale mantra that cannot be believed to be from the same Constellation.

[Go, go, you can't go…!]

Rat eating fingernails.

The gaze of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' that was looking at me moved slowly. The rat that was sticking its head out from behind me hastily lowered its head. The rat's tremors were clearly transmitted through my back.

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' opened its mouth. His true body, half covered in shadows, flashed white fangs.

[The rat was hiding in a place like this.]

A mantra full of life. It was hard to breathe, as if my heart had been bitten.

[I should have killed him right away. This will be your grave.]

"Wait."

I stood protecting the 'Nail-Eating Rat'. The eyebrows of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' arched.

[Little one, what are you doing?]

The atmosphere was becoming increasingly hostile. I swallowed my saliva as I watched the story slowly boiling over.

In fact, it was not a situation for me, a mere incarnation, to step forward. Because 'Nail-Eating Rat' was also one of the <zodiac signs>.

Is that it? In the main story, the 'Nail-Eating Rat' was one of the Constellations that tormented Kim Dokja and eventually died.

However, if I remember correctly, at least in this episode, the 'Nail-Eating Rat' was not a bad guy.

「[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' sponsors you 100 coins.]」

This guy has been rooting for me since the beginning.

「[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon'.]」

There were times when he helped Jung Heewon wake up or lent his hand when I was lacking in probability.

And crucially, he had information that needed to be heard regarding the 'Misreading Association'.

"Tiger Eating Rice Cakes. You probably don’t plan on revealing your status here."

Isn’t this enough reason for me to take a little risk?

"You probably don’t know who’s here."

With a wink of my eye, my faithful escort — Lycaon Isparang, the first wolf, appeared.

【Step aside, Zodiac.】

A presence that brings silence to the area just by uttering a single mantra. Even though he couldn't use his full power because of his contract with me and all he could do was flop around like a wind puppet, he was still a god of another world.

Tsutsutsu…

To be honest, I was very grateful just to help with Mantra. This is because uttering this kind of mantra itself was likely burdensome to Lycaon.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' glares at the 'Lost Guide'.]

As expected, the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' seems to be concerned about Lycaon's presence.

Lycaon has already defeated the symbol of the pig Constellations. Even the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' would not want to take unnecessary risks.

At least as far as I know, everyone in the Chinese Zodiac is a coward.

But there was something I didn't know.

For example, in the 137th round of 'Ways of Survival, Yoo Joonghyuk said this.

「When the opponent is the 'weak', the zodiac guys become horribly persistent predators.」

[Do you think I am a fool?]

Surprisingly, the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' seemed completely unfazed by Lycaon's presence.

[If that guy could use his strength, he would have helped you when the bears came.]

It was the perfect answer.

[In order for the 'Divine God of the Other World' to exist in this low-level scenario, a contract with absurd contents must have been signed. I already know that he can't move.]

I never thought everyone would have guessed what the 'Otherworldly Covenant' was about.

[Your cleverness has been sufficiently proven, so I hope you will stop playing.]

Honestly, I was surprised.

It's not the 'Reclining Dragon,' but is it really the Tiger Eating Rice Cakes?

Although I was a single-minded man who had no choice but to back down, I responded without losing my composure.

"Even if Lycaon can’t fight, it’s the same. If you really use your power, there will likely be repercussions. If I stop you here—"

[My actions are extremely probable. Didn’t I already tell you?]

Tinnitus rang in my head. A story that is still told in real time.

「If you give me a piece of rice cake, I won’t eat it.」

Only then did I understand the meaning of this 'story'.

[I just came to receive my 'rice cake'.]

With his declaration, a system message came to mind.

[You have signed a contract with the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.]

[You received the 'Demon Core' in return for the contract.]

[You must attend the 'Zodiac Ball' in return for the 'Demon Core'.]

I never would have guessed that the promise at that time was replaced in the form of a 'contract'.

Perhaps this is the ability of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

In order to lower my guard, he gave me a much-needed item, but on a condition that seemed relatively trivial.

To hide that this is a 'contract'.

[Do you understand now, little one?]

Now I have to attend the 'Zodiac Ball' without any hesitation.

Although I felt a bit displeased with suddenly becoming his agent, there was honestly nothing I couldn't do.

The problem is this.

If I leave, will the remaining party members be able to clear the scenario on their own?

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

746 Episode 30 Zodiac (8)

---

[Your approval rating drops.]

[Currently, 62% of prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

Honestly, it seemed like it would be difficult for the group to clear the scenario on their own.

There are two reasons.

One, if I leave out of this scenario, there is a high possibility that Bihyung will no longer cooperate.

Then, we will not be able to display the 'stories' we have changed outside of the Recycling Center!

Second, even if Bihyung cooperates, there are many stories that cannot be recreated without my 'mask', which can transform into another animal.

If it is impossible to stage the story, the party members can no longer increase their approval rating through 'mending the stories'.

The conclusion is clear. For the sake of my companions, I must remain here.

It was then that Killer King opened his mouth.

"Go, Kim Dokja. Just me is enough here."

A somewhat resentful voice. His tightly clenched fist was trembling slightly.

"Go first. Go and wait for me."

"Killer King-ssi is right."

Kyung Sein also added a word.

"You can go first. The big crisis has passed. Even the bears seem to have given up. And did you see it earlier? We also have a story!"

"It’s not like we’ll never meet again."

Dansu ahjussi also helped.

Cha Yerin, who was standing next to me, also nodded and said.

"You can trust us."

The only one who didn't say anything was Ye Hyunwoo. For some reason, Ye Hyunwoo glanced in my direction and lowered his head without saying a word.

I looked at Ye Hyunwoo like that and slowly closed my eyes.

Trusting my companions is definitely one way. If they were the ones they are now, they might actually be able to do it somehow.

Even if I fail, I can become the agent of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' and successfully carry out the next scenario, and come back to find my companions.

But if that happens, what happens to the stories we have built here?

Our story built up through 「The Three Little Pigs」, 「The Fox and the Crane」, and 「The Goose That Laid the Golden Egg」.

The time we built up step by step to confront the <Zodiac>, where we cast pandas and wolves and gathered in a small brick house to plan the next 'story'.

"Dokja-ssi?"

Anyone can see that following the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' was the better choice.

We know that what the incarnations want is to have powerful sponsors backing them, compete quickly on a wider stage, and gain rewards.

Still, the reason I hesitate is—

"Tiger Eating Rice Cakes."

This is because I am called 'Kim Dokja' by these people.

"What I promised was to 'attend the Zodiac Ball', not to be your 'agent'."

Kim Dokja became a Constellation himself because he did not want to be an afterthought.

For Kim Dokja, who tried to solve all problems by building up his own stories, this was not a matter of choice.

"I’m sorry, but I will decline your offer. I and my companions will attend the 'Zodiac Ball' on our own."

"Wait a minute, Dokja-ssi!"

"And according to our contract, I’m free when I attend the 'Zodiac Ball'."

I continued speaking firmly without avoiding the gaze of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

Even though the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' had a different personality than I thought, I believed that if I said it this way, he would have understood.

Because.

「The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is definitely a 'reader'.」

It had to be that way.

If the 'Nail-Eating Rat' is a reader, then the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' must also be a reader.

He is the one who has been watching us along with the 'Nail-Eating Rat'. I believed that if he were a reader who was not a member of the 'Misreading Association', he would definitely understand what I meant.

[No, no, no, no, no.]

The rat hiding behind my back trembled and said.

[Run away, run away, run away.]

A violently scurrying rat dragged my sleeve. The rat pointed at the fallen bears with a trembling finger.

Something came to mind later.

「Who is the Zodiac member that led the bears here?」

I turned my head and looked up at the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

Very slowly, goosebumps rose from my toes.

[Your exclusive attributes are extremely active!]

A story that I could not read because I was momentarily overwhelmed by the presence of the Constellation.

'Story fragments' that encouraged the bears' desires and fueled them.

[The story has been interrupted by a story fragment 'Fanning'.]

I could now clearly see where the 'story fragment' originated.

"Tiger Eating Rice Cakes, did you send the bears here?"

I didn't want to believe it.

The indirect messages he had sent to me appeared in my mind one after another.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' agrees with the intentions of incarnation 'Jung Heewon'.]

He understood Jung Heewon's desire to protect what was precious to her.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says that you only need to attend the 'Zodiac Ball' once in the future.]

He even sacrificed a huge amount of probability to give me the 'core of the devil species'.

I didn't want to believe that such a Constellation would have done something like this, that he would have done something that would put 'readers' like him in danger.

"Why-"

An answer I can't help but hear even if I don't want to believe it.

[Story fragment 'Fanning' stutters the story.]

His tale spoke for him.

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' sent bears as scouts to watch Lycaon's movements. And he sacrificed them mercilessly.

The tiger's mouth opened as if spitting out rotten rice cake.

[Are you seriously asking why? Do you think that even small things like this require probability?]

Is the person with the wide-open smile really a 'reader' who has read the same story as our group?

[Little one, this is something your small head cannot understand. Don't think. All you have to do is hold on to the rope I hold out.]

Maybe it wasn't my mistake from the beginning.

The old stories surrounding him spoke on his behalf.

[Legendary story 'The Old and Sick Guardian Deity' mocks your faith.]

[The story 'The Evil Beast' laughs at you.]

[The story 'The One Who Calls The Spear' roars.]

[The story 'A Monster That Eats Humans' is looking at you.]

[The story 'The Owner Of The Rotten Rope'’s eyes shine.]

…

The soul of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is nowhere to be seen in these stories, of which we cannot even tell how old they are. His soul, faintly visible through the gaps in the thickly covered stories, is simply,

[Now it's time to leave.]

It was tiny, like a tiny slice.

"Dokja-ssi!"

The voices of my companions calling me became distant for a moment.

What looked like the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' stretched out its hand towards me.

The moment an irresistible force pulled my body in accordance to the contract, something shook off its power.

A warm and gentle breeze.

There was no need to ask who it was.

"Lycaon."

【Step back, student.】

I tried to speak.

You shouldn't get involved.

That is our contract.

And in this <Star Stream>, a contract is above all a sacred probability.

【It's okay.】

The entire Zone 13 began to shake.

[<Star Stream> detects the unexpected behavior of the 'Lost Guide'.]

[The management bureau controls unexpected situations.]

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' was smiling.

[You're caught, you foolish monster from another world.]

The moment Lycaon's power overflowed, a message flew in from the air.

[<Star Stream> adjusts the scales of probability.]

The power of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' was growing in proportion to Lycaon's power.

Tsutsutsutsu.

No matter how much the opponent is a 'historical-grade Constellation', Lycaon has shown his status here without any contracts or scenarios.

Even the status of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' was stronger than expected.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' roars!]

A blow from the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' flew towards the incarnation body of Lycaon, which was shaking uneasily.

[Go away, monster from another world—!]

A huge rope was clamped in the tiger's mouth like a whip. As the tiger's head struck the top with all its might, as if turning its head, the rope flew in, creating a huge shock wave.

【Student.】

Lycaon threw his whole body to block the attack. As if protecting the only path allowed to him.

【There is not much space allowed to me. Because I am not the main character of this world. So, I will keep it short.】

I knew it instinctively. Now Lycaon is trying to tell me 'what should not be said'.

But why?

【The entity you are looking for is in the 'deep sea of ■■■'.】

"Lycaon, wait a minute! What is that—"

【Find other writers. Collect the world's disappearances, and—】

Lycaon's body was disappearing. His wind was disappearing. I extended my hand towards Lycaon.

【Become the 'Kim Dokja' you want to be.】

Lycaon's voice was scattering in the wind. His strong shoulders and magnificent mane were disappearing.

At the last moment, a faint smile appeared on Lycaon's face.

【Thank you for telling me your story. So, I will also tell you the last story.】

Lycaon's incarnation body was oxidized.

Beyond the bright blue smoke, the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' was smiling.

I looked down blankly at the spot where Lycaon had disappeared. Something was sparkling there.

「SVRP. PW 041.」

Unusual object report.

[Way of the Wind has already been recorded in the object ■■■.]

It was a 'record' left by Lycaon, a recorder of fear.

「Suggesting direction for the complete restoration process of the object. The important thing is to 're-read'.」

Read again.

If it had been before, I wouldn't have understood what that meant. I would have answered that I had already read that sentence, that I had read it over and over again.

It was I who wrote that sentence, so I know that sentence better than anyone else.

But at that moment, I realized.

「A gale in my left hand」

'Re-reading' something did not mean 'reading again' what I knew.

「A storm in my right hand」

It is the same as 'transcendence'.

Just as Yoo Joonghyuk ascends to the transcendental throne with new enlightenment every time,

「In places where straight lines and curves collide」

I also have to understand sentences in a new way every time.

「The path of the wind will open.」

But how.

"Lycaon."

I smile bitterly and speak to Lycaon, who cannot hear.

"I still don’t know what that means."

What I understand is just the time Lycaon and Kim Dokja spent together.

A deep night when even the Dokkaebi King would have fallen asleep.

Lycaon often woke up and taught me [Way of the Wind], and when I couldn't find the answer, we talked about old times together.

【Student, but then in the dark castle...】

【Student, in the Holy Demon War...】

【Student, when the archangel closed the door on the ark...】

That's Kim Dokja's story from the past.

Lycaon mainly asked about Kim Dokja's feelings, so most of them were questions I couldn't answer.

I answered with the thought that I had become Kim Dokja. I imagined an answer that only Kim Dokja could give.

Strangely enough, if I keep answering like that,

【Okay. You did that.】

For some reason, I felt like Kim Dokja really was inside me.

【Thank you, student.】

As I look at the moon rising on the ceiling of Zone 13, I recall the last question Lycaon asked.

【By the way, student. Did you too... did you ever want to go home?】

A wolf's finger pointing to a large moon. Looking at Lycaon's eyes illuminated by the moon, I thought about him for the first time.

Lycaon before the scenarios begin. The wolves of Kronos running across the grassland. The wolf prince roared into the wind from the front.

Only then did I understand 're-reading'.

It doesn't matter what sentence is written there.

Reading something means reading the time added to that sentence. Estimating the time between lines accumulated while writing, reading, and imagining the sentence.

Understanding the time spent as a wolf running through a destroyed world, and responding to that time.

"Yes, I wanted to go back too."

It is not the sentence that changes, but the person who reads it that changes.

[You understand 'Way of the Wind'.]

The road has been opened.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

747 Episode 30 Zodiac (9)

---

It wasn't a metaphor. The road was literally opening up before my eyes.

A pleasant tailwind that spreads throughout my body.

[Story fragment 'Way of the Wind' circles around you.]

Once I took one step, I could see where to take the next step, and where to take the next step.

This was [Way of the Wind].

Kim Dokja's main skill, as acknowledged by others, is No. 1.

With this skill, Kim Dokja took one step at a time and reached the end of the world.

[The story fragment 'Way of the Wind' nods.]

If someone had seen it, they might have asked if it was just [Way of the Wind]. But for me, the fact that I got as close to the 'Demon King of Salvation' with [Way of the Wind] alone was important.

[That power.]

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' looked at me and opened his mouth.

[Interesting.]

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' had an expression as if he were Yoo Joonghyuk from the 137th round, who defeated the Dream Eater.

[Is this a story fragment given to you by the dead wolf?]

"Lycaon is not dead. There is no way he could have been killed by a Constellation that was barely Historical-grade."

For a very brief moment, a slight agitation flashed across the 'Tiger''s face.

"Now, go back. I think you've had enough of bean rice cake or sirutteok."

[I'm still hungry.]

"You don't seem to know, but that's 'fake hunger'. It means you're not really hungry."

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is a Constellation that exists based on the story of 'The Sun and the Moon'. There are many mixed stories, but basically, he was a guy who tried to eat the main character's brother and sister, but failed and fell into a sorghum field and died.

Because he was unable to obtain what he wanted in the end, his story is full of resentment, hatred, and greed.

"If you fail to manage false hunger, you will experience accelerated aging. Don't you know?"

His thirst and hunger were both triggered by his stories.

[Little one, human life is too short to understand the Constellations.]

But what if the soul of an ordinary person suddenly possessed someone somewhere in the middle of the story?

"Since when were you a Constellation?"

Now I can see it. A small soul swaying slightly among the stories surrounding him. A small piece, or a soul smaller than soybean paste.

"I don’t know who you really were, but I ask you for one last time. Please get out of here."

That Constellation was a 'reader'. Even if not now, he was definitely a reader at least at one time.

That's why I endured that spirit just once.

"I will keep my promise to you. I will definitely attend the Chinese Zodiac Ball, but I cannot be your agent."

At the last moment, Lycaon spoke.

「Become the Kim Dokja you want to be.」

The Kim Dokja I want.

I don't know what that is.

Maybe that is not Kim Dokja, and maybe there is no such thing in the world.

However, if such a 'Kim Dokja' really exists,

"Leave from here immediately."

That 'Kim Dokja' will give the 'reader' in front of him one chance.

Of course, whether he would receive that opportunity was a separate matter.

Tsutsutsu, the ground in the area violently vibrated along with the sound.

Now that the 'scale of probability' has disappeared, the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' will not be able to show the power to astonish the world as before.

But it didn't seem like he would go away like this. Because he still had the justification of 'contract with me'.

[Do you think you have become someone great just by learning Way of the Wind?]

It was clearly a disparaging tone.

That's right.

He is indeed a 'Constellation' and [Way of the Wind] is at best a technique used to seal the 'Disaster of Questions'.

"Do you know much about Way of the Wind?"

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' stretched out his front paws into the air without saying a word. Then the blood-red rope tied to his front paw swirled and flew toward me.

I guess my patience ends here. Now I have to recommend 're-reading' to our readers.

[Your exclusive attribute is activated.]

[Your understanding of the story fragment 'Way of the Wind' is very high!]

I quickly rose to the level of the guy who was tens of meters tall.

Once, twice, three times, I can see where I need to step to accelerate faster. I accelerated and accelerated to the point where I couldn't even hear the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' shout.

At the end of that acceleration, there was 'Unbreakable Faith'.

Although the skill was sealed and I couldn’t use [White Blue Steel], it didn’t matter.

[The story fragment 'Way of the Wind' follows your will.]

「Way of the Wind was not simply a technique used to accelerate the body or fly through the air.」

Just as Kim Dokja used [Way of the Wind] to create a 'vacuum prison' to overcome the disaster of questions, there are endless ways to use technology depending on how you understand the wind.

[Little one, if you don’t stop right away—!]

The front paw of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' flew towards me precisely. I dodged the guy's front foot with a narrow trajectory, and then slammed 'Unbreakable Faith' onto his forearm.

An attack that would normally not work.

But now, [Way of the Wind] was wrapped around my 'Unbreakable Faith'.

Kuddddd.

The so-called [Wind Blade]. It was an application of Lycaon's enlightenment of constantly rotating using the drawings of straight lines and curves.

A story bounced from his front paw with a light sibilant sound.

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' sighed briefly and opened his mouth.

[You have quite a bit of talent when it comes to small sections.]

I responded with a grin.

"You speak like a real Constellation."

[What?]

"Is there an academy that teaches how to speak like this? Or…"

[The story 'The old and sick guardian spirit' is angry at you!]

"Are you being controlled by that old story?"

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' exploded with the Tiger's Claws. It felt like a bomb made of sound was exploding across the sky.

「Way of the Wind was activated to its maximum level to simplify the impact.」

I fell to the ground, rolled around in the clearing, and then woke up. Blood flowed from the corner of my mouth.

Is it not possible yet?

Well, if just learning [Way of the Wind] would equal a Historical-grade Constellation, Kim Dokja wouldn't have gone through that trouble.

In any case, the provocation seemed to have worked well, as old stories from the predecessor of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' were running wild.

Did this buy me some time?

"Kim Dokja, what on earth are you thinking?"

Killer King, who flew in using [Way of the Wind], supported me and said.

"What you see is what it is."

I said, looking up at the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' running wild.

"I want to fight that guy and win."

"You are so crazy."

Killer King was silent for a moment.

He just lowered his head in exasperation and added a word while deliberately ignoring me.

"Sorry."

"What? I just chose this because it was more fun."

"...Because it’s fun?"

"Because it deserves to be more of a 'story'."

Kim Dokja said something similar every time he made an absurd choice.

Because this is more fun.

This is a development that the Constellations will be more pleased with.

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' snorts.]

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' is surprised by your judgment.]

But was that really just a consideration of the Constellations’ gaze?

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' is worried about you.]

In fact, perhaps Kim Dokja himself wanted that development to unfold.

"Dokja-ssi."

"Yes."

Before I knew it, Kyung Sein had flown in and was standing next to me.

"Thank you."

Before I could answer, Kyung Sein burst out saying the words she had been holding back.

"I was so nervous because I thought you were really leaving us behind! Although I trust the other group members—"

"Aren’t we the people who gathered around 'Kim Dokja'?"

Dansu ahjussi also added his words.

Cha Yerin and Ye Hyunwoo also stood on either side of the group as if they agreed.

Killer King asked,

"What is the operation?"

"You just have to hold on for now. Until he becomes less probable ."

"Is that even a strategy?"

"I thought it was a plan worthy of Killer King."

I briefly conveyed the situation to my companions through [group chat].

It was about the 'invitation to the Chinese Zodiac Ball' that I and the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' had formed.

Killer King, who heard everything, said with admiration.

"I see. It’s a plan worth setting up."

"Yes?"

"But can that also be a probability of advent?"

I nodded and answered Kyung Sein's question.

"It’s a small probability. So, he won’t be able to stay strong for long. There’s no way he’ll be able to use his strength properly."

"What if you’re wrong?"

"Even if I’m wrong."

I continued, measuring the depth of the night sky.

"If we last until midnight tonight, we can win for sure."

"Midnight?"

[New sub-scenario has arrived!]

The sub-scenario had just arrived.

For some reason, it seemed like the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' didn’t react for quite a long time, and it seems like it was a precursor to the scenario.

<Sub Scenario – Chinese Zodiac Race>

Category: Sub

Difficulty: S+

Clear conditions: Survive the zodiac sign 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

Time Limit: —

Reward: Unidentified story fragment, 300,000 coins, ???

Failure: Death.

The strategy goal is not 'kill' but 'survive'.

That meant that this fight was unfavorable to us.

At the beginning of the scenario, the 'Tiger' who calmed down the stories frowned.

[They are really annoying people.]

Although his tone is threatening, he is no longer able to launch powerful attacks in succession like before. No matter how likely it is that he came to keep his contract with me, there is no way he could cause an unreasonable hemorrhage like when he confronted Lycaon.

[The story 'The One Who Calls The Ghost' begins its storytelling.]

Nevertheless, he was still a 'Constellation'.

[Stand up, you devils.]

Changgui.

A term used since ancient times to refer to a ghost who died after being bitten by a tiger.

It was a similar story to the 「King of the Dead」 used by 'Davids', a ranker of the Dark Castle.

Oooooh!

The incarnations buried throughout Zone 13 began to rise one by one. The corpse-like incarnations turned their empty eyes towards me. They were all prisoners killed by tigers.

"Damn it, are they demons?"

"It’s similar. But I can’t use my original abilities properly."

Although there were a lot of them, looking at them attacking us, fortunately there were no strong incarnations.

I think it's still worth doing at this level...

[The story ′Compatible Mama' begins its storytelling.]

One of the prisoners that was standing nearby clutched his head as if he was frightened.

The moment I hurriedly extended my hand towards him.

"Save me—"

The beastman’s head exploded with a pop sound.

I got goosebumps.

He even used this story?

Tsutsutsutsu.

A white spark.

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' had decided.

Even if he has to endure some repercussions, he will definitely end this scenario in the way he wants.

"Focus on the masks everyone is wearing!"

I shouted to my colleagues and prisoners.

「Compatible Mama.」

A story that refers to both the 'misfortune suffered by a tiger' and 'an epidemic'.

The characteristic of the story is 'fear contagion'.

Incarnations consumed by fear lose their ego and their heads explode and they die.

"We must spread the word and stop the spread of fear!"

Fear is ultimately the fear of the unknown.

To overcome fear, you need to redirect your gaze. I must listen to the stories that I know well and that make up myself.

[The story 'Recorder of Things That Will Disappear' nods.]

I was hardly influenced by「Compatible Mama.」

However, the situation seemed to be a little different for my colleagues.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

748 Episode 30 Zodiac (10)

---

I grabbed the shoulders of my stumbling companions and shook them.

"Everyone, come to your senses! You can’t be eaten!"

The light was slowly returning to the companions' eyes, but the speed was too slow. At this rate, even if they overcome 「Compatible Mama」, they will be attacked by ghosts.

Then there is only one way.

I accelerated rapidly along the [Way of the Wind], punched the air, and rushed towards the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

「Compatible Mama is so powerful that when activated, the owner of the story cannot take any action.」

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is activated!]

In other words, I could give him a real hit now.

[Fragment of the story 'The Sword Master’s right hand man who was stabbed in the back by a colleague' opens its eyes!]

A story fragment written by the Demon King of Salvation.

The fragment of the very same story that slaughtered dozens of Historical-grade Constellations that had ascended to half their heights emanated light from my right hand.

「Way of the Wind, wrapped in 'Unbreakable Faith', once again caused a sensation.」

A sword attack that explodes leaving behind a white light pattern.

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' caught my blow with his front paw.

[no use.]

I bit my lip tightly.

The fragments of Kim Dokja's story were not this weak.

How should I read it?

How do I 'read again' so I can fight like that guy?

Writing a story and writing down sentences did not mean that I fully understood the world.

Some understanding occurs by the reader.

Kim Dokja needed help.

"You always try to be the main character."

Killer King flew in from behind with [Way of the Wind] and fired his bowgun repeatedly.

Finally, the group overcame「Compatibility Mama」and joined.

"Aaaah! Take it! Turtle Crusher!"

Kyung Sein flew up like a flying squirrel and threw Dansu ahjussi in the air with all her might. Dansu ahjussi curled up like a turtle spun around like a top and flew in. A heavy blow exploded into the tiger's abdomen, and for an instant, a gap was opened for the [Way of the Wind] to penetrate.

[The story fragment 'Way of the Wind' resonates!]

[The story of 'Way of the Wind' begins!]

The moment the road opened, the hesitating stories began to talk.

[The story 'The Fox, the Crane, and the Wolf—often a Panda' begins its storytelling.]

The story we mended.

As the content changed, the story began to become known throughout the <Star Stream> again, finally gaining strength.

The plates and gourds used by the fox and the crane fell from the air like bombs.

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' shouted in horror.

[You dare—!]

Afterwards, a flock of swallows flew from the sky and dropped Park-ssi.

[The story 'The Panda Saw the Swallow Carrying the Seed in its Mouth' begins its storytelling.]

The body of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' that stepped on Park-ssi tilted and shook. Without missing the opportunity, Ye Hyunwoo and Cha Yerin struck the back of the guy's knees. His huge body slowly lost balance and he fell backwards.

"Now!"

However, these stories are impossible to「stage」on our own.

"Whoever brings the head of the spearfish gets free soup!"

Since when did it start?

The crane owner was shaking the frying pan and hitting the heads of the spearfish .

The Goose That Lays Golden Eggs laid golden eggs on the heads of the spearfish, and the swallows dropped the gourd seeds and pecked the spearfish in unison.

It wasn't just them.

"Waaaaah!"

The prisoners from Zone 13, who had entrusted us with their stories, rose up like wildfire.

Prisoners who do not have weapons or proper stories to tell.

Nevertheless, they did not back down and fought back.

Those without weapons threw plates and gourds containing soup brought from the inn.

[The Constellation 'The bear that Spares One's life if One pretends to be dead' is embarrassed by the beastmen’s reaction.]

Only the bears were putting their heads down on the floor, unable to do anything.

At that time, something fell on the head of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' with a thudding sound.

"Hahaha! Look at that guy!"

The prisoners burst out laughing at the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' with hot soup on his head.

"What a tiger guy!"

The beastmen of Zone 13 were shouting excitedly, as if they had never been afraid of the Chinese Zodiac.

"You demons, go back to your graves!"

What moved them?

「The Three Little Pigs, The Swallow Carrying the Gourd Seeds, The Goose that Laid the Golden Eggs…」

Maybe all those stories piled up like snow and finally bloomed into a small container.

[The story of Zone 13 is with you!]

[Your budding story is evolving!]

What is certain is that the story of the fallen prisoners has been reawakened once again.

[The story 'Compatible Mama' cringes.]

A simple story built together was driving out a huge fear.

Stories may be forgotten, but they never disappear.

Although it is not a huge or mythical story, it is a story that has supported their daily lives.

The history of Zone 13 was finally being 'reread'.

"He’s down!"

"Cut off his head!"

The prisoners from Zone 13 began running toward the head of the fallen 'Tiger'.

"Wait! Stop!"

But that was a mistake.

[The story 'Sleeping Tiger’s Nose Hair' begins its storytelling!]

Some of the prisoners touched the tiger's nose hair.

The 'Tiger' rose up with a powerful roar and blew out hot breath.

The prisoners nearby were melted by the hot air that came with the terrible smell.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is furious!]

A fierce aftershock began to surround the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

When I looked closely, I saw something that looked like a shiny jewel embedded in his back. I immediately recognized what it was. That was the reason why the Historical-grade Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' was so strangely strong.

"That was because he killed another 'reader'."

Ooooooh—!

Some prisoners, startled by the tiger's strength, ran away in fear.

But we didn't back down.

There was nowhere to retreat anyway.

[The scales of probability are moving!]

A force so strong as to tip the scales of probability. And there was no one here to help us.

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' frowns at the topic of Historical-grade Constellation, calling it arrogant.]

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' awaits your operation.]

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' attempts to intervene in the scenario!]

[The Constellation's intervention in the scenario was prevented by the Recycling Center's contract.]

Evaluators have no formal involvement in our scenarios. Because that is their viewing condition.

And there was no way the other Chinese Zodiac signs could help us.

[The Constellation 'Liverless Rabbit' tells you to trample on them quickly!]

[The Constellation 'Rat That Brings Plague' rejoices!]

[Some Constellations of the Nebula <Zodiac> are watching your end.]

[A few Constellations in the Nebula <Zodiac> say that the time has come to correct order in Zone 13.]

I looked at the sky.

There is certainly no Constellation in this world that can help us.

I took slow, deep breaths as if taking in the night sky. As soon as enough deep night air hit my lungs, I felt like my mind was waking up little by little.

"Kim Dokja!

Killer King and his companions stood protecting me.

The entirety of the bodies of the group members were full of big and small wounds, as if they had already been injured here and there. They were all attacked by tigers and ghosts.

"It’s impossible to keep going like this. There are endless bastards coming in."

As the legend of the tiger became stronger, the ghosts became more rampant. The war situation worsened as even the beasts that had just died began to be resurrected as ghosts. The screams of the prisoners in pain filled the night.

[The story 'The One Who Calls Spears' continues its storytelling.]

I know. If we continue to fight like this, we will lose.

"It's okay."

This is the same even if we kill all the spears.

It is impossible to fight against the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' who has started using the power of his true body. No matter how much we have built up stories, it is impossible.

But there are beings who can do that.

"It’s midnight now."

When I looked up, the Constellations in the night sky began to shine brightly.

There is a reason the day starts at midnight.

The time when all the sleeping Constellations wake up.

As I watched the bright stars turn their attention to the ground, I realized something again.

There are many reasons why we read stories. To reach the truth, to empathize with someone, to experience an unknown world, or—

To survive.

We read, we empathize with the characters and experience this world, live their lives, and feel their emotions.

But we know.

No matter how strongly we empathize with them, or even if we see the world from the perspective of an omniscient reader, we can never become the main character of that world.

We still don't know the feelings of the person who fights to survive more than anyone else.

"Ah."

When Cha Yerin, who exclaimed lightly, turned her head, the other party members also looked in the same direction at the same time.

In the darkness of the night, there was a man who had endured the night of this world for longer than anyone else.

Instead of the pitch-black coat that symbolized him, a shabby cape was fluttering about, but even so, he could not hide the unique atmosphere he gave off.

"Get out of the way."

A cool voice flowed through the shadows.

"From now on, I will deal with you."

No one could resist those words because they knew who he was. At the same time, my companions had to look at me because they knew who he was.

"Is that okay? He’s still a boy! And he’s lost all his memories!"

"It’s okay, because—"

I grinned as I saw the man walking at night.

"Exactly 'ten days' have passed as of today."

Yoo Joonghyuk's face brightened under the starlight. He no longer had the expression of a young boy.

Finally, the side effects of Yoo Joonghyuk's 'Story Imprint' ended and he returned to his adult body.

Nevertheless, my companions still seemed anxious.

"But no matter how much Yoo Joonghyuk is—"

"It’ll be okay. Trust me."

If it had been a normal 41st round, I would have had similar thoughts as my companions.

However, this '41st round' was not an ordinary '41st round'.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who is here now, is the transcendental figure who drove the giant Nebulae to destruction in only the 40th round.

As soon as the 41st Round started, he was a monster that smashed three-story engravings into his body and tore a Marquis-level Demon to pieces with a single sword.

As if to prove it, Yoo Joonghyuk walked forward, facing the gaze of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

Showing no fear or panic, it is truly the gait of a winner.

About a dozen spearfishes that rushed at him without realizing it attacked him. They oxidized like starlight before they even got close to Yoo Joonghyuk.

"The tiger of the zodiac."

Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes looked up into space indifferently. A gaze that seems to be staring at a low mountain, and a voice that shows no emotion despite its tall stature.

"Killing you—"

The 'Sainsa Sword' I gave him glowed a distant light in his hand.

"This is the third time."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

749 Episode 31 Yoo Joonghyuk (1)

---

「The universe suddenly began one day. No one knows what happened before that.」

Perhaps that is why the 'Oldest Dream' must continue to dream.」

—Lost guide

---

The group members expressed their admiration as they saw Yoo Joonghyuk step forward.

Perhaps my companions also remembered 'that line'. Yoo Joonghyuk said a similar line when he killed Poseidon.

"Oooooh!"

"It sounds like something I’ve heard before."

"As expected, it’s Yoo Joonghyuk."

"Ah."

"I can’t believe the day has come when I hear that in person."

Dansu ahjussi, Kyung Sein, Killer King, Cha Yerin, and Ye Hyunwoo took turns spitting out a word and looking back at me at the same time.

No one opened their mouths, but I could tell what everyone was curious about.

"So is that real?"

If you think about it with common sense, there is no way he could have killed a Historical-grade Constellation twice in just 41 rounds.

So that's why they're asking.

I nodded slightly. That's real. Because this '41st Round' is special.

"Oooh!"

As if she had received some sort of permission from my answer, Kyung Sein was excited and clapped her hands as she chanted his name.

"Yoo Joonghyuk! Yoo Joonghyuk! Yoo Joonghyuk!"

Dansu ahjussi also screamed in excitement.

Killer King nodded and muttered quietly.

"Go, Supreme King."

Amid the noisy cheering, Yoo Joonghyuk glanced towards us.

Seeing the line between his eyebrows, he must be in a bad mood.

Well, I think it would be burdensome if he suddenly received support like that.

Finally, his eyes turned to me. Afterwards, an [electric sound] was heard.

—After I kill that guy, it’s your turn.

Ugh, why?

There was a memory that suddenly came to mind.

「"Eat, you bastard!"」

Could it be because of being fed dirt?

But it's unfair.

I have never fed dirt to this guy. I just fed them the 'story of eating dirt'.

The guy who was controlled by the story picked up the dirt and ate it himself.

Damn, this is why I was hoping his memories would come back late.

Still, fortunately, it was a consolation to know that there was someone who would fall with me before me.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is wary of the incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.]

It was an unexpected reaction.

Under normal circumstances, this would have been an indignant moment, saying, "You're going to kill me when you're just an incarnation?" or rushing in, shouting, "You bastard, how dare you!"

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' glares at the incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk' with a cautious expression.]

He wasn't a 'reader' anymore.

Nevertheless, being so wary of Yoo Joonghyuk means that the stories that control him are conscious of Yoo Joonghyuk.

There is a possibility that he may have read the 'reader's' memories.

[Could you have become a transcendental being?]

Transcendent.

The only mortal title that can fight against the immortal Constellations in the <Star Stream>.

However, as I remember, Yoo Joonghyuk has not yet transcended. If he had 'transcended', a system message would have already appeared.

"I can defeat you even without transcendence."

[A mortal who cannot even transcend would dare to face the Constellations?]

That's right, you should come out like that.

Judging from the way he spoke, it seemed like the story 'old and sick guardian spirit' was active again.

The more he behaves like a stereotypical Constellation, the more likely he is to lose.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' roars!]

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is a Historical-grade Constellation that utilizes some of the power of his true body.

Although he was somewhat limited by probability, he was a more powerful being than the demon marquis he fought earlier.

So this time, Yoo Joonghyuk also has to do his best.

['Redemption of Truth' is activated.]

Without hesitation, Yoo Joonghyuk activated 'Story Imprint'.

[Part of incarnation Yoo Joonghyuk's memories are sealed.]

Redemption of Truth is a 'story imprint' that unleashes power at the cost of sealing some of the memories of the previous rounds.

Fragments of memories flowed into me as they were sealed before my eyes.

「"Leader."」

That is Yoo Joonghyuk's memory that was not written down in 'Ways of Survival' or 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

Yoo Joonghyuk's 24th round.

「"I have a favor to ask, Captain."」

The scenery of the wide sea shimmered and waves waved before my eyes.

Was it a scenario played out on the coast? Yoo Joonghyuk and Shin Yoosung were on the beach where the wreckage of broken ships washed up. The young girl had a large hole in her abdomen.

「"I want to go back to school someday."」

A wound that cannot be healed by either the 'Spirit of Elaine Forest' or the 'Great Hwandan'.

The girl hid the wound with her hand and pretended not to notice the wound.

Shin Yoosung held her breath in Yoo Joonghyuk's arms.

「"If this world ends safely—"」

Shin Yoosung also knows.

Schools will never reopen. Students will not return. She will never go to school.

「"Please come to the graduation ceremony."」

Even though she knew it all, Shin Yoosung had no choice but to say that.

Even though she knew very well what kind of eternity it would be remembered by Yoo Joonghyuk.

Yoo Joonghyuk now answers that eternal question.

"I can’t go to your graduation ceremony, but—"

His 24th attempt failed. The world has been destroyed and past history will never return.

Shin Yoosung of the 24th Round did not graduate.

"I won’t let you die before me."

His memories were being sealed.

If it were the Yoo Joonghyuk I knew, he would never have sealed it. However, the more important memories are sealed, the more powerful the 'Redemption of Truth' is.

Now, Yoo Joonghyuk needs a 'power' that strong.

I stretched out my hand. I wanted to shout that those memories should not be sealed. If you forget that memory, the world will be as if it never happened.

But at that moment, my eyes met with Yoo Joonghyuk.

"I."

It may be an absurd leap.

There's no way Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st round would think like that.

But now, Yoo Joonghyuk knew clearly that I was looking at his memories, and that I was the only one witnessing the memories he would lose.

"I want you to remember this memory for me."

I read and reread Yoo Joonghyuk's memories being sealed with my fists clenched. I remembered the disappearing Shin Yoosung and the 24th Round without missing a single word.

When I nodded, Yoo Joonghyuk turned his gaze.

[All comprehensive abilities of incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk' temporarily exceed the scenario limit standards!]

[Explosive power surges from your entire body!]

Yoo Joonghyuk took a leap forward with a tremendous energy. Magical power was overflowing from the guy's whole body.

Quad deud deuk!

Yoo Joonghyuk's rushing sword strike collided with the front paws of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

Yoo Joonghyuk lifted one seal from the Washington Dome and reached the same level as the 'Demon Marquis'.

But this time, that level of force is not enough.

[Just that much!]

While listening to the Constellation's planned message, Yoo Joonghyuk immediately opened the second narrative engraving.

[Incarnation 'Yoo Jonhhyuk' activates 'Restraint of Emotions'!]

Restraint of Emotions.

I'm nervous. This is because it reminded me of the 'Black Beast' that turned Washington Dome into hell.

At that time, there was the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

However, if Yoo Joonghyuk's transformation into a beast progresses this time, who can stop him?

—Do your part properly this time.

Yoo Joonghyuk's voice reached my ears.

A little belatedly, I remembered my promise with him. The reason he wanted to take me to the Washington scenario.

「"You stop it."」

He trusted that I would get him back to normal when he had a problem.

"I'll try."

A word I muttered without realizing it.

Killer King glanced in my direction. Fortunately, Yoo Joonghyuk's transformation began before Killer King could even open his mouth.

I watched his transformation with bated breath.

Will he become a 'black beast' again this time, or...?

[Incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk''s story engraving skill has increased significantly.]

['Restraint of Emotions' evolves!]

With a dazzling beam of light, pitch-black hair covered Yoo Joonghyuk's entire body. But this time he was not the 'black beast'.

The pitch-black hair grew in an instant, followed by a fur coat reminiscent of the [Beast Lord's sensitivity] used by 'Beast Lord' Shin Yoosung.

The difference is that Yoo Joonghyuk's fur coat was black.

Killer King, who was watching the scene from the side, widened his eyes.

"Long hair, fur coat… Could it be the Emperor of Heilang?"

Normally, I would have retorted to Killer King's nonsense, but this time, I was so overwhelmed by Yoo Joonghyuk's atmosphere that I couldn't think of anything else to say.

Wearing a black fur coat, Yoo Joonghyuk really looked like a prince of the demon world who reigned over ten thousand horses.

Maybe that is another form of the 'Black Beast'.

[How—]

While the story of the 'old and sick guardian deity' continued to lurk in secret, Yoo Joonghyuk's new form moved.

It's so fast that you can't even see it.

Even after learning [Way of the Wind], it was a speed that I couldn't follow with my eyes.

The astonished tiger screamed. However, neither the rushing spears nor the tiger's paws could catch Yoo Joonghyuk.

No story in this world could redeem Yoo Joonghyuk.

Breaking The Sky Sword Technique.

A skill that has been trained and trained to reach its peak.

In a sense, the 'Recycling Center' was his solo stage.

All of his techniques have gone beyond the level of 'skill'. In other words, it is not restricted by skill seals.

Breaking The Sky Meteor Strike.

A meteor blossomed in the swordplay of 'Sain Tragedy Sword'. Stars cried out above every trace of the sword.

"Gaaaaaagh!"

The ghosts hit by the meteor fragments disappeared into light.

Truly overwhelming force.

The meteor shower pierced every part of the tiger’s body like a storm.

[Kaaaaaa!]

The Constellation's scream spread throughout Zone 13.

[The Constellation 'Liverless Rabbit' opens its eyes in astonishment!]

[The Constellation 'Rat spreading plague’ is scared.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' holds his breath.]

The slowly moving front paw of the tiger. Yoo Joonghyuk did not miss the short gap and fired back and forth.

The sword dug into the hole pierced by the meteor shower, connecting the holes like connecting Constellations.

With the sound of something breaking, the tiger's front paw flew through the air.

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' is overwhelmed by the power of the incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.]

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' cannot take their eyes off incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.]

I felt a thrill amidst the ecstatic tales scattered throughout.

「A black wolf was hunting a tiger.」

There was no human feeling in the graceful movement of the sword. What was reflected in the trajectory was simply the time of hardship endured by Yoo Joonghyuk.

Memories of training his sword day and night to defeat the Constellations in the sky.

[K-keaaaa—my arm! My arm—how dare you—!]

All those memories were concentrated and summed up in a single body.

He narrowed the distance with the gait of [Red Pheonix Steps], blocked incoming blows with [Defense Strength], and dealt with the oncoming spear ghosts with [Hundred Step God Fist].

And cut the Constellation with [Breaking The Sky Swordsmanship].

Breaking The Sky Mad King’s Dance.

Dozens of sword lights pierced both legs of the tiger. One knee buckled, and then the other knee buckled again.

The huge tiger's body lost its balance and fell forward. Yoo Joonghyuk didn't let go of the opportunity and flew towards the guy's neck.

He was only on his eighth scenario.

In the eighth scenario, Yoo Joonghyuk was trying to accomplish the feat of dropping a Constellation from the sky with his own strength.

[The story 'Old and Sick Guardian Deity' disappears.]

[The story 'Rotten Dongajul' is activated in exchange for the 'Old and Sick Guardian Deity'!]

「Rotten Dongajul.」

The unique story of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' who escaped a desperate crisis.

[The story 'Rotten Dongajul' begins its storytelling.]

Although it was a similar technique to Nirvana's [No Possession], this story demanded a more terrible price than [No Possession].

Just before Yoo Joonghyuk's sword touched the guy's neck, a bright red fireball burst out from the tiger's chest along with the sound of fu-chem. Red snowflakes were scattered on the ground, creating a red sorghum field.

The image of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' began to disperse like smoke among the blood-stained sorghum fields.

[I am dissatisfied. Since I was unable to get the little one—]

The mantra of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' rang out as if he were sorrowful.

His gaze full of hatred that had been on me soon turned to someone else.

[I will take the other one.]

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

750 Episode 31 Yoo Joonghyuk (2)

Does he want to take the other one?

The moment I wanted to shout out what does that mean.

"Dokja-ssi, there—"

Kyung Sein’s voice.

We looked at the red sorghum field at the same time. Standing there was a person we knew.

"Why—"

Maybe I expected it. But I wasn't sure.

「Besides me, there was someone who signed a contract with the Tiger Eating Rice Cakes.」

Understanding, as always, came a little slowly.

It was only then that I realized why the Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' wasted a bit too much probability here.

「There were two incarnations that the Tiger Eating Rice invited to the 'Zodiac Ball'.」

"Hyunwoo-ssi!"

In the center of the red sorghum field, Ye Hyunwoo's whole body was shining brightly.

I jumped straight into the sorghum field with [Way of the Wind].

Tiger fur fluttering.

Ye Hyunwoo held out his hand as a sign not to approach.

"Hyunwoo-ssi!"

Ye Hyunwoo nodded his head as if he knew what I was going to say.

"I know it could be a trap."

Smart Ye Hyunwoo already knew. Even though he knew, he chose it.

When I was about to ask why, Ye Hyunwoo answered first again.

"I can't be who I want to be when I'm with you."

Ye Hyunwoo turned his gaze to behind me. There, a group of people with puzzled expressions were looking at us.

Killer King asked.

"Seventh Apostle. Are you really planning to make that choice?"

Normally, he would have said something, but today Ye Hyunwoo was a little different. It looks like he's smiling bitterly, or his face is contorted in sadness.

In the halo of light, Ye Hyunwoo's feet slowly began to disperse.

The summoning was carried out through the power of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

Finally, Ye Hyunwoo's eyes turned towards me as if he had decided on something.

"Actually, I'm not the type of person who is good at getting attached to people. You probably already know that."

I know.

Even Gong Pildu, who was part of the duo, felt that way.

"But for the first time, I felt like I knew what it meant to be affectionate."

Ye Hyunwoo, who was now half gone, was smiling.

"I'm scared now. I don't want to see someone dear to me die again. But I will see. We've entered that world. I mean—"

I realized what he was going to say.

"Kim Dokja will be me."

I understood why he wanted to become Kim Dokja. That's why I had to stop it.

But Ye Hyunwoo was almost gone now.

The moment the Killer King rushed towards Ye Hyunwoo, there was someone who moved before him.

When I looked up with an eerie feeling, I saw Yoo Joonghyuk, spouting pitch-black speculation, right in front of me.

Yoo Joonghyuk's palm was aimed at Ye Hyunwoo's disappearing neck.

[Puppet of the Oldest Dream.]

The voice of the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' was heard. A voice with an ominous laugh somewhere in it.

[I will tell you the pain of falling in the sorghum field.]

A small explosion was heard in front of me, and then smoke filled the air.

The startled companions covered their mouths and backed away. But Yoo Joonghyuk and I were within the distance from where the smoke radiated.

[You have been exposed to 'poisonous fog'.]

Poisonous fog.

It was fortunate. Even though it is a deadly poison, you can survive this much for a while.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

I called Yoo Joonghyuk’s name in the fog. However, Yoo Joonghyuk was nowhere to be seen.

My premonition was warning me. Clearly this fog will not end.

"Yoo Joong—"

I saw something shining brightly in the fog. A beautifully sparkling object floating in the exact spot where the tiger and Ye Hyunwoo disappeared.

I immediately recognized what it was.

Yoo Joonghyuk, with blank eyes, was reaching out his hand toward the object.

"Yoo Joonghyuk! No!"

['Unidentified fragment' begins its storytelling.]

The world was colored with bright light.

「Kim Dokja’s Fragment.」

Damn it.

It seems that the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' knew what happened at the 'Washington Dome'.

And what happened to Yoo Joonghyuk, who came into contact with the 'Kim Dokja fragment' there?

Yoo Joonghyuk must not be allowed to have that. Then he will become a 'black beast' again.

I have to absorb that fragment before Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

However, Yoo Joonghyuk's hand touched the fragment first. The scenery of the world shimmered with a bright beam of light.

And the next moment, a message was heard.

[You have entered the 'Snowfield'.]

The last time the 'Snowfield' was opened was when I met Kim Dokja.

Kim Dokja, who likes to leave footprints in the snow, drinks tea, and gives off a gentle but strangely cool feeling.

"Kim Dokja?"

But no matter where I looked, Kim Dokja was nowhere to be seen.

There is no snowy scenery that I remember. All I see is pitch black darkness.

"Yoo Joonghyuk?"

[The exclusive skill '□□' has been activated.]

[The exclusive skill '□□' resists the laws of the Recycling Center.]

Then a fact suddenly occurred to me. When I think about it, the first time I entered the 'Snowfield' was not when I met Kim Dokja.

To be exact, it was when Kim Cheolyang's 'next action' was described at Geumho Station.

This happened at a time when the ability to describe the empty spaces in a story was still available to me.

However, as I remember, this skill originally only activated in special situations.

「'□□' is a skill that only activates in times of 'survival' crisis.」

Does this mean that I am in a life and death situation?

So what sentence should I write?

Should I persuade Yoo Joonghyuk to throw away the 'Kim Dokja fragment'? Or, using additional probability—

[You cannot write sentences.]

I can't write?

Why—

"Kwaaaaaaaa!"

Someone's head exploded before my eyes. While I was stupidly looking at the bursting blood fountain, the surrounding scenery was slowly changing.

「Acrid smoke rising from everywhere. The thick bloody smell felt in the smoke of the battlefield.」

That wasn't the sentence I wrote. I was suddenly standing in the middle of a battlefield, swept away by a torrent of one-sided sentences.

I could smell my skin burning.

When I came to my senses, both of my arms were completely charred by fire.

What is this? Why am I suddenly like this?

When I raised my head with an eerie feeling, there were even more terrifying things floating in the sky.

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Asgard> are showing hostility towards you.]

I felt like I was losing my mind.

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Vedas> laugh at your struggles.]

I was definitely at the 'Recycling Center'. And those guys could never enter the center.

But why?

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Olympus> are watching your final days.]

Why can I see those damn Constellations above my head right now?

Perhaps due to my mood, the sun shining in the air seemed to get bigger.

No, it wasn't an illusion.

The sun was getting closer and closer.

The blazing corona of the sun was visible. Beyond the corona, a distant great being was gazing at the Earth.

[The Constellation 'The Noon Sun' burns everything on earth!]

The solar wind blew. A scorching fire covered every living thing on the surface.

Right before my eyes, someone burned in real time and reached out to me.

"Save me—"

He died.

[You cannot change this 'story'.]

As the magma exploded, I held his hand.

[You have died.]

I died without even knowing why I had to die like that.

And when I opened my eyes again, I was running down a dark road.

[The Constellation 'Master of the Department of Killing' spits out quiet anger.]

I felt a huge figure writhing behind my back. I felt like my feet were sinking into the ground, and then hands came up from the dirt and grabbed my ankles.

Kyaaaaaaa!

「There was the smell of death everywhere. The smell of things that are already dead and will never return. All the souls who had lost their stories reached out and held on to the stories of the living.」

I instinctively realized where this was.

[Catch that guy.]

A cold voice came from behind me.

Without knowing why, I was holding a book I had never seen before in my hands.

「Department of Killing」

Department of killing?

At that moment, something came to mind.

「King Yeomra's Killing Book.」

The Book of Revelation, which records the 'lifespan' of everyone in the world.

I was now bouncing around with that Book of Revelation.

[This is the guy whose name was written three times in the death book. Be sure to catch him.]

Damn, I don't understand.

Anyway, I couldn't die here. I ran and ran again.

But soon a cliff appeared.

[You cannot write sentences.]

This time, I couldn't write a sentence.

[You cannot change this 'story'.]

With the feeling of a sharp dagger piercing the skin of my stomach, I fell a thousand miles down a cliff.

[You have died.]

When I opened my eyes again, I was sitting in a chair.

This time I wanted to do something again, but for some reason, I couldn't move my body at all. Someone had tied my body to a chair.

A chain made of 'Sulwha metal'.

I wondered who on earth would do such a terrible thing—

"Have you come to your senses?"

When I looked up, I saw Anna Croft's face.

I hurriedly tried to say something. But my mouth was covered.

"Tell me a secret."

Yes. I'll tell you. I'm going to tell you, so please let me solve this.

"Everything you’re hiding."

This was my first time seeing Anna Croft like that. Anna Croft's eyes filled with madness. She took a long nail out of her arms and held it close to my heart.

"Otherwise."

No, wait a minute.

"You will experience pain worse than death."

The first nail was driven right next to the heart. I felt like I was going to pass out at any moment, with a cold and heavy feeling penetrating my chest.

Anna Croft immediately took out a second nail.

"Say it."

And she stuck it in.

"Say it."

Then she took out the third nail,

"Say it."

She plugged it back in.

And.

[You cannot write sentences.]

[You cannot change this 'story'.]

…

[You have died.]

I felt like I was slowly going crazy. No person would be able to come to their senses if they suddenly fell down like this three times in a row.

Is death a joke?

How can humans die like this over and over again?

"You."

When I opened my eyes again with this thought in mind, I was in the middle of being slapped by someone.

One time, two times, three times, four times.

I felt like I was going to lose my mind from the powerful blows. No, I'm actually out of my mind.

Blood was already pouring from my lacquer tube.

"I don’t need trashy disciples."

Wait.

[You cannot write sentences.]

[You cannot change this 'story'.]

Please speak my mind.

[You have died.]

I died like that five, six, seven more times.

Something is wrong.

Why on earth am I experiencing this pain?

What on earth did I do wrong to end up in this situation?

When I opened my eyes again, I was in pitch black darkness.

But it wasn't the same darkness as before. A darkness much denser and more lonely than that. It was a darkness where the entire order of time seemed to be distorted.

In that darkness, I was taking a stab.

Once, twice, three times.

After the stabbing, the cutting was repeated.

Once, twice, three times.

A tedious task that involves repeating stabs and cuts in a rhythm.

I continued with it.

In the lonely darkness with no one around, I continued to stab and cut, assuming invisible virtual enemies. Ten thousand times, a hundred thousand times, a million times… The training continued as if to tear apart the darkness itself.

How many times did I stab and cut like that?

When I came to my senses, I forgot time, forgot my body, and eventually forgot myself.

「Perhaps that talent was not an innate talent.」

A feeling of mental impurities being drained away and soul clutter falling away.

「A talent that one person achieved by carving out his or her soul over a very long period of time.」

I can stab something without having to stab it, and I can cut it without having to cut it.

「Transcendence.」

A tremendous realization came over me.

I realized what that realization was.

This was the very sense of transcendence that Yoo Joonghyuk spoke of.

But as if something was wrong, a hot feeling rose from the back of my head. The heat then flashed my consciousness into pure white and led me into ecstasy.

[You cannot write sentences.]

Uh oh.

[You cannot change this 'story'.]

No, right?

[You have died.]

I'm so dumbfounded that I have nothing to say anymore.

And now I can clearly explain what situation I am in.

「I was currently experiencing the 'regressions' of 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.」

Black despair pressed down on his shoulders all the time.

The ending is death no matter what you do.

A hell that you can't escape from no matter what.

It was painful, but I went through that hell again and again.

I was able to get through it.

Because I knew that his eternity was not actually eternal.

There is no 'eternal hell'.

Someday this hell will end.

And at the end of hell, Yoo Joonghyuk reaches his conclusion.

So—

「There is an ending to this world.」

How much did I die, how much did I live, and how much did I run?

Even though I knew there was an end, I was just starting to feel like I couldn't go any further, when I felt the surroundings slowly becoming brighter. I had finally escaped from hell.

「There was a snowfield there.」

A pure white snowy landscape. I was looking at the end of the desolate world where thin snowflakes were falling for a while.

Then I saw something whitish moving in the distance. I unconsciously waved my hand and tried to approach, but stopped for a moment.

So far, only three people have been able to move in this 'snowfield'.

Me, Kim Dokja, and Han Sooyoung.

But what is that?

A small creature was crouching on the snowfield. As I approached, it immediately took on the appearance of a child. A child squatting on a white, burnt snowfield. The moment I met the child's dead eyes, I realized who the child was.

「There was a man who had to live a long story to save one person.」

Until now, I thought the 'Snowfield' was Kim Dokja's space.

「It is not the reader who lives between the invisible lines.」

Snowfield.

The unrecorded graves of a being.

「There was only one being who could 'survive' between those lines.」

A place where all stories are written, but perhaps nothing is written.

This snowfield,

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

From the beginning, it was one person's world.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

751 Episode 31 Yoo Joonghyuk (3)

---

Little Yoo Joonghyuk slowly raised his head and looked at me.

I looked down at Yoo Joonghyuk.

The height of the gaze was unfamiliar. Whether as an adult or a child, Yoo Joonghyuk was always someone who looked down from above. But the current Yoo Joonghyuk was a little different.

An expression that makes you feel like he has truly become a child.

Did he lose his memory so much that he ended up in that state?

I wanted to ask. How long have you been here? I wonder how long he has endured this cold alone.

"This is the first time someone has been here."

The first to open his mouth was little Yoo Joonghyuk. Little Yoo Joonghyuk raised his head, and for a moment, there was something like a faint vitality in his eyes.

"You've finally come to get me, right?"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk raised his finger and pointed behind me. I don't know why, but white wings were fluttering behind my back.

I found out what kind of story it was.

[The 'unidentified fragment' reveals its identity.]

[The story fragment 'The Lost Wings of the Demon King' begins its storytelling.]

It seems that the 'unidentified fragment' that the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' had was these 'Wings of the Demon King of Salvation'.

"You can take me with you."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk said.

"Is it over now? What is heaven like?"

Heaven.

Yoo Joonghyuk seemed to really believe that such a thing exists.

"You're an angel. You know what heaven is like, right?"

I answered hesitantly.

"Heaven may not be as beautiful a place as you think."

"Then what kind of place is heaven?"

I don't even know what heaven is like. The heaven I knew was just one of countless worlds of Constellations.

"It is."

I thought of the Archangels from the <Star Stream>.

The Archangels are bored with Metatron's instructions, long for deviation while adhering to principles, and love their beloved incarnations.

"It's just a world where Angels herding sheep live."

"What is it?"

"If I could tell you in detail…"

I slowly bent down and sat down next to little Yoo Joonghyuk. Fragments of stories could be seen floating by little Yoo Joonghyuk's side. These were all memories of Yoo Joonghyuk.

「[Supreme King, leave this to me and see the end you want.]」

There was also an Archangel who sacrificed himself for Yoo Joonghyuk.

「[I'm sorry, but I can't let you become the Demon King.]」

There was also an Archangel who prevented Yoo Joonghyuk from becoming the Demon King.

「[I can see the sins you have accumulated. You will definitely become the great evil of this world.]」

There was also an Archangel who defined Yoo Joonghyuk as 'evil'.

「[Regressor, you will never go to heaven. Because the being who can dream of your heaven will never want you to go to heaven.]」

There was also an Archangel who was pessimistic about his life.

In just 41 regressions, Yoo Joonghyuk heard so many stories.

So this child already knows what heaven is like. He knew it, but now he has forgotten it.

"No. You don't have to tell me."

"What? Why?"

"I don't want to be disappointed. I'll definitely be disappointed if it's similar to where I used to live."

"Where did you live?"

"Huh."

The place where Yoo Joonghyuk lived.

When I think about it, I didn't know much about Yoo Joonghyuk's childhood.

This is because, like Kim Cheolyang and Bang Cheolsoo of Geumho Station, there were no remaining records about Yoo Joonghyuk's childhood.

The protagonist's childhood was not properly dealt with in 'TWSA' or 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

When I thought about that, I felt strange.

Although Han Sooyoung wrote so much text, she did not write properly about Yoo Joonghyuk's childhood.

"What was it like where you lived?"

Therefore, in a sense, Yoo Joonghyuk's childhood does not exist 'yet'.

"Where I lived…"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk frowned. The child said, rubbing his forehead several times with his small hand.

"I don’t remember."

I looked at the pieces of stories floating like dust around Yoo Joonghyuk.

[Story fragment 'Pro Gamer ■■' has stopped its storytelling.]

[Story fragment '■■■ Slave' has stopped its storytelling.]

Stories that have been around for too long without anyone reading them, some of them have been damaged beyond reading, and most of the content of others has disappeared. Or, it seemed like there was no content from the beginning. It's like a novel that only has a title but isn't written properly.

I opened my mouth.

"So do I."

"You don't remember where you lived too?"

"I remember, but only sporadically."

"Sparsely."

"Yeah, sparsely."

Whether it's the main character, supporting actor, or extra, perhaps it's the same for everyone. We all move closer to death, consuming our memories.

No one remembers their entire life in the process. As time goes by, we eventually become forgotten, even by ourselves.

So we talk.

I say it like I do now to remember things that were gone.

"The place where I live is a place with many stars. People explore the world with those stars. We all hunt monsters together and find new items."

"…"

"Some people may be praised by the stars and become great beings."

Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes were shining as he listened to me. How much of the story remains inside this guy?

"A great being."

"Yes, a great being."

Yoo Joonghyuk shook his head at my words. Then he crouched down. Looking closely, I saw that Yoo Joonghyuk was covering his stomach.

"Will I become an Angel like you?"

"I am not an Angel."

"Then?"

I couldn't speak honestly to Yoo Joonghyuk, who looked up at me with pale eyes.

I am a Demon King.

So I said this.

"I am a writer."

"Writer?"

"A person who writes various stories. Funny stories, sad stories, difficult stories, even stories that should not be written. A person who writes various stories to survive."

"A person who writes stories."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk blinked slowly and smiled faintly. I wondered what he was thinking to himself.

This was my first time seeing little Yoo Joonghyuk smile, and I looked down at him in fascination for a moment.

"Then you are a god."

Instead of answering, I slowly stretched out my hand and tried to trace little Yoo Joonghyuk's stories.

The speed at which the story flowed was slow. As expected, he was dying.

"If I were God, I would be the most powerless god in the universe."

"What's the greatest story you've ever written?"

"That story."

I started talking.

That was the story I could tell best.

A story about a man whose novel he had spent his entire life loving becoming reality.

A story of monsters appearing, stars watching, saving someone, making friends, and running to see the epilogue of a world.

The child heard the story.

I thought as I watched the child listening to the story.

Kim Dokja was once saved by the story of Yoo Joonghyuk. He survived through his story and eventually survived.

So what about Yoo Joonghyuk?

When he was driven to the brink of his life, when he stood at the edge of a cliff where no one could save him. What saved him as a child?

I couldn't figure it out.

His world is just a vast snowy field.

A world that I cannot read or write about. A beginning that perhaps not only me but anyone else cannot know.

The origin of this entire universe.

「Every story we know began from this 41st Round.」

In 『Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World』, Yoo Joonghyuk was able to clear the scenarios by receiving information from Shin Yoosung from the 41st Round.

And again, in 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』, Kim Dokja was able to see the end of the world based on the information of the 'Ways of Survival'.

The whole story started with Yoo Joonghyuk in front of me.

The whole story became possible only because he survived, fought, and ultimately failed.

"It's fun."

Young Yoo Joonghyuk smiled and slowly closed his eyes.

"But now I'm feeling sleepy."

Little Yoo Joonghyuk's shoulders shook as if he was getting chills. Meanwhile, the child was covering his stomach.

I carefully removed the child's hand and checked his condition.

Little Yoo Joonghyuk had a hole in his stomach.

It was the same as when Shin Yoosung was dying in the 24th Round. Yoo Joonghyuk-ah's stomach had the same scar as Shin Yoosung's, who had asked him to come to the graduation ceremony.

「Side effects of 'story imprinting'.」

If this wound is left alone, Yoo Joonghyuk will die. Even if he returns, his soul will be forever ruined.

Little Yoo Joonghyuk asked.

"Now are you going to take me to heaven?"

"I’m not taking you to heaven. I’m not an Angel."

All I can do is make him continue to live like that.

But I knew his ending.

A life that will ultimately fail and become food for other worldlines.

In order to keep the promise of the 0th Round, he went back and forth and ended up on a dead end—I knew that the end of this world would be a 'road without a road'.

That's why I couldn't recommend life to him. He was already extremely tired, so I couldn't tell him to live a life destined for failure.

"If I live a little longer."

Nevertheless, Yoo Joonghyuk spoke once again.

"Can I hear the story you wrote again?"

I looked down at the child, not knowing what expression to make.

And I barely muttered.

"If you want."

Everything I've written is just a copy of one person's life.

That one person nodded his head.

White snow was falling on the Snowfield.

There was a world where no one had left any footprints.

A void that not even Han Sooyoung touched.

[The exclusive skill '□□' is extremely active.]

Only then did I realize why I had to come to this 41st Round.

[The amount of 'Disappearances' you have collected exceeds a certain level.]

The reason why I possessed Cheon Inho’s body.

[The 'Kim Dokja Fragments' you collected are starting to bloom.]

The reason I had to become the incarnation of the Demon King of Salvation, the reason I had to collect the fragments of Kim Dokja.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' recognizes your name.]

The reason why I had to come into this 'Recycling Center' and repaired my story.

"Yoo Joonghyuk. Let’s promise."

And the reason Kim Dokja had to see this world.

"Never give up on life."

Just as the universe was born one day, Yoo Joonghyuk was born.

"As long as you don’t give up on life."

In return, he will have to walk for eternity again.

But unless he gives up, this time he won't be alone.

Probably not.

“I’ll keep writing for you.”

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was looking at me, slowly nodded.

As if answering his call, I took the first footprints to fill this Snowfield.

「This is a story about unreadable despair.」

Writing that sentence, I understood Han Sooyoung, who wrote about the destruction of the world for one person's life.

[The character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' gained a new realization.]

[The transcendence level of incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk' increases.]

Even if only one person lives in this world, even if everyone eventually forgets it and it is destined to crumble and disappear—I will not give up on this story until the end.

[The story 'Between Truth and Lies' is born!]

Finally, the Snowfield's sky opened.

[You have created a total of four stories.]

[All the stories you have accumulated are 'legendary level' or higher.]

[The Management Bureau analyzes your status.]

[The <Star Stream> is reevaluating your status.]

[Your sponsor is currently absent.]

[Your sponsor has granted you all authority.]

.

.

.

[You can now act as a Constellation.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

752 Episode 31 Yoo Joonghyuk (4)

---

After 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' left, a message was released.

[Due to the scenario's direct change, the start date of the 'Zodiac Ball' is adjusted.]

[The 'Zodiac Ball' will begin in 12 hours.]

[Currently, 71% of the prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

[To participate in the 'Zodiac Ball' you must secure an additional 9%.]

In the process of fighting the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes', our approval rating actually rose despite the fact that a huge number of prisoners died.

"I never thought there would be an incarnation that could stand against the <Zodiac>…"

Someone had expectations of us.

"Zone 13 is in the spotlight because of you guys."

Someone criticized us.

"I think it would be a good idea to leave Zone 13 at this point."

Some people advised us to give up on Zone 13.

He was the crane owner in 「The Fox and the Crane」.

"I would welcome any of the zodiac signs. I have never seen such an outstanding incarnation at Zone 13 of the 'Recycling Center'."

According to the system, the story of exterminating the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' was widely known throughout Star Stream through the center director.

[Your new tale spreads widely throughout the <Star Stream>.]

[Some Constellations were greatly impressed by your story.]

[18,000 coins were donated through the 'Recycling Center'.]

As evidence, messages were still being delivered in real time.

[A few Nebulae want you to join them.]

[The Nebula <Hongik> invites you.]

[The Nebula <Tamra> invites you.]

[The Nebula <Samyo> invites you.]

…

The small and medium-sized Nebulae that were being pushed out by the Giant Nebulae sent me messages to do business with me.

Among them, there were even <Hongik> and <Tamna>, the Nebulae of the Korean Peninsula.

I was curious because it was Nebulae that did not appear properly in the main story, but I had no intention of choosing them here.

This was because we were still trapped in the 'Recycling Center' and the scenario related to the <Zodiac> was still in progress.

[The faction 'Monkey God' invites you to the 'Zodiac Ball'.]

[The faction 'Dragon God' invites you to the 'Zodiac Ball'.]

Some factions of the Zodiac also sent invitations to me, as if word had spread that I had declined the tiger's invitation.

"I have no intention of entering <Zodiac>.»

But I didn't come this far just to join that animal union.

"I will attend the 'Zodiac Ball' without anyone’s sponsorship."

I needed the support of eighty percent of the prisoners.

And that was the reason why I was now meeting the crane owner.

"Many prisoners, including me, are already supporting you."

The crane owner, who already knew my situation, sighed lightly and continued.

"But there has never been a representative whose approval rating exceeded 80% in Zone 13."

"Just because it’s never happened doesn’t mean it’s impossible."

"Now the only ones left are the bears and some other beastmen. But it will be difficult to gain their support."

The prisoners nearby are all supporting me. The only exceptions were the bears that followed the Tiger, and their subordinate forces.

But no matter what I did, I could not persuade them.

"Because they don’t have any stories left that you can repair."

The prisoners who we were able to persuade all had 'forgotten stories'.

We revived those stories through 「Staging」 and spread them through the <Star Stream>.

The prisoners supported us in return. But in the case of the bear beastmen, that was impossible.

"Is there no way?"

"Honestly, there is none. Wouldn’t it be great if you were a Constellation like the 'Master of Fables'? Isn’t it impossible to give individual stories to all of them?"

"If it's the owner of fables, you're probably referring to the Constellation that wrote 'Aesop's Fables'."

"That’s right. We don’t have enough time."

"They are not people who can listen by simply threatening them with force. In particular, the 'Bear That Will Spare You If You Pretend To Be Dead' is a Constellation with strong pride."

He looked down at Yoo Joonghyuk, who was sleeping soundly on the bed, and added:

"Perhaps there is a 'story' that can sweep them all away at once. Can you help me with this?"

I helped the crane owner wake Yoo Joonghyuk up from his sleep and fed him some soup. It was a special soup with the story of 「The Fox and the Crane」.

He's the kind of guy who never eats food made by someone else, so I was glad he was unconscious right now.

After feeding him some soup, Yoo Joonghyuk's pale complexion became a little more lively.

The crane owner sighed lightly and said.

"Anyway, this guy got smaller again, but I was really scared when he cut down the

"I’m glad he's smaller."

"Anyway, take care of him. I’ll come again."

With those last words, the crane owner left the room.

I took a few bites of the soup the owner left behind and looked at Yoo Joonghyuk who was sleeping for a moment.

After that incident three days ago, Yoo Joonghyuk had been sleeping ever since.

Perhaps due to the side effects of [Story Engraving], Yoo Joonghyuk became little Yoo Joonghyuk again.

He wasn't as small as the little Yoo Joonghyuk I saw in the snowfield, but he would probably be like this for a while anyway.

The 41st Round was the last Round for Yoo Joonghyuk.

He transmitted his experience to his past self through Shin Yoosung and exited the record of 'Ways of Survival'.

I repeat, no one knows what happened to that guy after he left.

Has he stopped regressing in some way, or has he disappeared forever from his records in some way I don't know?

If he had disappeared from his records, would he have finally achieved his wish?

"Don’t worry too much."

I muttered as I covered the sleeping little boy, Yoo Joonghyuk, with a blanket.

"Because this Round won’t be ruined so easily."

The person who starts a story has a responsibility not to give up on it.

I made a promise to Yoo Joonghyuk.

[The story 'Recorder of Things That Will Disappear' responds to your oath.]

This story may not be 『Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World』 or 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』, but it will definitely have the right ending.

Now it was time to go see the end of this Round for that conclusion.

---

An hour later, I gathered together the Bear Beastmen and the Beastmen who had not expressed support.

The guys seemed taken aback or confused by my sudden call.

Some even reacted with hostility .

[Why did you call us?]

Their representative was the Constellation that invaded this place—'Bear That Will Spare You If You Pretend To Be Dead'.

[If you're calling us to support you, you'd better give up.]

"Why?"

[Because we have no intention of supporting you.]

"So why?"

[There is no reason to explain that.]

"Of course you will.

I squatted down in my seat and let out a deep sigh. Then I looked up at the guys.

"But you… is it okay for you to continue like that?"

No matter what I say, they won't be persuaded by me.

The reason is obvious.

Because they don't need my help.

What should we do for those who have lost their stories?

Maybe I've been thinking about this problem for quite some time.

Some extras found their own stories on their own. Like Bang Cheolsoo from Geumho Station. Like the mother and daughter. Like the crane owner.

But not everyone could do it like they did.

Some people find their own stories, but others live and die without even knowing what their stories are.

For example, like the bears in front of me right now.

"Honestly, it doesn’t really matter whether you support me or not. I can rise to the top somehow."

[Then why did you call us?]

"To give you one last chance."

I know that not everyone can purely support me.

Kim Dokja also knew that.

No matter what he did, some Constellations hated Kim Dokja's story.

Kim Dokja pioneered his life by fighting against that gaze, and eventually it also became his story.

But it wasn't easy for me to accept it.

Maybe it's because I'm a 'writer'.

I wanted to write a perfect story that Kim Dokja had never read and that he didn't know about.

[The story 'Recorder of Things That Will Disappear' responds to your emotions.]

But it was impossible.

I finally realized it as I went through Geumho Station, Chungmuro, the Theater Dungeon, Gwanghwamun, Washington Dome, and the Recycling Center.

There is no story that all the Constellations in the world love.

Even more so if it is the story of the 'Forgotten Round'.

So I accepted.

It's okay even if not all prisoners support me. It's safe to say that they hate the stories I'm going to write.

"This is truly your last chance. Your chance to choose me by yourself."

But I just write stories.

[What does that mean?]

"I don’t think there’s any reason to explain what it means."

[The Constellation 'Bear That Spares One's Life if One Pretends To Be Dead' is outraged!]

Even a Constellation that has lost all of its status still has pride.

[How dare a mere incarnation carry beastmen on its back—!]

But he misjudged.

"It’s not just an incarnation."

I grinned and looked at him.

Until a few days ago, its power was threatening. I thought that he would be a difficult enemy to defeat if I did not use 『Staging』.

However.

"Has your eyesight deteriorated and you’ve forgotten how to read stories?"

His status no longer seemed great to me.

I slowly stood up.

[You are currently acting as the 'Demon King of Salvation'.]

[The status of the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' rests fully upon you.]

As my entire body radiated the majestic energy of stories, bright light began to flow from my incarnation body.

Some of the prisoners who noticed it were frightened and bowed their heads.

"Stand, the Constellation…!"

Even the 'Bear That Spares One's Life if One Pretends To Be Dead' was looking at me with shocked eyes.

As I lightly placed my hand on the guy's shoulder, his knees slowly began to buckle.

The guy shouted as if he was struggling.

[No matter what you do, it’s useless. We will never do your favor—]

"Oh, did that sound like a request?"

A way to persuade those who have lost their stories, lost their memories, and ultimately lost the ability to read.

"I'll tell you again. You only have one choice."

The crane owner said. Those who have lost their own stories are just being swept away by other 'stories' like a torrent.

So the only way to persuade them is through 'stories'.

[The story begins 'Incite'.]

So, the method I would choose was decided.

[Support me.]

It becomes the story of 'I will sweep them all away'.

[It must be scary to jump into the scenarios again. I know. That's why I'm saying it.]

I saw the confused beastmen looking up at me one by one. A faint trace of emotion passed through their dead eyes.

[At least as long as you support me, I will be your 'story'. I will fight on your behalf and become a laughingstock for the Constellations on your behalf.]

My persuasion was not persuasion.

My words will not be heard in their ears. They are simply overwhelmed by my story and crushed by the status of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

So their choice now is,

[Just support me. Then at least you will be able to see the end of this world through me.]

In fact, it wasn't a choice.

[Your approval rating begins to rise.]

[Your approval rating has reached a certain level.]

[Currently, 83% of prisoners in Zone 13 support you.]

It was an easy and clear ending.

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' is scolding you for not doing this sooner.]

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' says that sometimes a decision like that of an 'Adventurer Who Laid An Egg' is needed.]

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' looks at you sadly.]

And as always, clear cider,

[The Constellation 'Bear That Spares One's Life if One Pretends To Be Dead' rejects your instigation.]

[The Constellation 'Bear That Spares One's Life if One Pretends To Be Dead' loses his story and chooses to disappear.]

The aftertaste was bitter.

[You have obtained permission to attend the 'Zodiac Ball'.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

753 Episode 31 Yoo Joonghyuk (5)

---

"Dokja-ssi! I heard your approval rating exceeded 80%?"

Kyung Sein and the others were unaware of the details of my negotiations with the 'Bear Beastmen' as they were each traveling throughout Zone 13 to gain additional support.

"Wow, how on earth did you convince them?"

"I don’t know if I should call that persuasion."

Not all bears were persuaded.

The leader 'Bear Who Will Spare One’s Life if One pretends to be Dead' rejected my instigation and disappeared.

The bear who took over his story and became the leader of the new bears, said this.

"The leader fulfilled his mission. He felt that this was his ■■."

■■.

Is there an end to the road even for those who have lost their dreams?

"Don’t feel guilty. The boss just entrusted us to you. All you have to do is keep your promise."

The companions who heard my story had solemn expressions.

"I don’t know what to say. After all, you can’t force the same dream on everyone."

The bears were an enemy he had fought just a few days ago, but no hostility could be found in Kyung Sein's tone anymore.

Friend or enemy, in the end, everyone is just a part of this huge story. That was the lesson we learned while building the story here.

"Kim Dokja, when are you going to leave?"

In response to Killer King's question, I checked the 'System Message' floating in the air.

[You can attend the 'Zodiac Ball'.]

[Choose the colleagues you want to attend the ball with by midnight tonight.]

[The eighth scenario automatically ends as soon as you attend the 'Zodiac Ball'.]

"By midnight tonight."

Midnight tonight.

Finally, we’ll meet the Constellations of the Chinese zodiac.

Kyung Sein asked with a stern expression, maybe nervous about going to a new scenario area.

"Yoo Joonghyuk hasn’t woken up yet. Will it be okay?"

"It’s okay. If he doesn't wake up, I’ll at least slap his butt to wake him up. 'like Breaking the Sky Sword Saint'."

We looked at each other and laughed.

"But what exactly is the 'Zodiac Ball'?"

"It’s an event that has never been mentioned in the Book of Revelation."

As Cha Yerin said, the 'Zodiac Ball' was definitely an event that did not appear in 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

I can only guess that it will have a similar feel to the 'Constellation's Banquet'.

"It would be good to know the information in advance."

"How?"

I pointed to a corner of the inn with my chin. There was a little rat prisoner tied up tightly.

[The Constellation, 'Nail-Eating Rat' is trembling and looking at you.]

---

It was six months ago that Kim Soogyeom first became aware of the phenomenon of possession.

'It's an unfamiliar ceiling.'

The moment he realized that fact, Kim Soogyeom was thrilled.

Having acquired a repertoire of 'possessing people' through comics, novels, and animations, he was surprised by the appearance of an unfamiliar ceiling, but was not embarrassed.

'I just waited for this moment.'

To him, who was a repeat student—to be exact, he had retaken the CSAT but failed the CSAT and was about to take the third attempt—this possession felt like a kind of salvation.

The problem was the object of his possession.

[Squeak.]

Of all the objects, why did I possess this one?

[Squeak.]

The only comforting thing was that this 'squeak' was not "squeak" but [squeak].

[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' squeaks.]

The moment he read the word Constellation floating in the air, Soogyeom Kim realized what kind of world he had arrived in.

[Are you here, Sugyeom?]

[Squeak… ah?]

What's even more surprising is that his friends arrived first.

[I thought you would come too.]

There are two friends who possessed someone together with Kim Soogyeom.

Their modifiers were as follows:

'Pig in a Brick House'.

And 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.

—Kyung Sein: No, you were originally friends with the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'?

Kim Soogyeom was excited.

I am not alone!

I'm not alone in this damn world!

While possessing Constellations, they decided to call each other by their Constellation names.

'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is a tiger.

'Pig in a Brick House' is a pig.

And Kim Soogyeom is a rat.

He didn't like the name, but he couldn't help it. Because it was the tiger who decided that.

[But why did I possess someone in this novel?]

The rat answered the tiger's question.

[It’s because of you. You liked this novel.]

[The rat said you read it too.]

[I didn't like it that much.]

However, no matter how hard they think about it, the phenomenon of possession itself does not change.

[What scenario are you all in now?]

[I am in the 69th. The rat is number 63.]

[I am in the 71st. I've come the furthest, but honestly, looking at the difficulty level of the scenario, I think it would be impossible for us to get to the final scenario on our own.]

[It was like that in the original.]

[Ah, why did we have to possess an animal Constellation? It would have been better if it was someone like Sun Wukong or Hades.]

[What do we do now?]

[We need to find Kim Dokja.]

But soon they realized.

[I think we are ■ here.]

There is no 'Kim Dokja' in this world.

But they were not frustrated.

What would they be without Kim Dokja? All they have to do is make Kim Dokja.

[What do you think? Who should I sponsor?]

[How is he over there?]

[Isn’t he originally a villain?]

[He's a villain, though. …Uh? Well, isn’t there something strange about that?]

[Huh? Uh huh?]

[Squeak!]

The moment the first scenario ended and they saw Cheon Inho alive at Geumho Station, the three friends realized something.

[I decided on you.]

—Lee Dansu: Oh, by any chance, in 'Sponsor Selection' at that time…!

From then on, Kim Soogyeom and his colleagues began sponsoring.

Unfortunately, all three failed to become Cheon Inho's Constellation, but it was not something they wanted as they were Historical-grade Constellations anyway.

In the meantime, they learned that there was another Constellation in the same situation.

[The Constellation 'Primordial Cow' shrugs.]

They also learned that there are Constellations plotting evil plans.

—Cha Yerin: The Misreading Association.

The two forces immediately antagonized.

That's right, one side was the side that wanted to support the main character and see the ending, and the other side was the side that wanted to become the main character of this world by exterminating the main character and the other side.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' roars!]

[The Constellation 'Snake cutting its tail' screams!]

[The Constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' builds a brick house.]

[The Constellation 'Rat Bringing Plague' begins to eat the bricks.]

After fighting every time they encountered each other, the Constellations eventually decided to get together and negotiate.

Of course, there was no way the negotiations could work properly.

[Snake, I warn you. Don't interfere with the story. Unless you really want to get lost.]

[How pathetic. Are you really going to lose control of the story to people like that? We are Constellations.]

[Birds who do illegal downloading■ keep their mouths open—]

[So, did you guys buy them all?]

[Of course we…]

[Swear to the <Star Stream>. You've never read a novel on an illegal site?]

—Killer King: So who didn't take the oath?

They continued to fight and antagonize and grab each other like that for several months.

A lot has changed in them in those few months. They came to talk like a Constellation, think like a Constellation, and act like a Constellation.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' cheers for Cheon Inho.]

If you think about it, that wasn't such a strange change.

[The Constellation 'Primordial Cow' is amazed by Jung Heewon's majesty.]

Maybe they lived similarly even before becoming a Constellation.

[The Constellation 'Pig Living a Brick House' feels frustrated with Yoo Joonghyuk.]

They were happy, sad or angry while watching the scenarios of the incarnations, and sometimes even moved.

And at some point they forgot the scenario they had to clear.

Some friends even helped the main character by exceeding the probability allowed to them.

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' was one of them.

In particular, after sponsoring the 'core of the devil species' as the material for 'Unbreakable Faith', the condition of the 'Tiger' began to deteriorate noticeably.

[Tiger, are you okay?]

[Hmm? Rat, what's going on?]

[I'm asking this because your complexion is pale.]

One week, two weeks, one month.

Time continued to pass.

Because he did not want to be left out among friends who laughed or cried, Kim Soogyeom occasionally wrote indirect messages. But every time he wrote a message, he got the feeling that something was going wrong.

[The story 'The Rat Who Desires an Incarnation' urges you to find a new incarnation.]

[The story 'Back Alley Thief Rat' orders you to lick the story that fell on the floor.]

[The story 'Gluttonous Rat' wants to devour new stories.]

When did stories start speaking to them?

Or maybe they were talking to them from the beginning and they didn't know?

Was supporting the main characters and devouring their stories all a command of the stories? Then,

[The story 'Nail-Eating Rat' is looking at you.]

Could it be that they are now being consumed by 'stories'?

Kim Soogyeom, terrified, threw away his story and ran away. Wherever he went, stories followed him, but fortunately he was a 'Rat' who was good at running away. Among the zodiac animals, the rat was the fastest.

But unfortunately his friends were not 'rats'.

---

Killer King, who had listened to the rat's story to the end, shook his head and said.

"So that’s what happened."

It was only after listening to the story that I could understand why the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' had changed so much.

Most of the animal-type Constellations above, as well as the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes', are probably in the same state.

They are no longer 'readers'.

[I, I came to tell you this. Never climb up. The Constellations of the 'Zodiac Ball' are all crazy. And the guys who were the Five Dogs Association—]

The moment he said that, the rat's mouth suddenly froze.

[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' screams!]

Along with the rat's terrible scream, terrible sparks began to blow into the rat's incarnation body.

[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' takes a huge hit and leaves 'Zone 13'.]

It happened so quickly that I had no time to do anything.

I looked down at the small claw left where the rat had been.

Killer King asked.

"Just now…"

“It’s hard to say that he simply lost to the story."

No matter how much he has lost his 'status', he was still a 'Historical-grade Constellation'. If he had disappeared due to being dominated by a story like the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes', some other symptom would have appeared.

I said, looking up at the night sky that had already become dark.

"There's someone..."

Clearly, this is the work of a guy who exists in a higher-level scenario. It is also a being that can exorcise the 'Nail-Eating Rat', a powerful Constellation, with a single blow.

"In the 'Zodiac', there is a being equivalent to a 'Narrative-grade Constellation'."

Normally, it would have been a time when Kyung Sein or Dansu ahjussi would have been scared and uttered a word. But this time no one said anything. Because they already knew that there was a powerful enemy up there.

"Get ready to go up quickly."

---

Exactly one hour later, we finished getting ready and gathered in the central clearing of『The Fox and the Crane』.

A small cargo was rising in the center of the clearing. Perhaps the crane owner had prepared it in advance.

We sat naturally around the bonfire.

"Zone 13 is also the last."

Everyone's eyes are deep in their own thoughts. This time, Kyung Sein was the first to open her mouth.

"Dokja-ssi, I have a question."

"Yes. Please tell me."

"By any chance… have you become a Constellation?"

I answered with a bitter smile.

"It’s just a replacement."

"Replacement? Is something like that possible?"

I briefly explained my situation.

"Then you will be able to act as a Constellation for the time being."

"I guess so."

"Are you okay, Dokja-ssi? I wonder if the stories are speaking to you like the Constellations before…"

"Oh, me."

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' is grumbling at you.]

"Sometimes there are some who start fights, but it's okay. It's just similar to what Kim Dokja experienced."

After hesitating for a moment, Kyung Sein added.

"It somehow flows in a similar way to the Book of Revelation. It seems that Kim Dokja became qualified as a Constellation around this time in the Book of Revelation."

It was like that. I think it was definitely around that time.

"If Dokja-ssi is Kim Dokja, we all have our own roles, right? For me, I guess it's Lee Hyunsung. And Dansu ahjussi is… Han Myungoh?"

"No, Sein-ssi."

"Of course Yerin-ssi is Jung Heewon, and…"

Kyung Sein hesitated for a moment.

She probably was reminded of Ye Hyunwoo.

Killer King intervened with good timing.

"Of course I am Yoo Joonghyuk."

"Yes. I think the second apostle is Kim Namwoon."

"You."

The companions burst into light laughter.

Dansu ahjussi opened his mouth as if organizing things.

"We are just who we are. I don't think there's any need to compare ourselves to others. I'm definitely not saying this because I was compared to Han Myungoh."

That was right.

We cannot be <Kim Dokja Company>.

The man named Lee Dansu, who was touching his knee in embarrassment, added:

"But honestly, I don’t think we’re inferior to <Kim Dokja Company> at this level."

That was also correct.

Above all, everyone in the party has learned [Way of the Wind]. Even if we look at us one by one, our growth rate was not bad.

Not only was Kyung Sein capable of tanking as powerfully as Lee Hyunsung of the same period, but he also had much more agility than him.

Dansu ahjussi not only has the 'Sneaky Schemer' as his Constellation, but also has 'Immortal King' as his characteristic.

There was no need to mention the talented Cha Yerin, who was the first to master [Way of the Wind].

And Killer King.

"Kim Dokja, you’re looking at me with unpleasant eyes."

Above all, we have Yoo Joonghyuk from the 41st Round. In terms of potential alone, our protagonist has more formidable fighting power than any other Round.

"It’s not like I don’t have friends like Jihye-ssi, Hyunsung-ssi, Heewon-ssi, and Yoosoung-ssi… Isn’t this Round quite interesting?"

I forgot about them for a while.

If we look at it closely, we can confidently say that the 41st Round's power was stronger than any other round, as there were key characters such as Lee Jihye, Lee Hyunsung, and Kim Namwoon.

Now that I think about it, where have other characters like Jung Heewon and Shin Yoosung gone? Ji Eunyu and Anna Croft are nowhere to be seen either.

Looking at the situation, it seems like they fell in an area other than Zone 13...

If I participate in the 'Zodiac Ball', I might meet them.

[The story 'Between Truth and Lies' is looking at you.]

A mumbling story was talking to me. It felt like Yoo Joonghyuk had woken up.

It was a signal to me that it was time to leave.

Killer King asked since he felt the energy of the story.

"Is that a newly acquired story?"

"Yes."

Eyes that somehow seem envious or admiring.

Killer King looked up at the story that was floating above my head for a long time after that. Then he pressed his lips several times and slowly opened his mouth.

"I am Cha Sungwoo."

Cha Sungwoo.

The group turned to each other at the soft voice.

The name of the person Killer King possessed was Kang Ilhoon, but Killer King said his name was 'Cha Sungwoo'.

"My name is Noh Kyunghwan. I'm sure everyone knows this."

The person who opened his mouth next was Dansoo ahjussi. I knew the man's real name well, but the weight of that name sounded different.

While the embers of the bonfire were lightly bouncing, there was someone who took over the baton.

"I'm Sung Minwoo."

Judge Heewon— alsdn0905.

The person who had been called 'Kyung Sein' until now smiled as if she were embarrassed.

"This is the first time I say my name."

As she scratched her cheek shyly, Literature Girl 64—Cha Yerin, who was next to her—said.

"I'm Cha Yerin."

Cha Sungwoo, Noh Kyunghwan, Sung Minwoo, and Cha Yerin.

Geumho Station, Chungmuro Station, Gwanghwamun, the names of the people who have been through those difficult scenarios together.

Cha Yerin said to me who hesitated.

"You don't have to tell us your name. We just wanted to tell you."

The moment I heard those words, I realized something.

「They know.」

Since when? I don't know anything like that.

But they knew who I was. Still, so far they haven't asked a single question. Who I am and where I come from. What am I doing with them?

There is only one name allowed in this world: my name.

"I."

But can that name provide a sufficient explanation about me to the people in front of me?

I looked down at my hands. The warmth of the bonfire passed through my fingertips as I wrote the sentence.

All the stories in this world are fiction that exists for just one person.

Nevertheless, the warmth of this moment was never a lie.

I opened my mouth.

"My name is."

As time passes, the bonfire we gathered around will turn to ashes.

This warmth, this scenery, the fact that we shared this story, everything will be forgotten forever.

It's okay though.

"It's Lee Hakhyun."

At least at this moment, we are reading this story together.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

754 Episode 32 Monkey King (1)

---

「When I write a story, I often get confused. Am I writing the story, or is the story using me to reveal itself? Anna, have you ever thought about that?」

—Asuka Ren

---

It was the first time I revealed my name to my companions. The reason I've been hesitating so far is because I didn't want to cause any unnecessary discomfort.

In fact, it was Han Sooyoung who wrote Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, but it was I who wrote Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint in the worldline in which I lived.

And the readers in front of me are people from the same world line as me.

When they hear my name, they can't help but be embarrassed.

"Wait a minute, that name."

As expected, Kyung Sein reacted first.

Dansu ahjussi, who was next to Kyung Sein, also looked surprised as if he had realized something.

Actually, I thought they might know, but everyone turned out to be not as perceptive than I expected...

"What Korean characters form your name?"

I felt a little embarrassed by the ahjussi's unexpected question.

"This is mine: Hak鶴(crane) Hyun翾((lightly) flying)."

I said, omitting (lightly) in front of Hyun.

Dansu ahjussi shook his head in admiration.

"It's a very noble name. I can sense that the person who named you put a lot of thought into it."

"Wow, Ahjussi. Can you even read my name?"

"I did some studying on the meaning of names when I came up with Jiyoon's name. Lee Hakhyun. It's a good name."

A good name?

No, wait, this isn't important… Did he not notice anything at all?

Didn't you just say my name?

"Excuse me…"

Kyung Sein responded by waving her hand as if she knew what I was going to say.

"Ah, don't worry. I'll call you 'Kim Dokja' from now on."

"No, that's…"

"If we call Hakhyun-ssi 'Kim Dokja', the name of 'Kim Dokja' will become famous! A story will be created! There will be a higher chance that 'Kim Dokja', including the Demon King of Salvation, will notice us!"

"Yes, that's true…"

"Don't worry, I will definitely protect you!"

I looked at Kyung Sein blankly and let out a light sigh.

I thought it might have gone well.

I don't know if she's pretending not to know, or if she really doesn't know.

When I thought about it, it wasn't strange that she didn't know my name. Ordinary readers remember the works they read, but they do not remember the name of the author who wrote the work.

At that time, Killer King across from me spoke.

"I don’t know about naming, but it’s a very cool name."

I looked at the faces of my companions one by one and found the only one whose complexion had changed.

An unusually pale face.

There was a fact that suddenly occurred to me as I looked at Cha Yerin avoiding my eyes.

Oh, come to think of it, Yerin knows.

[It is time to enter the 'Zodiac Ball'.]

[Representative of Zone 13, please designate companion signs to 'companions' who will enter together.]

Is it finally time?

There were a total of six people in the group, including Yoo Joonghyuk and me.

I left a 'companion designation mark' on the back of each member’s hand.

The mark looked exactly like someone's face, but no matter how I looked at it, it didn't look like that of an animal.

This… Doesn't his face look similar to mine?

The next moment, the sky split open and an Orbital Elevator descended toward the ground. Elevator doors open with a light cloud of dust.

But for some reason, the inside of the elevator was a little narrow.

[Two people can board the Orbital Elevator at a time.]

[Please board with one companion.]

Wait for a sec. What about the rest?

[Additional Orbital Elevators will arrive soon.]

Ah, is this how multiple units arrive? It would have been more convenient if we all went together, but I don't know why we formed pairs.

Could this be related to the following scenario? Well, if it weren't for that, there's no reason to put this kind of restriction on it.

I looked back at my companions.

It doesn't matter who I take, but it would probably be better for me to take the most dangerous one.

Just as I was about to call out to Yoo Joonghyuk, a boy appeared from afar near thedoors.

Cha Sungwoo pushed someone towards me.

"Take this one away first."

---

A long time ago, I participated in an event called 'Conversation with Readers'. It was an event held at a small local bookstore.

The event was structured in a way that five or six writers, including myself, and about thirty readers had a conversation together.

Of course, none of the readers who participated that day had read my novel.

It was natural. At that time, I was a kid who had just debuted in the literary world. Even though we were all authors, I was an unknown author who had not published a single book, and the other authors were new artists who were attracting attention in the literary world.

Readers everywhere raise their hands and ask questions, and writers answer them.

There, I was neither a writer nor a reader, but simply a member of the audience watching their stories.

I think I had that thought at first glance as I watched the Q&A going on.

Will I be able to be asked that question someday?

Would I be able to meet someone who is curious about my story with such deep eyes?

"I."

Below the slowly ascending Orbital Elevator, the scenery of Zone 13 was receding.

"Well, I don’t know what to say."

I saw Cha Yerin standing side by side inside the window. Maybe it was because the elevator was so narrow, but the air inside made me feel suffocated.

It occurred to me later that the writers who were being asked questions at that time were not all that happy.

Does Cha Yerin resent me for hiding my identity as a writer?

But from my perspective, it was an inevitable choice. Because at that time, I still couldn’t trust Cha Yerin.

Even so, I didn't reveal my identity too late. Shouldn't I have given at least a small hint? Otherwise—

"Sorry."

Unexpectedly, it was Cha Yerin who apologized first.

I threw up my hands, somewhat embarrassed.

"My brother created an uncomfortable situation for no reason."

"No. I should have told you a long time ago—"

"Because my brother knows everything."

It wasn't difficult to take into account what it meant to know.

Perhaps Killer King—Cha Sungwoo knew that I was a writer and that his younger sister liked novels by an author named Lee Hakhyun.

That's probably why he pushed his sister into the Orbital Elevator.

"A lot of time has already passed."

Cha Yerin's voice was deep, as if she was reflecting on the past years.

"It went by so quickly. It was as if it was written 'and several months passed'."

It was indeed a metaphor worthy of Literature Girl 64.

I remembered the day I first met Cha Yerin. That day, we were in the 'Edge of Darkness' and fighting against the Misreading Association.

It was a time when enemies and allies were still unclear.

"It’s somehow fascinating."

I could see the beasts moving away under the Orbital Elevator. The crane owner who was supposed to support us was waving his hand. The leader of the Bear Beastmen also stood out.

In a world where everything becomes a story, even this moment will one day become a story.

We looked down at our colleagues who shared the story. There were people there waiting for the Orbital Elevator. Cha Sungwoo, Noh Kyunghwan, Sung Minwoo, and Yoo Joonghyuk.

Cha Yerin, who was looking down at the scenery together, added.

"They can become colleagues just by liking the same story."

"Luckily, they’re all good people."

"Author."

"Yes."

"I’ll only call you that until the Orbital Elevator is up."

"I understand. Is it okay if I call you reader?"

Cha Yerin quietly lowered her head and looked down at her own toes. Then, her expression hardened and she asked.

"We are in a bad situation. Is this the author’s intention?"

"No."

With the authority of a Constellation, I searched for the stars that watch over us. Fortunately, there were no prying eyes on the conversation inside the Orbital Elevator.

Well, it meant that here you can talk as much as you want without worrying about filtering.

"Can I tell you a little about my situation?"

Cha Yerin briefly nodded her head and I started talking.

The day before I possessed a character, I received a strange note from Representative Kim Dokja.

'Participating in Kim Dokja’s banquet and meeting Representative Kim Dokja'.

When I came to my senses, I was suddenly possessing a character in this world.

"It’s very similar to what happened to Kim Dokja. It’s almost like someone parodied it."

It's a parody.

I hadn't even thought of that.

"What does it feel like to possess a character in a story you wrote yourself?"

"I should have written a more peaceful story. I should have made the main character die less."

We looked at each other and smiled.

"Can we change the ending?"

"I will change it."

Before we knew it, the scenery of Zone 13 was no longer visible. As the Orbital Elevator entered the floor, the view outside was pitch black.

"The ending of the 41st Round has been decided."

"The story of the 41st Round has not been read properly yet."

"You can fix it because you’ve never worked on it."

"Yes. I think so."

"It won’t be easy."

"I guess so. But there’s Yerin-ssi, Sungwoo-ssi, and other colleagues."

The scenarios that will come in the future are different from the initial scenarios where we were just grappling with the incarnations.

"It’s worth a try."

What is waiting for us above now are at least 'Historical-grade Constellations'.

We will compete with them in scenarios.

"Please tell me you can write well."

I looked at Cha Yerin in the dark.

Even though she appeared calm from beginning to end, she must be afraid. If I remember her in real life, she would be a girl in her late teens at most.

"I will do my best."

"Please tell me one more time."

"I will do my best. There are people who read my boring debut work to the end."

"It wasn’t boring."

Even in the dark, I felt like I could see her straight face.

"The Origin of Memory is my favorite novel."

The Origin of Memory.

When I heard the title of my debut work, I felt embarrassed. It felt like I was being dragged back to 'Conversation with Readers' after a few years.

"Why? Why do you like that novel?"

Even on the entire Korean Peninsula, there would be less than fifty people who have read that novel. And most of them probably even don’t even remember that title.

In a sense, the Cha Yerin in front of me right now was the only reader who remembered the novel written by the author 'Lee Hakhyun'.

Cha Yerin said.

"Kim Dokja loves Ways of Survival."

"Yes."

"And I love The Origin of Memory."

I couldn't answer anything.

Cha Yerin continued speaking as if she understood my silence.

"『The Origin of Memory』. It's a story about a man searching for his origins."

For the first time in a while, I remembered the contents of that novel.

The main character of 『The Origin of Memory』 has no name. Neither does he have parents. So he created his own past. He designed all the stories related to himself, including his birth, his parents, and his family, and said that it was him.

But no one could say that the story was false. Because no one knows his past.

Even he himself.

"I was jealous."

I thought about what kind of person Cha Yerin wa. She is a child who lost her parents at birth and was left in an orphanage.

The only people who remember her story are herself and her brother.

"I like the last scene. It's the part where the main character faces his younger self."

In the final scene of『The Origin of Memory』, the protagonist faces his childhood self as if in a fantasy.

I had forgotten that such a scene even existed, but I was honestly surprised. Right now, before my eyes, there was a reader who remembered my novel better than me.

"If you think about it, the ending is similar to that novel."

"It seems like that too."

"And the author is Kim Dokja."

In the darkness, Cha Yerin’s eyes were looking at me. She was looking at me, but in a sense she wasn't looking at me.

She was allowing the darkness between us. As if between the lines of darkness, there was an important sentence that the author did not forget to write down.

"A writer is the first reader of his novel."

For a moment, I felt strange.

I felt as if I had heard the answer I had been looking for all along from a distant universe.

"If that’s what you mean, I could also become Kim Dokja."

Why is it that only after becoming Kim Dokja, I hear the story I most wanted to hear as Lee Hakhyun?

"I think Yerin-ssi looks much more like Kim Dokja. The same goes for Sungwoo-ssi, Kyunghwan ahjussi, and Minwoo-ssi."

In reality, they were fragments of 'Kim Dokja'. People who loved this story more than any other readers.

On the other hand, what about me?

I am 49% Kim Dokja. A being that originated from Kim Dokja, who wanted to become Kim Dokja more than anyone else, and therefore could not become Kim Dokja more than anyone else.

In that sense, I may be the person who is furthest from Kim Dokja.

"Perhaps."

After thinking about something for a moment, Yerin opened her mouth. It was dimly bright outside the window, and the light dimly illuminated her face.

"It’s not that we resemble Kim Dokja, but perhaps Kim Dokja resembles us."

I listened to those words in a daze and suddenly opened my mouth.

At that time, the Orbital Elevator stopped with a loud noise.

[Main Scenario #8 – 'Zone 13' has ended automatically.]

Then came the long-awaited reward.

[300,000 coins were obtained as a scenario reward.]

[The story fragment 'Understanding of the Unemployed' was obtained as a scenario reward.]

「Understanding the Unemployed.」

I finally got my hands on this story fragment.

[A new main scenario has arrived.]

Before I knew it, a new scenario area appeared outside the elevator window.

It was a landscape I knew well.

Cha Yerin looked at me with a nervous expression. I nodded at her as if answering her.

She said, "The 'Recycling Center Director' knows who 'Kim Dokja' is."

Otherwise, the stage for the next scenario cannot be here.

"Here is—"

It was then that someone opened the door of the Orbital Elevator. A large hand came through the crack in the door along with a shout.

The moment I reflexively protected Cha Yerin and grabbed the hilt of 'Unbreakable Faith', the owner of the hand completely opened the elevator door.

[I was wondering who it was that rejected my offer.]

A monkey with golden fur was smiling at me.

[Are you the guy called 'Kim Dokja'?]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

755 Episode 32 Monkey King (2)

---

There are a total of four 'Sun Wukong' in the <Star Stream>.

'Sun Wukong' is divided into a total of four depending on the modifier he has.

The first one was 'Meihouwang' who was the Monkey King of Mt. Hwagwa Mountain.

The second is 'Bimawen', who was the stable keeper of the heavenly world.

The third is 'Great Sage Heaven's Equal', whom we know (this guy is the owner of the golden headband).

The fourth is 'Douzhanshengfo', who attained enlightenment at the end of his journey and became Buddha.

Looking at it this way, I felt that he was somehow similar to Kim Dokja. Because Kim Dokja’s existence was divided according to his modifier.

[I asked, are you Kim Dokja?]

"First of all, I am Kim Dokja."

I continued speaking while looking closely at the monkey in front of me.

「Dazzling golden fur. Tattered tiger skin panties. Even his unique eyes that look somewhat drowsy.」

It was definitely true. The monkey in front of me is—

"Are you Meihouwang?"

[This guy. It's quite surprising that you recognize me.]

Meihouwang snorted, placed his hands on his waist and looked triumphant.

Anyway, Meihouwang is a Narrative-grade Constellation that represents the birth of 'Sun Wukong'. According to Kim Dokja, it was the Constellation equivalent of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

However… What is this?

The impact felt by Meihouwang was not large. At first, I thought it was because I was getting stronger, but I didn't think that was the case.

Is he hiding his true power?

That may be so. Because all Sun Wukongs are good at adjusting the level of the story.

But even so, is it possible for Meihouwang, a Narrative-grade Constellation, to appear here in an incarnation body?

I don't know.

Since everything that happens these days completely ignores probability, I now doubt whether probability even exists in this world.

[Is that how you see it?]

I guess I was staring too hard.

King Mifu said while scratching his golden hair.

[Is this guy also in love with my fur? Well, even the Great Sage guy is jealous of my fur. He is a man with eyes to see.]

When he says Great Sage, he probably means Great Sage Heaven’s Equal.

Meihouwang chuckled and said with his deep eyes flashing.

[You probably know why I came.]

"I can guess."

Just a few hours ago, I received a message from the 'Monkey' faction saying they were recruiting me.

And the Meihouwang before my eyes was the famous 'Monkey King'.

[The faction 'Monkey God' invites you.]

In other words, Meihouwang is the master of the 'Monkey God' faction.

It's not another monkey, it's Meihouwang.. The scale of the 'Zodiac Ball' might be bigger than I thought.

[Hmm. Even though I came in person, the response was only that much?]

When I saw Meihouwang's disapproving expression, I thought it was a pity. I should have asked to take a picture together.

[Insolent bastard, come join my forces.]

Meihouwang, like Sun Wukong, didn't even listen to my answer and just kept talking.

[I liked your story. I allow you to become my incarnation.]

To be honest, it would be a lie if I said there wasn't a part that tempted me.

He is the incarnation body of Meihouwang.

If I wasn't the incarnation of the 'Demon King of Salvation', I might have been quite attracted to it.

If I can persuade Meihouwang to succeed in the '4-stage union of Sun Wukong' and then evolve him into 'The AncientLiberator', I will have the strongest Mythical Constellation in history as my sponsor.

Of course, it was a wrong assumption at this point.

"I'm sorry, but I already have a Constellation—"

[Hmph, I already know that your idiot sponsor is away. Are you ignoring me?]

"Even if he is away, once you are behind someone , you are always behind them."

It wasn't even in my mind, but Kim Dokja would have said this. As expected, Meihouwang's reaction was not bad.

[This guy is more loyal than I thought. I like it.]

"Thank you for your understanding."

[If that's the case, I will directly order 'cancellation of the Constellation Contract'.]

"Yes?"

It occurred to me later that I had made a mistake. Meihouwang is Sun Wukong, who has the most eccentric personality among his brothers. He was a 'King of Monkeys' who did whatever he wanted to do.

Just as I was wondering what kind of incredible lie I had to tell to avoid this situation—

A skein of shining golden thread flew from somewhere.

The skein of thread wrapped exactly around Meihouwang's head. The sound of an order was heard afterwards. Meihouwang, who was holding his head, let out an undignified scream.

[Ngegegegegegegegye—]

[The story 'Monkey Seal' begins its storytelling.]

It's a story about overpowering 'Meihouwang'.

[Okay! I knew!]

With a 'pop' sound, Meihouwang turned into a small monkey. Meihouwang, who was glaring at me disapprovingly, did a somersault, jumped backwards sharply, and climbed on top of a woman.

The woman smiled bitterly at Meihouwang, who shouted "Ukkkkkkk".

"I told you not to do that, right?"

A unique, clear voice that reassures people.

I often thought,

If Yoo Sangah existed in reality, she might have been that person.

Another person in this world who calls me 'writer'.

"Have you written any side stories in the meantime, author?"

Editor Ji Eunyu was there.

---

Ji Eunyu and I parted ways during the fierce battle at the Washington Dome. At that time, she had neither the time nor the presence of mind to say hello.

On one side, the Demon King of Salvation was dying, and on the other side, Yoo Joonghyuk, who had become a black beast, was running rampant.

[The Constellation 'Meihouwang' looks at you with disapproving eyes.]

Fortunately, there was only one monkey running wild right now, and even that monkey had calmed down in Ji Eunyu's arms.

Perhaps it was because she had subdued Meihouwang, but it seemed as if a halo could be seen behind Ji Eunyu's back.

"Your spirit has turned white."

"Author, it looks like you’re having a hard time."

"Is it noticeable even though I’m wearing a mask?"

"Yes, I can see it."

We exchanged casual greetings and smiled at each other.

There is a unique feeling of relief when I am with Ji Eunyu. I feel like it's okay even if I make mistakes.

My editor not only finds spelling and spacing, but also finds sentences I forgot to write.

She could tell whether I was confident in my writing by reading just a few sentences of the manuscript.

"It’s noticeable."

That's what Ji Eunyu said when I asked her how she knew.

"Editor. I have a lot to ask. Especially…"

Ji Eunyu noticed my sidelong glance at Meihouwang and cleared her throat slightly.

"Have you forgotten who my sponsor is?"

A bit late, a series of information came to mind.

As far as I know, the Constellation that Ji Eunyu signed a contract with was 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight'— 'Yoo Sangah, the Emperor of the Moonlight', a member of <Kim Dokja Company>.

"I chose 'Monkey' among the zodiac signs. I thought that would be the easiest to conquer."

In the story, Yoo Sangah goes through the 'Island of the Reincarnated' and is resurrected through the incarnation of Tang Sanzang(?).

In fact, most of the 'Yeonhwadae' and related skills used by Yoo Sangah are borrowed from Sanzang’s tale.

The metaphor is a judgment.

"If I go to the 'Monkey' faction, I can use my sponsor’s story."

I was secretly impressed.

"But the monkey force could have been without Sun Wukong."

"This is the 'Recycling Center'. I thought Sun Wukong would definitely be there. Instead, it’s the somewhat unpopular Sun Wukong."

Indeed, the power of reasoning to find even unwritten sentences.

[The Constellation 'Meihouwang' is complaining that he is ignored again!]

Ji Eunyu gently scratched Meihouwang’s chin and continued her words.

"And when I got to the monkey area, there was this big cave. I was immediately convinced."

"Huagua Mountain Convergence Cave."

"Yes, there was this person there."

Who would have guessed that the 'Monkey Area' of the Chinese zodiac was the birthplace of Meihouwang?

It was undoubtedly an excellent place for 'Recycling'.

"Author, you didn’t choose any faction, right?"

"Yes."

"I knew you would. Because you’re the type of person who only takes the hardest path."

"It really wasn’t easy this time."

"Still, you definitely feel different than before. Your back seems to have straightened a bit."

"Is that so?"

I looked down at my body again. Now that I think about it, I feel like my body has improved a little.

"I understand that you went around having fun without writing what you were told to write."

Although I heard some nagging, meeting Ji Eunyu here was a blessing.

From the looks of it, Meihouwang doesn't seem to have any particular hostility towards us.

[Level 2 of the exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' is activated.]

It was then that I suddenly heard a skill activation message.

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint has never been activated in this way, so maybe it's the influence of the 'Constellation Act'.]

I could hear someone's inner thoughts in my head.

「Who is it.」

I immediately knew whose thoughts those were. This person doesn't use question marks even when thinking.

「She called him writer.」

"By the way, I’m late for the introduction. Editor, this is Cha Yerin. Yerin, this is my editor."

But this time, I heard the other side’s inner thoughts.

「Writer, is it okay to say that?」

There were a little too many 'inner feelings'.

「Did he reveal that he was a writer?」

「Then it’ll be a little bit difficult, right?」

Yes. therefore.

「If it’s someone he can trust, it’ll be okay.」

「But Kim Dokja didn’t reveal his identity until much later.」

Let me explain.

「What if that person betrays us?」

「I think we need to come up with a separate response plan.」

「As a first measure—」

I quickly intervened before Ji Eunyu’s plan of action could progress any further.

"Editor, this person is my reader. You can rest assured."

"Ah."

"I revealed my secret. She is my only reader."

"The only… reader?"

I happened to express it that way, but it wasn't wrong.

Cha Yerin is probably the only person who read and remembers my debut work.

「Then what about me?」

Eh?

"Nice to meet you. I'm Ji Eunyu. I'm the person who reads and edits the author's writing before anyone else."

Only then did I suddenly come to my senses.

Come to think of it, Cha Yerin wasn't the only one. Although she may not have read my debut novel, Ji Eunyu was a reader who read my novels before anyone else and read them more.

"I'm Cha Yerin. I've read all of his novels."

Ji Eunyu's expression changed completely after hearing Cha Yerin's introduction.

"You've read all of the Author's novels?"

"Yes."

"Even the Genesis trilogy?"

"Yes."

"You're a complete Kim Dokja."

"Kim Dokja…"

Cha Yerin awkwardly looked down at her toes.

Now I understand. That's an embarrassing expression.

"What path did you take when reading the book?"

"I read it in paperback first, but I bought it all later. The serial version, the copy, and—"

"Wow! Thank you so much! What are you doing, writer? You need to thank her quickly."

"Thank you."

I suddenly said thanks to her.

"Louder! She’s the one who saved our management from almost being ruined!"

"Thank you!"

"If you need an autographed copy, please let me know anytime! I don’t have the book right now, but—"

When I thought about it, this was Ji Eunyu’s true self. I was worried for no reason.

[The Constellation 'Meihouwang' yawns, saying he doesn’t know what you are talking about.]

[The Constellation 'Meihouwang' urges you to proceed with the scenario quickly.]

"Look at that. Come to think of it, this wasn’t the time."

"Yes, well. Let’s leave our greetings like this."

"Do you know where this place is?"

In response to Ji Eunyu’s question, I looked around at the surrounding scenery.

"Yes. I know."

A landscape covered in clouds everywhere.

「This is the place where Kim Dokja waited for the carriage during the 'Constellation Banquet'.」

The name of this place is 'Cloud Road'.

A place that serves as a tributary and station connecting the scenarios of the <Star Stream>. That means,

"The carriage will be here soon."

As if to prove my thoughts, I saw something like a small dot flying from afar in the sky. The dot grew bigger little by little, and as expected, it took on the shape of a carriage.

Cha Yerin said with admiration.

"A carriage like that came during the Constellation Banquet."

At that time, it was Apollo's golden chariot.

The carriage coming this time was also a luxurious golden carriage.

The difference was that this time it was the little rats that were pulling the carriage.

[The Constellation 'Meihouwang' is complaining that the organizers have used their coins in the wrong place again.]

A golden carriage at the 'Recycling Center'. Perhaps in which scenario was that used first?

[New sub-scenario has arrived!]

<Sub Scenario - Orient Express Wagon>

Category: Sub

Difficulty: S++

Clear conditions: Get on the carriage. Arrive at your destination safely.

Time limit: 2 hours

Reward: 'Zodiac Ball' admission ticket.

Failure: Death.

On the outside, it was such a peaceful scenario that one wondered if this could even be a scenario. But.

"Is this it?"

Ji Eunyu asked.

"That’s it."

I answered.

As any aspiring Killer King knows, the carriage Kim Dokja is riding in in the 'Constellations' Banquet' is attacked by Constellations and crashes.

The mere fact that 'riding on a carriage' came up as a scenario means that this carriage will inevitably suffer the same fate.

Above all, the meaningful sentence 'arrive at your destination safely' proved this.

I smiled bitterly and opened my mouth.

"There is no way to get over this easily."

"Who can I blame?"

"Yes?"

"I told you when I was serializing. Sometimes you need an easy scenario so readers can take a break."

I didn't know it would come back to me like this either.

"I was wrong."

Even the difficulty level of the sub-scenario is S++.

At this point, I suspect that the 'Recycling Center's Director' may also be a possessed person.

A carriage that strangely resembled Apollo's golden carriage finally stopped in front of me. The squeaking rats lowered their heads as if to say hello.

The moment I put my hand on the carriage door handle to board, a message came out.

[Only designated incarnations can ride this carriage.]

[Story fragment 'Facial Recognition' is activated.]

It's a carriage with a 'face recognition' function.

Was it by any chance made in <Emperor>?

Ji Eunyu and Cha Yerin, who completed facial recognition, boarded in turn, followed by my turn.

[Face recognition failed.]

I thought it was broken, but when I thought about it, I was still wearing the mask. It's not even a metaphorical object for the carriage, so no one would recognize me wearing a mask.

Now that the Zone 13 scenario was over, there was no reason to insist on masking any longer.

[Release the 'mask'.]

As I took off my mask for the first time in a while, the stuffy feeling disappeared and cool air enveloped my face.

I relaxed my neck for a moment and lightly rolled my shoulders, but my face felt strangely hot.

When I looked up, Ji Eunyu and Cha Yerin were looking at me with surprised eyes.

[The Constellation Meihouwang is looking at you blankly.]

The same was true for Meihouwang, who was sitting on Ji Eunyu’s head.

What followed was Meihouwang’s voice heard in my ears.

[This guy. That’s interesting.]

My face was reflected in the carriage window that slowly opened.

I stared at this face for a long time, even forgetting that I had to get on the carriage.

The person I possessed was clearly Cheon Inho. However,

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' smiles with satisfaction as he looks at you.]

Reflected in the window, I was wearing Kim Dokja’s face.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

756 Episode 32 Monkey King (3)

---

The scenery of the cloud road flowed outside the window.

Someday, Kim Dokja must have seen the same scene. What was Kim Dokja thinking as he passed this road?

I don't know.

At that time, Kim Dokja was riding with the symbolic form of Dionysus.

Maybe he was too busy wondering whether the wine in Dionysus's cup was real.

The two didn't ask why I had Kim Dokja's face.

Just as Kim Dokja did not ask whether the wine in Dionysus's glass was his urine or not.

All I hear in my ears is the squeak of rats running on the cloud road and the sound of the wind blowing gently.

As I slowly took my eyes off the window, I made eye contact with Cha Yerin.

"Are you okay?"

I nodded and answered.

"I'm okay."

"But it’s Kim Dokja's face."

The reason she immediately recognized this face was probably because it resembled Kim Dokja, who appeared on the cover of the original novel.

"Yes. This is Kim Dokja’s face."

I felt like it was a stupid conversation, but I had no other way to respond. Because I really had Kim Dokja’s face.

"He’s more handsome than I thought."

"Yes?"

"His assumption was correct."

"Kill… what did Seongwoo-ssi say?"

"Kim Dokja is not 'ugly' but 'ugly'."

I belatedly remembered the nickname given to Kim Dokja.

'The Ugliest King.'

If you think about it, the first title Kim Dokja received was not 'Demon King of Salvation' but 'The Ugliest King'.

Ji Eunyu, who was listening to the story nearby, asked.

"What does that mean?"

"Ugly is just being ugly, but 'ugly' means not fully formed."

"Aha."

It was a pretty subtle difference.

Of course, from my point of view as the person who wrote that expression, I wonder what the specific intention was...

As if reading my thoughts, Ji Eunyu answered.

"But I don’t think there was any particular intention—"

"What are you talking about, editor? It was all perfectly intentional. Above all, Kim Dokja was blocked from external perception by the [Fourth Wall]! Other people couldn’t see Kim Dokja’s face properly!"

After hearing my explanation, Cha Yerin shook her head in admiration.

"But even though there is a [Fourth Wall], I can still see the Author’s face."

"Well, I don’t have the [Fourth Wall]…"

As I spoke up to that point, I stopped.

Now I am the representative of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

Even though the [Fourth Wall] was activated, there was nothing strange about it at all.

"Open up, Fourth Wall."

There was no particular [Fourth Wall] response to my command.

Ji Eunyu asked in a suspicious voice.

"If you do that, it will open?"

"I just gave it a try. But can you see my face clearly now?"

"Yes. What about Yerin-ssi?"

"It looks good."

Does this mean that the [Fourth Wall] is not working properly?

[The attributes' window cannot be activated due to a current system error.]

However, the 'attributes' window' is still not visible.

Ji Eunyu, who was quietly observing my face, continued speaking.

"Yerin-ssi, you said that the Author looks like Kim Dokja right now, right?"

"Yes."

"It’s a little surprising. It doesn’t look that way to me."

I asked, wondering what this was all about.

"So how do you see it?"

"It just looks like the original Author’s face."

"My face?"

"It’s not exact, but I think so. Author, didn’t you always look like this? Your hair style is very different, but…"

There was a question that immediately came to mind.

「What did I originally look like?」

Has it been too long since I possessed a character? Even when I saw my face reflected in the window and touched it again, my old face did not come to mind.

It feels like my face has been like this from the beginning.

I felt scared for a moment because of that sentiment, which did not feel the slightest sense of discomfort.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is looking at you.]

I couldn't tell these two people.

The 'story' I have is said to be eating up 'Kim Dokja’s fragments', and to the extent that I have eaten those fragments, I am becoming more like Kim Dokja.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' opens its eyes greedily.]

Even now, my story is coveting the two people in front of me.

「If you touch either of them, I will never speak of you again.」

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' frowns and steps away.]

Fortunately, the story quickly quieted down.

However, in that short period of time, there were people who witnessed the altercation between me and my story.

[I never thought there would be someone who was like us in this universe.]

It was Meihouwang. Meihouwang delivered his mantra in the form of a telephonic voice so that the other two could not hear it.

[When one being becomes many, problems arise. Get your mind straight. If you don’t want to be preyed upon by 'just one story'.]

Just one story.

I didn't expect to hear these words here, so I suddenly looked at him. However, Meihouwang seemed to have no intention of saying more, and he yawned repeatedly, hiding his bored expression.

[Wake me up when you arrive.]

Meihouwang soon took a deep breath and fell asleep in Ji Eunyu's arms.

And as soon as he fell asleep, a small display appeared above the carriage window.

[Welcome aboard the 'Orient Express Wagon'.]

I thought it was just a golden carriage, but the internal facilities are state-of-the-art. Well, I should have looked into it from the moment the fragment of the 「Fingerprint Recognition」 story was attached.

The carriage traveling on the cloudy road felt like it was tilting for a moment.

[After a while, the carriage changes to 'manual operation'.]

No, suddenly?

As soon as the message ended, a controller appeared out of thin air. It was the same controller we commonly use when playing games.

['Zodiac Ball' participants must operate the 'controller' to drive the carriage themselves.]

[The destination is displayed on the panel.]

[You may attack or be attacked by another carriage on the way to your destination.]

[Special prizes will be awarded to the passengers of the carriage that reach the destination in first place.]

At the same time, a huge panel appears before my eyes. There was a dot on the panel marking the location of our carriage.

In addition to us, what appeared to be carriages were moving nearby.

Maybe there's a carriage with Killer King or Lee Dansu among them.

[After 30 seconds, 'manual driving' will begins.]

30 seconds. There isn't much time.

I quickly looked back at Ji Eunyu and opened my mouth.

"Editor-nim."

"Yes. Are you asking me to knock you out?"

I don't know how Ji Eunyu knew, but she was already pulling out a large hammer from her pocket.

Cha Yerin also said, clashing her iron fists together.

"If it’s about knocking someone out, I’m good at it."

I looked at them for a moment and then answered.

"I’ll just do it myself."

I was lucky that this wasn't 'Zone 13'.

Because from now on, I can freely use skills.

"I’m going to pass out for 30 seconds from now."

[This area is a place where 'skill' use is permitted.]

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 10' is activated!]

[Your understanding of the story fragment 'Incite' is very excellent.]

[The story fragment 'Incite' has a great influence on the proficiency of skill 'Incite'.]

With the feeling of my consciousness sinking, I activated [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint].

[Exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' stage 2 is activated!]

Let's see.

Let’s check Yoo Joonghyuk’s side first.

As I thought of Yoo Joonghyuk, the boy from the 41st round, in my head, the inside of another carriage appeared before my eyes.

「"That guy must be in a carriage too."」

The conditions for activating the skill have been met. It seems he also thought of me.

And the one who rode with Yoo Joonghyuk—

「'If you say that guy, do you mean Kim Dokja?"」

Damn it, why is it Killer King?

The boy Yoo Joonghyuk and Killer King were staring at each other while sitting across from each other in the carriage.

「"Why do you call Kim Dokja 'that guy'?"」

「"It’s what feels right in my heart."」

「"Only close friends use that title. You and Kim Dokja are not close. It's actually me who is close."」

「"You don't seem that close either."」

The two growled as if they were going to fight at any moment, and then looked at the controller that appeared in the air and spoke at the same time.

「"I'll do it."」

I immediately switched the screen.

It would have been a lie if I said we weren't there, but after thinking about it, I thought there wouldn't be that much of a problem if these two were a team.

That's because Yoo Joonghyuk's characteristic was that he was a pro gamer, and Killer King was also talented at games.

The problem was with the other team.

「"Aaaah! Dokja-ssi, what should I do? What should I do!"」

Cruelly, Kyung Sein was already calling my name.

Next, the sacrificial face of Lee Dansu appeared before my eyes.

As expected, Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi were on the same team.

I used [Group Chat] to talk to them.

—Have either of you played a game before?

Then, Dansu ahjussi and Kyung Sein looked up into the sky at the same time.

「"Wow, is this really what Kim Dokja is talking about? Is this [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint]?"」

—Yes. Please let me know quickly as we are running out of time.

「"Hmm, I haven't had any talent for games since I was young—"」

「"Well, I like games, but I'm not good at controlling them… so my friends don't always join me…"」

Damn, it seemed like that too.

At that moment, several other carriages were approaching the carriage they were riding in. No matter how I looked at it, it didn't seem like they were approaching with good intentions.

—Be careful!

The window of the carriage running side by side opened and a barrage of sharp shuriken flew in.

「"Waaaaaaah!"」

The shurikens scraped against the carriage with a crunching sound. At a glance, it was an attack filled with powerful magical power.

[The durability of the carriage has decreased!]

I couldn't leave it like this.

[There are 10 seconds left to stay in a stunned state .]

I made a quick decision.

"I will pass out for one more minute."

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 10' is activated!]

[Stun time is extended!]

[The usage time of the exclusive skill, 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' stage 2, is extended!]

—Hold your controller! Hurry!

Kyung Sein grabbed the controller and attempted to accelerate. The distance between the carriages did not increase. Rather, the carriages naturally surrounded them as if they were playing a game.

As the shurikens flew in from both sides and scratched the wheels of the carriage, the inside of the carriage shook as if it would overturn at any moment.

The screams of Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi were heard.

Then, pale smoke began to rise from the front of the carriage.

[Warning! The carriage's durability is below 20%!]

As the carriage slowed down, other carriages passed them mockingly. Fortunately, it appears that they did not intend to finish off the carriage.

By the way, those carriages seem strangely fast—

[The Constellation 'Liverless Rabbit' is grinning.]

[The story fragment 'Running Rabbit' begins its storytelling.]

[The carriage receives acceleration correction from the story.]

Damn it, it had to be the carriage with the 'Rabbit' version.

Other carriages nearby also passed their carriage.

[Warning. The carriage of incarnation that arrives last at the 'destination' cannot enter the 'Zodiac Ball'.]

The expressions of Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi hardened at the message they heard.

[All passengers on a carriage that does not arrive at the 'destination' will die.]

These were the rules of this game.

It is a game in which incarnations who do not reach the destination are 'certainly destined to die'.

That was the 'Orient Express Carriage'.

And if things continue like this, there is a high probability that Dansu ahjussi and Kyung Sein's carriage will not be able to avoid last place.

I opened my mouth urgently.

—Ahjussi, use a story.

「"If it's a story—"」

—Have you forgotten what 'animal mask' you are wearing?

At that moment, Dansu ahjussi's eyes widened.

Lee Dansu finally realized it too.

An animal that runs slowly but steadily.

And at least an animal that doesn't lose to 'rabbits'.

—You might not know this from other Chinese zodiac signs, but no matter what happens, the turtle never loses to the rabbit.

「"But will the stage work properly?"」

—Of course. Because.

Because the conditions for staging this story have just been met.

[The story fragment 'The Turtle Incubating Someone Else's Egg' begins its storytelling.]

[The story fragment 'The Turtle Incubating Someone Else’s Egg' encounters the story 'Running Rabbit'.]

[The story 'The Hare and the Tortoise' begins.]

Along with the unfolding stage scene, the carriage's durability gauge began to rise little by little.

[The story 'The Hare and the Tortoise' repairs the 'Orient Express Wagon'.]

The speed of the carriage was also gradually increasing. A carriage that moves steadily at an honest but regular pace.

Before I knew it, the carriages that had passed ahead began to come into view.

「"Okay, okay! I'm really catching up!"」

Done. Now, as long as you drive well, this carriage will reach its destination without any problems.

「"Hmm."」

The voice that suddenly came was not that of Dansu ahjussi or that of Kyung Sein.

Is it because I'm too focused on the external situation? I didn't notice that there was a passenger in their carriage with them.

When I looked closely, I saw that the passenger was someone I knew.

「"You."」

Bicheonhori

「"You can already use the power of the Oldest Dream."」

He opened his mouth as if he could see me floating in the air.

「"But you’d better not abuse that power."」

How did Bicheonhori notice that I was here?

Bicheonhori silently pointed his finger behind me.

「"Dokja-ssi."」

Someone's voice coming from behind, from very far away.

A voice that seems to place a heavy weight on the heart.

Right. [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] was this skill. That,

「"Dokja hyung!"」

It was a curse.

「"Ahjussi!"」

They were calling me.

Bicheonhori smiled as if he wanted to see that.

「"You can’t become a 'rRecorder' yet. With so many voices holding onto you, how can you write the next story of this world?"」

Even after hearing those words, I couldn't help but look back.

Now I am the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

This is because it was a Constellation that loved stories more than anyone else in this world.

「"Kim Dokja."」

The moment I looked back, the scenery of the story changed once again.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

757 Episode 32 Monkey King (4)

Forgetting that you are even reading a sentence.

Getting sucked into the story, becoming the main character, and the main character becoming me.

[Your 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' has reached a certain level.]

There is a saying that refers to the magical moment that everyone experiences while reading a book.

[You reach the realm of pendulum experience.]

Pendulum experience.

Beyond the walls of paper and text, recognizing other people's experiences as if they were your own.

[The Void Curtain is looking at you.]

All I have to do is skip to one more chapter.

I had a feeling that there was a next story beyond this that I wanted to see so much.

【■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■You can’t get over it】

At that time, someone grabbed my back.

Just need to go a little further. The story I want is right there.

Then something inside me answered.

【It only takes a moment. Because I’m not really going to pass.】

【No one can defy probability】

Something inside me spoke once again.

【For the sake of this great 'record', please turn a blind eye just once.】

For a moment, time seemed to freeze. It feels like a very distant part of the universe is slowly nodding its head.

A sheet of paper was passed slowly. It's so thick that it takes my breath away. After barely flipping through the paper, I finally found the one sentence I was looking for.

「Yoo Joonghyuk, sitting cross-legged, recalled a memory from a long time ago.」

I started reading the sentence.

---

Yoo Joonghyuk, sitting cross-legged, recalled a memory from a long time ago.

It is a journey to retrieve Kim Dokja. Memories of swimming through space with Biyoo. A story from the time when Han Sooyoung's novels were used and their stories were spread throughout the universe.

The arduous journey gradually made Yoo Joonghyuk tired, and he worked harder to forget that he was getting tired.

He had to move.

[Captain, let’s rest here for a moment.]

With Biyoo, he sat on an unfamiliar bench in an unfamiliar place on an unfamiliar planet and looked up at the familiar sky.

Looking at the sky like that, Yoo Joonghyuk felt that the path they had walked was very unfamiliar.

Will they really be able to meet Kim Dokja again at the end of this road? Is that poor guy really alive with them?

[Sometimes you need to rest.]

Yoo Joonghyuk thought about the stars that didn't talk to him. He reminisced about his lost sponsor and imagined another self who had reached his ■■ — 'Secretive Plotter'.

Will a moment like that of 'Secretive Plotter' come to him?

Will there be some kind of salvation at the end of this difficult life?

Yoo Joonghyuk could hardly imagine. His ■■ was as distant as Kim Dokja's now blurred face.

Will he know when this trip is over?

Why was he born, lived, and continues to live in this world?

[Captain, have you ever thought about that?]

Yoo Joonghyuk answered Biyoo's question half a beat late.

"What."

[I think there might be a happy universe in which all these tragedies did not occur.]

Happy universe, Yoo Joonghyuk thought about that strange word for a moment and said.

"If it weren’t for all those tragedies, we wouldn’t be where we are today."

Biyoo pursed her lips as if she hadn't asked that and then added.

[But sometimes you can imagine a different world.]

"What world are you talking about?"

[In that world, there are no scenarios, and the stars don't talk to you. But there is tragedy in that world too.]

"..."

[The biggest tragedy in that world is oversleeping and being late for school.]

Yoo Joonghyuk silently listened to Biyoo.

[Plus, the lunch menu that day is a tasteless meal. I went to a PC room with the money I spent on supplies and got caught by my parents.]

Yoo Joonghyuk briefly imagined the world described by Biyoo.

However, such a world was not depicted very well.

Because he never went to school properly, never ate lunch without worrying about the taste, and his parents never existed.

"You are the Dokkaebi King now. Why do you miss those things?"

[Why? Can’t I miss it?]

Hearing that question, Yoo Joonghyuk looked back on his old memories. A face suddenly came to mind.

A girl who often smiled brightly. A child who always called him 'Captain' and followed him.

“You were Shin Yoosung of the 41st Round."

[Well, if you look at the origin, yes.]

"Are you still blaming me?"

Yoo Joonghyuk remembered Shin Yoosung, the 'Disaster of Floods'. She came to the past to change the future, but Shin Yoosung was disappointed in him. Shin Yoosung tried to kill him.

He will never forget the look in her eyes.

[No. I can’t even remember those times very well.]

The girl who was reincarnated as a dokkaebi, burying all resentment and hatred, spoke.

As Yoo Joonghyuk watched such a Biyoo, he felt an unknown emotion.

So where does Shin Yoosung's 41st Round go now? What will now fill the space where all hatred and resentment have disappeared?

As if understanding Yoo Joonghyuk's doubts, Biyoo spoke.

[It's not that bad to have gaps in your memory. Because that blank space can be filled with other imagination.]

"In the 41st Round, I did something I couldn't take back."

[It may have been so. But there weren't only bad things in that Round.]

Biyoo muttered as if retracing the traces of the disappeared 41st Round.

[So, try to imagine as much fun as possible. In fact, there must have been a very cool adventure in the 41st Round. It's just that the Captain, I, and everyone else forgot.]

"…"

[Do you know? I may have been in school in that Round. The Captain could have come to my graduation ceremony.]

Of course, such a thing could not have been possible, but Biyoo continued.

[Maybe there was a Dokja in that Round as well.]

"It's impossible."

[I'm just imagining it. Because it's fun to imagine.]

Yoo Joonghyuk thought about himself in the 41st Round.

He doesn't know how he felt or what he felt during the 41st Round.

Why did he send Shin Yoosung to the past? What kind of tragedy did he face that made him think that was the only solution?

[It gets serious again. They say have fun imagining things! Don't you think so?]

Yoo Joonghyuk looked out into the street in silence. The sun set late in the day. Students were seen leaving school as the sunset broke over thread-like stream.

"I won't."

[Don't you think the captain will have a dream life too?]

It's the life he dreamed of. If there was such a thing, his life should have been different when the scenario ended.

[Well, if there was such a thing, the captain wouldn't have been unemployed. The captain is also really pitiful.]

"I am neither pitiful nor unemployed."

[That's right. Imagination does that.]

"It’s not my imagination. I’ve always trained with the sword."

[What were you planning on doing with your sword training?]

What were you trying to do by training your sword? Yoo Joonghyuk had nothing to say in response.

There was no longer a Constellation in the sky that he had seen. There was no one who would acknowledge him for training with the sword.

[Did you try to become a kendo player like Heewon-ssi?]

"I don’t plan on doing that."

[Then you are just an unemployed person who is good at using a sword.]

Why did he train with the sword?

The moment when Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been contemplating for a long time, was barely able to come up with an answer. .

"I—"

The voices of boys and girls were heard from below thread-like stream. One girl said, "Let’s go to the PC room!" She shouted, and the other boy frowned. Then the slim, white boy put a headlock on the frowning boy.

"Ah! Let’s go!"

The moment he heard the boy's voice, Yoo Joonghyuk jumped up from his seat.

[Captain?]

Yoo Joonghyuk started going down the hill. The legs that had been moving slowly became faster and faster. Yoo Joonghyuk ran to the boy, forgetting that he was out of breath, and grabbed him by the shoulder.

The boy frowned and looked back at him.

"Who are you?"

"What is it, ahjussi?"

The blunt-looking boy grabbed Yoo Joonghyuk's arm, and as if protecting the boy, the girl frowned menacingly at Yoo Joonghyuk.

Yoo Joonghyuk quickly let go of his hand.

"I'm sorry. I saw wrong."

The boy and girl grumbled slightly and set out on the road again.

Looking at their somewhat unfamiliar yet familiar backs, Yoo Joonghyuk suddenly imagined something like that.

"Maybe that boy."

As Biyoo says, isn't that boy also Kim Dokja, who was reborn after forgetting all his tragedies at the end of his reincarnation?

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at the boy and girl next to him. A blunt boy with a strangely similar vibe to him, and a girl with tear spots like Han Sooyoung.

Of course, those children were neither Yoo Joonghyuk nor Han Sooyoung. Even though he knew this, Yoo Joonghyuk continued to feel strange.

What if there really is a story like that somewhere in this universe?

Biyoo's voice laughing softly tickled his ears.

[Look at that. Even the Captain has a story he imagines.]

Yoo Joonghyuk slowly opened his eyes and woke up from the turbulent storm of his memories.

Pure white steam rose from his whole body as he sat cross-legged. The wounds from the fierce battle with Odin had turned black.

'I overdid it.'

Yoo Joonghyuk recalled the last fierce battle. Receiving Odin's spear, cutting down the legendary Constellations of <Asgard>, crashing the incarnation into the void curtain, and being swept away by the aftereffects of probability.

If 'Monarch Slayer' Jaehwan had not helped him, he would have been swept away by the storm of probability and would not have been able to return.

'Monarch Slayer.'

Yoo Joonghyuk thought about Jaehwan. The miracle of rebirth was not felt anywhere in the vicinity. He's a guy who can't catch the original species, so he might be traveling all over the Star Stream again.

'You wasted too much probability. It wasn't a probability to be used here.'

Originally, he planned to save this probability and save it again and then explode it at an important time.

If Kim Dokja's presence had not been felt in 'Washington Dome', he would not have made such a risky choice.

「Kim Dokja.」

The moment Yoo Joonghyuk thought of that name, he suddenly felt a familiar feeling.

A feeling that someone is watching him. Yoo Joonghyuk knew what this feeling was.

A unique skill possessed by that guy who only talks about it, that magically appeared whenever and wherever he thought about it.

Yoo Joonghyuk reflexively looked up into space.

---

The moment Yoo Joonghyuk looked at me, I was shocked and changed the screen.

Wow, I’m surprised.

It was really that 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.

I couldn't believe it. I couldn't understand how this was possible.

Nevertheless, if I were to explain it somehow, the situation I was in now was as follows.

「I am the ‘world line’ from [Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint]. I crossed the wall.」

A voice from another world line reached my ears, and I followed that voice, crossed the wall of the world line, and came to this place—that is, to the place where 'Yoo Joonghyuk of <Kim Dokja Company>' is.

I don't know what's going on, but just knowing that this happened in reality made my heart race.

What if I could observe other <Kim Dokja Company> members like I observed Yoo Joonghyuk?

No, beyond observation—

「"Dokja ahjussi."」

If only I could tell them my 'story'.

「"Dokja ahjussi."」

If I follow this voice, will I be able to meet the others?

I concentrated once again. Then, my field of vision slowly cleared and a new landscape was revealed.

Somehow, familiar voices were heard in the hazy atmosphere.

"Noona, why isn’t this showing anything?"

"Hmm. Biyoo said it could definitely be seen this way."

"Isn’t the Other Worlds Device broken?"

"Hey! Lee Gilyoung! Don’t kick that!"

"The sooty bastard did this before and it was okay."

"Master, really. Unnie, where is the broadcast area for this?"

"It was the Gourmet Association."

"Shall I come and beat up the Gourmet Association kids?"

"Ah, it’s coming out! The screen is coming out!"

And after a while.

"Ahjussi! It’s him!"

"He really looks just like Dokja ahjussi."

"But the situation doesn’t look good…"

"No, why is that guy passed out over there? Doesn’t someone really have to go help?"

"External Constellations cannot intervene in the Recycling Center."

"But we can’t just leave him like that!"

I suddenly opened my eyes. I saw familiar faces huddled together in front of a small display.

I unconsciously reach out to them...

…I have hands?

I felt sensations all over my body.

How on earth did this happen?

I moved my neck, which was not working well, and checked my hands and feet.

Hands and feet that are unbelievably smaller than mine.

Then a woman with beautiful brown hair turned to me.

In person, the face resembles Ji Eunyu even more.

"kkoma Dokja, are you awake?"

I was suddenly lifted into the air, fully understanding the feelings of Meihouwang, who was held in Ji Eunyu's arms.

"I want to hug him too!"

"You’re awake?"

Two children running. Looking at that scenery, I felt an unknown emotion overflowing with me.

"Shall we watch it together?"

The screen my companions were watching came into view along with a friendly voice. On the screen, there is a fainted figure and Ji Eunyu driving a carriage as well as Cha Yerin .

「"Yerin-ssi. Do you know how to drive?"」

「"I am a minor."」

In a landscape that had no sense of reality, it was only then that I realized what had happened to me.

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' reacts.]

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' is taking a liking to the 'Kim Dokja Fragment' that you possessed.]

Small hands, small feet. A small body that is difficult to get up on its own.

It was definitely true.

[Exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint Level 3' is in effect.]

I have become 'kkoma Kim Dokja' raised by Kim Dokja Company.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

758 Episode 32 Monkey King (5)

Why on earth is kkoma Kim Dokja here?

"I’m glad that everyone likes him."

When I turned my head, I saw Lee Jihye playing the Hwipirang. Even her facial expression was different from the younger Lee Jihye in the 41st Round.

Lee Jihye of <Kim Dokja Company> overcomes all her scenarios and eventually overcomes even her own sponsor to become the 'Monarch of the Sea'.

"I worked hard to collect your fragments."

「Through Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, her inner thoughts were heard at times.」

[Your understanding of the person in question is insufficient.]

Even though I couldn't hear it completely, it was enough to understand the situation.

「In addition to the 41st Round, there was a universe where 'Kim Dokja fragments' were scattered.」

And Lee Jihye seems to have collected the 'Kim Dokja fragments' scattered throughout that universe.

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' finds it appetizing.]

Perhaps this 'kkoma Kim Dokja' is a kind of artificial life form created from the fragments of Kim Dokja.

Crucially, this 'kkoma Kim Dokja' could be felt as a soul. That's probably why I was able to possess it.

The child who was lightly patting my cheek muttered.

"Did you look like this when you were young?"

"You were cute when you were young."

Shin Yoosung and Lee Gilyoung.

I slowly looked at their faces.

In reality, it was my first time seeing these faces, but the feeling of familiarity was probably because I had already met Shin Yoosung in the 41st Round.

"If you say one word, I will kill you all."

No, maybe I had also met 'Shin Yoosung' before my eyes.

「"You're Kim Dokja."」

This girl possessed herself in the 41st Round and saved me several times.

I carefully held the hand of the girl who was squeezing mine. It was only a subtle level of grip strength, but even with that, Shin Yoosung could sense something on my face.

"What."

Shin Yoosung, who had been looking at me blankly, suddenly tilted her head.

"Ahjussi?"

Lee Seolhwa, who was watching the situation from afar, approached.

"Why?"

"Is it an illusion... I think the little man’s condition has just changed."

In response to Shin Yoosung's words, Lee Seolhwa pulled up my top and took the stethoscope.

"Well, let’s see."

Doctor Lee Seolhwa.

A person who looks almost no different from the 41st Round just by face alone. The difference was the depth of her expression.

Lee Seolhwa in the 41st Round had a strangely strong spirit of experimentation, while Lee Seolhwa in <Kim Dokja Company> had the air of a seeker who was well versed in all the truths of the universe.

Lee Seolhwa’s eyes met mine and drew a soft arc.

"The story’s condition is stable."

A doctor who steadfastly took care of the group even in places where Kim Dokja's eyes could not reach.

As Kim Dokja expressed, without her, <Kim Dokja Company> would not have been able to reach the final scenario.

Shin Yoosung urgently grabbed my hand and comforted me.

"Ahjussi, can you hear me?"

" Shin Yoosung, don’t bother the kkoma Dokja too much."

"I didn’t mean to bother him."

A gentle hand stroking my head. Yoo Sangah was looking down at me with her characteristic faint smile.

As I looked at her smile, it occurred to me that Kim Dokja's story did not fully describe her.

Perhaps it was natural.

Kim Dokja's mind is filled with the 'Ways of Survival', and the criteria for judgment are also within the 'Ways of Survival'.

「The look is enough to slap Yoo Joonghyuk three times in the face.」

If we were to apply the standards of 'Ways of Survival', Yoo Sangah was definitely a beautiful woman.

Is it just how she looks? Her warm heart and warm consideration... But haven't I been talking only about Yoo Sangah since a while ago?

[The story fragment 'Kim Dokja who respects Yoo Sangah' continues its storytelling.]

It was somehow strange.

I guess this was the core story that made up 'kkoma Kim Dokja'.

"But doesn't that seem really dangerous?"

Lee Jihye, who was looking at the display screen, said something.

"What if they really die like that?"

On the screen, Ji Eunyu and Cha Yerin were still struggling to drive the carriage. As I was caught up in the shocking situation, I forgot about the people I was supposed to protect.

Now was the time to unlock [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint].

[A temporary error occurs in this skill.]

[You cannot release 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' level 3.]

Shit. What is it again this time?

I became impatient.

On the screen, we saw enemies attacking the carriage we were riding in. Ji Eunyu and Cha Yerin are strong, but the situation is difficult with just the two of them.

If I don't go right now—

"Do you want me to possess my past self again?"

Lee Gilyoung frowned at Shin Yoosung's question.

"Shin Yoosung, have you already forgotten that you suffered a probability aftermath before?"

"…"

"It would be better if I logged in as a Constellation and used 'Deus Ex Machina'—"

"Don’t be stupid. That’s a place where outside Constellations can’t intervene."

"Then why not just descend directly?"

"Didn’t you hear that descending was prohibited? If you did something like that—"

"The sooty bastard descended."

"That’s because Joonghyuk ahjussi—"

"Why can the sooty bastard do it and I can’t?"

While Yoo Sangah, who was worse off, was trying to stop the two children, Lee Jihye looked at me this time and asked.

"Kkoma, what do you think? Help me with that? Or not? I think I can just secretly go and use [Intant Kill] once."

My heart was beating slowly.

I know it's just words. Because Lee Jihye doesn’t know that I am now possessing this 'kkoma Kim Dokja'.

Still, I had a hard time shaking off the temptation of those words.

「If only I could get help from <Kim Dokja Company>.」

I thought of Ji Eunyu, Cha Yerin, Killer King Cha Sungwoo, Dansu ahjussi, and Kyung Sein's faces one after another.

If we can get help from <Kim Dokja Company>, we may be able to guarantee the safety of the party.

We will no longer have to face death scenarios.

I moved my hand slowly.

I was going to tell Lee Jihye. Please help, please help my companions not die— But at that moment, a light spark struck my head.

「"Why did you want to become a writer?"」

Distorted sentences appeared on Han Sooyoung's dying face.

「If we receive help from Kim Dokja Company here, whose story is it?」

While I was breathing hard and blinking my eyes, Lee Jihye turned her head again and looked at her screen.

「"I'll drive. Can you take care of the carriage behind me?"」

「"I heard Yerin-ssi is a minor."」

「"Yes, but I really wanted to try driving at least once."」

The carriage on the screen accelerated with a roar.

The group watched the accelerating carriage in silence.

「"Then I'll leave it to you for a moment. Yerin, have you ever played a car game?"」

「"I've never tried it, but I think I can try it!"」

「"Okay. Every game has rules, so let's follow them. I'll take care of the carriage that follows, Yerin—"」

Just as the Constellations once watched their story. Just as Kim Dokja read Yoo Joonghyuk's story. <Kim Dokja Company> silently watched our story.

