553 Prologue. Side Story Notice

Everyone, thank you for waiting for so long.

Finally, we begin the side story of Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

I've started it, but honestly, I have no idea what to write. This story was never written with a spin-off in mind in the first place.

While I was taking a break, I read the comments fans left on the main story, and I was truly surprised.

You guys are geniuses. On the other hand, I can't seem to come up with a single thing. How thoughtless of me… In fact, I haven’t even decided on a main character yet.

When I was writing ORV, the words flowed smoothly, but now my mind is a complete blank—as if someone had struck me hard on the back of the head.

Nevertheless, the reason I am writing this notice is because I feel I should at least say something.

After writing that much, I stopped typing and held down the backspace key.

Damn it, what am I doing? No matter how desperate the situation, this isn't how a professional writer should speak.

I bit my nails and tried to craft a new sentence.

How about starting like this?

Come to think of it, I've never formally introduced myself. My identity was technically revealed in chapter 549 of 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』, but I'm sure you've all forgotten by now.

To put it in Kim Dokja's terms, I am this kind of person:

Lee Hakhyun (李鶴翾).

My father, wishing for me to fly like a noble crane, paid a hefty sum of 300,000 won to a Philosophy Hall to give me that name.

The crane's wings are spread wide[1]. (학 학(鶴)에 날 현(翾).)

[NOTE 1]

The Philosophy Hall[2] that named me went bankrupt shortly after. It was only then that my father discovered the parentheses hidden in front of the character "翾," which means "to fly (lightly)."

[NOTE 2]

In short, my life was defined by this: Lee Hakhyun, 33 years old, a (lightly) successful web novel author.

By the way, the name of my only hit is:

> [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint - Total 551 Chapters]
>
> —Author Lee Hakhyun

A long-form fantasy novel consisting of 551 chapters, 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』—abbreviated as "ORV."

I spent two years of my life on this story, from my late 20s into my early 30s…

After writing that much, I hit backspace again.

I just introduced myself, and it felt even worse. What's the point of introducing myself when I'm not even the protagonist of this side story?

Tsutsutsu.

That wasn't the sound of a probability spark. It was my cell phone vibrating.

I pressed the call button with a grim expression, feeling like Kim Dokja preparing for a massive storm of probability aftermath. Then, I heard the voice of the dokkaebi in charge.

—Author-nim.

This was currently my second most feared word.

"Yes."

—Are you working on the side story?

And that was the first.

“No.”

The person sighing on the other end of the line was Ji Eunyu, my dedicated editor.

To be blunt, Ji Eunyu is a veteran producer in this industry. If I’m being honest, she’s the one who dragged me—a man who used to write pure literature—into this world. In that sense, she was a lifesaver.

—What do you plan to do?

I answered in a hollow voice.

“That’s the question. What should I do?”

—You’re not playing a game right now, are you? That new one that just launched?

“I only just installed it.”

—Then why are you showing as 'online' on Steam?

“It... launches automatically when I boot up the computer.”

—Really? Because I just got a notification that you started a session.

I quickly shut down the game as it was loading.

“Do you think I’m playing just for fun? I’m playing to gather ideas.”

—I used to believe that. I really did.

Ji Eunyu has a theory she’s developed over six years as an editor:

Writers who play games for 'inspiration' will keep playing long after the inspiration arrives.

Honestly, I couldn't argue with that.

—What about that idea you mentioned before?

“When I actually sat down to write it, it fell apart.”

—You said you wanted to connect it with your previous works. We discussed it briefly, remember?

I recalled the titles of my past failures one by one.

『The Orc Philosopher』

『Infinite Instructor』

『System Breaker』

『The Wizard of the Undying World』

『Method Master』

『How to Become a Star Writer』

No matter how I looked at it, there was no natural way to blend those stories with ORV.

Besides, 『How to Become a Star Writer』 was an absurd tale about a writer named Lee Hakhyun (yes, me) getting trapped inside a novel to become a “star writer.” There was no way I could use that for a collaboration.

And above all—

“Why would I collaborate with a failure?”

Most of those novels were axed before they even reached a paid model.

—I enjoyed them all, though.

“Hearing that doesn't comfort me at all.”

—You mentioned getting drunk on the rooftop once and having an epiphany. Can’t you try that again?

“I already tried.”

—Well... do you feel any tingling in the back of your head? Does Han Sooyoung appear in your dreams?

I sighed, caught between a laugh and a sob.

In the novel, Yoo Joonghyuk would hit me in the back of the head, Han Sooyoung would send me the manuscript, and I would write it all perfectly... but reality isn't like that. These days, I almost wish it were true.

—Ugh, I'm sorry.

I knew why she said it. Ji Eunyu was just as frustrated as I was.

The news is full of reports about the market downturn. I heard Ji Eunyu's management firm is also struggling financially. Employees are leaving, and their contracted writers are jumping ship or quitting the industry entirely.

I wondered if me writing a side story would even make a difference in a mess like this.

—Anyway, there are still many readers waiting for your story, Author-nim.

"Where are they?"

It's embarrassing to admit, but "ORV" once held the number one spot on the platform's free bestseller list. It had its glory days.

There were readers who genuinely liked my work, and discussions used to pop up in various communities.

Back when I was still serializing, I would secretly search for "Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint" and smile at the readers' reactions.

But that's all in the past now.

No one remembers my novel anymore.

—Stop being so cynical. They exist.

Then where?

I swallowed the question before it could escape.

"I'll try my best."

After hanging up, I decided I needed a drink.

I closed my laptop and headed to a nearby convenience store for a beer and some snacks. I reached for the potato chips, but hesitated, eventually swapping them for a protein biscuit.

Am I at the age where I have to worry about my health now?

As I sipped the beer, Ji Eunyu's words echoed in my mind.

「"There are many readers waiting for Author-nim's story."」

For the record, the single brackets (「」) are symbols I use when I'm having a significant thought. And I'm having one right now.

Are there really readers still waiting for me?

I finished the beer and logged into the web novel platform.

A mountain of notifications awaited me. System messages urging me to resume serialization, and notes from other writers announcing their new projects.

And then…

—I enjoyed reading this, Author-nim.

Messages from readers.

—I'm a 14-year-old in middle school this year. This was the first web novel I ever read ㅜㅜ…

Some were cute, others were deeply sincere.

—Reading this novel is the only joy of my life in the military…

They were fragments of stories left for me by those who had read my work.

Three years have passed since then.

The middle schoolers must be in high school now. The high schoolers are in college, the soldiers have been discharged, and the job seekers have hopefully found their way… I hope.

Either way, those readers moved on to become 'something' else, while I'm still here—a boring man choosing protein biscuits over chips.

—It was fun, Author-nim.

I felt a sudden pang in my chest and spilled a bit of beer.

A new notification light was blinking. It was a message that had just arrived.

Who would send a message to an author three years after a story ended?

—Sender: RepresentativeKimDokja.

As soon as I saw the ID, a memory surfaced.

RepresentativeKimDokja.

During the height of the serialization, there was a reader with that exact nickname.

—It's been three years since ORV ended. Every year around this time, I come back to binge-read it, and I enjoyed it just as much this year. It's strange; the novel feels different every time I read it.

The memories of three years ago felt vivid. They really did love the story back then.

That was what I wanted to say.

This reader had left comments every single day and sent messages of encouragement after every milestone.

In short, he was the living embodiment of the name "RepresentativeKimDokja."

—I don't know if you remember me.

Of course I do. I can still see the old messages.

I remember writing until the very last second of every deadline, then reading these messages and comments with an exhausted body before finally collapsing into sleep.

If it weren't for the people who endured that time with me, I never would have survived that loneliness. I never would have reached the final sentence.

I hesitated for a moment before reaching for the keyboard. This time, I wanted to reply not as a novelist, but with my own voice.

However.

—There will be a small fan event tomorrow at 7 PM. If you have time, please come. I've prepared a special gift for you as a thank you.

A gift?

—Sorry, but there is an admission fee for the event. I have to make a living too, after all.

At that moment, the prologue of ORV flashed through my mind.

In that prologue, Kim Dokja receives a message from the author, tls123, saying the epilogue will be released for a fee.

It seemed this reader was playing a small, nostalgic joke on me.

I started typing my reply.

—Thank you so much, Reader-nim. But I'll accept the gift in spirit only. Also, if there's an admission fee… isn't that a gift I'm technically paying for? (hahaha)

There was no way they had actually prepared a real gift, right?

Even if they had, I couldn't bring myself to accept it. How could I be so shameless when I haven't been able to write a single word of a side story in three years?

By the way, should I delete the (hahaha)? Do people still use that?

I was naively sipping my beer and worrying about trivial things like that, completely unaware of how my life was about to change the very next day.

Author's Note:

This is the Side Story of "Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint," yet it does not exist outside the main story.

This is still the story of Kim Dokja, but it is not for only one Kim Dokja.

Thank you for waiting.

Once again, let us begin "Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint."

554 Episode 1. The World After The End (1)

「This is a story about despair that was not read.」

---

After receiving that interesting message yesterday, something surprising happened to me.

I wrote the first sentence of the side story.

I can't tell you what the first sentence is. It's a spoiler, and it's not really a great sentence.

But it might have a pretty good meaning someday. It was the same when I wrote the first sentence of ORV.

The whole story starts with Ji Eunyu's sudden visit around lunchtime today.

"Author-nim, let's go somewhere together."

I was grabbed by the scruff of my neck and got into a taxi, and it didn't take even an hour to get to our destination.

The place we finally arrived at was in front of a theater in Chungmuro. It was a place that had once been used as the background for "ORV."

I stared at the placard posted at the entrance of the theater. Judging by the name, it was definitely an event related to “ORV.”

I suddenly remembered the message I received from “RepresentativeKimDokja” yesterday.

—There will be a small fan event tomorrow at 7 PM. If you have time, please come and enjoy it.

Could this be the one from yesterday?

I asked Ji Eunyu.

“How did you know about this?”

“The event organizer contacted us. He said he wanted to hold a paid event and wanted permission. Instead, he said he would donate all the admission fees to an orphanage under Kim Dokja’s name. I came just to keep an eye on it.”

That’s what the paid admission fee meant.

I nodded exaggeratedly and said.

“That’s good. But why am I—”

“Readers. You asked where they were.”

I belatedly remembered the phone call I had with Ji Eunyu yesterday. Ji Eunyu said that there were readers waiting for my novel, and I asked where they were.

I turned my head again and looked at the theater.

In that place, there were the readers Ji Eunyu had mentioned.

Suddenly, I felt blood rushing to my head and my heart started pounding.

“But is it okay for me to go in?”

Ji Eunyu tilted her head at my hesitation.

“Why?”

“I’m the writer.”

“It’s okay, Han Sooyoung wrote it.”

Seeing Ji Eunyu playfully respond, I also ended up laughing bitterly.

“That’s right.”

Well, what kind of writer is a writer who hasn’t written anything for three years?

Today, I wanted to pass all my burdens on to Han Sooyoung, whom I had never even seen. The reason I couldn’t write the side story was because Han Sooyoung didn’t write the manuscript in that distant universe, and Yoo Joonghyuk didn’t deliver it.

I wanted to believe that.

At the entrance of the theater, life-sized figures of ORV characters were on display. Judging from the design, they seemed to be drawn based on the style of the webtoon version that was once serialized. The quality was so great that I was amazed.

I admired the drawings while recalling the names of each character.

The Demon King of Salvation Kim Dokja, Supreme King Yoo Joonghyuk, Black Flames Empress Han Sooyoung, Moonlight Empress Yoo Sangah, Judge of Destruction Jung Heewon, Steel Sword Emperor Lee Hyunsung, Beast Lord Shin Yoosung, Insect Lord Lee Gilyoung, and the Delusion Demon Kim Namwoon… Even the supporting characters with small screen time, such as the bald Gong Pildu, the doctor Lee Seolhwa, and the fake protagonist Jang Hayoung…

“Honestly, it’s better than what we made.”

Even Ji Eunyu answered like that.

Not only was the quality good, but the fact that they put so much effort into it was impressive in itself.

I also smiled bitterly and added,

“I would believe it even if the real webtoon artists drew it.”

“Isn’t this actually drawn by them?”

“No way. They all left after that incident.”

There was a time when “Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint” was also made into a webtoon.

It started off well. Great writers took charge of the composition and animation.

But unfortunately, before the 10th chapter was even serialized, a lightning strike struck the studio and a large fire broke out, and the company, unable to handle the aftermath, went bankrupt. On top of that, the management’s financial difficulties combined to make the “Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint” webtoon disappear from the world after 11 chapters.

“We don’t know yet, author-nim. If the side story goes well, the webtoon could be rebooted.”

It’s like Ji Eunyu to still be able to say such optimistic things.

“I gave up on those expectations a long time ago.”

After the webtoon failed, some kind of bad luck befell me, and strange things happened to all kinds of secondary works related to “Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint.” When a movie contract was signed, the production company went bankrupt, and when a figure or goods were produced, the factory went bankrupt.

After repeating this several times, there were no more offers coming in.

I paused for a moment and said,

“There must be a worldline somewhere where ORV didn’t fail.”

In that worldline, the webtoon would have been a hit, and there would have been a movie, a drama, and maybe even an anime. It’s not this worldline, but I still sometimes have dreams like that.

“I told you we haven’t failed yet.”

I looked around the remaining life-sized figures with Ji Eunyu, who was grumbling. The line of life-sized figures was quite long, and it had characters from Uriel and the Great Sage Heaven's Equal to somewhat non-mainstream figures like Han Myungoh on display.

But at the end of the life-sized figures, there was an unfamiliar figure standing.

Who is this?

It was a man with squinted eyes, but I couldn't guess who he was.

Did a narrow-eyed character appear in ORV?

If only the name was written down so I could know…

I thought about asking Ji Eunyu, but then stopped.

The writer has his own pride.

"Two people."

"Please write your nickname on this name tag and attach it to your left chest."

We received the name tags from the guide and entered the theater.

Fortunately, no one recognized that I was ORV's writer. That was natural, it wasn't written that I was ORV's writer on the name tag. I looked at Ji Eunyu's name tag.

[Genius Editor]

"Ji Eunyu-ssi."

I sat down in the back with Ji Eunyu, who pretended not to hear me. I could see the backs of the heads of the fans who had sat down here and there in front of us.

I was surprised again. All those people are our readers. In fact, aren't they people Ji Eunyu bought?

When I looked to the side, Ji Eunyu's eyes were wide open.

"If I count roughly, there are more than thirty people?"

Thirty. It seems like a small number, but it meant that the number of core fans who took the time to come here was thirty.

I nodded, suppressing the emotion welling up in me.

Kim Dokja, you're so great.

Since the event hadn't started yet, I could hear the voices of readers chatting away in front of me.

“Do you have an ‘NEP’? It’s really hard to get one these days.”

“Oh, I have that.”

“Awesome. What about the ‘BE’?”

“I bought it right away.”

“Then, do you have a ‘DF’ too?”

“I do have it… but strangely, my ‘DF’ is starting to lose its mind.”

[NOTE 1]

I couldn’t understand what they were talking about. It seems like they are exchanging slang only the veterans have.

We sat side by side and eavesdropped on the veterans’ talk.

“Didn’t the host say today is the last?”

“Yes.”

“There were really a lot of people before. It’s gotten much smaller.”

“That’s right. Everyone is leaving one by one.”

It seems that this unidentified Kim Dokja’s banquet is already hosted for the twelfth time. They say there were even more people before.

I thought there were already enough people now…

“Excuse me, can I sit here?”

I turned my head at the sudden question. A large man like Lee Hyunsung was standing shyly, pointing to the seat next to me.

I nodded.

“Oh, yes. Please sit down.”

“Thank you…”

As expected, the man who bowed his head had a name tag pinned to his chest.

[Judge Heewon]

He must have been a fan of Judge of Destruction Jung Heewon.

Since it had been a long time since I had last sat next to a stranger, I felt a bit nervous.

Ji Eunyu, who must have noticed the awkward atmosphere, spoke first.

“I guess you’re a fan of Jung Heewon.”

Judge Heewon nodded slightly.

And then the silence continued.

Ji Eunyu poked my arm as if to tell me to talk about something. Usually, she would bring up a topic at such times. Since it had been so long since I had talked to a stranger, I couldn’t think of anything to say.

I opened my mouth as I thought about what Kim Dokja would talk about here.

“I like Heewon.”

“Oh, yes!”

It was nothing special, but as I looked at the man smiling brightly, I felt like we had already formed an important bond. We nodded our heads repeatedly like men who had become sworn brothers and thought about Jung Heewon together.

[NOTE 2]

Jung Heewon. What a good character. I made it.

Judge Heewon looked at the nickname on my name tag for a long time and asked.

“You, your nickname is interesting.”

“Thank you.”

“Do you have a favorite…”

“Um, I…”

I thought about it for a moment, but it was hard to choose one person.

As the silence grew longer, Judge Heewon thought he had made a mistake and quickly added.

“Oh, you could be all-chara, but I made a mistake…”

[NOTE 3]

I don’t know exactly what all-chara means, but I had a rough idea.

I nodded lightly and answered.

“Everyone is good, except for guys like Cheon Inho.”

In case you forgot, Cheon Inho is the name of the extra villain who dies in the beginning of ORV.

Judge Heewon also lowered his voice with a dark expression, as if he knew Cheon Inho.

“Cheon Inho, that bad guy.”

“He’s a bad guy.”

“That bastard should be torn to pieces.”

“Uh… right?”

“That bastard should be burned to death in hellfire.”

That was the end of our conversation.

The host appeared on the stage of the theater. He was wearing a black suit and a white coat.

“Hello, I’m Kim Dokja, the host.”

A light cheer rose from the audience. Although he covered his eyes with sunglasses, his outfit was quite similar to Kim Dokja’s.

Is it handmade? That’s also quite high quality.

Soon, the theater screen lit up, and the event began.

Soft background music played, followed by the font of the [Fourth Wall].

「And on the Fourth Wall, it was all written down.」

And slowly, the comments left by readers began to appear on the screen.

From the prologue to chapter 551, the comments left by readers themselves.

"Gasp, I wrote that!"

A girl fan sitting in the front row spoke softly. Everyone in the theater was looking at the comments together.

There were comments that received a lot of "likes," and some that were funny or novel. There were also comments that contained touching sentiments.

"That was when Kim Dokja first died, right?"

"Ugh, don't look at my comments! Take them down quickly!"

"This is stuffed with dark history."

My heart also fluttered as I read the old comments.

ORV was serialized for two years, and three years had passed since its conclusion.

The history that the readers of this world had built up over the course of five years.

I watched it a long time, speechless.

It was like a story from a distant myth being told by someone.

Photos from exhibitions planned by fans and subway advertisements celebrating the characters' birthdays came to mind one after another.

Someone muttered quietly while looking at an illustration of Kim Dokja that caught their eye.

"It's Kim Dokja's birthday."

"It really snowed in Seoul that day."

On the pure white screen, the readers' comments piled up. Between the lines, I could see the footprints of me and them walking together.

"You're glad you came, right?"

At Ji Eunyu's words, I nodded without realizing it.

「Perhaps I wrote so many sentences just to see this scenery.」

My heart raced again.

If I had the qualifications, I wanted to say something to these people. I wanted to write sentences for them without running away or giving up.

I wanted to challenge this story again.

「But can I do it?」

That was when I heard the host's voice.

"Now, here's a word from author-nim who joined us for this event!"

The readers in the audience looked at each other and murmured.

I was dazed for a moment then came to my senses.

"Author-nim?" Ji Eunyu whispered to me in surprise.

For a moment, my mind became complicated.

Could it be that Ji Eunyu had secretly planned a fan meeting?

However, the look in Ji Eunyu's eyes showed she had no idea this would happen.

When I looked at the stage, the host was smiling and looking this way.

Should I get up first?

The moment I pretended to cough in vain and got up with the feeling that "I can't help it," a person's face suddenly appeared on the screen.

—Ah, ah.

A tear mole on white skin. Jet-black bob hair tied back.

Even without explaining who she was, there was no one here who didn’t know her.

The real author of 『Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint』 was there.

555 Episode 1. The World After The End (2)

—Ah, ah. Microphone test.

Was this how the characters felt when they first saw Bihyung on the subway?

—Do you all hear me?

The woman on the screen was so similar to the Han Sooyoung I imagined that I got goosebumps.

Maybe I wasn't the only one who thought so, the other readers were also looking at the screen with their mouths open.

—There are still people who remember that guy’s story. Well, you were all Kim Dokja, too.

It was Han Sooyoung, perfect down to her rude way of speaking. It was probably made by applying deepfake technology, but whoever played her was really amazing.

But Han Sooyoung suddenly started saying strange things.

—I sent a short side story to the cloud a while ago, have you all read it?

What?

—Of course you saw it. I know. But this was just an appetizer. The real 'side story' will begin soon.

No, wait a minute. What if you say that when I don't have any chapter ready yet?

Give me the manuscript right now.

—So, I'll ask you to take care of me in the future. Finally, you get one question.

The readers who were staring at the screen looked at each other.

Han Sooyoung added.

—Please tell me where you bought Yoo Joonghyuk's boots, please tell me if Gilyoung eats grasshoppers or not, I don't know anything about this, so please take note in advance.

Someone sighed as if it was a pity.

Readers seemed to hesitate whether they could really ask questions.

Well, that's just a recorded video in the first place, so even if you ask a question, you won't get an answer.

But there was a person who raised her hand.

"Is Kim Dokja back to life?"

It was a small girl fan sitting in the front row.

A brief silence fell over the room.

A question that any reader who has read the final chapter would be curious about.

In a sense, everyone knows the answer, so it's a question that can't be answered.

I felt sad. If Han Sooyoung in that video is really Han Sooyoung, she will feel the same as me.

However.

—Oh, yeah. You mean Kim Dokja, right?

What?

—That's...

Was it a real-time video?

And the next moment, the screen turned off with a tsutsutsu sound.

An exclamation came from the audience.

"Oh, unfortunately, the signal was cut off. Let's check whether Kim Dokja is alive or not in the side story together!"

Indeed, the host's skillful hosting was at a level comparable to Kim Dokja's.

I could hear readers chatting with excitement.

"Is a side story really coming out?"

“I don’t think it was ever announced separately.”

Of course. Because I've never actually announced it.

Ji Eunyu, who was sitting next to me, whispered playfully.

"Isn't it a cute threat to start serializing it soon?"

"No, but that's too earnest."

While I let out a light sigh, the host was introducing the final segment.

"Then it’s time for today's last event, the ORV quiz. We’ve prepared enough prizes so that everyone can be rewarded equally, so if you get a question right, please come up to the stage right away."

Looking at the readers’ eyes shining, it seemed that this was the main event.

The host standing in front of the screen read the question.

"The first question is—"

After reading the question, the readers raised their hands. It was unexpected. I thought it was a pretty difficult question.

When the designated reader gave his answer, the host clapped his hands.

"Congratulations. Please come this way."

The reader with a flushed face was guided by the host and entered the curtain behind the screen.

After a while, the reader's presence disappeared with a tsutsutsu sound.

I laughed, and so did the readers.

It's an interesting directing.

Let's try to guess it this time.

"Now, the second question. How many times did ■ appear in the whole 'ORV'?

Ahem...

No matter how much I thought about it, I wondered who would know that.

Even I, the writer, don't know.

But there was a person who raised their hand.

"Me! The answer is—”

The reader raised their hand and started talking. Of course, I thought they were saying any number, but surprisingly, the host clapped his hands.

How on earth did you get it right?

The reader who correctly answered the second question also disappeared inside the curtain after being guided by the host.

The host said with a smile.

"Are the questions too difficult? This time it's an easy question!"

I focused on the host's words.

Okay, this time for sure.

"Third question. In 'Ways of Survival', Yoo Joonghyuk regresses 1,863 times. What does the number '1,863' symbolize here?

I was stunned for a moment after hearing the question.

What symbol was there in that number?

I guessed for what purpose ORV's author used the number 1,863.

I think... The author had no intention. It's definitely the case. I know it well because I'm the author of ORV.

This time, there were quite a lot of readers who raised their hands.

When the host pointed to someone, the reader spoke.

"1,863 is the year when the world's first subway opened, symbolizing that Yoo Joonghyuk's repeated regressions circle back to the subway."

What?

I thought, 'That can't be true,' but the readers around me agreed.

"Oh, that's right, that's right. It was that."

"Ah, I saw it in RepresentativeKimDokja's analysis article."

As the host clapped his hands, the reader who had given the answer went up to the stage with a smile.

Ji Eunyu asked me,

"Did 1,863 really have that meaning?"

"Of course. In what I wrote, every single number has meaning. Every element is connected in an amazing way."

Some questions were about things I knew, and for some I didn't know the answer at all.

However, as words were exchanged, I felt indescribable emotions.

A story I remember. A story I don't remember. Even stories I didn’t intend to tell. The story I hadn't written for the past three years was still continuing here.

I suddenly had such a question.

Can I say that I love this story more than them?

"What is the name of the sword that Jung Heewon received as a gift from Kim Dokja in the Theater Dungeon?"

"Me! Me!"

Judge Heewon, who was sitting next to me, also managed to get one question right.

Ji Eunyu muttered in a nervous voice as she watched him excitedly pull back the curtains and disappear.

“If this continues, we’ll be the only ones left. Is there a penalty for staying behind?”

Ji Eunyu also began to raise her hand from then on.

After about ten or twenty questions, Ji Eunyu got an answer right.

"I'll go first. See you outside."

Even after Ji Eunyu waved her hand and disappeared, I didn't raise my hand.

The struggling readers also stood up from their seats one by one after answering a question correctly.

There were also readers who suddenly wiped away tears.

I watched them leave the theater for a long time.

"Now there's the last question left."

A voice that echoes through the silent theater.

Before I knew it, I was the only one left in the audience.

Looking at the countless empty seats in the front row, I thought about the person named “Kim Dokja” for the first time in a long time.

"This is the final question."

I was nervous and listened to the question.

There should be an easy question.

The host asked with a bright smile.

"Who is the heroine of ORV?"

I opened my mouth for a moment then closed it again.

Maybe sensing my embarrassment, the host added to reassure me,

"I'll give you a minute to think."

ORV's heroine.

Who would Kim Dokja think of as a heroine? I don't know. Because I'm not Kim Dokja.

So, I decided to think about it from the perspective of ORV's writer, "Writer Lee."

In fact, since "ORV" was not a story written with a heroine in mind, the proportion of romance was almost non-existent.

"10 seconds left."

"The heroine of ORV—"

I said the name of the heroine I was thinking of. I wasn't sure if he was talking about this person. Compared to other main characters, she didn't appear that much.

Nevertheless, that person was a person I made for Kim Dokja.

The host was silent for a moment at my answer then asked,

"Why do you think so?"

I'm probably not the one who loves this story the most.

I may not be the one who knows this story best.

But I wanted to say this at least once.

"Because I wrote it."

"What?"

The host asked back as if he hadn't heard it properly.

I smiled bitterly and raised my voice.

"Because she's my favorite person."

I couldn't tell if my answer was the right answer or not.

However, the host nodded without saying a word, and slowly clapped his hands.

Is that right or wrong?

When I think about it, the host has never once said “correct answer” so far.

"Congratulations."

With the host's words, I walked down the stairs of the theater and went to the stage.

As I followed the path that the readers had walked down before me, the empty seats of the theater came into view.

The words [Fourth Wall] were faintly glowing on the screen.

Suddenly, I remembered the readers who walked down this road, wiping their eyes, and the readers who were smiling and looking back every now and then.

Only then did I seem to know their feelings. They didn't cry or laugh because they were happy to get a question right.

Because this is the completion of 『Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint』.

I felt like I was going down the road that I should have gone down a long time ago.

The readers reached the end point in their own way, and now it was my turn.

When I went up the stage, the host was waiting for me. We looked at each other for a moment on stage.

The host looked at the nickname written on my name tag.

[■■■]

"Your nickname is very hard to pronounce."

I smiled and nodded.

Even though I saw it up close, I couldn't see the host's face well. The voice was strangely neutral, so I couldn't tell if it was a man or a woman.

I suddenly wanted to ask if he was “RepresentativeKimDokja.” But I didn't ask. I thought I wasn’t qualified to ask.

"The goods are beyond the curtain. You can just pick it up and leave."

I was a little excited when I heard that it was a product.

What is it? A cultural gift certificate?

I reached out to the curtain of the stage. Then I stopped. Because if I open this curtain, I really thought this story would end.

Isn't there still a story left to write?

There are sentences that I forgot and words that I haven't written.

At the last moment, I looked back. I thought there were still people left.

And if someone was there, I thought I wanted to write a story for that person.

But there was really someone in the place I looked back.

When did he move there?

The host was waving in the middle of the audience.

You can see the audience better than I thought on the stage.

I waved back at the host, then slowly turned back and pulled back the curtain.

Now, it was time to live in the world after the end.

"Are you really going to end it like this?"

But at that time.

“If you finish it on your own, what will the rest of us do?”

I heard the host's words.

Yes? The moment I was about to answer, I heard a tsutsutsutsu sound from somewhere. I reflexively held my cell phone. It wasn't the phone vibrating.

"So, please tell me that story."

Something was swirling in front of my eyes.

Ugh.

The vortex sucked me in, including the sound in my mouth. Sparks flew in front of me and my vision flickered. It felt like someone had rolled my body into a ball and thrown me into a subway that kept repeating infinite sudden stops.

My mouth tasted a bit like vomit after holding my breath.

And when I opened my eyes.

「I was really on the subway.」

A slightly higher field of view than usual.

A lukewarm wind blew from the vent hanging from the ceiling. Smelling the strangely musty smell of underground dust, I blinked.

The vague sensation of floating slowly clung to my skin, and a sense of reality gradually returned.

「To be exact, it was a subway station.」

Why am I here? As soon as I asked the question, an answer emerged from deep within my mind.

I already know where this place is.

「“But author-nim, why did you start on the subway?”」

One day, Ji Eunyu asked me that.

「“Because it's the most natural place.”」

But I couldn't accept that answer.

"What the hell is this?"

I was surprised at how unnatural the voice that came out of my mouth was.

I looked forward reflexively.

On the screen door, a man with narrow eyes was looking at me, not “Lee Hakhyun.”

"No—"

An unknown cell phone was in my hand.

I absentmindedly pressed the phone’s power button.

「It was just a coincidence that I looked at the time at that moment.」

The clock numbers on the phone changed with a ticking sound.

7:00 PM.

The moment I raised my head, I heard a message from somewhere along with a small explosion.

[The free service of planetary system 8612 has been terminated.]

[The main scenario has started.]

I knew the sentence that would follow very well.

「It was the moment the genre of my life changed.」

That was not what I thought.

「So.」

At that moment, I was “thinking.”

「I entered 『Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint』.」

556 Episode 2. Rewrite (1)

---

"Do you know what a living thing is, author-nim?"

—Comment from chapter 6 of Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

---

I once shared such a joke with Ji Eunyu. I asked her if we would survive if we were to fall into the first scenario of Omniscient Reader.

Ji Eunyu answered me like this.

—Honestly, I'm not confident, but what about you, author-nim?

What did I say? I don't remember.

What I do know is that the joke was now real.

「Oh my God.」

This was such an extraordinary situation that I couldn't help but use the punctuation.

I touched my face in the reflection of the screen door several times. It wasn't because I was handsome. It wasn't that there was something weird on the screen door.

My face had literally changed.

"What the....."

Crooked smiling eyes, thin lips with a subtle hint of meanness.

I realized where I'd seen this face before.

Sure enough, there was a life-size figure standing at the entrance to the theater with the same face.

But I couldn't remember who he was.

Was he an undescribed extra?

[The free service of planetary system 8612 has ended.]

[The main scenario has started.]

Throughout the subway station, citizens voiced their confusion.

"What is this?"

"I'm not the only one seeing this, right?"

"There's something here. Hey, can you feel it? There's something like a wall here."

A certain radius of the station was surrounded by a transparent wall. It was a wall I knew well.

The scenario device that makes it impossible to get out until certain conditions are met.

"No, where are the subway employees? Aren't they making announcements?"

"Someone will come. Let's wait."

Now there was no doubt.

「I had possessed someone from 'Omniscient Reader'.」

A slow shiver ran up my spine.

「An extra character I don't know.」

It was a common trope in web novels, but I couldn't think of any reason why I should be possessing someone.

Why me? Did I earn someone's grudge? Did one of the characters put me in here?

The Han Sooyoung from the event theater was real?

Then was it Han Sooyoung?

It could be. Han Sooyoung, who didn't want me to pretend to be Omniscient Reader's author, had put me here.

It could also be Yoo Joonghyuk. The way I described all the misery he went through was enough to make him hold a grudge against me.

Maybe it was Kim Dokja, who wanted to take revenge on me for revealing the protagonist's secret tastes to the entire universe. Or maybe he did it for no reason at all, he just has a bad personality.

Shit, I don't know. There's no point in thinking about it now.

I pushed the uncertainty out of my head, leaving only the certainty.

One, I was in an 'Omniscient Reader'.

Two, I'm possessing someone else.

Three, the scenarios were about to begin.

I quickly scanned my surroundings. If the first scenario is about to begin, I need to figure out what I can use to my advantage.

First, I'm in a subway station.

The station is from the orange line, so it's line 3, and the station name is.....

「Geumho.」

I slowly frowned.

In my head, I recalled some information about Geumho Station. It was the first base of the main character, Kim Dokja, and the place where the massacre took place.

Of course, that was in the second half of the first volume, and fortunately, I hadn't gotten to that point yet..... In a sense, it could have been more dangerous now.

[Ah, aah. ^&@@#%.]

I felt like I was being dragged down into the cold depths by my ankles.

I never thought the day would come when I'd be able to see a Dokkaebi with my own eyes. Two little horns. A creature with fluffy fur wearing a small straw mat.

I remember. He had this kind of role at first.

[Can you hear me?]

Kim Dokja's streaming contract partner, the Dokkaebi Bihyung.

[Uh-oh, at least it's quieter here than on other places, huh.....]

Bihyung looked back at the moment and our eyes met. I lowered my head in surprise. It's only in the second half of the story that Bihyung becomes sympathetic to Kim Dokja, while the earlier Bihyung is a crazy monster who breaks the heads of incarnations for fun.

Fortunately, I didn't see any humans getting their heads cracked off while arguing with Bihyung like in the main story.

Especially that big guy over there.

[Okay, I'm going to explain what's going on, so listen up.]

I knew full well what Bihyung was going to say next. I've written dozens of manuscripts where I've seen that line.

He's probably running a similar script simultaneously in the scenario area he controls.

[You have been living too long for free. Isn't life too generous? You were born and paid no price for breathing,eating, shitting, and reproducing at will without paying anything in return! Ha! What a world you've been living in!]

As I listened to him, I wondered if this is what it would have been like if a 'Omniscient Reader's movie had come out.

The problem is that I'm now an extra in that movie.

[The stars watched over your planet with great generosity, but that's only until today, and the time has come for you to repay them for all the kindness they've shown you. It's better for you to see what's going on than to hear me ramble on about it, right?]

As if he couldn't be bothered to recite the boring lines, Bihyung snapped his fingers.

[#BI-7623 channel opened.]

[Constellations have entered.]

A small window floated upwards above those who raised their heads in confusion.

[The main scenario has arrived!]

<Main Scenario #1 - Proof of Value>

Category: Main

Difficulty: F

Clear Conditions: Kill one or more creatures.

Time Limit: 30 minutes

Reward: 300 coins

Failure: Death

The Dokkaebi's transparent body slowly faded away, giving us a vague smile.

[Then, good luck everyone. Please show me an interesting story.]

As the scenario window popped up in front of me, it really hit home.

The time limit reducing in real time.

Right now it says 30 minutes, but as the time goes on, the penalties will start to kick in.

"What does this mean?"

Unsure of what's going on, people started talking to each other and calling out to each other. In the distance, I could see people scratching and hitting the transparent wall.

I took a light, deep breath and muttered to myself.

'Attribute Window.'

[Currently, due to a system error, the Attribute Window cannot be activated.]

I squinted my eyes.

This wasn't working?

'Fourth Wall.'

I called it out, just in case.

Kim Dokja had the [Fourth Wall] skill since the beginning, and as a penalty of that skill, he was restricted from viewing the Attribute Window.

So, if I also have the [Fourth Wall.].....

'Fourth Wall.'

.....

I don't.

So why doesn't it open?

I don't know.

It's a novel I wrote, dammit.

First of all, I'm a writer, not a reader, so I should have the [Writer]'s skills... Maybe I have [Avatar].

I concentrated and tried to use [Avatar] and other writer-only skills. But there was no noticeable change, except for the strain on my sphincter.

[The remaining time has decreased.]

[There are 28 minutes remaining.]

While I struggled in vain, the crowd in the station split into two groups.

One was a group of people wearing sweatshirts with the same logo.

"Everyone, please don't panic and gather this way!"

"Let's go to the deacon's side!"

They were clutching tissues with the church's name on them; they seemed to be from the same church.

On the other side of the room, a large man with a tattoo on his forearm was gathering people.

"Hey, everybody, come over here and help!"

This was the same guy who was worried about getting his head cracked by Bihyung earlier. The big guy pushed against the transparent wall with both hands and shouted at the other people.

"Everyone push this together! We might be able to get out!"

Obviously, it's safer to struggle against a wall than to attack a Dokkaebi.

But some people didn't think so.

"What if we do something weird and that monster does something to us?"

"Then what? If you're not going to help, go away. Push! Harder! Harder!"

At this point, some of the other people who had been hesitating joined in and started pushing against the wall. The sound of cha, cha, cha, cha echoed around the room, and the people in the church who had been watching got involved.

"Everyone, let's help him!"

At the deacon's signal, the congregation rushed in and pushed against the wall. It was quite a sight to see, dozens of people clinging to the transparent wall like a pantomime.

I slowly made my way to the edge of the station as people struggled with the wall. A few steps away, I caught my reflection in the screen door.

First, I think I'm possessing a bad character.

A body whose average stats does not seem to exceed 1.

This is why I wasn't sure I could win a fight against a bare-chested Kim Dokja.

Kim Dokja.

I have to meet him somehow.

I don't know what caused me to possess this man, but considering what's normal in web novels, I should be able to return to reality the moment I see the end of the scenarios.

So I needed to meet the main character of 'Omniscient Reader', who dies and comes back to life for the sake of his colleagues, and win his favor. It's the only way to increase your chances of survival in this cruel world.

By the way, I'll have to survive here before you can meet Kim Dokja or anyone else.

「The first scenario requires you to kill 'one or more living things'.」

Kim Dokja cleared the first scenario by crushing the grasshoppers and grasshopper eggs collected by Lee Gilyoung.

But since he's the main character, he's lucky, and since I'm an extra character, I'm not so lucky.

As an extra character, I can't be that lucky.

「So this is what I came up with.」

I glared at the soda machine in front of me.

If you didn't end up in the same train car as Kim Dokja, you'd be lucky to land in a subway station.

At least here, this vending machine was my 'insect catcher'.

"Push! Harder!"

"Aaaahhh."

I gently shook the vending machine in time with the chants of the wall pushers.

「A lot of bugs live in subway vending machines with refrigeration and freezers.」

I had seen an article like that when I wrote about 200 chapters for Omniscient Reader.

I wonder how many times I shook it like that.

Something made a thud sound, and a nameless bug crawled out from under the vending machine.

I quickly clasped my hands together and trapped the fleeing bug.

Lucky for me, I'll survive the first scenario.

I immediately tried to crush the bug in my hand.

「Maybe it's a pregnant bug.」

My hesitation wasn't because I was philosophizing about the bug's right to life.

I hesitated because I remembered a line from 'Omniscient Reader'.

「An 'egg' is a living thing.」

In the scenario, bugs' eggs are recognized as living beings, and Kim Dokja's solution was to crack hundreds of eggs to gain an advantage in the scenario.

But what would have happened if Kim Dokja had given the bug's eggs to everyone on the subway?

I glanced over and saw people banging on the transparent wall.

People knocking on the wall to live.

I knew who the people in Geumho Station were. People who could casually take the lives of others for their own survival.

For a moment, I felt like Kim Dokja.

「What would Kim Dokja do if he returned to the first scenario?」

Suddenly, a tsuchuchut rang out and I almost missed the bug.

It wasn't a probability spark.

The cell phone in my pocket was ringing.

I hesitated for a moment, then slipped the bug in my fist into my coat pocket and zipped it up tight.

I opened my phone and a message popped up.

[You have one new message.]

A message?

—Sender: RepresentativeKimDokja

—Author-nim. Congratulations on your new side story series.

I looked at the message with suspicion in my eyes.

—We're sending you a small gift in anticipation for your series.

---

In 'Omniscient Reader', there is a scene where Kim Dokja is trapped in the subway and tls123 sends him a text file of 'Ways of Survival'.

Apparently, 'RepresentativeKimDokja' was parodying it now.

Normally, I would have laughed out loud, but this was no time for that.

Because I was in a situation where I could really die.

Were they the one who got me into 'Omniscient Reader'?

I don't know. But the circumstances seem to point to a connection.

I'm going to reply first.

[You can't reply to this message.]

I knew it would be like this if it was 'Omniscient Reader'.

I decided to check the gift from Kim Dokja.

Let's see. Kim Dokja received a text file of 'Ways of Survival', so I assume I got something similar.

But no matter how much I scrolled down, I couldn't see any attachments.

—We're sending you a small gift in anticipation for your series.

That was the end of the message. There were no attachments, and I didn't feel like I had a new exclusive skill.

So what was it?

I realized that the message was sent through a web novel platform.

It happened to be the app I used to use.

Wait, we have this app here too?

Most of the menus didn't work because the app wasn't from this world line.

However, I was able to check my novel, which worked fine.

Apparently, this was 'RepresentativeKimDokja's gift.

Just as Kim Dokja received the text file of 'Ways of Survival' from tls123, I had received 'Omniscient Reader' from 'RepresentativeKimDokja'.

It was a little disappointing, but it was better than nothing. Even if you're the writer, you're bound to forget the setting of a story three years after its completion.

I suddenly became curious about the Kim Dokja of the first scenario.

What exactly was he doing at this point?

It must be around chapter 4 or 5 by now.

I immediately pressed chapter 5.

—How is the main character so calm? Wasn't he a real loser?

But what popped up in front of me was not the text of the novel, but a comment.

I clicked on the text again.

—The scenario is too difficult...

Another comment.

At first I thought it was a bug.

But as I clicked again and again, only getting comments, I realized what "gift" I'd been given.

No way.

Some of the comments I vaguely remembered, others I didn't remember at all.

No wonder. It was already three years ago.

Wow, I'm about to die in the first scenario.

My mindless scrolling suddenly felt really heavy.

I hesitated for a moment, then pushed the scroll up.

—Hmm... I don't think I can do that.

—He can only do that because he's the main character. If he was a normal person, he would be dead already.

I felt the dark, still air wet the tip of my nose.

I was suddenly back in Chungmuro's theater.

I read the stories of the readers filling the screen.

Readers of those days were still in elementary school, they were in middle and high school, they were in college, they were working..... They were preparing to enlist in the army and get a job.

The history they had lived was still there.

—I don't think I'm capable of killing people... I think I'll just keep quiet and wait for the end.

I thought about 'Judge Heewon', who solved the quiz with shining eyes, and the young reader who asked about Kim Dokja's life and death.

The reader who fluently explained the secret of the number 1,863, the reader who remembered the total number of ■..... The readers who sat there with faces I didn't recognize.

"It isn't moving at all! What do we do!"

"Shut up and push more!"

The readers who had come to the theater, all of whom had taken the quiz and disappeared into the lights behind the curtain.

"Somebody, somebody do something!"

If.

"Please let me out, I need to get out of here!"

What if it wasn't just me, but also other readers came here.

"Help me! Help me!"

I know this is not the time to think about this. My nose is asleep right now. I have to stay alive, and I have to find Kim Dokja somehow.

Kim Dokja.

"Hey."

Somehow.

"Maybe."

I have to meet.....

"Bugs....."

I looked toward where the voice came from, dumbfounded.

Where I turned, there stood a middle-aged man who seemed to be in his forties. Deep brown eyes with dedicated eyebrows.

I definitely didn't recognize him.

What did this man just say?

I tried to calm my pounding heart and put on an exaggeratedly brash voice.

"Excuse me? What do you mean?"

He looked at me for a moment, then asked.

"I was wondering if you could teach me how to catch bugs too."

I looked at him for a moment.

His face unreadable.

I could feel people looking this way in the distance.

If I drew the wrong kind of attention here, I could ruin the whole scenario.

After a moment of thought, I blinked slowly, then turned my head and pointed to the bottom of the vending machine with a jerk of my chin.

"Ah."

As if that was enough, he let out a small exclamation.

I said warningly.

"Don't draw too much attention to yourself, I don't know how many are left."

He nodded thoughtfully, then bent down and began whisking the underside of the vending machine.

I pretended to be oblivious to the spectacle, shifting stealthily to shield him from the others.

I wondered if it would be right to save him here.

This choice could have resulted in a branch of the book completely separated from the main story. But.....