"That person over there somehow looks like Sangah-ssi."

Shin Yoosung said something.

"She's pretty good. It's not as good as ours."

Lee Gilyoung, who seems to be entering puberty, also left a comment. The companions smiled faintly.

Meanwhile, Ji Eunyu blocked the attack of another carriage and overturned two carriages approaching from both sides.

Yoo Sangah nodded her head.

"She’s a good fighter."

"We fought like that too. Do you remember? Back then—"

The carriage ran away. A carriage that is neither Apollo's golden chariot nor Surya's train. Nevertheless, I knew what story my companions were seeing through that carriage.

「I miss you.」

As I listened to the sentence, where I couldn't tell who was thinking, I felt like my heart was breaking for some reason.

<Kim Dokja Company> was located here.

Even after their story was over, they remained here and missed the story. As I read the stories of myself and my companions, I was thinking about one person for a long time.

「I miss you.」

How long did they remember those years before a person's name finally became their life?

Looking up at their faces, for the first time, I lost confidence in what I was about to do.

「I was thinking of changing the ending of the 41st Round.」

What would happen to these people if I changed the fixed world line?

If the ending of the 41st Round is changed, will <Kim Dokja Company>, which was born from that ending, be safe?

Will the probability of this world allow their longing?

"Kim Dokja!"

The group turned around at the same time at the loud, energetic tone.

Yoo Joonghyuk was there.

"Kim Dokja!"

Yoo Joonghyuk was walking around with a serious expression, calling out Kim Dokja's name.

Lee Jihye, who was observing Yoo Joonghyuk, asked.

"You said you fought with Master Odin, right? Did you hit your head wrongly?"

In the end, Yoo Sangah, who was worse off, approached Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Joonghyuk-ssi. What's going on?"

Yoo Joonghyuk glared at Yoo Sangah for a moment, then began to look at the surrounding space with a bewildered look.

About ten seconds like that.

"There was Kim Dokja."

"Yes?"

"No, Kim Dokja has come."

"What do you mean?"

Yoo Joonghyuk said as if he was frustrated.

"It means that 'Kim Dokja' is here now."

"huh? But Dokja-ssi—"

Yoo Sangah, who had been talking up to that point, turned her gaze towards me.

Yoo Sangah's eyes slowly grew bigger.

It was almost at the same time that Yoo Joonghyuk discovered me.

This was the first time I knew [Red Phoenix Shunpo] was that good and fast of a skill. When I came to my senses, I was hanging in the air with Yoo Joonghyuk's hand holding my ankle.

"No, Master! What should I do if I hear you say that!"

"What is this?"

"These are the fragments of ahjussi that I collected. Handle them carefully! They may break!"

Yoo Joonghyuk's harsh eyes glared at me.

I imagined turning off [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] several times in my head.

Yoo Joonghyuk said.

"Kim Dokja."

"Master, that's not him. The real ahjussi is in there right now—"

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at the screen pointed to by Lee Jihye.

Inside was my figure, stretched out like a squid and bouncing around in a rickety carriage.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked back and forth between me and me on the screen with confused eyes.

"Wait a minute. The guy over there… he's passed out just now, right?"

It was then that Shin Yoosung opened her mouth.

"A skill used every time my ahjussi faints."

"No way—"

One by one, the eyes of my companions turn to me gathered together.

Yoo Joonghyuk, Yoo Sangah, Shin Yoosung, Lee Gilyoung, Lee Seolhwa, and Lee Jihye.

The gathered group looked at each other with nervous eyes.

"Joonghyuk-ssi, are you sure? Did you sense Dokja-ssi's presence?"

"That guy has a unique eerie feeling."

"What do you think, what does the sooty bastard know?"

"Can you feel him here now?"

Yoo Joonghyuk, who held me with his vicious hand, glared at me once again.

And after a while, Yoo Joonghyuk's head moved slightly.

The next moment, an eerie silence swept over the surroundings.

The group members looked at each other's faces and nodded at the same time.

"Let’s lock him up."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

759 Episode 32 Monkey King (6)

---

“No, wait!”

I wanted to shout that out to <Kim Dokja Copany>, they were surrounding me with ferocious force.

But I can't make a proper sound with this body.

"Would you like to buy a cage first?"

"Do you want to stay in the Dokkaebi’s Bag?"

"Wouldn’t it be okay to ask Biyoo?"

"Should I get a leash too?"

"What kind of dog is this?"

I overheard the conversation of my companions while clinging to Yoo Joonghyuk's grip. Meanwhile, Yoo Joonghyuk was glaring at me with strange eyes.

[A temporary error occurs in this skill.]

[You cannot release level 3 of 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint'.]

The skill still did not listen. The moment when the fear rises that if I continue like this, I will really be imprisoned and not be able to go anywhere.

"Okay, everyone, stop joking around."

Yoo Sangah, with a gentle smile, held me up and stopped the crowd.

"Huh? You weren't really confining him, were you?"

Lee Seolhwa, who had just brought a cart with iron bars, tilted her head and asked.

Where on earth did she get something like that? No matter how you look at it, it looks like it's being used to confine laboratory animals.

Yoo Sangah shook her head as if she could not stop her.

Lee Gilyoung asked.

"That little guy, he's not understanding what we're saying, is he?"

"He understands."

The other party members noticed Yoo Joonghyuk's answer and surrounded me.

"Ahjussi, is that really you?"

I wanted to answer, but no voice came out.

Shin Yoosung seemed to have noticed something in my appearance.

"I guess he can't speak."

"How about we do it this way? First of all, since you can hear what we're saying, we'll have you answer with your eyes. Every time we ask a question, you blink once if we're right, and blink twice if we're wrong. Little guy, you get it?"

It was a good idea.

"Wow, Jihye. We didn't know you could think like that?"

While Lee Gilyoung, who was instantly caught in a headlock, whined, Yoo Sangah settled the situation.

"Okay, then, shall we all calm down and ask questions? Since Dokja-ssi may be confused, ask questions one at a time. Um, shall we start with Gilyoung?"

Then Lee Gilyoung quickly escaped the headlock and approached. Lee Gilyoung looked at me with suspicious eyes and hesitantly opened his mouth.

"Dokja-hyung... is that you?"

The most important question for them.

Am I 'Kim Dokja' or not?

The depth of silence replaced their curiosity.

I blinked.

"Once… twice… huh? Three times?"

"Are you saying it's true or not?"

"Isn't it true that it can be both right and wrong?"

The group of people who were chatting about Lee Seolhwa's words turned to me, holding their breath.

I blinked as if agreeing with that.

"Once! He blinked once!"

"Are you saying what Seolhwa unnie said is correct?"

"He is a Dokja, but he is not Dokja…"

After pondering for a moment, the group members seemed to accept the meaning of the words in their own way.

"What do you mean? Isn't it hyung?"

"No, he's right…"

"Well, the only guy left like this is still him."

"Guys, calm down. You can't ask questions."

I felt strange. It was unfamiliar to me that there were people who showed such a variety of emotions just with my small reaction.

"Dokja-ssi's condition is strange."

It was then that Lee Seolhwa, who was looking at me, suddenly approached me.

There were faint sparks all around me.

[Exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' Lv. 3 is unstable.]

Meanwhile, the status of the story became unstable.

It was natural.

No matter how much [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] it is, it is impossible to cross worldlines.

An event that would never be possible without someone providing me with strong probability.

Perhaps soon [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] will be lifted and I will return to the 41st Round.

"Oh, no, Seolhwa-ssi. Please save him!"

"He's not going to die. He'll probably return to his original world."

"Ahjussi, don't go back, stay with us a little longer. Please. You've only been there a little while."

"Shin Yoosung."

Shin Yoosung did not listen to Yoo Sangah's dissuasion.

Shin Yoosung looked back at the screen and held my hand tightly.

"I know you have a place to go to, and I know those people need you. But, but we also…"

Shin Yoosung, perhaps because her throat was so tight, could not bear to speak.

But she could be heard clearly. Because I was now the 'Demon King of Salvation', and she was my incarnation.

"We need you too."

I wanted to say something.

Can I convey my feelings by blinking my eyes violently?

No, maybe I'm glad that blinking is all I can do.

"Yoo Sangah. Let’s calm down and listen to Dokja-ssi. Seolhwa-ssi, how much time do we have left?"

"It’s five minutes at most."

"Shin Yoosung, is there anything you want to ask Dokja-ssi?"

At those words, everyone took a step back.

Everyone had a question on their face, but they were willing to give up their questions for Shin Yoosung.

Shin Yoosung asked me as if she were understanding the feelings of those people.

"Ahjussi... why did you come here?"

A question I cannot answer.

Yoo Sangah lightly hugged the child's shoulder. On behalf of the trembling Shin Yoosung, Yoo Sangah kindly changed her question.

"Did you miss us by any chance?"

Shin Yoosung, who had lowered her head, looked up at me.

Perhaps that was the real question Shin Yoosung really wanted to ask.

I looked at the face of <Kim Dokja Company>.

「Let’s think that Kim Dokja is here now.」

Shin Yoosung, Lee Gilyoung, Yoo Sangah, Lee Jihye, Lee Seolhwa, Yoo Joonghyuk… And even Han Sooyoung, who is not here.

I wanted to see their faces forever. I wanted to remember.

I blinked slowly, as if taking a picture.

"Ah."

Shin Yoosung's eyes filled with tears. Lee Gilyoung slowly lowered his head, and Lee Jihye turned her head away and muttered something unintelligible. Lee Seolhwa examined me with a light sigh. Yoo Joonghyuk still looked at me with incomprehensible eyes.

Yoo Sangah said with a bitter smile.

"Thank you."

I blinked twice, indicating that I did not deserve to hear such words.

Slowly, Yoo Sangah's face got closer.

When her breath reached my ear, she whispered in a voice that only I could hear.

"I know. Dokja-ssi is not the 'Kim Dokja' we remember."

As expected, Yoo Sangah knew.

"Still, we think Dokja-ssi is Dokja-ssi. No one can deny that."

The person who still calls me 'Kim Dokja' even though I don't even know how much percentage I have left.

Yoo Sangah's face slowly moved away. In a very clear voice she opened her mouth.

"If it's okay with you, Dokja-ssi, you can stay here."

For a moment I thought I heard wrong.

"We will provide the probability. As you can see, we are quite strong. Even so, we are all people who cleared the 'last scenario'."

A stir arose deep within my heart.

"Stay here. We'll do something for the 41st Round."

What would happen if I really stayed here?

As she said, if only we could solve the 41st Round with their help.

"That's right, Dokja-ssi. We can help! All I have to do is possess myself! Lee Gilyoung isn't much help either, but he accessed that place as a Constellation and—"

"If you want, I will go and fight for you."

Their stories spoke to me.

[The story 'Kim Dokja Company' begins its storytelling.]

As the story began, I could clearly feel the white space between the lines supporting the sentences.

The abyss of <Kim Dokja Company> that is never revealed to others.

I once again realized what they had lost to come here.

There were not many members of <Kim Dokja Company> present.

Still, they didn't blame me.

They were just telling me that it would be okay as long as I stayed on the line they made.

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' frowns.]

What is so important about writing 'my story'?

What Han Sooyoung said may be wrong. Maybe I'm not qualified to talk about the 41st Round.

Above all, the 41st Round was the officially 'ended' story. No matter how hard I struggle, I cannot change the story.

Maybe staying here would be a better choice than wasting time on such useless things.

To spend the rest of my life serving those who find comfort in my presence—

「"Where is that guy?"」

When I looked up, a video was playing on the screen.

「"Find that guy’s carriage."」

Yoo Joonghyuk was speaking in the 41st Round.

「"If we are to see the end of the 'Recycling Center', we definitely need him."」

If I give up here, what will happen to Yoo Joonghyuk?

"Ahjussi?"

Even while I was here, Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st Round was fighting. He was running toward the end of a fleeting story that would ultimately fail.

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' grins.]

Seeing Yoo Joonghyuk like that, I finally understood Kim Dokja.

[The synchronization rate with your sponsor increases significantly.]

Kim Dokja, who did not stay in the 1,863rd round was finally convinced of his return to his own world.

"Yes? Ahjussi. Please stay here with me. Will you stay? Yes?"

I looked the child in the eyes. But nothing was seen. Because Shin Yoosung's small hands were covering my eyes.

"No. Don't answer."

The hand that created the pitch-black darkness was trembling. Yoo Joonghyuk's voice was heard beyond the darkness.

"Listen carefully, Kim Dokja."

Yoo Joonghyuk was speaking in a voice that did not show the slightest agitation.

"No matter what story you want, we will make it the ending we want. And you can't stop it."

Yoo Joonghyuk's turned back was seen between the child's fingers.

It is said that he fought with Odin.

Perhaps he was the one who protected the Demon King of Salvation and me beyond the 'Void Curtain'.

"Dokja-ssi."

Tsutsu, the air shook with sparks. The feeling that gently surrounded me was fading away.

[The signal of 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' becomes weaker.]

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint is finally about to be released.]

Shin Yoosung burst into tears once again, and Lee Gilyoung turned back. Lee Jihye took a step closer and held onto my arm.

Yoo Sangah said.

"Thank you for coming."

While listening to Yoo Sangah's voice, I thought about Kim Dokja.

"We're okay. So, you, Dokja-ssi, must definitely survive to the end."

But Kim Dokja was not there, and the only thing here was the helpless, blinking agent of the Demon King of Salvation.

The air swirled along with people's voices.

The world of <Kim Dokja Company> was fading away.

I felt confident again.

「Kim Dokja would have wanted to return to his companions more than anyone else.」

Still, why didn't he come here?

Why did he have to leave the people he loved the most?

Then, a voice came from my fading consciousness.

【Do you really want to know?】

I could feel it instinctively.

【Even if the truth could destroy you forever?】

I know the owner of this voice.

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

760 Episode 32 Monkey King (7)

---

Perhaps even Kim Dokja would not have heard the voice of 'Gods of the Other World' as much as I do now.

While the Constellations' voices felt clear and bold, the 'God of the Other World''s voice was closer to the feeling of hearing a discordant sound.

An infinitely disturbing voice that goes against the system of this world.

But even in this uneasiness, there was a temperature. Some disturbances were hot and damp, while others were cool and harsh.

And the voice I just heard was clearly closer to the latter.

The extreme cold of winter.

A voice coming from the edge of the universe that has reached absolute zero.

Not Asmodeus.

Then who is it?

What's certain is that it's a voice I feel like I've heard before somewhere.

And the person who has this voice is the person who helped me and <Kim Dokja Company> meet.

I wanted to ask.

Even if I am destroyed as you said, I want to know the reason why Kim Dokja did not return.

But my voice still wouldn't come out, and all I could do was blink my eyes as best as I could.

【Then.】

Fortunately, the owner of the voice read the signal.

【Go up to the top floor of the 'Recycling Center'. Because the 'story' you are looking for will be there.】

[Stage 3 of the exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is released.]

---

The two carriages came together on either side with a loud sound.

The sound of carriage wheels scraping.

"Yerin-ssi!"

Cha Yerin pressed the acceleration button, but the opposing carriages were faster.

As the carriages wheeled close together, the three carriages tangled and rattled dangerously.

"Sorry. I'm not good at driving—"

"No. It's not Yerin-ssi's fault."

Clearly, Cha Yerin accelerated properly. The problem was over there.

"That carriage, it looks like a carriage with options."

[Exclusive skill 'Edit Lv.10' is activated.]

When Ji Eunyu's exclusive skill [Edit] was activated, the composition of the carriage's story was revealed at a glance.

[Story fragment 'Major Haste' continues its storytelling.]

[Story fragment 'Courner' continues its storytelling.]

Ji Eunyu frowned.

"Why don’t we have something like that?"

No matter how you look at it, it wasn't an option that was attached from the beginning. If that were the case, the same 'story fragments' would have been detected in the carriage she is riding now.

That means they got that piece from somewhere and put it on.

[The Constellation 'Snake Cutting Its Tail' grins.]

It seemed like there was someone in the Chinese zodiac who used a trick.

I guess they found out about the 'Recycling Center'’s scenario in advance and secretly supported their incarnation.

"Meihouwang! Wake up! Let’s make something like that too!"

But Meihouwang did not wake up from his snoring. The same thing happened to the man next to her.

Meanwhile, the pressure from both sides continued.

"Give me Kim Dokja!"

A voice coming from somewhere. At first, she thought I heard it wrong, but when she listened to it again, she was sure there was no mistake.

"Give me Kim Dokja!"

Ji Eunyu laughed.

"It was like that throughout the main story, and it’s still like that here."

"…"

"Huh? Yerin-ssi, were you laughing just now?"

"No."

The two glanced at the sleeping man's face. He said they would come back in 1 minute, but it felt like 10 minutes had already passed.

But neither of them woke him up. Because they believed that if he didn't wake up, there was a good reason.

The number of carriages following outside the window was increasing.

Three, four, five.

Ji Eunyu hesitated, then took out a dagger from her chest and began to sharpen it.

[You begin cleaning the relic 'Ghost'.]

Cha Yerin, who glanced at Ji Eunyu’s appearance, asked.

"Eunyu-ssi."

"Yes."

"Are you close with the Author?"

"Well, we went through some difficult times together."

"Tough times."

"Yes, tough times."

"Was the author like this when you first met him?"

"If he looks like this…"

"Kim Dokja’s face."

"That’s what I remember."

"So the Author was Kim Dokja from the beginning?"

"Yes?"

"The writer—"

A shout was heard from outside looking for Kim Dokja once again.

Cha Yerin continued speaking after a moment.

"When this story ends, will he return to the world he came from?"

The world he came from.

Ji Eunyu thought for a moment and then answered.

"I’m an editor, so I don’t know much about that, but I know one thing for sure. The world the writer will return to is 'reality'."

"…"

"And the author’s reality."

Ji Eunyu, who had finally finished trimming the dagger, stood up from her seat and looked at Cha Yerin.

"It’s a place where there are readers to read."

[The relic 'Ghost' has been cleaned.]

"Yerin-ssi, I will leave the writer to you for a while. I have to go up to the roof."

"I hope you don’t mind."

"Please drive."

Ji Eunyu quickly jumped out the window and stood on the roof of the carriage. Then, as if they had been waiting, there were incarnations that jumped onto the roof opposite. Judging by the stories flowing around them, they were the incarnations of the 'snake force'.

"Give me Kim Dokja!"

"Our author, you are very popular here."

At someone's command, the incarnations of the side carriages rushed over to the roof.

Ji Eunyu immediately threw the dagger.

The incarnations on the side laughed as they saw the dagger flying through the wind. This is because the trajectory and speed of the flying dagger were ordinary.

[The relic 'Ghost' remembers your sincere care.]

[The first 'Ghost' of the relic 'Ghost' is activated.]

[The cutting power and acceleration of the relic 'Ghost Blade' increases tenfold for 10 minutes!]

Ghost is one of the treasures of <The First Murim>. It was a 'hidden piece' obtained from a meteorite with the support of her sponsor.

The downside is that it can only be used after 'ten cleaning sessions' every day.

However, once the preparation was completed, the monster's attack power for 10 minutes was enough to surpass the famous sword 'Black Heavenly Demon Blade'.

"This is crazy—"

The complexions of the incarnations changed as they sensed that the blade's prowess had changed.

Limbs and limbs being cut off like cutting soft tofu.

As two incarnations fell down in an instant following the blade's path, one of the incarnations on the roof of the rear carriage shouted.

"Kill her quickly!"

The ghost was already moving away along its trajectory.

Five incarnations rushed to Ji Eunyu at the same time, whose weapon had disappeared.

However.

"It’s a waste of space."

"What?"

"Ah, you’re perfect for being edited."

A sound was heard from somewhere, and the legs f two more incarnations flew off. It was a neat work of art, as if cutting out unnecessary sentences from a manuscript.

"Kaaaaaaak!"

The ghost, who was thought to have followed the trajectory and gone away, was soon back in Ji Eunyu's hands.

Translucent spider art ran along the tip of the dagger.

Belatedly, the incarnation also realized what was happening.

"No way is that—"

[The exclusive skill 'Arachne's Web' is in effect.]

The Holy Spirit of <Olympus>, [Arachne's Web].

Originally, this holy spirit could not be used unless it was a terminal incarnation of <Olympus>, but she was the exception.

This was possible because <Olympus> was destroyed in the world line of her sponsor.

[Some Constellations are surprised to see your skills!]

Incarnations were buzzing from the carriages that followed at the rear.

"Who is that person? Could it be that she is an incarnation of <Olympus>?"

"That can't be true. The use of stigmata must be restricted."

"If you touch her by mistake—"

"The bounty amount is high. I can't miss this opportunity."

As she listened to the story, it was clear how the situation was going.

It seems that someone with a vengeance in the middle of the Chinese Zodiac had put up a bounty scenario on this side.

Ji Eunyu smiled and continued.

"If you touch me, the entire <Olympus> will attack. Are you prepared?"

At first glance, she thought it was a good thing because there were so many carriages. If she can take advantage of this misunderstanding, without unnecessary fights—

[Someone is activating 'Lie Detection'.]

[Someone confirmed that the statement is not true.]

Ji Eunyu let out a light sigh.

"As expected. There is no way this novel will proceed easily."

"Hit her! All we have to do is deal with the guy in the carriage!"

Ji Eunyu deflected the incoming weapons with [Arachne's Web].

But no matter how strong she was, it was difficult for her to handle multiple attacks.

"Yerin-ssi! Run!"

Perhaps because of the fundamental difference in the performance of the carriages, no matter how much they drove, their carriages did not get far away.

It was then that one side of the spider web broke.

"Now!"

In the blink of an eye, a round object pierced through the carriage window.

[The Constellation 'Snake Cutting Its Tail' awaits your destruction.]

Ji Eunyu immediately recognized what the item was.

'Mass destruction magical bullet.'

It was the exact item used by Han Sooyoung in the main story.

Ji Eunyu shouted, swearing inwardly.

"Yerin-ssi! Author!"

But the explosion was faster. The carriage flew apart with a loud noise, and Ji Eunyu was swept away by the explosion.

[The 'Orient Express' was destroyed.]

Her consciousness flickered with a despairing message.

The moment her body, soaring high in the sky, fell violently toward the floor, Ji Eunyu felt the wind blowing from somewhere.

Someone was holding her with both hands.

The man's face was reflected in a dazzling halo, and Ji Eunyu’s breath was taken away. Because that face resembled someone she had imagined for a long time.

"Kim Dokja?"

Then the man answered.

"Of course. That’s my name."

Ji Eunyu answered.

"Liar?..."

The man nodded his head.

"It’s my job to lie. You can pass out now."

Ji Eunyu was relieved and closed her eyes.

---

I landed on the floor, carrying the unconscious Ji Eunyu on my back.

I roughly guessed and understood the situation.

Did she use ‘that weapon’?

It's an item that only has settings and has never been used in the main story, but it looks like she managed to get it.

[The target is currently in a 'vulnerable to fainting' state.]

The strangeness also imposes status abnormalities on the user depending on the strangeness that occurs.

It seems that her current status abnormality is 'vulnerable to fainting'.

I looked at Ji Eunyu’s fainted expression for a moment. Although she had Min Jiwoon's face, her visible fatigue was clearly that of Ji Eunyu that I knew.

She was like this when she stayed in the editing room all night editing a book. Maybe she hasn't been able to sleep a wink since she possessed a character.

Even if there is a 'vulnerability to fainting' penalty, she is not the kind of person who will faint like this.

"Author."

Cha Yerin landed with the rising wind. As expected, she who possessed the [Way of the Wind] appears to have been unharmed even in the explosion.

"What happened to them?"

"We took care of a few people, but the rest all ran away."

Since our carriage was broken anyway, I guess they thought their goal was achieved.

It could have been so. In this scenario, without a carriage, you are as good as dead.

"I'm sorry. I—"

"No, you did well."

"Are the other party members okay?"

I hesitated for a moment and then answered.

"They're safe."

Would Cha Yerin believe me if I told her that I came after watching with <Kim Dokja Company>?

Would Cha Yerin be upset if the meaning of 'party' became unfamiliar to me just because I met them in such a short period of time?

I shook my head lightly and promised.

"We will make them safe."

My group is over here now. And these are the people I must protect.

"What should we do? We lost the carriage—"

"It's okay. It's just as it was originally planned."

Kim Dokja in the main story also said, 'I fell from a carriage on the way to the Constellation banquet. This was expected from the beginning.

[You have lost the 'Orient Express'.]

[A new event has occurred!]

For reference, Kim Dokja, who fell from the carriage, was chased by the gods of the nebulae.

[You are no longer protected by the 'Orient Express Wagon'.]

[The gods near the cloud road notice your presence!]

Damn it, it seemed like a similar event was happening here too.

['Edge of the Other World' opens.]

I don't know the origin, but I know it's ominous just by hearing the name.

In the main story, Kim Dokja had 'Dionysus' to protect him. But there is no Dionysus here.

"Let’s run away."

We activated [Way of the Wind] with all our might without even looking back.

[Warning. Your ranking is 'bottom'.]

[You are a representative of 'Zone 13'.]

[If you do not arrive at your destination in time, your entire group will die.]

If I activate [Way of the Wind] with all my might, I can reach the destination faster than a carriage.

The problem is that the distance is too far.

In this state, our magical energy will run out before we reach our destination.

And when our magic power runs out, gods crawling out of the corners of the other world or something will come to kill us.

There was only one choice.

"It’s them, right?"

I rode with [Way of the Wind] and landed on the roof of the carriage that was running ahead.

[Story fragment 'Facial Recognition' recognizes you.]

[You are not the correct passenger in that carriage…]

I tore off the entire roof of the carriage, down to the story fragments. Then the incarnation of the snake force that discovered me widened its eyes in astonishment.

"You—"

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' reveals his status.]

"Ugh, uhhh—"

The guys just sat down in contemplation just by expressing their anger.

I picked them up one by one and threw them outside, then sat down with Cha Yerin.

[You have captured the 'Orient Express Wagon'.]

[Story fragment 'Facial Recognition' interrupts its storytelling.]

['Orient Express Carriage' recognizes you as a new passenger.]

['Controller' will be provided.]

I grabbed the controller. Even though the roof flew off, it is a model with a story option, so the speed should be quite respectable.

The problem is control.

"I’ll do it. I heard you’re not good at games."

Cha Yerin held out her hand.

"Did Ji Eunyu say something like that? It’s not like I can’t do it—"

To be honest, it's average.

Still, I have to take the wheel this time.

"But this time, I will do it. I am now the 'Demon King of Salvation'."

"Kim Dokja is not good at games either."

Right. Kim Dokja may be worse at games than me.

"But I’m good at imitating guys who are good at games."

[The exclusive skill 'Bookmark' is activated!]

['Bookmark List' is activated.]

[Currently, due to a temporary error, the 'Bookmark List' cannot be activated.]

Is it because the story of the 'Demon King of Salvation' has not been completely inherited? Unfortunately, the original 'characters' that the Demon King of Salvation knew were not included in the list.

However, this does not mean that there are no 'persons who can be registered'.

<List of people currently available for bookmarking>

1. Kim Cheolyang, the leader of the Life Cult (Comprehension 25)

2. Action leader Bang Cheolsoo (Comprehension level 30)

3. Immortal King Lee Dansu (Comprehension 55)

4. Kang Ilhoon who wants to be Yoo Joonghyuk (Comprehension level 65)

…

All the 'people' I had met so far were in that bookmark.

I flipped through the list again and again, like I was flipping through my brief history.

7. Judge of Destruction Jung Heewon (Comprehension 50)

8. Strategist Ye Hyunwoo (Comprehension 20)

9. Assassin Gu Seonah (Comprehension 10)

10. Bald King Gong Pildu (Comprehension 15)

11. Master Jung Moonho (Comprehension level 35)

12. Magician Martinez (Comprehension 5)

13. Hypnotist Christina (Comprehension 20)

But no matter how many times I flipped through it, I couldn't find the name I wanted.

14. Lord of Salvation Nirvana (Comprehension 3)

15. Prophetess Anna Croft (Comprehension 15)

"Author."

Cha Yerin looked in my direction.

I continued to flip through the list of characters.

Surely it exists?

「Did I not understand 'Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st Round' at all?」

Maybe so. This 'bookmark' will only show characters that I have a little understanding of.

I boasted that I would write this guy's story, but the truth is, I don't really know what kind of person he is.

[This is the last page.]

Finally, the last page of the character list.

As expected, Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round was not registered in the bookmarks.

Instead,

25. Unemployed Yoo Joonghyuk (Comprehension level 1)

There was a strange Yoo Joonghyuk.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

761 Episode 32 Monkey King (8)

Unemployed Yoo Joonghyuk?

I absentmindedly looked at the list of characters in the bookmarks. There was a memory that slowly emerged.

「"I am neither employed nor unemployed."」

Somehow, I felt like I knew what kind of Yoo Joonghyuk this 'Yoo Joonghyuk' was.

Then I didn't have to hesitate.

[The character 'Unemployed Yoo Joonghyuk' has been registered to bookmark number 1.]

I don’t know what kind of 'unemployed' that 'unemployed' refers to—

"I will activate bookmark number 1, 'Unemployed Yoo Joonghyuk'."

Because no unemployed person in this world is better at playing games than him.

"What did you just say?"

"Please pretend you didn’t hear it."

In response to Cha Yerin’s question, I shrugged my shoulders and looked ahead.

[Activation time is determined in proportion to the level of the bookmark skill.]

[Your understanding of the character is very low.]

[The activation time of the Bookmark skill is partially corrected depending on your exclusive characteristics.]

[Activation time: 10 minutes]

…

[Your physical composition is different from that of the character.]

[Warning! The status of this character is abnormally high!]

[The level of the activated skill is forcibly adjusted.]

[You cannot choose which skills are activated.]

Unfortunately, it was not possible to select the skill to be activated. However, according to my opinion, the skill activated by [Bookmark] is the main skill of the relevant 'character'.

If the target had been 'King Yoo Joonghyuk', [Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship] would have been activated, but who I understood was 'Unemployed Yoo Joonghyuk'.

If I remember correctly, Yoo Joonghyuk did not only train the 'sword' throughout his period of unemployed life. therefore-

[Exclusive skill 'Sky View Lv.10' has been activated.]

[You will be able to see the stars in the sky more clearly than anyone else.]

I looked at the message with a devastated face.

Is this for real?

"The speed is dropping."

"I know. Don’t worry."

I never thought I would develop a skill like this.

Cannot help it. This time, I have no choice but to take the next best option.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite' Lv.10 is activated.]

"I am 'Unemployed Yoo Joonghyuk' who is good at games."

Cha Yerin looked at me like she was looking at Killer King. I ignored her gaze and focused on the effects of the skill.

「Incite could not activate specific skills as precisely as bookmark.」

However, the special advantage of this skill is that it can imitate the 'characteristics' of the person in question, albeit slightly.

「Understanding of the exclusive skill 'Bookmark' affects the activation of 'Incite'.」

[Bookmark number 1: Unemployed Yoo Joonghyuk's attribute is activated.]

I also have a conscience.

I don't even want to be the 'ruler of entertainment'. So please—

[Exclusive attribute 'Pro Gamer' is activated.]

Yes. This is it!

[All types of 'gaming skills' are greatly improved due to the effects of exclusive characteristics.]

Suddenly the view became clear.

I could see at a glance where to run on the terrain. Cornering here. Go straight here. It's surprising. Is this the perspective of 'Pro Gamer Yoo Joonghyuk'?

[Exclusive attribute discovers hidden pieces of the stage.]

[The stage's 'acceleration zone' has been discovered.]

As we entered the acceleration zone at the correct timing, the carriage began to run at an unbelievable speed. It was almost questionable whether it was the same carriage.

Cha Yerin also opened her mouth as she watched the scenery passing by quickly.

Soon, the line of carriages ahead began to appear.

Our group was also at the rear of the line.

"Kim Dokja!"

Killer King and Yoo Joonghyuk's carriage.

"Dokja-ssi! Here we are! Come quickly!"

And even the carriage of Dansu ahjussi and Kyung Sein next to them.

I managed to breathe a sigh of relief. If this continues, we can at least avoid last place.

Just go a little further. A little bit more-

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Sheep' is worried about your safety!]

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' warns you to run away quickly!]

It was then that a strange message was heard from the air.

[The Constellation 'Rat that brings plague' is opening their eyes!]

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is greatly surprised!]

[The Constellation 'Liverless rabbit' gnaws at the spot where the liver used to be!]

[A significant number of Constellations doubt the probability of the incident.]

[A few Constellations feel fear.]

I had an ominous feeling. Are the Constellations expressing 'fear'?

Tsutsutsu.

Faint sparks flew from my arm as I adjusted the controller.

The aftereffects of the probability aftermath.

Why did probability suddenly become like this? Because I called 'Unemployed Yoo Joonghyuk' as [Bookmark]? Or not-

[Someone violated an important probability of the <Star Stream>.]

I felt like my heart was sinking.

[The <Star Stream> detects your story.]

[You temporarily experienced another world line.]

[You have not completed the 'Returnee Scenario'.]

[The probability of the <Star Stream> is moving.]

[The Edge of the Other World will be expanded for 10 minutes from now.]

Lightning struck from the sky, and the carriages running behind were destroyed with a loud noise.

Something was chasing us through the thick clouds of dust.

"Ah."

There was a faint fear in Cha Yerin's voice. It was not difficult to realize the source of the fear.

At the back of the carriage, visible through a cloud of pitch-black dust, were seven-tailed dogs. A fear that seems to freeze your soul just by looking into your eyes.

['The Hound of the Abyss' has found you.]

A hound chasing the abyss.

Sentinels who kill 'Outer Gods' who harm the balance of the world line and destroy probability.

The hounds were chasing me this time. The reason was obvious.

「Because I came to meet <Kim Dokja Company>.」

I bit my lip and confessed the truth.

"I'm sorry. I guess it's because of me."

"Why the Author—"

"I'll give you a detailed explanation later."

I held on to the controller with all my might and somehow continued to accelerate.

But it was useless. It was not a problem that could be overcome simply through the power of characteristics. The distance between me and the dogs was rapidly shrinking.

If things continue like this, we will be caught quickly.

"Yerin-ssi."

Even if I handed over the controller to Cha Yerin, I had to stop the dogs.

[Your exclusive characteristics are activated.]

In my head, I thought about how to deal with the 'Hounds Chasing the Abyss'.

However, neither the 'Ways of Survival' nor the 'Omniscient Reader' contained any instructions on how to deal with those hunting dogs.

It was natural.

Even Yoo Joonghyuk, who had reached the end of the scenarios, was reluctant because those dogs were unfathomably strong .

Of course, the number was not as large as it was then. Five or six at most.

But for me now, it was difficult to deal with even that one dog.

"I guess I'll do it myself—"

At that moment, a dog ran to the point and jumped onto the roof of the carriage. The moment I made eye contact with the hunting dog, I realized.

I can't deal with this.

This 'Hound' was not a being but a 'phenomenon'. For example, something like the 'Indescribable Distance' that is a disaster.

No matter what I do with my current level of power, I can't resist these guys' pursuit.

[I was wondering why it was suddenly noisy.]

The charging hound flew away with a fierce spark.

I reflexively looked back.

[I told you to wake me up when you arrived at the destination, but you just left me.]

A golden monkey was standing on the torn-off roof of the carriage with a bored expression on his face.

"Meihouwang!"

Meihouwang took out something that looked like a toothpick from his ear and blew on it, revealing his main sacred relic.

The Ruyi Jingu Bang?

No. There was something different about that. A relic that has the same shape as the Ruyi Jingu Bang of Great Sage Heaven's Equal, but has a 'different name'.

Just as the sword 'Amanomurakumono no Tsurugi' made from the tail of 'Yamata no Orochi' was divided into 'different swords' according to the number in its name, the same was true for Sun Wukong's Ruyi Jingu Bang.

[This guy, did you recognize Shin Jincheol, the King of the World?]

His Majesty Jeongjeo Shin Jincheol.

That was the original name of Ruyi Jingu Bang.

A tool used to measure the depth of rivers and seas around the world.

The 'Sea Pendulum' was stored in the warehouse of Ogwang, the Dragon King of the East Sea.

Meihouwang, waving his sacred artifact, spoke.

[I don't know why the dogs of this world are chasing you, but—]

His gaze rested on Ji Eunyu, who had collapsed in the carriage, for a moment.

[Please take care of that child.]

Meihouwang floated in the air, his golden fur fluttering. The moment his new form passed me, I got goosebumps.

He shouted as he faced the stars of the Chinese Zodiac.

[You foolish unemployed people.]

As far as I know, there is no official head in the Zodiac. This is because no one claimed to be the 'head'.

[These hounds are also just 'dogs'. It means that they are beasts like you. What are you so scared of?]

But I knew it the moment I saw him.

[All the Constellations of the Chinese Zodiac are shaking.]

The reason why there was no official head in the <Zodiac> was because everyone in the <Zodiac> implicitly agreed on who their 'head' was.

[The scale of the sea.]

He is the king of all beasts.

[I let go of your true self.]

A heavenly villain that no one in <Emperor> dared to deal with.

The Monkey King of Huagu Mountain.

[The scale of probability moves.]

Meihouwang, who had raised his level to the point where he could take on the 'Hound Chasing the Abyss', roared into the air.

Shin Jincheol, whose size increased in an instant, grew to over hundreds, thousands, and several kilometers. It no longer looked like a rod at all.

Is it because Shin Jincheol’s size was increasing in real time? The hunting dogs were already pushed far away.

[Good. I can't take too long.]

A faint spark was flowing from Meihouwang's whole body.

[Damn, if I didn’t give Jecheon that hair, it would be like this…]

I nodded and immediately started accelerating.

Meihouwang is a legendary Constellation. But because of how vicious the hunting dogs are, they will not die easily here.

I ran the carriage again and again. I had to use the little time that Meihouwang gave me wisely.

How long did it run like that?

Smoke rose from the wheels of the carriage and the wheels stopped.

Now the destination is just around the corner. A huge fortress was visible in the distance.

Cha Yerin and I exchanged glances and then started running with Ji Eunyu on our backs.

And soon we arrived at the entrance of the fort.

[You have arrived at your 'destination'.]

It's a success. It's not too late.

Fortunately, at the entrance, Yoo Joonghyuk, Killer King, Dansu ahjussi, and Kyung Sein were all present.

They were waiting for me.

"You've arrived."

I nodded and walked past them. The distant explosions were getting closer.

If we didn't get inside quickly, we couldn't guarantee that it would be safe until then.

Guarding the entrance was a low-level Dokkaebi who served as the gatekeeper.

[Prove your entry qualifications.]

"I am 'Kim Dokja' from Zone 13. Let my forces in."

But the dokkaebi just frowned as if it was annoying.

[The incarnation you are carrying is allowed to enter.]

I glanced back at Ji Eunyu, who I was carrying. She was still unconscious.

[She belongs to the 'Monkey Faction'. But you are not affiliated with any faction. Prove your affiliation.]

"I would have said I was from Zone 13."

[I haven’t heard of incarnations from Zone 13 coming up—]

As I slowly raised my status, the expression of the low-level Dokkabi changed as it sensed the energy of a Constellation in me.

[So, are you a Constellation? However, 'Zone 13' is not an official force. If you would like to enter—]

The low-level Dokkaebi hesitated for a moment and then said:

[Please name the 'force' you belong to.]

I looked back at my companions.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who turned his back as if he didn't care about the name, stood at the back of the group.

"There is no time, so decide quickly."

I watched Killer King, Literature Girl 64, Lee Dansu, and Kyung Sein while being grateful for their consideration.

And then I thought about their real names.

Cha Sungwoo, Cha Yerin, Noh Kyunghwan, Sung Minwoo.

Maybe we would have thought of the same name at that moment. The only name that binds us who wrote, read, and lived that long story.

My companions nodded and I opened my mouth.

"『Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint』."

The door to the fortress slowly opened.

[You have reached the upper level of the 'Recycling Center'.]

Constellations were waiting for us.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

762 Episode 33 Ball (1)

---

「"Have you ever wondered why stars shine so brightly?"
—Mass Production Maker」

A hand holding a pen appeared in the empty void. The hand hesitated for a moment and wrote invisible black letters in the void of space.

【The hunting dogs have moved.】

Infinitely black text that seems to have sucked in the surrounding light.

The hand wrote once again.

【Because of what you did, 'Recorders' from all over the world began to pay attention to this world.】

Then another hand appeared in the void of space. It was a white and long hand. The hand also held a pen and wrote.

【We committed this together.】

【That···.】

【Didn’t you help too, Bicheonhori? Aren’t you also curious about the 'next' story? Isn’t that what made 'him' meet the universe of <Kim Dokja Company>?】

Bicheonhori did not reply.

His hands seemed to be shaking with excitement, and sometimes with fear.

After a while the real hand began writing again.

【The 'first and last record' will begin again. You probably know what that means.】

The long white hand was silent for a moment.

In the distant universe, ignorant stars that could neither read nor reveal the letters twinkled.

【So aren’t you more curious?】

The owner of the long hand wrote as if the ignorance was enjoyable.

【Who will be the 'Recorder' who will write the last sentence of this universe?】

---

[The presence of the hunting dog disappears.]

I was worried, but I was very fortunate.

'Hound' is also 'God from Another World'. Could it be that they can't chase me to the unauthorized core scenario area?

"I lived."

"It really wasn’t easy this time."

As I opened the door to the fortress and entered, joking with my companions, what appeared was a long hallway.

Pictures decorated with colorful frames were hanging on the walls of the hallway.

"Wow, it’s moving?"

When I looked closely, I saw that they were all paintings made from fragments of stories.

A tiger yawning while eating rice cake. A pig building a brick house. A rabbit protecting its liver. The rat that won first place in a running competition. These were all animals from the famous Chinese Zodiac.

At that time, Dansu ahjussi discovered a strange picture.

"There’s also a 'turtle' here."

"Isn’t turtle a not a part of the Chinese zodiac?"

Then Yoo Joonghyuk answered.

"The Chinese Zodiac comes from the 12 letters used in the Chinese calendar. The Chinese Zodiac you know was not the Chinese Zodiac from the beginning."

"Do you know anything about that?"

"It’s common sense."

Indeed, it seems that if you regress about 41 times, you will receive that much common sense.

I suddenly became curious and asked.

"Have you ever been here?"

"This is my first time."

So close.

I thought that Yoo Joonghyuk from the 41st Round might also know about this place, but isn't the 'Zodiac Ball' an event that is easily held?

"This is the first time that an event of this magnitude, such as <Zodiac>, has been held."

"Isn’t that saying too much disregard for the Chinese zodiac?"

Yoo Joonghyuk, who frowned slightly at my words, answered while looking at the end of the distant hallway.

"My goal is the end of all scenarios ."

At that declaration, the group of people walking behind each nodded their heads or secretly looked in my direction and raised their thumbs.

The end of every scenario.

It was absurd to talk about such a goal in only the 41st round, but even so, something was different about this '41st Round'.

It wasn't just because I and the readers were there.

「Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st Round is special.」

The only history that Yoo Joonghyuk here shares with Yoo Joonghyuk in the main story is from Round 0 to Round 1.

The timeline from the 2nd to the 41st was completely divided. Now, Yoo Joonghyuk of that story has endured dozens of rounds of life that no one knows about.

And he was so devastated that he gave up on the next round after only the 41st Round.

The meaning of despair was clear.

「He was in more despair than Yoo Joonghyuk from any other world line right before he gave up.」

So, if I can just calm him down so he doesn't despair...

"You look in a bad mood."

"It’s just my natural expression."

"You don’t know much about Kim Dokja. He always has that kind of face."

As I opened the door to the banquet hall while listening to Killer King's trivial comments, the huge hall came into view at a glance.

The hall was divided into a stage on the first floor and an auditorium on the second floor with thin curtains.

Because the banquet hall was so noisy, our appearance didn't really go noticed. Rather, it was fortunate.

[Oh, you’re finally here.]

A light noise was heard in the air, and Bihyung appeared.

"Your appearance has changed."

[It’s become cool, right?]

Bihyung's body had grown significantly compared to before, as he had just become a mid-level Dokkaebi. Just looking at it, it looked like he had gained weight.

Bihyung must have thought something when he saw my expression, so he tapped my shoulder and whispered.

[Hey, don't be too intimidated. You know that the Constellations gathered here are all in the process of developing a scenario, right? There is no one particularly different from you.]

I don't know why he suddenly said such a thing, but I nodded and answered.

"I know."

[How cocky. Come on, Incarnations, go over there. Reiki will guide you.]

[I will guide you!]

Dokkaebi Reiki. Even when Kim Dokja went to the 'Constellation Banquet', that Dokkaebi guided the way.

[For those of you who are incarnations, please follow me here—]

[You idiot. That's the Dokkaebis' waiting room.]

[Sorry. Back here...!]

He was quite immature for a Dokkaebi, and he seemed similar in this round as well.

Bihyung added as if making excuses.

[He's still a trainee Dokkaebi. Even though he looks like that, he is a good guy at heart —]

"I know. Rather, it seems like there is a separate waiting room for the incarnations for this ball."

[That's right. Have you noticed it already? There will be an opportunity to meet with the incarnations again later. Now, come this way.]

"I’m an incarnation too?"

The moment I saw Bihyung's expression, I belatedly understood why he was targeting other Constellations.

[First of all, you are an acting Constellation. Don’t talk nonsense, just follow me.]

As my companions were walking away, they looked towards me with worried expressions, so I gave them a quick glance to show that I was okay.

I was equally worried about them. Because I don't know what kind of guys there will be in the incarnations' waiting room.

Still, I wasn't too worried. Does it matter who is there? There's Yoo Joonghyuk here.

And if I was right, our colleagues who chose other 'forces' would also be in the waiting room. Lee Hyunsung, Lee Jihye, Jung Heewon, maybe even Shin Yoosung. If you think about it, it was a solid lineup.

I followed Bihyung and organized the log of messages that had come in.

[The sub-scenario 'Orient Express Carriage' has ended.]

[You can obtain rewards from previous scenarios.]

[A new main scenario will begin soon.]

The new main scenario will probably be 'Zodiac Ball'.

We'll have to take a closer look at what exactly the task will be...

[Sit over there. It's your seat.]

On the seat of the table in the corner, there was a nameplate with my Constellation modifier written on it.

<Demon King of Salvation (Agent)>

Anyone can see that this is a temporary transfer position.

As I was looking at the empty seat next to me, I heard Bihyung mumbling as he received an urgent call.

[Oh, damn it. What else… Hey, stay here and wait. I'll start explaining the scenario soon. Ah, here I go. Song-]

When I turned my head, Bihyung had disappeared somewhere.

Is this what it feels like when I transfer to a new school and the teacher who introduced me disappears?

I sat at the table and looked at the symbols of other Constellations. There were Constellations glancing in this direction, and there were also Constellations busy talking among themselves.

The composition of the banquet hall itself was not much different from that of the 'Constellations Banquet'.

What can be seen in the hall on the first floor are mainly historical-grade Constellations in the form of symbols. Most of them were not easy to recognize just by looking at their appearance.

I started by looking at those who used relatively easy symbolism.

Of course, the huge rice cake over there must be the Tiger Eating Rice Cakes (the rice cake was torn off in several places, as if he had been seriously injured in the confrontation with me), and is the swollen liver the 'liverless rabbit'? A cut off rattlesnake's tail is the 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail'.

Meanwhile, I also saw a familiar face.

On the left table, the fingernails that had been scratching the table were creeping towards me.

Rat eating fingernails.

There was a reader there who went against the words of the Chinese Zodiac and came to give us advice. However, he hesitated as if he was watching the other Constellations, and then sat down again.

What stopped him was the ugly symbol of the 'bird beak mask'.

What is that mask?

[He is a 'disease-bringing drunk'.]

A calming voice was heard from behind.

[It is said that in the Middle Ages, when there were epidemics, doctors wore masks like that to provide medical treatment.]

When I turned my head in admiration for his knowledge, a pure white line was fluttering there.

The moment I saw the golden dragon engraved on the top of the serenity, I realized who he was.

"Nice to meet you, Waryong."

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' is very pleased with your answer.]

A lying dragon.

He was the famous Dragon King of the Three Kingdoms, Zhuge Gongming.

[Hehe. It's an honor for you to recognize me.]

"Are you also a participant in this scenario?"

The nickname for the lying dragon is Waryong. Since he also has the nickname 'dragon', I thought he might be eligible to participate in this ball.

But Waryong shook his head and laughed.

[I participated as an evaluator for this scenario. Originally I refused, but they asked me again and again... As you know, I am weak at three and a half.]

Try hard and hard. Come to think of it, Zhuge Gongming had such a secret story.

It seems that the 'Recycling Center' made quite an effort to bring Waryong as an evaluator.

[For now, I think things went well. Thanks to coming here, I became your fan.]

You're a fan?

It was an embarrassing expression.

[It's not just me. In fact, among the Constellations invited to judge together, there is a passionate fan of yours... Unfortunately, they cannot come down to the first floor due to their high status.]

"You mean 'the one who brought ten lambs'?"

[Hehe, you already know.]

I looked up at the second floor auditorium.

Considering the time of the 'Constellation's Banquet', the second floor would naturally contain higher-ranking Constellations than the first floor.

Among them, there must be a Constellation that cheered me on.

As I thought about it, a little confusion came over me.

The fact that the location of the ninth scenario is here means that it is ultimately here with the Constellations.

This means that we will compete with each other,

[The 'Recycling Center Director' chose the stage for the scenario.]

[The Bureau reviews the difficulty level of the scenario.]

No, they wouldn't tell us to gather all the Constellations and make them fight in only the ninth scenario.

Probability would also be insufficient.

[Huh.]

It was then that a bright light came into the center of the hall. She appeared on stage as a young woman with a cute appearance and wearing a rich gothic dress.

[Hi everyone? Today’s host is me! It’s 'Euprosyne'!]

The moment I wondered why on earth that Constellation was here, a feeling of déjà vu shook my mind. Clearly, that Constellation was present at the banquet hall where Kim Dokja attended.

「Euprosyne, the goddess of joy and festivals.」

It was a moment when the 'Zodiac Ball', a banquet for great Constellations, suddenly turned into a gourmet association party hall.

[Thank you everyone for attending despite your busy schedule! Well, even if you are busy, you should all come. Isn't it? This is where the hottest stories in the <Star Stream> appear these days.]

At those words, light laughter flowed from beyond the curtain. On the other hand, no one laughed in the first floor hall.

[We would also like to express our sincere gratitude to the owner of the Recycling Center, the 'Recycling Center Director', who lent us the stage!]

As the head of the recycling center blinked the colorful stage lights in response, Euphrosyne grinned.

[Everyone knows where today’s main event is, right?]

In response to Euphrosyne's words, someone in the audience on the second floor muttered, "Zodiac ball."

[That's right, it's the 'Zodiac Ball' held at the request of the Constellations of the Chinese zodiac!]

Originally, a 'ball' meant a social gathering place where many people gathered and danced. However, the Constellations on the first floor all looked stiff. It didn't seem like they particularly wanted to dance.

[Ah, our Zodiac Constellations, you must have worked so hard to come to the 'Recycling Center'. In the upper scenarios, you were hit by giant nebulae, and in the lower scenarios, you were ignored by the incarnations, and you had nowhere to go, right?]

The blatant ridicule heard from everywhere. Several of the Constellations of the Chinese zodiac were seen trembling slightly.

[How difficult must have been the lives of the Constellations of the Zodiac as our trusted 'Monkey King' silently watched the situation unfold!]

Despite the teasing remarks, the Constellations on the first floor could not even say a word in response.

It was natural.

Because the Constellation on that stage was a 'narrative-grade Constellation' that could not be defeated even if all of them fought against her.

[So, we at the 'Gourmet Association' thought. How about we help the <Zodiac>?]

As I listened to the endless laughter beyond the curtain, I was gradually realizing who this 'Zodiac Ball' was a 'social gathering place' for.

[What if we give those poor, pitiful stars another chance to leap forward? But can the mere grabbing of animals become an interesting 'story'?]

Until now, there has been no mention in any page of 'Ways of Survival' that the 'Zodiac Ball' was conducted in this way.

Why did such a variable arise in this round?

The question didn't last long.

[But there is someone here who answered our questions.]

For a moment, the eyes of the Constellations were focused on me.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

763 Episode 33 Ball (2)

---

[You all know who I’m talking about, right? 'Gourmet Association' people especially.]

The concentration of attention was burdensome.

Light laughter was heard from the second floor. It seemed like someone was muttering, "Is that Kim Dokja?"

[The Constellations of the 'Gourmet Association' are looking at you.]

Monsters on a different level from the Historical-grade were sitting there. Each and every one of them calls themselves the winners of the whole world.

Cold sweat formed on my neck and I slowly began to feel suffocated.

Kim Dokja has been fighting against such monsters until now.

I pursed my lips and raised my hand toward them. It was because I thought that if I got discouraged here, I wouldn't be able to face the others later.

I was the one who brought them on this stage in the first place.

I created a story by changing the 'animal tales' of Zone 13, and distributed the stories to the Gourmet Association through Bihyung.

The fact that they came this far means that they fell for the bait I spread.

[Your story is becoming known in the <Star Stream>.]

[15,000 coins were obtained.]

Messages heard in real time.

It was proof that our stories were being steadily consumed in the <Star Stream>.

If so, great. Spend as much as you want. I will feed you stories until your stomach explodes and you die.

[The Constellations of the 'Gourmet Association' welcome you!]

It felt like blood was flowing from my lips that had been so tightly pressed. The moment when it became difficult to bear the gaze of the Constellations.

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' restrains the Constellations belonging to the Gourmet Association.]

As soon as I received the message, the pressure that had been weighing me down seemed to have disappeared.

I barely breathed a sigh of relief and nodded lightly toward the evaluator behind the curtain.

However, despite the evaluator's restraint, there were still Constellations looking at me.

The Constellations of the <Zodiac> on the first floor were like that.

It wasn't a threatening gaze like the Constellations on the second floor, but I could feel resentment in their gaze for some unknown reason.

Euphrosyne spoke again.

[Anyway, thanks to you, we found out. Old stories can be just as fun! Just because the generation is older doesn’t mean the <Star Stream> has lost its usefulness!]

To summarize, is it true that I designed the scenario stage inspired by the 'animal stories' that I changed?

For some reason, I didn't have a good feeling.

[In this scenario, you will see a reenactment of an old tale!]

A reenactment of an old tale.

Since this is the <Zodiac Ball>, the background of the dance was likely to be famous animal tales, including the 'Zodiac Race'.

However, the variable was that the 'Gourmet Association' directly intervened.

Since there are many stubborn Constellations in the Gourmet Association, there was a possibility that something like the 'Bracelet Expedition', which was the stage of the Gourmet Association in the main story, could be recreated.

[Wow, everyone’s faces are full of concern. Do not worry. I didn't come with that much old-fashioned stories. What fun would it be to try something like the 'Zodiac Race' again?]

It isn’t the zodiac race?

So is it really the Bracelet Expedition?

[For those who like 11th generation stories, please bear with me this time. Now, shouldn’t the Gourmet Association also need to reform its image? It can't be called a gathering of Constellations that only eat weird food forever, right?]

I don't think it's the Bracelet Expedition either.

So what on earth is it?

[Ahaha, everyone is very worried. Rest assured. To design the stage for this scenario, I received help from the 'Management Bureau' Dokkaebis!]

Euphrosyne waved her hand lightly into the air. Although I can't see it, there are probably Dokkaebis from the Management Bureau, including Bihyung, there.

Some whispers were heard from the zodiac signs:

[The Administration intervened? Only in the ninth scenario?]

[Probably not. The fact that the management bureau moved even before the scenario started...]

Euphrosyne seemed to have heard them and nodded.

[Right! There is no way such a big event could happen in only the ninth scenario. You're smart.]

The ominous premonition was gradually becoming a reality.

The moment when a cruel smile appeared on Euphrosyne's lips.

[You guys are right.]

The balance of the world began to creak.

[Many Constellations would like to view this scenario.]

[The Constellations of the Gourmet Association are willing to pay for the probability of proceeding with this scenario!]

[The probability of the <Star Stream> is moving.]

There were just scenario messages being exchanged, but probability was flying out of thin air. A transfer that has occurred only a few times in 'Ways of Survival' and 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

And I knew when this 'miracle' would occur.

「When the scenario difficulty level is increased abnormally.」

I felt dizzy and felt like my stomach was turning. It was difficult to move my body as if the gravity of the area had been reversed.

When I shook my head several times and finally came to my senses, a message appeared before my eyes.

[The number of the scenario will change.]

[You are qualified to participate in the '20th Main Scenario'.]

---

The banquet was halted for a moment.

This is because the Constellations of the Zodiac and the incarnations each needed time to recover from the shock.

The twentieth main scenario.

Suddenly the scenario level rose by eleven levels. Although it was rare in mid- to late-game scenarios, I've never seen this happen in the ninth scenario.

The fact that the scenario level has risen by 11 levels means that the scenario difficulty has also been upgraded accordingly.

[Does this make sense—]

Some high-ranking Constellations began to protest.

[Who can control the difficulty level of the scenario...]

[Since when did the <Star Stream> become your playground!]

The Constellations in the zodiac, unable to bear it, pointed their pointed fingers at the Dokkaebis in the air.

I waited for the next message without reacting in any way.

This level of dramatic change in scenarios will inevitably bring about probability repercussions. So, if it were as I expected, the Management Bureau would have put in place a safety device to prevent any repercussions.

['Ninth Scenario' participants can choose to participate in the '20th Scenario'.]

[If you choose not to participate, you will be kicked out of the 'Recycling Center'.]

[For the deportees, a new 'ninth scenario' is rehabilitation.]

I knew it. No matter how bad the Star Stream is, it was reasonable.

[Damn, if that’s the case, I’d tell you right away—]

[I, I will not participate in the scenario!]

In other words, you are free to choose whether to participate in a new scenario or not.

Constellations from all over began to leave the 'Recycling Center', taking incarnations with them.

It was an obvious choice.

No Constellation would want to participate in this unpleasant scenario.

[Well, there are already Constellations who are making hasty choices.]

At least, unless there is corresponding compensation.

[That's too bad. With the reward from this scenario, even a low-ranking Historical-grade Constellation could instantly become a Narrative-grade Constellation...]

The Constellations on the <Zodiac> side, who were leaving the scenario, stopped as Euphrosyne muttered to herself.

[What does that mean? A Historical-grade immediately becomes a Narrative-grade?]

[If you're curious, wouldn't it be okay to stay in the scenario? Oh, I'm not forcing it.]

Maybe there is no freedom in this world. The idea of free choice is nothing more than a mirage.

[Is it real?]

[You can't lie about compensation.]

[If it is to the extent of immediately upgrading the level of a Historical-grade to the level of a Narrative-grade... Is it really possible that a mythical story will be released as a product?]

[Hey, are you really leaving? There may never be another opportunity like this.]

[If the reward is that much in the 20th scenario, it's worth a try.]

[It's better than suffering outside. The Gourmet Association is annoying, but…]

A muffled laugh could be heard from beyond the curtains on the second floor.

They probably already knew. The fact that the Constellations on the first floor would never be able to reject this proposal.

In the end, the destination of the stars' desires is the same. It's the same whether it's a Historical-grade, a Narrative-grade, or a Mythical-grade.

[Ah, for those of you who are curious, let me show you the scenario rewards in advance...]

And maybe me too.

[Have you all heard of it? This is one the ‘Fragments of the Oldest Dream’ that have been floating around the world recently.]

The moment I saw the image rising behind Euphrosyne, time seemed to stop.

[I am introducing. Fragments of 'the Oldest Dream'.]

'Kim Dokja', who had the same face as me, was sealed in the tank.

He sacrificed himself to save me, my brother who was consecrated to the scenario.

[This is the 'Demon King of Salvation'.]

---

The Demon King of Salvation.

In the pitch-black night sky, Lee Gilyoung rewrote those words with his fingers several times. The trace imbued with pure white magic was quickly erased, but Lee Gilyoung constantly filled in new traces on top of the disappearing trace.

"What are you doing?"

Lee Gilyoung turned his head halfway in response to the question and then fixed his gaze on the sky again. Then the owner of the voice took Lee Gilyoung’s hat off.

"Now, when your noona calls you, you don’t even look at her."

"What. Why?"

“Teen angst?”

Lee Jihye, who took Lee Gilyoung's hat, placed his hat on her own head. The hat fit well without any need to adjust the size.

Lee Gilyoung grumbled and said.

"If you came here to start a fight, just leave."

Lee Jihye looked down at the back of the boy's pouty head. Lee Jihye actually knew why the back of this boy's head was so prickly.

「The condition for activating [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] is for the ahjussi and the target to think about each other at the same time.」

Lee Jihye, who was looking down at Lee Gilyung who had stopped, drew her sword and wrote letters in the air.

The Demon King of Salvation.

Letters engraved like a calligrapher's calligraphy.

Lee Gilyoung asked with his mouth slightly open.

"Do you know how to do that too? Teach me too."

Lee Jihye sighed lightly and said.

"Even if I write it like this, you're going to read it to me."

"Still."

"Let's stop and go in, it's cold."

"…Hyung."

A tremor at the end of words.

Lee Jihye's steps suddenly stopped.

"Does hyung think of me sometimes?"

"Well, maybe sometimes?"

"I'm not someone else, I'm Lee Gilyoung."

"It's a circle sound."

"Shin Yoosung is the incarnation of hyung, and Sangah is hyung's best friend."

Lee Gilyoung hesitated for a moment and then continued.

"The sooty bastard, Seolhwa, and the noona are characters from a novel that hyung liked."

"Hey."

"But I am nothing."

The magic flowing from Lee Jihye's blade dimly illuminated Lee Gilyoung's face.

"Why did he save me?"

How long has the child been pondering that question alone?

"I wish I could ask him just once. It’s okay if I can’t ask him any other questions, so I wish I could ask him just once. I should have asked then. I shouldn’t have given in to Shin Yoosung."

The energy of the story slowly flowed from Lee Gilyoung’s whole body.

It was a story of the demon god Abaddon.

Lee Jihye’s expression hardened.

"Hey, calm down."

"It’s okay just once—"

"Stories are leaking!"

The moment Lee Jihye held onto Lee Gilyoung's shoulder after her urgent shout, sparks flew out in the air. At first, she thought the story of Abaddon had gone wild.

But it wasn't.

The spark was hovering in the air nearby, not at Lee Gilyoung.

"That one over there."

Not long ago, Kim Dokja, who used [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint], disappeared.

A place where the world line opens and closes.

Something was flowing through that place.

The moment a nervous Lee Jihye grasped the hilt of her sword, a message was heard.

[The invitation has arrived.]

A message that somehow feels like déjà vu.

They knew this feeling of déjà vu well.

A 'scenario'.

But they already cleared all the 'scenarios' a long time ago.

But why now?

[Someone invited you to the scenario '■■■ ■■■■'.]

Why did a 'scenario' message appear before their eyes once again?

"What is this?"

It was an invitation that they would have naturally declined under normal circumstances. There was no way they would respond to such a suspicious invitation.

They would have immediately shown the message to Yoo Sangah and Lee Seolhwa and then judged the situation.

But the moment they saw the scenario message that followed.

[Through this scenario, you can meet the 'Demon King of Salvation' once again.]

There was only one option left for them.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

764 Episode 33 Ball (3)

---

Immediately after the twentieth scenario product was released, the hall was filled with excitement for a while.

But do the other Constellations know who the 'Demon King of Salvation' is?

[I heard the story. He is the one who fought against Ares, who had half his powers.]

[So you are allowing me to eat his entire tale?]

[If it is possible to prey on an Ares-level Constellation, it would be possible for a Historical-grade to become a Narrative-grade in an instant.]

[But wasn’t there a guy called the Demon King of Salvation here too?]

I quietly hid behind the pillar next to the table. There was something unusual going on in the atmosphere.

I already knew that information about the 'Kim Dokja fragments' had spread outside. However, it seemed like the information was slowly starting to spread within the Recycling Center as well.

—You probably already know this.

Bihyung’s 'Dokkaebi Communication' was heard in the air.

—You know that’s a great product, right?

The term 'product' bothered me, but I nodded with effort.

'I know. Because it's my sponsor.'

The Kim Dokja sleeping in the fish tank really looked like the Kim Dokja I remembered.

Of course, I know that Kim Dokja is not that Kim Dokja. It's just the embodiment of his story.

Still, as I looked at him, a corner of my heart throbbed.

—It's not just your sponsor. Have you never heard of 'Fragments of the Oldest Dream'?

Of course it was information I knew, but I deliberately did not reply. Because I wanted to hear what Bihyung would say.

—The Oldest Dream. It is a star that is designated as the first 'cause' of all these worlds.

The first cause of all these worlds.

Did the middle and lower level Dokkaebis even know this information?

I couldn't remember very well.

Maybe it's a feature unique to the 41st Round..

—There is a story that fragments of that Constellation have recently been discovered throughout the <Star Stream>.

'My sponsor is one of them.'

—It's a very big 'one'. This information is still known only to large nebulae or high-ranking Constellations. This is what the 'Recycling Center' revealed this time.

Honestly, when I heard this, I didn't really understand it.

Even though it is only the 20th scenario, they are offering the 'Demon King of Salvation' as a scenario product?

Let's say the management bureau can do that. But does it make sense for the 'Gourmet Association' to participate in it?

If there was such a coveted story, they would be the first to taste it, right?

—Anyway, be careful with this scenario. Even if you are the 'Incarnation of the Oldest Dream', it won't be easy.

'The incarnation of the Oldest Dream?'

—Some Constellations call you that.

In that case, there was something completely wrong with the name. This is because I am the incarnation of the 'Demon King of Salvation', not the incarnation of the 'Oldest Dream'.

The incarnation of the 'Oldest Dream' refers to the guy who is now walking from the other side with wide open eyes.

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

Yoo Joonghyuk from 41st Round.. The side effects of the 'Story Imprint' seem to have been alleviated considerably, and his height, which was previously that of a boy, has now returned to that of a young man.

Behind Yoo Joonghyuk stood the group, that had disappeared into the incarnation waiting room.

I lightly raised my hand towards them.

"Have you all seen the new scenario that came out?"

"Yes. What about you, Dokja-ssi? How did the Constellations react?"

"Everyone was shocked, well."

"Hey, there's nothing special about the Constellations."

Kyung Sein, who rushed over, was the first to murmur. After that, Dansu ahjussi and Cha Yerin were also seen.

"Ji Eunyu-ssi was saved by Meihouwang "

After all,it was Meihouwang. It seemed like he had safely escaped from the hunting dogs.

"My brother went somewhere alone for a while."

He probably went there to prepare for the next scenario. Killer King may seem absurd on the outside, but he is thorough when it comes to scenarios.

But my companions seemed to have something else they wanted to say.

I looked into their eyes closely and asked.

"Who else was in the waiting room?"

"There were a lot. I also saw Anna Croft and Asuka Ren."

Anna Croft and Asuka Ren.

Were they also active at the 'Recycling Center'? I don't know which faction they chose, but if we become enemies with them, things won't be easy.

"But they both got off."

I couldn't believe my ears.

"Those two quit the scenario?"

"Yes. This time, with the difficulty level being raised, it became possible to escape the scenario. They escaped right then."

Even if Asuka Ren is like that, what about Anna Croft? There is no way the Prophet could have run away even after checking the product details?

"And Anna told me to give you this."

Cha Yerin said that and handed over a crumpled paper:

—I give in this time.

The moment I read the neatly written handwriting, I smiled bitterly.

A Prophet would have already figured out how things are going here.

It was at that time that Dansu ahjussi, who had been listening and observing the conversation, opened his mouth.

"By the way, friend. Can I ask you one thing?"

"Yes. Just ask."

"That face…"

It did. I was wondering when you would ask.

I looked at my face reflected in the glass on the table.

No matter how you look at it, it's the same face as Kim Dokja.

It may have seemed strange to the party members who were familiar with Cheon Inho's face.

Dansu ahjussi, who had been pausing, asked with a heavy expression.

"Why have you suddenly become so handsome?"

I looked blankly at Dansu ahjussi. Then Kyung Sein intervened.

"Hey, ahjussi! That’s not the question!"

"Yes? Then…"

"You don’t know whose face that face is?"

"Whose face is it?"

"It’s Kim Dokja, Kim Dokja!"

"Ah."

Now that I think about it, Dansu ahjussi has only read the entire novel once.

And the favorite of Jiyoon, the daughter of Dansu ahjussi, was Yoo Joonghyuk. It wasn't strange that he didn't know Kim Dokja's face.

"Then it’s even weirder. If that’s really Kim Dokja’s face—"

"Ahjussi."

Kyung Sein grabbed Dansu ahjussi’s wrist. It was as if she was telling him not to say any more.

As expected, the sense of discomfort I felt from my companions earlier was not an illusion.

Their eyes look strangely anxious every time they look at me.

I looked at my companions with calm eyes and asked.

"What happened in the waiting room?"

In the end, Kyung Sein, who had hesitated, opened her mouth first.

"Actually, I met Ye Hyunwoo in the waiting room."

"Ah."

"And Goo Seonah. Do you remember Goo Seonah? She used to use iron guns in Chungmuro—"

"I remember."

Gu Seonah, the Cheolgon woman.

The last time I saw her was at Gwanghwamun Station.

At that time, I, who had just started reading 『Heir of the Eternal Name』, absorbed the soul of Kim Kyungsik, who became a 'Kim Dokja fragment'.

Goo Seonah, who happened to witness the scene, was greatly shocked and left Gwanghwamun.

I was worried because she hadn't been seen since, but it appears she was also a participant in this scenario.

"Seonah said something a little strange."

Kyung Sein took a deep breath and looked straight into my eyes and said.

"Don’t trust Dokja-ssi."

I thought I knew why Goo Seonah said that.

Because she clearly saw me absorbing Kim Kyungsik.

I don't know if Goo Seonah told my group in detail or not, but if that causes my group to stop trusting me...

"There’s no need to look so serious."

When I turned my head, Dansu ahjussi was speaking with stern eyes.

"If we don’t trust you, who will we trust?"

"I think so too. I was just worried that Goo Seonah said something strange, so I was wondering whether I should tell it or not. Dokja-ssi might be offended."

I once again felt sorry for my companions.

If they found out that I was becoming stronger by absorbing the 'Kim Dokja fragments', if they found out that I absorbed Kim Kyungsik’s soul… Will my companions treat me like they do now even then?

"But when I see your face, I feel like I have to tell you."

"My face?"

"Yes, because those two—"

The moment I heard the next words, I felt my heart lightly sink.

"It’s a little, but... Goo Seonah and Ye Hyunwoo also had similar faces to the current Dokja-ssi."

---

Goo Seonah and Ye Hyunwoo,

I wanted to meet them and talk to them if possible, but it seemed like they wouldn't come to the hall.

[Story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' chuckles.]

Two people turned into faces similar to mine.

It wasn't entirely unexpected. In the end, the more 'Kim Dokja fragments' we collect, the more similar we become to 'Kim Dokja'.

The fact that their facial features have changed must be proof that they have also collected a certain number of 'fragments of Kim Dokja'.

[Start entering the scenario.]

[If you agree to enter, please enter through the door in the center of the hall.]

Before we knew it, it was time to enter the scenario.

I looked back at my companions and said.

"I'm asking just in case you don't know…"

Cha Yerin answered as if she already knew my question.

"You will tell us not to participate."

"I think so."

'Twentieth' main scenario.

This scenario was of the same level of difficulty as the 73rd Demon World. Monsters equivalent to demon nobles will appear, and boss-level monsters equivalent to demon dukes or Constellations will appear.

Is that it?

We must fight against the other Constellations of the zodiac. This means that confrontations with at least Historical-grade Constellations are inevitably scheduled.

"We've fought with the Constellations before."

"The probability tolerance is different from the eighth scenario."

Most of the Constellations we faced were guys who had squandered their reputation. Even those who appeared awkwardly, bound by the probability constraints of lower-level scenarios.

However, the '20th' scenario is a different story.

Then Cha Yerin asked.

"What do you think Kim Dokja would have done?"

What would Kim Dokja have done?

None of us knew the answer.

Kyung Sein laughed.

"Have you forgotten? We are also 'Kim Dokja'."

Dansu ahjussi nodded and said.

"We also have an 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'."

I sighed lightly and said.

"You know that survival is the top priority, right?"

My companions nodded.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been listening to the story as if he was not interested, walked past us first, and Killer King appeared from nowhere and followed him.

"Let's go."

[Entering a new scenario area!]

A bright beam of light enveloped our entire bodies and the landscape began to change.

Although I spoke calmly, I was actually very worried about this scenario.

Even in the 'Ways of Survival', the 'Recycling Center' scenario has never unfolded like it does now. The stage for this scenario was a place that even I didn't really know about.

"...Thus, the Demon King of the beginning arose from the conflict between good and evil..."

A voice that occasionally reaches my ears. It was a calm and intelligent voice. A powerful tone that feels like something I've heard before.

"...So, the cause of the Holy Demon War..."

When I slowly opened my eyes, the first thing I saw was the neat letters written on the blackboard.

「History of the Demon World.」

I stared at the blackboard for a long time, wondering if I was looking at something in vain.

But nothing changed.

Across the blackboard, I could see the backs of the students' heads sitting on chairs and taking class.

It's definitely true. This was a school.

No, why am I at school?

As I unconsciously turned my head, I saw my reflection in the window. A name tag was attached to the chest of the refreshing beige school uniform.

[Kim Dokja.]

Goosebumps slowly appeared.

"Hmm, what’s outside the window?"

The teacher was looking at me. As I slowly stood up, I could see the teacher's face more clearly.

Then I realized why I thought his voice sounded familiar.

"Would you like to talk about the 'Devil’s Justice' that I just explained?"

It was definitely true.

He is the 'Reclining Dragon' who came to the 'Recycling Center' as an evaluator.

It was Zhuge Gongming.

"Student Kim Dokja."

I took a deep breath and started talking.

"The Demon King refers to the corrupted Constellations that abandoned their own scenarios and polluted the scenario region to establish their own realm."

I was talking without even knowing what I was talking about.

How much was that noise?

[You have satisfied the unique settings for that person.]

[The world view gives you 500 coins.]

Satisfied the unique settings? What does it mean?

Teacher Waryong shook his head as if impressed.

"It’s pretty good. Well, even in inferior classes, not all are at the same level. Now, that’s it for today’s class. Everyone, prepare well for the graduation exam—"

The ding-dong music rang out, and the children who were lying face down on their desks stood up all at once.

Meanwhile, there were children coming towards me. These were all faces I had never seen before.

"Wow, how do you memorize it all? Even though I heard it, I don’t understand a thing."

"Hee, it feels like a hit."

"You idiot, this isn’t power, it’s hiding knowledge."

I looked at them quietly and cautiously opened my mouth.

"Who are you—"

Tsk tsk tsk tsk!

[You made a statement that is not appropriate for the person in question!]

I almost screamed at the lightly bouncing sparks.

[Warning. The 'Memory Loss' setting does not exist for you.]

It wasn't until I received one message after another that I began to understand little by little what the situation was.

[A new scenario has arrived.]

<Main Scenario #20 – Graduation>

Category: Main

Difficulty: ???

Clear Condition: You have joined the old story according to the contract with the 'Recycling Center'. Solve the scenario by finding the clear conditions for that world view.

Time limit: 15 days

Reward: Fragment of the Oldest Dream, ???

Failure: —

While reading the scenario, I thought of Euphrosyne's voice.

「Reenactment of an old story.」

Apparently, this stage seemed to be a system that imitated the Island of the Reincarnated — the 'Kaizenix Island'.

The problem is that the genre is a little different from back then.

—Kim Dokja, 3rd grade, 2nd class. Kim Dokja, 3rd grade, 2nd class, go to the teacher's office immediately…

I jumped up from my seat and headed into the hallway. As I walked down the hallway, I carefully observed the passing scenery.

First of all, this stage did not have a particularly unusual worldview. Judging from the fact that the terms Constellation, demon king, and scenario are also used the same way, it seems to share a worldview with the <Star Stream>.

Just look at my name.

Judging by the fact that my name was still 'Kim Dokja', this worldview seemed closer to a kind of 'arranged worldview' rather than possession.

For example, I am called 'Kim Dokja' just like on the outside, but my settings have been changed to fit this worldview.

Looking at the students' reactions, it seems like I am a kind of brainy character.

[Explore the clear conditions for the scenario.]

As with the Gourmet Association's 『Bracelets Expedition』, this scenario is probably not the beginning of the world view.

In short, it may be the time before an important event like 'Kaizenix.

—Third year graduation exam.

I quietly looked at the promotional flyer posted on the bulletin board.

"Oh, it’s Kim Dokja, our sunbae."

Students passing by me bowed their heads and said hello. “Sunbae ”, I can’t remember the last time I heard that word.

There were people waiting for me in front of the teacher’s office.

"Dokja-ssi! You’re here! Ugegege!"

"Sein-ssi, if you say something like that here, there will be repercussions—gegegegege!"

I don't know how many genres there are in this world, but at least one thing seems certain.

"Kim Dokja, if this continues, our class will not be able to take the graduation exam."

We became students of the 'Academy'.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

765 Episode 33 Ball (4)

---

There are things that commonly come to mind when you think of 'academy setting'.

"First of all, school is the main stage."

Since it is an 'academy setting', of course the setting is a school. However, you'll get bored when its about school life, so you mix in other genres.

"Everyone has their skills, so it's arranged as a 'hunter story'."

Since the skills used outside can be used here as well, it can be seen as a mix of 'academy' and 'hunter' based on abilities.

"Of course the main character will be in an inferior class."

Right. Usually, in situations like this, the inferior class wins by defeating the honors class after a lot of hard work.

"Then, after all, I am the main character?"

I ignored Killer King's nonsense and asked what I was curious about.

"You mentioned the graduation exam earlier. What do you mean?"

"You’re stupid. Have you still not grasped the worldview? Have you forgotten where our goal was?"

Killer King said that and pointed to the notice on the bulletin board.

—Information on the 3rd year graduation exam.

It was a notice I had already checked upon arrival.

"That is the goal of this scenario."

Killer King's reasoning was plausible.

The point in time when we were possessed would be just before the key events of this worldview took place. If we take into account the setting of 'third year', the 'graduation exam' was definitely the main event of this scenario.

Coincidentally, the name of the scenario is 'graduation'.

[You have found the key clue to the scenario!]

I knew it.

"By the way, Kang Ilhoon."

"I am not Kang Ilhoon."

"Are you okay with talking like that?"

Kyung Sein, who realized what I meant, intervened.

"That’s right. Since earlier, Killer King-ssi has been making comments that don’t fit the world view – Gegegegegeek!"

Kang Ilhoon— So, Killer King has been making statements that completely ignore the rules of the world view. And yet he faced no sanctions from this worldview.

[The exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated!]

['List of characters' provides information in a format appropriate for the world view.]

| Character: Kang Ilhoon (Cha Sungwoo) |
| --- |

Potential: S

Personal Attributes: Delusionist (S), Analyst (S)

Description: One of the key characters of Class 2. He often says nonsense because he cannot distinguish between reality and delusion.

Right. If you have those settings from the beginning, does that mean it’s okay to say things like that?

—Kim Dokja, 3rd grade, 2nd class. Kim Dokja, 3rd grade, 2nd class, go to the teacher’s office immediately…

After asking for understanding from my companions, I entered the teacher’s office.

If the 'graduation exam' isn't starting right away anyway, it might be okay to calmly look around.

When I opened the door, what I saw was a spacious place filled with colorless partitions. I got a little goosebumps at the sight of the teacher's office after seeing it for the first time in a while.

…But why is that kid over there?

In one corner of the teacher's office, there was a boy with both hands above his head. It was obvious who he was just by looking at his broad shoulders and his matted black hair.

"Yoo Joonghyuk?"

The guy looked back at me, muttering something over and over again as if he was dissatisfied with something.

"In this kind of worldview…"

Yoo Joonghyuk closed his mouth with a “tsutsutsu” sound.

Is it really possible for that guy to not make an undignified sound (“Egegegeek”) even if he gets hit with a blowback?

Across from Yoo Joonghyuk, there was a teacher who was in the middle of disciplining him. The back view here was also familiar.

"Joonghyuk. Students are not allowed to smoke."

"I've never smoked."

"Then what is this that came out of your pocket?"

"Magic tobacco. It's an item that helps circulation of magic power and sharpens your senses."

"Isn't that cigarettes?"

I guess I know roughly what the situation is.

As I approached and cleared my throat slightly, the teacher turned to look at me.

"Ah. You are here?"

It seemed like this teacher was the one who called me.

Deep emerald eyes shining through flowing blonde hair. She was wearing a mask with a cute sheep on it, so her lower face was not revealed, but anyone could see that this Constellation was that Constellation.

'The one who brought ten lambs'.

"Sorry, I have a cold. Cough."

It definitely doesn't sound like someone with a cold.

White wings fluttered behind the teacher's back.

I wondered what to call this teacher.

[The exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated!]

['List of characters' provides information in a format appropriate for the world view.]

Character: Teacher Sheep/Yang (The One Who Brought Ten Lambs)

Potential: Due to the difference in status, the potential of the character cannot be confirmed.

Core setting: The potential of the character cannot be confirmed due to the difference in status.

Description: Class Z's teacher. She is often scolded by the principal for being negligent in managing her children's grades. She likes to watch Internet broadcasts alone, and has the characteristic of flapping her wings when she is in a good mood.

She was quite famous during her time as an active hunter. She's scary when she's angry.

I looked closely at her fluttering wings and asked.

"Teacher Yang."

"Yes, Dokja."

Teacher Yang is looking at my face with sparkling eyes.

For some reason, I felt burdened by her gaze, so I asked her with my head down.

"Well... didn’t you call me?"

"Oh, that’s right."

Teacher Yang, shocked and surprised, smiled brightly and opened the drawer.

There was a test paper with a 0 mark in the drawer.

"You wrote a strange answer on the test yesterday. Why is that?"

Test papers fluttering before my eyes.

At a glance, you can see that the questions were intentionally checked with only the wrong answers selected.

[The 'initial settings' for that scenario are affected by how you cleared the previous scenario.]

I thought carefully about how I cleared the last scenario.

「"Kaaaaaaak!"」

「"Uh, why are you doing this—"」

「"My story! My story...!"」

Well, it certainly wasn't the normal method recommended by the scenario.

Still, isn't everyone satisfied in the end? That's why I became the representative of Zone 13.

"Are you going to rebel?"

Shit. Could it be that there is something like 'rebel' as a setting?

"Or do you just don’t want to graduate?"

I saw Teacher Yang smiling, as if somehow having fun.

[You are moving away from the core goal of the scenario.]

I answered hastily.

"I have to graduate."

"But why did you get all the answers wrong on purpose?"

"I don’t know. Could it be that Yoo Joonghyuk possessed me for a moment?"

At my words, Yoo Joonghyuk, who was looking at the wall and raising his hand, glared in this direction.

[You have satisfied the unique settings for that person.]

[The world view gives you 300 coins.]

Looking at Teacher Yang, smiling, "Ahaha", I think I roughly know what my settings are.

All I have to do is do it like Kim Dokja.

"It’s a funny joke. But if you keep joking like that, you won’t be able to graduate. What should I do?"

"Does this school not let you graduate just because you didn’t pass the test?"

"Did you know that points are awarded to each class based on the final exam score?"

I nodded for now.

Then Teacher Yang added:

"If this continues, class 2 will be 'unable to take the graduation exam' as they are below 500 points."

"That’s not possible. There’s a reason I have to graduate. Can’t I take the exam again?"

"Hmm. There is no such rule, so what?"

"You said you don’t have enough points, right? How can I increase those points?"

"There is a way."

Teacher Yang's eyes became sharp.

"That must be tricky?"

"I’ll do anything."

Teacher Yang's ears turned red as if she was thinking about what I said.

"Anything?"

---

After school, we all gathered together and picked up trash on campus.

"Come on, let’s clean up!"

Teacher Yang even took time off from work to help us volunteer on campus.

"Here too!"

"Yes."

"And there too!"

"Yes."

"Here too!"

This looks like the butt that Yoo Joonghyuk threw away after smoking earlier.

The culprit who threw away the trash was sitting on the steps of the school gate, looking at the sky and immersed in thought had an expression on his face that said he did not understand why he came into this worldview and was cleaning the campus.

"I feel like I’m 30 years younger Gegegegegeeng."

"Isn’t it fun to clean after a long time?"

On the other hand, my companions looked happy.

Killer King, who was picking up trash next to him, shook his head.

"After all, the club is a volunteer site."

"We’re not doing club activities."

"Kim Dokja, let me tell you something important."

"You don’t have to tell me."

"If you sweep like this, you can sweep up five pieces of trash at a time."

If you think about it, it wasn't strange that the group was happy.

Dansu ahjussi, Kyung Sein, and Killer King. This is because so far we have only cleared die-hard scenarios.

After fighting for our lives every time, a mission like 'picking up trash' suddenly appeared, so this was no different from just resting.

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' looks pleased.]

And maybe that's Teacher Yang's real intention.

But does Teacher Yang think she is hiding her identity well?

I looked at Teacher Yang as she glanced at me from afar for a moment, then bent down to pick up a piece of trash.

[You have earned 1 point.]

It's butts again.

Is Yoo Joonghyuk, this kid, actually a smoker? Why did he smoke so much?

"You look happy."

It was Cha Yerin who said those words.

"It’s fun."

"Then don’t you enjoy it?"

"What fun could there be in picking up butts?"

"For all that, you can see the happy look on your face ."

We had meaningless conversations and picked up trash together.

Of course, it was all a planned conversation.

To be precise, it is a decoy to hide the 'real conversation'.

—Yerin-ssi, did you recognize them?

Cha Yerin slightly nodded her head in my [group chat].

[The worldview pays attention to your actions.]

「Group chat was the only way for us to exchange opinions without the eyes of the world, but it could never be overused.」

So we decided to briefly exchange opinions in this way only when our conversations overlapped.

—Ye Hyunwoo is in class A. Goo Seonah is in class B. Ji Eunyu is in class C.

As expected, all the elite students are concentrated in the first class.

—Shin Yoosung, Jung Heewon, Lee Jihye, Kim Namwoon, and Lee Hyunsung are all in the first class.

Nice names to hear after a long time.

Most of the original characters also seemed to be placed in the front half.

—But the condition of the original characters was a bit strange.

—Their condition is strange?

—Even though they were all in different classes, they went to school with Goo Seonah.

The characters go around with Goo Seonah? Isn't it Yoo Joonghyuk?

It seems that Cha Yerin was looking for an answer in her own way. She added.

—Perhaps she has obtained the 'Delinquent story'.

Delinquent story. It doesn't seem like such a thing, but it certainly seemed like Goo Seonah had done something.

If she has been steadily collecting 'Kim Dokja fragments' all this time, and if there are fragments related to 'crowd control' among those fragments, it is not impossible.

It was never a good sign, but I answered in a refreshing voice.

—Still, the situation is not bad.

Normally, I would never have said this. The situation isn't that bad, but it's almost like a taboo in 'Omniscient Reader'.

But I wanted to say that this time. Perhaps Cha Yerin will understand what I mean.

—I see.

Maybe only she understands.

[Activate 'Character List'!]

Character: Lee Seyeon (Cha Yerin)

Potential: A+

Core Setting: Literature Girl (S)

Description: A literary girl who reads more books than anyone else in class 2, and remembers all the books she has read even once. There is a strange amount of information about the Academy.

We looked at the sunset-filled campus with wry smiles.

—I didn't know that this 'world view' would be turned into a scenario.

I also nodded.

—Class number identified by alphabet. The background setting is similar to 'Omniscient Reader'. Constellations and Demon Lords. And…

We simultaneously looked at the school name written on the campus.

'Philia Hunter Academy'.

There may be many 'academy settings' in the world, but there is only one academy with that name.

—I wonder if this is how Asuka Ren felt.

This school was the 'Hunter Academy' from the novel I had finished writing—『Infinite Prison Guard』.

In other words, this scenario was similar to the situation in 'Peace Land'.

Just as Kim Dokja received help from the original protagonist, Kyrgios, in Peace Land,

—Have you found the main character?

We just need to find the main character safely in this worldview.

「Ma Hyunsung, student of Class 2 of Philia Hunter Academy.」

The main character's name seems similar to Lee Hyunsung, but that's just a coincidence.

—Once you find that friend, this scenario is over.

Ma Hyunsung is a typical Yoo Joonghyuk type protagonist.

As long as I could get my hands on that talent, I had nothing to fear, whether the enemy in this scenario was the Chinese Zodiac or the Gourmet Association.

—That is…

However, Cha Yerin's expression was not good.

I asked just in case.

—Do you remember the main character’s name?

—Yes. But perhaps there is no Ma Hyunsung in this 'world'.

—Yes? Why? It's already time for him to transfer school…

For reference, Ma Hyunsung transferred to this school in the early third year. So Ma Hyunsung should have been a member of class 2 by now.

Cha Yerin, who hesitated for a moment, said.

—The author was asleep during the fifth scenario, so you probably don’t know.

I wondered what this was all about.

[The world view examines your movements.]

Our world view was slowly becoming suspicious of us, but we couldn't stop the conversation because the timing was right.

—What do you mean?

—Hunter Ma Hyunsung appeared as one of the disasters in the 'fifth scenario'.

—Huh?

I instinctively looked at the campus's entrance. Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been sitting on the landing a moment ago, had disappeared somewhere and was nowhere to be seen.

Cha Yerin said.

—Hunter Ma Hyunsung was killed by Yoo Joonghyuk in the fifth scenario.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

766 Episode 33 Ball (5)

My heart was beating loudly.

Ma Hyunsung, the protagonist of 『Infinite Prison Guard』.

「That 'Ma Hyunsung' appeared in the fifth scenario of the 41st Round.」

As if that wasn't enough, he fought with Yoo Joonghyuk.

At first glance, it may seem like a battle to determine the strongest protagonist, but the situation was not that simple.

—Are you really sure that it was 'Ma Hyunsung'?

—I'm sure.

Considering common sense, it was impossible for Ma Hyunsung to appear as a disaster in the 41st Round. Aside from the distortion of the world line, several conditions were necessary to become a 'disaster' in the fifth scenario.

Like the Lesser Dragon Igneel, they are a species of monster raised in paradise, or like the Disaster of Questions, they made a contract with the Management Bureau to avoid a violation of grave probability, or like the Disaster of Floods, they dedicated their existence to the scenario for a specific purpose.

Ma Hyunsung did not seem to be the first or second case.

So he's the third case.

Is there any reason for Ma Hyunsung to be subordinate of the Management Bureau? Unless his worldview is destroyed—

As I thought about that, I let out a faint groan.

Ah.

A few settings that came to mind later. Although it had become somewhat faded with age, the information about 'Infinite Prison Guard' still remained in my head.

「Ma Hyunsung's world was destroyed.」

Although it didn't go that far in the story, it was correct to see that Ma Hyunsung's world had come to an end in a general sense. This was true both internally and externally.

What does it mean?

「Infinite Prison Guard is a novel that I stopped serializing.」

If the act of 'stopping serialization' contributed to the end of a world, then his worldview had come to a halt in time series.

Because of me, not anyone else.

But I also feel a little unfair. It may be a bit strange, but『Infinite Prison Guard』was a story that could only be completed by 'stopping serialization'.

Anyway.

—There is no way Yoo Joonghyuk could kill Ma Hyunsung.

I don't know what kind of disaster Ma Hyunsung suffered. However, the Ma Hyunsung I remember was an absolute powerhouse in the worldview of『Infinite Prison Guard』.

This means that he was the strongest person in this world right before the serialization was stopped.

—But Yoo Joonghyuk killed him. I definitely saw it.

—Can you tell what kind of disaster Ma Hyunsung caused?

—A Disaster of Memory.

A Disaster of Memory?

As far as I know, there is no such disaster.

But the name is something the <Star Stream> decided on its own.

—It was a disaster that never appeared in the main story. To be honest, I thought I didn't know the strategy well, but Yoo Joonghyuk ran out on his own and fought back.

—And what?

—In less than five minutes, Ma Hyunsung admitted defeat. He mumbled something to himself... I'm not sure, but he seemed to have a carefree face.

A light-hearted face?

[The worldview is suspicious of your actions.]

Tsutsutsu, sparks bouncing.

I guess this is the end of the conversation.

It was time to move on.

"Have you seen where this bastard Yoo Joonghyuk went?"

---

[You have earned 1 point.]

[A total of 150 points have been earned so far.]

I just picked up trash and already earned 150 points.

She said that the final goal was 500 points, so at this rate, the goal was easily achieved.

"Dokja-ssi. Would you please bring Joonghyuk-ssi? I think I'll have to end my volunteer work soon."

"Yes, but where did he go?"

"Well, well, I saw him go that way earlier—"

I walked straight along in the direction that Teacher Yang pointed out.

1st floor, 2nd floor, 3rd floor... I went up the stairs, calling Yoo Joonghyuk's name.

It was a strange feeling. I can't believe I'm going to go to school. Probably the same goes for Yoo Joonghyuk. According to the settings, he never went to school properly.

When I thought about it that way, I felt like I knew where Yoo Joonghyuk was.

Yoo Joonghyuk was on the rooftop.

If you think about it, it was natural.

For a guy who is not used to school and doesn't have good relationships with friends, there is a fixed location for him to go to.

The unfortunate thing was that even the rooftop wasn't a place he would really like.

Because the rooftop is a place where you can see the sky very clearly.

Yoo Joonghyuk was looking up at the sky as always.

He seemed to be searching for his sponsor, and he seemed to be recalling distant memories. He seemed to be gazing at the stars in the night sky, or he seemed to be gazing at the scenery of a world that had already perished.

Perhaps because of his mood, Yoo Joonghyuk's appearance looked blurry.

What round is this guy currently living through?

Is it Round 0, Round 1, or some round I don't know? In some round that everyone has forgotten, is he walking alone through the memories of a destroyed world?

Suddenly, I remembered someone's large footprints left in the snowy field.

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

Yoo Joonghyuk slowly looked back. The guy was smoking a cigarette.

Was it blurry because of the cigarette smoke?

Judging from the fact that he was struggling to hold back his cough, it seemed that Yoo Joonghyuk was not used to smoking.

"Why are you glaring at me like that?"

"You’re staring at me too."

"I just have narrow eyes."

Even though my face has clearly changed to that of Kim Dokja, my squinted eyes cannot be corrected.

"Didn’t you hear Teacher Yang tell you not to smoke?"

"I would have said this wasn’t a cigarette."

We stood side by side in front of the rooftop railing.

When I think about it, I have never had an honest conversation with Yoo Joonghyuk from the 41st Round. This is because conversations with Yoo Joonghyuk were always filled with lies for survival.

But what about now?

Even now, does he still perceive me as a 'villain who must be killed if he fails'?

"If you just throw it away, we’ll have to pick it up again—"

Yoo Joonghyuk threw the butt down despite my warning. Cha Sungwoo, who was downstairs, was seen muttering something as he quickly scooped up the butt with a dustpan.

"Get 1 point."

It seemed like he was saying that.

Yoo Joonghyuk and I stood side by side and looked at the group picking up trash on campus, Teacher Yang with her white wings fluttering, and the lush forest beyond.

「Forest of Demons.」

Philia Hunter Academy is a school created to deal with the demons that come across the 'forest'. Many students lost their lives fighting against demons there and became food for the forest.

Even though the forest had a terrible history, it was beautiful from afar.

A forest filled with golden leaves that sucked the blood of humans and demons and bloomed with their stories.

I thought that the forest somehow resembled the <Star Stream>.

"What a beautiful sight."

"You seem to think tragedy is beautiful."

I was secretly impressed. After all, in any round, Yoo Joonghyuk is Yoo Joonghyuk

This must be Yoo Joonghyuk's first time visiting this worldview. Nevertheless, Yoo Joonghyuk recognized what kind of place that forest was at first sight.

"Isn’t a tragedy like a comedy when seen from afar?"

"Sounds like something stupid constellations would say."

"The same goes for humans. Sometimes there are things you can only see if you look with your eyes open."

Enduring tragedy as a tragedy would also be a meaningful way of life.

However, not all humans can be like Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Rather than that, why not give me one too?"

"Buy it yourself and smoke it."

"Sell me a cigarette."

Yoo Joonghyuk glared at me for a moment and then handed me a cigarette.

I looked down for a moment at the cigarette I received. I guessed why Yoo Joonghyuk smokes 'mana tobacco'.

The characteristic of the mana cigarette is 'accelerated recovery'.

An item that increases physical strength, mental strength, and magic power recovery rates at the cost of placing a burden on the user's soul.

Yoo Joonghyuk must have been smoking a lot of this tobacco in preparation for the next scenario.

I slowly inhaled the cigarette smoke and exhaled a long breath in Yoo Joonghyuk's direction.

[Exclusive skill 'Smoke Human Lv.3 Activates'.]

Acting man.

It was the ability of the reader—Kim Kyung-sik—that I absorbed.

The smoke rose just as I had intended, and soon covered Yoo Joonghyuk's entire head like a cloud.

"It looks good."

A strong magical response was felt throughout Yoo Joonghyuk's entire body, which was hidden by smoke

He looks like he's going to activate [Hundred Steps Godly Fists] at any moment and blow a hole in my stomach.

But I believe that Yoo Joonghyuk would not do that.

Because within the barrier of 'smoke',

—Yoo Joonghyuk. Did you get your memories back?

Yoo Joonghyuk would have checked the 'sentence' that only he could see.

[The worldview is paying attention to your actions.]

Because I had abused [Group Chat] so much in the past, the worldview was now starting to doubt my ability to communicate.

So this was the temporary solution I came up with.

「Acting Human. Using the skill to convey my intentions to Yoo Joonghyuk.」

"There is no need to live too hard. Sometimes you need to fill your head with hazy smoke. Just stay like that for a while."

At least on the outside, it would seem like a prank between close friends.

I hope so.

[The world view raises doubts about your actions.]

It was about 30 seconds later that Yoo Joonghyuk's [Transmission] was heard.

—I got it back to some extent.

As expected, Yoo Joonghyuk seemed to have regained a significant amount of his memories.

This probably means that he is slowly escaping from the side effects of 'Story Imprinting'.

—But you didn't ask about anything that happened. You probably have a lot of questions.

—I don't think you'll answer honestly.

—You don't know that. Now, if you have any questions, feel free to ask. Aren’t we colleagues now?

Yoo Joonghyuk had no answer when asked about being a colleague.

And after a while, this answer came back.

—I know you are not 'Cheon Inho'.

—You're so quick-witted.

—Is 'Kim Dokja' your real name?

—You don't need to know that. However, it’s okay if you call me that.

Yoo Joonghyuk's face was obscured by smoke, so it was impossible to tell what expression he was making.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was silent for a moment, asked.

—Where did 'Cheon Inho' go?

It seems that 41th round Yoo Joonghyuk also doesn't know where the real owner of my body has gone.

—I don’t know either. When I possessed this body, Cheon Inho was not there.

—There is no way he would have given up his body so obediently. There must have been a purpose.

—Are you familiar with Cheon Inho?

It was a question I had always wondered about.

What on earth was the relationship between Yoo Joonghyuk and Cheon Inho in 40th round?

In Anna Croft's memories, the two were enemies. They were also enemies of Bulbuldaecheon, who aimed their swords at each other and aimed at each other's necks.

—I do not know.

—For that matter, did you make any promises?

It seemed the same.

I remembered the day I first met Yoo Joonghyuk.

Oksu Station.

When I was still playing 'Cheon Inho', Yoo Joonghyuk said as soon as he saw me.

—I said it then. 'Don’t come visit me until the work I asked you to do is done.'

When we first met, Yoo Joonghyuk thought I was 'Cheon Inho', and he gave me orders.

To do what you are told to do.

—What exactly is the contract you and Cheon Inho made in the last round?

The contract shared between Yoo Joonghyuk and Cheon Inho in the 40th round. I felt like I could only find out the secret of this round if I knew the details of the contract.

—Yoo Joonghyuk?

As expected, Yoo Joonghyuk had no answer this time. I thought it might be possible. Yoo Joonghyuk's memories have not fully returned yet. And maybe some of his memories are gone forever.

—I don’t remember the exact details of the contract with Cheon Inho.

Is that so?

I nodded, trying hard to hide my disappointment. However.

—But I remember what the 'first' thing I asked Cheon Inho was.

Yoo Joonghyuk, enveloped in a cloud of smoke, was speaking.

—Rehabilitate the villains of the <Star Stream>, including the Ten Evils... I had ordered them to be made of people who would be helpful in the scenario.

I asked back with my mouth open in a daze.

—Are you serious?

—Yes.

When I thought about it, Cheon Inho in the 40th round was one of the Ten Evils, and a great man who could have been the same villain as his colleagues. So, from Yoo Joonghyuk’s perspective, it was not strange for him to give such an order.

The intention was probably to make this round run well by coaxing the top ten villains.

I sighed lightly and said.

—Then it's a pity. Unfortunately, I…

—You kept your promise.

—Yes?

I paused for a moment and then asked.

—What does that mean?

Yoo Joonghyuk's expression couldn't be seen clearly because it was obscured by smoke, but I could vaguely see where he was staring.

The direction he is looking is towards the bottom of the campus.

It was in the direction where my colleagues were.

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

767 Episode 33 Ball (6)

Soon, Yoo Joonghyuk came out of the smoke. His eyes were still focused on my colleagues.

Cha Sungwoo, Cha Yerin, Lee Dansu, and Kyung Sein.

I couldn't tell which of them he was looking at.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk spoke clearly.

He said, 'He kept his promise.'

What on earth does that mean?

Could it be that one of them was one of the Ten Evils, or an equivalent villain, in Yoo Joonghyuk's previous round?

If so.

Can we say that it was just a coincidence that I and the readers possessed 'villain' characters?

"Kim Dokja."

Yoo Joonghyuk's expression, who came out of the smoke, was strangely stiff.

Someone was opening the school gate and coming in.

「A slim body and a pitch-black cloak. A deeply pressed black hat and a black mask reminiscent of steampunk.」

The boy slowly raised his head and was looking at us.

I felt strange inside.

"This year’s graduates are terrible."

The boy who was clearly in front of the school gate was behind me the next moment.

The speed is such that even Yoo Joonghyuk can't react.

The moment when Yoo Joonghyuk, with his eyes wide open, reflexively tries to activate [Hundred Steps Godly Fists ].:

"Ah, you’re here!"

Teacher Yang flapped her wings and flew up to the rooftop. Teacher Yang took turns introducing us and the boy.

"Guys, say hello. This is 'Old School' from class 2, who came to help you with this graduation exam."

Old school?

That kid is a graduate of this school?

"This friend’s name is—"

"Get your mind straight."

The boy shot back in a cold voice and glanced at us with murderous eyes.

"When you go into that forest, it’s common to find yourself in a situation like just now. Next time I see you not be vigilant again—"

The boy glared at me with a cold gaze and warned me in a tone like Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Then I will kill you myself."

To be honest, when I first entered this worldview, I was optimistic about the situation.

It is not a different worldview, but the worldview of the novel I serialized.

Even though the difficulty level of the worldview was the worst, I thought it was worth a try. Because I did not enter this world alone.

Because there are readers and other characters.

For example,

"What? Get out."

Yes, Kim Namwoon can do that.

He's not a really smart guy, so it wouldn't be surprising if he didn't recognize me.

"Kim Namwoon, stop bullying the kids in inferior classes."

But Lee Jihye was there too.

"Namwoon. We are not a gang, but a student council."

Lee Hyunsung too.

"What’s wrong with your outfit? What’s wrong with your tie?"

It was a bit shocking to see that even Jung Heewon, the vice president of the student council, did not recognize me at all.

At first, I thought they couldn't recognize me because my face had changed, but that didn't seem to be the case.

"Excuse me."

"Yes"

"Oh, no. I guess I saw it wrong."

Shin Yoosung seemed to recognize me a little, but then her face turned red and she ran away.

I was wondering if they were suffering from a status abnormality, so I tried using [Character List].

['Character list' cannot be used for this person.]

Never before has such a message appeared to a 'character'. It was even impossible for such a message to appear to a person who I had already used [Character List] on.

That wasn't the end of the strange messages.

[Someone is viewing the 'character information' of the person in question.]

Is there someone other than me who can use [Character List]?

No, rather, could [List of Characters] be written this way?

「The information of the person being viewed by someone cannot be read.」

In the main story, two characters with [Character List] never faced each other.

Because Kim Dokja was a unique being.

But this time things were a little different. The reason was obvious.

"It’s Goo Senoah!"

A voice came from one end of the hallway. As I watched the noisy students split up like waves, I realized who the 'main character' chosen by this world view was.

"Student President Goo Seonah."

Talented, excellent grades, outstanding in literature and martial arts. The protagonist of Class A, who possessed all the so-called 'main character attributes', was walking.

The moment my eyes met hers, I understood the words of Dansu ahjussi and Kyung Sein.

「She looks like Kim Dokja.」

I felt like I finally knew what that meant. Indeed, her face subtly resembled mine.

[Story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' growls.]

If Kim Dokja had a daughter or younger sister, would she have a face similar to mine?

Every time she approached, the students became agitated.

I'm nervous. If this is really an 'academy setting', now is the time for something to happen.

「An incident where the excellent class A started a fight with the inferior class 2.」

However, as if to avoid such academic clichés, Goo Seonah quietly glared at me right in front of me and passed by.

However, she left a strange comment.

—It won’t work out the way you think.

I reached out for her arm as she passed by.

I know why you are against me, but I wanted to tell you that there is a misunderstanding. Now is not the time to fight among ourselves, and this is not a scenario to be wasted.

But.

"It’s difficult."

My hand was caught in Lee Hyunsung’s large grip.

An inexplicable feeling of disappointment suddenly rose up. But I didn't know what to say. It was unclear whether this feeling I was feeling right now was appropriate.

At that time, someone grabbed Lee Hyunsung by the collar.

"You idiot, are you sure that you don’t even recognize Kim Dokja?"

It was Killer King.

"That guy is Kim Dokja. The same Kim Dokja you were protecting. But Lee Hyunsung, how dare you—!"

"W-what are you doing?"

Lee Hyunsung, who was embarrassed, was grabbed by Killer King and shook helplessly.

"Kang Ilhoon-ssi."

Only after hearing what I said did Killer King let go of the hand that was holding Lee Hyunsung's collar. Lee Hyunsung looked at us with a puzzled expression and soon followed after Goo Seonah.

Killer King muttered as he watched Lee Hyunsung's back as he walked away.

"Don’t you feel unfair?"

"What do you mean?"

"They are your colleagues."

Colleague.

For some reason, the moment I heard those words, I felt like I was in a daze.

"Is there no way?"

"…"

"I heard from Yerin. It seems like this world was created by you."

I couldn't answer anything.

Because I don't have the 'Delusionist' attribute.

"I understand that the <Star Stream> has a system that notifies the original author with a citation when borrowing a world view."

I also had the same question as Killer King.

If this world was truly the 『Infinite Prison Guard』 that I know, I should have been notified before the scenario began.

Asuka Ren, the copyright holder of 'Peace Land', also received a similar email from tIs123.

But I didn't receive any message.

Why? Is it saying that it doesn't need to ask me for permission?

"And who is that guy again?"

When I raised my head at Killer King's words, I saw the shadow of a boy glaring at me from a dark place on the stairs.

"I don’t know either."

It was definitely the unidentified old school boy I saw the other day.

After that, the boy appeared near me every time and said the same thing.

—If you don’t come to your senses, I will kill you.

What's certain is that he doesn't seem like a person who would kill me.

---

We continued cleaning at Teacher Yang's request.

"Class Z might not be able to participate in the graduation exam?"

"I’m still cleaning—"

We collected and collected points. 200 points, 300 points, 400 points.

It would have been nice to receive another task with more points, but unfortunately, there were no tasks left.

"There was a reason why Teacher Yang had us clean."

This was because all other point assignments were completed in the 'honors class'.

"It’s actually a good situation, you know."

Cha Yerin would know.

「'Cleaning' was a task Ma Hyunsung performed every day until graduation.」

Even in the original work, the main character, Ma Hyunsung, performed a 'cleaning task' every time. That was because he had the trait of [compulsive cleaning], but there was another purpose as well.

[You are currently carrying out 'campus cleaning'.]

[While performing 'school cleaning', you may enter restricted areas of the school.]

'Closed sports warehouse' in the annex.

'Behind the teacher’s office' used for storing old teaching materials.

The 'secret library' in the school library.

The advantage of the cleaning assignment is that you can access the 'hidden places' of the school as a student.

The main character, Ma Hyunsung, performed this task every time and acquired hidden items, and the same was true for us.

"Oooh! Dokja-ssi! Look at this!"

The first place where an item was discovered was the 'Closed Sports Warehouse'.

SSS level item, 'Ancient Insect Toshi'.

It was an upwardly compatible item with the 'Hermit’s Cloak' with its 「Camouflage」 story.

"I’ll give this to you."

A concealment item that can be used by manipulating insects and using the power of the King Chungjong, is suitable for use by Dansu ahjussi with low physical strength.

Next, there was an item found 'behind the teacher’s office'.

SSS level item, 'Tin Armor'.

The tin armor was worn over CPR training material.

Honestly, I had no idea this was here. This is because this item is one that even 'Ma Hyunsung', the main character in the main story, could not obtain.

「Evolution material for 'Steel Lumberjack Armor'.」

This item could later be upgraded to 'Steel Lumberjack Armor', one of the relics of the Master of Steel, by purchasing materials.

"Sein-ssi should use this."

"Is that really okay?"

"It's possible."

"Aaaah!"

Lastly, in the 'Secret Library', I found a half-glove with a small jewel embedded in it.

'Hyeoloksu' of Hyeolgwiin, a retired master of the first martial arts group.

Among the group, there are two people who are good at martial arts .

However, since Yoo Joonghyuk did not show much interest, the owner of the item naturally became Cha Yerin, who fights based on [Daejeon fighting].

"Thank you."

Cha Yerin smiled faintly, as if she liked the newly acquired gloves.

"But Dokja-ssi, you didn’t get anything…"

"I’m fine."

The items I have obtained so far are sufficient.

The only thing I lack right now is magical ability.

Fortunately, I was making up for the lack of magical power by inhaling the 'mana tobacco' that Yoo Joonghyuk had left on the rooftop after school.

As I watched the group grow, I was reminded of Ma Hyunsung, the main character in 『Infinite Prison Guard』.

Perhaps Ma Hyunsung in the story felt the same way as me.

「'Infinite Prison Guard' is the story of the main character, Ma Hyunsung, gathering his colleagues to subdue the 'Forest of Demons.'」

In the story, Ma Hyunsung finds the special skills of the students in class 2, and strengthens their power by matching items and equipment together. As a result, Class 2 sheds its stigma of being an inferior class and proudly participates in the 'graduation exam' along with the honors class.

「The graduation exam involves hunting the 'target demon' in the 'Forest of Demons'.」

However, the story becomes somewhat worse from that point on.

「During the graduation exam, Ma Hyunsung loses his colleagues.」

In that fight, Ma Hyunsung loses all his companions, but after awakening, he succeeds in subduing the great demons.

And Ma Hyunsung witnesses the truth of this world at the end of the forest.

[You have reached the world ending.]

It turns out that this world he fought for, risking his life, was an elaborately created 'virtual reality'.

[Do you want to 'replay' the world?]

It turns out that Ma Hyunsung's world was destroyed a long time ago, and he was the last surviving human being.

He was reliving the same memory over and over again through his awakening ability, [Save].

Although he knows that the ending of the save file is fixed, he forgets that fact and repeats the world being destroyed infinitely each time.

"Thanks to you, the school is tidy. Good job, friends."

We looked at the cleaned campus with Teacher Yang.

Ma Hyunsung, who pressed the 'replay' button, must have cleaned this campus several times. Even though he knew that the campus would become dirty again, he would have continued to clean up the trash.

For those he remembers, for those who leave cigarettes on this campus and leave footprints.

「"Cleaning has to be done every day."」

Even though he knew the identity of the world, Ma Hyunsung did not destroy the save file.

Rather, in order to remember this destruction, he repeats this world over and over again for an infinite amount of time.

And is it really a coincidence that the 'Recycling Center' chose this 'Infinite Prison Guard' out of many worldviews?

Teacher Yang spoke to us with a satisfied smile.

"Now that you have reached all 500 points, there is now the final step."

"Is there anything else left?"

"Well, you need to get approval for the exam... Dokja, can you follow me for a moment? Only the principal can give approval for the graduation test."

I nodded and followed after Teacher Yang.

"Are you going to the principal’s office?"

"Yes."

We walked down the cleaned hallway together. When we walked around looking at the playground we cleaned up together, we walked a little slowly. The school playground covered with bright green grass looked like a field of heaven.

"Teacher."

Teacher Yang glanced behind me at my question.

"How did you become a teacher?"

"Well, it’s a secret."

"Do you get paid a lot if you become a teacher?"

Teacher Yang laughed lightly at my words.

"It’s unpaid."

"Yes? Then why are you doing it?"

"Dokja."

"Yes?"

Teacher Yang, who was walking ahead, stopped. I stopped next to Teacher Yang.

"Once you get to the principal’s office, the graduation exams will really start. Then you won’t be able to stop. I mean—"

Teacher Yang continued speaking after a moment.

"You don’t have to graduate."

"Then I have to continue to be a student."

"If you are a student, your teacher can protect you."

Teacher Yang's eyes moved slowly. I also turned my head to follow her gaze.

"It’s okay to make mistakes here. Even if you throw away trash or break the rules, you just have to get punished like cleaning the school grounds."

We looked out the window together. A lush forest stretched beyond the playground we cleaned.

Ma Hyunsung said.

「The forest hides the truth.」

Like Ma Hyunsung, I too will go beyond that forest.

And maybe I'll discover a truth I don't want.

"I have to graduate. That’s why I came to school."

"You don’t have to."

"If I don’t graduate."

I saw Teacher Yang.

Actually I know.

Why were we able to spend our time cleaning leisurely?

Why was the 'graduation exam', which was supposed to start right away, delayed?

In this harsh worldview, why has 'nothing happened' to us yet?

"It’s hard to be a teacher."

The star who loved Kim Dokja more than anyone else in 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.

The teacher's eyes widened as if she was looking at me.

I left the teacher behind and started walking alone. A few steps away was the door to the teacher's office.

Standing in front of the door, I slowly looked back at her.

"Thank you, Uriel."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

768 Episode 33 Ball (7)

---

「“Uriel. What on earth were you thinking when you brought that 'sheep'?"」

Archangel Uriel still remembers the events of that day.

「"Did you know that she didn't know what kind of sheep the scribe asked her to bring him is?"」

The voices of angels whispering as they looked at the sheep she was dragging.

Uriel frowned at them and thought.

Knowing what kind of 'sheep' that 'sheep' is. While you're worrying about things like that, it's better to pick off one more devil's head.

「"Anyway, I brought ten of them?"」

Her calling is to hunt down demons and kill the demon king. Archangel Uriel was born only for this.

Countless numbers of demons died under her swordplay.

Devil. Ephedra. drank.

No matter what stars had the letter 'Ma' attached to them, they could not escape her blade. Hundreds or even thousands of years for the lights of constellations belonging to the 'absolute evil' go out.

As the unfathomable time of the month passed, the universe she belonged to gradually became darker.

「"Why are you killing the demon kings?"」

When was the last time she was asked that question? Was it when she heard that a new demon king had been launched on the border?

「"I received orders."」

「"If it's an order, is it to kill anyone?"」

Like that , Uriel also killed the Demon King's lover. Because that was also the order she received.

「"Daechonsai. You are like a demon king."」

The Demon King touched his lover who had lost her life and cursed silently.

「"Archangel who loves nothing. Someday, you too will love something. When that time comes, the fire you have caused will judge you."」

「"Whatever."」

Uriel laughed at those words and cut off the Demon King's head.

'Demon-like judge of fire'.

The name of hers, feared by archangels and by absolute evil, was thus determined.

As the saying goes, she killed the demon kings. They were cut to death, stabbed to death, and beheaded. How many demon kings did she kill like that?

「"Uriel. Stop 'hunting demons'."」

One day, her mission was interrupted. This was because too many demon kings died.

「"An armistice agreement has been concluded."」

When she first heard about the agreement, Uriel thought that the Scribe was making a fuss about her again.

But as a year, ten years, and even half a century passed without the war recurring, Uriel realized something was strange.

「"Wait a minute. This is really a truce?"」

「"Uriel. I think I said that fifty years ago."」

「"No, really, really?"」

「"It's really real."」

「"Then can’t we kill the demon kings now?"」

「"It's not possible."」

Uriel was dumbfounded.

She is a being born to defeat all demon kings.

She didn't run so far to find this vague peace or to face this kind of ending.

「"No. I will keep killing, I will kill everyone!"」

In the end, after being bound and dragged into Jophiel's [Bound for Good and Evil], Uriel wrote a memorandum.

「"I swear in the name of the Archangel that from now on I will never touch the Demon Kings without an order from the Scribe...■. So what do you want me to do now? If I can't even kill the Demon—"」

「"Why do you have to kill?"」

「"Then?"」

「"You can at least take care of the sheep."」

At first she thought it was a joke.

「"Sheep? What sheep?"」

Uriel was assigned to Zone 8 of the Garden of Eden—'Sheep Pasture'.

「"No, really?"」

「"It's true. Don't ask me again in after 50 years this time."」

How on earth did this happen?

Why did the archangel, who had been fighting demons until the end of the war, become a mere shepherd?

Just then, a sheep lunged towards her.

Uriel reflexively moved her sword and struck the sheep's head. As the fainted sheep fell down, a low-ranking angel who witnessed the scene came running screaming.

「"W-Wh-Uriel-nim! What on earth are you doing?!"」

「"This guy rushed in first."」

「"it rushed in because it’s happy to meet you!"」

Uriel asked back in an annoyed voice, as if she didn't know anything about that.

「"But who are you?"」

「"Didn’t you hear anything from the Scribe ?"」

That was a low-level shepherd angel whose name she can't even remember anymore.

「"For me… please just call me Teacher Yang".」

It was her first meeting with 'Teacher Yang'.

[NOTE 1]

Originally, no sheep lived in the Garden of Eden. This is because the 'sheep' in <Eden> was only a metaphor until Uriel brought the sheep in question.

「"It is a descendant of those sheep?"」

But that metaphor has now become real.

「"Yes."」

「"Don’t be kidding. I brought in 10 sheep."」

「"How many years do you think it’s been since then?"」

Uriel looked at the sheep running through the garden with blank eyes.

One, two, three, four.

The number of sheep is so large that even if you fall asleep, you won't notice.

She suddenly came to her senses and asked.

「"What about the children I brought?"」

「"Uriel-sama. I'll say it again, how many years do you think has passed..."」

She said the sheep she brought in were already dead. A long time ago.

Before she knew it, they had lived out their own lives and died. But they also gave birth to many children.

So the number of sheep in the Garden of Eden, which was only ten, became twenty, thirty, and over a hundred. And now.

「"Did you really not know? Our sheep are quite famous."」

The amount has become so large that they even appear as helpers in people's dreams.

「"I recently gave one to the goddess Artemis who came to visit."」

It is said that sometimes lambs are distributed to gods from other nebulae.

Uriel, who had been listening to Teacher Yang's boast with one ear, asked.

「"How many banches are like this?"」

「"There are 72 in total."」

Uriel imagined sheep jumping around over 72 gardens. But it didn't work out.

「"It's all thanks to Uriel."」

「"What?"」

「"This is the peace we gained thanks to Uriel defeating the Demon Kings."」

The sheep, who had fainted after being hit on the head earlier, was seen waking up again. The sheep that had been shaking their heads staggered towards Uriel again.

Teacher Yang bent down and stroked the sheep’s head. The sheep looked up at Uriel with a dumb expression and started eating the grass on the floor again.

Uriel slowly sat down on the floor while looking at the sheep.

It was definitely her first time seeing this sheep. But when she looked closely, it seemed like he was a descendant of the guy she once brought in.

「"I see."」

She doesn't know what significance there was to the time she lived.

Just counting the endless sheep, Uriel acknowledged that she was 'temporarily' relieved of her duties after half a century.

But that was the problem.

What should an archangel who has lived by picking off demon kings' heads for thousands of years do now?

She can spend a day or two watching and counting sheep, but she can't just be a shepherd forever—

「"Hmm?"」

Uriel found Teacher Yang watching a video on a portable device next to her.

「"You. What is that?"」

「"Give it back too!"」

「"What are you looking at with this?"」

「"Hey, it’s a sheep."」

She found out later that Teacher Yang was addicted to 'broadcasting'.

「"That... is a sock in a metaphorical sense."」

Uriel narrowed her eyes and glared at Teacher Yang's small mobile device.

A video was playing inside the device.

「"Calm down, Yoo Sangah."」

And soon, for the first time, Uriel understands the meaning of 'sheep' mentioned by Metatron.

「"Think of it this way. You are now in the game."」

---

Now it was all a story of the distant past. Even though that much time had not passed, Uriel often felt somewhat distant when she looked back on that time.

「"Uriel."」

A lot happened after that.

The Holy Demon War broke out again and she went to the battlefield again.

<Eden> was destroyed.

Her scribes and other archangels died, and so did all the archangels who laughed at her when she brought her sheep.

「"What about the sheep?"」

Teacher Yang said.

「"Today was the day I was supposed to shave their wool…"」

A low-level angel who died without leaving behind any stories, leaving behind those foolish last words.

Uriel still didn't know his name.

She was left alone in <Eden>, a small garden where all scenarios had ended and there was not a single sheep left.

Sometimes she would go down to earth and interact with the incarnations, sometimes she would meet Gabriel, and she would dance or sing when she was in the mood, but most of the time she was in this garden.

In this garden she slept, and occasionally she ate something.

And she saw a story.

「"Uriel, you know. This is just such a story."」

She watched and watched one star die.

The only story she kept from her ruined world.

The main character of that story is no longer in this world. No one knows where he went.

Even though she knew that fact — perhaps because she knew that fact — Uriel continued to enjoy the story without doing anything.

And sometimes she thought about sheep.

She dreamed that her boy, her sheep, was living somewhere unknown to her.

In that world, he will meet new colleagues, a man, and experience a new history.

He may have started another group without her knowledge.

[It’s been a while. Eden's 'election'.]

For a moment, Uriel thought she had heard wrong. Is it a dream?

[This. Have you still been reading this story?]

No matter how much she thought about it, he was a being who could not appear here. Because in her memories, he found his ■■ and disappeared.

No, she doesn't know if he's really dead.

She knew nothing about his final moments in ■■.

In fact, she wasn't really interested.

[You still like this story. You are also very consistent.]

Anyway, he spoke to her in his familiar tone of voice.

[But if you've seen this, isn't it time to start wondering about the next episode?]

Next episode.

[There is a place where you can see the next story.]

Maybe this is an illusion. Maybe she's hearing hallucinations because she's been watching one story for too long. Nevertheless, Uriel wanted to believe his words.

[Just keep in mind. You can only watch the story from there. There can be no intervention, no interference whatsoever.]

Even if it's a fantasy, it's okay. If only she could see that star once again.

[Ah, finally, a new modifier is needed to enter there, because it is a place with some unusual rules.]

The owner of the voice looked at the dreamscape and shook his head.

[Hmm, there are a lot of sheep in your dreams. It just worked out well. To enter there, 'animal' must be included in the modifier.]

And that was the whole story of how Uriel came to this 'scenario'.

[Your temporary modifier is 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs'.]

[You are performing the 'role' of the scenario.]

[Your role is 'Teacher Yang'.]

[You can never intervene in the development of the scenario.]

Uriel was grateful for her story.

She said she was very fortunate to have brought ten lambs to Eden at that time.

She was fortunate to meet Teacher Yang.

She was very fortunate that she was the archangel of Eden, the Demon-like Judge of Fire.

"Thank you, Uriel."

The door to the teacher's office was closing.

Uriel staggered towards the closing door.

"Dok…"

Sparks fluttering lightly.

Even though it was a name allowed in this worldview, there were signs of a fallout.

Perhaps the world view had noticed. The name she just called wasn't just a 'role' that existed in this world.

[The worldview warns you.]

It's the story she loves most.

Uriel shouted that name with all her might.

The door didn't open.

---

The door to the teacher's office closed, and the voice of the archangel I knew echoed beyond the door.

My heart was beating loudly.

As expected, 'Teacher Yang' was Uriel.

To be exact, it is not the 'Uriel' of this world line, but the Uriel from the 3rd round that I remember.

The 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' who loved Kim Dokja’s story.

One time I wanted to call her name.

Even if I couldn't become the real Kim Dokja she was looking for, I wanted to repay her for her story. Even if in return she will suffer the punishment of this worldview.

I closed my eyes tightly, waiting for the possible aftereffects to strike from thin air.

But no matter how long I waited, the aftermath did not come.

[Like that.]

Instead, someone's deep voice was heard.

[It is against the rules to call that 'name' here.]

The principal's office is pitch black.

"I think what you just said was against the rules."

[Oh, that’s right.]

Light slowly turned on in the principal's office, and the principal's face appeared.

[This 'principal’s office' is an exception.]

The 'Recycling Center Director' was sitting there.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: yang = sheep in korean

769 Episode 33 Ball (8)

---

In 'Ways of Survival', the 'Recycling Center Director' changes depending on the round.

The head of a small and medium-sized nebula like <Tamra> was in charge of the Recycling Center, and the renegade Abyssal Black Flame Dragon once turned the Recycling Center into his playground, and Reinheit, the owner of the Ten Evils-Paradise, who awakened as the 'Demon King', opened the Recycling Center as 'double'. There was also a time when it was used as a 'first paradise'.

However, the 'Recycling Center Director' of this 41st Round was none of them.

I did not feel the spirit of a small or medium nebula leader, the playfulness of a black flame dragon, or the madness of Reinheit.

All I can feel is a neat and calm atmosphere. It felt exactly like the principal of 'Philia Hunter Academy' I had imagined.

"You are the head of the Recycling Center—"

A spark of probability pressed through my whole body along with the sound of "tsutsutsu". It was my last act of dignity not to scream.

[Uh huh, such remarks are prohibited here.]

"Wasn’t it okay in the principal’s office?"

[I’m the only one who’s okay with that.]

It certainly seems like that. Because there was no sense of 'world view' around the principal.

"With your authority, principal, please make it okay for me for a moment."

[That's difficult, because you speak too well. For now, just stick to your role.]

"I’m good at speaking?"

[I only hear what I want to hear. Is there anyone who doesn't know about your cunning tongue?]

I thought for a moment whether the joke was about 'me' in this worldview, or about Kim Dokja from the <Star Stream>.

[What brought you here today?]

"Well, that’s it."

[The graduation exam date is slowly approaching. Is that perhaps why you came?]

You are kind enough to take care of my business first. However, I had no intention of performing my 'role' so obediently.

"I just came here to discuss my concerns."

[Consultation for concerns?]

"If you were a benevolent principal, you would listen to your students’ concerns, right?"

The principal looked at me with narrowed eyes. It seemed like he was watching my plans.

[Good. Try it.]

"I’ve been worried about my career path lately."

[Weren’t you an aspiring member of the 'swordsman club'?]

I guess that was the original setting.

But I have no intention of going as planned.

"Recently, I’m more interested in 'records' than knives."

[Records?]

"Yes. Actually, I—"

As I said those words, I looked up somewhere in the sky. I was curious as to whether this statement would offend the world view or not.

"I’ve been writing some novels lately."

[The world view-only attribute 'Reader (S)' is activated.]

[Your actions gain probability through the effect of 'Reader (S)'.]

I knew it.

Since my name is Kim Dokja, how can I not have this characteristic?

[My world view is confused by your speech.]

The principal seemed somewhat surprised, as if he had never thought I would use the world view in this way.

[It’s a novel. Hmm, I guess I'll have to make some changes to your life record first.]

"Yeah, well. You can talk about that later, but let’s talk about the novel I’m writing. It’s quite interesting."

[Do you really have to tell me that? I'm the principal?]

"Is there a law against talking about novels to the principal?"

[I think it would be better to consult with a teacher who majors in the subject.]

"It looks like you forgot the settings. There is no Korean language teacher at our school."

[There are no Korean teachers, but there are teachers who like novels. For example, Teacher Yang—]

"Teacher Yang said that there is no one who has read as many 'novels' as the principal. From old stories to recently popular stories. They say you are an expert in all genres."

[The worldview feels strongly disturbed by your utterance.]

[The world view cannot interpret your utterance.]

Light sparks began to fly in the air.

The principal stared at me for a moment, hesitated, and then answered.

[I do like reading. So?]

"I'm stuck in the development of the novel I was writing, so I'd like to ask for some advice."

[Didn't you say it was a career issue earlier...]

"It's a novel career issue."

[…What is the novel about?]

"It's a novel called 'Infinite Prison Guard'."

[It's a title that has a high probability of being uninteresting.]

"To put it briefly, it is a story about the main character attending 'Philia Hunter Academy' and fighting against demons."

[Oh, that's a familiar school name.]

"Anyway, the main character of the novel is Kim Dokja."

[Isn't that your name?]

"It's just the main character's name and it has nothing to do with me. What kind of crazy writer would write a main character under his own name?"

[So what does it mean that the development has been blocked?]

"Suddenly the characters started moving without my intention."

[Ho, that's a writer's concern.]

"It's not a metaphor, it's real. In particular, 'Teacher Yang' is very different from the 'Teacher Yang' I set."

[The worldview feels strongly disturbed by your speech!]

The probability aftereffects have become more serious than before. The principal's expression hardened as the aftermath seemed to pressurize the entire principal's office.

"Do I really have to say that it looks like someone else has possessed her…?"

[The worldview cannot interpret your utterance!]

[The probability of this worldview are starting to explode!]

"The principal even brought up a possibility that didn’t exist in the story—"

Just as the storm that rose up in an instant was about to cover the entire principal's office, a powerful explosion exploded from the principal's entire body.

For a moment, the surrounding probability faded away with a dull sound. The worldview that was watching me was moving away.

The 'principal’s office' he built withstood the probability of the 'worldview'.

[The 'Principal's Office' area is temporarily outside the control of the universe.]

The principal, whose complexion was somewhat paler than before, sighed.

[I really can't beat you.]

"Can I tell you my real concern now?"

[Do whatever you want. Isn’t that why you did this?]

As I looked at the principal shaking his head, I remembered the description I wrote a long time ago.

「A middle-aged man with gray hair waved his hand. A pink Hawaiian shirt with a pineapple on it and ripped jeans.」

Although I only remembered his appearance through description, I was convinced the moment I saw him.

"Are you the 'Mass Production Manufacturer'?"

Then the Mass Production Manufacturer smiled brightly. With the exact expression that only existed in my head.

[Maybe so, maybe not.]

"Yes and no."

I nodded and continued speaking.

"You are the 'Mass Production Manufacturer' from the 1,864th world line and the 'Recycling Center Director' from the 41st world line."

The Mass Production Manufacturer seemed a little surprised and did not respond.

"Have other Constellations been possessed into this world like you? How many people have crossed over?"

[…]

"What is your purpose? Why are you suddenly intervening in this world line?"

Along with the question, I thought of the 'existences from other world lines' I had encountered so far.

Asmodeus owns the 'theater' where the little Kim Dokjas reside.

Shin Yoosung from <Kim Dokja Company>, who possessed Shin Yoosung.

Cheon Inho in the 40th Round was strangely strong.

Yoo Sangah and Lee Gilyoung appeared as Constellations.

Even Uriel became 'Teacher Yang'.

"What are you planning in this 41st Round? If this continues and the probability of the world line becomes distorted—"

[The probability has already been distorted. Not only this world line, but the probability of the entire universe.]

As he slowly pulled back the curtains by the window, the scenery of the 'Forest of Demons' came into view.

[At the very moment you were born.]

A tone of voice that stimulates all kinds of sinister imagination.

I asked back reflexively.

"What does that mean?"

Just by exchanging a few words, the spark area was growing again.

The Mass Produced Manufacturer said, blinking lazily.

[You probably have a lot of questions. But I only intend to answer three questions.]

As I watched the sparks encroaching on the bottom of the room once again, I chose questions over and over again in my mind.

And then I opened my mouth.

"Why did you become the 'Recycling Center Director'?"

[You can only ask three questions. Do you really want to ask that?]

Of course, there were many other things I wanted to ask:

Why did the Constellations gather for this 41st Round?

Are you aware of the existence of 'Representative Kim Dokja'?

What is Asmodeus' purpose?

How can I see the end of this world?

Where is the 'Demon King of Salvation'?

But some questions would be resolved in time, some I would have to figure it out on my own, and some I wasn't sure I would ever get an answer to.

"If I choose an answer that is easy for you, shouldn’t you spend less on probability? Please answer. Why did you become 'Director of the Recycling Center'?"

So the first question I chose was this.

[You really haven’t changed.]

The mass-produced manufacturer laughed slightly.

As if I was right, the progress of the Probability Sparks encroaching on the room slowed slightly.

[You probably know that I like old tales.]

I nodded.

[Among them, there is one tale I particularly like. A story about a man.]

It was a story I also knew well.

A story that started in the subway and ended in the subway. The story of a star who sacrifices himself to protect the world of his loved ones.

It was the story of a man who loved stories so much that he became eternity within them.

[It is a story called 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.]

I took a silent breath. I had no idea that that title would come out of the mouth of the mass-produced manufacturer.

I bit my lip and asked again.

"Is bringing Uriel related to that story?"

Now that I think about it, that was the second question.

The Mass Produced Manufacturer shrugged his shoulders and answered.

[I just suggested it. It is by her will that she came.]

"Uriel is not a tool in the scenario."

[No one should be a tool for the scenario. These are truly pretty and fleeting words.]

"…"

[As you probably already know, we are merely actors playing our respective roles in the vast Star Stream. The only thing that flows is the story. The Scribe of Eden understood his role better than anyone else. That's why I came here to protect you.]

I couldn't say anything.

[You too can choose like her. The first option is to do nothing.]

You don't have to do anything.

This is what Uriel also said.

[You can stay at this school and delay graduation. You will have a wonderful time as a student with your peers. Participating in club activities, joining the student council, studying for exams, and eating lunch.]

"That can’t be the ending."

[Can you really say that’s the case?]

"Not everything that looks like a road can be a road."

A road that is not a road.

That was advice that the Mass Production Manufacturer once left to Kim Dokja.

「Please choose your path carefully. Sometimes what seems like a road may not be a road.」

The mass-produced manufacturer smiled brightly, as if recalling memories of that time.

[Is that so? In the past, I used to say things like that.]

As before, he took out a cigarette from his chest and lit it. There was an unknown longing buried in the hazy smoke.

[Now I think 'a road that is not a road' is also not a bad thing.]

Why did he change his mind?

I remembered the '■■' of the mass production type manufacturer. Clearly, he had reached his own conclusion then.

[This is because I thought that not every story necessarily needs an ending.]

If for a moment I felt like his eyes were worried about me, was it my delusion?

[At least you are safe if you stay at this school. The same goes for your colleagues. If only you could fool yourself.]

"…"

[Did you forget? The protagonist of 『Infinite Prison Guard』 also made a similar choice.]

I thought of Ma Hyunsung, who repeated the world forever to protect a single save file.

[Either clear this scenario, or stay in this scenario… In the end, destruction will come to you. The end of this world is certain. It's just a difference in speed. You can make this your home. As we face a leisurely and peaceful destruction.]

"Like Reinheit in Paradise?"

[Yes, like Reinheit in Paradise.]

"You just said that was your first option."

[That's right.]

"From now on, please tell me about the third option first. I will definitely choose that option."

The Mass Produced Manufacturer laughed silently and looked out the window. The setting sun beyond the forest was reflected in his eyes, which were as distant as the night sky.

His voice, tinged with sunset, was strangely lonely.

[Do you know why the stars liked Kim Dokja's story?]

"I do not know."

[It's because the choices Kim Dokja makes give us expectations.]

My face and Kim Dokja's face were shining through the window covered in sunset. We have always chosen something with this face.

"It wasn't a choice made to get attention from the stars."

[Maybe so. Anyway, Kim Dokja showed the outcome he sought with his shameless attitude.]

"..."

[At that moment, even though all the stars were looking at different scenery, they belonged to a single story. That was a really great thing.]

I thought of Kim Dokja's soul, which was split into tens or hundreds of thousands of pieces and scattered.

I too was one of them.

[But then Kim Dokja disappeared and something went awry. Now, 'one dream' no longer exists in this universe.]

The Mass Produced Manufacturer slowly turned his head and looked at me. An unknown longing flickered in his deeply sunken eyes.

For a moment, I felt like I knew why he was here. I felt like I knew why he brought Uriel and why he and all the readers took refuge here.

[This time, please don’t end that dream arbitrarily.]

The mass production type manufacturer.

He is a star who loves the oldest tale in this world.

Using all his coins, the Constellation recreated the ■■ he dreamed of in the story of 'Kim Dokja'.

[Just like your brother did.]

He wants the 'one and only Kim Dokja' to be revived once again.

Tsutsutsutsu.

The pressure on the principal's office was slowly growing stronger. There was no time anymore.

It was time to ask the last question.

"Where is the Demon King of Salvation?"

He glanced out the window once again.

[He is a body consecrated to the scenario. You can never meet the way you want.]

"Then—"

Tsutsutsu, a sound followed by a storm enveloped the entire principal's office.

[The world view is staring at the 'principal’s office'.]

As the world's rules fell into place, I once again became a part of 'Philia Hunter Academy'.

The being who had previously been the 'mass production type producer' was looking at me.

[You have earned all the points.]

He is the principal of this school.

And I was his student.

[Are you going to take the graduation exam?]

Beyond the window, in the forest of demons, a probability afterstorm was rumbling. Students who realized that the forest's behavior was strange were seen leaving the dormitory one by one.

Among them were my colleagues.

Someone had a solemn look in their eyes, and someone was holding a weapon with a nervous look.

Looking down from up high, they all really looked like actors in a play.

"You already know my answer, don’t you?"

The principal nodded.

[Your brother is waiting for you.]

Along with the principal's words, an explosion was heard from afar.

[You have earned all the points required for the graduation exam.]

[The principal has approved your graduation exam.]

['Graduation exam' begins.]

The forest was crying. The ground trembled and a huge number of demons were seen running across the border of the forest.

[The energy of great demons stirs in the 'Forest of Demons'.]

Moans and screams heard from everywhere. A message was heard in the air along with the sound of weapons exploding.

[The Great Demon, the '73rd Demon King' has descended!]

My brother was calling me.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

770 Episode 34 Sibling (1)

---

When I was young, I was an only child and begged my parents to give me a younger sibling.

Every time that happened, my parents would laugh or make a sad face as if they were in trouble, or they would say with a half-joking face, "Actually, you had a hidden older brother."

「"Where is my brother?"」

「"Your brother became a star."」

Looking back now, I wonder if that was some kind of metaphor.

My father added this with a somewhat solemn expression.

「"Hakhyun, you don't have to share the same blood to be family. There's no need to attach too much meaning to blood. That's also an illusion."」

As expected, looking back, he was just saying that raising me alone would be difficult, but there was no way my young self could have understood that.

「"What kind of history we are connected to is more important. That alone is enough to make us a family."」

My father’s words sounded like a famous line from a boy’s cartoon. So, like an extra in a shonen's cartoon, I said, "Oh!"

And now, more than a dozen years later, I was once again thinking about my father’s famous line.

"Dokja-ssi!"

Even though I was called not by my name but by my brother's name, I felt strongly overwhelmed for a moment.

"Everyone stand back!"

The demons that had come were biting the students in a mess.

My colleagues were at the center of it all.

"Sein-ssi! Dansu ahjussi! This way! Avoid this way! Ilhoon-ssi! Seyeon-ssi!”

Killer King and Cha Yerin heard my voice and immediately joined the group.

"Kim Dokja, why did the exam suddenly start?"

"When did you tell me it started? Please follow me!"

There were over a hundred demons that flooded the entrance of the forest.

If you deal with them right away, you will be eaten without leaving a single bone behind.

"Aaaahhh!"

"Run! Run!"

Not only were the numbers large, but the rank of demons was also formidable.

At least grade 5.

Students who had lost limbs were running away from the feast of monsters that looked as strong as Viscount Demons.

[You can take shelter inside the 'school'.]

I saw scared incarnations running into the school. They were the ones who gave up on the scenario due to the pressure of the demon species.

[If you evacuate into the 'school', you will automatically be eliminated from the 'Graduation Exam'.]

At the school, 'teachers' including Uriel, Waryong, and the Mass Production Type Producer are waiting.

Perhaps they will protect the students who ran away.

I could see Uriel watching from afar. It seemed like she wanted to come this way right away. But there is something that holds her back, and she will not be able to defy it.

I looked back at my companions.

"Let’s go into the forest."

Normally, there would have been a sound of panic, but none of the group members made a sound of pain.

Rather, they nodded as if they had been waiting.

Suddenly, an old memory came to mind.

Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi were whining because they couldn't catch a single groundhog, and Cha Yerin and Killer King were having a hard time fighting Guardians of the Darkness.

Boom!

The fist swung by Kyung Sein crushed the head of the grade 5 demon species that was charging at her.

Now that the restrictions on skill use had been lifted, the party members were running wild and beating up the demons to their heart's content.

From afar, Kyung Sein waved her hand.

"What are you doing? Come quickly, Dokja-ssi!"

If they want to live, they just have to go back to school. Nevertheless, no one in the group backed down.

"I will clear a path."

They have decided.

[The forces you belong to are united.]

[A new story begins to germinate!]

I also stood next to them and swung my sword.

The 'Unbreakable Faith' left by Han Sooyoung and Kim Dokja shone brightly.

The [Way of the Wind] condensed at the tip of the sword swirled, and the blades of wind scattered in all directions.

Gyaaaaaaaaa!

In 『Infinite Prison Guard』, this 'demon flooding' incident is a kind of entry event. Once you break through the initial waves of demons and enter the forest, it is rare to deal with demons of that size until you encounter the great demons.

[You have entered 'Inside the Demon Forest'.]

We soon broke through the demon troops and entered the forest.

[Scenario content has been updated!]

<Main Scenario #20 – Graduation>

Category: Main

Difficulty: SSS+

Clear conditions: Enter the 'source' of the Demon Forest and defeat the strong demon '73rd Demon King' at the source.

Time limit: 3 days

Reward: Fragment of the Oldest Dream, ???

Failure: —

As expected, the scenario content has been updated.

The eyes of the group members widened as they confirmed the clear conditions.

"This… isn’t right, is it?"

As soon as they saw the words '73rd Demon King', each member of the group began to imagine sinister thoughts in their own way.

The 73rd Demon King.

The '10th main scenario' that Kim Dokja and his companions faced. On the top floor of the Dark Castle, the party completed the scenario by killing Kim Dokja, who became the 73rd Demon King.

Killer King opened his mouth.

"Rather than one of us becoming the 73rd Demon King, it could be a scenario where we defeat the '73rd Demon King' who already exists. That was the original development in the Book of Revelation."

"Then that would be a relief…"

Is it really fortunate that such a development unfolds?

For a moment, I thought about the '73rd Demon King' who would be strong at the source of the forest. Unfortunately, I didn't have time to indulge in sentimentality for long.

"We need to split into teams."

"Here? It would be dangerous—"

"If we stick together, our survival rate will be high for a while. However, group action may be disadvantageous in this 'forest'."

Cha Yerin seemed to immediately understand what I was saying.

I sent a message to Cha Yerin through [group chat].

—Yerin-ssi, please move with the rest of the group. I have somewhere else to go.

—Is it because of item farming?

I nodded.

—Yes. Do you remember?

—I roughly know Ma Hyunsung’s exclusive farming route.

Treasures to fight against demons are buried in this forest. Some of them were buried by teachers, while others were used by previous students.

There are a total of 8 farming routes for items.

I was planning to choose route A, which was the most difficult of them all.

—Yerin, please take route B. Do you remember the route?

—Yes. I remember.

As expected, she is a person with the characteristic of being 'Literature Girl (S)'.

As long as I somehow collected the items that could be obtained from routes A and B, I had a chance of winning no matter what demon appeared.

In 『Infinite Prison Guard』, didn't Ma Hyunsung defeat the Great Demon in the same way?

Now, in my head, the 'Demon Forest Strategy' practiced by Ma Hyunsung was intact.

—But would you mind if I went alone?

—It's okay. It's your novel.

I was fortunate that Cha Yerin was a reader of 『Infinite Prison Guard』.

"I have a few items that I need to farm alone. Everyone else, please follow Seyeon-ssi. Let’s meet again at the checkpoint in an hour. Seyeon-ssi will give a detailed briefing."

The companions seemed to think I had some kind of clever idea, so they kept looking back and disappeared into the forest, following Cha Yerin.

Cha Yerin's B route is a relatively safe route among Ma Hyunsung's previous farming routes. If all four of them go together, they will be safe unless they encounter a marquis-level demon.

The problem is on my side.

I smiled bitterly and took out a cigarette of 'Mana Tobacco' from my pocket. I had stolen something that Yoo Joonghyuk had kept on the rooftop. As soon as the fire was lit, thick smoke rose.

I opened my mouth, staring at the slowly spreading smoke.

"Why don’t you stop and come out?"

Sending the party to route B wasn't just because of 'item farming'.

How much time had passed since I opened my mouth?

Something flew in as if it had been waiting for me from deep in the bush.

It was a bomb filled with 'poisonous fog'.

Push-shu-shu, accompanied by a sound, particles of pitch-black poisonous fog instantly surrounded the entire area.

"Catch him!"

Incarnations wearing masks popped out from all over the bushes.

A typical pattern of poisoning with poisonous fog and then attacking.

Squawk!

Five or six weapons flooded into the place where I was, but none of them could touch me.

[The exclusive skill 'Smoke Man' is being activated.]

Kim Kyungsik’s exclusive skill, [Smoke Man].

I used the cigarette smoke I had already smoked to escape outside the spray radius of the fog and hid myself among the bushes.

"What? Wasn’t he here a little while ago?"

The total number of incarnations that appeared was nine.

The panicked guys kept looking around.

Let’s take a look at who the guys chasing me are.

[Exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated!]

As soon as I activated [Character List], information about them quickly appeared before my eyes. Judging by their characteristics and potential, they were not very strong.

What they have in common is that they all belong to the same 'force'.

「Rat.」

I've felt it since the poisonous fog pattern, but is it him again this time?

"Find it! He has 'Kim Dokja Fragments'!"

The purpose he was pursuing was as expected.

"Both Gu Seonah and Ye Hyunwoo collected them and became stronger. If we just eliminate that guy and collect the fragments, we can become as strong as the guys from Class A."

On the surface, this scenario represents the 'graduation exam' of 『Infinite Prison Guard』, but the inside story is a bit different.

The Constellations of the Zodiac, readers from all over, and even the Recycling Center Director—know what the hidden purpose of this scenario is.

「The key to this scenario is the collection of 'Kim Dokja Fragments'.」

How many more readers will die this time?

[The Constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' is looking for you.]

At the Constellation's command, students began wandering around looking for me. In the past, I would have run away, but things are different now.

I am the representative of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

Now it was enough to fight against the Constellations of the Misreading Association.

"Is it this way?"

"Damn rats, the players…"

The problem is that the forces that came together are not one.

From the 'snake cutting off its tail' to the 'dog throwing itself into the flames'.

As students belonging to the rat, snake, and dog groups appeared, the nearby forest quickly became crowded.

"Find him! Find Kim Dokja!"

No matter how strong I am now, it wasn't easy to fight against that number.

Since there were no hidden items nearby anyway, I was wondering if I should retreat at this point—

Skag.

One student's head fell off.

[Current remaining graduates: 186]

The number of remaining graduates appeared in the hologram window in the air.

[Current remaining graduates: 184]

The number of survivors decreases in real time.

"W-Who are you—"

The scared students instinctively took up arms.

They swung them around. However, the weapon only split the air and could not cut anything.

Sugagak.

When a student's head fell again, the terrified students began to scatter.

"Ugh, wow! It’s him! It’s Kim Dokja!"

I didn't do it.

[Your notoriety is growing!]

The student who cried out my name immediately lost his voice. It was so fast that I couldn't even see it properly.

[Current remaining graduates: 152]

As more than thirty students were slaughtered in an instant, the Constellations' voices were heard in the air.

[The Constellation 'Rat That Brings Plague' shouts out what kind of thing is this!]

[The Constellation 'Snake Cutting Its Tail' spits out flames of anger!]

[The Constellation 'Dog That Threw Itself Into The Flames' is rolling over flames and is indignant!]

After a while, a demon species appeared through the blood-soaked bushes.

I couldn't believe it.

Just one demon slaughtered thirty incarnations in an instant? And the descendants of the <Zodiac>?

[The Constellation 'Rat That Brings Plague'… ]

[The Constellation 'Snake Cutting Its Taill'… ]

Despite the indignant voices of the Constellations, the demon species was not intimidated at all. Instead, he just boredly dug his ears and muttered.

[It’s noisy.]

With that one word, the Constellations in the air became quiet. And after a while.

[The Constellation 'Rat That Brings Plague' is astonished.]

[The Constellation 'Snake Cutting Its Tail' opens its eyes.]

[The Constellation 'Dog That Threw Itself Into The Flames' questions whether this is different from the promise!]

Even the Constellations of the Chinese zodiac are entities that need to take a step back.