"I found it, thank you."

It wasn't long before he found a bug, too.

It was a tiny bug, so tiny you couldn't even tell if it was pregnant or not.

"Kill it right away."

He nodded, and promptly crushed the bug. Then.

"Ah."

A faint glow formed in his hand as he killed the bug, and then it was gone.

The man's slightly loosened eyes stared off into space.

Presumably, the scenario had been cleared.

Fortunately, 'killing bugs' still seemed to work.

"Yeah, really. This is....."

I stared at him in disbelief and then asked him by surprise.

"1,863."

"1,863."

I wanted to be sure.

If this guy had really read 'Omniscient Reader', he had to know what it meant.

The middle-aged man paused for a moment, then opened his mouth.

I was a little disappointed when I saw the look in his eyes that said he really didn't know.

Maybe it was just my imagination.

"If it's 1,863, do you mean..... from 'that novel'....."

I reflexively looked at him. He was looking at me, too.

I could see a faint mix of relief and despair in his eyes.

"Am I right?"

As expected, this man was a reader of 'Omniscient Reader'. I'm not sure if he was in the event theater with me, but he had been suddenly transported here, just like me.

His lips trembled and he muttered.

"How in the world did this happen....."

"It's not the time to go into details. Please keep your voice down."

"Ah, yes. I wonder if there are others."

"If there are others, I'm sure they'll do something to stand out."

From what I could tell, he wasn't a very perceptive man.

Nevertheless, in this situation, he realized that this was the first scenario of 'Omniscient Reader', and he didn't miss the scene where I captured the bug.

I'm sure other readers will feel the same way.

At the very least, they will be observing me and this ahjussi or trying to find bugs themselves.

We observed people for a while. However, no one was doing anything particularly remarkable.

Ahjussi asked.

"About the rest..... What are you going to do?"

"The rest?"

"Those people."

Actually, I already knew who he was referring to.

The ones clutching their phones in terror and the ones still struggling to push through the transparent wall.

"No matter how you look at it, this is real, isn't it?"

"....."

"At this rate, they're all going to die."

I get what he's saying. If he was a reader of 'Omniscient Reader', I could understand saying that.

But I wasn't a reader.

"We can't save them all."

I said, as quietly as possible so that this conversation wouldn't be overheard by the constellations and the others.

"If we want to safely clear the scenario, we can't change the plot too much, I'm sure you know that."

"The bug you caught earlier....."

He asked as I paused.

"Why haven't you killed it yet?"

To say this guy is clueless is an understatement.

I said in the most stern voice I could muster.

"Even Kim Dokja wouldn't have saved them, and you know what kind of people they are."

"Kim Dokja....."

The ahjussi's eyes turned dreamy for a moment, and he opened his mouth as if to sift through a nostalgic memory, then said with a bitter smile.

"My daughter really loved that character."

What in the world had brought this man here?

Suddenly, the old question came back to me.

「If Kim Dokja were to return to the first scenario, what would he do?」

"Hey, there!"

Someone was running like a wild boar in this direction.

It was the big guy who had been pushing the transparent wall earlier.

"What are you guys doing? Can't you see how hard everyone else is working?"

Before I could respond, the big guy grabbed me by the shoulders and shoved me roughly toward the vending machine. His strength was incredible, like he had a strength level of at least 7.

I exhaled sharply as I was instantly lifted off the ground.

This must be how Kim Dokja felt.

Startled, the ahjussi grabbed the big guy by the arm.

"Wait, you can't do that."

The big guy frowned and looked back at him. It was like he was looking at a bug.

The big guy let go of my grip and slapped him across the face. He let out a faint groan and rolled on the floor.

"Didn't you hear me? Can't you see the other people over there trying? Did you think I wouldn't notice if you were hiding out here like rats?"

I steadied my breathing and stepped toward the big guy.

It was the first time I had ever seen such real violence in front of me. Blood splattered on the floor, and the ahjussi reached for me as if asking for help.

Of course someone would stop him.

It's common sense.

There's no place in the world for that kind of violence.

"You should have helped when we asked for help. Tsk."

"They're hiding to make themselves comfortable?"

"They deserve it."

When I turned my head, they averted their gaze as if they had never said anything.

「I stupidly forgot. This world is fiction.」

I thought, clutching the bug in my pocket with all my might.

I wondered if killing the bug for a few coins would be enough to save him.

No matter how I looked at it, the big guy's physique was far superior to mine or the ahjussi's.

That's when I remembered the system messages.

[You can use the possessed person's exclusive attributes.]

[You can use the possessed person's exclusive skills.]

I was possessing a body.

And this character... was a character I didn't recognize.

'I'll use it.'

I don't know.

Anything is better than "Lee Hakhyun".

[The possessed's exclusive attribute has been activated.]

[The possessed's exclusive skill has been activated.]

With the system message, my mind suddenly calmed down. The things I needed to say and the things I could do were sorted out.

「Don't be scared. It's actually kind of fun.」

I took a breath and swung my fist as hard as I could at the vending machine.

Bang!

The surprised people took a few steps back.

Bang, and bang.

I don't know how many times I hit the vending machine like that.

A new bug emerged from under the vending machine. Not a grasshopper, not a cockroach, but a small, nameless bug.

I looked down at it for a moment.

"What is it, do you want to die?"

I looked up and the big guy who had been beating the ahjussi glared at me.

The crowd that had slowly gathered was looking in my direction.

I opened my mouth to speak.

"Everyone."

[The effect of the exclusive attribute is effective.]

This could have been an easy scenario.

But the constellations know, the readers know, and I know that easy scenarios aren't fun.

"I have something to say to all of you."

I could have been drawing attention to myself unnecessarily and made myself a target. I might do something stupid and ruin everything.

But I had to do this now.

I didn't particularly want to be a hero. This was just the last bit of pride I had left, so to speak.

「"Author-nim."」

Ji Eunyu's voice rang in my ears.

The ahjussi looked up at me, bleeding.

As I helped him to his feet, I thought to myself.

Maybe this person is one of the theater's readers. Or maybe one of the readers in the theater was his daughter.

I imagined the audience in my head. But the darkness in the theater was so deep, I couldn't make out their faces.

「"Have you written anything?"」

So I decided to imagine the Kim Dokja I knew.

A man with a thin face and a cheeky grin.

A friend who loved stories more than anyone else in the world. He was willing to be the protagonist of my story, and in the end, he really became the story itself.

I sold his stories, made money, and ate.

I survived.

"Now, if you believe me and follow my words."

I must give back to Kim Dokja what I have received.

"I will save you all."

With a story Kim Dokja doesn't know yet.

---

"What the hell are you talking about?"

The first one to react to my declaration was the big guy.

I've written a lot of characters like him throughout my entire writing career, so I know what to do when this happens.

I tried to paraphrase Kim Dokja.

"You've been fighting against an impenetrable wall, and now you're done. As you've probably realized by now, that's not going to get you out of this."

"What? How do you know that?"

"Don't turn a blind eye to reality."

Meeting my gaze, the big guy shivered.

"Unless you really want to die."

A chill ran through the station as if someone had poured it with cold water.

[The station's incarnations are startled by your words.]

[Your exclusive attribute's effect is strongly activated.]

[Your influence in the scenario area becomes slightly stronger.]

So this is my character's attribute.

Surprisingly, he's not a bad character.

"You might want to listen to this guy, he knows something about the situation."

As the ahjussi added his well-timed comment, people turned to look at me and shook.

I didn't miss the moment when the mood changed.

"Now, as you all know, this is real. It's not a movie shoot, it's not a dream. Neither the police nor the army will come running to save you, and if you mess up, you could really die. However, if you listen to me, you'll all be safe."

At last, a few people hesitantly gathered around.

About ten people.

It wasn't a bad start.

A young man in the front row asked.

"What are you, ahjussi, a soldier or a cop?"

"I used to be."

My words added to the uproar.

It wasn't a lie, as I had retired as a sergeant in the army.

It was then that the deacon, who had been listening from afar, approached.

"Do you really know something about this situation?"

"Yes, I do."

"How?"

"There's no point in going into detail, because frankly, no matter how I explain it, it's not an easy situation. If I suddenly told you that God was angry at your sins and sent you a trial, would you believe me?"

I gave a lighthearted example, but the deacon's eyes narrowed and he mumbled.

"Sins..... trials.....?"

I must have touched the wrong switch.

The big guy who was listening to the conversation beside me got angry.

"Are you kidding me?"

Normally, his gruff demeanor would have intimidated me.

But today's Lee Hakhyun was different.

"Anyway, if you want to listen to me, listen to me, and if you don't, go over there and keep pushing against the wall. Honestly, I don't care if only this ahjussi and I survive."

This kind of brazenness would have impressed even Kim Dokja.

Perhaps the persuasion worked, a few people looked at each other and shared their opinions.

The most active was the deacon.

"Brothers and sisters, let's hear what he has to say."

"Let's do it. We're all going to live with it, aren't we?"

As the mood shifted slightly in my direction, the big guy bit his lip and glanced at me.

By the way, when we were being beaten up, we 'deserved it', but now we were all going to live together?

I took a breath and began to speak.

"Something happened that we can't understand with our common sense. We were suddenly trapped inside by an invisible wall, and we were given this thing called a 'scenario'. First of all, we need to start by acknowledging this as a reality. Do we agree on that?"

People nodded hesitantly.

I continued.

"If we don't clear this scenario, we will die."

"Do we really have to kill? No matter what—"

"You have to believe that for now, as surreal as it seems. It's better than making a bad decision and dying. Have you checked the conditions for clearing the scenario?"

"Kill one or more creatures....."

Watching the people in front of me timidly close the distance between us, I took a step forward, trying to be defiant.

"Gather a group of humans and ask them to kill a creature, which of course sounds like asking them to kill each other, but there's a trap in that statement."

"What trap?"

I smirked, watching the big guy who said the same thing over and over again.

"You could have just told them to kill 'humans'."

Their eyes widened in disbelief.

"Then the solution is....."

"It's simple. We just need to find another creature we can kill."

With that, I slammed the vending machine with all my might. Then I pointed to a cockroach that scurried out from underneath.

"Ah!"

People gasped as they realized.

I nodded.

"If we all work together, we should be able to collect bugs quickly."

"Let's do it, right now!"

"Let's all put down the vending machine!"

People now clung to the vending machine instead of the invisible wall.

Their faces became livelier, perhaps because this time they had a sense of reality.

"Push!"

The moment the vending machine was pushed, a can of soda fell out with the sound of shaking.

No one took the drink.

"One more time!"

The vending machine tilted, and soon I heard something break.

The next thing I know, bugs are falling out of the back of the machine.

"They're out! Let's catch them!"

I shouted to the rushing people.

"If you catch a bug, don't kill it, show it to me first!"

"What? Why?"

I continued to speak firmly, despite their wary glances.

"I need to see if it's carrying eggs."

"Eggs?"

"An egg might qualify as a life form, so if we find one, we can all live."

"Ah.....!"

"Remember, you have other people's lives in your hands. Only we can save each other."

People glanced back at each other, then took off their shoes and socks and start catching bugs.

Some people hit the vending machines with their bags or fists, while others grabbed nearby fire extinguishers and hit it with them.

Even the big guy who had been giving me a hard time joined in and kicked a vending machine.

The reader ahjussi —the one who's daughter likes Kim Dokja— slowly came to my side and asked.

"Are you okay?"

"What about you?"

"I'm fine."

We watched the bustling crowd.

Wiping blood from the corner of his mouth, the reader ahjussi said.

"You decided to save them all."

People scrambling to kill the bugs.

This would change the story of Geumho Station.

Those who were supposed to kill people and survive would kill bugs and survive.

Maybe even that big guy who wasn't in the original story.

"Is it because of me?"

The reader ahjussi lowered his head as if feeling guilty.

This will change the course of the entire novel, and we will face a future we don't know.

I put my hand lightly on reader ahjussi's shoulder.

"Don't think about it. I was going to do this from the start."

The number of people who caught one, two, and more insects began to increase.

Among them was the deacon, who had already secured his share of bugs.

"It's all thanks to you, brother. Thank you."

"No, it's not."

Perhaps this deacon was meant to die.

I felt a strange pang of guilt at the thought.

How many people have died like this in my novel?

[The character 'Kim Cheolyang' begins to trust you.]

It was then that I suddenly heard the character's inner thoughts.

My heart started to beat fast.

I felt that something was finally coming.

As expected, I had an exclusive skill.

[The exclusive skill 'Character List' has been activated.]

[Character List.]

A skill that allows you to view the information of the characters in 'Omniscient Reader'.

It was a skill that Kim Dokja, the main character of Omniscient Reader, also had.

I tried to use the skill on the deacon.

[The exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated.]

<Character Summary>

Name: Kim Cheolyang

Age: 27 years old

Sponsor: None (No constellations are currently showing interest in this person).

Exclusive Attributes: Crouching Figure (General), Attention Seeker (General)

Exclusive Skills: [Irrational Blind Faith Lv.2], [Cognitive Dissonance Lv.3]

Overall Stats: [Physique Lv.1], [Strength Lv.2], [Agility Lv.2], [Magic Power Lv.3]

> Overall Evaluation: Kim Cheolyang feels that his faith is currently being tested; he wants to be a leader who is recognized by the people, but he has been unable to overcome his natural personality and he's crouching down.

Character Kim Cheolyang.

I thought the name sounded familiar, and then I remembered that I had written down a character named Kim Cheolyang at some point.

However, it was in one of over 10,000 notes, and I couldn't recall any details since the character was included in an abandoned setting.

By the way, for an extra character, his exclusive attribute is pretty interesting.

'Crouching Figure.'

It was originally Jung Heewon who had the Crouching Figure attribute in the original version of the story.

Depending on the circumstances, this trait has the potential to put him on the list of the 100 strongest in the world.

Is he a great unknown character?

Kim Cheolyang, who didn't know what I was thinking, kept talking.

"It's a good thing that this happened during the outdoor evangelism..... and I'm so glad we met you."

"Oh, yes."

"Maybe the end of days has finally come, and like brother said, God is watching us."

He's probably watching us pretty hard. Grabbing a handful of popcorn for every head that explodes.

"I think we're doing pretty well with your help, though."

"Shhh."

"Huh?"

Suddenly, I understood why I abandoned this character.

How dare he say 'pretty well'.

That line is a trigger in 'Omniscient Reader'.

—Hoo.

Shit. As expected.

—Here's another one who's playing tricks.

The message was atypical.

A message that used the one-on-one dokkaebi communication instead of the official channels.

It was an ominous omen.

There was no such development in the main story of 'Omniscient Reader'.

—Don't make it obvious, just listen. I'm telling you this specifically because it's funny.

When I quickly lowered my gaze and pretended nothing happened, Bihyung continued talking with satisfaction.

—I see what you're thinking, but you'd better use your judgment. The constellations don't like incarnations that are too smart.

Apparently, Bihyung was talking because of his own personal benefit.

Maybe they didn't like what I was doing.

I laughed bitterly as I looked in the air where Bihyung might be.

What would you, a low level dokkaebi, know? I'm sure I know far better than you what the constellations like.

—Sometimes it's wise not to think too hard.

That was all Bihyung said.

"Found it! I found another one!"

"We're not quite there yet, we've got a lot of people left—"

"The trash can! Let's look in the trash can, too!"

The number of people trapped together was exactly twenty-two.

We needed to secure at least twenty-two bugs for everyone to survive.

"Found one!"

"Here, take another one!"

There were also people who had already caught bugs and were holding them for others. It was a very moving scene.

It was hard to believe that these were the same people who fought for food in the original 'Omniscient Reader'.

The big guy picked up a large cockroach from afar and waved at me with a big smile on his face.

"Hey, is this one okay? It's a living thing too, right?"

I nodded.

The bustling crowd slowed down noticeably.

I turned to them and asked.

"Is there anyone who hasn't caught a bug yet?"

No one raised their hand.

Twenty-two bugs, to be exact. That was the same number of people trapped here. It was a clean sweep, the best possible result, without having to search for bug eggs.

"Hey, can we kill it now?"

"If we kill it, can we get out of here?"

Relief washed over their faces.

The pleasure that we had survived together without harming anyone.

After carefully checking everyone's hands for a bug, I nodded.

"Brothers and sisters, let's thank our insect brothers for their sacrifice!"

With the deacon's declaration, several people clapped their hands and slapped down the bugs they held.

When the tension eased a bit, some people asked silly questions.

"Can I step on it?"

"You don't have to kill it with your hands, do you? You just have to kill it."

When I told them they could kill them any way they wanted, they started stomping on the bugs like dirty children.

Squish!

Similar sounds echoed around the room.

Even the big guy, who had torn off all the bugs' legs afraid that it would escape, crushed it with his feet.

"Die! Die!"

I opened the pocket that held the bug. The dead bug was there, along with some thick body fluids. I must have squeezed it too tightly earlier when I tried to save the ahjussi.

I could hear the crowd cheering.

"Is it okay now?"

I was a little worried about the change of the development at Geumho Station, but as I looked at the reader ahjussi's faintly smiling face, I realized that it was okay.

Maybe now the people of Geumho Station will be able to live a completely different life from the one I wrote.

"Nothing happened, are you sure it's over?"

Someone asked anxiously.

"Has anything changed?"

People looked at each other and asked.

"This thing is dead, right? Is it because it's a bug?"

The big guy who had been trampling the bug in the corner questioned.

I don't know how many times he trampled on it because the giant bug was crushed by the sole of his sneakers and I couldn't find any trace of it.

I thought back to the first scenario of 'Omniscient Reader' and suddenly realized an eerie fact.

I turned to the reader ahjussi.

"Ahjussi."

"What?"

"Did you get the system message after you killed the bug earlier?"

"Yeah. The scenario is cleared....."

I pulled out the dead bug from my pocket.

A bug that I couldn't tell when it died.

A chill ran down my spine.

「I didn't receive any system messages.」

559 Episode 2. Rewrite (4)

---

I stared down at the bug's body for a long time.

It didn't make sense. Something must be wrong with the <Star Stream> system if it still deemed this bug to be 'alive'.

"Now I just have to wait, right? I did as I was told."

"Hey, we've completed our assignment, let us out!"

Why isn't there a scenario completion message. A system message should have appeared as soon as the bug was killed.

[There has been a problem with the main scenario system.]

With a tsuchuchut sound, Bihyung appeared out of thin air. He looked back at me and the others with a troubled look on his face.

[Hey..... everyone.]

The moment I saw his face, I realized what I missed.

I was an idiot. Why didn't I notice sooner?

—Here's another one who's playing tricks.

A little while ago, Bihyung said that in the dokkaebi communication.

That meant that I wasn't the only one who was playing the scenario in an unusual way.

At first, I thought he was referring to Kim Dokja.

But there was something I hadn't considered.

There wasn't just one 'reader' in this scenario.

Bihyung, who was twitching his lips, spoke up in a disapproving voice.

[It seems like you all think this is some sort of insect killing game. The scenario this time is really strange. Can the same thing happen at the same time?]

I looked at the ahjussi. He seemed to be thinking the same thing.

"No way....."

Somewhere in the world, there are readers who have read 'Omniscient Reader' just like him.

They knew the solution to the first scenario, just like we did, so they chose to catch bugs and clear the scenario.

What we didn't realize was that too many people had used that solution.

[The Bureau has detected an unnatural flow in the scenario.]

[The probability of the scenario begins to tilt.]

[The will of the <Star Stream> is moving.]

A trope that has been tried so often, it has lost its novelty.

[You've got to hand it to humans for being cruel, killing poor bugs to save their own lives....]

I glanced down at the bug carcasses strewn throughout the station. Miserably squashed and trampled corpses.

The recognition of bugs as 'living things' might mean that they were also 'scenario participants'.

So what did we look like in their eyes?

Bihyung looked at the bug carcasses on the floor, shook his head, and turned away.

"W-what's that all about?"

"I thought we were supposed to kill bugs to live?"

"It'll be fine, I'm sure he's just trying to scare us."

"Right, right, we played by the rules!"

In this world, the rules of the 'scenario' were absolute.

In particular, the 'Main Scenario' had an authority that even the dokkaebis could not violate.

No matter how much Bihyung disliked the situation, the main scenario could not be changed unless the entire Bureau moved.

Tsuchuchuchut.

It had to be like that.

"U-uaaa! What's going on?"

This had never happened in 'Omniscient Reader'.

Not even when the <Kim Dokja's Company> entered the 1,865th round with Group Regression.

I instinctively looked up into the air.

I couldn't see any stars in the ceiling-blocked sky. However, somewhere in that unseen sky, there must be constellations watching our underground struggle.

[The probability of the <Star Stream> is moving.]

I remembered the grand principle of the <Star Stream> that I had forgotten for the past three years.

「The probability of the <Star Stream> moves towards the direction stars are interested in.」

[The main scenario contents have changed.]

It felt like the celestial body of the universe was tilting.

And at that exact tilt, I could hear the laws of the world twisting.

[For this scenario only, 'bugs' are excluded from 'living creatures'.]

[For the purposes of this scenario, 'bug killing' is no longer recognized as 'killing a living thing'.]

People screamed everywhere.

In the center of the abyss, I saw my own reflection in a window.

Through a door's window, a strange man was smiling at me.

「Now that's more like 'Omniscient Reader'.」

---

I once wrote that a story becomes a different story when you read it again. I still think that's right.

I didn't mean it like this.

<Main Scenario #1 - Proof of Value>

Clear Conditions: Kill one or more creatures.

Reward: 300 coins

Failure: Death

* In this scenario, 'bugs' are not treated as 'living things'.

* Clearance conditions for this scenario will no longer change.

When I read it again, the scenario actually changed.

The 'killing bugs' that Kim Dokja used is no longer allowed in this scenario.

"H-how can you do this all of a sudden!"

"Did anyone get a different message?"

Judging by the looks on their faces, no one had cleared the scenario.

I glanced in the reader ahjussi's direction, and he lowered his voice.

"It says I cleared it."

Luckily, the reader ahjussi was the first to kill the bug, and the scenario was recognized as cleared.

"Don't make a fuss, and pretend you didn't clear either."

"Okay, but you....."

I shook my head, and his face turned pale.

He must be blaming himself for my death.

"Oh, my. Then—"

"Don't worry about me. It's not really me you should be worried about."

"What?"

"The rules have changed, and the person who was supposed to live may die."

The person who was supposed to live.

That is, those who had survived by 'killing bugs' in Omniscient Reader.

"No way."

Reader ahjussi seemed to have thought of that as well.

「Kim Dokja might die.」

We didn't yet know if the changed rules were specific to some regions or if they would apply to the entire scenario area.

But now we had to assume the worst. If, in the unlikely event that this change kills Kim Dokja, then—

「Someone will have to replace Kim Dokja.」

Reader ahjussi asked, his lips trembling.

"What do we do now?"

"We'll have to think about it, I don't know yet."

The terrified people raised their voices to the air.

"We killed a creature, what the hell?"

[A few constellations are giggling.]

For the first time, we heard a message from the constellations.

The stunned people looked around in horror.

Deacon Kim Cheolyang, who came rushing over, grabbed me by my shoulders.

"Brother, what are we going to do? Is there any other way but the bugs?"

Not only Kim Cheolyang, but all the other people who were looking for bugs rushed toward me.

"You got us into this mess! What are we going to do now?"

"Take responsibility!"

They shouted at me. As if I was responsible for this whole mess.

I calmly retorted.

"Because of me?"

"Uh, well, you're responsible anyway! You're the reason we're all going to die!"

"Calm down. No one's going to die. Just because the bugs failed doesn't mean there is no way out."

"You're right. I can kill you if I have to."

The big guy who had stopped trampling on the bug was coming toward me, dragging the soles of his sneakers.

I looked at him and said.

"Of course, that's one option, if you're willing to deal with the aftermath."

"What?"

"After that's over, people will remember the killer."

If he was Kim Namwoon, this logic wouldn't work.

But the big guy wasn't as crazy as Kim Namwoon, and he stopped approaching me.

In the future, only murderers will survive. However, that's not something that ordinary people can easily conclude.

It was the lack of imagination that I dug into.

"Then what? We have to kill living things to live."

"We can kill something. Not bugs nor people."

"What if the conditions change again? We just failed."

"They won't change this time."

"How do you know that?"

"Have you even read the scenario?"

I could see people opening the scenario window in a panic.

"It's true, the conditions won't change now."

"Can we believe this?"

I hadn't intended to go this far, but now the tables had turned.

"There's going to be a prime minister's speech on the news soon, and level one national disaster is going to be declared."

"What?"

"Here's what he's going to say."

I said like a newscaster, recalling the opening lines of 'Omniscient Reader' I'd revised dozens of times.

"To all my fellow citizens, unidentified terrorists are currently active in an unspecified number of areas, including Seoul."

At my words, people opened their phones and started browsing the internet.

I quickly added before they could find the video.

"For your information, the president is already dead, and the prime minister will be killed during his speech."

Less than a dozen seconds later, someone screamed.

"The prime minister is really speaking!"

The prime minister's voice came from cell phones everywhere.

—To all my fellow citizens, unidentified terrorists are currently active in an unspecified number of areas, including Seoul.

Those were the exact words I spoke. The next sentence was no different.

The current government will fight against the terrorists with all means and methods, and there will be no negotiations. Therefore, the people should go about their daily lives with peace of mind.....

As the Prime Minister continued to speak, people looked in my direction as if possessed.

Then.

"U-uaaak!"

A startled citizen dropped his cell phone.

The prime minister was dead.

His head exploded in real time.

"What the hell is this.....!"

As events unfolded as I said, the big guy stuttered.

"You must have secretly looked it up online."

"W-what are you talking about, it was live!"

"How the hell do you know that, brother?"

I didn't answer back.

A few gunshots rang out, and Bihyung's face appeared on the screen, replacing the prime minister.

I could hear gulps of breath all around me.

[Everyone, I've told you already. This isn't a game like 'terrorism'.]

I'm sure other readers are seeing the same thing I'm seeing right now.

But from now on, they were about to see something a little different.

Normally, at this point, the remaining time would be reduced by 10 minutes, and if the first kill didn't occur within 5 minutes, a penalty is triggered that wipes out all life in the area.

This will not be the case this time around.

「Because the scenario's clear conditions can no longer be changed.」

After the Bureau intervened once to remove the 'bugs' from the scenario, the first scenario's clearance conditions were completely locked.

Therefore, the 'time penalty' will not be triggered this time.

With a beep, a timer appeared out of thin air, and Bihyung laughed.

[There are twenty minutes left now. If you don't want to die, keep your chin up. Especially if you don't want to end up like your leaders.]

With those words, the screen flashed with images of the National Assembly members' heads exploding.

The frightened people stood back in horror.

"What the hell is this—"

"U-uwaaa!"

A sense of dread settled over the entire station. Strangely enough, the horror actually uplifted me deeply.

Suddenly, I wanted to write like crazy.

「We gained 10 minutes, so 'killing bugs' wasn't all for nothing.」

If I survive this, I might write the side story.

[The 'exclusive skill' becomes more active.]

560 Episode 2. Rewrite (5)

---

The people who watched the prime minister die in real time lost their minds and ran toward the transparent wall they had pushed against earlier.

"We have to get out of here now! Break this wall!"

"Push it again, it might get pushed back!"

[Until the scenario in the area is completed, any kind of entry or exit is restricted.]

Panicked people clung to the transparent wall. They reminded me of a swarm of insects in a mosquito net.

I took a short, deep breath and shouted in a loud voice.

"Everyone, pull yourself together. There's still plenty of time."

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is looking at you with a strange look in his eyes.]

[A few constellations are surprised by your calmness.]

"It was the lawmakers who died, not us."

The people look up at you with dazed faces.

[Some incarnations begin to rely on you.]

[Your influence in the scenario area has exceeded a threshold.]

Now that their reason was paralyzed by fear, I had an opportunity.

"We can still choose how to survive."

Our way to survive.

One by one, the people cowering nearby stood up, looking at me.

"B-but. But they're all dead! The president, the prime minister—"

"They were just ordinary people too, who happened to wear those titles."

I heard someone hiccup.

"Get a grip. If you lose your mind here, you'll be left with only one option."

"....."

"And that's going to kill most of us here. Of course, some of us will survive, but they'll be few."

I glanced toward the big guy as I said that, and he growled and glared at me.

But that was his mistake. One by one, the people nearby swarmed toward me, wary of the man.

"What the hell, you guys."

They realized. How the weak survive in a predatory ecosystem where laws and rules are broken.

I continued speaking.

"No one has to die. The strong, the weak, everyone can survive, and there's no need to be disappointed that the bugs failed, it was just the 'first way'."

One by one, people's faces changed. Among them, the one whose expression changed dramatically was the deacon's, Kim Cheolyang, who had made the mistake of saying

'pretty well' earlier.

[The character 'Kim Cheolyang' is convinced by your words.]

[Character 'Kim Cheolyang' feels a strong sense of trust in you.]

"Is there another way? Besides bugs or people..... What else could we kill....."

While people were confused, I thought and thought and thought.

If we couldn't use 'bugs' anymore, now I had to find a new answer.

The first thing I did was to open my phone and check the comments on the 'first episode' of Omniscient Reader.

—If a bug works out, what about bacterias? Bacterias are living things.

This is a story I didn't write.

—Doesn't stomach acid kill bacteria even if you don't move? Doesn't that mean you can survive without doing anything?

—Ah, that's ridiculous.

A world line that exists only as a possibility, imagined by the collective intelligence of readers.

—What's the principle of hand sanitizer? Doesn't it kill germs?

—Wouldn't using a hand sanitizer on your palm save your life?

—There's a lot of germs everywhere.

.....

—What happens if you kill yourself?

"I'm going to tell you the 'second way.'"

| |
| rlaehrwk37: But does that really work? |

"Here's a lighter."

"Clothes are made of fabric, so they'll burn fast, right?"

"It doesn't matter what it is, they're germs, they'll stick to it."

To execute the 'second way', people quickly obtained the supplies I asked for.

"Are you sure this will work?"

I nodded gently and began stacking the bundles of old clothes people had collected in the center of the station.

Our plan was simple. If the bugs didn't work, we'd kill something else. Something too small to see that existed everywhere.

Deacon Kim Cheolyang asked with concern.

"But do germs count? Aren't germs invisible?"

"God is also invisible, isn't he?"

Kim Cheolyang seemed to get a little angry at my words.

Wondering if I had gone too far with the joke, I quickly added.

"In biology class, we learn that bacteria are also living things. Even if you can't see it, it's still a living thing."

I could tell he wasn't convinced, so I explained a little more.

"Think of it like aliens. There must be life on planets in the far universe, but we can't see them."

"Brother, there are no aliens. Only pseudo-religions believe in that."

"Anyway, I'm just giving you an example."

"I see, so you're saying they're living things even if we can't see them."

I nodded, but even I wasn't 100 percent convinced by this strategy.

Does killing an invisible creature work to clear the scenario?

In fact, there is no clear answer to that even if you read the whole novel.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is interested in your strategy.]

[A few constellations wonder what you're trying to do.]

However, there is a commonly accepted 'answer' in all scenarios.

「The one that will be interesting and convincing to the constellations.」

I mutter to myself, staring at the ceiling.

"Maybe it doesn't matter so much what you kill, but how it makes the person who observes it feel."

"What?"

"Maybe what we're killing is one of these germs."

I opened my phone and showed him a list of the germs we were likely to kill and what they looked like.

Germs that are always present in subway stations, but we've never actually seen.

Organisms you can't see with the naked eye, so you wouldn't normally care.

Now people had to kill them to survive.

"I looked it up, and germs are actually living things."

"This time we'll succeed, right?"

Still, people's faces lit up a bit at the thought of a new breakthrough.

Not everyone, of course.

"You've all lost your minds."

The big guy grumbled, glaring at me and the others as if he didn't like the situation.

But then he glanced away, and he opened his phone and began to surreptitiously search for something.

I peeked my head out to see what he was searching for.

—bacteria life

—insect life

—life

—athlete's foot

—propecia side effects

As he was excitedly perusing the list of search terms, reader ahjussi next to me whispered.

"Will this work? We won't be able to identify the germs we kill."

"Well, we'll do what we can. Just because you can't find the bodies of the people you kill with missiles doesn't mean you didn't kill them."

If we had an electron microscope, it would be possible to confirm the death of the bacteria directly, but we didn't.

So for now, we had to do whatever we could.

If we can't see the bacteria, we have to at least do something that makes it clear that we intend to kill them.

That way, the constellations would understand what we were trying to do.

"Will burning really kill the germs? What if they don't die?"

"They're going to die. Why do you boil water? Because it sterilizes everything."

"Is that so?"

"Brothers, didn't you look it up earlier? You should know exactly how to kill them."

"Oh, deacon. We're old and don't know what you mean."

Kim Cheolyang explained to them in frustration.

"Ah, germs die because their proteins are denatured when they're heated, right?"

I glanced at Kim Cheolyang with a questioning glance, and he nodded wordlessly.

A moment later, a small campfire blazed in the center of Geumho Station.

> —rlaehrwk99: But by that logic, shouldn't you live because the bacteria in your stomach will die even if you stay still?
> —rlaehrwk24: The stomach is an involuntary muscle, so it's hard to say there was an intention to kill.
>
> —rlaehrwk99: Isn't it possible to kill by controlling the stomach with force?
>
> —rlaehrwk24: The involuntary muscle is....
>
> —rlaehrwk37: Yoo Joonghyuk would be able to control his stomach with force.

People threw the bodies of dead bugs and other miscellaneous items they had into the fire.

Kim Cheolyang threw his cell phone case into the fire, and reader ahjussi tore receipts from his wallet.

Others threw their shoes into the fire or pulled out their hair.

The big guy, who was wary of people, secretly took off his socks and threw them into the fire.

"My sock....."

No one brought up the last words of the big guy.

10, 20.....

The people stood still and watched the bonfire burn.

Sitting around the campfire with such a serious look in their eyes, it felt like we were at a religious retreat.

They were praying to an invisible god, thinking about invisible germs.

I did the same.

The invisible bacteria burned in the sacred flame.

They were burning.

I believed they were burning.

However, imagining the death of unknown germs was as difficult as imagining the faces of nameless readers.

What happened to them?

Like the reader ahjussi with his hands clasped together, muttering something, others must be alive somewhere in this world.

Judge Heewon who sat next to me in the theater, the girl who wondered if Kim Dokja was alive or dead, the reader who knew the secret of 1,863, and the reader who memorized the number of ■.....

I closed my eyes and imagined them safely completing the first scenario.

"Did anyone get a message or anything?"

I said, and they looked at each other. Eyes nervous, like worshippers waiting for a message from God.

"Oh, there's something in front of me....."

At that moment, God's message appeared in front of everyone.

[Due to excessive modifications to the current scenario, there is an error with system message display and payment compensation.]

[Scenario clear messages will be automatically delivered after the time limit has elapsed.]

Someone muttered in surprise.

"What the hell is this....."

No need to ask, the message was simple.

No matter what we do next, we won't know if the scenario is cleared until 'the end of the scenario'.

I was stunned.

No way, I didn't expect this from the administration.

It was at that moment that a tsuchuchut went off in my head.

[What the hell are you thinking?]

With a tired face, Bihyung appeared.

[This season has been really weird. What is wrong with all of you? If you couldn't kill insects, now it's bacteria... Because of you all, there's an error in the scenario system. Since the message display isn't working, I can't look at the results in advance!]

Judging by what Bihyung said, the situation was not intended by the Bureau.

Meanwhile, people were also getting annoyed.

"What's up with that? We can't know if we've passed this or not."

"Hey, did we solve our scenario?"

"Bacterias are living things, right? Please answer me!"

Bihyung frowned at the people.

[That's.....]

The moment Bihyung opened his mouth, sparks flew in the air once again.

[The constellations of the 'absolute evil' system warn the dokkaebi 'Bihyung'.]

[The constellations of the 'absolute good' system warn the dokkaebi 'Bihyung'.]

[The constellations watching the scenario do not want the dokkaebi to intervene in the scenario.]

Something doesn't feel right about this.

[Hmm..... If the constellations say so.]

Bihyung looked around at the incarnations with a frosty gaze.

[Finding the solution is also part of the scenario, so I cannot tell you the answer. But as a special service, I'll let you know what happens if you fail the scenario.]

The moment I heard that, I checked the timer.

[There are 10 minutes remaining.]

It was time for 'that' to show up.

561 Episode 2. Rewrite (6)

A giant holographic screen appeared in the center of the subway station.

People screamed in surprise.

The screen showed a classroom.

Shaking girls in navy blue school uniforms.

It was a scene I recognized.

「Daepong Girls' High School.」

The girls on the screen were working together to break down the classroom door.

Of course, their efforts will fail, because this is such a story.

An ominous beep, beep, beep, beep—

The girls screamed.

[The given time has run out.]

[Paid settlement will begin.]

With the announcement, the girls' heads began to explode one by one.

I opened my eyes and stared at the scene. I had a responsibility to see the story through to the end.

On the screen, the last remaining girl clutched her friend's throat.

A choked groan.

Then the only survivor on the screen looked around.

[#Bay23515 channel. Daepong Girls' High School, Year 2 Class B Survivor: Lee Jihye.]

The exact same development as 'Omniscient Reader'.

Lee Jihye, who was glaring at the screen, disappeared and Bihyung laughed.

[How about it. It's funny, right?]

"H-how—"

The people in the room froze in horror.

Even the big guy was quite surprised, and the eyes of the reader ahjussi, who probably already knew the story, were shaking.

I was the only one who didn't panic.

[The character 'Lee Hyunjoo' is freaking out!]

[The character 'Yeom Baekhoon' is freaking out!]

Psychological messages from characters were coming from all over the place.

Bihyung touched the exact spot where people's anxiety was coming from and disappeared again.

"T-the kid who survived at the end. She must have killed someone."

Someone muttered as if possessed.

The chorus of voices around him spread like wildfire.

"Are we wrong? What if the germs aren't the answer?"

"Are you sure you know what you're talking about? Are you sure we can survive?"

I had to appease them somehow.

"Wait a minute. Can you all calm down?"

"How are we supposed to calm down now?"

The terrified people shouted at me.

The reader ahjussi, who had been watching the situation from the sidelines, stepped forward to dissuade them.

"We don't know the outcome yet, do we? This guy wants to save you all too, so come on __"

"The problem is that we don't know the outcome! If we're wrong, we're screwed!"

"You're the same! You two are friends, aren't you?"

"We're all going to die now because of you, what are we going to do!"

In an instant, the people surrounding us were ready to lynch us. There was also the big guy in the middle of the crowd, smiling with satisfaction.

When I first set up this plan, I knew this would be a crisis point.

I also had a plan for this moment.

But then I got tired.

I wondered if it would be wiser to just run away with the ahjussi and kill the nine minutes.

With these cowardly thoughts running through my mind, I searched the subway for a suitable hiding place.

As soon as I did that.

[The character 'Kim Cheolyang' is looking at you.]

[The character 'Kim Cheolyang' wants to do something unexpected.]

A message rang in my head.

[The activation conditions for the exclusive skill '■■' have been met.]

[The exclusive skill '■■' has been activated.]

.....■■?

[The character 'Kim Cheolyang's attribute is preparing to bloom.]

[You can interfere with character 'Kim Cheolyang's attribute blooming.]

[The exclusive skill '■■' is activated!]

The scenery around me turned colorless, and people's actions slowed down drastically.

I, too, stiffened and stopped moving.

In a world where time had stopped, only the letters floated in the colorless background.

「Lee Hyekyung thought, 'It's all because of him.'」

「Kim Haemoon thought, 'I'm being punished by heaven for killing a bug.'」

「Ji Hyungdong didn't like those narrow eyes from the beginning.」

When I looked closely, there was another sentence floating above my head.

「And Lee Hakhyun realized what the skill was.」

Then a message appeared in the white space in front of me.

[You have entered the 'Snowfield'.]

[Describe the next action of 'Kim Cheolyang'.]

Just as Kim Dokja had a 'reader' skill, I had a 'writer' skill.

Skill '■■'.

Will what I write come true?

Since I didn't have much time, I decided to write a sentence in the blank first. The purpose was clear.

Use Kim Cheolyang to save me and the ahjussi from the crisis.

As I concentrated, the sentences flowed out of my head.

It was natural.

I'm Omniscient Reader's author.

「At that moment, an unknown loyalty sprang up inside of Kim Cheolyang for the man with the narrow eyes[1] This loyalty soon awakened him.」

[NOTE 1]

[The character 'Kim Cheolyang' evolves into 'Judge of Destruction'.]

"Stop. Don't touch him." (149 characters in total)」

That's it.

At a glance, it was a perfect development.

Using the fact that his attribute is 'Crouching Figure', I evolved Kim Cheolyang into a 'Judge of Destruction' like Jung Heewon.

As far as I'm concerned, it's an excellent double-entendre.

[This story is ridiculous.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 1%.]

[You're running out of probability.]

Huh?

[Do you want to check the reader's feedback?]

I nodded in agreement.

> rlaehrwk37: I'm getting off

I stood dumbfounded for a moment, then regained my composure. Now was not the time to be shocked.

I resumed writing my sentence.

| rlaehrwk37: Do you want to die? |

I wrote a couple more times like that with no luck.

After taking one comment punch after another, I was mentally exhausted.

[There are 30 seconds remaining.]

I started to feel self-deprecating. I couldn't think of anything to write or how to write it.

I closed my eyes, watching the time tick away in real time.

It's times like these that I need to go back to the drawing board.

「"Author-nim."」

Then I heard the voice of the dokkaebi Ji Eunyu in my head.

「"What does this character want?"」

Ah.

[There are 20 seconds remaining.]

[The exclusive attribute is in effect!]

I thought about Kim Cheolyang, a character who existed only as a setting.

[There are 15 seconds remaining.]

How he would act in this situation, what he would say, what he would want to be.

Just like the day I first wrote 'Omniscient Reader', I frantically wrote sentences.

I spoke as Kim Cheolyang and acted as Kim Cheolyang.

At that moment, I was Kim Cheolyang.

The moment I typed the last word.

[The time limit has expired.]

[This story is plausible.]

[There's enough probability.]

[Do you want to check the reader's feedback?]

| |
| rlaehrwk37: Oh |

I don't know what that "oh" means, but at least it surprised the reader.

By the way, this asshole, I'll remember your ID.

[Successfully recreating the scene.]

[Leaving the 'Snowfield'.]

I felt the power draining from my body, and the colors around me returned to normal.

The excited people came toward me and reader ahjussi and I could see the big guy come to us.

Then.

"Everyone."

「At that moment, Kim Cheolyang stepped forward.」

The sentence I had written began to come to life.

"Our faith is being tested right now."

「Not anyone could do it. But the moment he stepped forward, he was seized with an intense belief that he had been chosen by God.」

"Faith?"

「Maybe it was the fire. I could see the fire burning beyond their pupils.」

That's all I wrote. However, it was enough for an introduction.

According to [Character List], Kim Cheolyang sees this scenario as a test of faith.

"I'm sure you've all noticed by now that someone is watching us from the sky."

[The eyes of a few constellations light up.]

The crowd roared at the timely message.

Encouraged, Kim Cheolyang became more determined and shouted.

"The 'gods' are watching our choices, whether we choose justice or evil."

[Evolution of character 'Kim Cheolyang' is imminent!]

[The words of the character 'Kim Cheolyang' move people's hearts.]

"Think about it with common sense. The one who killed a human and cleared the scenario, and the one who cleared the scenario without killing anyone. Which one is more just, and who would the gods be rooting for?"

The listeners shook their heads. Some muttered, 'That's right' and 'murder is a big sin'.

"The answer is set. We chose the right side, and the only thing left is our faith in ourselves. We even met a 'God's emissary' who knows the future."

God's emissary?

Kim Cheolyang, who suddenly stood up from his seat, pointed at me over the campfire.

"We listened to him and found a way to solve the challenge without anyone dying. We've already passed the ordeal."

That's a line I didn't mean him to say?

The moment Kim Cheolyang looked at me with passionate eyes, people also looked back at me.

And then.

"Maybe the deacon is right. There's no way we'll be asked to kill human beings."

People started talking.

"Look at those kids in the video. They're all dead because they were trying to kill each other."

"People's lives are so precious!"

A life-threatening situation in an unrealistic scenario.

There's a god watching over them, and a religious person affirming and encouraging their choices.

Killing was scary, faith was close.

Survival, in which they all believed, was sweet.

Hope, which was powerless when they were separated, became a religion when a single event brought them together.

"Kim Cheolyang! Kim Cheolyang!"

"We were chosen, we were chosen....."

Someone cried out in excitement.

I could see reader ahjussi sighing lightly from the side.

Anyway, thanks to the great work of the awakened Kim Cheolyang, the crisis for me and the ahjussi seemed to have passed safely.

But that wasn't the end of the story.

[The character 'Kim Cheolyang' has awakened the new attribute 'Cult Leader'.]

[The character 'Kim Cheolyang' has acquired a new religious view.]

[The character "Kim Cheolyang" has acquired the basic doctrine of the 'Life's Teachings'.]

Life's Teachings (生命教).

The moment I heard the name, a chill ran down my spine.

One of the ten thousand notes in my head came back to me clearly.

「At that moment, Lee Hakhyun remembered exactly who 'Kim Cheolyang' was.」

[The character 'Kim Cheolyang' had accepted your 'view of life'.]

[You had a great influence on the establishment of the religious view.]

I realized what I had done.

The character Kim Cheolyang.

My first notes about him are as follows.

「From the Ten Evils (十惡), the Life Leader Kim Cheolyang.」

The Ten Evils, the worst villains of Omniscient Reader.

I just raised one of them with my own hands.

562 Episode 2. Rewrite (7)

---

While writing Omniscient Reader, there were a few times when the plot would break down.

A character would suddenly speak in a historical drama style, or they would forget a skill (or more accurately, I would forget it).

I apologized to my readers and made changes to save the day.

But what I did this time was impossible to fix.

"Let's praise the germs who made a significant sacrifice for us."

As if having a profound impact on the cult's religious views wasn't enough, I'm now also involved in the re-emergence of the Ten Evils.

"Oh— germs, germs, bacteria."

What the hell have you done, Lee Hakhyun?

The reader ahjussi next to me was clapping his hands with the wrong beat, unaware of what was going on.

[Your influence in this scenario area is significant.]

[The 'view of life' you spread dominates the religious views in the area.]

I wondered if I should just lean into it and become a villain.

It was not a wise idea.

"Oh— the great sacrifice of the germs."

If I ran into Yoo Joonghyuk while doing something like this, I would be decapitated with a single blow.

[The character 'Lee Hyunjoo' believes in you.]

[The character 'Im Baekhoon' believes in you.]

[The character 'Yeom Youngcheol' believes in you.]

Still, I didn't feel too bad that everyone believed in me.

I've never had so many people believe in me in my life.

[Most of the incarnations in the area are moved by your words.]

After one hymn, the tension eased, and people sat around the campfire in a circle.

A few people sipped canned drinks from the vending machine, talked, and prayed.

"Isn't this supposed to kill germs? Lactobacillus acidophilus is also a bacterium. I hear no one makes it to the intestines alive."

"Where were you going, ahjumma?"

"I was just on my way to pick up my son's yogurt. What about you?"

"I had dinner plans with my girlfriend."

"Well, that's funny, because I was just on my way to go to see the chicken restaurant I opened with my wife, and then this tragedy....."

Others handed me a canned drink and said.

"Bacteria are also living things, this is the first time I've realized it. Wow, young people are so smart."

"You should study well. Where did you go to college?"

I didn't answer, just smiled meaninglessly.

With a speech by Life Leader Kim Cheolyang, both religious and non-religious people had a strange look on their faces.

They say that religion is a drug to overcome death, and maybe that's true.

However, not everyone was high on it.

"Are you all crazy? There's a surefire way to live, but you're going to let it go?"

Not surprisingly, it was the big guy. He had something like a pipe in his hand; I didn't know where he got it from.

I couldn't see him for a moment, then I realized he'd been searching through the station for it.

"If you want to get fucked, get fucked alone."

The people's faces tensed as the weaponized big guy approached.

"Wait a minute, what's wrong with you? You burned your socks earlier."

"Naive assholes. You really believe it's killing if you kill something you can't even see or tell if it's dead or not?"

"Well, so what?"

"Have you forgotten what that monster showed us earlier? The surest way to get out of here alive."

The big pipe pointed at the people.

"Kill someone here, and you'll be sure to live."

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is chuckling.]

I think I know what's going on.

Apparently, one of the constellations encouraged him.

I looked at the big guy and activated [Character List.]

[The exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated!]

<Character Summary>

Name: Lee Cheoldoo

Age: 39 years old

Sponsor: None (one constellation is currently showing interest in this person).

Exclusive Attributes: Gangster (general), Ex-convict (general)

Exclusive Skills: [Dogfight Lv.3], [Bluff Lv.3], [Intimidation Lv.3], [Headbutting Lv.2]

Overall Stats: [Physique Lv.7], [Strength Lv.7], [Agility Lv.6], [Magic Power Lv.1]

Overall Rating: This is the boss of the 'Cheoldoo Group'. Characterized by a hard head, he has a powerful headbutting technique.

The boss of the 'Cheoldoo Group', Lee Cheoldoo.

It wasn't until I read the description that I realized who this guy was.

Come to think of it, there was a group called 'Cheoldoo' at Geumho Station.

The Cheoldoo Group's boss wasn't in the original story of 'Omniscient Reader', but I had created a setting for it.

I took a step forward and said.

"Don't panic. We're in a group, and he's alone."

No matter how many weapons Lee Cheoldoo had, or whether he was the Cheoldoo Group's boss, he couldn't fight against twenty-one people.

But Lee Cheoldoo didn't let up.

"Whoa, wait a minute. Kill you all? I only have to kill one of you. From these 27..."

As he scanned the faces of the people, one by one, as if he was picking out the weakest bug, he glanced in my direction.

"Let's be honest with each other, you're all scared to death of believing that bastard too, aren't you?"

Lee Cheoldoo laughed lightly and slapped his pipe with his palm as if he understood.

"First ten people. Stick to my side, and I'll take responsibility and save you no matter what."

He took another step forward, adding.

"The rest of you, be prepared to die."

Everyone took a step back as Lee Cheoldoo approached.

Kim Cheolyang panicked and shouted.

"Don't listen to him, everyone. We've already won the right to survive! There's no need to fight unnecessarily!"

Then, the enraged people shouted in unison.

"That's right, you killed the germs too! You can live if you stay still, why are you doing this?"

"Maybe you don't get it yet, but it's okay now? You can live because you killed the germs."

Still, killing bugs and germs together created a sense of camaraderie, and the unity of the people wasn't bad.

[The incarnations in the area are united.]

[The influence of the religious view is growing stronger.]

Lee Cheoldoo scratched his ears in disbelief and became irritated.

"You're really crazy. Then let's just have one of you die to me."

"D-don't panic, if we all fight together—"

"I don't care how many of you there are."

Lee Cheoldoo's pipe hissed and scraped the floor.

"You'll die in the order you come."

The people backed away in horror.

If everyone pitched in, they might be able to subdue him.

However, no one was willing to step forward.

As he searched for a target, Lee Cheoldoo's eyes landed on the man closest to him.

Realizing that he had been targeted, he called out to the surrounding area.

"H-help me, please! Help me!"

But no one tried to help him. The crowd quickly backed away like a swarm of bugs that had been discovered.

Lee Cheoldoo raised his pipe as if he knew that would happen.

[The character 'Kim Haemoon' is panicking!]

"S-save me! I'll stick with you!"

Character Kim Haemoon. He had been passive ever since he killed the bug.

Lee Cheoldoo said fiercely.

"No, I don't need you anymore."

"Please, please! I'll give you 100 million if we get out of here, I can even send you the money right now!"

Lee Cheoldoo frowned as he thought for a moment.

"100 million. Then you decide who to kill."

Kim Haemoon looked at the others with trembling eyes.

The first person he looked at was the ahjumma who said she was going to give her son yogurt.

She was the first to run away when Lee Cheoldoo turned toward Kim Haemoon.

[The character 'Lee Hyekyung' is terrified.]

"W-why are you looking at me! I have to live, my child is waiting for me!"

Kim Haemoon's head turned to look at the man next to her. It was the young man who had dinner plans with his girlfriend.

[The character 'Jeong Hancheol' is looking around.]

Jeong Hancheol quickly looked back and forth between Kim Haemoon and Lee Cheoldoo, and gave a small, friendly smile.

"Can I be on your side?"

Kim Haemoon's head snapped back to the middle-aged man beside him.

[The character 'Ji Hyungdong' is freaking out.]

This time, it was the man who said he opened a chicken restaurant with his wife.

I walked over to him, thinking it was a bad idea. The time limit was about to expire, so I had to drag it out somehow.

But when he saw me, Ji Hyungdong pointed at me.

"I-If you're going to kill someone, kill him! He made this whole thing happen!"

At first, I thought I had misheard him, but then people started chattering around me.

"That's right. He got us into this mess, so he should be held accountable."

They were obviously friendly people until a while ago.

"W-why are you looking at us like that? He's not wrong."

"What's wrong with you, young man? Fight. Fight and win."

"At times like these, you step up like a man!"

My breathing became stifled, as if I were the bug trapped in my pocket.

Lee Cheoldoo smiled at me.

"Okay, you'll work."

In an instant, the surroundings became silent.

When I turned around, people began to avoid my eyes as if they had made a promise.

Even without [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint], it was obvious what they were thinking.

「As long as it's not me.」

I wasn't surprised.

I already knew this was their nature.

I looked at the approaching Lee Cheoldoo and thought to myself.

Average physique, strength and agility of 7.

I wonder if I can beat him.

[There are 5 minutes remaining.]

Let's just hold on for five minutes.

I looked at Kim Cheolyang for the last time. He looked at my pupils and made a complicated expression.

[The character 'Kim Cheolyang' is very troubled.]

[The character 'Kim Cheolyang' is a person whose 'sentence' you wrote yourself.]

[You have a very good understanding of the character.]

I didn't have [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint], but Kim Cheolyang's internal thoughts echoed in my ears.

「There are three people who have influence in this station right now.」

「Me, the narrow eyes man, and the big guy.」

Kim Cheolyang's eyes quickly switched between me and the big guy.

「If I don't stop him, he'll die.」

「I don't think he's going to listen to me.」

「If I don't succeed, I'll.....」

Quickly changing his posture, Kim Cheolyang took a step away from me with the people and shouted loudly.

"Don't move rashly, everyone. Stand back. God's emissary is about to offer atonement for us."

Kim Cheolyang is a man who fears his power being threatened. If he can't stop the beast anyway, he'd rather take advantage of the situation.

A way to strengthen his position and justify my death.

"No matter how insignificant, a life is a life. Right now, God's emissary is going to sacrifice himself to atone for killing the bacterial brothers. Let's all say thank you."

It was ridiculous, but the people's eyes were already filled with madness.

They, too, had agreed to sacrifice me for their own survival.

Jeong Hancheol and Ji Hyungdong whispered as they retreated.

"Germs are living beings, you could have just looked it up on the Internet. It's not like it's a big deal. You'd have figured it out eventually, right?"

"Let's not get into this, let's stay neutral. There's a reason he's so upset."

I was still calm.

「No writer is ever surprised by their own words.」

Lee Cheoldoo's shadow was cast on the spot where the others had retreated. The feet that had been relentlessly trampling on the bug turned toward me.

"If it's decided, the rest of you get lost. I'm only going to kill this asshole, as promised. Hey, get out of my way."

People at a short distance were beaten on the arms and legs with the pipe.

"Aaaak! My arm!"

"Don't be stupid, come over here quickly! Only one person needs to die!"

The terrified people quickly ran to the scenario barrier.

Just like that, everyone was far away from my side.

Only one person, the one person who hadn't run away, was still with me for this ending.

563 Episode 2. Rewrite (8)

---

The reader ahjussi standing next to me shook his stiff shoulders and whispered in a low voice.

"Don't fight, just run away on the count of three."

I couldn't know, but he probably read the whole Omniscient Reader.

I'm sure of it.

No, I forgive him if he didn't.

"You should run away, ahjussi. You don't look like you have high stats."

"No, I'll drag it out with you. We don't have much time left, just hang in there—"

Screaming like a wild boar, Lee Cheoldoo lunged at me, aiming for the back of my head.

I threw myself as hard as I could and crashed into him.

"Ouch."

Lee Cheoldoo dropped the pipe, slightly shocked. However, due to the weight difference, he didn't fall.

In the next moment, I saw Lee Cheoldoo's golden teeth shining white.

"You're like a hero."

Lee Cheoldoo lightly pinned down my arms and then headbutted me in the face.

Luckily, I remembered seeing the Headbutting skill in the [Character List], so I reflected my head back, but I was still shocked. My vision spun and my knees sank.

When I came to my senses, Lee Cheoldoo was already mounted on top of me.

I opened my mouth to speak, pretending to be as calm as possible.

"Lee Cheoldoo, leader of the Cheoldoo Group."

His eyes widened at my words.

"What, do you know me?"

"Are you planning to be a murderer for the rest of your life?"

"You asshole....."

Lee Cheoldoo laughed unpleasantly and whispered in my ear.

"Wouldn't that be better than dying?"

Instead of replying, I turned my head and scanned my surroundings. In the distance, I could see people watching. Some were crying, others were praying.

Kim Cheolyang was singing a hymn with them. Oh worms, germs, and whatever, they were celebrating my death.

"Are you laughing?"

Frowning, Lee Cheoldoo grabbed my throat with both hands. With a crack, my breathing was cut off in an instant.

I suddenly realized that there was no one in this story that I knew.

[There is 1 minute remaining.]

There was no righteous Lee Hyunsung here, no Yoo Sangah stepping up for the weak, no Lee Gilyoung collecting worms. There was no Jung Heewon standing up to villains, no Yoo Joonghyuk going insane from repeated regressions, and.....

The oxygen supply to my head was rapidly diminishing, and my entire body felt weak. The moment my vision went dark, I heard a dull noise. Through my blurred vision, I could see Lee Cheoldoo staggering.

Behind him, someone stood holding a pipe dangerously.

It was someone I knew.

Someone who was more ordinary than any of the other Omniscient Reader's characters.

A man whose only familiarity with the world was the novel he had read for ten years.

My protagonist, who was actually a coward, but had risked death for those he loved time and time again.

「Kim Dokja.」

Once again, I heard a dull noise, and Lee Cheoldoo roared and drove his fist into my face.

As I coughed up blood, Lee Cheoldoo chased after Kim Dokja.

I rubbed my eyes, and the back of what looked like Kim Dokja disappeared, and I saw reader ahjussi running away.

[There are 40 seconds remaining.]

After catching him, Lee Cheoldoo snatched the pipe.

I wiped my lips and ran.

[There are 20 seconds remaining.]

Looking at the pipe he was wielding, I wrapped myself around reader ahjussi and rolled over. A sharp pain shot through my back.

I heard Lee Cheoldoo shout.

"You crazy bastard! I'll kill you!"

[There are 10 seconds remaining.]

"You psychopathic bastard! Now everyone is going to be killed because of you! Everyone—"

I looked up at him and smiled for the first time.

"I don't care."

Lee Cheoldoo's screams mingled with the screams of the people and the pounding of my heart.

[There is 1 second remaining.]

Then.

[The given time has run out.]

[Paid settlement will begin.]

All the surrounding sounds disappeared.

I felt dizzy, like the world was spinning.

I gasped for breath and lifted my head. I blinked, checked my vision, and checked my breathing.

Everything was normal.

The time limit had expired and I wasn't dead.

A faint emotion stirred deep in my chest.

The reader ahjussi who was lying next to me stood up and asked.

"Did..... Did we succeed?"

I nodded. As I slowly opened my mouth, I heard the sound of something collapsing next to me.

It was the giant body of Lee Cheoldoo, his head missing.

The startled reader ahjussi shuddered and muttered.

"Huh.....?"

Beyond Lee Cheoldoo's giant body, the desolate landscape of Geumho Station was revealed.

The first thing I saw was the Life Leader Kim Cheolyang.

He was saying something to me. I couldn't hear his voice, but it wasn't hard to imagine the words.

「My God.」

I then looked at Lee Hyekyung, who was bringing yogurt to her son, Jeong Hancheol, who was meeting his girlfriend, and Ji Hyungdong, who was going to run a chicken restaurant with his wife.

I wanted to ask them.

「Does anyone here know the meaning of '1,863'?」

Kim Cheolyang's head exploded with a puff.

「Of course, no one knows.」

Starting with him, people's heads exploded everywhere.

Lee Hyekyung, Jeong Hancheol, Ji Hyungdong.....

The characters' heads were disappearing one by one, as if they had never existed in the first place.

I staggered toward Kim Cheolyang.

Looking at the empty space where Kim Cheolyang's head used to be, I tried to recall his face, which was already hard to remember.

But I couldn't.

Because I never described their faces.

They were not used in 'Omniscient Reader'.

People who were set up in advance, but never found a home, and remained just as settings.

「Cult of Life.」

In the setting, the 'Cult of Life' was a cult that recognized only those they designated as 'life', and slaughtered everyone else.

Lee Hyekyung, Jeong Hancheol, and Ji Hyungdong..... The same was true for everyone in this story.

「The people in this zone become part of the 'Cult of Life' in every round that they survive.」

Those who have not been recorded will never be recorded.

They will remain a 'setting' here, unread by anyone.

「Just because someone designed them to be evil.」

I looked over to see reader ahjussi mouth open in disbelief. The scenery of Geumho Station was imprinted in his eyes.

Looking at him, I thought.

I was being thought.

The blood that spilled covered the entire station like spilled ink.

Everywhere I looked, there was no one left alive but us.

Slowly, my legs became weak.

The reader ahjussi muttered in disbelief.

"How can this....."

"....."

"You were trying to save those people, right.....?"

I answered after a pause.

"Yes."

In truth, halfway through, Operation Germ had been doomed to failure.

No matter how I thought about it, there was no way the constellations would find this development amusing.

Still, I didn't let them know.

With that, Kim Cheolyang, the Cult of Life members, and Lee Cheoldoo didn't appear in the story.

I don't know about the rest of the world, but the history of Geumho Station won't be much different from the main story.

「There is only one survivor in this area.」

I looked up at the ceiling. In a blinding flash of light, Bihyung looked down at me. His expression was one of genuine admiration.

Looking into the dokkaebi's story-drunk eyes, I muttered a classic Yoo Joonghyuk line.

"Fuck the Star Stream."

I knew what was about to happen to me.

I could feel the blood trickling down the back of my head.

[The will of the <Star Stream> is looking at you.]

This goddamned world, which only shows what the constellations want, is so contrived in directing.

That's why my head will explode after everyone else's.

[A few constellations are looking at you.]

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is looking at you with amusement.]

I tried to ease the rising terror of death.

I'm not scared. When I die, even this fear will be gone anyway.

I looked at reader ahjussi one last time.

"Ahjussi."

His hands shook as if he knew what was about to happen to me. Tears pooled in his eyes.

"Oh, no, mate. No."

I wanted to survive, at least until I met Kim Dokja, until I saw the hero of my story.

But maybe.

"Make sure you live to see the end."

Maybe I already have.

I prayed that he would live long enough to see the end of this story.

I felt something drain from my head, and then a pure white darkness washed over me.

In my final moments, I thought about how this scene would be written if it were a novel.

What would the reader say about my death, you might wonder as well.

They'd think I deserved to die.

I could think of any number of reasons why I deserved to die.

For not killing the first bug I caught.

For failing to take more control of the situation.

For having faltering sympathy for the characters I created.

.....

Because the story is Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

No matter how many reasons I listed, there were enough reasons to die.

I'm dying because I haven't proven my worth.

That's why I was surprised.

Why.

I'm not dead yet, am I?

| |
| rlaehrwk37: Looking forward to the next chapter. |

I snapped out of it.

I wiped the blood dripping from my head. It was a cut I got from Lee Cheoldoo earlier. Luckily, it wasn't too deep.

My mind became clear again. My breathing and pulse were normal.

「I'm not dead.」

Why the hell?

[You have cleared the first scenario.]

I looked down at my bloody palms.

I hadn't killed a bug.

The bacteria were not recognized as living beings.

But how.

[You have slaughtered a total of 19 creatures.]

[Slaughter story: 19 human beings.]

[You have earned 1,900 coins.]

[You succeeded in killing in a unique way that no one has ever attempted before.]

[A few constellations marvel at your killing strategy.]

When I turned my head, I saw ahjussi's face, and as if in disbelief, he was crying and holding my hand.

As I looked at him, I realized what had happened to me.

[The <Star Stream> has acknowledged your unique way of killing.]

[You incited people with false information, only for them to 'kill themselves'.]

[The Bureau has given you limited recognition for your way of killing.]

[The Bureau has named your way of killing as 'demagogy killing'.]

[Some constellations have sponsored you for the new scenario you have shown.]

[4,000 coins have been earned.]

[You have accomplished a non-existent achievement.]

[You have accomplished the 'Demagogue Killer' achievement for a phenomenal slaughter.]

I turned my head and saw my reflection in the screen door.

He was asking.

「Did you really not see this coming?」

Kim Cheolyang, the member of the 10 Evils who existed only in the setting, did not survive at Geumho Station because of this man.

I knew who he was now.

He was the owner of Geumho Station before Kim Dokja came.

A man who freely used propaganda, manipulated people, and formed a 'group' in the shortest amount of time.

An incarnation that had survived some rounds of 'Ways of Survival' and ascended to the top of the Ten Evils.

The reason why this man is a character with narrow eyes that I have never seen before.

It was because I never described his appearance.

Because this character...

「"I love them all, except for guys like....."」

Because he was the only one of the many characters in the whole Omniscient Reader that I didn't like.

I heard the sound of a drum being torn from somewhere, and the lights flickered harshly. I heard the sound of something creaking and crumbling.

I could tell by the sound alone.

[Main Scenario #1 — Proof of Value has ended.]

It was the sound of reality as we knew it crumbling.

[300 coins have been acquired as a basic clearance reward.]

[100 coins have been reduced for the channel usage fee.]

[Additional compensations settlement will begin.]

One episode was ending, and the next was beginning.

[The character you are currently possessing is 'Demagogue Cheon Inho'.]

564 Episode 3. Protagonist(?) (1)

---

「When you say 'kill', do you mean I have to kill them myself?」

Although it doesn't appear in Omniscient Reader, there is an incarnation that solved the first scenario using 'suicide' in 'Ways of Survival'.

A former legal hypnosis specialist at the FBI, she solved the first scenario by brainwashing a criminal she was working with into committing suicide.

'Demagogy Killing.'

The way I was credited was similar.

The characters who believed the misinformation chose to 'take their own lives' because of me, and I was credited for an 'indirect murder' for causing the mass suicide.

I wondered if such a murder was even possible, but it happened.

[The character you are currently possessing is 'Demagogue Cheon Inho'.]

Perhaps it's because he's the one I'm possessing.

[Your attunement to the character you are currently possessing is too high.]

[Disable some of the possessed character's attributes.]

As I looked down at my bloody hands, I slowly realized what I had done.

If I hadn't possessed Cheon Inho, what would have happened to the people of Geumho Station?

「Wouldn't they have been killed by Cheon Inho the same way anyway?」

If so, was it the writer Lee Hakhyun or the character Cheon Inho who killed them?

In this world, am I a murderer who killed people or a writer who described the death of a character?

As I breathed in and out, my complicated thoughts quickly subsided.

[The exclusive attribute is activated.]

Now was not the time for moral tension.

I would encounter people like Life Leader Kim Cheolyang many times in the future.

I must continue to live in this world by killing people.

[Compensation settlement is delayed due to an unexpected scenario check. Please wait.]

At least until I figure out the secrets of this world.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is interested in you.]

[The constellations of the 'absolute evil' system are interested in you.]

[A few constellations are curious about your name.]

I came to my senses as the messages from the constellations began in earnest.

[The constellations of the 'absolute evil' system are backing you.]

[Constellations have sponsored you 300 coins.]

I had the attention of the constellations of the 'absolute evil' system.

Apparently, they had interpreted my 'demagogy killing' in a malicious way.

This did not bode well.

This would make it harder for me to get sponsorship from the constellations of the 'absolute good' system.

[The constellations of the 'absolute good' system are shocked by the local tragedy.]

[The constellations of the 'absolute good' system are moved by your heroism.]

Huh?

[The constellations of the 'absolute good' system are impressed by your good intentions in trying to save everyone.]

[Constellations have sponsored you 300 coins.]

[The constellations of the 'absolute evil' system are questioning what the hell they are talking about.]

Everyone seems to have their own interpretation of this.

"Hey..... are you all right?"

I turned my head to see the worried-looking reader ahjussi.

"Uh, yeah. And you?"

"I'm fine. I hope so."

The reader ahjussi's face was still white. It would be even stranger if he was still sane under the circumstances.

I stiffly bowed my head in greeting.

"Thank you for earlier. You saved my life."

Honestly, the credit should go to him, not me.

He fought against the Cheoldoo Group's boss to save me with a physique that was at least as good as Kim Dokja's.

[The constellations of the 'absolute good' system's eyes are shining.]

However, he was actually embarrassed.

"No, rather, I owe you. If you hadn't saved me, I would be lying there too, but..... the germs worked for you?"

Ahjussi still doesn't know that I 'demagogy killed' the people of Geumho Station.

I thought about just being honest, but I figured it was probably better not to.

"I don't know either, they also killed germs together....."

"Maybe only your germs died? Although I don't know if that's possible....."

He seemed to conclude that was the only answer. Instead of answering him, I looked toward the bodies.

He interpreted my silence and he quickly added.

"It's not your fault, you did the best you could."

The reader ahjussi let out a small sigh, looked at me with a pitying look on his face, and then looked back at the dead people and muttered.

"Honestly..... they didn't seem to be good people."

I felt guilty for trying to deceive a naive middle-aged man, but I thought it was better than telling him the truth.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' admires your wickedness.]

[The constellation 'Woman Who Pours Water into a Bottomless Pit' is touched by your heart.]

Which character does this ahjussi possess, anyway?

Given his unfamiliar appearance, I'm pretty sure he's an extra.

Come to think of it, I have the skill to figure it out.

[The information of this person can't be read in 'Character List'.]

[This person is a 'character' but not a 'character'.]

I see what the situation is.

This man's body is a character, but the man's spirit that's possessing it is not.

It was then that a strange message popped up.

[The exclusive skill 'Readers' Comments List' has been activated.]

Readers' Comments List?

[Do you want to use 'Readers' Comments List' in this person?]

I nodded tentatively.

[Checking the reader's profile information.]

[You can use coins to view the comments written by this reader.]

[Number of comments currently available for free: 3.]

No, I can see this?

I looked at the sorrowful ahjussi's profile.

Should I see just one?

> Jiyoon-ah, are you reading a novel in your room again?
>
> —(Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, Chapter 1)

Ahjussi's first comment immediately came to my mind.

The story about having a daughter must be true.

Just one more.

> Jiyoon-ah, open the door. I know you're reading the novel.
>
> —(Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, Chapter 7)

I thought I knew how this ahjussi came to find Omniscient Reader.

I've already seen two, so let's just take a look at the rest.

> How do I pay for the next episode?
>
> —(Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, Chapter 25)

[Pay coins to see additional comments.]

For some reason, I felt like I could trust this man.

Feeling unnecessarily apologetic, I held out my hand to him.

"Allow me to introduce myself."

"Okay."

"My name is Cheon Inho."

I could see him flustered by my words.

I pointed a finger at my face and smiled weakly.

"That's his name."

"Oh, I see, that sounds like a name I've heard before....."

He didn't seem to recognize Cheon Inho.

"He's the villain in the beginning, at Geumho Station."

"Oh.....!"

"Yeah. That's right, the bad guy."

He had other nicknames, such as 'the one to be torn to pieces' and 'someone to burn to death with Hellfire', but I didn't say those.

Ahjussi's face had already turned pale.

"W-what should we do then?"

"It's still early, so there's room for renewal, right? What about you? Who are you?"

"I'm Lee Dansoo..... it says."

That seems to be the name of the person ahjussi's possessing.

Lee Dansoo, Lee Dansoo.

I didn't remember anything off the top of my head.

By the way, if he knows the name of the person he's possessing, can he see his attribute window?

"I'll give you my attributes and skills....."

"Wait, you can't say things like that."

"What? Oh, yeah."

The old man came to his senses as if he had remembered something.

"You sound just like Kim Dokja, hehe."

"Yeah. It's better to act like him right now."

"Did you finish reading 'that novel'?"

"Yes."

Well, technically, I didn't read it, I wrote it.

"Then everyone who read that novel is like us....."

I suddenly realized what he was thinking.

"Don't worry too much. I'm sure they all survived, just like us."

Especially his daughter.

She didn't study, she just read Omniscient Reader, so she 100% survived. The old man smiled weakly.

"Thank you."

"Shall we call ourselves by the names we just mentioned from now on?"

"All right."

He nodded, his eyes slightly relaxed.

It wasn't like we'd had a conversation where he'd asked me who my favorite was, but I felt like we'd suddenly formed a plausible bond.

But that was the end of our fraternity.

[Survivors from the areas 3-4 of Geumho Station: Cheon Inho, Lee Dansoo. A total of 2 survivors.]

The system message that had been interrupted began to play again.

[Additional compensation settlement will begin.]

[200 coins have been earned as additional compensation.]

Subsequently, Bihyung appeared out of thin air. I didn't know what it was, but it was a sign that I had finally solved the first scenario's many problems.

[It's really weird. There were some unusual areas, but none of them solved the scenario in this way..... I never thought you could use the <Star Stream>'s 'directing system' in this way.....]

Bihyung looked down at me and grumbled for a while, before smiling wryly and saying.

[Anyway, congratulations, you passed the first scenario with flying colors.]

I already knew what Bihyung was going to say next. Probably the same goes for the man next to me.

[Now, shouldn't there be a reward for overcoming the hardships? As a reward for the first scenario, you're entitled to the sponsorship of the 'constellations'. Waahhh! How about it? Aren't you looking forward to it?]

We were about to embark on the first key event of 'Omniscient Reader', the Sponsor Selection.

However, Bihyung scratched his head.

[Hmm, that's weird. You are not surprised nor confused.....]

Of course not, we already knew that.

You'll be just like me after you've said the same line a hundred times.

[If you haven't realized by now, you are incredibly weak, and if you are thrown into the scenarios that will take place.....]

You won't be able to catch a single ground rat.

I know.

Bihyung gave his speech with an expression of bewilderment as he saw me yawning, stopping only when he heard the constellations' bitter comments.

[A few constellations are tired of Bihyung's explanations.]

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' urges him to get on with it!]

The constellations twinkled above Bihyung's head, which seemed to brighten at first glance.

I wonder how many people have gathered for this <Sponsor Selection>?

[Anyway, the constellations are impatient. Let's get started!]

It was still very early in the story, so I didn't expect any great constellations to come.

There's a possibility that a great constellation like the Great Sage Heaven's Equal or Uriel will appear to Kim Dokja, but that's only because he was the protagonist.

At best, I'll have the 'Monarch of the Small Fries' or something.

I didn't expect it.

I really didn't expect that much.

But.....

It won't be Great Sage, but..... there could be a good constellation, right?

I had a really hard time.....

And a screen popped up in front of me.

[There are a total of 10 constellations waiting for your choice.]

565 Episode 3. Protagonist(?) (2)

Wait. How many?

<Sponsor Selection>

—Please select your sponsor.

—Your chosen sponsor will be your strong supporter.

1. Monarch of the Small Fries

2. Dragon Lying Down

3. Sneaky Schemer

.....

I blinked, dumbfounded.

This many people applied to be my sponsor?

Where did they get the word?

[The constellations are awaiting your choice.]

I couldn't tell. I guess we'll have to see who's here first.

There are a lot of constellations that applied, and they may not be worthy.

First up is the 'Monarch of the Small Fries'.

I expected this one.

In Omniscient Reader, he was the sponsor behind the acting leader on Geumho Station, Bang Cheolsoo. After the beginning, he disappeared.

In other words, he was not worth considering.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is glaring at you.]

The second was the 'Dragon Lying Down'.

This one is the Crouching Dragon(臥龍), 'Zhu Ge Kong Ming'. He had excellent stats for a narrative-grade constellation.

He must have been impressed with my killing strategy, but unfortunately, I didn't plan on choosing him here.

[The constellation 'Dragon Lying Down' is frowning.]

Next up is..... Huh?

For a moment, I thought I'd misread the modifier.

Third, the 'Sneaky Schemer'.

I thought it was 'Secretive Plotter'.

An imitation?

Thinking about it, I couldn't recall a constellation with this modifier.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' says he's very strong and you should choose him.]

The way he's talking, he's not even worthy of the modifier. I wonder if he's actually copying the 'Secretive Plotter'.

'Secretive Plotter' is an exceptional case, but as Kim Dokja says, it's unlikely that a constellation with such a poor modifier is a strong one.

| |
| 4. Abyssal Black Flame Dragon |

I sucked in an involuntary breath.

Who?

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' came after hearing rumors about you.]

Abyssal Black Flame Dragon.

The guy who was the sponsor behind the Black Flames Empress Han Sooyoung in Omniscient Reader, and one of the 'first four' of Bihyung's channel.

It's been a long time since I've seen that modifier.

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' tells you to decide quickly.]

Now that I think about it, he's been all over Kim Namwoon, Han Sooyoung, Kim Dokja, and Yoo Joonghyuk before.

Then, does that mean I'm also a main character?

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' is cancelling his 'Sponsor Application'.]

[The number of options for sponsors has been reduced to 9.]

Short-tempered bastard.

I wasn't planning on choosing him anyway, so it wasn't a shame.

There were still six more to go.

5. Nail-Eating Rat

I suddenly regretted rejecting Black Flame Dragon.

6. Primordial Cow

7. Tiger Eating Rice Cakes

Not yet.

There are still three more to go.

8. Pig in a Brick House

9. Dog Who Threw Himself Into the Flames

What the hell is going on here?

Don't tell me there's some kind of 'zodiacal pickup only' event.

I closed my eyes, took a light, deep breath, and muttered my own lucky charm.

「I am Kim Dokja.」

I checked the last constellation.

10. ???

Three question marks?

Can this be a modifier?

Just as I was thinking about it, a lightning bolt flashed in my head and the scene of a dark theater came to mind.

Sure enough, the question had come up in <Kim Dokja's Banquet> before.

I knew the answer.

In the entire Omniscient Reader, there was only one constellation with the modifier '???'

He is the highest being who watches over everything in the universe.

He is the sponsor behind the regressor Yoo Joonghyuk, who only covets the next story.

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is looking at you.]

The protagonist of 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.

I looked up at the ceiling with trembling eyes.

「The Oldest Dream.」

---

The entity called "The Oldest Dream" in Omniscient Reader is divided into two.

One is the 'young Kim Dokja' who appears at the beginning of the novel.

The second is the 'adult Kim Dokja', who inherits the modifier in the second half of the novel.

Unless I'm being fooled by a high-level trick, this is clearly the beginning of the novel.

Above all, the presence of Bihyung and 'Daepong Girls' High School' Lee Jihye proved this fact.

If it was after the end of the main story of 'Omniscient Reader', there was no way Bihyung or Lee Jihye would have appeared like this.

「So, is '???' the 'young Kim Dokja'?」

Come to think of it, it doesn't make sense.

Throughout the course of 'Omniscient Reader', 'Young Kim Dokja' rarely interfered in the story, except to regress Yoo Joonghyuk.

He probably doesn't even realize he's a god.

And now he's making me a 'Sponsor Application', a man who doesn't even appear in 'Ways of Survival'?

Even when he's already Yoo Joonghyuk's sponsor?

「In that case, is '???' the 'adult Kim Dokja'?」

Even if I thought so, it didn't make sense either.

At the end of Omniscient Reader, the 'adult Kim Dokja' had his soul split into molecules and scattered into the universe.

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is awaiting your choice.]

A cold tension radiated down my spine.

"You..... Who are you?"

I ask, not really expecting an answer, but.

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is looking at you.]

My breathing stopped, and a chill spread through my body.

With a tsuchuchut, my entire body began to glow blue, followed by a terrible pain as if my spine was on fire, engulfing my consciousness.

When I opened my eyes again, ahjussi was shaking me.

"Wake up, mate!"

My body shook helplessly.

I came to my senses with a start.

Blood trickled from my nose.

What the hell? What just happened?

In my daze, ahjussi continued to shake me.

"I think I'm going to throw up....."

"Oh, I'm sorry. I just saw you with white eyes suddenly. What happened with the Sponsor Selection?"

"Sponsor Selection.....?"

[There are 10 seconds left to complete the Sponsor Selection.]

Holy shit.

I quickly looked at the Sponsor Selection window.

And then.

| 9. Dog Who Threw Himself Into the Flames |
|---|

I wondered what had happened.

Apparently, the '10th' option that was visible a moment ago has disappeared.

[There are 5 seconds left to complete the Sponsor Selection.]

I didn't have much time to think.

Should I choose the best constellation or.....

I pondered until the very last second and made my decision.

[Sponsor Selection has ended.]

Apparently, this world is not the 'Omniscient Reader' I knew.

I couldn't quite put my finger on it, but this world was twisted in some important way.

[You haven't selected a sponsor.]

For now, I felt the need to wait and see what would happen. I could always choose a sponsor again later.

As long as I somehow survived.

"Mate?"

"Yes."

"Did you choose?"

I shook my head.

Dansoo ahjussi shook his head as if agreeing with my response.

"Oh, come to think of it, Kim Dokja....."

"No, no, I couldn't decide, there were a lot of good constellations."

It's a lie, but I had to say it like this.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is relieved that that was it.]

[The constellation 'Primordial Cow' is relieved.]

[The constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' asks to be picked next time.]

[The constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' nods saying that it can happen.]

By saying it like this, I avoided the criticism of the constellation that made a Sponsor Application.

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' accuses you of being pathetic for missing the opportunity.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is looking at you with narrowed eyes.]

Luckily, that was a good reaction.

"How about you?"

"It was pretty hard for me, too."

"How many constellations applied?"

"Four."

I was honestly surprised.

I mean, he have done some pretty unusual things, but four?

"Did you get any good constellations?"

"There were some names I recognized."

"Who?"

I was a little nervous.

Still, he had done the good deed of saving me, so there was a chance that if he was lucky, a nice constellation would appear.

Luckily, the Korean Peninsula had a lot of good ones, so even he only got the 'Bald General' or 'King Heungmu', the initial scenarios would be fine.

"That..... 'Commander of the Red Cosmos'."

"Aha, Cosmos....."

I replied nonchalantly, then snapped my head up.

"'Commander of the Red Cosmos'?"

"Yes....."

I couldn't believe my eyes as I looked at the nervous-looking Dansoo ahjussi.

This was because the star he was referring to was a narrative-grade constellation. Commander of the Red Cosmos.

'Archangel Jophiel' of <Eden>.

A constellation comparable to Uriel, who visited the 1,863rd round's world line with Kim Dokja and later became the ruler of <Eden>.

With a single blow of Jophiel's stigma, lower-level demons would be destroyed without a trace.

"Is she a great constellation?"

"Yes. She's great."

"Actually, I don't remember much about her..... The novel has a lot of difficult words, and it's been a while since I read it....."

I asked, trying to calm the slightly quivering corners of my mouth.

"And the second one?"

This time he sounded confident.

"'Goryeo's First Sword'."

I let out a gasp.

Goryeo's First Sword, 'Cheok Jungyeong'.

The so-called 'Swordmaster Cheok', a powerful Korean constellation.

Considering its late-game potential, it wasn't a bad choice instead of a narrative class one.

"Wow, that's awesome. What about the third one?"

At that moment, Dansoo ahjussi's face looked strangely dignified.

The reason was soon revealed.

"The third one was 'God of Wine and Ecstasy'."

I wondered if I had misheard.

"Who?"

"God of Wine and Ecstasy....."

"Really? You're not lying, are you?"

"Why would I lie?"

Ahjussi looked frustrated.

As for me, I wanted to use [Lie Detection.]

No, this doesn't make sense.

Jophiel, Goryeo's First Sword.

And God of Wine and Ecstasy, Dionysus?

Who is Dionysus?

Isn't he one of the twelve gods of the great nebula <Olympus>, and a powerful narrative-grade constellation that has sided with Kim Dokja since the beginning of Omniscient Reader?

No, why did those constellations appear?

I was happy for him, but I was still a little envious and upset.

"Who was the last one? No way the last one....."

"Well, the last constellation took me by surprise."

Surprise?

For a moment, I thought about '???'

Did that option come up for him too?

"It's a constellation called 'Sneaky Schemer'."

It turned out to be the Secretive Plotter imitation.

Luckily, that last one wasn't a big deal.

"He came to me, too."

He sounded strangely disappointed.

"May I ask how it was for you?"

"I had about ten of them."

"What, ten?"

"Yeah, well, I didn't get to pick anyone."

"May I ask which ones they were?"

"Well, the Black Flame Dragon and....."

"Black Flame Dragon!"

Dansoo ahjussi nodded, his eyes shining like a child's.

However, no matter how much I thought about it, there was no other constellation worth mentioning than the Black Flame Dragon.

[The constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' is frowning.]

I thought for a moment, then decided to do the smart thing and save everyone's pride.

"And a dragon as famous as the Black Flame Dragon."

"That's incredible."

[The constellation 'Dragon Lying Down' is moved by your words and has sponsored you 100 coins.]

"And..... There were a couple of constellations on the level of the Prisoner of the Golden Headband....."

"On the level of the Prisoner of the Golden Headband....."

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' has sponsored you 100 coins.]

[The constellation 'Primordial Cow' has sponsored you 100 coins.]

[The constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' has sponsored you 100 coins.]

[The constellation 'Dog Who Threw Himself into the Flames' has sponsored you 100 coins.]

The Prisoner of the Golden Headband is a strong monkey.

He doesn't know, but they're probably strong tigers, strong cows, strong rats, and strong dogs, so I was not entirely wrong.

Seeing them rejoice made me feel good, too.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is looking at you in disbelief.]

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is calling out for the 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband'.]

.....No way.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' has entered the channel.]

No, wait.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' has left the channel.]

[The constellation 'Dog Who Threw Himself into the Flames' has left the channel.]

I felt like I could hear Bihyung's scream from somewhere.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' asks where they all went.]

[The constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' says he didn't see them because he was at home.]

Even as the channel fizzled, Dansoo ahjussi, who was sitting next to me, kept giving me thumbs up.

"Wow, that's amazing, all those big constellations."

"No, but who did you pick?"

There were three main choices.

Jophiel, Cheok Jungyeong and Dionysus.

All three are amazing constellations, so it was a matter of preference.

No matter who you pick, you're guaranteed a solid foundation for at least until the mid-game scenarios.

Suddenly, a halo seemed to emanate from Dansoo ahjussi.

Upon closer inspection, he was a bit old, but there was an unmistakable gleam in his eyes.

Moreover, he had read the whole Omniscient Reader.

Wait, this.....

Is he the 'protagonist'?

Just as the protagonist of Omniscient Reader was Kim Dokja, maybe the protagonist of this story is this ahjussi.

The situation was similar to that of Kim Dokja, as there were three big names attached to him from the very beginning.

My heart suddenly began to race.

If this ahjussi is the protagonist.....

I thought of the first sentence about Dansoo ahjussi.

"Sometimes I thought to myself. What if I were the main character."

Sure enough, I nodded my head in agreement with the exquisite protagonist-like remarks.

"If I were Kim Dokja, who would I have chosen in the first 'Sponsor Selection'?"

In the first Sponsor Selection, Kim Dokja received a huge love letter from Uriel, the Great Sage Heaven's Equal, the Black Flame Dragon, and the Secretive Plotter, but he made the mistake of not choosing anyone.

"I was surprised. I would have picked the strongest one, of course."

"That's usually the case."

Kim Dokja had read the 3,149 chapters of 'Ways of Survival' that had 50,000 characters per chapter, and since he was a madman who memorized them all, he could survive with that choice.

However, Dansoo ahjussi had only read 551 chapters of 'Omniscient Reader' (which had 5,000 characters per chapter), and even then, he didn't understand most of them.

"Yes..... I just picked the strongest constellation, as usual."

"I think I know who you picked."

Dansoo ahjussi smiled and nodded.

"Yes. I've forgotten a lot of other things, but I do remember the name of this constellation, because it's the strongest in the entire novel."

He was suddenly talking a lot, and I felt a little uneasy.

Come to think of it, ahjussi didn't even remember who Cheon Inho was.

"Ahjussi. Sorry to disappoint you, but the 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' is strong, but she's not the strongest....."

"I didn't pick the red flower or whatever."

"The 'God of Wine and Ecstasy' is also a narrative-grade. As you know, above the narrative level, there's the myth level....."

"I don't like alcohol."

I said, quickly scanning my surroundings and lowering my voice.

"Ahjussi, I'm Korean too, so I'm very fond of 'Goryeo's First Sword', but....."

"I'm not such a patriot that I would call Cheok Jungyeong the strongest either."

"Then who the hell did you choose?"

Ahjussi's eyes, which felt like guns, flashed with madness.

"Jiyoon has always said that this constellation is the best in Omniscient Reader. That she'd end up getting married with him someday."

Marry?

"'A man who endured the tragedy of endless regressions and finally saw the end of this world', Jiyoon had that on a poster in her room."

I suddenly realized what had happened.

No, no, no.

No way.

There's no way a reader of my novel would get that confused.

But Dansoo ahjussi was smiling confidently, like Kim Dokja who had already broken through the [Final Wall.]

"I've picked the strongest one, the 'Sneaky Schemer'."

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is smiling brightly.]

I suddenly began to think that he was like Han Myungoh, who chose 'Lame Trickster'.

[The restriction on this area has been lifted!]

In the distance, I could see men with pipes running toward us.