I belatedly remembered the second floor of 'Zodiac Ball'.

I forgot about it for a while.

Besides the <Zodiac> guys, there are Constellations that are interested in the 'Kim Dokja fragments'.

They are Constellations that desire all the stories of this <Star Stream>.

[Warning. 'Advanced demons' have appeared in the area!]

The Gourmet Association.

Those damn gourmet experts took part in this scenario wearing the guise of 'advanced demons'.

[The only ones who don't even go to the farewell. There definitely seemed to be a large number.]

While a high-level demon was licking the blood from his arm, another guy appeared.

[Hmm? What? Did you miss it?]

[I lost him. He’s a quick guy.]

The moment its gaze passed over the surrounding bushes, a shiver ran down my spine.

Are those things called 'high-level demons'?

This is ridiculous. Even with all my might, it was impossible to hunt down that one guy.

It wasn't even one.

Even though I thought I should run away right away, my body did not move easily. It wasn't out of fear. It was because I saw a weapon in the hands of a newly appeared high-level demon.

[It's a shame, the guy with this spear was pretty tasty.]

The guy who muttered that was holding a familiar looking spear in his hand.

「Weolgeuk.」

It was Yoo Joonghyuk's main weapon in the 41st Round.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

771 Episode 34 Sibling (2)

My body was shaking without me knowing.

The only thought that dominated my mind was to immediately slaughter the demons in front of me and steal their spear.

What stopped me was the [Transmission] that came to my ear.

—Author.

When I looked back in shock, I saw Ji Eunyu curled up like me.

—Stay still.

Ji Eunyu shook her head desperately and added.

—I know it’s Yoo Joonghyuk’s spear. But that’s Yoo Joonghyuk’s 'lost spear'.

Belatedly, the series of events that had occurred so far came to mind one after another.

From the moment he first entered the 'Recycling Center', Yoo Joonghyuk had lost all of his items. The 'battle boots' he was wearing right now were from the 'Zodiac Race' prize.

—The 'Master of the Spear' that that high-ranking demon dealt with must be someone else.

What Ji Eunyu said was right.

I managed to sigh and calm down my boiling anger.

Ji Eunyu’s soft palm was placed on my shoulder.

—Why is the writer acting so uncharacteristically? Did you have any abnormal condition?

I don't know either.

Maybe I unconsciously felt indebted to Yoo Joonghyuk.

Maybe it's because I promised to write his story.

I caught a glimpse of the story and only responded with the shape of my mouth.

I said, 'I guess I just lost my mind for a moment. Thank you!'

—You know you can never win now, right?

'I know.'

Again, it would have been suicidal to engage in an all-out war with the upper-class demons possessed by the 'Gourmet Association'. At the very least, it would be nice to have an item exclusive to 『Infinite Prison Guard』.

[Hmm?]

Just then, a high-level demon turned his head and began to approach this way.

Cold sweat formed down my back.

When I looked to the side, Ji Eunyu also had a hardened expression.

I thought about the number of times [Smoke Man] could be used in my head.

Should I burn ‘Mana Tobacco’ right now? If I attract attention, will I be able to buy Ji Eunyu time to run away?

The moment he approached us right in front of us.

[Hey, a large fragment was detected.]

The voice of another high-ranking demon holding the Wolgeuk was heard.

The demon, whose expression changed, turned around and asked.

[Which one?]

[West.]

[Let’s go right away, it might be that guy called 'Kim Dokja'.]

Only after they disappeared did we manage to breathe a sigh of relief.

Ji Eunyu touched her chest and opened her mouth.

"I was surprised because I thought they were coming for us."

"It’s not a safe situation yet."

"Why? I think they’ve gone far enough—"

"Those guys must have gone to other students."

In this scenario, the characters who can be called 'big fragments' are determined.

Currently, the expected number of people is two.

Ji Eunyu nodded and said as if she knew who those two were.

"It would be Gu Seonah or Ye Hyunwoo."

"Maybe so."

"You’re not planning on going to rescue them, are you?"

"…"

"Writer."

[The world view is looking at you.]

Ji Eunyu, startled by the faint spark, changed her conversation back to [Transmission].

—I forgot. You can just answer with your mouth. Because I have the [Lip Reading] skill.

When I nodded, Ji Eunyu continued speaking.

—Right now, finding one reader is not the problem. And Goo Seonah and Ye Hyunwoo are not people who share the same views as us.

'They are also ordinary readers.'

—There is no way ordinary readers would have collected so many 'Kim Dokja fragments'.

'That.'

I was about to say something when I suddenly raised my head and looked at Ji Eunyu.

Fragments of Kim Dokja.

Have I ever told Ji Eunyu any details about it?

—How could I not know when the situation has come to this point?

Ji Eunyu sighed lightly and continued.

—I heard it a little bit from Meihouwang. It is said that fragments of the 'Oldest Dream' are scattered throughout this world.

Meihouwang. Certainly, for a constellation of that level, it would not be strange to know the story about the 'Kim Dokja Fragments'.

—Are you also collecting the fragments?

I hesitated and nodded. There was no reason to lie to Ji Eunyu here. However, when the truth was revealed, a slight fear arose.

—Why are you doing that?

'That is...?'

—Isn’t that the only way to bring Kim Dokja back to life if we collect them?

'Do you know how to obtain Kim Dokja Fragments?'

—It’s not like the author is going around killing readers to collect their souls. Didn't you collect the dead readers or kill and collect the monsters that ate the readers?

When I nodded, Ji Eunyu added as if she knew that would happen.

—Then there is no problem. They say the more you collect, the stronger you become? Because it's safer to be in the hands of the author than to be in the hands of bad people.

Those were words of gratitude. These were words of gratitude, so I couldn't say thank you carelessly.

—Because I know what kind of person the author is. However, if other readers are collecting, the story is a little different.

'Those people are not ones who would kill someone to collect their fragments.'

—Author. You haven't forgotten what the 'first scenario' we experienced is, right?

'…'

—I know the author trusts his readers, but those who have survived so far have experienced at least one murder. The same goes for me.

I know. Of those who have survived so far, no one has survived unscathed.

However, just because someone committed a certain sin, I did not want to judge their entire person based on that sin alone.

'The people I saw, Ye Hyunwoo and Goo Seonah, were never bad people.'

I thought of the little readers I saw in Asmodeus's 'Theater'.

'They're just people who like novels.'

Pure eyes gathered in one place just because they were curious about the next story.

'If it weren't for them, I wouldn't have been able to pay the overdue rent for a single room. I wouldn't have been able to eat regular meals, and I wouldn't have been able to continue writing. I wouldn't have been able to continue my dream. I wouldn't have been able to write Han Sooyoung's manuscript. Therefore—'

I owe them my life.

'I will save those people.'

Ji Eunyu looked at me like that and pursed her lips several times before sighing deeply.

—If you say so, I also received a salary from them.

'Then there's another reason to save them.'

—You’re not going right away, are you?

There is a reason why I chose this route.

'This route?'

—You need to find 'Rotania’s sword hilt' and 'Bilton’s scabbard'.

I was dazed for a moment and then asked.

'How does the editor know that?'

—Isn’t it more weird that I don’t know?

'Have you read 'Infinite Prison Guard'? But that was written before I signed a contract with the editor.'

Ji Eunyu shot back with a slightly red face, probably because she was angry.

—Of course I saw it all. What editor doesn’t read novels written by contracted writers?

As I was rummaging through the nearby forest with a grumpy Ji Eunyu, I found a tree trunk with an unfamiliar mark engraved on it.

We exchanged looks and started digging under the tree trunk.

How much dirt was dug up like that?

We found an old skeleton arm and the broken hilt of the sword it held.

'The hilt of Saint Lotania.'

A weapon used by graduates of the 'Filia Hunter Academy' in the past.

As expected, it was buried exactly where I had written it down.

"It only has a handle. I guess someone took the sheath."

"Let’s take this with us."

The final combination item that can be obtained from 'Ma Hyunsung Farming Route A' is 'Holy Sword Raven Ringer'.

The Raven Ringer was an item with 'holy attributes' that was absolutely necessary to deal with the Great Demon.

We grabbed the hilt of our swords and moved straight toward the direction where the high-level demons had disappeared.

While we were moving, Ji Eunyu and I had a short chat about what happened so far.

—Who knew that I would have to wear a school uniform again?

'That's right.'

—It suits the writer well.

'I guess it suits Cheon Inho better, not me.'

—The face is the author’s.

We also exchanged information about the Chinese Zodiac belonging to each class.

—You fought with incarnations of rats, snakes, and dogs?

'To be exact, I didn't fight, but the Gourmet Association wiped them out.'

—Well, it turned out that way too. But my forces… So, I don’t think the monkeys are particularly interested in this scenario. In the first place, I think Meihouwang applied to participate just because he was bored.

But. Not everyone in the Chinese zodiac is serious about this ball.

In particular, the 'Monkey' faction does not have any merit in participating in the 'Zodiac Ball'. Even from the Recycling Center's perspective, it will be difficult if the constellation Son Wukong descends directly...

—But other <zodiac signs> will have a slightly different stance. Especially the guys who attacked the author. And the 'tiger' and 'cow' sides seemed sincere.

I guess so.

The status of those who have been eliminated by me in previous scenarios, such as tigers, rats, and snakes, has been greatly reduced.

In this scenario, unless we somehow make up for it, our existence as a constellation will be in jeopardy.

'The same goes for the Gourmet Association guys.'

The Gourmet Association will be watching the struggles of such great constellations.

The fact that they participated in the scenario as 'high-level demons' probably means that they are prepared to end this scenario in a tragedy.

Of course, as long as I'm around, things won't go as they think.

"Ji Eunyu."

"Yes."

We stopped at the signal and hid ourselves among the surrounding bushes.

The sound of the surrounding forest being torn apart.

The sharp crackling sound of a weapon was heard through the red burning leaves.

Someone was fighting nearby.

However, the surge of magical energy felt every time a single clatter sounded was unusual.

"Stop it."

A cold voice heard through the thick bloody smell.

"You must be Goo Seonah."

Together with Ji Eunyu, I quickly grasped the situation.

The student council president, Goo Seonah, has her arms crossed with her back to the forest. And there were members of <Kim Dokja Company> who built defenses as if to protect her.

Lee Hyunsung, Kim Namwoon, Lee Jihye, Shin Yoosung, and even Jung Heewon.

As expected, the ones putting pressure on them were the two high-ranking demons who had attacked us earlier.

[A lot of delicious-looking guys have gathered.]

The high-level demons, all drooling, rushed forward while simultaneously releasing their attacks.

I wanted to shout at them to run away right away. No, even if I didn't shout, if they felt the intensity of those 'high-level demons' unleashing, they should have run away.

But they didn't run away.

Kaaaaang!

The pitch-black blade wielded by a high-level demon collided with white light and bounced off.

Looking closely, I saw that Goo Seonah and her group were all wearing silver-shining armor and greaves.

I immediately recognized what the item was.

'Holy Messenger Set.'

Anti-Asmodian standard equipment that can be obtained from 'Ma Hyunsung's Farming D Route'.

I was already wondering how they got that—

[Currently, the 『Infinite Prison Guard』 collaboration item is being sold in the 'Dokkaebi Bag'.]

I opened the 'Dokkaebi Bag' with a feeling of wonder.

| |
|---|
| * Holy Messenger Set — In Stock 0 |

It was absurd.

No, does this make sense now?

…

* Commercial flare — 1

* Top quality holy water — 2

* Holy Sword Light Wish — Inventory 0

Even Light Wish, which was considered the famous sword of 'Filia Hunter Academy' along with the holy sword 'Raybringer', was sold.

I belatedly looked through the list to purchase the items I needed. But unfortunately, cost-effective items were almost sold out.

The items that were still in stock were at such exorbitant prices that I couldn't afford them at the moment.

Of course, it doesn't mean that I can't buy it if I decide to do so, but as the incarnation of the 'Demon King of Salvation', the price is simply unbearable.

"We got hit."

I never thought I would be stabbed in the back like this.

I can't believe the damn dokkaebis would have released related items as products. It was a carelessness caused by my arrogance of knowing the worldview.

Even the holy sword in question, 'Light Wish', was held in the hands of student council president Goo Seonah.

[The item 'Light Wish' increases the morale of the party.]

From 'Holy Messenger Set' to 'Light Wish'. It was definitely a combination that could deal with even high-level demons.

It was unfair. No, what am I supposed to do for a living if I am already at a disadvantage and am deprived of privileges as the original author like this?

If the worldview was illegally stolen and all the items were taken away—

[Someone has purchased a 'collaboration item'.]

[The 'original work usage fee' has been paid to you.]

There is no benefit to the original author...

[Someone has purchased a 'collaboration item'.]

[The 'original work usage fee' has been paid to you.]

I quietly glared at the message that appeared before my eyes.

[Someone has purchased a 'collaboration item'.]

[The 'original work usage fee' has been paid to you.]

No matter how many times I rubbed my eyes and checked, it was the same.

It was definitely true.

[The 'original work usage fee' has been paid to you.]

I thought as I opened the 'dokkaebi bag' once again.

[Would you like to check the 'original work usage fee' deposited?]

How much was that item from earlier?

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

772 Episode 34 Sibling (3)

---

[150,000 coins were obtained as a fee for using the original work.]

As I watched the coins coming in in real time, the corners of my mouth twitched without me realizing it.

Come to think of it, Kim Dokja also made money by selling Han Sooyoung's novels.

Did Kim Dokja feel this way at that time?

—Author. Why are you grinning?

'It's no big deal.'

I felt strange.

This is because I had no idea that the <Star Stream> would settle something like 'original work royalties'.

In reality, I only signed a lot of contracts for various things, but I almost never received proper royalties from others using the original work...

—Is it good?

When I raised my head, I saw the shadow of a dokkaebi swaying high in the dark sky.

—Do you like it? This time I paid special attention.

I smiled bitterly.

As expected, Bihyung had a hand in it.

—I have also completed discussions with the 'Recycling Center Director'. Instead of borrowing your world view, pay you an incentive...

'Thank you, but shouldn't you have gotten my permission before using it?'

—Huh? What are you talking about? I got permission.

Allow? No, it's my work. Who on earth did you get permission from?

At that moment, someone's name came to mind. Anyone except me can sell my copyright without permission.

—Your friend sponsor said before that he could exchange this for coins and signed a contract with us.

This damn sponsor.

—Anyway, that’s how it happened, so cheer up. I'm going again.

'Wait! Is that the answer? What else did my sponsor sell?'

Unfortunately, there was no reply from Bihyung.

I took a quick breath and applied it to the situation. There is no way it can be done this way. If this is his plan, I have no choice but to use it to the best of my ability.

I quickly purchased items that I could use right now from the 'Dokkaebi’s Bag'.

[You have completed purchasing the item.]

At that moment, a change occurred in the battlefield.

[Kahahahaha! This is fun!]

Meanwhile, the number of high-level demons jumping into the battlefield increased.

There were two people I cherished, but now there are four, five, no... six?

[Hey, let’s eat delicious food together.]

Currently, the core weapons of Goo Seonah's team are the 'Holy Lion Set' and the holy sword worn by Goo Seonah herself, 'Light Wish'.

The 'Holy Messenger Set' was a supply specialized for defense, and the 'Light Wish' was a kind of buff item.

In other words, there was no item that could cause damage to high-level demons.

"What are these demons ? Why don’t they die!"

Kim Namwoon, who was embarrassed, repeatedly swung his knife, but unfortunately, the attribute of [Black Flame] was unable to deliver an effective blow to the high-level demon.

To make matters worse, the durability of the 'Holy Messenger Set' was slowly decreasing. As the high-level demons joined forces in an instant and poured out repeated attacks, cracks began to appear in various places in the 'Holy Lion Armor' that could not withstand the blows.

"It’s hard to hold on any longer!"

Goo Seonah bit her lip at Lee Hyunsung’s shout. It was time to make a decision. Will she sacrifice them and run away, or will she reveal all her might and fight the demons?

Needless to say, it was the latter for me. That was because, although they were at a disadvantage in terms of power, they were not absolutely inferior.

Above all, her team had Jung Heewon, the 'Judge of Destruction'.

'Judge of Destruction' is a trait that exerts absolute power against monsters.

Since 'advanced demons' also fall into the category of monsters, it was naturally right to actively hire Jung Heewon at this point.

"Jung Heewon. Forward.”

As expected, Goo Seonah put Jung Heewon forward.

"Yes."

At Goo Seonah's command, Jung Heewon, wearing the leader's armband, stepped forward.

I felt sick watching Jung Heewon obediently listen to her, but I guess this will solve the crisis.

As long as the rest, led by Jung Heewon, who activated [Time of Judgment], provide good assistance—

"Everyone else goes to the 'source'."

What?

"Chairman, no! Then—"

"Lee Hyunsung. This is the best."

"I can’t leave my colleagues behind. Then Heewon-ssi—"

As expected, in the 41st round, Lee Hyunsung was Lee Hyunsung.

But Goo Seonah’s voice was cold.

"It’s an order."

Goo Seonah made her choice. She said that she would give up Jung Heewon instead of quickly killing the 73rd Demon King.

It was a choice that I could not understand at all.

Jung Heewon is a damage dealer who is effective until the final battle of the scenario. Even if you think about it economically, it was never a card to be discarded here.

Then a thought occurred to me.

[The exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated!]

Character: Jung Heewon

Potential: S

Core settings: Leading team (S+), Kendo club (A+)

Description: A being responsible for class A's justice. She basically follows the student council president's orders, but subconsciously has an aversion to her orders.

She sometimes has a habit of looking blankly out the window as if she is looking for something.

Only then did I understand why Goo Seonah abandoned Jung Heewon.

Is it. Did she decide that if she was someone she couldn't control, it would be better to leave her here?

Jung Heewon, clutching the sword I gave her, 'Mikazuki Munechika', spoke in a voice full of determination.

"You go first, Chairman."

[Character Jung Heewon's characteristic 'Leader (S+)' is strongly activated!]

"Thank you, leader."

Kim Namwoon, who lightly tapped her on the shoulder, moved first, followed by Lee Jihye.

Lee Hyunsung, who hesitated, closed his eyes tightly and turned back.

"I'm sorry. Please come back."

I wondered if that was a scene that made sense.

Only Shin Yoosung lingered until the end, unable to easily leave her place.

"Ahhh."

The moment Shin Yoosung, who was looking at Jung Heewon with a helpless expression, stretched out her hand.

Tsutsutsu.

With a light spark, the light in Shin Yoosung's eyes went out. Afterwards, the child started following Goo Seonah like a mechanical doll.

This made it clear.

Goo Seonah has the skill to control 'characters'.

[Chase them.]

Three high-ranking demons chased after Goo Seonah's team, which was quickly moving away.

However, the remaining three were stranded by Jung Heewon.

There were two guys that didn't follow because they were too lazy. The other one seemed to be interested in Jung Heewon.

[It's not a fragment, but it's still quite interesting.]

He was the one holding Yoo Joonghyuk's spear, 'Wolgeuk'.

[It would be okay for a little entertainment.]

Jung Heewon created magic without saying a word.

Confrontation with high-level demons.

If it was an ordinary incarnation, it wouldn't have been surprising if her mind collapsed the moment she met them, but Jung Heewon was different.

Jung Heewon, who activated [Kendo] in [Demon Slayer], let out a roar and swung her sword towards the upper-class demon.

She lightly swung her weapon and the demon who was struck by the sword laughed.

[The Constellation 'Spear Master' bursts into flames.]

Damn it.

After all, the opponent is that guy.

The 'Spear Master' was a Constellation from the <First Murim> who built his reputation by repeatedly stabbing for hundreds of years.

In other rounds, it was a Historical-grade Constellation, but here he seemed to have been raised to Narrative(?)-grade.

It looks like his status has been boosted by absorbing 'Kim Dokja Fragments'.

Coo coo coo coo coo.

However, since the opponent was wearing the mask of a high-class demon, Jung Heewon had a chance of winning.

[Character 'Jung Heewon' requests the activation of 'Time of Judgment'!]

She is the 'Judge of Destruction'.

As long as [Time of Judgment] is activated, there is a chance of victory no matter who the opponent is.

[Skill activation has been forcibly canceled!]

Jung Heewon, startled, looked up into space.

「Judge of Destruction is a skill that can be activated only when a certain number of Constellations in the channel provide probability.」

However, the Constellations that currently occupy the channel are the <Zodiac> and the Gourmet Association. There was no Constellation that would take her side.

[Where can I get it?]

The storm of magical power that rose from Wolgeuk poured down on Jung Heewon. The 'Holy Lion Armor' worn by Jung Heewon shattered, and sharp magical blades cut through her entire body.

If things continue that way, Jung Heewon will die. There was no time to hesitate.

I activated [Ways of the Wind] with all my might and launched myself at Jung Heewon.

At the same time, explosive spider webs poured out from my entire body.

[What—]

The feet of three demons, including the 'Spear Master', were tied up in [Arachne's Web]. I quickly picked up Jung Heewon, who had fallen through the bushes.

Surprised, Jung Heewon widened her eyes. Soon, venom filled her eyes.

"Let go."

Jung Heewon's body was already in shambles. She was a master at dealing with high-level demons at the head of the group.

"It’s the chairman’s order. I—"

Determination to carry out orders at all costs.

[The person in question is in a state of 'hypnotic instigation'.]

Is that so?

I expected it. Because at this point, the skills to control the characters are set.

'Hypnotic instigation by hypnotist Christina Page'.

Goo Seonah has already murdered other readers and obtained their skills.

There were many ways to awaken [Hypnotic Incitet].

One of them is to awaken people with words more powerful than [Hypnotic Incite].

「With Cheon Inho’s [Incite], it is possible.」

I activated [Incite] without hesitation.

"Heewon-ssi! Wake up!"

[The person in question is under special 'hypnosis'.]

[Stronger 'incite' than usual is needed.]

What?

[Select a 'keyword' that will be of great shock to the person in question.]

Before I knew it, Jung Heewon, with a straight face, thrust the blade of Munechika Mikazuki at my neck.

"Put me down."

I thought about Jung Heewon.

What should I say to shock this person?

「"Inho-ssi, you’re a bit of a strange person. You only say strange things."」

In the main story, the woman who was the sword that protected Kim Dokja.

「"Inho-ssi, how did you become a writer?"」

It already occurred to me that the relationship I had built with her was not short. We hunted ichthyosaurs together, cleared Geumho Station, Chungmuro, and the theater dungeon. We fought against the beggars at Seoul Station and defeated the monsters at Gwanghwamun.

「"Inho-ssi."」

Will those times also become a story one day? How much history must be accumulated before it becomes a story?

I don't know. However, what I remember is only one sentence.

「"Don’t die."」

Jung Heewon always saved me with that one sentence. And now it was my turn to return the sentence.

—Writer! I can't hold on any longer!

There was a figure chasing after me along with Ji Eunyu's screams.

I carried Jung Heewon on my back and reflexively lowered my head. The sharp force of the spear grazed my hair and lodged in the tree.

There was nowhere to run now.

If we don't wake up Jung Heewon now, we will all die here.

So, I feel sorry for Jung Heewon, but here I had no choice but to say something that Jung Heewon would hate to hear.

"Heewon-ssi, I love you!"

This.

I thought it would be okay.

Obviously, she heard something similar on the subway at that time and her expression didn't look good—

[The character 'Jung Heewon' is strongly agitated by your remarks.]

"You… are you suddenly talking nonsense? In this situation…"

Her face was distorted with anger, but Jung Heewon's hypnosis was not broken.

No, this doesn't work?

In the meantime, a high-ranking demon, swinging the moon like a windmill, rushed in.

As I put Jung Heewon down on the floor, I took out 'Unbreakable Faith' and swung it around. There was a heavy sibilant sound and the pain of my wrist being bent.

[You—]

The spear master's eyes widened as he recognized me.

[You are a very large fragment.]

Changgeuk was moving to a state that was difficult to follow with my eyes.

Damn, was I wrong?

I took out one of the items I had purchased earlier from my pocket.

[Use the item 'Commercial Signal Flare'!]

A signal that explodes like a firecracker. I can only hope that my colleagues will check this signal in time.

"Jung Heewon-ssi! Run away!"

I shouted with all my might towards Jung Heewon.

"I will stop this place somehow—"

I desperately activated [Way of the Wind], but it was an unavoidable blow. I felt a sharp spear tearing through the skin of my stomach.

I guess so. Because this is not an enemy I can defeat in my current state.

[Smile?]

Nevertheless, I was smiling while holding on to the pole of his spear.

I thought it was a good thing.

"Jung Heewon-ssi! Quick—"

Why? Jung Heewon had no answer.

I looked back. Jung Heewon was still there. She didn't run away, she just stood there looking at me.

[The character 'Jung Heewon' is greatly shocked.]

It was only at that moment that I realized.

A 'keyword' that can wake up Jung Heewon.

"Ah—"

The moment I saw Jung Heewon's expression, strangely enough, my sponsor came to mind.

「The Demon King of Salvation.」

I now understand why a man who was so inexperienced at saving others was called the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

[The character 'Jung Heewon's' mind temporarily collapses!]

Anyone who is saved by the Demon King will inevitably suffer irreversible damage.

"Don't die, don't die, don't die—"

Jung Heewon, muttering like crazy, staggered closer.

Blood poured out from the skin of my stomach that was stabbed by Changgeuk, and my consciousness gradually faded.

And as my consciousness faded, a strong confidence filled me.

[A Constellation that has not yet revealed its modifier is watching you.]

Jung Heewon will not die.

[The clouded consciousness is partially liberated from the restraints of the body.]

She will suffer injuries so terrible that she will want to die, but she will not die.

[Level 3 of the exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is forcibly activated.]

And there will be a one-sided atonement from the Demon King for this one-sided salvation.

It's reading stories of hurt people.

Read, read, read again.

['First-person Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is activated!]

Finally becoming that person.

"You can't die."

When I opened my eyes, I saw my incarnation body falling.

"No matter what happens, I will definitely save you."

A high-level demon was holding its hand toward my head with greedy eyes.

I moved Jung Heewon's hand and grabbed 'Mikazuki Munechika'.

['Time of Judgment' is activated!]

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation (acting agent)' has agreed to the activation of 'Time of Judgment'.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

773 Episode 34 Sibling (4)

---

The condition for activating [Time of Judgment] of the Ten Demon Judges is simple.

「Get support from Constellations within the same channel.」

The important thing here is that not all 'Constellations within the same channel' need to agree.

Unlike the 'Judge of Evil's' [Time of Judgment], which does not activate even if only one of the 'Absolute Good' Constellations opposes it, the [Time of Judgment] of the 'Judge of Destruction' can be activated even if only one Constellation agrees.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation (Agent)' has agreed to the activation of the Time of Judgment.]

In other words, [Time of Judgment] can be activated even if there is only one Constellation that agrees within the channel.

[The Constellation 'Rat That Brings Plague' opposes the activation of 'Time of Judgment'!]

[The Constellation 'Snake Cutting Off Its Tail' opposes the activation of 'Time of Judgment'!]

[The Constellation 'Dog That Threw Itself Into The Flames' opposes the activation of 'Time of Judgment'!]

As expected, there was opposition from the beggars. But there is no use in opposing it.

I agreed, so what are you going to do?

['Time of Judgment' begins!]

[The Constellation 'Rat That Brings Plague' opens its eyes!]

[The Constellation 'Snake Cutting Off Its Tail' cannot hide its embarrassment.]

It felt good to see the astonished Constellations, but in fact, it was not a very favorable situation for us.

「The characteristics of the three great judges all have something in common: they borrow the probability of 'Constellations'.」

The judge judges the object on behalf of the will of the Constellations, and the Constellations pay an appropriate probability.

The problem was the probability.

[Currently, there is only one Constellation within the channel that has agreed to the time of judgment.]

[There is insufficient probability.]

[The popularity of 'Time of Judgment' is low.]

Since 'Judgment of Ten Demons' is easy to activate [Time of Judgment], its effect greatly depends on the level or number of people who agree to activate the skill.

In short, right now, Jung Heewon could only borrow the probability of the 'Demon King of Salvation (acting agent)'.

Tsk tsk, tsk tsk.

Surely the skill won't end before she even fights properly?

A high-level demon holding the 'Wolgeuk'—the 'Spear Master' muttered while holding Jung Heewon’s collar.

[Interesting. I never thought there would be an incarnation with the 'judge' trait.]

I spoke to that guy using Jung Heewon's words.

"The level of the Gourmet Association has fallen a lot. They even accept lowly historical-grade like you as 'Gourmet Association' members."

[Are you crazy?]

Looking at his expression, it seemed like I had really touched the point.

I guess so. In fact, these guys are probably not mainstream 'Gourmet Association' members, but rather subcontractors.

For example, this means that these are the people who supply items such as the 'Heart of a 10th Circle Grand Mage' or 'The Right Arm of a Poor Sword Master' that are being eaten up by the Gourmet Association.

[Something like a kid with no background—]

"Are you ignoring the Demon King of Salvation?"

Without hesitation, I put my strength on my back foot. As expected from a born swordsman, her muscle movements were extraordinary.

The 'Spear Master' gave an order as if he was annoyed by the rapidly narrowing distance.

[Block it.]

Two high-level demons who had been loitering in the back stepped forward as if they had been waiting.

[Master of intestines, how dare you order me?]

[I was already planning on eating her!]

One guy seems to have a subspace pouch and appears to be a typical assassin.

And the other one was wearing battle gauntlets, so it was a martial arts style.

It was the assassin who moved first. The guy with his cheeks puffed out like a frog spewed green poisonous smoke, creating a swamp around him.

[Advanced demon 'Filth Addict' activates 'Pollution Zone Lv.10'!]

Filth addict.

Was this guy there too?

This Constellation was originally one of the guys who followed Yoo Joonghyuk like a stalker in the middle rounds of 'Ways of Survival'.

His battle logic is to restrict the opponent's movement by laying down a contaminated area and then shoot the enemy with an extremely poisonous needle to subdue the enemy.

[It looks good to squeeze!]

This guy, who likes to hunt prey with minimal injury, had an eccentric hobby of squeezing out freshly caught prey and eating its contents.

Coincidentally, in 'Ways of Survival', there is a scene where Yoo Joonghyuk subdues that guy.

To explain it in Yoo Joonghyuk style, the method is as follows.

「One, do not step on 'contaminated areas' and use protruding tree trunks as a stepping stone.」

Yoo Joonghyuk's 'combat textbook' is difficult for Cheon Inho to follow.

But what about 'Jung Heewon'?

[You’re a quick guy!]

The moment I jumped into the air to avoid the contaminated area, it shot something out of its mouth again.

「Two, avoid the 'extremely poisonous needle' flying from the air.」

An 'extremely poisonous needle' that cuts off half of your combat ability for 10 minutes with just one hit. It was a key skill that allowed the 'filth addict' with low combat power to maintain his position as a Constellation.

[Exclusive skill 'Way of the Wind' is activated!]

Of course, it doesn't work for me.

The moment the frightened filth addict widened his eyes, I spun around in the air, accelerated, and swung my sword at him.

[Pathetic guy. Go away!]

The one who blocked the sword was a martial arts-style high-level demon who narrowly came forward.

[Advanced demon 'Wingak Taoist' unleashes his power!]

Like the 'Spear Master', he was a Constellation from the <First Murim>.

「A person who was once a master in his twenties of the <First Martial Arts>, but sold his clan and martial arts to Seongun and was given the position of 'Constellation'.」

Seeing that he is still living as a subcontractor for the 'Gourmet Association', his habits as a human do not change even if he became a Constellation.

[Maesonga, take it! This is the 'Hundred Steps Godly Fists!]

Of course, it wasn't [Hundred Steps Godly Fists]. The real Hundred Steps Godly Fists is not that shabby.

[This is a martial arts skill that brought even the Breaking the Sky Sword Saint to her knees!]

If Breaking the Sky Sword Saint were here, there'll be a sound that would make one's head fly off at once.

But there was no Breaking the Sky Sword Saint here, and it was only Jung Heewon and I who had to deal with him.

In the face of the explosion of power that took over the place in an instant, I frantically took a step back.

Fast.

No matter how constrained the opponent was by the scenario constraints, a Constellation was a Constellation, and at one time, he was a strong man who was listed as one of the 20 strongest members of <The First Murim>.

But it's worth a try.

A trajectory that Cheon Inho could not follow was visible.

[Exclusive skill 'Kendo Lv.10' is activated!]

Being visible means that there is an opportunity to counterattack as long as the body's abilities are supported.

Goooooooo!

Jung Heewon's [Kendo], which has already surpassed the level of transcendence, is filled with the power of swords. A talent who self-taught her sword skills alone and would have undoubtedly competed for the place of the best in the world if she were in the <First Murim>.

The moment the lost guard Kwongak took his breath, Jung Heewon and I were already right in front of him.

[What—]

The sharp sword energy drew a brilliant trajectory to the guy's fist.

[Kaaaaaa—!]

What I can do is utilize all of Jung Heewon's potential while [Time of Judgment] lasts.

[Exclusive skill 'Demon Slayer Lv.10' is activated!]

Red natural flowers flickered at the corners of my eyes, and explosive power welled up.

I held 'Mikazuki Munechika' with both hands and swung it again and again.

From top to bottom and from left to right again.

"You—!"

The wrist of the unguarded Kwongak Taoist flew into the air.

I didn't miss the opportunity and attacked his arms.

[Some Constellations are astonished by the fighting power of incarnation 'Jung Heewon'!]

The sound of flesh being torn apart.

The panicked Taoist swordsman held onto Munechika Mikazuki's blade with one hand and unleashed a barrage of punches with the other hand.

[You dare!]

There was no place to escape unless I let go of the sword. A blow that would explode one's body with just one hit.

Still, I didn't let go of the sword. I believed in Jung Heewon’s history.

[Exclusive attribute 'Mad Butcher' activates!]

Her indomitable trait that made her enter the '100 Strongest People' of the Ways of Survival came into play.

Kudddddddd!

Jung Heewon’s body was not broken even by the pouring power. The aura surrounding her entire body burned even more fiercely.

The moment the 'Gwongak Taoist' screamed, Jung Heewon's sword moved once again. In addition, it is a sword strike imbued with the ability of [Time of Judgment].

「"I have to become stronger."」

On top of that, there is the time that Jung Heewon has accumulated so far.

「"I have to swing faster and stronger."」

I was able to find out what Jung Heewon was thinking of when practicing swordsmanship.

It was the most beautiful swordsmanship I had ever seen.

「"Only then can I protect Inho-ssi."」

Jung Heewon swung her sword again and again to catch up with him.

[Uh, how could it be that the only human in the scenario is—]

Each and every sword swung like that came together and finally came together at Jung Heewon's fingertips.

A level that an ordinary human being can never reach. A wall that even martial arts masters cannot overcome even after training for hundreds of years.

The wall was crumbling in the face of overwhelming talent.

「Transcendent type level 1.」

A sword made to break the sword of the King.

Her kendo blossomed into a brilliant beam of light, splitting the incarnation body of the 'Wingak Taoist' in half.

[High-ranking demon 'Wingak Taoist' has been killed!]

[The Constellation 'Wingak Taoist' receives a terrible shock and leaves the scenario!]

It was impossible.

Even though this is the twentieth scenario, it is a feat in which an incarnation with no sponsor defeats an incarnation possessed by a Historical-grade Constellation.

[The Constellations belonging to the Chinese Zodiac are greatly shocked by the power of the incarnation 'Jung Heewon'!]

[The Constellations of the Gourmet Association are making interested expressions!]

[A Constellation whose modifier has not yet been revealed is watching your battle.]

[5,000 coins were sponsored.]

[The battle of incarnation 'Jung Heewon' is leaked outside the 'Recycling Center' through the Management Bureau!]

There was no time to get drunk on the joy of victory. Jung Heewon’s body was rapidly becoming heavier.

[There is not enough probability to continue the 'Time of Judgment'.]

[After a while, the reaction of 'madness' will begin.]

Without stopping, I swung my sword at the 'filth addict' next to me.

There are two demons remaining. Before I couldn’t move her body at all, I had to kill all the remaining guys.

However, the 'filth addict', who foresaw his colleague's defeat, was already running away.

[Damn it! I’ve never heard of such a monster!]

Eventually, there was only one demon left.

[How pathetic. The title 'Gourmet Association' is a waste, Guru Kwon Gak.]

The Spear Master was glaring at me with cool eyes, as if he wasn't too shaken by my battle.

And the next moment, the spear master’s new form disappeared.

I swung my sword reflexively.

'Mikazuki Munechika' broke with a deep sibilant sound.

The powerful force emitted by the spear master destroyed Jung Heewon's sword and touched the blade of 'Mikazuki Munechika'.

A rapid spear attack followed.

Although it was frustrating, the 'spear master''s skills were real.

Unlike the Kwongak master who sold out his sect to Seongun and became a 'Constellation', this guy was truly a Constellation who achieved great feats with his own skills.

In an instant, blood spurted out from the damaged body.

['Time of Judgment' ends.]

To make matters worse, [Time of Judgment] has also ended.

Terrible pain radiated from every bone in my body. All I could really do now was stand.

The Spear Master was smiling as if he had already secured victory.

[It’s an amazing talent. If you had trained for ten more years, we could have had an interesting match.]

"If it had been one more minute, you would have passed out."

This is it.

By reducing the three high-level demons to one, the goal was achieved.

[I only kept my mouth shut because I thought you were going to die soon.]

The spear master's eyes scanned the entire body of Jung Heewon, whom I had possessed.

[It is a very desirable incarnation. If you want to live, I will give you a chance. If you become my 'incarnation'…]

The expression of the spear master who had been speaking so far hardened.

The reason was clear.

A roar heard from afar. Something was running towards us like a tank, plowing through the forest road.

A pitch-black coat blowing in the wind.

If Han Sooyoung were here, she would definitely have said this.

「"■Ba, as expected, the main character."」

I spoke to the high-ranking demon in a triumphant voice, like a fox riding on a tiger's back.

"It’s been a minute, kid."

The eyes of Yoo Joonghyuk, who came running out of breath, were looking in this direction.

It was clear what the guy saw to ran to us.

He must have read the phrase on the 'commercial signal flare' I fired earlier.

「Here is a demon king with your 'spear'.」

'Wolgeuk' is Yoo Joonghyuk’s decisive battle weapon for the 41st Round.

From my perspective, it was a stroke of luck that the 'Spear Master' obtained the Wolgeuk.

"Yoo Joonghyuk! Here we are!"

I shouted with all my might in Jung Heewon’s voice.

"Here is the villain of the world who stole your spear—"

The 'Spear Master' is a monster that should never be dealt with under normal circumstances, but with Yoo Joonghyuk in the '41st Round', it was an enemy worth fighting.

If the two of them calmly form a formation to stop them and kill them—

"Yoo Joonghyuk?"

But Yoo Joonghyuk was looking somewhere else without even looking in my direction.

If he had seen that expression on his face, he would definitely have said this.

「"Isn’t that the look you make when you go to buy dumplings and there aren’t any left?"」

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

774 Episode 34 Sibling (5)

---

I turned my head to follow Yoo Joonghyuk’s gaze.

What was there was the Master of the Spear, and my incarnation body hanging out, bleeding profusely, with my stomach pierced by the spear.

I couldn't tell if Yoo Joonghyuk was looking at the Spear Master, Wolgeuk, or my incarnation body.

"You."

One thing is certain: Yoo Joonghyuk is very angry right now.

Anger at the fact that the demon dared to steal his equipment. Or anger at the guy who hurt me when I was still worth using.

I screamed reflexively as I saw Yoo Joonghyuk immediately lashing out.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

The level of aggression this guy gave was unusual.

['Restraint of Truth' is activated.]

[Some of the memories of the character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' are sealed.]

[All comprehensive abilities of the character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' temporarily exceed the scenario limit standards!]

[Explosive power surges from the whole body of the character 'Yoo Joonghyuk'!]

You're activating [Story Engraving] right away like this?

The first story imprint, 'Restraint of Truth', is an imprint that seals part of the memory with its use itself.

What kind of memory did he lose again this time?

"Yoo Joonghyuk! Hey, you bastard!"

Yoo Joonghyuk didn't even look in this direction, probably because he didn't notice that I was possessing Jung Heewon's body.

A cotton spear was held in the man's hand, and profound magical power was concentrated in that spear.

The 'Spear Master', who instinctively felt threatened, burst out in anger.

[This guy!]

The magic that shot out like a beam of light left a dark mark in the air.

The 'Spear Master' staggered and parried Yoo Joonghyuk's blow. His expression changed, as if he was surprised by the heaviness of his magical power.

[I have been amazed many times today.]

The Spear Master also released his factory weapon and started stabbing.

The seedling that he had faithfully worked on for hundreds of years was poured out through Wolgeuk.

Kudddddddd!

Despite the storm of stabbings that surged in like waves, Yoo Joonghyuk did not even lift his eyebrows.

The [Eye of the Sage] shone in golden color.

The eyes of the guy who had already reached the peak destroyed the magical power composition of the pouring stab.

"Is this Jinjueonga’s style?"

The startled Spear Master narrowed his eyes and answered.

[Someone was exterminated. This is just my style.]

"Someone’s style resembles the movement of waves."

Yoo Joonghyuk rode the waves created by the demon's magic power. Some waves were broken and evaded, while others were avoided by twisting his body. He calmly moved forward step by step amidst the barrage of stabs with no way to avoid it.

"I once heard a story about a master from a certain family who sold his family’s martial arts skills."

The spear master did not respond and continued thrusting. A quick, heavy thrust. But none of them reached Yoo Joonghyuk.

In short, it was a technical limitation. The limit of technology that can be developed under the limited category of 'class'.

Nevertheless, his stab failed to hit Yoo Joonghyuk. It was proof that Yoo Joonghyuk's martial arts skill level was higher.

"Is this the only level you have reached after putting aside your family and skills?"

[I am the 'Spear Master!]

Finally, the Spear Master could not stand it anymore and growled.

[I practiced the spear longer than anyone else and received admiration as a reward for my efforts. This <Star Stream> recognized me. I am the 'King of Spears' of the <Star Stream>!]

"King of Spears? It looks like you haven’t met the 'Ancestor of Mankind' yet."

The progenitor of mankind. I also remembered that constellation.

Among the constellations that Yoo Joonghyuk fought, the constellation that used weapons the best.

"I’m sick of people calling themselves 'kings'."

There was deep darkness in the voice that came out.

"The Sword King, the Apprentice, the King of Fighters, the Emperor of Fist… they were guys who trained for hundreds of years on the time fault of the Dark Dimension. They were funny guys who threatened to cut off the heads of the Constellations someday."

Every time a Constellation title was mentioned, the 'Spear Master's' expression changed.

[W-what nonsense are you talking about? How did you get their names—]

"You are the worst of them all."

With a thudding sound, the Spear Master's new form was pushed away. He was crying and blood was pouring out. He had suffered great damage from the previous blow.

The spear master glared at Yoo Joonghyuk in disbelief.

[That can’t be possible. That can't be possible.]

As Yoo Joonghyuk took a step closer, the spear master also took a step back.

[I am the Master of Spears! Having practiced only one spear for hundreds of years—]

"Only a few hundred years."

The Spear Master’s shoulders shook as if he couldn't understand the indifferent voice.

[You… Who on earth are you?]

"A human who has been practicing for a little longer than hundreds of years."

[Bullshit-]

A rough, bouncing sibilant sound. The two changgeuks tied together swirled and emitted magical power.

The Spear Master did not know how long Yoo Joonghyuk had lived. He had no idea what time or what round he endured to get here.

Still, he felt it instinctively. The being in front of him is a monster. It is pitch-black darkness that cannot be illuminated by the light of the stars(?).

[The Constellation 'Spear Master' opens up the ranks!]

[The Bureau warns the 'Spear Master'.]

He was afraid of the unknown that the darkness held.

[The Constellation’s status as 'Spear Master' exceeds the scenario’s probability limit!]

[Some Constellations are starting to take interest in the battle.]

So the 'Spear Master' decided.

Even if it means breaking the rules of the scenario, he decided to kill the monster growing before his eyes with his own hands.

[I'm glad I met you now.]

The whole body of the 'Spear Master' who withstood the probability was hit by a storm.

[I will tear you to pieces and kill you before you grow any further.]

The two weapons collided and a loud noise erupted again.

I called out to Yoo Joonghyuk amidst the exploding dust.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

It cannot be done. If we fight here now, Yoo Joonghyuk will lose. Even if Yoo Joonghyuk was ahead in terms of skill and proficiency, the opponent was a 'Constellation' anyway.

Kudddddddd!

To put my worries to naught, Yoo Joonghyuk was fighting well.

Jinjueonga's style and Yoo Joonghyuk's Breaking the Sky intertwined, brightening the night sky.

It is truly a battle of the Baek Middle Ages.

Even though I thought about helping Yoo Joonghyuk, I couldn't take my eyes off the dazzling battlefield.

[The constellation 'Reclining Dragon' watches the battle.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' watches Yoo Joonghyuk's battle.]

[Some Constellations expect this battle to never end.]

The 'Spear Master' is a being of the highest rank among Historical-grade. Jung Heewon, who opened the first stage of Transcendents, was also a strong opponent who was no match for him.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk was equal in strength with the 'Spear Master', with only one story engraving activated.

「In that short period of time, Yoo Joonghyuk grew again.」

I realize once again that that person is Yoo Joonghyuk.

He is the protagonist of 『Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World』 and the embodiment of the strongest person on earth.

And this damned world was a place where a person with overwhelming talent could not see the true end even if he regressed thousands of times.

Crumble.

The balance of the battle was lost, and blood began to spurt from Yoo Joonghyuk's shoulders and thighs.

[Hahahahaha—What a pity!]

The Spear Master smiled happily.

Looking at Yoo Joonghyuk's expression hardening, I quickly realized what the problem was.

His spear was swinging as if it would break at any moment.

I used all my remaining strength to lift up Jung Heewon's body. And then jumped into the battlefield.

A sharp crash of waves that surrounds the entire body.

[This is a distraction.]

The lightly surging waves blew away the body of Jung Heewon, who was rushing towards him.

Even though I was hit and bounced by the waves, I did not lose my sanity. Because starting now was important.

[Exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is released!]

While the Spear Master focused his attention on Jung Heewon, I woke up to my original body. A distant pain surged from my side where there was a hole, but I gritted my teeth and endured it.

I immediately took out the sword from my pocket and threw it at Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

The sword that flew rapidly along the [Way of the Wind] was held in Yoo Joonghyuk's right hand.

Although it was not a holy sword like the 'Raybringer', it was a weapon that could exert as much power as a holy sword, at least against demons.

'Unbreakable faith'.

Yoo Joonghyuk immediately infused magic into 'Unbreakable Faith'.

[Activates 'Blade of Faith'.]

[The special option of 'Unbreakable Faith' is activated.]

[Ether attribute is converted to 'Divinity'.]

Yoo Joonghyuk's ether blade, converted to divine properties, traced a trajectory.

The left arm of the 'Spear Master' flies like a hallucination.

The astonished 'Spear Master' testified.

[You, that sword is—]

Yoo Joonghyuk stormed out without giving him any time to rest. Yoo Joonghyuk's rebellious swordsmanship, which had great synergy with the 'Blade of Faith', turned the wave of the 'Spear Master' into tatters.

Originally, this would have been impossible due to the difference in status, but in this 'scenario', it was different.

The demons of this forest were designed to take enormous damage from 'holy attribute' items.

[Kaaaaaaat—]

Nevertheless, the Spear Master resisted until the end.

Red and white magic collided, creating a massive explosion.

While holding Jung Heewon in my arms, I reflexively rolled around on the floor.

The entire forest became incandescent and the aftereffects of the magic wave exploded.

A warm feeling passed through the back of my head.

After a while, I raised my head and looked at the epicenter of the explosion. Yoo Joonghyuk, now in tatters, was catching his breath with his sword stuck on the floor.

The incarnation body of the 'Spear Master' standing opposite was not visible. Only the 'Wolgeuk' stuck on the floor was trembling as if it recognized its true owner.

[The constellation 'Spear Master' suffered a terrible blow and left the scenario.]

Yoo Joonghyuk won.

[High-level demon 'Spear Master' has been defeated!]

[You have become a major contributor to the scenario!]

[You can obtain additional rewards when you finally clear the scenario.]

[The new story that is germinating is influenced by your achievements.]

Yoo Joonghyuk grabbed his Wolgeuk that had fallen on the floor and turned to me.

"You were alive?"

"Did you wish I were dead?"

I answered with a grin.

But to be honest, I felt like I was going to die soon. There was so much blood flowing from my pierced side. I blinked as if I was about to faint at any moment.

Yoo Joonghyuk stared at me with one of his eyes, as if he didn't like me, and took out a golden pill from his arms and threw it.

He then sat down next to me and shifted into his lotus position.

"To defeat the great demons, we need to save up our strength. Because of you, we wasted unnecessary strength."

I was dumbfounded by the one-sided notice, and then belatedly looked down at the pill that Yoo Joonghyuk had given me.

And after a while.

I was so startled that my eyes narrowed.

Oh my god, this is a 'Daehwandan'.

What is Daehwandan?

The greatest martial arts guru who can gain a double amount of magical power by eating just one pill, only gave up such a treasure for recovery purposes?

This bastard. Are you a good guy?

I shook my head at the foolish thought that suddenly occurred to me.

This guy isn't a bad guy, but he's not a good guy either.

It just means that Yoo Joonghyuk is also desperate for this scenario.

I split the Daehwandan and ate half, and fed the other half to Jung Heewon, who had collapsed.

Jung Heewon who was convulsing due to the side effects of [Madness] gradually began to stabilize when the effect of 'Daehwandan' took effect.

I managed to take a breather, but I couldn't say that the situation was good at all. Above all, the number of people unable to move increased by two.

—Writer!

A welcome message came just in time.

—Sorry. I tried to help right away, but I was also held back...

Ji Eunyu, who stuck her head out between the long bushes, was covered in dust all over. Judging by the thin cuts on her arms and legs, it appears that there were more demons remaining in the area.

I waved my hand, thinking it was okay.

Ji Eunyu opened her mouth first, as if she knew what I was going to say.

"Don’t say anything. Just stay."

"…"

"You saw what kind of people they were. There were three more high-level demons like that. No, there may have been more than that."

There are three high-level demons who chased after Goo Seonah and <Kim Dokja Company>. Even if there was only one monster like the 'Spear Master' involved, the situation would not be good.

"We can’t let them die."

"I know. But—"

Thanks to taking 'Daehwandan', the wound on my side healed quickly. There was no problem in moving my body right away.

"I know that Seonah-ssi is hostile towards me. Still, shouldn’t we talk? If there are any misunderstandings, we should resolve them."

"What if she’s not someone you can talk to? What if Goo Seonah is an unexpected villain?"

I looked at Ji Eunyu without answering. Ji Eunyu must have sensed my gaze and also closed her mouth.

Sometimes silence creates deeper understanding than a hundred words of explanation. This is especially true for Ji Eunyu and me.

Because we are people who created the same work.

She is the one who understands what I left behind better than anyone else. Even if I don't write it down, she will already know what I'm going to say.

And she probably knows better than anyone else that that sentence can never be modified.

Ji Eunyu lowered her head and spoke in a low voice.

"Ha... Is this how you feel, Yoo Sangah?"

"I'll be back soon, so please stay here. Please take care of the two of them."

"If anything happens, I will run away alone, so please come back quickly."

With a bitter smile, I glanced at Yoo Joonghyuk, who was having a good luck breakfast, and Jung Heewon, who had fainted, and immediately started running along the forest path.

There were traces of Goo Seonah and her group all over the grass, as well as the flags of the high-ranking demons who chased them.

A powerful energy was felt not far away. My heart was pounding. A somewhat familiar vibe.

I knew someone with a similar energy.

'The Demon King of Salvation'.

Although it was a little foreign, it definitely felt similar to my sponsor.

Maybe there is Kim Dokja around here?

When I finally made my way through the grass, I found the bodies of fallen high-level demons.

The corpses of demons were horribly torn apart.

When I slowly raised my head, I made eye contact with someone standing across the grass looking at me.

My brother, who looked exactly like me, was standing there.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

775 Episode 35 Demon King Qualifications (1)

A chill passed over the nape of my neck.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' frowns.]

It started with 'Heir of the Eternal Name'.

[The story 'Recorder of Things that will Disappear' expresses sorrow.]

[The story 'One Who Rewrites Fate' gazes at fate.]

The stories I possessed were reacting to that being. It was warning me.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' expresses hatred.]

To eliminate that being in front of me.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' says that name is for only one person.]

If I leave that being alone, it will threaten me.

But I shook my head.

"If you can't control stories, you will live according to the stories' will."

More than anything, I knew who that 'Kim Dokja' was.

"Goo Seonah-ssi." The moment I called her name, a loud thunder rumbled in the sky.

Was someone else in the distance overdoing the probability?

A pitch-black darkness was flowing out from the sky that was cracked as if it would break at any moment.

[The probability constraints of the scenario weaken.]

In any case, it made it easier for me.

[The worldview turns its eyes to the probability collision area.]

As the worldview constraints weakened, the restrictions on speech loosened. Now, I could have a free conversation with Goo Seonah.

"Goo Seonah-ssi. Let's stop now."

Goo Seonah. I recalled the information I knew about her. There might be some clue left inside me that could convince her.

Her ID is strawberry1137.

Reader level 46.

Reading count 8 times.

Judging from her ID, she's probably someone who likes strawberries. 1137 might be some kind of anniversary.

For example, March 7th of the 11th year. I shook my head. This wasn't enough. I needed more information about her.

[Use 'Reader Comment List' on the person.]

* You can check the comments written by the reader using coins.

* Currently, there are 3 comments that can be checked for free.

A skill that I didn't use often because I felt uncomfortable looking at other people's comments. But now, there was no other way.

When I activated the skill, the comments she had left came to mind one by one.

> No, does this make sense? No matter what, it makes sense to split the reader in half? This is really the author's fault.
>
> —(Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, Chapter 516)

He's back, right? He's back, right? He's back? She smiled brightly! Sooyoung can't be so bright if it's not the case! —(Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint, Chapter 551)

> I recently told my friend about this novel.. He said it was fun.. Happy...
>
> —(Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint, Chapter 551)

Somehow it didn’t feel real.

I thought of Goo Seonah I saw in Chungmuro. Her expression was somehow poisonous and her eyes were strong. She didn’t trust people easily.

The Goo Seonah in the Internet comment window was different from the Goo Seonah I knew. Her comments were lively, her joy and sadness were clear, and I couldn’t sense even a shadow.

I read and reread the last comment she wrote. Then, a conversation suddenly came to mind.

To be exact, it wasn’t my memory, but the memory of the acting person 'Kim Kyungsik' that I had absorbed.

In my memory, the two of them were sitting on the platform in Chungmuro and chatting away.

The memory was damaged, so I couldn’t hear most of the conversation well, but I could hear a few words from Goo Seonah clearly.

「"There's someone I need to find."」

Goo Seonah's expression as she said those words was also vivid.

「"If I possessed someone in this world, that guy would definitely be here too."」

Maybe this is why I can't ignore her.

Her life is not here. So I have a duty to send her back to her own world. I've always thought that way.

"Goo Seonah, what on earth have you done?"

Goo Seonah, whose eyes met mine, had a face that was even more like 'Kim Dokja' than 'Jungchul'.

She tilted her head with a subtle smile.

Her gaze fell on the floor. There were the mortal bodies of the incarnations that were limp.

I've never talked to them directly, but they were all faces I knew.

Students from Class A.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' cries out in pain while feeling nauseous!]

They were students who were the terminal incarnations of <Twelve Zodiac Signs>.

[The Constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' breaks the brick house in agony!]

[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' bites his nails and goes into a seizure!]

The screams of the Constellations echoed in my ears.

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' goes into a frenzy.]

[The Constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' goes into a frenzy.]

[The Constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' goes into a frenzy.]

Goo Seonah, who has become even more like 'Kim Dokja' than before.

The incarnations that are dropping as if they are dead.

The Constellations are in pain.

"I just made it easier for you."

Goo Seonah was saying.

"You know that too. These guys, they barely have any 'reader' egos left. So I'm going to cut out that part and put it in a bag."

"Then the readers—"

She smiled brightly and pointed at herself with her thumb. The intense and ominous feeling felt from her whole body,

[The story 'The Master of the Heart-Bearer' is out!]

She had absorbed the 'Kim Dokja fragments' that the Constellations of <Twelve Zodiac Signs> had.

"Why are you looking at me like that? They're the ones who harassed us. You must have had a hard time because of them too."

That's right. I had a hard time because of them too.

In particular, when I met the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' in the <Twelve Zodiac Signs> scenario, I almost died.

But they weren't hostile to me from the beginning.

The 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes', the 'Pig in a Brick House', and the 'Nail-eating Rat' were the same.

At Geumho Station, at Chungmuro Station, and even during 'The Sponsor Selection(?).'

They were the Constellations who cheered me on the most. Maybe that's why I was always reluctant to confront them sincerely.

Even if they had almost no 'Reader' soul left, even if only 1 percent of the soul fragments remained, it was okay. For that 1 percent, I could have thrown myself at them over and over again to save them.

But.

"I just did what you did. We're the same."

I unconsciously took a step back as I watched Goo Seonah calmly spread her arms.

"So let's just be one, Kim Dokja."

Until now, I believed that there was a minimum level of good. I wanted to believe that she would at least not touch the same 'reader'.

But she crossed that line as if it were a joke.

"You're really good at talking like Nirvana."

It was only one step.

In that one step, Goo Seonah's white hand, which had come close to my nose, reached out toward my neck.

I reflexively swung my 'Unbreakable Faith' and swatted her hand away. Even though it hit her hand, there was a sharp, metallic sound.

Her entire hand was shining like a fresh fingernail.

I looked into the story.

The story of the 'Nail-Eating Rat'— 「The Cornered Fingernail」. A story that strengthens a part of the body to a level close to a sacred relic.

I swung my sword once more. Her nails and the sword clashed several times, and the magical power that came into contact was canceled out and turned into a loud noise. Judging from the level of recoil, the amount of magical power and physical strength that each of us had were similar.

Goo Seonah smiled brightly.

"I will kill the 'Daemajok'. You just get out of here."

"Why on earth are you doing this?"

"I didn't start this. You started this."

"You haven't even heard my story yet! You didn't even ask what happened between me and Kim Kyungsik-ssi, or what you saw!"

Goo Seonah's nails that had been clashing fiercely stopped for the first time.

"Kim Kyung-sik."

I nodded.

Finally, my chance to speak had come.

What she saw that day was a misunderstanding, and while it's true that I absorbed Kim Kyungsik-ssi's soul, I never killed him. That's what I tried to explain.

"I forgot. Did you think I was doing this because of that old man?"

It wasn't because of Kim Kyungsik?

Then why on earth does Goo Seonah have such strong hostility toward me?

The crackling sound erupted once again, and we simultaneously took three or four steps back.

Goo Seonah stared at me with clear eyes. Then she frowned as if she was displeased.

"You really don't know?"

"What do you mean?"

"You made everything happen with this and forgot about it yourself?"

Goo Seonah let out a strange laugh and raised her hand. Soon, she snapped her fingers.

My heart felt cold.

The soul she had absorbed, 'Christina Page's' special skill, had been activated.

[Character 'Goo Seonah' activates 'Daily Corpse Lv. 10'!]

[Daily Corpse is a skill that causes the soul to separate from the body as soon as it is activated. But I have a countermeasure.]

「I am 'Kim Dokja' who cannot be hypnotized.」

But the moment I activated [Incite], I realized something was strange.

I was not the one on whom she activated [Daily Corpse].

"I'll make you remember."

[Character 'Goo Seonah' activates 'Hypnosis Incite Lv. 10'.]

At the same time, incarnations came out from all over the bushes, trembling.

They were all familiar faces.

Lee Hyunsung, Lee Jihye, Kim Namwoon, and even Shin Yoosung.

Perhaps due to the influence of [Daily Corpse], the four people's eyes were empty.

Lee Hyunsung moved at the same time as Goo Seonah's nod.

[Character Lee Hyunsung activates 'Mountain Breaker Lv. 9'!]

Lee Hyunsung's huge fist slammed into the ground. The dirt floor flipped over as if there was an earthquake, and a ringing sound was heard. While my senses were disturbed, Lee Jihye and Kim Namwoon rushed forward, piercing through the dust.

Kaga River!

I held 'Unbreakable Faith' and 'Sain Chamsagum' in pairs and struck back at the two's attacks. My palms were tingling from the heavy blows.

Next came Shin Yoosung. The 8th-grade sea creatures controlled by the child began to play together.

['Naggak Ensemble' is starting!]

However, the Naggak Ensemble was not toward me, but was rising in a completely different direction, creating dissonance.

Goo Seonah frowned and said.

"Shin Yoosung, do it right."

As I watched Shin Yoosung's trembling shoulders, a strange dissonance arose in my heart as well.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' laughs brightly.]

I wanted to save up some strength for the final battle. But now I had to admit it.

Goo Seonah is strong. If she can control such strong characters at will, she might be considered superior to the 'higher-level demons'.

She has collected that many 'Kim Dokja fragments'.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' begins its storytelling as if it had been waiting for it.]

If it had been before, it would have been a power that I would have used after watching the situation. But now that the world's gaze is focused elsewhere, it would be okay.

[One of the 'Demon King of Salvation's' stories awakens due to the effect of 'Heir of the Eternal Name'.]

[The story 'Bug Slaughter' can now be used temporarily.]

Story, 『'Bug Slaughter』.

It was the story that the 'Demon King of Salvation' obtained after defeating the demon count 'Tentachio' in the Dark Castle.

「A tale of overwhelming power when the opponent is 'weaker than you'.」

Of course, Lee Hyunsung was too strong to apply this 'tale'. Kim Namwoon, Lee Jihye, and maybe even Shin Yoosung were incarnations who could easily overwhelm me with their immediate performances.

But there was something they could never surpass me.

「That's the 'strength' of the real story.」

Hmm, I took a deep breath and immediately put a stop to the strength that I had been holding back.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation (Agent)' reveals his strength!]

The movements of Lee Hyunsung and his party stopped in their tracks at the sudden release of strength.

I didn't miss that moment and activated my skill.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.10' is activated!]

In fact, I didn't want to use this skill on people I knew. But now, there was no other way.

I placed my hand on Lee Hyunsung's shoulder as he rushed toward me.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite' is in sync with 'Insect Massacre'.]

Suddenly, that thought occurred to me.

Maybe dreaming isn't just about the 'oldest dream'.

「This world is a huge [Incite]. All beings are just moving from one dream to another.」

Yoo Joonghyuk, Cheon Inho, Asmodeus, Goo Seonah, and Ye Hyunwoo. They all have their own dreams. They also fight to bring the characters to their own dreams.

Perhaps, I am the same.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite' exerts an overwhelming influence on incarnations of lower rank than you!]

However, as always, there is something you must do first to dream a new dream.

"Hyunsung-ssi."

Wake up from the 'old dream'.

"Do you remember the trumpet sound?"

Lee Hyunsung's shoulders began to shake like crazy.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

776 Episode 35 Demon King Qualifications (2)

"This, this, Private Lee Hyunsu—!"

Lee Hyunsung, foaming at the mouth, had a seizure and collapsed.

Goo Seonah's eyes, watching from afar, widened.

"How—"

I poked Lee Hyunsung's shoulder as he collapsed. Lee Hyunsung, who had completely lost consciousness, only repeated faint convulsions.

As I watched him drooling, I thought that this operation would not work. Even if breaking Goo Seonah's hypnosis was the most urgent task, the characters also had human rights.

I quickly passed Kim Namwoon, Lee Jihye, and Shin Yoosung and said.

"From now on."

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.10' is activated!]

"You all will wake up from hypnosis."

The characters that touched my fingertips convulsed like Lee Hyunsung. But they didn’t foam at the mouth or scream in trauma like that.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 10' conflicts with 'Daily Instigation Lv. 10'!]

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 10' conflicts with 'Hypnosis Incite Lv. 10'!]

A spark of probability flew from the air, and soon the characters collapsed on the spot like puppets with their strings cut.

Goo Seonah, who only then realized what I had done, approached me and said.

"[Incite], I guess you can use it like this."

"Let’s stop now. I can subdue you in the same way."

"Me? It won’t work on me? Because [Incite]—"

Goo Seonah, who had closed the distance in an instant once again, reached out to me.

"It’s only effective against opponents with a lower 'rank' than you, right?"

「The nail in the corner aimed for my neck. I quickly tilted my upper body back to dodge the attack and activated [Incite] at the same time.」

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 10' is activated!]

"You are now—"

The skill was nullified with a sound of 'Tsutsut'.

[The activation of 'Incite' was canceled.]

Goo Seonah was laughing.

"I told you it wasn't possible?"

In fact, it wasn't impossible. If her rank wasn't that far behind, it was theoretically possible to resist [Incite] using 「Insect Massacre」.

But even if she had collected a lot of 'Kim Dokja Fragments', would she have a rank that wouldn't be pushed back by me, the agent of the 'Demon King of Salvation'?

I held 'Unbreakable Faith' tightly with both hands and released my magical power.

['Blade of Faith' is activated!]

This was a quick and easy decision.

I had consumed 'DaeHwan-Dan' and had sufficient magical power. It would be best to subdue Goo Seonah as quickly as possible and go deal with the Demon Tribe.

However, Goo Seonah was not about to be easily defeated.

"Kim Dokja insisted on that weapon until the very end. I really didn't like that."

The pure white 'Ravelinger' glowed in Goo Seonah's hand.

"Why did he insist on that one when there were so many items?"

The 'Blade of Faith' and 'Ravelinger' clashed, bathing the place in bright light.

'Ravelinger' is a weapon that exerts power beyond that of a holy relic in this world.

[Character 'Goo Seonah' activates the skill 'Moonlight Sword Technique Lv. 10'!]

Moonlight Sword Technique.

The sword technique that Bihyung first recommended, and one that Kim Dokja did not purchase.

Goo Seonah chose that sword technique and learned it. As if to prove that Kim Dokja was wrong.

"The path that Kim Dokja took is not the only right one."

「Moonlight Sword Technique, whose proficiency was at its peak, stabbed my shoulder and thigh. I barely activated Baekcheongganggi to block the attack, and then I saw the iron club held in Goo Seonah's left hand.」

Her main weapon that made her known as the 'Iron Club Lady'.

[Character 'Goo Seonah' activates the skill 'Cheonryeongchu Lv.10'!]

The iron club flying in from a certain direction narrowed my range of movement, and there was no room to dodge [Moonlight Sword Technique].

As if it had been waiting, the Ravelinger emitted light.

A vein burst from my chest and pain consumed my mind.

"Your physique is terrible. Your combat proficiency is also low. How on earth have you survived until now?"

Goo Seonah continued to push me as if mocking me.

"Are you by any chance a one-trick pony like Kim Dokja?"

I realized something new.

We all read the same story of the world, but the way we understand it is different. There is no guarantee that someone who reads the same book repeatedly will necessarily 'read' better.

Perhaps someone who reads it once can understand the story better than someone who reads it a hundred times.

And this was Goo Seonah's reading.

The reading that only 'Goo Seonah' experienced, and that I and other readers did not experience.

She survived in this world with that experience. Learning the Wolyeonggeom method with one hand and Cheonchu with the other.

At the point where she was competing on equal footing with me, the agent of the 'Demon King of Salvation', her reading was already proven.

She barely achieved the same level as my story after fighting with 'gods of the other world' and fighting a life-or-death battle. Of course, the way she formed her 'level' was somewhat different from mine.

「She supplemented the insufficient quality of the story with the quantity of the stories, and strengthened the cohesion of the story with 'Kim Dokja Fragments'.」

The small stories embedded in her entire body were talking to me as if they were screaming.

[The story 'The Exciting Nail' wants to imitate you!]

[The story 'Rice Cake, More Rice Cake than Meat' looks at you.]

[The story 'A Brick House That's Good for Hiding' shows interest in you.]

The Tiger Eating Rice Cakes. The Rat Eating Nails. The Dog Throwing Itself into a Flame. Pig in a Brick House...

The stories of the <Twelve Zodiac Signs> constellations were inhabiting her body and forming a single constellation.

[The story 'Master of the Twelve Zodiac Signs' shines brightly.]

That was the story she had.

The story, 「Master of the Twelve Zodiac Signs」.

A story that ties together the stories of the <Twelve Zodiac Signs> that were scattered everywhere.

「The Wisdom of Animals to Fight Against the Tale of the Great with the Power of Great People.」

Thus, the leader of the <Twelve Zodiac Signs>, who had never been born in the main story of 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'—was momentarily revealed before my eyes.

"I won't lose."

The moment I heard those words, I felt a sense of realization. How long had she planned this stage?

"I will never do that to you. Even without items! Even without colleagues!"

Goo Seonah, gritting her teeth and swinging her blade and iron club, was fierce. The history she lived left fatal scars all over my body.

「Wow, this chapter was really fun!」

One, and then another, as each and every slash increased, I thought of the comments she left.

「But does he like Yoo Sangah or Han Sooyoung?」

She was the reader who liked Kim Dokja more than anyone else—Kim Dokja's choice.

「Wow, I would never have done that if it were me. As expected of Kim Dokja!!」

I didn't know what made her so sad. That's why I wanted to understand her anger.

I was curious about her purpose and motivation.

Even at this moment, when I was enduring such intense attacks.

「I was thinking that I even wanted to write this story.」

"Aaaaaaaah—!"

Goo Seonah's kick, seizing the opportunity, struck my abdomen. The moment my breath caught in my throat, the iron club aimed at my heart moved.

「How much effort did Goo Seonah have to put in to become this strong?」

All of her actions turned into sentences in my head. I even thought that it wouldn't be bad to die here.

Strangely, what came to mind at that moment was the face of Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st round.

「"As long as you don't give up on life, I will continue to use you."」

I still haven't kept my promise from back then. I promised not to make this story a tragedy, so I can't die yet.

I can't die.

[The 'Blade of Faith' burns brightly!]

I concentrated my saved magic power and struck the iron club with the blade. I put strength into my heel and took a stance, then felt the wind blowing.

[Way of the Wind.]

Goo Seonah's body staggered in the fierce wind that swept in.

"You—"

The stories of the <Twelve Zodiac Signs> howled loudly throughout Goo Seonah's body.

「The Rat's Dexterity」

「The Tiger's Strength」

「The Rabbit's Leaping Power」

「The Snake's Recovery Power」

...

When the fragments of the stories of the <Twelve Zodiac Signs> simultaneously raised their voices, my head felt dizzy. However, I also had a 'story fragment' for moments like this.

[Story fragment, 'Understanding of the Unemployed' begins its storytelling.]

Story fragments obtained in exchange for clearing Zone 13.

There, I helped animals that had lost their homes, had lost their way, or had lost their stories.

「Understanding of the Unemployed.」

And in return for that help, I barely managed to obtain a line of understanding.

[Story fragment 'The Tiger's Strength' senses your gaze.]

Goo Seonah's muscular strength, which had been running towards me, rapidly weakened.

[Story fragment 'Understanding of the Overthroned' senses your gaze.]

Her feet, which had been positioned at the right place at the right time, slowed down.

[Story fragment 'Rabbit's Leaping Power' satisfies your understanding.]

Her movements as she jumped back became dull.

I didn't miss that gap and struck her hand holding the iron club hard.

The iron club rolled on the floor in vain.

[Story fragment 'Master of the Twelve Zodiac Signs' fumbles with its storytelling.]

The effect of the story fragment 「Understanding of the Overthroned」 is very simple.

Becoming the 'only understander' of the beasts.

As long as I have this story fragment, the constellations of the animal kingdom cannot truly be hostile to the being with this story fragment.

[Story fragment 'Tiger's Strength' stops its storytelling.]

[Story fragment 'Rat's Footwork' stops its storytelling.]

[Story fragment 'Rabbit's Leaping Power' stops its storytelling.]

…

[Story fragment 'Master of the Twelve Zodiac Signs' stops talking.]

The moment Goo Seonah, who was watching the futile collapse of story fragments, suddenly came to her senses, I grabbed her shoulder without missing a moment.

"It's the end, Goo Seonah-ssi."

Goo Seonah's knees buckled as she heard the voice filled with [incite]. Nevertheless, she resisted until the end.

Her lips were tightly clenched. Tears of blood flowed from her eyes glaring at me.

"This is unreasonable."

That's right. This fight is unfair.

This is because our 'reading' and the text given to us were not fair in the first place.

"I know it would end up like this anyway, that expression is annoying."

I had nothing to say in protest about this unfair fight. I just hoped she would give up.

After struggling for a long time, Goo Seonah finally lowered her head.

"Stop wasting time and kill me."

"I won't kill you."

"You're going to kill me anyway, just like you did to Kyungsik."

"I didn't kill Kyungsik-ssi."

"Don't lie. You—"

[Character 'Goo Seonah' activates 'Lie Detection Lv. 8'!]

[Character 'Goo Seonah' confirms that what you said is true.]

Goo Seonah looked up at me blankly.

"Really... You didn't kill him?"

"How many times have I said I didn't kill him?"

"Why? You're Kim Dokja. Didn't you want to be the only Kim Dokja?"

It's true that my story keeps talking about such things.

However, just because my story says so, it doesn't mean I have to act accordingly.

"I just don't want this world to end in tragedy."

But Goo Seonah seemed to find my answer funny.

"Do you think you have the right to say such things?"

"Huh?"

"You... Do you really not know how this 'world' came into being?"

"How could I know that?"

"I see. You still don't have a fragment of 'that memory'…"

Goo Seonah muttered, looking up at the distant sky.

"I don't know if you haven't gotten it, or if someone is preventing you from regaining that memory…"

"Do you know how this world came into being, Seonah-ssi?"

"Are you curious?"

Goo Seonah began to laugh as if she had just thought of something. As if what was about to happen would be some kind of refreshing revenge against me.

"Absorb me. Then you will know the answer you were looking for."

I frowned.

"Why? You don't like it?"

"Seonah-ssi."

"Aren't you curious? Why did your sponsor, which you were looking for so desperately, end up like that? Why did 'Kim Dokja' have to be torn apart into several pieces?"

A cool breeze blew down my spine.

Goo Seonah was smiling brightly as if she already knew what choice I would make.

"Why didn't the 'Kim Dokja' we knew return to <Kim Dokja Company>? Aren't you really curious?"

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

777 Episode 35 Demon King Qualifications (3)

---

I had been asked a similar question a while ago.

【Do you really want to know? Even if the truth could ruin you forever?】

The owner of the voice said. You will be able to know the truth when you reach the final chapter of the 'Recycling Center'.

I wondered if that was what it meant.

「Why didn't Kim Dokja return to <Kim Dokja Company>?」

I was curious. Of course I couldn't help but be curious.

"Seonah-ssi, I won't absorb you."

"…"

"No matter how curious I am, I don't want to know the answer that way."

Goo Seonah wasn't someone I could call my colleague. There was a wall as thick as a piece of paper between her and me.

However, I understood her at least in the sentences written on that piece of paper.

Now I know who she was looking for in this world. I also know what kind of person she liked and what kind of sentences she loved. That's why I can't absorb her. Because I want her to exist as a reader who reads this story beyond the paper.

"I don't like that."

Goo Seonah said, glaring at my hand that was holding her shoulder.

"You don't do this. You don't do that. Do you still think this world is just a 'novel'?"

"..."

"Do you think I absorbed other readers because I like it?"

Goo Seonah's eyes sparkled.

No reader wants to absorb the souls of other readers. Goo Seonah must have felt the same way.

"You know. Those who have already been branded as 'Kim Dokja fragments' are all being tracked by the Constellations."

Goo Seonah said, looking up at the sky.

Beyond that sky where lightning strikes, there were definitely nebulae waiting for us.

Those who are trying to control the dreams of this world by collecting 'Kim Dokja fragments'.

"The Recycling Center is protecting us now, but how long do you think that will be possible? They will soon start tracking us."

"..."

"This scenario is our last chance. Our last chance to protect ourselves. Here, as many 'Kim Dokja fragments' as possible must become one. We must become strong enough to stand against those Constellations in the sky."

Goo Seonah's mumbling words almost sounded like a spell.

"We must become a single 'Kim Dokja."

Maybe I knew that too.

But I spoke as if I was rebelling against that fact.

"That's not the only way. Why don't we join forces? Even if we don't become one, we can become a team."

"That's not enough. We're just ordinary people, except for the fact that we have Kim Dokja fragments."

"<Kim Dokja Company> were also ordinary people at first."

"So we can do it too? Do you know what kind of novel this is?"

"It might become a novel someday."

Goo Seonah started laughing like crazy. Then, she suddenly stopped laughing and looked at me.

"As expected, you are 'Kim Dokja'."

The moment I turned around with an eerie feeling, her left hand, which had changed into something like a vice, grabbed my wrist.

Story fragment, 「Memory-biting Snake」.

I thought it was a second chance.

Could it be that this conversation was just a way to buy time to prepare for this?

I quickly activated 「Understanding of the Overthroned」.

[Memory-Biting Snake has no intention of harming you.]

The ability of 「Memory-biting Snake」 is to inject some of its own memories into others.

My vision slowly turned white.

Goo Seonah was faintly smiling in the midst of that.

"I'll make sure you remember clearly. What did you, 'Kim Dokja', do?"

A sentence slowly came to mind in the brightly colored sight.

「This is a story for that one reader.」

That memory starts from the last sentence of 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 written by Han Sooyoung.

---

「I hope many people read this story.」

That was Kim Dokja's first wish.

So he left recommendations on the Internet and left comments. He went around recommending the same story to people.

He got cursed at.

At the time, he didn't understand. Why didn't they read all the interesting stories if they just endured a little?

Now he knows why.

The story that saved him wasn't salvation for others.

Accepting that simple fact was very difficult for Kim Dokja as a child.

「And that story caught the eye of one person.」

When he looked around, the first thing he saw was the bed in the hospital room. As his heart slowly beat repeatedlyt, the plan began to move throughout his body.

Those delicious things came to mind as an example. From the first scenario to the last.

Separating from the group on the subway, becoming a 'long-standing dream', and finally the moment when his soul disintegrated and scattered across the universe, all of it.

"Ha—"

The voice flowing out didn't feel real. He didn't think he would be able to come back.

Still, he came back. He definitely came back.

「This is not a dream.」

Tears welled up with his overflowing emotions and his heart pounded hard.

「Han Sooyoung succeeded.」

He heard someone running outside the hospital room.

A familiar sound and a familiar voice. He wanted to kick the bed and hug them right away. He wanted to tell them that he missed them. But.

[Your current existence restoration is 41%.]

The system message that appeared before his eyes stopped his actions.

「His existence wasn't completely restored, was it?」

He recalled the events that had happened while reading 'Memories of the World.' One, his soul was completed as 'the Oldest Dream' and scattered throughout the universe.

Second. Han Sooyoung wrote a novel to be read by his soul fragments who were reincarnated throughout the universe.

Three, his reincarnated soul fragments read Han Sooyoung's novel and 'Kim Dokja' came to embrace them.

Four, the embrace of 'the oldest dream' became reality.

If that assumption was good, he should have been completely restored and become one Kim Dokja.

But now his soul's restoration is not 100%, not 51%, not 49%, but 41%.

Kim Dokja became anxious as he heard the footsteps of the approaching party.

「Am I what the party wants me to be now?」

「Do I have all my memories of them?」

That fear raised Kim Dokja's body. Although he could not use his full power as 'the oldest dream', he could search the entire world line and regain the remaining memories as he was now.

「Kim Dokja thought.」

Yes, let's recover the remaining lost memories before meeting the group.

「It'll only take a moment.」

It wasn't difficult to find the fragments of memory.

Once he started 'worldline exploration', the pieces that contained his memories were captured heading to 'a certain worldline' all at once.

He followed the flow and floated through the universe.

And finally, he reached the place where the memories were gathered.

The moment he witnessed the shape of the universe, Kim Dokja's heart raced again. It was because he knew where that place was.

「The forgotten 41st Round.」

Kim Dokja was genuinely surprised.

That was a world that even he, the 'Oldest Dream', didn't know about. In a sense, it was a world where existence itself could not be established.

A dream that the 'oldest dream' couldn't have. Because such a world could not exist. Even so, that world existed right before his eyes.

Even,

[Is this the 'Oldest Dream'?]

Someone showed intense hostility to him.

[I can't believe it, I really thought it would come...]

A thousand bees blocked his path.

Stars with dazzling lights that seemed like they could light up an entire galaxy.

Kim Dokja slowly looked around the vast army of stars and recognized the Constellations at the forefront. Kim Dokja knew who those stars were.

[Odin.]

Odin of <Asgard>.

[Zeus. Poseidon.]

Zeus and Poseidon of <Olympus>.

[Mithra.]

Even the Mythical Constellation Mithra of <Vedas>.

The masters of the most famous Nebulae in the <Star Stream> were there.

Normally, the Constellations would have been furious just by hearing their true names. However, no Mythical Constellation dared to object to Kim Dokja's words. The opponent was a 'god' who dreamed of this universe.

The concepts of a fairy tale or a myth had no meaning in front of the 'Oldest Dream'.

[I don't know why you blocked my path, but I'll say it once. Get out of the way.]

The Constellations of the nebulae trembled at the same time at Kim Dokja's words.

Even so, none of the stars moved. Rather, they seemed determined to protect their positions even if it meant burning all of their stories.

[That can't happen.]

It was questionable.

Even if it was a Myth-grade Constellation, there was no way it could refuse his orders. Was that a tribute to the star that had read the most stories in this world?

[Really? Then there's nothing I can do.]

In the end, the moment Kim Dokja raised his hand to clear the Constellations, a light spark flew from his fingertips.

Look at this?

Probability is the will of the Constellations that make up the <Star Stream>.

In other words, it meant that a strong flow that could cause an aftershock to him was restricting his actions.

[There must be a pretty great being behind you.]

Kim Dokja's eyes were filled with interest. A dazzling light swirled around in his hand, and a broken sword appeared.

'Unbreakable Faith'.

The mythical blade that accompanied his story finally revealed itself in the universe.

[If you want to stop it, stop it.]

Nothing can change his determination.

<Kim Dokja Company> revived him. Therefore, he had a duty to return to them as a complete Kim Dokja. For them, Kim Dokja would do anything.

[Stop it!]

As Odin's chant and his sacred relic 'Gungnir' shot down like a meteor, Zeus, Astraphe and Kronos fell down after being struck by lightning.

The screams of the Constellations caught in the storm of stories spread out fiercely.

A joint attack by the highest gods of <Asgard> and <Olympus>. Kim Dokja took on the omnipotent attack that was enough to erase an entire world with just one sword.

Light exploded with a roar, and the longing for a cataclysmic upheaval that shook the entire topography of the universe continued.

In that scenery, Kim Dokja, covered in pitch-black star dust, smiled brightly.

[Kill him! He is just a Constellation!]

The Constellations did not give up and rushed forward. They were determined to block his path no matter what.

When Kim Dokja cut down one Constellation, two rushed forward, and when he cut down three, four rushed forward.

[The probability of the <Star Stream> is moving.]

It was impossible to destroy all the Constellations like this.

In the end, Kim Dokja frowned.

Even though he was the 'Oldest Dream', its power was now vaguely restored. If he used his power incorrectly here, he could get caught up in a probability aftermath and the entire nearby world line could evaporate.

It was best to quickly enter the '41st Round' while responding to the Constellations' power to an appropriate level.

Kim Dokja, who had made up his mind, activated [Way of the Wind].

[Let's go.]

They felt a wind blowing from somewhere, and with a momentary gesture, the canal of Constellations shook. Kim Dokja took advantage of the gap and moved. Faster than lightning or a meteor.

Kim Dokja, who had become a single gust of wind, managed to break through the nebula's net.

[Stop him!]

The weapons that had surged past Kim Dokja's body. Even with the snow flying instead of blood, Kim Dokja did not rest. He just had to go a little further. Just a little further—

「A story he doesn’t know is waiting.」

That’s how he finally touched the 'Void Curtain' of the world line.

[Up to there.]

Someone grabbed his wrist.

Kim Dokja looked down at the hand that was holding him and asked.

[It’s you. The one who moved the Constellations.]

Then the owner of the hand answered.

[Yes. It’s me.]

Kim Dokja slowly looked back at the being.

A being in this universe who dared touch his body and was safe. When he thought about it, there was only one such being.

[You came to find me, right?]

He was the clone he left behind in this world.

[Yes, I came to find you.]

49% of Kim Dokja.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

778 Episode 35 Demon King Qualifications (4)

---

[You came to find me.]

Kim Dokja stared blankly at his clone and tilted his head.

[But no matter how much I think about it, it doesn't make sense.]

[What?]

[How can you exist here?]

Even if the time of the <Star Stream> moved toward the 'empty space' of the story, this was a nonsensical story.

Whether it was 51% or 49%, all of Kim Dokja's soul fragments were disintegrated and scattered into space.

It became the <Star Stream> itself.

If it weren't for the novel written by Han Sooyoung, Kim Dokja wouldn't have survived now.

But how could 49% of his clone exist in such a distant place?

What's even stranger is that the clone in front of him feels like it existed much longer than that.

The clone answered.

[If you exist, it wouldn’t be so strange if I exist.]

[Han Sooyoung didn’t write stories like that.]

The look in the clone’s eyes changed subtly.

[Of course.]

[You are me. I am you. If Han Sooyoung’s story had been successful, we should have been restored as one person.]

[It’s simple. We are no longer 'one'.]

We are not one.

Kim Dokja thought about those words for a moment and then said.

[Let’s go back. There are people waiting for us.]

[They must be people waiting for you.]

[What nonsense are you talking about?]

[Remove your hand and leave.]

[What?]

[The world you are trying to intervene in now is 'my world'.]

Only then did Kim Dokja look at the 'Void Curtain' that he had placed his hand on. The world inside this 'Void Curtain' was a world that even Kim Dokja, who had been the oldest dream, did not know about.

「How could a world he did not know exist?」

The realization came a little too late. The answer to the question was simple.

Because his clone in front of him had become this world’s 'oldest dream'.

He had watched over this world so that it could come to life and its characters could live.

[I see. You… don’t want this world to end, do you?]

The clone didn’t answer.

Kim Dokja let out a light sigh and added.

[You can imagine this place even when you go back. So let’s go back. I’ll read this story with you. You don’t have to carry it alone—]

Since when did it start? The clone that had the same 'Unbreakable Faith' as his had been aiming at his neck.

[What are you doing?]

He was confused.

Why did the clone harbor such strong hostility toward him?

[I just said it. This is my 'world'. I don’t want to read it with you.]

[Where is your world, my world? You…]

He has used [Avatar] many times before, but this has never happened before.

A clone that has escaped the control of the main body.

It was like him yesterday, or him the day before yesterday, suddenly declaring, 'I am Kim Dokja'.

[You really.]

Kim Dokja thought of Han Sooyoung’s avatar that he had met in the 1,863rd Round a long time ago.

That Han Sooyoung had also escaped the control of the main body and had her own ego.

What if the clone in front of him had become that kind of case?

Kim Dokja smiled and asked.

[Who are you?]

[What?]

[Who gathered you?]

The clone’s pupils wavered for a moment.

Kim Dokja didn’t miss the gap and asked.

[As I said, Han Sooyoung has never written a story about you existing like this. That means…]

Kim Dokja slowly raised his voice and spoke.

[Before Han Sooyoung wrote the novel, someone must have collected my 'soul'.]

[Nonsense.]

[Well. Whether this is nonsense or not, it seems like the beings behind you are explaining it.]

Kim Dokja could clearly feel it. The ominous and distant feeling behind the clone's back.

[Everyone, run away! Run away!]

The constellations surrounding them began to sway.

The absolute beings of the universe that made even those constellations tremble in fear.

There was something that held such a powerful aura that it could even be a threat to him, the 'Oldest Dream'.

[I wondered who they were.]

Kim Dokja frowned.

The abyss of this universe is vast. No matter how much he is the 'Oldest Dream', there are beings in this universe who escape his observation or live hidden between the lines.

Beings who are more afraid of being recorded than anyone else, and at the same time, who want to take over the record more than anyone else.

There were definitely those beings behind the clone right now.

[I don't know who tricked you, but you're being fooled right now.]

[It doesn't matter.]

[It doesn't matter? Really?]

Kim Dokja, who had been silently enduring, couldn't hold it in this time.

[There are people waiting for us. Are you thinking of betraying them?]

The clone he left behind was 'Kim Dokja' who existed for <Kim Dokja Company>. Kim Dokja couldn't accept the fact that such a clone refused to return to <Kim Dokja Company>.

[What those people want is you, not me.]

[You're me too.]

['You're me too'.]

The clone smiled subtly once again.

[I think it’s time for me to say that.]

[What?]

[What do you think 'real' is?]

[Are you suddenly going to have a philosophical conversation?]

[If having just a few more percent of memories is what separates 'real' and 'fake'.]

The tension slowly began to boil over in the clone’s entire body. The entire universe rippled and heated up dangerously.

[I think the 'clone' is you now.]

Kim Dokja nodded, watching Kim Dokja aim at him once again.

[Aha, so now the 'real' is you?]

Two Kim Dokjas aim their swords at each other.

Identical coats, identical Unbreakable Faiths.

The only thing that sets them apart is the meaning contained in those beliefs.

[You haven’t forgotten, have you? You’re not 51% anymore.]

Kim Dokja nodded with a grin.

[You’re not the 49% I knew.]

As if announcing the start of war, a meteor fell from somewhere.

「And the fight began.」

---

「Then who the hell am I?」

---

Goo Seonah clearly remembered the moment she first came into this world.

She was at the theater that day. She wasn’t planning to watch a movie, but to attend some fan event.

—Hey, this is my first time here.

She contacted her partner nervously at the theater entrance.

Her partner’s name was Go Jangwon.

His nickname was Go Janggo.

It was because he often said things that sounded like his head was broken.

—Go Jang. Where are you now?

—I took the subway

—What station

—Actually, I just got out of the house.

—I’m going to go back.

—Young-in, we can wait. You know?

—Just die.

While wondering why she had come to like this guy, she was very excited about today’s schedule. After today's event, they should eat something delicious together and go to a cafe and talk about novels all day.

With that thought, she opened the theater door. Not knowing what would happen to her after that.

"It still doesn't feel real."

Goo Seonah clenched and unclenched her fists several times while muttering bitterly to herself.

Several months had already passed since that day.

And she had changed a lot in those months. She no longer talked to strangers. When someone approached her, she was wary, suspicious, and even prepared to kill them if necessary.

It was a world where she couldn't survive if she didn't do that, and she survived.

「Only to meet Go Jangwon again.」

Goo Seonah looked down at the fallen Cheon Inho. No, he was no longer Cheon Inho. His appearance, his physique, and the items he was wearing now resembled 'Kim Dokja' more than anyone else.

[Story fragment 'A Certain Beginning' is shaking!]

Kim Dokja, who was injected with a story fragment, did not stop convulsing as if he had completely lost his senses.

「A Certain Beginning.」

It had been a few weeks since she had obtained this story fragment.

While she was hunting monsters as usual and absorbing the souls of readers who died during the scenario to gain strength, a familiar being appeared in her dreams.

【Honestly, I didn't know you would survive this far.】

"Representative Kim Dokja?"

The being I once met in a dream 'theater'.

"No, should I call you 'Asmodeus'?"

Goo Seon-ah was now able to see through his true identity. It was the result of gathering information from Ye Hyunwoo and other readers and making her own deductions.

[Oh. Am I already that famous?]

"What's your business?"

[I have a 'fragment' I want to give you.]

Goo Seonah obtained 「A Certain Beginning」 at that time. Unfortunately, most of the fragments were lost, so she couldn't obtain complete memories. However, it wasn't hard to guess what happened even with the legend with holes here and there.

「Kim Dokja and Kim Dokja fought.」

As a result of that confrontation, the 'Kim Dokja' she knew was torn into several pieces.

Goo Seonah looked down at the convulsing Kim Dokja.

Is this person really that 'Kim Dokja'?

Asmodeus, who gave her memories, described him like this.

【He is 49% Kim Dokja, the cause of all this.】

Goo Seonah quietly observed Kim Dokja. However, no matter how much she observed, she still felt like she didn’t understand.

The more she thought about it, the more things didn’t make sense.

If this guy was really 49% Kim Dokja, why did he lose all his memories and come here? No, wasn’t this guy a reader who had been living in reality with her and then possessed a character in this world?

What was most unsettling was that there was a subtle difference that she couldn’t explain between the '49% Kim Dokja' she had confirmed in her memories and the 'Kim Dokja' in front of her.

"Ah, I don’t know."

Goo Seonah slowly brought her hand to Kim Dokja’s neck.

She'll know if she absorbs it.

There was only one thing for sure. This man in front of her now had more 'Kim Dokja fragments' than she had ever collected. If she could get these 'Kim Dokja fragments', she would get closer to the one and only Kim Dokja than anyone else.

'Then I can find the cause.'

Goo Seonah took deep breaths.

Her hands kept shaking. This was because she had never taken the 'Kim Dokja fragment' of a living incarnation before. The 'Kim Dokja fragments' she had taken were all of the readers who were on the verge of death or had gone mad.

「"Take my memories."」

It was the same when she absorbed Christina.

Christina, who faced death while carrying out the <Twelve Zodiac Signs> scenario, entrusted the 'Kim Dokja fragment' she had to Goo Seonah.

She took on the burden. The more she embraced it, the stronger she became.

'You can do it. Come to your senses.'

Goo Seonah slapped her own cheek several times. She must do it. She must absorb it.

That's how she can become strong. That's how she can get her friend back.

In the end, Goo Seonah, who had made up her mind, reached out her hand once more.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' rejects you!]

A feeling of something biting her hand came along, along with a surge of excitement.

Tsk tsk tsk.

And Kim Dokja's memories began to come back. Some memories were sad, and some were painful.

There were also memories she knew.

「"Seonah-ssi. Don't make Inho-ssi too uncomfortable. He's not someone who would lie."」

The more she examined her memories, the more she felt that something was wrong.

Was it really the right thing to absorb this guy? Wasn't what she said actually right? Wasn't it necessary for someone to become the only Kim Dokja?

The moment she thought that.

[The story 'Recorder of Things That Will Disappear' begins its storytelling.]

Goo Seonah encountered a story in a corner of his memory.

「Yeong-in-ah. We can date. You know?」

It was the voice of Go Jangwon that she had been looking for.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

779 Episode 35 Demon King Qualifications (5)

---

The voice she had been searching for for so long.

Her fingertips trembled for a moment.

What happened?

Why was Go Jangwon’s voice coming from this guy?

「"Do you know how hard it was for me?"」

Goo Seonah gripped the handle of her sword as she heard that voice.

There was no doubt. This guy had killed Go Jangwon and absorbed him. Otherwise, how could she possibly hear such a story—

「"A good father? What should I do about that? I’m not even married yet and I don’t have any kids…"」

Goo Seonah hesitated and put down the handle of her sword.

Wouldn’t it be okay to listen a little longer, a little longer?

[The story 'Recorder of Things That Will Disappear' continues its storytelling.]

Goo Seonah listened to the story over and over again. She wanted to hear just one more sentence. She wanted to know the truth.

What happened to Go Jangwon? What happened to him?

【You finally succeeded.】

When Goo Seonah turned her head in surprise, there was a doll standing in the rain forest where rain was occasionally pouring down.

Goo Seonah immediately recognized who he was.

"Asmodeus."

A spark shot out from the incarnation of the Demon King whose true name had been called.

"How did you get here?"

【Did you forget? I am also a member of the 'Gourmet Association'.】

Goo Seonah glared at Asmodeus without letting go of her tension.

"What's your business?"

Asmodeus smiled mysteriously and said.

【Killing Kim Dokja.】

"I'm sure you will."

【But you cannot take his soul.】

"What nonsense are you talking about?"

【You are not fit to hold his soul. You are not the main character. Don't you know that too?】

Asmodeus let out a somewhat theatrical sigh. Goo Seonah glared at Asmodeus for a moment and then slowly stood up.

"This guy is mine."

Goo Seonah thought as she looked down at the fallen Kim Dokja.

This guy has memories of 'Go Jangwon'. Until she reads all of those memories, until she finds out what happened, his soul must never be taken away.

【Ah. I see. You were looking for another 'reader'.】

Asmodeus covered his mouth and laughed as if he already knew everything.

【But you seem to be mistaken. The soul you were looking for is not in him.】

"How do you know that?"

【If you want to know the truth, kill him. And give me his soul.】

Goo Seonah bit her lip.

「"Re-reader-ssi!"」

The story was still ringing in her ears in real time.

Goo Seonah said while clenching her fists.

"No. There's still something I need to hear from this guy. So—"

[Hehe, anyway, Kim Dokja fragments—]

Again, a "tsk tsk" sound echoed through the air. And Asmodeus's incarnation began to be engulfed in sparks.

[You'll regret it. 'Theyare coming right now.]

They?

Before Gu Seonah could ask again, Asmodeus's incarnation faded.

[I could stop them, but for now, it's more fun to just watch.]

As soon as Asmodeus's incarnation disappeared, the nearby grass began to rustle. Those who emerged from the forest were faces she knew.

[Found it.]

The incarnations that were smiling strangely at her were there.

Students of Class B. The terminals of the incarnations of <Twelve Zodiac Signs>.

A rat that brought plagues. And a Snake That Cut Off Its Tail.

She also knew the owners of those incarnations. Once members of the Misreading Association, now they are the ones whose egos have been eaten by stories.

There are people who have maintained a similar relationship with her since their personalities changed.

But now.

The moment she saw them, a cold sensation ran up her spine.

Something is different.

[The Constellation 'Rat That Brings Plague' is looking at you.]

[The Constellation 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail' is looking at you.]

The fist that flew in in an instant pierced her stomach. She couldn’t rest properly. Blood burst out with a sound, and a sharp pain surged from her entrails.

[It seems much weaker than I expected.]

It felt like her neck would break at any moment in their grip.

'This can't be happening.'

The 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail' and the 'rat that brings plague' that she knew were already as weak as they could be. After fighting against Cheon Inho repeatedly and getting hit by the aftermath of the probability explosions, she was now so damaged that she could not properly carry out the scenario.

But where on earth did they get this strength?

[After all, I bought an expensive ancestral tablet and a modifier.]

Buying a modifier?

[The higher-ups must not have any space.]

Her heart sank.

According to the principle of the 'Recycling Center', there were two types of Constellations that could intervene in this battlefield.

One was the deep fires of the first class of <Sil-i-ji>.

And the Constellations of the 'Gourmet Association' that supported this high scenario.

However, there was one more way for the other Constellations to intervene in the world.

「What if someone bought the modifiers of the <Twelve Zodiac> Constellations that were floating?」

If those were the Constellations of the 'Giant Nebula'.

Sweat ran down her back.

In that case, the 'Recycling Center' was no longer safe.

[Ah, the guy we were looking for is over there.]

[That Heo Yeo Myeol Geon guy?]

If she opens the story once again and uses the 「Master of the Twelve Zodiac Signs」, will she be able to defeat these guys?

She wasn't sure.

Now, Goo Seonah didn't have much magic left. The previous fight had squeezed the story to its limit.

[Then what about this person?]

[Just kill her.]

The 'Rat That Brings Plague' pulled out its long claw and swung its weapon at Goo Seonah.

A blow that could neither be avoided nor blocked.

The moment she closed her eyes tightly, something heavy collided with her.

[Huh?]

The Constellation staggered from the powerful body slam and dropped Goo Seonah.

When she raised her head, a man with a sturdy build was blocking her way.

"Run away."

It was Lee Hyunsung, who had fainted a moment ago.

"Quickly."

Upon closer inspection, she saw that it wasn't just Lee Hyunsung. Kim Namwoon, standing next to Lee Hyunsung, pursed his lips and said, "Hey, it's going to be fun now."

Lee Jihye, who was next to him, could be seen unsheathing her sword.

"You, take that ahjussi and run away quickly. If he dies, Master will be angry."

It was strange. The [Daily Corpse] and [Hypnosis Incite] she had cast on the characters were completely destroyed.

Now, they had no reason to protect her.

And yet.

"Please."

Shin Yoosung held out her small hand and raised it to Goo Seonah.

"Please save ahjussi."

---

It was a terrible dream.

A dream where Kim Dokja and Kim Dokja aimed their swords at each other. A dream where I couldn't figure out why it happened or why it had to happen.

I floated aimlessly in the center of that dream.

The cracking sound of swords clashing. The sound of something being torn.

I groaned as I felt the vivid pain contained in that sound.

Why did they have to fight? Why does this universe have to exist?

「Youngest.」

Why did we have to be born as 'Kim Dokja'?

My back was wet. I opened my eyes, breathing evenly, and saw the dark cave ceiling.

When I raised my swollen body, I saw someone lighting a fire at the entrance of the cave.

"Goo Seonah-ssi."

She looked exactly like me, but with slightly more delicate lines, and she smiled with a feeble expression.

"What is this?"

"Well, as you can see."

Goo Seonah's appearance was a mess.

There were many new wounds that had appeared in the meantime. A long, torn side and a thigh where a chunk of flesh had fallen off.

What concerned me the most was her blood vessels that had turned dark red.

"What happened?"

"It'll be long if I explain."

Goo Seonah closed her mouth for a moment as if she was organizing her thoughts, and then began to speak.

"I think the Constellations of the giant nebula came in after purchasing the Zodiac."

"No way—"

"It’s not safe here anymore."

"You saved me?"

"…"

"Why? Wasn’t your goal to absorb me?"

Instead of answering, Goo Seonah lowered her head with a bitter smile. It seemed like she didn’t want to answer.

"And what was the memory you showed me?"

"What memory?"

"Kim Dok-ja appears in…"

"Oh, that one."

Goo Seonah picked up a branch hanging from the cave floor and threw it into the fire.

"I don’t know either. It’s not my memory. I got it from someone."

Goo Seonah groaned with her brow furrowed.

I quickly walked over to her and felt her pulse. There was turbid air flowing through her veins.

A blood vessel damaged by the 「Plague」.

Her veins were so severely damaged that they could not be repaired.

"Seonah-ssi."

Goo Seonah said as if she knew her condition well.

"Yes. It's a wound that can't be cured even if I eat 'Dae-Hwan-Dan'."

"We don't know yet. There's also 'Ellein Forest's Essence'—"

"I know. I've read it eight times. I said it can't be done. There's no way."

Goo Seonah shook my hand off as if she was tired and leaned against the cave wall.

Watching her dying in real time, I didn't know what to say.

Goo Seonah said as if she found my appearance funny.

"What are you so worried about? I was trying to kill you just a moment ago."

"That's because of a misunderstanding—"

"Misunderstanding…"

In the meantime, the forest of the demon tribe seemed to have entered a state of calm. The sound of the sickle swordsmanship heard here and there had faded, and no one could scream.

Maybe it meant that there were almost no students left.

"Do you know 'Go Jangwon'?"

I thought for a moment and shook my head.

"Is he a reader?"

"Yes."

I thought about the reader named Go Jangwon.

But I couldn't remember anything in particular.

"I read a little bit from your memory. Why, he was wearing some kind of military uniform."

Military uniform.

"Are you talking about Sergeant Jung Moonho?"

"Jung Moonho?"

"He was the one who possessed Jung Heewon's father."

Goo Seonah's eyes widened.

"I see. That guy was Jung Heewon's father. So that's why..."

Goo Seonah muttered "Jung Heewon" and "father" several times as if she was so happy.

"That kid is still a conscript, but he was a soldier here. Tell me more."

I told her about Sergeant Jung Moonho that I knew.

Goo Seonah listened to me without even a sound of breathing.

I wondered if that was the expression I had when I read Kim Dokja 'Ways of Survival'.

"That bastard went into the Beggar Sect? Ha, that coward."

Sergeant Jung Moonho, who became a servant of the Beggar Sect.

"What? Did he just get beaten up here too?"

Sergeant Jung Moonho, who ended up joining our side, but was beaten like a dog by the Beggar Sect's master in the first round of the non-combat.

"How was he in the end?"

Sergeant Jung Moonho, who threw himself to save his son, Jung Eunho.

A person who willingly sacrificed himself to protect the history of the characters.

「"Good job, Heewon-ah."」

I finally learned his name.

"Yes. That's right."

His name is 'Go Jangwon'

"The black hand took his soul in the end?"

I nodded.

She seemed to know who the 'black hand' was.

Hemoptysis continued once again, and black blood and stories began to flow out from Goo Seonah's body.

"They're here."

"Seonah-ssi."

I knew it too. I had been sensing ominous movements outside the cave since a while ago.

The number was two. Both of them had an energy that surpassed that of the upper-level demons. Maybe those guys were the Constellations of the 'Giant Nebula' that Goo Seonah had mentioned.

I hurriedly picked Goo Seonah up and started running.

How far could I run?

Should I use [Way of the Wind]?

If I call Yoo Joonghyuk or Jung Heewon, will they come in time?

"Do you know what to do?"

Goo Seonah said.

"If you don't do anything again, my soul will be taken away like Jangwon."

"I told you. I have no intention of absorbing you—"

"Have you ever thought about that? Whether we are Kim Dokja or not, it might not really matter. After all, the universe must have started from a single point."

"What the—"

"Just go back to that point. There's nothing to be scared of or afraid of."

An arrow flew from somewhere and grazed my calf, and I fell to the ground.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is mouthwatering.]

Goo Seonah reached out and grabbed my hand. Her memories of her slowly dying began to flow in.

「"Young-in, what are you looking at?"」

In that memory, a man was asking her.

「"A novel."」

「"Is it interesting?"」

The two looked at each other and laughed.

「"What is it about?"」

「"A story where the main character keeps dying."」

If everything was born from one point, would Go Jangwon and Goo Seonah be able to meet again at the end of this story?

The sound of thumping footsteps. The Constellations that were aiming at us were approaching.

"I have one request."

The power of the soul that flowed in filled my whole body.

"Kill the guy who stole Go Jangwon's soul."

My back which was carrying her slowly felt lighter. When I looked back, her body had already scattered. All that remained where she was was a single holy sword, 'Ravelinger'.

[You have obtained a very large 'Kim Dokja Fragment'!]

[Your remaining lifespan increases drastically!]

[A huge amount of 'loss' is recorded!]

I got up from my seat with Ravelinger in my hand.

I saw two Constellations running after harming the water.

[I finally found them.]

'Plague-bringing rat' and 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail'.

To be exact, they were the ones wearing those masks.

Judging from the stories I felt, they seemed to be from <Olympus> or <Asgard>. They had incarnations at their sides. Lee Hyunsung, Kim Namwoon, Lee Jihye, and even Shin Yoosung.

[Today will be a big gain.]

I could guess just from that how strong the Constellations were.

Historical-grade Constellations skilled in one-on-one combat.

They were the perfect cleaners to be dispatched to the Recycling Center from the 'Giant Nebulae'.

[The Constellations of the 'Gourmet Association' are saddened by your end.]

[The Constellations of the 'Twelve Zodiac Signs' are savoring your end.]

In the past, they would have been difficult enemies to deal with.

However.

[Your 'level' temporarily exceeds the scenario limit!]

[The Management Bureau is greatly embarrassed by the level you have!]

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite' is awakened!]

The story inside me was speaking.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is going crazy.]

The moment has finally come for me to inherit 'that power'.

A small horn rises through my head along with the magic flowing out of my body.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation (Agent)' reveals his true level.]

As if they noticed that the situation was taking a turn for the worse, the two Constellations rushed in, throwing the characters aside.

One was a magician. The other was a swordsman. Even when their weapons were right in front of me, I hadn't seen them.

What I saw was the other side of the distant sky.

Two Constellations hiding in the distant galaxy, wearing the shells of the <Twelve Zodiac Signs>.

[The Constellation 'Brothers of the Immortal' sense your gaze!]

[The Constellation 'Forgotten Monster Hunter' is astonished by your gaze!]

The two Constellations that received my gaze glowed fiercely.

I ordered them.

[Burst.]

The sound of a star exploding was heard across the distant universe.

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

780 Episode 36 Real Kim Dokja (1)

---

There is a kind of secret information agency in <Nebula Olympus>. It is known to the world as the 'Hermes System'.

The core mission of the information agency is to collect big data and predict the 'big story'.

And to detect abnormal phenomena in lower scenarios in advance and eliminate elements that could pose a threat to <Olympus>.

[What happened to the Recycling Center?]

In response to Hermes' question, the information agency director 'First Hermaphrodite' confidently answered.

[It seems that the conquest will be over soon.]

[How?]

[I formed a team with the Historical-grade Constellations of the lower scenarios.]

Originally, the lower Constellations of <Olympus> were valuable resources to offset the probability of the scenario.

However, this time, since there was an issue , they had no choice but to replace the Historical-grade Constellations.

[The 'Recycling Center' will probably have restricted access by modifier.]

[I handled that part in a tricky way. Don't worry too much.]

[If It's a trick... ]

[It's a trick, but it's a safe way. I swear on my modifier.]

[Understood. You must obtain the 'Kim Dokja Fragment' there by all means. Otherwise, the Recorders will lose the right to record the 'only story'.]

As Hermes disappeared with a stern warning, the First Hermaphrodite—Hermaphroditus grumbled with a light sigh.

[Damn father. That's easier said than done.]

Of course, Hermaphroditus wasn't that worried even after saying that.

This was because the lineup of the special forces deployed to the 'Recycling Center' was by no means ordinary.

A raid force that included famous Constellations from the martial arts world, those who were sailors of the 'Argo' but whose fame was not widely known, and even forgotten Greek heroes.

With this level of power, even if a 'Narrative-grade Constellation' had appeared, it would have been enough to hunt them down.

No matter who was in the 'Recycling Center', it wouldn't be possible to stop them all.

[Who would be 'Kim Dokja'? I don't know who he is to do this, but…]

Even Hermaphroditus, the director of the Information Bureau, didn't know much about the name 'Kim Dokja'.

All she knew was that it was the real name of the 'Oldest Dream'.

That he was torn to pieces and scattered throughout the scenario area.

<Olympus> had to get their hands on the fragments before any other Constellation.

[An abnormality has occurred in the 'Hermes System'!]

That was when the Information Bureau's emergency light turned on. Hermaphroditus hurriedly ran to the situation room and called her secretary.

[What's going on?]

[That, that... I don't know for sure either!]

There were only three major incidents that had turned on the emergency light in the Hermes' system since she became the agent of the 'Hermes System'.

The first was when Hades, the 'Father of the Rich Night', and Poseidon, the 'Spear that Draws the Boundary of the Seas', collided.

The night sky reflected on the water. The dispute was over whether to acknowledge it as 'night' or 'sea', but fortunately, this was resolved well through Zeus' mediation.

The second time was when <Olympus>, <Vedas>, and <Eden> clashed over the copyright of the 'Resurrection Tale', but the situation that almost escalated into a war of nerves between Mythological Constellations was fortunately dramatically resolved with the appearance of copyright experts from each Constellation.

The last third time was when the 'Oldest Dream' was shattered.

Even she, the director of the Information Bureau, could only read a portion of the report related to this.

She only knew one thing for sure.

「That day, the 'Oldest Dream' they knew was discarded.」

Since the scale of the previous three incidents was enormous, Hermaphroditus couldn't help but be nervous the moment the emergency lights came on. The interval between flashes of the emergency lights shortened depending on the scale of the incident. For example, when the 'Oldest Dream' descended, the emergency lights flashed seven times per second, and when Hades and Poseidon collided, they flashed four times per second.

But this time, they flashed twice per second.

Judging from the flashing interval alone, the scale of the incident did not seem as large as the previous ones.

What was concerning was the color of the flashing lights.

'Yellow?'

Hermaphroditus's eyebrows furrowed as she looked.

The 'yellow light' was turned on when the 'Hermes System's' Information Bureau was in danger.

[Secretary!]

[Director! This way!]

Hermaphroditus ran straight to where the secretary's voice had been heard.

[Kueeeeek!]

The place where the screams were heard was the annex of the situation room. It was where the special department that had been in charge of the 'Recycling Center' attack was located a while ago.

[What the—]

Inside the department, Constellations wearing connecting goggles and diving inside the 'Recycling Center' were sitting in a row.

The 'Recycling Center' was a place that could not be entered without special network equipment. So there was no problem with the Constellations sitting there with their goggles upside down.

The problem was their condition.

[Kkaaaaaaaaa—!]

With a terrible scream, story of the Constellations wearing goggles began to drip out of their bodies.

[What the! Release the dive! Quickly!]

What could have happened?

The dive terminal provided by the Information Bureau was a Constellation device that ensured the safety of the Constellations when infiltrating the 'lower scenarios'.

As long as they were wearing this Constellation device, the Constellations would not be annihilated, but would lose their stories or suffer damage in the lower scenarios.

However.

[The Constellation 'Brother of the Immortal' enters a sudden extinction process.]

[The Constellation 'Forgotten Monster Hunter' enters a sudden extinction process.]

The Constellations were dying. It couldn't have happened.

The place they were deployed was at most the twentieth main scenario. Even if they had encountered a monster above the level of a legend, there was no reason for them to be in danger of death.

[Disarm the dive!]

They had to find the cause. And to do that, the most urgent task was to revive the Constellations that were disappearing.

[Disarm the 'Recycling Center' entry process! Hurry up—]

[Stop, it won't be released!]

[What?]

[The entire control system is down!]

The Constellations began to disappear one by one.

The total number of Historical-grade Constellations deployed in this operation was forty. If they had lost them all, it would have been a serious blow to the reputation of the Director of the Information Bureau, not to mention disciplinary action from their superiors.

However, the situation did not end there.

[The condition of the general agents of the Information Bureau is also strange!]

Along with the secretary's shout, the Surveillance Constellations located in the general department began to complain of pain.

[The condition of the Constellations that were monitoring the 'Recycling Center'—]

The Constellations were complaining of pain, pouring out words from their noses and mouths.

Hermaphroditus asked, unable to hide her bewilderment.

[What on earth... what on earth is going on? Has the 'One-Eyed Father' appeared? Is someone interfering with the 'Fate' we read?]

Of course, that couldn't be the case.

Even if a Myth-grade Constellation from another nebula had intervened, it couldn't have encroached upon the entire 'Hermes System'.

[Data screen! Where is the data screen!]

The screen that the agents of the Information Bureau were monitoring belatedly came to mind.

In the screen, there was an incarnation covered in the blood of the Constellations.

Hermaphroditus felt goosebumps.

That 'being' is definitely beyond the screen.

They are in a place where they can never be seen. But for some reason, Hermaphroditus felt like her eyes met his.

At that moment, Hermaphroditus recalled a face she had seen briefly while reading top secret materials.

Kim Dokja.

The 'Oldest Dream' that dreamed of this entire universe.

「Abandoned God.」

The god who should have clearly disappeared was ordering them.

"Explode."

---

The Constellations in the night sky were exploding like firecrackers.

One, two, three, four.

It was a scene that could be considered a scene of massacre.

Teacher Yang, who was watching the scene—the 'Demon-Like Judge of Fire'—said.

[We can't leave it like that.]

She was witnessing the death of the Constellations through the screen in the principal's office.

However, what she was worried about was not the dying Constellations.

[He'll die again.]

The white grim reaper who was mercilessly slaughtering those great Constellations. A man covered in the blood of the Constellations while his white coat fluttered. It was the agent of the 'Demon King of Salvation' who kept on destroying while continuously bleeding from his nose and mouth.

[That's right. But there's no one who can stop him now.]

The Mass-Producer looked at the screen with calm eyes.

A man was walking, engulfed in wild anger and sadness. It was unclear what was tormenting him so much.

However, it was clear what he was trying to do.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is going crazy!]

[The story 'The One Who Rewrites Fate' begins its storytelling!]

Common sense would tell you that the miracle the agent of the Demon King of Salvation was doing now was impossible.

In just the twentieth scenario, he was able to make a 'Historical-grade Constellation' explode with a single word? Not only was it impossible, but it was also an ability that even Myth-grade Constellations would not easily attempt.

And yet, the agent of a mere Constellation was violently wielding such an absurd power.

「This was possible because this stage was the 'Recycling Center'.」

All the Constellations that have now entered the 'Recycling Center' have lowered their 'level' to the limit.

In particular, all the Constellations that are bursting out now were beings that entered through the 'Hermes System' of <Olympus>.

The 'Hermes System' operates based on the 'Master of Skywalk's' story network. And Cheon Inho's [Incite] was a skill that spread at a destructive speed through the 'network'.

「"Explode"」

The sentence spread through the network like a virus, and gained momentous power by weaving countless stories during the propagation process.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation (Acting Agent)' reveals his status!]

The ultimate [Incite] that combines Cheon Inho's [Incite] with Christina Page's [Daily Invoice] and [Hypnotic Incite], and even [Sentence Reinforcement].

「"Burst."」

All the Constellations of the 'Hermes System', which were lower in rank than the 'Demon King of Salvation', were unable to withstand the power of [Incite] and were entering a process of self-destruction.

[All the Constellations of the <Twelve Zodiac Signs> can't take their eyes off of it!]

[All the Constellations of the 'Gourmet Association' gape their mouths!]

[Many Constellations are astonished by the power of 'Incite'!]

[The Constellations belonging to the Nebula <Olympus> can't hide their astonishment.]

Constellations bursting out from the distant universe as if a grand banquet was being held.

[Olympus will probably never forget that scene.]

The Mass-Producer and Uriel could not take their eyes off either.

[When this scenario ends, another great story will be born.]

Even though he knew that it was ultimately inviting Kim Dokja's downfall, and even though he knew that he was dying every time he uttered a word.

Just looking at the Constellations that were fleetingly falling at a single command, the Mass-Producer and Uriel had the same thought.

「I'll be able to see this story again.」

However, regardless of their wishes, the end of the scenario was approaching.

The maddened Demon King of Salvation's agent staggered along the forest path. He blew up the enemies who blocked his way, and continued his merciless destruction until he finally reached the deepest part of the forest.

The Mass-Producer muttered as if sighing.

[Now we'll know who the 'real Kim Dokja' is.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

781 Episode 36 Real Kim Dokja (2)

---

With a special sound, the high-level demon fell.

Ye Hyunwoo retrieved the 'Kim Dokja fragment' that the high-level demon had.

['Kim Dokja fragment' retrieved successfully.]

The energy of the story flowing in with the message.

Ye Hyunwoo checked his face reflected in the puddle. The white and pale face that he had once seen on the cover of 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』. It looked a bit younger than what he had seen then. Perhaps it was because his physical age was that of a boy.

「I wonder if I have become a little more Kim Dokja now.」

How many more 'Kim Dokja fragments' does he have to collect to become Kim Dokja?

Can he become Kim Dokja?

「"If you are possessed, you must hide behind me. You hate being hurt."」

A memory suddenly lingered in his ears.

Ye Hyunwoo thought of the owner of the voice.

'Noh Jiyoon.'

The daughter of Lee Dansu ahjussi. The girl who visited 'Kim Dokja Banquet' with him.

「Jiyoon is dead.」

No one told him that. However, he found out naturally while collecting the 'Kim Dokja fragments'.

「Everyone, get out of here! Quickly!」

There was a reader who fell at the same station as Jiyoon. Jiyoon fought the monsters to save the reader and the people, and died.

It wasn't that surprising in this world.

The reader Jiyoon saved that day also died in the end. Torn to pieces by a high-level demon.

What was the meaning of Jiyoon's sacrifice?

Ye Hyunwoo couldn't quite understand it.

「Just like how he couldn’t understand Kim Dokja, who risked his life for his group, while reading 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' over fifty times.」

"You're right. I like being safe."

Replying to his old friend's voice, Ye Hyunwoo walked around. There was no road, but he walked where he thought it was a road.

He also hummed a song that his friend Jiyoon liked. As he hummed the song, memories that were still vivid enough to be called memories came back to him one after another.

[The story 'Panda and Friends' begins its storytelling.]

The story of persuading Gong Pildu to survive in Chungmuro.

The story of developing the 'Invincible Castle Tech Tree'.

The story of almost fighting Yoo Joonghyuk.

The story of 'capturing the flag' with the readers.

The story of meeting Cheon Inho and his group.

"But Jiyoon. You liked being safe, too."

Disaster scenarios and Peace Land, the Washington Dome and the 'Recycling Center'.

Hiding together in a brick house.

Eating soup made by the crane owner.

Fixing a swallow's leg or taking care of a goose in labor.

Watching the group from a corner while eating bamboo.

Counting each of those things, Ye Hyunwoo felt that all of those things were like a novel.

Then what role was he assigned in that novel?

Ye Hyunwoo's steps stopped. The forest ended and a small open space appeared.

There was a demon.

A man wearing a white coat and spreading his black wings.

Ye Hyunwoo swallowed as he looked at the red horns sprouting from his head.

[The demon '73rd Demon King' is staring at you.]

The '73rd Demon King' slowly turned his back and looked at him.

「Demon King of Salvation.」

He had expected it since he heard that the name of the demon was '73rd Demon King'.

That 'Demon King of Salvation' was here. The protagonist they were looking for had appeared as their opponent.

But the moment their eyes met, Ye Hyunwoo felt strange.

「That's the 'Demon King of Salvation'?」

He definitely felt the powerful energy of the 'Kim Dokja Fragments' from him.

But...

'Come to your senses.'

Ye Hyunwoo shook his head several times and took a deep breath.

'I have to kill him.'

Since he was marked as the boss of this stage, the 'Demon King of Salvation' must have powers of a different dimension.

He must not let his party face the 'Demon King of Salvation'. If he did, there would definitely be casualties. In order to prevent that, he came here before anyone else.

The moment he took a deep breath and stepped into the empty space, shouts were heard from all directions. The forest in the area shook and a group of incarnations appeared.

[Hit him!]

The incarnations who had drawn their weapons were running towards the Demon King of Salvation.

Ye Hyunwoo immediately recognized who they were. The Constellations of the <Twelve Zodiac Signs>. They were the ones who had participated in the scenario with them until recently.

[The Constellation 'Monkey That Fell From A Tree' roars!]

[The Constellation 'Ox of the Beginning' bares its teeth!]

[The Constellation 'Red Divine Army' roars!]

At first, it seemed like the <Twelve Zodiac Signs> were joining hands to hunt the demon.

But the wave pattern felt strange. The <Twelve Zodiac Signs> he knew did not have that level of power.

'It's not the Twelve Zodiac Signs'.

A cold sensation passed through his heart belatedly.

'Someone is using the modifiers of the <Twelve Zodiac Signs>'.

As if they knew the demon's weakness, the Constellations equipped with divine attribute weapons swung their weapons in precise trajectories. Push shot!

The demon tribe was mercilessly slaughtered by an attack that had the rank of a Constellation.

Looking at the staggering demon, Ye Hyunwoo's head went through complicated calculations.

It might have been a good thing.

The 'Demon King of Salvation' is a difficult opponent to face alone. If they wait for an opportunity here and join forces with the Constellations, the scenario will be much easier.

'Let's get started.'

From the start of the scenarios until now, Ye Hyunwoo has steadily progressed through the 'Invincible Castle Tech Tree'.

The 'Invincible Castle Tech Tree' he designed has a total of 10 stages.

And Ye Hyunwoo has just reached the activation condition for stage 8 of the tech tree.

[Activate exclusive skill 'Magic Charge Lv. 10'.]

The key to this build-up is to apply his exclusive skill, [Magic Charge] — to supply unlimited magical power to Gong Pildu, who has the strongest defense.

「But there is no Gong Pildu here now.」

Several Constellations that felt the magical wave turned to Ye Hyunwoo.

[That guy—]

[Don’t worry. He is an incarnation that can’t do anything alone.]

Is his weakness already known to the Constellations?

Ye Hyunwoo smiled bitterly.

They were certainly right. He is an incarnation that can’t do anything alone.

'But isn’t that the same for everyone?'

Ye Hyunwoo slowly took a deep breath and gathered his magical power. It was finally time for the 'Kim Dokja Fragments' he had collected to exert their power.

[The power of the new 'Kim Dokja Fragments' is activated.]

[Some of the skills of 'The Oldest Dream' are restored.]

The 'Invincible Castle Tech Tree' he had envisioned required 'Gong Pildu' up to stage 7.

However, it was different from stage 8.

[Activate exclusive skill 'Bookmark Lv.5'!]

[The composition of this skill is incomplete.]

[The characters that can be listed in the bookmark list are limited.]

「Bookmark」

A skill that is exclusive to Kim Dokja and can borrow the power of a 'character'.

It is currently extremely incomplete, so only one 'character' can be registered, but that was enough.

In the first place, he only needed one character.

"I will activate bookmark 1, 'Armed Fortress Master Gong Pildu'."

[Bookmark 1 has been activated.]

[The activation time is determined in proportion to the level of the bookmark skill.]

[Your understanding of the character is very high.]

[The activation time of the bookmark skill is partially adjusted according to your exclusive characteristics.]

[Activation time: 20 minutes]

The character that had been protecting him was now inside him.

[Activate exclusive skill 'Private Land Lv.10'!]

Gong Pildu's private land occupied the area in an instant.

However, this alone was not enough to activate the 'Armed Fortress'. This was because Gong Pildu's 'Armed Fortress' was not an exclusive skill, but a 'stigma'.

[Bookmark cannot borrow the 'stigma' of the person in question.]

Of course, Ye Hyunwoo had a countermeasure for that.

"I will fulfill the contract with the Defense Master."

[The Constellation 'Defense Master' activates the contract.]

A contract made with the 'Defense Master' in preparation for an emergency.

The contract was simple.

In exchange for granting the Defense Master's request, he would receive one of Gong Pildu's 'Stigmata' at a 'desired moment'.

[You have acquired the temporary use of 'Armed Fortress'.]

[The corresponding stigma will be converted to an 'Exclusive Skill' for the corresponding scenario.]

[Exclusive Skill 'Armed Fortress Lv. 8' has been activated!]

The ground beneath his feet rose and Ye Hyunwoo's body rose into the air.

The outer wall of the 'Armed Fortress' that would protect him from any attack was growing.

[What, what is this—]

A small castle that grew more than twenty meters in an instant.

It looked rather crude compared to the 'Armed Fortress' of Tech Tree Stage 10 that he was aiming for, but this was enough for now.

[The 'Moving Fortress' is activated.]

The fortress began to move along with the wheels that grew under the fortress.

[The 'Turret' of the Armed Fortress is activated.]

As the magnificent magic turrets aimed forward at once, the Constellations that felt a sense of crisis shouted.

[Didn't you say that guy can't do anything alone?]

[Damn it, finish him off quickly! If that guy steals the effective hit—]

Ye Hyunwoo sat on the castle's control tower while listening to the Constellations' screams.

[Activate the power of the item 'Shin Gijeon'.]

[The 'Turret's' arc destructive power increases!]

[The 'Turret's' shells have a tracking function added.]

The castle's radar activated and the dusty 'Demon King of Salvation' appeared in the field of view.

[Set the target of the strike.]

The 'Demon King of Salvation' had already suffered massive damage to its incarnation body.

Ye Hyunwoo, who had finally made up his mind, pressed the fire button.

The 64 turrets opened fire, and a loud noise rang out as if they were sweeping away the forest. The dust rose pitch black.

However, the scream heard within was not that of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

[Kuaaaaaaaah!]

The incarnations of the Constellations burst into pieces in the dust.

[The Constellation 'Monkey That Fell From The Tree' takes a huge blow and exits the scenario.]

[The Constellation 'Rabbit Without A Liver' takes a huge blow and exits the scenario.]

…

Even some of the Constellations could not withstand the blow and exited the scenario.

Even so, Ye Hyunwoo did not stop.

[You, why—]

The indignant Constellations aimed their weapons at him.

Looking at the Constellations running towards him, Ye Hyunwoo thought.

「Why did I do that?」

It was an unwise choice. Naturally, joining forces with those Constellations to end the demon and share the story would have been the safe choice.

However, the moment he saw the 'Demon King of Salvation' caught on the radar, Ye Hyunwoo could not make a safe choice.

「It definitely wasn't the Demon King of Salvation that he imagined.」

The face of the 'Demon King of Salvation' who had become a demon was as pale as a corpse.

A body like rags made of flesh. Eyes that had lost their light and skin that felt lifeless.

In the end, this scenario had to end by hunting him.

That's the only way to save the party.

He came here before anyone else for that goal.

Even so, the moment he saw Kim Dokja's face, Ye Hyunwoo felt faintly dizzy.

「I don't know if the author will see it. But I'll try it anyway. There's a spell I sometimes recite when I'm having a hard time.」

The enraged Constellations abandoned the demon and began to run toward the castle.

「I am Kim Dokja.」

Ye Hyunwoo knew it too. He is not Kim Dokja. He knew better than anyone that he was not Kim Dokja, so he recited that spell.

「But according to my friend, I resemble an octopus more than a squid.」

Ye Hyunwoo pressed the fire button again and again.

Piles of dirt scattered everywhere. The Constellations screamed in frustration amidst the broken pieces of wood.

[Kwaaaaah! Damn it!]

[Hold on! Wait until the bastard’s magic runs out! How long can he keep up this barrage —]

With the effect of [Magic Charge], magic power filled Ye Hyunwoo’s entire body once again.

The core of the Invincible Castle’s tech tree—the「Infinite Uroboros」system—was manifested.

[Eww!]

The Constellations that had been holding on firmly began to fall one by one.

Ye Hyunwoo’s inner self also gradually grew more certain.

They were at most the incarnation bodies of 'Historical-grade Constellations'. Even if the synchronization rate was increased in this 'Recycling Center' with limited rank, they would not be able to withstand the fortress' concentrated bombardment.

[Warning! The durability of the 'Armed Fortress' is decreasing!]

A thud was heard, along with the sound of something collapsing.

Startled, Ye Hyunwoo checked the radar. However, nothing was detected. Someone was attacking the fortress at a speed that could not be detected by the detection system.

Kugugugu.

The current 'Armed Fortress' was now only a level 5 fortress.

As powerful strikes continued, the outer wall of the fortress collapsed and cracks began to form on the inner wall.

The moment Ye Hyunwoo, who had lost some energy, recharged his magic power once again and activated the turret, something appeared, breaking through the control tower's defense wall.

[I didn't know that 'Armed Fortress' would be used like this. It's quite something.]

Three incarnations appeared. They were all guys he had never seen before.

The incarnation body of the Constellation at the forefront approached Ye Hyunwoo like a ghost and grabbed him by the neck.

[Why did you interfere with us?]

Ye Hyunwoo laughed, hanging in the air.

Even now, Ye Hyunwoo does not understand Kim Dokja, who sacrificed himself for the group.

However, even though he did not understand him, Ye Hyunwoo liked him.

The Constellation, who was quietly looking at Ye Hyunwoo hanging in the air, spoke.

[What you did just now wasn't courage, it was just foolishness.]

The moment he heard that voice, Ye Hyunwoo felt goosebumps running down his spine.

He realized something new.

The 'Invincible Castle Tech Tree Stage 8' was designed to withstand attacks from 'Historical-grade Constellations' inside the 'Recycling Center'.

But if they had broken through this wall and entered, it was clear what kind of enemy they were.

'Narrative-grade Constellation'.

The ominous sparks that surged through the air proved it.

He couldn't understand it. How did a narrative-grade Constellation intervene in the scenario of this 'Recycling Center'?

[The worldview is unstable due to the aftermath of excessive probability.]

[Many Constellations are watching the 'Recycling Center'.]

He could feel the gaze of the stars watching this place from the vast distance of space.

How many Constellations are watching this place?

[The worldview rules of the 'Recycling Center' are weakened.]

[The probability of the <Star Stream> starts to move!]

[An unidentified nebula interferes with the probability of the 'Recycling Center'.]

Olympus? Asgard? Vedas?

Or a small nebula that was hidden?

The moment he saw the aftershock of probability that brightly colored the empty space, Ye Hyunwoo intuitively felt that this scenario had completely left his hands.

[You also have a fragment of the oldest dream.]

"Bam-"

[This is really strange. Why do all the incarnations with this fragment invite death…]

Feeling a hand tightly squeezing his neck, Ye Hyunwoo intuitively sensed his end.

「"Kim Dokja, I will become him."」

Considering his boastful words, he felt that it was a vain end. At the same time, he also thought that this was a very fitting end for him. Perhaps, ever since he first saw Cheon Inho in Chungmuro, he had a feeling this day would come.

He couldn’t become Kim Dokja.

There was someone in this world who was much more suited to Kim Dokja’s place.

His role was to play the role of an extra in the lines that no one would remember.

However, if there was one last regret, it was this.

「I really wanted to say thank you. I’ll come back to see you again in a few days.」

That he couldn’t keep the promise he left in that comment.

As the powerful magic flowed through the Constellation’s hand, his consciousness began to fade.

If he died like this and became a fragment of Kim Dokja, would he be able to meet Jiyoon again? Would he be able to laugh and talk about this story when they met again?

Look, if you really possess someone in 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint', you'll die right away. Saying that—

Would he be able to not regret reading this story?

Ye Hyunwoo waited for death with such thoughts.

However, no matter how much time passed, his consciousness did not disappear. He felt his body floating in the air, and someone was holding him and putting him down on the floor.

He slowly opened his eyes and raised his head, and saw someone's back.

[The <Star Stream> intervenes in the probability aftermath of the area.]

[The probability scale moves.]

Is it Kim Dokja?

But when he looked again, he was wearing a black cloak.

So is it Yoo Joonghyuk?

No. He was smaller than Yoo Joonghyuk.

Ye Hyunwoo noticed the words written on his back.

『OLD SCHOOL』.

Old School.

The boy wearing the cloak looked back at him. The moment he met those eyes that felt strangely stubborn, Ye Hyunwoo thought he knew who he was.

That's because he had read this story fifty times.

"You... look like my Dokja-hyung."

A being who could move the 'probability scale' against those scary Constellations.

"Thank you for saving my hyung."

<Kim Dokja Company> came to the 'Recycling Center'.

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

782 Episode 36 Real Kim Dokja (3)

---

When the invitation from the 'Recycling Center' came, Gilyoung thought the moment he had been waiting for had finally come.

Even if it was a trap, it would be fine. If only he could meet his hyung one more time.

"Don't move. If you use that, I'll really kill you."

When Lee Jihye warned him, pointing to the invitation fluttering in the air, Lee Gilyoung made a stern expression.

"Why? It was for me."

"You don't know what will happen if you go there right now? Do you know what's there?"

"Hyung will be there."

Lee Jihye lightly muttered, and Lee Gilyoung's head was pounded.

"Wake up. What are you going to do when you go there?"

"I'm pretty strong, too."

"Even if we're strong, it's not a place where we can exert 100% of our strength."

"Still—"

"What if you go there and have an accident?"

"I won't. "

"Are you confident that you can handle it if the probability is all tangled up? Do you know why your master and your older sisters and brothers hesitate to intervene in the world line? Why don't you go there and cause some aftershocks? What if the scenario gets messed up and everyone dies? And if Dokja-ssi never comes back—"

"Okay."

"What?"

"I get it, so stop."

Lee Gilyoung lowered his head and pursed his lips. Lee Jihye looked at Lee Gilyoung for a moment and then lightly touched his shoulder.

"I know how you feel."

"…"

"Wouldn't I want to go there too? You have to talk to your older sisters and brothers first. So don't have any random thoughts and just stay still. Okay? "

"…"

"Answer."

"I got it."

Lee Jihye looked at Lee Gilyoung with anxious eyes for a moment, then sighed and disappeared toward the control room.

Lee Gilyoung looked up at the message fluttering in the air.

[An invitation has arrived.]

[The filtering is partially removed.]

[Someone has invited you to the scenario 'Philia Academy'.]

[Through this scenario, you can meet the 'Demon King of Salvation' once again.]

[Would you like to accept the invitation?]

He read the message over and over again. He reached out and turned his hand back several times.

"F---..."

Lee Gilyeong, who had been hesitating, eventually gave up and swore.

He knew it too. In fact, Lee Jihye's words were right. He shouldn't act rashly here.

Let's wait for Jihye noona to come back. Don't cause trouble alone again.

I shouldn't ruin everything because of my mistake.

Lee Gilyeong walked somewhere while thinking about such things. The place he headed to was the training room located in the basement. Among them, the 'Room of Time' that was recently created.

Lee Gilyeong, who liked comics, named the room.

「Time flows slowly in this room.」

He named it himself, but it was Lee Gilyoung's first time entering this room.

A room that was remodeled to resemble the 'Time Fault' of the Dark Dimension, and a place called the 'Tower of Nightmare' in another dimension.

The moment he stepped into the portal of the room, Lee Gilyoung's breath was caught in his throat.

The feeling of inhaling compressed air. The overwhelming density of time that weighed down his existence.

That guy must be the only one training in a place like this.

Lee Gilyoung approached the equipment rack in the corner of the training room. There were the relics and SSS-grade equipment that <Kim Dokja Company> had collected so far on display.

True horse.

Dain Sleif.

Bingryun Hwan.

…

From the report of <First Martial Arts> to the relics of Norse mythology, the projectiles used by the previous king…

A weapon he knew well was hanging in the center of countless weapons.

Cheonchongun Sword. The blade was sharpened to be used at any time, as befitting its owner's temperament.

To the right of that sword was another sword.

Unbreakable Faith.

The last weapon Kim Dokja used. However, the sword was in a state that belied its name, broken.

Looking at the blade with less than two bones left, Lee Gilyoung reached out to the hilt.

A blade that had not been sharpened for a long time.

Lee Gilyoung gripped the hilt tightly and drew a trajectory in the air.

Kim Dokja saved his companions several times with this sword, but he was never able to save himself.

「Kim Dokja cut the 'Oldest Dream' with this sword.」

To be exact, he failed to cut it, and the sword broke in half in return.

Lee Gilyoung did not know what Kim Dokja was thinking while holding this sword.

However, Lee Gilyoung seemed to understand Kim Dokja at the moment when he was about to cut his own childhood.

"Wrong."

Hearing a voice from the darkness, he turned his head in surprise and saw a man in dark clothes standing there.

Lee Gilyoung answered bluntly, adjusting his handle of the sword.

"Then what are you going to do?"

Yoo Joonghyuk motioned to the empty space without saying a word. Then, the 'Cheonchongun Sword' hanging on the wall floated up and was sucked into Yoo Joonghyuk's hand.

In the martial arts world, it is called Heogongseopmul.

Lee Gilyoung let out a loud noise.

"If you came here to show off your crude skills—"

A brilliant sword light cutting through the darkness.

Lee Gilyoung swallowed his words without realizing it at the sight of that precise trajectory.

A sword strike like a scattering meteor.

Yoo Joonghyuk's history was contained in that fleeting line. Cutting down countless constellations, dropping them, and eventually collapsing the sky that the constellations were hanging on—

Does Yoo Joonghyuk remember everything he cut down to reach that trajectory? The thought of injustice came to him again, and a faint sense of despair followed.

He looked pathetic in front of the overwhelming history that Yoo Joonghyuk had lived through.

"You sooty bastard."

Lee Gilyoung asked Yoo Joonghyuk, who was swinging the Cheonchongun Sword without answering.

Why are you so strong?

Yoo Joonghyuk drew the same trajectory several times and answered calmly.

"You just have to wake up at a set time every day and go to bed at a set time."

"What nonsense are you talking about?"

"Use your day regularly. Make your body develop habits before your will."

"Aside from those self-help books, aren't there any other ways?"

In fact, he didn't ask the question because he thought he would get proper advice. He just wanted to hear something right away and calm his complicated thoughts.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk thought about something for a moment and said this.

"Regret often."

"Regret?"

"I think about the things I could have changed if I had been a little stronger."

He didn't expect to hear such an answer, so Gilyoung answered in confusion.

"I do that all the time."

"Regret it better."

To be honest, I thought Yoo Joonghyuk, of all people, would have a special mentality.

Everyone regrets. Things they couldn't keep. Things they couldn't change.

Gilyoung had such memories too. However, Gilyoung was now afraid to recall those memories.

"What if my emotions wear out?"

"You have to make sure they don't wear out."

"So what."

The Cheonchongun Sword stopped in midair.

Yoo Joonghyuk stared at the point where the blade was pointed and answered.

"Every morning when I wake up, I think I've been reborn."

"What are you talking about? Do you want to receive birthday wishes every day?"

Yoo Joonghyuk didn't answer after hearing that.

A line steadily drawing across the air.

Looking at that line, Gilyoung felt strange.

Maybe Yoo Joonghyuk was still regressing. Even after the trait of the regressor disappeared, isn't he still repeating the regression that no one knows about?

"You should do the same."

"What?"

"Take the sword."

"Are you going to try it now?"

Gilyoung, holding 'Unbreakable Faith', growled. In the darkness, the two new forms intersected, and a cracking sound rang out.

Naturally, the one who fell was Gilyoung.

"Cowardly bastard! I don't know how to use a sword!"

"Get up."

Gilyoung shouted and charged. 'Unbreakable Faith' forcefully slashed the air, and Yoo Joonghyuk lightly swung his sword.

Gilyoung, who rolled on the ground again, shouted.

"What is this! You're using a strange trick right now!"

"I just swung the sword."

"Don't make me laugh! You hit me so hard!"

"Again."

Gilyoung got up and attacked several times. He swung his already broken Unbreakable Faith. His breathing became increasingly difficult and his heart pounded wildly. An unknown elation began to flow through his body.

As they clashed their swords again and again, Gilyoung asked.

"If I keep doing this, can I become as strong as you?"

"No."

"If I really, really work hard."

"…"

"If I practice harder than you are practicing now! Then!"

The Unbreakable Faith and the Cheonchongun Sword clashed, creating black and white magic waves.

The two entangled blades answered for Gilyoung and Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Will I ever be able to save Kim Dokja?"

Gilyoung did not say anything more, and Yoo Joonghyuk did not listen. Nevertheless, the same sentence was engraved on the history of the two.

"If you work that hard."

Yoo Joonghyuk pointed the blade at his ankle.

"You might be able to catch up to this much."

"You rascal."

Lee Gilyoung laughed in vain.

"How much longer would it take to go up a little further?"

"With your talent, it would take a hundred years."

A hundred years.

Considering the time Yoo Joonghyuk had trained with the sword, it was a very generous assessment. To YooJoonghyuk, a regressor, a hundred years was 'just a hundred years'.

However, it was different for Lee Gilyoung.

"That's too late."

"..."

"That's too late. It has to be now."

The two blades clashed once again, and 'Unbreakable Faith' that Lee Gilyoung was holding flew into the air.

Yoo Joonghyuk reached out with his other hand and snatched the sword.

"That won't work."

Lee Gilyoung, whose sword had been taken away, asked in a bewildered voice.

"Then what should I do?"

"Regret. And become stronger. You're still young, so you can do more things you'll regret."

Yoo Joonghyuk, standing firm in the darkness, threw the Cheonun Sword. The sword that had spun around like a snail landed right in front of Gilyoung.

Gilyoung blankly looked down at the sword.

"There are still people here who will accept your foolish actions."

When he suddenly raised his head, Yoo Joonghyuk had turned his back.

Gilyoung looked at his back, then looked down at the Thousand Cloud Sword that Yoo Joonghyuk had thrown. Then he bit his lips hard and lightly wiped his eyes, saying,

"You sooty bastard."

"..."

"I'll be back. Just tell my noonas."

With those words, Gilyoung, holding the Thousand Cloud Sword, ran out.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at the entrance where the boy had disappeared, then looked up at the pitch-black ceiling of the training room for a moment.

He calmly walked out of the training room.

Someone was waiting for him at the entrance to the training room.

"You should have blocked it."

It was Yoo Sangah.

"It was a dam that would burst someday."

"What if you threw a bomb at a dam that would burst someday?"

A portal swirling like a storm could be seen far outside the window.

A portal to another world line—the 41st round.

Lee Gilyoung jumped in without even a moment of hesitation, kicking the ground.

"I gave him special permission. That guy was born anew today."

"What are you talking about?"

Yoo Joonghyuk looked down at the Unbreakable Faith left in his hands and said.

"There's another person who'll regret tomorrow."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

783 Episode 36 Real Kim Dokja (4)

---

The air of the scenario he had been breathing for the first time in a while. Feeling the familiar yet unfamiliar density, Lee Gilyoung recalled the old advice of Kim Dokja.

「"That's right. Just breathe like that, exhale, and repeat slowly."」

It was the breathing method that Kim Dokja had taught Lee Gilyoung, who had once wanted to learn martial arts.

「"What kind of method is this?"」

When asked, Kim Dokja scratched his cheek as if he was embarrassed and answered.

「"It's just a deep breath that I take before reading a book. It helps me concentrate."」

Yoo Joonghyuk criticized him for saying, "The teachings of a fool who doesn't even know martial arts," but after that, Lee Gilyoung often recalled that breathing method whenever something happened.

Inhale slowly, exhale.

「"I think that each breath is engraved with a story."」

「"A story?"」

「"The story of people who lived before us."」

Breathing in the same way as someone you respect. The breath didn't make Lee Gilyoung particularly strong. However, just by following the breath, Lee Gilyoung felt like he had taken a step closer to Kim Dokja's world.

This is how Dokja hyung breathed and lived.

"Breathe slowly."

Lee Gilyoung said as he patted Ye Hyunwoo's back as he exhaled roughly.

"Breathe, exhale. Keep going."

Watching Ye Hyunwoo slowly lose consciousness, Lee Gilyoung thought about the reason he had come to this scenario once again. The reason he had to endure the aftermath of probability and the criticism of his colleagues to come here.

「Lee Gilyoung had something he wanted to ask Kim Dokja.」

That's why he came without a plan.

He accepted the strange position called 'Old School' and came here even while accepting the scenario penalty.

However, once he actually came, he didn't know who to ask.

Who is the real Kim Dokja?

Is it this boy who resembles his hyung's younger self? Or is it that woman who gave off a similar vibe to his hyung? Or is it the man who resembles his hyung the most?

Or is it the monster who seems the furthest from his hyung but whose soul he can sense?

[The demon '73rd Demon King' is staring at you.]

The demon looking at him with blank eyes.

Looking at that demon, Lee Gilyoung realized what Lee Jihye said.

Maybe his only hyung is gone now.

[Who are you?]

Lee Gilyoung asked the Constellation that was asking him.

"This is the question I want to ask. Why are you here?"

[Do you know who we are?]

"Hongik."

The moment he said that name, the Constellations' faces changed for the first time.

[The Nebula, who has not revealed its identity, reveals its name!]

[The Constellations of <Hongik> reveal their existence!]

[How do you know us?]

"It's strange that I don't know when such stories are flying around." Lee Gilyoung was not Kim Dokja, but he breathed and thought like Kim Dokja.

Then he was able to see the world like Kim Dokja.

He slowly blinked his eyes and felt their stories. In particular, the faint sound of drums coming from the Constellation that occupied their center.

Lee Gilyoung opened his mouth as he listened to the sound that sounded like falling raindrops hitting the ground.

"The 'Master of Rain'?"

Master of Rain.

One of the three Narrative-grade Constellations that serve 'Seoninwanggeom', the owner of <Hongik>. The rain god who controls the rain in the sky at will—Woo Sa.

[You really know me.]

Woo Sa nodded, surprised by Lee Gilyoung’s keen eye.

[That’s right. I am the Master of Rain, 'Woo Sa'. Who are you?]

"I’m just a student who missed my graduation period."

Woo Sa pondered for a moment what that meant and then asked.

[What does that mean?]

"I don't know the details, but how did you guys get in here when you're not even students? The Recycling Center is probably closed."

[I have no obligation to answer a rude person.]

"Hmm. I see. So you borrowed the power of the ‘Founder’s Mother ' to get in? Oh, you don't have to answer. Judging from your expression, it's true."

<Hongik>'s Narrative-grade Constellation, Founder’s Mother —Ungnyeo.

Ungnyeo was closely related to <Twelve Zodiac Signs> as she was born a bear.

What if Ungnyeo made a contract with <Twelve Zodiac Signs> and thus borrowed the modifiers of the twelve branches in <Heungui>?

"Did you sneak in here by stealing the modifiers of the weaklings?"

[We didn't steal them. We—]

"Aha, you're in a cooperative relationship?"

The picture was roughly drawn.

The 'Recycling Center' was a playground woven by the Gourmet Association and the Management Bureau. In the end, in this scenario, the great Constellations of the <Twelve Zodiac> are bound to become playthings.

So the <Twelve Zodiac> also made a decision.

If they are just going to be playthings no matter what, they should borrow the power of other <Nebulae>. That way, they should find a way to achieve their long-cherished desires.

"Monkey That Fell From A Tree! Primordial Cow! Red Mountain Army!"

Gilyoung called out the names of the Twelve Zodiac Signs that had lent <Hongik> modifiers, one by one.

"Are you listening? You won't get what you want that way. How long are you going to live relying on other Nebulae? Why don't you think about standing up for yourself even once?"

With the sound of Tsut...sparks flew out from Woo Sa's body and the other Constellations.

<Zodiac> Constellations respond to Lee Gilyoung's words

[If you keep interfering with us, we have no choice but to eliminate you.]

"You? Me?"

[I don't know who you are—]

Woo Sa raised his hand toward the sky with those words. The dozen or so Constellations that had joined forces to attack the demon flew into the sky.

Only to eliminate one person, Lee Gilyoung.

Lee Gilyoung said, looking at the shadows of the Constellations that filled the sky.

"That's right. It seems you don't know who I really am at all."

The Cheonchongun Sword that emerged from Lee Gilyoung's arms glowed. As the magical energy that gushed out from the boy's heart entered the sword, soon a strong energy of more than ten meters filled the air.

[What the—!]

Lee Gilyoung is not good at swordsmanship.

He doesn't know martial arts properly, and he has never learned it.

However, he has seen things over his shoulder.

The way the people he admires fight.

When and how they swing their swords, how they use their magical energy, and how they control their strength. Lee Gilyoung saw all those scenes and replayed them countless times in his head.

One replay became two, and two soon became three, four, five. He replayed them again and again, how many times did he replay them?

Lee Gilyoung thought.

「I think I can do it too.」

Lee Gilyoung's imitation.

「A trajectory that shatters the sky with one blow.」

Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship.

With a loud roar, the sword strike of Cheonjongun Sword split the sky. Woo Sa, who barely managed to block the sword strike while swinging both hands, shouted.

[Oh my God. Could it be that you—]

Lee Gilyoung's sword relentlessly cut the sky. It cut and cut again. It cut so hard that the sky really split. The screams of the Constellations echoed everywhere. The violent lightning struck and swallowed up even the screams of the Constellations.

[Woo Sa! I have never heard of such a monster—]

When one of the Constellations, who had become thoughtful, shouted, Gilyoung stopped his sword for the first time.

"You were like that in our world line, and here, too, you are really disappointing."

The Constellations fell like hail, making a sound like corn.

One, two, three, four. The Constellations that lost limbs to the swordsmanship cried out in pain.

Gilyoung looked down at the Constellations and said.

"How long are you going to live only coveting the stories of future generations? You have many good stories too."

[What?]

"What you call 'showing us a good example for future generations'. Isn't that the spirit of Hongik?"

Woo Sa looked down at the fallen Constellations. Although some had lost arms or legs, none of the construction had suffered fatal blows to their bodies.

The attacks clearly avoided vital points.

Woo Sa looked down at the Constellations and at Gilyoung, who still had not put away his sword.

Woo Sa hesitated for a moment and asked.

[Could it be that you are a friend of the 'Oldest Dream'?]

Lee Gilyoung slowly nodded.

Woo Sa muttered with a sigh.

[Were the words of the Myth-grade Constellations true...?]

"What?"

[Thank you for showing mercy in my hand, friend of the Oldest Dream.]

At Woo Sa's signal, the incarnations of the Constellations all released their possessions.

「The context of the misaligned modifiers returned to their proper places.」

The Constellations of <Hongik> that had entered the 'Recycling Center' by borrowing modifiers were returning to their original places one by one.

"Goodbye, and give my regards to the Mother of the Founder."

Until the last moment, Woo Sa looked at Lee Gilyoung with a dumbfounded expression, but he disappeared without a trace.

Only after Woo Sa's figure completely disappeared did Lee Gilyoung finally let out a breath.

"Thank goodness he's a guy who can communicate."

Is it because of the scenario penalty? Even though he only used his magic power for a moment, the penalty was enormous.

[The scenario penalty will consume your entire body!]

If Woo Sa had really rushed in, Lee Gilyoung would have had no choice but to release the limit.

If that had happened, there would have been a big problem with the probability of this world line. Anyway, he thought he could take a breather with this.

[That’s amazing.]

Clap, clap, clap— Applause resounded. When he turned his head to where the sound came from, someone was standing there.

[As expected, it’s the <Kim Dokja Company> that lives up to its reputation.]

A unique sarcastic tone of speech.

An incarnation wearing a pitch-black cloak like Lee Gilyoung was there.

[After intimidating the Constellations with the bare minimum of force to suppress the aftershock, you sent them back with just your words… If Kim Dokja had seen it, it would have been a sight he would have praised.]

"You."

A much more terrifying magic flowed out from Lee Gilyoung's entire body.

"Asmodeus."

With those words, Gilyoung's new form disappeared. Gilyoung's right hand, which shot out like lightning, collided with Asmodeus's left hand. A rough magic wave exploded, and the two new forms moved away at the same time.

"You planned it? My hyung ended up like this—"

[Hmm? Who are you referring to when you say 'hyung'?]

Asmodeus answered with a dark smile.

[There are so many of your 'hyungs' here.]

"Where is Sooyoung? Wasn't Sooyoung's disappearance your doing?"

[Oh my, Han Sooyoung died because of me?]

"Sooyoung's not dead!"

[She died crushed by her own sins.]

Gilyoung swung his Cheonchongun Sword with a sigh.

Asmodeus smiled after confirming the magic contained in the sword strike.

[You've become quite skilled at handling magic. But isn't this your limit?]

As Asmodeus lightly snapped his fingers, a dozen or so high-level demons hiding in the bushes rushed in.

They were Constellations belonging to the Gourmet Association.

Gilyoung asked mockingly.

"Are you trying to deal with me like that?"

[Why? It won't work?]

"It seems you've forgotten who I am."

The high-level demons rushing in were all individuals that could not be underestimated.

Gilyoung didn't hesitate any longer.

"Release the limit."

It didn't matter if it caused a probability aftershock. If they don't eliminate Asmodeus here right now, they'll have bigger problems later.

Gilyoung decided that.

'Help me!' He asked his sponsor.

The demon who was once his sponsor.

'The Ruler of the Bottomless Pit.' As soon as the power of a Mythical Constellation radiated through his entire body, the <Star Stream>, which had detected the abnormality, reacted.

[The <Star Stream>'s probability is moving!]

Lee Gilyoung also knew. If he uses this power, his incarnation body will also be in danger.

But if it's just for a moment.

If he kills Asmodeus and sweeps away the Constellations of the Gourmet Association in this moment.

Kukuaquaquaquaqua!

Hellish yellow locusts poured out from Lee Gilyoung's left hand. Yellow worms of the demon god that devour all living things in the world.

[No, I know who you are. Lee Gilyoung.]

"What?"

[Insect Lord. Ruler of the Kings of the Cultivated. Contractor of the Demon God Abaddon!]

Asmodeus was laughing.

[Hahahaha! Confined Demon God! Go wild more! Soak yourself in the atmosphere of the scenario you have returned to after a long time!]

Lee Gilyoung's expression hardened. Lee Gilyoung, sensing something was wrong, grabbed his left hand with his right to retrieve the yellow insects.

"Abaddon."

But Abaddon did not stop.

"Abaddon! Stop! Abaddon!"

The yellow insects that poured out soon devoured the Constellations and even the incarnation of Asmodeus. And soon, they began to rush toward the '73rd Demon King' who was looking at them from afar.

"No! Abaddon! Stop! Stop!"

The yellow insects that rushed in began to gnaw at the Great Demon's entire body.

"You, he is not the enemy! He is not the enemy!"

Lee Gilyoung struck his left hand that was pouring out the yellow insects, and struck it again. How many times did he strike?

Only after his left hand became covered in blood did the yellow insects that were pouring out slowly stop moving.

But the Great Demon's entire body was already covered in a swarm of yellow insects.

"Hyung."

Lee Gilyoung approached him like a crazy person.

That couldn't be happening. He didn't come to this world to see this.

That was when the sky collapsed and the gigantic dam of probability burst.

A huge aftershock of probability was blowing around the place where the Great Demon was.

「The <Star Stream> always balances the scales.」

Abaddon is a 'Mythical-grade Constellation'.

Now that Lee Gilyoung has manifested this power, the <Star Stream> will move the scales that are appropriate for his status.

There were no Constellations moving beyond the sky. No one outside of this scenario dared to step onto the scale opposite to the Demon God Abaddon.

Still, his left hand trembled uncontrollably. The Demon God coiled inside him was warning him.

「Run away, kid.」

Lee Gilyoung had never heard Abaddon say that.

[The demon '73rd Demon King' is rising in status!]

A dazzling light began to flow out between the yellow insects along with a message coming from somewhere.

[The demon '73rd Demon King' rises in rank!]

[The demon '73rd Demon King' rises in rank!]

…

How many times did the same message ring out? The nearby yellow insects melted away, and something was seen walking out of the grave of insects.

「The one who was on the other side of this scenario from the beginning.」

Lee Gilyoung blankly watched the scene.

[The demon 'Demon King of Salvation' descends!]

Time seemed to pass slowly. His heart pounded violently.

There was the one he had wanted to see so badly.

The Demon King, who was none other than the one he remembered, was there.

"It's been a long time, Gilyoung."

He felt dizzy the moment he heard the voice. The boy's heart was testifying. His hyung was there.

"You've grown up well."

But the moment he thought of that, Lee Gilyoung felt terrible fear.

"Hyung, no."

He wanted to see Kim Dokja. But on the other hand, he didn't want to meet him here.

This was because Lee Gilyoung knew better than anyone what it meant for the being that disappeared in this <Star Stream> to return.

[The scenario content has been updated!]

The Demon King smiled as if he understood the boy and asked.

"Do you still remember how to deal with a Demon King?"

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

784 Episode 36 Real Kim Dokja (5)

---

He felt dizzy as if he had been shot.

"Gilyoung-ah."

The voice that Gilyoung remembered.

The man who moved in the way he wanted to be like was speaking while holding a sword.

"You have to remember."

Gilyoung couldn't move even a single step as he watched the Demon King of Salvation walking toward him.

The Demon King of Salvation slowly drew his sword and aimed it at him. The blade fell like the second hand. When the blade finally reached Gilyoung's forehead.

"What are you doing!"

Someone pushed him away and shouted.

It was Ye Hyunwoo, who he thought had fainted.

He rolled around on the floor as his choked breath released and he got up. He could see Ye Hyunwoo, who had fallen to the floor, retching.

Ye Hyunwoo, with a pale complexion, looked up at Gilyoung and spoke in a desperate voice.

"Come to your senses—"

With those words, Ye Hyunwoo fainted again. Looking down at such a Hyunwoo, Gilyoung bit his lip.

Yeah, he has to come to his senses.

Gilyoung looked at the Demon King of Salvation again.

That is not Dokja-hyung. There is no way Dokja-hyung would attack him.

Then the Demon King of Salvation smiled.

"Now you remember."

The determination he had barely managed to hold onto wavered in front of that smile.

Gilyoung's senses were speaking. That expression, that look in his eyes, that gait. There was no doubt. That was the 'Demon King of Salvation' he remembered.

「Has Kim Dokja never attacked him?」

He had not.

Gilyoung had already experienced this fight once.

In their tenth scenario—'The 73rd Demon King'.

"What the... What the, why!"

Gilyoung held the Cheonjongun Sword while repeating the same words. Even so, Gilyoung could not swing the sword.

"No. I don't want to fight. Dokja-hyung! Please!"

What if the sky shatters when he swings his sword? What should he do if the star hanging in the sky falls?

[The Great Demon King, the 'Demon King of Salvation' unleashes his power.]

A sword strike that flew in when he was not prepared. 'Unbreakable Faith' was right in front of him.

Lee Gilyoung reflexively blocked the sword, recalling the moment he faced Yoo Joonghyuk. His wrist felt like it was breaking from the heavy impact.

「"You all remember how to deal with the Demon King, right?"」

He remembers.

He definitely remembers it even now.

But he didn't want to remember it.

「"From now on, you must hunt me."」

The memory of having to kill the person he loved more than anyone else.

"How could I remember that!"

Lee Gilyoung shouted in a fit of rage.

The Demon King of Salvation smiled silently.

「"Gilyoung. This time, you can think of it as a game."」

A game. Kim Dokja always said. This world is a game. You can think of it as a game. Lee Gilyoung followed the teachings.

He carried out the scenario without any guilt. He defeated monsters and sometimes killed people.

He survived.

In return for surviving, he learned something.

This world is not a game.

「"Even if I die, I will come back to life. I promise."」

Lee Gilyoung repeated his actions while looking at the new form of the Demon King of Salvation, shaking.

"I don't know how to kill my hyung. I've forgotten all about that!"

Lee Gilyoung tried his best to push away the approaching Kim Dokja. He released the magical power he had accumulated and swung his sword in a clumsy trajectory.

[The Constellation 'Ruler of the Abyss' roars!]

In the end, Abaddon used his power once again to protect Lee Gilyoung.

The magical power released like a storm.

The Demon King of Salvation, who reacted to that magical power, also released his own power.

[The great Demon King 'Demon King of Salvation"s power rises!]

Tsutsutsut, a spark of probability struck down along with the sound. The sky, which had lost its day and night, blinked repeatedly, and the pitch-black darkness of the universe spread through the cracks in the sky.

[The restricted channel of the 'Recycling Center' is temporarily opened!]

The sky of the Recycling Center was collapsing.

[Constellations of external channels are temporarily flowing in!]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Olympus> are staring at the 'Recycling Center'!]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Vedas> are staring at the 'Recycling Center'!]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Asgard> are staring at the 'Recycling Center'!]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Hongik> are staring at the 'Recycling Center'!]

…

The Constellations' gazes seeped through the cracks in the split sky. The stars that could not see the 'Recycling Center' due to the ban were peeking at the hidden world.

「This is the place where all stories are recycled.」

Amidst the pouring gazes of Constellations, Gilyoung swung his sword.

"I..."

He shouted, drawing a path that was too clumsy to cut any Constellation.

"What I remember is...!"

The Cheonchongun Sword and his Unbreakable Faith clashed once again. The cracking sound flowing from the swords that met. A story blossomed from the gap between the swords.

「Excuse me for a moment.」

The first person to give him a grasshopper.

「All of Gilyoung's stories began at that moment.」

With that one insect, Gilyoung gained life and received life.

He was reborn.

That's why the boy's birthday was the day all the tragedies began.

A story flowed out every time the cracking sound echoed.

「Are you a god, hyung?」

The person who was once his god.

Now Gilyoung knows.

He was not a god of this world.

「"I'm neither a god nor a protagonist. Rather, I've always envied the protagonist."」

Now, Gilyoung understands the feelings of Kim Dokja who used to say that. He's old enough to say that, just a little bit.

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' is unable to continue speaking.]

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' sighs.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' is silent.]

What Gilyoung remembers is Kim Dokja's small back from behind the group.

His back as he protected the group against the pouring meteor shower.

「"Hyung, don't you make a wish?"」

That day, while watching the meteor shower falling from the rooftop of the theater dungeon, Gilyoung made a wish.

Please don't let him die. Please let me see the end of this world with him.

「And the <Star Stream> granted Gilyoung's wish.」

The man died several times because he wasn't a god, and came back to life several times even though he wasn't a god. In that death and resurrection, the man became a myth.

People praised him and the Constellations sang about him.

But Gilyoung knew.

「I asked to see the epilogue of a certain novel.」

He was actually just an ordinary man who loved stories.

"Hyung! Please!"

Gilyoung swung his sword, remembering the man. He released his magic power to get the man back.

Every time the magic power accumulated in the sword surged out like a wave, Gilyoung felt like he was being pushed somewhere, or that he was leaving somewhere.

He swung his sword harder, more desperately because he hated that feeling.

「The child who loved bugs is now approaching adulthood.」

Like a talent that had been hidden, Gilyoung's magic power overflowed in all directions.

Abaddon's magic power blossomed in his swordplay.

Gilyoung, who had cornered the 'Demon King of Salvation' in an instant, unleashed the momentum of [Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship] like a storm.

A copycat style. Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship Season.

Breaking the Sky Ryu Seong-gyeol.

Just as a tree that has grown repeatedly stretches out its branches, Lee Gilyoung's talent in full bloom invaded the sky of Constellations.

Breaking the Sky's swordsmanship swept across the entire body of the Demon King of Salvation. 'Unbreakable Faith' fell to the ground, and one of the Demon King's knees, unable to withstand the shock, buckled.

Lee Gilyoung approached him, catching his trembling breath.

"Hyung."

Looking down at Kim Dokja who was looking up at him, Lee Gilyoung also slowly knelt down on one knee.

Their gazes were of the same height.

The Constellation that had seemed so far away was now close. Now he could ask. He could ask the old question.

「Why did you save me back then?」

However, when he met Kim Dokja's eyes, what came out of his mouth was unexpected words.

"I want to make that wish again."

A meteor was falling from the split sky. Constellations dying somewhere. Looking at the tails of those Constellations.

"I don’t mind if hell starts again. I don’t mind if it’s not a happy ending. I don’t mind if I don’t see you often. That’s okay, please—"

"…"

"Can’t you just be a normal person?"

He prayed to the man who had now truly become a god.

"Just for one day, just be a normal person…"

He prayed and prayed, thinking of the man who loved this story.

He saw a few more Constellations falling from the sky.

The Demon King of Salvation, who was looking up at that sky, opened his mouth.

"There are so many stars."

The moment he heard the voice, Gilyoung realized.

"Just say you understand."

He knew before he said it. His wish couldn’t come true.

Because that wish was a story that the stars didn’t want.

It was a story that went against the probability of this damned <Star Stream>.

Gilyoung thought as he watched the Demon King of Salvation smiling sadly.

Maybe the reader really wanted to die back then. Maybe he wanted to breathe his last in the story he loved. "I'm sorry I don't remember how to kill my hyung."

With a clear sound, Cheonjongun Sword fell to the floor.

The boy who grew up watching Kim Dokja only knew Kim Dokja's methods.

[You are 'Old School'.]

[You cannot play a decisive role in this main scenario.]

The Demon King of Salvation answered him.

"Gilyoung-ah."

The Demon King of Salvation stood up and grabbed 'Unbreakable Faith'.

"Get up."

"…"

"The scenario isn't over yet."

Gilyoung shook his head as he watched 'Unbreakable Faith' slowly aiming at him.

"No, it's over."

Perhaps he came all the way here for this moment.

To be forgiven for his sin of not being able to save Kim Dokja from eternity.

"My scenario ends here."

[The Constellation 'Ruler of the Abyss' protects his incarnation!]

As the 'Blade of Faith' moved, Abaddon's magic flowed out from the center of his heart and formed a barrier.

The 'Blade of Faith' collided with the barrier. The sword strike dug in with a cracking sound. At the moment when the sword strike finally reached the heart, Gilyoung felt as if time had stopped.

The world's scenery became colorless and someone's voice was heard.

「Lee Gilyoung.」

The tone of speech was different from the Kim Dokja he knew. Nevertheless, Lee Gilyoung felt Kim Dokja in him.

「Breathe slowly. Breathe, exhale, yes. Slowly.」

Lee Gilyoung listened to his words as if he was under a spell.

He felt someone lightly embracing him and pulling him away from the Blade of Faith.

A breathing sound that felt close. It was a breathing method that Gilyoung knew well.

「Do you remember when we did this breathing method?」

Gilyoung nodded.

'Before reading the story.'

「Then you should read the story now.」

'No, my story is already over.'

「You haven’t met an 'ordinary Kim Dokja' yet.」

Gilyoung tried to answer.

There is no such Kim Dokja.

This world does not allow such a Kim Dokja.

Then a voice spoke.

「It’s just that it hasn’t been written yet. That’s why you couldn’t read it.」

Gilyoung raised his head as his consciousness faded. His heart began to beat again.

Who could it be?

Who could be saying these cruel words that rekindled the hope that had already been extinguished?

「So just wait a moment.」

Another Kim Dokja was there.

「I’m going to write that sentence from now on.」

Gilyoung nodded.

---

[Exiting 'Snowfield'.]

With a groan, the snow scattered from my breath.

I lightly wiped the snow from my lips and placed Gilyoung, whom I was holding in my arms, on the floor.

Gilyoung, lying next to Ye-hyunwoo, looked like brothers.

Brothers.

When I slowly raised my head, I saw the face of the Constellation I had been searching for for a long time.

[Many Constellations are watching you.]

[The 'Recycling Center Director' is watching your choice.]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Olympus>…]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Asgard>…]

…

[The amount of 'loss' you've collected has reached a certain level!]

[Your incarnation cannot handle your stories!]

[Your stories react to your emotions!]

[Your incarnation is in danger due to excessive use of power!]

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' warns you!]

…

Ignoring the messages coming in real time, I endured the upheaval with the power of [Incite].

The passionate sadness, anger, and pain were all suppressed under a single sentence.

「It's Kim Dokja.」

I greeted the only man in the world who could understand this pain.

"It's been a while, hyung."

The Demon King of Salvation nodded.

"Youngest."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

785 Episode 37 Graduation ceremony (1)

---

「The ending of 『Infinite Instructor』 is unknown. Because it was never written down.」

---

A lightning bolt struck Killer King as he roamed the forest. Then, a high-level demon fell down with a thud.

"Oh! Another one!"

"That’s amazing."

As Kyung Sein and Lee Dansu cheered, Cha Yerin shook her head.

Killer King shrugged and shook his shoulders at the group’s reaction

"It’s nothing."

The ability to defeat a 'high-level demon' without even a single scratch. What was more surprising was,

"A word is enough for those guys."

Killer King really defeated them with just 'a few words'.

Killer King’s method of defeating the high-level demons was simple.

"Judging by your appearance, your original form must have been insignificant."

[W-what nonsense are you talking about! What do you know about me—]

Tsutsutsut!

"If you're so confident, reveal your true identity."

[I'm from the great <Olympus>— Egegegege! Why, why— Gegegegegegege!]

Tsutsutsutsut!

The name of this worldview is 『Infinite Instructor』. Every character here has their own role, and therefore can only speak within the established categories.

Simply put, in this worldview, speech that doesn't fit the worldview's composition is not permitted.

What happens if you ignore the worldview and keep speaking?

[Egegegegegegege!]

That's what happens.

"Wow, my goodness."

At first, she thought it was luck.

But then, one, two, three, four of the high-level demons who fell like that... Soon, when they surpassed ten, Kyung Sein's eyes filled with awe.

"Here, kill... no, Kang Ilhoon is the strongest."

Killer King snorted as he watched Kyung Sein, who couldn't hide his admiration.

"They're weak and lost."

In this worldview, the trait given to Killer King was 'Delusionist', and the delusionist was the only being in this worldview who could 'say anything'. It didn't matter whether he directly mentioned the <Star Stream> or the true names of the constellations.

Everything he said was 'delusion'.

How many demons had he tormented with probability like that?

"Everyone, get out."

For the first time, a high-level demon who didn't become a probability roaster appeared due to Killer King's provocation. It wasn't because he was strong.

[The restraining power of the worldview is weakening!]

The restraining power of probability in this world was weakening.

He didn't know why.

Was it because he exploited the trait of the worldview?

The next moment, a light flashed in the distance and the sky opened up. Even the running Killer King, Cha Yerin, Kyung Sein, and Lee Dansu, were speechless for that moment and looked up at the sky.

Constellations were falling from the universe beyond the sky.

The high-level demons who had been chasing th em fell to the ground, and from somewhere, a huge probability aftershock was heard.

It was a scene that made both the delusional and non-delusional people think of the same name for that moment.

"Kim Dokja."

They muttered, not even knowing who that name was calling anymore.

---

rlaehrwk37: It's finally starting

---

I wrote a graduation speech as a valedictorian in high school. As it turned out, I was the winner of the 100-day award that year, and I was chosen as the valedictorian. The Korean teacher's comment when he first read my speech is still vivid.

"You wrote it well, but um. What should I say... You should write it like yourself. Don't you think so?"

"Like me? What is that?"

"You want to be a writer?"

Was it because of my nineteen-year-old self, or was it because of my teacher's provocation?

When I first heard that question, I had a strange attitude from the beginning.

What is being like me?

How does that person know what is 'like me' in the first place?

The question I had at that time naturally became forgotten as time passed. It wasn't that I forgot after finding the answer. I forgot naturally because I was too busy, or because I made excuses that I was past the age to ask such questions.

Now, more than ten years later, I felt like I knew the answer I had been searching for for so long that day.

That's what being like me is.

A Demon King with a similar appearance to me. A pale face was there.

He was a being from the same roots as me. A constellation who loved stories more than anyone else in the world. My sponsor and my hyung. The one who told me who Kim Dokja was.

I opened my mouth to him.

"Hyung, let's stop now."

Even as I said that, I already knew the answer I would get. I answered before hearing the answer.

"...If I could really stop just by saying that—"

"This story wouldn't have even started in the first place."

Watching him insist on answering, I felt that he was still my sponsor.

We smiled at each other.

"You look terrible."

"Hmm. You've gotten taller, haven't you?"

"You are actually satisfied with your own face?"

"It's not bad in the bathroom."

I thought about my sponsor, the 'Demon King of Salvation.' Not the Demon King of Salvation who repeats the same sacrifices every time in 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint', but the Demon King of Salvation I know.

For example, the awkward greeting we exchanged when we first met.

「Hello.」

I still remember that tone of voice that didn't sound like Kim Dokja at all. He was someone who was subtly different from the Kim Dokja I remembered from 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

I learned a lot from him.

「Do you know Ways of Survival?」

I read the long and boring 'Ways of Survival' through his relic.

「Phew, I slept well.」

I learned the shamelessness of buying a pillow with someone else's coins and resting.

「Okay, let's go check out the back of Joonghyuk's head in the 41st Round.」

I learned how to hit the back of the head of the innocent Yoo Joonghyuk.

「I maintained the Constellation modifier, but I couldn't pay for the Demon King modifier.」

I learned the tenacity to boldly sell off even his own modifier when necessary.

Is that all?

He even stole the share of his incarnation just because he didn't have any coins...

"It was fun. Wasn't it?"

He smiled brightly, knowing what I was thinking and what story I was thinking about.

"Yes, it was fun."

I really wanted to ask him so many things. As time passed, some questions lost their meaning, and some were naturally resolved.

And some questions remained between the lines. We each pulled out our weapons as if to bring out the questions that remained between the lines.

"That sword."

I said while looking at the sword held by the Demon King of Salvation.

A sword that looked like 'Unbreakable Faith' to anyone.

"It's mine."

However, I knew that the sword was not 'Unbreakable Faith'.

"It's mine now."

The Demon King of Salvation waved his sword in the air.

[The Holy Relic 'Thoughts About Almost Everything' hums. ]

The Holy Relic I had lost as I entered the Recycling Center.

The 'Thought' that could change into anything as long as the conditions were met burst into tears in the Demon King of Salvation's hand.

"You should have guarded it well."

"If you find a lost item, please return it to its owner."

"Owner?"

The sword in my hand was the real 'Unbreakable Faith'.

The sword used by Han Sooyoung when she visited this world line.

I felt strange. This sword was the weapon of the 'real Kim Dokja'. But now, the one holding 'Unbreakable Faith' is me.

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' smiles.]

My stomach kept churning.

It wasn't easy to face him smiling. For the first time, I felt like I didn't want to see the next page.

"You caused a great accident."

"I learned it from my sponsor."

We looked up at the sky at the same time. The only scenery we could share, as we had to aim our swords at each other.

"There are many Constellations today, too."

"It's always been like that."

The galaxy of the dazzling <Star Stream>.

The falling stars and the unfalling stars were looking at us.

"That's why we have to fight."

Was I the first to activate [Way of the Wind]? Or was it him? I don't know.

But when I came to my senses, we were standing on [Way of the Wind].

"It was good that we put Gilyoung to sleep."

"That's basic. I don't want him to fight you who has become a Mythical Constellation."

Standing in the center of the swirling wind, he did not show overwhelming force unlike when he confronted Lee Gilyoung of <Kim Dokja Company>.

[The Demon King 'Demon King of Salvation"s power decreases.]

The aftershocks have decreased compared to before.

It was natural. Now his opponent is not Lee Gilyoung, but me.

The scale of the <Star Stream>, which had tilted abnormally, returned to suit my ability.

"Hey, let's see how much the Youngest's skills have improved."

The power has dropped to a similar level to mine. Even so, he is still a Constellation protected by the scenario. He was a star more powerful than any Constellation I have ever fought.

Scream!

We stretched our swords toward each other. The blows that could kill each other crossed.

I know that neither of us wants to hurt the other. Nevertheless, this confrontation had to continue.

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Olympus> watch your battle.]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Asgard> watch your battle.]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Vedas> watch your battle.]

The [White and Blue Sword] embedded in each other's swordsmanship tore through the air with a sharp sound, and nothing was cut.

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' watches your battle.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' watches your battle.]

[The Constellation 'Reclining Dragon' watches your battle.]

[Many constellations watch your battle!]

However, my heart, which had not been cut, ached.

"If you do not control the stories, you will live as the stories wish. Have you forgotten?"

Then the Demon King of Salvation laughed.

"Sometimes, it is not bad to live being pushed by the stories."

I looked down at Gilyoung, who was lying on the floor.

"You speak like a Constellation."

"Because I'm a Constellation."

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' makes a displeased expression.]

[The Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' closes her sad eyes.]

[Some Constellations show hostility toward the Demon King 'Demon King of Salvation.']

I bit my lips as I heard the voices resenting him.

He was the final boss of this scenario. He was a disaster designed to protect this forest and kill the students of the academy.

The stitching marks that remained on his body were proof of that.

"You used the body of the demon that was in Washington East."

The body of a Marquis-level Demon.

It was the very Demon that once impersonated the 'Demon King of Salvation.'

"This guy was also the 'Demon King of Salvation'."

That damn Demon King of Salvation.

I asked with a bitter smile.

"Isn't it time for that 'Demon King of Salvation' to stop?"

"That can't be. Without that name, I'm nothing."

"How long will you be the 'Demon King of Salvation'?"

"Until there's only one person left."

The Demon King of Salvation knows how this story will end.

And so do I.

"I don't want to write that kind of story."

"From now on, what you have to write is an 'impossible story'."

"The story you like, hyung?"

My sponsor smiled as if satisfied with my answer. When I couldn't meet his gaze, I lowered my head, and the Heavenly Sword that had fallen to the ground was emitting a white light.

"Yes."

There is only one way to solve this scenario.

「From now on, I have to kill my sponsor.」

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

786 Episode 37 Graduation ceremony (2)

---

Can I win?

I don't know.

Actually, I've never thought about it.

"Youngest."

In this world, fighting that 'Kim Dokja'—and Kim Dokja who became a Constellation at that. This is something that no one but a crazy person would ever do.

"You could die, you know?"

"Isn't dying our specialty?"

And yet, why am I doing something like this?

"No, our specialty isn't dying."

"It's dying and coming back to life."

Is this also proof that 'Kim Dokja's legend' is flowing to me?

"You can't come back to life. You built both your traits and legends wrong."

"So you think I'm going to die?"

The Demon King of Salvation smiled quietly without answering.

I answered that smile.

"I'll be the first Kim Dokja who will never die."

The Demon King of Salvation burst into laughter, perhaps because my words were funny.

"I'm looking forward to that"

Please look forward to it. Because right now, I need the support of even just one more 'Kim Dokja'.

[The demon 'Demon King of Salvation' reveals his status.]

Above the blade-like wind, we exchanged sword strikes as if on cue.

When the [Way of the Wind] I compressed exploded in the sword fight, Kim Dokja also responded with his skillful [Way of the Wind]. The magical powers of both sides were canceled out, creating harmony in the air.

The tale of the Demon King of Salvation seeped through the clashing blades.

[The story 'Distorting Things as One Pleases' has found a story to distort.]

[The story 'King of a Kingless World' begins its storytelling.]

「This is a world without a 'king' right now.」

As the story began its storytelling, the form of 'Thought', which had been disguised as 'Unbreakable Faith', changed.

「His sword was born rejecting all the thrones of the world.」

'Thought' soon took the form of ″'Four Yin Demonic Beheading Sword'. The day the legend 『King of a Kingless World』 was created, the very sword that destroyed the 「Absolute Throne」.

Cold sweat ran down my back.

If I faced that sword, even a Constellation would die. In fact, Kim Dokja had a precedent of defeating Constellations from the 「Twelve Zodiac Signs」 with that sword.

The Demon King of Salvation warned.

"You know? This legend cannot be accepted unless you are a 'King'."

With no time to answer, the Four Yin Demonic Beheading Sword sword flew at me.

I swung the 'Unbreakable Faith' that I held with both hands with all my might. With a bang, my body was pushed back. The solid sentences of the legend were transmitted as a shock.

I felt it once again. What kind of life he had lived, what kind of legend he had built.

What he was made of.

But I couldn't just give in here.

"Have you forgotten whose agent I am?"

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation (Agent)' reveals his status!]

Of course, the Demon King is also a 'King'.

[Your modifier resists the effect of 'King of a Kingless World'.]

I took out the real Four Yin Demonic Beheading Sword from my inventory to confront him and said.

"And I didn't clear the 'Absolute Throne' carelessly either."

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' begins its storytelling.]

I recalled the story of that day once again. It was a day I didn't want to remember.

「The day the Lord of the Throne descended between the lines of the world.」

The story of the day I met the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne' outside the scenarios.

「In the distant void, there were two people who confronted the Lord of the Throne.」

I thought of Han Sooyoung.

I thought of her words as she disappeared to hand me this sword and this story.

「"Why did you want to be a writer?"」

As if answering that question, I swung my sword.

"If you are Kim Dokja who destroyed the 'Absolute Throne'—"

The Constellation of the shining Four Yin Demonic Beheading Sword flared up.

"I am 'Kim Dokja' who killed the bastard who created that 'Absolute Throne'."

Kim Dokja. This story exists just to prove those three syllables made up of consonants and vowels.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' protects!]

[The story 'King of a Kingless World' growls!]

The two stories resonated and howled.

The balance of the stories that had been neck-and-neck began to tilt at some point.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' goes crazy!]

「King of a Kingless World was a great story. It was a story that was created by destroying the 'Absolute Throne', with a solid sponsor, story, and sentence structure. However, even if it is a story about the same 'Absolute Throne', it is different.」

「Heir of the Eternal Name was a tale born from a more impossible incident that touched the foundation of the world.」

Above all, 「King of a Kingless World」 is a legend, while 「Heir of the Eternal Name」 is a Semi-mythical tale that is continuously growing.

The power of the overflowing tale engulfed the Demon King of Salvation. Even as he was helplessly pushed back, the Demon King of Salvation did not lose his composure. His expression seemed to indicate that he had expected this much.

"I guess you've already forgotten. Who was with you when that story was made?"

Even in the midst of the storm of stories, the Demon King of Salvation did not lose his dignity.

As if he knew that this story could not harm him.

When he gently swung his sword as if cutting through the clouds, the sentences of the story that had been covering him split apart as if by magic.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' frowns.]

It was an expected result. This story cannot harm him. 「Heir of the Eternal Name」 is a story that I completed when I made a contract with the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

It's a story that couldn't have been born without his help in the first place.

[The power of the story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' does not work on the 'Demon King of Salvation'.]

The Demon King of Salvation, who completely nullified my story, looked at me.

"Just kidding."

"Let's really empty it."

Since we're both readers, we can't strike back with a half-hearted story.

[The Constellation 'The One Who Brought Ten Lambs' watches the battle with anxious eyes.]

[Some Constellations are expecting an even fiercer battle!]

The <Star Stream> won't be satisfied with this kind of fight either.

He knows it and I know it.

We're the ones who are more familiar with directing than anyone else in the <Star Stream>.

The moment our eyes met, we realized what skills each other would use.

[The amount of 'loss' you have acquired is sufficient.]

[Exclusive trait 'Record Repairer' is activated.]

[Exclusive skill 'Bookmark' is additionally repaired.]

[The function of the exclusive skill 'Bookmark' has been strengthened!]

[The level of the exclusive skill 'Bookmark' has increased significantly!]

A series of characters came to mind.

I chose one character without hesitation.

The Demon King of Salvation was the same.

"Bookmark number 2."

"Bookmark number 5."

Characters in different bookmarks. However, what we called was in a sense the 'same character'.

"I will activate 'Judge of Evil' Jung Heewon."

"I will activate 'Judge of Destruction' Jung Heewon."

The two Jung Heewons were possessed by each other.

One is Evil. The other is Destruction.

One is a judge who exerts herstrongest power only on 'villains'. And the other side is the judge who exerts the strongest power only on 'monsters'.

It was the moment when the match that could never come true came true under the name of 'Kim Dokja'.

Kuwagwagwagwa!

The moment the sword energy and energy collided, a sound that seemed to burst my ears.

A scene of sword fighting that could not be followed with the eyes.

I and the Demon King of Salvation held our breath and endured the power of Jung Heewon that we had read.

"Hmph."

Every moment I swallowed my breath, a fierce battle of wits took place. Twenty, fifty, eighty. As the sums increased, I could feel the trajectory of the reading that the Demon King of Salvation had read from Jung Heewon's sword fighting.

「When Heewon-ssi uses her sword, move your arm like this.」

「When using a superior sword, always use an honest and precise thrust.」

I could not lose either.

「Heewon-ssi has a habit of taking a step back every time she catches her breath.」

「Faster, stronger. Heewon-ssi's sword was more intense than this.」

This is the readers' battle. The one who reads more fiercely and bookmarks more meticulously wins the battlefield.

I was gradually out of breath.

It was hard to follow the interpretation of Jung Heewon by the Demon King of Salvation. To be honest, I was impressed.

They really are different.

Jung Heewon in the 1,864th Round is really amazing.

But it seems that the Demon King of Salvation was also impressed.

"It's quite good. Heewon-ssi in the 41st Round is also very strong."

"Whose sword is it?"

Just as Jung Heewon in the 3rd Round became Kim Dokja's sword, Jung Heewon in the 41st Round became my sword.

"The one who swung more swords than anyone else to protect us."

The moment when different interpretations met at the same conclusion, the clashing blades made a loud noise once again.

A situation where life and death were at stake in a single sword strike.

Even so, we were laughing.

"Heewon-ssi is really an amazing person."

"She's a great person."

"If it weren't for her, I wouldn't have been able to see the end of the scenarios."

"I'll probably have the same story someday."

This fight is fun.

"That Heewon-ssi has a peculiar habit of her right foot."

"That Heewon-ssi is so honest in her swordsmanship."

This time of sharing stories that I like is so enjoyable. As the interpretation continued, sentences that could kill each other flashed through my mind one after another.

I want to show him this interpretation. I want to share this story that I know with him.

That greed made me throw a decisive move.

[Activate 'Time of Judgment'!]

Jung Heewon of the 41st Round is the 'Judge of Destruction'.

Just in time, the 'Demon King of Salvation' in front of me was the 'Demon King' of all monsters.

「It's not enough yet.」

Jung Heewon of the 41st Round has more overwhelming talent than any other Jung Heewon of any other world line. [Bookmark] alone is not enough to show that.

[Exclusive skills 'Bookmark' and 'Incite' are silent!]

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.10' is activated!]

「I am Jung Heewon.」

The path of the sword opened in my head, and all the Jung Heewons I know were embedded in my body.

The best 'Jung Heewon' that I can recreate now was swinging the sword.

Will the Demon King of Salvation accept this interpretation? Will you be able to break the history we have built?

"You really read hard."

Even in front of the flying blade, the Demon King of Salvation was still Kim Dokja.

"This is the first time I've seen a Heewon-ssi like that."

"If you stay still like that, you'll die!"

"Die?"

The moment he snickered, the scenery around me felt a slight ripple.

"Aren't you underestimating your brother?"

The sword I swung bounced up with a loud cracking sound.

[Time of Judgement, Gwisal, and Jung Heewon's strike with the power of Kendo.]

The Demon King of Salvation accepted that strike. How?

[The Great Demon King 'Demon King of Salvation' activates 'Time of Judgement'!]

I opened my eyes wide.

There was no way. 'Jung Heewon', who the 'Demon King of Salvation' had borrowed just now, was the 'Judge of Evil'.

And the 'Judge of Evil' could only be used when the opponent was an 'evil person'—and only with the consent of the Constellations of the 'absolute good' lineage.

Now he was a 'Demon King'.

No Constellation of the 'absolute good' lineage would lend him their power.

But how—

For a moment, I felt strange. My hair stood on end, and my spine creaked.

I felt death drawing near.

I reflexively took a dozen steps back, and the surrounding scenery looked different.

The familiar railroad and platform. Why didn't I notice it before?

「Staging.」

It wasn't a real staging, but it seemed like he had activated a kind of 「Simple Staging」 by paying for probability.

"You seem to have forgotten who you were, Youngest."

In that moment, I realized how he had activated [Time of Judgment].

"Ha."

The creativity of the Demon King of Salvation was truly unimaginable.

The insight that replaced the conditions of agreement of the absolute good constellations with the power of 「Staging」.

The [Time of Judgment] that the Demon King of Salvation had just activated was not something from this world, but something borrowed from a 'different world line'.

All the events of this simple stage 'already happened' in some world line.

"Geumho."

I smiled bitterly as I looked at the familiar writing on the platform.

The Demon King of Salvation asked with a grin.

"You said you would become Kim Dokja who would never die, right?"

This was the station where 'Cheon Inho' was born, and the station where my scenario began.

「The Judge of Evil. The strongest judge among the three great judges, just woke up in Geumho.」

But this 'Geumho Station' is not the 41st Round, but the 1,864th Round. It is the very place where Jung Heewon, who was the 'crouching figure', awakened as the 'Judge of Evil'.

The 'villain' Cheon Inho of 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' dies here from the sword of 'Judge of Evil' Jung Heewon.

"See if you can survive, Youngest."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

787 Episode 37 Graduation ceremony (3)

My heart was beating wildly.

I'm dying. I'm really dying here.

I could see my death on the coming day.

The very scene where Jung Heewon killed Cheon Inho. The incident that shocked everyone at Geumho Station was about to be reenacted before my eyes.

「It's because Jung Heewon pierced Cheon Inho's face from the crown down.」

And there was the Demon King of Salvation looking at me from the other side of the incident.

[The Constellations of <Olympus> are absorbed into the stage!]

[The Constellations of <Vedas> are absorbed into the stage!]

[The Constellations of <Asgard> are absorbed into the stage!]

The directing ability of the story that even made the enemy Constellations absorbed.

I was purely amazed by that ability and nodded.

I know that he doesn’t want to kill me either. But he has to act that way anyway. That’s the scenario. This is a game where only one Kim Dokja can survive.

「That fact made my heart beat.」

I swung my 'Unbreakable Faith' to block the rushing sword. However, even though I activated [Time of Judgement] by using [Incite], [Sentence Strengthening], and [Bookmark], I could not stop the flow of the stage.

Blood burst from the corner of my mouth, and shallow sword wounds remained on my waist and shoulder.

「This is the power of history that Kim Dokja survived with all his might.」

The sword strikes of the Demon King of Salvation became faster and faster, and I continued to be pushed back.

At that moment, the Demon King of Salvation's sword pierced through my gap.

I thought that I really couldn't avoid it this time.

"Kim Dokja!"

Someone pushed me, and a small explosion occurred in the air.

"What are you doing? Come to your senses."

At first glance, it was a tone that could be mistaken for Yoo Joonghyuk's. But that won't happen anymore. Because I know who he is.

"Let's join forces!"

The Second Apostle, Killer King had finally arrived here. And that wasn't all.

"We're here. Friend."

Lee Dansu, who had appeared leading a large number of low-level loyal servants, charged the army of bugs toward the Demon King of Salvation.

"I'm here too! Ughhhhhhh! I'm scared to death!"

Kyung Sein, who had used [Average Correction] to increase her stamina to the limit, clashed with the Demon King of Salvation.

The moment the Demon King of Salvation's body was pushed back by the reckless charge, a splendid sword light flashed in the sky.

「Baekcheong-ganggi, who was much more skilled than me, was embroidering the air and restraining the Demon King of Salvation.」

"Go, Yerin!"

LiteraryGirl64, Cha Yerin, spun around in the air and fell down like a top. The combined attack of Killer King and Cha Yerin, the ultimate command of [Main Battle Action Mode] had been activated.

Kwakwakwakwakwa! A blow that could shatter Lee Hyunsung's steel-like armor.

Even so, the Demon King of Salvation did not fall. He simply silently swung his sword and blocked Cha Yerin's attack.

Cha Yerin's body was thrown toward the group with a huge shockwave.

"He's strong."

Cha Yerin's hand, which had collided with the Demon King of Salvation, was swollen red.

"He's unbelievably strong."

"Because he's Kim Dokja."

I told Cha Yerin that.

"And we're Kim Dokja too."

With these people, we can fight no matter how far behind we are. Although we haven't lived as long and distant a history as the Demon King of Salvation, we've done our best to get here.

「The 41st world line is our world.」

The stories we've shared together began to stir and boil together.

The Demon King of Salvation also seemed to know that fact, so he lightly flicked his fingers into the air.

['High-level Demons' Appear!]

'High-level Demons' rose up simultaneously in the water.

"Be careful!"

As the high-level demons surrounded the forest in an instant, the group centered around Killer King stood guard.

"Formation A. Everyone gather!"

"There's no such thing!"

"Kim Dokja! Come to your senses! We'll take care of these guys!"

The sound of people being hit and broken was heard here and there. Kyung Sein's screams and Dansu's credit. Killer King's energy mixed together to form a mess.

I couldn't help but feel ashamed of the thought of salvation.

"You're really a brilliant leader."

That's right. We've lived through such a chaotic history. We've endured life by following the actions of the characters and reenacting the stories we liked. That's how we got here.

"You can't kill me with stories like that."

The combined attack of the high-level demons would have been difficult to deal with in the past. Nevertheless, the group held on well. They held on.

"Yes. It's a mess all the time, so I'd like a story where no one dies."

The eyes of the Demon King of Salvation wavered at my answer. I didn't miss that moment and rushed toward him.

A sword strike flew from the air once more.

"You know how that story ends, right?"

"Yes."

"Are you still going to continue that story?"

"Yes."

I nodded firmly and said.

"That's our story, isn't it?"

The Demon King of Salvation's blade shook subtly.

I made another bold move.

[The story 'Tenacious Martial Arts Master' begins its storytelling!]

I pushed my sword without stopping.

A story received from Arc of the Dragon Head Cheongae.

All the stories I had learned and mastered were embedded in my blade.

"Do you remember? When we first met. You gave me a lot of advice back then."

Even now, when I close my eyes, a clear voice comes to mind.

—What kind of characteristic is the circulatory delay?

—[Incite] Why can’t you use it like that?

—Do you know any other stories besides 「Persistent Martial Arts Master」?

—And that’s not all the skillsyou’ve gotten. Why don’t you use [Nagak Breathing]? Do you practice Skill Linking?

These were the homework assignments left to me after the Demon King of Salvation disappeared.

While I was staying at the Recycling Center, I practiced stories and skills day and night. I knew that my proficiency wouldn’t increase enough with just this short period of practice, but I didn’t rest.

Just like the day I first started writing a novel, just like that time when I wrote and erased countless sentences, I trained all the possibilities I had.

[The proficiency of the exclusive trait 'Circulation Delay' has achieved great success!]

[The exclusive trait 'Circulation Delay' is linked to the exclusive skill 'Nakgak Breathing'.]

With one breath, the magical power swelled like wildfire. The 'Circulation Delay' characteristic was linked to [Nakgak Breathing].

The long breath I sucked in circulated the magical power of my entire body, making it possible to link incredible skills.

[Baekcheong-ganggi and 「The Tenacious Martial Arts Master」.]

The mutually contradictory martial arts and stories harmonized, and the ether blade rose from my swordplay.

I swung my sword while holding my breath. I swung my sword again and again until my breath ran out. Blood spurted onto my cheeks and the broken stories scattered. My breath reached the tip of my chin.

The Demon King of Salvation was looking at me in such a desperate manner.

「You've improved a lot, Youngest.」

I continued to swing my sword while hiding my pent-up emotions.

We are the sponsor and the incarnation.

「It's still not enough.」

「Yes, it's still not enough.」

A Constellation and a human who share each other's inner feelings without saying a word.

「I can become stronger.」

「I have to become stronger.」

「So please teach me.」

The moment the flow of 'Circulation Delay' and 'Nagak Breathing' ended, the weapon of the Demon King of Salvation, who had been pushing forward, changed. The form of 'Thought' had changed into the 'Ground Rat Sword'.

The weapon that Jung HeeWon used when she killed Cheon Inho in the 1,864th Round.

[The effect of 'Simple Stage' has increased!]

The Demon King of Salvation was saying.

In order to change this story, I have to change it myself.

I have to destroy the history he has built up from the past head-on.

"I—"

I opened my mouth with all my might as I watched Jung Heewon's sword flying towards me to finish Cheon Inho.

"I am not Cheon Inho!"

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 10' is activated!]

A spark fell from the air, and the Demon King of Salvation's sword was twisted.

[The reproducibility of 'Simple Stage' is reduced!]

The blow that would have definitely killed me missed.

It was because the stage effect was weakened due to [Incite].

But even with that [Incite], the stage effect could not be dispelled.

The Demon King of Salvation shook his head and worked.

"It's amazing, you can now use [Incite] well, but…"

He already had the power to resist my [Incite].

Well, if I had been able to [Incite] the Demon King of Salvation in the first place, I wouldn't have been pushed back in this fight.

I thought it would have been better if I had just a little more time.

If only I had time to examine each and every one of the legends I had accumulated.

But I didn't have time, and the Demon King of Salvation's blade was too close. A squeak, and weakness came over me. The incarnation body that had been pushing itself hard since absorbing Goo Seonah had finally reached its limit.

I acknowledged it. What kind of ability did I have now? Even if I exert myself, I cannot beat the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

He is my sponsor. What I can do, he can do too.

He is the first Kim Dokja of this world.

The Elder Brother of all Kim Dokjas, and the Constellation that introduced me to 'Kim Dokja'.

"The match is not over yet. Don't look at me with those eyes."

"Youngest."

The eyes of the approaching Demon King of Salvation were shaking. The fear that I might really die.

I looked at that fear straight in the eye and laughed.

"I told you. I will become the first Kim Dokja who will never die. Because—"

I knew from the beginning that I could not defeat him. He had been a Narrative-grade Constellation for a long time, and I was just an incarnation that could now act as his representative.

So I waited.

I bought time until someone who could truly defeat him appeared.

"I absolutely do not intend to be the main character."

The sword of the Demon King of Salvation that had been rushing towards me was deflected. The power that could block the attack of that powerful Narrative-grade Constellation. While the surprised Demon King of Salvation widened his eyes, a man in a fluttering black coat gave an order.

"Lee Hyunsung! Lee Jihye! Shin Yoosung! Kim Namwoon!"

The four people who received the order jumped out from the bushes. The combined attack of the four people seemed to be pushing back the forces of the upper-level demons little by little.

「There was Yoo Joonghyuk, who held the Wolgeuk.」

It was just the appearance of the main character, but it felt like the sentences that had been chaotically scattered were finding their places. I sighed involuntarily. I realized once again whose 'story' this world was.

In an instant, Yoo Joonghyuk cleaned up the surroundings and stood next to me and said.

"It's pathetic."

As I looked ahead with a bitter smile, the Demon King of Salvation was also facing me.

The Demon King of Salvation standing alone without any companions. His one starlight seemed a little lonely at that moment.

"Is that so?"

Starlight seemed to be counting down the years, and also seemed to be reminiscing about the old story in the scenario that had now become worn out.

"That guy was the Yoo Joonghyuk you discovered."

I couldn't even imagine the feelings of the Demon King of Salvation. All I could do was nod.

The Demon King of Salvation smiled faintly. That smile was all we could share at the moment.

"You really intend to kill me."

As expected, he knew all about my plan. In order to counter the 「Staging」 on the other side, we had to use 「Staging」 on this side as well.

We had to recreate the only stage in this universe where we could kill the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

Both he and I knew very well what that 'stage' was.

[The story 'Demon King of Salvation' begins its storytelling.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

788 Episode 37 Graduation ceremony (4)

---

The story, 「Demon King of Salvation」.

Since it was the core story that put Kim Dokja as a Constellation, it was very difficult to recreate.

[The conditions for 'Staging' are partially met.]

Before we knew it, the 'High-level Demons' had been sorted out, and Lee Hyunsung, Lee Jihye, and Shin Yoosung had gathered around us.

Just then, Ji Eunyu appeared through the bushes. Jung Heewon was carried on her back.

With this, most of the members of <Kim Dokja Company>, including Lee Gilyoung, who had fallen, had gathered.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who represented them, glared at the Demon King of Salvation from afar and muttered.

"Is that guy a 'Great Demon'?"

"Yes."

"What kind of evil scheme are you plotting again?"

"An evil scheme? This is a clear operation."

Since this was the 'Recycling Center' and the scenario was 'hunting the Demon King of Salvation', the probability itself needed for 'staging' was sufficient.

The Demon King of Salvation kept nodding his head as if he had figured out all of my plans.

"This will be fun."

I bit my lips without realizing it.

Can you even say that at this moment?

For him who looked as excited as a child, I must now write the last sentence he wants.

The Demon King of Salvation said, spreading his arms wide as if he would take on the role of the villain.

"Okay, let's begin."

The stage opened with a rippling background.

Lee Jihye, Lee Hyunsung, Shin Yoosung, and Kim Namwoon surrounded the Demon King of Salvation on all sides, and then Killer King, Cha Yerin, Lee Dansu, and Kyung Sein joined in.

"Hit!"

With Lee Jihye's shout, a sharp light swept over the Demon King of Salvation's entire body. Between the dust that rose up in a thick haze, Lee Hyunsung and Kyung Sein continued to butt-fight.

The Demon King of Salvation raised both hands and caught the two.

"The group was running."

While the Demon King of Salvation’s hands were tied, Cha Yerin, who activated [Main Battle Action Fighting], and Kim Namwoon, who activated [Knife Fighting], aimed behind the Demon King of Salvation.

「In the <Star Stream>, existence is 'stories'.」

[Baekcheong-ganggi and Heukhwa combined attack.]

The Black and White Energy stabbed the Demon King of Salvation in the back.

「In the gaze of countless Constellations pouring down from the sky, the story that would kill him was approaching one sentence at a time.」

It felt strange. This was the story that had once killed him.

I remembered the <Kim Dokja Company> of that time. None of them really wanted to kill Kim Dokja.

How is it now?

"Yup! It's empty!"

Lee Jihye, Lee Hyunsung, and Kim Namwoon were swinging their weapons at Kim Dokja without any hesitation.

The only ones who showed lukewarm movements were Shin Yoosung and readers like me. Kyung Sein and Lee Dansu looked back at me several times and asked with their eyes.

"Are you okay?"

They knew who the Demon King of Salvation was and why he was there.

They knew what he had sacrificed to protect this universe. Nevertheless, I nodded at them.

That was the only way I could change this story.

"Master!"

The last attack was from Yoo Joonghyuk. The Wolgeuk in his hand surged forward, scattering pitch-black energy. The golden energy in the changgeuk hit the Demon King of Salvation's stomach.

Kim Namwoon grumbled.

"Did you hurt him?"

The Demon King of Salvation's incarnation was revealed through the smoky dust. Despite the combined attack of the group, the Demon King of Salvation was barely injured. Kim Namwoon muttered in shock.

"What kind of a bullshit—"

"Master, is that really something you can beat?"

[The '73rd Demon King' enters a new phase!]

At the same time as Lee Jihye grumbled, a message was heard from the air.

[The Great Demon King, the 'Demon King of Salvation' rises in rank!]

"Crazy. They're saying he's getting stronger there?"

The Demon King of Salvation's body fired magical blades in rapid succession. He was leisurely taking on the entire group while building a barrier with [Way of the Wind].

"Youngest, this story doesn't make me 'weak'. You haven't forgotten, have you?"

I remembered it too.

During the 73rd Demon King scenario, he survived attacks from the entire <Kim Dokja Company>.

An entity that neither Han Sooyoung's [Avatar], Jung Heewon's [Hellfire], nor Shin Yoosung's Chimera Dragon could eat. He was the scenario boss, the Demon King of Salvation.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

However, regardless of whether the opponent was a Demon King or a Constellation, the influence of「Staging」was absolute.

"Take it!"

Yoo Joonghyuk caught the 'Cheonjongun Sword' that I had thrown. He seemed to have figured out why I had thrown the sword at that moment.

"Is it a guy with the resurrection trait?"

Then the Demon King of Salvation answered on my behalf.

"That's right. I will be resurrected even if I die."

"This sword can erase the resurrection trait."

"That's right."

The Demon King of Salvation nodded as if he agreed and then playfully grinned.

"But I don't know if you can do it."

Instead of answering, Yoo Joonghyuk swung the Cheonjongun Sword.

「The power gained through the story is ultimately destroyed by the story. His resurrection trait, 'Eight Lives', comes from the power of the Constellation Yamata no Orochi.」

The trajectory of [Breaking The Sky Swordsmanship] was recorded on the blade of the Cheonheungun Sword. The moment the final touch, which even erased the resurrection trait, reached the chest of the Demon King of Salvation, his lips trembled slightly.

[The realization of 'Staging' shakes.]

Yoo Joonghyuk's surprised sword seemed to shake, and then the Demon King of Salvation waved his hands and struck the sword away.

It was unbelievable.

The power of 「Staging」 was absolute. No matter how strong the Demon King of Salvation was, there was no way he could take the Cheonjongun Sword.

I staggered toward the battlefield. Yoo Joonghyuk stepped back and stopped me.

"Don't come. You'll die if you keep that state."

"What did he just say?"

I saw it clearly.

The Demon King of Salvation said something to Yoo Joonghyuk, and from then on, Yoo Joonghyuk's condition changed. Yoo Joonghyuk thought for a moment and then confessed in a small growl.

"He said I wouldn't be able to use this sword properly."

He can't use that sword?

I wondered what that meant, but a message immediately came to mind.

[The current target is suffering from the side effects of 'Binding of Truth'.]

Binding of Truth.

One of Yoo Joonghyuk's 'Story Engravings', where some of his memories are sealed in exchange for gaining great power.

I suddenly raised my head and asked.

"Have you forgotten how to use the sword?"

"I can't use it like before."

Is that so?

Yoo Joonghyuk's main weapon in the 41st Round was the 'spear'. So he must have sacrificed 'how to use the sword' as a sacrifice for the Story Engraving.

The Demon King of Salvation looked at me from afar and grumbled.

"Do you understand now?"

I answered calmly.

"I expected it."

"Really? Then you know the solution."

Is it because I was tired? My consciousness kept fading. For a brief moment, my consciousness flickered and flickered.

Right now, it seemed like 'that' would be possible.

"Yoo Joonghyuk. Think about me from now on."

"What nonsense are you talking about—"

Yoo Joonghyuk glared at me with a serious expression. Then, the skill was activated.

[Exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is activated!]

The moment my incarnation body fell, my soul was inhabited by Yoo Joonghyuk's incarnation through [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint].

Yoo Joonghyuk, surprised, said.

"You, how—"

'There's no time to explain in detail now! Give me the sword!'

The phase of the Demon King of Salvation passed once again.

Now, the party was being pushed back in a hurry instead of pushing forward. Every time the Demon King of Salvation made a light gesture, a huge shock wave occurred, pressuring the party.

Yoo Joonghyuk shook his head and said.

"In my current state, I can't use this sword properly. It would be better to hold a spear—"

'No, this time, take the sword. And that too!'

Yoo Joonghyuk picked up the two blades that had fallen next to my incarnation body —'Ray Bringer's' 'Light Wish'.

[Exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader Viewpoint' activates to the limit!]

[Exclusive skill 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World' activates!]

Then, the text of 'Ways of Survival' began to appear.

「In the darkness, Yoo Joonghyuk held the sword.」

In accordance with the flow of the text, Yoo Joonghyuk also held the sword again.

「In the time fault of the dark dimension, Yoo Joonghyuk swung the sword again and again.」

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had undergone extreme training to become a transcendent. The record of Yoo Joonghyuk was being passed on to Yoo Joonghyuk through me once again. As if he had noticed what was happening, the corners of the mouth of the Demon King of Salvation's mouth widened into a smile.

"That's amazing."

This was a strategy that Kim Dokja had once used. 'Reviving the forgotten tale of Yoo Joonghyuk through the 'Ways of Survival'.

"You've grown up a lot, Youngest."

The swords clashed.

A cracking sound that tore through the sky.

The two swords repeatedly aimed for each other's neck, chest, and shoulder. The thighs were torn and the shoulders were split. Blood spurted onto the ground.

Even so, the swords did not stop.

This was not enough.

The Demon King of Salvation probably also knew that I would use the 'Ways of Survival'.

I couldn't defeat him with the 'story' he already knew.

That's why,

「A story that the Demon King of Salvation doesn't know.」

I had to rewrite this story, a story that I had once left unfinished.

Calmly drawing an old scene in my head. It was the story of the prison guard who ruled over infinite time.

「Ma Hyunsung looked at the Demon King of Salvation.」

I could see a look of surprise and bewilderment on the Demon King of Salvation's face.

「Upon closer inspection, it seemed like him and the Demon King of Salvation somehow resembled each other. No, maybe he resembled the Demon. After a long fight, they had finally become a part of each other.」

'Yoo Joonghyuk!'

「I know that the story won’t end here with the defeat of the Demon. I also know that I will be lonely after the end of a long fight. When even the one great enemy who understands him—the Demon—disappears, his world will be filled with emptiness.」

'Ray Bringer' and 'Light Wish' emitted bright light and soon transformed into a single sword.

Sacred sword.

Light Bringer.

The decisive weapon of the protagonist of 'Infinite Instructor', Ma Hyunsung, and the only weapon that can effectively strike the Demon.

「Even so, he decided to walk toward that emptiness.」

The sacred sword Light Bringer emitted light along with a bright ray of light.

「He decided to cut down his only understanding and confirm the end of this forest where nothing exists.」

One of the Demon King's arms gave birth to empty space. His fluttering coat was torn and the sound of his bones breaking was heard. The Demon King was in a hurry and 'Thought' seemed to be changing to 'Unbreakable Faith'.

However, it was a mistake.

[The reproducibility of the stage is increased!]

If the 'Ground Rat Sword' increased the reproducibility of the Geumho Station stage, 'Unbreakable Faith' contributed to the reproducibility of the stage of 'Demon King of Salvation'.

"Ah."

Yoo Joonghyuk's right hand moved as if by magic. A single sword traversed the light beam revealed by Light Bringer. A devastating blow that shattered the sky where Constellations hung was placed at the tip of Cheonheungun Sword.

With the sound of the stomach skin being pierced, the expanding magic wave swept through the center of the battlefield like a storm.

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Olympus> are calling out to you!]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Vedas> are suspicious of your activities!]

[Some Constellations of the Nebula <Asgard> are attempting to invade the Recycling Center!]

[All Constellations of the 'Recycling Center' are staring at the battlefield!]

…

[You have achieved a non-existent achievement!]

[All the Dokkaebi of the Management Bureau are astonished at your story!]

…

[Exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is released!]

I woke up with a spurt of blood. I gasped for breath several times in my messy incarnation body and got up from my seat.

I started to walk unsteadily.

"Please."

That's when someone grabbed my hand.

"Don't kill him."

With the voices dispersing, the hand that had been holding me disappeared. I could not feel any signs.

I wondered if it might have been Lee Gilyoung.

I looked at the spot where Lee Gilyoung had disappeared for a moment, then staggered forward again.

The group had collapsed where the pitch-black dust had settled. Lee Jihye, Lee Hyunsung, Kim Namwoon, Shin Yoosung...

And someone was sitting on their knees in the center of the dust storm.

I called his name.

"Kim Dokja."

He didn't answer. I called him again.

"Demon King of Salvation."

Then he raised his head. My older brother was there, smiling with blood dripping from his mouth and his stomach pierced by the Cheonchongun sword.

[The Great Demon King, the 'Demon King of Salvation' meets his fate.]

The old prophecy of the stellar nebula was once again coming true.

「The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' will die in the story he loved.」

He smiled as he faced that fate.

Is this really the story you wanted? Can you even say that you love this kind of story?

[Your sponsor completely transfers his status to you.]

A Constellation that hung in the infinitely high sky. A Constellation that protected me in that sky over and over again. Now, that Constellation was within arm's reach.

I slowly knelt before him.

"What a pity."

Like someone who had finally graduated from this story, the Demon King of Salvation was smiling dazzlingly.

"I want to read it one more time."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

789 Episode 37 Graduation ceremony (5)

---

I quietly looked at the Demon King of Salvation. He and the starlight that had been so dazzling were now dimming.

The reason was simple.

[Your current existence restoration rate is 10%.]

The amount of 'Kim Dokja fragments' that I possessed had increased more than that.

I quietly held my brother's shoulder that had shrunk.

You can read it again.

---

The Demon King of Salvation opened his eyes.

It seemed like he had woken up from sleep, or like he had died and come back to life. To him who was used to death, perhaps the two were not so different.

He exhaled lightly, and felt a pleasant chill. He looked around.

All he could see was a plain covered in pure white snow. The Demon King of Salvation sighed lightly in that solemn landscape.

Just by looking at the fluttering white snow, he could tell what kind of place this world was.

This is the Youngest's world.

He thought about the Youngest.

The last Kim Dokja in this world. A being born with a different mission than other readers.

The Youngest has always lived seeing this scenery.

The Demon King of Salvation stretched out his hand toward the fluttering snow. Then, a faint whisper could be heard through the snow.

「"King King! King King!"」

The cries of ground rats searching for their mothers.

「"Save me! Save me!"」

The cries of those who died after failing to overcome the first scenario.

「"If only there was one more chance, one more chance..."」

The last wish of those who died after being crushed under the rubble of a collapsed building or eaten by monsters.

Some were recorded and some were not. They all fell asleep between the lines. The Demon King of Salvation shook the snow in the air again while waiting for someone to read it, to imagine it. This time, different stories were heard.

「"Let's die together even if we die! Don't give up!"」

It was the story of the people of Geumho Station fighting back to back to save each other.

Bang Cheolsoo, who had become a different person than in the previous round. And the sight of the mother and daughter fighting beside him.

「"Come on, let's have a bite!"」

Homeless people at Seoul Station sitting in a huddle in front of the remaining open signboard, sharing warm soup.

「"I wonder if that hyung is doing well."」

Jung Heewon's younger brother—Jung Eunho and the children of the Beggar Sect were also there. The children, who no longer needed to set traps and deceive the adults, chatted around the campfire.

Countless Constellations hung in the sky that the children looked up at.

[The Constellation 'The Last Ark' watches over the descendants of the Beggar Sect.]

An old tower was floating in a corner of the shining sky.

'Recycling Center', Zone 13.

「"Shouldn't we go help too?"」

Animals that couldn't enter the <Zodiac Ball> were gathered in a small inn in Zone 13.

「"But will we be of any help..."」

「"If it weren't for that friend, we would have been forgotten."」

「"What do you think, Master Crane?"」

The sentences that remained like faint footprints. The Demon King of Salvation carefully read the sentences that were open but definitely present. He read them diligently, as if he were afraid that there would be a sentence he hadn't read.

How much had he read like that?

Someone was standing in front of him.

"Is it fun?"

It was the Youngest.

The Youngest looked much more like 'Kim Dokja' than before.

Looking at him like that, the Demon King of Salvation didn't know what to say. Since he didn't know what to say, he had a set plan for what to say.

"What's next?"

"Of course there is."

The two sat side by side and read the stories. They read happy stories, sad stories. Or they read stories that couldn't be defined as happy or sad.

They just liked the story.

"Is there more?"

"There's still a lot left."

He knows. That the Youngest had prepared a lot of stories for him. But now he didn’t have much time left.

He heard a sound like waves crashing. He raised his head and saw the distant edge of the snowy field slowly breaking apart.

The waves of destruction were coming.

"Youngest."

"Yes."

"I read hard."

"I know."

"Even though I read so hard—"

The end of his voice broke into small pieces like the waves that were coming.

The Demon King of Salvation smiled bitterly.

For what, for whom had he kept 'reading'?

"Reading alone couldn’t change anything."

Life is life and death is death.

No matter how many times he read it—no matter how much effort he put into it—the world didn’t change.

Someday, the universe will end.

This story will definitely end.

Even though every tragedy is predetermined, even though they know that fact well, why do they read it?

"At least I've come to understand one person better."

"One person. Perhaps that one person is a different name to each and every Kim Dokja. There are also people who have come to understand you better while reading your story."

"…"

"Can you really say that it means nothing?"

The Demon King of Salvation had no answer to the Youngest's question.

"I've thought about a lot of things since I came here."

The Youngest let out a small breath and began to talk.

"When I first fell into this world, I thought I was really screwed. Wow, how am I going to survive? How am I going to get back?"

"That was fun."

"You were watching everything, after all?"

"Hmm."

"Anyway, after somehow surviving, I then had this question. Isn't there a reason why I fell into this world? This world must have called me because I had a mission given to me!"

"…"

"That's why I worked hard to dig around here and there. I converted villains who hadn't been in the spotlight, communicated with monsters who had been rampant, and investigated the backstory of scenarios that weren't shown in the main story—"

"It was a mess."

"Yes. In the end, I asked you for help because I couldn't do it alone."

"In a pitiful state."

"But thanks to you, I have many interesting stories."

Interesting stories.

The Youngest called all those failures, those bitter memories.

"That’s why I’m going to keep going."

Hearing that calm voice, the Demon King of Salvation recalled the expression on the Youngest’s face when he first called him.

"Please keep reading. I’ll keep writing too."

The Youngest was still speaking in that same voice.

"I’ll prove that the world can change just by reading."

Looking at the Youngest’s shining eyes, the Demon King of Salvation thought.

「If I could be reborn, I hope I’m not Kim Dokja.」

Every Kim Dokja has their own theme. The Youngest in front of him right now was no different.

「I hope I’m not 'Dokja'.」

The reason why the Youngest was so special among all his brothers. That was—

"Youngest."

"Yes."

"Don't you have something to ask me?"

"…"

"Aren't you curious about who you really are?"

The Youngest quivered and sighed.

"Of course I'm curious. But honestly, right now, I'm not sure what to do."

"What?"

"Right now, my head is full of things I want to write, so I don't have time to think about who I am."

"…"

"Someday, my hyung will read and tell me who I was."

The Demon King of Salvation blankly stared at the Youngest.

Wouldn't it be okay if it was this guy?

Wouldn't it be okay to entrust the future of all readers to this guy?

The Demon King of Salvation slowly stood up from his seat while watching the waves of destruction approaching.

"Okay, I will."

"Thank you."

"In that sense."

The Youngest also stood up.

The Demon King of Salvation spoke to the Youngest.

"Now you are the 'Demon King of Salvation'."

The time had come.

It was time to tell all his stories to the Youngest. The Youngest would receive all his stories and become the 'only Kim Dokja'.

"Huh? I don't want to."

"What?"

"How many times do I have to die and resurrect and do that?"

The Demon King of Salvation opened his mouth.

The Youngest continued to talk.

"I can't live like that. Oh, man, I'd go crazy."

"No, hey."

He wanted to tell him that being stubborn like that wouldn't work. He wanted to tell him to come to his senses, that he shouldn't be saying things like that anymore.

But the Youngest's eyes were strange.

"I told you. I'm going to write an 'impossible story', and you won't die in that story."

The snowfield was breaking.

The Youngest continued talking, looking at the waves that were now right in front of him.

"Why did you think about it for so long? If I really am Kim Dokja— wouldn't I be able to do 'that' too?"

He felt something was wrong. The Demon King of Salvation urgently reached out his hand to the Youngest.

"Youngest. Wait a minute—"

"Don't worry, you can just keep reading there."

The waves soon came crashing down on them. The world was shuffled around, and the Demon King of Salvation felt his soul being sucked away somewhere.

As expected.

He would become a story. He would become part of the 「Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint」.

The Youngest would read him and live in this world once again—

「("Huh?")」

He should have disappeared and become part of the Youngest, absorbed.

But why? Why does his ego still remain?

The light flickered between the bookshelves.

The smell of old books in the dark space.

It was a small library.

He knew this place well. He knew it well, so he got goosebumps. His heart pounded hard.

「("Who else is here?")」

He turned his head and saw the little Kim Dokjas gathered together in a huddle.

There were girls and boys. The little Kim Dokjas with different hairstyles. The little Kim Dokjas, who were looking at him with curious eyes, all raised their heads like a seagull at the sound coming from behind them.

「("Ah. Newspaper.")」

「("Read it quickly.")」

The little Kim Dokjas were gathered in front of the desk, reading something. He staggered toward it. There was a newspaper on the wide desk.

『Today's Kim Dokja』.

A newspaper without a headline.

He read the newspaper, mixing in with the little Kim Dokjas. Sentences appeared on the newspaper in real time.

「A method to absorb 'Kim Dokja fragments' while protecting their souls.」

It was the Youngest's sentence.

「Like 'Asmodeus's Cinema, can't I use the same method?」

The noise rose once again.

Had he prepared this space since he was 2?

「Will I be able to use the [Fourth Wall] if I become a Kim Dokja of 2 percent?」

「If I were to create that 'library'—」

The Youngest, who didn't want to be just a reader, said. If he were to write an impossible story, then the Youngest,

「Wouldn't it be possible to dream a new 'dream'?」

He might have already written that first sentence.

A library that would make the impossible story he spoke of possible.

A space where Kim Dokja's reading could continue

[Exclusive skill 'The Fourth Wall' is activated!]

But from there, a slightly strange sentence began to be written.

「The Constellation, Successor To Salvation, prepared for the death that would come.」

The moment he wondered what that meant, a message came into his head.

[The 'Fate' that bound you is no longer functioning.]

He was brought into the [Fourth Wall] by the Youngest, and lost his qualification as the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

And so he is still 'alive'.

So who is now taking on the fate of the 'Demon King of Salvation'? A creepy imagination flashed through his mind.

Youngest.

Pitch-black letters were being written on the margins of the newspaper.

「The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' will die in the story he loved.」

Somewhere, the sound of destiny being realized was heard.

[You are no longer the 'Demon King of Salvation.']

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

790 Episode 37 Graduation ceremony (6)

---

I spat out the bloody lump that had come out, grumbling, onto the floor.

[Your incarnation body has reached its limit!]

That's it. This is how I achieved my goal.

The fact that I was able to hold on even when I would have fainted if I had been normal was proof of that.

[Exclusive skill 'The Fourth Wall' is activating!]

The fact that this wall has activated means that the readers I've absorbed, and my sponsor, have safely entered the 'library'.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' glares at you with displeasure.]

I smiled bitterly and answered the story, who was grumbling.

'Thank you.'

If that little story hadn't cooperated, it would have been impossible to restore the [Fourth Wall].

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' turns his head while snorting.]

[Your current existence restoration rate is 18.8%.]

The existence restoration rate has increased to almost 20%. In fact, I felt that my soul's level had increased significantly compared to before.

[Nebula <Asgard> recognizes your existence as a threat!]

[Nebula <Vedas> designates you as a singularity!]

Now, my level has increased to the point where I cannot avoid the attention of the Constellations. This was even though I was still unable to properly control the Constellation within me.

[The story 'King of a Kingless World' is running wild!]

[The story 'One Who Stands Against the Fate' is out of your control!]

I have inherited all of the abilities of my brother, the Demon King of Salvation, so perhaps that is only natural.

I tried to calm the stories down and took a deep breath.

[Story Fragment 'Unrequited Love' is shaking unsteadily!]

[Story Fragment 'Young Man Who Speaks Like an Old Man' is shaking!]

[Story Fragment 'The Heart of a Child' is running wild beyond your control!]

Story Fragments that are still awkward to call my own.

Among them, there were Goo Seonah's, Kim Kyungsik's, and even an unknown reader's.

Some of the stories had such severe side effects that they were impossible to absorb, especially Goo Seonah's story.

It was at that time that [Incite] ran wild and spread out recklessly, touching <Olympus>'s 「Hermes System」.

Thanks to that, I was able to annihilate all the great Constellations in <Olympus> that had invaded the Recycling Center, so it may have been a good result.

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Olympus> show their hatred towards you!]

I guess this means there is no turning back for <Olympus>.

Well, it doesn't matter. They were going to kill me anyway.

"Dokja-ssi!"

As I listened to the voices of the group running towards me, I barely managed to hold on to my consciousness that was about to break away.

[Main Scenario #20 — 'Graduation' has ended.]

The scenario was definitely over. However, not everything was over yet.

Just as my future path was more important than graduation, what was going to happen from now on was more important to me.

[You have inherited the modifier of 'Demon King of Salvation'.]

[The <Star Stream> recognizes you as the 'Demon King of Salvation'.]

[The role of 'Great Demon King' is inherited!]

[The delayed Fate is activated.]

[You succeeded the scenario.]

[You failed the scenario.]

At the same time, it was clear what it meant.

I as an incarnation succeeded in the scenario, but I as a Constellation failed in the scenario.

Why—

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' accepts Fate.]

Right now, I have become the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

"What the—"

The moment Kyung Sein, whose eyes had become sharp, reached out her hand toward me, I jumped up enormously.

"Uh, uh?"

My energy began to rise into the air.

"Dokja-ssi, why—"

Kyung Sein looked up at my stomach with his eyes wide open.

"Why Dokja-ssi, the Cheonjong-un Sword….."

Cheonjong-un Sword was piercing me instead of the incarnation of the Great Demon King of Salvation.

"This is the price of reciting the story of 'Salvation's Learning'."

"Isn't the scenario over?"

Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi were flustered.

I looked down at the two of them and smiled.

The people who survived until now, I am grateful to them. Now, they have become incarnations that can do one person's work. Even if I am not here, they will somehow survive. They will be able to get through the next scenario, and the one after that.

"Yes. It's all over."

I felt my body slowly being sucked back. The crack that had formed in the air was sucking my body.

「Where does the Demon King who lost to the scenario go?」

If I had been bound to the scenario like my sponsor, I would have died here.

However, I was not dedicated to the scenario, I just received his [Fate].

So even if I was pierced by the Cheonjong-un Sword, I wouldn't die here.

"Dokja-ssi!"

"No! Dokja-ssi! Stop!"

I would just be banished to a place where there was a very high chance of death.

I waved my hand to calm the group down and said.

"Don't worry! I won't die! This is just—"

"Do you think we're stupid?"

Killer King, who had shouted, grabbed my arm through the aftershock.

"You, what the hell did you do? Why is the scenario banishing you!"

It seemed that I couldn't fool the readers.

"Everyone, catch him! Don't let him go!"

It was the first time I saw Killer King so passionate .

I looked at him and said.

"Cha Sungwoo-ssi."

Cha Sungwoo looked at me in surprise.

I realized that many things had happened since meeting him. However, we had talked a lot, but not that much.

We don't know much about each other.

Where we used to live, what kind of food we like to eat, what games we like to play, what we think about before going to bed after a hard day.

We don't know anything about each other.

The only thing we share is one thing. That we've read the same stories and admired the same characters.

"Come to your senses. You're the Yoo Joonghyuk of those people."

Cha Sungwoo trembled as if he had been struck by lightning after hearing my words.

A person who has the patience to read a story a hundred times. A person with an unwavering spirit that won't waver in the face of any ordeal.

The group needs such a pillar.

"Shut up! Kim Dokja, what do you know—"

With a crack, my sleeve that he was holding onto was torn. The crack sucked me in even more strongly. At that moment, when I was about to be swallowed by the crack, a spider web flying from the air tightly tied my body.

「Arachne's Web.」

It was Ji Eunyu.

At the same time, the group holding each thread of the spider web began to pull me.

"Pull! Quickly!"

I saw the group hanging on the spider web and pulling me.

Cha Sungwoo, Cha Yerin, Kyung Sein, Lee Dansu, and Ji Eunyu.

Shin Yoosung pulling together behind Ji Eunyu. Lee Jihye and Lee Hyunsung, who joined in late. Kim Namwoon pulling the rope with one hand as if he was going to die.

And where the words fell, there was Jung Heewon, who was just beginning to shed tears. It seemed that walking was still difficult, as Jung Heewon staggered and reached out her hand toward me.

I looked at her like that, then looked back at the things and laughed heartily.

"Come on, everyone, don't worry. I won't die. I promise!"

That's why I didn't want to be 'The Demon King of Salvation'.

"Don't make promises like that! If you say something like that here, you'll—"

I knew how deep and distant the 'salvation' in his modifier was.

Even so, I received that modifier, and unfortunately, the group had now become the companions of the Demon King of Salvation.

The spiderwebs that had slowly grown began to break one by one. Just like the stories we had tied together were coming apart.

"No!"

Ji Eunyu's extended spiderweb broke.

I spoke to Ji Eunyu, who was moving away.

—Ji Eunyu. You always said that.

I really have no intention of dying.

Since I had no intention of dying, this parting had to be refreshing.

—Excessive emotions actually hinder the readers' immersion.

I heard Ji Eunyu shouting something from afar, but I couldn't hear it.

[You have been banished from the scenario!]

Pitch-black darkness covered me. A place where I could see no stars.

A terrible cold air then came. It was a cold that was hard to bear, even with the [Fourth Wall].

[The tory 'King of a Kingless World' resists the cold!]

[The story 'One Who Stands Against Fate' resists the cold!]

[The story 'Demon King of Salvation' resists the cold!]

The sharp cold began to dig into the stories that surrounded me. I felt the stories that formed the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' freezing in real time.

「The movements of the stories are slowing down.」

It was clear what was happening.

「The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' will die in the story he loved.」

This was the end that the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' would face. And after I, as a Constellation, perished, my weakened incarnation body would also begin to disappear.

At that moment, a voice was heard along with a faint warmth.

—You.

I knew whose voice it was, so I smiled and answered.

'Bihyung.'

—Damn bastard.

「Dokkaebi Communication. Even that was about to break off, and the voice of the form that came in was unstable.」

I simply stated my business.

'Can I receive the item I requested to purchase earlier?'

As the original author of 『Infinite Instructor』, I was able to receive a huge amount of coin royalties while working on the scenario as the original author.

I used more than half of the coins I had acquired to buy one item.

—This… is an item that cannot be sold, you know?

'It is.'

—You will not survive if you buy this.

Bihyung must know. I will die now with a very high probability.

As a Constellation, and as an incarnation.

'Please go. If you stay here too long, you will be suspected.'

—Survive somehow, you idiot…!

Bihyung's voice broke off.

A cold air came over me again.

[The story 'King of a Kingless World' stops talking.]

Every time a story lost its function, it felt like every joint in my body was being torn apart. I checked the item that Bihyung had given me with my pale, frozen hands.

It was a small horn.

'Horn of the Horizon.'

An item that sends the user to the 'Story Horizon'.

I took a few deep breaths and blew my remaining breath into the horn with all my might.

[Using the item 'Horn of the Horizon'!]

Soon, with the sound of a small whistle, my body began to fall somewhere. I fell, fell, fell again, and how long did it take? When I came to my senses, I was on the cold dirt floor.

I suddenly raised my upper body from the floor.

A garbage dump was visible through the blurry sky.

My stomach churned and I felt like crying.

I survived. I somehow made it here.

「Story Horizon.」

I don't know. I will definitely survive and return to my companions. And so, I abandon Kim Dokja's story.

The moment I looked up at the sky with that thought, the sky, which should have been empty, flashed. Several flashes of lightning struck the ground, and something descended on the ground. <Olympus> Constellations.

[That's it, young Demon King. No one can protect you anymore.]

I smiled bitterly.

"This is it."

I never thought those bastards would chase me to a place that wasn't even a scenario area —to be exact, this landfill.

"You must be really angry."

I squeezed out the last of my strength and started my story. Then, my heart stopped.

[The story 'One Who Opposes Fate' stops talking.]

[The story 'Demon King of Salvation' stops talking.]

[All the stories of the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' stop talking.]

I felt the strength drain from my entire body and fell forward. Finally, the stories of the 'Demon King of Salvation' had finished their mission.

[Your destiny is realized!]

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' loses his qualifications as a Constellation!]

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation'’s modifier disappears from the Constellation!]

A coldness different from before pierced my skin.

I could see the Constellations laughing at me and approaching me step by step.

They really are vicious. I would die even if they left me alone, but they came all the way here to finish me off.

In the gloomy sky, I could see letters floating around them.

It was a story I knew well.

I understood many things later. The reason why they were able to maintain a healthy castle gate while invading the lower scenarios so recklessly.

「They had already collected a considerable amount of 'Kim Dokja Fragments.'」

And just like Asmodeus, they had figured out how to use them in some way.

A faint sense of despair came over me. I thought that this time, there was nothing I could do. If I had known this would happen, I would have just given my stories to Ji Eunyu or Killer King.

But I couldn’t give up until the end. The moment I thought about somehow activating [Incite]—

"■■. ■■■ ■■■…!"

I heard someone chattering. I raised my head and saw a familiar new figure. A man in a pitch-black coat and holding a long spear was glaring at me.

Yoo Joonghyuk?

For a moment, I couldn’t understand.

How could Yoo Joonghyuk be here?

He should have cleared the scenario by now and returned to Earth, so why—

[The subject is currently performing a 'personal scenario'.]

Personal scenario. A scenario that the Constellation can specially grant to incarnations who clear scenarios after number 10.

If someone had granted Yoo Joonghyuk a personal scenario, it wasn’t impossible for him to appear. But who on earth would take such a risk right now?

There could be no crazy Constellation that would chase me all the way to the Scenario Exile Zone and give Yoo Joonghyuk a 'personal scenario' against the will of the Constellations—

"Is that the way to live good? You ■birds■."

Wait a minute. Did Yoo Joonghyuk… swear like that?

I could see white wings fluttering behind Yoo Joonghyuk.

A sigh escaped belatedly.

There was one. One person.

A Constellation that spit out harsh curses with a face more beautiful than any Constellation I know.

[The Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' does not wish for your death.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

791 Episode 37 Graduation ceremony (7)

"I've never lent you my mouth, Archangel."

At Yoo Joonghyuk's irritating words, the Archangel's wings fluttered gloomily.

Soon, with the sound of parts, a translucent figure like a butterfly that had just shed its skin from Yoo Joonghyuk's incarnation emerged.

[The Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' appears in an area outside the scenarios!]

It was the descent of a 'Narrative-grade Constellation'.

Archangel Uriel.

The Constellation that gave up all of its stories to protect Kim Dokja.

Warm emerald eyes turned to me.

[I'm sorry. Did you wait long?]

When I heard that voice, I suddenly felt like tears were about to fall.

[It's okay now. I'll protect you.]

Her incarnation body, which had descended halfway, was shaking unsteadily.

She was not a being from this world line, but Uriel from the 1,864th round. Perhaps she made a contract with the 'Uriel' of this world through some kind of covenant, and thus descended here now.

"Uriel..."

Perhaps the Kim Dokja she wanted to protect was not me. The Kim Dokja she remembers is not in this world. Perhaps he is not anywhere in the universe.

Even so, she came here to protect Kim Dokja.

I felt the legacy of the old Kim Dokja in front of that noble determination.

But even with her arrival, things were not easy.

[An Archangel protecting the Demon King, how interesting.]

[Do you think you can stop us alone?]

The 12 seats of <Olympus> were before my eyes.

[The Constellation 'Pure Moonlight Hunter' reveals her status!]

[The Constellation 'Almighty Sun' reveals his status!]

Pure Moonlight Hunter 'Artemis' and Almighty Sun 'Apollo'.

Two of the 12 seats came here.

Just to catch me. No, maybe it wasn't two.

[Uriel, get out of the way.]

The third Constellation of the Narrative-grade that appeared with a chilling blast of air.

[The Constellation 'Spokesperson of Justice and Wisdom' reveals her status!]

The Spokesperson of Justice and Wisdom, Athena.

Uriel frowned, not knowing that she would come too.

[You don't like it? And don't speak informally. I'm not the 'Uriel' you know?]

Only then did Athena notice something and her expression changed.

[You're not—]

[Oh. Right. It's annoying to explain, so if you noticed, get out quickly.]

[Archangel of another world line. Why are you interfering with us?]

[Because you're doing bad things.]

Bad things. Uriel glanced in my direction as she said that.

[Since when did the 'Spokesperson of Justice and Wisdom' become a villain who persecutes the weak.]

[He's not weak. He is the Demon King, and this world—]

[Objections and penalties., do you think that boring logic you have is still working? Do you really think that kid is 'evil'?]

Athena couldn't answer.

[Even that kid is not even a Constellation or a Demon King anymore. Because of that damned fate you've called, he's now a mere incarnation that can't resist anything. And yet you're going to kill that kid?]

Athena bit her lips and glared at Uriel.

[Are you really going to fight here?]

[Then what are you going to do?]

[Do you know what will happen if <Eden> and <Olympus> go to war?]

[■Eat it. My <Eden> has already been destroyed.]

Athena's eyes looked like she was wondering what she meant, but she soon seemed to have made up her mind and took out her holy relic, 'Aegis'.

[Artemis. Apollo.]

At Athena's signal, the three of the twelve divine seats surrounded Uriel.

Uriel glanced at them and spoke to Yoo Joonghyuk.

[Do you remember what I asked you to do?]

Yoo Joonghyuk nodded.

[No matter what happens, you must protect him.]

At the same time, Uriel and the three divine seats disappeared.

Following that, a radiance that covered the pitch-black universe burst out. As the red flames poured out by the omnipotent sun Apollo illuminated the universe, Artemis' arrow flew in, leaving a blue trail.

Uriel was also holding a holy relic in her hand.

A sword containing the most sublime flame of [Hellfire].

'Flame of Karma.'

As the Archangel's sword split the universe, the sun's corona and the hunter's arrow split apart at once.

A fighting power that was on par with the 12 gods of <Olympus>.

The 'Flame of Karma' was not only pressuring the three gods, but also slowly pushing them back.

It was truly astonishing power.

No matter how much Uriel was the Archangel of <Eden>, she was not able to fully use the power of the 1,864th Round.

Even a half-body, not an incarnation.

And yet, that's all.

Artemis, whose face turned blue, shouted as if she thought that this couldn't go on.

[Athena, danger—!]

Uriel flew.

As the pure white wings spread out and rippled, leaving a deep shadow in the universe, Uriel's sword, which had cut off countless demon kings' heads, moved.

[Everyone, fall back!]

Athena raised Aegis at the signal. Aegis' immortal defense wall spread out while scattering.

[What the—]

That 'immortal defense wall' was slowly melting away. Soon, the flames of [Hellfire] that completely tore through the outer shell of the defense wall were about to pour down on the heads of the three gods.

"Get out!"

Yoo Joonghyuk shouted.

A pitch-black wave came in silently.

Uriel was swept away by the wave in an instant. Then came the roar of the monsters. The sound of something being torn apart.

The wave disappeared, and Uriel was staring at the direction the wave had come from with a large wound on her shoulder.

Then, as if responding to that gaze, the wave answered.

[Foolish Archangel. Do you know what you are up against?]

My heart felt like it was going to burst just from hearing the voice. Sparks exploded fiercely all over the place. As if not caring about such probability, the giant body of the god was swaying in the void.

Just witnessing their true form was enough to take my breath away.

Only after Yoo Joonghyuk, standing next to me, unleashed his status, did I barely manage to catch my breath and stare ahead. There was a mythical Constellation of <Olympus> there.

「Where his spear touches, it will soon become the sea.」

<Olympus>'s third god. The Spear That Draws the Boundary of the Sea—Poseidon.

Uriel smiled bitterly.

[Oh, the rumor has already spread that far?]

Instead of answering, Poseidon grabbed his beloved Troiana. The waves of the deep sea surged like an active volcano through Troiana's spear.

I staggered up like a crazy person.

"Uriel. No. Uriel—"

Even if it's Uriel, she can't face them all.

I have to stop her.

If this continues, Uriel will die, but my voice didn't come out properly.

I grabbed Yoo Joonghyuk's wrist. Please save Uriel.

But Yoo Joonghyuk spoke in a blunt voice.

"The scenario I received is to protect you."

I wanted to swear at him. But my exhausted body did not listen.

A distant wave crashed down on Uriel. It was a tidal wave that she, exhausted, could not handle alone.

Thump.

That was when the sound of gunfire was heard from somewhere.

Thump.

One shot, two shots, three shots. The continuous barrage of fire directly hit the waves that were coming. It broke, broke again, and the momentum of the tidal wave began to weaken little by little.

Goosebumps ran down my spine.

I couldn't figure out what was going on.

"You're doing well. Be sure to keep that promise, Master."

I knew who that voice belonged to.

Lee Jihye.

As expected, she was someone who shouldn't be here, someone who couldn't be.

Yoo Joonghyuk also looked at Lee Jihye with surprised eyes. He couldn't help it. The 'power' flowing out of Lee Jihye's body right now was clearly higher than Yoo Joonghyuk's own.

"Ahjussi."

The moment I heard the voice directed at me, I knew right away.

Where did 'Lee Jihye' come from?

"I can only help you for a little while. This 'covenant' is really short."

A covenant from another world.

She came here even after making that difficult contract.

"Thank you for saving Gilyoung."

"Gilyoung—"

"Don’t worry. He’s safe."

Thankfully, Gilyoung seemed to have returned safely to <Kim Dokja Company>.

"My dongsaeng got beaten up in a faraway place, so I can’t just sit still as a noona."

My heart kept pounding even though I knew I shouldn’t.

<Kim Dokja Company> was here.

They came not to stop us, but to save us.

Lee Jihye looked at me with calm eyes before turning back to Yoo Joonghyuk and saying.

"Master, I’ll say this once. Run away with all your might, taking ahjussi with you."

Yoo Joonghyuk frowned. The expression on his face was that he didn’t like the fact that he had to 'run away' as the expression said.

But Lee Ji-hye ignored that expression and said.

"You know that if you lose ahjussi, it’s all over, right?"

"…"

"I don’t know how this world will end, but if ahjussi falls to that side, it’s definitely the worst ending. So I have to protect him."

"Even if you don’t say anything—"

"If by any chance ahjussi dies…"

Lee Jihye took out the 'Twin Dragons Sword' she had on her waist and added coldly.

"Master, you'll die to me."

Yoo Joonghyuk opened his mouth as if he was dumbfounded.

Well, where on earth would Yoo Joonghyuk hear such words from Lee Jihye?

But that Lee Jihye had the right to say such things.

She was Lee Jihye of the 1,864th Round.

She was a member of <Kim Dokja Company>, an incarnation of Admiral Yi Sunsin, and the successor of the Breaking the Sky Swordsman who broke the sky after Yoo Joonghyuk.

[The Constellation 'Maritime War God' proudly helps its incarnation.]

When on earth did they appear?

There were Constellations watching over this world where there wasn't even a scenario.

[The Constellation 'Bald General of Justice' cheers on the Maritime War God.]

[The Constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' admires the Maritime War God's spirit.]

[The Constellation 'Maegeumjijon' praises the Maritime War God's courage.]

They were Constellations.

[Currently, a 'temporary channel' is in operation.]

It seems that Bihyung opened a temporary channel for me.

Poseidon, who responded to their indirect messages, took a step forward.

[Silent! This is not a place for the Constellations of such low ranks to interfere.]

With Poseidon's gesture, waves began to surge from all directions. Top-tier marine species poked their heads out between the waves. Fangs that looked as if they would tear Lee Jihye apart at any moment.

Lee Jihye swung her sword toward the teeth of the waves.

Breaking the Sky Sword.

Breaking the Sky Ryu Seong-gyeol.

The sword light that flashed from the Ssangryong Sword pierced all the marine species in the waves.

Poseidon's eyes widened in shock, and the deep-sea waves that had been engulfing him suddenly stopped.

As if to show respect to another master of the sea.

The Constellations of the 1,864th Round called her this.

「The monarch of the great sea.」

The sound of crashing waves was heard.

Across the pitch-black space, the sea three, the bows of the ships began to rise one by one behind Lee Jihye's back.

"I heard that our master had a showdown with Odin."

She stood at the front of the lined-up fleet and looked down at the sea god of Olympus with proud eyes.

"If it's you, I'll be able to get some relief."

As the enraged Poseidon swung Traiana, the tidal wave surged again.

The woman standing in front of the tidal wave raised her twin dragon swords. [The Ghost Fleet] moved.

「The monarch of the sea is not defeated at sea.」

Lee Jihye opened her mouth as if to prove that sentence.

"Load the cannon."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

792 Episode 37 Graduation ceremony (8)

---

Lee Jihye signaled.

"Fire!"

Lee Jihye's ship began to fire.

Poseidon frowned as he was hit by the concentrated fire. He swung Triana with all his might, as if he could not accept the fact that he was tied down by a mere human's fire.

[Get out.]

The blue created by the light of the snow swept across the surface and hit the ghost fleet directly. The ships could not withstand Poseidon's attack and sank.

[Skill, reactivate 'Ghost Fleet Lv.???'!]

However, the ships were revived by Lee Jihye's simple signal. The fleet, which was in perfect condition with not a single bit of damage, began to fire again.

"Load! Fire!"

This was the reason why she could reign as an invincible monarch in the ocean. As long as there was an ocean, her fleet could never be destroyed. Poseidon growled as if he didn’t understand, kicking away the barrage.

[The sea is mine! If you don’t clean up that trash right now—]

"You’re talking just like the old man."

[What?]

"Why is the sea yours? Did you buy it with money?"

Who would dare to make such a fuss in front of a Mythical Constellation?

Poseidon, who had frozen for a moment, answered in a distorted voice.

[The gods of our <Olympus> created the sea. And I am the great—]

"That’s nonsense. The sea existed before you were even created. Didn't you learn about primordial soup in school?"

In fact, Lee Jihye doesn’t know much about how the sea was created either. She wasn't listening in science class.

However, while they were killing time with pointless conversation, there were two people running through the hazy sea of space.

The 41st master. And—

'The 41st ahjussi.'

Lee Jihye knows that he is not the Kim Dokja she remembers. But now, that didn't matter.

No matter what world Kim Dokja was in, Kim Dokja was Kim Dokja.

Lee Jihye accepted that fact.

「Ahjussi chose this world.」

She didn't know why. However, Kim Dokja judged that there was an ending that could only be reached by reading this world completely.

Lee Jihye respected that judgment and decided to reserve her judgment.

She didn't know whether Kim Dokja would return to them or not. This world might be a comedy or a tragedy. However, just as Kim Dokja once protected her, she would protect Kim Dokja's choice.

And at the end of this world, she would grab Kim Dokja's neck, who was laughing stupidly, and say, "I knew this would happen."

'For that to be possible.'

First, she had to take down Poseidon in front of her.

「The Mythical Constellation, Poseidon.」

A great star that she wouldn't have dared look at in the past. Even the king of the underworld, 'Father of the Rich Night,' had a hard time with it.

'But if it were me now.'

The tension between the two beings across the sea began to rise endlessly.

As Lee Jihye's momentum grew fiercer, Poseidon's expression hardened even more.

"Mr. Sea. I'm going to give it my all from now on. Can you handle it?"

Even if it's a Mythical grade Constellation, it's burdensome to explode above a certain level.

This is a universe without a 'scenario'.

If one made a mistake, one could draw the attention of the gods of the other world.

In other words, the fight here was a matter of life and death even for a Mythical grade Constellation.

[Young human, who do you think I am?]

The sea grew angry. As the storm raged, waves swirled around and began to distort all the ships.

A strong gale that even the Constellations wandering nearby were swept away.

[Get out of here!]

Artemis and Apollo retreated in fear. It was a disaster that even a Mythical-grade Constellation would not be able to survive if it was swept away. Only Lee Jihye ran through the storm of disaster. Her [Ghost Walk], which had been developed to its limit, assisted her steps, and her [Kendo], which had reached the realm of transcendence, paved the way. [God killing]'s eyes flashed in the foam covering her head.

Poseidon's new form was visible in the distance.

Looking at the shadow that seemed close enough to touch but not quite there, Lee Jihye thought of the old Kim Dokja's face.

「"Jihye-ya."」

She always felt like an outsider in this story.

She was not as strong as Yoo Joonghyuk, as smart as Han Sooyoung, or as affectionate as Yoo Sangah.

「"Well, so what?"」

She was also not as honest as Jung Heewon, as firm as Lee Hyunsung, or as desperate as Shin Yoosung.

Even after seeing the end of the world, breaking through the [Fourth Wall], crossing world lines, and finally losing Kim Dokja— she was still an outsider in the story.

「"You worked hard. I know."」

「Instant Kill reached the limit and cut through the waves. The waves that jumped up left cuts on her cheeks and arms like blades, but she didn't stop.」

She cut and cut again. How many times did she cut?

"Ahhhhh!"

A blind wave cut through her side. Bright red blood spurted out and she was swept away by the current. The storm of a mythical Constellation was ravaging her entire body. She could see the sea creatures that smelled blood coming towards her.

She didn't put down her sword even as she was being pushed here and there.

"I really liked your story."

That day, the 'Lee Jihye' that Kim Dokja had talked about was not her. So she tried. She swung her sword again and again to become the Lee Jihye that Kim Dok-ja had talked about. In order to reach the sentence that Kim Dokja had read, in the end, she hoped that that damned ahjussi would read her alive here someday.

「Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship.」

A phrase that was barely obtained after training and training again.

「True God Ouijeolgi.」

There is no such technique in Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship.

If the master or the great master Breaking the Sky Swordsman had seen it, it would have been greatly criticized, a technique that does not even appear in the 'Ways of Survival'.

「Breaking the Sky Myeol Hwanggeom.」

The swordsmanship that was only possible through Lee Jihye's swordplay shone.

「A tragic attack to destroy the king of a world.」

She doesn't know if Kim Dokja is seeing this.

But if he was, she really wanted to tell him.

Kwaaaaaaaaaa—

The exploding sea screamed, and Poseidon's incarnation body leaped out.

The moment Poseidon, whose side was deeply torn, let out a loud scream, Lee Jihye's sword cut Poseidon.

Through the flying water droplets, the scenery of the 'Recycling Center' could be seen in the distance. Looking at the school scene that was being torn apart by the storm, Lee Jihye, who had spat out a lump of blood, laughed bitterly.

'You must come to the next graduation ceremony.'

---

「The story was pouring out of Kim Dokja's heart.」

Sentences that appeared in real time above the newspaper.

「Yoo Joonghyuk ran while blocking the story from flowing out.」

If this continues, the youngest will die.

The Demon King of Salvation scolded the kkoma Kim Dokjas around him to calm his troubled mind.

「"Hey, don't you have any other solutions?"」

The kkoma Kim Dokjas looked at the Demon King of Salvation all at once. It seemed as if they were asking himwhy he was asking that.

「"Wasn't that person the biggest Kim Dokja?"」

「"He's a pitiful hyung."」

When the Demon King of Salvation suddenly opened his mouth in shock after being bombarded, the kkoma Kim Dokja with his hair tied in a ponytail spoke.

「"You said you were the first Kim Dokja."」

As the Demon King of Salvation nodded, Ponytail Kim Dokja asked again.

「"Then there's a 'Second' too, right?"」

「"That's it."」

「"I don't know what the circumstances are, but right now doesn't seem like the time to be weighing the pros and cons."」

The Demon King of Salvation twitched his lips and let out a light sigh.

The kkoma Kim Dokja was right. The most important thing right now was the survival of the youngest. For that, the 'Demon King of Salvation' would do anything.

He slowly took a deep breath and opened his mouth in a loud voice.

「"Second. Can you hear me?"」

The 'Second Kim Dokja' is not here.

But even if he's not here, he'll be listening.

「"I know you're upset about my decision. You probably wanted to stay with <Kim Dokja Company>."」

If he can't hear, [The Fourth Wall] will tell him instead. That guy has this skill too.

「"It's all my fault. I'll admit it. So just this once—"」

With his eyes tightly shut, the Demon King of Salvation thought about the 'Second Kim Dokja'.

「"Just this once, can't you help the Youngest?"」

He is Kim Dokja who understands the deepest sadness of anyone in this world.

「"If this continues, another sad story like you will be born."」

And after a while, sentences began to appear on the newspaper again.

---

Yoo Joonghyuk ran with me through the darkness. The universe was pitch black, and I couldn't see anything. We ran through that universe together. To be exact, Yoo Junghyuk ran alone, with me by his side.

I squeezed out the voice that was barely coming out.

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

"Don't say anything. The stories are leaking."

Yoo Joonghyuk took the angel out of his arms and bandaged my wounds. He used the secret of martial arts, Cheonjangsa, on me. Honestly, I was touched.

"You are a good guy after all. My eyes were not wrong."

As if asking what nonsense I was talking about again, Yoo Joonghyuk glared at me with sharp eyes then put his arm around me. Occasionally, an explosion could be heard from afar.

What happened to Lee Jihye?

Even if it were Lee Jihye, would she be able to defeat Poseidon?

Even if Poseidon was defeated, it wouldn’t be the end. <Olympus> had many powerful gods. Zeus, who was in the upper row, was there, and there were the other 12 gods.

<Olympus> wasn’t all that there was.

And there weren’t just one of them chasing us now.

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Vedas> are looking for you!]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Asgard> are looking for you!]

[The Constellations of the Nebula <Gwiok> are looking for you!]

…

The story of the 'Demon King of Salvation' had exhausted its power, and I was no longer a Constellation or a Constellation’s agent. I was just an incarnation with a few plausible stories. Now, all I could do with my weak incarnation body that couldn’t even make a sound was to use an item to convey my intentions.

[You have applied for the 'Midday Tryst'!]

Yoo Joonghyuk frowned for a moment and nodded hesitantly.

['Midday Tryst' connected.]

Anyway, you’ll accept anyway, so don’t be annoyed.

—Just leave me alone and go.

I could feel the presence of Constellations chasing us from afar. Even Yoo Joonghyuk couldn’t possibly deal with them all. It would be impossible even if he used all of the story imprints.

—I know you received a personal scenario. But even if that fails, there’s no particular penalty, right?

Yoo Joonghyuk’s personal scenario was established by Uriel’s authority.

There was no way Uriel would suggest a scenario with such an excessive penalty to Yoo Joonghyuk.

—I’m going to die soon anyway.

Of course, I really didn’t intend to die. There is a way to survive.

There must be.

But it would be difficult if Yoo Joonghyuk is by my side. If Yoo Joonghyuk is here, Yoo Joonghyuk will also be in danger.

—Why are you trying to save me?

That's why I made up my mind.

—Aren't I a nuisance to you anyway? You've disliked me from the beginning.

No matter what happens, let's get this guy away.

—I'm not the Cheon Inho you were looking for. I'm not the one who deceived the stars, nor am I a great villain who can subdue the Ten Evils. I…

"I know."

—What do you know? Of all the Yoo Joonghyuks I know, you know the least. I…

"You're not Cheon Inho. I know."

Yoo Joonghyuk cut me off and looked at me.

"You're Kim Dokja."

Kim Dokja.

"I don't know if that's your real name or not, but I'll call you that for now."

The way Yoo Joonghyuk called that name in the 41st Round felt strange. I said with a bitter smile.

—Yes. Please do. And that Kim Dokja, just put him down and run away. That's what you have to do.

"My job is to save you."

—No, why?

The sound of crows could be heard nearby. It seemed that Odin's 'night crows' had come nearby.

Now there really was no time.

But Yoo Joonghyuk continued speaking in a calm voice.

"You saved both the mainstream and weak groups of people at Geumho Station."

—Yes.

"It was stupid. In the end, turning people who would otherwise be divided into one group is meaningless and pointless."

I wanted to refute him right away, but Yoo Joonghyuk continued speaking.

"You did strange things at Chungmuro Group, too."

I recalled what had happened at Chungmuro Station.

"You blocked the 'emergency defense' that I had set off. It was worthless. All the people at Chungmuro Station are destined to become subordinates of the Ten Evils."

—No, wait. What on earth are you trying to say…

"When we elected the station representative, I clearly gave you the flag. But you dared to refuse to be the 'representative'. Because of that, everything went awry."

—That's…

"Even at the Washington Dome, you did something you shouldn't have done."

Yoo Joonghyuk continued to talk as if he didn't want to hear my answer.

The point was that I only did things I shouldn't have done.

"All those things ultimately led to your death."

Is that what he wanted to say?

I nodded with a bitter smile.

—Yes. That's right. It was a poor choice.

But Yoo Joonghyuk didn't finish talking.

"Why did you save me?"

—Yes?

"I tried to kill you several times. At Geumho Station, at Chungmuro Station, and in the theater dungeon. But why did you—"

Come to think of it, I saved Yoo Joonghyuk quite a few times in this round. In the theater dungeon, in the Washington Dome.

It just so happened that way.

—You always saved someone, didn't you? Isn't the opposite also possible sometimes?

Yoo Joonghyuk licked his lips several times and then opened his mouth.

"You won't be able to reach the end of the scenario with such a naive story."

I couldn't figure out what this Regressor was trying to say.

Is he trying to criticize me since I'm about to die?

At that moment, I saw my story flowing out through the tightly tied ceiling.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked down at the story without saying anything.

It was only then that I realized what this damned regressor was trying to say.

「How does Yoo Joonghyuk know everything that happened to me?」

I thought maybe no one would read it. No one would remember how I lived and what stories I had built up.

"And yet that pathetic story—"

But there was someone who had read the whole story.

"It was the first time I'd seen it."

He was the main character of this world.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

793 Episode 37 Graduation ceremony (9)

There was silence for a long time. The one who finally broke the silence was Yoo Joonghyuk.

"What are you laughing at?"

—Just that.

Yoo Joonghyuk glared at me as if he were looking at a strange person.

Actually, it wasn’t a situation to laugh at.

「The 'Night Raven' legion under Odin who rules the skies of <Asgard>.」

From a distance, I could see the crows charging their magic power and preparing their magic cannons. If they started firing, we would be turned into a beehive in an instant.

Still, I thought it was okay.

「"It was the first time I ever saw such a pathetic story."」

With those words, I felt acknowledged. That the way I had lived was not wrong, that all that time had been meaningful enough.

—You said that you couldn’t go back anymore.

Yoo Joonghyuk nodded.

—Is that still true?

Yoo Joonghyuk looked up at the sky and answered.

"Maybe."

—You’re not going to run away, are you?

Yoo Joonghyuk agreed with silence.

After all, Yoo Joonghyuk is Yoo Joonghyuk, whether he regresses or not.

In that case, I should also play the role of Kim Dokja.

—Okay. Let’s fight.

As if he was saying, "What nonsense are you talking about?" Yoo Joonghyuk’s hand held me with strength.

"If we fight head-on, you—"

—They can’t kill me.

It wasn’t just Odin’s 'Night Ravens' that were approaching.

Enemies were swarming from all sides.

The Constellations of <Vedas>. And the pursuers from <Olympus> who were aboard the 'Argo'.

The vast net spread by the Constellations in each region surrounded us without a single gap.

—Because I’m needed.

Now, I’ve become one of the 'largest fragments of Kim Dokja' that exist in this world line.

So from now on, those guys will fight over me.

—Throw me when I give you the signal. You have to throw me exactly in the direction I instructed.

Yoo Joonghyuk seemed to understand what I was saying right away.

"It might not work out the way you think."

—Isn't the <Star Stream> something that doesn't work out the way you think no matter what you do?

Yoo Joonghyuk frowned and muttered.

"Damn it."

—Now!

Yoo Joonghyuk threw me at the signal. I quickly crossed the space and headed to the exact midpoint between <Vedas> and <Olympus>.

[This is a joke! Capture him!]

The heroes of Greek mythology aboard the ship 'Argo' surrounded me. At a glance, they were all great Constellations.

Orpheus, Theseus, Castor, and even King Oedipus, who had nothing to do with the ship.

Kukukukukuku!

That was when a thunderous roar echoed through the void.

[What—]

King Oedipus looked around and screamed in shock. At the same time, the 'Argo' collided with something.

I witnessed the wondrous sight of a huge ship and a train colliding in a huge explosion.

[The Supreme God of Light!]

The ship's crew shouted and rushed to Surya's sun chariot.

The brightly shining Surya released his own energy in response.

[The Constellation 'Supreme God of Light' reveals his status.]

One of the 'Locapala' of <Vedas>.

'Supreme God of Light' Surya.

The Narrative-grade Constellation of <Veda> that appeared in the main story's Demon King Selection Tournament was revealing its power.

[Kuaaaaak!]

The Historical-grade Constellations that could not handle Surya's light melted away with screams.

The great Constellation, as if it had no interest in the small-timers, turned around and looked at me.

[Are you 'Kim Dokja'?]

I felt really strange. I never thought I would meet Surya like this.

I answered with my voice barely recovered.

"But."

I briefly hoped that this Surya might also be from the 1,864th round like Uriel, but it didn't seem to be the case.

He looked down at me with a curious gaze and said.

[If you follow me obediently, I won't harm you.]

"How polite of you."

Instead of answering, Surya summoned a giant palm from the air. The palm made of stories grabbed my entire body.

I frowned and asked.

"A Constellation like you wouldn't move easily. Is this an order from <Vedas>?"

[I have no obligation to answer.]

"Aren't you against the will of <Vedas>? Why do you continue to be the henchman of the Nebula?"

At my words, Surya's eyebrows furrowed.

[What is your intention in making such a fuss?]

"Do you know? The person I knew really pulled an amazing train."

Surya, the 'Last Engineer' who led the train of <Kim Dokja Company>. If he hadn't been there, the characters in the main story wouldn't have been able to overcome the final wall.

"Shall I show you a little?"

I recalled the sentences I had written in detail. Then, the sentences immediately came to mind as story fragments.

「Surya's entire body, sitting in the engine room of the train, was dazzling like the incandescent sun.」

Surya's eyes widened as he touched the story fragments.

「Without showing any sign of it, he ran the [sun chariot] using his own body as fuel. As if it was his mission as the 'god of supreme light' who had lived all this time.」

Surya's grip loosened. It was only for a moment, but it was enough of an opening for me.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had approached me in an instant with my signal, caught me.

Surya screamed.

The [Fake News], which had reached its limit, crossed the scenario change. It barely managed to break through the encirclement, but it wasn't over yet. The train's engine start sound was heard again from afar, and the Constellations chasing us continued to scream.

"We can't run away like this forever."

—It's okay.

I said, keeping an eye on the Constellations chasing us.

—Because 'those things' will soon be coming.

This place is not a 'simple scenario outskirts'.

This is the border of the Void Curtain and the outskirts of <Star Stream>.

In other words, it was a place where the boundary with the 'other world' was blurred.

Tsk tsk tsk!

Sparks resonated everywhere as if they had been waiting. Portals began to open one by one in the aftershock.

What appeared beyond the portal were pitch-black hunting dogs.

「Hounds chasing the abyss.」

The hounds of the other world that protect the rules of the <Star Stream> have appeared.

[The dogs are coming!]

The Constellations' convulsive cries.

The night ravens of Odin that were wandering nearby had their wings torn off by the hounds' teeth, and the Constellations screamed.

Constellations exploding everywhere and hounds trampled by trains.

In the shaking vision, the Nebulae and foreign news chasing us were mixed together to form a huge hellscape.

「It seemed as if the entire universe was chasing us.」

I and Yoo Joonghyuk were in that hellscape.

Maybe it was because the situation was so unrealistic. I laughed heartily and then lost consciousness several times and woke up repeatedly.

[There is currently no scenario assigned to you!]

[Your incarnation body is in danger!]

My body trembled several times as if I had been shocked. For a moment, my consciousness went black and I was in a snowy landscape.

「Kim Dokja.」

I called out that name without realizing it. Then, along with the cool air, I saw someone's shadow.

A coat fluttering lightly in the wind.

I instinctively reached out my hand toward him.

Who is that Kim Dokja?

Is it the Demon King of Salvation? The 49% Kim Dokja? Or is it another Kim Dokja I haven't met yet?

The moment I thought about that, I realized that his coat wasn't white.

The eerie Demon King's wings stretched out from behind the red coat.

It wasn't Kim Dokja.

「Are you still looking for that name?」

A familiar face looked back at me.

It was a face I knew well.

「Cheon Inho.」

I got goosebumps. Cheon Inho had never appeared in the snowfield before. Nevertheless, the being before my eyes was definitely Cheon Inho.

He slowly lowered his body and looked at me.

「You've really become a different face now.」

A voice suddenly came to mind.

【Do you really want to know? Even if that truth could ruin you forever?】

A voice I once heard in my fading consciousness.

I was sure of it.

It was definitely Cheon Inho’s voice.

Cheon Inho nodded as if answering my question.

「You've really reached the end of the 'Recycling Center'. That's great. Now you know who you are.」

Who am I?

I clearly came here because I was curious about that question.

So did I know the answer?

「Save Yoo Joonghyuk.」

Cheon Inho smiled with his eyes, perhaps finding my request amusing.

「That little bastard hates me.」

「If I die here, you die too, you son of a bitch.」

My current body is Cheon Inho's. So if I die, Cheon Inho's body will be destroyed as well.

「I won't die. Above all, aren't you now 'Kim Dokja' instead of 'Cheon Inho'?」

「I'm not going to play with words.」

「You still don't know who you are?」

「I—」

I recalled the memory I had seen through Goo Seonah at the Recycling Center.

The confrontation between Kim Dokja and Kim Dokja.

The 49% Kim Dokja who was trying to protect the 41st world line, and the Demon King of Salvation who was fighting against him.

I hesitated and asked.

「Am I… the 49% Kim Dokja?」

Cheon Inho looked at me for a moment and then asked back.

「What on earth does '49% Kim Dokja' mean?」

「What?」

「There must be a Kim Dokja who has 49% of the memory called A, and there must be a Kim Dokja who has 49% of the memory called B. Then can we say that the 49% of those two are the same 49%?」

I was speechless for a moment.

Cheon Inho was talking right now. The concept of total memory content is meaningless when proving a human being.

Cheon Inho nodded his head as if satisfied with my appearance.

「I think you finally found the answer.」

「I—」

「Kim Dokja who didn't want to remain Kim Dokja.」

Cheon Inho's sharp eyes were asking me.

「Do you want to save Yoo Joonghyuk?」

I nodded.

「Then do what you can do best.」

What I can do best.

「That's why you came to this world. Didn't you want to change the ending of this world?」

Cheon Inho opened his eyes and a vast snowy landscape was captured in his eyes.

「Write it yourself. With your dreams, try to convince the rest of the world.」

With a gasp, I regained consciousness. My vision was intermittently shaking. The screams of the boiling Constellations.

I was still riding on Yoo Joonghyuk's back. How long had I been asleep? It seemed like my incarnation body had recovered a little more than before. Did I take an elixir while I was sleeping? Or,

[The exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' is being strongly activated!]

Is it because of the [Fourth Wall]?

"You're awake."

Yoo Joonghyuk's tired voice.

Yoo Joonghyuk's condition was confirmed.

The moment I did, my heart skipped a beat.

Arms and legs torn off by hunting dogs. His entire body covered in blood. Yoo Joonghyuk limped forward in that state.

"How much time has passed?"

"Three days."

I swallowed my breath.

Yoo Joonghyuk had been running away from the Nebulae and Outer Gods for three whole days, carrying me while I was unconscious.

"Why—"

He could have easily run away on his own. If he had been alone, there would have been a way to survive. But Yoo Joonghyuk didn't run away.

I heard the sound of blood and the sound of Yoo Joonghyuk's knees giving out. Yoo Joonghyuk, looking down at his protruding kneecap, slowly put me down on the ground and fell forward.

"…Run away."

As I watched him mutter like that, I took out a summoning squad from my chest. It was an elixir I had prepared in advance for times like this.

I poured the crushed elixir into Yoo Joonghyuk's mouth. Even while his consciousness was in disarray, Yoo Joonghyuk glared at me.

[Exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' is strongly activated!]

I slowly closed my eyes.

There were eyes watching us from beyond the wall.

My sponsor. And the readers whose names and faces I don't know, but who were once 'Kim Dokja'.

I thought of them.

"Thank you, Yoo Joonghyuk. You've done enough."

Just as they are Kim Dokja, I am also Kim Dokja.

And any Kim Dokja would have no choice but to make the same choice as me at this point.

"No matter what happens, you must survive."

Yoo Joonghyuk, who glared at those words, miraculously got up.

He activated [Recovery].

But I didn't give him a chance and released my status.

The moment Yoo Joonghyuk, who lost sight of me due to the temporary shock, moved away, I shouted into the air.

"Demon-like Judge of Fire!"

At my call, a bright star twinkled in the distant universe.

"Uriel! Please return Yoo Joonghyuk to Earth right now!"

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

794 Episode 37 Graduation ceremony (10)

---

With a squeak, something bit my sleeve.

It was Odin's night crow.

The crow, with its ominous cry, asked mockingly.

「Have you given up?」

I smiled and answered.

"No."

「There is no Constellation that can help you now.」

I know that too.

What Constellation could help us, who have become enemies of the entire universe?

「That would be right. If it were a 'Constellation'.」

A very old story began to flow out from my body.

The stories that had recovered a little during the three days that Yoo Joonghyuk had given them began to tell their final stories.

[The story 'Demon King of Salvation' begins its storytelling!]

Like the Constellations that flickered at the last moment, all the stories of the 'Demon King of Salvation' were awakening.

「"You were the one who said you couldn't do it alone! You were the one who gathered us together! You told us all about this!"」

I listened to the voice of the story without saying a word.

「The group heard the message. Looking at Kim Dokja's fluttering hair. Looking at his long eyelashes and eyes, his white cheeks, and his sadly distorted lips. Realizing anew that Kim Dokja existed in this world with such a face.」

What kind of expression do I have on my face right now? Like Kim Dokja that day, will someone remember my current appearance?

「I want to see the ending with you all too.」

The startled night crow let go of my sleeve and flew up, screaming.

The crow had noticed. 'What' I was trying to call.

"Come! ■■■■■■!"

The sound of the space-time of the universe being torn apart. A massive suction force was generated between the cracks covering the sky.

Constellations, Outer Gods, hunting dogs. All existences in the area were disappearing into the cracks.

A cleaner that devoured the distorted probability of this <Star Stream>.

「The probability is sufficient.」

The opponent was the disaster of the highest peak of this <Star Stream>.

「If this is really the story you want, I'll show you as much as you want.」

I looked up at it, barely suppressing the trembling of my whole body.

‘Indescribable Distance’.

The Nameless Mist.

Judging by its size, it seemed to be a powder rather than a main body, but for now, the powder alone was enough.

[Run away! Everyone—!]

The Constellations began to scatter as the disaster devouring probability appeared. In an instant, the fog of 'Indescribable Distance' grew in size and swallowed up the entire universe. As I watched the fog slowly approaching to bite me, I thought of the main story of 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.

In the main story, when the 'Demon King of Salvation' was in danger of being eaten by the 'Indescribable Vastness', there was a God from another world who saved him.

「Secretive Plotter.」

It would be a lie if I said I didn't expect it at all.

Maybe he would come back. Maybe he would save me here, just like he did in the original.

However, I knew it was a vain expectation. So I called out more possible modifiers.

"Jecheon Daeseong! Please help me! I offered the meat of the Nagak!"

Anyone would do.

"Abyssal Black Flame Dragon! Have you forgotten that low-level dragon heart? We're both dragons, so help us!"

I wish even just one Constellation would respond. Please, in this damned Star Stream.

I want to live.

I shouted and shouted until my throat burst. The moment the fog that had surged in was finally about to eat away at my entire body, someone wrapped around me.

A hard back.

I spoke while being carried helplessly on that back.

"Why didn't you go?"

Then the owner of that back spoke.

"There's still something I have to get from you."

The 41st Yoo Joonghyuk did not return to Earth. He refused Uriel's offer and stayed here.

Through [Recovery], I could hear the sound of his heart racing.

With all his remaining life, he started to run while limping.

"Is there no other way?"

This guy really seemed to believe that there was something he could do for me until the very end.

I smiled bitterly at that foolish Regressor and answered.

"No."

"I see."

"But it's not over, you know? I might go to the afterlife."

"I've never been there when I'm dead."

I wish I had a little more time to write the story.

"Now that I'm not a Regressor, I might go this time. Let's start over from there. The goal is to cause a revolution in the Underworld and take away the giant soldier 'Pluto'. How is it?"

"That can't be possible—"

Yoo Joonghyuk glared at me as if he couldn't believe it, then muttered as he looked ahead.

"I wish there was."

No matter how much he ran, it was impossible for Yoo Joonghyuk to escape from the 'Indescribable Distance'.

Even so, Yoo Joonghyuk didn't give up. He ran without giving up, just like he always did.

I felt sorry for him.

I wonder if there are any sentences left for me to save him. But I have to try everything I can.

[Exclusive skill '□□' activates!]

The world's scenery slowed down and the final argument began.

However, I didn't know what sentence to use to save Yoo Joonghyuk. No matter how much I imagined, I couldn't picture a future where we could escape.

I thought that maybe this might be the end of the 41st Round. Our fate is to disappear without being read properly, without even being left as a proper story.

[Warning! The skill is not being used smoothly due to the collapse of the incarnation body!]

[You have very little space.]

To make matters worse, the number of characters given to me was less than twenty.

Just twenty characters.

How could I persuade the world with those twenty characters? How could I make them read a story that no one reads?

The moment I thought that far, a light came on in my head.

A story that no one reads.

And I completed a single sentence.

「This is a story about despair that cannot be read.」

That was all I could write.

A sentence that could probably change nothing.

To say that a story cannot be read is a story that cannot be read.

And yet, I thought.

This is enough. I was sure that if it was the reader I knew—if it was him who loved this story more than anyone else—he would definitely read this sentence.

[Successfully recreated the scene.]

[Exiting 'Snowfield'.]

The fog of 'Indescribable Distance' engulfed us.

Yoo Joonghyuk started running with all his might.

[A new story begins to sprout!]

With each desperate step of his, sentences that I could not write continued.

「Even if it is not read, I will not give up.」

I read that line, recalling the footprints of a person left in the Snowfield.

「Just by not giving up, a story becomes a tale.」

I hope this story reaches beyond the universe.

But the speed of the fog that was creeping up was faster than I thought, and we were finally caught up by the fog.

"Kim Dokja—"

At that moment, I felt my stomach churn.

Something was coming.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

We instinctively crouched down. A vast storm of light surged around us.

My head felt dizzy. Yoo Joonghyuk, who was staggering, lost sight of me.

We looked back, floating in the weightlessness of the scenario. The fog that had covered us until then was dispersing in a dazzling flash of light. Between the magnificently dispersing fog, a magnificent view of the dying universe unfolded.

There was nothing left where the light had passed.

No Constellations, no other worldly deities, nothing.

Soon, a single sentence rose above the universe that had spread out like a new blank space.

「It looked like some kind of period.」

Upon closer inspection, it wasn't a period.

A man was watching us in the landscape of destruction.

---

A faint thunderclap was heard in the clear sky. A faint hint of an aftershock. A small spark that popped up and dyed the sky for a moment, then quickly disappeared.

Yoo Joonghyuk, sitting on the bed, muttered as he looked up at the sky.

"Probability aftermath."

It couldn't have happened.

There was no way something like a 'probability aftermath' would have come in here, not in another world.「This is a story about despair that cannot be read.」

"Captain. What are you talking about? Are you half asleep?"

Lee Jihye grabbed Yoo Joonghyuk’s arm and dragged him out of bed.

"Have you forgotten what day it is today? Wait for the kid!"

Yoo Joonghyuk silently got up from his seat and took out his coat from his clothes.

Come to think of it, today was an important day.

Lee Jihye got angry at Yoo Joonghyuk, who was naturally putting on his coat.

"Captain! Are you crazy? Are you going to wear that black coat today?"

"There’s also a white one."

"Black and white! Captain, you can’t wear that Constellation fashion today. You’re no longer 'Secretive Plotter'!"

"I—"

"Please be ordinary! Dress as inconspicuously as possible! All the parents are coming, so you want to show off your baby?"

"…"

"Oh, really. Before Uriel unnie left for work, she told me so earnestly— Why is there only the same coat in the closet?"

Lee Jihye grumbled and naturally started searching through Lee Hyunsung's closet.

"Why is this guy only in his military uniform!"

"Lee Hyunsung is a soldier."

"No, soldiers only wear military uniforms?"

Lee Jihye finally found a suit that wasn't a military uniform in Lee Hyunsung's closet. It was a suit.

"Here, wear this!"

Yoo Joonghyuk accepted the suit that Lee Jihye handed him without saying a word.

Lee Jihye nodded in satisfaction as she watched Yoo Joonghyuk quickly get dressed.

"It suits you well."

"It's not a good outfit for combat."

"Why fight? Let's go quickly. We don't have much time."

Today was the day of the parent observation class. In case they were late, the two quickly looked around and started running through the air with [Jujak Shinbo].

"It's gloomy weather."

"It's sunny, what are you talking about, really?"

It took less than 5 minutes to get to school. The two of them, who had lightly adjusted their clothes in order to avoid being noticed as much as possible, entered the schoolyard in a jiffy.

Judging from the mess in the classroom, it seemed like class was already in progress. The teacher who was waiting outside happened to notice the two.

"Are you here to observe as parents?"

When Yoo Joonghyuk nodded, the teacher smiled slightly and asked again.

"Is your kid's name..."

"Kim Dokja."

"Oh, you're Dokja's parents!"

Lee Jihye, who thought she would be misunderstood the worst if things continued like this, quickly stepped forward.

"This person is his uncle. I'm his older sister."

"Oh. I see. Would you like to come this way?"

She followed the teacher's instructions.

As they entered the classroom, they saw a group of parents gathered at the back of the classroom.

Some parents noticed Yoo Joonghyuk and Lee Jihye and chatted, or even glanced at Yoo Joonghyuk’s face.

However, most of them were just standing there, yawning repeatedly, bored.

The two of them sat down near the lockers and observed the students.

The students were each drawing on their we drawing paper under the guidance of the art teacher.

The small backs of their heads were gathered here and there.

Yoo Joonghyuk quickly found the one that was most familiar among the backs of their heads.

"It’s amazing to see sometimes."

Lee Jihye, who happened to be looking at the same back of the head, said.

"It’s amazing to think of so many things with that small head."

Time passed quickly.

The students submitted their drawings one by one. Every time a drawing was submitted, the teacher called the parents over with an exaggerated gesture and talked to them.

"Wow, what did you draw?"

Even as the students who had finished submitting their work were chatting with their parents and leaving the classroom, Yoo Joonghyuk saw a small head still buried in the desk.

Just as he was worried that his head might get sucked into the desk, the teacher made their move first.

"Dokja. Time's up."

"Just a moment."

Now, only Yoo Joonghyuk and Lee Jihye were left in the back of the classroom.

The teacher, who had noticed the two, smiled brightly and asked.

"Father. Would you like to come over here and take a look?"

Yoo Joonghyuk approached him.

However, Kim Dokja, who was so focused that he didn't even notice him approaching, was absorbed in his drawing.

The teacher asked.

"What are you drawing?"

"Space."

"Space?"

As Kim Dokja had said, the background of the drawing was pitch-black space. Space with faint starlight scattered about.

Three people were standing in that space.

The teacher, who had been looking back and forth between the drawing and Yoo Joonghyuk several times, asked.

"Is this by any chance your father?"

"Hmm."

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at Kim Dokja's painting. There was definitely a man with the exact same face as him.

A man covered in blood all over his body, glaring at the world with hateful eyes.

Yoo Joonghyuk immediately recognized who he was. He couldn't not know.

'41st.'

Because that Yoo Joonghyuk, was the Yoo Joonghyuk who most resembled himself.

Next to him stood a man wearing a pure white coat.

His hair was a bit lighter than he remembered, but this time, Yoo Joonghyuk immediately recognized who he was.

"Who is this?"

Kim Dokja answered with an embarrassed expression.

"It's me from another world."

"Oh my, this is a profound painting."

The two people in the painting looked very tired, as if they had been fighting someone just a moment ago.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at the two people in the painting for a long time, as if he was reflecting on the old times.

In the meantime, the teacher's gaze turned to the last person in the painting.

"Then... who is the naked person next to him?"

There was a naked man holding a sword.

Yoo Joonghyuk also looked at the man.

However, the moment he looked at the man, he felt as if the man in the painting was looking at him.

"Captain."

Only then did Lee Jihye notice something was wrong, and her face changed. She looked at Yoo Joonghyuk.

Yoo Joonghyuk continued to look down at the man in the painting without answering, and then suddenly looked up into the sky.

Tsk tsk tsk.

The aftershock of the sky that he had witnessed earlier was heard once again.

Looking at that spark, Secretive Plotter opened his mouth without realizing it.

"Still."

At first glance, a longed-for starlight seemed to twinkle across the vast expanse of space.

Staring at that starlight, Secretive Plotter said.

"It seems there are stories left that I haven't read."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

전지적
독자시점
싱숑 현대 판타지 소설

795 Episode 38 Chance (1)

---

「All coincidences are probable from the universe's perspective.」

— Dokkaebi King

---

I don't know if I've ever talked about that writer.

「"Please put coincidences in unconditionally. The more the better. Please give them to the main character."」

The lecturer of the first web novel lecture I ever heard. Because he emphasized 'coinciding with coincidences' in every class, the students used to call him ‘Giyeon’ for short.

[NOTE 1]

Because he was older than me, I called him 'Giyeon hyung', but one day, the one I used to call 'Giyeon hyung' suddenly disappeared from the industry.

Some said that he started writing under a different pen name, and others said that he left the industry altogether. There were also people who mocked him, saying that he must have been reincarnated into another world and met Giyeon in that world.

However, no one actually knew what happened to Giyeon hyung.

But actually, I have something to say about his disappearance. Two years before he went missing, he contacted me.

—Hakhyun-ah. Do you want to work on a project together?

He contacted me right when his next project was a complete failure. I was happy to hear his call, but at the same time, I felt uncomfortable.

—Hyung, our styles are so different.

Collaborating on a project.

Usually, writers in their right minds wouldn't do something like that. Not only would 'collaborating' not work well between writers with strong egos, but it often ends up being a negative when two people write together.

Furthermore, it's not a structure where you can make more money through collaboration.

—Honestly, I'm not sure I can do it well. It'll just be a nuisance.

—No. I need your help. Can we work together just once?

Was it because the voice on the other end of the phone was desperate? Or was it because this month's management fee came to mind?

Even though I knew I shouldn't do it, I couldn't resist the temptation.

—I really don't have confidence… Then how do you work?

—I'll write the first draft. Then you can look at it. If it fails, I'll fail, so don't worry.

—But hyung, you'll give the main character ten coincidences from the beginning, right?

—Hey. I've changed now. I won't give the main character coincidence anymore.

Giyeon hyung doesn't use coincidence?

I thought it was a joke, but I was curious anyway.

—What's the genre?

—It's a modern fantasy, but I'll arrange it with a mix of martial arts and systems. Actually, I haven't drawn up a specific worldview. Since you're good at that, I'd like some help.

—You're not telling me to draw it all, are you?

—I said it's a collaboration. We'll draw it together, but you'll lay the ground-work. What do you think?

—Okay.

—Okay, let me ask you a favor. I think my senses are old now, so I'm not good at making trendy settings, so I'll give you a decent ratio.

As I listened, it was a tempting suggestion. Some ideas just popped into my head.

—Do you have a rough plot?

—Well, there's no worldview yet. Just because a tower suddenly appeared in the world…

—The tower climbing genre is a thing of the past.

—That's true, but wouldn't it be okay to make the main character a little more unique?

—What abilities are you going to give him?

—Let's not give him any abilities.

No abilities?

—He trains hard without any abilities and becomes strong. It's time for the classic hard-working main character to return.

There are many such main characters now, but there weren't many back then.

—How about training hard in just stabbing?

I guess that's why.

At that time, I found his idea very interesting.

—Well, yes.

When I think back to those days, I often think this.

Maybe all the stories in this world are connected.

We just don’t notice it, but maybe all writers are contributing to a 'huge piece of work' in ways we never thought of.

—Um, then what about the title…

The moment I heard these words, a title came to mind as if by fate. I thought that no other title would suit this story.

—『The World After The Fall』. How is it?

Several years have passed since that day.

『The World After The Fall』, which we wrote together, was completed with modest results after many twists and turns, but even so, that writer, who could not endure the hardships of life, disappeared somewhere.

I don’t know where he went. However, the royalties that came in occasionally told me that the work we wrote was being read by someone.

"Kim Dokja."

With those royalties, I was able to eat, pay management fees, and pay rent.

I was able to continue my life as a writer.

That’s why a parody of 『The World After The Fall』 appears in 『Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint』.

Courtesy towards the writer who I wrote with. Or, I hope that he is still reading and writing novels somewhere in this world.

When I think about it now, there are times when all of that feels like a lie.

Was 『The World After The Fall』 really a novel we wrote?

Maybe he and I were just nameless scribes who received and wrote down dreams from some distant universe.

"Kim Dokja!"

I suddenly came to my senses at Yoo Joonghyuk's shout.

"Ah."

I suddenly looked behind me.

The empty void of space lay there. The Nebulae that had threatened us until then, and the Gods of the Other World, were all swept away.

In that magical moment of emptiness, I clearly witnessed the flash of light that swept them all away with my own two eyes.

A stab.

It was definitely a stab.

"Be careful."

With those words, Yoo Joonghyuk stepped forward in front of me. His body had become tattered since he came here. Watching him step forward with such a body, I also stood next to him.

"I've never seen this guy before."

Yoo Joonghyuk's expression, which was sullen, was shaking with agitation.

Have I ever seen 'Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st Round' so tense?

The dot that had seemed like a period was getting bigger and bigger. The dot soon took the shape of a man. What was a little unusual was that the man was naked. I could tell without anyone saying anything. He was the main character who used 'stab'.

The moment our eyes met, I felt like the fluff on my entire body was going to burn. It felt like huge eyes were watching me.

A huge and intense eye that stared into space.

I had never felt this way even when I faced the Constellations of the highest level.

"Yoo Joonghyuk. Do you believe in fate?"

"What?"

A naked man holding a sword finally arrived in front of us. He looked back at the two of us with a leisurely gaze and muttered.

"Are you those guys?"

Those guys. It was as if he knew us.

"It's just as he said."

The man's eyes, filled with deep disappointment, stared at me for a moment before turning to Yoo Joonghyuk.

"I expected it to be bad."

Yoo Joonghyuk frowned and twitched his lips.

I stepped forward before anything unexpected could happen.

"The 'Monarch Slayer' Jaehwan! Is that it?"

The man's expression changed subtly at my words.

"Do you know me?"

Of course I could not help but know.

He was the main character of 『The World After The Fall』 that I had written with Kiyeon.

The absolute being of the worldview 《Tree of Imaginary》.

The Monarch Slayer Jaehwan.

Now, the main character of that story that we couldn't even tell if we had written was looking at me.

"Is there anyone in this universe who doesn't know your name?"

"It's not this universe where I'm famous?"

"Let's say it's the universe next door."

He even had a history of encountering Kim Dokja, who had become the 'Oldest Dream', while wandering around on the subway.

Well, it wasn't a good memory for either of them.

In any case, the important thing is that he had appeared in 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.

—Kim Dokja.

I could hear Yoo Joonghyuk's [Midday Tryst], which seemed quite tense.

—A being that is on par with a mythical grade Constellation.

A Mythical grade Constellation.

The Constellations that occupy the highest positions among the stars in this <Star Stream>. Right now, Yoo Joonghyuk was saying that the man was as strong as them, or even stronger.

I don’t know why the monarch killer came here. But this was our opportunity.

"Please. Please help me."

"What?"

"I need your help."

I never thought I would have to ask him for help. But there was no other way.

[You have been expelled from the scenario.]

With a 'tsk tsk' sound, the probability staggered around.

The incarnation body that had been stable for a moment was shaking once again.

[Enter the new main scenario.]

[If you fail to obtain the new main scenario, you will die.]

I had forgotten for a moment. I died in place of the Demon King of Salvation at the 'Recycling Center', and in return, I became a 'Scenario Exile'.

Just like Kim Dokja of the Demon World, my incarnation body would disintegrate if I didn’t enter the new scenario.

Jaehwan, who was quietly looking at me, asked.

"Why should I help you?"

Judging from the way he spoke, he seemed to be Yoo Joonghyuk's ancestor.

However, seeing that the conversation continued, there was still hope.

"You helped me just now, didn't you?"

"I didn't help you. I just got rid of those who were interfering with my training."

Training?

When I focused my vision, I saw an energy rippling all over his body. A sharp awl extending toward the world. It was an energy that seemed to symbolize 'stabbing'.

It was creepy. Even at this moment, he was repeatedly stabbing the world.

Stabbing hundreds, maybe thousands of times per second.

If I were to visualize the concept of 'stabbing', would it look like that?

"If you guys keep interfering, I'll kill you too."

An eerie warning.

Normally, it would be normal to leave immediately. The opponent was a being that could compete with a 'Mythical Constellation'.

Kukukukukuku.

A seething noise from the other side of the void. I could feel the tension between the minions of the Nebula who had not yet given up on us and the gods of the other world.

Right now, they are keeping an eye out because of this man, but the moment we open up even a little distance, they will come rushing back like lynxes.

My intuition was telling me. I have to buy some more time, somehow.

"Is there a reason you are training so hard when you are so strong?"

Jaehwan did not answer, but I continued to ask.

"Who did you come here to meet?"

I pondered his nature and asked again.

"Or do you want a strong 'enemy'?"

'Jaehwan, the Monarch Slayer' was a man with a stronger competitive spirit than anyone else. He stabbed and killed all the monarchs and gods who reigned over 《Tree of Imaginary》, and eventually destroyed the universe he belonged to. Maybe he was interested in the strong people of this universe.

Jaehwan slowly raised his head, and a faint emotion filled his eyes.

"Is there such a being?"

"I'll let you fight them."

I didn't use [Incite]. I instinctively knew that [Incite] wouldn't work on the being in front of me. Right now, the only thing I could trust was my own three-inch tongue.

Fortunately, Jaehwan looked a little interested.

"How?"

"We're being chased by the Constellations of the <Star Stream> right now."

Perhaps this might be the perfect opportunity to eliminate our enemies. If only we could make this being, who is approaching the ' Myth-grade Constellation', our ally.

I took a few deep breaths and continued.

"Just by being with us, all the strong people of the <Star Stream> will come looking for you."

"Are you trying to use me?"

"We're just giving each other a little help. Just allow me to stay by your side."

Anyway, if I let him go here, I would be in a situation where I would have no food or shelter. Since the hilt was over there, I thought it would be better to be honest about the situation rather than trying to convince him with nonsense.

Jaehwan looked at me without answering. Then he slowly turned his head and looked behind me.

When did it start?

The Nameless Things that had been watching from afar were once again expanding their forces and coming forward.

"It's annoying."

He swung his sword into the air, his voice uncertain whether positive or negative. Another flash of light struck, and the surroundings became quiet. It was truly an eerie sense of inaction.

Jaehwan, who had gotten up from his seat, slowly began to move somewhere.

I signaled to Yoo Joonghyuk to chase after him.

But Yoo Joonghyuk didn't respond at all.

When I looked back, Yoo Joonghyuk was unconscious. I belatedly noticed his broken knee and the wounds.

It was only natural.

It was a brave situation to have held out this long even after using [Recovery]. I picked up Yoo Joonghyuk and started chasing after Jaehwan. Fortunately, he moved just fast enough for us to keep up. I took that as his consent.

Was this a coincidence?

What would Kiyeon have said if he had seen that man's back?

[Your incarnation body is unstable.]

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' warns you.]

'I understand, so don't whine.'

The lifespan of my incarnation body was decreasing in real time. From now on, it was a race against time.

While chasing after that 'Monarch Slayer', I had to somehow find a way to get back to the 'main scenario'.

The Monarch Slayer Jaehwan muttered without looking back.

"One week. No more."

I nodded while carrying Yoo Joonghyuk, who had become a rag.

"One week is enough."

We will never die. At least not until we change the damn ending of this universe.

I started walking diligently, following his footsteps left in the void.

[NOTE 2]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: ‘Giyeon’ means 'Coincidence'.

Note [2]: Image of the character Jeahwan - Monarch Slayer from The World After the Fall (It is another work of the author Sing N Song, which they introduced in ORV)

796 Episode 38 Chance (2)

The back of Jaehwan, who was walking a few steps ahead, was blurry.

Walking, stopping for a moment to rest, and walking again.

I repeated that simple task while carrying Yoo Joonghyuk who had fallen.

[Your incarnation body is unstable.]

[Warning. Enter a new 'scenario'.]

It wasn't some kind of health alert, and I smiled bitterly as I heard the same message intermittently.

Who wouldn't enter the 'main scenario' without knowing?

「I wonder if it was a mistake to intentionally fail the 'scenario'?」

An old sentiment came flooding back, but I didn't really regret it.

At that time, it was the best choice.

Failing the scenario and being stripped of the status of 'Constellation'. And thus being banished outside the scenarios.

That was the only way to save all the readers, including the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

[Your incarnation body is unstable.]

The cough that I spit out left a trail of stories.

[Your incarnation body is breaking apart.]

A body that would not be strange if it collapsed at any moment. Nevertheless, my incarnation body still managed to maintain its shape.

[Exclusive trait effect is activated.]

[The effect of the exclusive trait 'Record Repairer' delays the collapse of your incarnation body.]

Exclusive trait 'Record Repairer'.

This trait, which was activated by collecting a certain amount of 'Kim Dokja Fragments', had a certain level of immunity effect only against the collapse of the incarnation body.

Of course, this trait alone was not enough to withstand the collapse.

[Exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' is activating.]

The [Fourth Wall]. Kim Dokja's main skill, and the skill that saved him from danger every time, if this skill hadn't been activated in time, I would have passed out without being able to overcome the pain.

[Exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' is strongly activated.]

I imagined the 'Demon King of Salvation' and the Kkoma Kim Dokja beyond this wall.

People who still liked this story even after going through that terrible scenario together.

「Kim Dokja thought.」

They were talking.

「We have to survive.」

With a thud, the story flowed back once more.

How many more times did I vomit stories like that?

Jaehwan, who had been walking far away, stopped walking. It seemed like he was going to take a short break.

I laid Yoo Joonghyuk down on a stone floating around.

Is it the effect of the 'Summoning Squad' I had fed him earlier? Yoo Joonghyuk's incarnation was quickly recovering.

The deep wound below his kneecap was also slowly healing.

After all, the main character is the main character.

If this continues, Yoo Joonghyuk will be able to finish recovering and return to the scenario in a few days.

The problem is that I don't know if I will be alive by then.

[Your incarnation body is unstable.]

I felt drowsy once in a while, and every time I did, a terrible cold air came over me.

I must not lose consciousness.

I desperately recalled Kim Dokja's story.

Sometimes, Kim Dokja had experienced something similar to me.

「If I don't quickly save my incarnation body and seal my wounds, all my stories will collapse and I will die.」

I imagined Kim Dokja walking alone on the horizon of the stories. Kim Dokja walking alone in the world without a star's gaze or a scenario.

He ate the story fragments on the horizon of the stories, and used them to repair his incarnation body and overcome the crisis.

How did 'Kim Dokja' absorb the story fragments back then?

「Lamarck's Giraffe.」

That's right. Kim Dokja, the 'Demon King of Salvation', clearly had such a trait. If that's the case, then I can also use that trait.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' looks at you with displeasure.]

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' grumbles and begins its storytelling.]

After a while, a light bulb turned on in my head, and the trait was activated.

[You can now temporarily use the exclusive attribute 'Lamarck's Giraffe'.]

Lamarck's Giraffe.

With this trait, Kim Dokja was able to temporarily restore his incarnation body by absorbing small 'story fragments'.

The problem is that I don't have any remaining 'story fragments' to use for restoration.

That's when the sound of a vacuum cleaner could be heard from afar.

A flock of 'Nameless Things' swimming through space. Behind the guys who were scurrying around the void like a school of mackerel, a monster with a fierce appetite could be seen. An eerie presence that could be clearly felt from afar.

A God from Outer World. The shark-headed alien with a human body was disturbing the group like a predator, biting the 'Nameless Things'.

I really hoped it wouldn't look this way, but this time, the <Star Stream> betrayed my expectations.

【Ooooooooo】

The alien's cries made my mind dizzy. The guy who quickly wiggled his fins rushed towards me with his fearsome teeth flashing.

A murderous feeling that made my spine tingle.

The moment I instinctively grabbed the hilt of 'Unbreakable Faith' sword, a flash of light flashed before my eyes.

Jaehwan swung his sword.

The shark alien that had opened its mouth wide disappeared with its head exploding.

It was an unbelievable act of inaction. Even if it wasn't at the level of the 'Dream Eater', it seemed like an outer deity with its own name.

In any case, now was not the time to be completely surprised. This was because the fragments of the outer deity's legend floating in the void caught my eye.

[Exclusive trait 'Lamarck's Giraffe' reacts.]

Most of them were contaminated or damaged and unusable, but there were some that I could consume now.

I sneakily looked at Jaehwan's expression and asked.

"Can I eat that?"

Jaehwan glanced at me indifferently and quickly turned his head away.

I quickly approached the Shark's story fragment. I saw a story fragment that looked exactly like a shark's fin.

[Story fragment 'Rapid Swim' rejects your touch.]

[The story in question is contaminated.]

[Eating the story in question may cause side effects.]

Judging from the strong fishy smell, it seemed like it would be difficult to eat it as it was even if I utilized 'Lamarck's Giraffe'.

After thinking for a moment, I searched through the arms of the unconscious Yoo Joonghyuk.

Let's see, if my thoughts are right, he should have 'that item'. After a while, something like a small seasoning container was caught in my fingertips.

I checked the item information.

<Item Information>

Name: All-purpose special seasoning

Grade: A+

Description: Essence made from natural ingredients of the <Star Stream>. When sprayed, anything becomes edible. The recipe has not been revealed.

As expected, Yoo Joonghyuk.

I didn't have high expectations, but I didn't know this item really existed.

「All-purpose special seasoning. It's an item developed by Yoo Joonghyuk in the second round for emergency cooking. He himself doesn't use it often.」

Why do people carry around things like this and not use them? I don't know.

I roughly sprinkled the special seasoning on the still fluttering fins, then took a deep breath and swallowed it.

The snow shard tasted like ramen soup sprinkled on the shark fin.

[Exclusive trait 'Lamarck's Giraffe's effect activates!]

[Story fragment 'Rapid Swim' refuses to .!]

The story fragment that entered my stomach began to shake. My stomach rumbled as if I had an emergency. However, I couldn't just spit it out.

[Your incarnation body is in danger.]

If I spit this out now, I'll die. So I have to swallow it. I have to grit my teeth and get through it somehow.

That's when someone hit my back with a thud. It hurt so much I screamed, so I turned around and saw Jaehwan there.

Why are you suddenly hitting someone? Are you a psychopath?