[The next scenario is about to begin.]

Maybe we'll die before we meet Kim Dokja.

566 Episode 3. Protagonist(?) (3)

---

As I watched the men approaching with a fearsome momentum, I suddenly realized that I was in Omniscient Reader.

This is 'Geumho Station', where a series of horrific murders have taken place.

The men with the pipes were most likely members of the 'Cheoldoo Group', the mainstream group at Geumho Station.

In a fortunate twist of fate, the original owner of Geumho Station was the character I possessed, Cheon Inho.

In other words, Cheon Inho became the owner of Geumho Station after he defeated all of those terrifying men from the Cheoldoo Group.

How the hell did you do it, Cheon Inho?

In the distance, I could see the men checking our area freeze in their tracks, because there was blood everywhere.

I quickly asked Dansoo ahjussi.

"Ahjussi, did you get a stigma?"

There are two main types of techniques in Omniscient Reader.

One is the 'skill' that the incarnation learns themselves.

The other is the 'stigma', which are powers bestowed by their constellation.

"Uh..... I don't think I can use it yet....."

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is using a ploy that does not readily lend the stigma to make the incarnation strong.....]

It was my fault for expecting something.

When I looked up, I saw the figure of Bihyung, who was hurriedly sweet-talking the constellations.

[Oh my. How did this person end up on my channel.....]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' is picking his ears as if it's a nuisance.]

[By the way, if you do something like that, the other constellations will.....]

This was the first meeting between the Great Sage Heaven's Equal and Bihyung.

I decided to try to win Bihyung over, because if I was going to make it through the scenario ahead, cunning cooperation with that crazed monster was essential.

'Dokkaebi communication.'

[Activating the 'dokkaebi communication'.]

'Bihyung. I have something to tell you.'

Fortunately, Bihyung accepted the dokkaebi communication.

—What is it? How did you know how to connect the dokkaebi communication?

You forced me to use it when you caught the bug earlier.

I said, hiding my true intentions.

'I want to make a deal with you.'

Bihyung narrowed his eyes as if he were dumbfounded by my out-of-the-blue proposal.

—A deal?

'Yes. A deal.'

Bihyung was speechless for a moment. How many more seconds passed like that?

—Cocky bastard, you're lucky I didn't blow your brains out right now.

He had a hint of amusement in his voice. I answered casually.

'If you do that, you'll lose all the subscribers of your channel, and I think you've already lost a few.'

—What. What?

Bihyung won't be able to kill me now, because I've gradually gotten some constellations interested in me.

I took the risk of attracting the attention of the constellations to take advantage of this.

'Hear what I have to say first, what I'd like to propose is.....'

—Do you also want a 'stream contract'?

I paused, then asked back.

'What are you talking about?'

—Hmm? I guess you don't. I've got a couple of kids who keep asking me for that, saying they were going to make me the Dokkaebi King or something.

Suddenly, I felt a headache.

It was obvious who the requesters were.

'So what did you do?'

—Naturally, I refused. There were a lot of strange children, suddenly showing themselves catching ichthyosaurs, asking me to open the Dokkaebi Bag..... They think they're my friends.

Oh, dear readers.

'Why didn't you do it?'

—Do you think I'm crazy?

If this was the original story, and there was only one otherworldly reader, we wouldn't have this problem.

Kim Dokja was the only reader, and his every action was bound to attract the attention of Bihyung.

But not anymore.

Besides Dansoo ahjussi, there will be other people who cleared the scenario before the 'bug' maneuver is blocked, and there will be other readers who will try to use the same hidden pieces that Kim Dokja used.

Too many readers start doing the same thing, so Bihyung has become wary of them.

.....What on earth happened to the real Kim Dokja?

I sighed and opened my mouth.

'Actually, I was going to ask you to sign a stream contract.'

—I'm leaving.

'I'll give you a 7:3 ratio. That's the industry's default settlement ratio.'

I didn't hear the communication go off, which meant that Bihyung was still listening to me.

I poured out my cards one after another.

'I know that a contract between an incarnation and a streamer dokkaebi is not against the rules, and I'll do my best not to let anyone find out.'

'Throughout the contract period, I will not cooperate with other dokkaebi channels without your permission, and I will refrain from any personal behavior that might offend the constellations.'

'During the contract period, until my death, I will not accept any sponsor contracts.'

If this was a publishing contract, I would never have done this.

But now I had no choice.

I have to live.

Bihyung, who was listening to me, asked.

—You, what do you know?

'I know a few things.'

—The other guys wanted me to do it for 10:0 ratio, and I'd only get the commission.

'They must not know much about the industry. It's a tough job, being a babysitter. Reacting to the Executive Branch dokkaebis, collecting the back coins when there's a probability request, and how much jealousy there is among the low-level dokkaebi.'

—You..... Are you a dokkaebi?

'I know your industry well.'

Ji Eunyu used to say similar things when she was complaining about management.

—I-I won't sign a <Stream Contract> with you. How can I trust a guy who's barely cleared the first scenario.....

I wondered if it was an illusion, but Bihyung's voice was a bit more gentle. It's time to push in.

'But I cleared it in a pretty unique way.'

—It was just luck.

'The sub scenario will start soon, so you can keep an eye on it this time as well.'

—You..... How do you know that? Are you a reincarnator?

Come to think of it, there were reincarnators in Omniscient Reader. I wrote it, but it's a convenient setting.

I shrugged it off.

'Something like that. Anyway, open the sub scenario. It seems like people are coming just in time.'

The pipe men, who had been watching for a while, decided to come up to this side as if they had decided it was worth it.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is amused.]

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is telling 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' to watch because something funny will happen.]

Bihyung, who had overruled the constellation's rebellion, began to prepare a scenario.

—First of all, I'll see how you do it.

'I won't be waiting too long. Honestly, you're not the only dokkaebi.'

The tendons in Bihyung's head twitched, but I couldn't be bothered to pay attention to him now.

"Hey, you over there."

The pipe men were just around the corner. By the looks of them, these guys are no slouches.

"What?"

"What? Look at this."

In response, a man who looked like the leader stepped forward.

This..... I think I know who he is.

I immediately used [Character List].

<Character Summary>

Name: Bang Cheolsoo

Age: 34 years old

Sponsor: Monarch of the Small Fries

Exclusive Attributes: Assault Force Captain (General)

Exclusive Skills: [Dogfight Lv.2], [Bluff Lv.2]

Stigma: [Threaten Lv. 1]

Overall Stats: [Physique Lv.5], [Strength Lv.6], [Agility Lv.5], [Magic Power Lv.2]

Overall Evaluation: A common small fry who was lucky to obtain a sponsor. He's just finished the first scenario and is feeling pretty pumped up.

Wow, it's really Bang Cheolsoo.

Who is Bang Cheolsoo..... Anyway, he's the guy who gets beaten to death by Kim Dokja at Geumho Station.

His stats seem to be lower than when Kim Dokja first met him.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is getting excited.]

[The second scenario has arrived!]

"Hyung-nim. Did you get a message?"

"Ah, it looks like a similar message to the one from earlier."

The men from the Cheoldoo Group, still unfamiliar with the scenario, hesitated.

I checked the scenario.

<Sub Scenario - Domination>

Category: Sub

Difficulty: D

Clear Conditions: Control Geumho Station and become the leader of the area. The scenario ends when more than half of the people recognize you as the leader.

Time Limit: 4 hours

Failure: —

This is what happened here.

Originally, Kim Dokja was also performing the sub scenario 'Escape' at this time, so it's not strange.

Is this what Cheon Inho was doing?

Bang Cheolsoo sneered and said.

"It's going to be easy this time, take care of the two guys in front."

The shielding of the area had finally been lifted, and in the distance, I could see people snooping around this way.

"Everybody move. Walk carefully."

Blood spattered on the aprons of the approaching men. Presumably, these guys killed everyone and survived the first scenario.

Dansoo ahjussi got tense next to me. He's a reliable ahjussi, not running away even at times like this.

But this time, it was enough with me alone.

No, I have to do this alone.

"Mate?"

"Leave it to me."

The scenario is still very much up in the air.

Even if I didn't necessarily have a good constellation, I wasn't completely out of the fight.

Especially if, like me, you had a lot of support in the first scenario.

[2,700 coins have been invested into 'strength'.]

[Strength Lv.1 → Strength Lv.10]

[Your strength level has increased dramatically!]

I expected it, but I was still surprised.

My stats were really level 1.

[900 coins have been invested into 'physique'.]

[Physique Lv.1 → Physique Lv.4]

This was also level 1.

Cheon Inho, how the hell did you become the leader of Geumho Station?

[900 coins have been invested into 'agility'.]

[Agility Lv.1 → Agility Lv.4]

Still, this will work for now.

I left aside some coins just in case.

[Coins Possessed: 2,900 C]

In the meantime, a small fry leapt forward swinging his pipe at me.

"Look out, asshole!"

I couldn't open my narrow eyes any wider.

I caught the flying pipe with my hand. There was a little pain in my grip, but I managed to snatch the man's pipe away without much difficulty.

"Huh?"

As I watched the panicked man blink stupidly, I gripped the pipe with both hands. The feel of the hard pipe was vivid against my palms.

Normally, I wouldn't have been able to do it, but for Lee Hakhyun now..... No, for Cheon Inho it was no problem.

Kutututuk!

The man's eyes widened as he watched the pipe magically break.

"T-this strength?"

The stat level in 'Omniscient Reader' increases dramatically in units of 10.

This is the power of Strength Lv.10.

I casually tossed the bent pipe to the ground and walked forward.

The panicked Cheoldoo group stumbled backwards.

"Moderation, Bang Cheolsoo."

Bang Cheolsoo's eyes widened in surprise.

"How—"

"It doesn't matter how I know your name."

I said, lightly skimming over the bloodied station.

"The only survivors of this section are me and that man. It's not like we're a bunch of guys with pipes. You know what that means, and you still attack us?"

"T-that—"

"Are you really stupid, or are you pretending to be stupid?"

My strength was at level 10, and my physique and agility were barely above rock bottom. If there was a real group fight, I'd have to spend extra coins.

Biting his lip, Bang Cheolsoo glared at me.

"You seem to have something you're relying on, but I'll make sure you realize you picked the wrong person today."

Again, it didn't go over so simply. After all, he had to save face in front of his subordinates.

[The character 'Bang Cheolsoo' has used 'Bluff Lv.2'!]

[Your confidence plummets due to the effect of 'Bluff'.]

Being glared at with such a fearsome face, my heart was pounding. I realized that [Bluff] was a great skill. I would have been fine if I had a [Fourth Wall] like Kim Dokja, but I didn't.

Of course, that didn't mean I didn't have the means to fight back.

I faced Bang Cheolsoo, hiding my trembling heart.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.2' has been activated!]

There was many different ways to use [Incite], Cheon Inho's exclusive skill. The basic ability, of course, is to literally incite others with words.

However,

[Select a target to incite.]

What if the target weren't 'others'?

「I am Yoo Joonghyuk.」

I will incite myself from now on.

567 Episode 3. Protagonist(?) (4)

---

There is an immutable law that those worthy know.

「A man with narrow eyes is stronger when he opens his eyes.」

I squeezed both eyes shut. Slowly, my eyelids rose.

['Incite' is effective.]

Little by little, I began to have strange thoughts.

Maybe I really am Yoo Joonghyuk?

['Incite' is in full effect.]

Suddenly, I felt skeptical of everything I was about to do. I don't know why, but I also felt like finding and killing Kim Dokja.

「No, you can't be that Yoo Joonghyuk.」

[The effect of 'Incite' is being adjusted.]

I (lightly) became Yoo Joonghyuk.

Bang Cheolsoo's eyes widened as he met mine.

"Did you really think that Bluff would work?"

It was my voice, but it suddenly sounded cool.

This is how Yoo Joonghyuk feels.

Bang Cheolsoo's [Bluff] didn't even tickle him.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' feels a bizarre fear from you.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' looks at you as if they're offended.]

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is looking at you with strange eyes.]

It seems to have worked, as even the constellations were surprised.

Bang Cheolsoo was visibly flustered when his [Bluff] didn't work, and he clenched his knuckled fists tightly.

[The character 'Bang Cheolsoo' has used 'Threaten'.]

[For some unknown reason, 'Threaten' doesn't work on you.]

Finally, a bead of sweat formed on his forehead.

"You're a very strong man."

Even without the [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint], I could see through him.

「If you get caught here, you're done for.」

Shall I just end it here?

I'm comfortable with killing all of these guys.

A cursory glance tells me there aren't any other possessed here.

But for some reason, I don't like the idea.

No one likes to kill.

I tried saying this.

"Lee Cheoldoo said he doesn't want you to waste your life in vain."

"How do you know about him?"

"I've heard a lot about you from Cheoldoo."

At my words, Dansoo ahjussi looked at me in surprise.

Bang Cheolsoo looked confused.

"You....."

"I accompanied him to Geumho Station. He said he would introduce me to you."

"I-I didn't hear anything like that from Cheoldoo hyung-nim."

"When did he report such things to you one by one?"

"Cheoldoo hyung-nim..... Where is he?"

Bang Cheolsoo's words suddenly became polite. It was evidence that he was shaking.

Instead of answering, I looked theatrically to my left, where the headless body of Lee Cheoldoo lay.

"I'm sorry."

Bang Cheolsoo staggered toward Lee Cheoldoo's body.

"It was a fitting end for him. He died fighting."

"With whom—"

"Revenge."

At the end of my gaze, the body of the Life Leader stretched out before me.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is watching your story with interest.]

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' likes the sudden noir.]

Bang Cheolsoo stared at me blankly, then bit his lip tightly.

"How can I believe that?"

"It is your freedom to believe it or not."

"If you're the one who sent Cheoldoo hyung-nim to.....!"

"If you are going to do it, then take revenge on me right now."

Bang Cheolsoo stood up, glaring at me with red eyes.

However, it didn't seem like the behavior of someone who was really motivated.

[The character 'Bang Cheolsoo' is looking at you.]

[The character 'Bang Cheolsoo' wants to do something unexpected.]

[The activation condition for the exclusive skill '□□' has been met.]

I see.

I think I know a little bit about this skill's activation condition now.

[The exclusive skill '□□' is activated.]

The scenery around me turned colorless, and the people began to stiffen.

As I look at the letters floating around, I realize that it's time to create once again.

[The character 'Bang Cheolsoo's attribute is preparing to bloom.]

[You can interfere with character 'Bang Cheolsoo's attribute blooming.]

[Due to the character's low potential, the attribute cannot bloom with a single modification.]

Bang Cheolsoo can't be like Kim Cheolyang.

However, Life Leader Kim Cheolyang was originally part of the Ten Evils and also possessed the attribute of the Crouching Figure.

Bang Cheolsoo, on the other hand, is just an ordinary junkie.

But when the system says it like that, it makes me wonder.

It might be the author's arrogance.

In <Star Stream>, how far can an ordinary extra villain really change?

[Describe the next action of 'Bang Cheolsoo'.]

> # Bang Cheolsoo's Change of Heart

>
> * At your current skill level, you can write a total of 160 additional characters.

160 characters.

I could write 10 more characters than last time.

[You can stay in the 'Snowfield' for a total of 3 minutes.]

This is definitely better than last time.

Because I now know a little bit about this skill.

First of all, this skill can't reproduce 'ridiculous' changes in reality.

For example, a character can't suddenly awaken memories of a previous life as a martial arts master and become your loyal servant.

You're more likely to succeed if you describe a behavior that matches the character's desires.

From the message I received before, it seems that I can make additional changes as I accumulate probability.

[Current Accumulated Probability: 10]

[You can increase the reproduction success rate by getting more probability.]

I don't think I'll be able to make much of a difference with this amount.

I'll write for now.

I painstakingly crammed in a sentence of about 160 characters.

[This story's reproduction success rate is 88%.]

[There's enough probability.]

[Do you want to check the reader's feedback?]

Come to think of it, there was this function too.

KimDokja37 or something replies.

I wonder if he's the real Kim Dokja?

Then what's the number 37?

'Yes.'

> rlaehrwk37: I hear the sound of Bang Cheolsoo's washing machine running.
>
> rlaehrwk61: Well, he hasn't really started being an asshole yet.

There was another Kim Dokja?

Anyway, judging by the reactions, it didn't seem like this development would cause any serious problems.

[Successfully recreating the scene.]

[Leaving the 'Snowfield'.]

The letters disappeared into thin air, and the story began again.

I sucked in a breath and spat out the words.

"Life's boring..... Don't you think so?"

「Bang Cheolsoo listened to the words in a daze.」

"....."

「Bang Cheolsoo, the Assault Force Captain of the Cheoldoo Group. He had always despaired over this world. Long before the scenario began, his world was doomed.」

Extras also have their own stories. No matter how inscrutable and mundane it was.

"How long are you going to live as the Assault Force Captain of the Cheoldoo Group?"

"What? What do you know—"

"The world has changed. It's not the one you've always resented, and it's time for the likes of you to make peace with the past."

"....."

"You have a choice. You can follow me, or you can continue to live your pathetic little life."

Bang Cheolsoo's eyes shook faintly.

1,863 regressions.

Throughout Yoo Joonghyuk's regressions in Ways of Survival, Bang Cheolsoo was always the Assault Force Captain of Cheoldoo Group.

He lived as the Assault Force Captain and died as the Assault Force Captain.

He was not given a moment to think about the value or dignity of life.

He should not have been rehabilitated; he had to be pointed out by people and become a trophy for the protagonist to shine.

Hence, this sentence I wrote.

「Do I still have a choice?」

It was a possibility granted to the fabricated villain.

「Could he be my cause?」

Bang Cheolsoo, his mind made up, stood up and said.

"Prove it to me."

Bang Cheolsoo charged at me, fists pumping. It was a desperate move, like he was throwing his life away.

But he didn't mean it.

He had made a choice.

Peoeog!

I threw a light punch to the face of the running man.

Bang Cheolsoo let out an exaggerated scream and fell to the ground.

I hadn't hit him that hard, but he was clever.

"H-hyung-nim!"

As the panicked Cheoldoo Group raised their pipes indignantly toward me, Bang Cheolsoo raised his left hand to wipe his nose.

"Stop."

He looked at me for a long moment, then opened his mouth as if he had been bound by the punch.

"Now that Cheoldoo hyung-nim is dead, I am the acting leader of the Cheoldoo Group. I decide who to follow. Do you all have any complaints?"

"W-we have no complaints."

「I wonder why. For the first time, Bang Cheolsoo felt like he was a 'supporting character' instead of an 'extra'.」

Until now, he was just an extra who lived a few sentences. If the writer wanted him to die, he died, and if he wanted him to live, he lived.

But today, he used his imagination to think about the future.

[The character 'Bang Cheolsoo' has a faint sense of trust in you.]

[The character 'Bang Cheolsoo' is showing signs of slight evolution.]

Bang Cheolsoo stretched out his hand toward me and asked.

"What's your name?"

I replied, helping such a Bang Cheolsoo to his feet.

"Cheon Inho."

---

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' finds your handling of the situation interesting.]

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is impressed by the hot noir you showed.]

The Monarch of the Small Fries—that bastard was like that in the main story too. It's ridiculous. The incarnation he was raising yielded to me, and he's still talking nonsense.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is sulking because his incarnation has not been seriously injured.]

I glanced at Bang Cheolsoo, who was leading the way, and hit him in the back of the head.

"Why, why did you do that?"

"There was a bug."

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' has sponsored you 100 coins.]

Bang Cheolsoo glanced at me with trembling eyes, then began to lead me two steps ahead.

"There should be a group of people over there."

[There are currently eleven people in Geumho Station who support you.]

I've got the 10 people from the Cheoldoo Group on my side.

This rate was not bad.

It was then that Dansoo ahjussi, who was walking beside me, cautiously asked.

"You're not really Cheon Inho, are you?"

I smiled and replied.

"I am, for now."

Dansoo ahjussi sighed lightly at my joke.

He looked at the Cheoldoo Group walking ahead of us and asked in a low voice.

"Will it be all right? You know what those guys are like."

"Earlier, you asked me if I would let everyone die."

"But those guys are....."

I understood what he meant.

I know what the Cheoldoo Group is like. They are the ones who will commit the most heinous crimes in the future.

The reason I spared them is simple.

「If you're going to use them the same way, there's no point in using them at all.」

"I'm just using them. We need to collect them quickly to reduce unnecessary disturbances at Geumho Station. If they're going to be enemies, it's easier to keep them under control than to fight them."

"There they are....."

Looking at Dansoo ahjussi nodding his head in understanding, I suddenly remembered a reader's comment.

> —So he got beaten to death at Geumho Station every time Yoo Joonghyuk regressed?

I looked at the back of Bang Cheolsoo's head, which looked a bit grim, and shook my head.

Forget it. Now is not the time for such complicated thoughts.

If Kim Dokja and the other main characters survived the first scenario, they will come to Geumho Station.

If Kim Dokja was eaten by the ichthyosaur like in Omniscient Reader, it would be the group and Yoo Joonghyuk that would arrive here first.

If we wanted to give him a good impression, we'd need to turn these Cheoldoo Group bastards into the guards of Geumho Station.

Bang Cheolsoo stopped walking.

"We're here."

The survivors of the first scenario gathered in the stairwell.

I took a deep breath and studied their faces, one by one.

This is where my 'rehabilitation project' comes into play.

Even though Cheon Inho was a trashy demagogue villain in the original Omniscient Reader, he needed to be reformed into a proper human being here.

Okay, I've decided. First, let's take over Geumho Station.

Next, let's be Yoo Joonghyuk's subordinate.

And then, when Yoo Joonghyuk has had enough of being a sunfish, we'll become Kim Dokja's men.

"Do you understand, unni? Be careful of that man."

The voice came from nowhere, and I reflexively turned around to see a very familiar face.

It was her.

She was at Geumho Station.

But I hadn't expected her to be the first <Kim Dokja's Company> member I encountered.

I ran toward her with excitement.

She is the first sword of the Demon King of Salvation Kim Dokja, and the guardian of <Kim Dokja's Company>.

Sponsored by the archangel Uriel, she is one of the strongest characters in Omniscient Reader.

Jung Heewon, the Judge of Destruction.

After catching my gaze, Jung Heewon looked back at me from afar. I greeted her first.

"Hello!"

"Oh, yeah..... Hi."

Jung Heewon acknowledged my greeting with a faint smile.

She must have nerves of steel to be able to smile like that even though she had just performed the first scenario.

"Which section are you from?"

"Oh, we're in the 3-4."

"You have..... Did something similar happen there?"

"Yes."

Checking my bloody apron, Jung Heewon looked slightly wary.

Just in time, Dansoo ahjussi approached.

"My friend and I didn't kill people, we killed other creatures."

"Oh, really? Actually, I also....."

Jung Heewon stopped talking at that point, glancing around her.

But I realized something was wrong.

「Jung Heewon didn't kill people?」

It couldn't be. In the main story, she must have cleared the scenario normally.

How the hell did she—?

"Excuse me, what's your name? I'm Jung Heewon."

"I'm Cheon Inho."

For some reason, the moment she heard my name, her face hardened.

As she looked at me with her cold eyes, I suddenly remembered something.

In the main part of Omniscient Reader, Jung Heewon killed Cheon Inho by stabbing him through the head at Geumho Station.

As I was touching the top of my head with a chill, Jung Heewon, who had taken a few steps away from me, spoke to someone.

"He showed up just like you said."

"Already? Where?"

"That guy. But is he the real deal?"

"Wow, he looks the part. Wouldn't you know it by looking at him?"

"Umm, I'm not sure."

Looking closer, there was a girl about a foot shorter than Jung Heewon clinging to her side.

"Get a hold of yourself, unni, you shouldn't trust him. What did I say about him earlier? Tell me."

Jung Heewon nodded and replied.

"Bad guy. The guy to be torn to pieces. Someone to burn to death with Hellfire."

.....Where did I hear that before?

This was the second reader I met after Dansoo ahjussi.

Since the 'number of reads' count is 1.8, I'm guessing she read the entire Omniscient Reader at least once.

Was she actually a good person?

Let's see what she commented.

I thought about what happened in chapter 139.

Chapter 139 is around episode 27.

It was probably when Nirvana came out, about when Jung Heewon was going on a rampage after being infected with Thought Infection. Was it the scene where Lee Hyunsung threw his whole body to stop Jung Heewon's runaway?

Dansoo ahjussi asked.

"That little girl is like us... right?"

"I think so."

I decided to contact her first.

However, as I approached, the girl started screaming.

"Uwaak! Help!"

"Excuse me."

"He's going to kill me, and even if he doesn't, he's going to do something bad anyway!"

I was about to say that there's no way I'd do such a thing, but then I remembered that I was Cheon Inho.

I held my hands up lightly, signaling that I meant no offense.

"No, I was just saying hello....."

As I was saying that, Bang Cheolsoo, who had popped up from the side, shouted.

"Listen up! From now on, our Cheoldoo Group will occupy Geumho Station! Drop everything you're carrying and head over there—"

I punched Bang Cheolsoo in the back of the head with all my might.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' has sponsored you 100 coins.]

After backing down Bang Cheolsoo, who looked back at me in frustration, I looked at the girl again.

"I'm not a bad person, you seem to misunderstand something."

"Don't come, you villain!"

"She's telling you not to come."

Jung Heewon's voice was determined as she hid the girl behind her.

The girl poked her head over Jung Heewon's shoulder and looked at me with a pleased face.

So that's how it is.

I sighed lightly and said.

"It can't be helped, so let's just talk like this."

Jung Heewon looked back and forth between me and the girl, then asked her.

"Is that okay?"

The girl looked at Jung Heewon in confusion, and Jung Heewon looked back at me.

"She's scared, you can talk to her another time."

"I have no intention of threatening her, and if I do, Jung Heewon-ssi can stop me."

I called for Bang Cheolsoo and was given a pipe. Just when Jung Heewon's expression hardened as if she thought I had finally shown my true colors, I handed the pipe to her.

"If you see me threatening her, hit me over the head with this."

"What?"

"Hard."

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries's eyes are shining.]

Jung Heewon stared down at the pipe she had been given, then said in a bewildered voice.

"I don't intend to go that far."

"Then let's get started."

I cleared my throat with a hmm, and began to speak in a theatrical voice.

"I like Jung Heewon."

"......?"

Jung Heewon looked at me with confused eyes.

I continued.

"From today on, I will do 100 push-ups, 100 squats, and run 10 kilometers every day to become a man worthy of Heewon-nim."

Jung Heewon looked like she didn't know whether to slap me on the head or not.

"Heewon-nim... I love you... Seriously..."

"What are you doing?"

"I can do the same as Lee-"

"Now, wait!"

The contemplative girl eventually popped out from behind Jung Heewon.

I smirked and said.

"Are you ready to talk now? Judge Heewon—"

The girl who quickly covered my mouth looked back at Jung Heewon and smiled awkwardly.

"Unni. I'm sorry, I guess I got the wrong person."

"Are you okay? It sounds like you're being blackmailed?"

"No! I'm really not, so don't worry!"

Looking at the shaken girl, I was once again convinced.

This must be him.

This is the same person who sat next to me in the event theater.

Nickname [Judge Heewon].

The muscular man who answered the trivia question about the name of Jung Heewon's sword, roared, jumped on stage, and came to possess someone in this world.

Wait, I thought he was a man?

He, or she, who was now a tiny girl, even tinier than Jung Heewon, spoke over my mouth.

"Why don't we go over there and talk?"

---

"That..... Cheon Inho?"

"Yes."

"Who the hell are you?"

Judge Heewon looked at me and ahjussi with fear in her eyes, as if she were trying to figure out who we were by our looks. But there was no way she could have known who I was.

I realized that I needed to let her guard down a bit. Luckily, I had learned the social language to use in this situation.

"Jung Heewon is great."

"What? Of course....."

Judge Heewon's expression became strange.

"Wait, you-?"

"Yes."

"Your nickname is funny....."

I nodded.

"That all-carer? The one with the pretty girl?"

"That..... Yes."

"The one who couldn't get a single question right!"

"I got a question right, which is why I'm here."

Judge Heewon opened her mouth in a daze. She seemed to be organizing the situation in her head.

I added for reassurance.

"I'm in the same boat as you, and so is this ahjussi."

Dansoo ahjussi bowed slightly with a polite face.

Judge Heewon muttered in a trembling voice.

"I see, I'm not the only one....."

Judge Heewon looked at us with hollow eyes, as if she was going to burst into tears at any moment.

"I really thought I was going to die, but at least I remembered the first scenario."

"How did you clear it?"

"The usual, bugs are the law of the land."

Judging by the smugness in her voice, she had contributed to making a mess of the first scenario just like me.

"Actually, I almost died in the middle of the scenario when it was twisted up..... I got lucky. I was trapped with Heewon-nim."

She was trapped with Jung Heewon.....

As expected, it was thanks to Judge Heewon that Jung Heewon survived without killing anyone.

After taking a low breath, Judge Heewon said softly.

"Phew..... Anyway, if you're a reader too, you should have told me sooner. That was close."

"I've been trying to tell you all along, but you've been hiding and criticizing me."

"I didn't think someone would possess Cheon Inho. Why Cheon Inho?"

Why am I Cheon Inho?

I wonder that too.

In any case, Judge Heewon seemed to have completely lost her animosity.

"First of all, let's introduce each other. I'm Cheon Inho, as you can see."

"I'm Lee Dansoo."

Hearing our names, Judge Heewon nodded in understanding.

"It's the rule to speak by your given name, like in TRPG?"

I started to say, but stopped.

Judge Heewon said her new nickname with a shy face.

"I'm Kyung Sein."

"Can I call you Judge Heewon?"

"You should call me Kyung Sein."

She's an adaptable person.

---

It was still the first day of the scenario, and there was a lot of work to do.

Dansoo ahjussi had a poor memory, but Kyung Sein was a voracious reader who remembered quite a lot.

"After all, it's a national rule to collect food first at Geumho Station."

I wonder who set that rule.

It's like we all got together and made a 'How to Deal with the Apocalypse in Omniscient Reader'.

Anyway, we decided to split up and rob vending machines and mini convenience stores.

Bang Cheolsoo and the Cheoldoo Group joined us.

About thirty minutes passed.

"Is this it? Have you checked all the convenience stores nearby?"

"Yes, this is it."

We had succeeded in collecting all the food in Geumho Station.

There are currently 134 people trapped inside Geumho Station.

It was only enough food for one day.

Kyung Sein asked.

"What should we do? Should we sell them for coins?"

"No, we'll just give them away."

I could have sold them for coins and made a small profit, as Kim Dokja did. But I didn't choose that option.

Kyung Sein agreed.

"Well, I don't think it's right to accept coins from those people. Kim Dokja was definitely not normal."

"Sein-ssi, please distribute it to the people over there. Cheolsoo, you go to the other side."

"Alright."

"Dansoo ahjussi, you can share with me."

As we distributed the food, I looked at the faces of the citizens one by one.

I didn't realize it when I wrote this scene.

The looks on the faces of people who had just killed someone to survive.

"Thank you."

The dead in the first scenario all had their heads explode. The pale faces of the dead now rested on the faces of the living.

"As some of you may already know, there are monsters roaming outside right now, and it's wise to stay safe here and wait for rescue."

"Do you really think rescue will come?"

"They will come."

Of course, the rescuers wouldn't come.

[There are currently 48 people in Geumho Station who support you.]

[Currently 35% of Geumho Station supports you.]

Not bad. At this rate, I should be able to capture Geumho Station in the next 30 minutes and complete the scenario.

[The constellations of the 'absolute good' system are impressed by your dedication.]

[100 coins have been sponsored.]

In addition, I have gained the favor of the constellations.

The project to rehabilitate Cheon Inho was progressing steadily.

[The character 'Bang Cheolsoo' feels an unknown emotion.]

And maybe, Bang Cheolsoo.

"Cheolsoo hyung-nim. Are you doing well?"

"I don't know. Something's tickling me."

As they handed out the bread and snacks and they were thanked, the Cheoldoo Group looked somewhat reminiscent.

This is probably the first time they've ever heard anyone thank them.

I don't know how much of the story could have been changed by adding a few extra sentences to them.

But sometimes, even if you can't change anything, there's something you want to write. Like a question you can't help but ask even though you know the answer.

"Have you seen a girl named No Jiyoon?"

Dansoo ahjussi, who was helping distribute food next to me, would ask people the same question over and over again.

"I don't know, what does she look like?"

"That..... All I know is her name."

Jiyoon is the name of his daughter.

Actually, I'm sure Dansoo ahjussi knows it. Even if he asks people for his daughter's name here, he won't find her. His daughter is probably living under a different name, possessing a completely different person.

Still, he didn't stop asking.

As if the name alone was proof, in this strange and unfamiliar world, that he was not Lee Dansoo, but someone's father.

I stared at him for a moment, then opened my phone.

A platform app popped up on the screen.

Surely I had once been the author of Omniscient Reader. But could I still call myself the author of that novel?

All I have left to prove that time is this.

> Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint - 567 chapters
>
> —Author Lee Hakhyun

I stared blankly at the title of my novel.

I don't know how long I did that.

Suddenly, I got goosebumps on my spine.

What the hell?

I glared at the screen once more, specifically at the number of chapters.

Sure enough, the 'Omniscient Reader' I knew had been completed in chapter 551.

> Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint - 567 chapters

> —Author Lee Hakhyun

There were 15 more chapters.

569 Episode 3. Protagonist(?) (6)

---

I went through the newly expanded table of contents one by one. Even as I was looking, the table of contents grew by one.

Episode 3. Protagonist(?) (6) +[21]

Episode 3. Protagonist(?) (5) +[24]

.....

Episode 2. Rewrite (1) +[49]

Episode 1. The World After Completion (2) +[41]

Episode 1. The World After Completion (1) +[63]

Prologue. This is not an Announcement +[98]

A total of 568 chapters.

What the hell happened?

When I looked closely, there was also an event bonus.

When I thought about it, I remembered that I wrote such a side story for Yoo Joonghyuk's birthday event.

But did I post it in the series?

I wish I could see what it was about.

I hesitated for a moment, then decided to check the comments of the latest episode.

[1 free daily pass will be deducted.]

[One random comment from the chapter will be released at random.]

Free pass?

—First.

The only comment I could see was one in the middle of the ranking, and all the others were covered.

What's going on?

I went back and checked the comments on the older episodes.

Sure enough, I could see all the comments up to chapter 552.

The problem was the comments for the later episodes.

[You can read up to three free daily comments for chapters after 553.]

[You currently have 2 free daily passes.]

[If you run out of free passes, you can use coins to view the comments.]

[3,000 coins will be deducted for each comment.]

It was ridiculous.

3,000 coins for each additional comment?

No, 3,000 coins was my entire fortune now.

I decided to start with the free passes.

First, chapter 553.

[1 free daily pass will be deducted.]

| |
|---|
| —Oh? |

I felt a twinge of resentment.

I tapped on chapter 556.

[1 free daily pass will be deducted.]

[You have used up all of your free daily passes for today.]

| |
|---|
| —Wow, so it's a story where the author possesses Cheon Inho? |

Fortunately, this time it was a comment from which I could infer the context of the story.

After all, the content of the serialized excerpt was describing my current situation of possession.

My head was spinning.

Who is publishing this?

Is someone writing this story under my name instead of me?

If this is a novel, are my thoughts being described?

「If so, am I thinking, or am I being thought.」

I don't know.

There was nothing I could tell for certain right now.

"There."

Jung Heewon came to me during a break after the food distribution was over.

"Can I sit next to you for a while?"

"Oh, sure."

Jung Heewon sat down on the bench I was sitting on. However, she didn't speak to me right away.

I hadn't realized it before because I was too busy, but it felt strange to think that the character I wrote was sitting next to me.

This person is definitely not a type.

The white skin, long hair, and deep eyes looking at me are all real.

Jung Heewon was indeed present in front of me now.

"I'm sorry about earlier, Sein told me it was a misunderstanding. She said it was because you look so much like the person she hated....."

"No, it was a misunderstanding. It's fine."

It's not that I looked alike, I am the one she hated.

I pulled a canned drink out of my pocket and handed it over.

"Would you like some?"

"Oh, thanks."

We sat side by side and drank our canned drinks, both of us staring out at the empty tracks, and I remembered the text of Omniscient Reader.

Come to think of it, Kim Dokja also sat on the platform at Geumho Station with Jung Heewon.

She said.

"The train won't come anymore, will it?"

No matter how long we wait, the train won't come. Neither will the next train, nor the one after that.

But the lack of trains didn't mean anyone was going to die right away.

"I guess I'll just have to get used to walking."

Jung Heewon glanced at me and said.

"You're so calm, Inho-ssi. I can't do that."

"It's because I usually have strange imaginations."

Jung Heewon smiled bitterly at the words 'strange imaginations'.

"That's funny, Sein said something similar."

According to Jung Heewon, she and Kyung Sein were trapped in the same area in the first scenario.

I knew the gist of it.

She told me that, as she panicked, Kyung Sein caught a bug for her, and that's how they survived.

"Luckily, there must have been a lot of bugs."

"There was only one bug."

"What?"

Thinking about it, we were lucky to have vending machines in our area, but I'm sure not all areas had them.

Surely, there must have been areas with very few bugs.

"I'm the only one who survived with the bug."

"And Sein-ssi....."

"It was self-defense. He had nothing to say even if he died."

The expression on Jung Heewon's face as she said that, somehow reminded me of the 'Judge of Evil' from Omniscient Reader that I knew.

But she killed a man? It didn't look like it from the outside.

"By the way, Cheon Inho-ssi."

"Yes."

"Do you happen to know me?"

"What?"

"And what you said earlier."

What did I say earlier?

"That..... No."

「Heewon-nim... I love you... Surely...」

Goosebumps suddenly rose on my forearms.

"Oh, that."

Thinking about it, it wasn't strange that Jung Heewon misunderstood me in that kind of situation.

"You should just forget about it."

"Shall we?"

"Yeah."

I thought I felt a strange gaze in the distance, but it was Kyung Sein who had stopped squatting and was staring at us.

Jung Heewon breathed a sigh of relief.

"Thank God. I was actually worried that you were a strange person."

"You don't have to worry about that."

I'm afraid of what Ji Eunyu will say if she finds out.

What kind of writer confesses to a character they created?

Jung Heewon scratched her cheek at my strong denial and smiled.

"Anyway, keep up the good work. I was a little surprised to see you handing out food to people earlier, I didn't expect that."

[Character 'Jung Heewon' has a faint sense of trust in you.]

Suddenly, I understood why Jung Heewon was talking to me.

[The majority of your region now thinks of you as a leader.]

[You have conquered 'Geumho Station'.]

[You will receive the sub scenario rewards.]

[500 coins have been earned.]

[If you survive to the fourth main scenario, you will receive additional benefits from completing the sub scenario.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' says your ploy is really pretty good.]

Wow, all these rewards?

Cheon Inho didn't get to enjoy any of this and died right away in the main story.

I have to be really nice to Kim Dokja when I meet him.

Yes, Kim Dokja.

It was time to go meet the real Kim Dokja.

---

"Is everyone ready to go?"

"Yes."

"Not yet, wait a bit."

Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi each held a pipe with a cloth tied around the handle. These were our temporary weapons for the time being.

"But are you going to leave the Cheoldoo Group here? I thought you made a group to lead the way in times like this."

She wasn't wrong.

However, if we were accompanied by the Cheoldoo Group unnecessarily and ran into Kim Dokja or Yoo Joonghyuk, we might get into trouble.

Kyung Sein nodded in understanding.

"I see. It would be easy to misunderstand, but if you put it that way, Cheon Inho's existence is a problem."

"We'll find an excuse somehow."

"What are you going to say?"

"Sein-ssi should say it, not me. Do you think Kim Dokja or Yoo Joonghyuk would listen to me?"

"Oh, yeah. Uh..... what should I say? I'm not good at talking. So where would they be by now?"

"They're probably just finishing up the 'Even Bridge' scenario."

In the main part of Omniscient Reader, Kim Dokja and the others are separated by the breaking of the Dongho Bridge.

"Since Kim Dokja would have been eaten by the ichthyosaur straight away, we're likely to meet Yoo Joonghyuk, Lee Hyunsung, Yoo Sangah, Lee Gilyoung..... the other members first."

That's what would be common sense.

Of course, that's assuming the scenario plays out in the same way as in the original.

"We'll probably meet Han Myungoh, too."

It was Dansoo ahjussi who said that.

It seemed that he was finally ready to leave, too, and something was floating over his head. He must have gotten some sort of privilege from his constellation.

Thank goodness, at least it wasn't a very bad constellation.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' expects great things from incarnation 'Lee Dansoo'.]

"So the three of us are going like this? Will that be okay?"

Dansoo ahjussi had a strangely worried face.

Actually, I was worried too.

Right now, we only had a man with a naturally muscular body and a girl with the soul of a muscular man.

"Do you have any combat skills? Like [Weapon Training]?"

In response to my question, Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi shook their heads at the same time.

We didn't even have the basics.

But Kyung Sein was confident.

"Still, don't you think we can handle a few ground rats? We've got some experience."

I agreed with that, too.

This is who we are.

It was a party consisting of the author of Omniscient Reader (though Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi didn't know yet) and two completionists.

After all, it's a story where the author, reader, and protagonist work together to reach the ending, so there's nothing we can't do.

"By the way, can we just talk about the novel like this? The constellations—"

"It'll be fine. Even in Omniscient Reader, all the stuff about Ways of Survival is filtered out at the beginning."

"But there's no guarantee that'll be the case here—"

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' grumbles, wondering what the hell you are talking about.]

[The constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' complains that the conversation was filtered incorrectly.]

Kyung Sein shook her head in admiration.

"Wow, it's true. As expected of Omniscient Reader."

Was that an insult or a compliment?

I didn't bother to ask.

We stepped into the tunnel that led straight to Oksu Station.

As the darkness of the claustrophobic tunnel enveloped us, I was suddenly aware of my heavy breathing.

One step, two steps.

A chill seeped into my ankles with each step. The sensation of being in real danger was palpable.

All three of us seemed to be thinking the same thing, but none of us spoke up.

Finally, it was Kyung Sein, who had the soul of a muscular man, who spoke first.

"Should we just go back? I mean, we can wait at Geumho Station and still meet them, so why go out of our way?"

"It's better if we pick them up. You know, in case something happens."

"Sure..... the first scenario has changed."

"Let's go, and if it looks like we're in danger, we'll run."

Of course, I had no intention of running away. For my own safety, it was best to make contact with the main characters at this timing.

The worst that could happen was that Kim Dokja and the others were dead.

But even if they were all dead, there would still be one person alive.

Yoo Joonghyuk, the true protagonist of Ways of Survival and the strongest incarnation in Omniscient Reader.

If things were really going to go south, someone would have to confront him on Kim Dokja's behalf. Someone had to convince him, cajole him, and somehow see the end of this damned scenario.

「But which one of us is up to the task?」

I was lost in thought for a second. As I returned to my thoughts, I could hear Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi talking. They were squatting together and had apparently become quite close.

"Did you sign a sponsor contract too?"

"Yes."

"Who did you sign with?"

"Sneaky Schemer."

"Sneaky Schemer?"

I had told him to stop talking, but he couldn't help himself and bragged about it.

For the record, Dansoo ahjussi still confuses 'Sneaky Schemer' with 'Secretive Plotter', the most powerful man in Omniscient Reader.

And just now,

"It's not that constellation?"

He finally realized that it wasn't the right constellation.

"Did you just skim the novel?"

Ahjussi asked in a voice full of disbelief, and Kyung Sein frowned.

"What are you talking about? I've read it thoroughly. I've also read the 'Encyclopedia of Omniscient Reader' compiled by 'RepresentativeKimDokja' at least ten times. How many times have you seen it?"

"What's that?"

"Forget it, the constellation you're talking about is 'Secretive Plotter', not 'Sneaky Schemer'. How could you get that mixed up?"

"No way....."

"I-I'm sure Jiyoon said this constellation is the best..."

"Because of Jiyoon or whatever, you're totally screwed. They look like a weird constellation."

"Jiyoon is my daughter."

As I watched the conversation with interest, I suddenly realized that I hadn't heard any messages from the 'Sneaky Schemer'.

If someone talked about you openly like this, wouldn't you interrupt? Had he left the channel?

Suddenly, I became nervous. If we had made Bihyung's channel less popular, the planned stream contract talks could fall through.

'Bihyung. Are you there?'

Even when I tried talking to him, he didn't reply.

Did we lose communication?

[A few constellations are talking about who is 'Sneaky Schemer'.]

I realized that the channel wasn't dead, as there was still a response from the constellations.

I could think about it later, now was the time to move.

"Let's speed up a little bit."

"Okay."

"Let's do it."

One minute later

"We're slowing down."

"Inho-ssi should lead the way. You're the leader."

This was not a powerful party consisting of an author and two completionists; it was just a party of wimps.

At this rate, we could walk all day to Oksu Station and still not make it.

"Hey, guys."

Unexpectedly, it was Dansoo ahjussi who came to the rescue, looking like he was thinking about something.