Jaehwan looked at me for a moment without answering, then walked over and sat down nearby, sitting cross-legged.

Only then did I realize why he had hit my back.

[Your digestive ability is enhanced.]

[Exclusive trait 'Lamarck's Giraffe' is strongly activated.]

[Story fragment 'Rapid Swim' has been absorbed.]

Could it be that he's helping me now? Not someone else, but 'Monarch Slayer' Jaehwan?

[Your incarnation body temporarily regains stability.]

I felt my hunger disappearing quickly and my incarnation body recovering. I thought I could easily last another day or two at this rate.

"I, thank you."

I bowed my head toward Jaehwan. Jaehwan pretended not to hear me and closed his eyes.

Is he repeating his mental stabbing toward the universe again?

What on earth is he trying to stab with all that effort?

I looked at Jaehwan for a moment and then muttered while examining Yoo Joonghyuk's details again.

"You say thank you too."

Of course, Yoo Joonghyuk, who had passed out, didn't answer. It had been a while since I'd seen him sleeping so soundly. Even now, it seems like it was just yesterday that I was thrown under the bridge at Oksu Station, but I realized that a lot has happened since then.

While going back and forth between the Washington Dome and the Recycling Center, Yoo Joonghyuk became a black beast, and also a little Yoo Joonghyuk wearing a red hat. He almost died several times, and in the end, this is what happened.

Damn bastard. Why did you chase me all the way here? This didn't happen even in the Third Round.

If he hadn't come to save me, Yoo Joonghyuk would have cleared the 'Recycling Center' without a hitch and started growing. His transcendence would have been higher, and he would have moved on to the next scenario without a hitch with the readers of Earth.

I ruined everything.

So I have to save this guy.

After feeding Yoo Joonghyuk the 'summoning squad' that I had divided up, I took a breather for a moment.

While he was eating the remaining summoning squad crumbs, my eyes met with Jaehwan's, who was looking at me.

Why is he looking? I feel uneasy.

I recalled the information about him in my head.

「The Monarch Slayer Jaehwan.」

Fortunately, since 『The World After The Fall』 was a work I was involved in, I remembered quite a bit of information about him.

For example, if someone asked me, "Who is Jaehwan?", I could answer like this.

「The protagonist who destroys the world by stabbing while naked.」

After summarizing, he seems like the type of person you should never get entangled with.

I thought for a moment and held out the summoning crumbs to Jaehwan.

"Would you like some?"

When you first become close, isn't it best to share food?

Whether he was naked or destroyed the world by stabbing, it was something that happened in his universe.

And in this <Star Stream>, he saved me twice.

Who knows? Maybe that 'Monarch Slayer' became a little kinder under the influence of the <Star Stream> worldview.

"You eat it."

I felt a familiar comfort in his sharp answer and asked back.

"What do you usually eat?"

"I don't eat anything in particular."

"If you don't eat anything, you die."

Jaehwan didn't answer and just stared at me. Thanks to someone, I was already used to that kind of gaze.

I shook the seasoning bottle and smiled.

"If there's anything you want, I'll make it for you. There's some good seasoning here."

I didn't really plan on cooking. I'm not Yoo Joonghyuk from the 81st Round of 'Ways of Survival', so what kind of food would I cook in this 'change of scenario'? Even if I made it, it would be nothing more than 'Foreign Correspondent Shark's Fin who died from a brutal stabbing'.

But I wanted to talk to that man who was hard to get close to, even like this.

My life and Yoo Joonghyuk's life depended on that good-natured psychopath for the next week.

If he changed his mind and stabbed us to death right now, 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' would end here.

"The kind of food I want to eat?"

Huh?

"No one can make it now."

I was a little taken aback by his answer. I never imagined that the 'Monarch Slayer' would have a food he wanted to eat.

"What kind of food is it?"

If possible, I was going to refer to 'Yoo Joonghyuk from the 81st round's recipe and make it. If I didn't have the ingredients, I could just raid Yoo Joonghyuk's coat pockets.

Jaehwan stared into space for a moment as if recalling a distant memory, then opened his mouth.

"Dumplings."

I looked at him for a moment, wondering if I had heard wrong.

What did you say just now?

"It's a food called 'Murim Dumplings'."

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

797 Episode 38 Chance (3)

Unfortunately, the recipe for 「Murim Dumplings」 did not exist among the knowledge I had.

If it had been Yoo Joonghyuk, a cooking expert in the 81st Round, or Yoo Joonghyuk in the 999th Round who had experience in making Murim dumplings, they might have known the recipe…

"I like them too. Murim dumplings."

"Have you ever eaten them?"

For the first time, curiosity appeared in Jaehwan's eyes.

I nodded vigorously, surprised that even this person had curiosity.

"No."

Jaehwan looked at me like I was crazy and asked.

"How can you like food you've never eaten?"

"You don't have to eat it to like it, right?"

"What?"

I've never eaten Murim dumplings, but I've drawn countless scenes of 'Murim dumplings eating'. While I was sketching scenes of Kim Dokja and Yoo Joonghyuk eating Murim dumplings in Murim and Seoyuki, I also ate hundreds of Murim dumplings in my head.

With my eyes closed, I recited the taste of Murim dumplings from 『The World After the Fall』 and 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 at length.

After talking like that, I felt full, as if I had really eaten a whole plate of dumplings.

When I opened my eyes, Jaehwan was looking at me in disbelief.

"You really talk like someone who has eaten them."

"Isn't the most perfect 'martial arts dumpling' the 'Murim dumplings that I have not yet eaten'?"

Above all, in front of me now is a person who has actually eaten Murim dumplings through that description.

I patted Yoo Joonghyuk on the head and said.

"He probably knows better about taste. By the way, this guy's favorite food is also 'Murim dumplings'."

Jaehwan glared at Yoo Joonghyuk as if he couldn't believe what I said, and then said,

"So what do you want me to do?"

"I'll let you eat it again. That 'Murim dumpling'."

The 'Murim dumpling' in Jaehwan's world was destroyed, but this world wasn't destroyed yet.

And fortunately, the recipe for that 'Murim dumpling' was still being passed down in the <First Murim>.

But Jaehwan's attitude was strange.

"I don't believe what a guy like you says."

"No, why? I can let you eat real 'Murim dumplings'. Doesn't the thought make your mouth water? If you order chicken soup and noodles and eat them together—"

"You're going to ask for something else in return, right?"

"No, I'm not going to ask for anything else. I'll just take you to where the 'Murim dumplings' are."

"You're not saying you want me to protect you until I get there?"

This is why I hate protagonists.

They're so sensitive.

"Can't I?“

"Even if I could eat 'Murim dumplings' again."

Jaehwan paused for a moment and continued.

"The 'Murim dumplings' I ate that day are no longer there."

If my sponsor was next to me, he would have complained, saying, "That’s an amazing dumpling philosophy," but right now, my 'Demon King of Salvation' content was somewhat lacking.

"You must really like Murim dumplings."

Jaehwan looked at me as if I was crazy even more than before.

With a feeling of "Tsk tsk," [The Fourth Wall] spoke in my head.

「This isn’t about dumplings.」

I thought of the 'Demon King of Salvation' watching me with pitiful eyes from beyond the wall.

"Me too."

Jaehwan turned his head and stared into the void. Just as Yoo Joonghyuk stared at the sky of the <Star Stream> whenever he had the chance, he also stared into the void whenever he had the chance. As if there was someone he missed. I remembered Jaehwan’s story a little.

Just as I and other readers were summoned to the <Star Stream>, he was the protagonist summoned to the 《Tree of Imaginary》.

Just as we went through the scenarios, he climbed a tower that looked like a tree and finally reached the top of the tower.

However, I don't know what he felt at the top of the tower or what kind of being he became.

This is because Giyeon's novel ends somewhat abstractly without describing that part in detail.

I hesitated for a moment and then asked.

"May I ask what the dumplings you ate tasted like?"

Jaehwan looked back at me without saying a word and then looked up at the sky again.

A sky where no stars watch over us.

How long had he watched the vast void of space? His sword let out a humming cry. A cry that somehow sounded sad and heartbreaking.

Jaehwan never answered.

---

While traveling with Jaehwan, I asked him countless questions. At first, Jaehwan didn't answer my questions, but sometimes he would talk when he felt like it.

"Do you know how much time has passed?"

"A day has passed."

"Wow, it felt like three days. But how do you measure time?"

"I'm stabbing 3,600 times per second."

"Could you slow down the stabbing a little?"

Jaehwan glared at me expressionlessly and started stabbing again.

"Where did you live?"

I continued asking questions as well. Where did he live, whether there was a scenario in his world, whether there was a system, how long he had lived.

Some of the answers were things I already knew, and some I didn't know.

I continued asking questions in order to somehow win his favor, but also for my own sake.

[Your incarnation body is becoming unstable.]

I felt like I would lose consciousness at any moment if I didn't talk to someone.

My incarnation body was almost at its limit now. In the end, Jaehwan, who couldn't hold it in any longer, opened his mouth when the number of my questions surpassed the number of times Yoo Joonghyuk regressed.

"How long are you going to keep babbling?"

"Until you answer."

"This has nothing to do with you."

"But I still want to hear it."

"There's no story to tell a guy who's about to die."

"I'm about to die, so wouldn't it be nice to hear a fun story one last time?"

Jaehwan's lips twitched in discontent.

"It's not even that fun."

I know. Giyeon's novels weren't popular.

But it didn't matter.

"I've read a story about someone who regressed 1,863 times. Do you think it'd be more boring than that?"

"Regression?"

For a moment, I thought, 'Oh no.' This man absolutely hated the word 'regression'.

The reason was clear.

In Jaehwan's world, all of his colleagues, except for him, had 'regressed'.

"There were guys who 'regressed' in my world, too."

"Is that so?"

I pretended not to know. Then Jaehwan added in a fierce voice.

"There was no one who did that 1,863 times."

"That's not an ordinary number."

"If someone regressed that many times, they must be a bad guy."

"That's not true."

I answered without realizing it.

Jaehwan narrowed his eyes at me and said.

"All regressors are cowards."

"Not all of them."

"Regressors abandon the present and run away. They go back to the past to steal others' achievements, steal items, and steal history."

"There are those who fought and fought to protect the present, but they had no choice but to regress."

I don't know why I became Yoo Joonghyuk's spokesman, but Jaehwan looked quite angry at my defense.

"There can't be a guy like that. All regressors are people who are so obsessed with the past that they can't properly look at the present."

"At least one guy is different."

"One guy?"

"And to me, you don’t look any different from a 'regressor'."

"What do you mean?"

A terrifying murderous aura flowed out of Jaehwan’s body.

"Aren’t you missing the taste of Murim dumplings?"

Jaehwan’s face was like the first time he had been hit. The murderous aura that had flowed out dissipated like magic.

"I-"

"No one moves forward without looking back. Sometimes, becoming a regressor isn’t such a bad thing."

Jaehwan didn’t answer for a long time, then slowly drew his sword.

His wooden sword blade stabbed the air. Stabbing, stabbing, stabbing again, how many times did he stab like that?

Jaehwan opened his mouth.

"As I said, my story won’t be fun."

"Even if it’s a story where you only stabbed for a million years, it’s okay."

"Only a million years?"

"Then how long have you been doing it?"

"…"

"It seems like it's not a time that can be done in one's right mind."

"It seems like I'm not in one's right mind."

"When you say that, it's really scary."

Jaehwan snickered. For the first time, he looked a little human, with a smile.

"Why are you curious about my story?"

"I guess I'm wondering if I can steal some of the secrets of strength."

"Do you think you can follow along if you listen?"

I know full well that I can't.

Even if he stabbed for a million years, it doesn't mean I can imitate those times.

However, I have [Bookmark].

If I can listen to his story and understand him even a little, I might really be able to steal 'his strength'.

Just like Kim Dokja stole the strength of other characters.

"I don't know. I might have a great awakening after hearing your story."

Of course, I never once received a message saying that my 'understanding has increased' during all the conversations I had with him.

He might be someone my poor brain simply couldn't understand.

Still, I thought it was worth the challenge.

"Why do you want to become stronger?"

"Well, I have to knock down all the stars in the sky."

"And then?"

"We'll see the end of this world."

Jaehwan looked at me like that and put his sword away.

"That's obvious."

"Do you have to have a special reason to become stronger?"

"Some strengths are like that."

Jaehwan's pupils glowed ominously. I could see the shape of a Möbius spinning inside his pupils.

"Anyone can become stronger if they have the will. However, strength itself betrays the will. When you become as strong as you want, you may not want to see the end of this world."

Listening to him, I thought of the Constellations in the sky.

Great people. Tales. Myths. Beings who have accumulated countless years and become stars in the sky. They must have had a time like mine.

Maybe even Jaehwan in front of me.

"I haven't thought about that."

"You should think about it now. That's probably a question that the enemies you're about to fight have thought about."

"Well, it's probably different when you enter and leave the bathroom."

Jaehwan frowned, as if my analogy was quite unpleasant.

He frowned.

"I doubt you can even enter that bathroom right now."

"That's..."

"It's not too late. Leave that guy behind and leave."

Jaehwan's eyes turned to Yoo Joonghyuk, who was sleeping.

As expected, Jaehwan knew about my condition.

"You're not in a condition to last a week."

"I know."

"If you hold on to that guy, you'll die."

My incarnation body looked like it could break at any moment.

I answered while collecting the stories that were collapsing in real time.

"Thank you for your words, but I can't leave."

"Why?"

If I somehow managed to escape to get to the 'main scenario' on my own, I could find some way.

But if that happens, Yoo Joonghyuk will be left alone in this void. And it didn't seem like that man would save Yoo Joonghyuk, who was left alone.

"Because we're comrades."

"I know that guy is a Regressor."

"…"

"Anyway, after he regresses, he won't remember you."

"That could be the case. But it could also not be the case."

I thought about Yoo Joonghyuk. From the 0th to the 1,864th Round. I thought about his will that had been repeated countless times.

"Who knows? Maybe he'll remember me again after regressing 1,863 times."

"That can't be."

"After a long regression, he might become stronger than you and come to end this whole damn world."

I briefly imagined 'Secretive Plotter' who was building up a story that had nothing to do with this story across the universe.

And then I turned my eyes to the fallen Yoo Joonghyuk again.

"And this guy won't regress. Even if he does, he has no world to return to. This world is his last world."

Yoo Joonghyuk, lying on the floating stone, curled up as if he was cold. Covering that guy with a coat, Jaehwan muttered quietly.

"A Regressor who does not regress."

With that, he did not speak any further. He was staring at the void as before, but for some reason, his expression was different from before. Maybe he was thinking of the Murim dumplings he shared with his colleagues a long time ago.

I held my breath quietly so as not to disturb his thoughts.

Yoo Joonghyuk woke up on the sixth morning. As soon as he woke up, the smell of finely ground herbal medicine tickled his nose.

'A Summoning Squad.'

It would vary depending on the market price that day, but the summoning squad was an elixir that cost more than a hundred thousand coins. Someone had fed him the medicine. Of course, it was obvious who that someone was.

'Kim Dokja.'

Kim Dokja was seen curled up on a nearby floating stone and sleeping.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at Kim Dokja for a moment, then suddenly came to his senses and grabbed his spear.

A place a few steps away. There was a man with a body staring at him from above the broken meteorite.

Was it 'Jaehwan'?

Yoo Joonghyuk carried Kim Dokja, who had fallen, while being wary of Jaehwan.

An exhausted and worn-out incarnation body.

Judging from his condition, he was in danger if he didn't repair his stories right away.

Yoo Joonghyuk thought of the places where the 'Story Expert' was nearby and took a step back.

He heard Jaehwan's voice behind him.

"Where are you going?"

"A place where I can save this guy."

"If you leave here, you guys will die."

He understood what those words meant. Even now, he could feel the presence of the stars from a great distance. The reason they weren't approaching him must have been because of the existence of 'Jaehwan' before his eyes.

Even those Giant Nebulae were afraid of the man before his eyes.

However, he couldn't keep dying here forever.

"I won't die."

Yoo Joonghyuk's condition was the best right now. As he had overcome near-death experiences, his incarnation body had become more robust, and his skills had also improved.

If it was a head-on fight, it wouldn't be fine, but if it was just running away with Kim Dokja, it would be possible.

But Jaehwan said something strange.

"It means I'm going to kill you."

"What?"

Was he really a dangerous guy?

As he instinctively raised his fighting spirit, Jaehwan continued to speak.

"If you want to leave, leave him behind. Then I'll let you go."

"What are you talking about?"

Jaehwan glanced at Kim Dokja with his characteristically expressionless eyes, and answered in his usual blunt voice.

"I'm a little interested in the 'Murim Dumplings' that guy is talking about."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

798 Episode 38 Chance (4)

Dim lighting. The smell of dry, warm letters. When I opened my eyes, I realized that I was in a bookshelf.

I fainted.

I suddenly felt alert. I absolutely could not faint. The stamina of my incarnation body was running out, and the one-week promise with Jaehwan was just around the corner.

However, no matter how many times I slapped myself, I didn't come back to my senses.

[Exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' is activating.]

A soft system message rang in my ears.

It seemed that this was inside the [Fourth Wall].

I slowly got up and saw the library in my blurry vision.

The sound of breathing could be heard quietly.

When I looked back, the small Kim Dokjas were each sitting on small chairs or sofas, sound asleep.

I checked the faces of the Kkoma Kim Dokjas one by one. When I looked closely, I saw some faces I knew among the Kkoma Kim Dokjas.

Gu Seonah, the Iron Gon woman. Old man Kim Kyungsik of Gombangdae.

The two people who were sleeping soundly with their heads together were faintly smiling, what they were dreaming about unknown.

I tried to calm my rising emotions and looked at them for a while. Then, in order not to wake them from their dreams, I slowly moved my body and looked around.

In the center of the group of Kkoma Kim Dokjas, there was a small table. On the table were newspapers scattered in a mess, and a book.

A thick black binding.

『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.

The moment I confirmed the title of the book, I instinctively opened the bookcase. Then, the letters that the cover had been holding onto spilled out onto the paper.

「"He's dead. Inho-ssi—Dokja-ssi is dead."」

The voices of people I knew came to mind in real time.

The letters came to life before my eyes as if 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 had been activated.

Kyung Sein was speaking in the letters.

「"He's dead."」

It had been a long time since I heard such a desperate voice.

「"He died."」

It was clear who she was talking about.

There was also a strong voice that continued as if to comfort her despair.

「"Wake up, Kyung Sein. Nothing is certain yet."」

Killer King—Cha Sungwoo's voice.

「"Kim Dokja, who was the 'Demon King of Salvation' in the Book of Revelation, came back to life. Just because he was banished from the scenario doesn't mean he will die right away. He will somehow find a way. That's because he is Kim Dokja."」

「"How would you know that? Everything is different from the main story."」

My body shook with a spark.

My vision was blurry as if fog had formed. The moment I staggered and touched the table, I heard someone's voice.

「(Youngest.)」

I could immediately tell who the owner of the voice was.

「(You can rest a little more.)」

I looked back with a bitter smile.

"If I rest, people will be in danger."

Maybe because of fatigue, I couldn’t see his face well, but it was clearly my sponsor, my hyung.

I let out a sigh of relief without realizing it. My plan was successful.

He was living inside the [Fourth Wall].

「(Don’t worry. Your people are strong. You know better since you’ve been with them all this time.)」

My people.

「(You should trust them just like I trusted <Kim Dokja Company>.)」

I realized anew how difficult it is to trust someone.

I bit my lips and lowered my head.

"I’m afraid that I ruined everything. I’m afraid that more people will die because of me. Because of the sentences I wrote carelessly—"

「(A story doesn’t fall apart because of a few incorrect lines. Rather, what if a new development begins from those sentences?)」

"Can Kim Dokja say that?"

「(Don't you think 'Ways of Survival' is a perfect story?)」

"The main character of that 'Ways of Survival' is going to die because of me."

「(You don't seem to know much, but the life force of a sunfish is stronger than you think.)」

We looked at each other. Then we snickered. I tried hard to hold back the blurring of my vision.

"I thought I would never be able to have this conversation again."

I wanted to tell him that I was glad to see him again, that I was thankful that he was alive.

But there were things that could be conveyed without saying anything. It was a feeling that both he and I could feel because we were Kim Dokja. We kept our mouths shut for a moment and immersed ourselves in that feeling.

"That bastard Yoo Joonghyuk, why on earth did he chase after me?"

「(Do you think Yoo Joonghyuk came because he was worried about you? He must have an ulterior motive.)」

"Of course he would."

「(Yeah. So come to your senses. You know how poisonous and selfish that bastard is.)」

"Damn Yoo Joonghyuk."

The questions I really wanted to ask, the things I wanted to say were all scattered among the silly jokes. It was nice just to exchange such insignificant jokes.

After a brief silence, the Demon King of Salvation spoke.

「(I should have become a part of you by now.)」

"Don’t say anything ominous."

The Demon King of Salvation looked at me quietly and nodded.

「(Yes. In fact, I also want to watch your story a little more.)」

Does my sponsor know? How much strength just those words give me? How much courage I can muster just by knowing that he is watching over me?

"Of course you should watch over me. You are Kim Dokja."

「(The Constellations are watching over you, too.)」

"I know."

「(Odin and Zeus won't give up easily. They know the value of 'Kim Dokja fragments'. Especially you right now…)」

"Am I worth it to them right now?"

To be honest, I found the obsession of the Nebulae somewhat strange. I have seen Constellations and monsters that have acquired 'Kim Dokja fragments' gain levels beyond their original abilities several times, so I understand that 'Kim Dokja fragments' are valuable stories to the Constellations.

However, is our existence worth the 'existence of the Nebula' to the point where they have to sacrifice probability?

「(That's because you haven't been able to properly draw out the power of the 'Kim Dokja fragments' yet. The Nebulas have various story amplification devices.)」

Story amplification devices.

「(If the 'Kim Dokja fragments' enter a Giant Nebula, it may be possible to rewrite the history of the universe.)」

Rewriting the history of the universe.

Just hearing the words sent shivers down my spine.

What would happen if one nebula that collected all the 'Kim Dokja fragments' rewrote the entire universe of 'Ways of Survival' and 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'?

"We absolutely cannot get caught."

Thinking about it that way, it made sense that the Demon King of Salvation took the unreasonable step of 'scenario dedication'.

If the 'Demon King of Salvation' fragments had been stolen by the Constellations, something truly terrible would have happened.

「(And the Constellations aren't the only problem. If you don't repair your incarnation body right away, you'll really die.)」

"What if I go to the Demon World?"

In the main story, Kim Dokja visited the '73rd Demon World' right after becoming the 'Demon King of Salvation' and dying.

And there, he met the Demon World's clockmaker with the 'Story Expert' trait - Aileen Makefield.

"The 'Lamarck's Giraffe' trait can also be activated. If I activate this trait and get my stories repaired by Aileen, wouldn't I be able to survive? If I stay there, I'll also be able to receive the 'Revolutionary Scenario'."

It doesn't end with the Story Repair. In the end, I have to re-enter the 'Main Scenario'. Otherwise, my incarnation body will continue to break down.

Fortunately, there is the 'Revolutionary Scenario' in the 73rd Demon World, so if I re-enter the main scenario through that, my survival will be guaranteed.

「(That won't work.)」

"Huh? Why?"

「(The 73rd Demon World's scenario has already ended.)」

"The scenario ended?"

How on earth could that be? If things had gone according to plan, the 73rd Demon World's scenario should have been in full swing.

Then suddenly this thought occurred to me.

「If there had been a reader possessing someone in the 'Demon World'.」

The possibility that someone had already finished the 73rd Demon World's scenario instead of me.

It was a development I hadn't thought of, but judging from the expression on the Demon King's face, it seemed like something like that had actually happened.

It seemed like the information would consume the probability cost, so the Demon King seemed reluctant to mention it.

「(Anyway, even if I go to the Demon World this time, there won't be much to gain.)」

"I guess I'll have to give up the Revolutionary scenario as well."

Naturally, I guess I won't be able to participate in the 'Demon King Selection Tournament' scenario that follows. I had hoped that I might be able to obtain the Giant Tale of 'Spring of the Demon World', but the situation was difficult.

「(There's nothing you can do. You have to find another Giant Tale scenario.)」

"The other Giant Tale scenarios are all amazing."

Unlike the 'Demon King Selection Tournament' that occurs in the early part of the scenario, none of the other giant tale scenarios were easy.

<Olympus>'s 'Gigantomachia', <Eden>'s 'The Great Battle of the Holy Demons', and <Emperor>'s 'Journey to the West...

In the first place, they weren't even areas that could be entered at the moment, and they were all scenarios run by the 'Giant Nebulae'.

「(Haven't you seen 'Ways of Survival'? There are also Giant Tale scenarios that aren't run by the Giant Nebulae.)」

"I have. I just can't memorize it as well as anyone else."

「(How pathetic.)」

"I'm a Kim Dokja who specializes in writing rather than reading."

「(Isn't reading well the basics for writing well?)」

Judging from the way he was arguing, it seemed like my hyung had already finished researching the next scenario area.

「(I've extracted the scenes you need, so check them later. Do you still have my smartphone?)」

"Of course."

「(If we don't come to our senses, we'll be dead in no time. If we keep clashing with the Giant Nebulae like this, we're sure to lose.)」

The word 'we' resonated louder than the word 'sure to lose.'

I'm not alone.

「(And now the two of us can't do it alone. It's time to borrow the strength of the other Kim Dokjas.)」

"The other Brothers?"

My heart started to beat slowly as I watched the Demon King of Salvation nodding.

The Demon King of Salvation in front of me was the Eldest of the Kim Dokja Brothers.

In other words, it was time to meet the other Kim Dokjas. It means that it has been done.

「(I found the coordinates of the Second One.)」

"Coordinates? Can’t we just contact each other and meet?"

I was so excited that I even forgot that my incarnation body was about to disappear.

Just as the 'Demon King of Salvation' was a Constellation of the level of a legend, the second Kim Dokja must also be a Constellation with a modifier.

No, maybe it could be a Constellation of a higher level than the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

"You should have talked about that first!"

If it's a Constellation, 'indirect messages' can be used.

It might be faster for them to come to us than for us to go.

Maybe they could help us when we're in trouble.

If that's the case, we wouldn't need the help of a psychopathic alcoholic man from another world.

"Contact him right now!"

But the expression on the 'Demon King of Salvation"s face, who was watching me get excited, was strangely dark.

「(But I suddenly can't contact the Second One.)」

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

799 Episode 38 Chance (5)

---

Second Kim Dokja can't be contacted?

"No way."

A Constellation, which was in perfect health, suddenly lost contact. Just like me, the 'Demon King of Salvation' was chased by the Nebulae, maybe something similar happened to the Second one.

「(It doesn't seem like he's in the hands of the 'Giant Nebulae' yet. The coordinates I found are outside the area of the Giant Nebulae.)」

Even so, it wasn't a situation to be at ease. It meant that the Constellation was in such a state that it couldn't even use indirect messages.

The Demon King of Salvation waved his hand as if to tell me not to worry and added.

「(I'll tell you the coordinates, so just check them first. Your condition is the priority right now.)」

That's right. In order to find the Second one, I have to be fine first.

「(And in my opinion, the current situation isn't that bad.)」

"Isn't that a line that you absolutely shouldn't say?"

In a dying incarnation body, being chased by Giant Nebulae, if I don't get a new scenario right away, I'll be destroyed.

But 'the situation isn't that bad'?

「(There's a guy protecting you.)」

"Who? That naked guy?"

「(Yeah.)」

"You haven't seen what's been going on lately."

I thought of Jaehwan's expressionless face. Those sharp eyes that looked like they'd stab me 100 times if I offended him even a little.

But the Demon King of Salvation seemed to have a different opinion than me.

「(He doesn't seem that bad of a guy.)」

"Huh?"

「(He wiped out all the guys that were chasing you. Even that 'Indescribable Distance'.)」

It was true.

「(And when you ate the story fragment and got sick, he also patted your back.)」

"That's not certain. He didn't pat me, he beat me to the point where I was almost dead."

「(You didn't die.)」

That's true.

「(Is that all? You followed him around for a week, too. He could have just gone and found the strong guys himself, so why bother bringing you around?)」

When I thought about it, it all sounded plausible, so I couldn't say anything to refute it.

「(Decisively, if he was going to kill you, he would have already killed you.)」

My mind was confused by the continuous gaslighting of the Demon King of Salvation.

Is that so? Is he actually a good guy?

If it weren't for the Demon King of Salvation who insisted on that opinion, I might have been convinced.

"No, but he's not someone you can feel safe with. Just looking at his personality, he's arrogant and shameless, just like—"

「(Like Yoo Joonghyuk?)」

"That's right. Like Yoo Joonghyuk."

The Demon King of Salvation smiled brightly.

「(Then wouldn't it be better?)」

"Yes?"

「(If the guy who resembles Yoo Joonghyuk still kept you alive, then there must be a reason for keeping you alive. So...)」

Unfortunately, the voice of the 'Demon King of Salvation' gradually became hazy. I felt myself slowly regaining consciousness, and the Demon King of Salvation tightly gripped my shoulder.

「(Don't worry, Youngest. I'll always be watching over you.)」

---

When I opened my eyes again, the surroundings were noisy. An ominous cracking sound could be heard.

When I turned my head, I saw two naked men swinging their swords at each other in the pitch-black darkness.

One of them was Jaehwan, the Monarch Slayer, needless to say, and the other was...

Am I still half-asleep?

I rubbed my eyes repeatedly out of fatigue before closing them again.

It seems I'm still half-asleep. Let's just go to sleep.

I woke up with a "Huk!" sound. Come to think of it, it wasn’t time to fall asleep.

When I opened my eyes again, the surroundings were quiet.

Was it a dream?

[Your incarnation body has temporarily regained stability.]

I felt like someone was staring at me, so I suddenly raised my upper body and saw Jaehwan staring at me from afar.

"You’re finally awake."

I rubbed my eyes again. Jaehwan was wearing clothes.

"You’re wearing clothes?"

"Is that so surprising?"

No, he was naked until recently.

"I just forgot to put on clothes for a moment."

I wanted to ask if there were people who would forget that, but I stopped because I thought I'd get stabbed 1000 times.

The smartphone in my arms vibrated. When I turned on the screen, a specific chapter of 'Ways of Survival' was loaded. It seemed like the chapter of 'Ways of Survival' that the 'Demon King of Salvation' mentioned was this part. As I was quickly reading that part, Jaehwan spoke again.

“"You broke your promise."

"What promise?"

"Didn't you say that if you were nearby, strong guys would come?"

"That's right."

"No one came."

"Hasn't it been just a few days?"

To be honest, I didn't know that no one would come this far. Still, the Constellations of the Giant Nebulae that are chasing us are supposed to at least show their shadows.

The good news is that there's still time left until the promise.

"The week we promised has already passed."

"Huh?"

Did I sleep that long?

"Today is the eleventh day. Don't you know anything?"

A cold sweat formed on my back.

That much time has really passed?

Then why is this person still here? Even…

[Your incarnation body has temporarily regained stability.]

Why did my incarnation body suddenly get better? At first, I thought it was because I absorbed the story fragments through the 'Lamark's Giraffe', but that didn't seem to be the only reason.

It felt like someone had reassembled the joints of my broken soul.

"I thought you were going to die soon, so I did a little bit of work. That should be enough to last another week."

This time, I really thought I had misheard.

Was that 'Monarch Slayer' saying something right?

"Did you save me?"

Jaehwan didn't answer.

I was a little touched and impressed, and asked.

"Did you also have the ability to repair stories?"

"Repair stories?"

Now that I think about it, I guess we don't use that word because our worldviews are different.

"I just applied a little bit of the technique called [Dead Man Slash]."

"[Dead Man Slash]?"

"It's a technique I learned from the old man Cheonghuh, the God of Despair. It restores souls polluted by time..."

I wonder if he was recalling old memories.

Jaehwan's eyes deepened for a moment before returning.

"Forget it, you won't know anyway."

"Since I don't know, I want to hear more details."

"That's not interesting?"

"But I still want to hear it."

Jaehwan looked at me clearly and said.

"You're a strange guy."

"I hear that often."

"That guy over there was just as strange as you."

That guy?

I turned my head following Jaehwan's gaze and saw Yoo Joonghyuk lying on a small floating stone.

But Yoo Joonghyuk's condition was a bit strange.

"Why did this strange guy get so small?"

Yoo Joonghyuk was back to being a small boy. His coat was torn here and there, as if he had been in a fierce battle, and he was repairing himself.

What on earth happened?

"He attacked me."

I don't know how many times I doubted my ears today.

Yoo Joonghyuk attacked him? That person? Why on earth? I thought that Yoo Joonghyuk could do that, but on the other hand, I couldn't understand why he would make that choice.

Yoo Joonghyuk has a fiery personality. However, his flames burn endlessly and coldly. He's not the kind of guy who would pick a fight he has no chance of winning.

That guy attacked Jaehwan. He even risked the side effect of becoming a kid again.

"I made a bet."

"A bet?"

"I said I'd spare your life if he hurt me even a little."

Upon closer inspection, I saw a faint scar on Jaehwan's hand.

I shivered.

That Yoo Joonghyuk had finally succeeded. He had won a bet with that absolute being that could even beat a Mythical-grade Constellation.

No, wait. Then could that scene in my dream have been real?

I thought of Jaehwan and Yoo Joonghyuk swinging their swords naked, and touched my temple.

What on earth was that bastard Yoo Joonghyuk thinking? I could have really died.

Why did he make a bet with someone who could tear us apart at any time if he wanted to?

"I hate regressors."

Jaehwan, sitting on the floating stone and cleaning his sword, opened his mouth.

"I hate those who don't try. I hate the rotten spirit that gives up on life without even fighting to the end."

It's been a while since I felt like I was going to be cut by words. Quiet and refined anger.

Jaehwan held back his anger and looked at me, then at Yoo Joonghyuk.

"He's a strange guy. He really attacked me with the intention of killing me. He knew he was no match for me, but he used all his strength to attack me again and again."

I thought of Yoo Joonghyuk, who was rushing at me like an animal while activating story fragments.

He told me that this was his last round. He said he would never be able to regress again.

Even so, he risked his life and faced Jaehwan.

"There must be a reason why he has to save you."

I knew it the moment I saw Jaehwan's face. Jaehwan wasn't talking about me or Yoo Joonghyuk right now.

I recalled his history. The sentences that Kiyeon had written. It seemed like old events were coming back to life in my head along with Jaehwan's voice.

"I had a comrade."

Before Jaehwan was called the 'Monarch Slayer'. It was when he was climbing the terrible tower called the 'Tower of Nightmare'.

On the last floor of that tower, he lost his old comrade.

"The guy was injured beyond recovery."

Before the last floor of the tower, Jaehwan's only comrade leaned against the window and looked at the sky.

Only Jaehwan would walk to the next floor.

He slowly put his hand into his bosom, imagining the next and the next floor.

"In my world, there is an item called the 'Regression Stone'."

The Regression Stone.

"It was an item that sent the user back to the past."

I also knew about the existence of that item. Jaehwan's colleagues also used that item and abandoned the world.

"My colleague who was about to die took out the stone from his bosom, knowing how much I hated that stone."

"And?"

"He said he was sorry that we couldn't go to the next floor together."

"What did you say?"

"I told him to get out right away."

I smiled bitterly.

"But was it really necessary to say that? You said he was a precious colleague."

"The stone he took out wasn't the 'Regression Stone'."

His colleague made a choice. To touch Jaehwan's sore spot in order to ease his guilt.

To risk his life to open the path to becoming the 'Monarch Slayer'.

"You believed your friend's lies."

Jaehwan didn't answer and stared into the air again.

I looked at him. Before, I had no idea what he was looking at, but now I think I have some idea of what kind of scenery he was looking at in the void.

"Sometimes I think about that. What if I had somehow saved that guy instead of climbing the tower?"

All humans constantly regress to the past. They regret the choices they didn't make. It was the same for Yoo Joonghyuk and the Monarch Slayer.

I looked down at the sleeping little Yoo Joonghyuk.

It was ironic. Yoo Joonghyuk, the 41st Round, had been hated by the 'Disaster of Floods' for using his comrades like consumables.

That Yoo Joonghyuk had found favor with the Monarch Slayer for protecting his comrades.

Jaehwan continued to speak.

"I owe a debt to that guy called 'Yoo Joonghyuk.'"

"You mean this guy?"

"No, to the guy named Yoo Joonghyuk from another 'worldline'.

I blinked my eyes blankly and then suddenly came to my senses.

"No way—"

Scenarios came to mind.

Washington Dome. The shaking Void Curtain.

At that time, the 'Demon King of Salvation' said, Yoo Joonghyuk is beyond that Void Curtain.

The Yoo Joonghyuk from <Kim Dokja Company> that we remember.

"Where is that Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"I don't know either. He went crazy like a madman and fought the Constellations and disappeared."

"Ah…"

"He brought me all the way here and then disappeared on his own."

Huh?

"The worldview is different, so my abilities don't manifest properly here. If it weren't for that bastard, I wouldn't be in such a faraway place."

"Were you lost and wandering around?"

Jaehwan didn't say anything for a moment.

"I didn't say anything like that."

There is no such thing as a lost person.

"I know. Everyone is confused when they first come to a place."

Maybe this is an opportunity given by Yoo Joonghyuk?

"Is there a place you want to go? You probably want to meet strong guys, right? It'll take some time, but if that's the case, leave it to me. I'll show you around."

"You've completely lost my trust."

"But I'm the one who knows the <Star Stream> better than anyone else?"

It was true. In this world, the only one who knows the <Star Stream> better than me is Kim Dokja.

And now, that Kim Dokja is me.

"Where do you want to see? <Olympus>? <Asgard>? Ah, do you want to experience Journey to the West?"

I talked as best I could, but I really couldn't take Jaehwan there. Even if it was Jaehwan, he couldn't protect us in the context of the Constellations where Mythical-grade Constellations were flying around.

I wanted to chase after this guy with Yoo Joonghyuk and destroy all of the <Star Stream>, but probability didn't work that way.

However, I thought that this meeting might be a chance for Yoo Joonghyuk.

Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st Round. Yoo Joonghyuk who no longer returns.

What if the 'Monarch Slayer' who hates regression teaches Yoo Joonghyuk?

If that's possible, maybe I'll be able to see Yoo Joonghyuk, the strongest in the world, in this Round.

It was then that Jaehwan's expression changed as he listened to me. Jaehwan slowly moved his hand to the handle of his sword and began to radiate a scary aura.

I sighed and took a step back without realizing it.

Damn it, should I have just shut up and stayed still?

Then came the sound of thunder from afar. Jaehwan laughed coldly amidst the loud noise that seemed to split the entire universe in half. Only then did I feel something was wrong.

"It seems the guest you were talking about has finally arrived."

When I suddenly turned my head, a dazzling legion of Constellations was approaching from the distant void.

It was the eleventh day since I met Jaehwan, the Monarch Slayer.

<Eden> came to see us.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

800 Episode 38 Chance (6)

---

A splendid army of seraphs illuminated the darkness. The seraphs of <Eden>, each of which was as strong as a Historical-grade Constellation, and the Archangels of <Eden> who commanded them, revealed their outlines in the void.

As expected, most of them were Archangels I knew.

[The Constellation 'Lily pin of Aquarius' looks at you.]

Archangel Gabriel.

[The Constellation 'Guardian of Youth and Travel' looks at you.]

Archangel Raphael.

[The Constellation 'Friend of Justice and Harmony' takes pity on you.]

[The Constellation 'He who looks face to face with God' looks at you.]

Archangel Raguel and Camael.

[The Constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' is looking at you.]

Killer King's sponsor, Archangel Jophiel.

[The Constellation 'Savior of the Fall' is looking at you.]

Even Michael, the strongest Archangel.

I calmed my pounding heart and checked the faces of the Archangels again and again.

Uriel is gone.

A belated worry came over me.

Maybe she had tried too hard to save me last time. Or maybe I had received some kind of threat from <Eden>.

「Come to your senses.」

As if it was not the time to worry about Uriel, the Demon King of Salvation warned through the [Fourth Wall]. I swallowed and nodded.

The fact that I could endure facing such magnificent Archangels was all thanks to the naked (clothed) man blocking my way.

The Monarch Slayer Jaehwan.

I realized once again how great he was. Even if you search through the entire <Star Stream>, it would be difficult to find a Constellation that wouldn't be intimidated by a single Giant Nebula.

Even that figure calmly reaching for the hilt of his sword as if such a threat was ridiculous…

"Wait a minute!"

"What is it?"

Jaehwan glared at me with a sharp gaze. I belatedly regretted it.

Now that I think about it, why did I do that?

Why did I stop Jaehwan?

"They might not have come to fight."

That's right. That was my reason.

While I was with the 'Demon King of Salvation', I was chased by Giant Nebulas several times.

<Asgard> and <Olympus>. Or small Nebulas like <Gwiok>.

But I've never been chased by <Eden>.

"Let's talk about it first."

"Why should I?"

By the way, Jaehwan, the 'Monarch Slayer', has another nickname, 'God Slayer'.

"There's no need to hurt someone who doesn't have any hostility."

"That guy Yoo Joonghyuk told me. He said that there are no harmless Constellations in the world."

Joonghyuk, what on earth did he say?

"No, Constellations aren't generally harmful."

I don't know why I'm defending the Constellations.

But this was the only way to prevent a catastrophe. If there was Uriel among them that I hadn't discovered, it would be a big deal.

I took a deep breath and spoke in one breath.

"That's Yoo Joonghyuk's standard, and yours is different. Look at those fluttering pure white wings. Do they look like bad Constellations to you?"

Jaehwan glanced at the Archangels again at my words. Maybe the Monarch Slayer was a pretty sensible person.

At that moment, one of the Archangels who caught my eye stepped forward. He was the Archangel who shouldn't have stepped forward the most.

[You are the 'Monarch Slayer'—]

I stepped in front of Jaehwan before Archangel Stab was activated.

"Over there! Wait a minute! Over there!"

[...?]

"Savior of the Corrupted! Don't finish that sentence now!"

Michael glared at me as I stepped in front of Jaehwan and opened my mouth again.

[What are you?]

Michael, the Savior of the Corrupted, is a Constellation of the Tale of the Fall. He's not even a simple Tale of the Fall, he's an Archangel who can reach the level of a Myth-grade when he activates 'Demon King'. There's probably only one incarnation in the entire <Star Stream> who can tease an Archangel like that.

"Me? I'm Kim Dokja."

Damn it, why am I Kim Dokja?

Michael, who had been glaring at me, asked back in a stupid voice.

[So?]

"Let's all get along well."

An eerie silence swept over the surroundings. I heard Raphael's sighing voice, and I also saw Gabriel shaking his head with his hand on his head. Jophiel stared at me as if he was looking at a strange creature.

And then,

Kugugugugu!

Michael began to unleash his power without hesitation.

[The Constellation 'Savior of the Fall' reveals his status.]

I hid behind Jaehwan again while watching Michael approaching step by step.

Honestly, why wouldn't I want to see it?

Michael vs. Jaehwan.

Savior of the Corrupted vs. Monarch Slayer.

Especially, if it was Michael and Jaehwan who activated 'Demon King', it would be a spectacle that I wouldn't be able to see even if I paid a thousand gold coins.

However, that's something 'rlaehrwk41' would think about, and it wasn't something I would be thinking about right now.

If a great clash of Myth-grade Constellations occurred right before my eyes, Yoo Joonghyuk and I would be swept away by the fierce waves of the stories and our limbs would be torn apart.

"Hey, Jaehwan-ssi. Actually, this is a bad guy. Could you kill just one of them?"

While Jaehwan was looking back at me as if he was dumbfounded, the other Archangels were approaching Michael.

I shouted in a hurry.

"Wait a minute! Stop! You know how scary this guy is!"

Thankfully, the Archangels had heard rumors of Jaehwan and were not acting rashly.

I quickly added.

"And this guy is not an evil person! He rejects evil and worships good! Isn't that the motto of your <Eden>? Never judge by appearances! He's even dressed so neatly!"

"You bastard."

I ignored Jaehwan's growling words and continued to shout.

"This person saved me and Yoo Joonghyuk. He saved us from the terrible Constellations of <Olympus> and <Asgard>— from the Gods of the Outer World!"

Jaehwan's sword, which was half-drawn, stopped for the first time. It felt like he was trying to hear what I was saying.

"This person also patted my back when I swallowed story fragments. It hurt so much that I could die, but I survived, so I guess I received the grace of life."

"..."

"Is that all? He stabbed and killed every Outer God who came near him for a whole ten days. Where else would you find someone who would show me such kindness while the Giant Nebulae were after me? Yes?"

When I came to my senses, I found myself repeating the argument of the 'Demon King of Salvation' like a parrot. But as I spoke, it seemed like he was right.

A murderer of Monarchs is not a villain. At least to me and Yoo Joonghyuk.

However, Archangel Jophiel seemed to have a slightly different opinion.

[He is evil.]

An ominous light was flowing out of Jophiel's eyes. His stigma, [Eye of Sin], had been activated.

When Jaehwan glared at him as if asking what was that, the light of [Eye of Sin] went out with a tsk-tsk sound. It seemed that an absolute being from another universe could extinguish a stigma just by glaring at it.

But even in that situation, Jophiel seemed to have witnessed something.

I struck first before he could open his mouth.

"Yes. Of course, it could be different depending on the perspective—"

[He slaughtered over a million gods.]

I looked back at Jaehwan.

This kid is a villain, right?

But I pretended to be calm and responded.

"Couldn't all the gods he killed be bad guys? He must have done it with good intentions. Right? He must have tried to make the world a better place—"

"My goal was to destroy the world."

"Yes, so to put it simply, in order to kill the evil gods and purify the world—"

"I killed them because they got in my way."

I wanted to tell him to shut up, but since ancient times, protagonists have never shut up when told to.

In the meantime, another protagonist who had come to his senses spoke to me.

—Kim Dokja.

Little Yoo Joonghyuk was getting up from the floating stone. He seemed to have figured out the general situation.

Yoo Joonghyuk opened his mouth to the Archangels, receiving my gaze that told him to stop them somehow.

"I want to kill them all."

Jaehwan nodded and muttered at Yoo Joonghyuk's words.

"There are times when we can see eye to eye."

The situation was becoming increasingly chaotic.

The moment I thought that this wouldn't be easy to solve even if the Demon King of Salvation came in person, Jaehwan's expression changed for the first time.

"This is fun."

The word 'fun' sounded different after meeting him.

I followed Jaehwan's gaze, hiding my ominous feelings. Then, the line of seraphs split, and an Archangel was seen walking from the back.

The Mythical Constellation of <Eden> was there.

The Ruler of the Archangels, and the second-in-command of <Eden>.

[The Constellation 'Heavenly Scribe' is looking at you.]

Heavenly Scribe, Metatron.

Who would have thought I would see him here?

I bit my lips without realizing it. The fact that he was here in person meant that <Eden> was serious about this situation.

[It's nice to meet you.]

A uniquely polite and calm voice.

The first place his eyes turned to was little Yoo Joonghyuk.

[The Puppet of the Oldest Dream.]

Then he looked at Jaehwan.

[The Monarch Slayer.]

Finally, he stared at me.

[And...]

He looked at me for a long time, then continued speaking with a faint sense of pride.

[Little lamb. You're afraid.]

Of course. My sponsor would be scared if legions of Archangels came rushing in. What's more, if the opponent was 'Metatron', the master of strategy that even Kim Dokja would shiver with…

[Don't worry. <Eden> and I will not harm you. We have no intention of changing the contents of the 'Revelation'.]

I immediately revised my evaluation of Metatron in my head.

What kind of place is <Eden>? It is a Nebula of angels. Angels are generally kind. If he is the representative of such angels, then he must be the kindest angel of all.

I briefly hoped that he might mediate all of this.

[However, I cannot tolerate beings who break the balance of this world line.]

It was a vain hope.

The moment Metatron and Jaehwan's gazes crossed, Jaehwan pulled out his sword with a bitter smile.

"Your tongue is long. If you are going to attack, attack quickly."

The Archangels who were guarding Metatron quietly raised their voices at his arrogant tone.

Nevertheless, Jaehwan continued to speak as if provoking them.

“Do you think you can stop me with just a single person?”

The strength to fight a Giant Nebula alone.

Metatron acknowledged Jaehwan like that.

He nodded.

[Absolute being of another world line. I know you are strong. If we were to eliminate you, we would not be safe either.]

"You will all die here."

Metatron shrugged lightly and smiled bitterly.

[I guess you forgot that this is not your 'worldview'.]

That was when I felt an unusual magical power behind us. A being with the exact opposite attribute of the Archangels.

There were beings that should not be there.

[The Demon King 'Lord of Hell' descends into the void!]

[The Demon King 'Sonic Demon King' descends into the void!]

[The Demon King 'Temptation and Barren Demon King' descends into the void!]

[The Demon King 'Merciless Hunter of the Reverse Heaven' descends into the void!]

…

[The Demon King 'Ruler of Eastern Hell' descends into the void!]

Demon Kings. It was unbelievable.

Why on earth did they show up here?

They wouldn't be trying to start a holy war here.

Hold on. Holy war?

"Run away. Right now."

Jaehwan glared at me as if I was talking nonsense.

"Are you talking about me just now?"

"That's right! Run away with me and Yoo Joonghyuk! Right now!"

I don't think Jaehwan will lose. Even if it's a Myth-grade Constellation, even if it's the famous <Eden>, it wouldn't be easy to deal with Jaehwan.

「But if it's 'sealing' him, it might be a different story.」

Two pitch-black swirling spheres were placed in Metatron's hands. I already knew what those spheres were.

[Get out of this story. Ghost of a ruined universe.]

That was a forbidden technique that Han Sooyoung once used to seal 'Yoo Joonghyuk of the 1,863rd Round.'

[Mythical tale 'Seal of the Apocalypse' begins its storytelling!]

As long as this is the <Star Stream>, there is no one who can break that seal.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

801 Episode 38 Chance (7)

"A seal."

Listening to Jaehwan's indifferent voice, a sense of anticipation suddenly rose.

What if Jaehwan, the strongest of the 《Tree of Imaginary》, could break that sealing ball of the Apocalypse Dragon?

"Do you think you can trap me with something like that?"

Jaehwan was confident. As if he was certain that no world could trap him.

Metatron nodded.

[It might be difficult to trap you forever. This 'sealing sphere' didn't borrow the full probability of the Holy Demon War.]

That was right. Unless the 'Holy Demon War' breaks out right now, the story of that 'sealing sphere' won't be able to display its original power of sealing the 'Apocalypse Dragon.'

[However, you're not as strong as you were in your world.]

"I still have the power to wipe out the likes of you."

[Well, even so, I don’t know if you’ll have anything left to protect when you escape from this sealed area.]

Only then did I realize what Metatron was after.

An ominous thought ran through my head. What if Jaehwan escaped from the sealed area and the Constellations had already defeated Yoo Joonghyuk and me?

Looking at Metatron, who was smiling eerily, I whispered to Jaehwan.

"Jaehwan-ssi, let’s just kill those two, including that Michael, and leave. Can you do that? I’ll buy you a hundred Murim dumplings."

This time, I wanted to see Jaehwan looking back at me with a bewildered expression and stabbing those guys coolly.

However, Jaehwan’s expression when he looked back at me wasn’t that bright.

When did it start? A faint spark was flowing through Jaehwan’s entire body. It wasn’t probability.

[The <Star Stream> is staring at 'Jaehwan'.]

The world he didn't belong to was squeezing his body more and more tightly.

As if he noticed that, Metatron gently soothed him.

[This world is not your playground.]

"…"

[I don't know why you came here, but the world you lived in has been destroyed. And your story has ended.]

Jaehwan raised his head without saying anything. His eyes stared into the void once again.

I thought I knew what he was reminiscing about. That was why I couldn't intervene in his return.

That memory was his alone. Now, no one but him would be able to share that world's memories.

"I know. My world is already over."

Perhaps he finally felt like he could communicate. Metatron's momentum as he summoned the sealing sphere weakened.

[Let's do this. If you go back right now, I won't use this 'sealing sphere'.]

A heavy silence swept over the surroundings once again. I slowly retreated to the side of little Yoo Joonghyuk, ready to run away at any moment.

To be honest, Jaehwan had no reason to protect us anymore. In the first place, the fact that he had protected us until now was a strangely excessive favor.

Jaehwan, who had been thinking for a moment, opened his mouth again.

"My world is over, but I am not over."

Metatron tilted his head as if he was guessing what that meant and replied.

[Even if that were true, it doesn't seem like something I should hear in a place like this. Again, this is not your world.]

"Of course, you are not my 'world'."

Jaehwan looked back at me.

"But these guys are different."

The moment I met those indifferent eyes, something welled up in me without me knowing.

I knew it instinctively.

「This will probably be a debt I can never repay.」

Metatron opened his mouth urgently, perhaps sensing something ominous.

[They are also beings of this 'world'! You have no justification to interfere with the stories of this world! You—]

"I don't need a justification."

Before I could say anything, a pitch-black light began to condense from Jaehwan's sword. It was a stabbing stance.

No, wait. But why are you looking at us?

Jaehwan then turned to little Yoo Joonghyuk and said.

"That pale guy said that if you regress 1,863 times, you can become stronger than me."

"What are you trying to say?"

"If it's something that can be done only by regressing 1,863 times, then you can do it without regressing any more."

"What—"

Jaehwan's blade spurted fire.

Stabs poured down on us.

I instinctively grabbed little Yoo Joonghyuk by the back of his neck.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

The stabs that seemed like they would destroy us at any moment unexpectedly wrapped us gently and shot off into the distance. As if we had boarded a rocket, the surrounding scenery quickly became distant. From a distant location, Constellations were seen shouting at us.

[The Demon King 'Demon King of Sound' glares!]

[The Demon King 'Merciless Hunter of the Reverse Sky' is chasing after you!]

…

[The Constellation 'Guardian of Youth and Travel' looks at you.]

[The Constellation 'Lily of Aquarius' shows a relieved expression.]

Before we could even say our final greetings, Jaehwan's figure disappeared into a small dot in an instant.

Following that, a bright light burst out from afar. The fight had finally begun.

Will it be okay? Even so, could he deal with the Archangels and Demon Kings using the 'Sealing Orb' while bearing the probability penalty of the <Star Stream>?

"This is not the time to worry about others."

Yoo Joonghyuk was right.

Jaehwan's stabs were pushing us back with incredible force, but there were still enemies targeting us from all sides. The Constellations of the small and Medium Nebulae were waiting for us at the outskirts of the galaxy, avoiding Jaehwan.

[Chase them!]

[What speed—]

Fortunately, Jaehwan's thrusts were much faster than the Constellations were chasing us. It seemed to be accelerating even more.

I said while carrying little Yoo Joonghyuk on my back.

"Hold on tight."

The galaxy's scenery was passing by so fast that it was breathtaking. It was probably a scenery I would never see again.

I asked little Yoo Joonghyuk, who was shaking slightly on my back, while holding him so he wouldn't be thrown away.

"How many story imprints did you use?"

Yoo Joonghyuk's difficulty was a side effect of the 'story imprint'.

However, as he gradually got used to the side effect, I hadn't seen him as a kid recently. However, the fact that he was a kid meant that he had expended a great deal of mental energy fighting Jaehwan.

"All three."

"Are you in your right mind?"

In this round, Yoo Joonghyuk carved a total of three imprints on himself.

「Binding of Truth」

「Binding of Emotions」

「Binding of Life」

I had seen the first two used before, but I had never heard of him using the third imprint.

That was because 「Binding of Life」 was literally a legend imprint that cost one's life.

Yoo Joonghyuk shook his head calmly and said.

"Not a problem. The 'life' of the third story imprint can be divided and used."

"No, can you have multiple lives?"

"It means that the lifespan can be divided and used."

Ah, so the price is calculated by lifespan.

It seems that 「Binding of Life」 has a similar price to Yoo Joonghyuk's special trait in the 0th Round, 'Life of Power'.

"How many years have you used?"

"It's none of your business."

"No, it is, so tell me quickly. It would be a problem if you fought hard and then suddenly died."

Yoo Joonghyuk didn't answer.

After a little more time passed, I heard a soft breathing sound from my back.

I was a little taken aback.

"Are you asleep?"

"..."

"Listen."

Maybe it was because he was still a kid.

He must have decided that he should sleep a little longer in order to recover quickly.

Thinking that he really was a strong-willed guy, I muttered in a small voice.

"Get some sleep."

No matter how many years of life he sacrificed, the reason he used the imprint was to protect me.

Even if it was ultimately to achieve his own goal, it was never easy to risk your life for someone else. Especially if that person was 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.

Anyway, looking back, I suddenly felt regretful. I missed the scene where the two main characters with different worldviews fought. If I had come to my senses, I might have been able to write a better sentence. I imagined the two protagonists swinging their swords at each other, then looked back at the direction Jaehwan was in.

「Kim Dokja thought it was as if he was riding on Jaehwan's back.」

Despite so many things that had happened, the darkness of the <Star Stream> remained firmly silent as if nothing had happened.

「I must become strong enough to navigate this universe on my own.」

As if only Jaehwan's proud stab proved that he was still alive, he carried us and drifted somewhere leisurely.

「So that when we meet again next time, this moment won't be embarrassing.」

---

Damn, that was a good moment.

[A Giant Nebula is looking for you!]

The message in my ear woke me up.

Judging by something wriggling on my back, it seemed that Yoo Joonghyuk had also come to his senses.

"Kim Dokja. Come to your senses."

I looked around hurriedly, and I saw Constellations approaching us from a very far away place.

There was no one left to protect us anymore. If we encounter <Asgard> or <Olympus> here, this time it’s really over.

"It’s weaker than before."

To make matters worse, the momentum of the stab that sent us flying has also weakened.

What happened to Jaehwan?

There was nothing we could know at the moment.

"It doesn’t matter. It’s about time we came to 'that area'."

Is it because of my mood? Since he met Jaehwan, Yoo Joonghyuk also felt strangely changed.

It seemed as if he had made up his mind about something.

"Do you know where this is?"

"I know."

Since when did he activate [Sage’s Eyes]? Little Yoo Joonghyuk rolled his golden eyes and opened his mouth again.

"We’ll be there soon."

As soon as I heard Yoo Joonghyuk’s words, the Constellations that had discovered us from afar began to rush in.

[Catch him.]

<Olympus> and <Asgard> are visible. There were Historical-grade Constellations and Narrative-grade Constellations. I suddenly realized that there were too many Constellations in the <Star Stream>.

"Get off here."

At the signal from Yoo Joonghyuk, we escaped Jaehwan's stab. Then, I felt the gravity of the story pulling us towards it.

[Chase Him! You absolutely must not miss—]

The Narrative-grade Constellations that emitted a terrifying air current were on the rise.

A single weapon that flew through the air grazed my cheek.

Meanwhile, I and Yoo Joonghyuk continued to fall towards the scenario area.

Then, a soft curtain-like thing enveloped us.

'Void Curtain.'

The probability of the <Star Stream> protecting the scenario area was activated.

The Constellations chasing us stopped as if they were angry. They, who were radiating their original power, could not enter the Void Curtain.

Then, what about us?

[The <Star Stream> is looking at you.]

For a moment, I felt the gaze of the distant universe looking at me.

Fortunately, the curtain did not block us.

The next moment, I felt the world turn upside down.

[You have entered a new 'Scenario Area'!]

[You are an 'Exile'.]

[Acquire a new 'Scenario' and participate in the scenario!]

[If you fail to acquire the 'Scenario', the speed of the incarnation body's collapse will accelerate!]

A much greater backlash than before surged into the incarnation body. It felt like my stomach was turning inside out.

[The relevant scenario area is...]

I heard some kind of message in my ear, but I couldn't hear it at all.

How long had I been retching like that? I heard little Yoo Joonghyuk's voice.

"Kim Dokja. Get up."

"Just 10 minutes."

"I told you to get up."

"Just 5 minutes. I can't get up because I'm dizzy."

"Overcome it with your mental strength."

"No, there are things you can do and things you can't do."

I cursed inwardly and got up. As I looked around while staggering, I saw a pile of rice in a corner.

The place where we fell was a barn.

And before my eyes was little Yoo Joonghyuk glaring at me with a sharp gaze.

"You said you were going to see the 'end of the world' with that much determination?"

"..."

"Why are you laughing?"

Of course, little Yoo Joonghyuk with a rag on his lips was talking desperately. I opened my mouth, feeling like I could write a short story called 「Little Yoo Joonghyuk at the End of the World」 right away if I had a keyboard.

"Where is this place?"

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at me with pitiful eyes and opened his mouth.

"Maybe."

Yoo Joonghyuk doesn’t use the expression 'maybe' often in the story.

Nevertheless, the fact that he used it must mean that we were in a difficult situation.

It means that Yoo Joonghyuk, who prefers certain options, was pushed to the point where he had no choice but to rely on expectations.

Nevertheless, Yoo Joonghyuk’s follow-up words weren’t so bad, to be honest.

"The place where the only person who can help us is."

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

802 Episode 39 Rumor (1)

---

[Story Fragment 'Daytime Talk is Heard by Birds' continues its storytelling.]

Story Fragment 'Daytime Talk is Heard by Birds' picked up at the Recycling Center.

This fragment, which has a relatively low probability cost, was literally perfect for eavesdropping on other incarnations' conversations during the 'daytime'.

"Who's coming as a judge for this year's festival?"

"Namgung Sega."

"Oh, the proud Sega-ju have finally made a move."

[NOTE 1]

"What's the point of making a move? The winner will be..."

Everything said within a 100-meter radius sounded like someone was whispering right next to them.

"For sale! ... Dumplings for sale!"

"We also have hot chicken soup!"

Is it because I'm still not used to using Story Fragments?

"Have you heard the news?"

"I heard it. The story that <Twelve Zodiac Signs> were destroyed."

"... Fragments... "

Some conversations were audible, and some were not.

"By the way, next week is already the 'Guardian Dragon Expedition'. Which sect will participate this time?"

"So the martial arts competition this year was canceled? I think the focus will be on the expedition team..."

Still, this was enough keywords to judge the situation.

Namgung Sega. Dumplings. Chicken soup. Martial arts competition. And Guardian Dragon Expedition.

When I nodded, Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been silently glaring at me, said a word.

"You're a suspicious guy."

"Please say that I have a cautious personality. This is truly the 'First Murim'."

'First Murim.'

I have come to the 'First Murim,' the holy land of martial arts that I had only heard of.

[The 30th Main Scenario' is currently in progress in the relevant scenario area.]

The 30th Main Scenario.

Considering that the 'First Murim' is originally a place where people who perform various scenarios from the 20th to the 40th gather, it would not be strange if the 30th Main Scenario was in progress.

Tsutsutsut.

Not only me, but Yoo Joonghyuk's whole body was also filled with small sparks. It must have been a penalty for scenario jumping.

In fact, my body felt a little heavy and the air was stuffy since a while ago. Could this be the density of the 'story' of the 30th Scenario?

Still, my body quickly got used to it, perhaps because of the level I had built up.

[Acquire a new scenario.]

[Your incarnation body is weakening.]

Collapse in real time except for sending me a teaser trailer.

I tried hard not to show it and smiled.

"I think I know who you came to see."

Now, Yoo Joonghyuk answered with narrowed eyes, as if he wasn't surprised that I knew something.

"I didn't plan on meeting them this time, but."

'First Murim' was where Yoo Joonghyuk's master, Breaking the Sky Swords Saint, was.

Breaking the Sky Swords Saint, one of the strongest Transcendents.

Yoo Joonghyuk probably wanted to get her on our side, just like he did in the main story.

"What you need now is 'recovery of the incarnation body' and 'acquisition of a new scenario'."

"That's right. How did you know?"

"Because I've been expelled before. Maybe I can get help."

Honestly, I was surprised. Even if his purpose was to use me, Yoo Joonghyuk is this kind? Did he get stabbed by Jaehwan-ssi so much that he went crazy?

In any case, it was fortunate for me now.

I quickly got up and said before Yoo Joonghyuk could come to his senses.

"Okay. Let's go right away."

"..."

"Yoo Joonghyuk?"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk looked up at me with his characteristically troubled expression.

"Why are you doing that? Please guide me to Breaking the Sky Sword Saint-nim quickly."

"It's unfortunate."

It was only then that I realized what had happened to Yoo Joonghyuk.

One of the side effects of 'Story Imprint' is memory loss. Especially if he uses too much force to the point where he's turning into a little person like he is now, he'll temporarily lose unwanted memories.

In other words.

"That's right... You've forgotten all the memories you need."

Until Yoo Joonghyuk recovers his original incarnation, we won't be able to find Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's residence.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at me with shameless eyes.

"You should find it yourself."

"How can I find it? This is my first time in the 'First Murim'. I don't even know where this is."

I've fallen into the 'First Murim' and lost my way. To make matters worse, Yoo Joonghyuk is a useless kid with amnesia, and I have an incarnation body that I won't find strange to die in an hour.

Damn, even 'Starting a Murim Life from Zero' would be better than this.

I looked at our beggarly appearances and said.

"Shall we go into the Beggar Sect?"

"…"

"I'll go around begging for food in the Beggar Sect and asking people. Hey, where is Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's house?"

Deciding to ignore my words, Yoo Joonghyuk looked into the distance and thought.

Kkottuk.

To make matters worse, a sound came from inside his stomach.

We looked at each other.

"First of all, it’s not me."

"Me neither."

We decided to take care of our hunger first.

Fortunately, this was the 'First Martial Arts World'. There was food that Yoo Joonghyuk, who was picky about food, could buy and eat.

Come to think of it, did Jaehwan-ssi send us to a place with 'Murim Dumplings' on purpose?

"There’s a place nearby that sells Murim dumplings. But it’s better than when we were at the Recycling Center."

As I stood up, shaking off the rags, Yoo Joonghyuk unexpectedly stopped me.

"Are you going to go like that?"

"What. If you are dissatisfied, buy it yourself."

"Okay."

"Huh?"

Surprisingly, Yoo Joonghyuk got up from his seat obediently. I don't know how many times I was surprised today.

"This is the regular scenario area. Do you know what kind of person an exile who wanders around during the day without a scenario will end up like?"

I forgot for a moment.

The people of Murim are those who thirst for enlightenment more than anyone else. They are those who would buy enlightenment even if it meant paying coins in order to advance their martial arts skills.

And the easiest way to gain enlightenment in this Star Stream is to use 'stories'.

If an exile who keeps dripping stories appears in the meantime, it was clear what kind of fate he would face.

"If you're lucky, you might be taken to the government office and survive, but—"

"If that happens, I'll be sold to the Management Bureau and become a servant of the scenario."

"Is that what you want to be?"

I shrugged.

Yoo Joonghyuk came towards me without saying anything and suddenly held out his hand.

"You're asking for coins, aren't you?"

Damn, what a meticulous bastard. A bastard who wouldn't even buy a single Murim dumpling with his own money.

I thought that this place had chicken soup with Murim dumplings, and other things. I gave him coins so he could buy enough snacks.

Yoo Joonghyuk counted the coins I gave him and nodded his head in satisfaction.

"You're not going to run away just like that, are you?"

"..."

"Do you know where the Murim dumplings are?"

Was I being too nitpicky?

Yoo Joonghyuk looked back at me in anger and said.

"I think you forgot."

Then that's right.

I sighed deeply and said.

"Let's just go together."

"But you—"

"This is how it's done."

I transformed my 'Thoughts of Almost Everything' into 'Ever-Changing Transformations Suit'. Then, I used the Suit to transform my body size.

['Ever-Changing Transformations Suit' has reached its limit of change.]

[You can't get any smaller.]

I shrunk to the size of a dwarf in Peace Land and hid in Yoo Joonghyuk's coat pocket.

Yoo Joonghyuk narrowed his eyes as if he was impressed. He said.

"You've only learned strange tricks."

"That's not something I want to hear from a child who can't even live alone."

As he opened the barn door while grumbling, the streets of the 'First Murim' unfolded right away. Several vendors seemed to be looking our way, but their gazes quickly dispersed.

I used 'Midday Tryst' to talk to Yoo Joonghyuk and looked around the streets.

—When will your body recover?

"It'll take four days."

—Buy lots of Murim dumplings. You eat eight meals a day, right?

"That's not always the case."

I thought to myself that it was fortunate that this was Murim. At least there were foods here that Yoo Joonghyuk, who was picky about food, could eat 'eight meals'.

—Over there.

I guided Yoo Joonghyuk to the street corner where I had heard the sound of dumplings being sold. How long had we walked? I thought I smelled something delicious from afar, and then I saw a row of old street stalls.

[The 'Murim Dumpling Festival' is currently in progress.]

No, there was an event like this?

Yoo Joonghyuk was also quite surprised, as if it was his first time in this situation.

The signs of street vendors on every street all had 'Murim Dumplings' written on them.

「Original Murim Dumplings」

「Real Original Murim Dumplings」

「Original Murim Dumpling Omakase」

「Genuine Murim Dumplings Approved by Dokkaebis」

「New Original Murim Dumplings」

「Grandma's Murim Dumplings」

「Black and White Murim Dumplings」

...

How many 'Original Murim Dumplings' are there?

—What's the real deal? No, damn it. You said you forgot.

Instead of responding to my grumbling, Yoo Joonghyuk was staring at the dumpling alley with a blank look in his eyes.

That made sense. 'Murim Dumplings' are a food that holds great meaning to him, too. Maybe he was thinking of the story with Breaking the Sky Saint. A warm dumpling that his teacher Breaking the Sky Sword Saint bought on his birthday.

There are moments that even a Regressor cannot return to. And right now, Yoo Joonghyuk must have returned to that moment that he can never return to.

Gulp.

Maybe he just got hungry and turned into a frozen fish.

—Let’s eat quickly. Where should I buy some?

Yoo Joonghyuk slowly started looking around the nearby stores at my urging. Since it was the dumpling festival, there were events related to Murim dumplings going on everywhere.

Among them, two things stood out.

[The 'Murim Dumpling Eating Competition' is currently in progress.]

If there were any good prizes, it would be a competition worth participating in.

Above all, we have the story 'Pig that Eats Eight Meals'.

[The 'Best Murim Dumpling Competition' is currently in progress.]

However, Yoo Joonghyuk was more interested in the 'Best Murim Dumpling Competition'. It occurred to me later that Yoo Joonghyuk was quite the gourmet.

「The legendary dumplings that even the famous gourmets of the <Star Stream>, the Wenny-men, gave 'three humps' to.」

「'Namgung Murim Dumplings', try them now.」

'Namgung Murim Dumplings.'

Was it because of the name of the dumplings? Yoo Joonghyuk's steps slowly moved in that direction.

The dumpling restaurant was bustling from the entrance.

It seemed that the judges of the competition had just visited the dumpling restaurant.

"Now, judges, come and try it!"

The owner brought out a bowl full of dumplings with a gesture. Judging from the glossy sheen flowing from the soft dumpling skin, they seemed to be well-made.

Yoo Joonghyuk said.

"Franchise dumplings."

—Huh? Do Murim dumplings have a franchise?

In fact, next to the store, they were selling dumplings in boxes and making a killing.

Just as I was thinking that something strange was going on, the head of the judging committee in question stepped forward and picked up a dumpling.

"You can tell just by looking at it."

A middle-aged man with a stern face.

The moment he opened his mouth, cheers could be heard from the surroundings.

"Namgung Jincheon!"

"It's the Emperor's Sword!"

The Emperor's Sword Namgung Jincheon.

I knew that name too.

He was the head of the Five Great Families that ruled the 'First Murim' and one of the top ten masters of the current 'First Murim'.

He slowly ate the Murim dumplings. Namgung Jincheon took a big bite of the dumpling.

He calmly chewed the dumpling, then opened his mouth with a warm smile.

"What a great dumpling."

Wow, the cheers poured out.

Only then did I realize how this dumpling competition was going.

—No, these people don't seem to have any intention of hiding anything.

The name of the dumpling is 'Namgung Murim Dumpling', and 'Namgung Jincheon' is listed as a judge.

—The martial arts world has really become corrupted.

Come to think of it, the 'First Murim' has been completely capitalized by the dokkaebis. There was no way an honest 'contest' could exist.

In other words, this 'contest' was nothing more than a festival disguised to promote the 'Namgung Murim Dumpling' from the beginning.

Now, the 'Murim Dumpling' is being packaged as 'Murim Dumpling Approved by the Namgung Family' and is selling like hotcakes in the Dokkaebi bag. Let's go.

"Our Respectable Master really liked Murim dumplings. I really hope you try these dumplings."

The surrounding warriors cheered once again at Namgung Jincheon's words.

"I will announce this in the name of the Namgung Sega Family. The winner of this year's 'Dumpling Contest' is—"

Emperor's Sword, Namgung Jincheon.

He is a figure who, at least in this 'Murim', exercises power comparable to that of the <Olympus> 12 constellations.

There was no one here who could dare to go against his judgment.

Except for one person.

"The filling of the dumplings is not evenly cooked."

Namgung Jincheon looked around with wide eyes as the room was covered in a mysterious silence.

There was an inconsiderate brat who spat out the dumplings he had been chewing.

"This is not 'Murim dumplings'."

It was Yoo Joonghyuk.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: Sega-ju; it's a title for head of the family. I left it as it is cuz... why not heh.

803 Episode 39 Rumor (2)

---

During the Murim era when the system had not yet been introduced, the martial artists divided their martial arts proficiency into vague concepts such as '1-star' or '10-star'.

However, the criteria for this 'star' were vague even among the martial artists.

For example, some people said that the section where the sword handle glowed blue was '5-star of Sky-Sovereign Sword Art', while others said that the section where the sword blade glowed blue was '5-star of Sky-Sovereign Sword Art'.

Because of that, if one of the Family's Masters started lying, saying, "I'm 10-star of Sky-Sovereign Sword Art, but since then, the color of the sword has disappeared," it wasn't easy to even debunk that lie.

However, after the system was introduced and the 'New Martial Arts' began, everything changed.

「It became an era where no one could lie about their own realm.」

Emperor's Sword Namgung Jincheon was a martial artist from the so-called 'New Martial Arts' generation. A generation that was familiar with learning refined martial arts from a young age as [Skills] and evaluating the proficiency of those skills based on their level.

[The skill level of the exclusive skill 'Sky-Sovereign Sword Art' has increased!]

Namgung Jincheon liked his era.

An era where nothing was hidden.

He grew up in an honest martial arts world, a world of clear desires.

「Higher level. Stronger skills.」

That was the only motto of the 'New Martial Arts world'.

Following that motto, he trained martial arts, leveled up, and collected coins.

He cleared the scenarios.

He hunted spirits such as the 'Five Hundred Year Old Weasel', the 'Three Hundred Year Old Toad', and the 'Golden Fur Boar', and even participated in a raid to hunt the 'Giant Imugi'.

However, the stern elders of the martial arts world did not acknowledge his strength.

"The current ones don't know. Do you know how hard it was to learn martial arts in my time?"

"Martial arts are enlightenment. A martial artist without enlightenment cannot become truly strong."

Namgung Jincheon thought.

What the hell is enlightenment? Isn't enlightenment something that is sold in the 'Dokkaebi Bag' anyway? If what you say is true, shouldn't you be stronger than me?

Namgung Jincheon, who was called the Emperor's Sword, became arrogant. He ignored the martial arts world and despised the old elders.

It was like that until it appeared in the martial arts world one day.

「It appeared, tearing through the darkness of the sky.」

The shadow of a giant snake that turned day into night.

【Who messed with my children?】

The martial arts people who heard the incantation died, spitting out blood.

Namgung Jincheon raised his internal energy and desperately resisted the pressure, but instinctively he had a premonition of certain defeat.

「Humans are no match for him.」

Namgung Jincheon immediately asked the Constellations for help.

The followers of 'Namgung Sega' who recognized his talent early on and supported him.

They could solve this situation.

[The Constellation 'Master of Spears' escapes the channel.]

[The Constellation 'Master of Hand-to-Hand Combat' escapes the channel.]

[Many Constellations from the martial arts world escape the channel!]

…

Namgung Jincheon despaired. Even the great Constellations that taught him martial arts were running away from him.

【■Ah■Ah■Ah■Ah■Ah■Ah】

The ten best martial artists of the time were brutally torn apart by the teeth of the Imoogi. The martial artists who were defeated by the Outer God continued to chant the same words like a chant even after their necks were cut off.

Save me. In a landscape where the boundaries of reality were blurred, Namgung Jincheon witnessed a baby Imoogi tearing off the skin of the faces of the martial artists.

The skin of the faces that were torn off soon became the scales of the Imoogi King. Scales made from the skins of hundreds of thousands of humans.

A martial artist who was shaking his shoulders next to him began to mutter.

"Save, save, save, die, save, die, save, die, Imoogi, Imoogi-nim has come. He has come to destroy the martial arts world. He has come to avenge the grudge of the old martial arts world. He has ascended to heaven as a dragon—"

The martial artists around him muttered strange words one by one as if possessed.

Namgung Jincheon desperately raised his magical power to maintain his sanity, but now even that was his limit.

The martial arts world was over. No one could deny that fact.

At that moment, the elder who was bleeding next to him said.

"Jincheon. It's okay. The Sword Master hasn't come yet."

Namgung Jincheon laughed at that.

Sword Master. Was there still someone left in this martial arts world who could be called that?

The Constellations had fled, and the ten greatest masters in the world had died. In this martial arts world where there was nothing left, who on earth was left?

「And then Namgung Jincheon saw.」

A shadow confronting the snake covering the sky.

There was a giant standing before the snake king, who had everyone kneeling.

[The martial arts world I think of is a 'forest'.]

A voice filled with majestic spirit.

Despite the roar of the Imoogi King, the giant silently looked around at the martial arts people and asked a question.

[I'll ask. What do you think the 'martial arts world' is?]

It was just a question. However, no one there dared answer. The being who asked the question was too great.

So instead of answering the question, the martial arts people decided to accept the questioner's answer.

"Everyone gather!"

The elders shouted. The martial arts people supported the fallen martial arts people. Like trees entwining each other’s roots, the martial artists stood supporting each other.

The martial arts world soon became one forest.

"Breaking the Sky Sword Saint has arrived!"

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint .

That day, Namgung Jincheon first learned that name.

[That is your answer.]

A being whose strength cannot be measured by any skill she possessed.

An incarnation that directly repels the Outer God that even the Constellations fear.

[We cannot let the forest collapse because of a single snake.]

The night sky was breaking apart. Namgung Jincheon sank to the ground as he watched the horde of swords rising like meteors from the sword pole and the body of the Imoogi King being torn apart helplessly.

[Are you the new head of Namgung's household?]

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint , who had already come down to earth, was looking at him. Breaking the Sky Sword Saint offered him something as he gasped for breath, unable to even answer.

[Eat it.]

It was a dumpling. Namgung Jincheon thought as he chewed the dumpling he received with trembling hands.

The strongest in this martial arts world was not one of the ten best martial artists in the world, nor Namgung Sega-ju, nor even the Constellations of great men.

「The strongest in the first martial arts world is 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint Namgung Minyoung'.」

Dozens of years had already passed since that day, and Breaking the Sky Sword Saint went into seclusion again. Naturally, the taste of the dumplings from that day had also disappeared from his memory.

And now, Namgung Jincheon was selling the memories of that day to earn coins.

"Our Respectable Masters really liked martial arts dumplings, didn't they?"

"Oh, are these really the dumplings from that day?"

"Yes."

It was nonsense. Namgung Jincheon could no longer remember what the dumplings from that day tasted like.

"I miss those days."

What was important now was the Namgung Family's martial arts dumplings that were about to be launched. And the enormous coins those dumplings would earn. Breaking the Sky Sword Saint, who they couldn't even tell if she was alive or dead; Breaking the Sky Sword Saint, who helped Namgung Sega;they were no longer important to him.

That was when the head of a little boy caught his eye.

'A beggar?'

A boy with messy hair was eating dumplings nearby.

Namgung Jincheon tried to signal the boy to move away with his eyes, but when he saw the boy's face hidden under the messy hair, he was greatly impressed.

'What a handsome boy. He's similar to me when I was young.'

Namgung Jincheon smiled happily as he watched the boy munching on dumplings like he did in his youth.

That was until the little boy in question opened his mouth.

"The filling of the dumplings wasn't cooked evenly."

At first, he thought he had heard wrong.

"These aren't Murim dumplings."

He heard a murmur from the surroundings. Fortunately, it seemed that not many people had heard the boy yet. Namgung Jincheon, who smiled awkwardly, shrugged his shoulders and covered up the situation.

Right now, he could have just let it go. The kid's words were not important at all. What was important was the results of the 'dumpling competition' that he was about to announce—

"This is not a Murim dumpling."

The voice resonated clearly. This time, it was filled with internal energy, so he couldn't ignore it.

Namgung Jincheon narrowed his eyes and asked.

"Who is this boy?"

"I am Yoo Joonghyuk."

Namgung Jincheon tilted his head.

Yoo Joonghyuk? I've heard that name somewhere.

"How dare you! Do you know who this person is—"

The Namgung Sega's warriors approached him and began to show off their aura toward the kid. However, the kid didn't even blink.

Namgung Jincheon looked down at the kid with a cold gaze and asked.

"You are a very spirited boy. Where is your master?"

Sighs came out from everywhere.

In this situation, asking the master meant that Namgung Sega had made up his mind.

Some said that the kid was finished, and others said that even the kid's master was finished.

And when the kid finally said his master's name.

"Breaking the Sky Sword Saint."

Everyone there fell silent.

The ominous smile of Namgung Jincheon broke the silence.

"From now on, this boy will have to take responsibility for his answer."

After a while, we were captured and taken away by Namgung Sega's men (to be exact, only Yoo Joonghyuk was taken away, and I was hiding in Yoo Jonghuk's pocket).

Before we knew it, we could see the wooden mansion of Namgung Sega in the distance. It was a truly magnificent mansion at a glance.

They say that the Five Great Families of martial arts are the best, so I guess they must have made a lot of coins.

I can see a broken barn over there. I guess the barn we destroyed the roof of was also Namgung Sega's.

—Kim Dokja.

—What.

—I did as you told me.

—Good job.

In fact, revealing the truth in front of Namgung Jincheon was our plan. To be honest, I didn't know Yoo Joonghyuk could act this well.

—What's the next plan?

—There isn't one.

Yoo Joonghyuk was silent for a moment as if he was trying to figure out what I meant, then glared at me and said.

—You, what are you up to right now…

—Just stay still.

—Don't you know who that guy is? It's Namgung Jincheon, the King of the Five Great Sega-ju.

—I know. Namgung Sega-ju, who has a completely different personality, would you fight Jaerang?

—If you fight like this, you'll lose to anyone.

—Really? Then just stay still.

—You.

—One thirty steps to the southwest.

—What?

—Two fifty steps to the northeast.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked around hurriedly at my words. I added, stopping Yoo Joonghyuk.

—Don’t look back. It’ll catch their eye.

I have been activating the story fragment ever since Yoo Joonghyuk met Namgung Jincheon.

[Story fragment 'Daytime Words Are Heard by Birds' continues its storytelling.]

This story fragment does not simply listen to words. If you concentrate and listen carefully, you can even read the unique presence conveyed in the breathing sound.

And within a hundred meters radius, there were a few well-hidden incarnations.

—Have you ever made anything like a grudge in the martial arts world?

—I just made one.

—Not Namgung Jincheon.

—None.

You shouldn’t take Yoo Joonghyuk’s 'none' at face value. That guy just hung up on his enemies who were jealous and envious, even though he didn’t know it himself.

—Then the answer is already set.

—The Constellations’ subordinates.

I nodded.

The Constellations that lost us near the 'Void Curtain' had deployed their incarnations to the scenario area inside the curtain.

—I don’t think we’ve been caught yet. I think they’re hesitating too.

—But it’s just a matter of time.

—Yes. That’s why we carried out this operation.

Yoo Joonghyuk’s steps paused for a moment. Only then did he realize it.

—No way.

The only way to protect us in this martial arts world while being chased by the Constellations.

—If Namgung Sega is here, the Constellations won’t be able to invade easily. Since the 'Outer God incident', Namgung Sega has been estranged from the Constellations.

—Is that why you provoked Namgung Jincheon?

—That’s right.

Since when has the name 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint' been taboo for Namgung Sega?

—I don’t know about others, but I believed that Jewang Swordsman would be caught. He had tried to enter 'Breaking the Sky Swordsman' before.

It’s a secret story that only appears in 'Ways of Survival', but Namgung Jincheon was impressed by Breaking the Sky Sword Saint’s martial arts and visited her several times. It was to learn Breaking the Sky Sword Saint’s martial arts.

—You know quite a bit about him. Then you should know how he’s going to treat us now.

—He won’t harm us. On the surface, that is.

In 'The First Martial Arts World', Jewang Swordsman is known as a gentleman. So, in order to protect that image, he won't hurt us until the 'Dumpling Competition' is over.

The problem is what comes next.

—Do you think he'll take us to Sega and treat us to delicacies?

—How could he possibly do that? We'd be thrown in prison right away. We could even be beaten with a stick.

—I don't want to get beaten with a stick.

Of course, I don't intend to do that. In this world, the only one who can beat Yoo Joonghyuk's butt is Breaking the Sky Sword Saint.

—If you come out like that, show them a little Breaking the Sky Sword Saint martial arts. You can just show them a simple first step.

—Do you think he'll help us then? Because he tried to be taught by Breaking the Sky Sword Saint before?

—No, you'll be shocked. Breaking the Sky Sword Saint, who refused him saying that it's a martial art that only women can learn, has taken another little boy as his disciple. Maybe he'll take off your pants first.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been walking smoothly, stopped dead in his tracks. I felt the startled Namgung Sega's warriors looking back at Yoo Joonghyuk.

I quickly added before Yoo Joonghyuk went berserk.

—Listen. This is still the fastest way.

—I don't need to listen to you anymore.

—You have to listen. This is the fastest way to meet 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint'.

Yoo Joonghyuk said. His memories will be completely restored in three days, which meant that if we somehow endured for three days, we could escape Namgung Sega and find Breaking the Sky Sword Saint.

[Your incarnation body is in danger.]

The problem is that my incarnation body is expected to collapse before those 'three days' pass.

—This is the fastest way?

—How fast do you think the rumors in the martial arts world are?

A kid who insulted Namgung Sega's dumplings appeared in the 'Murim Dumpling Competition' that the 'First Murim' was paying attention to. But what if that kid is known to be a disciple of 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint' who has not appeared in decades?

—As you know, Breaking the Sky Sword Saint does not have a 'new disciple' right now.

We are not going to find her.

—Breaking the Sky Sword Saint will come to us.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

804 Episode 39 Rumor (3)

---

We were locked up in Namgung Sega's Brain Jade.

To be honest, I wondered if it made sense to lock us up for badmouthing their own dumplings, but the group called Odae Sega was no ordinary group.

As soon as we entered Brain Jade, the first thing that greeted us were the existing prisoners.

"Hahaha, it looks like another newcomer has come in."

From the big bosses of the Old Murim generation to the criminals of the New Murim. The prisoners who found Yoo Joonghyuk were glued to the bars and licking their lips.

"What a soft little brat."

"You were unlucky, brat. Your life is obvious now that you've come this far."

"What a chubby little brat, should I boil it or roast it—"

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at the prisoners with indifferent eyes and then picked out the two men who seemed to be the best among them.

"Blade Hand, Jeon-geuk. The Lazy Sword, Lee Cheol-gun."

The men who had been called by nicknames by Yoo Joonghyuk opened their eyes wide and muttered.

"Huh, how did our nicknames…?"

"You will die in the 'Terror Expedition' in 28 days."

A sudden silence spread through the prison at Yoo Joonghyuk's death curse.

A middle-aged man who had been locked up in the opposite prison woke up belatedly.

"You bratty brat, you've really lost your mind!"

"Baeksalgeom Mahyung."

Baeksalgeom Mahyung, whose name had been called, glared at Yoo Joonghyuk with his eyes wide open.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at him for a moment and then declared.

"You will die now."

"What? Keuhahaha—"

Baeksalgeom Mahyung laughed for a long time, saying "Keuhahahaha," as if he had heard a lame joke. And after a while, Mahyung grabbed his heart, knelt down, vomited blood, and died.

"Wh, what's going on! What the heck!"

"Mahyung?"

"What happened? Are you kidding me?"

"Guard, where is the guard!"

A while later, a guard who had been hurriedly dispatched confirmed the death of Baeksalgeom Mahyung. It was a heart attack of unknown cause.

"If there's anyone else who wants to know their lifespan, come out."

With that, the prisoners' mockery disappeared.

I asked inwardly, amazed.

—How did you do it? Did you kill him with a skill?

—I just saw a guy who was about to die. That's all.

The 41st Round’s Regressor. He's scary.

Of course, not everyone thought Yoo Joonghyuk was scary.

"Are you really the disciple of Breaking the Sky Sword Saint? You're so amazing."

The guards seemed to find Yoo Joonghyuk's talent amazing and did not spare their praise.

"Did you really foresee Mahyung's death? I heard that even Breaking the Sky Sword Saint had the power of foresight..."

"By the way, he really is a handsome kid."

Looking at the guards who couldn't stop admiring Yoo Joonghyuk's appearance, I remembered reading a study that said that 'good-looking prisoners' were more likely to receive a lighter sentence in the courtroom.

"Just hold on here for a bit. Food will be served on time. The food in our brain prison is better than you think."

"..."

"Don't worry too much. If you just apologize well, the lord will soon release you. Namgung Sega isn't that vulgar."

Isn't this guy Yoo Joonghyuk just living his life in easy mode because he's handsome?

Well, anyway.

—Alright. Since we've come this far, we should be safe today.

Just in case, I tried using the story fragment 「A Bird Listening to Daytime Talk」 again, but I didn't detect any beings watching us like before.

Namgung Sega has a few masters who have reached transcendence, and there are also incarnations that appear in higher scenarios.

Even this brain prison is designed so that even the most high-ranking Constellations can't easily enter and exit.

As long as we're in the martial arts world, it's hard to find a safer place than this.

I took advantage of the absence of guards to quietly release 'Thought'.

—You're doing something dangerous.

—There's no choice. There's a time limit for transformation.

Although there were suddenly two prisoners in the cramped cell, I couldn't maintain 'Thought' forever.

And I had a plan in case I got caught.

[Item 'Deodorizing Spray' was used.]

[Item 'Travel Bed' was used.]

[Item 'Someone's Old Blanket' was used.]

[Hidden item combination completed.]

[Special option 'It's Dangerous Outside the Blanket' is activated.]

It was a 'Honeymoon Item' combination that Kim Dokja had told me about some time ago.

The completed blanket tent naturally blended into the background of the prison.

I warned Yoo Joonghyuk, who was looking at me with a dumbfounded look.

—Don't talk to me, I'm going to do something important from now on.

I curled up in the blanket and immediately turned on Kim Dokja's sacred relic, the smartphone.

「Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World.」

[There is an unopened 'bookmark' in the file.]

[Would you like to move to the bookmarked page?]

As expected, there was a bookmark marked by the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

It must be a page with information necessary for the current situation.

Flipping through the pages, I checked the tasks that were currently facing me.

One, find a way to repair the incarnation body.

If I don’t repair the incarnation body within three days, I will die.

Two, enter the new main scenario.

Even if I repair the incarnation body, if I don’t enter the 'main scenario' and escape my status as an exile, I will still die.

Fortunately, I could somehow find a solution to these two tasks if I just met 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint'.

The problem was the third.

Three, find 'the Second Kim Dokja'.

The Demon King of Salvation said.

'The Second Kim Dokja' is somewhere in this universe. However, for some reason, contact has been lost.

Fortunately, the Demon King of Salvation knew the last location where 'the Second Kim Dokja' was detected.

The problem was that the 'entrances' to that location in this <Star Stream> were extremely limited.

「Read the 999th Round. You’ll probably be able to get help.」

I slowly turned the page while checking the note left by the Demon King of Salvation.

A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step, and I couldn’t leave to meet the second Kim Dokja right away. For now, the best thing to do was to reread the given 'Ways of Survival' and check the roadmap.

I calmly began reading 'Ways of Survival' sentence by sentence.

I knew that the length of one 'Ways of Survival' was strangely long, but I was surprised once again.

This kind of writing is not in the right mind of the writer or the reader.

「The items that can be obtained in 'First Murim' are as follows.」

Sentences that were so boring that even someone who was stuck on a deserted island and had nothing left to read would probably hesitate.

「How to obtain the Book of Extermination's Martial Arts…」

Excessively extensive settings and detailed descriptions.

「So the Transcendent Seats finally decide to elect the 'King of the Transcendent Seats'.」

「The basic materials for producing the Dark Moon Theater are as follows.」

As I read the dry sentences, I couldn't help but think about the person who pressed down on each and every word of those sentences.

Han Sooyoung really wanted to save Kim Dokja.

—Is that important?

When I raised my head, little Yoo Joonghyuk, who had lifted the blanket, was looking down at me as if I was pitiful.

—It is important.

—What are you doing?

I thought for a moment and decided to be honest.

—I'm reading a novel.

I thought there would definitely be sharp criticism, but unexpectedly Yoo Joonghyuk sighed quietly and sat down.

—You should get some rest too. There aren't many times when we can rest comfortably like now.

Yoo Joonghyuk started his morning meal while being greeted by the moonlight seeping through the bars of the prison. I thought he was a bit weird because he said resting was like eating breakfast, but even that was typical of Yoo Joonghyuk.

In a situation where it wouldn’t be strange if he died tomorrow, one person ate breakfast and the other read a novel.

「When does the Captain rest?」

It was the scene where Lee Hyunsung asked Yoo Joonghyuk in the 999th Round.

「When the old dream stops.」

I thought while watching Yoo Joonghyuk who was constantly working hard.

Will he, who was born as 'Yoo Joonghyuk', really be allowed to have a proper rest? Will his old dream finally end when he reaches the end of this forgotten world line?

I don’t know.

Maybe Kim Dokja or Han Sooyoung don’t know either.

In a sense, the 41st Round is just being written.

What we can anticipate right now is not the distant future, but tomorrow.

—That beating must hurt a lot.

---

The next day, Yoo Joonghyuk wasn’t beaten. He was even released from the prison.

I had an ominous feeling. Could it be that the Emperor Sword Namgung Jincheon was trying to make Yoo Joonghyuk’s insults disappear?

If that’s the case, then all the plans I’ve made so far will be in vain.

More than anything, if Namgung Se goes out, our safety will not be guaranteed.

"Treat him with utmost respect. He is an honored guest."

While being guided by the servants, I had no idea how the situation was going.

Did he go from being a prisoner to a VIP overnight?

—Did Breaking the Sky Sword Saint come visit?

—I didn’t get that feeling.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint didn’t even come, but the way we were treated changed?

This was a situation where anyone could see that there was an ulterior motive.

—Your plan seems to have been successful.

—I don’t know if I should call this a success.

The VIP room of Namgung Se, where only the elders of the Nine Faction Clan and the famous masters of Murim can stay.

Foods prepared by trained masters were being arranged on the table in front of me. Every time I think of Murim, I only think of chicken soup, noodles, and Murim dumplings, but I was surprised that there were so many foods.

Dongpa pork and Ojangyuk that melted in your mouth. And even Peking duck.

Since I was a dwarf with 'Thought', I couldn't eat all these foods to my heart's content, which was a shame.

On the other hand, Yoo Joonghyuk was eating well.

—But can you eat that?

—What?

—You don't eat food made by others.

—What are you talking about?

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had stuffed his cheeks with food, glared at me with an expression that said, "What nonsense are you talking about?"

Oh, you idiot.

Did you forget that you couldn't eat 'food made by others'?

—No, just eat a lot.

I thought it was better. Also, in that situation, he would have had to eat dirt.

The situation was a bit strange, but it wasn't easy to find a situation where he could eat his fill and rest comfortably.

[The story fragment 'The Man Who Eats Eight Meals a Day' begins its storytelling.]

The story fragment seemed to be intrigued as well, encouraging Yoo Joonghyuk to binge eat. While watching little Yoo Joonghyuk's stomach swell in real time, I also occasionally picked up some food to eat.

A whole day passed while we enjoyed eight meals, including breakfast, lunch, and dinner.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint did not come to find us.

Instead, it was Emperor's Sword Namgung Jincheon who came to find us.

"It feels good to see the boy eating well."

Namgung Jincheon, who came with his characteristically good-natured smile, nodded his head in satisfaction as he looked at Yoo Joonghyuk's chubby cheeks.

"It really hurt when the boy spat out our dumplings."

"They were trash."

"I admit it. It didn't bring out the true taste of Murim dumplings."

Unexpectedly, Namgung Jincheon readily admitted it.

Since ancient times, in Murim, you have to be careful when your opponent is humble. That means they clearly want something.

"Is the boy really a disciple of 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint'?"

"If so?"

"Can you prove it?"

Yoo Joonghyuk rolled up his chopsticks as I had mentioned before and slowly recreated the first move of [Breaking the Sky Sword Saint].

Was it because it was a first move swung by a kid with no magical power and a chubby belly? It looked like a swordsmanship that wouldn't even break a rice bowl, let alone the sky. Wait a minute.

Did this human forget [Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship]?

"Don't reveal that martial arts to the outside world. It'll definitely cause a fuss."

Namgung Jincheon nodded, but I couldn't read his thoughts at all.

Are you really going to believe that?

Do you have no eyes for martial arts?

"This is the first time a disciple of Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship has come to Namgung Sega."

Emperor's Sword looked at Yoo Joonghyuk with a serious look and continued.

"The martial arts world, including our Namgung Sega, owes a great debt to Breaking the Sky Sword Saint for generations. If there's anything you want, just tell me."

What's his intention?

While I was thinking for a moment, Yoo Joonghyuk spoke first.

"We need a doctor who can repair the incarnation body."

Yoo Joonghyuk's judgment was not bad. I don't know what their scheme is, but at this point, using Namgung Sega was the best way.

"I'll call for Divine Doctor through my family."

Divine Doctor. If we could call them, it was one of the best options for now.

Because 'Divine Doctor' was one of the few 'Story Experts' who could repair stories in the 'First Murim'.

"And also..."

"But why are you looking for a doctor? The boy doesn't seem to have any internal or external injuries."

For a moment, he thought he had leaked too much information. Yoo Joonghyuk's expression hardened, and just as he was about to say something,

"Is it you who needs a doctor, or is it the friend hiding in your pocket?"

I had no choice but to admit it. We underestimated the Emperor's Sword too much.

Still, it was a group of incarnations that could block 'High-Ranking Constellations', and I thought they wouldn't find out about my existence.

Before Yoo Joonghyuk made a mistake, I got out of Yoo Joonghyuk's pocket and released 'Thought'.

"I was rude."

Watching me bow, the Emperor's Sword Namgung Jincheon slowly got up from his seat. A strange color flashed across his eyes.

If it had been the case, it would have been a welcome sight, but it wasn’t like that now.

"I know you."

Damn, as expected.

"Your story is famous even in this 'Murim'."

Honestly, I was afraid of what kind of story would spread. However, the expression on Emperor's Sword’s face as he opened his mouth wasn’t all that bad.

"The story of you persuading Arc of the Dragon Head and sending them back to the sky made the whole of Gangho buzz."

Arc of the Dragon Head.

It was a name I hadn’t heard in a long time.

Had the scenario from Seoul Station already spread here?

"It hasn’t been widely known yet, but I also know that you recently had a fierce battle with the 'Master of the Spear' at the Recycling Center."

Something came to mind belatedly.

'Master of the Spear' was once the patron saint of the Namgung family. And I killed him at the 'Recycling Center'.

However, Emperor's Sword seemed happy about that fact.

"I’m grateful to you."

That made sense. The 'Master of Spear' was the first Constellation to run away when the 'Outer God Incident' broke out.

Namgung Sega still hadn't forgotten the grudge from that time.

I nodded and answered.

"I'll accept your thanks. But I don't think you came here to talk about that."

"You're as sharp as I've heard."

The expression on the Emperor Sword's face, which had been slightly smiling, became even more serious.

"I know that the Constellations of the Great Nebulae are looking for you."

I squinted my eyes and swallowed my tension.

Honestly, if the Emperor's sword were to report us to <Asgard> or <Olympus> right now, there was nothing we could do.

"I have something to ask you."

However, if that was his purpose, the Emperor's sword wouldn't have come to us separately.

"Are you, in front of me now, the incarnation 'Kim Dokja', or the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation'?"

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

805 Episode 39 Rumor (4)

Is the current me the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' or the incarnation Kim Dokja?

The question of the Emperor's Sword Namgung Jincheon somehow sounded philosophical.

[Your stories have been eroded due to the exile penalty.]

I received the modifier of 'Demon King of Salvation' from the Recycling Center.

But did that make me a complete Constellation? That wasn't the case.

To become a Constellation, you have to accumulate five stories yourself.

But so far, I have accumulated a total of four stories.

「Recorder of Things That Will Disappear」

「Rewriter of Fate」

「Heir of the Eternal Name」

「Between the Lines of Truth and Lies」

I thought I would be able to obtain the fifth story if I cleared the Recycling Center, but the fifth story had not yet awakened.

[Your new story is about to bloom.]

[You need a final trigger to bloom the new story.]

I cleared a difficult stage like the 'Recycling Center', and fought countless Constellations in the process. Wasn't that all? At the end, I even encountered a crazy monster that only stabbed. And yet, it still needs a 'trigger' to bloom.

What kind of story is about to awaken?

It was regrettable for me.

If only this story had bloomed, I would have fully inherited the Constellation's status, and I would have been able to more easily resist the [Fate] that I inherited along with the modifier.

[You are currently unable to exert the 'status' of the Constellation.]

In that sense, I was not a complete 'Constellation'.

So what am I as an 'incarnation'?

[Your incarnation body is about to enter the collapse phase.]

I wonder what I should say.

In the end, I answered the Emperor's question with a question.

"Does what I am matter to you?"

"Aren't you thinking of borrowing the 'power of Murim'?"

The Emperor Sword seemed to know my intentions when I came here.

"It seems like you need a comrade to fight alongside the Constellations. Am I wrong in my guess?"

I was inwardly impressed.

Was this level of insight possible for the head of the Five Great Families?

"That's right."

Honestly, that was the biggest reason I was looking for the Breaking the Sky Sword Saint.

Obtaining the main scenario and repairing the incarnation body were important, but ultimately, the ultimate goal of looking for the Breaking the Sky Sword Saint was to make her on 'our side'.

「The Transcendental Sword Masters, including Breaking the Sky Sword Saint, hate the Constellations.」

Mortals who rose to the same level as the Constellations without receiving any help from any Constellations. As long as the enemy I was going to fight against was the 'Giant Nebulae', I absolutely had to gain their favor.

But now, the Emperor Sword was making an unexpected offer.

"The First Murim might be able to help you."

The help of the 'First Murim'. If it is a scenario where the Constellations of the 'Giant Nebulae' cannot run wild, the Five Great Sages of the 'First Murim' will definitely be of great help.

At least with their help, there will be no one in the 'First Murim' who can touch us.

"I will ask you again. Are you the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' or the incarnation 'Kim Dokja'?"

"If I answer that I am the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation', will you report me to the Giant Nebulae?"

Emperor Sword did not answer.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was swallowing five intestines next to me, said.

—You can hold out for three days, then kill everyone and leave.

That is a very reassuring statement.

However, if I hold out until then, I will also die.

"I have not decided what to do with you. However, even if I do not report you to the Giant Nebulae, it will be difficult for Murim to be friendly to you."

To be honest, I could not trust Emperor Sword right now. Because I remember how the Five Great Masters, including him, treated 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint' in the main story.

「"They worship strength more than anyone else, but they are a group that mercilessly expels those who judge that they are not helpful to them."」

In the end, I have to choose.

Will I join hands with them here, or will I abandon them?

"I am Kim Dokja."

I took a deep breath and slowly opened my eyes.

"Let's be honest and frank. I know that the status of the 'First Murim' is not what it used to be."

Emperor Sword's eyebrows slightly arched, as if my answer was unexpected. I continued.

"It's all a thing of the past when the Constellations were interested in the martial arts of Murim. Now, there are hardly any Constellations that come here for tourism."

"I admit that Murim is not as popular as it used to be."

"Do you think the 'Namgung Murim Dumplings' you launched this time will sell well?"

Emperor Sword closed his mouth for a moment, as if I had touched a sensitive spot. Whether or not I knew it, I continued to talk.

"The Constellations won't buy those dumplings. Who would buy a product from a scenario area that they don't even see?"

"You'd better watch what you say." Emperor Sword growled lightly. I snickered.

"You actually want to get the attention of the Constellations, don't you? That's the only way to make 'Murim' great again."

I know that Namgung Sega has been 'hating the Constellations' since the 'Outer God incident'.

However, that's literally their external position, and in reality, it wasn't like that.

No matter what, the Five Great Families, including Namgung Sega, were still making backroom deals with the Constellations.

"If I'm a Constellation, am I the enemy of humans, and if I'm an incarnation, am I on the side of humans? Does such a cause have any meaning in today's Murim?"

In that short time, Emperor Sword's face quickly turned red and then faded.

"What you need now is the fame of the Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' and the incarnation 'Kim Dokja'. I can provide both. If you are honest with me."

Emperor Sword's pupils shook slightly. His trembling fingertips touched the teacup on the table, and a light sigh followed.

"The rumor about the three-inch tongue that even the Constellations were astonished at, was true."

Why are all the rumors about me only about my tongue?

Emperor Sword took a sip of tea, looked at me, looked at Yoo Joonghyuk, and looked out the window for a moment before continuing.

"To be honest, I didn't believe all the rumors about you. Like the things you did at the 'Recycling Center'."

"Well, you don't have to believe them."

The events at the 'Recycling Center' have not yet been fully revealed.

So my fame must have spread throughout the <Star Stream> as nothing more than a rumor.

"I thought the rumors about the <Olympus> Information Bureau and the story about defeating the Master of Spear were exaggerated."

That's right.

In just the twentieth scenario, causing a large number of Historical-grade Constellations to leave the scenario and even defeating Constellations that were almost Narrative-grade is an achievement that is hard to find even if you search through the entire <Star Stream>.

"But even if more than half of those rumors are not true, there is no denying that you are one of the most famous people in the <Star Stream> right now."

"So what are you trying to say?"

"The current Murim needs a new hero."

I could feel his strong desire in the expression 'new hero'.

"Please be on the side of this 'Mu rim'. Then I will help you start the 'scenario' again."

Right now, I am receiving enough attention from the <Star Stream> that I am being chased by the 'Giant Nebulae'.

In that situation, what would happen if Yoo Joonghyuk and I suddenly appeared in the Murim scenario?

Of course, the Constellations would turn their attention to 'Murim' once again. Their incarnations would appear in large numbers in the 'First Murim', and Murim would become a popular scenario region.

For the Five Great Sages who had settled here, it was a great windfall.

"If I do something like that, I will be exposed to the Giant Nebulae again."

"You don't have many options anyway, do you?"

Emperor Sword smiled slyly.

I smiled bitterly.

In the end, Emperor Sword had achieved his goal.

Of course, that didn't mean I was only losing out.

I was also desperate for the 'scenario'. If I could just solve the scenario problem, I could be 'Exiled' for the time being. No need to worry about the 'penalty'.

"What scenario will you give me?"

As it turned out, there were several scenarios I could receive in the 'First Murim'.

For example, the 'Martial Arts Competition' that Yoo Joonghyuk participated in in the main story was one of them.

On the other hand, there is a 'Destruction Scenario' that only starts when a certain scale of probability aftershock occurs.

Since the Emperor's Sword would never intend to destroy Murim, we will probably participate in the 'Martial Arts Competition'.

[You got the beginning of a new scenario!]

It wasn't a bad situation.

Crucially, if you perform the 'Martial Arts Competition' scenario, you can get the 'sub-scenario'.

It won't be as stable as the main scenario, but at least you can prevent the incarnation body from disintegrating in midair.

However, the next moment, an unexpected word came out of the Emperor Sword's mouth.

"Have you heard of the 'Fear Realm Expedition'?"

---

Fear Realm.

The Recorders of Fear commented on that space as follows:

「Even the Last Wall a place where forgotten and forgotten Fear reigns.」

On the other hand, the invincible Yoo Hoseong commented as follows:

「"The abyss of the unmanned."」

The paradoxical Baecheong Kyrgios Rodgraim commented as follows:

「"The slowest and fastest path toward 'transcendence'."」

Also, Lee Hyunsung of the 999th Round said this:

「"I'd rather go to the army twice. No, I'd rather go three, four, five times."」

And now Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st Round was speaking.

"It's a trap."

I nodded absentmindedly.

"Those Sega guys are planning to annihilate us. It's highly likely that they've already made a deal with the Constellations."

"Hmm. I guess so."

"Kim Dokja, you don't know. If you go there now, you'll definitely die."

"Did Cheon Inho of the 40th Round die there too?"

Yoo Joonghyuk hesitated for a moment and then answered.

"Cheon Inho didn't die."

"Then I wouldn't die either."

"You are not Cheon Inho."

Yoo Joonghyuk made a fierce voice.

"With your mental state, you will die at the entrance to the Fear Realm."

"By the way, you managed to not forget the information that the Fear Realm is dangerous."

It must mean that it was information that should not be forgotten even in this situation. I scratched my cheek and continued speaking.

"Still, it is a place that we must visit someday."

"That someday is not now."

Maybe Yoo Joonghyuk from the last round had also been to the 'Fear Realm'. Of course, he may not have been able to see the end, but he must have at least gone to the entrance.

"It’s different from the last round. What the Emperor Sword suggested this time is…"

"It was to confirm the end of the Fear Realm."

「"I want to confirm the 'end of the Fear Realm' for the first time in Murim."」

The Fear Realm is a very special place in this 'First Murim'. Because the Imoogi spirit that Breaking the Sky Sword Saint defeated also originated from the 'Fear Realm'.

"The Fear Realm Expedition is the 'main scenario'."

"…"

"If I accept this scenario, I can escape from being an 'exile'. If you don't help me, I'll go alone."

Yoo Joonghyuk hesitated, perhaps taken aback by my answer.

"You—"

"Of course, if you help me, it'll be even more worth it."

"…"

"More than anything, don't you have a reason to go to the 'Fear Realm'?"

I know Yoo Joonghyuk is right. If we enter the Fear Realm now, the probability of our deaths is much higher. Nevertheless, this was the best choice we could make right now.

"Our enemies won't wait."

The Fear Realm is a place that even the Constellations fear. If I could just enter there, I might be able to avoid the pursuit of the 'Giant Nebulae' for the time being.

After thinking for a while, Yoo Joonghyuk frowned and muttered.

"Do you know what the Fear Realm is?"

"Just a little bit. It's a scary place."

"You don't think the Fear Realm is some kind of haunted house experience, do you?"

"It's scarier than that. But that's okay. Kim Dokja enjoys thrills."

By the way, thrills aren't my story.

I'll be honest.

The truth is, I'm scared.

I absolutely don't want to go to the Fear Realm. But damn it, I had no choice but to go this time.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' wants to participate in the 'Fear Realm Expedition'.]

Because the being I was looking for was beyond that 'Fear Realm'.

「"Youngest, the Second is in the Dark Dimension inside the 'Fear Realm'."」

It was time to go meet the Second problem child.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

806 Episode 39 Rumor (5)

Namgung Sega sent me a Divine Doctor as promised. The Divine Doctor, who was examining my condition, was impressed and suddenly said a word.

"It's the first time I've seen such a damaged incarnation in half a century. Did you participate in the Holy Demon War?"

"I've been through something similar."

"Your mouth is still alive."

"That's fortunate."

"It seems like your mouth is the most damaged."

The Divine Doctor groaned and stroked my arms and legs, then took out a brush and activated a skill.

A bright ray of light and a tickling sensation came over me, and soon I saw my broken incarnation's body being repaired wherever the Divine Doctor's brush touched.

Is this the 'story repair' I've only heard of?

It was truly a mysterious power.

Of course, it didn't seem easy for even such a Divine Doctor to repair my incarnation. The reason was clear.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' growls.]

"That's right."

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' twitches.]

"Just stay still, you punk."

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been watching the treatment, opened his mouth.

"I didn't know the doctor was an elf."

"Is it strange that an elf is here?"

"There's nothing strange about it in the current Murim."

After Murim was opened, various races flowed into the 'First Murim'. From elves, orcs, gnomes, Dokkaebis, and other races to demons and non-humans.

The doctor, Lowellin, was also a doctor who flowed into the 'First Murim' right after the 'Outer God Incident'.

"Whew, the outline is over."

"You didn't paint it enough."

When Yoo Joonghyuk, who was checking my condition from the side, pointed it out, the doctor clicked his tongue and said.

"That was left there on purpose. In order to maintain the self-sustaining power of the story, the rule is to leave at least a 'hole'."

I couldn't quite understand it, but I felt like I knew what he meant.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was next to me, also seemed to have gained some kind of enlightenment from those words, and suddenly sat cross-legged and began to practice.

The doctor, who was watching Yoo Joonghyuk, continued speaking.

"As you know, this treatment is only a temporary measure. There is a limit to enduring the 'exile penalty' by repairing stories."

As expected, the doctor had figured out my condition.

"If you don't enter the main scenario, your incarnation body will eventually collapse."

"Yes, that's right."

The doctor scratched his cheek with a trembling expression, perhaps because my reaction was unexpected.

"This is the first time I've seen such a calm exile. Aren't you afraid of death?"

"Of course I am."

Suddenly, I was afraid that the Constellations of the Giant Nebulae would descend, and I was afraid that an unexpected scenario would hit me in the back of the head. There were many times when I suddenly got goosebumps at the fact that I could die at any moment.

But, somehow, as time passed, I felt like I was getting used to that fear.

It was like the 'me' who was afraid of death and the 'me' who was reading this story were separated.

I was afraid of death, but I was still curious about the next story. I was curious about the sentence that would be written next.

As I continued to fight with my curiosity, sometimes my death didn't feel like such a big deal.

After all, isn't this something that Kim Dokja and Yoo Joonghyuk have experienced many times?

"Looking at your eyes, you don't seem to be in your right mind, so you should suspect that stories are controlling you!"

"What story do you think I'm being controlled by?"

"I don't know. To be honest, I've never seen an incarnation that has chosen stories as bizarre as yours."

The doctor continued, lightly dusting the grains of stories into the air.

"And even if I'm a story expert, it doesn't mean I know all of the stories. The 'following' that we mortals can understand are nothing more than the dust of the universe."

"There's a story that says that dust can make a mountain, right?"

The doctor frowned as if he didn't like my nitpicking.

"There is a story like that. It's the fate of mortals to somehow grab hold of the dust and make the universe possible."

"From what you say, it seems that even the doctor is controlled by those 'following'."

"You really don't lose a word."

"You seem to have barely changed my mouth."

"What do you really want to ask?"

I thought of the description of the doctor Lowellin described in the 'Ways of Survival'.

「Lowellin, a story expert who is counted among the top ten in the <Star Stream>.」

It wasn't easy to accidentally encounter such a 'story expert'. Even Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been through countless rounds, could only count on one hand the number of times he had met such people in person.

I decided to seize the opportunity to talk to a person who was not sufficiently described in 'Ways of Survival' or 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

"There is a story I want to tame."

"What kind of guy is it?"

"It is a guy who wants to dye the entire world the same color."

The story expert smirked at my answer.

"I know what kind of guy it is."

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' quivers his lips.]

Heir of the Eternal Name.

That damn guy who tried to control my body whenever he got a chance since the days when Kim Dokja's content was low.

It's been quite a while since I've been through thick and thin with this guy.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is about to evolve.]

However, since absorbing the power of the 'Demon King of Salvation' a while ago, his condition has been unusual.

[Your current existence restoration rate is 18.8%.]

[The level of the corresponding story meets the evolution criteria.]

The story, who was already born as a 'Semi-Mythical level'. There was a high possibility that this guy would become a 'Mythical level story' once the evolution process was over.

I was excited, but also scared.

Even now, he doesn't listen to me at the Semi-Mythical level, so I can't even imagine how much trouble he'll cause when he becomes a Mythical level.

The story expert laughed heartily as if he understood my fear.

"Everyone has a story like that. In order to control that story, you have to know the story well. How much do you know about that story?"

At that moment, the story expert's question sounded like the following to me.

"How much do I know about Kim Dokja?"

I thought about it carefully and answered honestly.

"I thought I knew it well, but these days, it seems like I don't know it at all."

"You'll look at the stories often."

"I've already seen them a lot, but will it help if I keep looking at them?"

"Even stories you've already seen look new when you look at them again."

Read again.

This was something that Kim Dokja often said.

"Stories are mysteriously incomparable. Even though I believed I had interpreted it correctly, when I looked at it again, new interpretations poured out."

It wasn't that much of a new insight.

I thought that even if I were a story expert, I couldn't punish him, so the story expert asked again.

"Why do you want to control the story well?"

"I want to become stronger."

"You seem strong enough already."

It may be true depending on how you look at it. I'm already stronger than most martial artists. If only the stories could be restored, I could easily fight against the historical-grade constellations, and if I could draw out the power of the Kim Dokja fragments, I could even have power comparable to that of the 'Demon King of Salvation.'

But that's not enough.

While being chased by the Giant Mebulae, while facing the Outer Gods—while watching the Myth-level Constellations and Jaewhan, I realized it clearly.

I'm ridiculously weak right now.

If a Myth-level Constellation really snaps its fingers, I'll be destroyed.

In my current state, even if I die and wake up, I won't be able to see the ending.

"I have to become much stronger."

"You want to become stronger."

The Divine Doctor who muttered that thought for a moment, then suddenly wrote "Hoo-hoo" in the air with a brush.

"What does this look like?"

"'Hoo-hoo'."

"So what does that mean?"

"What does it mean? Isn't it just a bad laugh?"

It's my personal taste, but I don't like people who laugh "Hoo-hoo." That's because all of those who laugh like that have a bad side.

"It might seem that way to you now. But what about someone else? For example, how would someone with hot food in front of them interpret this word?"

After a short thought, I answered.

"I'd think it's breath trying to cool the food down."

"What if someone was thrown into a cold snowy mountain and their hands were frozen?"

"Well, it's like trying to warm their hands..."

Only then did I think I understood what the Doctor was trying to tell me.

"If you look into the story with one desire, the story might not tell you much new."

At that moment, I felt like I would forgive the story expert if he laughed, "Haha."

"Then what should I do?"

"I don't know either."

"Huh?"

"First, look into the story a lot. Look into it while you're eating, look into it while you're sleeping. Look into it when you think of it while you're doing something else. As time goes by, your stories of looking into those stories will pile up again. The story will help you."

I nodded in admiration at his words. I thought it was a good idea to talk to him again, and I also thought that the <Star Stream> is really wide and deep.

Even characters who are not well described in 'Ways of Survival' or 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' interpret the world with their own insights. Perhaps the first thought I should abandon is the prejudice that 'I already know this world'.

"If I have a new interpretation of the story, will I be able to become as strong as I want?"

"I don't know how much you want, but there is a saying. 'Sometimes a very small interpretation of the story can change the entire universe.'"

"Good. Is that what a constellation said?"

"That's what a Recorder of Fear said."

A Recorder of Fear.

I never thought I would hear that name here.

"Do you know about the Recorders of Fear?"

"Those who repair the final records at the forefront of the stories. All 'story experts' have heard their stories at least once. Why, are you interested in them too?"

There are brief mentions of the 'Recorders of Fear' in the 'Ways of Survival' as well.

However, some of the content was so abstract, and some was so difficult that it was difficult to figure out what was 'useful information'.

No wonder even 'Kim Dokja' knew almost nothing about Recorders of Fear.

But who would have thought that a story expert knew information that even Kim Dokja didn't?

"Actually, I've met one of them."

"You've met a Recorder of Fear?"

This time, the story expert was surprised.

"Yes. It was a short meeting."

'Lycaon', whom I met at the 'Recycling Center', said that he was the lowest of the 'Recorders of Fear'. And told me to find the other Recorders and find the loss of the world.

So I thought.

「Maybe the secret of this '41st Round' is related to the 'Recorders of Fear'.」

The doctor checked the stencils on my face again, as if he was shocked by the fact that I had encountered a 'Recorder of Fear'.

"Are you saying that you are still sane after encountering them? What on earth did you talk about? Did this snout get damaged at that time?"

"We didn’t talk much. But is it really surprising that I met them?"

"You, it seems like you really don’t know anything about the 'Recorders of Fear'."

The story expert shook his head and added.

"I don’t know much about the Recorders of Fear either. There are just a few commonly known facts."

"What is it?"

"One is that they are trying to record the 'Primal Fear'."

Primal Fear.

I thought for a moment about what that might mean.

"And?"

"The two are that none of those who encountered them came back to their senses."

"Why is that?"

"Well... no, you said you met them?"

"That's true."

"Haven't you witnessed 'horror'?"

In the first place, I didn't know what 'horror' he was talking about, so it was difficult to answer.

"Well, that's okay. This is my first time seeing someone like you."

"Is there a third one?"

"Actually, the third one is the most interesting."

I didn't know what the first two were talking about, but I wondered if hearing the third characteristic would make any difference.

However, the moment I heard their 'third characteristic'.

"They usually appear in this world in the form of 'possession'."

A shiver ran down my spine.

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

807 Episode 39 Rumor (6)

---

The 'Recorders of Fear' are crashing into this world in the form of 'possession'?

"Are all the Recorders of Fears like that?"

"I'm not sure either."

With that thought, several cases came to mind.

One was 'Bicheonhori' that I met at the 'Recycling Center', and the other was me and other readers.

If the characteristic of 'possession' itself is a characteristic of the Recorders of Fear...

"However, there is this saying. The 'Recorders of Fear' appear and disappear as if they are invading the world line."

They appear and disappear as if they are invading the world line.

I asked, repeating that expression to myself.

"What is their purpose?"

"Well. I guess it's to interpret 'Fear'?"

Fear. That word, which had been repeated before, now sounded unfamiliar.

"What on earth is this 'Fear' that they are talking about?"

"If it could be explained that simply, the name 'Recorder of Fear' wouldn't have existed in the first place."

"Can't you understand it even in a general way?"

"In a general way..."

The story expert began to calmly organize the place he had used. He swept away the story fragments that were scattered in a chaotic manner and neatly put the brushes he had used into his brush. The reason all of his actions seemed to have some meaning was probably because he was a story expert.

The story expert finally finished organizing and opened his mouth.

"What do you think is the greatest story that makes up this world?"

I answered without thinking for long.

"I think it's a 'scenario'."

Everything in this world is made up of 'stories.' And the biggest flow that leads those stories was the 'scenario' hosted by the <Star Stream>.

Tsutsutsut.

I can tell just by looking at the fact that my existence is soon in danger.

This universe is a world where you are granted a 'qualification' just by participating in a scenario. Satisfied with my answer, the story expert nodded and smiled.

"Then where do you think that 'scenario' came from?"

"That's..."

Here, saying that it was actually written by a writer named Han Sooyoung wouldn't be of much help.

Also, even if the designer of the scenario was Han Sooyoung, that wasn't the logical probability that supported this world.

There must be scenarios in this world that Han Sooyoung didn't write.

In addition, Han Sooyoung didn't know all the content of the scenarios from birth.

She must have written the scenarios based on what she learned from other content and her own experiences.

When I thought about it that far, I felt strange. When I thought about it, all the 'great story scenarios' I knew were familiar.

Olympus' <Gigantomachia>.

Eden and the Demon World's <The Great Battle of the Holy Demon>.

The Emperor's <Journey to the West>.

They were all scenarios based on famous stories.

And that's not all? The general scenarios were the same. A battle royale survival game, or a variation of a mafia game.

In the end, scenarios are based on existing 'stories'.

"Aren't most scenarios based on old 'tales'?"

The Doctor nodded again, but didn't smile. It meant that my answer was incomplete.

"That's right. To be more precise."

The Doctor blinked for a moment as if choosing his words, then opened his mouth.

"All scenarios are 'interpreted tales'."

Interpreted tales.

A bright light flashed in my head.

"A very small interpretation of a tale can sometimes change the entire universe."

The elf nodded again and smiled.

"I see you understand now."

"Are the Recorders of Fear the ones who interpret 'uninterpreted tales'?"

"That's what I think."

"Those tales are 'Fears."

Uninterpreted stories are difficult. They are unfamiliar, and sometimes even incomprehensible. The source of that incomprehensibility is fear.

"Even this <Star Stream> has not yet been able to interpret the tales, the Recorders of Fear love such stories."

'Secretive Plotter' suddenly came to mind.

Perhaps the Recorders of Fear admired him because he was the 'uninterpretable being' of all people in this world.

"I heard you are participating in the Fear Expedition this time."

"Yes, that is what happened."

The story expert looked at me with a slightly complicated expression and was about to open his mouth again when.

"The Lord of the House calls."

At the perfect timing, the guard opened the door and appeared. The guard's gaze was unusual, as if he had been eavesdropping on our conversation.

The story expert Lowellyn sighed lightly and looked at me, mouthing.

—I tried to keep you alive, so don't die.

I nodded my head in gratitude.

---

The conversation with the story expert was beneficial in its own way.

The most important thing was the information I gained about the 'Recorders of Fear.'

「Maybe me and other readers are also destined to eventually become 'Recorders of Fear'.」

I decided not to think too deeply about it. Because the information I could know right now was too limited. For now, it was important to deal with the immediate issues one by one.

Steadily, like writing one sentence and then writing the next.

If every moment of my life becomes a story, then eventually this moment will also be written as a story.

In order not to leave this moment as a vague 'Fear', I had to keep thinking and moving.

When Yoo Joonghyuk finished his breakfast, the escorting person came to see us again.

"The expedition team will be announced soon. I think the guests should come with us."

After discussing with the head of the household, we decided to participate in the 'Fear Expedition' as representatives of the Namgung Family.

[A new main scenario is about to begin!]

My heart raced at the thought of finally entering a new scenario. I don't know if it was because I was scared or nervous. I pretended to talk to Yoo Joonghyuk to hide my trembling.

"You suddenly had a trance ritual while listening to the words of the story expert. Did you gain some kind of enlightenment?"

Yoo Joonghyuk shook his head at my question.

"I thought you had transcended."

"If transcending could happen that easily, the martial arts world would already be full of transcendent beings."

"Well, I guess so."

"I have a habit of having a trance ritual whenever I feel like it. I can't miss even the smallest hint of enlightenment."

I realized once again how sincere Yoo Joonghyuk is. No matter how often he acts like a Transcendent, Yoo Joonghyuk is fundamentally a Transcendent who works hard.

He must have lived so diligently to become the ultimate Transcendent after going through 1,863 Regressions.

[Your understanding of the character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' has increased.]

[The character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' shows you a little favor.]

I was startled by the message that suddenly came.

My understanding has suddenly increased?

"What?"

"It's nothing."

I had to bite my lips several times to hide my expression.

When I first met him, I thought he would never be my comrade.

That was understandable, because 'Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st Round' was considered one of the worst Yoo Joonghyuks among the many Yoo Joonghyuks.

And yet, I was able to gain a little favor from him. That alone felt like enough compensation for my 'martial arts journey'.

"Now that we've entered the Fear Realm, you won't throw me off a cliff, right?"

"What nonsense are you talking about?"

I just shrugged.

Yoo Joonghyuk glared at me with a strange expression and added.

"It seems like you've made some progress."

"Did you notice?"

As expected, the eyes of the Regressor cannot be avoided.

In fact, there was progress for me. Not something profound like enlightenment, but progress that was obvious enough to be seen right away.

[Congratulations! Your story has successfully evolved!]

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' has evolved into a Mythical-level story!]

Finally, 'Heir to the Eternal Name' has become a Mythical-level story.

I don't know why this story suddenly evolved. Maybe the story, worried that I would soon die, evolved on its own.

[The story 'Heir to the Eternal Name' snorts.]

Or maybe it was helpful that I spent the whole night wondering about 'Kim Dokja' after talking to the story expert yesterday.

In any case, with this, I finally became the owner of a 'Mythical-level story'.

And the next moment, a bright light began to flow out from Kim Dokja's smartphone.

[The function of the Holy Relic has evolved!]

The function of the Holy Relic has evolved.

Maybe this is the first effect of the 'Mythical tale'.

As soon as I turned on my smartphone, the platform screen appeared first.

…

Episode ■■. ■■ (■) +[??]

Episode ■■. ■■ (■) +[??]

Episode ■■. ■■ (■) +[??]

…

Why can't I see the latest episode?

I pressed refresh several times, but the screen didn't change.

What happened to the serialization record? Or—

「Uninterpreted story.」

My head felt dizzy.

I'm now an exile, outside the scenario.

If that's why this moment was 'uninterpreted'. So what if these episodes aren't visible?

It was a plausible assumption, but it wasn't yet certain.

Above all, there was one thing left to check.

[You can check one comment for the desired chapter using the 'Daily Free Pass'.]

Fortunately, I could still check the comments. Does that mean the series was proceeding normally?

I'll know when I check the comments.

[Now, you can check the 'comments with many recommendations' first without using coins.]

[Would you like to use the 'Daily Free Pass'?]

An unexpected suggestion. It seemed that this was an effect added through 「Heir to the Eternal Name」.

Up until now, it was difficult to gather information efficiently because of the 'random comment confirmation system'.

That's understandable, because when you check comments randomly, it was difficult to avoid comments that randomly spammed Yoo Joonghyuk's name or the Demon King of Salvation's name.

However, if I could see only comments with many 'recommendations', it would be a different story. The fact that it was recommended by many readers means that there is a high probability that it has hit the core of that 'chapter'. Above all, it is highly likely that it will avoid meaningless comments. Of course, there was a function to check 'recommended comments' using additional coins in the past, but as the cost increases with each chapter (after chapter 200, it started to demand a whopping 10,000 coins per comment), recently I hardly ever checked the 'recommended comments'.

But they're releasing that feature for free. I couldn't miss this opportunity.

[One free daily ticket will be deducted.]

[Check the comment with the most 'recommendations'.]

I checked the comments right away.

Well, indeed.

—Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i! Eung■i!

Recommended 195 / Not recommended 10

I stared at the empty ■ part between 'Eung' and 'i' for a moment.

I thought that uninterpreted stories are scary, but uninterpreted comments might be scary too. That must be it?

Why on earth did this comment get the most upvotes?

I can't understand what Kim Dokja is thinking right now.

I checked the second comment.

—

Pang■Pang■Pang■

808 Episode 39 Rumor (7)

---

I felt anxious. If the 'comments' I just saw were true, something terrible would happen to Yoo Joonghyuk from now on.

Surprised by the disappearance of Yoo Joonghyuk, who was escorted with me, I hurriedly ordered someone to search the area.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

I called Yoo Joonghyuk's name several times.

Yoo Joonghyuk could die. No, maybe he's already dead. If that happens-

"Yoo Joonghyuk?"

And after a while, the guy's head appeared between the crowd.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who appeared with one of his escorts, was glaring at me with his characteristically sullen eyes.

"What?"

"No, what if you suddenly disappear like that?"

"There were some Murim dumplings nearby."

When I looked closely, I saw a small dumpling in the guy's mouth.

No, really, because of that?

"This restaurant's Murim dumplings have inherited some of the original recipes. It's my favorite restaurant."

In the main story, Yoo Joonghyuk disappeared because of dumplings.

The reason Yoo Joonghyuk eats Murim dumplings every time he visits Murim is probably because of his memories of Breaking The Sky Sword Saint.

Every time he swallows one of those dumplings, Yoo Joonghyuk must be constantly reminiscing about those days.

In short, that ritual is a necessary procedure for Yoo Joonghyuk to live while remembering the past rounds.

"Even if you look at it that way, I don't think I'll give it to you."

"I won't eat it."

I don't know. It seems like he just eats because he has to eat eight meals.

The guards guarding him also seemed somewhat surprised at the sight of little Yoo Joonghyuk eating. It made sense since he was eating two dumplings in one bite.

"Yoo Joonghyuk, it's difficult if you disappear like that so suddenly."

It was clear what they were thinking just from the looks the guards exchanged.

「Is that guy really a disciple of Breaking The Sky Sword Saint?"」

After a while, we arrived at Cheongryongseong Square. In the center of the square, a huge banner with the words '191st Fear Expedition' was fluttering.

[The main scenario area is nearby.]

The Namgung Sega's unmanned personnel pointed to the entrance of the venue and said.

"The head of the family is waiting inside."

The inside of the venue was already crowded with people. Participants in the 'Fear Expedition'. And the incarnations who came to see them off or watch them.

"The leader of this expedition is from Namgung Sega?"

"So the leader of the expedition is Namgung Myoung, the head of the small family?"

"That's the rumor. How could that be? There's no way that a promising star of Sega would participate in a scenario where they're going to die..."

I tried to ignore the ominous words. In any case, entering the 'main scenario' was the priority right now.

We stepped into the venue without hesitation. To be exact, that was what we were going to do.

[You are not allowed to enter the 'event venue'.]

What?

[You are an 'exile'.]

[You are not allowed to enter the venue without proof of identity.]

It was a disconcerting message.

It's not another scenario, but 'proof of identity' is required for the 'Fear Expedition'?

Did they find the spark flowing through my body? I saw the gatekeepers guarding the venue running towards me.

Fortunately, the guards of Namgung Sega came forward.

"Step back. He is a distinguished guest of Namgung Sega. The guards were ordered by the Sega family to allow him to participate in the competition!"

The guards did not back down easily despite the threats of the guards.

"Even if he is a guest of Namgung Sega, we cannot allow 'exiles' in. That is the rules of the venue."

I realized once again how exiles are treated in the 'scenario area'.

"Can Namgung guarantee that this person is not an extremely evil criminal?"

"Even if you are a criminal, you know that you can participate in the 'Fear Expedition' if you have the permission of the Five Great Segae, right?”

"If the target is an 'exile', then it’s a little different. If an exile has flowed in here, then he is definitely not an ordinary being. What if he is a great villain who has incurred the wrath of the Constellations?"

The gatekeepers, who were glaring at me with sharp eyes, showed no sign of yielding.

Meanwhile, a shout was heard from inside the hall.

"The inaugural speech has begun!"

If this were to continue, I would miss all the scenario participation orders.

I quickly nodded to Yoo Joonghyuk.

—Go in first.

—Then you...

—I’ll find a way to get in somehow. You should go in first and get a feel for the atmosphere inside the hall.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been thinking for a moment, nodded.

—Don’t be late.

Following that, the Namgung Segae’s warriors bowed to me and disappeared into the hall with Yoo Joonghyuk.

One of them said to me,

"I will inform the lord of the situation. Please wait a moment."

I nodded, but I felt strange inside.

Could it be that the Emperor Sword Namgung Jincheon had not anticipated this situation?

In the first place, the 'Gongpyeongyeong Expedition' was an event that he and the Five Great Sega had planned together.

But he knew that I was an 'Exiled One', yet he couldn't prevent my entry control in advance?

Suddenly, I had a bad feeling.

What if the Emperor Sword's purpose was to separate me and Yoo Joonghyuk?

[You are an 'Exiled One'.]

[You cannot enter the venue without proof of identity.]

I shook my head vigorously.

Even if it was a trap, there was nothing I could do. Even the incarnation that the god had fixed wouldn't last long. It would be a waste of time to wander around looking for another 'main scenario' now.

I had to find a way to enter the venue.

"Is there no way for the Exiled One to enter?"

The gatekeepers looked at each other as if they were troubled by my question, and answered in a somewhat sharp voice.

"If there is a Constellation that can vouch for you, an exile."

Constellation?

Judging from the expressions on the gatekeepers' faces, they seemed to think there would be no Constellation that could vouch for me.

A Constellation's vouch.

I looked up at the pale sky and thought of Constellations that could help me. There were modifiers that came to mind, but I wasn't sure if they would see me, who had been kicked out of the scenario.

In addition, most of the Constellations in that sky were hostile to me. If they knew I was here, there would be more of them who would come down to kill me, not to mention vouch for me.

However, I couldn't delay any longer.

I had to enter the stadium using [Incite] or some other trick.

Finally, I made up my mind and was about to activate [Incite].

"Those guys—"

The entrance to the stadium was tumultuous. It was a crowd of unmanned people who had just started to enter. They seemed to be martial artists from the old village.

"I'm looking forward to this expedition."

"Is 'that' going to go too?"

"Wow, is it the old days? Well, this is a chance to restore the status of the fallen sect."

I watched the martial artists wearing splendid robes as they entered. Judging from their attire, they seemed to be masters of the Jeongpa.

"It's Shaolin!"

"There's a Shaman too!"

Shaolin, Hwasan, Shaman... Masters of sects I'd only heard of through rumors were entering the competition hall one by one.

But at the end of the line, there was a man in a familiar outfit.

At first, I couldn't tell who he was. But when I looked at him once, twice, three times, I vaguely knew who he was.

His face was different, but it was unmistakable.

More than anything, the story inside me was testifying to him.

At that moment, a middle-aged man who recognized me opened his eyes wide and opened his mouth.

"You are..."

There was.

In this desolate First Murim, the one and only Constellation that would guarantee my identity.

---

[You have entered the new 'Main Scenario' area.]

[The 'Exile Penalty' is removed.]

[The new 'Main Scenario' has arrived!]

The air of the 'Scenario' has finally returned.

I was moved anew as I felt the refreshing breath of the story. This was the feeling of being alive—the feeling of clearly standing on my feet and living in the story.

I wanted to check the scenario content right away, but I had to express my gratitude first.

"Thank you very much."

The middle-aged man who waved his hand with a friendly smile on his face. The story inside me reacted again.

[The story 'persistent martial arts master' shivers in joy.]

The middle-aged man who sensed the story nodded as if he was impressed.

[It seems it is listening to you now.]

"You have been very helpful."

The 「Persistent Martial Arts Master」 was once this middle-aged man's story.

"This is the first time we met since Seoul Station."

He was the former head of Seoul Station, and the 'Last Ark' of the Beggar Sect, the Constellation.

The Dragon's Head Ark 'Cheongae'.

[The Constellation 'Last Ark' expresses its joy to you.]

The events that happened at Seoul Station flashed through my mind like a panorama.

A Constellation that wanted to step down from being a Constellation and start the 'scenarios' from the beginning again.

That Constellation, along with its incarnation, appeared before my eyes.

[Your divine power has been revealed.]

"It's thanks to you."

He said that, but in fact, the feeling I got from Cheongae wasn't as good as before.

That was natural.

At that time, Cheongae was caught up in the aftermath of the probability related to the 'God of the Other World' and paid a huge price.

"It seems you've been through a lot without me knowing."

I answered with a bitter smile.

Perhaps Cheongae and I were in a position to understand each other better than anyone else right now.

In a sense, we were both 'fallen Constellations'.

"Didn't the Ark come to participate in this scenario?"

"I said so, to keep the agreement of the Beggar Sect. I came back to where I have an agreement to keep."

Cheongae, who was once one of the best in the 'First Murim', was pushed out of Murim after losing to 'Paradox Baekcheong' and 'Breaking The Sky Sword Saint' in succession.

"I have decided to rewrite the history of my heaven from here. In the world where I fell and escaped."

"You have made a big decision."

A decision that only a Constellation who has acknowledged his own failure can make. Nevertheless, his expression was brighter than ever.

"I thought that in order to understand my opponents, I needed to know the trials they overcame."

"So you participated in the 'Gonghoryeong Expedition'?"

After hearing the explanation, I understood why he had no choice but to participate in this expedition.

「Gonghoryeong is the cradle and grave of the Transcendents.」

That 'Gonghoryeong' was the only entrance to the 'Dark Dimension' in this Murim. And the Transcendents known in Murim were mostly from that 'Dark Dimension'.

The same goes for the Paradoxical Baekcheong Kyrgios Rodgraim and the Breaking The Sky Sword Saint Namgung Minyoung.

"That's right. By the way, since you came all the way here, I guess your circumstances are also difficult."

He seemed to have guessed why I had participated in the 'Fear Realm Expedition'.

"There are many Constellations that support you, including me."

"That's something to be thankful for."

"Of course, there are more Constellations that want to kill you."

I replied with a bitter smile.

"I've heard the general rumor. That you defeated all the Zodiac Signs at the 'Recycling Center'."

"It seems a bit exaggerated."

"I also heard that you summoned Outer Gods with just your three-inch tongue and had a big fight with the Constellations."

Those 'Outer Gods' were probably from <Kim Dokja Company>.

But they weren't called by me; they just came looking for me.

"I also heard that you poked holes in the stomachs of the Constellations that were obsessed with you."

And it wasn't me who did it, it was the stabbing monster, Jaehwan...

"You made a resolution with the naked man who shouted destruction….."

That's right, we went together…

"When I heard that you summoned the Archangels and Demon Kings and tried to recreate the 'Holy Demon War' and destroy the <Star Stream>… I was really shocked."

Some strange rumor is spreading.

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

809 Episode 40 Fear Realm (1)

---

I tried to start a Holy war? I didn't know such a ridiculous rumor would spread in an instant.

[Your infamy is spreading throughout <Star Stream>.]

[Your new story is affected by your infamy.]

I tried to make an excuse, but I just stopped.

After all, infamy is fame, so there's nothing wrong with it. If you build up your fame, it'll help your story.

"Anyway, I'm really impressed by you. Of course, I knew you weren't ordinary when you impersonated Kyrgios' disciple."

"Please keep the story of the impersonation a secret."

"Hehe, of course. But why 'Fear' of all things? Are you planning to cause another major accident?"

"We've already caused enough accidents. I just volunteered here to survive. To be honest, I think it'd be better to go to Fear Realm than to fight the 12 Gods of <Olympus>."

I thought it was an honest answer, but for some reason, he sighed.

"You 'volunteered' for the Fear Realm Expedition to survive... You always surprise me."

"Didn't the Ark volunteer too?"

"I've thought about it a lot."

"You're being too humble."

"It's not being humble. I think you and I are the only ones who 'volunteered' for this expedition."

"Huh? Then what about the others?"

"They're being dragged away."

"Huh..."

"You didn't know?"

He sighed once again.

"Do you know exactly what the 'Fear Realm Expedition' is?"

"Isn't this the task of dispatching an expedition to explore the 'Dark Dimension' of the Fear Realm?

"Do you also know why they do such things in the martial arts world?"

"Isn't it because of the Outer God incident?"

'Outer God incident'.

The Outer God 'Imoogi King' who crossed the Fear Realm invaded the 'First Murim' and massacred half of the Blue Dragon Castle's warriors.

In the end, thanks to the efforts of Breaking the Sky Sword Saint, they succeeded in repelling the Outer God, but that day, Murim had to experience the horror of the Outer Gods harshly.

"I heard that the 'Fear Realm Expedition' is to inspect the entrance area of the Fear Realm so that something like that doesn't happen again."

Of course, what Emperor's Sword asked me and Yoo Joonghyuk was to confirm the 'End of the Fear Realm', but honestly, I had no intention of granting such a request.

「The 'End of the Fear Realm' is not properly described in the 'Ways of Survival'.」

Why would we do something like that when our lives are at stake? Will you do it?

"They say that the Fear Realm is a scary place, but I heard that the strategy for the beginning and middle areas is quite well known."

No matter how high the nightmare of the 'Fear Realm Expedition' is, this expedition had already passed the 100th time.

While there were numerous deaths, the martial artists began to gradually figure out the strategy for the 'Fear Realm', and some were quite well-versed in the beginning and middle areas in particular.

Among the masters of the Five Great Sages, there were those who quickly reached transcendence through the 'Fear Realm' strategy.

I also obtained information related to it through the 'Ways of Survival'.

So no matter how terrifying the 'Fear Realm' was, I was confident that I could survive to some extent.

Cheongae, who had been silently listening to me, nodded.

"You're right. The strategy for the 'Fear Realm' is well known up to the beginning and middle areas. That's why the survival rate has been steadily increasing up until now."

"Then why do you think it's dangerous? Are you planning on checking the 'End of the Fear'?"

"That's crazy. I don't plan on doing that."

"Then..."

"To be honest, I didn't just 'volunteer' either."

Cheongae seemed to hesitate a little, wondering whether to say that or not.

"Actually, I was asked to do so."

"A favor?"

"The Five Great Lords came to me in person and asked me to inspect the inside of the 'Fear'."

It was incomprehensible.

Why would they ask Cheongae, a constellation from the martial arts world, at this time?

"As you know, the 'Fear Expedition' is an important event in the martial arts world. It's not only to defend against foreign enemies beyond the Fear, but also because it can produce powerful masters through the Fear."

Cheongae looked around and continued speaking in a slightly smaller voice.

"That's why they've been sending additional expeditions every now and then. For example, the 188th, 189th, and 190th expeditions were carried out consecutively with only a month between them."

It was clear why they did such a thing.

This was especially true considering the strange hostility that the Emperor's Sword Namgung Jincheon had toward the Breaking the Sky Sword Saint.

「They dream of a Murim without a single 'God'.」

The 'First Murim' had now entered the process of 'Producing Transcendents'.

"But I heard that all news of the incarnations who entered the Fear Realm has been cut off recently."

"Don't you get cut off when you enter the Fear Realm? It's a place that is separated from the outside world in terms of time and space."

"The lord obtained an item that allowed them to communicate with the outside world from within the Fear Realm about 10 times ago through a contract with the 'Demon King of the Horizon'."

The Demon King of the Horizon.

I never thought that Murim would make deals with them.

"But the fact that we lost contact…"

Cheongae nodded with a heavy expression.

"No one has returned alive from the Territory in the past three rounds."

Maybe because of what Cheongae said. The expressions of the people lined up in the stadium felt different than before. The expressions that I had thought were solemn were now stained with the fear of death, and some even burst into tears or waved their hands.

"It won't be that big of a deal."

I know I shouldn't say such things in the <Star Stream>.

But this time, I had a reason.

"Even if something happens in the Territory, this time, you are here. And above all… this is the 20th scenario area."

Of course, the difficulty of the scenarios gets harder as the scenario number increases.

For example, in the 40th scenario, part of the solar system could be destroyed, and if you reach the 60th scenario, the Constellations could be annihilated. Even after the 80th scenario, a disaster that threatens the safety of the <Star Stream> appears.

However, this was still the 20th scenario.

As long as this 'First Murim' is the 20th scenario area, the difficulty of 'Fear Realm Expedition' cannot go beyond that level.

However, the expression on Cheongae's face when he heard me was strange.

"You, have you not read the scenario yet?"

"Yes?"

"Read it right now."

I started reading the scenario. Fortunately, if you look at the content itself, it was a scenario that was not particularly special.

<Main Scenario #■■ - Fear Realm Expedition>

Category: Main

Difficulty: ??

Clear Conditions: Explore the Fear Realm and return after completing the exploration level.

Time Limit: None

Reward: ???

Failure: Death

Participate in the Fear Realm Expedition and return after completing the exploration level. That was as I knew. However, the problem was,

"What on earth is this, Sir?"

"It seems you've finally confirmed it."

This scenario, there is no scenario 'number'.

There was no way this could be.

There have been various types of scenarios so far, but has there ever been a scenario without a scenario number?

If such a scenario exists, this much is certain.

「This scenario may not be the '20th scenario'.」

I had an ominous feeling.

Maybe I should turn around and leave the venue right now.

I have to find Yoo Joonghyuk.

I just happened to see Yoo Joonghyuk on the stage in the venue far away.

"Next, I will introduce the expedition leader of this 'Fear Expedition'."

The crowd's enthusiastic cheers filled the venue.

Yoo Joonghyuk was glaring at the crowd as if he had no interest in the cheers, and was busy moving his eyes. It was clear who he was looking for.

"Sir, I should go quickly. I have to meet my group."

"Okay."

"See you again."

I gave Cheongae a quick greeting and pushed my way through the crowd toward the stage at the convention hall.

In the meantime, the speech on the stage continued.

"The name of this small boy is Yoo Joonghyuk. He is the disciple of the famous 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint'."

The introductions were finally starting.

As soon as the host finished speaking, the convention hall was thrown into confusion. It was understandable. After all, 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint' had been mentioned.

"Breaking the Sky Sword Saint! Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's disciple has appeared!"

"Are you talking about that kid?"

"He's not a master who has been defeated by the enemy, is he?"

"He's really the disciple of Breaking the Sky Sword Saint?"

"Didn't Breaking the Sky Sword Saint not accept disciples?"

"Why are you suddenly introducing that little thief?"

Emperor's Sword, who was standing on the stage, concluded his speech as if to dismiss the audience's questions.

"Yoo Joonghyuk, the little thief, will be the expedition leader for this expedition."

It wasn't enough that Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's disciple had appeared, he became the leader of this 'expedition'. The commotion in the hall was explosive in many ways.

"Oh my! Are you in your right mind?"

"Listen, Emperor's Sword! Are you crazy right now?"

"Don't lie! Breaking the Sky Sword Saint would never accept a brat like that as her disciple!"

"Emperor's Sword! Answer! How are you going to prove that brat is Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's disciple?"

"Where is Young Master Namgung Myung! The original leader of this expedition was Namgung Young Noble Warrior!"

Listening to the crowd's complaints, I now had a rough idea of how things were going.

Originally, the leader of Namgung Sega was supposed to be the leader of this expedition.

But Yoo Joonghyuk, who suddenly appeared, took that position.

"Hey, Emperor's Sword! This time, Namgung Sega was supposed to send a leader! But now you're saying you're going to make an outsider the leader?"

"Not an outsider!"

Emperor's Sword's deep internal energy and powerful voice echoed throughout the arena.

"He's a disciple of Breaking the Sky Sword Saint! Although he's not Namgung's blood relative, if he inherited Breaking the Sky's martial arts, he's no different from Namgung's family!"

"But—"

"Comrades of the Gangho! Do you dare doubt the reputation of Breaking the Sky Sword Master now?"

Cheongae said. There were no survivors in the recent '3rd' expedition.

Then the reason why Emperor's Sword appointed Yoo Joonghyuk as the expedition leader was clear.

It was truly the utmost love for his son.

"If anyone has any complaints, please speak up. If the disciple of 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint' is not qualified to be the expedition leader, then who on earth can represent our Murim?"

Of course, there was no one who could object to that. Breaking the Sky Sword Saint Namgung Minyeong was an absolute powerhouse recognized by everyone in Murim.

But.

"That would be when that boy is 'a true disciple of Breaking the Sky Sword Saint'."

"T-That's right. That kid is the disciple of Breaking the Sky Sword Saint. How can we prove it?"

"No matter how you look at him, he looks like a boy, so how can he have inherited the martial arts of Breaking the Sky?"

The problem is this.

How can we prove that Yoo Joonghyuk is the disciple of Breaking the Sky Sword Saint?

If Yoo Joonghyuk's little penalty was lifted, then it would be different. Right now, Yoo Joonghyuk has even forgotten [Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship].

"Emperor's Sword! Prove it!"

The excited crowd looked ready to jump up onto the stage at any moment.

But the Emperor's Sword was calm.

"If I prove it, will you admit it?"

It was a tense moment for me as well.

Yoo Joonghyuk is clearly a disciple of 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint'. But who would admit a disciple of Breaking the Sky Sword Saint who can't use Breaking the Sky's martial arts?

However, the moment I heard the skill activation sound that followed, I was impressed by the heart of that old man Namgung.

[Someone has activated 'Lie Detection'!]

"I will ask you on Namgung's reputation. Is your master really 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint'?"

In the midst of this, the fact that he activated [Lie Detection] was amazing, but there was something else that was truly surprising.

「The Emperor Sword knew that Yoo Joonghyuk was the real 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's' disciple.」

Did he use a [Lie Detection] type skill to confirm it without us knowing? Or maybe he tracked Yoo Joonghyuk's past and found out his martial arts history.

In any case, he really found out that Yoo Joonghyuk was Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's disciple and used that fact to create the current situation.

"That's right."

The moment Yoo Joonghyuk answered, everyone was enveloped in a heavy silence.

Everyone in the hall waited for the system message that would follow. And.

Knock.

At first, I thought it was my heartbeat.

Knock. Knock.

But when that sound rang twice, three times, four times. And when the hairs on my arms started to stand up without me knowing it- I realized that something was wrong.

The sky. It was ringing.

"Over there—!"

When I raised my head with someone's shout, there was an incarnation floating there, struggling.

I knew it instinctively. It was the incarnation that activated [Lie Detection].

And there was a huge shadow grabbing his collar.

Up until now, I have met countless strong people. I have witnessed the Archangels of <Eden>, the 12 Gods of <Olympus>, and faced a giant-like Asmodeus.

But why?

At least at this moment, none of them seemed like they could defeat that being in this Murim.

"Breaking the Sky Sword Saint."

The god of martial arts was there.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

810 Episode 40 Fear Realm (2)

Did he not know that Breaking the Sky Sword Saint would appear in person at the competition venue?

The heads of the Five Great Families, including the crowd, stood still with faces that were barely able to breathe.

The Emperor's Sword, who was filled with embarrassment, pursed his lips.

"Brea-Breaking the Sky Sword Saint, why are you—"

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint, who slowly came down to the stage, leisurely passed by him and put the warrior she was holding on to the floor. Unable to bear the pressure, the warrior vomited blood and fainted.

No one on the stage dared to meet Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's gaze, and only Yoo Joonghyuk was looking at her.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint said to Yoo Joonghyuk.

"You're such a handsome kid."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint had also praised Yoo Joonghyuk's appearance in the main story.

「"Your eyes are burning hot. Do you perhaps love me?"」

Her personality was like a disaster and hard to grasp, but at least to her disciple Yoo Joonghyuk, she was a teacher who was infinitely warm (she did beat him to death once, but let's leave that aside).

Maybe things would work out well this way.

That was until Yoo Joonghyuk stared at Breaking the Sky Sword Saint and started talking strangely.

"Who are you?"

For a moment, I thought I heard wrong.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint looked down at Yoo Joonghyuk as if she was dumbfounded, and then answered with a faint smile.

"I am your teacher."

"I have never had a teacher like you."

What is that kid talking about? Did the dumplings he ate earlier go bad?

She was Breaking the Sky Sword Saint whom he had wanted to meet so badly. But what kind of habit was that to a strict teacher?

He didn't turn away Jang Pan-man.

He turned away? The moment I saw Yoo Joonghyuk's face, something came to mind belatedly.

「Memory penalty.」

That crazy Regressor had finally forgotten his own teacher's face.

"My teacher is only 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint'."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's expression changed at Yoo Joonghyuk's answer.

I hurriedly activated 'Midday Tryst' and shouted.

—Yoo Joonghyuk! Who's in front of you right now is that 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint'!

I felt the temperature in the area drop sharply.

Sighs could be heard from inside the room.

If this continued, Yoo Joonghyuk would get his butt kicked again and die.

It was then that Breaking the Sky Sword Saint smiled faintly.

"What an interesting kid. Who on earth is the 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint' you know?"

The situation began to take an unexpected turn.

Yoo Joonghyuk answered.

"Master."

Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes became cloudy as he looked at Breaking the Sky Sword Saint. I knew he was thinking back to the past. Right now, Yoo Joonghyuk was climbing the stairs of broken memories one step at a time. To pick up an old sentence that had fallen between the steps.

"She was a person who liked Murim dumplings."

A person who liked Murim dumplings.

"She was a person who liked animals more than people."

A person who liked animals.

"She was a person who would meditate for a long time while looking at the stars falling in the forest and the shadows of the trees drawn by those stars."

Everyone in the hall listened to Yoo Joonghyuk. Some people trembled their lips, and some sighed once more. There was even an old man who had tears in his eyes for some reason.

After a short silence, Breaking the Sky Sword Saint asked.

"Who are you, child?"

I instinctively realized that this was his chance.

To be exact, it was his last chance.

—Yoo Joonghyuk! Release the [Mental Barrier]!

The way Yoo Joonghyuk proved himself to Breaking the Sky Sword Saint in the main story. Maybe I could use that method now.

「Breaking the Sky Sword Saint has a [Mirror Vision] that can read other people's emotions.」

With those eyes, she could read Yoo Joonghyuk's past like she did in the main story. Then, he could make Breaking the Sky Sword Saint join our side once again.

Fortunately, Yoo Joonghyuk seemed to understand what I meant.

"Who do you think I am?"

When Yoo Joonghyuk's [Mental Barrier] was lifted, Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's [Mirror Vision] that shone brilliantly was activated. It was as if time had stopped around her.

My heart pounded.

If she were the 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint' I knew, she would never ignore Yoo Joonghyuk's past. She would never turn a blind eye to the memories he had accumulated during those terrible years.

She couldn't help it.

However, this strategy also had a blind spot.

「What if Yoo Joonghyuk had not only forgotten the face of 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint'?」

The worst assumption flashed through my mind for a moment.

「What if most of the memories of 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint' in Yoo Joonghyuk's head have been erased?」

Soon, the light of the clear sky disappeared from Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's eyes. Fortunately, she seemed to have read some memory from Yoo Joonghyuk.

"You."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint tilted her head and asked strangely.

"Why did I hit your butt?"

Damn, why did she only read that memory?

"I don't know either."

Seemingly absentminded after seeing his master for the first time in a while, Yoo Joonghyuk frowned and added.

"It seems you have that kind of hobby."

"Hmm, I wonder if you can say that while getting hit again."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's right hand glowed blue.

I couldn't help but step forward now. I had to persuade Breaking the Sky Sword Saint here somehow. All sorts of strategies came to mind and disappeared.

「Actually, let's say that I'm Yoo Joonghyuk. And let me offer my memories.」

「How about reciting the information in 'Ways of Survival'?」

「As a disciple of Baek Cheong School, let me declare to Breaking the Sky Sword Saint. If I tell her that I know the relationship between her and my master—」

「If I do that, I'll die before Yoo Joonghyuk.」

The moment I moved my body quickly and finally climbed up onto the stage of the grand hall.

Kugugugugu.

I heard the sound of the heavens of the martial arts world opening. The hairs on my arms stood out once again. My body's reaction was similar, but it felt different from when Breaking the Sky Sword Saint appeared before.

My spine went cold and my ears rang. The feeling of an unknown organ vibrating deep inside my body.

The 'fear' from something infinitely different.

"Oh, my God!"

"The Fear Realm has opened!"

The 'Great Hall' appeared in the sky. A pitch-black shadow was coming over that distant hole. I heard the sound of the guards chattering their teeth as they ran up to the arena to stop me.

"Eee... Here he comes, he comes, the master of the great teeth comes, he comes to pierce, he comes to tear and devour, he comes from where the fangs meet, the gap between the teeth and the gums opens…"

I got goosebumps.

I realized anew what kind of beings the Outer Gods were. Beings that could destroy the mortal spirit just by acting.

The incarnations infected by the other world's stories were struggling, shedding tears of blood.

My head was in disarray.

Why did the Outer Gods appear now?

Nowhere in the 'Ways of Survival' did this development appear.

In the first place, could the Outer Gods have crossed the Fear Realm now?

Who on earth gave them such a possibility?

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' growls.]

Fortunately, the foreign stories didn't seem to have any effect on me.

However, the area around the convention center was already in chaos.

"Euaaaaaa! I don't want to die, I don't want to die, the master of teeth, teeth, teeth, teeth is coming—"

Even so, not all the incarnations knelt before the Outer God. Some of the martial artists, including the heads of the Five Great Families, were raising their magical power to fight against the Outer God's tale.

"Everyone, come to your senses!"

The martial artists who came to their senses at the rebuke of the Emperor's Sword each began to draw their weapons.

"Don't worry! We can win! This is not the Murim of the past!"

The first Murim has been preparing for the 'Fear' for a long time since the 'Outer God incident'.

Murim is different now.

At least there are masters here who can fight against the Outer God's incomprehensible power.

"Is that an Outer God?"

A majestic voice was heard through the crowd. The ten best martial artists of the current Murim were standing there.

"Ilgeomtalhon Cheongada!"

"Yongcheondo has also come! The Transcendents have come!"

Finally, the transcendental figures representing the new generation of martial arts appeared.

When Ilgumtalhon drew his sword, Yongcheondo also drew his long sword and responded.

"You're making a fuss over nothing."

In fact, the aura flowing from their bodies was enough to represent their confidence.

It wasn't just Ilgumtalhon and Yongcheondo. There were shadows of transcendental figures appearing on the rooftops of the area.

Even at a quick count, there were more than a dozen of them.

They were the transcendental figures who had gathered to protect the 'First Murim'.

【Teeth, teeth, teeth, teeth—】

The martial arts people whose hair had been covered with teeth pressed down on Ilgumtalhon and Yongcheondo.

Ilgumtalhon muttered as if mocking those martial arts people.

"Hey."

The martial arts people who were losing their heads, saying "Sugagak."

Ilgumtalhon's hands were cruel and clean as he cut down the infected martial arts people.

"Uh, why—"

As if he had forgotten that they were fellow martial artists just a moment ago, his swordsmanship annihilated the entire area in an instant. And.

"Is that the guy who came over from the entrance of the Fear Realm?"

"I've seen something similar in the strategy. A fish-shaped Outer God. An entity with almost no ego."

Yongcheondo, who was observing the Outer God's head, added.

"The story is a typical infection type. It's not a high-risk one."

"If we bring it in, we can handle it."

At the same time as those words, the incarnations of the two masters disappeared. Dugosu, who was wearing dazzling stars, rose toward the Great Hall. It seemed that he was going to decide the match with one stroke.

Before I knew it, Yoo Joonghyuk, who was standing next to me, muttered softly.

"Idiots."

The moment the two masters' swordsmen moved, the giant mouth of the sky opened its mouth as if it was going to tear apart.

I didn't feel any signs of the rooftops that had been occupying the area until then.

I realized the situation.

All the Transcendents of the First Murim had experienced the 'Fear Realm'.

In other words, they had a gut feeling after seeing that Outer God.

The monster that had descended from the sky right now was not an enemy they could deal with.

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

I looked back at Yoo Joonghyuk.

Even if it were me, even if Yoo Joonghyuk were to recover his strength, it would be difficult to face that monster.

However, instead of running away, Yoo Joonghyuk was looking at someone.

Maybe it wasn't just Yoo Joonghyuk.

At that moment, everyone in Murim was looking at the same person.

"Breaking the Sky Sword Saint."

This Murim's god.

"Breaking the Sky Sword Saint!"

The only Transcendent that could stand up to that terrible Outer God.

"Why, why did something like that appear now—"

"The scale of probability! The scale of probability must have moved! That means..."

"It's because of Breaking the Sky Sword Saint!"

"Breaking the Sky Sword Saint! It must be the monster that appeared because of you!"

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's gaze moved slowly. She looked at the helpless crowd, and then at Yoo Joonghyuk. Finally, her gaze turned to me.

Why?

Her eye was shining brightly. She was clearly looking at me, but her gaze seemed to be exploring something else inside me.

Kugugugu.

Once again, the Great Hallstirred. Soon, the snout of the Outer God fully revealed itself. The snout resembled that of a shark.

An alarm bell rang in my head belatedly.

Why does the appearance of that Outer God feel familiar?

[Story Fragment 'Rapid Swim' wiggles.]

Things that happened in the past ten days flowed through my head.

The days when I traveled the void of the <Star Stream> with Jaehwan-ssi.

During that trip, I had absorbed the story fragment of the Outer God that Jaehwan-ssi had brutally stabbed to death.

[Story Fragment 'Rapid Swim' shudders.]

The eyes revealed above the snout were staring at the ground.

It was looking for something.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

811 Episode 40 Fear Realm (3)

A light brain fog occurred in my head, and the alarm bells rang one after another.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' warns you not to have any strange thoughts.]

The story was warning me.

I can't defeat that being with my current strength.

【Stolen TeethRedRedRedRedStolen TeethRedRedStolenStolenStolenStolenStolen】

not sure here about the outer god's speech

I thought as I quietly hid behind the smaller Yoo Joonghyuk.

Damn it. I think he saw me just now.

The good thing is that Skill hasn't been activated yet. That means there's no chance of me or Yoo Joonghyuk dying in this situation. At least not yet.

"Ah, Father! Please save me! Father!"

A desperate scream was heard from the crowd.

I turned my head to see a man reaching out to the stage.

"Ah, Father, Father is coming, the great Tooth King is coming…"

At one time, he was definitely one of the most handsome men in this 'First Murim', but now his face was sprouting fangs.

"No! Myung-ah! Damn it!"

The incarnation of the Emperor's Sword rushed toward the man.

It seemed that the young man was none other than the son of Emperor's Sword Namgung Jincheon, Young Master Namgung Myung.

As the history of the Emperor's Sword took hold in Namgung Myung's incarnation, Namgung Myung's body, which had been polluted by the story, began to calm down little by little.

"Ah, ah, ah—"

But the situation was not resolved. Namgung Myung's mental power was not enough to stop the contamination of the Shark Head's story. Unless someone defeats the Outer God, the Young Master would be finished.

However, all the Transcendents that were blocking the Outer God had fled, and soon even the heads of the Five Great Families and the masters were slowly retreating.

Of course, there were still some who did not run away.

Emperor's Sword shouted at him.

"Cheongae! Please!"

Cheongae, the Dragon Head Ark of the Beggar Sect, nodded.

[The Constellation 'The Last Ark' shouts at the sky!]

"Everyone, come to your senses. Cover your ears and close your eyes. Don't be swept away by illusions."

The martial artists gathered around him began to resist the Outer God once again.

Cheongae, who struck out the fangs that had popped out of the sky, shouted loudly.

"Outer God! Go back! This is not your playground!"

However, the Outer God laughed as if they could not hear such a thousand voices. Then, large fangs fell out of the shark's mouth.

Kugugugu.

A shadow rose from the floor of Murim along with white dust.

Gyo-a-byeong.

Soldiers whose entire bodies were made of the teeth of the Outer God began to stab and kill the surrounding martial artists indiscriminately with sharp fangs that had grown instead of hands.

"Kkwaaaaaaaak!"

Cheongae hurriedly stepped forward to block the Gyo-a-byeong, but there were too many of them.

Cheongae, whose face turned pale, shouted.

"Emperor's Sword! Evacuate everyone! If this continues, we'll all die!"

"Fight! Fight!"

Instead of evacuating the people, Emperor's Sword shouted in a curse.

"If you retreat here, it's over! Murim is about to be destroyed!"

However, his rebuke only accelerated the departure of the masters.

In the end, the person who would be the target of Emperor's Sword's resentment was already decided.

"Breaking the Sky Sword Saint! Why on earth are you just sitting there! Didn't you come to protect your disciple?"

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint glanced at Yoo Joonghyuk at that question.

"That guy is not my disciple."

"Don't lie! That kid is your disciple! I already confirmed it through [Lie Detection]! You lied to me. You said you wouldn't accept disciples and then—"

"It's been a long time. You're the son of Namgung-ssi."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint looked at Emperor's Sword with her characteristically profound eyes.

Emperor's Sword couldn't bear to meet her eyes and looked away.

"You've grown a lot."

"I'm not here to hear that from you! I'm the head of the Namgung family!"

"..."

"Even if you are the Four Hundred Kings, I am the head of the household of the time! Before you were Breaking the Sky Sword Saint, you were Namgung's sword! Protect me! Protect my son! Protect this Murim!"

"What is your Murim?"

Emperor's Sword's shoulders flinched at Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's question.

I knew the reason after reading 'Ways of Survival'.

Emperor's Sword had once heard the same question from Breaking the Sky Sword Saint.

The year the first 'Outer God incident' occurred.

In the plaza of the collapsing Murim, Breaking the Sky Sword Saint asked Murim.

"I will ask. What do you think 'Murim' is?"

At that time, the Murim people could not give their own answers. So they followed Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's answer.

"Forest."

Fortunately, Emperor's Sword remembered that answer.

This Murim is a forest. A forest where lowly mortals are tied together and gathered to protect each other.

"Murim is a forest! Damn it! So please save Murim quickly!"

Was he proud of himself for remembering the answer in the midst of such dire straits? The Emperor Sword's expression was stained with faint joy.

But Breaking the Sky Sword Master slowly shook her head.

The embarrassed Emperor Sword shouted.

"Why, why are you doing that? This was the answer! You heard this answer and saved Murim back then!"

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint remained silent.

Was the Emperor Sword's magic power starting to decline? His face began to turn pale again.

The Emperor Sword, embracing his son, shouted.

"You are the god of this Murim. You have a duty to protect this Murim more than anyone else!"

"In your eyes."

Blood was blooming where Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's gaze landed.

A few of the Transcendents who were running far away had their bodies torn apart by fangs that emerged from the air.

A thousand voices screaming.

People who seemed to have gathered for a moment were now scattering.

"Does that look like a 'forest'?"

With a slap, a thousand people were pierced.

"Yongdubangju has been hit!"

"Kk, it's over. This Murim is over now!"

"Everyone, run away!"

None of them were protecting each other. The warriors running and running again. The cries of children left on the streets.

Emperor's Sword, his mouth open in a daze, couldn't answer. Perhaps, at this moment, he was finally realizing the identity of the Murim he had protected.

"I, I, my Murim."

Murim is no longer a forest.

A relationship woven through easy martial arts represented by [Skills].

They were together, but they didn't share the same history. They learned the same skills and trained for the same purpose, but even Goo Paebang and Oh Daese were different from before.

Perhaps Emperor's Sword also knew.

"Murim is..."

Their roots are no longer intertwined. Now there is no one in this Murim who seeks advice.

The Emperor Sword's hand, which had been trembling, groped the air.

He needed the elders of the Sega family to give him advice. But no one responded. It was only natural. The elders of the Namgung Sega family who had protected Murim together during the 'Outer God incident' had all passed away.

The Emperor Sword's incarnation staggered.

"Why, why do you always ask such things? What is important about Murim?"

The staggering Emperor Sword took a deep breath, holding the sword he had stuck in the ground. His eyes were bloodshot as he struggled to breathe.

"Do you know what was so great about your Murim? It was the same back then. It was definitely not the 'forest' you were talking about!"

"…"

"You, you made Murim like that! Because you, the great one, were so proud of yourself...!"

Blood poured out from the seven holes of the roaring Emperor's Sword. He too was beginning to be infected by the stories of the Outer God.

"Do you think a forest that relies on just one tree is a proper forest? Why did we send people to the Fear Realm? Why did we continue this expedition while dying so much—"

"…"

"This is all because of you! If you had only accepted me as your disciple, if you had only taught the people of Murim, this wouldn't have happened! You weakened this Murim! You are the one who destroyed Murim! You—"

I hit the back of the Emperor's Sword's head with all my might. The Emperor's Sword fell forward with a thud, unable to get up.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint looked down at the Emperor's appearance for a moment and then turned her back.

"Breaking the Sky Sword Saint."

The God of Murim had now decided to abandon this forest. So what had she decided to become?

"Are you really going to leave like that?"

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint slowly turned around at my question.

"You—"

"My name is Kim Dokja."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint narrowed her eyes and said.

"You are not qualified to answer my questions."

I vaguely thought I knew why she said that.

She might have noticed that I was not from the 'Murim', or she might have recognized the Constellation stories within me.

But in reality, it didn't matter either way.

"That's right. I still don't have the 'eyes' to read Murim."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint paused for a moment at my answer.

I continued.

"Unlike you, who has already seen the destruction of Murim hundreds of times beyond the Fear Realm."

"How do you know that?"

A strange current began to flow from Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's entire body.

"It doesn't matter what I know. What matters is the 'Murim' right before your eyes."

"..."

"Isn't there really not a single tree left in this Murim that you want to protect?"

Little Yoo Joonghyuk grabbed my sleeve. It was a warning. Don't say anything more. If you say the wrong thing here, you'll die.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint, who had been thinking about something for a moment, answered.

"A single tree cannot become a forest."

"I know that too. But Breaking the Sky Sword Saint."

What I was going to say from now on was not my language.

"How many trees do you need to gather to make a forest?"

This was Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's language.

It was Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's return of the question she once asked Kim Dokja.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint blinked her big eyes as if surprised by my question. Her clear-sighted eye began to glow brightly.

I swallowed.

"I don't know the origin of Murim."

I said, supporting the fallen thousand incarnations.

"However, I know the Constellation that was born in martial arts. I have survived until now thanks to the martial arts I learned from that Constellation."

[The story 'Tenacious Martial Arts Master' nods his head while stammering.]

"More than anything, I have a comrade who loves this Murim."

"Comrade?"

"That bastard who can't eat food made by others at all, eats the dumplings made here well."

[Story Fragment 'The Man Who Eats Eight Meals a Day' nods his head.]

I looked down at the little Yoo Joonghyuk who was standing there with a blank expression and continued speaking.

"So, 'Murim' must not perish here."

This Murim is the last 'home' left for my poor regressed comrade.

[Activate exclusive skill 'Baekcheong-ganggi'!]

['Blade of Faith' is activated!]

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's eyes widened as she recognized the magical power in my blade.

She must have recognized [Baekcheong-ganggi].

It said I had re-entered the scenario, but it had only been a short time since my incarnation body was repaired. I still couldn't fight at 100 percent power.

Even so, I was Kim Dokja right now, the Demon King of Salvation. As long as I had that name, what I had to do here was clear.

"Kim Dokja! Stop!"

Yoo Joonghyuk staggered and grabbed my arm. I let go of his small hand and smiled.

No matter how much my incarnation body had recovered, I couldn't defeat such a monster in my current state.

I'm not Jaehwan-nim. But I am not Jaehwan-nim, so I will not destroy Murim.

[The story fragment 'Rapid Swim' trembles.]

I looked up at the sky.

That Outer God came here after chasing the fragment of the story I absorbed.

In other words, there is only one way to save the 'Martial Arts World' now.

【TeethTeethTeethT

812 Episode 40 Fear Realm (4)

---

The entrance to the 'Fear' I was aiming for was the side of the 'Great Hall' where the foreign shark head (the name I gave it) appeared.

【Nisong-eogeumnis…】

[The story 'Demon King of Salvation' nods.]

Of course, that doesn't mean I'm going to die like Kim Dokja.

"I won't die, you punk!"

[The story 'Demon King of Salvation' tilts its head.]

Fangs poured out from the shark head's mouth. The fangs that poured out became maggots in the air and rushed at me.

I swung the 'Blade of Faith' at them. Just like Kim Dokja once did, I drew lines in the air following the sword strikes he had swung in the way he had taught me.

The maggots shattered with a creaking sound.

Honestly, it may be hard to kill the Outer God 'Shark Head', but I can also take care of the fun guys.

In this way, I am also one of the 'Kim Dokja'. Although I have not yet fully developed the status of the 'Demon King of Salvation', I can use power equivalent to 'The Great Innocent's Sin'. The Outer God must have noticed that too, as it twisted its huge maw.

Kkuddeuk.

The guy's mouth opened and he began to slowly close the crack leading to the Fear Realm. When I thought, "Oh no," the guy's dense fangs had already blocked all the cracks in the hall .

There was only one way.

I had to break through.

Should I use [Bookmark]? But there is a limit to the number of people I can call.

Who should I call to pierce that guy's maw and take me beyond the Fear Realm?

There were a few characters that came to mind, but I wasn't sure. No, there was one person I was certain of.

By the way, that person was,

"Did you say Kim Dokja?"

She was standing right behind me. I could feel her sharp gaze scanning the [Baekcheong-ganggi] that was overlaid on the 'Blade of Faith'.

"Are you a disciple of Kyrgios?"

"I call myself a disciple. Just like that guy."

I looked down with a grin. I was greeted by the sight of little Yoo Joonghyuk somehow using [Hapgongdapbo] to jump here with his immature body.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint was also looking at the same scenery.

"Are you now giving me the right to discuss martial arts?"

I don't know what 'Murim' is. However, just because I don't know about martial arts doesn't mean I don't know the people living there.

"Run! Hurry!"

"This way! Everyone—"

I saw the Dragon Head Ark, bleeding and evacuating people, and the god taking care of the patients behind it.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint, who was looking at the same scenery as me, opened her mouth.

"Tell me."

"I tell you again, I don't really know what martial arts is."

"Are you avoiding the question?"

"Someone lost their ward here, and someone saved an exile who was dying here. All of that happened in the forest with the same name. But is that forest really the same place?"

"..."

"In fact, everyone lives in a different forest, but the people here all call their forest 'Murim'."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint looked down without answering. There were trees there. They weren't as many as before, but they were definitely trees trying to form a forest.

"That's why I don't know about Murim. Maybe I'll never know what it is. But the reason I'm trying to protect Murim is."

I added, swatting away the blade of the flying Gyo-a-byeong.

"Because there are foolish people like me who don't even know what 'Murim' is and are trying to protect this place."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint didn't answer for a moment. She seemed to be looking at Outer God, and at people. She seemed to be looking at the forest, and at trees.

It seemed like she wasn't looking at anything, or maybe she was only looking at me.

"They have nothing to do with you."

"That's why it's more of a problem. They're going to die because of me."

"Is that a collaboration?"

I hesitated. I have never thought about whether this is a collaboration or not.

However, that shark-headed Outer God came here after my story. So at least I have a duty to take that guy somewhere else.

"If this is such a lowly collaboration, will you help me?"

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint did not answer my question. She simply answered with action.

I felt Murim stirring at the giant's single step.

"Little Constellation. Your collaboration is nothing but a fantasy."

Breaking the Sky's strong energy was rippling in her swordplay.

「Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship is a realistic swordsmanship.」

A swordsmanship that is made up of thoroughly verified sword lines, one stroke at a time, like stacking consonants and vowels, making words, and stacking sentences again.

A design created solely to destroy the sky of those Constellations.

"So prove it yourself."

The owner of that design took up her sword to help me. That meant that at least there was a scenery she wanted to see beyond the uncharted waters I was about to embark on.

"At the place where your 'Fear' awaits."

Just as I chose, she chose too. Let’s give this 'Murim' we agreed on at least one more chance.

"I was born to tear apart the sky where those black stars hang."

The moment the magnificent magic of Breaking the Sky dyed the sky like a sunset, a wall of power surged from her sword. The flying sword lightning sliced through the entire empty space, then soon broke the teeth of the Outer God and created a small hole beyond his cheek.

The Outer God twisted his body as if the wound was painful.

【This■ No■! This■ No■! This■! No! This■ No■! This■ No■!】

Amid the incantations that felt like my head was going to burst flooding the sky, I released all my strength and said my final goodbye to Breaking the Sky Sword Saint.

"Thank you."

The [Way of the Wind] that I had unleashed with all my might unfolded before my eyes. Beyond the broken gums of the Outer God, a crack leading to the 'Fear' was open.

Yoo Joonghyuk's shout could be heard from afar.

I said, feeling my vision gradually distorting.

—Don't follow me. Your body will recover in just one day.

—You!

If Yoo Joonghyuk follows me now, it will only be a nuisance. Yoo Joonghyuk himself must know this better than anyone else. So this is not just for me, but also for Yoo Joonghyuk himself.

—Let's meet again soon.

I felt the crack sucking me in along with the fierce storm of air.

[The connection to 'Midday Tryst' was temporarily cut off.]

Soon, pitch-black darkness swallowed me up.

[You have entered the 'Fear'.]

Finally, I entered.

Into the Fear.

---

As soon as I entered the Fear, what hit me was a terrifying cold air that seemed to freeze even my thoughts.

[An 'Unknown Fear' is invading you.]

My breathing slowly became suffocated. My hands and feet were shaking and my head was dizzy.

I realized that the scenario had already begun. If I just stayed like this, I would definitely die.

But there was nothing I could do. Left, right, front, back, up, down. No matter where I looked, all I could see was pitch-black darkness. What spread out was just endless darkness. And 'me', whose presence was gradually fading away.

I started to feel nauseous. Suddenly, I couldn't hear a sound or feel a breath.

The only thing that existed there was infinity. And.

【Universe.】

'Ways of Survival' describes this Fear as follows.

「It is the cosmic Fear that mankind has faced for the first time.」

As mentioned above, 'Ways of Survival' did not contain detailed information about 'the Fear Realm'.

However, 'detail' here is a somewhat relative concept.

Simply put, the concept of 'detail' in 'Ways of Survival' presupposes that 'an ordinary human, Kim Dokja, can slaughter a ground raccoon like Yoo Joonghyuk. So what this means is,

「In the face of that Great Fear, this is what a 'Player' who has just entered the Fear Realm must do.」

It means that even in the 'Ways of Survival', there is a basic mention of the 'Fear Realm'.

「Inhale calmly and blink your eyes regularly.」

I inhaled sharply. Once, twice, three times, I inhaled and blinked my eyes regularly. Once, twice, three times.

Even though I couldn't feel myself breathing, even though I couldn't feel myself blinking, I believed the sentence. I believed only the sentence and followed the explanation.

How many times did I repeat that?

Finally, I felt my existence being faintly regenerated in the darkness

I am here.

I am thinking about the 'Ways of Survival' here.

「Relax your eyes as if you are staring at a distant object, and blink your eyes as if you are taking a picture.」

I thought of the small planet blooming in the darkness. The planet where I was born. A pale blue dot. That dot is there. There are people who think of me there.

As I thought that, my fear gradually disappeared, and as my fear disappeared, my vision became clearer.

As my vision became clearer, the universe I sensed also began to narrow.

My world exists exactly as much as I see.

If I were not there, there would be no world. No, perhaps the world had not yet been created in a place I could not see.

At least that is what I believe.

[Catastrophic Fear — 'The universe is an infinitely expanding prison' has been unlocked]

[You interpreted the Catastrophic Fear without a hitch.]

I exhaled, "Huh-huh-huh." I heard a sound again, and felt breathing.

[Interpretation success!]

[Interpretation suggestion: Maybe the world is a fiction that is newly created every time you blink.]

[The Fear Realm accepts your interpretation.]

[An ation reward will be awarded.]

The interpreted 'Fear' soon became a legend.

[You have acquired the Story Fragment 'Fictionalization'.]

Holding that crude interpretation in my hand, I looked around in a cold sweat.

A dim path appeared beneath my feet that had been filled with pitch-black darkness until then.

[The 'Main Scenario' resumes.]

The path was black with large and small footprints, as if countless people had already walked that path.

[You are exploring the 'Entry to the Realm'.]

I barely passed the hurdle.

With this, I also obtained the qualification to explore 'Fear Realm'.

[Additional scenario content will be revealed.]

[Fear Realm Exploration Guidelines]

—To complete the main scenario, you must successfully complete 'Fear Realm Exploration'.

—Fear Realm's sections are divided into 'Entry Area', 'Middle Area', and 'End Area'.

—You are currently located in the 'Entry Area' of Fear Realm.

—Your Current Exploration Level: 10%

—There is an interpretation for every 'Fear'. Find a probable interpretation and increase your Fear Realm Exploration Level.

I only interpreted one 'Fear', but my Exploration Level went up by a whopping 10%.

To someone who doesn't know much, the exploration may seem easy, but it's not.

The reason I was able to overcome 'The First Fear' was because I already knew what that Fear was. According to the records, ninety-seven of the hundred martial artists who first crossed the Fear Realm died immediately after failing to overcome the first Disaster-level 'Fear'.

But now that there is a strategy, isn't it okay?

That's because you don't know much about the Fear Realm.

For example, let me give you one of the most shitty aspects of the Fear Realm.

> —Warning. One of the 'Exploration Guidelines' above is 'false'.

In this place, even the contents of the 'scenario' cannot be trusted.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

813 Episode 40 Fear Realm (5)

Even the content of the scenario is an unreliable 'scenario'.

That's why everyone says entering the Fear Realm is suicide.

If I didn't know the initial strategy, I would have ended up like the first Fear Realm expedition team.

By the way, which of these instructions is false?

I looked through the instructions from the beginning and checked if each instruction was 'false'.

First, the first instruction.

> —To complete the main scenario, you must successfully complete 'Fear Realm'.

If this instruction is false, I can think of one possibility.

That is, to complete the main scenario, I don't need to successfully complete 'Fear Realm Exploration'.

A guideline being 'false' does not necessarily mean a bad outcome.

If this interpretation is possible, it is actually beneficial to me if this instruction is false. Because it means 'There is a way to complete the main scenario without filling up all the exploration maps'.

And then the second.

> —The Fear Realm is divided into 'Entry Zone', 'Middle Zone', and 'End Zone'.

If this guideline is false, it means that the Fear Realm has additional zones other than the 'three zones'.

According to the records of the previous Fear Realm expedition, the Fear Realm has only three zones, so the possibility of this guideline being false is not high.

The problem is the next guideline.

> — You are currently located in the 'Entry Zone' of the Fear Realm.

If this guideline is false, the problem becomes a little more serious.

If the place I am now is not the 'Entry Zone'...

I looked around because the back of my neck felt cold. There was nothing in particular, but not seeing anything made me even more scared.

I looked at the fourth guideline.

> —Your current exploration level: 10%

If this guideline is false, there is a problem that you cannot know the exact exploration level, but the exploration level itself does not disappear, so it is not a big problem.

The last, fifth.

—All 'Fear' has an interpretation. Find a probable interpretation and increase the Fear exploration level.

If this guideline is false, it means that 'Uninterpretable Fear' exists.

After reading it carefully, I thought that this could be false.

The world of the <Star Stream> is vast, and the Fear Realm has not been interpreted yet.

There are many Fears that neither 'Ways of Survival' nor the 'Fear Realm Expedition' have recorded, so it would not be strange if 'Uninterpretable Fear' exists.

After finishing my thoughts, I slowly raised my head and saw a side road that spread out into the hazy darkness.

I wondered if it was because I thought that a threatening Fear could appear at any time or place. I unknowingly tensed my throat.

「Let's calm down.」

I thought with a single-pointed star for the first time in a while. Now, I felt like I had to think in a special way.

「Don't be scared because you've entered an unfamiliar place.」

Don't be afraid because you can't trust the scenario. The scenarios I've overcome so far weren't much different anyway.

Even the 'Recycling Center' was a scenario without a perfect strategy. However, no matter how difficult the scenario was, there was a solution in the end.

No one else but Kim Dokja and my own history proved that fact.

「Let's go.」

I slowly took my first step toward the side road.

---

【I'm here.】

is this an outer god speaking? I wonder who....

---

A lot of time had passed since I confidently took my first step. I couldn't tell exactly how much time had passed.

What was certain was that I had walked quite a bit.

Another fork in the road?

I paused for a moment, looking at the fork in the road before my eyes. There were countless footprints on the fork in the road.

The reason these footprints didn't disappear even after quite a long time had passed was because this road itself was a 'Fear'. Disaster-level Fear, 「One Eternal Step」.

The 'footprints' left on this Fear will never disappear. Thanks to the existence of this Fear, the expedition team members who jumped into the exploration were able to easily figure out the direction the previous expedition team was headed.

I calmly started counting the number of footprints.

「The survival rate of the Fear Expedition Team increased with each round.」

The martial artists found a 'route with a higher survival rate' over time. In other words, for a while, just counting this 'number of footprints' could help them estimate a safe route.

「Focus on the direction with more remaining footprints.」

A simple but sure method.

I was planning to follow that method this time too.

But.

「The left path has slightly more footprints.」

This time, I felt a little uneasy.

I wouldn't know if the number of footprints was clearly different, but the difference was slight.

That means that no matter which way you choose, you have to take a risk.

I thought about it for a moment and looked at the footprints that were made more recently. Looking closely, most of the footprints that were relatively recently created were on the left path.

So, left?

After much thought, I took a step.

But at that very moment. In the very distant darkness, I saw something long and swaying.

I literally saw it briefly. But just that 'short glimpse' sent an alarm bell ringing in my head.

「Something with a long neck is looking at me.」

There was no separate message, but I could tell that it was some kind of 'Fear'.

Damn, did I make the wrong choice.

The moment I turned my back to turn back belatedly.

[An 'Unknown Fear' is looking at you.]

I barely managed to take a step.

[An 'Unknown Fear' is looking at you!]

[An 'Unknown Fear' is warning you!]

My instincts were warning me.

It was already wrong to turn back.

If I turned back now, there was a high chance that I would die.

I turned my back again and looked forward. The long-necked thing was still standing in the same place, looking at me. I took a step toward the guy.

The guy didn't react. It seemed like this was the right thing to do.

Upon closer inspection, I saw a white ladder-like thing drawn on the side road leading to the guy. I started walking along the ladder drawing.

How long did I walk?

The eyes of the long-necked guy blinked.

[An 'Unknown Fear' is looking at you.]

[An 'Unknown Fear' warns you.]

I think it is same for An Unknown Fear

I stopped walking reflexively. The place I stopped was a land without a ladder drawing.

The long-necked guy's eyes blinked abnormally fast and then changed to a different color.

Ah.

Only then did I realize what this 'Fear' was.

The 'long-necked guy' shining through the dim darkness.

That guy's identity was.

「Traffic light.」

I was right. It was a 'traffic light'. A traffic light with red and green lights.

I belatedly understood the ladder drawing I had been walking along.

「Crosswalk.」

I don't know why a traffic system exists here, but one thing is certain: this is also a 'Fear'.

[An 'Unknown Fear' is looking at you.]

I turned the page of 'Ways of Survival' that I had been reading so far in my head.

Was there a Fear related to 'traffic lights' in the Fear Realm?

「There are a total of 14 'Fears' in the 'Entrance Area' introduced in 'Ways of Survival'.」

Out of the 14 Fears that I know of, there is no Fear related to 'traffic lights'.

That meant that 'Fear' was a relatively recent Fear.

I took a deep breath and thought.

Whatever that Fear is, it is a 'traffic light'. There is also a symbol for a 'crosswalk'.

So this 'Fear' is likely to follow the rules that I know.

「Stop at red lights and cross at green lights.」

The traffic light that I could see in the distance was 'red'. Then, the light that blinked earlier was most likely a green light.

「Follow the signal.」

Judging from the fact that there was no 'crosswalk' where I was standing, this was probably the area where they were waiting for the signal.

I counted to ten in my head, then to one hundred. I counted to two hundred. I counted to three hundred. I counted to four hundred, then to five hundred.

When I reached one thousand, I started to feel something was amiss.

Why didn't the signal change?

I couldn't figure out why. Was my approach wrong? Wasn't that actually a 'traffic light'? If it wasn't a traffic light, then what on earth was it?

That's when I heard a commotion from behind.

"Whaaaaak!"

A shattered scream. The sound of urgent footsteps.

I instinctively placed my hand on the handle of my sword.

A group of incarnations were running toward me.

"S-save me! Save me!"

They were martial artists. It seems that there were those who, like me, chose to run away in the face of the crisis of the martial arts world with the 'Fear Realm'.

"Eww!"

They looked desperate, as if they were being chased by something.

"Get out of the way! Right now!"

A martial arts person who had come close to me with a quick light attack shouted at me.

I waved my hand at them and said.

"Wait a minute! I don't know what the situation is, but for now, stop—"

It was already too late. The group of about ten people who had hit my shoulder and passed by had already run onto the crosswalk. Their footprints as they crossed were imprinted on the crosswalk one after another.

The signal was still red.

And.

"Hurry! Run faster!"

Nothing happened.

They were quickly crossing the crosswalk.

I blankly watched their backs moving away.

Was it actually okay to cross?

I didn't really understand. No, if that was possible, why were there 'traffic lights' and 'crosswalks'? In a place like this where no cars are running—

「There are no cars.」

A small realization flashed through my head.

If there were no 'cars', wouldn’t it be safe to cross the crosswalk at a red light? If this 'traffic light' was a Fear created by exploiting such a situation—

The moment I thought about it, my ankles began to tingle.

「Then you should not cross the 'crosswalk' even more.」

Crack.

The sound of flesh being crushed and bones breaking. The sound of organs bursting. The sound of blood vessels being torn. Almost all the sounds that could crush and destroy a human body were heard right in front of my face.

Even I, who could compete with the Historical-grade Constellations, could not observe the moment of the impact.

['Unknown Fear' is looking at you.]

The sound disappeared and I came back, leaving only the traffic light.

The red light of the traffic light illuminated the quiet crosswalk. On the crosswalk that had been crowded with people until then, only footprints and dark red skid marks remained.

[The exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' is activated.]

The rule of keeping the signal is not wrong. If so, the problem is when will 'the signal' change?

No matter how much I thought about it, there was no way to figure out the rule. I guess I just have to wait for the signal to change.

[The exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' is strongly activated!]

At that moment, I heard the sound of teeth chattering from somewhere.

It was a familiar sound.

A moment later, I remembered that people were being chased by something.

【Teeth Teeth Teeth Teeth Teeth Teeth】

This damn thing.

【Mirror Mirror Mirror Mirror Mirror Mirror Mirror Mirror】

When I looked back, I saw a shark-head running recklessly from the distant darkness. As expected, the guy had chased me from the martial arts world.

The size of the guy who revealed his complete appearance from inside the Fear world was truly enormous.

The moment I saw the heads of the martial arts people caught in the guy's teeth, I made a judgment.

I must run away no matter what.

The situation was different from the martial arts world. This is 'the Fear Realm'. It was a place where that Outer God could run wild, ignoring the Probability of the scenario.

【Teeth and teeth】

A shark-head behind, a traffic light in front.

There is only one way to survive.

「I must interpret the Fear.」

I thought about the logic of the traffic light in my head.

Traffic light.

A traffic system where the signal changes after a certain amount of time. A certain amount of time. A certain amount of time—

「Time.」

A light flashed in my head for a moment.

「A traffic light that doesn't change even after time passes.」

Maybe I aleady knew the answer.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

814 Episode 40 Fear Realm (6)

---

According to my prediction, the reason why the 'traffic light' signal didn't change is summarized in two ways.

One, because there is no 'concept' of normal time in the Fear Realm.

Two, because that traffic light is a 'special' traffic light.

The sound of teeth grinding was heard from behind once again. Either way, I didn't have much time left.

[Activate exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 10'!]

Let's do something.

I shouted urgently at the traffic light.

"You can perceive 'time' from now on!"

If the green light didn't turn on because of the 'concept of time', then this [Incite] would definitely work. However, the traffic light didn't change.

Okay, then how about this?

"You are a 'traffic light with a green light'!"

I thought it was a much more certain method than before. 1 second, 2 seconds, 3 seconds. This time, the traffic light didn't change.

Damn, it's not working.

Is the probability of [Incite] lacking?

Is it because they are inanimate objects without egos?

Or do the beings inside this 'Fear' have an immune system against my [Incite]?

I was curious, but I didn't have time to think about it.

If the first method didn't work, it was time to use the second method.

「A traffic light that doesn't change.」

If that traffic light is a 'special traffic light' and doesn't change, there must be some kind of rule. And I think that 'rule' I guess is this.

I slowly closed my eyes and took a deep breath.

How many seconds did that last?

Even though I closed my eyes, I suddenly felt my vision become clearer, and as if by magic, another traffic light appeared next to me.

It was a traffic light that matched the one on the other side. I slowly looked at the pillar toward the traffic light, and the button I expected was there.

「Audible signal for the visually impaired」

There it was! Of course it was! I pressed the button without hesitation. Then, a strange sound began to flow out from the traffic light.

[If you have trouble with your eyes, raise your right hand and cross.]

The mechanical sound that flowed out was quite ominous, but there was still a sense of joy at having guessed correctly.

The moment I raised my right hand and was about to take my first step.

[Exclusive trait 'Record Repairer' warns you.]

My instinct, which has been repeating writing for many years, warned me. If I take my first step like this, I will be torn to pieces and die like those incarnations just now.

「This is not an appropriate interpretation of this 'Fear.'」

I had a strong feeling, although I don't know why.

So what did I miss?

I didn't think long.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 10' is activated!]

The traffic light said, 'If you have trouble with your eyes, raise your right hand and cross.'

Even with my [Incite] I couldn't instill the concept of time in the traffic light.

But what if the target was 'me'?

"I can't see."

At the same time as the [Incite], my vision was plunged into darkness. In the complete darkness where no light could penetrate, I began to walk with my right hand raised and trembling.

Evening, step, step.

The sound of my footsteps was louder than usual. Is this right? If I keep walking like this, will I be able to cross all the crosswalks? Will a car that came running from somewhere hit me?

The Fear that I might be wrong. That inorganic desolation suffocated me.

As I walked a few more steps, my hearing gradually replaced the place where my vision disappeared. Another world made of sounds was there.

The sounds that had been entangled with each other began to separate one by one in the sharp darkness.

The sound of me breathing. The sound of my steps. The sound of my clothes brushing dry. The sound of a shark's head chattering its teeth.

And... And the sound of someone walking beside me.

【You're doing well.】

I got goosebumps all over my body.

Who on earth is that? Who is talking? I was so scared that I ran across the crosswalk in an instant. When I opened my eyes after completing the steps I had planned in my head, I had already passed the crosswalk quite a bit.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 10' has been released.]

I couldn't see the person who had spoken to me.

What on earth was that?

Is it an illusion?

[Catastrophic Fear — 'Alien Traffic Lights' has been unlocked.]

[You have perfectly interpreted the Catastrophic Fear.]

[Interpretation success!]

[Interpretation suggestion: Sometimes, you can catch a glimpse of another world just by closing your eyes.]

[The Fear Realm is satisfied with your interpretation.]

[A special interpretation reward is given.]

An interpretation reward was given this time too. However, unlike the last time, this time it was a 'Special Interpretation Reward'.

The real story fragment I had obtained by clearing the first gate was 'Fictionalized'. To be honest, the name of the fragment was so abstract that I couldn't figure out what it was used for, but this time, the reward was different.

[You acquired the fragment 'Wonryo Signal Controller'.]

As soon as I called out the story, a small remote control appeared in front of me.

I held the remote control in my hand. Somehow, I felt like I knew how to use it.

The shark-head that had been running towards me from afar, emitting pitch-black smoke, was shaking its head left and right and looking around. It seemed like it had lost my location.

"Here, you punk!"

The guy who heard my voice started running towards me again.

It was exactly in the direction of the traffic light I had crossed.

I slowly stepped back and checked the distance between us.

Come a little closer. Just a little closer.

The moment the guy finally crossed the crosswalk, the guy who had been charging like a mad bull suddenly stopped.

The guy's two eyes were looking straight at the traffic light.

For a moment, I was dumbfounded.

Damn, even that 'shark-head' obeys the signal?

Okay, then.

「This is a true story of how you can control the 'Traffic Light' of the Fear Realm at will.」

When I pressed the button on the remote control, the light of the traffic light changed to 'green'.

The guy started to cross the crosswalk as if he had been waiting. When he crossed the street, I didn't hesitate and pressed the button again. And then.

What I expected happened right before my eyes. With a flash of light, the day or the cost hit the guy.

Kudduk. Thump. Gwajijik.

A terrible bursting sound bursting out of the true body of the Outer God.

【Aaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa】

I covered my ears and didn't take my eyes off the scene of the disaster. The guy's body was turning into rags in real time. Holes were drilled all over the giant shark's body and spines were sticking out. Broken canines and molars flew through the air.

But.

【Ooooooooooooooo】

The guy didn't die. It was coming towards me step by step without dying.

Tenacious and incredible vitality.

It seemed that this level of 'Fear' wouldn't be enough to kill the guy.

【Pick a toothpick...】

While running, I thought of a way to get rid of that Outer God, but no plausible method came to mind. For now, the best solution was to use the Fear hidden in the 'Fear Realm' to shake it off.

「There are three Fears I can use in the 'Fear Realm' Entrance Area.」

I counted the number of forks I had been running through so far.

「After passing the 'seven' forks in the entrance area, 'that place' appears.」

As expected, the 'fork' at the traffic light was exactly the 'seventh'.

In fact, after passing the last fork, the side road gradually felt wider.

I think I ran for a few hundred meters more.

[An 'Unknown Fear' is looking at you.]

There was a tunnel with an eerie light.

A Disaster-level Fear, the 'Festival Tunnel.'

It looked really unpleasant from the outside. Nevertheless, I had to go in there. That's because the 'Fear' I was looking for was inside that tunnel.

「There are seven 'Fears' hidden inside the 'Festival Tunnel'.」

This tunnel is a 'Fear that hides Fear'.

It was a Fear that simply hid other Fears.

I immediately activated [Way of the Wind] and ran towards the tunnel. As soon as I entered the tunnel entrance, the first Fear greeted me.

[An 'Unknown Fear' is chasing you!]

Then, small cracks began to spread on the floor.

A Catastrophe-level Fear, 「Race Cracks」.

This crack occurs the moment someone enters the tunnel. If you run slower than the spreading cracks, the floor of the tunnel will immediately collapse and swallow up the target.

Of course, the cracks could not be faster than me who activated [Way of the Wind].

When I ran about a hundred steps like that, some of the lights on the ceiling of the tunnel began to blink.

[An 'Unknown Fear' is watching you!]

A Catastrophe-level Fear, 「The lights that turn off the world.」

I calmly adjusted my running direction and avoided the lights.

You should never approach a place with a blinking light.

What happens if you do?

You disappear.

What happens after you disappear is not written in the 'Ways of Survival'.

Then I witnessed several more Fears.

A woman in a white dress loitering around the edge of the tunnel.

A bike rushed in from the opposite direction I was running in after a while.

I ignored it and continued running.

【This! This...】

Disaster-level Fear, 「War Air Defense.」

That was the name of the Fear I was looking for. This Fear was the only 「Safe Fear」 that the expedition team of the Fear Realm had found in the Entry Area, and it was the only one that provided absolute protection from external enemies as long as they were inside the air defense shelter.

However, the bunker's usage time is 3 hours.

After 3 hours, the user is forcibly ejected.

I planned to somehow get inside and buy time while thinking about the next operation.

However, the bunker was nowhere to be seen.

It was strange. 'Ways of Survival' clearly said it was around here.

Then, information flashed through my head.

「The expedition team was not safe in the last 3 Fear Realm Expeditions.」

What if there were strange signs in the 'Expedition' in this World Mountain?

So what if the Fears in the Fear Realm Entry Area were replaced by things I didn't know about?

So,

「What if the 'War Bunker' no longer exists?」

The sound of collision was heard right behind me. The hot breath of the shark-head tickled the back of my head.

The creature that even [Way of the Wind] couldn't shake off.

Cold sweat ran down my spine.

I couldn't die here.

I ran and ran. My breath was getting heavier and my magic was running out. My heart was throbbing because I was running so desperately.

Wait a minute. Heart?

Woohoohoo.

When did it start? The smartphone I had put in my coat pocket was ringing. It was a call.

I got goosebumps again.

Since I arrived in this world, not once has anyone called me. What kind of Unknown Fear is this?

However, the moment I checked the caller's name on the screen, I thought it was okay if it was a Fear.

「Second Kim Dokja」

I answered the phone.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

815 Episode 40 Fear Realm (7)

---

I couldn't tell if what I was hearing was my heartbeat, voice, or the blood clot from the shark-head.

The call connected with a squelch-squelch sound. I was sure someone was hearing my voice on the other end of the line.

I screamed

"Please save me!"

Now that I was saying it, I felt a little embarrassed. Even so, just a few weeks ago, I was in a situation where I was being chased by the Historical-grade Constellations (not that it was my pure ability), I was being chased by the Narrative-grade Constellations (to be exact, it was the Demon King of Salvation), and I was being chased by <Olympus> and <Asgard> (this is true).

And yet I screamed for help just because of a shark-head?

"Please let me go!"

Is it really a matter of concern? If I do something wrong, I'll die.

"Hello? Kim Dokja-ssi? Can't you hear me? You called me!"

There was another noise through the phone with a tsk tsk.

Was the connection not working yet?

My heart was pounding.

"Second Kim Dokja! Second brother! No—"

First Kim Dokja—The Demon King of Salvation said. Every Kim Dokja has his own 'modifier'. That means that this second one also has a modifier that suits him.

And I already expected what that modifier would be.

"Light and Darkness—"

—Exhausted.

What?

—Heavy.

No, what is it all of a sudden?

—Sad.

I've received many calls in my life, but this was the first time someone had spoken like this.

I thought about the First's explanation about him. the Second was Kim Dokja, who understood sadness better than anyone else.

"Sad is that I'm about to die right now…"

—So I moved.

"Then please save me! Hurry up! Ugh, I'm going to get ripped apart!"

—Ugh. First, after dealing with Kim Dokja, I guess you have gained some inner strength.

Judging from the way he answered, I could guess what kind of Kim Dokja he was.

It seems that the personalities of the First and second sons of this damn Kim Dokja family are all twisted (which is only natural since they all originated from one soul).

"Please save me! Hurry up!"

I realized as I spoke. the Second won't save me. Because he's also a 'Kim Dokja'.

He must be talking about how sad and depressed he is, and he's happily watching my current situation-

—Yes

"Huh?"

—Turn to the right ten steps ahead. Then, put your hand on the tunnel wall.

I wanted to ask him if I would get my head eaten by the shark-head if I did that, but I had no other choice.

Exactly ten steps. I put my hand on the tunnel wall with the feeling of my sole sliding on the tunnel floor. Then.

Wow.

A faint green light began to glow on the tunnel wall.

"This is—"

I knew what it was.

[An 'Unknown Fear' is activated!]

[Disaster-level Fear — 'Sanctuary of the Brave' is activated.]

Sanctuary of the Brave.

It was right.

This was Chungmuro's hidden space, the hidden 'Green Zone'.

Why is this here?

Quaddudddudduk!

At the same time as the question, the head of the Outer God rushing toward me was crushed in the air.

【Eee eeee eeeeee】

The guy glared at me, dripping black blood. It seemed that even the power of that terrifying Outer God couldn't destroy this Safe Zone.

[Disaster-level Fear — 'Sanctuary of the Brave' protects you.]

[Nothing inside the tunnel can harm you for 20 minutes.]

A safe zone declared for 20 minutes.

It was surprising. Nowhere in the 'Ways or Survival' or even in the expedition team's records was this kind of Fear written.

But the Second Kim Dokja knew this place.

"Kim Dokja-ssi?"

—…

"Thank you."

In any case, the Second Kim Dokja saved me.

Maybe the Second is a good guy.

"I, in fact, the First Kim Dokja... I heard various stories from the 'Demon King of Salvation'."

—A depressing story.

"It wasn't a depressing story."

—A story about looking for me.

As expected, the Second Kim Dokja already knew why I came here.

I decided to be honest with him since it had come to this.

"Yes. I need your strength."

—…

"I know very well that the situation is very difficult."

Let's think. How can I persuade the 'Second Kim Dokja'?

I thought about the Second Kim Dokja for a moment. But I had nothing to think about. Because I didn't know much.

"Isn't this all because of the 'First'? Right?"

So I decided to sell off the 'Kim Dokja' that I already knew well.

"the First guy must have done something strange to make you hide here. He wants you to."

I don't know exactly why the Second Kim Dokja hid here.

I can only guess that it was caused by the incident that occurred when the 49% and 51% Kim Dokja fought over the disposal of the 41st world line.

"But listen, Second. If you hide here now, more people will be in trouble."

I don't know if the Second will be convinced by my words.

However, he is a Kim Dokja who 'empathizes well with sadness'.

So I thought that maybe this persuasion would work.

"If you've been watching, you know. There are readers who have forcibly possessed others in this world."

I thought of Dansu ahjussi, Kyung Sein, Cha Sungwoo, and Cha Yerin.

"Many readers have experienced terrible things just because they liked this story. Are you going to leave them alone? Is that one of the endings of the world you ultimately want?"

I know this is a rather cowardly way of talking. The readers possessed others, so it wasn't because of 'Second Kim Dokja'.

"Please lend me your strength. Please help me save them."

Even so, I had to take them hostage. I had to persuade Second Kim Dokja this way.

"So that I can write the ending that I want, that you like..."

—I.

The voice of the Second son on the other end of the phone was truly sad. It was the voice of a person who had been crushed by a sadness, that I could not even fathom, for a very long time.

—I live in a very big house.

"Yes?"

—That's why I can't help you.

Before I could ask what he meant, the Second continued.

—Go back. Before the Recorders notice.

Recorders. I realized that it was referring to the 'Recorder of Fear'.

The moment I was about to ask about it, the Second added.

—Don't try to change this world.

That was the end of the call. With a beep, the call ended.

I blankly looked down at the screen and pressed the call button again.

Beep—beep—

The call was not connected. It felt as if the line with the Second had been cut off.

I reviewed the words of the Second again with a complicated mind.

—I live in a very big house. That's why I can't help you.

What on earth could that mean? Is it a metaphor for the cost, or… maybe.

['Sanctuary of the Brave' has 15 minutes left to last.]

For a brief moment, an imagination flashed through my mind, but I soon shook my head.

Surely not.

'Big house' couldn't mean that.

I pressed the call button several times after that, but the line still wouldn't connect.

['Sanctuary of the Brave' has 14 minutes left to last.]

Now, there were 14 minutes left.

A shark-head that had curled up about a meter away was staring at me. It seemed like the guy knew the principle of this 'Green Zone'.

I guess he was planning to attack me as soon as this 'Safe Zone' was lifted.

I bit my lip and looked down at my smartphone again. Unless Jaehwan-ssi suddenly showed up here, the only way for me to escape this situation was with this 'smartphone'.

Now that I think about it, why is 'Second Kim Dokja's' contact information saved on this phone?

I hastily checked my call log and contact list. And I checked the person I had just called at the top of the contact list.

—Second Kim Dokja.

Even when I looked again, it was definitely saved as 'Second Kim Dokja'.

There was a note below the contact that said:

| |
|---|
| Always sad. |

It was clear who had left that note.

It occurred to me later that this ‘smartphone’ was the relic of the 'Demon King of Salvation'. The person who had saved this 'Second Kim Dokja' contact was the First Kim Dokja—in other words, the Demon King of Salvation himself.

There wasn’t even just one contact.

—Third Kim Dokja

I doubted my eyes for a moment.

No, it was this easy to contact each other as Kim Dokja?

The note written below the third person’s contact was:

Always lazy.

Lazy?

I hesitated for a moment and pressed the call button.

I honestly thought that whether he was lazy or sad, his personality was the main issue. The person I need right now is 'Kim Dokja' who will help me.

Although the Demon King of Salvation told me to find the 'Second' first, if I think about it, there's no need to insist on the Second, right?

Tsk tsk tsk!

I almost dropped the phone call, startled by the current flowing through my ears. The call didn't go through. Does this mean that the probability is not possible? Or is the Third simply lazy and not answering the phone?

In either case, it was clear that the Third couldn't be reached either.

Then all that was left was…

—Me

That was the last name saved in my contacts.

I thought about the meaning of that word for a moment and pressed the call button.

The smartphone I have now belongs to the 'Demon King of Salvation' himself. So who would be answering the phone when I call 'me'?

After a short beep, someone answered the phone.

—You heard my curse, Youngest.

It was a voice that was both annoying and welcome.

---

"Wow, was it this easy to contact you?"

—This is the Fear Realm. This was also recognized as a kind of 'Fear'. Do you think breaking the [Fourth Wall] is that easy?

Was he happy to have a long-awaited conversation?

In a short time, I told the Eldest Kim Dokja everything that had happened up until now and what had just happened.

The Eldest Kim Dokja—the former Demon King of Salvation listened to me for a moment and then answered as follows.

—The Third one doesn't answer the phone well. That guy keeps putting it on airplane mode. It's been a long time since I've made a call.

From what I've heard, it seems like all the Kim Dokjas have a 'smartphone', a sacred relic.

—By the way, is that what the Second one said? A big house?

"Yes, is there a part where he can't do it?"

—Hmm. Then the situation gets a bit serious.

"Why?"

—For now, let's take care of your situation.

['Sanctuary of the Brave' has 5 minutes left to maintain.]

Now, there are only 5 minutes left to maintain the safe zone. There's a monster shark targeting my stories right in front of me, and I have no way to deal with it.

—There really is no way?

"Actually, there is."

[The story 'Demon King of Salvation' nods.]

Kim Dokja doesn't say things like 'there is no way'. Because that's the kind of person he is. He always knows a way that no one else knows, and if there's no way, he'll find a way by any means necessary. And I was the youngest of those Kim Dokjas.

"There are about three ways."

Kim Dokja muttered as if he was in awe.

—Now you're following all the other paths.

"One way. I can become Shin Yoosung by using [Incite]."

Kim Dokja thought for a moment and then asked back.

—Your world's Yoosoung is still weak. And even if you use [Incite], you can't get that character's skills, right?

"It's different for characters with high comprehension. It's possible to get some skills or characteristics with [Incite]. It's only for a short time and it doesn't last as long as [Bookmark], but."

—[Incite] can do that?

It can. In fact, I became 'Shin Yoosung who tamed Queen Mirabad' in 'The Field of Nagak' in that way.

I'm much stronger now than then, so I should be able to transform into a stronger Shin Yoosung. Even if I become the 'Beast Lord', it shouldn't be a problem if I become 'Beast Lord' Shin Yoosung.

"However, there are some side effects, so I'll live thinking I'm really that person for a while."

—That's terrible. What are you going to do if you become Yoosoung?

"I'm going to tame Outer Gods' spirits."

—Will that work?

It won't work. Actually, I knew it wouldn't work. However, even Kim Dokja always says the first method is impossible. It's Kim Dokja's law.

—Right from the third one.

"the second method is to use 'Thousand-Billed Manhwa Jang Haengbok' with 'Thought' to become a dwarf."

—What are you going to do after becoming a dwarf?

"Go into that guy's stomach."

—Aha, getting eaten yourself is the second method?

"That's where it gets important. What would happen if an Outer God were to eat me?"

—Wait. You.

"Do you remember what happened to the 'Dream Eater'?"

Of course, I would take a fatal blow to my incarnation body during the process of being swallowed, but I'll become a 'dwarf' to reduce the damage.

Once I get into that guy's stomach, other skills will take care of the rest, not me.

That's what the [Fourth Wall] is.

"I happen to have a [Fourth Wall], and that Outer God is a guy who wants to eat Kim Dokja like the 'Dream Eater' back then. Everything is perfect."

—You really only think of methods like mine.

"Because I'm the Demon King of Salvation right now."

Actually, the second method was the best method I had imagined.

But Kim Dokja seemed to have a different opinion.

—That won't work.

"Why?"

—Then that shark bastard will also enter the [Fourth Wall].

By the way, the First Kim Dokja was currently inside the [Fourth Wall] I had created.

"You can just live together."

—No. Do you know how good this is? Now, tell me the third method.

"I need your help with the third method."

—Me? You want me to descend or something?

"Can you?"

—No.

"I didn't expect it."

Actually, even if I did, I wouldn't ask. I finally got to hear his voice, but if I do something like that, I might lose the probability and never see him again.

What I wanted to ask was something else.

—Drawing?

"Please help me find some information."

—Information? What information?

"I need information about that shark-head. Aren't you inside the [Fourth Wall] right now?"

The essence of the [Fourth Wall] is a 'library'.

Inside it are the records and history of countless 'Ways of Survival' that Kim Dokja has read.

—Well, that's right. If I knew, the [Fourth Wall] would be a bit different.

But that's the main story, and the [Fourth Wall] that I restored for the kkoma Kim Dokjas were much more incomplete and smaller.

—But as you know, there aren't that many records here. It's not a complete [Fourth Wall].

"I know. But the information I'm looking for will be there."

At least as long as the [Fourth Wall] contains the 'history of Kim Dokja', and as long as I'm a part of that 'Kim Dokja'— the 'record' I'm looking for is definitely there.

"The information I need is the 'Discarded Setting Collection'."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

816 Episode 40 Fear Realm (8)

---

First Kim Dokja left a message telling me to wait a moment and disappeared. It seemed that he was searching the [Fourth Wall].

[There are 3 minutes left for the 'Sanctuary of the Brave'.]

Outside the safe zone, there was a shark-head crouching quietly and glaring at me.

「Discarded Setting Collection」

If my guess is correct, the 'Fears' of this 'Fear Realm' may be discarded or unused settings.

Just look at this 'Sanctuary of the Brave'. Even when I was writing the serial version, the 'Hidden Green Zone' located on the wall of the middle room did not have its own name.

In other words, 'Sanctuary of the Brave' was a 'setting name' that had not yet been used.

If this inference is correct, the 'shark-head' in front of me was also likely one of those settings.

「But is this guy really in my discarded settings?」

I made and deleted so many settings that I couldn't remember clearly, but it was true that there was a folder called 'Discarded Settings'.

It was a folder that mainly contained settings that had been censored by Ji Eunyu, and I thought that if the [Fourth Wall] really was a library that kept the 'records' of Kim Dokja, then those records would also exist.

[There is 1 minute left for 'Sanctuary of the Brave'.]

Kim Dokja still hadn't contacted me.

After thinking for a moment, I prepared myself and pulled out 'Thought'.

「Turn into a Cheonbyeon Manhwa's sleeping suit.」

I didn't tell Kim Dokja, but in fact, I was planning to stick to the 'second method' I mentioned earlier.

「Intentionally getting eaten by the shark head so that the [Fourth Wall] activates.」

Even if the 'Discarded Settings' really did exist, there might not be that 'shark-head' entry. Above all, even if that item existed, I wondered if I could overcome this situation with just a few lines of description.

In short, asking Kim Dokja to find the 'Discarded Settings' was a kind of trick.

If he was watching me, he would definitely disturb me.

But now, I could get eaten without anyone disturbing me.

['Sanctuary of the Brave' has 30 seconds left.]

I broke out in a cold sweat as I thought that the guy's fangs would soon pierce me.

No matter how much the [Fourth Wall] exists, it is not without pain. Wounds are bitter and death is still scary.

The moment I stood up after making up my mind over and over again.

['Sanctuary of the Brave' has 20 seconds left.]

A phone call came.

—Youngest, I found it.

"Was it really there?"

—Then did you think it wasn't there?

But now there were only 10 seconds left.

There was not enough time.

—But the title is a bit different from what you said?

"The title is different?"

My mind became complicated for a moment.

Have I ever made another setting book?

No matter how hard I tried, I couldn’t remember.

—Oh, but it’s definitely written about Fear. There’s also some information I haven’t read yet, and I actually want to read it first…

"Shark-Head! Is there an explanation about the shark-head?"

[The effect of 'Sanctuary of the Brave' disappears.]

The 'Safe Zone' was disappearing before my eyes.

The shark-head that had been crouching opened its mouth as if it had been waiting.

—There.

A screen appeared on the LCD along with Kim Dokja’s voice. It was a screen with information related to 'Shark-Head'.

[Your exclusive trait is activated.]

With a feeling of time slowing down for a moment, I began to read the letters on the LCD.

* Part of this document was modified by SVRP.

SVRP. PW 00843.

Disaster-level Fear — Tooth fin

An Outer God that has reigned over the seas as a Fear for a long time.

A Fear fusion occurred over time immediately after birth. The result of the re-examination of the individual's legend wavelength confirmed a 'chimera' transformation.

…

Continuous worship phenomenon observed from the 8612th planetary system.

An 'Outer God' occurred 1,024 years after birth. The level was adjusted from to 'Disaster-level'.

…

Uses 'Gyo-a-byeong' made from its own fangs and molars as its main weapon.

In some rounds, after obtaining ■■■■, there were cases where the individual went beyond 'Fear'.

During the '2nd Murim Destruction Scenario', the individual's level was temporarily adjusted to 'Natural Disaster-level'.

…

Basically, it has a gentle personality, and except for some extreme cases, it rarely attacks people. The actual risk level was set at less than a Catastrophe.

Is it because of Kim Dokja's characteristics? It took less than a second to read all of that.

But one line of question remained.

「The shark-head is basically 'gentle'.」

That part was the most incomprehensible. Because the 'shark-head' I saw wasn't as gentle as described in the records.

「Then why is this 'shark-head' chasing me?」

The reason was also in the records.

For some reason, the records were damaged by ■, but it wasn't that hard to guess.

[Exclusive characteristic 'Lamarck's Giraffe' activates!]

If everything goes as I thought, there's only one way to break the current situation.

—Youngest! You...!

Kim Dokja shouted as he realized what I was trying to do.

The shark-head opened its mouth right in front of me — the inside of the mouth was completely covered with sharp fangs. The moment those fangs approached and tried to tear me apart, I barely managed to pull out a story fragment from deep inside my body.

"You're looking for this, right?"

A story was fluttering in my hand.

[Story fragment 'Rapid Swim' shudders.]

That must be it. The reason the guy chased me was because of this 'story fragment'.

The fragment that Jaehwan obtained when he defeated another 'shark god'.

—Youngest, are you crazy?

I know. It would be hard to change his mind even if I gave him this now. Still, it was worth a try.

I thought of the traffic light.

The Fear marked as 'a long-necked object' and 'a white ladder'. When I first encountered those symbols, I didn't know that it was a 'traffic light'.

The unknown is scary.

All Fear operates based on that ignorance.

The shark in front of me might be the same.

「Basically, it has a gentle nature,」

What I should believe now is not a sense soaked in Fear, but a dry 'record'.

For example, the history of this entity's life.

「Except for some extreme cases, there are almost no cases of it attacking people.」

Born worshiped on Earth, hated by all, and reigning as a Fear in the sea, 'Tooth Fin'.

I held out the fragment of the story 「Rapid Swim」 toward it.

"I don't know what this means to you, but."

I said while looking at the eerie mouth of the Outer God.

"I'll give it back."

I erased my preconceptions one by one, as if I was erasing letters by pressing backspace.

Instead, I carefully examined the shark-like entity's mouth, fins, and the stitches left here and there. And I imagined the histories that must have been piled up between those wounds.

Just like when Shin Yoosung first tamed the 'Chimera Dragon'.

This entity is not scary. It doesn't hurt people unless you touch it first.

The Outer God seemed to sense something and thrust its snout toward my hand.

Hot steam flowed out of its nose.

For a moment, I felt like I would lose my mind due to the indescribable stench of contaminated stories. But I held on.

Just the fact that the thing didn't attack me right away seemed possible.

Just a little more, just a little more—

[A new Fear has been unlocked!]

And finally, the Tooth Fin's mouth bit my hand.

[Cataclysmic Fear—'Tooth Fin' takes hostility from you.]

I felt the story fragment wrapped around my fingertips disappear as it touched something damp.

[A new interpretation of the Fear has been acquired!]

[Interpretation suggestion: Do not judge by the fin.]

[The Fear Realm accepts your interpretation!]

[The Fear Realm's Exploration level increases greatly!]

…

[You will receive a new 'Story Fragment' as a reward!]

The expression of the Outer God changed bizarrely along with the message pouring out of the air. It looked like it was smiling, but it also looked sad. With that face, the guy left the tunnel with the story fragment in his mouth.

I followed the guy to the end of the tunnel. The guy was endlessly glaring at the pitch-black emptiness of the Fear Realm.

And soon, a bright light came out from his entire body. A few mournful cries echoed. The Outer God swung its dorsal fins and floated above our heads in a large circle.

Kim Dokja and I quietly looked up at the dreamy dance of the Outer God.

—It was solved this easily?

"Did it seem easy?"

Kim Dokja said nothing. In fact, both of us knew that it wasn’t that easy.

—How did you know?

"Back."

—That guy wasn’t a shark.

Kim Dokja’s guess was right. That Outer God was not a 'shark'. It resembled a shark's head and had a shark's dorsal fin on its back, but it was definitely not a shark.

A long, bursting cry.

The dorsal fin of the wiggling creature showed an elaborate suture line.

—Did you see that?

"Yes."

I guess the original form of that Outer God was not a shark but a 'whale'.

I don't know what kind of history it has, but it certainly seemed to be related to the 'Shark Outer God' that Jaehwan killed.

The dorsal fin of the sewn-up creature could have been that of a shark Outer God.

The fragment of the story I gave it, 「Rapid Swim」, might not have belonged to the Outer God I gave it to.

Thinking about it that way, the dance of the creature spinning around in the air felt like a kind of memorial service.

A mourning ritual for an old friend.

"Constellation-ssi."

—Uh.

"This book."

I looked down at the 'Fear Setting Collection' that Kim Dokja had found in the [Fourth Wall].

"Who wrote it?"

This document was not the 'Discarded Setting Collection' that I had requested. The sentences and the structure were different from my narrative style.

I read the document on 'Tooth Fin' once again.

The sentences were written so dryly, as if they were conscious of someone, and were listed in such unnecessary detail.

My heart ached and pounded every time I read them.

Every sentence in this document was telling me. I was not the one who wrote this document.

—Who do you think wrote it?

"I want to read the first sentence."

After a while, a file that Kim Dokja had sent appeared on the screen.

I opened the file with trembling hands.

The moment I saw the title, I chuckled.

Kim Dokja must have had the same expression.

『A Guide to Fear That Even a Squid and Sunfish Can Understand』.

I don't know why this book was inside the [Fourth Wall], but at least one thing was certain.

Kim Dokja and I both know.

There is only one writer in this universe who gives a book title like this.

"As expected!"

—I told you.

She is alive somewhere.

「Han Sooyoung」

Still writing a story for just one reader.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

817 Episode 41 Sophistry (1)

---

「A story exists only because everything cannot be recorded.」

Things that cannot be told disappear outside the scenario, and sometimes they appear in the universe in unfamiliar forms.

They are commonly called Otherworldly Deities, or Outer Gods.

But no name can contain their sorrow, so the recorders call them Fear.」

—Recorder of Fear

---

Snowflakes fell on his face and melted warmly. Gilyoung opened his eyes at the soft sensation.

"Hyung."

As soon as he opened his eyes, a pure white snowy field spread out before him. At the end of the snowy field, the person the boy had been longing for was standing. A person who waved his slender arms lightly, a person whose lonely smile was truly charming.

He smiled as brightly as always, and disappeared into the snow that was as white as his face.

"Dokja hyung!"

A name he thought he would never be able to call again. Gilyoung called it out loud.

"Kim Dokja!"

Memories that came to mind.

「He came here to find Kim Dokja.」

In order to meet that person again, to reunite with each other in complete form, the group chose one ending.

They collected his pieces from the ashen ruins where there was nothing. They accepted the tragedy of participating in the scenarios again.

They went to the recycling center.

"Dokja hyung! Dokja hyung!"

When they first saw him, Lee Gilyoung denied that he was Kim Dokja. He thought that he couldn't call him 'Kim Dokja' simply because he shared a part of his memories.

「To Lee Gilyoung, Kim Dokja was the main character and a god.」

The Kim Dokja he remembered was an omniscient man. A man who knew everything and always made choices that defied people's expectations.

A man who could give a grasshopper to an insignificant boy in the midst of the subway tragedy where everyone was killing each other.

Kim Dokja was that kind of person.

「That's why the '41st Round' was too weak to become Kim Dokja.」

He resembled Kim Dokja's face and speech, but no matter how you looked at him, he was a weak person who couldn't protect the moon alone.

Lee Gilyoung always watched him from the shadow of the scenarios, afraid that he might die.

The more he looked, the more different he was from Kim Dokja.

He saved people without knowing that he was dying, and fought for people who weren't worth keeping alive, and he couldn't even do anything about the scenario right in front of him, but only looked into the distant future with his eyes.

After all, that's not Dokja hyung.

While thinking that to himself, Lee Gilyoung continued to watch his story.

He watched him slowly make his way through the scenario, and he saw the number of people following him increase one by one.

Watching his story, which took a strangely different path from the path that <Kim Dokja Company> had walked, Lee Gilyoung often had a thought.

「Was Dokja hyung a strong person from the beginning?」

The Kim Dokja in his memories was a complete person from the beginning.

A person who held all the world's records in his hands. But was Kim Dokja really that kind of person? Wasn't that actually an illusion he had created?

Maybe Dokja hyung also wanted to run away every time.

He might not have wanted to fight.

He might have been afraid of death.

It must have been more difficult for him than anyone else to pioneer a new path that no one had walked before.

「"Just wait a little."」

Even so, Kim Dokja always fought with the illusions of his companions on his back.

He is the omniscient Kim Dokja.

He is the Kim Dokja who always has to sacrifice alone.

Lee Gilyoung hated Kim Dokja who tried to handle everything alone. He hoped that he wouldn't make sacrifices. He hoped that he wouldn't be left alone. Even so.

Or perhaps because of that,

「"I'm going to write that sentence from now on."」

When the man made the same choice as that 'Kim Dokja', Lee Gilyoung had no choice but to admit it.

"Don't go! Don't do it!"

That person is Kim Dokja.

"Please! Don't do it!"

The Kim Dokja he was looking for was always the Kim Dokja who left him. In that irony, Gilyoung shouted and shouted at the disappearing figure of Kim Dokja.

[The story 'Demon King of Salvation' begins its storytelling again.]

I must not let that story be recorded. I must not let Kim Dokja die again.

The moment he reached out to him again.

「"You've worked hard. You'll go back now."」

The answer that came back was that of the supervisor.

He was the old man who brought Gilyoung to the 'Recycling Center.'

"No."

Gilyoung growled and snapped. He still hadn't done his job. He hadn't saved his hyung from another world.

However, the head of the Recycling Center—the 'Mass Producer'—had shook his head.

「"The story between him and you is already over."」

"What nonsense are you talking about."

Their story wasn't over.

Kim Dokja was still his main character and the god of this world.

「"Didn't Han Sooyoung already conclude the story where he was the main character?"」

The moment he heard those words, Han Sooyoung suddenly came to mind. Yes. Han Sooyoung was there.

She might be able to do it. She could change all these records.

But this time, the Mass Producer shook his head.

「"Another story has already begun."」

Lee Gilyoung wanted to ask what that meant.

He is still here.

<Kim Dokja Company> is still looking for Kim Dokja. So the story is not over. Their roles continue.

「"You, don’t you know anything yet?"」]

The mass-producer felt sorry for Lee Gilyoung and reached out and touched his cheek.

「"No, maybe it would be better to continue not knowing."」

When he opened his eyes again, he saw a pure white snowy field. When he looked closely, it was the ceiling of the hospital room.

He felt something flowing down the corner of his eye. At first glance, a hand that felt indifferent wiped away his tears.

"Idiot. Are you awake?"

When he turned his head, Shin Yoosung was looking at him. Lee Gilyoung looked up at the girl with blank eyes. The boy and girl looked at each other for a long time.

Lee Gilyoung said.

"We failed."

This time, the two children failed to save Kim Dokja.

---

<Kim Dokja Company> gathered together for the first time.

"Gilyoung. Don't you have something to say to the people?"

Lee Gilyoung was called out by Yoo Sangah's words. The boy sighed deeply as he endured the gazes of the group looking at him.

"C-Can't we do it later? My limbs are so numb right now, and my neck hurts a little..."

It wasn't a lie. Lee Gilyoung suffered damage to various parts of his body due to the effects of the aftershock of the probability.

Fortunately, Abaddon, his sponsor, had taken some of the aftershock, so it wasn't a wound that could have killed him.

However, this time, he couldn't make excuses about being sick.

"This time, you're not the only one who got hurt."

Hearing Yoo Sangah's cold voice for the first time in a long time, Gilyoung shrugged his shoulders and looked around at the group.

Yoo Sangah, Lee Seolhwa, Shin Yoosung, and that dark guy… No one seemed particularly hurt.

Could it be that they were hurt?

"Oh really, just forgive me. The kid got into an accident."

Someone was coming in through the creaking door to the hospital room.

Shin Yoosung, startled, got up from her seat and supported the person, who was staggering.

"Unni, what should I do if you come out already?"

"Oh, why? I'm okay. I'm all better."

"What's better? Seolhwa said earlier that you need to rest—"

Gilyoung opened his eyes in surprise.

Lee Jihye was waving her right hand while her whole body was wrapped in bandages.

"Unni?"

"What."

"No, why all those bandages?"

"What."

She can wrap bandages. But the problem was that she had bandages all over her body, or more precisely, the fact that she was 'bandaged' was the problem.

There were countless ways to treat wounds in this world. There was a medicine that would completely heal the wound the next day if you took one pill and fell asleep, and there was an ointment that would quickly regenerate new skin if you just lightly applied it.

Despite the existence of such items, Lee Jihye was wearing bandages. This meant that her injury could not be treated without bandaging.

"Why are you all looking at me like that? I'm really okay. I'm fine."

Lee Jihye, who was saying that, seemed to have difficulty raising both arms. After a moment of struggling and receiving criticism from Shin Yoosung, Lee Jihye slumped down on her chair and continued speaking.

"Don't be so mean to him, everyone. It's okay for a child to have an accident. That's how they grow up."

Only then did Lee Gilyoung realize why Lee Jihye was so hurt. Before he knew it, his hands were covered in cold sweat. He bit his lips. If it were normal, he would have snapped, "No, who would have come to save you for so long?" but this time, he couldn’t say that. Even at a glance, Lee Jihye’s wounds looked really serious.

"Noona..."

Lee Jihye giggled at Lee Gilyoung’s unusual attitude.

"Hey, it’s really nothing. It’s just that I didn’t fight well because it’s been a while."

"…Who did that?"

"Why? If you know, you’ll take revenge on them."

"Tell me."

"The Spear That Draws the Boundary of the Seas."

"Poseidon."

Lee Gilyoung bit his lips.

Lee Jihye coughed lightly and laughed, wiping her nose.

"Hey, but isn't it a good thing that I fought Poseidon to this extent? Even so, he's still the 3rd god of <Olympus>."

"…"

"I told you I couldn't move with [Ghost Fleet]? I shot hundreds of rounds per second while changing the story, and that old man's expression turned pale and—"

Lee Gilyoung couldn't raise his drooping head.

He wanted to ask. Why did she come all this way to save him?

He wanted to tell her. It would have been okay if she hadn't come. He would have somehow come back alive.

She didn't have to get hurt like that.

"Gilyoung, I know what you're thinking."

Lee Jihye spoke to Lee Gilyoung. With her bandaged hands, she wrapped her arms around the boy's shoulders, who had grown quite a bit.

"I was just like you."

Lee Jihye looked at the group in place of the proud boy. And she bowed her head, creaking with her unbending back.

"So I'm sorry."

As Lee Jihye apologized on his behalf, something inside Lee Gilyoung that he had been holding back burst out. Lee Gilyoung, who had gotten up with a jerk, fell to his knees on the floor.

"I was wrong. I'm sorry for worrying you. I'm really, really sorry."

Lee Seolhwa sat the children down, who were apologizing repeatedly.

"Calm down, both of you. Have a drink of this each."

There was no one there who blamed the children. Not Yoo Sangah, not Lee Seolhwa, not Yoo Joonghyuk.

In fact, they all knew. They would have acted the same way if they were in the children's shoes.

"It's okay since they're alive."

The one who said those words was Yoo Joonghyuk.

The fact that Yoo Joonghyuk said those words was enough to make the group look at him in surprise.

Yoo Joonghyuk frowned and added.

"So let's stop talking about unnecessary things. I want to hear why we're here."

Yoo Sangah nodded.

In fact, they didn't gather here just to call the kids and scold them. There was something much more important.

"I have two pieces of news."

"Say it."

"One is news about Heewon and Hyunsung."

Jung Heewon and Lee Hyunsung, the children gulped at the familiar names they had finally heard.

"I think the two have finally made up their minds."

Determination.

The group's expressions brightened at Yoo Sangah's expression.

The first to speak was Shin Yoosung.

"Are Hyunsung and Heewon-unnie here too?"

"Where are they? The two of them—"

However, no matter how much they looked around, they couldn't see the two of them. No matter how much they raised their alertness or sharpened their senses, they couldn't feel any sign of them.

"Ah."

With Shin Yoosung's sigh, the group realized.

Just as they chose their 'ending', the other two also chose their 'ending'.

Yoo Sangah nodded and said.

"The two went to a 'different ending' than us."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

818 Episode 41 Sophistry (2)

Lee Hyunsung and Jung Heewon.

The two chose a 'different ending' from the others. It was obvious what ending they chose.

The two would head to 'the world where Kim Dokja is'.

Lee Jihye licked her lips.

"Then...we won't be able to see each other anymore?"

Yoo Sangah hesitated for a moment before answering.

"It's not certain. It's similar to the fact that the world line branched off. We might meet again.

"That's not certain either, is it?"

Yoo Sangah didn't answer.

Lee Jihye muttered, accepting the silence as affirmation.

"If we had made that choice..."

"Then we wouldn't have met the ahjussi of the 41st Round."

Shin Yoosung's strong voice cut off Lee Jihye's words.

"Heewon-unnie and Hyunsung-ahjussi chose the best for themselves, and we chose the best for ourselves."

No one in the group blamed Jung Heewon and Lee Hyunsung. Rather, they hoped that they would be happy for having made different choices.

The fact that each of the group chose different endings was simply a matter of how they understood Kim Dokja. The 'Kim Dokja' they chose was different, but the fact that they all liked Kim Dokja remained the same.

"Maybe that's the same for Dokja ahjussi."

The group responded to Shin Yoosung's words. They all stared at the screen on the wall. The records of the 'Recycling Center' were flowing out on the screen.

Now, the 41st Kim Dokja, who has become the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

His squinted eyes, which made it impossible to tell what he wanted to see or where he was looking, were reflected all over the screen.

Lee Jihye muttered.

"If that's ahjussi's choice and the world he wanted to see..."

Even without saying more, everyone already knew what she would say next.

"Maybe we're characters who don't fit in this story."

The one who broke the deep, short silence that had fallen for a moment was Yoo Joonghyuk.

"You're still saying such pathetic things. I'm not curious about what kind of story he wants to see."

"Why is the master trying to intervene in that story?"

"Let's find that guy who made things so complicated..."

Is it because Yoo Joonghyuk has changed a little now that he doesn't say until the end that he will kill him?

Yoo Joonghyuk frowned as if he didn't like the original price and looked back at Yoo Sangah and urged her.

"What about the second news? Didn't you say you have two things to tell us?"

She already said one piece of news. The whereabouts of Jung Heewon and Lee Hyunsoung.

But there was still one more thing left.

Instead of telling the remaining one right away, Yoo Sangah looked at the group and said this.

"I also agree with what Joonghyuk-ssi said. I respect the life of Dokja-ssi, but I think it's too early for us to give up."

"Do you think we still have a role to play, Unnie?"

"I don't know about that..."

Yoo Sangah continued speaking while looking at the squinted eyes of Kim Dokja, who was slowly growing bigger in the 41st Round.

"If this world is the dream that Dokja-ssi is dreaming, I think there must be a place for us too. I don’t know if it’s a villain or a good guy.”

"If it’s Sooyoung, I think she’ll use us as villains."

Lee Seolhwa added cheerfully, and the group smiled bitterly.

Yoo Sangah nodded and continued.

"The second news is about Han Sooyoung."

“Is Sooyoung awake?”

Han Sooyoung hadn’t woken up since fighting the Outer God to save Kim Dokja in the 41st Round.

"Not yet."

"Really? Where is Sooyoung right now?"

"I don’t know exactly, but… It seems certain that something happened to Sooyoung."

Yoo Sangah took out her notebook from her bosom. Everyone here knew what the notebook was.

It was Han Sooyoung's notebook.

Han Sooyoung used it to write the story of Kim Dokja and <Kim Dokja Company>.

At the moment when the eyes of the group were filled with longing, Yoo Sangah, who had picked up the notebook, opened a file.

The story of Kim Dokja that Han Sooyoung had written some time ago.

Familiar letters that they hadn't seen in a long time were unfolding before their eyes.

"Huh?"

But the condition of the manuscript was strange.

「■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■…」

The content was covered in noise.

"W-why is it like this all of a sudden? Is the computer broken?"

It wasn't just a feeling of a breakdown. Yoo Joonghyuk said, checking the sparks fluttering faintly on the manuscript.

"The story is contaminated."

Story contamination. It was a symptom that often appeared in old stories. The context of the story becomes tangled or parts are lost.

But what does it mean that the contamination occurred in this manuscript of all things?

"When did it start like this?"

"Since the start of the 41st Round."

"What caused it?"

Yoo Sangah sighed lightly at Yoo Joonghyuk's question and opened her mouth.

"From now on, it's my hypothesis, so don't take it too seriously."

"Tell me."

"You all know how this world works, right?"

Lee Jihye nodded, scratching her cheek.

"Well, Sooyoung-unnie explained it to me once before..."

"I heard that Sooyoung-unnie wrote about Joonghyuk-ssi, and that Dokja read it, and that's how the world came to exist. Isn't it?"

Lee Jihye tilted her head at Shin Yoosung's words.

"Then does that mean that Sooyoung wrote the book first and that this world existed?"

"No. Sooyoung went back in time and wrote the book based on the things that happened with Dokja-hyung, so Dokja-hyung read it first."

"What are you talking about? How can he read a book that no one wrote?"

"He can read it because he's a god."

Yoo Sangah said, stopping the bickering children.

"There's no point in measuring who's late and who's early. As you know, this world is made so that you can't tell the beginning and the end."

One day, Han Sooyoung said something similar.

This world is a 'square circle'.

A world that exists only as a 'text' that humans cannot imagine, with a continuity that is impossible in terms of time and space.

"So what does that mean?"

"A story that starts later can be placed on a faster timeline."

A story that starts later can be faster. The group already knew the example of that.

"Like Joonghyuk’s 1,863rd round."

"The story of Kim Dokja, who existed after the 'Ways of Survival', changing Yoo Joonghyuk's last round."

Lee Seolhwa nodded as if she understood.

"Is something similar happening in the 41st Round right now?"

"That's right. To be exact..."

Yoo Sangah scrolled down and turned the pages of the manuscript.

Chapter 1, chapter 2, chapter 3, chapter 4…

The pages that kept turning stopped at some point.

Chapter 551. That was the last chapter of Kim Dokja and <Kim Dokja Company> written by Han Sooyoung, and the end of that world.

But the moment she turned the next manuscript.

"Huh?"

A page that had never existed before appeared.

The bewildered group asked.

"Wait a minute. What is this?"

The manuscript that had clearly been blank after the conclusion was filled in with letters.

Yoo Sangah said.

"The story of the 41st Round is being written."

"Is Sooyoung-unnie writing the latter part?"

Even the manuscript was being written and erased repeatedly.

If Han Sooyoung had said that she would always be a writer for one person, there was a possibility that she was continuing to write this manuscript somewhere.

"Some parts seem to have been written by Sooyoung. But not all parts are like that."

"There was someone else who wrote the manuscript besides Sooyoung?"

"When you read it, the writing style is not consistent in each part. The theme is also subtly different. I don't know how to express it exactly, but..."

Yoo Sangah paused for a moment to think about her words before opening her mouth again.

"It looks like several writers are competing over a single manuscript."

Yoo Joonghyuk thought for a moment and asked.

"Who and why did they do that?"

"I don't know that much, but this is what I think."

Yoo Sangah read the latest sentences that were being written in real time.

Looking at the lines being written in real time, Yoo Sangah thought.

Is this something she's writing because she's saying it? Or is it something she's saying because it's already been written?

"There are people who want to steal the 'stories' we've built."

It didn't matter either way.

What was certain was that this gave her and <Kim Dokja Company> something to do.

"To be exact, I'm talking about 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 written by Sooyoung."

---

【Do you really think he's qualified to be a 'Recorder'?】

---

I read Han Sooyoung's 『Guide to Fear Spirits That Even a Squid and Sunfish Can Understand』 with Kim Dokja.

As the title suggests, It was a 'setting book' written in easy-to-understand sentences.

However, there was one catch.

For example.

> *Viewing this document has been prohibited by SVRP.
>
> SVRP. PW 0.
>
> ■■ ■■■ ■
>
> ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■…

Similar traces remained throughout the book. It felt as if multiple editors had intervened in a single manuscript and modified or deleted parts here and there.

— It seems like someone edited the manuscript written by Han Sooyoung.

Kim Dokja had a similar opinion.

The question is who would do such a thing.

Of course, we had a hard time guessing the answer.

— They must probably be someone who records 'Fear'.

「Recorder of Fear.」

But why did they touch Han Sooyoung's manuscript?

Why was this manuscript in [Fourth Wall] in the first place?

As of now, there were almost no clues that could be guessed. Since there were no clues, it was time to read what we could find out —Though there was no time to read everything.

"But let's take a look at the basics one by one."

If Kim Dokja was next to me, he would have smiled his signature grin. I could picture it. We are the second-best type addicts in this universe, so

"What should we check first?"

—We need to first examine which Fears are weak and which are strong.

"If we don't want to die."

That's what I said, but in fact, there was another reason.

Who are we? Aren't we just fragments of Kim Dokja, who drew 'Ways of Survival Power Balance Diagrams' during every break?

According to the 'Guide to Fear Spirits that Even a Squid and SunfishCan Understand', the 'Fear' of Fear Spirits is broadly defined into four levels.

Fear of a Catastrophe.

Fear of a Disaster.

Fear of a Natural Disaster.

Fear of the End.

The 'Traffic Lights' and 'Uniformity' of that I encountered before are the most primitive Fears.

It was a 'Catastrophe-level'.

「Catastrophe-level Fear refers to 'Fear' that regularly causes deaths of at least 0 to 50 people.」

「The cause of Catastrophe-level Fear is mainly a mutated Narrative-grade 'Story'.」

"It was based on a story after all."

It was only then that the overall picture of the Fear began to gradually become clear.

「This public forum is made up of a huge 'discarded story'.」

The stories that were not properly covered in the main story, those stories came together to form one huge world, and that is this 'public forum'.

Then, it felt like a cluster of letters waiting for the surrounding pale darkness to be called out.

「Disaster-level Fear refers to a 'Fear' that causes regular or irregular deaths of at least 50 to 10,000 people.」

「The cause of Disaster-level Fear is mainly a mutated 'Legendary Story'.」

Disaster-level Fear is a legendary story.

So that means that 'Shark-Head', or 'Tooth Fin', is a Fear based on a legendary story.

When I looked back, the Tooth Fin stopped and shook its large tail, looking at me.

I don't know why, but right after eating the story I gave it, it had been following me at a certain distance. Fortunately, it didn't seem to have any hostile intentions.

I continued reading the book. I read it.

「A Natural Disaster-level Fear refers to a level of 'Fear' that causes a whole world to go crazy.」

「The cause of a Natural Disaster-level Fear is mainly a mutated 'Quasi Mythical-Grade Story.'」

According to the records, the 'Tooth Fin' that tried to destroy Murim was also temporarily recorded as a 'Natural Disaster-level.'

If the destruction of Murim is a 'Natural Disaster-level,' then what about the next level, 'End-level,' will it be? Will Jaehwan-ssi, an outsider, appear?

Unfortunately, most of the descriptions about 'End-level Fear' were covered with ■.

It seems that the recorders of this contest controlled the description, and it seems that they couldn't control all the descriptions in the picture, so there was one piece of advice that I was grateful for.

「The End-level Fear is loyal to the 'End Area,' and no matter what happens, it will never enter the 'Beginning Area.'」

"If Han Sooyoung wrote this much..."

—She means you absolutely must not go.

"Since it's so clear, I feel like I'll definitely go, so I'm worried."

—That's always the case with Ways of Survival.

"Can't you at least tell me that I don't have to go?"

Kim Dokja giggled.

—But you still have to go to the Middle Area. That's how you can find the Second.

The Middle Area.

Even in the beginning area, there's a monster like 'Tooth Fin', so if I go to the Middle Area, there'll definitely be something worse.

"Can't I just call him again?"

—No.

"Why? Did you fight with the Second?"

—That's...

It must be because of the reason he mentioned before.

The Demon King of Salvation said so. The other Kim Dokjas didn't agree with the 'First Kim Dokja's' intentions. If that's the case, there must have been some kind of misunderstanding and conflict. It's important to resolve that.

"This is what I think. Kim Dokja and Kim Dokja need to talk."

—That's a good point.

"So let's talk."

—He has to answer the phone to talk. I told you that you can't make a phone call here.

"It worked just now, right?"

—That's okay because he called, but if we want to call, we have to go somewhere else.

"Where else?"

—You already know that place.

I thought for a moment and then asked.

"Is it the Time Fault in the dark dimension?"

—That's right.

Is that the place?

The place where the Supreme King Yoo Joonghyuk, the fallen swordsman Namgung Minyoung, and the Paradoxical Baekcheong Kyrgios were reborn as 'Transcendents'.

The cradle and grave of the martial artists who dream of the stars in the sky.

—The entrance to that place is from the 'Middle Area'.

In the end, I have to get to the Middle Area anyway.

I thought it was far away. I had passed countless Traffic Lights and all sorts of Catastrophic Fearrs on my way here. I had almost died several times. How many more times would I have to go through something similar in the future? Should I experience it?

[An 'Unknown Fear' has found you!]

That was when a bright light shone from afar.

A long object approached with a dull roar and a rattling sound.

Wait, that thing…

—Hmm. That’s it.

A subway was running in the darkness without even a railroad.

If you think about it, there is a world where Fear related to 'Traffic Lights' exists, so it’s not strange that there is Fear related to the 'Subway'.

That’s certainly understandable.

The problem was the announcement that came with the approaching subway.

【We will do our best to make the subway a comfortable and convenient place that puts the safety of our customers first.】

The moment I heard the announcement, my bones throbbed and my stomach rumbled.

【Passengers heading to…, please take this train.】

The appearance of the train seemed somehow familiar. The moment we saw the train name brightly shining on the front, Kim Dokja and I muttered at the same time.

“Really. It's driving me crazy."

—I agree.

That train was the very same train that Kim Dokja and Yoo Joonghyuk rode in the 'First Scenario.'

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

819 Episode 41 Sophistry (3)

—Youngest.

"I will never do that."

I said, looking at the approaching subway lights.

"It's obvious what's going to happen inside, so why would I do that?"

Again, that subway was definitely the train from the 'First Scenario'. The train where all the people inside the train were annihilated, the very train where the 「Proof of Value Scenario」 started.

—It could just be a train. If you take that, you'll be able to get there faster.

"It's Bulkwang Station 3434? Have you forgotten that important train number?"

—What kind of person remembers something like that? And aren't you being too nervous?

What happened there was only the 'First Scenario'.

Kim Dokja's words made sense.

What happened there was only the 'First Scenario'. This is a story from when my body average was 1. And now, I have surpassed 100 in comprehensive ability a long time ago, and I am strong enough to fight even the most great constellations.

"You seem to have forgotten, but this is the 'Fear Realm'. Do you think that is simply the stage for the First Scenario?"

I haven't checked the Fear level of that subway yet, but some 'Fears' in this world have strong enough control to control the power of the constellations. The Traffic Lights that were Disaster-level Fears were that strong, so what if that subway is even worse?

What if the First Scenario is about to break out inside there, and the suppression power of that scenario is strong enough to crush even me?

—Hmm, Youngest.

"I won't ride it."

—No, listen to me.

"I won't ride it."

—That's why I said not to say that...

"I said not to ride it."

—Don't say that! That's the trigger!

"Huh?"

[An 'Unknown Fear' has been unlocked.]

[Catastrophic Fear 'Strong Negation is Strong Affirmation' is activated!]

What?

['Strong Negation is Strong Affirmation's effect is realized!]

The moment I blinked, I was already on the subway.

---

rlaehrwk41: Is Yoo Joonghyuk on board too?

rlaehrwk37: Be quiet

…

【Who just said that?】

---

If I think about it, 「Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint」 is a story that has a deep connection with subway. The First Scenario starts in the subway, and the final scenario ends in the subway.

But now that I'm on that subway, the subway background is starting to feel metaphorical.

Maybe all Kim Dokjas are destined to never be able to escape this damn subway line.

Thump.

I looked around while holding onto the subway handle. The inside of the subway was an ordinary scene from the commute home that you can see anywhere. People sitting in the seats, people standing. Everyone was looking down and concentrating on their smartphones as if they had made a promise.

Are those people real or fake?

I don’t know. After entering the state of Fear, I can’t really tell what is fantasy and what is reality.

I glanced at those people, then quietly turned my gaze and checked the subway car number.

3807.

As expected, it was 'that car' that Kim Dokja had ridden. Damn it.

—Youngest.

The phone call that had been disconnected for a moment was reconnected.

I asked urgently.

"What the hell was that? Why was I suddenly on the subway—"

The moment I answered, the passengers' eyes were all focused on me. My hair stood on end, and there was a ringing in my ears. Along with a slight dizziness…

「Stand ing on the sub way」

A strong feeling of nausea…

「Tal king on the phone」

It felt like the world was turning upside down…

「That's rude.」

[Exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' activates!]

I hung up the phone in a hurry, and the gazes that had been looking at me returned to where it was. The dizziness disappeared and my vision returned to its original position.

I took a few deep breaths to calm my startled heart, then selected 'me' from my smartphone contacts and sent a text message.

'Let's talk like this.'

Thankfully, I got a reply.

—Let's do that.

'Please explain the situation briefly. I don't understand what's going on.'

—The story that brought you into the subway is a Disaster-level Fear that roams the Fear Realm. The Fear name is 'Strong Negation is Strong Affirmation.'

'This subway is a different Fear, right?'

—That's right.

'Why did that Fear show up now?'

—You were just unlucky. Well, there's something a little uneasy, but I'll talk about that later.

'No, don't talk about it later.'

—Youngest, since it’s come to this, let’s think positively. What’s a subway? It’s just a means of transportation.

'In this story, the subway is a direct route to the underworld.'

—Don’t think so negatively. Maybe we can get to the place we want faster.

'Please search for related information quickly. Isn’t this subway in the book written by Han Sooyoung?'

Actually, I could search for it and read it, but I couldn’t do it right now. It’s because my stomach was still upset from the aftereffects of the stares I received before.

Fortunately, Kim Dokja seemed to have guessed my condition.

—Wait a minute.

After talking up to that point, I raised my head and saw pitch-black darkness flowing outside the subway window. As I stared at that darkness, the events that would happen in the future came to mind one after another.

「The First Scenario began in this subway car.」

Then a question suddenly occurred to me. If all Fears are 'discarded stories', why does this subway exist in this 'Fear Realm'?

Because it has lost its use in the scenario?

Or maybe it's the opposite.

For example, if this train existed here before the 'First Scenario'.

My short doubt disappeared along with the vibration of my smartphone.

—Youngest, sit down for now.

It was clear that Kim Dokja was telling me to sit down and calm down.

I was currently standing, holding onto the handrail.

And in front of me were 'two empty seats' waiting for me.

I looked down at those seats and replied.

'No.'

—Why?

'It's suspicious at first glance, so why would I sit there?'

Again, this was the subway on the way home from work. The way home from work.

How could there be two empty seats like that on the way home from work?

Even among the people standing, no one wanted to sit in those seats.

—Then you should sit down more. Then something will start.

So I hope it doesn’t start— I thought to myself, but my body was moving without me realizing it.

Even though my answer was crooked, I also knew that sitting there was the right decision.

No. More precisely,

This would be more 'fun'.

I thought that this is how people gradually become more interested in something, but the moment I sat down, my body magically became comfortable.

'Wow, this.'

I really couldn't express it in words other than the feeling of sitting in an empty seat on the subway on the way home from work.

—I found the related file. I'll put it up for you, so read it.

I immediately started reading the file that Kim Dokja sent me.

| |
|---|
| * Part of this document was modified by SVRP.SVRP. PW ?Disaster-level Fear— Subway on the way home |

'Traffic Lights' and 'Tooth Fins'… I thought that the 'PW' that was mentioned in every document was an abbreviation for 'Parallel World'—in other words, 'Parallel Universe'.

The parallel world line of Ways of Survival is based on the return episode of Yoo Joonghyuk, so if it's PW 041, it would mean the 41st Round, and if it's PW 0, it would mean the 0th Round.

This time, it's expressed as '?', so it seems that this Fear doesn't have a set Round.

Anyway, I decided to keep reading.

> A mysterious train on the way home that often appears throughout the Fear Realm. It takes the passengers to the 'desired place' in the Fear Realm.

Kim Dokja's guess was right.

It was a 'real means of transportation', right?

But the explanation continued after that.

There's no way an ordinary means of transportation would have this many detailed explanations.

I already don't want to read it.

> Out of the total 872 recorded statistics, the probability of successfully arriving at the destination using the train was 4.5%.
>
> All passengers who failed to arrive at the destination went missing.

I cursed inwardly.

I quickly turned the page.

Yeah, even if only 4.5% survived, they're still alive.

Fortunately, there was a clear record.

A normal clear record for the 'Fear' was observed in PW 0838.

[Click here!]

When I clicked the LCD, a scene flowed out in real time before my eyes. The inside of a burning subway. The screams of people and bloodstains spread here and there.

It reminded me of the First Scenario. I heard someone muttering on the screen.

「"You idiots."」

I only heard their voices, but I knew who they were.

Unfortunately, that was the end of the visual aid.

I continued reading.

If even one passenger in a certain car is killed, the car is immediately declared a 'Crime Zone'. The crime zone continues until the last passenger is left.

…

The surviving passengers of the 'Crime Zone' are summoned to the front car of the train.

The 'Crime Zone' is declared again in the front car, and continues until the last passenger is left.

The last passenger can communicate with the 'Engineer' to get off at the desired area of the Fear Realm.

PW 0838, the last passenger.

King Yoo Joonghyuk.

I knew it.

Since he's 'Yoo Joonghyuk', he could clear the Fear in this way.

Let's see. Are there any other records?

> PW 0912.
>
> Confirmed deaths of all 48 named passengers, including Payhu and Nirobana.
>
> PW 0912 Final passenger.
>
> Breaking the Sky Sword Saint Namgung Minyoung.

Like disciple, like master.

> PW 01042 Final passenger.
>
> God of wine and Ecstasy.

Wait a minute, the scale is getting bigger, and there's even a round where the 12 gods of Olympus are participating?

> PW 01284 Final passenger.
>
> Abyssal Black Flame Dragon.

A cold sweat ran down the back of my neck.

I heard a loud noise from somewhere and turned around to see a battle already taking place in the front passenger compartment.

A man was annihilating all the passengers in the passenger compartment. The heads of the passengers who rushed in like evil spirits rolled on the floor like toys.

A wide back that reminded me of Yoo Joonghyuk, his disheveled hair, and his familiar sword. I could clearly feel it even through the entrance. That's a constellation.

A powerful constellation at that.

A constellation I know very well.

—Goryeo Swordsman.

'I think it's right.'

Goryeo Swordsman Cheok Jungyeong is on this train.

No, why on earth.

—That guy is always looking for ways to become stronger. This isn't the first time he's been in the Fear Realm.

Wait.

I thought about asking him for help, but when I thought about it, it was suicide.

Once the 'Crime Zone' starts, there is only one final survivor on the train.

No matter how kind Goryeo Swordsman is, he would cut my head off at the crucial moment.

Following that, a commotion was heard from the other car along with a loud noise.

It seemed that the 'Crime Zone' had already broken out in most cars except our car.

Despite the commotion, the passengers in car 3807 were calm. People who calmly buried their heads in their smartphones as if they couldn't hear the commotion.

My mind was getting a little complicated.

Should I also start a 'Crime Zone' like this?

—Can you win a fight with Goryeo Swordsman?

'I can't win.'

—Then just stay still.

'What if I can't get out?'

—It's better than being killed. And you haven't read much yet. Read the rest.

It was easy to see why Kim Dokja had told me to keep reading.

PW ■■ and, PW ■■■ additional clear records observed.

It was confirmed that the survivors of the corresponding round did not use the 'Crime Zone'.

There is! A record of clearing without using the 'Crime Zone'.

But the records that followed completely betrayed my expectations.

[This record has been censored in accordance with the spoiler prevention policy.]

[This record has been censored in accordance with the spoiler prevention policy.]

'Are you kidding me?'

—Still, it's not like there was no harvest at this point.

Kim Dokja is right. At least there is a clear way to escape without causing the 'Crime Zone'. Just confirming that is enough.

'Is there a time limit for this Fear?'

—There is no such record. It says that on average, trains that once had a 'Crime Zone' would clear all the cars within 30 minutes.

30 minutes.

I asked while organizing my thoughts.

'Isn't there a way you can think of?'

—Well? However… there's something I'm a little curious about.

'It's another one.'

—Why did this train recognize 'Crime Zone' as the correct interpretation?

The moment I was about to answer what that meant, a symbol appeared on the LCD screen, indicating that the communication signal was not being received, with a slight spark.

Why now?

To be honest, I was flustered, but since this wasn't the first time I'd experienced this, I decided to stay calm.

I can't just borrow Kim Dokja's wisdom forever.

The Fears of this Fear Realm were unfamiliar to Kim Dokja. Neither he nor I knew the answer.

「Why 'Crime Zone' could be the correct interpretation.」

I thought about the hint Kim Dokja left at the end.

All Fears have an 'interpretation' that is connected to the way they originated. Just like the Traffic Lights and the Tooth Fins.

Then why did this train recognize 'Crime Zone' as an interpretation?

Is there some kind of probability between the train and violence?

No matter how much I think about it, I can't figure it out.

No matter what conditions related to violence I think of, I don't think they go well with this subway.

If the subway on the way home from work recognized 'Crime Zone' as an interpretation, there must be a reason for it.

My head is starting to hurt.

It wouldn't have been Kim Dokja, but it would have been nice if there was someone who could help me a little.

Like Yoo Sangah. Wait a minute.

Yoo Sangah?

The moment I thought about that, one of the doors on the train opened and closed. It happened so quickly that I couldn't even think of running towards it.

A new passenger who had just boarded was standing in front of the door. Their eyes were looking around anxiously.

It was a character I knew.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

820 Episode 41 Sophistry (4)

Her eyes widened as she found me sitting in the seat.

"You."

Her blond hair swayed in the wind. Her eyes shook as if she was agitated.

I waved my hand lightly at her and smiled.

"It's been a while."

I never thought we would meet in a place like this.

Her expression hardened at my greeting, and she hesitated for a moment before approaching me briskly.

"Cheon Inho."

The person who called me 'Cheon Inho'.

"Why are you here?"

Prophet Anna Croft.

She was in the same 'Fear' as me.

---

As I live, there will come a day when I ride the same subway as Anna Croft.

I thought about my last encounter with her. The last time I saw her was at the 'Washington Dome'.

At that time, I fell into 'Gingagap', a trap set by <Asgard>, and there, I borrowed the power of the Demon King of Salvation and defeated the great Constellations. Come to think of it, I owed Anna Croft that time. If she hadn’t processed the 'Lesser Dragon's Heart' with her own trait, neither I nor the Demon King of Salvation would have been able to summon the power of 'Cheok Jungyeong' as a [bookmark].

Now that I think about it, Cheok Jungyeong is here too. I don’t know if it was a coincidence or not, but things were going quite strangely.

I pointed to the seat next to me and said to Anna Croft.

"Please sit down."

Anna Croft hesitated for a moment, as if she was uncomfortable sitting next to me, and then sat down with a helpless expression.

"What are you planning here?"

"I’m not planning anything in particular."

"What are you planning—"

The moment we got to that point in the conversation, I felt the gaze I had felt the other time.

「On the sub way」

Oh, again.

「You’re tal king too loud ly」

My stomach started to churn and I felt faint dizziness.

[Exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' is activated.]

Fortunately, I had already experienced it once, and the [Fourth Wall] was also activated, so I could endure it.

But it seemed that Anna Croft was not like that.

"W-what is this?"

Anna Croft, whose face had turned pale, was already sweating profusely.

Even she, who had a fairly high level of mental barrier, could end up like that.

"Lower your voice."

As I whispered, the gazes aRound her disappeared as if they had been washed away.

Anna Croft, panting and wiping away her sweat, asked.

"What was that just now?"

"Probably a Fear effect."

The subway we were riding in had not yet experienced the 'Crime Zone'.

Judging from the fact that a similar phenomenon occurred when I called and when I spoke to Anna Croft—this place seemed to be a space dominated by the common 'Spirit-Bound Combat Technique' of public transportation.

It could be something like this. Do not talk loudly or make noise. Do not eat food.

Do not make noise.

Give up your seat to pregnant women or the elderly.

Anna Croft also seemed to have noticed the rules.

"A peculiar rule is in effect."

"It's an ordinary rule. This was normal before the scenarios came."

We sat side by side and admired the everyday scenery that we had forgotten. The soft breathing of people. People looking down and concentrating on the small screen.

It felt real again. This was the ordinary world we knew. People in those days were trapped in their own worlds, and perhaps the scenario pulled them out of there.

'Scenarios' that Kim Dokja had read.

I glanced over and saw that Anna Croft was also lost in a short reflection.

She must have sensed my gaze, but she came to her senses and said in a cold voice.

"I knew you were alive, but you're much better than I thought."

Anna Croft seemed to have already heard the news about me.

"You're glad I'm okay, aren't you?"

"No one can go through something like that and be fine."

"Have you heard any rumors?"

"I heard that you were chased by giant nebulae and torn apart."

Torn apart.

That's not wrong.

I was not the one who was 'torn apart' to begin with.

"Wow, it almost turned out like that."

"You're so tenacious that you survived that kind of defeat."

"Because I'm good at coming back from the dead. But why did you come here?"

"Are you really asking because you don't know?"

A thought occurred to me belatedly.

The last time I saw Anna Croft, she went against her own Nebula, <Asgard>, to help me.

I knew what the incarnation that went against the nebulae would say.

"You seem to be blooming too."

"Thanks to who? I was going to ask you about it at the Recycling Center anyway..."

"Um, I didn't see you there?"

"I didn't know you were a crazy person who wanted to clear it all the way."

"Did you come all the way to the Fear Realm to chase me?"

"Look here. Do I look like someone who's free?"

"Then why did you come to the Fear Realm?"

"I'm not the incarnation of <Asgard> anymore. What choice would an abandoned incarnation have?"

"Aha, you're thinking of becoming a Transcendent."

The only path left for her abandoned by <Asgard>.

Anna Croft had come here to climb the only ladder of social mobility that a mortal abandoned by the Constellations could attempt.

"I think that's also a failure since I came all the way here to meet you."

"Come on, let's forget about the old days and get along. That's how we'll get out of here. We'll go out and become Transcendents, and take revenge on the Constellations . Anyway, let's go on good terms."

Anna Croft muttered as if she was shocked at what I said.

"On good terms? Do you think that's possible between you and me?"

"I've become a colleague with Yoo Joonghyuk. I'll embrace you with a big heart."

"Who's talking to whom right now—"

Anna Croft, who was about to shout, suddenly stopped talking. The passengers' eyes were turned towards her.

Anna Croft asked again, sighing as if she was going to collapse.

"Cheon Inho. Do you know anything about this 'Fear'?"

I nodded and briefly relayed the information I knew.

Anna Croft nodded after hearing my story.

"I expected it since the backgRound was the subway. Then I guess we'll have to create a Crime Zone to get out of here."

"I'm against it."

"Against it?"

"We have to find a way to get out without activating the Crime Zone."

"Didn't you say that the method is unknown? With your abilities, you could easily be the last one standing even if you use the 'Crime Zone'."

"You were on board with me, of all people."

Anna Croft looked momentarily flustered.

"Because of me?"

"The Cheon Inho of this world line is quite affectionate."

"You always said that and aimed for my back."

"Cheok Jungyeong is riding in the next car."

"Cheok… Jungyeong?"

"Do you know the Goryeo Swordsman?"

"Oh, no way—"

Only then did Anna Croft's face turn pale as if she realized the situation.

"We're dead."

"That's why I need your ability now."

Come to think of it, it was my good fortune to meet Anna Croft now. Anna Croft was the incarnation with the ability specialized in this 'Fear Realm'.

"Can you see something in [Future Sight]?"

Anna Croft can read the future with [Future Sight]. This means that if she uses her ability well, she can also power up the threatening Fear that will come in the future.

But Anna Croft's expression was unusual.

"No."

"Why?"

"My [Future Sight] lost its power after coming here."

Anna Croft glared at me for a moment as if she didn't want to admit it, then added,

"It's as if the entire future is covered in fog."

This was unexpected.

She can't see the future. Why?

Looking back, there were several times in the main story when 'Anna Croft's' prophetic ability was blocked.

Why was that?

Oh... Wait a minute. Could it be?

A hypothesis suddenly came to mind.

To verify that hypothesis, I reviewed Han Sooyoung's guide once again. But why?

[Some spoilers in this document have been removed.]

Some sentences that were previously marked as 'spoilers' have been released.

> A common experience was observed in all passengers who survived without using the 'Crime Zone' in the subway.
>
> All passengers who successfully escaped stated that 「the subway lights blinked three times」.

The subway lights blinked three times.

It was an incredibly crucial hint. So, what I have to do is make the subway lights blink three times.

Should I cause a power outage?

"Cheon Inho."

"What?"

"Is that how you see it?"

Anna Croft tilted her head slightly, so I hurriedly hid my phone and answered.

"I just read some web novels."

"Novels? You're reading novels in this situation? Are you crazy?"

Anna Croft glared at me like she was looking at a bug, then made a resigned expression.

"I used to read a lot of novels, too."

At that moment, my vision went black for a moment and then came back. My mind was blank.

What? What just happened?

Anna Croft also looked surprised. She hurriedly looked aRound and muttered quietly.

"Is it a power outage?"

My mind felt brighter at the word power outage.

"Anna Croft. Please continue what you were just saying."

"What are you talking about? A power outage?"

"No, you were talking about novels."

"What's the big deal about that right now—"

"Listen to me."

Anna Croft nodded her head slightly at my serious tone.

"But what else do I have to say…"

"Hmm."

I realized that this person is also quite inexperienced at having conversations.

After all, she is a 'Prophet'.

A being who can read the past and the future. In a sense, she is a character as 'omniscient' as Kim Dokja.

Would a prophet who knows all of someone’s shortcomings and secrets before they even become close to her really make an effort to build deep relationships with others?

Perhaps all humans would look like characters with past and future plots in front of her.

Thinking about it that way, I could finally understand Anna Croft’s attitude toward her colleagues.

Fortunately, I am a more social person than Kim Dokja or Anna Croft.

"Do you have a favorite author?"

"Ah."

Anna Croft nodded belatedly and answered.

"There is."

"Who is it?"

"Ted Chang, Charles Yu, Liu Cixin. And…"

I smiled, feeling like I expected it.

Well, Anna wouldn't read web novels.

Anna Croft let out a snarl, interpreting my smile.

"Are you making fun of my reading tastes?"

"No, I just laughed because I thought it suited you well."

"Who do you like?"

"My favorite author."

I muttered, looking at the letters shining on the screen of my smartphone.

"It's someone named Han Sooyoung."

Anna Croft muttered, "Han Sooyoung," and tilted her head.

"I've never heard of that author before. Is she a famous author in Korea?"

"In some worldline."

Anna Croft tilted her head for a moment, as if imagining a worldline where Han Sooyoung is famous.

In the meantime, I was staring at the ceiling light. The light was flickering, emitting an uncertain light that seemed to be fading.

It was almost like a blink, which was a pity.

Is this not enough?

In that case, I had no choice but to resort to a desperate measure.

"Anna Croft, what role will I assign you from now on?"

"Yes?"

"You are Korean from now on and your name is Kim Anna."

"What?"

"Ms. Kim Anna. Do you speak Spanish?"

Kim Anna looked at me with her typical bewildered expression, then answered as if she had no choice but to follow along.

"I know a little bit."

"Puede prestarme dinero."

Kim Anna asked back with a dumbfounded expression.

"Why are you suddenly asking me to lend you money?"

"Do you have any apps you can recommend for me?"

"Apps?"

"Like apps to learn Spanish."

"Cheon Inho. What the hell are you talking about?"

"Inho has an Inho's life."

"What?"

"And Anna has an Anna's life."

At that moment, the lights flickered again.

I felt a surge of joy inside.

As expected, my guess was right.

Anna Croft asked back in a bewildered voice.

"What did you do just now?"

"Be quiet."

It was clear now.

I muttered as I looked back at the passengers. I don’t know if it was one of them or someone outside this space.

"We’re being 'audited' right now."

Someone was watching us here.

"What—"

"Do you remember what the First Scenario was?"

The First Scenario was about 'killing a living being'.

The name of the scenario was 'Proof of Worth'.

Proof of Worth.

Every incarnation had to prove their 'worth' to 'someone' through the First Scenario.

Anna, who had been looking aRound, asked with a hardened expression.

"No way. The Constellations are watching?"

"Not Constellations."

"Then?"

"I don’t know. I think we have to make them happy to get out."

The lights had blinked twice so far. And both of those blinks happened when I parodied the development of the 'main story'.

But now there was no more main story content to parody. The situation where even the 'Reader's Life', which was a desperate measure, was used. In terms of the main story development, this was the 'beginning of the scenario'.

It means that the 'Crime Zone' must open.

"Then the 'Crime Zone' is..."

"It would have been the easiest way to entertain someone."

In fact, I had a vague idea of who that 'someone' was.

「At least this Fear is related to Kim Dokja.」

In the first place, the only people who would enjoy watching the parody of the main story would be Kim Dokja or Kim Dokja's acquaintances.

Then, the way to make the subway lights blink is simple.

All I had to do was start a story that would make even that 'Kim Dokja' curious.

"Anna Croft."

Fortunately, I was with someone who knew one of those stories.

"I want to know exactly what happened in the last 40th Round."

This was also something I was curious about.

Anna Croft asked, lightly puffing out one cheek and then bursting it.

"Cheon Inho. What are you up to? I'd rather ask you about the last Round."

"I don't know much because I lost my memories of that Round. What happened? What did I do? Why do you and Yoo Joonghyuk hate me so much."

A story I should have found out a long time ago, but kept putting off.

"I don't know anything. That's why I want to know."

Taking a deep breath, an old memory suddenly came to mind.

The red coat. The wings of the Demon King, the being called 'the Evil Sophist' by the Constellations.

The two blades that crossed to kill each other.

Perhaps it was a question I should have asked a long time ago. In order to meet the Second Kim Dokja, to become a proper comrade with Yoo Joonghyuk, in order to resolve this 'Fear', I—

"Who on earth is 'Cheon Inho' from the 40th Round?"

I need to know exactly who I am first.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

821 Episode 41 Sophistry (5)

---

In a way, it was a ridiculous idea.

「Attracting Kim Dokja's attention with an interesting 'Story'.」

It's not like Scheherazade, and there's no way that Fear can be solved just by telling a plausible story.

[NOTE 1]

Nevertheless, I was convinced that this was possible.

More than anything, there were several 'metaphors' in this subway.

「The subway's blinking lights.」

Han Sooyoung's guide explained.

Only those who saw the lights blink three times in total survived.

How about saying it like this? 「Blinking」 is not just a 'light'.

「Eye.」

What if that 'light' is an 'eye' watching us?

It wasn't just that.

I looked at the passengers lined up here and there. Strangely, none of them were wearing earphones.

「Ear.」

They are listening to our story.

If you think about it that way, a pretty plausible story is completed.

The space where you accidentally hear other people's stories is 'public transportation.'

Kim Dokja also used public transportation. He must have read and reread 'Ways of Survival' while riding the 'subway home from work' countless times.

In that sense, this subway was the space where Kim Dokja was more absorbed in the story than anyone else.

Now the premise is complete. The question is whether the gambler in Las Vegas will help me.

"Didn't you just forget about the old days?"

"I'll go and do well. I can forget."

"You are really—"

Anna Croft glared at me, then grabbed my hand and held it. I could barely understand her agony, which was contained in the short movement.

She was now putting the weight of her memories on the scale.

She wondered whether it would be good to tell Cheon Inho, who was in front of her, about what happened last time.

I decided to strike first.

"Just a few things to keep in mind, I am not Cheon Inho from the 40th Round."

Anna Croft, who was surprised by my words, raised her head and looked at me.

"Whatever Cheon Inho you remember was, I am different from him."

"That's."

"Just like Yoo Joonghyuk from the First Round was different from Yoo Joonghyuk from the Second Round."

"…"

"Just like Anna Croft was different in the Third and Fourth Rounds."

"The essence of a human being doesn't change easily."

"What do you think constitutes the essence of a human being?"

Anna Croft hesitated for a moment.

"The essence of a human being."

"It's the total sum of the history they have chosen and decided to live by."

Anna looked at me as if she was a little surprised, then slowly nodded.

"That's right. Everything in this world is made of 'stories'."

Her eyes were watching me. As long as I had the [Fourth Wall], those eyes wouldn't be able to read anything from me.

So what she was reading now was not me, but the stories of this world that she and I shared.

The things we did together in Washington. And even the rumors about the Recycling Center.

"I really can't figure out what you're thinking. You're suddenly talking about a novel, and you're making me play a strange role. And then."

Anna added, still clenching and unclenching her fist repeatedly.

"Now you're asking me to tell you who you are."

"Because only you can tell me that."

Now, almost no one remembers the 40th Round. Even Yoo Joonghyuk forgot most of his memories from the 40th Round in exchange for the 'Story Imprint'. The only one who properly remembered what happened in that Round was Anna Croft, a Prophet who could use [Past Sight].

Finally, Anna clenched her fist, as if she had decided on something.

"You."

The flesh on her palm, pressed against her fingernails, turned red.

"You were a piece of human trash."

"I already know that."

There is no reader who doesn't know that Cheon Inho is trash.

But Anna Croft's words didn't end there.

"If it weren't for you, so many people would have survived. Las Vegas wouldn’t have been destroyed, and the Korean Peninsula would have been intact.”

I expected it, but the scale was bigger than I thought.

Cheon Inho ruined Las Vegas and the Korean Peninsula?

"The great evils gathered under your banner, and the Demon War broke out. You and they messed up the scenarios."

"…"

"If you hadn’t fooled the Constellations, if you hadn’t made up some plausible excuses… Maybe Yoo Joonghyuk wouldn’t have had to regress."

I smiled bitterly.

Because that couldn’t have happened.

It was only the 40th Round. There was no way that Yoo Joonghyuk, the Regressor, could see the 'End' in that 40th Round.

However, the moment I heard Anna Croft’s voice, I couldn’t laugh anymore.

"Because you were one of Yoo Joonghyuk’s closest colleagues."

"Colleague?"

I wondered what that meant.

Because.

"Why didn’t he make me his colleague a long time ago?"

"He should have. But this life is too late."

Because in the memories I saw before, Cheon Inho and Yoo Joonghyuk were never colleagues.

「"Don't even think about making me your colleague. I will be your enemy in the next Round. I will be your enemy again and again."」

They were mortal enemies, and they couldn't tolerate each other.

My head was in confusion.

What on earth does that mean?

They were colleagues before they fought?

No, is that even a possible setting in the first place?

"Please tell me exactly. Me and Yoo Joonghyuk were colleagues in the 40th Round?"

"That..."

Anna Croft's expression suddenly changed as she spoke.

"Oh, oh. Oh...?"

I felt an ominous feeling, and her whole body was shaking. Her red eyes turned white, and sparks jumped from her body that was turned white. And.

The lights were blinking.

Once. Twice. Three times.

FourFiveSixSevenEightNineTenElevenTwelveThirteenFourteenFifteenSixteenSeventeenEighteenNineteenTwentyTwentyOneTwentyTwentyTwentyThreeTwentyFourteenTwentySixteenTwentySeventeenEighteenNineteenTwentyTwentyOneTwentyTwoTwentyThreeTw

entyFourTwentyFiveTwentySixTwentySevenTwentyEightTwentyNineThirtyThirtyOneThirtyTwoThirtyThreeThirtyFourThirtyFiveThirtySixThirtySevenThirtyEightThirtyNineForty

[Exclusive skill the 'Fourth Wall' is strongly activated!]

Something is wrong.

"Anna Croft! Come to your senses!"

I grabbed Anna urgently and shook her, but her consciousness had long since disappeared.

At that moment, the smartphone screen flashed. The guide's new information had been unlocked.

> All passengers who escaped from the subway without using the 'Crime Zone' were moved to ■■■■.
>
> ■■■ is what the passenger said ■■■?
>
> * Part of this document has been censored by SVRP.
>
> All subways head to the 'Destination'.

All subways head to the destination.

Destination? Where on earth is that?

Is it a good thing? It seemed that the subway's goal was gradually being found.

Passengers fell unnaturally.

Beyond the pitch-black window, I saw a huge streamlined body running beside the subway.

【TeethTeethTeethTeethTeethTeethTeethTeeth!】

It was a fin.

Did it really follow me all this time?

【TeethTeethTeethTeethTeethTeethTeethTeethTeeth!】

The eyes of the guy moving urgently. It seemed to be warning me.

Escape from here immediately.

The guy's huge body crashed into the subway several times, and its fierce fangs collided with the side of the subway.

For a moment, I felt anticipation.

Tooth Fin is a 'Disaster-level Fear'. In some Rounds, it was even recorded as a 'Natural Disaster-level Fear'.

If it were him, wouldn't he be able to get me and Anna Croft out of this subway?

【……!】

A loud noise that tore through my eardrums, intense sparks shot out all over the 'Tooth Fin's' body. 'Tooth Fin's' body bounced away helplessly.

After all, this subway seemed like it couldn't be handled by Outer Gods even by force.

[Notice to passengers on board.]

I felt a little strange. I instinctively grabbed Anna Croft's arm, but I couldn't feel it in my hand. I felt my senses gradually becoming paralyzed along with the feeling of time and space gradually becoming distorted.

My vision blinked very slowly.

As if an electric motor blinked.

Once, twice.

【You will soon arrive at your destination.】

Three times.

【'Subway Homecoming' cheers for your safe return home.】

My vision disappeared.

【Hmm, that's right.】

【He piqued the curiosity of the Master of Fear too much.】

【Well, the way home from work is originally rough.】

---

My vision returned.

The moment I swallowed my breath, I was galloping through the meadow.

I almost fell over, but I managed to keep my balance and kept running.

It wasn't as good as [Way of the Wind], but it was definitely an amazing lightness technique.

What could it be? I have never learned this kind of martial arts.

"Chase that guy!"

I hurriedly turned around at the sound of the voice, and the masked men were running alongside me.

It didn't take long for me to figure out the situation.

My side profile was briefly reflected in the masked man's dagger running nearby.

Black mask.

I was also wearing a mask. In short, I wasn't being chased by them, but was 'chasing someone' with them.

I briefly checked my body while running. My physical condition didn't seem to have changed much, and my eyes were normal.

Then.

I put my hand in my bosom to figure out the situation. It was to find my smartphone.

Perhaps this situation was also a production based on 'Fear'. All Fear is a 'discarded tale', and most Fears have a re-experiential nature, so I might have entered the records of a fragment of a tale that existed in the past.

If so, there might be a hint in Han Sooyoung's guide or 'Ways of Survival'. Even if there are no hints there, I have the First Kim Dokja. If only the call could be connected safely —

Hmm?

None. My heart sank lightly.

I put my hands in my bosom several times. I searched my pants pockets and my back pocket.

My smartphone was gone.

And that wasn't all. Most of the items I had were gone. I had no Unbreakable Faith or Thoughts. Of course, my coat was gone.

[Information synchronization complete.]

I felt my head opening up along with a slight headache.

「Way of the Wind carried by my toes.」

Fortunately, the skills I had seemed to have been synchronized.

Yes, if I had the ability, I wouldn't be flustered.

There is nothing.

Even without a smartphone, I can figure out where this place is on my own.

"It's over there! It's that guy!"

It didn't take long for me to figure out the situation.

The man the masked men were chasing appeared in front of me.

I slowly opened my eyes and looked at the target.

The fluttering black coat and the strangely familiar wide back.

Thinking that something was strange, I widened my eyes even more, or at that moment, with a "spot~" sound, the masked man's head flew off.

"Kwaaaaak!"

What the hell.

I quickly got out of the group and hid in a nearby forest.

I wondered if those crazy guys were attacking Yoo Joonghyuk, but the masked men's skills were no joke. Judging from the martial arts they were using, I thought they were probably the best of the previous generation, or maybe the elite of the Demonic Cult or Blood Cult.

Of course, Yoo Joonghyuk is Yoo Joonghyuk, no matter who the opponent is.

The guy swung his [Breaking the Sky Sword] mercilessly and killed the masked men. One, twenty, thirty. In an instant, the nearby forest was filled with blood.

But Yoo Joonghyuk, who was carrying out such a merciless massacre, did not look in good condition at all.

I immediately noticed his condition.

He was poisoned.

The pale complexion of the farmer proved it. Perhaps the intangible poison—or a poison comparable to the heavenly poison—was eating away at his entire body.

He must have fallen into a trap, or walked into one himself.

In an instant, over a hundred incarnations fell to the ground, and Yoo Joonghyuk started running again.

Cut, run, fall, cut, run.

Cut.

How much time had passed?

Finally, Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been staggering, knelt down. I was the only masked person left around him.

I came out of the water and cautiously approached him. You could tell just by looking at him. Yoo Joonghyuk had no magic left. He seemed to have already used [Knight Resurrection].

"Yoo…!"

I was about to speak to Yoo Joonghyuk, but I stopped because I felt something strange.

The guy was glaring at me.

"The energy is strange."

If Yoo Joonghyuk had seen me, he would have asked for help from me.

But he didn't.

「Yoo Joonghyuk didn't recognize me.」

I reflexively used [Character List]. And.

[Exclusive skill 'Character List' activates!]

[There is too much information about the character in question. 'Character List' will be converted to 'Summary List'.]

<Character Summary>

Name: Yoo Joonghyuk

Exclusive trait: Regressor 40 times> (Myth), Pro-gamer (Legendary)…

Exclusive skills: [Sage's Eye Lv. 10], [Hand to Hand Combat Lv. 10], [Weapon Training Lv. 10], [Mental Barrier Lv. 10]…

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was glaring at me as if he was going to kill me, collapsed forward.

Then, I heard the loud voices of the masked men from beyond the bushes.

"Over there!"

I looked down at the back of Yoo Joonghyuk's head, who had fallen.

While thinking that such a thing could not be possible, I could not deny the great battle unfolding before my eyes.

I told the supervisor the story of the '40th Round' on the subway.

And if my skill was not wrong, the guy who had fallen with the back of his head exposed was Yoo Joonghyuk of the '40th Round' that I had only heard of.

「All subways head towards the 'Destination'.」

My head rang.

"There it is!"

Damn it. I don't know.

Right now, I had to think about something certain.

Right now, Yoo Joonghyuk of the 40th Round was lying in front of me, and I had two choices.

Should I save Yoo Joonghyuk in front of me, or let him die?

"Kill him!"

I didn't think long.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: Scheherazade: A legendary storyteller from Arabian Nights who saved her life by telling stories every night.

822 Episode 41 Sophistry (6)

I ran like crazy while carrying Yoo Joonghyuk. My panting breaths reached the tip of my chin, and my heels kicked the dirt floor.

「There was no need to do this.」

I know. My actions right now are useless. This scene is just a virtual '40th Round' staged by 'Fear'. Whether I save Yoo Joonghyuk here or not, the story that has already been decided will be recorded.

But I couldn't shake off the eerie imagination.

「Will it really be recorded?」

What if this 'Fear' is real?

What if Yoo Joonghyuk dies because I don't save him now?

What if history changes like the 1,863rd Round that Kim Dokja visited?

"There he is! That bastard!"

At least Yoo Joonghyuk of the 40th Round wasn't destined to die here. And now, I was the only one who could save him.

"Wake up! Hey!"

I shouted at Yoo Joonghyuk several times, but he didn't respond.

After running away for several hours, I felt my stamina and magic power slowly draining away.

Damn it, Cheon Inho, didn't he even properly raise his overall ability? How on earth did someone like this get nicknames like 'Evil Sophist' or 'The One Who Deceived the Stars'?

"That's it."

A storm of incredible magical power swept in from in front of me along with the familiar voice.

It was clear who he was.

Blood Demon.

A legendary martial arts master who had once joined forces with the Heavenly Demon and even faced the 'Breaking the Sky Sword Saint' was right in front of me.

It was definitely a Transcendent.

It was an incarnation with strength that rivaled even the Highest-Ranking Constellations.

I wondered why such a big shot had suddenly appeared.

"Cheon Inho, why did you suddenly betray us?"

It seems that the big shot knows Cheon Inho.

I opened my mouth with a hurried smile.

"I didn't betray you in particular."

"Put down the tyrant."

"That would be a bit difficult. This guy has a place where I can use him."

"You must be thinking of uncovering the true nature of the Regression Law."

Regression Law.

The Blood Demon seemed to know that Yoo Joonghyuk was a Regressor.

"We must have decided to conduct research on the Law together, didn't we?"

What on earth was Cheon Inho doing in the 40th Round?

I could guess the situation.

That greedy Blood Demon must have been curious about why Yoo Joonghyuk was so strong. After investigating, he found out that Yoo Joonghyuk was a Regressor, and he set a trap with Cheon Inho to steal his power.

Then, my line was set.

"I will uncover the Regression Law and tell you. So, Blood Demon, please step aside for a moment."

"How can I trust you?"

"The Supreme King is already in a state of extreme insanity. If we leave it like this, he will regress before we even find out about the Regression Law."

"..."

"As you know, I have [Incite]. After recovering Yoo Joonghyuk a little, if I [Incite] Yoo Joonghyuk while his mental barrier is weakened, we may be able to find out the secret of regression—"

"I will count to three."

The Blood Demon's voice was cold.

"Leave the tyrant behind and get out. Then I'll spare your life."

I guess this kind of persuasion won't work.

I compared the intensity I felt from the Blood Demon's body with the strength I had. No matter how much I thought about it, I couldn't deal with the Blood Demon with such a weak body.

The only way to deal with the Blood Demon was to wake up Yoo Joonghyuk, but the probability of him waking up after using [Knight Resurrection] was close to zero.

No, why did this kid come to an area where blood cultists were swarming in the first place and make things complicated...

「Why did Yoo Joonghyuk come all the way here?」

Sparks flew in my head.

I carefully moved my hand behind my back and checked one of the wooden armors in the guy's arms.

The moment I read the Chinese characters engraved on the armor, I could immediately understand why Yoo Joonghyuk had come all the way here.

「Blood Spirit Clan.」

A potion similar to the 'Gongcheongseokyu' or 'Doll Theory' of <The 0th Murim>.

Just by taking one pill, you can gain magical powers of over a hundred years. It was a legendary divine water.

Perhaps Yoo Joonghyuk came here to get this item.

Why?

I don’t know. He might have wanted to take it himself, or he might have wanted to give it to someone.

I took out the blood spirit tablet from the wooden box and the Blood Demon smiled.

"Do you think the situation will change if you eat that?"

I said, pretending to be indifferent.

"At least I can get the Blood Cult’s divine water. If I eat this, you won’t be able to absorb the magic of the Blood Spirits."

The Blood Spirits are a sacred item passed down through generations for the cult’s leaders. It was a terrible item made by sacrificing more than ten thousand masters in order for mortal humans to reach the stars.

I think the Blood Demon who killed the Breaking the Sky Sword Saint also absorbed this 'Blood Spirit Clan'.

So if I threaten him with this item, even if it’s the Blood Demon…

"Try it."

I sensed the dark magic rippling in the Blood Demon’s grasp.

Absorption Technique.

An extremely evil magic technique that absorbs the magic directly from the opponent’s body to increase his own internal energy.

Only then did I realize the Blood Demon’s plan.

The moment I secured the magic with the Blood Spirits, the Blood Demon planned to use [Absorption Technique] to take away the magic.

"Eat it right now."

I cursed inside, but there was no other way. Anyway, I’ll die anyway. If so.

"Then I will eat well."

Without hesitation, I poured the Blood Spirit Clan inside the wooden armor into my mouth.

The Blood Demon's eyes flashed red and burst into rage.

"You idiot. If you eat that as is... !"

I know. Blood Spirit Clan has side effects. The moment you take this medicine, ten thousand vengeful spirits in the pill will attack the user's mind at the same time.

—Hahahahahahahaha!

—You finally took it!

—I'll kill you, I'll kill you, I'll kill you!

—Cult leader! You're finally getting revenge on a hundred years of grudge!

—Huh...?

[Exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' is activated!]

The voices of the vengeful spirits that had been heard disappeared in an instant.

While the astonished Blood Demon glared, I felt the intense magical energy pulsating throughout my body.

[Item 'Blood Spirit Clan' matches your characteristics.]

[You are a 'villain' who can fully acquire the functions of 'Blood Spirit Clan'.]

I wondered if this was only making Cheon Inho stronger, but there was no way for me to survive right now.

The Blood Demon, who barely managed to calm his confusion, said.

"How."

"Blood Demon. Have you forgotten who I am?"

"You—"

"I am the 'Evil Sophist' and the 'Star-Deceiver'."

I don't know if Cheon Inho is still called that, but I talked as I pleased and lured the Blood Demon into letting down his guard.

The great Blood Demon tried the absorption method first.

"Die!"

I barely avoided his attack and unleashed my only special skill.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 10' is activated!]

[The effect of the item 'Blood Spirit Clan' increases the power of incite!]

It felt completely different from the [Incite] I had done before.

Is it because the body I possessed was 'Cheon Inho of the 40th Round'?

The possible and impossible [Incite] orders were neatly organized in my head.

「The 'order' to die is impossible.」

「Use the words that can be used on opponents of similar rank first.」

「The key is Instigation Overlap.」

「Starting from the first stage of instigation, gradually increase the level.」

It was as if someone was telling me how to use [Incite].

I calmly took a breath and spoke to the Blood Demon.

"Are you nervous? Are you afraid that I'm stronger than you?"

"Shut up! You—"

"Let me tell you something important. Even if you obtain the Great Law of Regression, you will never become as strong as the Supreme King."

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 10' is activating!]

The Blood Demon, with his eyes wide open, shouted at me.

"What do you know—"

"From a lowly third-rate villain. On your first trip to the martial arts world, you accidentally collected the remains of a previous great demon and acquired the 'Blood Spirit Divine Skill'."

It was the Blood Demon's secret that also appears in 'Ways of Survival'.

The Blood Demon glared.

"Yes, how did you—"

"You probably know that too. Your talent is not even capable of properly mastering one 'Blood Spirit Divine Art'."

"..."

"You trained for a hundred years and still can't master that one martial art, and you couldn't even endure the 'Time Fault' and jumped out, so how dare you pursue other martial arts?"

"That's—"

"With that much willpower, you dream of 'Regression'?"

['Incite' is strengthened.]

The Blood Demon staggered and shouted.

"I can do it too. If I can return, if I can regress like that guy—"

"No. You can't. Regression is useless to you, who can't even endure a mere hundred years."

"That's not true. I— Me too—!"

The Blood Demon's eyes were suddenly clouded. The demon inside him had manifested doubts about his talent.

Concerns about his will.

All the history that had made him a Transcendent was now his enemy, attacking his mind.

['Incite' is strengthened.]

"Just as a roach can only become a ' roach that has lived for a hundred years' even if it endures for a hundred years, it cannot become a dragon, no matter how much you struggle, you are a third-rate unmanned rascal. Even if you gain good martial arts or return, it is the same. That is your birth. That is how you have lived until now with such a weak mind."

['Incite' is strengthened!]

"There is no need to struggle. The sky is high, and the stars are far away. There is no place for you in the <Star Stream>. You are nothing more than a speck of dust that cannot even play a supporting role. Accept that fact. Then you will be at ease."

"Ah, uh, uh—"

"Go back to where you lived. And don't stick your head out again."

['Incite' succeeded!]

After a while, the Blood Demon, unable to endure the pain, lay on the gRound, flailing its mouth as if it were a loach.

Even though I was watching the process of [Incite] developing in real time right before my eyes, it didn't feel real.

[Incite that takes hold of the opponent's weakness and breaks their spirit.]

Cheon Inho has used this devilish tongue to subdue countless opponents.

I looked down at the Blood Demon for a moment and then started running again.

「Incite doesn't last long. I had to get as far away from here as possible before Incite was released.」

"Oh my God! How much are you!"

The Blood Cult group that had already chased me.

"Chase them! There!"

I ran and ran, but now there was no more escape. The cliff was blocking my way.

I stood at the edge of the cliff and looked down.

What I could see from the edge of the cliff was the rough yet still flowing river.

I had no choice now.

"Hold on tight, Yoo Joonghyuk."

I grabbed the guy by the collar and jumped down the cliff.

This is not Dongho Bridge, and there is no ichthyosaurus to swallow us.

Nevertheless.

I had a feeling that we would not die.

That was, so to speak, a writer's intuition.

Cheon Inho and Yoo Joonghyuk would not die here.

And if the two of them survived here.

[You intervened in 'SVRP'.]

The two could become comrades.

[Some of the documents of SVRP 040 will be modified.]

[The Master of Fear approves your records.]

…

[The 'Recorder of Fear' who previously wrote the Fear approves your edits.]

[Your Fear is recorded in the blank space on the wall.]

A voice I knew very well whispered in my ear.

【Good. This is the story I was waiting for. Kim Dokja.】

---

Yoo Joonghyuk was looking up at the night sky of Murim. It was a night sky filled with Constellations he hated.

How long had he been looking at the Constellations like that? Yoo Joonghyuk unconsciously began to count the stars hanging in the sky.

It was strange. He had no habit of counting stars, so why was he counting them?

「"Hold on tight, Yoo Joonghyuk."」

A memory suddenly flashed through his mind. A subtle warmth that did not fit with his life. A sudden bond that should not exist for him.

"Disciple."

Yoo Joonghyuk woke up from his thoughts at the voice from behind him.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint was looking down at him as if worried.

A bright light was emitting.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint finally recognized her disciple who had reached the 41st Round.

"Which Round has this been when you have given me memories?"

"It's the 32nd Round."

"I think this is the 41st Round."

"There are also Rounds where you have not given me memories."

Breaking the Sky Swordsman did not ask why he had not given her memories. She simply smiled lightly.

"If you gave me your memories, it means you have a desperate reason."

Yoo Joonghyuk's regression draws in and devours everyone aRound him. It destroys them. It dismantles lives and wears out existence.

Nevertheless, Yoo Joonghyuk once again dragged Breaking the Sky Swordsman into the vortex of regression.

"I must become stronger."

"You are already strong enough. Stronger than the last time, and the time before that."

"I must become stronger than that."

"For what reason?"

Yoo Joonghyuk did not answer, but Breaking the Sky Swordsman heard the answer.

Strangely, the two of them had the same face at that moment.

"It's strange."

"I don't understand it either."

"Well, it's time for my blunt disciple to make a friend."

"That's not the reason."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint smiled faintly at Yoo Joonghyuk, who shook his head. Then, her expression hardened for a moment and she asked.

"Are you thinking of entering the Time Fault?"

"Yes."

"I know what it means for you to enter the Time Fault."

To most mortals, the 'Time Fault' is a worthless darkness where nothing exists.

In the void where only the density of time is extremely concentrated, mortals test their limits and challenge transcendence.

However, some 'Time Faults' are different. There are stories within those Time Faults.

A Time Fault with a much harsher survival difficulty than a Time Fault filled only with emptiness, but one that offers unimaginable rewards if you can clear it.

"You must return to the world you failed to protect again."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint knew whose story that 'Time Fault' was.

"The more often you visit there, the more crazy you will become. No matter how strong your mind is, you cannot endure such things repeatedly."

"Still, I must go."

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint, who confirmed that her disciple's determination would not change, asked with a light sigh.

"Yes. Are you going now?"

"Yes."

"Get ready. I will accompany you to the entrance of the Fault."

Yoo Joonghyuk nodded.

Breaking the Sky Sword Saint asked again.

"Are you going to use the 32nd Fault this time?"

The 32nd Fault was the worst Fault that Yoo Joonghyuk had used in the 40th Round.

There, Yoo Joonghyuk gained the power to bring down even the stars.

"No."

Time that had fallen asleep like a fossil buried deep inside.

In some Time Faults, there were stories that even he had not experienced.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked up at the sky for a moment and opened his mouth.

"This time, I plan on going to the '40th Fault'."