"If you don't mind, I'd like to do a little scouting on my own."

"What? You're going to get yourself killed, ahjussi. Your sponsor isn't Secretive Plotter."

"I know. My sponsor is Sneaky Schemer."

For some reason, at that moment, Dansoo ahjussi looked like a dashing Kim Dokja once again.

"So there's something I can do."

Ahjussi stared at the floor and muttered something under his breath.

A moment later, dozens of cockroaches swarmed across the floor.

"U-uaak!"

Kyung Sein clung onto me. I took a step back to avoid her.

The cockroaches that had gathered near ahjussi moved their antennae as if to communicate with him, and then they began to move in a single file line toward Oksu Station.

Kyung Sein shook her hand and asked.

"Ahjussi. Isn't that [Diverse Communication]? How did you learn that skill? Is your attribute [Insect Collector]?"

If I recall correctly, there were only a few main characters in the original novel who had that skill.

He wiped the sweat from his forehead and said.

"I got it from the constellation."

From the constellation?

His sponsor gave him a skill like that?

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' re-enters the channel.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is surprised to see how far you've come.]

For the briefest of moments, a thought flashed through my mind.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' smiles happily at the cockroaches.]

No way.....

It's not that, right?

---

Author's Note

Sing: The first boarding house I chose in college was very old, and there were a lot of cockroaches. My older brother, who lived on the first floor, loved to tear off the legs of cockroaches. From then on, I became afraid of people who were good at catching cockroaches.

Shong: However, Sing sometimes spoke with respect to their brother.

570 Episode 3. Protagonist(?) (7)

"They say there's nothing ahead."

Thanks to the cockroaches' forewarning of danger, we were able to move at a faster pace than before.

Kyung Sein said admiringly.

"The cockroaches are so OP."

"What's OP?"

"That..... It's too good, so maybe your sponsor is more useful than I thought?"

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' grumbles asking 'Did you realize that just now?']

Things certainly weren't bad.

At this point, Dansoo ahjussi could easily play the role of Lee Gilyoung in the main story.

We walked for about ten minutes.

He stopped for the first time.

"There's something up ahead."

We gasped in unison.

A few cockroaches scurried toward him, their antennae twitching violently.

"I think it's one ground rat."

I didn't think there were ground rats in this section.

I thought for a moment and said.

"Let's wait. Maybe it's one that got separated from the mischief and was wandering around."

I didn't want to risk an encounter. We waited, hiding ourselves.

1 minute, 5 minutes, 10 minutes.

The ground rat showed no sign of going away.

Dansoo ahjussi looked a little tired, as if he'd used [Diverse Communication] too many times in such a short period of time.

"What shall we do?"

Oksu Station was just around the corner. It would be a shame to turn back here.

"Let's catch it, it's only one."

Kyung Sein suggested first.

"We have to fight at some point, and we can't go through the scenario without catching one. It's a monster that Yoo Sangah and Lee Gilyoung also caught, so let's not be scared."

Turns out she was right.

Lightly stretching her shoulders and neck, Kyung Sein continued.

"If you have any useful skills, show them all instead of hiding them. For reference, I have [Average Correction]."

As expected, I thought that if she was a complete reader, she would have at least one hidden hand.

By the way, [Average Correction].

It's a skill that wasn't detailed in Omniscient Reader, but I remembered setting it up.

"It's a little tricky to explain, but if you raise one of your stats, the rest of your stats will be corrected to 70% of your highest stats. For example, if you raise your physique level to 10, you'll have a performance level of 7 without leveling up strength or agility."

"Huh, that's a pretty cool skill."

It was definitely a powerful skill. It meant that from now on, Kyung Sein could go all-in on just one main stat.

In the early stages, when coins are hard to come by for stats, there's no better skill.

"I only have the [Diverse Communication] I showed you earlier..... What about my mate?"

I checked my skills one by one.

[■■]

[Character List]

[Incite]

These were the only three skills I knew.

Sometimes I hear a character's inner thoughts, so I think there's a skill that's similar to [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint], but I haven't figured out how to activate it yet.

"Unfortunately, my skills are all related to inciting through speech. As you can see, it's Cheon Inho."

"Phew, it can't be helped, but it's not a bad situation. There are three of us and only one of it, so on the signal of one, two, three, we'll all run and beat it up."

"Let's be careful not to get hurt."

We looked at each other and cautiously approached the ground rat.

We must have taken thirty steps.

The shadow of a monster emerged from the darkness.

「The size of a fully-grown wolf. A mole-like creature with developed forepaws.」

There was no mistaking it.

It was a 9th grade underground species, the ground rat.

But..... Was it that big?

"Uh, wait a minute."

Kyung Sein also stopped walking as if she noticed something strange.

Kooooo.

An ominous howl.

A pair of yellow eyes glowed in the darkness, and a boar-like creature charged toward us. The ground rumbled lightly, and stones bounced off the bottom of the track.

The frail Kim Dokja had actually caught a monster like this?

"Hiyoooop!"

Dansoo ahjussi let out a strange shout and swung his pipe in an excited gesture.

But his weak pipe grazed the ground rat's face and bounced off.

"Ahjussi!"

Dansoo ahjussi barely rolled out of the way of the collision.

I was next.

Come.

Despite this, my strength level is 10. There's no way I can't catch a monster that even a kid like Lee Gilyoung could catch.

I swung the pipe with all my might, but it missed. The moment the blow hit, the ground rat quickly lowered its head.

Oops.

I spun around and landed on my butt.

When I quickly raised my head, the ground rat was running past me toward its target. It had instinctively chosen the weakest-looking prey among us.

"Sein-ssi!"

The terrified Kyung Sein held up her pipe, her arms shaking.

"Uh, Uwaaaak!"

Throwing the pipe, Kyung Sein turned around and started running.

"What are you doing! Catch it!"

"H-How can I catch something like that!"

How different fiction was from reality.

Is that really the same beast that Yoo Sangah and Lee Gilyoung fought?

Kyung Sein, who was running fast, tripped over the tracks and fell. The ground rat didn't miss the opportunity, howling as it pounced on her.

With a thud, she bounced off and hit the wall of the train tracks.

I thought she was dead, but to my surprise, Kyung Sein staggered to her feet.

"Uaaaa! It hurts! It hurts!"

The reason was obvious.

Kyung Sein had gone all-in on her physique.

Just as I had invested my coins in strength, she had invested all of her coins in physique.

"Don't run, pick up your weapon! Over here! You bastard!"

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.2' is activated.]

I activated [Incite] half-heartedly, and it turned to look in my direction. It didn't seem to understand me, but at least I'd turned off its aggression.

With Kyung Sein haphazardly picking up her weapon, Dansoo ahjussi and I formed a chaotic formation.

Luckily, the ground rat only let out a snarl and didn't try to charge again.

"You said you were going to be a man worthy of Heewon-ssi."

"Heewon-nim is strong, I can help her as a wife!"

"You've killed people, you can't just run away like that."

I wish I hadn't said that.

Pale and fed up, Kyung Sein asked.

"I killed a man? Who told you that?"

"Heewon-ssi."

"I..... I just closed my eyes and finished the kid Heewon-nim left half dead."

As I watched Kyung Sein's shaking hand holding the pipe, it all made sense.

That was why Jung Heewon had such a strong expression on her face.

"If you really don't want to die, make up your mind."

The plan was a complete failure.

There was no way an ordinary reader in real life could possess someone in a novel and suddenly start acting like Kim Dokja.

「I wonder how many of them survived.」

Just as the sudden anxiety was taking over my mind, Dansoo ahjussi called out to me in a trembling voice.

"I-Inho-ssi."

The ground rat that had been confronting us had four eyes now.

Damn.

He'd called for his colleague.

"Turn around."

We started running toward Geumho Station. But the chasing ground rats were faster.

"Ahjussi! Hurry!"

Dansoo ahjussi, who had relatively low physique and strength, lagged behind. I slowed down a bit to keep pace with him.

That's when I heard a squeak. I looked to the side and saw a ground rat nibbling at the hem of my clothes.

The smell of blood hit my nose.

I couldn't believe I was going to die like this, not from a monster, but from a ground rat. At the same time, I realized that I wanted to write a novel about this story.

「The Ultimate Omniscient Reader Party. Wiped out by a 9th grade underground species, the ground rat.」

But who would read such a novel?

I let out a shout and smashed the ground rat's head with my pipe. But its grip was stronger than I thought.

"Ahjussi! Run! Come on!"

I can't take on both of them with all my might now. It's even more impossible for me alone.

At least I can buy some time.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.2' is strongly activated!]

My skill once again drew the attention of the ground rats.

I gripped the pipe with both hands like a baseball bat and slammed it into the side of one of them. It squirmed in pain and fell from me.

The problem was the other one.

In an ominous flash of foreboding, a large shadow leaped up behind me. It was too late to react.

"Get out of the way!"

With a sharp voice, a pipe flew out of nowhere and pierced the ground rat's eye.

Kuaaaak!

The sharpened end of the pipe went straight through the ground rat's skull and out the other side.

The pipe was pulled straight out and left an efficient trajectory toward the second ground rat.

I knew the identity of that trace.

A skill that was dismissed as insignificant in Omniscient Reader.

[Kendo(劍道)]

However, there were some characters who practiced it to the limit and finally slit the throats of demons.

The flowing trace of the pipe sliced through the head of the staggering second ground rat.

As it collapsed, the red glow extinguished from its eyes as it looked at me.

"I knew this would happen."

Last time, I thought I couldn't help it even if Ji Eunyu teased me. This time, I thought I might actually fall in love with her.

"Are you okay?"

It was Jung Heewon.

---

"Sniff sniff, Heewon unni, I mean, it was so hard for us."

Kyung Sein held on to Jung Heewon and sobbed. "I thought I was really going to die! Why did you only come now?"

"Thanks to you, I'm alive. I didn't know they were so strong....."

Dansoo ahjussi also thanked her, exhausted.

I did the same.

"You saved my life, you really put up a good fight."

"Are your wounds okay?"

"Yes. It's nothing, thankfully."

Luckily, the ground rat's teeth had only scratched my side.

Still, if Jung Heewon hadn't come, I would have died there.

I completely miscalculated our power. I didn't expect the readers party to be so crappy.

"I came here because I was worried. I saw two weak men and a small girl leaving as a scouting party... I was honestly nervous."

Apparently, Jung Heewon was the only one who objectively grasped our party's strength.

However, the previous battle was surprising even when I thought about it again.

Jung Heewon was this strong.

[The exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated!]

<Character Summary>

Name: Jung Heewon

Age: 27 years old

Sponsor: None (Two constellations are currently showing interest in this person.)

Exclusive Attributes: Crouching Figure (Common)

Exclusive Skills: [Demon Slaying Lv.1], [Kendo Lv.1]

Stigma: None

Overall Stats: [Physique Lv.5], [Strength Lv.6], [Agility Lv.7], [Magic Power Lv.4]

Overall Evaluation: She's a 'Crouching Figure' with enormous potential. The attribute information isn't verified yet because the attribute hadn't blossomed. She currently has a faint faith in you.

I can't believe that 'Cheon Inho' is trusted by Jung Heewon.

Life really is hard to understand.

"But why did you move in such a hurry?"

Jung Heewon's question made Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi look at me at the same time.

"Because we have to rescue the survivors."

"Survivors?"

"There's someone I know near Oksu Station."

Jung Heewon nodded as if she understood.

"I see. Your parents, your family?"

"If I had to say..... They're like family."

Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi looked at me and nodded.

Jung Heewon said.

"If that's the case, I'll help you too."

"I'd really appreciate it."

I thought it would be okay to go with Jung Heewon. She was going to be a main member of Kim Dokja's Company, so there was no harm if she accompanied us in advance.

However, there was something I needed to do before I left again.

I looked down at the bodies of the two fallen ground rats.

"Hmm? What are you going to do?"

There were two main reasons why our party was so unsuccessful.

One, the lack of main combat skills, and two.

"Let's make weapons."

As if something had come to their mind, Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi jumped out of their seats.

It must have been the development of the main story.

However, Kyung Sein's expression brightened for a moment, and then quickly darkened.

"But..... Inho-ssi."

"Yes."

"Do you know how to do it?"

That was the problem.

---

"Ground rat's spine sword! Ground rat's spine sword!"

Kyung Sein had been repeating the words like a mantra for several minutes now, holding the head of a ground rat.

Dansoo ahjussi asked.

"What are you doing?"

"I'm trying to do something."

I think she has watched too many cartoons.

I left Kyung Sein alone and took out the knife I had borrowed from the Cheoldoo Group earlier.

Then I used Incite on myself.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv2' is activated!]

「This isn't gross at all. I'm a professional butcher.」

I grabbed the ground rat by the head and started tearing off its skin. Honestly, I was worried because I've never done any butchering before, but it wasn't as hard as I thought.

Upon closer inspection, I realized that the skin had a dotted line along the spine. Like a creature made to be cut along the dotted line.

I thought that this was enough for people who hadn't read 'Ways of Survival' like Kim Dokja, then I turned to the side and saw Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi gagging.

Oh well, that's normal.

Jung Heewon, on the other hand, stuck to my side and watched the whole grooming process with interest.

"Where did you learn to do this?"

"Self-taught."

"Wow....."

My shoulders got tense for no reason.

I must be pretty talented, right? Jung Heewon added with a wry smile.

"But since you're self-taught, you're not very good at it."

"Don't bully me."

I grunted for about twenty minutes.

With a snap, the first ground rat's spine was cleanly separated.

Dansoo ahjussi was impressed.

"Now that's a convincing one."

Even in their natural state, the vertebrae of ground rats resembled a sword. Indeed, a creature that defied evolutionary odds to have a spine made by a single bone.

"This is for Heewon-ssi."

"Really? Can I take it?"

"Because you're our team's biggest power."

Jung Heewon was a monster who could beat two ground rats with a pipe, and then I gave her a ground rat knife?

It's only a matter of catching the bus from now on.

"Ah..... Thank you."

Jung Heewon accepted the knife as if she was embarrassed, and then examined the front and back of the knife for a long time.

"Suddenly I feel like I'm back in the Paleolithic age."

I stopped and looked up. I thought it sounded familiar, but then I realized it was a line from Omniscient Reader.

I hesitated for a moment.

「May I answer?」

I inhaled lightly, then spoke in a somewhat theatrical tone.

"The bone is hard, so you need to grind it on a whetstone for it to be useful. There are rocks lying around here, so sharpen the blade skillfully."

"Heh, yes, Captain."

Originally, this conversation had been between Kim Dokja and Jung Heewon.

Kyung Sein, who came up behind them, scolded me with a whisper.

"Don't you think you're getting too close to Heewon-nim?"

"Well, someone has to look out for her. Until we meet Kim Dokja."

As I said that, my heart gradually grew heavy.

I wondered if I could do as much as Kim Dokja did.

Would I be able to help Jung Heewon survive in this world?

"By the way, there's a problem. Heewon-nim won't be able to grow as fast as things are going now."

As if reading my mind, Kyung Sein whispered.

"You remember that? Heewon-nim gets stronger for real after her awakening as the 'Judge of Destruction'. At this rate, even if we meet the real Kim Dokja, Heewon-nim may not be as active as she was in the main novel."

That's right.

Jung Heewon's strongest skill is [Hour of Judgement].

In order to obtain it, she must become the 'Judge of Destruction'.

However, there are two prerequisites for her to do so.

One is that she is subjected to brutal violence by the Cheoldoo Group.

And two.

"In order for Heewon-nim to awaken as in the original, Cheon Inho-ssi must die."

My death.

571 Episode 3. Protagonist(?) (8)

---

After obtaining the ground rat knife, our progress accelerated.

A few times along the way, we encountered small mischiefs of ground rats, but thanks to Jung Hee-won's skill, they were easily defeated.

It wasn't long before the group was able to get their hands on one each.

I wonder how long we walked.

Finally, the scenery of Oksu Station appeared.

"Wow, really. Wow."

After walking for only 20 minutes, Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi's faces were covered in sweat.

Oksu Station is an aboveground station.

Looking at the faint sunlight, I suddenly had a thought.

「I don't want to die.」

I don't know why I felt that way.

What I do know is that one day I will write this sentence.

"I'll take a look around first. You can stay here for a while."

Jung Heewon jumped forward and stepped onto the platform with light steps.

Behind me, Kyung Sein asked.

"But is it okay for us to stay here? Oksu Station is above ground."

According to Omniscient Reader, the ground is covered in a 'poisonous fog' from the second main scenario onward.

"It's okay, I don't think there are any poisonous rhinoceros around here."

The poisonous fog was the fart of the 7th grade monster species, the great poisonous rhinoceros.

In other words, as long as there were no poisonous rhinoceros nearby, there was no danger of being exposed to the poisonous fog.

Kyung Sein shook her head in admiration.

"I can't believe you remembered something like that. May I ask how many times you've read it?"

"I've read it quite a lot."

I couldn't help it. Counting rewrites and revisions, I'd read it at least a dozen times per chapter. I read some sections over a hundred times.

"You're not famous, are you? You're not one of the Seven Apostles, are you?"

"What's that?"

"It's a group created by some of the most famous people in the world of Omniscient Reader—"

For a moment, I was confused if this was fiction or reality, because there is a similar group in Omniscient Reader.

"They say the world is big and there are many reclusive masters..... I guess my luck isn't so bad after meeting Inho-ssi."

"Can I hear that story you just told in detail?"

"What story, the Seven Apostles?"

"Yes."

"Well, it's not a big deal, it's just a bunch of fans who got together and named it as a joke —"

Kyung Sein began to ramble on about the 'Seven Apostles' in a somewhat excited voice.

I was shocked that a failed novel had such a club, but I was also surprised that it had been active for four years.

Since this is Omniscient Reader's world, it's likely that readers with a high number of completions had survived.

If we can bring them to our side, it will be a great help.

"I was there when it happened."

As Kyung Sein was recounting the three-days and three-nights setup battle between the 'Seven Apostles' and the 'Misreading Association', Jung Heewon returned from scanning Oksu Station.

"There are no survivors, I think they've all gone to the surface."

"Thank you for your hard work."

"What should we do? Your family—"

Seeing Jung Heewon worrying about others even in the midst of this, I realized that she doesn't have to be the Judge of Destruction.

Is it necessary for her to go through that pain again only for her awakening?

There are many ways to become stronger. I can't say that the development of the main story is the only answer.

"They must be nearby, maybe coming from that direction."

I said, looking to the other side of the tracks leading to the Dongho Bridge.

I could finally meet the main characters of Omniscient Reader.

I could meet Kim Dokja, Yoo Joonghyuk, Lee Hyunsung, Yoo Sangah and Lee Gilyoung.

I exchanged glances with Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi and walked along the tracks.

In the distance, I could see the tracks leading to Dongho Bridge. The bridge was already broken in the middle, as if the ichthyosaur had made a mess and disappeared.

We paused, stared, and waited.

The fishy smell of the Han River wafted through the air.

It was time for the people to come running.

It was time for Lee Hyunsung, Yoo Sangah, Lee Gilyoung, and Han Myungoh, who had crossed the Even Bridge created by 「Deus Ex Machina」 over the Dongho Bridge, to appear.

"That's weird, I don't see anyone—"

The moment Kyung Sein said that.

「Time stopped.」

I panicked as I watched the world around me turn colorless in an instant.

If time had stopped now, there was only one reason.

The skill [■■] had been triggered.

But why?

I didn't see anyone around me who would suddenly do something unexpected?

[Someone wants to do something unexpected.]

Huh?

The letters swirled around me, and a snowy landscape appeared.

[The activation conditions for the exclusive skill '■■' have been partially met.]

[The exclusive skill '■■' has been activated.]

What do you mean 'someone'?

[You have an absurdly low understanding of that character.]

[You can't intervene in the character's actions.]

And a character I can't intervene with? Where?

[Do you want to check the reader's feedback?]

I hadn't written anything, and the message was one-sided.

I decided to check the feedback first.

> rlaehrwk37: Suddenly everyone's going to die here?

I felt my heart sink.

Everyone's going to die?

Here? Suddenly?

[Leaving the 'Snowfield'.....]

I instinctively felt a sense of crisis. It was a writer's intuition.

I don't know what happened, but if 'Snowfield' ends here, my party and I will be wiped out. I had this premonition.

'Wait, wait a moment!'

At my shout, the disappearing snowy landscape returned.

[You want to do something unexpected.]

This skill is triggered when someone wants to do something 'unexpected'.

[Describe your own behavior.]

[You have spent 5 probability points.]

And that, I can do.

[The activation conditions for the exclusive skill '■■' have been met again.]

[The exclusive skill '■■' has been reactivated.]

[You have entered the 'Snowfield'.]

[Describe the next action of 'Cheon Inho'.]

And a window appeared in front of my eyes.

> # Cheon Inho's Station
>
> ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■.....」
>
> * At your current skill level, you can write a total of 160 additional characters.

[You can stay in the 'Snowfield' for a total of 3 minutes.]

I quickly wrote down something along the lines of, 'Cheon Inho reacted quickly to the crisis and saved the party members.'

[This story's content is vague.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 10%.]

[Do you want to check the reader's feedback?]

> rlaehrwk37 : What is it with Cheon Inho
>
> rlaehrwk81 : You don't even know what's going on

No, what the hell was going on.

I decided to stay calm and take a look at my surroundings. First of all, the place I was in, the background, and the people.....

Then something caught my eye.

「Cracks were spreading upward through the tunnel.」

[You found a background clue.]

[You can reserve additional probability in your description.]

Now I had a glimpse of what was about to happen.

I quickly typed a sentence.

「At that moment, Cheon Inho noticed the collapsing ceiling. He reflexively pulled Jung Heewon, who was walking ahead of him, and shouted to the two remaining people. "Everyone, stick to the wall!" Moments later, the tunnel ceiling collapsed. In a cloud of dust, Cheon Inho confirmed the fate of his colleagues. Fortunately, no one was injured.」

[This story is lacking probability.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 43%.]

This time, the odds have gone up quite a bit.

[Do you want to try to recreate it?]

[If you fail, your group will be wiped out.]

43% chance was too vague.

I pondered.

This description is lacking probability.....

After much deliberation, I changed some of the sentences while keeping the basic framework intact.

「At the risk of tearing the ligaments in his right arm, Cheon Inho pushed his companions back with all his strength.」

[This story is lacking probability.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 67%.]

The success rate has increased.

This approach is not wrong.

I made one more edit.

「At the risk of tearing the ligaments in both his arms, Cheon Inho pushed his companions back with all his strength.」

[This story is very plausible.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 98%.]

[Do you want to check the reader's feedback?]

| |
|---|
| rlaehrwk37: Strongrlaehrwk81: They're alive, but they're still screwed |

Is this the only way?

It took a while for Kim Dokja 81 to talk, but there was no other way now.

[Successfully recreating the scene.]

[Leaving the 'Snowfield'.]

At the same time as the message, both of my arms swelled up greatly. I could feel my level 10 strength expanding beyond their limits.

I immediately grabbed Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi by the waist, threw them backwards with all my might, and rolled around holding Jung Heewon.

Kwaaaaaang!

There was a loud explosion, and a terrible pain shot through both my arms.

The ceiling immediately collapsed in a cloud of white dust. Heavy debris brushed past my cheeks and arms.

When I managed to come to my senses with a few coughs, I heard a faint moan in my arms.

Jung Heewon was safe.

Dansoo ahjussi and Kyung Sein had been knocked a good distance away, but they didn't seem to be too seriously injured.

「I'm alive.」

My whole body shook. My left arm didn't move as if its ligaments were broken, and my right arm could barely move, but was nearly paralyzed.

Nevertheless, it wasn't over yet.

An intermittent tremor in the ground told me that whatever had caused this collapse was approaching us.

Kukukukuku.

Moments later, a large, dark shadow loomed above the broken tunnel.

It was a monster I recognized.

7th grade monster species, the great poisonous rhinoceros.

I had a terrible feeling. This is why the feedback said that.

Even if I survive here, I'm doomed to be killed by that beast.

As the violet eyes of the one-horned rhinoceros stared at me, its massive forefoot lifted into the air.

I'll be trampled.

I tried to move, but my body wouldn't budge.

"Heewon-ssi! Wake up! Quickly!"

A black shadow covered my eyes.

This time, it was the end.

And then.

「A pale trajectory sliced through the air.」

Jung Heewon's swordsmanship was amazing, but that beautiful, ecstatic trajectory was incomparable.

The severed forefoot of the poisonous rhinoceros landed beside me, bleeding unrealistically.

I watched the whole thing, covered in the beast's blood.

Then a second trajectory bloomed.

「No way.」

The image of the poisonous rhinoceros's horn, ears, and legs being cut off one after another.

The terrifying 7th grade monster, screaming in agony, collapsed.

「At this point, there shouldn't be any incarnation that can deal with that beast.」

A slow chill ran down my spine as I looked at the black-coated back of the man holding a long spear.

「There is. One person.」

A man in a black coat stood over the corpse of the poisonous rhinoceros that had fallen with a roar.

Just making eye contact sent a shiver down my spine.

I didn't need anyone to tell me.

The man who carried all the world's tragedies on his back.

The hero of 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World', the book Kim Dokja read for a decade.

"Why are you here?"

Yoo Joonghyuk.

572 Episode 3. Protagonist(?) (9)

---

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is warning you.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is glaring at 'Yoo Joonghyuk' with cold eyes.]

An alarm bell rang in my head.

I'm meeting Yoo Joonghyuk first?

What about Lee Hyunsung? Yoo Sangah? Lee Gilyoung and Han Myungoh?

No, do they 'all' really exist?

The moment I met Yoo Joonghyuk's piercing eyes, an eerie sensation washed over me.

「The original Cheon Inho didn't meet Yoo Joonghyuk now.」

I managed to keep my composure.

A quick glance behind me revealed that Jung Heewon, Kyung Sein, and Dansoo ahjussi hadn't woken up yet.

I have no choice but to try to talk my way out of this.

Luckily, there were many approaches that could be used if the opponent was Yoo Joonghyuk.

In the early stages, Yoo Joonghyuk is a bit simple-minded, so I might be able to get out of the situation by claiming to be a prophet like Kim Dokja.

"Answer me, why are you hanging around in this place?"

However, the moment I heard those words, I felt something strange.

First, I noticed the weapon in his hand.

A spear that looked like it was carved from the bones of a monster species.

Suddenly, I felt goosebumps.

「3rd round Yoo Joonghyuk doesn't use a spear.」

Without hesitation, I activated 'Character List'.

['Character List' is activating!]

[The exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated!]

[There is too much information about this person. 'Character List' is converted to 'Character Summary'.]

Along with a slight dizziness, Yoo Joonghyuk's information flashed before my eyes.

<Character Summary>

Name: Yoo Joonghyuk

.....(Omitted).....

Exclusive Skills: [Sage's Eye Lv.9], [Hand to Hand Combat Lv.10], [Weapons Training Lv.10], [Mental Barrier Lv.6], [Crowd Control Lv.7], [Reasoning Lv.7], [Lie Detection Lv.7].....

An endless list of skills.

However, that's not what surprised me.

The moment I saw Yoo Joonghyuk's 'attributes' and 'Regressor' on the list, my mind went blank.

「How the hell could this happen?」

There was only one thought in my head.

「If I stay here, I'll die.」

And then.

"You must have met Anna Croft in the Chungmuro Tunnel. You recalled the memories of the last round....."

I stared at Yoo Joonghyuk, dumbfounded.

What was he talking about?

"Cheon Inho, why are you here? If you remembered, you would have remembered the promise we made."

Suddenly, my head was spinning.

What the hell is this guy talking about?

When I didn't answer, Yoo Joonghyuk's expression hardened slightly.

"Why did you come looking for me? Are you unhappy with our promise now?"

It was a major crisis.

There was no mention of this development anywhere in Omniscient Reader. The same was true for 'Ways of Survival'.

[You want to do something unexpected.]

[The activation conditions for the exclusive skill '□□' have been met.]

If you can, you should experiment with all your options. Moreover, if your opponent is 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.

[Your creativity is currently depleted and you can't enter the 'Snowfield'.]

[You can take a penalty and enter the 'Snowfield' once more.]

[If you make an additional entry, you will no longer be able to enter today.]

[Do you want to enter the 'Snowfield'?]

For a moment, I was worried.

Is this the last entry of the day?

「I'm not entering.」

In the end, I canceled the skill.

There could be a bigger crisis than this, I couldn't risk it hastily.

I had to trust my high level eloquence for now.

I took a deep breath and began my story.

"Do you think I came here for that appointment?"

I could feel him pause for a moment. Whether he did or not, I acted shamelessly.

"I was just looking around to see if there were any items to pick up nearby. How naive of you to think I'd come to see you first."

As I said this, I rummaged through the body of the dead poisonous rhinoceros.

The poisonous rhinoceros was a 7th grade monster.

If I could get a piece of its body now, it would be very useful in the early stages.

"You....."

I turned my head at the sound of the voice and saw Yoo Joonghyuk looking down at me with disdain.

But why? Contempt is definitely contempt.

"No matter how many rounds I do, your trashy behavior doesn't change."

He was smiling strangely.

I felt my hopes rise a little.

"I'm flattered."

As I began to cut off the tiny horn of the poisonous rhinoceros, Yoo Joonghyuk protested.

"That's mine."

"You can keep the tiny horn."

"Have you always been greedy for things like this?"

I felt hurt for a moment, but the water was already spilled anyway.

"I'm not as strong from the beginning as someone."

Yoo Joonghyuk gave me a strange look.

"This round is really weird. That happened in the first scenario too....."

"What happened?"

"None of your business."

"What happened to Lee Hyunsung and Kim Namwoon? Why didn't they come with you?"

Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes turned cold at my questions.

"Don't think too much of yourself, Cheon Inho, do you really think we're colleagues or something? I'm sure you didn't forget what happened last round."

I'm confused.

We made a promise, and now he says we're not colleagues.

What is our relationship then?

"Don't forget what you're supposed to do. Don't make me regret hiring a scumbag like you."

Yoo Joonghyuk glared at me with a scary look, and I couldn't help but widen my eyes.

Even narrow eyes can open wide.

"Thanks for the rant."

"You're even more loudmouthed than last round. Stop procrastinating and go back. You have work to do."

With those words, Yoo Joonghyuk gathered up several key parts of the 'poisonous rhinoceros' and turned back toward the tunnel.

"Don't come looking for me until you've sorted out what I ordered you to do. Next time you wander around, I'll kill you."

I watched Yoo Joonghyuk walk away, step by step, and somehow it didn't feel real.

「I survived.」

Relief washed over me.

I don't know why, but I survived. I had succeeded in fooling that 'Yoo Joonghyuk' safely.

It was then that I heard a rustling sound from the side. Jung Heewon, who suddenly came to her senses, was sitting up a few steps away from me.

"Ouch, it hurts. Inho-ssi. Are you okay? Did you get hurt?"

In a moment of panic, I quickly rushed toward her. Through the thick dust, the sound of Yoo Joonghyuk's footsteps stopped.

"That's weird."

I felt my heart drop.

"I'm sure it wasn't part of your plan to take such a woman with you."

Goosebumps spread from head to toe. Standing over the ruins, Yoo Joonghyuk stared at me with cold eyes.

I tried my best to hide my panic.

"What does it matter who I take with me?"

Instead of answering, Yoo Joonghyuk started walking back toward me.

An ominous feeling crept up on me. I instinctively felt a sense of crisis.

Now.

[You want to do something unexpected.]

[Describe your own behavior.]

[You have spent 5 probability points.]

[The activation conditions for the exclusive skill '■■' have been met.]

My writer's intuition was warning me. I had to use it now. If I failed to overcome this crisis, I would die.

[You have exhausted the number of additional entrances to the 'Snowfield'.]

[You will get a probability penalty.]

[You have received a penalty.]

[You can stay in the 'Snowfield' for a total of 2 minutes.]

The title of the scene was terrible.

'Cheon Inho's Death'.

I quickly began to write a sentence. Roughly, it was about Cheon Inho convincing Yoo Joonghyuk with his amazing speech, overcoming the crisis and becoming his colleague.

[This story is very unlikely.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 1%.]

[You're running out of probability.]

[Do you want to check the reader's feedback?]

> rlaehrwk37: Will Yoo Joonghyuk really accept Cheon Inho as his colleague?

I guess this was too much.

I decided to play the hidden card I had been saving.

「Then, Cheon Inho said. "Yoo Joonghyuk, you need a reliable companion. You can't break through the 46th scenario alone. Shouldn't you be well aware of it?"..... (147 characters in total)」

As I was writing this, I realized that this line could work, because it's exactly what Kim Dokja said in the original novel.

In other words, it was a cheat key that worked unconditionally.

[This story is out of character.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 3%.]

[You're running out of probability.]

> rlaehrwk81: Have you forgotten who you are?
>
> rlaehrwk37: A Cheon Inho has a Cheon Inho's life.

Yes, a Lee Hakhyun has a Lee Hakhyun's life, so let's write it down like Lee Hakhyun.

「Then, Cheon Inho said. "Yoo Joonghyuk. Actually, my name is not Cheon Inho, but Kim Dokja. I've read all of your novel and....." (149 characters in total)」

[This story is a mess.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 0.01%.]

「Then, Cheon Inho said. "Respected Yoo Joonghyuk, please make me your subordinate!"..... (148 characters in total)」

[This story is ordinary.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 3%.]

「Then, Cheon Inho said. "Actually, I'm a prophet..... (147 characters in total)」

[You story is impossible anyway.]

[The 'Snowfield' begins to doubt your talent.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 1%.]

Maybe this is the end of a Lee Hakhyun's life.

[There are 10 seconds remaining.]

I remembered Ji Eunyu's advice one last time.

「Now, what does Yoo Joonghyuk want?」

I closed my eyes and thought about it. And I realized.

[Failed to recreate the scene.]

There's no way I could know that. I can't even understand what he's saying right now, so how can I know what he wants?

[Leaving the 'Snowfield'.]

[Your creativity has been exhausted. You can no longer enter the 'Snowfield' today.]

The colors returned to the world, and Yoo Joonghyuk's steps began to move again.

I swallowed and kept an eye on the situation. I had failed to recreate the scene, but I wasn't ready to give up yet.

"There are a lot of weirdos this round, right from the start."

Yoo Joonghyuk's dismal voice echoed through the cold night air.

"They were nothing until the last round, but they all suddenly came up to me and said strange things as if they were possessed."

I thought I knew what Yoo Joonghyuk was talking about now.

Wait. No way.

"They said that I needed a companion to break through the 46th scenario, or that they were prophets."

A cold sweat began to run down my back.

Yoo Joonghyuk was smiling with a strange expression.

"There was also one who said he would take me to the end of the world."

"Inho-ssi, step back."

Jung Heewon, who noticed something was strange, stood in front of me, holding the ground rat knife.

The next moment, Yoo Joonghyuk's figure disappeared.

The hairs on the back of my neck stood up, and I heard the sound of wind blowing in the distance. It was as if the Grim Reaper was speaking to me from the darkness. It was the implacable language of death that I could not answer.

[The character 'Jung Heewon' has used 'Kendo Lv.1'!]

Nevertheless, Jung Heewon answered him.

A creaking sound was heard in front of her, and dazzling sparks burst out in all directions.

Jung Heewon's sword, which received Yoo Joonghyuk's spear, was trembling precariously.

"You're good at Kendo. You're a similar type as Lee Jihye."

"Inho-ssi! Who is this person?"

As I looked at the blood dripping from Yoo Joonghyuk's spear pole, I had an eerie feeling.

I wanted to ask him, what happened to all those 'prophets' you met?

"Cheon Inho."

Yoo Joonghyuk turned to me.

"Are you really Cheon Inho?"

[The character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' has used 'Lie Detection Lv.7'!]

His [Lie Detection] is level 7.

Perhaps, this was my last chance.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.3' is strongly activated!]

「I am Cheon Inho.」

In other words, as long as the acting was perfect, there was a possibility of deceiving him.

"If I'm not Cheon Inho, then who the hell is Cheon Inho. What are you doing?"

My heart was pounding.

And after a while,

[The character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' has confirmed that the statement is true.]

That's it. He'll have no choice but to believe me.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk's expression was strange.

"[Lie Detection] isn't always perfect, in the previous round you lied to me without using [Poker Face]."

"....."

"Cheon Inho. What was the first thing you decided to do?"

I was speechless for a moment.

"That."

If I made a mistake here, I could be caught by [Lie Detection].

Should I use [Incite] once more? Or—

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at me with an unreadable gaze and said.

"I'll give you a chance."

Yoo Joonghyuk's spear instantly flashed, sending Jung Heewon's sword flying into the air.

Just as Jung Heewon reached out to grab the sword in surprise, Yoo Joonghyuk's spear moved once more.

The fight was quick to end.

Blood gushed from both her knees, and Jung Heewon, who lost her balance, fell forward.

Yoo Joonghyuk's left hand moved.

"Keok."

He lifted Jung Heewon's neck and moved to the end of the bridge.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked back in my direction and said.

"What I need is the great villain Cheon Inho, 'The One Who Deceived the Stars', the 'Evil Sophist'."

I don't know why Cheon Inho had such grandiose nicknames, but Yoo Joonghyuk's purpose was clear.

"If you're really the 'Cheon Inho' I know, prove it."

Yoo Joonghyuk's left hand moved slowly.

Jung Heewon's complexion turned pale as she struggled. Beneath her feet, the hell road of the Han River, where the ichthyosaur passed, unfolded.

Yoo Joonghyuk asked.

"Is this woman your colleague?"

Yoo Joonghyuk was testing me now.

Was I really the 'Cheon Inho' he remembered?

Jung Heewon was looking at me with trembling eyes.

Perhaps, there was only one way to save her now.

I slowly closed my eyes and opened them again. The cold night air rushed into my lungs, and for a moment, I felt like a different person.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.3' is strongly activated!]

[The synchronization rate with the possessed target is increasing rapidly!]

"Let me make one thing clear."

I said with my trademark sly smile, whispering the secret.

"I don't have any colleagues."

Deep disappointment flashed through Jung Heewon's eyes as she looked at me.

Yoo Joonghyuk nodded.

"That's definitely Cheon Inho."

I let out a breath of relief.

This was the right answer.

I was sure it was.

"Then it wouldn't matter if this woman died."

What?

Yoo Joonghyuk's hand opened wide, and Jung Heewon's body fell down.

I focused all my strength into my legs and flew toward her.

"As expected, you aren't Cheon Inho."

The world spun, and Jung Heewon and I began to plummet down the bridge.

The chilly breeze scratched my cheeks, and I could smell the fishy odor of water.

I looked up at the dizzying sight and saw Yoo Joonghyuk looking down at us from the bridge.

Release your hand and get lost, you son of a bitch.

The next thing I know, the cold water of the Han River assaulted my senses, and my vision turned black with shock.

And then a message came in.

[The dokkaebi 'Bihyung' has agreed to a 'Stream Contract' with you.]

Episode 4. An Unwalked Road

「So we are each other's past, each other's future.」

—The Prophet Anna Croft.

---

Just before I collided with the surface, I felt like I was going to lose my mind, even though I had increased my physique with coins.

[1,800 coins have been invested into 'Physique'.]

[Physique Lv.4 → Physique Lv.10]

[Your physique level has increased dramatically!]

[Your physical durability has increased dramatically!]

[Coins Possessed: 1,800 C]

My body was numb from head to toe from the impact, and my ears were deafening. I could feel my body temperature dropping rapidly.

It was a message from the constellations that held my fading consciousness together.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' appreciates your survivability.]

[500 coins have been sponsored.]

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is sponsoring you!]

[The constellation 'Primordial Cow' is sponsoring you!]

[The constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' is sponsoring you!]

[The constellation 'Dog Who Threw Himself into the Flames' is sponsoring you!]

[An additional 800 coins have been sponsored.]

I also saw the returning animal constellations' modifiers.

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' likes your heartlessness.]

[300 coins have been sponsored.]

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' praises your repentance.]

[100 coins have been sponsored.]

Plus the Black Flame Dragon and Jophiel.

I gritted my teeth.

I'll just have to survive here somehow.

[Coins Possessed: 3,500 C]

As I held my breath and calmly scanned my surroundings, I saw Jung Heewon's glimmering figure.

Completely unconscious, her body was sinking deeper into the water.

I paddled toward her with all my might, but I couldn't save her with my ligament-torn arm. There was only one option.

I bit her arm hard.

I choked as the river rushed into my mouth. I thought my eyeballs were going to fall out. Still, I couldn't give up.

If Jung Heewon died here, this round would be over.

Slowly, the strength drained from my body. Even as my breathing faded, I didn't let go of her arm.

Wake up, please.

It was then that a strong splash of water came from somewhere.

As my breath caught in my throat, I saw a large monster coming toward us from the distance.

An ichthyosaur (魚龍).

7th grade monsters species, sea serpent.

Sharp teeth flashed before my eyes. Then, a pitch-dark silence filled my senses.

| |
| rlaehrwk25: Missed it |

"Inho-ssi. Inho-ssi!"

I felt something slap my cheek, and slowly came back to consciousness. The first thing I saw when I opened my eyes was the blinding flash of a cell phone, and then Jung Heewon's face.

"Heewon-ssi?"

"Ha..... Really."

Jung Heewon breathed a sigh of relief. As I staggered to my feet, the ground suddenly tilted and shook.

Jung Heewon grabbed my shoulder.

"Be careful, or we'll sink."

The river raged in the darkness.

Upon closer inspection, I realized we were sitting on the remains of a small plastic structure. I wondered if it was the remains of a sailboat used by the Han River rescue team.

The air was strangely humid. I turned on my phone's flash and saw a wall of crimson above, below, and to the left.

In the back of my mind, I remembered what happened before I lost consciousness.

We had been eaten by an ichthyosaur.

"You seem happy to have survived. We're about to die."

I threw up water and smiled bitterly.

The light from my cell phone cast the shadows of the two of us against the crimson stomach of the ichthyosaur.

"Heewon-ssi."

"Never mind."

Jung Heewon spoke without looking in my direction, as if she already knew what I was going to say.

"Inho-ssi, you're a bit of a weirdo."

"I'm kind of like that."

"You always say weird things."

First I said I loved her, then I said she's not even my colleague.

Jung Heewon must be confused.

If I had a friend like Cheon Inho, I would have cut him off immediately.

"I'm sorry, though. I didn't mean it. I thought he would let Heewon-ssi go if I told him so."

"He's a psychopath, isn't he?"

I thought for a moment before answering.

"That's right."

"A friend?"

"Not a friend."

"I guess he's someone you know."

I nodded lightly.

She was silent for a moment, as if she was thinking about something, and then she spoke up.

"By the way, it hurts. How hard did you bite me?"

A human tooth mark was clearly visible on her right forearm.

Embarrassed, I replied.

"I'm sorry."

"I'm glad you did it, though. I woke up because it really hurt."

"Are you hurt anywhere else? The wound from the fight earlier—"

"It's fine, it's a really shallow cut."

.....A shallow cut? From that 'Yoo Joonghyuk'?

"Anyway, what should we do now? We're trapped."

I measured the size of the stomach surrounding us. Fortunately, it didn't seem to be the sea commander that swallowed Kim Dokja.

"It's for the best. We're safer here than in the Han River."

"What if we melt with its digestive juices?"

"We need to escape before that happens."

"How? We're not Pinocchio."

"Pinocchio?"

"Don't you know?"

"No, I know."

Isn't she talking about the wooden puppet whose nose grows longer every time he lies?

"Well, Pinocchio got eaten by a whale and escaped."

I remembered reading that fairy tale a long time ago.

Jung Heewon seemed to think that we were in a similar situation.

[The constellation 'Long-Nosed Liar' nods.]

I stared at the message blankly, then snapped out of it.

"Let me gather my thoughts for a moment, I think we need to come up with a plan."

"Okay. What should I do?"

"Well..... If you remember how Pinocchio escaped from the whale's stomach, tell me."

"Do you think that will help?"

"Just in case."

Of course, Pinocchio didn't tell us how to escape from an ichthyosaur.

「That will be Omniscient Reader.」

While Jung Heewon was seriously pondering, I closed my eyes and recalled the sequence of how

Kim Dokja escaped from here.

But in order to use this method, I needed someone's help.

'Bihyung.'

Soon, I felt the 'dokkaebi communication' connect.

—Hoo..... So this is how it turned out.

Bihyung sounded dejected.

—I don't know why so many strange things are happening this season.

'Have you considered my offer?'

—I sent you a message saying I'm signing the contract, didn't you get it?

With those words, a window popped up in front of me.

| |
|---|
| ----<Stream Contract Agreement>1. Incarnation Cheon Inho (hereinafter referred to as gap) will sign an exclusive contract with thedokkaebi Bihyung (hereinafter referred to as eul) until all scenarios are completed or until hisdeath...... |

----It felt strange to see this contract again.

—This is really special, I wasn't going to do it originally.....

It wasn't hard to figure out when Bihyung made up his mind.

Probably, right after seeing the confrontation between Yoo Joonghyuk and me. Judging by the coins that came in earlier, I guess the constellations watched the confrontation with interest.