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

823 Episode 41 Sophistry (7)

---

What is a life written in text?

Someone's year can pass in a single sentence, and someone's life can be summarized in a single paragraph.

When I think about the lives of the characters, I sometimes feel such sadness.

Did I fully portray this character's life? In fact, couldn't I have told more stories? Is this scene really the 'highlight' of this life?

So where does the rest of his life, which didn't become the highlight, go?

"I'm bored."

Maybe this very moment is also one of the rest that disappeared in that way.

"You're just talking nonsense."

Three months after saving Yoo Joonghyuk from the Blood Cult group in the 40th Round.

I was thrown into the void with Yoo Joonghyuk.

To briefly explain what a void is, it's as follows.

[Hidden Scenario - Entering the 'Earth Void'!]

There is another world beneath the mantle of the Earth where we live. The cliff we fell from was one of the entrances to the common area.

The common area was a place where monsters of at least level 5 or higher - monsters that could easily rule as a single type of conqueror - gathered.

"Let's just hold on a little longer. Just count to 10 minutes in your head."

"If you keep talking like that, he'll find us."

We waited quietly until the level 2 monster, the 'ed dragon', disappeared.

It was absurd that the place we fell was the Red Dragon's nest, but on the other hand, it was fortunate.

After a while, the Red Dragon left to hunt, and we inspected its nest.

"We found it."

The Red Dragon's lava pond.

We could see a few fish swimming around inside.

Mannyeonhwari.

One of the most exquisite spirits in '0th Murim'. A spirit with an inner power that even the Transcendental Constellations and the Constellations of the Giant Nebula covet. I immediately caught the 'Mannyeonhwari' and carefully cut open its belly. The recipe for 'Mannyeonhwari' was written in detail in the 81st Round of 'Ways of Survival'.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was watching me work, said a word.

"That's not how you do it."

"No, this is the right way to do it. The magic usage is also correct."

"If you prepare it like that, you'll lose half of the Mannyeonhwari's internal energy."

"Instead, it makes it easier to consume. The patient should just shut up."

The reason I was cooking something I wasn't even good at was because of that damned guy from the 40th Round.

He barely survived by falling off the edge of a cliff, but because he was so severely affected by the intangible poison, Yoo Joonghyuk's internal energy didn't return.

"If you hadn't eaten my Blood Spirits, this wouldn't have happened."

"Yeah. It's all my fault."

After a while, the sloppy Mannyeonhwari dish was completed. Yoo Joonghyuk flipped the fish over with his fingers as if he was searching through a pile of trash, and left a short comment.

"It's trash."

"What? You haven't even tried it."

"I know even without trying it."

"No, then why didn't you cook it yourself?"

"You need internal energy to cook the Mannyeonhwari. And I can't use magic right now."

Yoo Joonghyuk swallowed the Mannyeonhwari while making all sorts of expressions.

Still, it was touching. In order to eat it, Yoo Joonghyuk had overcome his own myth that he 'can't eat things made by others.'

By the way, now that I think about it, I understand why Yoo Joonghyuk and Cheon Inho became so strong in the 40th Round.

Since they ate this kind of stuff every time, they must have ended up having incarnation bodies that even the stars would despise.

Thinking about it made me feel a little uncomfortable.

Could it be that Yoo Joonghyuk and Cheon Inho became so strong in the 40th Round because of me? Could it be that I, who am here now, intervened in the 40th Round through this 'Fear' and changed history? I don't know if this makes sense...

After a while, Yoo Joonghyuk, who was chewing on the Mannyeonhwari, muttered.

"My internal energy has returned a little."

It was the moment when the efforts of the past three months finally paid off.

Mannyeonhwari is Mannyeonhwari, but the number of spirits I've defeated in order to restore that bastard's internal energy must have exceeded dozens. I wanted to cheer right away, but I tried not to show it.

「I might be able to escape from the Fear now.」

Because if I showed it for no reason, the 'Fear' might detain me again.

This Fear didn't have a clear beginning and end.

However, if Fear is also a 'story', then there is definitely a beginning and an end. If my intuition as a writer is correct, the end of this Fear will be 'when Yoo Joonghyuk's internal energy returns in the 40th Round'. That's a fitting conclusion for a Round.

"That's good."

I said with a bittersweet feeling. If even a little bit of magic power had returned, Yoo Joonghyuk would now be able to repeat the [Recovery] and regain his former skills. To be exact, he would be able to absorb all the elixirs he had consumed so far and obtain a much more powerful incarnation body than before.

If that were to happen, escaping this cave would be no problem.

"I owe you something."

I was a little taken aback by Yoo Joonghyuk's unexpected remark.

Did I know that this kid would say something like that?

"Then pay it back."

"Understood."

"Yes?"

Yoo Joonghyuk frowned.

"Tell me what you need."

Yoo Joonghyuk's debt. This is precious.

I thought for a moment and then said this.

"I don't need it right now. Pay it back on the 41st Round."

Yoo Joonghyuk glared at me as if he was dumbfounded.

"I forgot for a moment that you knew about regression. But I can't keep that promise."

"Why?"

"Because the next time you won't be the same you are now?"

"How do you know that?"

"When the next Round changes, everyone except me will return to the past. Memories will disappear, and history will be forgotten. Only a few lines of anecdote will remain."

Just 'a few lines of anecdote.'

"Why are you saying that so solemnly? Isn't that how our lives are?"

"What?"

"Some things are forgotten, and only the things that are remembered are remembered. They become scenes, sentences, and anecdotes. Even precious moments and sad moments will eventually remain as just a few lines of a story."

Yoo Joonghyuk seemed to think about what I said for a moment and then replied.

"Why are you saying that?"

"I mean, don't trivialize those few lines of a story."

Maybe it doesn't take that many sentences to change a life.

One line, and then another line. That one line, written with great difficulty, changes someone's life.

"Funny. To hear that from someone who doesn't remember anything."

"Yes. I'm sorry."

"Now tell me what you really want. If you keep talking nonsense, I won't repay your debt."

"Even if it's not the next time, you can't repay my debt."

Yoo Joonghyuk frowned again.

"What kind of nonsense are you trying to say again?"

"I'm not saying nonsense, I'm saying the truth. Let's say you repay the debt to me a month from now because you owe me now. Is the current Cheon Inho and the Cheon Inho a month from now the same person?"

"What—"

"Some people would say 'the same person'. Because there are so many 'stories' in the world that recognize them as 'the same person'."

"..."

"Then let's think about it this way. If I lose all the stories I have now a month later, and thus lose all my memories, is the current Cheon Inho and the Cheon Inho a month later the same person?"

"..."

"They look exactly the same, and their personalities are similar. They often talk nonsense, and they laugh unluckily with their eyes wide open. Can we say they're the same person?"

Perhaps Yoo Joonghyuk knows this contradiction better than anyone else.

He can't repay the debt he owes in this Round in the next Round.

The comrades who sacrificed themselves for him will never return.

He will be crushed by that debt of distant memories.

I looked at Yoo Joonghyuk for a moment and then continued.

"But you can do that."

"What?"

"You can think of the next Round's me as the same person. This guy has lost his memories, but he's the Cheon Inho I know. Think of it that way. And do to him like you're doing to me now."

"Why should I do that?"

"Then you won’t be alone either."

Yoo Joonghyuk’s eyes wavered as he paused.

I continued speaking.

"I'm telling you not to live like that, pretending to be lonely in the world, pretending to be the main character, pretending to embrace the darkness of the universe. What if people forget? Just think shamelessly on your own. That guy is the guy from the last Round. He forgot, but I remember. So I'll take revenge. Didn't you apply that standard to the villains? I'm a villain too."

Yoo Joonghyuk was silent for a moment.

The pond of the Red Blood Dragon began to boil, and soon several Mannyeonhwari jumped out and disappeared.

Suddenly, I had a question.

Do Mannyeonhwari know that they live in lava? Since they were born in lava, they probably don't even know that it's hot there.

"Even if I help you in the 41st Round, you won't gain anything from it now."

"Why won't I gain anything? I'm getting help in the 41st Round."

"What—"

"In my next life, I want to ride the Regressor bus and live comfortably."

Yoo Joonghyuk snickered as if it was ridiculous upon hearing that. Although it was a mockery, it had been a long time since I'd seen Yoo Joonghyuk laugh.

"You crazy guy."

"Are you the only one who's going to do it?"

I heard the sound of the nest shaking lightly. It was a sign that the red dragon was returning. It was time to leave now.

At that moment, Yoo Joonghyuk said something unexpected.

"Cheon Inho."

"Yes."

"There's still a lot left until the 41st Round."

Yoo Joonghyuk wasn't looking at me, but I felt like he was looking straight at me more than ever.

"So?"

"I have no intention of giving up this Round easily."

The moment I heard that, I realized what Yoo Joonghyuk was trying to say.

"Help me in this Round."

Be his partner in the 40th Round. That proud guy was saying that directly.

I was captivated.

But the moment I met the eyes of the guy who was looking back, I was overcome by a strange feeling.

「What he's looking at isn't me.」

I was just an illusion created by this strange Fear, and what Yoo Joonghyuk was looking at was not Kim Dokja or Lee Hakhyun, but Cheon Inho's shell.

The person he was talking about becoming his comrade with right now wasn't me.

The moment I realized that fact, I felt something tangled in my head.

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

Since it's already like this, why don't I tell Yoo Joonghyuk, who's in his 40th Round, some important information?

Even if I fail in the 40th Round, what if I just tell him everything I know so that he can change history in the 41st Round?

"Yoo Joonghyuk, my real name is—"

The moment I was about to speak, the world was filled with bright sparks. The Red Dragon running from afar disappeared, and the common scenery disappeared. Yoo Joonghyuk disappeared, and I disappeared.

In a world where everything was just a few lines of sentences, I shouted my name toward Yoo Joonghyuk.

[■■-level Fear, Chapter 1 of 'Evil Sophist' has ended.]

[You have made a decisive contribution to the completion of that Fear.]

Regardless of whether Yoo Joonghyuk heard it or not, the ending of the 40th Round was also recorded in just a few lines of sentences.

[You can now read the 'forgotten ending' of ■■-level Fear, 'Evil Sophist'.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

824 Episode 41 Sophistry (8)

[The forgotten ending can be unlocked in 'The Last Bookshelf'.]

[When unlocking the ending, you can use the 'Time Fault' exclusive to that Round.]

The message coming into my head was not easy to understand.

The events that had happened up until then were buzzing around in my head. Words came to mind without any order.

Yoo Joonghyuk. Wild. Red Blood Dragon. Mannyeonhwari. Earth Void. 3 months of time.

The scenery swirling and scattering. Sentences breaking apart like lies.

It didn't feel real at all.

「Is it really all just 'Fear'?」

Did I really change the past? Or was I just seeing an illusion?

If I had changed the past, would my actions have affected the ending?

[■■The aftereffects of sudden Fear are creeping in.]

It was a long time before I realized that the phone was ringing. The sender is 'me'.

—Hey.

Who have I acted out so far? Are the lines I've spoken really mine?

Am I Kim Dokja? Or Lee Hakhyun? Or neither.

I am.

The 'One Who Deceived the Stars, the Evil Sophist, the villain of the Geumho Subway, the leader of the Iron Guard, the Rival of the King, the one who saw the end of the world line, the one who arrived at the Final Wall, the Recorder of Fear-

—Youngest!

I suddenly came to my senses.

"Ah—"

My mind cleared up and the confusion subsided. As my choked breath was released, I felt a little tearful.

—Yeah, good job.

I muttered in a dazed state.

"Yoo Joonghyuk. What happened to Yoo Joonghyuk?"

—What are you talking about? Where's Yoo Joonghyuk?

"Yoo Joonghyuk from the 40th Round. That guy was there."

—I know what you saw, but come to your senses. It's all over. The story is over.

Those words touched something inside me.

"No. Nothing is over yet."

Yoo Joonghyuk and I were there. We survived for three months in that damned room.

I saved him.

I was there.

—That Round was over.

I didn't want to admit it. If I reached out right now, I felt like all those moments would come back to me. The feeling of dismantling Mannyeonhwari still lingered in my fingertips.

—That Yoo Joonghyuk came to this Round with you.

I hesitated and looked down at my smartphone.

Was it okay to think that way?

Just like I told Yoo Joonghyuk, was I entitled to hear the same story?

Am I worthy of that?

"No, I—"

—You're the Youngest. Come to your senses quickly. Up ahead…

The phone was disconnected again. It seemed like we had entered a no-communication zone again.

I looked aRound and saw the faintly shining subway lights.

I felt nauseous again. I repeatedly creaked while holding the subway handrail.

[Your incarnation woke up in 'Subway on the way home from work'.]

The Fear was definitely over.

But why was I still in the 'Subway on the way home from work'?

The reason was clear.

[You have unlocked Chapter 1 of '■■-level Fear, the Evil Sophist'.]

This 'train' has not yet reached its destination.

[You have interpreted 'Uninterpretable Fear'.]

[Interpretation suggestion: A colleague who is separate from life and death]

[You are blessed with Fear.]

All 'Fear' affects the interpreter when successfully interpreted. Just as one story naturally blends into another story.

We will have to wait and see whether it is positive or negative, but for now, my body felt lighter. My field of vision also broadened.

「My 'Story' of seeing the world has leaped a step further.」

I savored that feeling for a moment and then suddenly looked around. There was someone who had collapsed in the seat across from me.

"Hey."

It was Anna Croft.

She seemed to have fallen like me, as she was slowly opening her eyes.

"Ah, ah... Cheon Inho. No..."

"It's okay."

Anna Croft's eyes widened.

I put my hand on her shoulder for a moment and calmed her down. If my thoughts were right, she must have been going through the same confusion as I was.

What kind of memories did Anna Croft see?

Did she get sucked into the 40th Round’s memories like me?

Anna Croft, who had been catching her breath for a moment, looked up at me. Her voice was trembling.

"A message saying that the interpretation failed has appeared."

The interpretation failed.

It was a different message from what I had seen.

"But since the one who got on the train with me succeeded in interpreting, it’ll give you another chance…"

Anna Croft’s eyes widened as she spoke.

"Cheon Inho, you—"

"Yes. I succeeded in interpreting."

"I owe you something."

It felt strange to hear similar words from Anna Croft after Yoo Joonghyuk.

Well, I didn’t mean to, but I would appreciate it if she thought of this as a debt. There was one thing I was curious about.

"What did you see in the Fear?"

Judging from the fact that Anna wasn’t in the 40th Round’s story I entered, she probably wasn’t involved in the same story as me.

So what kind of memories did she encounter?

"I don’t know. I don’t remember."

"Nothing?"

"Yes. Nothing. I remember hearing that I was unqualified."

Unqualified?

"I also remember seeing a message saying that the breakdown interpretation failed after that."

I thought for a moment and nodded.

Maybe this is the difference between those who succeed in interpreting Fear and those who fail. Those who cannot interpret Fear in their own way do not have memories of enduring that Fear.

"Do you remember what you said before you entered the Fear?"

I recalled what Anna had said to me just before the subway lights began to flicker madly.

"When you asked who I was, you said that I was one of Yoo Joonghyuk's closest colleagues. What did you mean by that?"

"I said that?"

Her expression seemed as if she could not understand that she had said that herself.

"It is true that you were once Yoo Joonghyuk's colleague, but... colleague? Wait a minute. That can't be... colleague...?"

Her red eyes filled with suspicion spun around fiercely for a moment.

The eyes of the Great Demon.

She had activated [Past Sight]. But the next moment, her... pupils became cloudy and light sparks flew out.

"Huh, what is this."

I thought I knew what had happened.

"Why [Past Sight]..."

The 40th Round where Yoo Joonghyuk, Cheon Inho, and Anna lived was now a 'record' that she could not read.

I wonder if it had something to do with my new interpretation of the Fear.

I couldn't tell if it was good news or not.

Of course, that wasn't the only thing I couldn't tell if it was good news or not.

"It's okay. You don't have to force yourself to see it. There's a bigger problem."

I looked around cautiously and said.

This wasn't the '3807' cabin that Anna and I had ridden in.

The bloody corpses of the incarnations were lying everywhere.

In other words, this cabin had already been hit by a 'Crime Zone' and someone had killed them all. Maybe the 'Final Passenger' had already been chosen by now.

The last one left would probably be Cheok Jungyeong.

Anna's voice trembled in surprise.

"Oh my god. If this happens..."

"It'll be okay. We approached Fear in a different way than others."

We didn’t use the 'Crime Zone', so our punishment will be different. That’s the rule of this 'Fear'.

The moment I thought that far, the door in front of me slowly opened. The car in front wasn’t the passenger car.

"Ah."

Han Sooyoung’s record flashed through my mind. If my thoughts were correct, this place was right in front of me…

「The Engine Room.」

I exchanged glances with Anna Croft and slowly stepped toward the doorway.

The moment I stepped inside the door, space swallowed us up.

A room painted pitch black. When I looked closely, what I thought was a pitch black wall was actually a window. A dark, terrifying universe was reflected beyond the window.

Several old monitors were installed in the room. A tall man was standing in front of the monitor that was emitting soft light.

That man must be the 'Engineer'.

My eyes met with the Engineer who slowly turned aRound. No, to be exact, I felt that way.

A shape with no mouth, nose, or eyes. A large question mark was floating above the Engineer’s face. The question mark was staring at me.

【Come in.】

The moment I heard his voice, I felt a strange sense of foreboding.

A fragment of a story stabbed my head with a tingle.

「A foolish human being does not know that the throne of God is high.」

At that moment, I felt Anna’s body standing right next to me stiffen.

【That friend will stay like that for a while. Because she is not worthy to hear my voice.】

The dot on the question mark grew longer on both sides as if smiling, and then twitched like lips.

【By the way, it’s been a long time since I’ve been in 'seon' for three months. Thanks to you, I had a little fun.】

On the old monitor, the three months that Yoo Joonghyuk and I had experienced were occasionally flowing out.

I watched the screen with the Engineer for a moment.

I had something I wanted to ask.

"Did what I experienced really happen?"

【I just told you, you were in 'Seon'.】

Seon. A term for a sleep that is not deep.

"Then I dreamed?"

【Well. How different do you think dreams and reality are?】

"I don't know, but dreams are dreams and reality is reality. They are not the same."

【Who decides that?】

"Yes?"

【If this entire universe is someone's dream, and everyone in the dream lives without knowing it, is it a dream or reality?】

I was speechless for a moment. I thought I understood what he was talking about.

The Engineer looked at me for a moment and added.

【Most of this universe is made up of that. It is not us who decide whether it is a dream or reality.】

"The Oldest Dream."

The Engineer flinched at my answer.

I thought for a moment and then added.

"For someone who dreams all their life, that dream is also reality."

The Engineer laughed heartily as if my answer was interesting.

【I saw a man talking like you a long time ago.】

It was clear who he was talking about.

I took a deep breath and opened my mouth.

"Chief. Could it be that you are…"

I thought.

Just as <Kim Dokja Company> did, Asmodeus did, the Mass Producer did, and Uriel did, there might be 'more' similar cases.

Even though they saw their own 'end', the Constellations still weren't satisfied with the ending.

I slowly looked aRound the engine room. After thinking about it several times, there was only one person who could come on this 'train'.

A star who was once Kim Dokja's nemesis, and a star who drove the train for <Kim Dokja Company> at the last moment.

His modifier was—

【Shh. I am now the 'Fearsome Engine Manager'.】

Watching him place his finger on the question mark's lips, I hesitated and asked.

"Are you okay?"

The engine manager seemed to understand the meaning of my question and was silent for a moment before nodding.

【I am satisfied with my role. Driving the train is my specialty.】

I wonder if a constellation that has fallen in love with a story can never leave its side even after the story ends.

I looked at the great Lokapala of <Veda> who once shone brighter than anyone else for a moment and asked.

"What are you going to do with me now?"

【This is the 'Subway Home from Work'. If you woke up in the captain's seat, you should arrive at your destination now.】

Destination.

【It's my job to take you to your destination. Where do you want to go?】

It seems that the 'Subway Home from Work' was a kind of means of transportation in this 'Fear'.

I thought for a moment and then opened my mouth.

"Where I want to go."

The place I wanted to go was a place that couldn't be reached by 'public transportation'. It wasn't a place that could be reached by running fast.

It took time to get there. It took a story. I had to go through terrible hardships and overcome several deaths.

A place that even Kim Dokja, who had endured such a long time, couldn't go to in the end.

【I see.】

The Engineer looked at me and nodded as if he knew my destination.

【You want to go to the 'Big House'.】

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

825 Episode 42 Destination (1)

---

「"When the scenarios are over, we can all live together in a big house?"」

—Shin Yoosung, <Kim Dokja Company>.

---

What kind of scenery comes to mind when you hear the words 'big house'?

I think of a living room.

In that living room, there is a large fireplace (not a real fireplace), a chandelier that swings slightly overhead, and several long tables and sofas.

People are sitting at the table reading books or sitting on the sofa chatting away.

And in the middle of them is Kim Dokja, holding a smartphone.

He is holding a smartphone, but it is hard to tell whether he is reading a novel or not.

His expression is not very visible. He seems to be smiling, or he seems absorbed in something.

But he looks stable. He looks more comfortable than ever before.

Recalling that comfort, I mustered up the courage to open my mouth.

"Yes. I want to go to a Big House."

The 'big house' I had in mind and the 'big house' Kim Dokja had in mind were definitely different. The 'big house' that I could imagine was <Kim Dokja Company>'s—a somewhat artificial, modern-style living room.

"Can I go?"

I don't know what that place was like. However, I had to go to the 'Big House'.

That's because I heard that 'Second Kim Dokja' was there.

The Fearsome Engineer stared into the darkness of space for a moment at my answer.

【As you know, the train is not a means of transportation that goes directly to 'home'.】

"Then…"

【But I can take you to the nearest station.】

The Engineer added, placing a special emphasis on the word 'station'.

【Don't you know? Some destinations cannot be reached in one go.】

I understood what the Engineer said.

That was certainly the law of this <Star Stream>. The reason why Prisoner of the Golden Headband, who was able to bring the scriptures from Cheonchuk in one go by riding the Somersault cloud, had to go through all kinds of hardships with his party.

The reason why Kim Dokja, who was able to debut in the <Star Stream> in one breath by choosing a strong sponsor, had to become a Constellation himself instead of choosing a sponsor.

"Just getting to the station is enough."

That's because this world needs stories.

"As long as that station is close to the destination."

【Only you can decide the distance to the destination.】

The Engineer continued, tapping the instrument panel with his finger.

【Will you walk slowly with more Constellations, or will you advance quickly with the few Constellations that only like you?】

I thought for a moment about who the 'Constellation' he was talking about was.

The Engineer's questioning lips formed a small smile as he looked at me.

【I'll get you to the station as quickly as possible. I've received a reasonable fare.】

"Did I pay the fare?"

【You showed me an interesting dream.】

I belatedly remembered that he too was once a Constellation.

【It has been a long time since I have been so absorbed in a story.】

The voice of the Engineer mumbling like that contained a strange longing and passion.

At least for that moment, he was not the 'Chief Engineer of Fear' but the 'Final Chief Engineer' Surya who had seen his own fate.

I stood next to him and stared into the vast universe of Fear.

Where is his Destination?

Is he challenging the [Last Wall] with <Kim Dokja Company> once again? Or is he continuing to replay the ending of an event that has already happened?

Or is this eternal journey in Fear itself his Destination?

A life where the story itself is the purpose.

When I think about it, Kim Dokja was the same.

The ■■ that 51% of Kim Dokja reached was 'Eternity'. The ending that he chose, who was more curious about the ending than anyone else, was a story that never ends. Instead, he left the 'End' to the other Kim Dokja. And in a sense, his end has not yet been realized.

If the 'End' is completely written, will Kim Dokja be happy?

I don't know. The essence of my soul is a fragment of Kim Dokja, which is less than 0.1% of the content.

I, who am like that, have no right to decide Kim Dokja's happiness.

But maybe I, who am like that, can help Kim Dokja choose happiness.

That's when the smile disappeared from the conductor's expression.

【It seems that someone has been chasing you.】

The subway shook dully with a thud. Something was biting and shaking the tail car of the subway. At first, I thought it was a 'Tooth Fin,' but upon closer inspection, it wasn't.

The area beyond the tail car was being eaten by something.

An unprecedented fog covered the back of the train.

I realized what had been chasing me.

【Is it a piece of Indescribable Distance?】

The cleaner of the <Star Stream> that devours everything that goes against probability.

It was definitely it. It was the powder of the 'Nameless Mist' that Jaehwan-nim had stabbed and disintegrated. It had somehow recovered its strength and crossed over to this 'Fear'.

The Engineer's lips twisted into a question mark as if it was quite unpleasant.

【It's been a while since a train broke apart.】

If I think about it, Surya's train was eaten by Outer Gods in the main story as well.

As if he couldn't let it go like that this time, the Engineer increased the train's speed.

【Hold on tight. I'll drop you off at the stop right away. Oh, and take that friend next to you as well, too.】

My body trembled and I shook anxiously. The scenery around me began to quickly flow by.

Suddenly, I thought that this might be the last time I would see him.

I wanted to ask him something as I looked at his large back guiding the way. But no appropriate question came to mind.

【The commute home from work is extremely rough.】

Why did I end up crying without realizing it? Do I have the right to be crying at those words?

【It takes more stories than you think to arrive at the Big House safely.】

"You should come with me."

Only after saying that did I realize that was what I really wanted to say.

The director paused for a moment and then said without looking back at me.

【You're so mysterious. You can still say that.】

"I'm nothing. I'm nothing compared to the Kim Dokja you remember."

I didn't intend to say that.

Even so, the moment I heard him say that, I let out a weak sound.

Maybe it was because of Fear.

While experiencing the 40th Round of Fear, 「The Evil Sophist」, something in my heart might have broken down.

I felt anxious that I wouldn't be able to do things like Kim Dokja or Cheon Inho. Maybe it was because of that weak heart that I asked Surya to go with me.

【Unfortunately, my tale cannot reach your ending.】

I know. He is not a character of this world line. His ending has already ended.

"Can I go all the way?"

I didn't want to ask that question. I wanted to ask how to reach the 'Big House'.

And the Fearsome Engineer told the passenger who had said the wrong destination the correct location of the destination.

【A tree fell in the forest where no one was.】

"Huh?"

【No one saw the tree fall, so the tree's fall has not yet been recorded in this universe.】

I suddenly thought I knew what he was talking about.

The origin of this universe is text, and what is not recorded does not exist 'yet'.

And what does not exist cannot change the world.

【Just like you did to me, find the fallen trees again and read them. Record them. Then...】

The train shook even more violently.

I instinctively grabbed Anna Croft's arm and reached out to the Engineer.

【The 'Big House' will definitely find you first.】

The scenery disappeared.

[Disaster-level Fear 'Subway on the way home from work' has been successfully interpreted.]

[Interpretation suggestion: As long as the stars do not forget the story, the story will never lose its light.]

[You have obtained the 'Story Fragment Selection Ticket' as an interpretation reward!]

[Exploration of the Fear Realm has increased!]

[Current exploration of the Fear Realm: 57%]

When I blinked again, Anna Croft and I were outside the train. The cold air brushed against my nose. Surya's train, shining like a star across a distant galaxy, was leaving with a particle of 'Indescribable Distance.'

Will we ever meet again?

I carried the unconscious Anna Croft on my back and looked up at the long tail of the train for a moment.

—Youngest.

The phone call connected again.

It was Kim Dokja.

—There is no time to be absentminded like that. Open the guide quickly. It seems that the additional descriptions of the guide written by Han Sooyoung were unlocked at the same time as the interpretation of 'Subway on the Way Home from Work'.

I quickly turned on my smartphone and checked the contents.

And I found a strange description.

> This Fear is mainly observed after the 'Middle Area'.

It was an additional description related to the Disaster-level Fear 'Tooth Fin'. There was another additional description.

> This Fear is mainly observed after the 'Middle Area'.

The Fear I encountered along the way, about 'Alien Traffic Lights'. And.

> This Fear was only observed after the 'Middle Area'.

Including 'Subway on the Way Home from Work'.

All three of the Fears I encountered so far had descriptions of the same content added.

「All of the Fears that appear after the 'Middle Area'.」

So the difficulty of the Fears was extremely high.

No, wait a minute. Then this.

Kim Dokja's voice was heard along with the fear that was slowly rising.

—Remember when you first read the rules?

I checked the 'Fear Exploration Guidelines' again. Then, the damn rule I had forgotten came to mind clearly.

> —Warning. One of the 'Exploration Guidelines' above is 'false'.

It clearly said so in the Exploration Guidelines.

At first, I was wondering what the heck was false in the guidelines, but now I think I know.

> —You are currently located in the Entrance Area of the Fear.

"This was a lie."

If this was a false guideline, then everything I've experienced is explained.

Not only that, but it also makes sense that there were no survivors from the 'Fear Expedition' for the past three rounds.

They all started their exploration in the 'Middle Area' like me, and were wiped out by an unexpected Fear.

[A new Fear has been unlocked.]

[Unlocked the 'Modifiable Manual', a Catastrophe-level Fear.]

[Increased Fear Exploration level!]

[Current Fear Exploration level: 63%]

Even this 'Exploration Guideline' was scary.

I expected it.

The problem is that you can't defend against everything just because you expected it.

Gooooooo.

The place I fell was the ruins of a city center.

My desire to ask where this place was and my desire not to know where this place was clashed.

A thick white fog covered the ground. The torn arms, legs, and torsos of the incarnations were scattered here and there. Some were of a martial artist, and some looked like the incarnations of Constellations.

Beyond the fog, I saw a strange creature with eight long legs walking. The creature slowly moved its head as if searching for prey, and then started moving its legs again.

I asked, holding my breath.

"What on earth is that?"

There wasn't just one creature.

A creature with a long, thorn-like head that wiggled.

A giant boar-like appearance. A creature with twelve horns growing out of its body that carried corpses in a row. A giant baby that pushes everything in sight like a bulldozer.

—Divine beings of another world.

That’s right. Those were definitely 'Divine beings of another world'.

But why are there other-worldly beings wandering around here?

— Doesn’t that sound familiar?

"I wish you hadn’t said that."

— But this is my Second taste. I can’t help it.

"Damn it."

I knew a similar scene.

Foreign reporters and nameless things wandering around. Familiar signboard letters rolling on the floor. A statue of Yi Sunsin split in half and a broken throne.

「A scene that looks like a part of Seoul cut out in the 1,864th round.」

Beyond the distant fog, the outline of the 'Industrial Complex' where <Kim Dokja Company> lived was vaguely visible.

[You are currently located in the 'End Zone' of the Fear Realm.]

Maybe the 'Big House' of the Second Kim Dokja might be a little different from the place I imagined.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

826 Episode 42 Destination (2)

I thought for a moment about the tastes of the Second Kim Dokja.

Severed octopuses and squid legs were writhing on the floor, and to the west, a huge group of babies were passing by, destroying buildings.

To the east, a mad boar with water was running wild, and to the south, an Outer God was swaying.

I don’t even want to talk about what’s in the north.

If this is a 'Big House', then I just want to live in a small house.

—The north is the worst.

Our First Kim Dokja also left a brief sigh.

That’s right. No matter where you look, east, west, or south, the worst Outer Gods are inhabiting, but the worst of them all was the north.

"That, that’s it, right?"

—That’s it.

But Kim Dokja’s Industrial Complex is in the north, and to get there, you have to go through that.

—If you want to go, then go for it.

"You have to cheer me on."

—It would be better to just wait for the Second One to come out of the house.

"Shall we call out loud?"

—Would a hikikomori come out just because of that?

[NOTE 1]

We stood there blankly for a moment, looking up at the Outer Gods blocking the northern path.

In the main story, the Outer Gods—the existence of the 'Divine Beings of the Other World'—were often mentioned.

A representative Outer God among them. The 'Divine Beings of the Other World', a member of the 'Old Beings' and the librarian of [The Fourth Wall] in the 1,864th Round.

Why is that guy here and not some other guy?

Fortunately, there was a description of him in the guide.

*Some parts of this document have been modified by SVRP.

SVRP. PW 01864.

Natural Disaster-Level Fear - Dream Eater

One of the ancient Gods belonging to the 'Old Beings'. Has the characteristic of exploring the dreams of mortals. It is known to often trade rare dreams or knowledge with dreamers from other dimensions.

…According to the claims of the Transcendents, the 'Dream Eater' that appears in the End Zone is a shell with its original soul removed.

It is said that it wanders the northern part of the End Zone with only its instinct to seek out dreams remaining, for an unknown reason.

…

A mutation related to the 'Final Wall' was reported in a certain Round. It was confirmed that the incident in that Round affected the rest of the world line.

There have been no additional reports since then.

…

Confirmed to maintain the level of Natural Disaster even after its original soul was lost.

The fact that only a shell remained means that its essence was absorbed into the [Fourth Wall].

I stared blankly up at the body that stretched vertically several kilometers into the sky. It seemed slightly smaller than what was depicted in the main story, perhaps because it had lost some of its original power… Even in that state, it was a 'Natural Disaster-level' monster that was enough to destroy a world.

Interestingly, there were those who fought against that 'Natural Disaster-level' monster.

[Move! Attack from the legs!]

What's more interesting is that all the Constellations that moved the incarnation were guys I knew.

[The Constellation 'Spear Master' is furious!]

[The Constellation 'Kwon-gak Taoist' scatters powder!]

[The Constellation 'Filth Addict' vomits filth!]

'Kwon-gak Taoist', whose torso burst after being hit by the leg of the dream eater, cried out in pain.

Spear Master. Kwon-gak Taoist. Filth Addict.

That must be it. They were all Constellations that I had fought at the 'Recycling Center'.

Constellations that had possessed upper-level demons and blocked my path.

Some of them must have died at the hands of Yoo Joonghyuk, and some of them I must have dealt with... Anyway, I have to recognize the tenacity of the Constellations.

[Damn it, I can't come all the way here and die!]

[Spear Master! Isn't that different from what I heard? Much more difficult than the End Zone we know…]

[Find the Time Fault! Quickly! If we just go in there…!]

[Where are the Transcendent Alliance guys? Why are these things running around and I can't even see their noses!]

[Filth! Ooooooooooo!]

In the midst of the chaos, the words of the spells came and went. From what I heard, it seemed like they had come all the way here to find the Time Fault.

It wasn't strange.

The Master of the Spear also had experience training through the 'Time Fault' in the past.

They probably came here to make up for the defeat at the 'Recycling Center' and to open up new realms through training.

[Joint attack! Clear the way! If we definitely get to that Industrial Complex—]

Unfortunately, it seemed like their luck ended here.

Ooooooooooooooooo.

A scream that sounded like an entire world was screaming.

The 'Dream Eater's' legs moved. The legs raised as if launching a missile descended toward the ground without hesitation. The movement that contained more than simple physical force caused the ground to collapse and an aftershock erupted.

The sound of something colliding. The screams of the Constellations. A huge amount of dust that covered the sky black.

I hugged Anna Croft and fell to the ground.

It took a few minutes for the dust to settle. There were no living beings left in the scorched earth scene.

My body slowly began to tremble.

This was the Outer God that reached the 'Old Being'. Even if only the shell remained, its innate status was incomparable to that of any Constellation.

[This is… how can it go…]

A faint mantra. I saw the incarnation of the Master of the Spear, deeply embedded in a nearby building, hanging limply.

The other two were crushed by the legs, and there was no trace to be found.

I moved my trembling legs while carrying Anna Croft.

I had to run away right away. I have to go a little further. But where? Where can I run to in this apocalyptic land?

Ooooooooo.

The Dream Eater let out a strange roar and wiggled its body.

Was it my imagination? I felt the giant legs moving towards me little by little. Did it find me?

Or maybe.

"Cheon Inho. What the—"

"Shh."

I put my finger on Anna Croft's lips, who had just woken up.

Of course, simply holding my breath or not speaking wouldn't get me unnoticed.

I could feel it.

The guy would definitely find us. The disgusting story rising from his body spread like smoke as he searched the surroundings.

I thought for a moment and then said to Kim Dokja.

"Please lend me the story."

—Take it.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' responds curtly.]

There was a story of Kim Dokja that was passed down to me through 'Heir of the Eternal Name'.

Anna Croft, who was observing me like that, asked me in a whisper.

"Cheon Inho. Who did you just talk to?"

"A hyung I know."

"A hyung you know?"

Come to think of it, Kim Dokja used this 'story' next to Anna Croft in the main story. What a strange coincidence.

[The story 'Pebble and I' begins its storytelling!]

Pebble and I.

A story that Kim Dokja obtained when he visited the 'Island of the Reincarnations'.

The function of this story is simple.

[The effect of the story makes your presence similar to 'pebbles'.]

[The story 'Pebble and I' is suspicious of Anna Croft's existence.]

"Please take care of this person too."

[The story 'Pebble and I' looks at you with a displeased face, saying, 'This person again.']

[The story 'Pebble and I' shared its effect with 'Anna Croft'.]

That's it.

Now Anna Croft and I will be recognized as nothing more than a stone rolling on the side of the road.

Ooooo—?

Fortunately, the story worked normally, and the 'Dream Eater' didn't find us.

I quickly strode through the ruins, holding Anna Croft's wrist.

"Wait a minute, if we go that way now—"

"We have to go."

Instead of running away, we approached the main body of the 'Dream Eater'. It was a possible choice since its presence was fading.

"While the story continues, we'll pass it and approach the Industrial Complex."

A simple yet reliable strategy.

My liver grew colder as I approached the main body of the thing, but now was not the time to be picky.

As I passed the mouth of the thing's huge body at such a fast pace, I felt as if the thing's eyes were glancing at me from the vast sky.

—Youngest, I think you've been caught.

I reflexively shouted as I heard Kim Dokja's voice in my ear.

"Run!"

With my signal, we started running with all our might. Feeling the [Way of the Wind] wrapped around my toes, I immediately asked Kim Dokja.

"Why did we get caught? Did you give me a bad story?"

—I had forgotten for a moment, but that story is only applicable to beings who share the symbol system called 'stone'.

Come to think of it, the Gods of the Other World had a different symbol system from us in the first place. Their methods of communication are different, and their methods of signifying this universe are different.

Wait a minute, that means.

—That bastard, he wasn't fooled from the beginning.

Immediately, the guy's tentacles began to doggedly chase us.

Kudududududud!

A pitch-black shadow fell over the entire nearby area. If this continued, we would be crushed to death before even reaching the Industrial Complex.

"Hyung."

—Is this the only time you call me Hyung?

"Can I use the [Fourth Wall]?"

Now there is only one way.

The method used by Kim Dokja in the main story. A crazy way to trap his mind inside the [Fourth Wall] after he's been eaten by that guy on purpose.

— Didn't you read the guide? His soul is gone. He's just a shell. That won't work.

"But you won't know until you try. If he eats me, there might be a way."

If someone heard that, they'd say it was a crazy conversation.

Anna Croft was actually looking at me like I was crazy.

— Even if that method worked, it's uncertain whether the [Fourth Wall] would be able to accept him.

"You just don’t want to live with him, do you?"

— Do you know that the library you created is much more unstable than the original [Fourth Wall]?

"Is that so?"

I asked back, flinching slightly.

In reality, the [Fourth Wall] I have now is somewhat weaker than the original Kim Dokja’s. It's because I haven't collected enough 'Kim Dokja Fragments'.

—What do you think will happen if we fail to get that guy inside the wall? Me, but what about the other brats in this library?

Damn it.

I didn't think that far ahead.

Then we need to change our tactics.

"Anna! Faster!"

Anna nodded, her mind suddenly snapping to her senses at my shout.

The tentacles were now right behind us, and the complex was still too far away.

Thank goodness there were a few 'Fears' we could use along the way. For example—

[Catastrophic Fear 'Alien Traffic Light' activates.]

[Use the Story Fragment 'Remote Signal Controller'.]

I entered the crosswalk and changed the signal to green.

And the moment the 'Dream Eater' entered the crosswalk following me, the signal quickly changed to red.

A moment later, something rushed and collided with the tentacle of the 'Dream Eater' who ran the signal. An unbelievable collision that left skid marks.

Ooooooooo!

How is that, kid? The taste of civilization.

[The Natural Disaster-level Fear 'Dream Eater' roars!]

Perhaps the rules of the world only function because civilization exists.

That's why traffic lights and warning signs were useless in the face of a 'Natural Disaster' that would destroy even that destiny.

I hurled curses at the tentacle monster chasing me, ignoring everything.

"Follow the signal, you idiot!"

"Cheon Inho, were you talking to that monster?"

"Don't bother me and read the future, quickly."

"I still don't have [Future Sight]..."

"Why on earth are you so useless?"

Anna Croft muttered in confusion, as if she had never heard such abusive language before.

"Your ability is not limited to [Future Sight]."

"Yes. Of course."

Was she stimulated by my words?

Anna Croft suddenly became serious and activated 'Eye of the Great Demon' again. She was trying to use [Future Sight] again.

Tsk tsk tsk!

The sparks flew up fiercely. I was going to tell her not to overdo it, but Anna Croft did not turn off the skill even though she was shedding tears of blood.

As I watched the blood evaporating in real time from the sparks and drying up on her cheeks, I couldn't help but say a word.

"Tragic Fear, Anna Croft."

Anna Croft glared at me as if I was joking right now.

I was going to tell her that it was time to stop, but Anna Croft wiped away her tears of blood and said.

"I saw it."

"Yes?"

"I saw the future. Just a little bit."

I hesitated for a moment and asked.

"Did I die?"

"Did you want to see that kind of future?"

"No. I didn't die, did I?"

"Yes."

I grinned.

"That's enough. Good job, Anna."

The method I'm going to use from now on is at least a 'method that won't kill me'.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: Hikikomori; someone who avoids going out, a shut-in.

827 Episode 42 Destination (3)

---

I said, pulling Anna Croft back.

"I'll take over from here."

"I can fight too."

I glanced at Anna. Her face was stained with shame. Perhaps her pride was hurt.

"I know. You're strong, But not now."

Anna Croft was definitely a person with incredible growth potential. If only a little more time passed, she would grow into a being that even the Historical-grade Constellations, or even the Narrative-grade Constellations, would have difficulty handling.

But that was only the latter half of the 'Ways of Survival'.

The enemy before us now was a monster that could annihilate three Historical-grade Constellations in one blow. It was definitely not an enemy Anna Croft could handle.

"You know, since you've seen the future. It's my turn now."

As if she already knew what I was going to do, Anna didn't act any more. Instead, she searched through her bosom and handed me a small leather water bottle.

"Drink."

"What is it?"

"It's my blood."

I opened my eyes wide.

Anna Croft's trait was 'Elixir Maker; Her blood itself is comparable to a high-quality elixir.

"Was giving this to me also included in the future?"

Anna Croft, her shoulders slightly shrugging, answered bluntly.

"Aren't you going to take it?"

I smiled and opened the cap of the bottle.

"I always end up drinking your blood whenever I meet you."

"This is only the second time."

Was it because my sympathy with the Demon King of Salvation had deepened? The moment I drank Anna's blood, Kim Dokja's stories lit up brightly and warmed the muscles of my entire body.

I felt the 'Dream Eater' looking down at me from above.

I thought as I faced that distant gaze.

How many more monsters like that are there in this Fear Realm?

—Coming.

I nodded and activated [Way of the Wind]. I flew high into the sky, avoiding the tentacles of the 'Dream Eater' flying towards me.

—You know this is a method that no one in their right mind would ever try, right?

"Have we ever been in our right minds?"

Kim Dokja's laughter flowed out from the other end of the phone. With that laughter as accompaniment, I flew up to the distant sky. My entire body's muscles were ticklish. The stories inside me were trembling.

—It about time to fight properly.

The banished penalty was completely restored by obtaining the main scenario.

In other words, now is the time to test 100% of my strength. After all, I am the successor to the name of the 'Demon King of Salvation'. Even though I cannot fully display his power, I am not weak now.

Geeeeeeeeeing!

The 'Blade of Faith' rose from the sword of 'Unbreakable Faith'. As I swung the long sword vertically, pitch-black stories poured out from the surface of the tentacles flying towards me. The blow was minimal, but I didn’t care. It was just the beginning.

[Exclusive skill 'Way of the Wind Lv. 10' is activated to the limit!]

When the knots that Lycaon had told me about became entangled in the sword, the wind soon became my will.

[Baekcheong-ganggi began to flow along the wind knot.]

I ran towards the main body of the thing with my sword stuck in its tentacle leg.

「Way of the Wind dug into the surface of the wound and met Baekcheong-ganggi, causing large and small explosions.」

Ooooooooh!

This time, there must have been a slight blow, and I felt the 'Dream Eater' flinch.

—Did you apply what you learned from Lycaon?

"Yes."

The next moment, the 'Dream Eater’s' legs shook greatly and soared into the sky. It was definitely the attack that had sent the three Historical-grade Constellations to the goal earlier.

—Don’t hold back from now on.

Kim Dokja's words were right. From now on, if I don't give it my all, I'll die.

A fierce storm blew from the distant sky. Kim Dokja said, watching the tentacles of the thing falling at an incredible speed.

—If this doesn't work, you'll really die. You know that, right?

"Anna told me I wouldn't die."

—Do you believe that?

"I have to believe it now."

—Let's get started.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 11 (+1)' is activated!]

Originally, even if I used [Incite] or [Bookmark], it would have been impossible to compete with the 'Dream Eater'.

But now, if only for a little while, it might be possible.

Just because I went into the Fear of the '40th Round' once and came out, the power of my incite had changed.

"I—"

Of course, the person I would [Incite] was already decided.

"I am Goryeo First Sword Cheok Jungyeong!"

It wasn't just [Incite]. [Sentence Reinforcement] is a basic skill, and [Incite] is fully imbued with the know-how of Cheon Inho learned in the 40th Round.

「He was born a warrior. He was born with the blood of a dragon.」

The 'Heart of a Low-level Dragon' that I swallowed one day was beating like crazy.

「"He's too strong. Exile him from the scenario. Use all means at your disposal to send him to another world."」

A scenario exile with the blood of a dragon.

The attributes matched and dramatically increased the assimilation rate of [Incite].

「I can imitate him better than anyone else right now.」

[Item Blood of the Elixir Manufacturer's' is sensitive to your breath.]

Anna's blood flowed through my veins. The probability required for [Incite] was being realized by consuming Anna's blood.

「What I want.」

I am the best swordsman of Goryeo.

The best warrior of Goryeo who cuts everything with only one sword.

「Just cutting the emptiness before my eyes.」

The lines he had said, the lines he would have said. The history he had lived and the history he would have lived were tied together and embedded in my right arm.

The moment the magical power that had swelled to the point of bursting inflated, the tentacle legs of the 'Dream Eater' were right in front of me.

—Youngest.

"I am Cheok Jungyeong."

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' begins its storytelling.]

[The story 'One Who Killed an Outer God' begins its storytelling with the effect of 'Heir of the Eternal Name'!]

Kim Dokja's story activated right on time. It was the very tale that Kim Dokja had obtained when he hunted the 'Dream Eater' in the Dark Castle.

With my heart pounding as if it was going to burst, I swung my sword at the tentacle.

Please, please—

Tsk tsk tsk tsk.

And the scenery before my eyes began to ripple. It was clear what it was a sign of.

「Staging.」

「Incite had just succeeded in deceiving the stage.」

「This is a sword that can cut a thousand people with a single sword.」

First Form, One Sword That Cuts Thousands.

A trajectory in the air collided with the falling tentacles along with a burst of magical power.

Kudududud!

But as expected, an Outer God is an Outer God.

A shockwave that even Cheok Jungyeong's single sword could not block was pushing First Form back.

—One more time!

I immediately activated the second sword.

Second Form, Two Swords That Cuts a Mountain.

Cheok Jungyeong's second sword to cut down a mountain. As the sword strike of a different dimension from the single sword was added, the shockwave emitted by the tentacles was canceled out in an instant.

An ecstatic sensation surged through the fingertips holding the sword.

「This is the power of a Transcendent.」

A supreme realm that only those who have shed their mortal skin and ascended to the Transcendent Realm can sense.

I thought for a moment. What if I could re-enter the '40th Round'?

If only I could experience that re-experiment over and over again, like Yoo Joonghyuk and other Transcendents who entered the Time Fault.

How strong could I become?

Kkuddeok.

That was when I instinctively felt something was wrong. A terrible pain seemed to run through my right arm, and then something rattled under my shoulder.

—Damn, it broke.

The frail incarnation body couldn't withstand the shock from the two swords.

[The effect of the exclusive skill 'Incite' is forcibly canceled!]

[The exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' is activated, neutralizing the 'Incite Penalty'!]

To make matters worse, even [Incite] was canceled. I smiled bitterly as I watched another tentacle descend from the air.

—Not yet.

I thought I could use the Three Swords. Even if 「Staging」 is activated, I can't use the stage to kill that 'Dream Eater' right now.

In the first place, the 'Dream Eater' wasn't killed by Cheok Jungyeong's sword.

"Still, this is enough."

This is enough.

Instead of trying to resist death, I closed my eyes while watching the falling tentacles. And I imagined Cheok Jungyeong's three swords that I couldn't use.

The Third form, the Three Swords That Cut the Sea.

When I slowly opened my eyes while imagining that infinite sword power.

「This is a sword made to deal with the sea.」

I heard the tentacle flying toward me split in half with a cool wind.

With a sound of "Ooooooooh," the 'Dream Eater' burst out his mantra.

A man who didn't give in to that terrifying mantra stood before my eyes.

He was a Constellation who didn't Fear Outer Gods. The last passenger on the 'Subway Home', and a great disaster who caused the 'Crime Zone' and wiped out all other incarnations.

All my 'stages' up until now have been an action to draw out the interest of that person that is somewhere in the Fear Realm.

"Goryeo Swordsman. It is an honor to meet you."

Cheok Jungyeong looked back at me.

[You, how do you know my swordsmanship?]

His three swords are not a beginner's technique, but a technique created through thorough enlightenment.

It was familiar to me who was familiar with the story, but it was a martial art that ordinary martial artists could not imitate even if they tried.

But a mortal, who he was seeing that martial art for the first time, used it.

[Wait. Could it be that you...]

Oh, it's not the first time you're seeing it?

[I see. I've seen you fight Cheongae.]

Come to think of it, I had forgotten that the confrontation between Cheongae and Dragon Head Arc was broadcast on the Star Stream.

[That's interesting. I never thought that the kid from back then would come here.]

"It's an honor to be with you."

What was it about my words that made him feel good? Suddenly, Cheok Jungyeong burst into a grand laugh.

[This is the first time someone has learned my martial arts.]

If it were an ordinary warrior, it would be right for him, who knew his own unique martial arts, to question me.

I listened to him a little nervously.

[It was a single sword that was not enough to cut a thousand, and a double sword that was too short to break waves.]

A philosophical and precise analysis, but his tone was strangely gentle.

[However, that swordplay clearly points to that supreme universe. You must have learned the 'Three Swords Style'.]

Fortunately, Cheok Jungyeong didn't seem offended by my imitating his martial arts.

No, to be exact.

[Hmm. Good.]

He seemed to be feeling a little better.

The best warrior on the Korean Peninsula lightly patted his chest and declared.

[I will take you as my disciple from now on.]

Huh?

I heard the 'Dream Eater' shouting, "Ooooooh."

Before I could answer, Jungyeong moved. He cut down a thousand lives, and a mountain.

The warrior who cut the sea again swung his sword at the Outer God.

【Ooooooh!】

A martial art that was truly shocking. Cheok Jungyeong's sword slashed mercilessly at the 'Dream Eater', and the 'Dream Eater' also repelled all of the attacks with incredible agility.

Kim Dokja, who had been silently watching the spectacle, left a short comment.

—I didn't expect this.

"That's right."

—I didn't want it to turn out like this.

"Why on earth did you say something like that?"

Usually, they would have first investigated the circumstances of the leak of the Dokmun martial art or gone through some complicated procedure. However, that bold Constellation immediately took me as its disciple.

— Cheok Jungyeong is a Constellation that has never taken a disciple. His martial art cannot be learned through ordinary training.

"Ah."

A martial art that cannot be learned even if taught. But a human who mastered that martial art himself appeared.

—Well, there's nothing wrong right now. At least as long as Cheok Jungyeong thinks of you as his disciple, he won't let you die in vain in the Fear Realm.

Is this really a situation where I can just think that way and move on?

—Why, is there something bothering you?

The moment I was about to answer, someone's cold hand grabbed my wrist. It was Anna Croft.

"Cheon Inho."

"Yes. You want to run away?"

"Then you plan on dying here?"

"You said I won't die."

"I didn't see what happened next."

Anna's advice was right. Now is the time to retreat. While our master fights hard, we can quickly run away to the Industrial Complex and plan for the future.

—What a great disciple.

"Who did I learn from?"

—You know that even the best swordsman in Goryeo can't defeat the 'Dream Eater', right?

"Then this will be the last meeting between the master and the disciple."

I briefly bowed to the master who was fighting fiercely for his disciple from afar, and then turned back toward the Industrial Complex with Anna Croft.

But.

—This will definitely be our last meeting.

When on earth did he appear? The Outer God 'Yeongasi' who had been guarding a different direction until the war was blocking the way to the north.

It seemed that he had seen our fight with the 'Dream Eater' and had already approached us.

Anna Croft, whose face had turned pale, slowly hid behind me and said.

"I don't like Yeongasi."

[NOTE 1]

I didn't have much magic left anyway. So.

I quickly turned around and shouted loudly.

"Master! Your disciple is in danger!"

Then the master replied.

[If it were my disciple, he could take care of someone like that by himself.]

Hmm, it seems that the new master is the type who pushes his disciple into the tiger's den.

I started to slowly back away with Anna.

"Is there another plan?"

"No."

Anna Croft tilted her head at my desperate answer.

"That's strange."

"What do you mean?"

"It wasn't the Goryeo Swordsman."

"What do you mean?"

"What I confirmed in the future was that it wasn't the 'Goryeo Swordsman'."

While I was wondering what that meant, I heard a conversation from somewhere. It was on the rooftop of a nearby building.

"Hehe, the Captain of the Third Division fights with the Dream Eater every time he comes here."

"What a pitiful guy."

"Let's subdue him first. We'll attack the Dream Eater together, and who will fight Yeongasi?"

"I'll do it."

The moment the Yeongasi monster rushed in with a "Kwaeaeaeaek," a blue sword strike rippled before my eyes.

I knew what that martial art was. The blue of the sword resembling the clear and bright sky.

—Wow, it's been a really long time.

Baekcheong-ganggi. But that wasn't my Baekcheong-ganggi. A sword much more noble and even beautiful than my Baekcheong-ganggi.

"That's him."

As Anna spoke, I looked at his back as if I was possessed. His sky-blue hair, which matched Baekcheong's swordsmanship, was blooming brilliantly in the dazzling light.

As I watched the Yeongasi Outer God running away screaming, I suddenly recalled the description of him when he first appeared.

「In 'Ways of Survival', when describing a handsome man, the expression 'slapping Yoo Joonghyuk's face' is often used, and I would say he is a person who fits that expression perfectly.」

If I were to express my emotion right now, Yoo Joonghyuk's cheek would be gone.

I finally ran towards the 'real master' who had appeared.

But the expression on the master's face as he looked back at me was unusual. Now that I think about it, why is that? Master's appearance was a little strange. No, it wasn't just a little strange.

That... what is that?

Was Kyrgios originally that big?

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: Yeongasi means 'parasitic worm' or 'controlling ghost' in Korean.

828 Episode 42 Destination (4)

---

The most memorable sentence among the descriptions of Kyrgios Rodgraim, the White Blue of Paradox, is this.

「The beginning is a single point, so the smallest is the greatest.」

There's also this.

「The strongest small person in the world.」

Do you see what's repeated?

That's right.

「Small.」

That was Kyrgios's alpha and omega, his core element.

A Transcendent being from Peace Land, where only tiny people live together. He even overcame his complex of 'smallness' and reached a particularly great enlightenment.

That's how the Kyrgios I knew was.

So how should I explain the man I see before my eyes right now?

"Disaster-level Fear... White Blue of Paradox?"

"Cheon Inho, are you really crazy?"

No matter what Anna Croft said, I had no intention of taking back what I had already said.

Because there was no other way to explain it than 'Fear.' If the smallest is the greatest, how should we interpret Kyrgios, who has grown a little… no, a lot? Should we see him as having become a little less great?

Of course, our teacher, who is still great even if he has become a little less great, was walking lightly toward me with his characteristically dignified steps.

—I've seen all sorts of strange things after living a long time.

Leaving behind Kim Dokja, who kept spouting nonsense toward the true teacher, I finally faced Kyrgios, who had arrived in front of me. It was a moment that made me feel quite tense.

I had a history of pretending to be Kyrgios' disciple and betting on Baekcheong-mun's name while dealing with the Dragon Head Arc of the Beggar Sect at Seoul Station.

Maybe, just like Cheok Jungyeong, it's possible that Kyrgios knows me.

It was a situation where I could end up in trouble if I made a mistake with my tongue, but even so, all I could use was my damn tongue.

"White Blue of Paradox, Kyrgios Rodgraim. Is that right?"

"Who are you?"

"Yes. I am..."

What should I say?

Should I say Kim Dokja?

While I hesitated, Kyrgios asked again.

"How do you know that martial art?"

Come to think of it, I was still activating [Baekcheong-ganggi].

It was already too late to release the skill, and since it had come to this, I had no choice but to go with the 'Kim Dokja Strategy'.

"I'm late in greeting you. A disciple outside the Baekcheong-mun clan is meeting the elder of the clan."

Kyrgios looked down at me blankly and said.

"Baekcheong-mun clan has already been destroyed."

"I know. I learned from the last survivor of Baekcheong-mun clan."

It wasn't exactly a lie.

In fact, I learned [Baekcheong-ganggi] from someone who had mastered it secretly.

"I've heard a lot about the master. I've always wanted to greet you properly someday, and I'm honored to meet you like this."

I thought I was being polite, but Kyrgios's reaction was strange. I glanced around and saw several people who had appeared with Kyrgios muttering.

"The Captain of the First Division is still popular."

"Is it Kyrgios again?"

"I told you. There are a lot of people who want to become that friend's disciples."

There were a lot of people who wanted to become disciples?

—Oh.

The moment I heard Kim Dokja's voice, I got goosebumps.

I'm an idiot. Why didn't I think of that?

—It seems there was one here too.

The readers of this world possessed various people in various places. So wouldn't there have been readers who possessed others near Kyrgios?

"Is your name 'Kim Dokja' too?"

I smiled bitterly.

Fortunately, unlike the other Kim Dokja, I had a way to prove myself.

"You're the first to learn [Baekcheong-ganggi]."

Thinking about it, it was natural.

In this world, I and LiteraryGirl64—Cha Yerin were the only ones who learned [Baekcheong-ganggi].

—You survived thanks to Yerin.

Her name suddenly came to mind and I felt a strange longing.

I wonder if Yerin is doing well. What happened to Killer King? Ji Eunyu or Dansu ahjussi. And Kyung Sein…

A voice from behind interrupted my short thoughts.

"Kyrgios. That's it."

A man was walking towards me from a distance with his upper body naked. It was Goryeo's best swordsman, Cheok Jungyeong, who had been fighting the Dream Eater until the war.

"That pale little one is my disciple. Don't let your eyes lightly fall on him."

"Your disciple?"

Cheok Jungyeong patted his chest again at Kyrgios's question full of doubt.

"Yes. He is my disciple. Judging from your reaction, it seems you have recognized the talent of the little one."

"..."

"But it's too late. He is my swordsman."

The two people's gazes were subtly intertwined in the air. At that moment, when I wondered what was happening, a loud noise rang out from far away.

Kukukukukuku!

Ten Transcendents were surrounding the Dream Eater and attacking together.

At least the power of a 'Spear Master'.

When they gathered together and performed a passing technique, even that powerful Outer God staggered and retreated.

It was an unbelievable sight.

No matter how strong the Transcendent were, they were not enough to defeat that 'Dream Eater'?

"Tsk tsk, that's not how you cut."

"…"

"Hey! 2nd Division rookie! You have to stab faster! Do you want to get stuck in the Time Fault for another hundred years?"

"…"

"No, that's not how you do it!"

When did it start? A small old man standing right next to me was lecturing them. To me, it was just an amazing martial art, but it seemed to be nothing special in the old man's eyes. The old man added a few words to the combined attack of the Transcendents for a while, then suddenly turned to me.

"Huh? Who are you?"

"Oh, me."

"A newbie?"

The atmosphere of the old man laughing vainly felt familiar.

What should I say? He seemed like someone who had long since transcended the 'scenarios' of this world.

The old man glanced at me with profound eyes and let out a small exclamation.

"There are only a handful of newbies who have come up here alone, but you're quite a guy."

"What's your name?"

"I'm Kim Dokja."

The old man smiled in an unknown way at my words.

"That's a strange name. I like guys with strange names."

A feeling of longing flashed across the old man's expression as he spoke.

Soon, I saw the 'Dream Eater' retreating with a gurgling sound from afar.

When I saw Kyrgios and Cheok Jungyeong standing in their center, my heart started pounding for no reason. Perhaps there are still many stories in this world that I do not know.

Those who do things that even the Constellations cannot do with their human bodies.

The old man looked at them and said.

"Kim Dokja. Welcome to the 'Transcendent Alliance'."

---

Transcendent Alliance.

"No, wait a minute!"

I was captured by the Transcendents and dragged straight to the Industrial Complex.

The building that I thought was Kim Dokja's 'Big House' was surprisingly their headquarters.

[Disaster-level Fear, admitted to the 'Fear ward'.]

I was even dragged to the ward and given a blood transfusion of stories.

I looked at Anna Croft, who was hospitalized next to me, and asked.

"Are you okay?"

"I'm okay. How about you?"

"Do you think this looks okay?"

"I don't know what the situation is."

It seemed like it was a situation that even Anna Croft's [Future Sight] couldn't see. It seemed like she was trying to activate [Future Sight] several times, but the situation wasn't going smoothly.

Maybe it was natural. If I were to guess, we're 'very close to the Second Kim Dokja'.

Yes, this is the 'Big House' you were thinking of, Kim Dokja.

"What do you think the purpose of capturing us is?"

"Well. If they didn't mistake us for 'Fears'..."

My smartphone was buzzing at that moment, so I checked, and the guide had been updated.

* Part of this document has been modified by SVRP.

SVRP. PW ???

Fear of a Natural Disaster—Transcendent Alliance

An alliance of Transcendents residing in the apocalyptic region. An organization formed by super-strong individuals, each of whom is equivalent to a Constellation.

■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■

A few particularly powerful Transcendents are called 'Captains' and are known to each possess a level of danger equivalent to 'Genius Payout'.

Total Captain, ■■■■ ■■

Zero Brigade Captain, ■■■■ ■■.

First Brigade Captain, Paradoxical White Blue Kyrgios Rodgraim.

Second Brigade Captain, Breaking the Sky Namgung Minyoung.

Third Brigade Captain, Goryeo Swordsman Cheok Jungyeong.

…

> In all the Rounds where the group appeared, they were observed to have fought against the 'Great Old Being' and been annihilated.

I was honestly surprised while reading the guide's explanation.

There were two reasons why I was surprised.

One, there were people I knew who were happy to be alive in that terrible 'End Zone'.

And two, they were ultimately annihilated by the 'Great Old Being.'

The Great Old Being. There were some names of Outer God that came to mind, but I couldn't figure out what kind of being they were fighting against and being annihilated against.

[Disaster-level Fear, the effect of 'Fear Ward' is activated.]

My eyes kept closing.

[All your wounds will be healed.]

It seems that this is the effect of this ward.

I heard someone screaming in my head several times. I couldn't tell if it was my scream, Anna's scream, or someone else's scream.

When I opened my eyes again, it was already morning.

A large man greeted me.

"Are you awake? Disciple."

Cheok Jungyeong was there, smiling with his teeth exposed.

---

I was introduced to various places in the Transcendent Alliance by Cheok Jungyeong.

It seemed that the Transcendent Alliance only used the first floor of the 'Industrial Complex'.

Cheock Jungyeong spoke in an unusually kind tone and explained in detail the sleeping rooms, bathrooms, and training rooms in the building.

"And from today on, you are the youngest of the Third Unit."

"Hey, Master."

"Why are you doing that?"

"I didn't say anything about joining the Transcendent Alliance."

I couldn't understand. All I had been through for a day was being forcibly admitted to the ward.

But I was forced to become a member of the Transcendent Alliance as soon as I was discharged?

Cheok Jungyeong's lips twitched slightly, perhaps because my reaction was unexpected.

"Disciple. Didn't you come here because you wanted to become a Transcendent?"

"That's true."

Becoming a Transcendent was the only way for me to become stronger now.

However, I didn't come here to become a Transcendent and die. I didn't know when the 'Great Old Beings' would attack, but if I stayed here, it was only a matter of time before I would die with them.

"If you work hard here, you can become a Transcendent. Just like this body."

"Isn't the Master a Constellation?"

"For someone as strong as me, such a concept is not important."

I decided to interpret the situation positively.

Anyway, I have to find the 'Second Kim Dokja' here, and this is the safest place in the End Zone.

Will the Great Old Being attack? No. Can't I just run away before the attack?

And most of all.

"Okay, that's it."

Here, I can use the 'Time Fault' that I've only heard of.

"It's the famous 'Time Fault'."

In a space wider than a playground, small doors were densely packed in all directions. In front of the doors, there were small monitors attached, and the scenes that quickly flowed inside the monitors seemed to be videos taken inside the Time Fault.

In some monitors, there was an incarnation exploring the edge of darkness, and in others, there was an incarnation that fell from the bridge forever. I could also see the Constellations trapped in Tartarus, the Prison of the Underworld.

Everyone was struggling in different places, different times.

I could also see the numbers attached to each monitor.

2-3 Rounds. 4-11 Rounds. 5-33 Rounds. 6-77 Rounds…

"What are these numbers?"

"Ah, that’s it."

Cheok Jungyeong scratched his cheek and answered.

"I think it’s probably the order in which the Time Faults were created, but I don’t know exactly."

I checked the scenes on the monitor and sank into silence.

Cheok Jungyeong’s thoughts were right in some sense, and wrong in some sense.

And only I understood what that 'Round' was.

Yes. Those Time Faults—

「They’re all Yoo Joonghyuk’s 'Regression' Rounds.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

829 Episode 42 Destination (5)

---

The 'doors' of the Time Faults that covered the entire space and filled up to the very top of the sky.

I approached the closest door.

"Hey, disciple. Don't go in. There's a passenger there."

I looked at the door that said [2-1 Round]. The number '2' in front of it probably meant Yoo Joonghyuk's world Round.

And the '1' behind it...

[Currently, the scenario 'Proof of Value' is in progress.]

Is it a scenario number?

The monitor hanging next to the door showed a scene from the subway.

It was a scene I knew very well.

—Kwaaaaah!

—Save me! Save me!

A woman with cold eyes was sitting in the scene of the First Scenario that repeated forever.

I knew it without anyone telling me. She was the 'Passenger' of that world.

"That guy said that's where she fits best."

"…"

"The difficulty of the Fault itself is low, but it is a place with high fatigue, so it has a unique character."

According to Cheok Jungyeong, all Transcendents enter the Fault of their choice, spend time, and repeatedly practice to achieve enlightenment.

Some Transcendents achieve enlightenment by repeating the same actions or scenarios, while others experience overwhelming time and raise their level.

"In my opinion, that guy is halfway crazy. She must have forgotten that she has to come out again by now."

In fact, some characters seemed to have forgotten that they were experiencing repeated scenarios in the Time Fault.

For example, the Transcendent that entered [6-21] looked quite serious at first glance. His pupils were weak, and saliva was dripping from the corner of his mouth. No matter how you looked at it, he was a person with madness.

"If you don't come to your senses, that's what happens. After all, that 'Time Fault' is also a 'Story'."

"If I don't live the story, the story will live me."

Cheok Jungyeong's eyes widened at my answer.

"Wow, disciple. You know some pretty good words. It's just like the invincible snake that always says."

"Shouldn't we go and save those people?"

"They probably don't want to be saved."

"Why?"

"Even though they look strange from the outside, they might be in the process of achieving enlightenment."

Enlightenment? That? No matter how you look at it, it looks like they've gone crazy.

"You can't know what's going on in their head, right?"

Well, that might be true.

Even if they're drooling on the outside, they might be in the process of leaping to a state of profound enlightenment on the inside.

If that's the case, you'll probably get cursed at later if you try to save them.

"And there are many cases where you can't enter at all because the number of people allowed to enter is limited to one. That Fault just now was the same."

Upon closer inspection, [6-21] had a limit of one person allowed to enter.

That means that even if that person were to go crazy there, no one would be able to save them.

"Anyway, entering the Time Fault is their own choice. There's no need to feel pity when you see them all. Rather, it's an insult to them."

I felt a little lonely as I watched the Transcendent drooling in the darkness.

The people who threw away their entire lives just to become stronger.

What made my feelings more complicated was that the place they threw their lives was that 'Time Fault'.

Maybe all Transcendents are ultimately a kind of Yoo Joonghyuk. Or maybe they want to be Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Can I go in too?"

"It seems like you're interested now."

Cheok Jungyeong chuckled as if he knew that would happen.

"But not yet. You haven't taken the 'Fear Suitability' test."

"Fear Suitability?"

"As you can see, most of those who enter the Time Fault cannot maintain their incarnations. Well, there are exceptions. For example, if there is an identical 'incarnation' within that 'Fault', that's an exception. Like that old man."

The place that Cheok Jungyeong pointed to was [Round 16-59]. In the screen of that Round, there was a boy who was practicing while sitting cross-legged in the hellfire.

I immediately recognized who that boy was.

The invincible Yoo Hoseong.

He was the master of Breaking the Sky Sword Saint.

In the main story, he was on the "Island of Reincarnation", but in this Round, he chose to reside in the Fear Realm.

Cheok Jungyeong continued to speak.

"Anyway, depending on how high your Fear Suitability is, the type of 'Time Fault' you can enter also changes. That's talent here. No matter how powerful a Transcendent is, if your Fear Suitability is not right, you can't enter."

"I see."

"The suitability test is tomorrow. I'll tell you what you have to do then, so go in and get some rest today."

I nodded, but even after Cheok Jungyeong left, I didn't leave right away and just stared up at the distant Time Faults.

I don't know why the 'Time Faults' came into existence. However, I had one guess.

"That bastard Kim Dokja… How much have you read?"

This world ultimately exists through Kim Dokja's 'reading behavior'. That means that these many 'Time Faults' could also be the results of Kim Dokja's 'reading'.

For example, those abnormally split memories might be the result of Kim Dokja 'rereading' the world from time to time.

Just like opening a page of a book to read when he remembers it, Kim Dokja might have read, read, and read this world again.

I thought as I counted the endless number of Time Faults.

Second Kim Dokja.

What are you looking for in this distant past of Yoo Joonghyuk?

---

The next day, I took the 'Fear Suitability' test. I don't know why so many captains came to a rookie's suitability test, but my masters were among them.

"I'll find out if you're qualified to be a Baekcheong-mun."

"That's all for finding out. My disciple! Ignore what this parasitic brother says!"

Kyrgios and Cheok Jungyeong were still fighting, and.

"You're here, Cheon Inho."

Anna Croft, who had been waiting at the location in advance, greeted me and said.

"Are you here to take that strange test too?"

"Yes. What."

"Is it a mun test?"

[NOTE 1]

"..."

"If the test results lead to being kicked out of the Fear or something..."

Anna Croft had currently betrayed her nebula and fled here. If she were to be chased out of the Transcendent Alliance right away, she would have nowhere to go.

I looked at Anna for a moment and said this.

"Don't worry."

"How could you..."

"You said it. Your ability is not all about [Future Sight]."

It is true that Anna Croft is an incarnation specializing in 'Information Warfare' compared to other named incarnations.

But that doesn't mean she has no talent in other areas.

Anna Croft, who had been quietly staring at me, slightly opened her eyes and turned her head.

"I didn't know you'd say that, but..."

I smiled.

Well, sometimes, there are days when a villain like me can cheer others on.

In this way, Anna Croft has a cute side.

After a while, the Commander-in-Chief approached us.

"Nobu is called the God of Despair."

[NOTE 2]

The Commander-in-Chief of the Transcendent Alliance was that old man. That is, the person who told me, 'Welcome to the Transcendent Alliance.'

By the way, the God of Despair...

I've heard that nickname a lot somewhere.

"The test itself is simple. Just read the sentences written on the blank paper I gave you."

Anna Croft was the first to receive the paper. It seems that the sentences on the blank paper will appear when the test starts.

Cheok Jungyeong, who was watching me from afar, waved his hand and shouted.

"Jeji, don't be so intimidated Mira! Even reading just one word is amazing!"

"You're a newbie who's finally here, but you should at least read one line."

"If you're a disciple of Baekcheong-mun, you should be able to read two lines."

"Shut up, Gisaeng Brother."

[NOTE 3]

Amidst the leaders' scorn, Anna's test began first.

"Ah."

Did a sentence appear on the blank paper?

Anna's brow furrowed slightly.

A spirit of despair blew.

"Can you read it?"

Anna Croft nodded, and a light rustle arose among the meadows. It seems that being able to read that itself is an amazing thing here.

Anna Croft took a deep breath and slowly opened her mouth.

"The first sentence written in space."

An awkward pronunciation, as if reading an unfamiliar foreign language.

Anna tilted her head a few times and slowly finished speaking.

"The first sentence was Ini."

Then the paper shook lightly, and a dazzling ring of light flowed out and hovered over Anna's head for a moment. It hovered. A short silence flowed. When Anna, who was burdened by the silence, slowly raised her head, the God of Despair took a step closer and asked.

"Can you read the next one?"

Anna Croft lowered her head again and stared intently at the blank paper. One minute, two minutes passed like that.

Anna shook her head with an uncertain expression.

"No. I don't know."

"I see. You passed."

A light exclamation of admiration erupted from the Transcendents.

"Young friend, you're really good."

"It's been a while since I've read the first sentence. When was the last time?"

"Didn't Goryeo Swordsman read even one sentence?"

"I read it too, you bastards."

It seemed that reading an entire 'sentence' in the Fear Suitability test was an extremely rare case.

"It's not easy to read the first sentence... If you're at that level, you could be put into a 'Natural Disaster level Fear' right away."

"Arthur. Are you going to replace all the new recruits again?"

"You grow by bumping into things."

"Hey you! Apply as you are!"

The one who calmed down the noisy Transcendents was once again the God of Despair.

"Now, now, be quiet. The test isn't over yet."

The God of Despair then handed me a blank sheet of paper.

To be honest, I felt strangely excited rather than nervous when I received it.

What could be written on it?

An item that didn't appear properly in the main story or even in the 'Ways of Survival'. Maybe this 'blank sheet' contained a hint about the 'Second Kim Dokja'.

After a while, a sentence appeared on the paper.

I stared at the sentence carefully and carefully read the first sentence. It was the same sentence that Anna Croft had read.

"The first sentence written in the universe wasn't the first sentence."

The moment I read the first sentence, a ring of light flowed from the paper and hovered above my head.

Once again, exclamations were heard from those around me. "What, you read it again?"

"As expected, it's my disciple!"

I blankly looked down at the paper. Anna Croft couldn't see the next sentence.

Why... can I see it this well?

"All sentences are nothing more than fleeting dreams, and the order of dreams is determined only by the dreamer."

With each additional sentence, the ring of light hovering over my head began to grow.

"Some dreams are short, some are long, some are deep, some are shallow. Some are pitiful, some are great, some are sublime."

Before I knew it, silence had taken hold of the surroundings.

I continued reading the story, echoing the silence.

"All those dreams cannot become a single old dream, so there must be a place where the abandoned dreams gather."

As I read, I realized little by little.

I see, this is it.

"There must be a very big house beyond time and space, unfettered by the laws of dokkaebis. There, all dreams are free as Fear. In the snowy fields of incomprehensible dreams, the King of Fear will smile, neither light nor darkness."

A story about the 'Fear Realm'.

And.

"But every story has an ending, so one day, those who wish to record the end of Fear will come."

A story of those who wish to record that Fear.

"The Fear that has begun to be recorded will return to being a tale. It will become a set story. It will be recorded in history again."

The moment I read that far, someone muttered.

"Wait a minute. Is it okay to keep reading that?"

"Disciple! Stop! If you read to the last sentence—"

But it was already too late.

I couldn't take my eyes off the paper, and my mouth was only functioning to read the sentence on the paper.

"When that day comes, the boundary of sleep will open, and the King of Fear will descend. And only he who defeats the King of Fear—"

At last, I finally said the last sentence.

"At the border of dreams and reality, he will become the last storyteller who denies all records."

When I slowly raised my head, I could see three rings shining brightly above my head.

The pale-faced Transcendent Legion spoke to me.

"My God, there's someone who can read all of that?"

"That kid's Fear Suitability is…"

"For God's sake, Chunghuh! Is that okay? If you're not careful—"

And then, as if it had been waiting, a message spread through my head.

[You have unlocked an Unknown Fear.]

It seems that this 'paper' was also a kind of Fear.

The problem was the message that came next.

[You have interpreted the 'End-level Fear', 'End-level tow truck'.]

What level?

[Interpretation suggestion: Fear Realm, go down, Second Kim Dokja, open the door.]

[The countdown to the 'End-level area' begins now.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: Here 'mun' could mean either written test or spirit test, they both sound mun depending on context.

Note [2]: 'Nobu' Could mean 'old man' in Korean but I am not sure so I left it like this.

Note [3]: Gisaeng were highly trained female performers skilled in music, dance, poetry, and conversation, who often served royalty, aristocrats, or high officials.

830 Episode 42 Destination (6)

Since that day, my nickname has become 'End'. It makes sense, because the next day, a countdown started to appear above my head.

[Time remaining: 28 days 3 hours]

This is the same no matter how you look at it.

28 days 3 hours later, this 'End of Fear Realm' will be destroyed.

"Hey, that kid said he ended the end of the End of Fear?"

And I'm the crazy guy who pressed that destruction button.

"Is it true that you unlocked the End-level Fear?"

"Wow, I really have to live long enough to see this. That paper was all read?"

But I feel wronged, too. What did I know? I just like reading.

I read it because I'm a reader.

"So that paper can't be used anymore?"

"What did you get in return? If you had interpreted it, you would have gotten a reward."

Reward. Of course I got a reward.

[Acquired the Story Fragment 'Murim Dumpling Recipe'.]

Honestly, I wondered if this was the reward for interpreting the 'Final Tale'.

Then on the other hand, I thought it might be a valuable Story Fragment.

As far as I know, this recipe is now out of print.

I'll give it to Yoo Joonghyuk later when I meet him.

"Kim End-nim."

When I turned around to see who came to pick a fight again, Anna Croft was standing in front of me with two cups of coffee. It was a refreshing sight.

"Yes, Kim Anna-nim."

"You look free."

Now, openly picking a fight, Kim Anna handed me the coffee.

The coffee I drink in the Fear room tastes much more bitter than the coffee I knew.

Of course it is.

This is 'Fear coffee'. It's black water with a strange setting that temporarily increases your immunity to Fear when you drink it.

"Yes, I'm so free, my head's going to explode. Is the work worthwhile?"

It's been three days since I entered the Fear Realm. In those three days, Kim Anna, who entered the first unit, has already been deployed to five 'Time Faults'.

"Yes. It was better than I thought."

Although she is still a newbie and has never been deployed to a Time Fault alone, Anna Croft's recent activities have been a hot topic within this lonely 'End Zone'.

In particular, because her [Future Sight] worked accurately in some Time Faults, the reputation of the 'Prophet' among the Transcendents is once again on the rise.

"You look happy. As if you got a job at the company you wanted."

"You're mistaken."

Anna Croft added, her face hardening in a hurry.

"But Cheon Inho. You haven't been assigned to any missions yet."

"Well, I'm just so great."

Before I was even assigned to the Time Fault, I unlocked one 'End-level Fear', so the Transcendents couldn't possibly be happy about me. If they were to assign it wrong and unlock another 'End-level Fear', it would be a big deal.

So the fact that I'm stuck in the restaurant right now is a kind of disciplinary action.

This is what a new employee who got into trouble right after joining the company does.

I'll say it again, I'm also wronged.

Who wanted to do that?

And the company I wanted to work for wasn't the <Transcendent Alliance>, but <Kim Dokja Company>.

"Our Captain asks a lot about you."

If it's the Captain of the First Division, it's Kyrgios Rodgraim.

"So you told him that I'm the worst villain you know?"

It was a joke to make people laugh, but Anna's answer was unexpectedly serious.

"You're the one who keeps destroying the common sense of 'future' that I was certain of. I said that."

For a moment, I just touched the poor coffee cup, wondering what to say. Anna Croft really seemed to care about me.

"So come to your senses. You don't plan on letting the 'End Zone' be destroyed like this, do you?"

I nodded.

"I don't plan on that either. The problem is that there is a lack of hints on what to do to prevent the End."

After joining the 'Transcendent Alliance', I lost contact with the First Kim Dokja, so I couldn't ask him anything over the phone.

Well... It's not like there were no clues to interpret it at all.

「When that day comes, the boundary of sleep will open, and the King of Fear will descend.」

If my guess is correct, the 'King of Fear' mentioned in the prophecy of the end refers to 'the Second Kim Dokja.'

How do I know?

「In the snowy field of incomprehensible dreams, the King of Fear will smile, neither light nor darkness.」

'A smile that is neither light nor darkness.'

Anyone can see that it is an expression meaning 'the Watcher of Light and Darkness', a modifier of the Second Kim Dokja.

My question starts here.

Then why does the 'Second Kim Dokja' appear in the prophecy as the 'King of Fear'. And why does the prophecy refer to his appearance as the 'Prophecy of the End'.

Everything was full of questions.

Would the world turn upside down just by the appearance of the Second Kim Dokja?

"Isn't that a little strange?"

I asked back indifferently.

"What's strange?"

"If that prophecy is true, this 'End Zone' will be destroyed in exactly 28 days."

"Of course."

"That's what's strange."

"So what is it?"

"The countdown to the End has begun, but look at those people."

I looked at where Kim Anna had pointed. The cheerful-looking Transcendents were standing in line, filling their plates with dumplings. In a way, it was quite a sight. The losers of a world that even those Constellations couldn't touch were standing in line to receive their dumplings.

Even Cheok Jungyeong was shouting in a brazen voice, "Master! One of these dumplings is smaller than the others!"

"The dumplings must be delicious."

"Cheon Inho. Do they look like people who are about to end?"

"Those people are Transcendents."

"Even if it's a Transcendent, it's an 'End-level Fear'. I asked the Captain, but he said that the 'End-level Fears' that have appeared so far have never been properly resolved."

Hasn't it ever been resolved?

"He said that the End-level Fears can only be accepted. That's why it's the 'End', and a Fear that no one can avoid."

If it was Kyrgios, who had grown so tall, and not another Kyrgios, who said that, then it must be true.

"Then why are those people so cheerful?"

The clever Kim Anna looked at me with pitiful eyes at my question.

"I think that's something you should figure out."

"Why? Please help me."

"It's something that I can't see even with my [Future Sight]. However..."

Fortunately, our Kim Anna seemed to have caught on to something.

Kim Anna, who was watching the steam rising from the restaurant, slowly opened her mouth.

"When I look at them, I feel like they've already experienced 'destruction' once."

I listened to Anna's words and blankly stared at the backs of the Transcendents.

Among them were the Goryeo's First Sword Cheok Jungyeong, who was more aggressive than I remembered, and Kyrgios, who had grown much bigger than I remembered.

In addition, I saw the Commander–God of Despair, Chunghuh, who was watching them from afar, and the Young Byeondae and Il Byeondae Vice-Captains guarding him.

I stared at them for a moment and then said,

"That's good advice."

"Huh?"

"They've already experienced 'destruction'."

To Anna Croft, who was wide-eyed, I smiled like Kim Dokja and added,

"I think I've found a clue."

---

Deep inside the first floor of the Industrial Complex where the Transcendent Alliance resides, there is a 'Time Fault Room'.

The very room that Cheok Jungyeong had first guided me to.

The Young Byeondae Vice-Captain, who happened to be guarding the room, greeted me.

"New recruit. Are you here again?"

"Yes."

"There are no 'tasks' to give to the new recruit today either."

"It's okay. I just came to look around."

The Transcendent Alliance has 'tasks to solve' every week.

For example, it goes like this.

「Eliminate the Disaster-level Fear 'Backstepper' that appeared in [2-16 Round] (incomplete).」

「Eliminate the Disaster-level Fear 'Dragon Eater' that appeared in [22-14 Round] (currently in progress).」

「Eliminate the Natural Disaster-level Fear 'Founder of the Absolute Throne' that appeared in [124-24 Round] (currently on hold).」

According to the Transcendents, these tasks were a kind of earthquake that occurred in the 'Time Fault'.

The Otherworldly Deities, Outer Gods, or Fears that were wandering around the <Star Stream> would wander around looking for a place to hide and become parasites in the 'Time Fault', and from there, problems would occur throughout the Fault.

The Transcendents of the Transcendent Alliance were in charge of eliminating such strange phenomena and managing the 'Time Fault'.

—Kuoooooo!

On the screen, I could see Cheok Jungyeong cutting off the head of the 'Dragon Eater'. It was a refreshing swordsmanship worthy of Goryeo's First Sword.

—He's a guy who drank a lot of dragon's blood, everyone, take out your alcohol. Today, I'm going to make a special Yonghwa wine and drink it!

Since I'm a member of the Third Squadron, I should have gone on that hunt. However, after the 'End of the Fear' incident, I was restricted from entering the Time Fault, and thanks to that, all I could do was look at other Faults here.

Well, there's nothing I can do. Since the Transcendents say I can't, I can't force myself into the Fault.

So what have I been doing these past few days?

"Are you trying to watch the video again?"

"Yes."

"You won't get stronger from watching it."

"I'm just a little interested."

In this Time Fault room, you couldn't only see the 'Time Fault' currently in progress. In short, I could also view the cases of the 'Time Fault' that had already been resolved.

For example, the one I chose was,

「[42-16th Round] The Disaster-level Fear 'Darkness that Descends' (Complete)」

Darkness that Descends. It was an Outer God's name that I didn't know well. However, I knew very well who had defeated it.

Baekcheong's swordsmanship that was dazzlingly displayed on the screen. Indeed, it was a skill that gave me goosebumps whenever I saw it.

"Huh? Rookie! Are you watching our Captain's video?"

When I turned around at the noise, I saw familiar faces standing there.

The First Platoon Leader and the Commander-in-Chief—'God of Despair Chunghuh'.

"Yes. I was watching it because it was on the viewing list."

The First Platoon Leader asked with a bright face at my answer.

"Isn't our Captain incredibly strong?"

"He is incredibly strong."

"The Captain still talks about you a lot these days. How on earth did you possess our Captain?"

I looked up at the face of the chattering boy. Although he looked like a boy on the outside, it was clear that the First Lieutenant was also a Transcendent who had lived for a very long time.

The boy's name was Ryunard.

He was called the 'Naked Saint' because he always fought naked.

"You shouldn't trouble a newbie, Ryunard."

The one who intervened was the one guarding the room.

The Captain of the Young Brigade who was there.

Ryunard muttered with a frown.

"Karlton-nim is only picky about me."

"No. According to Article 1, Section 8 of the Transcendent Alliance Residence Law..."

His name, Karlton Xavier, who was reciting laws one after another, was called 'Silver Binding' because of the unique silver aura that shone from his entire body whenever he fought.

"You're reading a good story."

The old man spoke to me instead of the two who were chatting away.

The commander of the Transcendent Alliance.

Chunghuh, the God of Despair.

The old man who was known to be stronger than anyone else in this 'Transcendent Alliance'.

At first, I didn't know, but now I'm starting to realize it. Just standing next to him makes me feel sick.

This old man is definitely strong. He's strong enough to compete with even the Mythical-grade Constellations.

"Kyrgios is a great Captain. If you refer to his videos, you'll definitely learn a lot."

"Actually, it's a little strange. The Captain Kyrgios I knew wasn't that big."

"Oh, there's a story behind that."

"What's the story?"

Chunghuh stared at me in response to my question. It was as if my inner thoughts were written in his eyes.

"I can tell you, but is that really why you came here?"

He really isn't an ordinary old man.

I shook my head with a bitter smile.

"No. I have something to ask the Commander-in-Chief."

"I knew it."

Chunghuh was silent for a moment. I also remained silent for a moment and followed Chunghuh's gaze. We looked up at the Time Fault that had piled up for a moment.

"Is the world inside that Fault perhaps a different 'Worldline'?"

"It may have been so at one time, but it's not anymore. Now, it's literally a 'Fault.' It's a cross-section of events that have already passed."

Chunghuh added, as if he knew what I was worried about.

"That means that even if we change something inside, actual history won't change. Well, there are special Fault lines sometimes."

"It's like a novel that's already finished."

"Similar."

What did the Second Kim Dokja want to find in this world of countless completions?

Maybe he wasn't looking for something, but just couldn't accept that this world was finished.

So maybe he was holding on to events that had already ended and continuing to cause earthquakes.

"I also know a novel that's already finished."

With that thought in mind, I slowly opened my mouth.

"The novel begins with a giant tower appearing in the sky. People climb the tower to survive. They don't even realize that they're being redistributed as commodities while climbing the tower."

The moment I started talking, the surroundings became quiet.

I continued speaking in a quiet voice.

"The protagonist of that novel is a man who has been stabbing for a very long time. He's a man who has stabbed more than anyone else in the world and has become stabbing itself."

Does silence have color? The moment the word 「Stabbing」 came out, I felt as if the silence of the three people had changed to the same color at the same time.

When that color had spread enough, Ryunard asked.

"Newbie, do you know who we are?"

I nodded.

As he said, in fact, I already knew who Ryunard was.

The same was true of Karlton standing there and Chunghuh who was looking at me right in front of me.

Even so, the reason I didn’t recognize them from the beginning was probably because I was afraid of something. But now I had to accept it.

"You guys are."

These were the characters in 「The World After The Fall」 written by Kiyeon and me—

"People from a world that has already been destroyed."

Before coming here, they were the colleagues of 'Jaehwan-nim' whom I had met.

[NOTE 1]

OK

[NOTE 2]

[NOTE 3]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: Image of the character Chunghuh - God of Despair from The World After the Fall (It is another work of the author Sing N Song, which they introduced in ORV)

Note [2]: Image of the character Ryunard - Naked Saint from The World After the Fall (It is another work of the author Sing N Song, which they introduced in ORV)

Note [3]: Image of the character Karlton - Silver Binding from The World After the Fall (It is another work of the author Sing N Song, which they introduced in ORV)

831 Episode 42 Destination (7)

People from the ruined world.

At my words, Karlton let out a light sigh and leaned against the wall, while Ryunard sat on a chair under the stone wall as if he was watching with interest.

They seemed to agree with my expression, sad, and somehow amused.

And on the other hand, they seemed to have transcended all those emotions.

Transcendents.

The <Star Stream> granted them that title because they had overcome all the limitations of mortals, including emotions.

However, in the worldview they belonged to— 《Tree of Imaginary》, they were called by different names.

Awakened.

Those who broke the limits of mortality and overcame the system. Those who live only in the time they set and understand the world with their own unique worldview.

A kind of god.

"It's been a long time since I've met someone who remembers the 《Tree of Imaginary》."

Do gods who have overcome emotions still have longing? As he spoke, a faint trace of emotion flashed through Chunghuh's eyes.

"How do you know about that world?"

"It's hard for me to explain in detail. I have some circumstances."

"I see. If you know our true identities, then there's no need to explain ourselves."

The three of them exchanged glances, their expressions relaxed for once.

"Hey, I feel good! Ask me anything you want! I'll answer everything!"

"What called you here?"

"Um, I don't know that either."

"You said you'd answer anything."

"How can you answer something you don't know?"

Chunghuh smiled and answered instead of Ryunard, who bluntly stuck out his lips.

"When all three of us woke up, we were here. It was as if someone had called us, just like you said."

Chunghuh's voice sounded somewhat floating, as if it still wasn't quite real.

"Did you create the Transcendent Alliance?"

"That's right."

"You mass-produced Transcendents?"

"Well, what can we do while we're stuck here? We have special restrictions, so we can't go outside the End Zone."

"How long have you been here?"

The three of them didn't say anything. That must mean it's been a long time.

"It was really boring at first. I took turns doing night watch with Karlton ajussi and Chunghuh-nim, fighting those strange gods, and becoming friends..."

"Then one day, people showed up."

"The first one to come was Yoo Hosung. Next was Kyrgios, and then Minyoung and Jungyeong came in."

They were probably the only ones who could so casually call the Invincible One and the Paradoxical Baekcheong, the First Sword of Goryeo, and the Breaking the Sky Sword Saint.

Chunghuh let out a hollow laugh for a moment, maybe having a special bond with the Captains.

"I didn't know I'd be teaching stabbing here too."

As I listened to that story, something connected in my head.

Come to think of it, when Kyrgios first taught Kim Dokja, he also taught him 'stabbing'.

"It was a little less boring back then, wasn't it?"

"Yes. There's also the reward of seeing the talented people grow."

"The Captains in particular are really no ordinary people. Even Captain Kyrgios is already stronger than me, right? You, a rookie, don't know how great that is, but..."

Chunghuh whispered in a small voice, watching Ryunard talking nonsense.

"Ryunard is excited for the first time in a while."

"..."

"Understand. He's happy that you came."

"He's happy that I came?"

"You're special just by existing. You came all the way up to the 'End of the Fear Realm' on your own, you read all the prophecies as soon as you came, and you know about us. You're already a huge incident here."

An incident.

"Why? Do you think we are acting too much like the Constellations?"

"No."

"We have no choice but to live in the present. We need events. Events that occur in the Time Fault or events that occur here. Otherwise, we can't stand it."

"There are questions that come up every time we are silent. Maybe my desire is not over yet. 'Why, I, we exist here now?'"

"..."

"Those simple and old questions drive us crazy."

I thought that maybe it was natural for them to become 'managers of the Time Fault'.

"Have you found the answer to your question?"

"Maybe. But I'm afraid to tell you the answer now.

I felt like I vaguely knew what the 'answer' Chunghuh was thinking.

Instead of guessing the answer, I said this.

"I have similar questions."

"Oh, really?"

I was just writing, and was dragged in, and suddenly became a villain character and lived here.

It's incredible when I think about it, but what can I do? It actually happened. Even now, I often ask myself. Why was it me? Because I am one of Kim Dokja’s reincarnations?

Then why did I possess 'Cheon Inho'?

「I want to know the end of this world more than anyone else, but maybe I am afraid of knowing the secrets of this world.」

Maybe Chunghuh and I are a little similar.

Chunghuh vaguely understood that fact and said,

"You are the type who asks questions 'despite all that'. Isn’t that right?"

"If I had to be specific, it would be that type of person."

"At this point, I think it wasn't a coincidence that you read the 'Prophecy of the End' all the way through."

"Oh, I apologize for that part."

"No. You don't have to feel sorry for us or the other Transcendents for that. If there is a beginning to anything, there must be an end. All the Transcendents here understand that fact well through the Time Fault lines. If the 'End Zone' ends here, then this is also the same story. Rather, everyone is interested."

Listening to Chunghuh's words, I gradually came to understand why the Transcendents were so indifferent to the End.

They must have already experienced the destruction of worlds big and small through the Time Fault.

That's why they are no longer shaken or saddened by the destruction right before their eyes.

"Is there no way to avoid the End?"

"No. The 'End-level Fear' is not something that can be avoided. For example, when the 'End-level Fear' opened last time—"

"About half of the Transcendents were torn apart. The alliance almost collapsed once."

Karlton took out a book from his bosom and answered. He flipped through the pages of the book a few times and added briefly.

"Before that, when the 'End-level Fear' opened, a third of the entire Time Fault went wild."

"Oh, I remember that too. The Commander-in-Chief personally stepped in and stopped it."

"The reason it ended like that back then was because there was a 'deal'…"

Deal?

Chunghuh smiled bitterly as he received my gaze.

"There is no way to avoid the End, but it is not that there is no way to respond. There is a way to minimize the damage."

"What is that?"

"Dealing with the Recorders."

"Speaking of the Recorders..."

"Have you heard of them? About the 'Recorders of Fear'."

I paused.

Is this story finally coming up?

"In the 'lines' of this Time Fault, there is a place where the Recorders reside. However, not just anyone can meet them, and only those who possess a special 'interpretation' of Fear or are qualified can have a private conversation with them."

"Do they have the power to stop the End?"

"Even they cannot completely stop the End. However... "

Chunghuh seemed very cautious about what he said next.

"They can 'Rewrite' this world."

In an instant, goosebumps ran through my entire body.

I hurriedly asked back.

"Can I meet them too?"

"Unfortunately, it's impossible for you. If you had come in a few months earlier, it would have been different..."

"Master, there's a way."

Ryunard, who had been watching the conversation with a smirk, said.

"Newbie. If you first resolve the Natural Disaster level or higher level Fear that appeared in the Time Fault, you will have one chance to face them."

"Ryunard, Natural Disaster level is not a level of Fear that the current rookie can resolve."

"I know. But let's tell the truth."

Natural Disaster level Fear.

That was the level given to the 'Dream Eater' I encountered when I entered here.

"The current rookie will have a hard time. If he trains here for at least a hundred years, I don't know."

Karlton was right.

As of now, no matter what I do, there is no way to solve the 'Natural Disaster level Fear' on my own.

I guess there is no other way. If this is the case, I think it would be better to use a desperate measure to get their help—

"Chief Commander! There's something wrong with the Time Fault!"

A Transcendent that was inspecting the Fault from the edge came running out of breath.

"There's something wrong with the Fault that the Captain of the Third Division entered."

Then, a hologram screen appeared before my eyes. Upon closer inspection, it was the very same Time Fault that Cheok Junkyeong and the Tired Division had entered before.

They had gone in to hunt the 'Dragon Eater', a terrifying disaster.

But as far as I know, Cheok Junkyeong had already dealt with that Outer God...

—Kuaaaah!

A bloody wind blew through the screen, and I saw the heads of two members of the Tired Division flying away.

The swords that lightly sliced off the heads of the Transcendents and were wandering through the air.

They were swords I knew.

"Excalibur?"

Among them, I saw Arthur's holy relic. However, the one holding that holy relic wasn't King Arthur.

"That guy."

Wings spread across the sky. A body with a skeletal appearance, decorated with molds from various cultures. The moment I saw the white shining crown of the guy, I realized who he was.

"The Founder of the Absolute Throne."

It seemed that he was already a famous Outer God here, so the Transcendents who had gathered in the Fault line hurriedly exchanged opinions.

"An Outer God of the level of a Natural Disaster. Among them, he is the top tier."

"Damn, I didn't see that guy for a while so I thought he disappeared—"

On the screen, Cheok Junkyeong was seen swinging his sword like a madman and fighting against the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'.

—Kuhahahaha! It's fun! It's fun!

Just watching it made my whole body shiver. The first sword of Goryeo, who didn't back down even in front of Outer Gods, was swinging his sword fiercely and going berserk. It felt like the unbelievable clash was being transmitted all the way here.

"The Captain of the Third Division can't fight him alone."

But an Outer God is an Outer God.

Even Cheok Junkyeong was slowly getting more and more wounds on his incarnation body. If things continued like this, it was obvious how the match would end.

I asked Chunghuh.

"Who are the Captains who can go?"

"The Captain of the Zeroth Division hasn't come out of the Fault yet. The First Division has just been dispatched. There are no Captains available right now."

The faces of the Transcendents were dark.

In the end, it was Karlton, the deputy Captain of the Zeroth division, who stepped forward.

"Me and Ryunard will go in."

"No. You have to guard this place."

"But if we leave it like that, the Captain of the Third Division—"

"You don't even have 'appropriate clothes' for that worldview, do you?"

Appropriate clothes.

Suddenly, Cheok Junkyeong's explanation came to mind.

I think he said that the Time Fault is a kind of possession, and that you can't use your 'incarnation' inside the Fault except in special cases.

"Even if you go in, you can't stop him in your current state."

In the end, Chunghuh, who had been worrying, made a decision.

"We can't lose the Captain of the Third Division here. This time, I'll do it myself—"

"I'll do it."

In an instant, the eyes of the Transcendents were focused on one place.

"I have an incarnation that fits the 'Time Fault'."

It was me.

[There is an 'incarnation' that fits you in that Time Fault.]

I don't know which Time Fault it is, but it seemed that Cheon Inho was still alive in that Time Fault.

Runyard shook his head and tried to dissuade me.

"Newbie, no matter what, I can't let you go. Even if there is a suitable incarnation, the level of Fear that you can enter and block is..."

"I can block it."

Even now, when I close my eyes, the scene comes to mind vividly.

The events of that day that I can't forget even if I die.

I felt the story inside me stir and opened my mouth.

"I killed that guy once."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

832 Episode 43 Transcendent Alliance (1)

Cheok Jungyeong thought about the word death for the first time in a while.

He couldn't even remember when he last thought of death. Was it when he was repeatedly beating the heavenly beings right before becoming a Constellation, or when he was being chased by [Fate] that was unleashed after fighting the giant nebulae after becoming a Constellation?

He couldn't help but snicker.

Perhaps the reason he was having such unnecessary thoughts was because his history was once again in crisis.

[You've become stronger than before. You damned bastard.]

Cheok Jungyeong said as he watched the Outer God walking slowly from afar.

The Founder of the Absolute Throne.

Some call him a 'Natural Disaster-level Fear'. Unlike other Outer Gods who were at the level of Natural Disasters, he had extremely high intelligence and the habit of moving like a human.

[What kind of stories have you stolen again?]

Despite Cheok Jungyeong's provocation, the Founder of the Absolute Throne did not respond and only rattled his skeleton. Cheok Jungyeong, who knew that it was the guy's laughter, simply bit his lips and swung his sword.

However, his body was swept away by the wind the Founder swung and was instantly thrown to the edge of the Fault.

Inside the Fear Realm, the Outer Gods regain their original power.

[The story, 'Greed of the Immortal King', begins its storytelling.]

[The story, 'Longing of the Fear Monarch', begins its storytelling.]

[The story, 'Mystery of the Old Being', begins its storytelling.]

…

The tales of the ancient times that the Constellations had ignored were shining brightly in the body of the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'.

This was a 'Natural Disaster level Fear' that could destroy a world.

However, Cheok Jungyeong was not foolishly taken advantage of either.

[The story, 'One Who Cuts the Sea', begins its storytelling.]

In the Fear Realm, the Transcendents were also able to exert power beyond their capabilities.

[The story, 'Manbyungguijang', begins its storytelling.]

[The story, 'Dream Enemy', begins its storytelling.]

Stories, and Fears accumulated while clearing various Time Faults.

The Fears they fought against were their weapons themselves.

[Disaster-level Fear, 'Sword of the Dragon's Fang', begins its storytelling.]

Fear equipment tailored to Cheok Jungyeong.

As the long blade that grew in an instant took its place in Cheok Jungyeong's right hand, a black armor immediately enveloped Cheok Jungyeong's entire body.

[Disaster-level Fear, 'Crow Armor', activates!]

This was the full power posture of Cheok Jungyeong, the Third Captain of the Fear Realm, the First Swordsman of Goryeo.

He fought like a berserker. He didn't collapse even after being struck by dozens of arrows all over his body, after being struck by the flying sword.

He swung his sword once, then twice, and then thrice again.

A sword that could cut down a thousand people, destroy mountains, and cut down the sea.

But even with that sword, he couldn't cut down the Outer God in front of him.

[It's been a long time since I haven't been able to kill someone even with the three swords.]

With a gurgling sound, a teardrop flowed from the corner of Cheok Jungyeong's mouth. The incarnation body, which had reached its limit, shook precariously. The broken 'Crow Armor' scattered into ashes, and the Dragon Sword, which had lost its light, was stuck in the ground.

Cheok Jungyeong slowly felt the end approaching.

Push it.

The last thing that came to mind was his disciple's pale face.

Still, he thought it was fortunate. Even if he were to disappear here, his swordsmanship wouldn't disappear.

As his consciousness faded, Cheok Jungyeong continued to recall his disciple's face in his mind. At that moment when his vision was about to completely blur, a voice that seemed to pull out Cheok Jungyeong's soul was heard.

"Master, are you okay?"

Cheok Jungyeong looked back with a blank expression.

[This, this crazy—]

"I'm here."

[This damn disciple!]

Cheok Jungyeong hurriedly looked around. There were no surviving members of the Third Division nearby.

He instinctively blocked his disciple’s path.

[Escape quickly! I’ll buy you time!]

"Then, Master will die."

[I’m a Constellation! I won’t disappear just because my incarnation body disappears!]

"But you’ll take a blow that’s close to death."

His disciple was right.

Just because you’re a Constellation doesn’t mean you’re invincible. Especially if the essence of the story is damaged in the process of losing your incarnation body, you could easily be annihilated.

[Are you alone? What about the other captains?]

Cheok Jungyeong asked out of curiosity. If someone like Kyrgios, Yoo Hosung, or even someone like Ryunard had come in, the situation would have been a little better.

"I'm alone."

[What the hell!]

"Don't worry. I'll take care of everything."

[What can you do!]

Even Cheok Jungyeong knows that his disciple is strong. At that age, he's talented enough to use even the second sword of the three swords.

However, his opponent was none other than the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'. No matter how talented he was, in front of that 'Natural Disaster Fear'—

【Ooooooooo?】

The atmosphere of the battlefield changed in an instant. The 'Founder of the Absolute Throne' who had been approaching with a terrifying momentum suddenly stood still.

He could feel the emotions of the Outer God through the eerie wind.

Confusion. And… Fear.

Fearful? That Outer God is afraid? Of who on earth?

Cheok Jungyeong slowly turned his head following the Outer God's gaze. There stood his disciple who was emitting bright light from his entire body.

[What... what is that, disciple?]

"It's not that great. It's just that I have a story that he would hate."

A story?

[The story, 'Heir of the Eternal Name', chuckles.]

At first glance, it was a Quish Myth-level story. However, in a sense, it was 'just a story'. How could a 'Natural Disaster' Outer God stop because of a story?

"Master. If there's a way to defeat him, will you help me?"

He didn't know what the situation was, but it seemed certain that the clever disciple had a plan.

[Of course. Is there really a way?]

For a moment, Cheok Jungyeong felt a strange feeling. It felt like he had experienced a similar situation, but different.

"Yes. Then."

The disciple smiled brightly and pointed to his stomach.

"First, would you knock me out?"

---

The moment I entered the Time Fault, I realized that I was screwed.

"Wow."

It was good that I entered confidently. It wasn't bad that I declared that I would deal with that guy.

However, the moment I saw the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne' filling the sky, the goosebumps on my spine didn't go away.

【Oh oh oh oh oh oh oh】

It was on a whole other level than when I saw it near the 'Void Curtain' sometime ago. It looked dozens of times bigger than then.

That was the true form of the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'.

I knew it instinctively. No matter who I followed with [Bookmark] or [Incite], it was impossible for me to deal with that guy with my current incarnation body.

So there was only one thing I could trust.

「Staging.」

In this <Star Stream>, 'history' is powerful enough to surpass the power of probability.

And I had the experience of defeating that guy once. But could I kill him with just this 'stage'?

Honestly, I wasn't confident. Above all, my incarnation body was so weak that it couldn't even handle Cheok Jungyeong's 'Three Swords'.

However, there was a way to overcome that.

"Heir-ah."

[The story, 'Heir of the Eternal Name', asks if you really called him.]

"Help me."

[The story, 'Heir of the Eternal Name', grumbles as if it's annoying.]

"Oh, don't you want to see the Second one?"

Ultimately, this 'Heir of the Eternal Name' guy's goal is to create the 'One and Only Kim Dokja'.

He must also understand that he has no choice but to listen to me in order to do that.

[The story, 'Heir of the Eternal Name', grumbles and begins its storytelling.]

And he must know very well what skill I need right now.

"Master! Now!"

The next moment, Cheok Jungyeong's sword hit my abdomen.

With a scream, the world spun around and I lost consciousness.

[Exclusive skill, 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint', is activated.]

It's not the [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] that I used, but the [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] that the 'Demon King of Salvation' used.

As I felt the skill being activated, the 'Demon King of Salvation's' characteristic elation filled my whole body.

I can do it.

It's a method I've never tried in the main story, but it might be possible now.

[Your understanding of the Constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' is high.]

Because.

[The target has a deep favor toward you.]

My understanding of 'Goryeo's First Sword, Cheok Jungyeong' is higher now than ever before in the main story.

[Exclusive skill, 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint', stage 3 is activated!]

'I'll borrow your incarnation body for a moment, Master.'

A full energy permeated my whole body.

When I opened my eyes again, I was in a state of empathy with Cheok Jungyeong's incarnation body. The 'Founder of the Absolute Throne' who saw my appearance from afar let out a threatening cry.

【Oh oh oh oh oh oh oh oh】

Just hearing it a little while ago was a chilling roar, but now it was somehow acceptable.

Because I am now the best warrior in Goryeo.

The strongest incarnation.

I was able to be sure only after I had entered. At least, there is no being stronger than Cheok Jungyeong in a human body right now.

However, even with this astonishing incarnation body, it was difficult to deal with that Outer God. But,

"It's different on this 'stage'."

The story took root on top of 'Unbreakable Faith', and an unprecedentedly bright 'Blade of Faith' colored the surroundings.

['Staging' begins!]

Is it because the story has evolved over time?

The scenery that unfolded before my eyes was not the scene of Gwanghwamun where Kim Dokja destroyed the absolute throne.

A scene of a pitch-black curtain billowing overhead. This was—

【Ga ah ah ah ah ah ah】

Where I lost Han Sooyoung.

「How much stronger have I become since then?」

The image of Han Sooyoung collapsing in my arms was still vivid.

Old resentment welled up.

Memories of surviving under the rippling curtain of emptiness with her help swirled through my head.

「"I'm sorry I couldn't tell you the story you wanted."」

Where is Han Sooyoung, who said that, now?

I wonder if she's still watching this story somewhere in this universe.

She must be. She must be watching.

「This was proof of the oath I made that day.」

The sword power that had grown explosively cut down the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'. The astonished guy screamed. At the same time, the giant blade he swung slashed at my entire body, aiming for it. Every time I blocked the blade, I felt a shock as if my bones were crushed.

Even so, I didn't stop. Attacks that took each other's flesh and bones.

I recalled the days I lived desperately, swinging my sword again and again.

The countless nights I studied the stories.

The hours I read the 'Ways of Survival'.

The days I tried to show Han Sooyoung 'my story' that I had promised.

【Oh oh oh oh oh oh oh oh】

Han Sooyoung, I'm sorry.

Maybe I hadn't grown much at that point. I'm still ridiculously weak to show my story.

But still.

At least now, I—

「I've become a little more like Kim Dokja.」

「King of a Kingless World was written on the tip of the sword that cut briskly.」

The 'Founder of the Absolute Throne' who was fatally wounded by the stories that suddenly popped out let out a gasp of shock.

"Do you feel it now? That it's different from back then?"

I knew who my smiling expression resembled, and who my speech resembled.

I used to be afraid of becoming a Kim Dokja. Now I am not.

Because I know that becoming a Kim Dokja or becoming like Kim Dokja does not mean losing myself.

Thinking like Kim Dokja does not mean that the 'Lee Hakhyun' inside me disappears.

After all, all people end up becoming like someone.

"You may not know, but I have had many experiences."

I thought of the people who were imbued with the name of Kim Dokja. Among those names were Gu Seonah and Kim Kyungsik, who risked their lives for their colleagues. There was Jung Jaewoo, who was luckier than anyone else, there was Go Jangwon, who gave his life for Jung Heewon's younger sibling, and there was No Jiyoon, who missed her father until the very end.

Therefore, the fact that I am now a Kim Dokja.

[The story, 'Heir of the Eternal Name', shines brightly.]

It means that I can remember more people.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

833 Episode 43 Transcendent Alliance (2)

---

With the addition of stage buffs to Cheok Jungyeong's incarnation, the fight gradually became more even. And the fact that this confrontation was even seemed to be a huge shock to the Outer God.

【Ooooooooooo】

For a moment, a mere Constellation possessed the same power as the Outer God. Perhaps that alone was enough to bewilder the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne' who had reigned in the void for thousands of years.

[The story, 'Heir of the Eternal Name', laughs at the Outer God.]

Even the guy felt something unusual in my story, and he even backed away, his huge body trembling.

【King of the ■ of the ■…?】

But in the end, both he and I knew. There was no place to retreat in this fight. The one who runs away will definitely die. The moment he let out his final roar, we clashed once again. His sword cut my flesh, and my sword tore his bones.

In the midst of that flurry of sword strikes where flesh and bones were scattered, I was Cheok Jungyeong, and I was the Swordsman of Goryeo.

The next moment, the movement of the Outer God became strange. An unusual energy was gathering from his entire body.

I also realized instinctively. The next strike would determine the end of this fight.

【Wooooooooooooo】

Watching the guy's swirling energy, I also prepared my final technique.

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv. 10', activates!]

The strongest technique that Cheok Jungyeong can use with his body.

It wasn't originally a technique that Cheok Jungyeong was allowed to use— but if it's just a little bit, it might be possible to imitate it.

"I—"

My right arm, filled with strength, swelled as if it would burst. The pages of the main story flipped over in my head.

The strongest Cheok Jungyeong I know. I think of the way Cheok Jungyeong holds his sword, the way he looks at the world.

And I recall his worst enemy at the end of his gaze.

"The one who cut the Indescribable Distance—"

An enemy that was much scarier, stronger, and more terrifying than the being in front of me now.

"It's Cheok Jungyeong!"

Finally, Cheok Jungyeong created a technique to cut it.

His four-sword method.

Four-swords swordsmanship.

Was my skill lacking? Along with the feeling of my grip being torn, an incredible sense covered my entire body. The sensation of all the legends contained in my incarnation body being squeezed out.

I drew my sword with a scream. The space before my eyes tore and my vision turned white.

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint 'Stage 3' is forcibly terminated!]

The soul that had been in the incarnation body of Cheok Jungyeong was unable to overcome the shock and bounced off.

When I returned to my incarnation body, it felt like someone had hit my head with a hammer. I felt dizzy and had difficulty breathing. For some reason, my legs wouldn't move. I tried to raise my upper body, but everything below my knees had disappeared.

[Exclusive skill, 'Fourth Wall', is activated!]

Did I get caught in the aftershock?

It was quite a clash. It was a clash between Cheok Jungyeong's strongest secret technique and the Outer God.

I saw Cheok Jungyeong's incarnation collapse in the grayish dust. It seemed to have taken a huge blow.

I wonder what happened to the Outer God.

【Ka Ka Ka Ka Ka】

An eerie laughter could be heard from somewhere. The shadow of the Outer God staggering in the dust storm was visible. It seemed like the last blow was not enough. Even so, the guy must have taken a fatal blow, because his height had decreased drastically. The guy's gigantic body that had filled the sky was now the size of an adult male.

【In your story】

Since the 'stage transformation' hadn't ended yet, there was still a chance.

However, the guy seemed to know that.

【You can't kill me】

Maybe that clever Outer God had anticipated this moment. That's why he had already destroyed the legs of my returning incarnation body.

【Just like back then】

Just ten steps. I could have just walked ten steps and stabbed the guy in the heart with my sword, but I didn't have the strength left to do that.

['Staging' ends.]

Even the stage transformation, which was my last hope, had disappeared.

I watched the guy approaching me step by step, thinking and thinking in my head.

It was strange.

Even in a life-threatening situation, I strangely didn't feel nervous.

That might be.

—Youngest. It could be because there is a Kim Dokja inside you.

"Yes."

It could be because I have become like Kim Dokja to that extent.

—Let's use that.

I nodded and looked around.

「This 'Time Fault' is a page of the 'Ways of Survival' that I know.」

The ruined landscape of Seoul. Collapsed buildings. A place where 'civilization' once existed.

Finally, I had a 'Fear' that I could use in such an environment.

[Story fragment, 'Remote Signal Controller', begins its storytelling.]

[Disaster-level Fear, 'Alien Traffic Light', reinterpreted.]

For a moment, the guy who was approaching across the road stopped. He must have instinctively realized that something was wrong.

"Did you notice?"

The moment the guy standing on the four-lane road looked around in confusion, I smiled and said.

"Don't jaywalk, you idiot."

[Disaster-level Fear, 'Alien Traffic Light', is activated!]

Along with the red signal light shining from afar, something invisible came running and hit the guy's whole body.

The original guy wouldn't have flinched at this level of shock, but it was different now. The guy's body, hit by the Four Swords, was already like rags.

A terrible scream and a loud noise erupted in front of my eyes. I saw the broken stories leaving long skid marks on the floor.

The 'Founder of the Absolute Throne', who was being horribly broken in real time, reached out to me.

【Ah ah ah ah ah ah ah】

The cause of death on the Outer God was 'traffic accident'.

It was an absurd ending for an Outer God that had commanded the world.

[Natural Disaster Fear, 'Founder of the Absolute Throne', has been defeated!]

I saw the dead guy's stories scattering into the void.

The old stories were being released from him. I blankly looked up at the stories that rose to the sky like falling snow.

[All the Fears of the Fear Realm are surprised by your feat.]

Forgotten Fears, Fears that are being forgotten.

In the spaces between sentences, words that had turned into Fear and could not be read were shining as if dancing in the air.

This world is full of Fear Realms.

At that moment, I felt like I understood a little bit why the Second Kim Dokja was staying in this 'Fear Realm'.

[It takes time to suggest an interpretation and pay the reward.]

[The Time Fault resolution task has been completed!]

[A new 'story' has been acquired!]

My consciousness became blurred as the Fear landscape collapsed. It must be because I spilled too much blood.

[The Recorders of Fear are interested in your 'interpretation'.]

I heard the recorders' message through my blurred consciousness.

[The Recorder of Fear, 'Fox Who Commands the Sky', is interested in your interpretation.]

[The Recorder of Fear, 'Prince of Wolves', is interested in your interpretation.]

[The Recorder of Fear, 'Demon King of the Cinema', is interested in your interpretation.]

…

[The Recorder of Fear, 'Architect Of The False Last Act', is interested in your interpretation.]

---

It was a week later when I opened my eyes again. How did I know that fact as soon as I opened my eyes?

[Time Remaining: 21 days and 2 hours]

The countdown in the air told me.

The moment I saw the numbers that appeared, my mind was filled with mixed emotions.

The thought that there were only 21 days left until the end. And.

「The Founder of the Absolute Throne has been defeated.」

When I lifted the blanket, the two legs that had been cut off were reattached. Was this also the power of the 'Fear Realm'? Or was it treated with another special Fear? I don't know. Seeing that both legs were still intact, I couldn't be more certain.

Did I really kill the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'?

Of all people, that terrifying 'Outer God'?

[A new story has been acquired.]

As expected, the message blinking in the air proved that what I had done was real.

Even though I had borrowed the incarnation of Cheok Jungyeong and used the trick of 'staging', I had definitely killed the Outer God.

And this was a sweet reward for my courage.

With trembling hands, I reached out to the story message.

Even though the Constellations weren't watching, the story's fame would decline, but I would still have gained an incredible story.

But.

[The story, 'Heir of the Eternal Name', ate the new tale.]

I checked the message again and again, thinking I had seen something wrong.

[The story, 'Heir of the Eternal Name', lightly burps.]

[The story, 'Heir of the Eternal Name', asks what you're looking at.]

What the hell?

[The story, 'Heir of the Eternal Name', declares that he's going to take a nap because he's sleepy.]

I couldn't believe it. This damn bastard just ate the new story I just got?

"You bastard! Throw it up! Throw it up!"

But the story didn't respond at all.

Come to think of it, I had forgotten to feed him for quite some time. I hadn't gotten any new Kim Dokja fragments in a while, and I hadn't gotten any stories to give him.

I thought that maybe I had borrowed a lot of strength this time, so he had gotten a story in return.

And of course, not getting a new story wasn't necessarily a loss. After all, 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is also my story.

In short, it meant that I hadn't gotten a new story, but my existing story had gotten even stronger.

I could tell the moment I slowly got up from my seat and looked at the mirror in the ward. The rank has risen.

If before, I was barely able to compete with the 'Historical-grade Constellations', the rank flowing out of my entire body was clearly approaching Narrative-grade.

Now, I could properly use the power of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

Since I had not yet obtained a powerful incarnation body, it would be difficult to abuse the power of a Narrative-grade Constellation, but the fact that I had reached the full rank made me strangely excited.

That was when the door to the hospital room opened.

[It seems that you had an epiphany.]

"Master."

It was Cheok Jungyeong and Anna Croft.

---

I listened to Anna Croft for a full 10 minutes about what had happened. To summarize, the content itself was simple.

The Transcendents of the Transcendent Alliance who had seen my fight were greatly shocked.

Some of the lower-ranking Transcendents were even shocked by my fight and jumped back into the 'Time Fault' to train.

"It's not something that can be summarized so simply. Do you know how surprised everyone was?"

"Ah, that's enough. I didn't do it alone."

It was a strategy I wouldn't have been able to try if Cheok Jungyeong hadn't been there in the first place.

I glanced at Cheok Jungyeong. He probably had a lot of questions.

What was the 'Four-Swords' technique I used? How was I able to empathize with his incarnation?

But he didn't ask anything. I couldn't tell if it was his original personality or consideration, but either way, it was a happy thing for me.

[Ahem, you guys. Have you heard about my disciple's achievements?]

Cheok Jungyeong, who had been harassing the people in the next ward for a while, turned to me when the Transcendents, tired of him bragging about his disciple, slowly backed away.

[Are you going to meet the Recorders?]

Is it finally time?

[The Recorders are very interested in the 'Fear' you interpreted this time. You might be able to get a better reward than expected. Since you're the first to kill that crazy guy.]

"Reward. They're giving me something?"

[What? You entered the fault without knowing anything?]

My goal was simply to meet the 'Recorders of Fear', not to extract anything from them.

But from what I heard, it seems that 'interpretations' of Fear are treated quite preciously in this Fear Realm.

[Transcendents who obtain unique interpretations can enter the 'Hidden Time Fault' by trading with the Recorders.]

Hidden Time Fault.

[It's difficult to raise the Transcendental level even by one level in a normal Time Fault, and it takes a long time to train. However, the 'Time Fault' they have is a little different. There are Faults that can skip several levels of Transcendence, and there are faults that can drastically reduce the time it takes to jump to a higher level. Not only that, depending on the Fault you choose—]

Cheok Jungyeong looked at me with a worried expression for a moment, then continued.

[You could become a Demon King, an Angel, or even an Outer God.]

That's possible just by experiencing a Special Time Fault?

I was surprised, but I didn't show it on the outside. It didn't.

Power gained quickly always comes with a price. Even if it was the 'Recorder of Fear's' Time Fault, there was no guarantee that it would be an exception to that rule.

We soon followed Cheok Jungyeong to the Recorder's room.

"Why are you following me, Kim Anna-ssi?"

"I also decided to see the Recorders this time."

"You've also solved a Natural Disaster-level Fear?"

Honestly, I was surprised. I had high hopes for Anna Croft, but she had already interpreted a 'Natural Disaster-level Fear'?

Anna Croft answered with a somewhat dispirited expression.

"Not as much as you, but I have my own unique interpretation of Fear."

It seemed that Anna Croft had solved quite a few Fears during the week that I had passed out. Among them, there was one interpretation that was 'Disaster-level' enough to catch the attention of the Recorders, even if it wasn't a 'Natural Disaster-level' one.

"Kim Anna-ssi."

"Yes?"

"I think you've done well at work."

"What does that mean?"

"You must have spoken Spanish well, too."

"Is it that weird joke from last time again?"

As I walked through the ward, I felt the nearby Transcendents whispering to me. It's been so long since I joined the Transcendent Alliance that I feel burdened by this kind of gaze.

I hid behind Kim Anna and followed after Cheok Jungyeong.

After a while, we arrived at a small door in the room of the Time Fault. On the black door, there were various hieroglyphs that reminded me of stars, moons, suns, birds, and wolves.

"Can I open this door?"

[Yes. Think of the Recorder you want to meet and open the door, and you can enter his residence.]

I recalled the messages I had heard just before I fainted.

Messages from the Recorders of Fear who wanted to meet me.

[Currently, a total of four 'Recorders of Fear' want to contact you.]

Cheok Jungyeong added a word, perhaps worried about me.

[Keep that in mind, disciple. There is only one Recorder you can deal with.]

There is only one Recorder I can meet.

I checked the list of 'Recorders of Fear' I could choose.

My choice was already decided.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

834 Episode 43 Transcendent Alliance (3)

"The 'Recorder of Fear I will choose is—"

Needless to say, the Recorder of Fear I will choose is the 'Architect of the False Last Act'.

There was no reason to hesitate.

The true name of that Recorder must be Han Sooyoung.

"The—"

But the moment I said that, a fierce spark flew before my eyes.

[The 'Recorder of Fear' in question does not exist on the list.]

"Huh?"

It was strange.

No, I saw it clearly.

Right after I killed the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne', I clearly received a message that the 'Architect of the False Last Act'' was interested in my interpretation.

I called out the same modifier once again.

[The 'Recorder of Fear' in question does not exist on the list.]

"I asked you to let me meet Han Sooyoung?"

This time, there was no response at all. The Transcendents nearby who were watching me were muttering, perhaps because they thought my appearance was strange.

"Was there a recorder with that name?"

"This is the first time I've heard of it."

What on earth could it be?

—Why is that?

Kim Dokja, who only appears when he has something to say, showed up again this time without fail.

"Didn't you see it just now?"

—What?

"Han Sooyoung was there, right?"

—What nonsense. Why is Han Sooyoung here?

"No, it's definitely the 'Architect of the False Last Act'..."

With those words, the call was disconnected again.

Did the call go through for a moment because of the spark? Anyway, this person is not helpful when it's really important.

By the way, if Kim Dokja didn't see the message, was it only me who saw it?

I called out her modifier one last time.

[The 'Recorder of Fear' in question does not exist in the list.]

[Reconfirming the list of 'Recorders of Fear' that are currently available.]

—The Fox Who Commands the Sky

—The Prince of Wolves

—The Demon King of the Cinema

—The Evil Sophist

There was none.

Even the 'Architect of the False Last Act' was shamelessly taken by the 'Evil Sophist'.

No, it's not like I took all the lemon candies away, so how can she disappear like this?

I wanted to protest right away, but I didn't know where to protest. Since even the system message was treated as 'Fear' in the first place, there was nothing to say if there was false information.

There was nothing I could do. Right now, I had to choose another 'Recorder of Fear' instead of Han Sooyoung.

I looked at the list carefully and again.

As I looked at it so carefully, I felt like I was back in the days of selecting a sponsor.

First, the 'Fox Who Commands the Sky'. If I'm right, this being is the Recorder of Fear I've already met.

The Recorder who approached me at the Recycling Center - Bicheonhori.

Considering that his nickname includes the word fox, and that this character was called 'Yoo Joonghyuk's trickster' in 'Ways of Survival', the first choice was definitely 'Bicheonhori Wang Weilong'.

That 'Bicheonhori' became a Recorder of Fear... What on earth is the criteria for becoming a Recorder of Fear?

Second, the Prince of Wolves.

The first thing that came to mind when I saw him was 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.

That's because I've seen Yoo Joonghyuk transform into a 'black beast' in the 41st Round.

Is that all? In the main story, Yoo Joonghyuk in the 1,863rd round was also likened to a 'wolf'.

There's no way Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st Round would suddenly become a Recorder of Fear... So, could the 'Prince of Wolves' be 'Secretive Plotter'? My heart raced for a moment, but when I thought about it carefully, it couldn't be true.

If you think about the fact that the most revered being of the 'Recorders of Fear' was the 'Secretive Plotter', the strongest Outer God, there was no way that the 'Secretive Plotter' himself could become a Recorder.

Then... this would most likely be Lycaon.

Lycaon had previously appeared with the nickname 'Lost Guide', but it was possible that he had risen in rank and acquired a new modifier after our exchange.

Third, the Demon King of the Cinema.

Honestly, the third one was the hardest to guess. 'Cinema' and 'Demon King'? It felt like two keywords that were far apart were forcibly linked together.

However, if you just look at the keywords themselves, there were a few characters that came to mind. At that time, there was only one character in this world line who satisfied both of those keywords at the same time.

Asmodeus, the Demon King of Lust and Wrath. If the guy who had the 'theater' where readers gathered was a 'Recorder of Fear', then the incomprehensible miracles he had committed so far would be somewhat understandable.

Lastly, the 'Evil Sophist'.

What is this... It's probably that guy.

My worries were short.

If I can't meet Han Sooyoung, then I only have one choice anyway.

「Meeting Cheon Inho from the 40th Round.」

It would be meaningful to meet Bicheonhori and hear his story or meet Lycaon again, but the most valuable information source right now was the 'Evil Sophist'.

The Evil Sophist.

That was the nickname of the '40th Round Cheon Inho'.

I was curious. What kind of person was the 40th Round Cheon Inho that neither Yoo Joonghyuk nor Anna could properly remember?

Why did I possess Cheon Inho in the 41st Round?

The 'Evil Sophist' would definitely know that fact. The moment I opened the door with that thought.

[Your 'interpretation' has been recognized as having special value by the Recorders of Fear.]

[You have been given the opportunity to meet all four Recorders once.]

A huge plain unfolded before my eyes along with an unexpected message.

A pleasant breeze brushed the tip of my nose.

I somehow felt like I knew where this was.

【Student.】

When I turned around, a huge wolf was standing there.

"Lycaon!"

The Prince of the Planet Chronos.

The wolf of Immyuntar who sacrificed himself again for me.

[You entered the room of the Recorder of Fear 'Prince of Wolves'.]

【Student. Since we don't have time, I'll keep it brief.】

Before we could even exchange greetings, Lycaon's body was disappearing in the blowing wind.

"Lycaon?"

【Thank you, student. Thanks to the student's records, I received a new modifier. However, I have not yet recovered enough strength to make contact with student. The reason I came here is...】

Lycaon's voice, shouting quickly, dispersed in the wind in real time.

【Don't believe any records until you see them with your own eyes! All the 'Recorders' of the Fear Realm are eventually...!]】

The moment Lycaon spoke that far, someone's finger snapping was heard.

【What do you mean, it's useless for a Low-level Recorder to try to cut in?】

And then, as if by magic, Lycaon's room disappeared.

[The turn of the Recorder of Fear 'Prince of Wolves' has ended.]

What then appeared was a background with a martial arts theme.

[You have entered the room of the Recorder of Fear 'Fox Who Commands the Sky'.]

The voices of martial artists could be heard from outside. People eating a light meal of noodles in chicken soup.

The Fox Who Commands the Sky— Bicheonhori was in the center of such a peaceful landscape, like a still life painting.

【Sit down.】

To be honest, I was a little overwhelmed. The air of detachment I felt from him was strangely different from when I met the Constellations.

If I had to compare, I would say it was similar to the feeling I got when I faced Outer gods or Fear.

As I carefully sat down in the seat across from him, Bicheonhori quietly raised his hand and ordered the menu.

【Two bowls of noodles in chicken broth, please.】

The waiter who took his order immediately brought out steaming hot chicken broth and noodles.

A martial arts set out of nowhere.

To be honest, I didn’t know what was what, but I decided to try it anyway since it was given to me.

And the moment I took a bite, I realized.

「This is the 'real thing'.」

A taste that seemed to deny all the noodles I'd ever had.

It was a taste that even Yoo Joonghyuk would have to admit.

Bicheonhori asked, perhaps because my expression was funny.

【Is it delicious?】

"Yes, it's delicious."

【Thank goodness. It's my favorite restaurant. It's gone now.】

It seems that this 'space' was a kind of 'Time Fault' that Bicheonhori owned.

We watched the people passing by the guest house for a moment.

The sound of soft voices. The smell of ingredients being fried and steamed.

Even in the world of scenarios, there is still peace between the lines.

I didn't know which 'Round' this Fault was. However, I thought I knew what this place meant to Bicheonhori.

"Is this your 'Round'?"

Bicheonhori answered my question after a short pause.

【That's right. I saw the end of the world in this Round.】

The end of the world.

The weight of those words suddenly thrown out shook me.

"Does that mean… you cleared the 'Last Scenario'? Did you see the [Final Wall] by any chance?"

Bicheonhori just smiled vaguely at my words.

It probably meant that he couldn't answer. Or it could mean that the deal has already begun.

【That's a question that can only be answered through a deal. Would you like to start the deal?】

As expected.

【I'm interested in the 'Natural Disaster-level Fear' that you interpreted.】

Because he seemed a bit impatient, Bicheonhori quickly continued speaking.

【With your original status, you would never have been able to hunt the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'. Even if the 12 gods of <Olympus> came, it would be difficult to hunt him.】

"…"

【But you did it. I want the 'story' behind that achievement.】

What I defeated him with was the power of 「Staging」. Bicheonhori must be curious about the true nature of that story.

However, I didn't intend to give up the only card I had so easily.

"I don't plan on passing the interpretation yet. I haven't met the other 'Recorders' either."

【Hmm, I can give you what the other Recorders can't give you. Right now, it seems like you need to quickly achieve transcendence. Isn't that right?】

Bicheonhori continued speaking with a smile still on his face.

【As you probably know, your current incarnation body doesn't fit your rank. In your current state, it'll be difficult to properly use even 30% of your rank. However, if I help you, things might be different.】

I was sincere when I said I had no intention of handing over the interpretation to Bicheonhori right away.

That's because I only had one chance to deal with the 'Recorders of Fear'.

However, Bicheonhori's offer that followed was tempting even for me.

【I'll grant you the Time Fault of the <0th Murim>.】

<0th Murim>.

A place where all kinds of elixirs are abundant, comparable to the stigma of the Nebulae. Considering that you can obtain the treasures of ancient Murim with high difficulty of acquisition and even martial arts skills, it is one of the 'Time Faults' that can be selected at the present time.

It was considered the top tier.

If I could just use that place, I would be able to become a Transcendent, and I would also be able to completely unlock the power of a Narrative-grade Constellation.

【Do you need to think about it any more? I can give you whatever you want. Whether it's the path to becoming a Transcendent or an item.】

I was silent for a moment.

Becoming a Transcendent?

Of course it's important.

<The 0th Murim>?

It's truly a fascinating choice.

But there was one more important prerequisite for me than anything else.

The most important reason why I came to this place.

【I see. Now that I think about it, you were also a 'Kim Dokja', so how about this?】

But this clever fox seemed to have already figured out the reason.

【If you hand me that interpretation, I'll help you go to the 'Big House'.】

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

835 Episode 43 Transcendent Alliance (4)

---

Big house.

The fact that Bicheonhori used that word meant that he already knew that I had come here to meet the 'Second Kim Dokja'.

"I don't know if you remember, but I've met you before."

Bicheonhori looked at me with deep eyes as if he would listen to what I had to say.

"The first time was during the 'Twelve Zodiac Race' at the 'Recycling Center'."

【Hmm. That Bicheonhori you ran with wasn't me.】

"I think it was you who spoke last time, wasn't it?"

I still remembered his last words clearly.

「"Hmm. Is this how it's going to be this time... I hope we get another chance to meet, young man."」

Bicheonhori blinked as if he was somewhat surprised by my answer, then nodded.

【I didn't know you'd remember that time. You're right. That was definitely what I said.】

"We met again after that. On the 'Orient Express carriage' at the 'Recycling Center'."

At that time, I used [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] on Dansu ahjussi and encountered Bicheonhori, who was riding with him.

I also remember clearly what Bicheonhori said to me at that time.

He told me that I would not be able to become a 'Recorder' yet. He also said that I would not be able to write the next chapter of the world because there were too many voices holding me back.

【I have told too many useless things to a friend with a good memory.】

"How did you become a 'Recorder of Fear'? What on earth is the principle of a Recorder of Fear?"

I thought of Lycaon.

Bicheonhori said that he saw the 'end of the world', but as far as I know, Lycaon has never seen the 'end of the world'.

Even so, Lycaon and Bicheonhori both became 'Recorders of Fear'.

"What on earth is your purpose?"

Lycaon said.

'Their job is to collect records of the distorted world lines.'

But that job itself is probably not their goal. There must be some grand purpose behind their collecting records.

【You have a habit of asking too many questions at once.】

"Is this question also a subject of trade?"

【In principle, yes. So, if you pass the interpretation to me, if you pass that, you can ask as many questions as you want—】

"Can't I give you a 'different interpretation'?"

【Different interpretation?】

Bicheonhori, who had been tilting his head for a moment, suddenly threw his head back and started laughing heartily.

【That's an interesting question. There's no way you, who has only recently entered the Fear Realm, would have a 'Special Interpretation'?】

He was right. The other Fears I've interpreted — 'Alien Signal Light' and 'Tooth Fin' are Catastrophe-level or Disaster-level Fears. It would be difficult to attract the attention of the Recorder with Fears of that level. But.

"It's not like 'Fear' is only in the Fear Realm, right?"

【What are you trying to say?】

"I'm talking about the 'Oldest Fear' in this world."

The Oldest Fear in this world.

The origin of this universe that no one has been able to interpret, cannot interpret, and will not be interpreted.

Bicheonhori opened his mouth with a slightly hardened expression.

【Could it be that you're talking about the 'Oldest Dream' right now?】

A light spark flew, but it wasn't filtered. I don't know how powerful a 'Recorder of Fear' Bicheonhori is, but it seems that he can say that name without filtering.

I nodded and answered.

"Yes. I'll tell you about that guy's true identity."

【You're funny. Do you think there's a Recorder of Fear who doesn't know that?】

"His name is Kim Dokja."

【I know. That's the name of the 'symbol' that currently refers to dreams.】

He didn't seem surprised at all. If you're a Recorder of Fear, you know everything up to here.

Then how about this?

"Do you know what food Kim Dokja hates?"

Bicheonhori's expression hardened for the first time at my question.

【Why should I know that?】

"Why should you know? Are you saying that you're not curious about the Oldest Dream right now? Of all people, a 'Recorder of Fear'?"

【No, that's—】

"Are you saying that this interpretation that even the great Morak you revere doesn't know is unnecessary, useless, trivial, and not even worth recording?"

【I never said that! However—】

Bicheonhori hesitated with a very confused expression, then grabbed his pen as if he had decided on something.

【What food does Kim Dokja hate...?】

"Tomatoes."

Bicheonhori opened his eyes wide and began to write something in the air.

【Interesting. Why does he hate tomatoes?】

"From there, it's a trade target. Are you curious?"

It was quite amusing to see Bicheonhori’s dumbfounded expression.

He asked, his lips curled as if he had been hit.

【I see. What was it that you were curious about earlier?】

"How are the Recorders of Fear born?"

【I don’t know exactly how the Recorders of Fear are born. Each Recorder has a different reason.】

Different reasons?

【Some become Recorders after despairing at the end of the world and wanting to leave that despair behind, while others become Recorders to fulfill their unfulfilled wishes in another universe. And some—】

After pausing for a beat, Bicheonhori looked straight into my eyes and continued speaking.

【Some become Recorders after cursing the ending of a universe and wanting to write a new ending.】

"This explanation is too vague."

【But this is all I can say. After all, the 'Recorders' are those chosen by the 'Oldest Dream'.】

Those chosen by the Oldest Dream.

【Becoming a Recorder of Fear means that they hold the possibility of a record that the Oldest Dream can hope for.】

"Is that the answer? I don't even know what you're talking about, and it's not worth trading."

【Huh, you now—】

"So let me ask you one more question. What is your purpose? Why are you collecting interpretations from the Fear Realm and collecting records of the twisted world line?"

【Isn't that a question?】

"Anyway, aren't you going to write something vague and plausible? Tell me quickly."

Bicheonhori now looked as if he was dumbfounded. However, since he was curious about why Kim Dokja hates tomatoes, he had no choice but to answer.

【The reason we collect records of the twisted world line is to write a single 'sentence'.】

"More specifically."

【Do you know what the first thing you have to do to become a good writer is?】

"Well... I guess it's reading a lot, writing a lot, and thinking a lot."

What I said was the basic quality of a good writer.

Reading a lot. Writing a lot. Thinking a lot.

Bicheonhori nodded as if he agreed with those words.

【Before the end of this universe, all 'Recorders of Fear' will be able to write their 'One Sentence' that will remain forever.】

A sentence that will remain forever.

【All Recorders of Fear live their entire lives for that One Sentence from the moment of birth. They collect different interpretations for that sentence and gather records of distorted world lines.】

I suddenly thought that they resembled the Constellations.

Just as the Constellations build up stories and perform scenarios to complete their ■■, the Recorders also repeat the same thing to write the ultimate 'One Sentence'.

[NOTE 1]

"I guess the reason you want my interpretation is for the same reason."

【That's right. I thought I needed to refer to your interpretation to complete my 'One Sentence'.】

"What will happen to you if you can write that 'One Sentence'?"

【That is...】

Bicheonhori smiled brightly and continued.

【I will tell you after hearing your answer. Now, tell me. Why does Kim Dokja hate tomatoes?】

As expected, Yoo Joonghyuk's trickster.

He won't just tell me everything.

【Quickly. Why on earth does he hate tomatoes? Is it because tomatoes remind him of 'blood'?】

I hadn't thought of that.

Bicheonhori smiled and asked, perhaps seeing my expression.

【There must be another reason?】

"It's just because they don't taste good."

Bicheonhori made a blank expression.

【That can't be true.】

"It's true."

【Don't make me laugh. How do you know that? You didn't ask the 'Oldest Dream'.】

"I hate tomatoes too."

【What is that...】

"I'm Kim Dokja too. Did you forget?"

Bicheonhori opened his mouth as if he had been hit again.

I smiled at him and said,

"Then this is the end of the deal. I will see you again next time."

[The turn of the Recorder of Fear 'Fox that Commands the Sky' will soon end.]

As Bicheonhori's appearance slowly began to disperse along with the surrounding scenery, he shouted urgently.

【You can't avoid it with such wordplay forever! In order to go to the 'Big House' you want, you have to clear one of the Faults that our Recorder has...!】

"If there was such a condition, you should have told me about it a long time ago."

Unfortunately, Bicheonhori's body was almost gone.

He finished his words with a somewhat hurt expression.

【If possible, it would be better to deal with me. The next 'Recorder' will be a friend much more sinister than me. Think about it carefully...】

With those words, the scenery of Murim completely disappeared.

And when I opened my eyes again.

[Entering the room of the Recorder of Fear 'Demon King of the Cinema'.]

I was sitting in the cinema. A long horizontal line was drawn on the screen that was cast through the darkness. It looked like someone had torn something up and put it together.

A group of small heads were watching the screen.

Since I knew where this was, I didn't panic and watched the screen with the kkoma Kim Dokjas.

「"Cheon Inho, that bad guy."」

The movie shown on the screen was a story I already knew.

The story began when a piece of the stupid Kim Dokja possessed 'Cheon Inho' among the many characters.

【Why did it have to be Cheon Inho? Aren't you curious?】

When I turned my head, there was the Demon King of the Cinema sitting with his legs crossed, gulping down a Zero Carbonated Drink.

【No one would have expected a main character like that.】

Instead of answering, I gulped down the Zero Cola placed next to me. When I didn't respond to the provocation, he raised his eyebrows slightly.

Asmodeus, who was squirming, asked.

【How does it feel to be born as such a protagonist?】

"Are you saying this because I ruined your theater?"

【…】

"You little brat."

I continued to spit at Asmodeus as he furrowed his eyebrows.

"I can see what you're trying to do. You're going to start gaslighting me again by putting up another video like that. What if I'm not the real Kim Dokja? What kind of protagonist do people want?"

【…】

"Do I still look like someone who would ruin their life by being surprised by such words?"

【Oh my. You've grown.】

"I've grown. And I have no intention of dealing with you. I don't know about you, but."

【Then why are you here?】

All the littl Kim Dokjas sitting in the audience were looking this way, perhaps because they were enjoying the sight of us fighting.

I waved my hand lightly at them and said.

"I came to see my readers' faces."

I saw the kkoma Kim Dokja who poked her head out between the movie theater seats. The little girl with the unusually young face had a small name tag attached to her chest that was shaking.

rlaehrwk37.

I know who that 'kkoma Kim Dokja' is.

"How have you been?"

Noh Jiyoon.

The daughter of Dansu ahjussi.

"I'll definitely save you, so don't worry."

As if she understood what I was saying, the kkoma Kim Dokja's eyes quickly became teary.

Asmodeus muttered incredulously.

【When you say that, doesn't it sound like I'm the villain who kidnapped the kids?】

"Isn't that so?"

I glared at the guy for a moment as if we were standing against each other.

【I guess I have to admit that you're at least the main character in terms of guts. But I wonder if you'll be able to keep talking like that after seeing this.】

Asmodeus whistled as he said that. Then, the theater lights turned brightly, and the kkoma Kim Dokjas whose eyes had been shining in the darkness all bowed their heads.

【Let me introduce you to the new Kim Dokja who just joined us.】

At Asmodeus's signal, the kkoma Kim Dokja sitting next to him stood up with a tap on his small leg.

rlaehrwk244.

A name tag I've never seen before. It seemed like he was the Kim Dokja who had been captured by Asmodeus recently.

With snow-white skin and eyes that shone like stars.

Just like all other Kim Dokjas, he had all the characteristics of a Kim Dokja.

However, the kkoma Kim Dokja was holding a book in his hands.

【Do you want to know who it is?】

The moment I saw the title of the book, I got goosebumps.

It was someone I knew.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: TL-nim: I usually use the emoji ■ because I didn't find how to write ■■. Do you prefer that I continue using the emoji or switch to ■■ from now on?

836 Episode 43 Transcendent Alliance (5)

I looked into those innocent eyes and let out a sound without realizing it.

"Ah.”

However, he seemed to not recognize me and clung to Asmodeus with a fearful expression.

Then Asmodeus smiled.

【It's okay. Look. Isn't this someone you know well?】

The book he had been reading just a moment ago fell from the little boy's hands.

I blankly looked down at the title of the book.

『The World After The Fall.』

My head was dizzy. Memories of the times he and I spent together flowed through my mind for a moment.

Somehow, I felt like I could understand everything.

The reason I had met 'Jaehwan-ssi' a while ago, and the reason Jaehwan-ssi's colleagues were in this Fear Realm.

It was as if all those events were tied together by a single inevitability.

"Hyung."

The person who always emphasized fate to me. The one who said that no matter what, the protagonist should be given a chance.

However, the one who declared that this time he would write without using chance.

He looked up at me with a face that seemed to have found the real chance this time.

"Giyeon-hyung. Are you my hyung?"

Even though he had become a kkoma Kim Dokja, I could definitely recognize him. Just as I could recognize Gu Seonah or Kim Kyungsik, I could recognize him in the same way.

It was definitely Giyeon-hyung. The one who wrote 『The World After The Fall』 with me.

As I took a step closer, Giyeon-hyung took a step back.

Asmodeus, who had gotten up from his seat, spoke as if to stop me.

【That’s enough. Don't scare the kids.】

"What on earth did you do? You. Why is Giyeon-hyung here?"

【Hmm? His name shouldn't be 'Giyeon'.】

"Answer the question."

【I just brought a piece of the unlucky dead body. However, interestingly, the fragment had memories of you.】

In an instant, an image appeared on the screen with the sound of tsutsutsutsu.

It was a very old memory.

「"Hakhyun. Can I keep writing like this?"」

「"Don't worry."」

A voice in a hazy memory.

「"No, Hakhyun. Look. The views have dropped."」

「"Hyung, I told you not to be too excited or sad."」

「"Can I really not put in a coincidence? Should I just close my eyes and let him have a coincidence once?"」

Everything felt like a lie.

The memories that had been fading away in my head bloomed all at once like flowers blooming in season.

「"Hyung! See! I told you. I told you it would work!"」

A story before the scenarios began, even before the existence of 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.

「"Now I'll have something to eat. It's all thanks to you, Hakhyun."」

A time when both Hyung and I were poor. The life of those days when I just liked writing, and that's why I called myself a writer.

I stood blankly in the center of the theater and watched the story of those days. And I thought.

Where on earth does this universe connect from and to?

What else do I have to sacrifice to finish this long story?

"What do you want, Asmodeus?"

I slowly turned my head and saw Asmodeus's face smiling.

【It seems like we're starting to talk now.】

Asmodeus sat back down on his seat in the theater and took another deep sip of his Zero Cola.

【But I don’t really want anything from you. If I deal with you, you’ll just use another clever trick to get away with it.】

"That depends on what you do."

【Do you think this is the first or second time I’ve been treated like that by Kim Dokja?】

In the main story, Asmodeus was hit in the back of the head by Kim Dokja several times. And even the ending wasn’t so good. He called himself the 'Seeker of the End' and planned something meaningful, but he met a vain end.

I stopped thinking about that. Now that I think about it.

「What on earth was Asmodeus's ■■?」

Everyone in the <Star Stream> has their own ■■.

That must have been the same for Asmodeus. What kind of end did he dream of?

I don't know for sure, but what's certain is that he hasn't yet reached the ■■ he dreamed of.

"Do you also want the interpretation of the Natural Disaster-level Fear that I got?"

【Of course, that's a very interesting interpretation. Especially the stories that were laid out in advance to make that interpretation possible.】

The story that he mentioned while giggling was 'Heir of the Eternal Name'.

Asmodeus knows how that story was created, and who it sacrificed to be born.

"You'd better be careful of what you say. If you don't want the movie theater to be destroyed again."

【If you do something so rude, the kkoma Kim Dokja next to me won't be safe either.】

"Are you going to threaten me with Giyeon hyung?"

【What can't a little kidnapper do?】

I glared at him quietly and said.

"Well. You wouldn't do something like that."

【Why do you think so?】

"Because you don't look like that kind of villain."

I slowly looked back at the kkoma Kim Dokjas' faces. They must have been locked in this theater for quite some time already, but for some reason their expressions didn't look that dark.

It didn't seem to be simply because of the snack display case on one side of the theater or the sleeping bags lined up on one side of the seats. I can't quite understand it, but what can I say?

「These kkoma Kim Dokjas seemed to be following Asmodeus.」

Some of the kkoma Kim Dokjas were even standing next to Asmodeus and glaring at me as if they were reprimanding me. I waved my hand lightly at them and asked Asmodeus.

"What on earth is your purpose?"

I began to think that it was time to have a proper conversation with this guy.

No matter what had happened and how things had gone wrong, both he and I had already come this far. I couldn't deny that.

"If you're a 'Recorder of Fear,' you must have an 'One Sentence' that you want to write. Why on earth did you come up with something like this?"

【Wow, where did you hear such interesting information?】

As I watched the guy babbling, I recalled the moment when I first met him.

The day I was first summoned to his theater, he had been surprised to see me.

In other words, at that time, he didn't really know who I was.

「"This is... No way? You are..."」

After he found out who I was, he began to plot some kind of evil scheme, making me the 'main character' of this world line.

「"It's time to write a new 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 with your own hands."」

It was a plan to use me to change the story of the 41st Round to my liking and ruin <Kim Dokja's Company>.

"If even a guy like you can become a 'Recorder of Fear', then this <Star Stream> is really generous."

【...】

"You know? Your plans have all been a mess. They're inconsistent and never really succeeded."

【Say what you want. My goal has already been achieved to some extent. Because those I hate have suffered hellish pain.】

"Your goal isn't just to make <Kim Dokja's Company> despair."

The day I first met him at the theater, my readers and I received a sub-scenario from 'Asmodeus'.

When I opened the old log page, the scenario I received back then was printed out once again.

<Sub-scenario (???) — Qualification of Record>

Category: Sub (Individual)

Difficulty: ???

Clear Conditions: You are possessed in this worldline through the 'Covenant of the Other World'. Cooperate with other possessors to prevent the imminent destruction and open up a new tale.

Time Limit: —

Reward: Return to the original worldline and receive additional rewards.

Failure: Death

Maybe when I first received this scenario, I should have noticed that he was the 'Recorder of Fear'.

"You want something at the end of this worldline. That's why you gave me and the readers this scenario."

【…】

"Is this scenario something that you agreed on with the other Recorders?"

Asmodeus's lips trembled slightly at my question.

I continued to ask.

"How many Recorders of Fear are there who act as 'RepresentativeKimDokja'? How many fragments of Kim Dokja have you kidnapped in this way?"

【It's amazing that I'm still surprised by you. How did you find out about that?】

"It's strange if I still don't know."

In this world line, in the 41st Round, a lot of strange things happened. And those 'strange things' started from the incident where 'a large number of readers possessed characters'.

It's clear that the 'Recorders of Fear' were behind that situation.

If it weren't for these guys who freely cross world lines and interfere with the story, such a large-scale treasonous act would not have been committed.

"Stop kidnapping the kkoma Kim Dokjas. You've done enough nonsense. Now let's slowly send the readers back to their original places."

【No.】

"Fine. Let's make a deal, Asmodeus."

【I said no.】

"You haven't even heard the terms of the deal yet?"

【No, I don't make deals with Kim Dokjas—】

"I'll help you write the 'One Sentence' you want."

A short silence flowed. Maybe it was because of his mood, but Asmodeus's mood had become a little sharp.

The air in the theater had settled down quietly.

Asmodeus asked.

【How do you know what the 'One Sentence' I want to write is?】

"I know."

I stared into Asmodeus's eyes.

I could see things that I hadn't seen when I first met him.

[The story, 'Heir of the Eternal Name', smiles triumphantly.]

Maybe it's because my rank has increased.

[Exclusive trait, 'Record Repairer', activates!]

Maybe it's because my understanding of the 'Recorders of Fear' has increased.

[Recorder of Fear, 'Demon King of the Cinema', expresses his displeasure at you.]

Of course, he's still stronger than me. Of course, he's a Demon King, and a 'Recorder of Fear' with the power of an Outer God.

Even so.

"You don't seem 'terrible' to me anymore."

I wasn't scared of him anymore.

[Exclusive skill, 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint', is activated!]

[Your understanding of the target is very high!]

「"...Ah, call me again."」

「"Don't be so cautious. There are no other Constellations."」

「"Demon King of Salvation... You seem to be mistaken about something right now, but I will—"」

「"Good. Okay, I'll hold out for today."」

The guy's records began to float before my eyes in real time. From the moment Kim Dokja and Asmodeus first met, until the guy who had been wandering the Dark Dimension died.

【Wait.】

In that distant history, I understood Asmodeus.

The guy's eyes were trembling as he looked at me. The guy who became a 'Recorder of Fear' knew. That I was reading him right now.

【Stop.】

That all of his history was intertwined with me, one by one.

【I told you to stop, Kim Dokja!】

Asmodeus, who had finally grabbed Giyeon-hyung by the collar, growled at me.

I released [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] and asked.

"Do you have any intention of making a deal now?"

【Fuck. Do you know? You are the one who is more suitable to be a Demon King than anyone else.】

"That's right. You are the Demon King in reality."

A brightly lit theater.

Our shadows stretched out and fell on the white screen.

We looked at each other's shadows for a moment. Two beings with different wants and different ways of living.

【Okay. Let's make a deal.】

Even so, both shadows looked like Demon Kings.

---

After a while, we made a contract through the 'Existence Oath'.

【What you want is the 'Kim Dokja Fragments' that I have, right?】

"That's right."

【Then let's start the first deal lightly.】

The guy said. He said he couldn't give me all the 'Kim Dokja Fragments' that he had. However,

【The only thing I can give you right now is this guy. Take him.】

A kkoma Kim Dokja who suddenly rose up sat on my shoulder.

At first, the little boy kept turning around as if he was uncomfortable, but soon he settled down and placed his chin on the book he was reading on my head.

"Giyeon-hyung."

There was no response when I spoke to him.

Sometimes he would tremble as if he was reading a certain passage, and sometimes he would laugh quietly as if he was having fun.

If possible, I wanted to protect him by putting him in the [Fourth Wall], but for some reason, he refused. Maybe he had a scene he wanted to see while staying next to me.

【My terms of trade are simple.】

"Tell me."

To be honest, I was nervous that he would suggest ridiculous terms, but surprisingly, Asmodeus's terms were not bad.

【When the 'King of Fear' appears in front of you, you must call me.】

"Okay. If that's all."

According to the interpretation of the prophecy, the 'King of Fear' he was talking about meant 'Second Kim Dokja.' It was obvious that he would show up and do strange things, but if it was just that, it wasn't a bad condition.

Asmodeus curled his lips as if he had read my thoughts.

【I don’t know if you’ll be able to survive until then.】

“Don’t you know that if I hear something like that, I’ll definitely survive?”

【Well. This time, it won’t be easy even for you. There’s something you absolutely must overcome in order to meet the 'King of Fear'.】

"Who is that?"

【Who would that be?】

When did it start? The scenery in the movie theater was gradually becoming blurry.

I suddenly realized something.

Ah, I see.

[The Recorder of Fear 'Demon King of the Cinema's turn will soon end.]

Asmodeus’s laughter was heard.

【Wake up, Kim Dokja. If you don’t want him to take away all the 'history' you’ve built.】

It was finally time to meet Cheon Inho from the 40th Round.

[You entered the room of the Recorder of Fear 'Evil Sophist'.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

837 Episode 43 Transcendent Alliance (6)

Cheon Inho in the 40th Round.

His nicknames are the 'Evil Sophist' and 'The One Who Deceived the Stars'.

I don't know why he was given those nicknames. All I know is a very small amount of information about him.

That he was a rascal in the 3rd Round, and a great villain in the 40th Round.

That he almost became Yoo Joonghyuk's comrade for a short while.

That he had a showdown with Yoo Joonghyuk before the ending of the 40th Round.

And that he may have survived and continued the scenarios even after Yoo Joonghyuk regressed.

「He is the 'Evil Sophist' and the 'One Who Deceived the Stars'.」

Memories that whirled in my head.

Memories I had experienced through the Time Fault slowly came to mind.

「"In my next life, I want to ride the Regressor Bus and live comfortably."」

In the Fear's 'Subway on the Way Home from Work', I briefly experienced the 40th Round where Cheon Inho lived.

Actually, it's called 'experience', but I lived in the 40th Round for almost 3 months.

There, I became Cheon Inho, and I endured for 3 months with Yoo Joonghyuk, who was being chased by the Blood Cult.

「"Help me in this round."」

Why did the Second Kim Dokja want to see Cheon Inho's story?

"Cheon Inho."

Why, out of all the 'characters', did I possess 'Cheon Inho'?

"Cheon Inho?"

I carefully called out his name.

The room with the lights off was dark and dreary. It had no sense of life, as if it had been abandoned for a long time.

As I took another step, the entire room shook lightly as if an old beast was groaning. With the bright lights coming in, a room about thirty pyeong in size came into view.

[NOTE 1]

The first thing that caught my eye were the various shaped masks hanging on the wall.

"Ah."

Giyeon, riding on my shoulder, made a strange sound. When I lowered my hyung, who was wriggling on my shoulder, to the floor, he stood in front of the masks on the display stand and started to flutter.

"Ah."

"Do you want to touch the masks?"

"Ah."

"Take them out?"

"Ah."

"Don't cry like Biyoo."

I sighed and handed one of the masks to Giyeon.

The mask he chose was shaped like a small weasel. He must have really liked that mask, because he laughed heartily while wearing it and ran around the room.

I also followed Giyeon and slowly observed the masks. Some of the masks were new to me, and some looked familiar.

There were masks that resembled the Twelve Zodiac Signs, and there were masks that resembled Constellations. There was a mask that looked like Dionysus from <Olympus>, and another that reminded me of Hades from the <Underworld>.

Another mask resembled Surya from <Vedas>.

Suddenly, Cheon Inho's nickname came to mind. 'The One Who Deceived the Stars'.

Maybe all the masks here were a collection of people Cheon Inho had disguised as.

With that thought in mind, as I looked at the masks, this room felt empty again.

Cheon Inho must have always disguised himself, just like I had done.

If Kim Anna had heard, she would have said, "Are you sympathizing with the world's worst villain right now?" and given me a good scolding, but I couldn't stop the thought that suddenly came to my mind.

Maybe I too was born a villain. Cheon Inho, who became someone else and lived controlling people. What kind of ending did such Cheon Inho want to see in the end?

After looking around the room, we stopped in front of a small glass display case. There was a red coat on display in the display case. It was the same coat that Cheon Inho wore in his final fight with Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Ah."

"What?"

"Ah."

"Take it out?"

"Ah!"

"Put it on? Right now?"

Giyeon kept nagging, so I reluctantly took the coat out. I put my arm in the sleeve and put it on lightly, and the coat naturally wrapped around me as if it had been mine from the beginning.

[You are wearing the item 'Infinite Dimension Space Coat'.]

'Infinite Dimension Space Coat' like Kim Dokja or Yoo Joonghyuk's.

However, there was one thing I realized when I actually put the clothes on.

These clothes weren't originally red.

The deep scent of blood that I could feel from the clothes, the white fabric that concealed that scent remained here and there. I was sure. This coat was originally white.

At that moment, Giyeon grabbed my hand. When I turned around in surprise, Giyeon was standing there, pointing to the full-length mirror next to me.

"Ah."

"Can't we stop here…?"

In the mirror, Giyeon and I were reflected.

The small Kim Dokja and the big Kim Dokja.

At first glance, we looked like father and son, holding hands.

That's when the mirror began to ripple.

I instinctively grabbed the handle of 'Unbreakable Faith' while holding Giyeon's hand.

The next moment, my face in the mirror distorted and changed into a familiar face.

It was a face I knew well.

The first time I saw it after possessing a character in this world - the face reflected on the subway screen door.

【You've changed a lot.】

I got goosebumps just from hearing the voice. I instinctively had to judge whether the guy had used [Incite]. Fortunately, I didn't feel any sign of [Incite].

【Excellent judgment.】

"…"

【You have to check before using [Incite]. Am I already being [Incited]?】

"Do you have to do your first greeting like this?"

Then, Cheon Inho in the mirror smiled with his eyes wide open.

"Stop joking around and get out of there quickly. It's creepy to hear you say that in the mirror."

【I can't get out of here.】

"Why?"

【Because there's already an entity occupying my body.】

I see. Is it because I'm occupying your body that you can't get out?

Then, Asmodeus's words suddenly came to mind.

「Wake up, Kim Dokja. If you don't want him to take away all the 'history' you've built.」

Could it be that this guy could take my body away whenever he wanted?

Cheon Inho read my thoughts and said.

【It seems like you heard bad words from a bad demon king. Don't worry. I don't plan on taking your body away right now.】

"It sounds like you plan on taking it away someday."

【That's up to you.】

I shot back with a grin.

"Do you think that kind of threat will work? This is already my body. It's filled with the legends I've personally built. Even if you're the 'Recorder of Fear', you can't easily take away someone else's legends. The probability of the <Star Stream> doesn't allow that."

I said that, but I was actually anxious. It was because of the words that the God of Despair, Chunghuh, had left behind.

「They can 'Rewrite' this world.」

If the 'Recorders of Fear' really had that kind of ability, it could have been possible for them to take my body, despite the aftermath of probability.

Cheon Inho didn't really confirm or deny what I said, and just smiled ominously and said this.

【You look really anxious, Kim Dokja.】

Damn bastard, where did you boil Kim Dokja and eat him?

[NOTE 2]

I responded with a pretended calm face.

"Why did you call me? Do you also want the interpretation of the 'Natural Disaster-level Fear' that I have?"

The other three 'Recorders of Fear' all had their own purposes for calling me.

Lycaon called me as a warning, Bicheonhori called me to get the interpretation I had. And Asmodeus just seemed to want to screw me over.

Then why did Cheon Inho call me?

"If you want this 'interpretation', I'm willing to make a deal with you."

I also had a purpose for coming here.

「To gain the power of Cheon Inho in the 40th Round.」

I still remembered the scene I saw through Anna Croft's [Past Sight].

In a world where all the stars had fallen, Cheon Inho was on par with the powerful Yoo Joonghyuk before the end of the world.

He and I were using the same body, and we had become stronger based on the same skills.

In short, the '40th Round Cheon Inho' was a kind of peak that this body could reach.

If I could just quickly gain that power, honestly, I would have tried to take on any enemy waiting in front of me. But Cheon Inho had a somewhat indifferent expression.

【That interpretation certainly has some interesting aspects, but honestly, I'm not really interested.】

It seems that not all the Recorders of Fear wanted my interpretation. However, since it was one of the answers I expected, I wasn't flustered.

"Then let's make a deal. I'll help you complete 'One Sentence'. In return—"

【I don't need any help.】

"What?"

【I've already completed 'One Sentence'.】

This time, I couldn't help but be flustered. I wanted to know what the One Sentence he had completed was. At the same time, I didn't want to know.

【I guess why you came here. You want the 'Time Fault' that I have. Is that right?】

I nodded for now.

【You already have a ticket to that 'Time Fault'.】

Something suddenly came to mind.

When I returned from the '40th Round' via the 'subway on the way home from work', I received a message.

「I gained the right to read the ending of the Evil Sophist. Could that message have been some kind of permission?」

But Cheon Inho's next words were strange.

【Because we've already 'made a deal' with each other, haven't we?】

"What?"

【You don't remember anything. Well, that's only natural.】

"What do you mean?"

【Kim Dokja.】

Cheon Inho's eyes were shining darkly like an abyss.

【Do you really want to know?】

I felt a sense of déjà vu as if I had been asked a similar question before.

【Why are you here, why did you have to be elected, why did all these stories come into being, are you really curious about that?】

"I—"

【You don't necessarily have to know the whole story to reach the ending.】

Cheon Inho continued speaking in a voice that made it hard to read his intentions.

【Isn't it painful enough for you just to know who you are?】

Come to think about it, it was when I realized that my origin was 49% Kim Dokja. It was thanks to Cheon Inho in front of me.

【When necessary, just wear a mask. Constantly incite yourself, incite people. Deceive the world. Then—】

"To deceive the world well, you must first know the world well."

Cheon Inho closed his mouth.

"And for fuck's sake, I am you now."

【…】

"To become strong like you, I must also know who you are."

We looked at each other for a moment.

I couldn't define the emotions that flashed through his eyes.

Anger, hatred, despair, sadness. I couldn't express the emotions he felt in any words. That's why,

【If you really think so.】

At that moment, Cheon Inho looked like a 'Fear' to me.

【Start writing 'again' from now on.】

"What?"

【All the answers you're looking for are at the end of the story you're going to write again.】

And then a message came.

[The turn of the 'Recorder of Fear, the 'Evil Sophist' will soon end.]

I shouted urgently.

"Wait a minute. Explain it clearly! What do you want me to rewrite?"

【Until the rewrite is complete, I'll keep this cute friend with me.】

"What?"

When did it start? Giyeon-hyung, who had been holding my hand tightly, had disappeared.

"This damned bastard—"

The images of Cheon Inho and Giyeon-hyung holding his hand in the mirror began to blur.

【Ah, let me give you one last piece of advice.】

I hurriedly reached out to the mirror. But a strong spark repelled me.

【Do not trade the newly acquired 'interpretation' with other recorders.】

Those were Cheon Inho's last words.

The spark disappeared, and I was left alone in the mirror.

Wearing a red coat, I looked vaguely like Kim Dokja.

[The turn of the Recorder of Fear 'Evil Sophist' ends.]

The scenery of the area changed like waves, and I returned to the 'Room of Time Fault' before I knew it.

It seemed like a lot of time had passed in the meantime, and all the Transcendents that had been waiting for me had disappeared somewhere.

I felt empty somehow.

"Damn it."

I hadn't accomplished anything properly.

I hadn't met Han Sooyoung, my goal when I first entered, and I had barely gotten any information about the Second Kim Dokja.

Of course, I had heard some meaningful information about the 'Recorders of Fear', and I had secured the right to use the 'Time Fault', but... something was missing.

What if I had been Kim Dokja?

If I had been a proper Kim Dokja, I would have definitely gotten better results than this. I would have been able to get items from Bicheonhori and Asmodeus with plausible words, and I wouldn't have had my hyung–Giyeon taken away by Cheon Inho.

But I couldn't do that.

Maybe I should go in and meet the Recorders again, even now...

Woong, woong.

That's when my smartphone rang.

I thought it was the First Kim Dokja, so I turned on the screen, but there was no contact.

Instead.

['The Fear Realm Guide that Even a Squid and Sunfish Can Understand' has been updated.]

Update news for the 'Fear Realm Guide'. By the way, this 'guide' was updated in real time.

[The 'Founder of the Absolute Throne' entry has been updated.]

The Founder of the Absolute Throne.

The update details happened to be about the Outer God that I had hunted.

I opened the guide and looked for related entries.

And.

---

Part of the document was modified by SVRP.

SVRP. PW ???

Natural Disaster Fear – Founder of the Absolute Throne

Most of the records themselves were things I knew. An old Outer God of a natural disaster. The Outer God that created the 'Absolute Throne', and the lawbreaker of the scenario...

But there was a strange link at the end of the text that I had scrolled down for a long time.

[Hidden records]

Hidden records? I absentmindedly clicked on the link and the records opened.

I read the records absentmindedly. Somehow, it felt unrealistic, so I closed the window and opened it again.

The content did not match the guide's content at all. Nevertheless, the record was clearly written there, waiting to be read by someone.

I read the record out loud.

---

Good job.

It was not written who wrote the record. Nevertheless, it was clear who wrote it.

I read the two syllables over and over again. Then I slowly got up from my seat. It occurred to me that this story was not over yet. Because neither she, nor I, nor countless other Kim Dokjas had given up on this story. But.

"Disciple!"

At that moment, those running from afar seemed to have different thoughts from me. The Transcendents ran in front with faces that seemed to have already given up on something. I lightly bowed to Cheok Jungyeong.

"Did you meet the Recorders?"

"Yes. But what happened?"

Before Cheok Jungyeong could answer, the God of Despair Chunghuh, who was nearby, cut him off.

"What on earth were you talking about with the Recorders?"

After hearing Chunghuh's words in a panic, I realized something belatedly.

I looked around the empty space over and over again.

When on earth did it start?

"The End has begun."

The countdown above my head disappeared.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: Pyeong; refers to a size measurement, specifically of space like a house or apartment in Korea.

Note [2]: Here he is refering to Kim Dokja's cunningness.

838 Episode 44 Evil Sophist (1)

---

There were clearly '21 days' left in the countdown before I went in to meet the Recorders.

There was no way 21 days had passed in that short time, and unless a new Fear had occurred in the countdown, the current situation was clear.

「I touched something in the 'Fear Realm'.」

But no matter how much I thought about it, I couldn't figure out what I had done wrong. All I did was meet the Recorders, and make a few of them a little angry (was that really the problem?).

And all I did was fail the deal...

I opened my palm and looked down at the interpretation of the 'Fear of Natural Disaster' that was sparkling.

"You. Didn't you 'trade' anything?"

Chunghuh's expression as he looked at me was strange.

For a moment, the Transcendents looked at each other.

"No, no one told you, did they?"

"I thought it wasn't really necessary to tell you. There's never been a case like this before."

"There's a newbie who refuses to make the Transcendent Leap?"

Cheok Jungyeong, who was watching me from the side, touched his forehead.

Kyrgios opened his mouth with a sigh.

"If you don't deal with anyone in the 'deal' with the Recorders, you will incur the wrath of the 'Fear Realm'."

The wrath of the Fear Realm? Why? Because I didn't deal with the Recorders?

Chunghuh nodded and added.

"Maybe that's why the countdown disappeared."

"Did I really cause the apocalypse?"

Now, even if I were called Kim Apocalypse-ssi after Kim End-ssi, I would have nothing to say. Damn it.

Even in the midst of the destruction of the sky cracking open, Chunghuh added with a hollow laugh.

"Don't think like that. It was all going to happen someday."

The screams of the Outer Gods were heard from all over the entrance to the Time Fault. Some of them were already sticking their heads or tentacles out of the Fault door.

"They're popping out! Stop them!"

"Damn it! This is a Natural Disaster!"

"We need the protection of a Captain!"

Looking at it this way, this 'Time Fault' looked like a huge prison for Outer Gods.

There were Outer Gods running wild in each Fault, and the Transcendent Alliance was exterminating them.

A strange thought suddenly occurred to me.

「Why does this place exist?」

What on earth was the Second Kim Dokja trying to do by gathering them together?

Why did he create a place called 'Fear'?

I don't know, but I'll find out soon.

If the doomsday prophecy is true, and if the disappearance of the countdown means the prophecy has come true, then the 'Second Kim Dokja' will appear before my eyes soon.

The problem is.

"Kkaaaaaaah!"

"They're popping out here again!"

Before that, all the Transcendents were going to die.

Before I knew it, all the Captains around me were busy exterminating the Outer Gods trying to escape through the door.

But no matter how hard the Transcendents tried, it was impossible to stop the many 'Time Faults' from going wild. From the 'doors' above that no one had touched, unidentified Outer Gods were jumping out one after another, making terrible groans.

【Gyaaaaaaah!】

An Outer God that looked like a hybrid of Medusa floated through the air and suddenly rushed toward me. I hurriedly took out my 'Unbreakable Faith' and tried to swing it, but something was moving toward it faster than me.

With a crack, Medusa's entire body was sharply torn apart.

A streamlined tail blocked my path as if protecting me.

It was a Disaster-level Fear, the 'Tooth Fin'.

The guy who had disappeared on the subway home had managed to chase me all the way here.

"Oh, that's the Tooth Fin? You managed to tame that guy?"

When I turned my head, there was Lieutenant Ryunard. It seemed like he had a pretty intimate relationship with the Fears, so Ryunard patted the nose of the Tooth Fin a few times and added,

"By the way, the End has come again."

It was a tone that made it seem like it wouldn't be strange if 'The End' were changed to 'weekend'.

As if he was used to this situation, Ryunard stood next to me, swaying, and looked up into the air.

"I tell you, it's spectacular every time I see it. Look at that. Isn't it even cooler when everyone just lets it go?"

I wondered if it was okay to keep saying such crazy things when all the Transcendents were dying, but when I thought about it carefully, it wasn't so strange.

Weren't all the Transcendents a group that had a screw 'exquisitely' missing from their heads in the first place?

"I don't know if I can put it that way."

When I looked at it this way, this 'End Zone' seemed like a giant terrarium of Outer Gods.

A cosmic fishbowl filled with gods who were abandoned in the main story and rejected in the scenario. In that fishbowl, the Outer Gods were pouring out their anger toward the world without hesitation.

Another Transcendent was torn in half. Eyes widened in disbelief. He must have been a famous master in the <First Murim>, but he was ending his life in a place no one would remember.

[Exclusive skill, 'Fourth Wall', is strongly activated!]

[Exclusive skill, 'Fourth Wall', warns you.]

Is it proof that I am also becoming a part of this Fear Realm that I am becoming indifferent in the face of death?

I opened my mouth as if to resist.

"If we leave this, we will all die."

"We will die."

"You will die too."

"Me, Chunghuh-nim, Karlton. You. We will all die."

The expression 'die' was so indifferent that I looked back at him without realizing it. Ryunard smiled brightly.

"This isn't my first time dying. Oh, you, newbie, are you a little different?"

Strictly speaking, this wasn't my first time dying, but no matter how many times I've died, I don't want to die again.

"Is there really no way to stop it?"

"A way to stop it…"

Ryunard said, admiring the pure white light scattering across the sky.

"There's no way to stop the apocalypse, but there is a way to return it to its original state after the apocalypse."

Is there such a way?

"See that door over there?"

The 'door' that Ryunard pointed to was hanging at the very top of the room.

A place where the tentacles and heads of the terrifying Outer Gods roamed.

When I squinted my eyes, I saw the round number written small next to the door.

[Round 1863-99.]

I doubted my eyes for a moment.

If what I thought was right, that door is, that is.

「Scenario 99 of Round 1,863.」

Just thinking about it gave me goosebumps.

That kind of Time Fault exists?

"Should I really go through that door?"

"Hey. If I go in there, I'll die too?"

"Really?"

"Do you see the small button next to that door?"

Upon closer inspection, there was a small black button next to the door.

"Yes. I can see it."

"Just press that. That's the 'reset' button for this 'End Zone'."

The reset button for the End Zone.

"If you press that, everything will be restored to how it was before the 'End Prophecy' occurred. Dead souls will come back to life, and the Time Faults that went wild will stabilize. That's the kind of Fear that has that 'effect'."

I stared at the black button for a moment and then asked.

"Who made that?"

"I don't know. Some say it's a gimmick created by a great old being, and others say it's a Fear created by the King of Fear in agreement with the Recorders. What's certain is that when neither one nor the other works, you just press that."

"Then why can’t I just press it now? While the damage isn’t too severe—"

"That button can only be pressed after the apocalypse is over. And to be honest, I don’t press that button very often."

"Why?"

"Think about it. Do you really think pressing that button will 'return everything to normal'?"

For a moment, my lower shins creaked.

With slightly unfocused eyes, Ryunard continued.

"Is it really true that the dead can come back to life? Is it really 'possible' to turn back time? If that's possible—"

"…"

"Is the 'me' who died and came back to life really the same as the 'me' before? Who can guarantee that? If it's possible to guarantee that… what on earth is 'me'?"

A strange chill ran over me. Suddenly, the black button in the sky began to feel terrifying.

I thought I could understand a little why the Transcendents weren't pressing that button.

"If it doesn't work out, I'll press the button, but if possible, I'd rather it not happen. Hey, there! Take that!"

After lightly stabbing and subduing several of the approaching Outer Gods, Ryunard threw a chunk of Outer God into the Time Fault.

However, there were still too many Outer Gods that hadn't been sorted out. Even the Outer Gods in the Upper Echelons were starting to stir, so the commanders looked tense.

Cheok Jungyeong, who had quickly sorted out the Time Faults in the Lower Echelons, quickly approached me.

[Disciple.]

Cheok Jungyeong, who was emitting a red aura from his entire body, glanced around and spoke to me.

[Escape from the 'End Zone'. It's not too late. It's okay if you escape alone.]

"Master."

[I'm fine.]

Cheok Jungyeong had a very solemn expression on his face as he said that. I could tell from his expression. No matter what happened, he would never run away from this 'End Zone'. To be honest, my relationship with Cheok Jungyeong was not long. His decision to make me his disciple was based on a misunderstanding, and I was just using him.

However.

"Master."

Still, Cheok Jungyeong was the first person to welcome me here.

[What is it?]

When this time is recorded in the distant future, I don't want it to be read that Cheok Jungyeong died in the 41st Fear Realm.

"If I had 'made a deal' with the Recorders, wouldn't the End have begun?"

[Maybe? Because it has been so far.]

Why does the Fear Realm get angry if you don't 'deal' with the Recorders?

I thought about it for a moment based on that fact.

The Fear Realm is the 'region ruled by the Second Kim Dokja, the King of Fear'. But why does such an unwritten rule exist in such a place?

"What happens if the Transcendent makes a deal with the Recorders?"

"If the Transcendent makes a deal with the Recorders, a new Time Fault will open."

「Why does the King of Fear want that 'deal'?」

For a moment, it felt like a light went on in my head.

"Master."

[I'll tell you how to escape now. Right now—]

"No, I won't escape."

[Your courage is admirable, but I can't let the master of the Three Swords be cut off here.]

"It won't be cut off. I think I know how to stop the End."

Cheok Jungyeong looked back at me in surprise at my words. His expression was a mixture of faint anticipation and criticism of his immature disciple.

I looked at that Cheok Jungyeong and asked.

"Master, what do you think 'the End' is?"

[The end is—]

Chuk Jungyeong hesitated for a moment and then answered.

[The 'Greatest Story' that a world can complete.]

I nodded.

Everything I thought from now on was just a guess.

"Only the 'King of Fear' who loves all Fears could love such an End."

I made the worst assumption that 'Second Kim Dokja', who had been trapped in the Fear Realm for a long time, had finally gone mad and was living a new story like this, enjoying such stories.

"But the 'Greatest Story' isn't always fun."

The End.

It's definitely an interesting subject. However, such subjects aren't always fun.

To a guy who sees the same end every time, the value of this 'End' probably isn't the same as the value of the first End.

Sadly, just like the weight of Yoo Joonghyuk's First and 100th regressions. In this world, sadness, joy, and emotion all fade away in repetition.

[What does that mean?]

"I have a story that the 'King of Fear' would find interesting."

That's why this was an 'adventure' worth trying.

I told Cheok Jungyeong the number of the 'Time Fault' I wanted.

[Hmm. That 'Time Fault' is...]

At Cheok Jungyeong's signal, the Transcendentals of the entire group began to move while escorting me. We pushed through the waves of Outer Gods rushing in from beyond the Fault, and we continued to advance.

[Here, disciple.]

Fortunately, the door was not far away.

[Round 40-99.]

Just looking at the scenario numbers gave me goosebumps.

Even the entrance to the Fault had a title written in an unfamiliar handwriting.

「The Evil Sophist.」

The moment I read the sentence, I felt the original price inside me react.

[You can read the Ending of the 'Evil Sophist'.]

I had already obtained the right to enter this 'Time Fault' from Cheon Inho in the 40th Round.

And finally, this Time Fault was—

「The story that the Second Kim Dokja was curious about on the subway on the way home from work.」

So I thought. If I enter this Fault, and if I can just catch the attention of the 'Second Kim Dokja', the 'End' might be postponed.

[There is an incarnation body suitable for you in this Time Fault.]

As expected. Cheon Inho in the 40th Round was still alive until scenario 99.

Since I've come this far anyway, there's no need to hesitate any longer.

The moment I took a deep breath and put my hand on the door of the Time Fault, Cheok Jungyeong asked.

[Are you really okay?]

"It's okay. It might be a little difficult, but—"

[No, there is already an entrant in this 'Time Fault'.]

"Yes?"

[To be exact, 'there was'.]

There was someone who entered the Fault before me?

When I turned around in surprise, Cheok Jungyeong answered with a somewhat displeased expression.

[A month before you came, a disciple of Breaking the Sky Sword Saint visited the Transcendent Alliance.]

I got goosebumps for a moment. It was so obvious who Breaking the Sky Sword Saint's disciple meant.

But how could he have visited here a month before me?

If I had spent more time on the 'Fear' of the 'subway on the way home from work' than expected, it wouldn't be completely impossible.

No, it's more like that now.

"That guy... Did he enter alone?"

[Yes. Unfortunately.]

I blankly looked at the monitor of the Time Fault.

The monitor screen was completely dark.

Then, a log message from the Fault appeared at the bottom of the screen.

If that guy were alive, it would never appear.

[There is currently no Transcendent challenging the 'Time Fault'.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

839 Episode 44 Evil Sophist (2)

What happened?

Why on earth is Yoo Joonghyuk in the Time Fault of the '40th Round'?

No matter how much I thought about it, there was no reason for it. The last time I parted ways with him was at the entrance of the Fear Realm.

I left the guy who hadn't fully recovered to Breaking the Sky Sword Saint and fell into the Fear Realm.

But the guy followed me into the Fear Realm, our paths crossed, and he arrived at this 'Transcendent Alliance' before me.

And then he entered the Time Fault of the '40th Round'. Why on earth?

「Yoo Joonghyuk lost his memories from the 40th Round.」

I opened my mouth at the sudden thought. Now that I think about it, Yoo Jonhhyuk forgot most of what happened in the 40th Round as a side effect of the 'Story Imprint'.

What if he came to this 'Fault' to get them back?

I felt suffocated.

Damn it. Joonghyuk. Even so, what are you going to do if you challenge this?

In the 99th Scenario of the 40th Round, Yoo Joonghyuk's 'incarnation body' obviously won't exist.

If it's as we saw in Anna's [Past Sight], Yoo Joonghyuk's incarnation body was defeated by Cheon Inho before the last scenario.

Then, it was highly likely that Yoo Joonghyuk had possessed another incarnation and had performed the mission of the Time Fault.

Damn bastard, I'd rather challenge that 'Fault' above.

[Round 1863-99.]

Even if I look at it again, it's a dizzying number, but if it were Yoo Joonghyuk now, it would have been better to challenge that side.

In the 99th Scenario of the 1,863rd Round, if he was lucky, he could have possessed Yoo Joonghyuk in the 1,863rd Round.

"It seems that 'Fault' is visible to you."

"Yes?"

Chungheo, who had suddenly appeared beside me, muttered while stroking his beard.

"Oh, didn't Ryunard say it? That Fault can't be seen by anyone."

Chungheo continued in a strangely dissonant voice.

"This world's 'Fault' can only be seen by those like me who came from outside, or by the Recorders who watch the world line. How strange. No newcomer has discovered that 'Fault' until now."

Only after hearing that did it occur to me that maybe Yoo Joonghyuk hadn't discovered that Fault.

Perhaps the incarnations from the 41st world line had a set type of 'Fault' that they could utilize.

Some Faults are visible, and some are invisible.

Just as you can't experience an event that you haven't experienced yet.

Even so, all of those events clearly exist 'together'...

"I'll say it again, you don't have to feel burdened. I can just press the reset button after everything is over. I've done that many times before."

"No. That's the same as 'regression'."

"Regression?"

"I don't want to save my comrade that way."

"Your comrade—"

"He's definitely still alive."

The monitor on the Time Fault wasn't showing anything. But I trust Yoo Joonghyuk.

It was none other than Yoo Joonghyuk of the '41st Round'. There's no way he would have entered the 40th Round without thinking.

"And I'm not going in alone, Kim Anna-ssi."

Anna Croft, who was trying to sneak away from behind at my call, turned around.

"Are you in your right mind?"

"You're not going with me?"

"I don't have an 'incarnation body' in that 'Fault'. If we go in together—"

"You can possess any incarnation and use it."

"That might not work! Didn't you hear what the seniors explained? If you recklessly enter a Time Fault without a proper incarnation body…"

"If the soul doesn't settle down, it could become an Outer God."

I know.

If we were not careful, both Kim Anna and I could have been stuffed with 'Catastrophic Fear'.

But she couldn't refuse this offer.

"Aren't you curious about the ending of scenarios number 99?"

"…"

"I'm saying that you're curious about what I, Cheon Inho, saw at the end of that damned 40th Round."

"You really..."

"I'm a coward. So please be fooled by that cowardice one more time. I think I need you to see the ending of that 'Time Fault'."

"…"

"If we're going to see the ending in this round, we absolutely have to know what happened in the 40th Round."

I silently grabbed Anna's wrist. Anna Croft sighed deeply and looked at Chunghuh with pitiful eyes as if asking for help.

I looked at Chunghuh and said.

"Please delay the end until I return. Please."

"Wait! Wait! Cheon Inho! Aah—"

[Entering 'round 40-99'.]

[The 'Time Fault' belongs to the 'Recorder of Fear, Evil Sophist'.]

…

[■■-grade Fear, 'Evil Sophist', allows you and one other person to enter.]

[The 'Time Fault' opens.]

---

The two people disappeared beyond the swirling door. Someone approached Chunghuh, who was silently watching the door close in an instant.

"Master."

"Karlton."

Karlton, who had the heads of Outer Gods lined up in a silver chain, stood behind him.

"It seems the newbies have come in."

"That's right."

"Why didn't you stop him? This isn't a Time Fault that two newbies can handle."

"It's not like anything will change even if they're here."

"That Fault belongs to the 'Recorder of Fear'. If you get trapped inside, you can't come back even if you press the 'reset' button."

"He said he hated regression."

"Huh?"

Chunghuh laughed silently and looked up into the air, then spoke again.

"Jaehwan, that guy hated 'regression' to the point of death."

Karlton also hesitated at the name Jaehwan.

Chunghuh continued.

"That guy also climbed that high tower to save his friend."

Karlton also knew well what that 'tower' was. The tower and the world they knew had already disappeared, but the back of someone climbing that tower was vivid in their memories.

"He was the guy who climbed the difficult path that no one took, even though there was an easy path."

Karlton smiled bitterly.

Longing. In this Fear Realm, it was an emotion that was endlessly vague and, above all, powerful.

"It reminds me of the old days. Do you think the newbies will succeed?"

"In this 'End Zone' where everything is useless, do success and failure have much meaning?"

A wave of Outer Gods gathered like clouds in the sky and surged toward the Transcendents.

Chunghuh silently drew his sword and began to slash at the air with a grin.

"I just hope he finds a 'good story' in this cliche End."

The moment he said that, the Outer Gods' heads all turned somewhere.

「The 'King of Fear's' gaze moved.」

The Outer Gods who followed their master were looking in the same direction as their master. That direction was, of course, where the '40th Round' Time Fault was.

Chunghuh added with a smile.

"Maybe he's already found it."

---

[You have possessed a suitable 'incarnation body.']

It was a familiar feeling. The same feeling as when I entered 'Fear' through the captain of the 'subway on the way home from work'.

[The final chapter of ■■-grade Fear, 'Evil Sophist', has begun.]

At that time, I was disguised as a masked person of the Blood Cult who was chasing Yoo Joonghyuk.

But what is this now?

[Warning! Your incarnation body is in a very unstable state!]

I thought I possessed Kim Dokja.

In addition, the incarnation's stories were completely destroyed, so it wouldn't be strange if I collapsed right away.

"Kim Anna-ssi."

I quietly called out to Anna Croft, but Anna didn't respond.

After briefly calling her, who might have become a 'Disaster-level Fear' Anna Croft by now, I slowly got up from my seat.

In that moment, something brushed past my head with a thud.

An arrow.

It was an arrow with an unusual 'force'.

"It's close! There's a guy nearby!"

Judging from the aftermath of the arrow's landing, they were incarnations with great energy.

They must be chasing Cheon Inho.

I had to run away somehow.

Even if the incarnation body was like this, running away was nothing. No matter what, this body was Cheon Inho who survived until the 'Last Scenario'...

Squeak.

I almost tripped and fell.

Why is this kid’s incarnation body still so weak? Is he really like Kim Dokja VER.2?

No, but it's scenario number 99, so how can his incarnation body be this weak?

[Your infirmity increases due to the influence of the exclusive trait 'Disease Acceleration'.]

It even seemed like his overall ability was lower than the last time I possessed him.

[Your overall ability has been greatly reduced due to the influence of the exclusive trait 'Weak Tongue'.]

My mind became complicated.

No. Even though his basic overall ability is low, he rode the combination of 「Disease Acceleration」 and 「Weak Tongue」 as his exclusive traits?

Are you crazy?

[Find it! Near here—]

Wait a minute. 「Disease Acceleration」 and 「Weak Tongue」. If I think about it carefully, I understand why he had these exclusive traits.

「Disease Acceleration is a trait that makes all traits' 'repeated cooldowns' zero in exchange for drastically worsening his status abnormalities.」

On top of that, 「Weak Tongue」 is a trait that increases the speed and power of 'Speech'-related skills in exchange for lowering his overall ability by half.

Combining these two allows for the so-called 「Magic Rapid Fire」.

However, Cheon Inho was not a magician, but an 'Instigator'.

In other words, this was a trait combination created with the idea of casting [Incite] first before the opponent could do anything.

I was impressed by Cheon Inho's boldness.

It’s a 'trait combination' that could send you to the afterlife with just one hit in this scenario.

No matter how much I think about it, this is a method that only someone as crazy as Kim Dokja could possibly use.

[There! Over there!]

And I was that crazy Kim Dokja.

"Yes, here."

Even though I was a total wreck, even though my incarnation body was a mess and my body was at the level of Kim Dokja — it was none other than the body of Cheon Inho, the 'One who Deceived the Stars' and the 'Evil Sophist' in the 40th Round.

I have [Incite].

If it's not another [Incite], but Cheon Inho's [Incite] that reached the end of the scenarios, what can't it do?

Just like I did with the Blood Demon, I can make them all kneel with subtle gaslighting and then crack the back of their heads.

I think that and get up.

"I finally found you, Cheon Inho."

What the heck, the Blood Demon I met last time was standing there again. Ah, was this kid alive?

Of course, I didn't listen to what he said and immediately activated [Incite].

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv.???', is activated!]

Incite, which is displayed as 'level ???'. I was about to be amazed by his incredible skill.

[Your incarnation's durability is currently at its limit.]

[Your incarnation cannot use this skill at present.]

I tried to smile and took a step back.

Damn it, I should have tried this before.

I wondered why my incarnation body ended up like this, but it seems I had already been using [Incite] vigorously somewhere.

I waved my hand as if I was greeting a friend I hadn't seen in a long time.

"Oh, nice to meet you, Blood Demon."

"Nice to meet you?"

Blood Demon said with a grin.

"Yes. Nice to meet you. Cheon Inho, I am grateful to you back then."

"I don't know what you're grateful for, but I'm glad. Then, would you mind throwing me some of the remaining herbs? If possible, it would be better if it were the Blood Spirits you gave me before."

The Blood Demon's eyebrows furrowed at my words.

"Damn you. Anyway, thanks to you, I've finally gotten one step closer to the [Regression Law]."

"Ah, that ridiculous Regression Law. You're still researching it, aren't you?"

I slowly took a step back, looking around. However, no matter where I looked, the Blood Demon's subordinates were already surrounding me.

It was a disaster.

I didn't think I'd die in the 'Final Scenario' to the Blood Demon, not Zeus or Poseidon.

"Yeah, it's all thanks to you defeating Poseidon."

"Who did I defeat?"

The Blood Demon looked at me like I was crazy. Only then did I understand why my incarnation body had become like this.

Did I have a fight with Poseidon of <Olympus>?

I even took that bastard down?

"I don't know what kind of scheme you're plotting, but it won't work this time. So put down that thing you stole from <Olympus> and get out."

Thing? Only then did I notice the thing shaking around the waist of my coat.

"If you give me that, I'll really let you live this time."

I stared blankly down at the thing in question.

I thought it was some kind of secret trick left by Cheon Inho, but the moment I confirmed it, I cursed without realizing it.

"This damn thing."

Yoo Joonghyuk's head was hanging from my waist.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

840 Episode 44 Evil Sophist (3)

Killer King Cha Sungwoo, who had been sitting blankly, suddenly hit his head hard. Ji Eunyu, who was watching from the side, asked in surprise.

"What are you doing?"

"I was checking if my head was properly attached."

"Suddenly?"

"My head has hardened these days, so I can't remember the contents of the Book of Revelation well."

"You said you've read it a hundred times."

"Should I have read it a hundred and one times?"

Cha Sungwoo looked up into the air with strange eyes, then muttered in a voice that seemed to be intentional.

"Or... is it because that guy isn't here?"

Of course, Ji Eunyu knew who 'that guy' Cha Sungwoo was talking about.

With a light sigh, he looked around, and saw Lee Dansoo, Kyung Sein, and Cha Yerin all staring into the air with the same eyes.

As expected, they all had expressions thinking about 'that guy'.

"Is he okay?"

Kyung Sein said a word. "No matter what anyone says, it's 'Kim Dokja'."

Cha Yerin then chimed in.

"Kim Dokja dies easily."

The group's expressions turned pale for a moment.

"Well, he comes back to life, doesn't he?"

"He must have the resurrection trait, right?"

"I don't think he had that trait…"

A deep sigh filled the room.

It's already been three months and ten days since their leader, the writer, Cheon Inho, or Kim Dokja (the title hasn't been unified yet), went missing.

"How's the damage situation for this scenario?"

In the meantime, the group of readers finished another scenario.

It was a 'Monster Wave' type scenario where powerful 3rd-grade monsters appeared.

"It's not bad. We've become much stronger now."

Even though it was a '20th-level scenario', the group was now able to clear the scenario without difficulty. It was all thanks to the spec upgrade at the 'Recycling Center'.

"There were no rumors that Dokja-ssi had returned, right?"

"This time, I didn't see the Kim Dokja impersonator. According to Hyunwoo—"

With a squeak of the hinge, someone entered the room.

It was Ye Hyunwoo.

"Are you all doing this again? We're not like <Kim Dokja's Company>."

Lee Dansu answered with a laugh.

"You never know. If you think like this, you might meet Inho-ssi…"

"Right. Inho-ssi has [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint]."

But no matter how much the group thought of Cheon Inho, they couldn't hear his voice.

"He's not really dead, is he?"

"No way."

"Then where is Inho-ssi right now?"

At Kyung Sein's muttering, everyone's eyes turned to the two.

The only two people in this room who had read the 'Book of Revelation' over a hundred times.

Ji Eunyu, who had caught their attention, spoke first.

"I think… he probably went to where the 'Time Fault' is."

Cha Sungwoo nodded as well.

"I think so too."

"Writer… no, Dokja-ssi is being chased by Nebulae right now. He had to find a way to get stronger while running away from the Constellationss."

"There's no other way than to become a Transcendent."

Kyung Sein nodded as if he understood, and Lee Dansu let the words slip away.

"Then how about we go find Dokja-ssi?"

Cha Sungwoo was the first to raise his head at those words. Ji Eunyu, Cha Yerin, and Kyung Sein followed suit.

However, there were those who shook their heads instead of raising their heads.

It was Ye Hyunwoo.

"Sir, realistically, that’s difficult. No matter how strong we become, we’re not strong enough to go to the 'Time Fault'. If we go, it’ll just be a burden."

"Why don’t we just borrow the strength of the characters?"

"They won’t help us."

At Ye Hyunwoo’s words, the group recalled the last words they had heard from Lee Jihye.

「 "We’ll act separately for the time being."」

Lee Jihye, Lee Hyunsung, and Shin Yoosung’s backs turned as they walked away with somewhat lonely and sorrowful expressions.

「"The master told me not to die!"」

'Don’t die.'

How nice it would have been if they had such instructions.

After Kim Dokja disappeared, the group felt like a compass with a broken needle.

"Can’t we go by ourselves? Heewon-ssi left like that too."

Jung Heewon left the group a month ago, saying that she would find Cheon Inho at all costs.

"We’re not Heewon-ssi. And I’m worried about her too. She’s the strongest of us all, but..."

Ye Hyuwoo’s expression suddenly hardened as he spoke. It was because he had noticed a huge group of dark clouds hanging over the window.

Tsk tsk tsk tsk!

An untimely spark was striking the clear sky of the Korean Peninsula. A huge hall slowly forming its outline around that spark.

Cha Sungwoo muttered, jumping up from his seat.

"Great Hall?"

Why is the Great Hall suddenly opening now? The 'Calamity' scenario had already ended, and there was no sign of a scenario related to 'Divine Power of the Other World' for the time being.

But the fact that the 'Great Hall' was observed...

"It seems like something has happened."

In reality, the Constellationss that resided on the Korean Peninsula were running around, issuing warnings to the group.

[The Constellations 'Maritime War Lord' is warning!]

[The Constellations 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is advising that you stay away from the 'Great Hall'!]

[The Constellations, 'Bald General of Justice', is diligently polishing his head!]

[The Constellations 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' narrows his eyes and glares at the 'Great Hall'.]

…

They didn't know what was happening, but if the Constellationss were that nervous, it seemed like something would happen in the scenario soon. Ye Hyunwoo, who was in a hurry to contact someone, said.

"I just got a call from the US and Japan, and they are observing the same 'Great Hall' there."

"So the 'Great Hall' is opening all over the world at the same time? What, the second half of the scenarios hasn't even started yet—"

Amid the confusion in the crowd, only Cha Sungwoo muttered without losing his composure.

"It seems that Kim Dokja is alive."

Ji Eunyu tackled the confident voice.

"How does that connect to that?"

"I can tell."

"Please stop saying that while smiling."

"Kim Dokja, what on earth are you doing?"

"I told you not to say that while smiling."

Ji Eunyu also looked up at the 'Great Hall' with anxious eyes, looking at Cha Sungwoo's snickering expression.

In fact, even though she said that, Ji Eunyu also agreed with Cha Sungwoo's words.

[The current administration is investigating the phenomenon.]

[The probability of the <Star Stream> is starting to move.]

In this world line, and at this point in time, no one could have caused such a large-scale migration other than 'that person'.

'Author, what on earth are you doing?'

What was a little reassuring was that 'Yoo Joonghyuk' from this world line went with him.

'Are you okay?'

Ji Eunyu tried to recall Lee Hakhyun's face, which was now starting to blur, once again. The Lee Hakhyun in her memories just smiled silently, and didn't respond.

Ji Eunyu thought with her usual bitter smile.

'It's okay.'

---

No matter how much I tried to be okay, it couldn't be okay.

Why on earth is there a Yoo Joonghyuk head keychain on my waist?

I had to ask myself this question over and over again to accept reality in my head.

"Wait a minute, Blood Demon. I'm a bit confused right now, so I think I need to sort things out. So please hold off on attacking for a minute."

"What nonsense are you talking about—"

[Exclusive trait, 'Supercognitive Acceleration', activates!]

Fortunately, Cheon Inho's appropriate trait helped me out. When 'Supercognitive Acceleration' activated, the surrounding movements temporarily slowed down. To be exact, it wasn't the surroundings that slowed down, but my thinking sped up.

Anyway, I took advantage of that time to synthesize the information I had obtained.

One, 'Yoo Joonghyuk' from the 40th Round was already dead (i.e., he had regressed).

Two, <Olympus> was storing the dead Yoo Joonghyuk's head, and I stole it.

Listening to this, there's not much to synthesize. The latter information was even a bit strange.

Why on earth was <Olympus> storing Yoo Joonghyuk's head? No, was the 'dead Yoo Joonghyuk's head' something to store in the first place?

「Yoo Joonghyuk's body disappears with the light at the moment of return.」

If my head and fingers remember correctly, Yoo Joonghyuk never left a corpse after he died in the main story.

「Then why didn't this 'Yoo Joonghyuk head' disappear?」

When my thoughts reached that point, my head started to throbbed for a moment and memories came to mind. I realized whose memories they were.

This was 'Cheon Inho's' memory.

It was a series of events that had happened to Cheon Inho since I had last visited the 'Time Fault'.

「"Supreme King, do you really think we can become comrades?"」

The moment I heard the voice in my memory, my heart pounded again.

I wondered if what I had done had any effect on the actual 40th Round.

However, I shook my head as I confirmed the scene that continued in my head.

「"If you really wanted to see the end, you should have been ready to give up everything."」

Of course, the two of them did not become comrades. That's understandable. One side is the worst villain of the Ten Evils, and the other is the savior of the world.

They are beings who have no reason to join hands rather than oppose each other.

The two killed each other's comrades, and eventually stood on a single-log bridge that could not be avoided.

「"Is this how it ended up, Cheon Inho?"」

After that, it was history as I knew it.

As confirmed by Anna Croft's [Past Sight], the two fought their final battle. And at the end of the battle, Cheon Inho exhausted his hidden resurrection trait and survived alone.

In the end, the Instigator Cheon Inho succeeded in defeating King Yoo Joonghyuk.

「"Supreme King. What does that mean?"」

「"..."」

「"This is the last 'reset'. What does it mean that everything in the universe will be destroyed forever in the next round?"」

However, Yoo Joonghyuk, who was about to answer that question, had already left this round.

The problem was what came next.

「[The Supreme King is dead.]」

The moment Yoo Joonghyuk's body was engulfed in a bright beam of light, a group of Constellationss appeared from somewhere and aimed for Yoo Joonghyuk's incarnation body.

「"Olympus!"」

They precisely cut off Yoo Joonghyuk's head and stole it.

「[Preserve it.]」

A burning sensation spread through the scene before my eyes.

That was the extent of my memory.

Is that so?

The reason Yoo Joonghyuk's head was preserved in its original state was because of <Olympus>. I thought that perhaps they had prevented his head from disappearing by using skills like [Special Preservation] or [Complete Stuffing], but I just found out that skills could be applied in that way.

Why on earth did <Olympus> want to preserve Yoo Joonghyuk's head?

Maybe they wanted to look into Yoo Joonghyuk's memories, or maybe they thought that the secret of his regression was hidden in this head like that Blood Demon.

So… damn it. If I delay any longer, my body will be torn in two.

"Wait a minute!"

[Exclusive trait 'Supercognitive Acceleration' is released!]

The Blood Demon's Fearsome blade grazed my shoulder. If I could only use [Incite], he was a guy I could have subdued with a flick of my tongue, but this is really unfair.

"I'll give it to you! I'll give you Yoo Joonghyuk's head!"

The Blood Demon's blade hesitated for the first time.

"Are you going to give it to me?"

"Yes!"

"But why are you looking inside?"

I smiled brightly.

Why did I search inside my coat?

Of course, Cheon Inho would have hidden an item like this.

[Use the item 'Roughly Murderous Magic Bullet'!]

"Take it!"

I threw the magic bullet in my coat with all my might.

While the great Blood Demon and his subordinates hid themselves between the nearby shelters, I moved my weak body and started to run away in a hurry.

Kwaaaaaaaang!

A loud noise erupted and my weak incarnation body rolled on the floor. I swallowed a cough and crawled away.

I can't die here. And for some reason, I couldn't let Yoo Joonghyuk's head be taken away here either.

"Chase him!"

More than anything, one certain sense made me move.

[The 'King of Fear' is looking at you.]

Right now, the Second Kim Dokja is looking at me. He's wondering about the story of this 40th Round, after stopping that damned doomsday banquet.

That's why I had to live. I had to somehow escape. I had to ask for help.

I let out a bitter laugh.

I'm Cheon Inho of the 40th Round.

With the damned Ten Evils, who on earth could I ask for help from? There's no way Cheon Inho would have any colleagues right now.

That's when someone's shadow appeared above my head.

"The signal was too late. The One who Deceived the Stars. Is that the head of the tyrant?"

I doubted my eyes for a moment as I looked at the fluttering coat on the hill above my head.

I couldn't understand.

How does this human exist in this 'Time Fault'?

"Kill... no, Kang Ilhun?"

No, wait. How could this human be Killer King? There's no way there's a Killer King in the 40th Round. Upon closer inspection, his unique rude smile and speech were somewhat different from Killer King's.

But my thoughts couldn't continue. Because the words that came out of Kang Ilhun's mouth were more shocking than the fact that Kang Ilhun was here.

"Yes, now I can revive the tyrant."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

841 Episode 44 Evil Sophist (4)

---

At first, I thought I heard it wrong.

What are you going to resurrect?

"Why are you looking like that? Have you changed your mind now?"

I quickly took a deep breath and hid behind Kang Ilhun and said.

"Kang Ilhun-ssi."

"Yes."

"Do you know what kind of being Yoo Joonghyuk is?"

Kang Ilhun tilted his head and looked back at me as if he didn't understand the intention of my question.

"Is there anyone who doesn't know Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"You know that Yoo Joonghyuk is a Regressor, right?"

"Of course I do."

Of course, if it's the latter half of the scenarios, everyone would know that much. Then the conversation would be easy.

"Then you must know how much Yoo Joonghyuk doesn't fit with the word 'resurrection'."

The concept of 'resurrection' definitely exists in this crazy <Star Stream>.

For example, Kim Dokja successfully resurrected several times by using his own characteristics, and Nirvana also used a similar ability called 'reincarnation' by combining the power of the backstory and the story. Shin Yoosung, who did not have the resurrection trait in the 41st Round, was also reborn as a dokkaebi by Kim Dokja's design.

Considering these cases, it seems that in this world, if you can somehow preserve your 'soul', there is a possibility of resurrection.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk is an exception.

"That bastard, he already regressed. Have you forgotten?"

It is different from the cases of Kim Dokja or Shin Yoosung.

Yoo Joonghyuk's soul does not go to the 'Underworld' even if he dies. This is because his soul belongs to the 'Oldest Dream'.

In short, Yoo Joonghyuk's soul is no longer in 'this worldline'.

But Kang Ilhun looked like he didn't know anything about such things.

"So?"

"Yes?"

"Did you get hit in the head by the Blood Demon? Wasn't it your plan to revive Yoo Joonghyuk?"

I sighed inwardly.

My plan?

Cheon Inho, what on earth were you thinking while living in the 40th Round?

"The One who Deceived the Stars."

Kang Ilhun's voice calling me contained a subtle murderous intent.

"Me, Lee Dansu, Kyung Sein, Ye Hyunwoo... We came here only believing in you."

"Yes?"

"You didn't become weak-hearted after coming this far, did you? Of all people, you?"

Suddenly, too much information poured in, so I couldn't figure out what was what.

Let's say Kang Ilhun was like that. Why did Lee Dansu, Kyung Sein, and Ye Hyunwoo's names come up again?

I first organized the newly acquired information one by one and looked closely at the man in front of me.

[Incarnation, 'Kang Ilhun', is showing deep favor to you.]

Kang Ilhun. There was no doubt about it.

This person was the incarnation of 'Killer King'. The extra villain of Chungmuro Station —'Rumor Expert' Kang Ilhun.

However, there was one strange thing.

Kang Ilhun had a scar in the shape of a line on his neck. It was as if someone had attached the head and torso, the skin of a subtly different color. Looking closely, the color of his hands was strangely blue.

[The subject is currently in a 'living dead' state.]

Oh my. No way.

Kang Ilhun's eyes strangely glowed as he looked at me.

"To find out the secret of this world, to destroy the final scenario, I sacrificed my soul. I came here trusting only you. But now you—"

A voice like a flowing stream of water.

Just as I was thinking that this human might be better at [Incite] than me, a shout erupted from the cover in front.

"Give me Yoo Joonghyuk's head!"

The Blood Demon, who had regained his momentum, was running toward us.

"Head! Head! Head! Head!"

The sight of dozens of incarnations running toward us while shouting "Head!" was truly a sight to behold. If Yoo Joonghyuk's head hadn't been dangling from my waistband, I would have clapped my hands.

I quickly hid behind Kang Ilhun and said.

"Do something about it."

While Kang Ilhun was looking at me with a look of astonishment, the Blood Demon who had discovered us shouted.

"Kang Ilhun? You bastard Cheon Inho! It's true that you revived the Ten Evils! How dare you revive the Ten Evils with the body of the Blood Demon that I created—"

At the moment when I wondered what that meant, the Blood Demon's subordinates shot arrows.

Arrows with powerful energy.

The moment I thought I was about to die, Kang Ilhun stopped me.

Push, push.

Over a dozen arrows pierced Kang Ilhun's body in an instant.

I shouted in surprise.

"What are you doing?!"

"Are you worried about me right now?"

"I'm sorry, but you just became an arrow skewer? It's strange that I'm not worried."

Kang Ilhun looked at me as if he was looking at a strange creature and then added.

"Run now."

"There's nowhere to run, so where am I going?"

"What the hell are you talking about? Have you really forgotten the plan?"

At the same time as Kang Ilhun spoke, a portal opened behind us.

"Go. I'll buy you some time."

"Let's go together."

"Stop talking nonsense and hurry into that portal— ugh!"

I carried Kang Ilhun and jumped straight into the portal.

"You can't go, you guys!"

The long, stretched out hands of the Blood Demon barely managed to grab Kang Ilhun's nape.

Startled, I instinctively grabbed Kang Ilhun's head and pulled with all my strength.

"Kuaaaaah!"

For a moment, a scream that I couldn't tell if it was the Blood Demon's scream or Kang Ilhun's scream resonated. There was a sound like something was being torn apart.

I was rolling around inside the portal. My stomach turned inside out, and then I saw the portal's entrance closing in a whirlwind. The transmission had ended safely.

I held Kang Ilhun's torn head in my hands.

Kang Ilhun's head spoke. "Please put it back on."

With those words, Kang Ilhun's head closed his eyes.

Suddenly, I felt a sudden surge of fatigue.

I could see the faces of several people running towards me from afar. Was it an illusion? I could see the face of Dansu ahjussi, the face of Kyung Sein, and the face of Ye Hyunwoo.

I waved my hand in joy.

[Warning. Your incarnation has reached its limit.]

My consciousness went out.

I slowly regained consciousness at the sound of a commotion. The first thing I heard was the man's voice.

"He waved at us earlier, right?"

"Yes. Yes."

"What do you think?"

"Hmm."

"He finally turned around?"

"He might have hurt his head."

"No, it must have been a ruse. He's trying to set the stage in advance so that he won't keep his promise to us."

"You're going overboard with just one wave. Kyung Sein."

When I opened my eyes, I saw the three people backing away in surprise.

I stared blankly at their faces. At first, I thought I was dreaming. They were all faces I knew.

Lee Dansu.

Kyung Sein.

And even Ye Hyunwoo.

The first to react was Kyung Sein.

"Are you awake, Cheon Inho?"

Not only was the way she spoke, but I could tell the moment I saw Kyung Sein's eyes. He wasn't the 'Judge Heewon' Kyung Sein that I knew.

"What a pitiful sight. Kang Ilhun, whom I saved with great effort, ended up like that."

Lee Dansu and Ye Hyunwoo added a word each.

"Don't scold him too much. He went all the way to <Olympus> like that."

"At least Yoo Joonghyuk's head was recovered safely."

I stared blankly at the three of them before opening my mouth.

"Excuse me."

Was it because of my tone? Or was it because of my changed mood?

Ye Hyunwoo asked with an anxious expression.

"What are you planning? Cheon Inho."

"Yes?"

"Did you develop a new [Incite] method?"

"No, that's not it."

I was wondering how I should explain this situation, and then I noticed Kang Ilhun's head on the table next to me.

Come to think of it, Kang Ilhun had asked me if I had been hit in the head.

I decided to take his advice.

"I had a slight head injury. That's why I don't remember well."

"A head injury? You?"

The three of them made expressions as if it couldn't be true.

Ye Hyunwoo asked with a more serious expression.

"Did you get hit by the Blood Demon?"

"No."

"Then Poseidon?"

When I nodded, the three of them looked at each other and soon gave each other a look of agreement.

"If he had definitely been hit in the head by that bastard's trident, he wouldn't be in his right mind."

"I'd like to hear an explanation of the situation. What did I do to end up like this, and why is Yoo Joonghyuk's head here? Who are you—"

"You forgot even such basic things?"

"I'm sure I'll remember them anyway, but to save time, could you give me a brief explanation?"

The three of them still looked suspicious that I was acting. However, whether it was acting or not, Ye Hyunwoo realized that proper communication was impossible, and eventually opened his mouth.

"Okay. I'll explain it to you once, so listen carefully."

For about 10 minutes, I heard about the current status of the 40th Round.

After listening to Ye Hyunwoo, I chewed over the information several times. Then I slowly opened my mouth.

"So... the only humans left are me and the Blood Demon gang, and you are the 'Ten Evils' that I resurrected. Is that right?"

I had roughly expected this, but it was shocking.

"Yes."

"How did I revive you?"

"You used [Deceased Summoning]."

Deceased Summoning.

I never thought that Cheon Inho, in the 40th turn, would have that horrible skill.

I also knew a lot about [Deceased Summoning]. This skill was originally used by Yoo Joonghyuk, in his 1208th Round, who had transitioned to the 'Lord of Death'.

A skill that borrows the souls of a Giant Nebula by making a contract with its Underworld.

Depending on how you use it, it is possible to create a one-man army by gathering powerful incarnations of past lives as immortals.

It seems that these people were also revived by planting the souls I borrowed through [Deceased Summoning] into their blood vessels.

"But that skill isn't that easy to use."

「Deceased Summoning had some pretty tricky conditions.」

One was that there had to be a 'head' of a dead person. And the two—

"[Deceased Summoning] can only be used when there is a special contract with the Underworld. It’s not like I can summon just any soul and plant it in your body."

No matter how corrupted the Giant Nebula was, there was no way a piece of trash like Cheon Inho could make a contract with the Giant Nebula and the Underworld.

"Have you forgotten that there is no Underworld in this world?"

I looked at him with a dumbfounded face and asked back.

"What are you talking about?"

"Didn’t you destroy the <Underworld> by causing discord among the Nebulas?"

I gaped.

Ye Hyunwoo looked at me pitifully and added.

"The 'Underworld' doesn’t exist in the current world."

Ye Hyunwoo walked toward me and held out the tablet he had taken out from his bosom.

"Thanks to you, the world became like this."

The tablet was showing the CCTV screen installed nearby.

Countless evil spirits roaming the dead land. From the 8th level Specter to the 5th level Night Ghost, the entire Korean Peninsula was a paradise for Evil Spirits.

Is this what a world without the afterlife looks like?

What on earth did Cheon Inho want to do in this world, committing such acts?

"Why did I save you?"

"Because you couldn't clear the 'Last Scenario' alone!"

One memory came to mind at Ye Hyunwoo's words.

「"Ten evils. Help me. I need your help."」

Ten Evils.

I didn't mishear. The people in front of me right now were the 'Ten Evils' of the '40th Round'.

「Fourth Evil Kang Ilhun.」

「Fifth Evil Ye Hyunwoo.」

「Eighth Evil Lee Dansu.」

「Ninth Evil Kyung Sein.」

And.

「First Evil Cheon Inho.」

It was amazing that the small villains survived and became the Ten Evils, and it was strange that Cheon Inho was determined to clear the Last Scenario by saving them.

I checked the log messages to see what the Last Scenario was.

Scenario #99 of the main story was 'Destroy the Ark', but here...

<Main Scenario #99 - Scheduled Ending>

Category: Main

Difficulty: ???

Clear Conditions: Destroy the Ark guarded by the Constellations within the time limit and reach the 'Final Wall'.

Time Limit: 30 days

Reward: Final Wall

> Failure: World Line Destruction.

I read and reread the main scenario. And I cursed inwardly.

Damn it.

[To clear the 'Time Fault', you must complete the 'Last Scenario'.]

Destroy the ark guarded by the Constellations and reach the 'Final Wall'?

Easier said than done. Is this really the Last Scenario of the 40th Round? There is no <Kim Dokja's Company> or Yoo Joonghyuk in this world line?

I asked again, trying to hold onto a glimmer of hope.

"Are there any Constellations that side with the incarnations? Like Uriel or Jecheon Daeseong."

"That's stupid. Where is a Constellationss that sided with an incarnation?"

"The ones who sided with humans all died during the last 'Apocalypse Dragon', right?"

Oh my. It was a truly hopeless situation.

Ye Hyunwoo said.

"But this time, you defeated Poseidon and brought back 'Yoo Joonghyuk's head', so we have a chance of winning."

Is it Yoo Joonghyuk's head again?

I sighed and shook my head.

"Yoo Joonghyuk's head is of no help."

"What nonsense are you talking about? Didn't you say that if only you could revive the Supreme King..."

"Resurrection itself is impossible."

I didn't know whether I should tell them the truth.

These extras who could finally dream of the end of this world. Could I tell these incarnations who had never been given proper ground in the main story that Yoo Joonghyuk's soul was not here, so we could not receive help from the tyrant, and that the destruction of this world was set in stone?

「And at that moment, a small spark flew in Cheon Inho's head.」

Wait a minute.

「Is there really no way to save Yoo Joonghyuk?」

I looked at Yoo Joonghyuk's head that was neatly placed on the table, then hurriedly looked up into the air. As if there was someone I couldn't see there.

Ye Hyunwoo, surprised by my actions, asked nervously.

"What's going on? Is this an attack?"

"Is there a body to connect to Yoo Joonghyuk's head right now?"

"There is a body, but didn't you just say that resurrection is impossible?"

That's right. If it's as I think, Yoo Joonghyuk can't be revived even if [Deceased Summoning] is used. This is because Yoo Joonghyuk's soul from the 40th Round has already left this world line.

But.

「What if, in this 'Time Fault', there's 'one more' Yoo Joonghyuk's soul?」

I thought of the monitor of the '40th Time Fault' that was completely dark.

What if that black screen didn't mean Yoo Joonghyuk's failure or death?

"Let's start [Deceased Summoning] right now."

So what if, in the '41st Round', Yoo Joonghyuk hadn't found a suitable 'Possession Target' yet?

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

842 Episode 44 Evil Sophist (5)

---

The so-called 'Supreme King Resurrection Plan' was steadily progressing.

Yoo Joonghyuk and resurrection. If the First Kim Dokja, the Demon King of Salvation, had heard about it, then even he would have said that there was no such thing as a connection, but...

[The 'King of Fear', is watching the Time Fault.]

It seems that our Second Kim Dokja likes this kind of story better.

It made sense. It is said that the Second Kim Dokja likes sad and desolate stories.

Just the setting that Yoo Joonghyuk was resurrected as a zombie by his worst enemy, Cheon Inho, and lived like a slave in a world that had already been destroyed would have made even the most desolate maniacs shed tears.

I don't know how much of a maniac the Second was, but in any case, the operation went smoothly.

"Cheon Inho?"

"Yes."

"Preparations are complete."

Kyung Sein placed the 'body' that Yoo Joonghyuk would use in the center of the empty lot. I looked down at Yoo Joonghyuk's body in the drum and asked.

"But do I really have to work here? Isn't there a safer place?"

"You're talking like you're full again. You know it's fortunate that we can use it here, right?"

By the way, we were currently inside the subway station 'Geumho Station'. I wondered why it had to be 'Geumho Station' out of all the places, but on the other hand, I also thought that this was a fate of its own.

Geumho Station.

The place where Cheon Inho became an 'Instigator' and the place where I first possessed him.

It was ironic that the only safe place in the Last Scenario where the Korean Peninsula was destroyed was the station where the 'First Scenario' began.

"Are you done recharging your skills?"

I nodded.

Of course, [Deceased Summoning] is my skill. I'm the one using it.

However, I was surprised when I looked at the incarnation body that I took out from the drum.

"Wait a minute. This incarnation body..."

A body that was trained to fit the scenario. Muscles that are normally not overly swollen, but hide explosive power in between.

There is only one incarnation that trains its body this effectively in the entire <Star Stream>.

"It’s Yoo Joonghyuk himself."

"That’s right."

"It must have been destroyed, so how did you save it?"

"When [Preservation] was used in <Olympus>, the skill was applied to some parts of the incarnation body."

It seems that the skill used to preserve Yoo Joonghyuk's head was also applied to some parts of Yoo Joonghyuk's body.

There were traces of the incarnation body being torn and patched up here and there. It seems that it wandered around the <Star Stream> with its major parts torn apart.

"I happened to know a story expert in the Demon Realm, so I asked them. Unfortunately, they also lost their life when they were attacked by the Blood Demon…"

A story expert in the Demon Realm.

I thought it might be Aileen.

Etica's store owner, the watchmaker Aileen. She died while mending someone's story until the end of the 40th Round.

Anyway, are the materials ready to summon the perfect Yoo Joonghyuk with this?

I took a light breath and opened my mouth.

"[Deceased Summoning] takes at least 30 minutes."

"I know. I've finished preparing in case."

Preparing in case?

Before I could ask what that meant, I saw Lee Dansu stretching his body as he went out toward the passage.

At the same time, a strange cry began to be heard as it opened.

I became a little anxious and asked.

"What's the situation?"

"Evil Spirits will swarm."

"Huh?"

"Deceased Summoning is a technique that borrows dead souls and implants them into the body. And since you destroyed the Underworld, there are spirits wandering around here."

"..."

"If a body capable of being possessed were to appear in the meantime, what do you think would happen among the Evil Spirits?"

I suddenly broke out in a cold sweat. So now, the Evil Spirits were going to come in droves to take over this empty body.

"But don't worry. We have Lee Dansu."

Eighth Evil Lee Dansu.

I also knew about the Lee Dansu of the 40th Round.

He was the vice-regent of the 'Salvation Church' that followed Nirvana in this round, but he betrayed the Salvation Church and became a pseudo-exorcist after being hit by Cheon Inho's 'Incite Escalation'.

"Oh! Oh! Oh! Oh! Oh!"

Lee Dansu, who was dancing roughly as if possessed by an animal, suddenly stuck a cane into the railroad tracks.

The bamboo spear of the missionary.

Wow, wait a minute. That's the one I gave you as a gift. You have it here too?

The moment I felt a strange sense of foreboding, a sacred aura burst out from the spear.

[Character Lee Dansu activates 'Absolute Divine Barrier Lv.???'!]

Absolute Divine Barrier.

I was really surprised. A member of the Ten Evils was using the ultimate magic that only Constellationss of the absolute good lineage—at least the Archangel’s throne—could use.

Ye Hyunwoo nodded meaningfully.

"That’s the 'Ghost Exterminator'—the Eighth Evil, Lee Dansu."

I nodded in admiration.

The 'Ten Evils' suddenly seemed amazing.

In the main story, they only appeared meaningfully, but they were all small villains, but here, they were really amazing.

As the [Absolute Divine Barrier] reached its limit and activated, the Evil Spirits that had been pouring in from outside began to scream and burn.

Maybe among the Evil Spirits burning there was Kim Anna-ssi, who had failed to possess them.

I tried hard to forget that fact.

Lee Dansu approached me with sweat dripping from his forehead and said.

"We can’t drag this on for too long. Get started quickly, Evil Sophist. The future of humanity depends on your decision."

I nodded and cast [Deceased Summoning]. After a while, Yoo Joonghyuk’s head was stuck to Yoo Joonghyuk’s torso with a dazzling light.

Ye Hyunwoo, who was watching the scene from the side, muttered in a trembling voice.

"To witness the resurrection of that 'Supreme King' in person."

"Now I can even try out a scenario."

"If Yoo Joonghyuk is here, there’s no problem."

I smiled bitterly because the three of them seemed to be expecting too much.

"Don’t expect too much. Honestly, adding Yoo Joonghyuk won’t break the Last Scenario all at once."

"What are you talking about? It’s that 'Yoo Joonghyuk'. The savior of the world, the strongest incarnation on earth. I can definitely expect it."

Aren’t the Ten Evils praising the main character too much?

I tried to make a pointless comment.

"Even so, it’s just a joke to me."

The three of them looked at each other at the same time at my words. Then, a loud laughter filled Geumho Station.

I asked with a slightly strange feeling.

"Why are you laughing?"

"Tsk tsk. If that's a win, then it's a win."

Cheon Inho definitely defeated Yoo Joonghyuk. I confirmed it in Anna's [Past Sight]. But Ye Hyunwoo was acting as if I was bragging.

"You really seem to have forgotten everything."

"What are you talking about?"

"You set up curse traps everywhere Yoo Joonghyuk went, and you poisoned the food he ate without fail."

"..."

"You installed [Propaganda Loudspeakers] everywhere and repeated the gaslighting in stages, and whenever you had the chance, you brought up the dead comrades of the tyrant to erode his mental power. For half a year."

I continued to listen to Ye Hyunwoo's words with my mouth open.

"When he fought you, the tyrant was barely able to use about twenty percent of his maximum power. And you fought him in peak condition."

"That's what he was like?"

"Then how did you defeat that tyrant?"

It was ridiculous.

That kind of secret happened in the 40th Round's battle I saw?

My shoulders, reflected on the broken screen door, looked so narrow that I couldn't help but ask.

"Am I weak?"

Ye Hyunwoo thought for a moment and then said.

"That's a difficult question."

"Be honest."

"Honestly, I'm not sure any of us could win a one-on-one fight with you..."

"Can you?"

"Yes."

Damn it.

I sighed deeply, and Ye Hyunwoo added.

"If you didn't prepare at all."

Prepare?

"If you prepare properly, none of us will be able to deal with you. When you're ready, you're stronger than any Constellations in the <Star Stream>. You even defeated Poseidon."

"Speaking of Poseidon, did I happen to catch him like I caught Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"You've been infiltrating <Olympus> for a year to catch Poseidon."

I didn't have the strength to be surprised anymore.

What on earth have you done to Poseidon in a year, Cheon Inho?

Did you feed him dirt?

That was when the feeling of the dazzling light flowing out of Yoo Joonghyuk's body changed.

[Call the soul to use for the 'Deceased Summoning Technique'.]

The full-scale summoning was finally about to begin.

I opened my mouth nervously.

"The incarnation I'm going to summon is the Supreme King Yoo Joonghyuk."

The skill didn't respond for a moment.

Please, please.

[The spirit you summoned is nearby.]

I almost cheered.

[The spirit is suitable for the incarnation.]

[Deceased Summoning.]

There it is! As expected!

I held back tears that were about to well up and continued the summoning.

Ye Hyunwoo muttered while watching me.

"Honestly, I'm impressed."

"Don't talk to me since this is an important part."

"The tyrant will definitely kill you as soon as he wakes up."

I hesitated for a moment and looked at Ye Hyunwoo.

It was clear why Ye Hyunwoo was saying that. Right now, Ye Hyunwoo didn't know that the target I was summoning was not the 40th Round's Yoo Joonghyuk, but the 41st Round's Yoo Joonghyuk's soul.

"And yet, you planned to summon the tyrant again in order to clear the Last Scenario. You're probably the only incarnation in the world who can do that. So… I respect you a little."

"You can do it a lot."

"I'll do it a little."

I smiled bitterly, receiving the respect of the Ten Evils, but a new message appeared above my head.

[From now on, you can grant new characteristics to the summoned deceased's body.]

Huh?

[Please choose three characteristics to grant.]

Wait a minute. You can't just summon it, but grant it three new characteristics?

「...So, when your mastery of the deceased summoning technique reaches the ultimate, you can 'grant additional characteristics' to the summoned deceased.」

I'm sure I've read about that before in 'Ways of Survival'...

Wow, is this okay?

My heart suddenly raced.

Yoo Joonghyuk is already strong, but how much stronger will he be if he gains new characteristics as well?

[The level of the incarnation is too high, so you cannot choose to grant attributes.]

However, luck didn't always go as I expected.

[The incarnation randomly acquires three characteristics!]

[The random roulette activates!]

Damn, is this random too?

It doesn't matter. Since it's a free trait anyway, I'll be grateful if you give me anything.

[The incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk', has acquired a new trait!]

[Acquired the exclusive trait 'Stone Head'!]

[The intelligence and memory of the corresponding incarnation are slightly reduced.]

[The skull of the corresponding incarnation becomes very hard.]

I was dumbfounded.

"Stone Head"?

"Cheon Inho. What is that?"

"No."

When I thought about it, it might not have been such a bad thing.

It wouldn't be good for the already dangerous Yoo Joonghyuk to be smart.

Now there are two randomly granted traits left.

[The roulette moves!]

I prayed inwardly.

Please. Demon King of Salvation. Great King of Fear. Demon-like Judge of Fire. Please help me. Depending on what trait Yoo Joonghyuk gains here, the Last Scenario could be pretty fun, or it could be hell.

By any chance, if he really gets a trait like [Life of Power]—

[Incarnation, 'Yoo Joonghyuk', has gained a new trait!]

[Exclusive trait, 'Eating Bias', is gained!]

[The incarnation can only eat 'one' type of food.]

Eating Bias. It was a trait that was neither good nor bad.

A trait where the incarnation's abilities would decrease significantly if he ate food other than the designated food.

I thought it was fortunate. After all, that bastard Yoo Joonghyuk only eats things he makes.

Please, if only the last trait would come out well…

[Incarnation, 'Yoo Joonghyuk', has gained a new trait!]

And after a while.

I rubbed my eyes and thought.

Wait a minute.

Is this really what came out?

I stared at the trait name quietly. And thought.

[Exclusive trait, 'Uncookable', is gained!]

Oh my god.

[This incarnation can't cook.]

This was the moment when Yoo Joonghyuk, who was the first version unable to cook throughout Ways of Survival, was born.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

843 Episode 45 Ten Evils (1)

Three days had passed since Yoo Joonghyuk was resurrected. Usually, other Messiahs would perform some great miracle within three days of their resurrection, but our King didn't show any such signs.

The first time Yoo Joonghyuk spoke was when I suspected that the one I had summoned was not King Yoo Joonghyuk, but someone who happened to have the same name.

"I'm hungry."

"Yes. That's really nice to hear."

Yoo Joonghyuk didn't recognize me right away. I think it was probably due to the effect of the 「Stone Head」 trait.

An hour after declaring hunger, Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes began to glow a little. Then, after two hours, Yoo Joonghyuk suddenly clenched his fist at me.

And after about three hours, a question came flying in.

"What are you?"

"Wow, are you curious about that now?"

"I asked you what it was."

"I'm Cheon Inho."

"No."

"Did you notice?"

The penalty for the 「Stone Head」 trait is a 'slight' decrease in intelligence. Fortunately, it didn't seem to decrease enough for me to not be recognized.

Yoo Joonghyuk glared at me for a moment and then said.

"You came for the 40th Round, too, didn't you?"

"You didn't do this because you knew I'd come, did you?"

Instead of answering, Yoo Joonghyuk looked down at his own body and asked.

"Why did you tie me up?"

"I'm preparing for an emergency. The other Ten Evils were worried."

"The other Ten Evils? All the Ten Evils except you died in the 40th Round?"

"I brought them back to life. Just like you."

As I seemed to be able to communicate with Yoo Joonghyuk, the Evils who had been cowardly hiding behind the various concealments of Geumho Station began to show their heads one by one.

"The One Who Deceived the Stars. Are you talking to the tyrant right now?"

"Stop doing useless things and use [Incite] quickly. We need to subdue him in the first place."

"Are you going to curse him first, or feed him some poison? I've already prepared to go up and kill him."

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had confirmed the appearance of the Ten Evils, glared at me with his eyes wide open.

"You, did you use [Deceased Summoning] on those guys too?"

"Yes, yes."

"Why would you do something like that—"

"I don't know either. Strictly speaking, it wasn't my doing."

Yoo Joonghyuk seemed to have guessed the situation from my answer.

I shouted while exaggeratedly spreading my arms to reassure the Ten Evils.

"Now, the tyrant you've been waiting for has finally been resurrected. By the way, this tyrant has a low intelligence so he won't attack people recklessly. Oh, maybe it's the opposite."

"Cheon Inho!"

Ye Hyunwoo, who had become lost in thought, pointed behind me and shouted. There, Yoo Joonghyuk had released his restraint in an instant and grabbed me by the back of the neck. His strong grip made it a little sore, but I waved my hand lightly toward the Ten Evils, still hanging in the air.

"I'm safe. I'm not dead yet, am I?"

I looked back at the platform of Geumho Station while hanging on to Yoo Joonghyuk's hand. A cold wind blew from the tunnel toward Oksu.

I suddenly laughed. Come to think of it, it was also around here that I first met Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st Round.

"Are you debating whether to kill me again?"

Yoo Joonghyuk didn't answer.

Just from that silence, I realized that we had changed. We had been through a few things together. It may not be a great bond, but we definitely had a history together.

As Yoo Joonghyuk slowly put me down, the Ten Evils who had been hiding quickly started to run toward me one by one.

I looked at those villains and said,

"You know, right? You and I have something to check in this Round."

Yoo Joonghyuk nodded. "If we don't check that properly..."

"We won't be able to see the end of the 41st Round."

I don't know about the scenarios that will unfold. I don't know if we will be able to survive this Time Fault or if we will be able to clear the Last Scenario.

But at least one thing is certain.

[The 'King of Fear' is watching your story.]

Even if our story fails, that failure will change a very important part of the universe.

---

【I really didn't know the 'King of Fear' would be interested in that story.】

【Bicheonhori. If you had introduced the '0th Murim' better, this wouldn't have happened.】

【Huh, that guy didn't care about martial arts. Asmodeus. You should have promoted your 'Time Fault' well.】

Asmodeus laughed quietly at Bicheonhori's point.

【Anyway, it's interesting. I was also quite curious about the Time Fault of the 'Evil Sophist'.】

【This is not the time to laugh like that. If they really succeed—】

【The 'Evil Sophist' will be able to achieve his long-cherished wish.】

After a brief silence, Asmodeus muttered.

【He will finally become the ■■■ of this world.】

---

[There are 25 days left until the end of Scenario 99.]

At a point when there were only 25 days left until the final chapter of the scenario, the Ten Evils and I were sitting on a bench at Geumho Station, absentmindedly.

Looking at Yoo Joonghyuk swinging his spear into the air from afar, Ye Hyunwoo, who was sitting on the bench right next to me, muttered.

"I didn't know I could really be on the same side as the tyrant."

Then, as if they had been waiting,

Kyung Sein and Lee Dansu nodded.

"That's right."

"I don't know why he's keeping us alive. What on earth did you say to the Supreme King?"

As expected, everyone was scared of Yoo Joonghyuk.

"You must have used [Incite]. Tell me what keyword you used on Yoo Joonghyuk."

In the meantime, Kang Ilhun, who had been resurrected, added a word.

I stared blankly at the Ten Evils who were just picking out pathetic words. Kang Ilhun responded to my gaze.

"What are you looking at?"

"I'm just curious."

In fact, back when I was writing the main story, I didn't even care what they looked like. That's understandable, because the role of the 'Ten Evils' was nothing more or less than an obstacle in the beginning.

However, in the 40th Round, the Ten Evils survived and were right in front of the 'Final Wall'.

And that was the problem.

Yoo Joonghyuk and I had to clear the Last Scenario with these guys. I checked the Ten Evils I learned about one by one.

First, the Evil Kang Ilhun.

Kang Ilhun, who was active as a 'Rumor Expert' in the 40th Round, controlled the public by becoming the speaker of Cheon Inho with his more developed [Rumor] skill. When <The Underworld> was destroyed, it was Kang Ilhun who inflated Cheon Inho's discord in the middle.

However, Kang Ilhun's fatal weakness was that he had almost no merit except for this [Rumor] ability.

Next, the Evil Ye Hyunwoo.

In the 40th Round, Ye Hyunwoo was called the 'Disappearing One'. The reason was simple.

"Where did that bastard Ye Hyunwoo go again?"

"It seems he made eye contact with Yoo Joonghyuk again."

It was because of his habit of disappearing at important moments. Ye Hyunwoo would disappear in an instant, no matter how dire the situation. He abandoned his colleagues, abandoned his friends. He was someone who could disappear at any time for his own survival.

That was the Evil Ye Hyunwoo.

"Lee Dansu-ssi."

"What?"

"Do you have a daughter?"

"No, I don't."

"I knew it."

"What was your intention behind asking this?"

'Ghost Slayer' Lee Dansu was explained last time, so let's skip it.

I looked at the old Kyung Sein one last time.

"What do you see? Surely you're not in love with me again, are you?"

Kyung Sein, who talks nonsense whenever she gets a chance, was called 'Strong-Weak-Weak-Strong' in the 40th Round. It's obvious what kind of person she is just by hearing her nickname, so I want to skip the explanation, but if I had to explain it anyway.

"Cheon Inho, you know that the one who fell in love is the 'weaker one', right?"

Kyung Sein was a villain who had trained the [Insect Massacre] story to the limit.

It would be helpful if weaker rascals than Kyung Sein appeared, but the problem is that the Constellations of the Giant Nebula are what we have to fight.

"Aren't there any more helpful Ten Evils? Why, Dokhee, Reinheit, Gong Pildu—"

Ye Hyunwoo, who had reappeared in response to my question, quirked his lips.

"Are you seriously asking?"

"Yes."

"They all died because of your scheme."

"What about the other Ten Evils?"

I thought of the Ten Evils that appeared in the main story. For example, Jo Jincheol of the Gyeonggi Alliance, Choi Hangyu, the explosive monster who rode in the same car as Yoo Joonghyuk, or even Kim Cheolyang, the Life Cult Leader of Geumho Station…

"Weren't they all killed on your orders?"

"On my orders?"

"You clearly said it yourself. The Ten Evils that have survived until now are the Ten Evils that are worth using."

Ten Evils that are worth using.

In other words, Jo Jincheol, Choi Hangyu, and Kim Yang were not worth using according to Cheon Inho's standards in the 40th Round.

They were either uncontrollable or there was some other reason. I sighed and continued.

"Just in case, are there any survivors among Yoo Joonghyuk's comrades?"

I ignored the Ten Evils who looked at me like I was crazy and continued to ask.

"If there's anyone whose head we can retrieve..."

"Oh, do you need a meat shield?"

"No, I didn't say that..."

"If that's what it's for, it's Lee Hyunsung. By the way, if I tell you how Lee Hyunsung died because of your scheme..."

"Yes, I understand, so that's all."

I hastily cut off his words. I was afraid that Yoo Joonghyuk might hear.

I realized anew. What did Cheon Inho do to Yoo Joonghyuk? And which character am I possessing?

I looked back at Yoo Joonghyuk, who was training his spear from afar, and thought. Is it really okay for Yoo Joonghyuk to be my comrade? Even if he has a memory loss, can he become comrades with the villain he once hated the most in the world?

「That's quite interesting.」

I suddenly slapped my cheek.

I don't know why, but ever since I entered this 'Time Fault', I've been having strange thoughts.

「I'm Cheon Inho.」

I'm not Cheon Inho. But I keep thinking like Cheon Inho and talking like Cheon Inho without realizing it. Maybe it's natural since I've possessed Cheon Inho from the 40th Round... but what should I say? It seems like it's getting a little too much.

"Cheon Inho."

Ye Hyunwoo called me in a serious voice.

"The King's condition is strange."

I stood up in surprise. Yoo Joonghyuk, who had clearly been practicing stabbing just a moment ago, had suddenly collapsed on the floor.

Lee Dansu stood up as if he knew it would happen and shouted.

"Finally, that's right!"

"As expected, you're the Evil Sophist. When did you spray it?"

"Is it time to rule the tyrant?"

I ignored the Ten Evils who were babbling nonsense and hurriedly checked Yoo Joonghyuk's condition. The moment I painfully turned over Yoo Joonghyuk's upper body, which had collapsed due to his poor physical strength, I heard a growling sound from somewhere. It wasn't coming from my stomach.

Yoo Joonghyuk was looking up at the sky with a pale face.

"Why did you make me possess a body like this?"

"That's your original body."

"I'm hungry."

I sighed. I was about to say that it was fortunate that he collapsed because he was hungry, but then,

"I see a strange message."

"What message is it?"

"It says that I will die if I don't eat food within an hour."

I quickly called out to the Ten Evils. After all, this was Geumho Station, and since it was their base from the beginning, I thought there might be food stockpiled.

But.

"There's nothing to eat?"

"That's right. <Olympus> and <Vedas> guys did it."

I heard that there was almost no food left for humans to eat in the Korean Peninsula. It was because the Giant Nebulae scattered the 「Earth Pollution」 story all over the planet in order to kill off the humans on the surface.

"Then what did you eat to survive?"

At my question, the Ten Evil looked at each other and answered with a grin.

"We are undead, so we don't need much food."

"You need less. So what did you eat?"

"Underground..."

"Oh, is there something underground?"

"We ate dirt."

I thought I heard wrong.

"What did you eat?"

"You were the one who [incited] us like that."

The Ten Evils seemed a little embarrassed that they had survived by eating dirt, so he made an excuse.

"Soil is nutritionally excellent food. All crops absorb the nutrients in the soil and—"

I hesitated for a moment before speaking to Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Yoo Joonghyuk. Do you want to eat nutritionally superior food?"

"No."

"Yes, I will serve you right away."

[Activate exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv.???'!]

"Yoo Joonghyuk, eat dirt."

The Ten Evils, shocked by my declaration, all looked at Yoo Joonghyuk. They all looked curious about when Yoo Joonghyuk would eat dirt.

[Your 'Incite' failed due to the effect of that character's special ability.]

What?

Yoo Joonghyuk spoke with his eyes glaring as if spitting blood.

"That kind of thing... I won't eat it even if I die."

I wanted to say that he's already eaten it several times, but that wasn't the important thing.

You're saying that the instigation isn't working?

"Then what are we going to do?"

"We have to cook."

Yoo Joonghyuk, who got up with my help, took out small kitchen utensils from his bosom. A small table, a cutting board, and even a kitchen knife. I wanted to ask why he was carrying those things in his coat, but it seemed stranger that Yoo Joonghyuk didn't have those tools when it came to the final scenario.

"Oh my god, I can see the king's cooking!"

In the meantime, the Ten Evils who were excited to see the king were exclaiming in admiration.

Yoo Joonghyuk ignored the onlookers and started cooking.

I asked him with a slightly fearful look, knowing Yoo Joonghyuk's new trait.

"What are you going to make?"

"Evil Spirit Yukhoe."

That was nonsense. How could you get Yukhoe from an Evil Spirit that didn't even have a body in the first place?

"I have the ingredients."

But there were the ingredients.

According to Yoo Joonghyuk's explanation, when a Transcendent that can use the sword cuts a soul body, there are cases where a cross-section of the soul body temporarily materializes.

I picked up a dark lump of meat and asked.

"So you're going to eat this?"

"If I sprinkle some seasoning and do a little bit of preparation…"

At that moment, Yoo Joonghyuk's kitchen knife exploded in the air.

[The special characteristic of the corresponding incarnation is activated!]

[The corresponding incarnation cannot cook!]

"Bam! Supreme King! I knew it!"

"You were after us after all—"

Yoo Joonghyuk slowly sat down while watching the Ten Evils running away from the flying kitchen knife.

"Damn it."

It had been a long time since I saw Yoo Joonghyuk despairing.

I quickly raised him up and asked.

"What if I make it?"

"I don’t eat food made by others…"

Looking at Yoo Joonghyuk, who was on the verge of starvation, I also felt a faint sense of despair. I wondered if this situation made sense.

We had reached the Last Scenario. But the biggest obstacle blocking our path here was not the Constellations or the scenario, but 'food?'

I desperately thought of something Yoo Joonghyuk could eat. I thought about feeding him stories like before.

[The incarnation in question must consume 'food'.]

Stories were not considered 'food'.

In other words, in order to save Yoo Joonghyuk now, I had to somehow make a dish that he could eat.

However, this guy only eats the food he makes. In this situation, there was no way I could make food for him—

「No, wait a minute.」

I looked at Yoo Joonghyuk blankly, then naturally put my hand inside my coat. After a moment, I was holding a small piece of a recipe in my hand.

「There is. Food that Yoo Joonghyuk can eat.」

A light cheer came from inside the quiet library. I heard.

「"Would you be able to eat this?"」

Cheon Inho's voice floated over the daily newspaper in real time. The kkomas Kim Dokjas who confirmed that line shouted in unison.

Among them was the Demon King of Salvation — the Eldest Kim Dokja.

「(That's right! You should have done that a long time ago, Youngest!)」

It had been quite some time since he had entered the [Fourth Wall]. At first, the small library was quite stuffy, but as time passed and the fragments of Kim Dokja gathered, the library gradually grew in size.

The Eldest Kim Dokja took out a book from the corner of the library and returned to the newspaper.

『The Recipe for Murim Dumplings』.

The Youngest must be reading this diligently by now.

The Eldest Kim Dokja smiled happily as he thought of the Youngest who was diligently learning the recipe to make dumplings.

「(By the way… This Round won't be easy.)」

Although he had also visited the 1,863rd world line, the 'Time Fault' that the Youngest entered this time was a bit different.

Above all, the Youngest had to clear the 'Last Scenario' of the 40th Round in order to complete this 'Time Fault'.

「(Damn, is there any helpful information?)」

Although he couldn't contact the Youngest directly due to the 'Fear' penalty, the Eldest Kim Dokja would constantly take out books in the library and read them whenever he had time. He thought that he might find some information that would be helpful to the Youngest.

From the 'Ways of Survival' that he had read in the past to 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' written by Han Sooyoung.

And today, the Eldest Kim Dokja discovered a rather unusual bookshelf.

「(Was there a bookshelf like this?)」

A bookshelf that had been pushed aside by other bookshelves and had not been noticed until now. The moment he saw the titles of the books on the bookshelf, the Eldest Kim Dokja realized what kind of bookshelf it was.

『The Origin of Memory』.

All Kim Dokja have a bookshelf that contains their own history.

This bookshelf probably contains the Youngest's 'past'.

The Eldest Kim Dokja hesitated for a moment before taking out a book from the bookshelf. As expected, the bookshelf contained the Youngest's memories.

As if opening an old album, the Eldest Kim Dokja began to turn the pages with a faint smile.

However, every time he turned the page, Kim Dokja's expression hardened a little.

「(What is this?)」

Why is that?

「■■■.」

The Youngest's name was disappearing in real time from the book.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

844 Episode 45 Ten Evils (2)

One New Year, Giyeon once greeted me with these words.

—Listen carefully. The world has been destroyed.

Another new material.

I answered.

—Yes, it seems like your novel has already failed.

—No. I told you to listen carefully.

—It’s a story where I alone start with great powers in the apocalypse.

Giyeon was startled by my answer and asked.

—How did you know?

—How could I not know?

Now that I think about it, I could talk to Giyeon quite like Ji Eunyu.

—Wow, this time it’s really different.

Giyeon grumbled for a while before sending me the introduction he had written.

—Only I can cook in this world.

Unfortunately, Giyeon's introduction was never used. That's because Giyeon disappeared shortly after. I sometimes wonder what would have happened if Giyeon had continued writing that cooking novel.

Would that story have been born as a world in another dimension?

Oh, why am I telling you this?

"The One Who Deceived the Stars. How long are you going to keep reading the recipes? If you keep doing this, the King will die."

It's because I feel like I've become the main character of that story now.

I don't know why I have to go through the former route of the 'Murim Dumpling Chef' in the 40th Round, but unfortunately, there was a reader who wanted this story.

[The 'King of Fear' is paying attention to your actions.]

What on earth do you want to see, Kim Dokja? Do you really want to see a story about making Murim dumplings?

No. Rather than that, aren't you more curious about the story of Yoo Joonhyuk, who came back to life without eating dumplings, destroying all the Constellations in the 40th Round, and Cheon Inho, who waved his cheering stick diligently next to him?

[The 'King of Fear' is curious about the 'Murim Dumplings' you made.]

I sighed deeply and read the recipe. How much longer did I read like that?

A message came to my mind.

[Story fragment 'Murim Dumpling Recipe' resonates with you.]

It was the moment when the Youngest Kim Dokja finally changed his job to become a 'Murim Dumpling Chef'.

「My name is Manri Shintong Heo Poong. I don't know who you are, but I sincerely thank you for continuing the progress. This 'Murim Dumpling' is an authentic recipe I developed 1,200 years ago…」

Whether it was Heo Poong or Jang Poong, the progress of a great nobleman entered my head.

[NOTE 1]

I bowed in my mind to the invisible dumpling master and then looked at the culprit of this whole situation.

"I'm hungry."

There were now 10 minutes left. I had to make dumplings that Yoo Joonhyuk could eat within 10 minutes. The Ten Evils, who were watching me holding the cooking utensils, asked.

"But do you have the dumpling ingredients?"

"What are you going to do by just reading the recipe when you don't have the ingredients?"

"It's not too late. We have plenty of poison and curse traps."

The Ten Evils' point was right, but also wrong.

This 'Murim dumpling' is not an ordinary food. So the method of making it is not ordinary either.

「The key ingredient of 'Murim dumpling' is 'memory'.」

It is a food made with memory.

I concentrated for a moment and pulled out the fragments of the story from my memory.

"W-what did you do just now?"

"The dumpling skin suddenly appeared out of thin air!"

The dumpling skin was my old memory.

「Ji Eunyu said. "Author! Please make him regress this time! Make him regress! I said you have to make him regress here!"」

For now, I had no choice but to write this memory. If you think about clearing the scenario in the future, you can't use memories related to 'Ways of Survival' or 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' carelessly. Then,

「The only thing I can use now is the memory of 'Lee Hakhyun'.」

Make it like this, make it like that, then fill the inside of the memory as written in the recipe, cook it...

After a while, a steaming dumpling was completed.

[Congratulations! You've completed 'Authentic Murim Dumpling'!]

[Your cooking skill is very low!]

[Your Murim Dumpling completion level is as follows.]

Completion level: ★☆☆☆☆

Overall: A dumpling that you wonder if you can eat. The combination of memories is terrible. Beware of side effects.

Wow, isn't one star too much? No. Is one star normal for a beginner?

"Huh, how—"

"The Evil Sophist can really make dumplings..."

"These are dumplings that the devil would eat."

I ignored the Ten Evils and approached Yoo Joonhyuk.

Yoo Joonhyuk muttered while looking at me with a pale face.

"I… keug!"

I stuffed a dumpling into the guy's mouth so that he couldn't continue his words.

"Keuheuk."

It suddenly felt as if he was having a seizure and thought he was vomiting blood.

This went on for five minutes. Just as Lee Dansu was about to start raving about the poison, Yoo Joonghyuk suddenly muttered.

"Regression."

Regression?

"Regression right now…"

The Ten Evils ran towards Yoo Joonhyuk, who was strangling himself.

"The Supreme King is trying to commit suicide!"

"Stop it!"

It seems I had inserted a memory that shouldn’t have been inserted.

---

Yoo Joonhyuk recovered quickly.

The food he needed was three dumplings a day. Fortunately, there was no 'story of eating eight meals' because he was a zombie. Three was enough for me to suffer the memory loss penalty.

"You didn't put in any weird memories this time, did you?"

"Yes. Only happy memories."

"But why does that Ji Eunyu keep yelling at you? Is she your enemy?"

It's been three days since Yoo Joonhyuk started eating the dumplings I made. He always looked at me suspiciously, but now he's started eating my dumplings quite well.

The Ten Evils watching us looked confused.

"Damn it, some people are eating dirt, and some are eating dumplings."

"Are you discriminating against people right now?"

But I can't give the Ten Evils the dumplings I made with my memories.

[The proficiency of story fragment 'Murim Dumpling Recipe' increases!]

Huh?

[The incarnation that eats your 'Murim Dumpling' will receive the proficiency bonus effect of skills or stigma.]

I was surprised. No, 'Murim dumplings' have this effect? I hesitated for a moment and glanced at the Ten Evils.

Since it turned out like this, isn't there a way to raise the status of the Ten Evils by feeding them a lot of dumplings?

"Would you like some dumplings?"

As soon as I finished speaking, the Ten Evils all came running and snatched the dumplings from my hand.

"Delicious! Delicious! Damn it!"

"Is this how the tyrant lives? He's a happy guy!"

"I don't think he'd put any deadly poison in them..."

If I knew they'd like it this much, I should've made it for them a long time ago.

It was sad to see four people splitting one dumpling, so I tried to make another one, but Yoo Joonhyuk grabbed my shoulder.

"You, your hands are weird."

"Huh?"

Only after hearing Yoo Joonhyuk's words did I realize that my hands were shaking faintly.

Did I overdo it? I've been making too many dumplings lately.

"If you keep doing that, all your memories will disappear."

"Well, for now, I'll make them into unnecessary memories—"

"There are no unnecessary memories."

It was a bit unexpected that Yoo Joonhyuk said that, so I was speechless for a moment and focused on what he was saying.

"All memories are the foundation of existence. Every memory has its own role to maintain existence."

"That's true, but I don't think it's something someone who sacrificed their memories as a sacrifice for 'Story Imprint' should say."

"That's—"

"You're the one who ate the dumplings I made anyway, so if I forget something, I can just ask you."

Yoo Joonhyuk frowned.

"The dumplings weren't delicious enough to answer all those questions."

"Was it that bad?"

"I definitely knew you weren't Cheon Inho."

Well, since he's been eating dumplings made with my memories, Yoo Joonhyuk must have come to know a little about me now.

That I'm not Cheon Inho, and that I came from a different world line.

"Take care of your memories. You're a possessed being. If the possessor loses his or her memories, the spirit will eventually be consumed by the body."

I had never thought about it that way, but suddenly I felt a little scared.

If I forget all my memories from when I was Lee Hakhyun, what will I become?

"If that happens, please hit me hard on the back of the head."

"Okay."

"This time, you won't say no."

"I think it'd be good to finish this scenario soon."

"How are you going to finish it?"

"The goal of this scenario is 'to destroy the ark and reach the Final Wall'."

"So?"

Yoo Joonhyuk stood up from his seat with a look of 'what's the point of saying more?' and declared while looking at the Ten Evils, who were still picking up dumpling crumbs.

"We're going to attack the ark today."

---

And our attack failed spectacularly.

"Kuaaaaah!"

As soon as he set foot on the ark, 'Rumor Expert' Kang Ilhun's head was blown off again.

"Damn it! This bastard Ye Hyunwoo is already gone!"

'The one who disappears' Ye Hyunwoo disappeared in an instant.

"Me, a weaker guy than me, come out! Only weaker guys come out!"

There was no Constellation weaker than 'Strong-Weak-Weak-Strong' Kyung Sein.

"Trap set! Huh... Do these guys not even respond to poison!"

'Ghost Executor' Lee Dansu as committing the foolish act of spraying poison on the Constellations.

And yet we had Yoo Joonhyuk. No matter what anyone says, a tyrant is a tyrant. The Constellations were shocked.

And what happened?

"Make more dumplings."

I sighed deeply as I watched Yoo Joonhyuk lose one of his arms and legs.

Yoo Joonhyuk was silent for a long time and then said something I hadn't asked.

"This is the first time I've even gotten to the Final Scenario."

I laughed in vain.

Come to think of it, this kid, Yoo Joonhyuk, hadn't even gotten to the Final Scenario.

"Well, it wasn't bad for a first attempt."

Although he returned half-paralyzed, Yoo Joonhyuk's inaction was enough to alert the Constellations.

Yoo Joonhyuk, who had infiltrated the ark, killed over twenty Historical-grade Constellations and appeared in a half-body form. He achieved the feat of cutting off Ares's head.

To be honest, it was a great achievement up to that point. Even if Yoo Joonhyuk had been resurrected for the 40th time, I didn't expect him to show off that much power.

But the moment Zeus's incarnation was strong, we had no choice but to run away like Ye Hyunwoo.

Yoo Joonhyuk muttered as if his pride was hurt.

"Zeus is a top-tier Constellation even among myths. If I had a proper weapon, I could have fought him…"

"So you're saying that if you have a weapon, it's okay?"

"At least I can buy some time."

Unfortunately, the weapon that Yoo Joonhyuk currently has is a SS-grade item that is a replica of the sacred relic 'Bangcheonhwageuk'.

If he had the 'Cheongryongeonwoldo' or 'Triana', or even the original of the 'Bangcheonhwageuk', the situation would have been different.

"Procuring weapons isn't necessarily the only way."

"Then?"

"Then?"

"The goal of the scenario is to destroy the 'Ark' anyway. If we can access the 'Story Core', which is the core power source, we don't necessarily have to deal with the <Olympus> guys."

Then, 'The Disappearing One' Ye Hyunwoo appeared from somewhere and tackled him.

"The Story Core of the Ark is guarded by Mythical Constellations."

"Yes. It was really helpful that you showed up when we really needed it and told us those words."

"And we don't know the schematics for the power facility."

Even if it was said by someone I didn't like, it was true.

Anyway, our immediate tasks were reduced to two.

One, get a weapon for Yoo Joonhyuk.

Two, get a map to the power facility.

I was starting to get tired.

What would happen to us if we didn't clear the 40th Round?

[The 'King of Fear' is watching your choice.]

Still, it's fortunate that we can suppress the 'End' until the very end.

I let out a light sigh and asked the Ten Evils.

"Do you have any useful spears?"

No one answered.

I stared at the Ten Evils blankly and took out a dumpling.

"Does anyone have any useful spears?"

Judging from the fact that there was no response even after I gave them the dumplings, it seemed that there really were no useful spears.

Then Lee Dansu, who had been hesitating, stepped forward.

"We don't have any, but I know a guy with a good spear."

"Who is that?"

"I'll tell you if you give me a dumpling."

I lightly threw a dumpling at Lee Dansu. The Ten Evils screamed, "Damn, I should've told him!" as Lee Dansu took a bite of the dumpling.

I asked Lee Dansu, who happily took a bite of the dumpling.

"Now tell me."

"Blood Demon."

I had forgotten. There were other living incarnations in this world besides us. It seemed like it was time for that incarnation to be of help for the first time.

"What kind of spear does he have?"

"From the Blue Dragon Sword to the Heavenly Sword. I'm sure they have all the relics of a decent level."

I said, jumping up from my seat.

"Let's go and steal them right now."

We've already raided the Ark. Since Yoo Joonhyuk is on our side, there was no reason to be afraid of the Blood Demon.

But the expressions on the group's faces were not good.

"It'll be hard."

"Why?"

"Even if all of us go, we can't deal with the Blood Demon gang."

"We have Yoo Joonhyuk. Is Blood Demon the name of a Constellation that is on the same level as Zeus?"

Ye Hyunwoo looked at me pitifully and nodded at Yoo Joonhyuk.

"You, don't you know about the traits of the Supreme King?"

"Trait? What trait?"

"The Supreme King's combat power decreases to less than a tenth when fighting against an incarnation."

I quickly used [Character List] to check Yoo Joonhyuk's status.

As expected of the 40th Round, Yoo Joonhyuk possessed a number of impressive traits. From 'Ruler of Amusement' to 'Iron-Blooded Supreme King'.

Some of the traits were comparable to those of the 1,863rd Round.

However, there was one strange one among them.

> Trait: Curse of the Stars.
>
> The target's rank increases by two when fighting a Constellation. However, when fighting against any kind of 'Humanoid Incarnation', the rank decreases to a tenth.

"Why did you learn this trait?"

"Yoo Joonhyuk didn't learn it."

"Then?"

"It's a trait that came about because of the curse trap you set at the end. Did you forget this too? The reason you were able to defeat the Supreme King is because—"

"Yes, I understand."

What the hell did you do, Cheon Inho?

So the most important force right now is useless in the Blood Demon War.

"Let's make a deal with the Blood Demon."

"You know what he wants, right? Are you willing to offer the Supreme King's head?"

"That would be difficult."

"That's all he wants."

What he wants.

A sudden thought occurred to me.

"You said there's nothing to eat outside right now, right?"

"I did."

I muttered, looking down at the Murim dumplings in my hand.

"Then what does he eat to live?"

Only I can cook in this world.

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: Image of the Murim Dumpling Master Chief from The World After the Fall (It is another work of the author Sing N Song, which they introduced in ORV) Thie is the Chief who invented Murim Dumplings

845 Episode 45 Ten Evils (3)

---

I thought about Giyeon hyung all the way to the Blood Demon's base.

Giyeon hyung, who Cheon Inho took and disappeared into the mirror. Maybe Giyeon hyung is watching my story with Cheon Inho right now.

That would be nice.

Because Giyeon hyung's imagination, who likes Giyeon, might bring Giyeon to me.

I desperately needed Giyeon right now.

[NOTE 1]

[The owner of the Time Fault is watching your story.]

This 'Time Fault' is the 'Last Scenario' that Cheon Inho experienced.

I guess the 'Time Fault' that the Recorders of Fear had was related to their 'core scenario 0'. Just looking at the fact that Bicheonhori, who was from Murim, had the Time Fault of the '0th Murim', it seems like that.

Then what did Cheon Inho want to see by making me experience this 'Time Fault'?

「Try writing 'again' from now on.」

He told me to 'write again'. That means, he didn't like the events of the 'Time Fault' he lived through.

[If you solve the 'Time Fault' task, you can read the 'Final Chapter' of the ■■-level Fear 'Evil Sophist'.]

The final chapter of the 'Evil Sophist'.

If I somehow get to see the ending of this Fault, it means I can also see the history of the 'Original 40th Round' that Cheon Inho lived through.

Suddenly, I wonder.

How on earth did Cheon Inho clear the Final Scenario?

No, did he clear it?

The guy probably didn't even have the revived Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Look straight ahead."

Yoo Joonghyuk caught me when I almost tripped on a rock.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at me as if I was pitiful and added.

"That's what the teacher said. A guy who can't even see the trees in front of him doesn't have the right to imagine the forest."

"That's true, but you still have to imagine the forest to understand the meaning of the tree in front of you."

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at the Ten Evils walking away from me and asked.

"Why did you come into this 'Time Fault'?"

"To prevent the End."

"Is that all?"

"I also have to meet the King of Fear."

"The King of Fear? Are you talking about the master of the Fear Realm?"

I briefly thought about whether I should tell Yoo Joonghyuk about the 'Second Kim Dokja'. However, I didn't know where to start, so I just nodded and left it at that.

"Yes, well. I also have to become stronger than I am now."

Yoo Joonghyuk and I both realized this as we escaped the 'Recycling Center'. We were receiving too much attention compared to our strength, and our enemies were stronger than we thought.

"We can't just become a little stronger. We have to become overwhelmingly stronger."

There was a strange tension in Yoo Joonghyuk's voice.

Yoo Joonghyuk's pupils deepened.

Somehow I felt like I knew who the guy was thinking of.

Of course. It must have been the first time he encountered such a strong 'existence' during his 41st Regression Turn.

"That guy said. The Time Fault is my only hope right now. If I don't reach proper 'Transcendence' here, it will be difficult to see the ending I want."

When did Jaehwan-nim say that? Did the two of them have a conversation?

"Aren't you already a 'Transcendent'? What is 'Proper Transcendence'?"

"I don't know either."

Yoo Joonghyuk muttered in a dark voice.

"But judging by the way he stabs, there must be such a state. And..."

"You believe that you can find the clue in this 'Time Fault'."

"That's right."

We walked for a short while in silence. Suddenly, a curiosity arose.

"Have you met Cheon Inho like me?"

This 'Time Fault' is a place that only those who have met the Recorder can enter. That means that Yoo Joonghyuk could have met Cheon Inho, who had become the Recorder of Fear.

"I met him."

As expected.

"What did he say?"

"He said to see for myself."

"What?"

Yoo Joonghyuk stopped walking.

"The end of the world I abandoned and left behind."

A faint light shone through the underground tunnel, and we had finally arrived at our destination.

Ye Hyunwoo, who had gone out to scout earlier, returned and reported the situation.

"That's the Blood Demon's base."

"Is it Seoul Station?"

The Blood Demon's base was underground in Seoul Station. It had been a long time since I visited the Seoul Station platform.

The memories of the 41st Round came to mind. In the 41st Round, the ruler of the Beggar Sect had taken over Seoul Station.

But this time, it was the Blood Demon.

"They've made a pretty strategic location their home."

I also nodded at Yoo Joonghyuk's words.

Considering the serious level of pollution on the surface, the Blood Demon's dwelling place had to be underground.

Of these, the station in the center of Seoul and where the lines overlap would be overwhelmingly advantageous for transporting goods.

"Damn, how many corpses did they make…"

In short, this 'underground passage' was a perfect place for the Blood Demon to transport the 'corpses' that he would use for surveillance production.

"Just by glancing at it, there are at least a hundred."

I quickly looked at the group of guards wandering around Seoul Station’s underground. It didn’t look like corpses made with [Deceased Summoning].

They were corpses without souls, moving only with the memories of their previous bodies.

I thought I knew the general principle of their revival.

「The Tale of David, who was ranked 3rd in the Darkness Ranking, 'King of the Dead'.」

It seems that the Blood Demon obtained the 'King of the Dead' in the 'Dark Castle' scenario of the 40th Round.

But it seems difficult to deal with all those undead.

"Is it finally time for this body to step forward?"

Kyung Sein straightened her small shoulders and stepped forward.

"Most of the surveillance is 'lower' than me. With my [Insect Massacre]..."

"Not all of them are lower than you, right?"

"Well, I see a few surveillance that are about the same level as me..."

"How many exactly?"

"...Twenty?"

I found the undead that Kyung Sein mentioned without much difficulty.

There were some that looked like they were of the higher species at first glance. Unlike the lower-level guards who were stupidly going back and forth between platform sections and repeating stereotyped actions, the upper-level guards were acting out of turn, such as suddenly turning their heads or sniffing something.

Kyung Sein asked nervously.

"Should we rush in right away?"

"No, wait."

"Oh, set a trap?"

"We're not here to fight."

I said, laying out the cooking utensils that Yoo Joonghyuk had in the center of the subway.

"Kyung Sein-ssi, you'll only come out if there's an emergency."

"Ahem, it's like a secret weapon, right?"

"Similar. So until an emergency arises, let's proceed according to my plan."

"Surely your plan isn't making dumplings again, right?"

Kyung Sein scolded me, as if she was not satisfied with my plan.

"The One Who Deceived the Stars. Are you serious? In fact, your condition has been a bit strange for the past few days."

"No matter how delicious the dumplings are, do you really believe that you can trade with the Blood Demon for something like dumplings?"

Ye Hyunwoo also chimed in.

I shrugged and answered.

"Even guards eat food, you know?"

"That's true, but—"

"Most of the high-level guards seem to be from 'Murim'."

"Some of them tried to take the dead Transcendents as their own corpses."

Transcendents. That's better.

"The ones who were resurrected through the story of the 「King of the Dead」 are in a state close to psychic beings without reason. Especially the more powerful the incarnation, the more simple and strong their desires are."

"So?"

"What food do the dead Murim martial artists want to eat the most?"

Lee Dansu answered my question with admiration.

"So it's 'dumplings', of course you'll put poison in them?"

"No. The guards won't be affected by even the most lethal poison. Instead, I'll put something as deadly as poison in them."

I didn't tell them what it was. Then I started making dumplings in front of everyone.

I made a total of thirty dumplings. It was a quantity that took extra into account.

[Your understanding of the story fragment 'Murim Dumpling Recipe' is quite high!]

[The average completion level of 'Murim Dumpling' increases!]

In the meantime, the skill level of the recipe has also increased a lot.

"You. Is it okay to make this much at once?"

"It's okay."

Because I didn't use my memories this time.

[The Master of the Time Fault looks at you in admiration.]

It seems that Cheon Inho noticed.

The memories I used when I made the dumplings this time were those of 'Cheon Inho of the 40th Round' that resided in this body.

It would be difficult if I used all of 'Lee Hakhyun's' memories.

"I will now give you the operation order."

I looked at the revived Kang Ilhun, Lee Dansu, Kyung Sein, and Ye Hyunwoo, and then asked.

"Lee Dansu-ssi is an expert at setting traps, right?"

"Just say it, I'll set it up anywhere."

"Yes. But what you're going to install this time is a little different."

I said, pointing to the table where the dumplings were.

"Please install this in the center of Seoul Station."

Lee Dansu looked down at the counter as if he had misheard, and asked me back.

"Installing it is not a problem, but it is quite bulky to place quietly."

"Ye Hyunwoo-ssi."

I said, pressing Ye Hyunwoo's shoulder as he quickly tried to disappear.

"Please support Lee Dansu-ssi with your [Erase Existence]."

"How did you know my skill name?"

I don't know. In the Last Scenario, the only thing that would allow that level of stealth is [Erase Existence], unless it was 「Pebble and Me」.

And [Erase Existence] was the ultimate stealth skill that could temporarily hide the presence of two people, including the caster, from the world.

"And lastly, Kang Ilhun-ssi."

"I won't be used as a meat shield anymore."

It was the words of a man who had already lost his head twice since I entered this Fault.

Of course, this time, it wasn't a meat shield that he was going to be.

"Spread the rumor in the <Star Stream> that the 'Head of the Regressor' has appeared at Seoul Station."

---

Three hours later, the Blood Demon appeared on the platform in Seoul, shouting a plaintive rebuke.

"How dare you!"

The entire platform smelled of fried dumplings.

I sat cross-legged on the table and waved to the Blood Demon.

"Are you here?"

The Blood Demon couldn't help but be astonished at the sight of his skeletons scattered everywhere. No wonder, because all twenty of his precious elite guards were sitting there.

Some skeletons shed tears of sorrow, while others snickered.

They were laughing. Deeply curled up corpses, wailing corpses…The Blood Demon who examined all of them asked.

"What on earth did you do to my corpses?"

"I just made them all a little drunk on perfume."

As expected, the corpses immediately took the bait on the table.

For reference, the dumplings that the corpses who were all from Murim ate were as follows.

「Chicken Soup Flavored Murim Dumplings」

「Dongpa Pork Flavored Murim Dumplings」

「Five-Spice Pork Flavored Murim Dumplings」

So-called 'Murim Specials'.

Completion: ★★☆☆☆

Overall: Made with low-quality memories, but the combination is not bad. The incarnation who eats these dumplings becomes immersed in the memories of the 'most missed food' they have ever eaten.

* When consumed, the abnormal 'Perfume' effect is activated for 30 minutes.

At least for the next 30 minutes, the zombies who were drunk on that taste wouldn't make any moves.

"Heh, heh heh heh."

The Blood Demon let out a hollow laugh, seemingly dumbfounded.

"You, do you really want to die? Do you think you've defeated me just because you've barely subdued these guys?"

"No. This won't be enough to defeat you."

I took a closer look at the Blood Demon's face again. Was that really the face of the incarnation that survived the Final Scenario with me?

Actually, I don't know much about the Blood Demon. In the main story, the Blood Demon is only described as a vile villain who killed the Breaking the Sky Sword Master together with the Heavenly Demon.

So before coming here, I looked through all of Cheon Inho's memories related to him.

And I found out that this guy was a bigger shot than I thought.

"The zombies in this underground city aren't even as big as the zombies you have."

「The Blood Demon. The Sing of the Seoul Underground City.」

In this 40th Round, he has thousands of 'watchmen' in the underground passages all over Seoul.

The second villain to rise to the top of the Ten Evils after Cheon Inho.

At this point, I'm starting to think that the Ten Evils are the main characters in this Round.

"Dumplings are for free. They're only like that for now, but when they all wake up, they'll all be stronger?"

"Stronger?"

The Blood Demon, who actually checked the status of the zombies, looked up at me with wide eyes.

"What are you doing here, you idiot?"

"Blood Demon. Are you still curious about the 'Regression Law'?"

I knew why the blood demon was so obsessed with the 'Regression Law'.

The blood demon grinned and asked back.

"Are you finally thinking of offering the head of the tyrant?"

"It's unfortunate, but even if you take the head of the tyrant, you won't be able to regress."

"How do you know that?"

"That's just how this world is set up."

[Someone is activating 'Lie Detection'.]

[Someone has confirmed that what you said is true.]

As expected, [Lie Detection] was on.

The confused Blood Demon asked.

"What the hell are you talking about?"

"It means that a small villain like you can never become the main character even if you wake up after dying."

I looked at the Blood Demon for a moment.

In fact, I don't like giving a small villain a story. After all, this guy was a villain who caused pain to many people, and even the incarnations suffered from him even after death.

「But even a small villain like that could take up a page of a chapter in a world without a main character.」

Nevertheless, some stories shed light on the hidden story of a horrible murderer rather than the last meal of a petty bourgeois who starved to death.

['The King of Fear' focuses on your story.]

And so the story of the Blood Demon came to exist in this Star Stream.

And I, the 'Evil Sophist'—

"Blood Demon. Do you want to meet your dead sister again?"

In this terrible world, I am a human who makes the 'story' of that villain a spectacle.

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

Note [1]: Giyeon; means conincidence in Korean.

846 Episode 45 Ten Evils (4)

"You... how do you know that?"

The Blood Demon glared at me with eyes mixed with confusion and anger.

If possible, I wanted to avoid doing something like this. But this time, I couldn't help it. Because.

「I already knew the ending of the Blood Demon.」

I looked closely at the Blood Demon's face. The appearance of a middle-aged man stained with time. However, the Blood Demon was very young when the scenarios were just beginning.

[Story fragment, 'The Little Sister of a Common Tragedy', begins its storytelling.]

「"Hahaha! Cheonah! What is your dream?"」

And his younger sister was even younger than that.

「"The strongest in the martial arts world! The best of the new world!"」

The Blood Demon's younger sister , Yeom Cheonah, who shouted with enthusiasm, was there.

And in the next moment, the voice changed and the Blood Demon Yeom Baekho's howl echoed. 「"Cheonah! No! Cheonah…!"」

[Story fragment, 'The Little Sister of the Common Tragedy', stops talking.]

Listening to the voice of the story flowing out, I once again felt goosebumps at the 'Evil Sophist'.

"How, how do you have that story?"

Cheon Inho in the 40th Round may have already considered that the Blood Demon would become the King of the Seoul Underground City.

That's why he had this 'story fragment'.

"Does that matter?"

I stared at the staggering Blood Demon, smiling like Cheon Inho.

Maybe the Blood Demon resembled Yoo Joonghyuk.

He was not as strong as Yoo Joonghyuk, was not born with any special abilities, and did not have a single reader who liked his stories. Nevertheless, he resembled Yoo Joonghyuk.

That was because he had not saved his sister even once in countless Rounds.

"Do you have Cheonah's soul?"

The Blood Demon came up to me like a madman and grabbed me by the collar.

"Tell me. Do you have Cheonah's soul?"

"What would change if I had her soul?"

The Blood Demon's movements that were shaking me stopped for a moment.

"Are you going to revive her? You know what you did, and now you're going to revive her? Do you think she'd like it if she came back to life?"

"What do you know..."

"Even if she comes back, you won't be forgiven. Because she told me."

Blood Demon Yeom Baekho.

Forty years ago, when the 'First Scenario' first began before his eyes, he was locked in a room alone with his younger sister.

"I hate you more than anyone else in this world."

A scenario where he had to prove his worth, prove through violence that he was more noble and superior to other living beings.

The Blood Demon proved it and survived alone.

"I, I, I—"

"I know why you want to find the Great Law of Regression. But, you know, Yeom Baekho."

Like Kim Dokja once did, some beings spend the rest of their lives in atonement for their survival. In the process, some sacrifice themselves, but others cannot endure the pain and choose to become worse people.

"Do you think everything will be as it was if you regress?"

To erase his original sin. To turn back everything he did to survive.

That was why the Blood Demon wanted Yoo Joonghyuk's 'regression' so much.

The Blood Demon's grip on my collar tightened with a firm grip.

"You're trying to deceive me with strange words again, you Evil Sophist. I won't say much. Give me the head of the Supreme King right now. Of course, you'll die even if you give it to me."

"Why? Because I know your secret?"

I laughed.

"Even if I could return with the head of the Supreme King, you wouldn't be able to change any of your pasts."

"How would you know that?"

"Even if you return, the memories of killing your younger sister won't disappear."

In the end, Yoo Joonghyuk's dilemma applies to all regressors.

The world he abandoned and left behind will forever be Yoo Joonghyuk's shackles.

However, the Blood Demon was crazier than I thought.

"Really? Then you should erase my memories as well."

The Blood Demon continued to babble in a voice dripping with gloomy madness.

"If you turn back the world and erase my memories, it will all be like nothing happened. Neither that child nor I will remember what happened this time. The things that no one remembers are like nothing. Then...!"

"If that's 'regression', then you've already regressed dozens of times."

"What?"

"You've already regressed. Which world do you think this world is?"

In a sense, the regressor in this world is not the only one. In this world, there exist countless regressors who 'don’t know that they have regressed'.

"You have already regressed forty-one times, and you have repeated the same choice for the forty-second time."

Not all humans who have lost their memories always make the same choice in the same situation. Rather, because they do not remember their past lives, their choices are pure and perhaps infinitely heavy.

The forty-two choices that they do not remember themselves. Those choices are what proves the Blood Demon.

[NOTE 1]

The Blood Demon has never died in place of his sister.

"That cannot be, that cannot be. I…!"

The Blood Demon staggered and let go of my collar.

I asked, adjusting the collar of my shirt.

"Are you that desperate about regressing? Is what you really want 'regression'? What you want is…"

Some desires do not exist until they are written down.

That is why sometimes the role of the writer is to accurately describe the desires that even the characters themselves ignore.

In that sense, the existence of the writer.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.???' activates!]

It may be a kind of incite that grants desire to the character.

"You will be forgiven by your sister."

The Blood Demon opened his eyes wide as if he had been struck by lightning.

Even though he knew that this was a trap I had set, he could not escape this trap.

His history made him that way.

"...How can I be forgiven by her?"

"..."

"I know you can use [Deceased Summoning]. Can you summon her? Let me meet her and talk to her one more time."

"What can you give me?"

"I will give you what you want. Anything you want!"

The conversation soon reached the point I wanted. The Blood Demon, who was completely taken in by [Incite], would not even remember what he had said for a while.

"Unfortunately, I cannot summon your sister's soul. Because I cannot find your sister's 'head' anymore."

One of the conditions of [Deceased Summoning] is the summoner's 'head'. So, in the first scenario, Yeom Cheonah, the Blood Demon's younger sister, died with her head exploded, and no matter what he did, she could not be revived.

"And even if you meet her, you will not be forgiven anyway."

"Then what do you want me to do! If I cannot meet my younger sister, and even if I do, I will not be forgiven—"

"There is only one way."

I said with a grin.

"I will make you regress."

I suddenly held out the dumpling on the table.

"Eat this dumpling."

The Blood Demon glared at me with his lips pursed.

The Blood Demon must have noticed it too. The familiar yet strange smell coming from this dumpling.

After staring at the dumpling for a long time, the Blood Demon's expression softened and he let out a deep sigh.

"Is this a dumpling with poison?"

"It contains something more deadly than poison."

This dumpling was made with the memories of the Blood Demon's younger sister, 'Yeom Cheonah', that Cheon Inho obtained when he destroyed <The Underworld>.

"What happens if I eat this?"

"You can meet Yeom Cheonah. Of course, it's not the living Yeom Cheonah. It'll be hard to communicate properly."

"..."

"Even if you eat this, you won't be forgiven. Your life won't change."

"Then why should I eat this?"

"Face what you did to survive."

The Blood Demon looked down at the dumpling with trembling eyes.

"Eat this and go see your younger sister. Ask for an obvious, one-sided forgiveness that she'll never hear. And come back hurt by the fact that nothing has changed."

"You said you'd make me regress. How is that a regression?"

"That's a regression. Nothing can be changed."

The Blood Demon raised his head and looked at me.

"If one regression could change something, why did Yoo Joonghyuk need to regress so many times?"

The Blood Demon stared blankly for a moment, how he had taken my words unknown, before he soon let out a sneer. Then he snatched the dumpling from my hand.

"Evil Sophist. I already know what your purpose is."

"Yes. As you know, the moment you eat that, I…"

"I'll give you time until I wake up again."

I was a little taken aback by the Blood Demon's answer. He added, as if he found my expression amusing.

"If you're still in front of me when I wake up again, I'll make you a guard too."

With those words, the Blood Demon took a big bite of the dumpling in his hand. I could see his eyes dilating as the sweet scent spread.

Completion: ★★★☆☆

Overall: A dumpling made from someone's terrible nightmare. Anyone who eats this dumpling will experience the nightmare the memory holder had for 30 minutes.

The Blood Demon must have returned to the hellish First Scenario by now. The time limit for the First Scenario was 30 minutes. It matched the duration of the dumplings exactly.

He would meet his sister there once again.

"Is it over?"

I turned around at the voice from behind me, and Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been hiding in the darkness with the Ten Evils, appeared.

"It's over."

"You finally achieved your goal with just one tongue."

"Actually, this wasn't the best method."

I said, staring into space and looking at the frozen Blood Demon.

"I could have asked the Blood Demon for help."

It wasn't enough to just open the Blood Demon's wounds and inflict terrible trauma.

There was a reason I chose this method in the picture.

[Anonymous Recorder is watching your story.]

Because there were 'eyes' watching this story.

[Anonymous Recorder admires the way you handled the 'Blood Demon'.]

[Anonymous Recorders admire the way you deal with Fear.]

[Anonymous Recorders express favor to your story.]

Anonymous Recorder. Perhaps, like Bicheonhori or Cheon Inho, there were other 'Recorders of Fear' whose true names were not revealed.

It felt similar to when I was getting attention from Constellations, but somehow it felt subtly different.

If the Constellations were closer to 'readers', then these were closer to 'critics'. Anyway, the critics' attention was on me right now.

[A total of 9 anonymous Recorders' showed their favor to you.]

And their attention—

[You can convert the 'favor' of the Recorders into coins. Would you like to convert it?]

It was converted into a huge amount of coins and returned to me.

[You have earned 180,000 coins!]

It was a much-needed income for now. In order to clear the Last Scenario, I had to raise Cheon Inho's comprehensive ability, and there were things I had to buy from the 'Dokkaebi Bag'.

Kyung Sein, who was observing the frozen Blood Demon, asked.

"Wouldn't it be better to just kill him now?"

"The Blood Demon has achieved the ultimate of the legend of 'King of the Dead'. If I kill him, all the ghouls in the underground of Seoul will go berserk at the same time."

In the end, it was best to let the Blood Demon sleep for a while.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had made a quick decision, said.

"The Blood Demon’s warehouse is upstairs."

"Let’s move right away."

We went straight up the stairs of Seoul Station.

The Blood Demon’s corpses didn’t stop us even as we passed by. Perhaps they had received such an order.

"You."

After climbing the dimly lit stairs several times, Yoo Joonghyuk opened his mouth as if passing by.

"Do you really think that regression can’t change anything?"

It seemed like he had overheard my conversation with the Blood Demon.

I answered with a bitter smile.

"No. Actually, I think a little differently."

Perhaps regression itself can’t change anything.

The tragedy that has already happened is eternal, and no one can be saved through regression.

Even so, I know people who have changed through that 'regression'.

"Anyway, everything remains a story."

"What do you mean?"

"Even if nothing changes in the story, it means that the person reading the story may change."

Yoo Joonghyuk seemed to think about what I meant for a moment.

In the meantime, Ye Hyunwoo, who was walking ahead, stopped walking.

"We've arrived."

"There's a trap. I'll remove it."

Lee Dansu quickly stepped forward and dismantled the trap. After a while, the huge iron door opened with a creaking sound.

Is this really the Blood Demon's warehouse?

"As expected of the Blood Demon."

All the relics that could be found throughout the scenario were gathered there. From special relics like the Chochegeom and Cheonungeom to the 'useful spear' we were looking for.

Yoo Joonghyuk pulled out a spear from a corner and examined the spearhead.

"It's Guanyu's spear."

The Azure Dragon Crescent Blade. As expected, it was a weapon with great dignity, worthy of the relic of the best warrior in the Central Plains.

"Are you going to take it?"

"No."

Yoo Joonghyuk shook his head and looked somewhere.

"There’s a better spear."

"Is it a more useful spear than that?"

"It’s not useful."

Yoo Joonghyuk strode over and pulled out a spear stuck in the darkness. The moment the blade was pulled out, a dazzling beam of light illuminated the dark warehouse. I immediately recognized the spear.

Yoo Joonghyuk’s final spear—the material just before completing the Amcheon-wolguk.

A beautiful spear that seemed to have been carved from a deep sunset was there.

"This is the best spear for now!"

Hwangcheon-wolguk.

That spear was certainly a worthy replacement for the Cheongryongeonwoldo.

Moreover, in terms of durability comparable to the Jincheonpaedo, the Hwangcheon-wolguk was perfect for Yoo Joonghyuk to use now.

The Ten Evils who entered the warehouse together and rummaged through the items were busy exclaiming in admiration here and there. There was also a guy who couldn’t shake off his thieving instinct and was diligently stealing the sacred relics.

"I think the internal map of the 'Ark' might be here too."

"Well, if it's the Blood Demon guy, he should have it."

Ten minutes, twenty minutes. The Ten Evils and I continued to search the Blood Demon's warehouse, but unfortunately, we didn't find any items containing the information on the ark.

"This is a big deal. It's time— Huh? Cheon Inho. What are you doing there?"

I was looking at the feast of 'heads' decorated on the walls of the huge warehouse.

It seemed like the heads the Blood Demon had collected to make zombies.

"I don't think we need a map."

I said, looking at one of the heads.

"I found a better one."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

Note [1]: Including 0th Round and 41st Round it makes 42 regressions.

847 Episode 45 Ten Evils (5)

A nicely stuffed head. The moment I saw her clean face that had been 'Preserved', I sighed.

"You were here, Kim Anna-ssi."

I originally didn't like Anna Croft that much. Maybe it was because I’m also a fragment of Kim Dokja, or maybe it was because I didn't feel attached to her while writing the main story. In any case, she was Yoo Joonghyuk's enemy.

However, while this 'side story' was going on, I got to see her a little bit again.

「Did you just say 'side story'?」

What am I thinking?

Anyway, the point I'm trying to make is that I don't hate Anna Croft that much anymore.

"Kim Anna?"

When Yoo Joonghyuk hardened his expression and expressed his doubts, I smiled and answered.

"Oh, I’m late to tell you. There's someone else who entered the 'Time Fault' besides you and me."

"No way..."

"That's why I think I should use [Deceased Summoning]. If I delay any longer, this guy might really become a Disaster-level Fear somewhere."

"Are you out of your mind? You brought that woman into the Fear Realm?"

As expected, Yoo Joonghyuk objected.

That would make sense. The guy was stabbed in the back by Anna, tortured, dragged around as a slave, and suffered many other terrible things.

But.

I often think about that these days.

If someone like Kim Anna did that to him... In fact, wasn't Yoo Joonghyuk too naive or stupid?

"You want to ask if I'm in my right mind. Are we being picky right now? Have you forgotten who our enemy is?"

"..."

"When you're receiving help from the Ten Evils, what difference would it make if you side with a Prophet who hit you in the back of the head?"

A faint sense of bewilderment crossed Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes.

"If we want to see the end in the 41st Round anyway, we have to join hands with Anna."

"..."

"We need her help. With her, we can explore the path ahead even without the map inside the ark."

If we could just use the Prophet's [Past Sight] and [Future Sight], the difficulty of the future scenarios would be twice as easy. Of course, even if it were twice as easy, the clear probability would only increase from 1% to 2%, but that's still an increase.

Yoo Joonghyuk glared at me for a moment, then looked around with a fierce gaze.

"So you're saying that the woman's soul is somewhere here?"

"That's what I think."

Kim Anna is not stupid. If she can use [Future Sight], she would likely be using a special method like Yoo Joonghyuk to delay the possession.

"Are you going to take the Prophet's head?"

Common sense tells me that's right. [Deceased Summoning] takes thirty minutes, and the Blood Demon will wake up in about ten minutes. And he will come to this warehouse to make me a zombie.

Nevertheless, I persisted.

"No, I have to revive her here. If we hurry a little, it will be possible in twenty minutes."

"The Blood Demon will be here soon. It will be too late even if we leave with the head right now."

"Actually, it is already too late."

"What?"

I pointed to the entrance of the warehouse.

When did it start? The trap that Lee Dansu had released was reactivated, emitting a bright light. And it was much more powerful than before.

Lee Dansu groaned in surprise.

"Oh my. It's the Gimun Formation."

Gimun Formation. The secret technique used by the best martial artist in Joseon in the main story. It seemed that the Blood Demon, a martial artist, had laid a fairly classic trap to defend the warehouse.

"It was strange that the warehouse was opened so easily in the first place."

"Damn, no way."

"Did you think the Blood Demon would just hand over his treasures?"

Even if the Blood Demon lived to atone for his sister, his entire past is a past of evil.

He committed countless murders, piled up evil deeds, and repeatedly plundered in order to meet his sister again.

No matter how much you persuaded him, he would not just hand over the items he had collected with his eyes fixed on regressing.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was carefully examining the formation, said.

"We can break through it with force. However, it will take about twenty or thirty minutes to open. The formation level is quite high."

Then the Ten Evils stood up.

"If we strike together, wouldn't it be a little faster?"

"Everyone join in. We have to break it down right away."

"In a closed space, 'disappearing' is impossible—"

I said in a cheerful voice as I watched the Ten Evils tremble with anxiety.

"What are you all talking about? It's better. It means it's safer until that opens. Let's all rest comfortably here and start [Deceased Summoning]. Ye Hyunwoo-ssi, can you take out the Prophet's head?"

Then the Ten Evils looked at me as if I was crazy. Then, all of the Ten Evils' eyes turned to Yoo Joonghyuk. They looked as if they expected Yoo Joonghyuk to swing his spear and cut off my head at any moment. When Yoo Joonghyuk actually grabbed the spear of the Hwangcheon-wolguk, Kyung Sein gulped.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk stuck the spear in the ground and sat cross-legged on the floor.

"Revive Anna Croft."

A sigh escaped from the Ten Evils' mouths.

Yoo Joonghyuk's voice echoed in the warehouse that had become even more lonely.

"I will not dismantle the Gimun formation. It would be better to save my strength then open the door and deal with the guys coming down."

When Yoo Joonghyuk came out like that, the Ten Evils lost their momentum.

Well, it was the decision of the Supreme King, so who would dare to refuse?

Ye Hyunwoo reluctantly jumped into the air and came down with Anna's head.

"If everyone dies here, it's because of you."

"Aren't you all dead anyway except me?"

I received Anna's head.

The head was surprisingly well preserved, so there would be no problem performing [Deceased Summoning] right away.

"Hmm, is there a body that she can connect to?"

It seemed that the Blood Demon also knew Anna Croft's worth, as her body was also completely preserved.

Maybe he was thinking of making me an undead and using [Deceased Summoning] on Anna.

"Now, it's time to get up. Miss Kim Anna."

A moment later, a faint light appeared from Anna Croft's entire body, where her neck and torso were connected.

Yoo Joonghyuk muttered while watching the scene.

"Why do you call the Prophet by that name?"

"Isn't it friendly and nice?"

"It's better to keep your distance from the Prophet."

"Is that a lesson learned from your regressions?"

"…"

"You seem to believe that people don't change."

Yoo Joonghyuk's core values were all formed in his 'early regressions'. The principle that some should be accepted as colleagues and some should not be.

In fact, Yoo Joonghyuk's core colleagues barely changed during his thousand-plus regressions in 'Ways of Survival'.

"But if you're sure that nothing changes, your regressions would be meaningless."

Yoo Joonghyuk frowned.

"If you have time to talk nonsense, it would be better to shorten the summoning time by even one minute."

"Yes. There are 15 minutes left."

"What are we going to do after the Prophet wakes up?"

"We should escape together."

"By then, we would have already been surrounded by the Blood Demon's subordinates. No matter how great the Prophet's abilities are, it would be difficult to find a way out of the closed room. Her [Future Sight] is a much more effective skill in open spaces."

I was a little surprised because I didn't know Yoo Joonghyuk would say such an accurate thing.

Wasn't he foolish enough to get taken advantage of by Kim Anna?

Then, was Yoo Joonghyuk really naive?

"You're right. But the Blood Demon won't be able to get down here in time. Seoul Station would have become a battlefield by now."

As soon as my question fell, a loud thud echoed. A loud noise echoed from the upper and lower floors at the same time.

Kang Ilhun jumped up from his seat.

"This."

Just before he came here, Kang Ilhun spread a 'rumor' at my command.

"Evil Sophist, did you really expect this?"

Another thud. There was a sound of something being torn and an eerie crash.

The Ten Evils rose from their seats one by one and grabbed their weapons.

An eerie current felt beyond the iron gate.

Everyone here could feel it. A powerful and distant force felt even beyond that Gimun formation.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was holding onto the spear of the Hwangcheon-wolguk, growled.

"The Constellations have come."

---

The Blood Demon, who had woken up, touched his face. His cheeks were damp. He could no longer remember when he had last felt this way.

「"Cheonah."」

The 30 minutes were short. It was a fleeting dream. A dream with a predetermined ending. In that dream, instead of existing as the Blood Demon, he became the younger version of Yeom Baekho.

Yeom Baekho, who was carrying out the First Scenario. Yeom Baekho, who was conflicted about his younger sister in front of him.

Cheon Inho's dumplings reenacted that moment of 'choice' for him once again.

「"I'm sorry."」

This time, he wanted to show that he could make a different choice. Even if all of this was an illusion, he wanted to prove that he was a human being who could make a different choice.

He wanted to say that the Ten Evils weren't the Ten Evils from the beginning. Cheon Inho's words were wrong.

However, what he actually said in the dream was just a plain apology, just as Cheon Inho had expected.

「"I'm really sorry."」

It was a story with a predetermined ending. Crying was useless. The items he had desperately collected and the skills he had trained didn't work in the dream.

In it, he was just a helpless child. A kid who had to kill his younger sister to live.

「"Ughh..."」

Wasn't it his own despicable self-hypnosis that had fallen for the sophistry of the Evil Sophist?

「"My dream will come true for you, oppa."」

That was the end of the dream.

As Cheon Inho had said, he was not forgiven, and perhaps he would never be forgiven.

And all that was left for him was the sweet scent of dumplings lingering on the tip of his nose.

"You damn bastard."

The Blood Demon slowly got up from his seat. The promised 30 minutes had passed. Now it was time to go kill that bastard.

But.

Kukukukukuku.

There were those who had attacked his Seoul Station.

A colorful feast of ranks appeared beyond the collapsed ceiling.

[The Constellation 'Justice and Wisdom’s Spokesman' descends!]

A presence that makes even the weak kneel just with the appearance message.

One of the 12 gods of <Olympus>.

Athena, the successor of Zeus, was there.

That wasn't all.

[The Constellation 'Almighty Sun' descends!]

[The Constellation 'Hunter of Pure Moonlight' descends!]

[The Constellation 'God of Wine and Ecstasy' descends!]

Apollo, Artemis, and even Dionysus. Four of the 12 gods of <Olympus> descended.

Athena spoke in a voice filled with a sense of oppression that no living being dared to open their mouths.

[I heard that the head of the Regressor is here.]

The Blood Demon gritted his teeth and answered.

"Where did you hear such a rumor?"

It seemed that he had a rough idea of how the situation was going. That damned Sophist was up to something else.

[It doesn't seem like a rumor. I can definitely sense the aura of the Supreme King here.]

"…"

[You haven't forgotten your contract with us, have you?]

A brilliant light spread across Athena's body. The radiance of justice that punishes all evildoers.

The Blood Demon's face darkened.

[Open the warehouse.]

Four of the twelve gods of <Olympus> had come, so even the leader of Murim, not just the Blood Demon, had to open the door.

But instead of opening the door, the Blood Demon glared at the hole in the ceiling.

"Kuhaha, kuahahaha…!"

And went wild.

Before Athena could even open her mouth, the Blood Demon asked in a maddened voice.

"Contract? You mean the contract where I collect the leftovers you eat? Yes. If that's a contract, then it's a contract."

[…]

"You broke the contract first. Have you forgotten your 'promise not to enter the underground?'"

[This is an exception—]

"An exception. Then I will treat this as an 'exception' this time."

[Foolish villain. If you keep playing with your tongue recklessly—]

A strange current began to surge through the Blood Demon's body.

He knew well the power of the narrative-grade Constellations. However, he had not come to the 'Final Scenario' simply by luck.

"Damn Constellations."

He would not have done this under normal circumstances.

He knew that this was a clever trap set by the damned Evil Sophist.

Even so, the Blood Demon could not suppress the emotions that were suddenly welling up.

Perhaps this anger was caused by meeting his dead sister.

「My sister's dream was to become the new supreme being.」

What has he become now that he has inherited that dream? Slowly opening his eyes, the Blood Demon's eyes were filled with deep, pitch-black darkness.

"Do you know why the world calls me the 'King of the Underground City'?"

Although he had never directly confronted a Giant Nebula, the Blood Demon had also been building up his strength to deal with the Constellations. After dismantling the dying Constellations and studying them, he reached a single understanding.

That was that the Constellations could not be defeated in that night sky.

That understanding soon became his story.

[The Fable, 'Darkness that Eats Starlight', begins its storytelling.]

The darkness flowing from the Blood Demon spread like ink and filled the area in an instant. In the thick darkness, the power that the Constellations were emitting began to rapidly decline. Athena screamed in confusion.

[What—]

And after a while.

The skeletons who had bowed their heads in front of the Constellations began to rise one by one and open their bright yellow eyes. Dozens, hundreds, thousands of eyes glared at the Constellations in the darkness.

"At least the most dignified beings in this underground city."

Beings who were thrown into the scenario by the Constellations' play and died miserably. Those who hated the Constellations more than anyone else—the deceaseds who returned from beyond death.

The King of the Deceaseds, who held his sword at the front of them, smiled and said.

"It's not a Constellation."

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

848 Episode 45 Ten Evils (6)

【The anonymous Recorders have started reading the Time Fault of the Evil Sophist.】

【...】

【Asmodeus?】

【Ah, I'm sorry, Bicheonhori. This is the first time I've seen a Round with such a strong Blood Demon.】