I quickly checked Bihyung's contract, checking off the oddities and crossing off the concessions.

—You're pretty good at this, huh?

'Because all contracts are similar.'

In fact, the 'Stream Contract Agreement' looked a lot like the 'Management Contract Agreement'

I always sign.

Suddenly, I remembered my days as a rookie writer, when I was a victim of contract scams.

—The ratio is 8:2. You'll have 8 and I'll have 2.

'That's fine with me, but isn't it supposed to be 7:3?'

—I saw how you did back then, so I thought it was okay to give you more.

He was probably worried about losing me to another dokkaebi.

A wise move, but it puts the hilt of the sword in my hands.

'Well, while you're at it, I have one more favor to ask.'

—No more ratio adjustments. This is the best I can do.

'Enough with the ratios, give me the scenario.'

—Scenario?

'There's a hidden scenario here.'

Bihyung was speechless for a moment.

—How do you even know that?

'Does it matter?'

Bihyung sighed again, and muttered something to himself about the Bureau, probability and sanctions.

—Well, yeah. There's a guy who already received this one.

Someone already received this scenario?

[A new hidden scenario has arrived!]

I checked the scenario window.

<Hidden Scenario - Serpent Slayer>

Category: Hidden

Difficulty: B

Clear Conditions: Kill the ichthyosaur 'sea serpent' and escape from its stomach.

Time Limit: 5 days

Reward: 4,000 coins

Failure: Death

The reward isn't as good as Kim Dokja's Hidden Scenario, but it's less challenging.

This should be enough to get the injured me and Jung Heewon through.

—No more objections to the contract? Do you need anything else?

'You'll have to give me the right to use the Dokkaebi Bag.'

The 'Dokkaebi Bag'.

In fact, this was the biggest benefit from the 'stream contract'.

Bihyung immediately pulled up the 'Dokkaebi Bag's screen in front of me.

'Don't you have to put up an advertisement?'

—Advertisement?

'Wouldn't you get in trouble if someone found out I was using the Dokkaebi Bag?'

Bihyung spoke bitterly, as if he was worried about something like that.

—It's not illegal, and you're not the only one who benefits from the Dokkaebi Bag, so it doesn't matter.

In fact, the constellations didn't seem to mind that I was using the Dokkaebi Bag.

[The constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' wonders what you'll buy.]

Instead, they seemed to be watching with interest to see what I would buy. It was definitely a change of pace from the original novel.

Anyway, I've got everything I need.

'Let's sign then.'

[The stream contract has concluded.]

[You have received 1,000 coins as a down payment.]

Plus an unspoken down payment.....

Is Bihyung actually a good guy?

Maybe Kim Dokja, who turned his back on such an honest dokkaebi, was a worse bastard?

—I have to go to another area, so contact me if you need anything.

It seemed that Bihyung had many other areas to pay attention to besides mine.

I was rather relieved.

It could mean that there were many surviving readers in this world.

'Be careful.'

After the 'dokkaebi communication' was cut off, I immediately opened the 'Dokkaebi Bag'.

[The product search function is activated.]

[The product search function is limited to 5 times a day. Any additional searches will cost 100 coins per search.]

The benefits of the bag are the same as in the original novel.

I made a list in my head of items I wanted to get ahead of time.

Ancient Dragon's Heart, Great Demon's Eyes. There were a few other items I'd created as settings, but the first thing to search for was this item.

[The related product search is completed.]

The first item Kim Dokja gets in the main novel.

| |
|---|
| *Purest Sword Force (白淸罡氣) - Stock: 0 |

No, it's already sold out?

Apparently, another reader could open the 'Dokkaebi Bag' first and bought it.

"I think Pinocchio."

Suddenly I heard a voice, so I reflexively turned around.

Jung Heewon was muttering something to me with a serious face.

"I wonder if he lied so hard that he grew a very long nose and escaped by blowing a hole in the whale's stomach?"

I stared at her blankly.

I couldn't believe she was still thinking about Pinocchio.

"That's a good idea."

Jung Heewon narrowed her eyes at my praise.

"It's not."

"No, it's a really good idea. It's kind of what I was going to do."

I opened the 'Dokkaebi Bag' again and searched for the items.

'Mucus of the Hammer Seahorse' and 'Stone Hog's Pointed Thorn'.

Both were items that Kim Dokja purchased to escape from the ichthyosaur.

In the main story, Kim Dokja buys four of each of these items.

I bought eight of each.

[1,600 coins have been consumed.]

I was tempted to look up the other items, but I didn't have the coins to do so right now anyway.

I stuck one of the thorns into my waistband with my ungainly right hand, then handed the remaining seven thorns and eight mucus bags to Jung Heewon.

"Take these."

Jung Heewon asked in surprise.

"Where did you get all of this from all of a sudden?"

"This is the key to Operation Pinocchio."

"What?"

Again, I can't carry out this operation alone.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is looking at you with interest.]

Both my arms are crippled right now.

Therefore, I need someone else to insert the thorns into the stomach wall like Kim Dokja did.

I looked up at the digestive juices throughout the stomach wall and said.

"From now on, think of this thorn as Pinocchio's nose."

Luckily, I could borrow Kim Dokja's wisdom this time.

---

That night, I had a dream.

I wasn't really trying to sleep, more like I passed out for a bit.

Usually, when I have a dream, I say something along the lines of 'what did I dream'. If a pig appeared, it's a dream of a pig. If a dragon appeared, it's a dream of a dragon.

Well, I suppose you could give this dream a name.

This dream,

「Cheon Inho.」

It was a dream of a Kim Dokja.

574 Episode 4. An Unwalked Road (2)

In my dream, Kim Dokja called me Cheon Inho. However, when I listened carefully, it sounded like he was calling me Lee Hakhyun.

No, when I listened again.....

「■■■.」

I'm not sure what he was saying.

But there he was, and I was standing next to him.

We were looking at a very large snowfield.

A snowfield with letters floating on it.

It was so big, it seemed like no matter how many letters there were, they would never be able to cover it all.

「How long have you been here?」

I may or may not have asked that question.

「A very long time.」

I don't know if that's what Kim Dokja said or not.

As I stared at the snowfield for a while, I noticed something like footprints.

They were human footprints.

As if to test the waters, he gestured at me and started walking along the footprints.

I followed him too.

「This person must have really big feet.」

We walked, overlapping our footprints on top of each other. Occasionally, I'd take a wrong step and leave a footprint in the wrong place.

「Ah.」

Kim Dokja laughed, and I laughed, too.

「■■■ is going to get angry.」

I could almost hear him saying that.

And I wonder how long we walked.

I don't know why, but the big footprints split into two directions. One big footprint kept moving forward, and the other big footprint started walking diagonally.

So were there two people leaving big footprints from the beginning?

I couldn't be sure.

They were all the same size.

I'm not sure why, but here the owners of the big footprints suddenly split. One walked straight ahead, and the other walked diagonally.

I stared at the path of the footprints in front of me, and then tried to follow them for a few steps.

I must have taken a dozen steps.

「It stopped.」

The footprints stopped here.

Where had the owner of these footprints gone?

A strange thought occurred to me as I stared at the footprints.

Perhaps the owner of the footprints was still standing on them.

When I turned around, Kim Dokja was standing tall and looking in my direction.

I waved at him and asked.

「Can I keep walking this way?」

Kim Dokja nodded.

I asked again.

「I might make a mistake like I did before.」

「It's okay.」

「I might make a mess of the snowfield.」

「It doesn't matter.」

Is it really okay?

I wanted to ask again, and again, and again.

Kim Dokja smiled and said something. Unfortunately, I couldn't hear his last words.

「I'll keep watching you.」

It sounded like that.

---

"Inho-ssi! Inho-ssi!"

My whole body ached: the wound in my side throbbed and the pain in my broken left arm was excruciating.

"You said you weren't going to sleep! It's already started!"

"Uh, sorry."

I must have fallen asleep. I wondered why I had such a fairy tale-like dream.

"Pinocchio wasn't good during the operation either."

I guess it was because I heard about Pinocchio. Kim Dokja's last words still echoed in my head.

When I looked around, the stomach was already pumping out digestive juices.

Jung Heewon was spraying 'Mucus of the Hammer Seahorse' all over my head. My shoulders slumped as the sticky liquid trickled down.

"Stay still, you said it's safe to apply this."

Jung Heewon smeared her own body with the Mucus of the Hammer Seahorse.

Our plan was simple.

One, smear our entire bodies with mucus to resist the ichthyosaur's digestive juices.

Two, when the digestive juices start spewing, stick a 'Stone Hog's Pointed Thorn' into the openings.

This is the exact same tactic that Kim Dokja did in the original novel.

The difference is.....

"By the way, who's Kim Dokja?"

"What?"

"You mentioned him in your sleep."

"Oh."

I thought for a moment, then opened my mouth.

"It's just a friend's name."

Jung Heewon asked, squeezing my mucus-covered head.

"Then what about Ji Eunyu?"

"Did I say that name too?"

"Yes. You asked me to save you."

Did I have a deadline in my dreams?

"It's the name of my editor."

"Your editor?"

I thought it would be okay to be a little honest. I didn't know what Cheon Inho's real job was anyway. He was probably a swindler or something.

"I used to be a writer."

Still, it's better to be a writer than a swindler.

Jung Heewon asked in surprise.

"Wow, a writer? What kind of books did you write?"

"That..... Do you know web novels?"

"Web novels? Is it like a webtoon?"

"That..... like Lord of the Rings....."

"Oh, Lord of the Rings! I've seen the movies! Is that what you wrote?"

"Well, something similar....."

I don't know why my voice kept getting lower.

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is asking you to speak up.]

Easier said than done.

I sighed lightly and said.

"Would you mind not telling the others?"

"Why? I think it's cool."

This is why you shouldn't introduce yourself.

"Let's start with that side first. Hold this and insert one on each opening."

"Maybe because you're a writer you're good at changing the subject."

Jung Heewon grumbled, but stuck the thorns where I pointed.

As expected, the physicality of a main character was truly something else.

There were four openings.

Jung Heewon stuck one thorn into each of the three openings, then closed them tightly to keep the digestive juices from flowing out.

"There's only one left."

"Let's shove the rest of them into this one opening."

"Is that okay?"

"Yes. It'll probably work better."

The 'Stone Hog's Pointed Thorn' is an item that grows by sucking the fluids of sea species.

Kim Dokja had only used one thorn for each opening.

But in theory, the more thorns you put in an opening, the better.

The more thorns there are, the more thorns will grow at the same time, and the faster the ichthyosaur will fall.

"One."

Digestive juices gurgled out of the thorn.

The second thorn was inserted, and the ichthyosaur's stomach began to wriggle grotesquely.

It wasn't so easy from the third thorn on. Jung Heewon frowned as she stuck the thorn into the hole again and again.

"After the third one, it's a bit difficult, can you..... support me from the back?"

"I'd love to, but my arms are like this."

"Support me with your back. Like this."

I stood with my back against Jung Heewon's back. Inhaling and exhaling, she pushed the thorn with all her might into the opening.

The part we were standing on shook for a moment, but the thorn went in just right.

After taking a breath, Jung Heewon asked.

"Are we done?"

"Yes. Now we just have to wait."

"It's really simple."

The job was done faster than I thought. In the main novel, Kim Dokja even practiced stabbing to get this done... Why did he struggle so much anyway?

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' admires your composure.]

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier says it's easy because it's a 'sea serpent'.]

According to my calculations, the time it'll take to subdue the ichthyosaur is half a day to a day.

Considering the number of thorns it has, and the fact that it's smaller than the original, it could go down sooner than that.

Now it was just a matter of waiting.

I felt a sudden chill rush through me as I relaxed, probably because I was soaking wet from the river.

Jung Heewon looked at me wistfully as I shivered, then made an unexpected suggestion.

"Shall we stand back to back?"

"If you don't mind, may we?"

"Please sit that way."

We meekly sat back to back. The warmth of Jung Heewon's body transmitted through my back, and I felt a little less cold.

Jung Heewon asked.

"By the way, how did you come up with this method?"

"It's just something that often appears in web novels."

"You're a writer, I see."

As my back warmed up, I slowly dozed off.

I wish I could use the 'Elaine Forest Essence' sold in the Dokkaebi Bag, but I couldn't right now.

The Elaine Forest Essence recovers your body's wounds completely while you sleep.

I couldn't leave her alone without knowing what would happen.

She kept talking to me as if she knew my condition.

"Tell me something funny."

This was the most embarrassing moment of my life as a writer.

In fact, writers are not very funny people. None of the writers I know are funny.

Still, I managed to squeeze out some dry humor.

"In my novel, there's a character named Jung Heewon."

"What?"

"She looks really strong on the outside, but she's actually a fragile person. She doesn't shy away from fights because she's a very hard person, so she often breaks."

I thought of the 'Jung Heewon' I knew.

Suddenly, I had a question.

Can I really say that the Jung Heewon I know is the Jung Heewon behind my back now?

I continued.

"She's good at physical work and has a quick mind. When she was in high school, she was confessed to by junior girls."

"....."

"She's bad at bearing public criticism, but she's good at kendo. She's been going to a kendo academy since she was a kid."

Jung Heewon, who had been listening until here, clapped her hands. She was genuinely impressed.

"That's great, you almost got it all right."

Of course I did. Most of it comes from the main novel.

"But the last one is wrong, I never went to a kendo academy, I just went to kendo club at school."

I know. I said that on purpose.

"That's a shame."

"I went to the nationals, and I was elected district representative, but I quit."

"Why?"

"Because of an injury."

This was a story I didn't know.

More accurately, it was a story I hadn't written.

"Injury? Were you hurt badly?"

Jung Heewon was silent for a moment, and then, a beat too late, she answered.

"Yes."

It hit me like a ton of bricks. There must be a story in this world that I didn't write.

I suddenly remembered that Jung Heewon's attribute was 'Crouching Figure'.

How did she become a 'Crouching Figure'?

Originally, 'Crouching Figure' is an attribute that is generated based on the strong mental shock of an incarnation.

However, Jung Heewon was already a 'Crouching Figure' before she met the Cheoldoo Group.

"Inho-ssi, how did you become a writer?"

"Oh, I..."

I naturally opened my mouth to speak, but I shut up again. An eerie sensation flickered across my chest.

「How did I become a writer?」

I suddenly couldn't remember.

It was then that the ichthyosaur's stomach wriggled ominously.

I quickly kept my balance and said.

"I think it's about to start."

There was no time for distractions now.

The fight was about to begin.

The ichthyosaur would go down first, or we would go down first?

I took off the shirt I was wearing and used both sleeves to tie Jung Heewon's and my wrists together.

Jung Heewon asked anxiously.

"Aren't you going to get cold? Ugh!"

The floor vibrated sharply.

The ichthyosaur was twisting its body in pain. The thorns had begun to dig into its body in earnest.

575 Episode 4. An Unwalked Road (3)

We stood side by side, holding on to one of the thorns.

"You can't pass out!"

"Don't worry!"

I said, but I wasn't sure if my physical strength would hold up.

Normally, I would have used my 'Elaine Forest Essence' to heal my wounds and get moving, but I was in a hurry now that I'd lost [Purest Sword Force].

The sooner I could get out of here and get the other hidden pieces, the safer I would be.

Especially if this world is the one I think it is.

What happened to Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi? I need to tell them about the 'Yoo Joonghyuk' I saw as soon as possible.

My eyelids kept dropping.

I don't know how many times I blacked out and woke up again.

"Wake up!"

Jung Heewon pinched my waist with her left arm.

"Inho-ssi!"

"Ah."

The ichthyosaur's movements had slowed down. The crimson-colored stomach walls had turned almost grayish white.

"I think it's done. Just a little more to go....."

It was then that something unexpected happened.

I heard a sound like a wind leak from somewhere, and a large, sharp set of teeth appeared, slicing through the guts from the outside.

I instinctively screamed.

"Hold your breath!"

The black river rushed in through the cracks.

We clung to each other's arms and were swept away into the Han River.

[An error has occurred in the hidden scenario.]

[The hidden scenario was partially completed.]

Something attacked the ichthyosaur, targeting the 'stomach'.

The gut of the torn ichthyosaur scattered in the dark river. Through the swirling blood, two hideous eyes glared at me.

A monster twice as large as the one that had devoured us.

I recognized it immediately.

The ichthyosaur that swallowed Kim Dokja.

Sea-commander.

My heart sank as I saw the sea commander charging to devour us and Jung Heewon's horrified expression.

「Jung Heewon is going to die.」

From the first scenario to being eaten by the ichthyosaur, what I did ran through my head like a movie.

How I had changed the story with the arrogance of writing the original.

I shouldn't have rehabilitated the Cheoldoo Group.

I shouldn't have gone out looking for Kim Dokja or Yoo Joonghyuk.

「Are you really Cheon Inho?」

It would have been better if I had been killed by Jung Heewon while pretending to be a villain like in the original novel. Then she would have awakened safely as the 'Judge of Destruction'.

She would have survived.

I began to untie the knot on my right arm with my teeth.

Jung Heewon looked back at me in horror.

When I finished, I felt rather at peace.

「This is a fitting end for the villain Cheon Inho.」

My body slowly sank beneath the water, along with the loose knot.

Bubbles of air flowed out of Jung Heewon's mouth as she shouted something at me.

I saw the sea commander opening his mouth at me and Jung Heewon reaching for me.

In my fading consciousness, I heard the tick, tick, tick of time stopping.

[A new day has begun.]

[Your creativity has been recharged.]

I realized what was about to happen.

[The character 'Jung Heewon' wants to do something unexpected.]

[The exclusive skill '■■' is activated!]

[You have entered the 'Snowfield'.]

Looking at the blank space in front of me, a bitter laugh escaped from my dwindling consciousness.

Damn it. I'm supposed to write until I die.

[You can stay in the 'Snowfield' for a total of 4 minutes.]

I looked at the first sentence of the blank line.

「Jung Heewon.」

I wonder if it's okay if I keep writing.

[There are 3 minutes remaining.]

For some reason, I was not confident. Something was different from Kim Cheolyang and Bang Cheolsoo.

I remembered how I felt as a child when I received my first manuscript.

As I looked at the vague blank page, I naturally remembered the snowy landscape I saw with Kim Dokja.

In my dream, Kim Dokja said.

「It's dazzling.」

He said.

「Anything can become a reality in this place.」

It snowed heavily from the sky, and we lay side by side in the snow and looked back at the footprints we walked together. Before I knew it, the footprints were hard to see.

「Because no one remembers what they were.」

I don't remember if he said that.

But the spot where I laid with Kim Dokja was strangely comfortable and warm. If I could, I wanted to stay there forever, curled up in a tight ball and writing nothing.

Nevertheless, I couldn't.

Because I am a writer.

「Jung Heewon remembered that day」

If I don't write, I can't live.

「for the first time in a long time.」

So I wrote the sentence.

I chose words like I would choose clothes for Jung Heewon, and I chose endings like I would choose shoes for her.

I imagined her wearing those shoes, walking down a road that no one remembers.

[This story might be possible.]

[You can increase the reproduction success rate by investing more probability.]

'I'll do it.'

[You have spent 10 probability points.]

[You can write an additional 160 characters.]

I continued to write sentence after sentence.

Would these lies I wrote save her life.

I don't know.

But I had to try everything I could.

[This story is plausible.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 88%.]

[Do you want to check the reader's feedback?]

'Yes.'

There were three comments this time.

I thought, my mouth open in disbelief.

Thank you.

[Successfully recreating the scene.]

[Leaving the 'Snowfield'.]

Time began to pass again. My breathing unraveled, and weak bubbles escaped my mouth.

I didn't write about whether I would survive; there was no room for that.

But I did write at least one thing for sure.

「Jung Heewon remembered that day for the first time in a long time.」

That you, who live this story, will surely survive.

「'Heewon, you're too aggressive. This is a sport. You can't really hurt your opponent.'」

「'This month alone, three people have quit because of you. There's a kid with a broken arm. If you continue like this, I won't be able to keep protecting you.'」

A pure white light emanated from Jung Heewon's body.

「Jung Heewon couldn't quite understand the coach's words. Wasn't the sword made to kill opponents?」

Kim Dokja once said. He said that he likes the moment a character's attribute blossoms the most.

「Isn't it more strange if you don't get hurt while fighting with a sword?」

Now I agree with Kim Dokja.

[The attribute of the character 'Jung Heewon' is blossoming.]

I couldn't put it any other way.

The figure of Jung Heewon, who is now cutting through the tide and approaching, is truly dazzling.

Her hot hands grabbed my hands strongly. I felt my body being firmly anchored.

Jung Heewon looked back at the sea commander as she clutched the ground rat knife.

Riding the rapids, she swooped toward the sea commander as if she had wings.

[The character 'Jung Heewon' has used 'Kendo Lv.3'!]

[The character 'Jung Heewon' has used 'Demon Slaying Lv.2'!]

No matter how strong Jung Heewon is, she can't defeat a sea commander with just [Kendo] and [Demon Slaying].

But I wrote that it is possible. So it should be possible.

It will be possible.

「Jung Heewon wanted to ask the coach.」

It is possible.

「'Is it okay to kill this thing?'」

In my fading consciousness, the words were slurred.

Somewhere in the distance, I could hear Jung Heewon's shout.

「The dormant senses in her soul were awakening.」

In the blink of an eye, the ground rat sword broke through the spray and plunged into the sea commander's left eye. The bleeding sea commander howled wildly.

Jung Heewon didn't stop and pulled the thorn from my waistband. The sea commander's tail cut through the water and grazed her waist.

The enormous impact jolted the view.

She squinted her bloodshot eyes, clutched me tightly with one arm, and drove the thorn into the ichthyosaur's tail.

「'This is not a sport.'」

That was a sentence I didn't write.

「'If I don't kill this monster, someone else will die.'」

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon's will.]

And a message came from somewhere.

[The constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon's will.]

The light emanating from her body grew stronger and stronger.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon's will.]

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon's will.]

[The constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon's will.]

[The constellation 'Primordial Cow' agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon's will.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon's will.]

.....

I felt an invisible Libra tilting.

[All constellations in the channel agree to the use of the skill.]

['Hour of Judgment' has been activated.]

Hour of Judgment.

A skill that grants invincibility when activated against the wicked.

However, the enemy in front of us was a monster.

[The attribute of the character 'Jung Heewon' has blossomed to 'Demon Slaying Judge (Hero)'.]

With a dazzling flash of light, a blood-colored aura enveloped Jung Heewon's body.

Demon Slaying (滅魔) Judge.

Surely, there was such an attribute. It was one of the three great judges' attributes, but it hadn't appeared in the main story.

It wasn't a class that specialized in hand-to-hand combat like the Judge of Destruction, but it was an indestructible hero class that increased its combat power many times against monsters.

[You have contributed greatly to the blossoming of the attribute 'Crouching Figure'!]

[The character 'Jung Heewon' won't hesitate to be your sword in the future.]

With an eerie trajectory, the thorn moved forward and stabbed the sea commander's body.

Jung Heewon stabbed and stabbed and stabbed at the sea commander like a madman. From the tail, to the body, to the neck, to the crown.

When she finally stabbed the second eye, it jerked as if it had been electrocuted, and then went limp.

Its lifeless body floated to the surface of the Han River.

Jung Heewon, with me on her back, soared into the sky on the back of the sea commander.

Along with the rushing river, I could see the ruined city of Seoul.

Smoke rising from everywhere. Collapsed buildings, and the indifferent moon hanging over the ruins of civilization.

The destruction I wrote became the landscape.

「'Dazzling.'」

Looking at the landscape of the end of the world as we knew it, Jung Heewon was thinking the same thing I was.

Perhaps this was the landscape that Kim Dokja and Jung Heewon shared.

['Hour of Judgment' has ended.]

And now I was looking at that astounding world with her.

Jung Heewon, who had landed on the ground with me on her back, fell forward.

In the distance, I could see a poisonous mist rolling in.

I tied another knot in her arm, then dragged her to the basement of a nearby building to hide.

[You have bought 2 'Elaine Monkey's Lungs'.]

I popped a lung into Jung Heewon's mouth, and I popped a lung into mine.

Starlight streamed in from the basement window. It was a little cold, and strangely, my heart didn't stop pounding.

The night of destruction was long.

I looked at Jung Heewon as she slept and thought long and hard about the lies I had written and would write in the future.

On the Han River, in the solitary moonlight.

The dead sea commander's stomach lurched several times, and then a figure crawled out of the faded scales.

"Ha, I almost died. Really."

She brushed the blood off her coat and looked around, sighing softly.

"That's the first time I've ever had a scenario stolen from me, by the way. What an asshole."

But there was no one to hear her.

Well, there was one.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' chuckles and says this place is a bit unusual.]

"What are you laughing at, dude. Why do you have that modifier?"

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' asks what's wrong with his modifier.]

"What about the others?"

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' says not yet.]

She pursed her lips lightly, as if in disbelief, and sighed deeply again.

After a moment, she looked up, an odd smile tugging at the corners of her mouth.

"Well, it's my first scenario in a long time."

Her eyes sparkled intensely for a moment as she stared off into space, searching for a star somewhere in the night sky.

"I'm going to live for myself first."

Episode 5. Villain

「Kim Dokja is the real mastermind」

—Comment from chapter 516 of Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint

---

When a person faints frequently, there comes a moment when they realize that they are fainting.

If Ji Eunyu, the editor in charge, had heard me, she would have said, "If you know that, you haven't fainted," leaving me in a state of philosophical tension. But fortunately, Ji Eunyu was not here.

So, to put it simply,

「I have fainted now.」

At this rate, I'm probably going to faint more than Kim Dokja, the "fainting man", so that's not good.

I forced my eyes open.

It was pitch black.

I hadn't woken up yet. I blinked hard, again and again, but all I could see was darkness.

Something about this darkness felt familiar.

And the feel of the chair against my back. The comfort of my arms on the armrests.

This was a theater.

To be precise, it looked a lot like the theater where 'Kim Dokja's Banquet' took place.

When I casually glanced to the side, there were children sitting in the empty seats.

I wondered if they were watching a movie as a group, but when I looked closer, I saw that they were all Kim Dokja.

I felt a chill down my spine.

I was thinking about Kim Dokja too much.

Is that why I'm having this crazy dream?

I rubbed my eyes and looked around again.

I looked again, and they were indeed kkoma Kim Dokjas.

They didn't seem to notice me at all, and most of them were looking ahead, yawning, or doing something else.

I couldn't figure out what I was dreaming about, both symbolically and metaphorically.

「"Oh, shit, this is crazy, this is ridiculous."」

A voice came from the screen, as if echoing my thoughts.

I looked at the screen along the Kim Dokjas. A movie had been playing there for some time.

「"Ahjussi! Wake up!"」

Through the pile of rubble, I could see the faces of Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi.

I had a rough idea of what was going on. It must have happened right after I fell off the Dongho Bridge.

After spitting out the dirt in his mouth, Dansoo ahjussi asked.

「"What happened to Inho-ssi?"」

As soon as he woke up, Dansoo ahjussi looked for me.

The first colleague I met.

I could tell by his expression: he was genuinely worried about me.

Kyung Sein said, shaking her head helplessly.

"I remember Inho-ssi pushing us, but....."

"Maybe he was trying to save us."」

The two began to search the area, as if looking for any trace of me, and it wasn't long before they spotted something in the collapsed ruins.

"There is a monster....."」

Seeing the body of the poisonous rhinoceros, Kyung Sein's expression hardened.

「At that moment, she realized what had happened.」

Her voice trembled slightly as she continued.

"Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"I think he's left now."

"Do you think Inho-ssi went with him?"

"I don't think so..... There are traces of someone fighting here."

"A fight?"

"I think so. I think Yoo Joonghyuk might have attacked them first....."

"Then Inho-ssi and Heewon-ssi—"

After a moment of silence, Kyung Sein said as if determined.

「"I'm sure they're not dead. You know Inho-ssi isn't just a regular reader."」

Kyung Sein glanced toward the tunnel leading to Geumho Station.

「In fact, she was already awake when Yoo Joonghyuk passed by her. But she didn't move immediately. That's because her skill [Sixth Sense] warned her.」

She had such a skill.

「[Sixth Sense] was telling her. If you wake up now, you will surely die. So Kyung Sein kept pretending to faint until Yoo Joonghyuk's presence completely disappeared.」

If she had moved then, she might have really died.

Looking toward the direction of Dongho Bridge, where Jung Heewon and I had fallen, Kyung Sein clenched her fists and spoke.

"But Inho-ssi is still....."

"If Inho-ssi and Heewon-nim are alive, they'll go there too. We don't know what's around, so it's dangerous for us to stay here by ourselves."

"....."」

Ahjussi had lingering eyes, but Kyung Sein's judgment was correct. The two of them would certainly have a hard time when they couldn't even catch a single ground rat.

「"You saw the dead one-horned rhinoceros, it's impossible for us to find the two of them on our own. We should come back with the Cheoldoo Group..... if they're still alive."

Suddenly, I realized I could trust her in my absence.

She knew exactly what resources we had. I also liked the fact that she didn't forget to check.

The determined kkoma Kim Dokja was smiling subtly, as if he liked that fact.

The girl knows what she's doing.

「There is one thing Kyung Sein must do first. Prevent Yoo Joonghyuk from destroying the Cheoldoo Group.」

At best, I've incited Bang Cheolsoo to remove the danger from Geumho Station. We can't let that crazy Yoo Joonghyuk destroy our peaceful Geumho Station.

Dansoo ahjussi finally agreed, and the two of them hurried to Geumho Station.

Along the way, when they encountered a group of ground rats, they ran away from them, and when one appeared, they bravely fought it off.

I wonder how long they ran like that.

Finally, Geumho Station appeared in front of them.

Kyung Sein stood against the tunnel wall, stopping Dansoo ahjussi from entering the station.

「"Wait."」

Sharing her vision, I felt a chill in the pit of my stomach.

A black coat fluttered in the light breeze.

「There was Yoo Joonghyuk.」

Yoo Joonghyuk looked up and down Geumho Station, then tilted his head in disbelief.

「"A total of 134 people. That's strange. How did so many survive?"」

That psychopathic bastard. If a lot of people survived, you should be glad.

Apparently, a man at Geumho Station was thinking the same thing.

「"Who are you?"」

The men walked toward Yoo Joonghyuk with a stern expression. It was the Cheoldoo Group.

「"I'm asking you, who are you?"」

In exactly three steps, the man's limbs twisted and he fell to the ground.

At least Kim Dokja and I were in good shape, but we were beaten up after making a statement.

When I looked over, I saw that kkoma Kim Dokja had an insidious grin on his face.

"W-what's going on!"」

As the man screamed, Bang Cheolsoo and the rest of the Cheoldoo Group, who had noticed the commotion, rushed over.

Thanks to my training, Bang Cheolsoo didn't lunge at him spitting profanities, but instead asked calmly.

"Bang Cheolsoo. Are you the leader?"」

Bang Cheolsoo thought for a moment.

I wondered if he was already gauging the angle of betrayal.

「"Our leader is a man named Cheon Inho."」

Luckily, he didn't betray me, but it didn't make things any better.

「"Cheon Inho has already taken over."」

Yoo Joonghyuk started to misunderstand. He shook his head a few times, then looked around as if he had the whole situation figured out.

「"Cheon Inho is already dead. The marginalized group can come out in peace. I'll show you how to get food from now on."」

But none of the people moved, just stared at Yoo Joonghyuk with fear in their eyes and stepped back. Some of them were shocked to hear that I was dead.

Yoo Joonghyuk spoke again.

"There is no such thing as a marginalized group. What are you talking about?"

"Shut up."」

Under Yoo Joonghyuk's grip, Bang Cheolsoo's body fell to the ground. Yoo Joonghyuk crushed the wriggling Bang Cheolsoo with his foot. He looked at the people of the station and said.

"Kuk, my....."

"The scenarios ahead will not be easy. If you don't move now, you'll live as slaves forever."」

This was Yoo Joonghyuk's first encounter with the people of Geumho Station.

It was unexpected. He must have seen the same scene and said the same words dozens of times.

By the way, that bastard Yoo Joonghyuk talks like an army instructor, despite being incomplete himself.

I looked over and saw kkoma Kim Dokja nodding his head.

Somehow, I thought I'd like this kkoma.

「"You won't be this lucky in the future. Those of you who want to survive, move forward right now—"

"Let him go!」

I wondered if there was a kkoma Kim Dokja over there, too, but it wasn't him but a girl I didn't recognize.

A woman who appeared to be the girl's mom came running out and quickly hugged her.

"But that bad guy is bullying Cheolsoo ahjussi!"」

Suddenly, I remembered who the mother and daughter were.

Aka 'Dayoung and her mother'.

There were definitely people like that in Geumho Station.

A member of the marginalized group who fought against the 'mainstream group' in the main story of 'Omniscient Reader'.

Dayoung shouted.

「"Cheolsoo ahjussi didn't do anything wrong! Why are you bullying him!"」

Dayoung's mom quickly hid her behind her. But her daughter's cries moved her.

Finally, Dayoung's mom spoke up.

「"Why are you doing this? What do you want?"」

Yoo Joonghyuk's eyebrows shot up at her words.

"They weren't threatened. I don't know what the hell you're talking about....."

"He took away your food. He used you as slaves, and he sent suicide commandos on the ground in the name of scouting. And you're going to forgive him for that?"」

With those words, Yoo Joonghyuk kicked Bang Cheolsoo on the floor once more.

Dayoung's mother couldn't take it anymore, so she pulled him to his feet. Bang Cheolsoo lowered his head in shame.

Dayoung's mother looked at his injured face and then looked back at Yoo Joonghyuk as if she had decided something.

「"I don't know what you're talking about. Cheolsoo-ssi didn't do that. He gave us food."」

「"He gave you food?"」

Yoo Joonghyuk stopped and looked around, suddenly realizing that something was wrong with the atmosphere at the station.

「"What do you mean?"」

「"It's exactly what it sounds like."」

With Dayoung's mother's words, the people behind her began to chime in.

"That's right! You don't even know what he was doing, asshole!"

"Cheolsoo-ssi, come here, you didn't do anything wrong!"

These were all people who we gave food to.

Bang Cheolsoo cried as he was supported by the crowd.

It was then that someone asked.

「"Hey, what do you mean Cheon Inho-ssi is dead?"」

Yoo Joonghyuk took a moment to answer.

"Did you kill him?"

Dayoung's mother asked, and Yoo Joonghyuk didn't answer. Dayoung's mother lamented in a mutter.

「"Why would you do that..... After the first scenario, he was the only one who cared about us, and I thought enough terrible things had already happened....."」

People glared at Yoo Joonghyuk and started chattering.

When Yoo Joonghyuk slowly raised his head to face them, the frightened crowd took a couple steps back.

The Cheoldoo Group filled their spots. Nervously, they each grabbed a pipe and stepped forward to protect the people.

They looked ready to fight if Yoo Joonghyuk charged at them at any moment.

「"Leave!"」

Dayoung shouted, pointing at Yoo, and the crowd chanted in unison.

"Get out of our station now!"

"Bring back Inho-ssi!"

The people shouted.

Yoo Joonghyuk glanced down at the small box of snacks that flew toward him.

Perhaps he had seen the people of this station many times.

He had saved them, killed them, taught them, and rejected them.

And he had given them up.

「Yoo Joonghyuk looked around wordlessly.」

I couldn't tell what he was thinking.

I just prayed that he wouldn't suddenly go crazy and kill everyone.

I don't know how much time passed.

Yoo Joonghyuk slipped his hand into his chest.

577 Episode 5. Villain (2)

---

The men nervously stepped back, expecting him to pull out a weapon.

But what Yoo Joonghyuk took out was something unexpected.

「"It's highly unlikely."」

He placed two small beads on top of a crumpled snack box.

「"But if a man named Cheon Inho comes, give him these."」

Soon, darkness swallowed Yoo Joonghyuk's black coat, and his shadow disappeared.

I felt a shiver run down my spine.

Suddenly, I wanted to ask the kkoma Kim Dokja next to me, are you feeling the same way?

When I turned around, he was looking at me. His eyes widened in disbelief, and his mouth twitched at me.

You are not supposed to be here.

At that moment, I felt someone grab me by the nape of the neck and pull me away. The screen turned off in front of my eyes, and my consciousness blackened with it.

However, even as my consciousness faded, I vividly remember the last thing I saw.

The kkoma's name tag pinned to his chest. The name tag clearly said so.

Kim Dokja 37.

---

"He's awake!"

With a bright phone flash, my vision gradually returned.

The hard floor of the platform. People huddled around, peering at me.

I groaned softly and blinked my eyes open.

"Inho-ssi!"

Kyung Sein tearfully grabbed my shoulder. Beside her, I could see Dansoo ahjussi nodding his head in approval, and Bang Cheolsoo with black eyes.

I groaned and pushed myself up.

"Heewon-ssi is—"

I turned my head and saw Jung Heewon with her eyes tightly closed.

Kyung Sein sobbed and said.

"Heewon-nim carried Inho-ssi on her back. We were going to send a rescue team, but....."

The words I couldn't read were written all over her body. Countless scars on her forearms and scorched knees. Dirt covered her entire body.

Jung Heewon had walked all this way carrying me on her back.

"Don't worry. I gave you first aid. The big wound is almost healed."

Then I realized that I felt fine. It was strange. I was definitely on the verge of death.

As if she noticed my disbelief, Kyung Sein said.

"I fed the two of you 'Elaine Forest's Essence'."

"Ah."

"Yoo Joonghyuk..... gave it to us."

I remembered the scene I saw in my dream earlier. The scene where Yoo Joonghyuk left something on the floor.

I guess it wasn't a dream after all.

But when I thought about it, it was funny. Even though he's the one who hurt Jung Heewon and me, he gave us medicine.

It's probably because he thought I was useful.

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is shaking their head.]

I guess my rehabilitation project wasn't a total failure after all.

Bang Cheolsoo seems pretty happy.

Dansoo ahjussi briefly explained what happened after I disappeared. Most of it was what I had seen on the theater's screen.

"What exactly happened on your side? Did you really fight Yoo Joonghyuk?"

I sighed lightly and began to tell Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi what had happened.

From the time I pushed the two of them when I sensed danger, to the time the poisonous rhinoceros broke through the tunnel, to the time Yoo Joonghyuk single-handedly chopped it to pieces.

"Isn't Yoo Joonghyuk kind of...?"

When Yoo Joonghyuk and Jung Heewon fought.

"Wow, Yoo Joonghyuk, I didn't see him that way, but that was cowardly. Honestly, fighting at this time is too unfavorable for Heewon-nim."

To when I got eaten by an ichthyosaur while trying to save Jung Heewon.

"Where have I seen that story before?"

When I signed a contract with Bihyung in the ichthyosaur.

"Mate, you're not Kim Dokja, are you?"

My plan with Jung Heewon to escape from the ichthyosaur.

"I should have been there!"

How Jung Heewon awakened when we were escaping.

"How in the world did that happen....."

"Heewon-nim awakened to what?"

After explaining that much, I felt like Yoo Joonghyuk, who had repeated the same story over and over again.

"Anyway, that's what happened."

"You really struggled. Good job."

"Inho-ssi, you must have gotten a lot of rewards....."

It was only when I saw Kyung Sein asking with shining eyes that I remembered the rewards.

[There are currently 3 unclaimed rewards.]

[You can claim the hidden scenario 'Serpent Slayer' reward.]

[You can claim the hidden scenario 'Commander Slayer' reward.]

[You can claim the constellations' sponsorship reward.]

There really were a lot of unclaimed rewards. But right now, I had more urgent matters to attend to.

"By the way, have you two been in contact with Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"Eh? No. We just saw him from afar."

Apparently, the quick-witted Kyung Sein had used her [Sixth Sense] to avoid an encounter with Yoo Joonghyuk. And Dansoo ahjussi, who was next to him, seemed to have benefited from it as well.

I added, somewhat relieved.

"Good job, you must never contact Yoo Joonghyuk in the future."

Kyung Sein tilted her head at my words, but then nodded as if she understood.

"I see what you mean. I honestly thought I could get away with talking him down, but when I saw him in person I realized he's really crazy. And Kim Dokja is even crazier for barging in on him like that."

Well said.

I don't think these two will do anything unexpected. However, Dansoo ahjussi's expression is strange.

"Is he really such a bad guy?"

"What?"

"I just suddenly had that thought. Even though he did hurt Inho-ssi..... In fact, from Yoo Joonghyuk's point of view, Cheon Inho has always been a villain."

That's fair.

We're seeing Yoo Joonghyuk for the first time, but Yoo Joonghyuk has already met Cheon Inho in the last round. So from his point of view, it might be natural to antagonize me.

"Jiyoon always said, Yoo Joonghyuk's actually a nice guy, and I'll definitely marry him."

Ahjussi said, as if approving of his future son-in-law.

"After all, he gave us the Elaine something, since he's the main character I don't see why he should be treated so badly....."

Common sense tells me not to listen to Dansoo ahjussi.

It would have been the case if this world was the 'Omniscient Reader' that we know.

"Do you remember why we went to the Oksu Station?"

He nodded.

"We didn't meet Yoo Sangah, Lee Gilyoung, Lee Hyunsung or Han Myungoh."

"Oh, come to think of it....."

"Do you know what that means?"

Dansoo ahjussi still looked unsure. But Kyung Sein's expression was hardening a little.

I decided to make it easy for him.

"This is not the 「Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint」 we know."

"What do you mean?"

"To be more precise, this isn't just any 'Omniscient Reader'. The <Kim Dokja's Company> that we know won't exist here."

Dansoo ahjussi, who had finally realized the situation, opened his mouth. Kyung Sein's eyes widened in shock.

"This is....."

"We're in 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World'."

The work-inside-the-work (作中作) of Omniscient Reader and the 3,149 chapters novel read by the protagonist Kim Dokja. We are now in that ruined novel.

Kyung Sein stammered.

"H-How do you know that, Inho-ssi?"

"Because I saw Yoo Joonghyuk's Attribute Window."

"Do you have [Character List] or something like that?"

"Yes. I happened to get it."

Kyung Sein looked at me with a blank face, then at ahjussi, then at Bang Cheolsoo flirting with Dayoung's mother in the distance, then suddenly became contemplative and said.

"Wait, then..... This Yoo Joonghyuk isn't in the third round?"

"Exactly."

In other words, the Yoo Joonghyuk of this world is not the Yoo Joonghyuk we know from 'Omniscient Reader'.

As if thinking of something, Kyung Sein's expression suddenly changed.

"Wait a minute. Now that I think about it, isn't that a good thing? If he had regressed more, he would grow faster, right? In fact, the 1,863th round Yoo Joonghyuk was so strong that he became an outer god."

Dansoo ahjussi chimed in as if he'd remembered something.

"The man who reached the end of the world..... The one who became a god himself..... I remember that too. I'm pretty sure Jiyoon had that glued on the front of her desk. The Sneaky Schemer....."

"Secretive Plotter. Anyway, Inho-ssi. Isn't it too early to assume the worst yet?"

Certainly, the Yoo Joonghyuk of 'Ways of Survival' could have been stronger than the Yoo Joonghyuk of the original.

In fact, after 1,863 regressions, Yoo Joonghyuk becomes strong enough to reach the 'Final Wall' alone.

Even if he didn't necessarily pass 1,863 rounds, Yoo Joonghyuk's combat power becomes exponentially stronger in the second half.

The problem is.

"That's on the second half of his regressions."

It would have been better if it was the second half, or even the last part.

In the main novel, there is also a scene where Kim Dokja enslaves Yoo Joonghyuk in the 1,863rd round.

While I wouldn't have been able to feed him soil like Kim Dokja, I would have tried something similar.

But in this round, there was no chance of that.

It was something I could say because I met him face to face.

"This round doesn't work in our favor, because this round's Yoo Joonghyuk is the worst Yoo Joonghyuk ever."

"The worst Yoo Joonghyuk? How many times has he regressed?"

Throughout the entirety of 「Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint」, there is one Yoo Joonghyuk who makes everyone shiver.

If you possess someone in 'Ways of Survival', you should never get close to him, no matter what.

I remembered the lines of Shin Yooseung, who came as a disaster in the third round.

「"You, who wanted to be acknowledged by Yoo Joonghyuk, died in the sea you loved so much. You were horribly slaughtered by the Japanese who hated your sponsor..... Do you know what Yoo Joonghyuk said after losing you?"」

"In the future, sea battles will be a bit difficult."

Kyung Sein's eyes widened at my words.

I continued.

「"You saved the lives of countless people and protected Yoo Joonghyuk to the end. Then you were hit with the breath of the iron blood dragon and scattered into a handful of ashes. Do you know what Yoo Joonghyuk said then?"」

"I lost a bad shield."

Those lines were Yoo Joonghyuk's dark story, one of the best in 'Ways of Survival'.

Finally realizing what I was talking about, Kyung Sein's lips trembled.

"It's not true, is it, Inho-ssi? Please, please tell me it's not."

Perhaps, only in this world line, Yoo Joonghyuk could never be said to be a better man than Cheon Inho.

A man who sacrificed all his colleagues, even turned them into disasters, just to end this <Star Stream>.

「What Yoo Joonghyuk did was worse than murder. Thousands of years. This period of time was enough to make a person collapse and their ego to wear down. Shin Yooseung endured all that time and finally became a 'disaster'.」

I blinked slowly, recalling the regression turn number I had seen on Yoo Joonghyuk.

"This world's Yoo Joonghyuk is the '41st round'."

The Yoo Joonghyuk of this world is the worst villain in the universe, one who exterminated all his colleagues.

578 Episode 5. Villain (3)

---

After realizing that this world was the '41st round' of Ways of Survival, Kyung Sein slowly dropped to the ground and began to do planks.

Dansoo ahjussi was speechless for a while, as if he hadn't realized what was happening yet.

I didn't stop them and waited for a while.

I could hear Kyung Sein counting.

"Nine, ten, eleven....."

In the distance, I saw Bang Cheolsoo talking to Dayoung's mother.

"Cheolsoo-ssi, how come you're so fearless and brave?"

"Haha, the life I've lived is a little different than most people."

Suddenly, I wanted to slap Bang Cheolsoo on the back of the head.

"Thirty-eight, thirty-nine, forty..... Inho-ssi."

"Yes."

"What do we do now?"

Apparently, no amount of planking could give her an answer, because she collapsed to the floor.

I helped her to her feet.

"It's okay, we have Dansoo ahjussi and Sein-ssi. And Sein-ssi said she'd read Omniscient Reader's Encyclopedia or something like that ten times."

"What's the point of reading that? This is not Omniscient Reader, it's Ways of Survival. The 41st round is barely mentioned in the novel. The only thing that is mentioned is....."

I know. It's all about how bad Yoo Joonghyuk was.

Just because this world is the 41st round, some of the methods Kim Dokja used are now obsolete.

"Still, we can't give up yet. It's still early in the scenario."

"But it's the 41st round! Yoo Joonghyuk is a scumbag!"

Dansoo ahjussi, who finally realized the seriousness of the situation, muttered his daughter's name.

Suddenly, memories of the days when I was writing my manuscript came back to me.

When I was writing the 'Disaster of Floods' episode, in which the Shin Yooseung from the 41st round was a disaster, I received a letter from a reader at the management office.

Yoo Joonghyuk can't be such a bad guy. Honestly, 41st round Yoo Joonghyuk is a plot hole, please fix it immediately.

It was a letter that said something like that.

At the time, I thought, 'Who are you, asshole?' But now that I think about it, the reader was right.

I should have just fixed it then.

"He'll become trashier and trashier, but maybe he's not irredeemable yet. Even in Omniscient Reader, Yoo Joonghyuk was a psychopath at first. He changed later on, so maybe there's a chance for him here."

You can't rewrite people, but you can rewrite characters.

It's funny that I'm defending a guy who tried to kill me, but I'm not going to lose hope yet.

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is looking at you.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' says they're not sure what you are talking about, but the man in the black coat looks like a bad guy.]

As long as you carry out the scenarios, you will continue to run into Yoo Joonghyuk. You can't just keep avoiding him every time.

After all, you'll need his help to clear the final chapter.

Especially if this is 'Ways of Survival' instead of 'Omniscient Reader'.

"If possible, I'll be the one to contact Yoo Joonghyuk from now on. You should avoid him no matter what."

"Will you be alright?"

"After all, he gave me the 'Elaine Forest Essence'."

"Isn't that just to take advantage of Inho-ssi?"

"That's what I think, too, so that's good, because he won't kill me right away if I'm worth using."

I'm sure he'd left something like that because he still has expectations for me.

Besides, I didn't tell them, but there were still secrets in this '41st round' that I didn't know about.

For example, there's some kind of deal between Cheon Inho and Yoo Joonghyuk from the previous round.

There's no need to think about it right now. We'll just have to find out slowly from now on.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' picks his nose and asks how long the filter will be up.]

Please be patient with us, constellations-nim.

We're talking about something important.

"Don't be discouraged, just do what you can. Our pace isn't bad either. Heewon-ssi has awakened, Dansoo ahjussi knows how to tame bugs, Sein-ssi has [Average Correction], and Sein-ssi, you're putting all your coins on physique, right?"

"Yes. Of course, but....."

I knew it.

As expected from the soul of a muscular man.

If Kyung Sein could play the tanker role, the party now had a basic formation of damage dealer-support-tanker.

So what's my position?

"I've got Cheon Inho who can carry the eloquence role, so we're not that far behind <Kim Dokja's Company>."

Kyung Sein laughed weakly at my joke.

Suddenly, Dansoo ahjussi, who was already in high spirits, nodded his head.

"Inho-ssi is right."

"You recovered quickly."

"This is nothing."

"You're not from a different world than ours, are you?"

"Jiyoon will be disappointed if I get frustrated over this."

Perhaps the most frustrated person here is Dansoo ahjussi.

He's not even a devoted reader of Omniscient Reader, he's just a guy who ended up possessing someone in the novel because of his daughter.....

I became a little curious about what kind of life Dansoo ahjussi had that led him to possess someone here.

"Let's go get the hidden piece first. We were lucky enough to start at Geumho Station, so we have an advantage over everyone else."

"Ah! Do you mean, to get 'that'.....?"

"Yep. Let's go get it."

At Geumho Station, there is a representative hidden piece that Kim Dokja gets.

The star relic, 'Unbroken Faith'.

In order to get it, you must go to the 'Edge of Darkness' of Geumho Station and enter the 'Ground Rat's Treasure Trove'.

Dansoo ahjussi's expression was dark.

"If that's the case, we'd better hurry."

"Oh, right. Actually....."

Kyung Sein said as she jumped to her feet.

"There are people who have already set out that way."

No, you should have told me that first, guys.

---

We quickly finished our preparations and stood in the tunnel leading to the Yaksu Station.

I thought about waiting for Jung Heewon to wake up, but I was impatient that there were people who had already left ahead of us.

"Don't worry about Heewon-ssi and go."

When Dayoung's mother opened her mouth as if to leave it to her, Bang Cheolsoo thumped his chest and spoke up.

"I'll protect Geumho Station!"

Dayoung's mother nodded reliably and looked at Bang Cheolsoo.

I stared at the two figures for a moment, a weird atmosphere beginning to form. Something had definitely changed, but I didn't know if it was for the better.

"Let's go."

We stepped into the tunnel, and in an instant, the voices grew quieter, followed by another deep darkness.

This time, it was Kyung Sein who spoke up first.

"It's not fair to wake up Heewon-nim and come back again, is it?"

"You said you fed her Elaine Forest Essence, so she won't wake up even if you try."

"But we don't even have a DPS[1] now..... Isn't it dangerous?"

[NOTE 1]

"We don't have much time left. If they passed through here twenty minutes ago, they might have already entered the 'Edge of Darkness.'"

Honestly, I didn't expect anyone to go first. Kim Dokja in the original novel was still in the middle of his hidden scenario.

"How many people went first?"

"Two, a man and a woman. They came down from upstairs all of a sudden....."

"Were they readers?"

Actually, this was a question to get her thinking.

She answered immediately.

"I don't know, but I guess so, because the timing doesn't allow for any characters to pass by here. I didn't get a good look at them because they were going too fast on their bikes, but....."

A bike? This early on?

"But Inho-ssi, you do know that there's a boss monster at the 'Edge of Darkness', right?"

"Yes. I know."

For reference, there is an initial boss monster in the 'Edge of Darkness', the 'Dark Keeper'.

Fortunately, there was a way to deal with it in Omniscient Reader.

Kyung Sein asked, her eyes shining with anticipation.

"Did you happen to buy [Purest Sword Force] or the 'Broken Faith'?"

I shook my head.

[Purest Sword Force] was sold out, and from what I could gather through Bihyung, there were no sellers for Broken Faith, only a long waiting list.

-Why is everyone getting that crappy item? Is there some kind of patch I don't know about?

Kyung Sein's expression darkened.

"Then we won't be able to catch the 'Dark Keeper'? Even in the original, Kim Dokja barely beat it with the combo of [Purest Sword Force] and 'Broken Faith'."

"I'll think about it as we go."

"If you don't have 'Broken Faith', you can't make 'Unbroken Faith'....."

"First of all, we should get the random item box."

There is a 'random item box' in the Ground Rat's Treasure Trove, which is guarded by the 'Dark Keeper', that allows you to 'upgrade items' in the first use.

Kim Dokja used the box to upgrade his 'Broken Faith' to 'Unbroken Faith'.

Kyung Sein shook her head.

"Well, you can get 'Broken Faith' later. Do you remember all the boss patterns?"

"Yeah."

The problem is the physique to perform the pattern.

I opened the rewards messages I'd been putting off.

[There are currently 3 unclaimed rewards.]

I hit the collect button one by one.

[You have claimed the reward for the hidden scenario 'Serpent Slayer'].

[The scenario was cleared early due to the intervention of other sea species.]

[You have received part of the scenario's reward.]

Unfortunately, I only received half of the reward because the final hit was stolen by the Sea Commander. The next reward, however, was more than enough to make up for the disappointment.

[The incarnation you awakened, 'Jung Heewon', hunted the 'Sea Commander'.]

[The incarnation 'Jung Heewon' succeeded in looting the rewards of the hidden scenario —'Commander Slayer' that someone was performing.]

[A portion of the looted reward is attributed to you.]

[4,000 coins have been earned.]

[2,000 additional coins have been earned for your first looting reward.]

Looting rewards?

Wait a minute.

Does it mean there was an incarnation hunting the 'Sea Commander'?

My head was spinning.

According to the main story of Omniscient Reader, it was Kim Dokja who hunted down the 'Sea Commander' and earned the reward.

Since there will most likely not be a Kim Dokja in this round, it must be a regular reader who read Omniscient Reader.

What happened to that reader?

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' chuckles.]

I feel sorry for that reader, but 6,000 coins for the looting was a great harvest anyway.

And that wasn't the only reward.

[You have claimed the constellations' sponsorship rewards.]

[6,800 coins have been sponsored.]

Jung Heewon's awakening scene was quite popular on the <Star Stream>, and we received a significant amount of sponsorships for such an early stage.

Prisoner of the Golden Headband, Abyssal Black Flame Dragon, and the nice animal constellations donated coins.

[14,800 coins have been earned in total.]

[Coins Possessed: 17,100 C]

I'm rich now.

If I were Kim Dokja, I'd be saving this like it was my last dollar.

But I'm different.

rlaehrwk37: Anyone else been stupidly robbed of their rewards?

.....

rlaehrwk37: No?

Note [1]: DPS: damage dealer.

579 Episode 5. Villain (4)

---

[4,000 coins have been invested into 'Strength'.]

[Strength Lv.10 → Strength Lv.20]

[Your strength level has increased significantly!]

[Passing Dokkaebis will be scared away by your strength.]

First of all, my strength should be high.

[5,800 coins have been invested into 'Agility'.]

[Agility Lv.4 → Agility Lv.20]

[Your agility level has increased significantly!]

[Your agility will make even a passing elf look back.]

I have two left feet, so I'll use my high agility to dodge.

[3,800 coins have been invested into 'Physique'.]

[Physique Lv.4 → Physique Lv.15]

I need this much physique.

[1,800 coins have been invested into 'Magic Power'.]

[Magic Power Lv.4 → Magic Power Lv.10]

Luckily, Magic Power had a birth stat of 4, so I could save some coins.

[A total of 15,400 coins have been spent.]

[Coins Possessed: 1,700 C]

I was down to my last coin, but I had no regrets. You need to increase your stats early on.

It wasn't until I met Yoo Joonghyuk that I realized this.

I don't have any S-class skills, so when I meet a monster like Yoo Joonghyuk, I have to support my body to withstand even one blow.

[You are the third incarnation of this scenario to break through Strength level 20.]

[300 coins have been acquired as a reward.]

[You are the third incarnation of this scenario to break through Agility level 20.]

[300 coins have been acquired as a reward.]

Despite hitting Strength and Agility level 20 so quickly, there was someone faster than me.

Probably other readers. What a great bunch of guys.

Grrrrr.

Soon, I began to hear the cries of the ground rats. We had finally entered a densely populated area.

Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi, who were beside me, started to move nervously.

"You two together!"

As if the two of them had just planned a formation, the tanker Kyung Sein stepped forward, and Dansoo ahjussi followed behind her, sloppily drawing his sword.

Kyung Sein looked at me with a serious expression and asked.

"There's also the 'three together' formation!"

"That..... you two look good together."

"In front! There are seven!"

Kyung Sein let out a roaring shout and ran forward, only to be gnawed to pieces.

A weak body would be split into two in an instant.

"Uaaak! It hurts! It hurts! Help me!"

I wondered how much physique she had. Despite being bitten here and there by the ground rats, Kyung Sein was unharmed.

Then Dansoo ahjussi began do some strange movements.

"Hang in there, hee-job!"

Judging by the flashy movements, it was clear that if I left them to their own devices, they wouldn't catch a single ground rat.

I pulled out the thorns I'd bought and lightly poked the nearest ground rat.

Its head exploded like a ripe tomato.

Indeed, Strength level 20 was something else. I started stabbing their heads one by one.

Pow! Pow! Pow! Pow!

In no time at all, I had cleared out five of them, and when I turned around, Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi had barely cleared out one each.

When Kyung Sein realized that there were no more ground rats around us, she looked at me in disbelief and asked.

"Inho-ssi, were you actually strong?"

"Of course."

"I knew it, I knew it!"

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' points his finger, saying you're too proud of yourself for a power you gained from coins.]

I'm so excited because it's the first time I've used it.

After that, we encountered mischiefs of ground rats a few times, but with my strength and agility exceeding 20, the ground rats were no longer opponents for me.

"Wow, Inho-ssi, you're awesome."

"Heh, I feel strong."

This is how the protagonist feels.

As we were advancing, beating ground rats one by one, I couldn't help but laugh out loud.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' says this is the only time you can play like this.]

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says that the early stages of growth are the most fun.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' agrees that it is.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' blinks nostalgically.]

Missing it.....

Well, I'm sure the other constellations grew up catching ground rats at first.

That thought reminded me of Kim Dokja again.

"Suddenly, I really respect Kim Dokja."

He must have crossed the same Yaksu Station tunnel as us.

At a much lower level than me.

He wasn't afraid, he didn't back down, and he believed in what he read.

Can I believe in what I write?

Kyung Sein asked.

"There will be no Kim Dokja in this world line, right?"

"Because this is 'Ways of Survival'."

As I answered, a memory flashed through my mind.

I remembered the Kim Dokja in my dream. One of them was really vague, and the other was just a kkoma...

Is there really no Kim Dokja in this world?

"But maybe he's looking at us from up there, just like we did."

The ceiling of the dark tunnel was as dark as a starless night sky.

Kyung Sein looked up for a moment, then suddenly waved her hand and called out.

"Kim Dokja! Kim Dokja!"

She shouted it several times.

Naturally, there was no answer from thin air, but Kyung Sein seemed much happier.

"Kim Dokja....."

If Kim Dokja is really seeing this world, our positions are now reversed.

I wondered if I could reach the end of the scenarios like him.

I wasn't sure. But there's Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi.

There will be other readers.

It's hard for one person, but if we all work together, it might be possible.

If it's as Han Sooyoung said, they're also 'Kim Dokja's fragments'.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' nods.]

I wonder what form this 'filtering' takes for the constellations.

It was then that something like starlight flickered across the darkness.

"Huh?"

I rushed over to it and saw a flashlight on the floor. Someone had been here before.

And beside it.

"Over here."

We looked down into pitch black cave, which opened up beneath our feet.

"I think I found it."

It was the 'Edge of Darkness'.

---

We stepped into the darkness, hand in hand.

It was definitely a passage leading down, but the moment we entered it, gravity magically shifted toward the wall.

It was as described in the Omniscient Reader.

In this space filled with black ether, light loses its meaning. In the darkness, you can't see a thing, and you have to rely on your senses to move forward.

Leading the way was Dansoo ahjussi, who had [Diverse Communication].

"This way."

Dansoo ahjussi sounded encouraged, as if he finally realized he had an important role to play.

Kyung Sein spoke up as if bored.

"Ahjussi."

"Yes."

"How old are you?"

"I'll be 53 this year."

"You mean your original age?"

"Yes."

"You can talk to us comfortably[1]. Right, Inho-ssi?"

[NOTE 1]

"Yes. Make yourself comfortable."

I could feel him shaking his head in the darkness.

"I'm comfortable with honorifics."

I didn't think it was respectful of us to do.

Anyway, he was a very polite man.

"May I ask what you used to do for work?"

He seemed to think about my question for a moment.

"Before I came here, I was just unemployed."

I wondered if I shouldn't have asked, but he continued immediately.

"I was in the hospital."

Hospital. The moment he said the word, his hand in mine became strangely strong.

"Maybe that's why this world feels more like an opportunity to me."

Opportunity.

I knew what he meant, but I thought it would be rude to ask more.

This time, ahjussi asked.

"Why do you think we're here?"

It was the first question that anyone who came to this world would ask themselves.

Kyung Sein was the first to answer.

"Maybe we're here to experience it, too."

His tone was playful, but it was also a possibility that couldn't be ruled out.

"What do you think, Inho-ssi?"

I thought for a moment before answering.

"Maybe they need someone to complete this story."

"Oh..... I hadn't thought of something that profound. So, was it 'Ways of Survival' that summoned us?"

"I don't know about that."

"Maybe it was <Kim Dokja's Company>. Kim Dokja? Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"Yoo Joonghyuk, ahjussi."

I wonder who called us here.

I thought it was <Kim Dokja's Company> at first, but now I'm not sure.

I wonder if <Kim Dokja's Company> would bring their readers to this dangerous place for any reason.

"Could it be Han Sooyoung? She's the writer of Omniscient Reader after all."

The moment I heard Kyung Sein's words, I felt a strange feeling.

As expected, readers also think that Han Sooyoung is the 'writer' of this world.

Even I felt a little miserable that I didn't have any objections to that fact.

When I think about it, 'Omniscient Reader' was quite an unusual novel.

Originally, I had never thought of such a story before. But the story came to me one day out of the blue.

It was as if someone had hit me in the back of the head.

"Of course, our world line's former writer of Omniscient Reader is a different person....."

My palms suddenly felt sweaty. I was glad it was pitch black.

"I don't know what happened to our writer. Maybe he got possessed along with us, or maybe he's already dead because he's always writing announcements saying that he's sick. I even sent him a note on how to stretch the other day."

He's holding your hand right now.

"Shh. There's someone in front of us."

We shut up at ahjussi's words.

The black ether around us visibly decreased, and we gradually began to see a little further ahead.

It meant we were approaching the 'Dark Root', the core of the 'Edge of Darkness'.

"Someone's fighting."

We heard the faint sound of a weapon.

[You have entered the 'Ground Rat's Treasure Trove'.]

[Someone is performing a sub scenario.]

The bodies of a number of ground rats littered the floor. They were cut from head to stomach with a single sword, so it's clear that this person was very good.

As I got closer, I saw a dark fire(暗火) burning in the darkness. A somber box under the light of the dark fire.

It was the 'random item box' we were looking for.

Standing in front of it was, as expected, the Dark Keeper.

The battle was already well underway, and the enraged Dark Keeper was casting tentacle patterns in a frenzy.

"Kallituu!"

There was a short person fighting the Dark Keeper.

Kyung Sein whispered.

"That's the one I saw earlier, on the bike."

A woman with a light blue bob and sunglasses was engaged in a breathtaking battle.

She was dodging the tentacles with uncanny fluidity, delivering blow after blow. It was as if she'd typed in her fighting commands and then executed them.

Even more shocking was the blue-white ether that flowed faintly from her steel fist.

Dedicated Sword Force (罡氣功).

It sounded familiar.

Kyung Sein muttered under her breath.

"That's it, right?"

"I think so."

I looked again, sure enough.

She was using Kim Dokja's [Purest Sword Force].

I wondered who the hell had robbed that item, but it must have been her.

The Purest Sword Force is the Purest Sword Force, but I was surprised that she could fight like that against the Dark Keeper.

What on earth did she do to be able to grow so rapidly from the beginning?

I wondered who she was.

[The exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated!]

[The information of this person can't be read in 'Character List'.]

[This person is a 'character' but not a 'character'.]

That woman is definitely a 'reader'.

Maybe she's one of the 'pros' Kyung Sein mentioned.

[Using 'Readers' Comments List' on this person.]

I immediately checked the reader's information.

ID: ansgkrthsu64

Platform: Sirius

Total Comments: 0

Reader Level: 21

Number of Reads: 0

* This reader didn't write comments, so there are no comments to view.

I was dazed for a moment.

0 complete reads.

That means she's never read Omniscient Reader.

And yet she can fight like that?

[The reader has no record of having read 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.]

[Additional information about the target has been updated.]

[Some of the 'List Information' is corrected.]

When I checked again, some of the information had changed.

Number of Reads: 0 times (12.8 times)

Suddenly, I saw 12.8 times in parentheses. What the hell?

It was at that moment that I felt a cold sensation in the back of my head.

Something pointy touched the back of my neck.

"All three of you, don't move. If any of you move, I'll kill him."

I felt goosebumps. I didn't notice him at all.

"Drop your weapons to the ground and slowly put your hands over your heads."

Since I didn't know my opponent's strength level or skill information, it was best to do as I was told.

If he was good enough at stealth to get behind us now, he could attack us at any moment.

Spot!

That's when the tide turned in the melee up ahead. The woman who had been dodging the tentacles with her ghostly movements received a cut on her forearm for the first time.

I opened my mouth.

"We can help. We're not here to be enemies."

"We don't need help."

"Don't be greedy. You know you can't catch it on your own."

"We two are enough."

The man spoke to the woman in a calm voice.

"Yerin, don't panic, fight. The pattern is starting again."

The man's following words surprised me.

"The pattern starts at the upper right. After that, there will be one at the bottom, and then you'll have to feed him a series of consecutive strikes."

This was clearly how Kim Dokja had beaten the 'Dark Keeper' in 'Omniscient Reader'.

He remembered it all?

"Cut off all the tentacles. Then finish it."

Blue-white ether surged from the woman's fist. It was meant to gather energy and end it in a single blow.

But it was a clear mistake.

I didn't write about it in detail in Omniscient Reader, but the Dark Keeper had one final hidden pattern.

The last pattern that Ji Eunyu edited out because she thought the battle scene was getting too long.

I sucked in a breath and shouted at the top of my lungs.

"Dodge! There's one more! Last one is from the floor!"

As soon as I finished speaking, a tentacle shot out from the floor.

She froze for a moment, but managed to dodge the tentacle before delivering the final blow.

Kuaaaaaah!

The now incapacitated Dark Keeper fell to his knees and slumped to the ground.

The woman who had just spotted us looked over. I couldn't see her eyes through her sunglasses, but I could tell she was surprised.

A man's voice came from behind me.

"Turn around slowly."

We slowly turned around with our hands on our heads.

As soon as we turned around, we saw the man holding the 'Stone Hog's Pointed Thorn'.

He was obviously an extra because he didn't look familiar, but I was impressed that he had a pretty handsome face.

To put it in Ways of Survival terms, it was enough to maybe poke Yoo Joonghyuk's face with a finger. I immediately activated my skill.

I doubted my eyes.

99.8 complete reads.

This..... Surely there wasn't an error?

The man glaring at me with a strange look in his eyes suddenly said something strange.

"7942."

7942? What's that?

"7942."

The man said it again.

I wondered if it was some sort of reader-defined code word.

I should answer correctly.

"Between friends!"

Dansoo ahjussi suddenly exclaimed. He spoke with the speed of a scholarship quiz.

He turned to me and muttered in a half-whisper.

"My mate doesn't know, but that means 'between friends' these days. It sounds like he's happy to see you."

But no matter how I looked at it, those were not friendly eyes.

The thorn in the man's hand slowly pointed at Dansoo ahjussi. The man's expression turned cold, and a breathless confrontation ensued.

"9158!"

Kyung Sein shouted fitfully.

The thorn stopped in midair.

"You're a member of the Seven Apostles, right?"

Kyung Sein's expression was somehow flushed as she said that.

The man who retracted the thorn asked.

"Who are you?"

---

After using 'Readers' Comments List' a few times, I slowly realized the generation pattern of the readers' ID.

For example, Dansoo ahjussi's ID, wldbsdldkQk80, when typed on a QWERTY keyboard using the Korean layout, looks like this:

wldbsdldkQk80 = Jiyoon's dad 80

We can convert alsdn0905, Kyung Sein's ID, similarly:

alsdn0905 = Minwoo0905 (presumably her real name).

Both of them were perfect if they wanted their personal information to be leaked.

But the two new people I met were different.

First, there was this guy.

killer_king[1] = killer_king

[NOTE 1]

Killer King. Aside from the fact that it's a combination of two cool words, it's a pretty uninformative ID.

On the other hand, the woman over there lighting the 'Magic Power Stove' was a little different.

ansgkrthsu64 = LiteratureGirl64

I didn't recognize her nickname, but it was clear that she was a book lover.

LiteraryGirl64 placed the freshly caught ground rat meat on the Magic Power Stove and began roasting it with medicine.

"Sit down for now."

Killer King commanded us confidently, then sat down himself.

He hesitated a moment, then added some words.

"I guess it doesn't matter if I speak informally. This isn't 'real life' anyway."

"This is real too."

"No, this is a 'new world' dominated by 'new laws'."

If that is the mindset of a reader who has read Omniscient Reader 99.8 times, I can only respect it.

Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi didn't seem to disagree.

We are all adults.

"Are all three of you readers?"

"Yes, as you can see."

"How do you know the password of the Apostles?"

The Seven Apostles. I had heard the name of the community from Kyung Sein before.

She replied.

"I was a member of the community, though I was rarely active."

"Nickname?"

"Judge Heewon."

After a moment of thought, Killer King asked.

"Are you the guy who used to post pictures of his abs on the message boards all the time?"

"Ah! You remember."

"It'd be strange if I didn't remember. You've been doing the same thing every day for two years."

"Haha, yeah, I did."

"It's a shame you don't have abs to show off."

Kyung Sein looked down at her tiny body and chuckled.

"Still, it's fun to start anew. And here, you just level up your stats and your body improves on its own."

"It's a convenient world."

"Now I'd like to hear about you."

"I'm Killer King."

Kyung Sein's mouth dropped open.

"Killer King? Are you really the Killer King?"

Killer King nodded, and Kyung Sein shuddered.

I asked in a whisper.

"Is he famous?"

"Of course he is. There's no one who doesn't know his nickname."

I don't know, but that Killer King seemed to be very important in that world.

"Killer King-nim is the Second Apostle of the Seven Apostles."

Since they were the Seven Apostles, it must have a total of seven leaders.

This means that the Killer King in front of me is the second of them...

Wait. So there's someone who's read more than him?

As if reading my mind, Kyung Sein whispered.

"Rumor has it that the First Apostle has read Omniscient Reader over 100 times."

Killer King, who had overheard the conversation, stepped in.

"It's not 'Omniscient Reader', it's the 'Book of Revelation'. I see you've already forgotten the rules of the Seven Apostles."

"Oh, yes, I did. I'm sorry."

"And I was about to reach the 100 readings myself."

"Stop talking about pathetic things and eat."

Everyone turned around at the sound of her voice. LiteraryGirl64, who had been silent for a long time, opened her mouth for the first time.

Perhaps because of the sudden attention, LiteraryGirl64 lowered her head blushing and looked down at the stove.

Kyung Sein asked Killer King.

"Is she also an 'Apostle'?"

Killer King picked up a skewer of ground rat and said.

"She's just my younger sibling."

"Ah, so your sister has read the Book of Revelation."

"No, I haven't."

"What? And yet you ended up in Omniscient Reader?"

At that, LiteraryGirl64 glared at Killer King.

Killer King coughed lightly and replied.

"I told her about the Book of Revelation a few times."

"How many times?"

"......Quite a few times."

Suddenly, I understood the meaning of (12.8 times) in LiteraryGirl64's information list.

She shook her head as if she was bored, and handed us each a skewer of ground rat.

As I was about to take the skewer, Literature Girl 64 glanced in my direction. When I looked back at her, she bowed her head and mumbled something.

I wasn't sure, but she seemed to be thanking me.

I think she was thanking me for telling her the attack pattern earlier.

"What?"

She just smiled and handed me the skewer.

I'm touched. This is completely normal.

It was painful to think that the one who didn't read Omniscient Reader was the most normal.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' smacks his lips.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' gulps down his saliva.]

I was really hungry, and the sight of the golden brown meat in front of me was hard to resist.

Kyung Sein asked.

"May I eat it?"

"Of course."

"Thanks for the meal."

We started tearing into the meat without anyone stopping us.

When you're eating something really good, there's a natural silence. No one said a word, but we were all thinking the same thing.

「This is really good.」

The meat that existed only in text has become real. The seasoning that his younger sister made was just right.

"Ha, it's really good."

"You're very skillful."

Only after barely tearing off one leg piece by piece did Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi express their admiration at the same time.

LiteraryGirl64 smiled silently.

Killer King also shook his head as if the meat wasn't bad.

"Killer King-nim. I'm actually a real fan of yours. I also remember the comment war you had with the members of the Misreading Association for three days and four nights."

"You remember that useless stuff."

"Seriously, I can't tell you how lucky I am to see you here. I've almost died several times, but you've read the Book of Revelation 99 ti—"

"Almost 100 times."

"I never thought I'd meet the Killer King who read it almost 100 times....."

"Why are you glad you met me?"

"What? It's you we're talking about."

"I could be a bad guy."

Kyung Sein's eyes widened.

"Don't say that. No one who has read the Book of Revelation all the way through is a bad person."

I was speechless for a moment.

Even more surprising was Killer King's response.

"Not everyone who reads it is a good human being."

He said so seriously, immersed in a strange sense of sorrow. It would have been a bit cool if his name wasn't Killer King.

Kyung Sein was speechless, while Dansoo ahjussi looked lethargic, perhaps because he was full.

Since no one else spoke up, I had to point it out.

"By the way, your way of speaking is strangely similar to someone's."

"No."

"You must like Yoo Joonghyuk."

LiteraryGirl64, who was next to me, let out a dry chuckle.

Killer King looked at me and asked.

"You hardly ate the meat."

"I'm a slow eater."

"What's your nickname?"

"Oh, he's not an Apostle. He doesn't join any comms."

Killer King's eyes narrowed at Kyung Sein's comment.

"How many times have you read the Book of Revelation?"

"I don't remember, but I must have read it more than 10 times."

[Someone has used 'Lie Detection'.]

Wow, he already had [Lie Detection]?

[The other person has confirmed that the statement is true.]

If I've read it 100 times it's also more than 10 times.

"I see. You'll be an intermediate apostle by 10 times."

I was surprised to see Killer King looking at me in pure amazement.

I didn't realize there were grades for apostles.

"I'm flattered."

"How did you know about the last pattern of the 'Dark Keeper'? That doesn't even appear in the Book of Revelation."

"It just came to me."

[The other person has confirmed that the statement is true.]

Killer King had a questioning look on his face.

"You must have a foresight skill."

"Well, I do have the ability to find out hidden information."

I have notes that only I know about, so this wasn't a lie.

[The other person has confirmed that the statement is true.]

Killer King nodded and said.

"Interesting."

A moment of silence.

I spat the bite of skewer I'd taken onto the floor and stood up slowly.

"I'm not that interesting."

At the same time, Dansoo ahjussi and Kyung Sein fell sideways.

I glared at the two people in front of me, holding the spike in my right hand.

Killer King held the spike like me, ready for battle. And beside him, I could see LiteraryGirl64, her head down. Killer King said.

"They're not dead, just asleep."

If it's a sleeping potion you can get early on, it's probably the stem of yanaspleta.

I don't know how they got it, but they were prepared.

"Why did you do this?"

"I have two reasons."

Killer King looked at the 'Dark Keeper' lying in the distance.

"One. You were going to attack us."

"We weren't."

"Two. I smell blood on you."

"That's because we caught a lot of ground rats."

"The smell of human blood."

I paused for the first time.

"Even if you know the contents of the Book of Revelation, you are, at your core, an ordinary human being. Few humans can kill their own kind without hesitation because they're suddenly in a novel."

"True, but if you want to protect yourself, you have to fight."

"The average reader has a pattern. If you've been lucky enough to find a bug and kill it, you wouldn't have killed anyone yet, but if you had to kill someone, you would have killed one. But."

Upon closer inspection, one of Killer King's eyes shone with an unnerving dark red color.

I knew what that skill was.

"You have killed at least ten human beings."

It is the stigma of an archangel who can read the sins of others.

"Anything else to say? Murderer."

It seems that 'Killer King''s sponsor is 'Archangel Jophiel'.

581 Episode 5. Villain (6)

---

This was how a criminal caught in an absurd place felt.

I was a little resentful of Dansoo ahjussi, who had passed out, oblivious to my anxiety. If he had picked Jophiel back then, none of this would have happened.

I turned to the oncoming Killer King and said,

"Wait a minute. Listen to me. You asked me if I had anything left to say."

"I didn't say I'd listen. I wasn't interested in hearing your excuses for slaughtering a dozen people in the first place."

Apparently, [Eye of Sin] had recorded the nineteen people I killed via incitement as a 'sin'.

It was unfair.

I wanted to tell them everything.

I was actually the one who wrote Omniscient Reader, and the people I killed were the ones who would later become the evil 'Life's Teachings' cult.

"You look upset. You must think your killing was justified because that's how this world works."

In a sense, it was the truth, so I had nothing to say.

"The Misreading Association was just like you."

"Misreading Association?"

Killer King looked wordlessly in his sister's direction, and LiteraryGirl64 shook her head stubbornly. It seemed like she didn't want to fight me.

"Yerin, we have to kill him now. The Eye of Sin isn't wrong, he's dangerous."

"....."

"We'll do it like we did with the Misreading Association guys, I'll finish him off."

The moment I heard those words, the back of my head tingled.

"Wait."

Suddenly, an unpleasant sensation crawled up my spine.

"Did you kill a 'real person'?"

"Are there real people and fake ones?"

"You know what I mean. Did you kill other readers?"

「"No one who has read the Book of Revelation all the way through is a bad person."」

I didn't entirely disagree with Kyung Sein. There were certainly good and bad people among the readers.

But whether they were good or bad, there was a bond shared only by those who had read the story.

I wanted to believe that there was a promise, at least between fellow 'readers', that we wouldn't turn a blind eye to anyone who knew the tragedy of this world.

"The 'Misreading Association' deserves to die."

However, right in front of me, there was a reader who disagreed.

A reader who had read this story 99 times, a reader who probably understood this world better than anyone.

I told him.

"If you die here, you're really dead."

"Good. They were sociopaths to begin with."

With those words, I was convinced. This Killer King was out of his mind.

If I let him go, he would ruin the whole scenario, not to mention endanger the other readers.

But could I win against them?

As if Killer King wasn't bad enough, LiteraryGirl64 over there was a monster who could deal with the Dark Keeper alone.

It was then that the surroundings began to turn colorless.

「Time stopped.」

These were the signs of the skill '■■'.

However, I couldn't see anyone performing any 'unexpected behavior'.

Why then?

[Your skill has reached a certain level.]

The reason was quickly apparent.

[Your exclusive skill '■■' is blossoming!]

[The activation conditions for the exclusive skill '■■' have been relaxed.]

[The skill will be urgently triggered when one or more of the following conditions are met.]

| |
|---|
| 1. A specific character attempts an 'unexpected behavior'. |

2. An important 'event' branch occurs (limited to 3 times per day).

Perhaps because I had used the skill so much, a new condition to trigger '■■' had been added. If the skill was triggered now, it meant that an important 'event' branch was coming. And in Omniscient Reader, 'important' was synonymous with 'dangerous'.

[You have entered the 'Snowfield'.]

[Villain's Crisis]

「At that moment, Cheon Inho」

■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■

* At your current skill level, you can write a total of 200 additional characters.

[You can stay in the 'Snowfield' for a total of 5 minutes.]

Judging from Killer King and LiteraryGirl64's attitude, it was unlikely that they would charge straight at me.

That said, the danger wasn't coming from them.

The next time I looked up at the ceiling, I saw the culprit.

Since when?

Through the shadows of the 'Edge of Darkness', three shadows slid down the wall, clinging to it. The moment I saw the series of footprints on the wall, I realized how they had managed to come so stealthily.

[Thief Rat's Footprints].

A stealthy maneuvering skill that, while not as spectacular as Lee Jihye's [Ghost Walk], allowed them to literally move like 'dead rats' in the dark.

All three of them had small tear gas canisters in their hands, so it didn't look like they were approaching with good intentions.

Judging by the distance, they would attack in about 1.8 seconds.

At this rate, Killer King and LiteraryGirl64 would die, or at least be mortally wounded.

Killer King was going to kill me anyway, so I might as well leave them be.

However,

「Villain's Crisis.」

I looked at the scene title and thought.

「But 'whose' crisis is this?」

I began to type a sentence.

[This story is plausible.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 90%.]

[There's enough probability.]

[Do you want to check the reader's feedback?]

| |
|---|
| rlaehrwk37: Oh? |

[Successfully recreating the scene.]

[Leaving the 'Snowfield'.]

「At that moment, Cheon Inho threw the spike in his right hand forward.」

"What—?"

The startled Killer King and LiteraryGirl64 rolled out of the way to avoid the attack.

However, my spike wasn't aimed at them.

Swoosh!

As my level 20 strength turned into kinetic energy and pierced through the darkness, the shadows lurking between them let out sharp screeches and scattered.

Something dripped through the darkness, and then something exploded in the air.

Pssssh!

Thick purple smoke billowed out. I immediately recognized the smoke for what it was.

Poisonous fog.

Killer King's complexion turned blue.

"Yerin!"

The younger sister, who was very agile, quickly picked up her brother and took refuge near me.

I raised my hands in a sign that I had no intention of attacking. LiteraryGirl64 dropped Killer King on the ground and began to vomit. She must have inhaled the poisonous fog.

I asked Killer King.

"Who are they?"

"You would know better....."

"If I knew, I wouldn't be asking."

Before he could answer, Killer King began to bleed.

His poisoning seemed worse.

Apparently, this was no ordinary poisonous fog. It was poison taken directly from the anal sac of a 'Poison Rhino'.

I took out my emergency supply of Elain Monkey Lungs and popped one into my mouth, then handed the other to Killer King.

Killer King's eyes shook for a moment.

"Bite down on this. Quick, before you die."

Just before he took the lungs and bit them, Killer King spoke in a low voice.

"They are the Misreading Association."

The Misreading Association. I see.

So that's who they are.

The Seven Apostles had the clever trick of utilizing Dionysus's indirect messages as a code, but these guys didn't seem to have anything like that.

Sssssst.

Through the thick violet fog, the men emerged, Elain Monkey Lungs in their mouths.

Upon closer inspection, all three had grayish hair sprouting from their faces.

I immediately activated 'Readers' Comments List'.

[The exclusive skill 'Readers' Comments List' is activated!]

[The person is not a 'reader'.]

That's strange.

Wasn't 'Misreading Association' the name of a readers' community?

Name: Kang Junsik

Sponsor: Plague-Carrying Rat

Exclusive Attributes: Ratman (Rare)

Overall Stats: [Physique Lv.15], [Strength Lv.15], [Agility Lv.14], [Magic Power Lv.4]

Surprisingly, all three men were 'characters'. They even had the same sponsor and attribute.

Plague-Carrying Rat.

And Ratman.

All incarnations of the same constellation, all choosing the path of the outcast (人外).

Even though the outer species were strong in the beginning, would readers who had finished the novel choose the path of an outer species?

It couldn't be.

They're not readers.

Then why did the Killer King call them the 'Misreading Association'?

It was then that I heard a squeak in my ear.

[Your exclusive attribute is activated.]

[You understand the language settings.]

[You are interpreting the language of the Ratmen.]

And then a voice said.

—How's Killer King?

—Poisoned.

—His sister.

—Same. She can still move, but not for long.

—There are others I haven't seen.

I'm getting more and more confused.

I thought only the readers could know that.

But how could people who had only been in this world for three days know that?

"Hey, excuse me. Guys."

The men were talking amongst themselves, as if they couldn't hear me.

—I can tell he's an apostle because he has monkey's lungs.

—Is he a member of the Seven Apostles?

—Most likely.

—We'll have to get rid of him.

I was no match for the three of them.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' looks down at his incarnation with a pitiable glance.]

At that moment, Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi, who were sprawled on the floor, began to twitch.

It looked like the poisonous fog was slowly spreading to them.

Fortunately, the two of them had eaten a lot of ground rat meat before falling asleep, so they should be able to hold out a bit longer with the antidote effect.

I turned to see a gasping Killer King staring back at me through narrowed eyes. His entire face was colored a deep purple, as if the Elain Monkey Lungs couldn't keep up.

He was even weaker than he looked. Hadn't he leveled up his stats?

"Are you sure..... you're not from the 'Misreading Association'?"

"I don't know such people."

[The other person has confirmed that the statement is true.]

Killer King opened his mouth.

"I'll believe you. You are certainly—"

"I'm no prophet, but I do know that it's not time for us to fight amongst ourselves."

Nodding, Killer King handed the Elain Monkey Lung he'd been biting to his sister.

"Yerin, I'm sorry, you'll have to do it alone this time."

LiteraryGirl64 shook her head hard, but finally took the lung with trembling hands.

Killer King coughed and spoke.

"The enemy is a low-ranked outer species. Around an 8th or 9th grade archetype, but..... you should be able to deal with them by yourself."

I could recognize the siblings' fighting style. Apparently, the older brother, Killer King, was the brains, while the younger sister did the actual fighting.

Killer King looked in my direction and said.

"I don't trust you. But....."

"You'll owe me a favor."

"I'll pay you back if I can."

With those last words, Killer King closed his eyes. He didn't seem to be dead, just trying to survive his poisoning by minimizing his energy consumption.

I turned to the younger sister.

"I need you to take care of one. We need to finish this before your brother dies."

LiteraryGirl64 staggered to her feet, as if she would do anything.

Meanwhile, the Ratmen's side had finished analyzing this side's power.

—Random item box secured.

—We have a variable, should we rush in?

—Killer King must be eliminated here. If we don't get rid of him now, we might not have a chance in the future.

The Ratmen exchanged sullen glances.

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' laughs sneeringly.]

The next moment, I felt a chill down the back of my neck.

It felt as if hundreds of rats were glaring at me through the purple fog.

The Ratmen sprang back up like toy tumblers and surrounded me.

A Ratman was an 8th-grade outer species.

All three of them had excellent stats, and their attribute bonuses made them extremely fast.

Luckily, LiteraryGirl64, who ran like a flash, took on one of the Ratmen, and an unconventional hand-to-hand battle ensued.

LiteraryGirl64's movements were slower than before due to her poisoning, but it seemed to be enough to take down one Ratman.

That left two.

A Ratman's elongated nails sliced into my skull with obvious murderous intent.

I was terrified. One wrong move and I would die.

I muttered an incantation to make myself stronger.

「I am Yoo Joonghyuk. Yoo Joonghyuk, super strong Yoo Joonghyuk, handsome Yoo Joonghyuk.」

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.3' is activated!]

Of course, just inciting myself to be Yoo Joonghyuk didn't really make me Yoo Joonghyuk.

But it would at least make me brave like him. And maybe I could even imitate him a little.

「A pale trajectory sliced through the air.」

Sugagak!

My strength level 20 blow sliced through the air, tearing the arm of one of the Ratmen in two.

Surprised by my strength, the Ratmen jumped back.

—Dangerous. The variable's strength level exceeds 20.

—He's not afraid to get hurt. He's not an ordinary guy.

—Stay away. We'll change the operation.

In an instant, the Ratmen had closed the distance and drawn out a long bamboo pole.

I had an ominous feeling.

"Dodge!"

I reflexively jumped out of the way and swung my sword. I heard the sound of something bouncing off a Ratman's blade. But I didn't manage to deflect them all.

"Ah."

When I looked around, LiteraryGirl64 had a dagger stuck in her thigh.

I quickly supported her and stepped back.

LiteraryGirl64's complexion immediately turned purple.

Damn.

—His agility level is over 20.

—Is there ever an apostle with two stats over 20?

—Maybe he's an apostle possessing a Named.

—Is he from <Kim Dokja's Company>?

The Ratmen craned their necks and looked up into the air at the same time. Like terminals waiting for a signal.

—Says no.

—Then let's get rid of him.

In that moment, I came up with a creepy hypothesis.

The Ratmen in front of me were not 'readers', but they knew information that only 'readers' could know.

That means someone is feeding them information.

Maybe someone who could communicate with them in real time.

I reflexively looked up into the air.

「Did all of the 'Omniscient Reader' readers really only possess 'incarnations'?」

From across the pitch-black darkness, I felt a gaze upon me.

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' looks down on you.]

I thought with a bitter smile.

Sooyoung-ah, isn't this a probability problem?

582 Episode 5. Villain (7)

Plague-Carrying Rat.

In Omniscient Reader, and in the setting of Ways of Survival, that constellation hadn't appeared.

Yet, it suddenly signed contracts with three incarnations and sent them out to attack the 'Edge of Darkness'.

That rat was 100% a reader.

I would have loved to have used [Readers' Comments List] on them, but unfortunately it didn't work on targets I couldn't see.

Unless they were possessing an incarnation, there was no way to know.

"Hey, guys, we don't have to fight."

I waved my hand at the Ratmen who were glaring in this direction and slowly backed away.

Even LiteraryGirl64, whom I had relied on, was poisoned, making it a three-on-one fight.

The odds weren't in my favor either way.

However, who was I?

The one who had been called 'The One Who Deceived the Stars' by Yoo Joonghyuk in the 40th turn.

"Misreading Association members, I am not your enemy."

The great villain, the 'Evil Sophist' famous among the constellations.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.3' is activated!]

"Gentlemen, it looks like you're all villains. I happen to be a villain too."

I said, sneaking over to the fallen Killer King.

"So let's make a deal. Is he who you want?"

I grabbed Killer King by the nape of the neck and lifted him up. LiteraryGirl64, who was crouched nearby, looked at me with despair in her eyes.

I smiled lightly at her, then turned back to the Ratmen.

One of the Ratmen said.

"We don't negotiate."

"Stay out of this, ratmen. I'm talking to your constellation, not you."

At my cold voice, the Ratmen frowned.

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' is looking at you with interest.]

I smirked and spoke.

"As you saw me fight just now, you noticed I'm pretty good myself. If I were to fight at full strength, even your incarnations wouldn't come out unscathed. If three of your incarnations die so early, wouldn't it be a heavy blow to a low-tier constellation like you?"

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' is glaring at you.]

"Even so, do we need to fight each other? This is what you want, and I don't want to get blood on my hands. It's a win-win situation. Give what you have to give, take what you have to take."

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' says the Seven Apostles can't be trusted.]

"I am not from the Seven Apostles."

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' has used 'Lie Detection'.]

[Your statement is true.]

Now even a rat constellation is using that skill.

Well, that rat is a constellation too.

"I'll give you Killer King, in exchange for your random item box."

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' says they can't give you the box.]

"Then I'll take the rest of the items here, minus the box."

At my offer, the 'Plague-Carrying Rat' seemed to ponder for a moment.

I could hear the Ratmen asking with their squeaks.

—What shall we do?

I opened my mouth as I stealthily moved toward the wall.

"No need to overthink it, just be reasonable. It seems like you've had a pretty rough time yourself, and if we want to survive in a world like this, we need to cooperate. I don't want a plot where the villains turn on each other and end up self-destructing."

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' asks who the hell you are.]

Tsuchuchut.

Judging by the light sparks all over its body, it was about to unleash its status to intimidate me.

However, the 'Plague-Carrying Rat' didn't seem to be a very powerful constellation.

Nor would it be free from the constraints of Probability at this early stage.

"I'm disappointed. You really don't know who I am? You must not have read the novel properly."

I took another step.

The rat constellation warned me as if it felt something was strange.

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' tells you to stop.]

As if I would.

"This is the body of the worst villain in Omniscient Reader."

With those words, I plucked out the 'Dark Flower' that was plugged in nearby.

For a moment, my shadow flickered ominously as the ash-colored torch that sucked in black ether—the 'Dark Flower'—lit up the surroundings.

"The one burnt to death with Hellfire."

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' orders its incarnations to kill you right away.]

The Ratmen whistled in unison and fired their poisonous darts.

I used Killer King as a shield.

Pow. Pow. Pow.

Wide-eyed, Killer King shuddered convulsively. I had no choice given the circumstances.

I'll save you, dear reader, so hang in there.

With Killer King in front of me, I began to charge at the Ratmen. For a moment, they panicked and jumped back.

I flung the dark flower at them with all my might. It spun in the air, sailed past them, and tumbled into the darkness behind them.

A wisp of black smoke billowed from the extinguished flame.

Black ether was being released.

—Beware!

Something began to stir in the center of the dense black ether.

「There was a 'boss monster' here that hadn't died yet.」

In the novel, Kim Dokja did not directly stop the monster's breath. To do so would incur the curse of the 'Demon King'.

[The ruler of the 'Edge of Darkness' is absorbing the black ether!]

Killer King, who had read Omniscient Reader nearly a hundred times, hadn't forgotten that part.

[The 7th-grade demon, 'Dark Keeper' has revived!]

The black etheric energy from the Dark Flower revived the dying 'Dark Keeper'.

Squeak squeak, the Ratmen screamed, and three or four tentacles shot out of the Dark Keeper's body simultaneously.

The Ratmen barely dodged the tentacles.

However,

Pusyusyusyuk!

They didn't have time to dodge the tentacles that sprang up from the ground below them. In an instant, the three Ratmen screamed and struggled as their stomachs were pierced.

"Kallitu."

With the Dark Keeper's words, something slithered into the three Ratmen's bodies.

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' is furious!]

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' is increasing its synchronization with the incarnations!]

Realizing the situation too late, the Plague-Carrying Rat tried to intervene.

But it was a mistake.

Tsuchuchuchuchut!

[The 7th grade demon, 'Dark Keeper' has noticed the presence of the constellation.]

[The 7th grade demon, 'Dark Keeper' prays to its master.]

Kukukukuku.

The whole of the 'Edge of Darkness' shook as if there had been an earthquake.

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' panics.]

Someone was looking into this space.

A being far different from 'Plague-Carrying Rat'.

A cold sweat ran down my spine.

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' is increasing its synchronization with the incarnations!]

He was the owner of the 32nd Demon Realm.

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos's face hardens.]

[The constellation 'Primordial Cow's eyes shine.]

The Devil of Lust and Wrath.

The Demon King Asmodeus.

[The Demon King 'Devil of Lust and Wrath' stares at 'Plague-Carrying Rat'.]

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' was dealt a fatal blow.]

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' groans in terror.]

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' has left the channel.]

A historical-grade constellation had been defeated with just a single glance.

[The demon king 'Devil of Lust and Wrath' is looking at you with strange eyes.]

From the other side of the abyss, the demon king was looking at me.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.3' is strongly activated!]

「I am Kim Dokja, who possesses the 'Fourth Wall'.」

I met the Demon King's gaze undaunted.

[The demon king 'Devil of Lust and Wrath' is interested in you.]

[The demon king 'Devil of Lust and Wrath' will remember your name.]

After the message, the gaze vanished. All that remained was the Dark Keeper and me.

I sucked in a breath and stared at him.

"Are you going to fight?"

The Dark Keeper stared back at me and muttered something.

[You understand the language settings.]

[You are interpreting the language of the demon species.]

...From ■■ to ■. The King is watching you.

...What?

With those words, it disappeared into the darkness with the Ratmen.

[The 7th grade demon, 'Dark Keeper' has disappeared from the Ground Rat's Treasure Trove.]

[The 7th grade demon, 'Dark Keeper' has been defeated!]

[The sub scenario 'Kill the Keeper' has ended.]

[You have successfully looted someone else's sub scenario!]

[8,000 coins have been earned.]

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' admires your courage in the face of a demon king.]

[1,000 coins have been additionally sponsored.]

I was preparing to fight the Dark Keeper if I had to. It was a relief.

So this kind of development is possible too.

In the back, I could see Dansoo ahjussi and Kyung Sein stumbling to their feet.

"Inho-ssi? Ow! What the..."

Judging by their exaggerated voices, they must have woken up earlier and faked being unconscious to observe the situation.

I laughed bitterly and pointed at Killer King and LiteraryGirl64 on the ground.

"Let's save them first."

---

According to Ways of Survival's settings notes, there are two ways to dispel the 'poisonous fog'.

Using the 'Elain Monkey Lungs', or feeding the 'Elain Forest Essence'.

However, I couldn't guarantee that Killer King or LiteraryGirl64 would recover with either of those two methods.

Especially Killer King; he had been poisoned too many times because of me, and his condition was critical.

"Kup, Kuhup."

Killer King's face was ashen, and he was gasping for air with foam at his mouth.

Still, I couldn't let a reader who had read the novel 99 times die like this.

I pulled out the piece of 'Poison Rhino's horn' I had hidden in my chest and ground it into a fine powder.

Dansoo ahjussi asked.

"What is that?"

"I picked it up the other day when I met Yoo Joonghyuk."

If my ligaments were still intact, I would have gotten a bigger piece, but my arm was destroyed, so I could only get crumbs.

Luckily, it was enough for now.

I mixed the horn powder with water and poured it into the mouths of Killer King and LiteraryGirl64.

After a few moments, Killer King and LiteraryGirl64's complexions became noticeably brighter.

「The Poison Rhino's horn has a great effect on the 'poisonous fog'.」

I hadn't realized that it would be used in this way, as I had only created it as a 'Ways of Survival' setting and hadn't used it in the main story.

"Everyone else should take some. It's good for treating the poisonous fog."

"How did you know about this?"

"I experimented with it as soon as I got a piece of horn."

"As expected of Inho-ssi.....!"

I recounted what happened a moment ago to Dansoo ahjussi and Kyung Sein as they drank the remaining bottled water.

I purposely didn't tell them about Killer King trying to kill us. I thought there was no need to create animosity at this point.

"There was also a reader who possessed a constellation? And that was a member of the Misreading Association?"

Kyung Sein seemed almost out of breath when she heard the name Misreading Association.

"Oh, you fought with the Misreading Association?"

"Yes. But they were a little weird?"

Killer King was one thing, but the person possessed by that Plague-Carrying Rat was truly bizarre. Even if they had entered a novel, how could someone who had been living in the real world until just a few days ago suddenly turn into a cold-blooded killer?

Kyung Sein, whose complexion had turned blue, spoke up.

"If it's the Misreading Association, it's possible. Damn it, I can't believe we're meeting them so soon....."

I became a little confused.

"Isn't it just a club?"

"Misreading Association is not just a club."

Huh? Then?

It was Killer King, who had finally regained consciousness, who answered my question.

"Misreading Association is the name of an illegal sharing site."

583 Episode 5. Villain (8)

---

Misreading Association (誤讀協).

Initially, the site started as a community of people collecting rare books.

It was a small club where members read books that were discontinued in Korea or were otherwise unavailable, or untranslated classics, and exchanged opinions.

However, as the number of members gradually increased and the site grew, problems began to arise.

"Some of the members started to share illegally not only rare books, but also manhwa and web novels that were actively being serialized without permission."

As word spread that paid content was available for free, the site ballooned, eventually taking on the form of a business. Adult ads were plastered across the pages, and illegal gambling money began to flow in.

A few years later, the founding members disappeared, and it became a completely illegal sharing site.

After listening to Kyung Sein's full explanation, I was confused.

"You said the Seven Apostles fought the Misreading Association before."

"Ah, yes."

"Then did the Seven Apostles fight that illegal site?"

"Well, that's....."

Kyung Sein looked at Killer King, and then added quietly.

"The Seven Apostles got into a fight with anonymous readers, who turned out to be people who had read the novel illegally on the 'Misreading Association'.

I finally understood what was going on.

They were referring to people who read and shared illegal copies of the novel.

Apparently, in this world, people who read the novel through that route were also transmigrated.

Killer King said.

"I don't know about you, but many writers stopped creating or even took their own lives because of the Misreading Association."

"....."

"They illegally consumed content that someone dedicated their life to. A lot of my favorite authors disappeared because of them."

In fact, some of my fellow writers had stopped writing because of illegal sharing.

"Is that why you fought them?"

Killer King shook his head without answering.

Honestly, I was impressed.

As a writer, I had often been frustrated by the lack of success in combating illegal sharing, but to see a reader like Killer King being so proactive was surprising.

He was fighting in real life, not just in the comment section.

I suddenly wondered what kind of comments Killer King would have left.

I couldn't believe my eyes.

Feeling my gaze, Killer King frowned at me.

"What are you looking at?"

"Nothing, just....."

"Keep looking at me like that and I'll kill you."

"You really sound like Yoo Joonghyuk."

With a light groan, Killer King sat up and looked away.

He reminded me of a sulky younger cousin, and I was about to tease him one more time when I heard a voice behind me.

"Hey, thanks for saving me."

LiteraryGirl64, who had finally regained consciousness, lowered her head helplessly.

I waved my hands and said.

"No, I was lucky."

"You were lucky."

Killer King added with a nuance that somehow made me feel good.

"They didn't take the random item box."

With that, we stared at the shiny box the Ratmen had dropped.

Killer King and his sister were probably here for that box, too.

Just as things were starting to get uncomfortable, Killer King spoke up.

"I'll give it to you guys."

LiteraryGirl64 nodded in agreement.

Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi's faces lit up.

Nevertheless, I shook my head.

"No, thank you. We'll just take the rest of the items."

"Are you serious?"

"Yes. The other items are enough for us."

I looked down at the items on the floor.

I saw the D-grade items that Kim Dokja had picked up in the main story, as well as other items that hadn't appeared in the main story.

As if to give me one last chance, Killer King asked again.

"Didn't you read the novel properly? Don't you realize the value of this item box?"

"Seriously, the rest is enough for us. Go ahead."

Killer King hesitated for a moment, then took the item box in his arms, his eyes filled with desire.

"I owe you. I'll pay you back."

With that, Killer King turned around and began to walk away.

LiteraryGirl64 bowed her head and ran after him.

I asked Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi to sort through the items, then escorted Killer King and his sister to the entrance of the Edge of Darkness.

Just before we crossed the edge, Killer King paused.

Neither Dansoo ahjussi nor Kyung Sein could hear us from where they were.

"I tried to kill you all."

"You did, and it was a really bad thing."

"Why didn't you tell them that?"

"But you didn't kill us."

Killer King frowned, unable to figure me out.

"You, what's your name?"

"Cheon Inho."

"That Cheon Inho?"

"Yes."

For some reason, this name elicited the same reaction from everyone who heard it.

"I can't believe you possessed that scumbag. I hope you're not using the Cheoldoo Group to kill people."

"If I were, you'd be dead too."

"You..... Who the hell are you?"

I shrugged and laughed.

For a moment, Killer King's eye flickered with black energy. He had activated the stigma [Eye of Sin].

I was suddenly curious.

"What do I look like to you?"

In his eyes, 'Cheon Inho' was marked as 'the murderer of nineteen people'.

「I am Lee Hakhyun.」

Then what does 'writer Lee Hakhyun' look like?

"What....."

The next moment, Killer King's eyes widened, his entire retina turning pitch black like it was full of ink.

I wondered.

What did my sins read in his eyes?

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' is startled!]

Tsuchuchuchuchut!

[The stigma 'Eye of Sin' has forcibly ended.]

Groaning in pain, Killer King looked at me with the eye that had used the stigma.

"What the hell are you? No..... that can't be. Something must be broken."

Muttering to himself, Killer King looked at me and said.

"There's no way such a villain exists in this world."

Killer King looked at me.

He was looking at me with clear eyes that weren't using [Eye of Sin], eyes that had probably read Omniscient Reader 99 times.

"I wish you the blessing of the story."

With those last words, Killer King walked away without looking back.

The younger sister glanced back at me a few times, then followed her brother into the darkness beyond.

I stood still and waved until they were completely out of sight.

Hopefully, they too would be blessed by the story.

---

Among the items that Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi had gathered, there were some that were more useful than I thought.

"You can have this shield, Sein-ssi."

"As expected, 'Old Iron Shield' is the rule for tankers."

Old Iron Shield.

An item used by Lee Hyunsung in the original novel.

Among us, it was the most suited for Kyung Sein to use.

"I'll give you the Magic Power Recovery Bracelet."

"Is it okay if I take it..... Thank you."

Ahjussi put the bracelet on his wrist as if it were a luxury watch and smiled happily.

That bracelet would be quite useful, since he used [Diverse Communication].

Other than that, there were rings with faint anti-demonic abilities and gloves that provided a very slight defense boost.

It was a bit lacking, but this early in the scenarios, it was good enough.

The last thing that caught my eye was an item that looked like spoiled jelly.

[Item Information]

Name: Unrealized Thought

Rating: D

Description: A shapeless weapon of the past. It could have been anything, but ultimately became nothing.

Come to think of it, I had designed an item like this. It was just a setting in my notes, and I never expected to find it here.

Once again, I felt certain.

There were countless 'settings' in this world that hadn't made it into the main story, but had remained in my notes.

「So, did I make those settings, or did Han Sooyoung tell me about them?」

It was then that Kyung Sein spoke up.

"By the way, Inho-ssi."

"Yes."

"The random item box, why did you give it up?"

I had wondered why she hadn't asked that yet.

By the look on her face, she had been agonizing over it. One might think I had just thrown away a winning lottery ticket.

Well, my reasons were more valuable than a winning lottery ticket.

"Actually, I was wondering the same thing, mate."

Dansoo ahjussi raised his hand cautiously.

No wonder it looked strange in their eyes.

It wasn't just any item, but the 'random item box'.

It was an essential item to restore Kim Dokja's star relic, Unbroken Faith.

My reasoning for surrendering the item box was simple.

"That box, I wouldn't be able to use it anyway."

"What?"

"Someone else already used it."

"No way..... Who?"

"Did those Misreading Association guys secretly use it?"

I shook my head at Dansoo ahjussi's words.

"Someone already came here before us."

I was sure of it. I had checked the item box myself for a brief moment, and its usage count was already at zero.

Dansoo ahjussi asked.

"Was there a reader who came before us?"

"We started at Geumho Station and only got here today. Our friend who read Omniscient Reader 99 times only arrived here today."

"Then who the hell could have....."

"Common sense tells me there's only one person who can do this at this point."

As if realizing who I was referring to, Kyung Sein swallowed hard and said.

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

I nodded.

It was only about a stop and a half from Oksu Station to here.

If it was the same Yoo Joonghyuk who could defeat a 7th-grade demonic species in a single blow, he could have made the trip in under an hour.

Kyung Sein, who was thinking about something, muttered.

"Yes, in the third round, Yoo Joonghyuk stole only the treasures, but I don't remember him knowing about the 'random item box' back then."

"There's a description that mentions he heard about it from the Heavenly Maid Hori in the 6th round. It's the 41st round, so of course he knew."

"Ah....."

Kyung Sein lowered her head with a dejected expression.

Dansoo ahjussi, who had a serious look on his face, also shook his head.

"It's certainly a lot different from the 3rd round with Kim Dokja."

"Very different."

Even though it was only the 41st turn, this Yoo Joonghyuk's experiences were vastly different from the 3rd turn.

It was probably safe to say that Yoo Joonghyuk would take many of the items Kim Dokja had utilized in the beginning.

Kyung Sein suddenly raised her head and opened her mouth.

"Wait, so the box Killer King took earlier....."

Thinking he would be angry at being tricked by a villain, Kyung Sein asked in admiration,

"Wow..... Inho-ssi, when did you plan that much?"

"When I realized the box had been robbed."

"You're so mean and smart."

"Thank you."

"I'm glad I'm on your side, Inho-ssi. Although it's a shame about the box....."

Dansoo ahjussi said, looking at the items we had obtained.

"Still, we got a lot of stuff."

It wasn't all fruitless though, as we got some useful items in the beginning, including the ahjussi's bracelet and Kyung Sein's shield.

But it's a shame to just take these.....

I pondered for a moment, then looked back at the spot where the 'random item box' had been placed.

It was around here.

I crouched down on the ground and started digging.

Dansoo ahjussi and Kyung Sein looked puzzled at my sudden movement. I turned to them and said.

"If you don't mind, please help me. Something is bothering me."

"Did Omniscient Reader say there was something else here?"

"No, I don't think so."

I wasn't sure either, but it was better than not checking.

「"Author-nim. I think it's a little..... no matter how popular it is these days."」

I heard Ji Eunyu's voice in my head.

It was a memory from five years ago.

She was working hard on the first draft of 'Omniscient Reader'.

「"If you give things like this from the beginning, there's no tension."
"Then what should I do?"
"I think it's better to go with the first draft."
"That sounds good, right?"」

I don't know how long the three of us dug.

I felt something hard on my fingertips.

"Ugh, what's here?"

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' widens their eyes.]

We shook off the dirt, lifting the object in the hole at the same time.

After a moment, the pitch-black dirt slid away, revealing the object we had pulled out.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' opens his mouth.]

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is surprised.]

What we found was a black box with a familiar appearance.

Dansoo ahjussi and Kyung Sein looked down at the box in a daze, then turned to me and asked.

"Inho-ssi, is this.....?"

I remembered Ji Eunyu's words.

Originally, there was more than one 'random item box' hidden here.

584 Episode 6. Star Relic (1)

Back when I didn't know much about web novels, I briefly attended a web novel academy on Ji Eunyu's recommendation.

The instructor was a writer who had defined a generation of genre literature.

He had a quiet, nervous voice and spoke so slowly that I dozed off through the entire class.

However, one thing he said stayed with me.

"Don't hesitate to include chances, the more the merrier. Give them to the main character."

The instructor who used to live by those words disappeared from my life. I often imagined that maybe he transmigrated to the novel he wrote.

Just like me now.

"I-I-it's real! Inho-ssi! It's real!"

"It is."

Who would have thought that I would be the one to retrieve a hidden piece.

Kyung Sein let out a scream of delight, shaking the box and turning it over several times.

"How did you know? It doesn't say anything about this in Omniscient Reader!"

To be honest, I was just as confused.

This box was an item from the rough draft of Chapter 23 of Omniscient Reader.

「An item described in the manuscript that was cut in the second draft.」

Anyway, the settings existed, so I looked it up just in case, and the item was indeed there.

Here's the question.

If this was a setting from 'Ways of Survival', then of course Kim Dokja would have used this box in the original novel.

However, since Kim Dokja didn't use it, it meant that this 'box' was never mentioned in the text of 'Ways of Survival'.

So, since when had this setting existed?

From the moment I conceived it? Or from the moment Han Sooyoung handed me the manuscript?

The more I thought about it, the more my head spun.

Is this really the '41st turn' of Ways of Survival that I know?

I didn't know.

For now, we had the item, so I decided to focus on that.

I replied to Kyung Sein.

"It just occurred to me that this box was originally an item made by a dokkaebi and then discarded."

The box, which was dangerous enough to unbalance the scenario, was once an item in the Bureau designed by a mad dokkaebi.

"Uh..... that's right?"

"But did they really just dump that one item..... only one in the same place?"

"Wow, really. Wow."

After hearing my explanation, Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi each grabbed their knifes and started poking around the floor.

Of course, they wouldn't find another box.

There were only two of these boxes.

[Some constellations are shocked to discover the existence of the item.]

[A few constellations protest, asking when they released such an item.]

[A very small number of constellations start to point out the probability problem.]

A few constellations started to protest, but Bihyung didn't seem to have noticed yet.

I had wondered if he would close the channel and run away like in the original story, but I was glad he didn't.

I needed to see the reactions of the constellations.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' is interested in your luck.]

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' asks if that box is real.]

[The constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' widens its eyes in disbelief.]

In this world, there were countless 'readers', including myself.

Based on what I learned from the encounter with the Misreading Association, readers were possessing not only incarnations, but also constellations.

[The constellation 'Primordial Cow' taps its chin with its forefoot.]

I looked carefully at the indirect messages from the constellations.

If any of them were readers, they would surely drop clues without realizing it.

[The constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' piles up bricks.]

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier tells you to enter the box.]

I observed each subsequent message, trying to figure out who they were.

Some looked like normal constellations.

Some looked like they were possessed by readers.

Some were hard to tell apart.

Some were possessed by readers but remained true to their constellation concepts.

Some were possessed by readers who didn't understand the concept of constellations at all.

Some were just plain weird.

Of course, this was all speculation on my part.

After all, what could you really tell from a single line of an indirect message?

But since they had all read Omniscient Reader, it wouldn't take much for them to act like proper constellations.

By the way... where was Sneaky Schemer?

I was most curious about that guy's reaction.

"I guess that's the only box, I can't find anything else."

Apparently, Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi were still digging.

"Ugh..... well, we have one. It's too bad we don't have a Broken Faith, because that's all we need for Unbroken Faith!"

As Kyung Sein said, we would only need that, but I couldn't get my hands on a Broken Faith right away.

So I made a decision.

"I've been thinking about it, and since we're at this point, why don't we try something different?"

"Something different?"

I pulled out an item I had just gotten from near the box.

[Item information]

Name: Unrealized Thought

Rating: D

Description: A shapeless weapon of the past. It could have been anything, but ultimately became nothing.

An item that looked like spoiled jelly at first glance.

"If you guys don't mind, I'd like to put this item in."

"This is... didn't this item not appear in Omniscient Reader?"

Right. It probably wasn't used in Ways of Survival either.

Kim Dokja wasn't particularly interested in this item, either.

Kyung Sein glanced at the Unrealized Thought and replied,

"Well, we wouldn't have found the box if it weren't for you, Inho-ssi, so it's up to you."

Dansoo ahjussi nodded.

"I think so too."

"Wow, we're becoming a bit like <Kim Dokja's Company>, aren't we?"

"Haha, I guess so."

The two of them conceded so readily, I almost felt rather sorry.

"Thank you then."

Without further ado, I put 'Unrealized Thought' into the 'random item box'.

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier says it's a risky choice.]

I knew it was a risky choice.

But in the first place, there was a chance of failure no matter what I put in.

"Now we just need the catalyst..."

"The core of a demonic species, right?"

"Yes."

To use the box like in the original story, we need to put the target item and the demonic species' core inside.

Unfortunately, we failed to hunt the Dark Keeper, a 7th-grade demonic species.

For now, it's best to buy one from the auction... though I don't know what kind of madman would risk a Demon King's curse to hunt a demonic species this early.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' asks if you need a 'Demonic Species Core'.]

We looked up in surprise.

What was even more surprising was its next words.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says that it can give you the 'Demonic Species Core'.]

Kyung Sein, who was looking up at the air with us, asked in a thoughtful voice,

"Tiger Eating Rice Cakes is the one from the traditional fairy tale, right? 'The Sun and the Moon'....."

I nodded.

Because that's the only fairy tale that comes to mind when I think of Korean 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakess'.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says it's him.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' picks his nose and asks if he's a famous constellation.]

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' timidly replies that he is a bit famous on the Korean Peninsula.]

To get an item sponsored by a constellation this early. Even Kim Dokja had never received such a sponsorship at this stage.

If he was sponsoring an item so early on, he had to have a reason.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says he has a favor to ask in exchange for the 'Demonic Species Core'.]

As I said.

"I appreciate the offer, but....."

Normally, this kind of deal would be followed by a ridiculous request.

That's Kim Dokja's proverb.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says he only needs you to attend one 'Twelve Zodiacs Ball' later.]

Twelve Zodiacs Ball?

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says it's just a twelve zodiacs social event.]

This was another unexpected suggestion.

Twelve Zodiacs Ball.

It was probably the zodiac version of the 'Constellation Banquet' or the 'Gourmet Association'.

As they listened to the message, Kyung Sein and ahjussi whispered.

"Wow, it's the <Twelve Zodiacs>....."

"They're the rat, cow, tiger, rabbit, dragon, snake, horse, sheep, monkey, chicken, dog, and pig. Right?"

"That's..... right."

"When I was young, there was a cartoon movie with twelve zodiacs as the main characters....."

In the original story, the constellations of the <Twelve Zodiacs> nebula were Kim Dokja's enemies.

But this time, the situation was a little different.

Was it because I was a villain?

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says there's no need to feel pressured.]

I've made my decision.

"I'll attend the Twelve Zodiacs Ball. Is that really all I have to do?"

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says that's really it.]

"Okay, then."

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is greatly pleased.]

[A '7th-grade Demonic Species Core' has been sponsored.]

It was a very cool sponsorship.

A pitch-black orb then appeared from thin air.

'7th-grade Demonic Species Core'.

It was even superior in color.

Tsuchuchuchut.

Judging by the faint sparks, it seemed that the 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' had used up quite a bit of Probability.

What was he up to, showing such sincerity to me when I wasn't even his incarnation?

[The constellation 'Primordial Cow' is sharing the Probability of 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.]

[The constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' is sharing the Probability of 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.]

[The constellation 'Dog Who Threw Himself Into the Flames' is sharing the Probability of 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes'.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' claps his hands at the animal brothers.]

Anyway, thanks to my animal friends, I had gathered all the ingredients.

Looking at the glowing core, Kyung Sein said excitedly.

"Oh, go ahead and put it in, Inho-ssi!"

"Why don't the three of us close it together?"

"Okay."

We closed the box.

Kyung Sein chanted.

"God! Buddha! Demon King of Salvation! Please!"

A moment later, a bright light emanated from the box.

---

A place dozens of steps away from the core of the 'Edge of Darkness'.

In the center of the deep, black ether of the 'Dark Root', a woman in a white coat stood.

"Wow....."

She frowned at the 'random item box' glowing in the distance.

"Even the box was taken? From me? Is that even possible?"

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' asks why didn't you move faster.]

"Who's that guy?"

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' says he seems to be a reader from another world line.]

"A reader?"

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' says yes.]

The woman tilted her head at that, then smiled, baring her fangs.

"Is that so?"

In her hand was Broken Faith, which no reader in this world should have been able to get.

585 Episode 6. Star Relic (2)

"Demon King of Salvation-nim! Watcher of Light and Darkness-nim! Please!"

As Kyung Sein prayed, light exploded from the box.

And.

[An item of unknown origin was placed inside the box.]

[The box contained a lock of someone's hair.]

Hair?

No, wait.

Was there a foreign substance mixed in?

[The item is causing a strange transformation!]

[The origin of the sacrificed item is confirmed.]

[A top-rated item has appeared!]

[The number of available random item boxes is 0.]

After a while, the glow subsided.

Kyung Sein, Dansoo ahjussi, and I looked at each other, swallowed hard, and opened the box at the same time.

Inside the box was a vibrant, light-blue colored slime, about the size of an adult male's fist.

Kyung Sein frowned.

"It's changed color? It's like Biyoo's poop."

"Let's check it out."

I went straight for the slime. But just before I reached for it, the slime squirmed and dodged my hand.

Upon closer inspection, the slime had eyes. Narrowed eyes.

"Giw—me."

It even had a tiny mouth.

I wondered if it looked like me.

"Giw—me. Giw—me."

Kyung Sein tilted her head.

"Is it swearing?"

"No, I think it's saying, 'give me'. I think it's asking for food."

"How do you know?"

"Because it's similar to the way Jiyoon used to babble..."

After a moment's hesitation, Dansoo ahjussi hesitantly handed over the leftover ground rat meat.

The slime looked at it, and then jumped at his hand. It didn't eat the ground rat meat, but rather went for the bracelet he was wearing.

Dansoo ahjussi startled and jumped back.

"Wilson!"

Apparently, he had named the bracelet.

The slime quickly realized the bracelet was tasteless, spat it out, and curled up with a squeak.

And the next moment.

"Huh?"

The slime had turned into a bracelet.

---

After we finished organizing our items, we made our escape from the 'Edge of Darkness'.

Luckily, ahjussi had a cockroach in his pocket, so it wasn't hard to find our way out.

But... why did the back of my head keep itching?

"Inho-ssi, is there something wrong?"

"No, it's just..."

I muttered, peering into the pitch-black 'Edge of Darkness'.

"It's just that I feel like someone keeps looking at me."

"Oh, it's just your imagination."

"Even the bugs say there's nothing there."

If ahjussi says there's nothing there, there's nothing there.

At this point, the only person he couldn't detect with his [Diverse Communication] was Killer King.

By now, he must be holding the empty box, his eyes burning with murderous intent as he repeatedly muttered 'Cheon Inho'.

Well... at least I didn't leave him completely empty-handed, so I guess it was fine.

If he made good use of the notes I put inside the box, he would still get a decent haul.

Of course, whatever he got would be worth less than the bracelet on my wrist.

[Item Information]

Name: Thoughts of Almost Everything

Rating: Star Relic (遺物)

Description: A mysterious slime born from a constellation's obsession with studying 'almost everything'.

When worn, it increases Agility and Magic Power levels by 1 each.

* 'Idea' can use 'mimicry'.

Formed Idea (意態).

'Thoughts of Almost Everything' can mimic an item by touching it.

Since it was a high-grade item, it couldn't mimic others simply by touching them, but only after certain conditions were met.

Once successfully mimicked, the item could be used continuously until the mimicked form was destroyed.

However, the 'Thoughts of Almost Everything' could refuse to obey its owner's 'mimicry command'.

As one could tell from the description, this was a cheat item. In theory, it could be almost anything.

However, the 'Thoughts of Almost Everything' had two fatal flaws.

First, it couldn't be used if you didn't meet the 'mimicry' conditions.

Second, the 'idea' itself could refuse the owner's commands.

So, perhaps it wasn't such a cheat item after all.

Kyung Sein, who was walking beside me, looked at my bracelet with envy.

"Sein-ssi, I'll get you a nice star relic as well."

"Really? N-No need."

"What would you like to have?"

"Heracles' Shield."

What?

As we walked along, making small talk, we arrived at the platform of Geumho Station.

However, Jung Heewon was nowhere to be found.

"Heewon-ssi...?"

"Oh, she woke up thirty minutes ago and went to get food with some people earlier."

Something to eat.

It was time to worry about that.

I asked Bang Cheolsoo what had happened.

"Did anything happen?"

Judging by the strange looks on their faces, something had happened.

Bang Cheolsoo began his report in a slightly nervous voice.

"A few things happened."

The first report was about monstrous creatures roaming around Geumho Station.

"Well, they didn't look like monsters, but they weren't human either..."

According to Bang Cheolsoo, the creatures had started lingering around a few hours ago.

My mind raced.

"Do they look like rats?"

"Some looked like rats, some looked like lizards."

I had a vague idea of who they were. Probably incarnations under the command of the Misreading Association.

"Anything else?"

"A scenario penalty has been added."

Scenario. Sure enough, I got a message too.

I hit notifications, and they popped up one after the other.

[A scenario penalty has been added.]

[From now on, food stockpiling is limited.]

[All existing stockpiled food has disappeared.]

[The 'survival cost' clause has been added.]

[From now on, 100 coins will be deducted every night for the 'survival cost'. If you can't pay the 'survival cost', you will die.]

[The 'survival cost' penalty will be maintained until the second main scenario is cleared.]

A food stockpiling ban and a survival cost penalty.

No wonder Jung Heewon went to get food.

"Let's gather the people for a moment."

Despite all the stockpiled food disappearing, the group didn't seem to be in despair.

Perhaps it was because this group had a different starting point than the one in the 3rd turn.

They shared their food and stuck together in the face of crisis.

"Gather round! The boss is looking for you!"

"Come on quickly!"

The scattered, hungry people began to gather one by one.

"Inho ahjussi!"

Dayoung, who was riding on Bang Cheolsoo's shoulders, waved at me. As I gently held her hand, I suddenly remembered Yoo Joonghyuk.

He had come to Geumho Station the day I was eaten by the ichthyosaur.

「"Cheon Inho is already dead. The marginalized group can come out in peace. I'll show you how to get food from now on."」

At that time, Yoo Joonghyuk wasn't trying to kill people. Rather, he had come here to save them.

Now that I thought about it, it didn't make sense.

This was the 41st turn.

A world where Yoo Joonghyuk was the most ruthless man in all of 'Ways of Survival'.

And yet, he was trying to save these people.

"Inho-ssi?"

"Ah, yes. Is everyone here?"

Looking around, there were around 80 people.

Judging from the decrease in number, some had left for other areas, excluding those who had followed Jung Heewon to get food.

I started talking.

"I'm guessing you all received a 'survival cost' penalty."

A few people reacted to the words survival cost.

"That's right, suddenly we have to pay something every night....."

"How are we supposed to earn coins?"

I calmly explained.

"Coins can be earned from the sponsorship of the constellations or by completing scenarios."

"Scenarios..... That's the one we did at the beginning, right?"

"Do I have to kill people again?"

People's eyes filled with fear again.

Most of the people here had already killed in the first scenario. But few of them killed for the sake of killing.

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' despises the weakness of the incarnations.]

[The constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' says that children who can't control themselves should be abandoned.]

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' advises against wasting time on the wrong things.]

The constellations weren't wrong.

However, if we train them in such a harsh way, most of them will not survive.

People like Dayoung, who was pulling Bang Cheolsoo's ear, and Dayoung's mother, who was scolding her, wouldn't have survived.

[The constellation 'Dog Who Threw Himself Into the Flames' understands your intentions.]

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier pays attention to your choice.]

So, this decision was the least I could do for the extras who had died without any chance in the original story.

"You could kill other people and take their coins, but I don't recommend that. Frankly, I don't think anyone here wants to resort to that anyway."

"I-Is there any other way to earn coins?"

I nodded and looked toward the tunnel.

"Well, we're running out of food... and that's actually a good thing."

"What? Why would you say that..."

Just then, Jung Heewon and the others returned from the tunnel, dragging the corpse of a ground rat.

"Ah, Inho-ssi!"

Jung Heewon waved happily, and I waved back.

---

"No matter how hard I looked, there was no food. The surface is covered in poisonous fog, so we can't go up... So I brought this back, thinking we might be able to eat it..."

"Well done."

I instructed the Cheoldoo Group to carry the ground rat carcass onto the platform.

A few people stumbled back in surprise.

"From now on, this is your food."

"What, we're eating this? Do you know what this is....."

"It's the same meat. Just a different recipe."

I proclaimed myself a 'professional butcher' and began to carve the meat from the carcass.

Jung Heewon, Kyung Sein, and Dansoo ahjussi helped me without hesitation, probably because they had seen it before.

"Take turns!"

Jeong Heewon handed each one a piece of meat.

Once everyone had received a piece, I pulled out the Magic Power Stove I had obtained from the Edge of Darkness.

"This is an item called a 'Magic Power Stove'."

I placed the meat on the Magic Power Stove. I increased the power of the stove, and the meat was deliciously roasted in less than a dozen seconds.

Dayoung muttered happily.

"Mom, it smells delicious..."

As I took a bite to demonstrate, the crowd rushed toward the stove, having waited for this moment.

After rolling up their sleeves, Bang Cheolsoo and the Cheoldoo Group took over and grilled the meat for them.

"Does anyone have salt?"

"Hyung-ssi, there's no salt here, just eat it!"

Groans of satisfaction echoed through the platform. After all, they hadn't tasted meat in three days.

But my true purpose wasn't just to feed everyone.

[The sub scenario 'Food Acquisition' has been completed early.]

[500 coins have been earned.]

The sub scenario 'Food Acquisition' can only be completed by cooking a 'self-hunted monster'.

The carcasses that Jung Heewon brought back this time were the ones that Kyung Sein, Dansoo ahjussi, and I hunted.

Presumably, the others did not receive the rewards we did.

"From now on, all food must be obtained by hunting monsters."

At the mention of hunting, the faces of those picking at the meat stiffened.

"For now, my companions and I have provided this meat, but we cannot continue this way indefinitely. You must learn to hunt for yourselves if you want to survive."

My words were no different from those of Yoo Joonghyuk, who had come here not long before.

He was right, and he was trying to give these people what they needed.

They just weren't ready to receive it.

"As you can see in the scenario window, you earn coins by hunting and cooking ground rats. If you're short on coins, you can earn 500 coins by hunting one today."

Those who checked the scenario window at my words said.

"It's true, it says it will give us coins."

"But how are we supposed to catch a monster like this?"

"Everyone, don't be scared. I caught one, and so did this ahjussi."

Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi stepped up to my side to support my words, and I could see a few people shaking their heads at them.

I quickly added before anyone could complain.

"We'll show you how to catch them."

---

Dansoo ahjussi, Kyung Sein, Jung Heewon, and I taught the people step-by-step how to hunt ground rats.

It was valuable information we had to learn through blood, sweat, and tears—something that never appeared in the text of Omniscient Reader.

Kyung Sein, who still had bite marks all over her body, squared her shoulders and said.

"Their patterns are very simple. As long as you stay calm, you can easily catch them!"

Though they certainly bit us a lot despite that simple pattern.

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' is pleased with your actions.]

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' announces your good deeds.]

[The constellations of the 'absolute good' system approve of your actions.]

[1,200 coins have been sponsored.]

In this world, good deeds become coins.

No matter what you do, the results of your actions are directly related to coins.

I wonder if Kim Dokja felt the same way.

However, I didn't have time to ponder for long. We were still too weak and unprepared for the upcoming scenarios.

I could understand why Kim Dokja was so obsessed with coins. Having plenty of coins didn't mean one could do everything, but it certainly opened up more options.

Next stop, Chungmuro.

If I wanted to deal with the bald man at Chungmuro, I had to start saving up coins now.

The Ten Evil of Chungmuro Station.

Armed Fortress Master Gong Pildu.

Although he was a character with as much presence as hair in the original story, Gong Pildu was a terrifying villain in the early scenarios.

[Coins Possessed: 11,800 C]

This was a world where even early skills like the [Woryeong Sword Technique] cost 8,000 coins.

With the coins I had now, I didn't even have enough to raise my stats, let alone take care of my companions.

I wished coins would fall from the sky. Kim Dokja really had it easy, earning coins just by breathing.

[The constellation 'Lily Blooming in Aquarius' has entered the channel.]

I looked up at the channel entry notification.

[The constellation 'Lily Blooming in Aquarius' snoops around Geumho Station.]

Lily Blooming in Aquarius.

Gabriel, the archangel of <Eden>, had entered the channel.

I wondered what brought her to this obscure channel, but her gaze soon settled on a specific spot.

[The constellation 'Lily Blooming in Aquarius' looks at incarnation 'Kyung Sein'.]

"No, hold the sword like this."

"Like this?"

"Stay still. I'll show you."

Jung Heewon was fixing the frozen Kyung Sein's posture.

Even from a distance, I could see that Kyung Sein's earlobes had turned bright red.

I had forgotten for a moment.

I had forgotten that her future attribute was the [Judge of Destruction].

[The constellation 'Lily Blooming in Aquarius' tilts her head.]

[The constellation 'Lily Blooming in Aquarius' makes a trial sponsorship of 100 coins to the incarnation 'Kyung Sein'.]

After receiving the coins, Kyung Sein's shoulders shook as if wondering what she was thinking.

"L-Like this? Is it okay?"

"Stretch your arm more, like this."

It was a sight that brought blood tears to my eyes, as I had sold my conscience and innocence to earn coins.

Holy constellation Gabriel.

The person you just sponsored is actually a muscular man. You're being deceived.

I stood up from my seat, thinking that I should tell my companions to go to Chungmuro.

And the next moment.

[The constellation 'Lily Blooming in Aquarius' calls her companion.]

My eyes widened at the sight of the name of the constellation entering the channel.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' has entered the channel.]

586 Episode 6. Star Relic (3)

---

Demon-like Judge of Fire.

I was momentarily overcome with nostalgia at the sight of a modifier I hadn't seen in such a long time.

Archangel Uriel.

One of the 'four main constellations' of Bihyung's channel, along with the Prisoner of the Golden Headband, Abyssal Black Flame Dragon, and Secretive Plotter.

The constellation who loved the protagonist, Kim Dokja, more than any other.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' makes a sour face.]

However, without Kim Dokja, Uriel didn't seem to have any interest in the incarnations in this channel.

Perhaps that was Uriel's original self before she met Kim Dokja.

Kyung Sein, who had seen Uriel's entry message from afar, waved her hand in this direction. I saw the shape of her mouth.

'Hurry up and do something! She's here!'

That's what she seemed to be saying.

But what could I do?

Kim Dokja was born to be loved by all things, but I was Cheon Inho, one of the Ten Evils.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is looking at you.]

Even if she suddenly looked at me like that, I had nothing to show her.

Would you like to be incited?

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.4' is activated!]

「I am Kim Dokja.」

I tried to incite myself to become Kim Dokja.

But I couldn't feel any change, other than a couple of 'Ways of Survival' settings coming to mind.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is looking at you with strange eyes.]

Suddenly, I looked around and saw Dansoo ahjussi resting on the platform, probably tired from his kendo practice.

"Ahjussi."

"Mate."

For some reason, his expression was strangely dark.

"Are you okay?"

"Yes, I'm fine, but..."

He hesitated, but by now, I knew what he wanted to say without him speaking.

I was sure he was thinking about Jiyoon again.

Dansoo ahjussi smiled weakly and muttered as if to himself.

"If only I had liked a story that was a little less dangerous."

My heart suddenly felt heavy.

We sat side by side and stared into the darkness of the platform.

"Did your daughter always like novels?"

"She read them occasionally, but she especially liked this story."

"What did she like about this story?"

"That's....."

Ahjussi looked as serious as Yoo Joonghyuk contemplating a regression, and then answered in a serious voice.

"Probably that there are a lot of handsome characters."

"Ah..."

"My daughter once told me that she loved how those handsome companions kept saving each other."

I was left speechless and stared blankly into the darkness of the tunnel.

That's a pretty good summary.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is curious about what you are talking about.]

I could hear the people gathered on the platform laughing raucously.

Ahjussi spoke after a pause.

"I hope Jiyoon has friends like that by her side right now."

"I'm sure she does."

No amount of consolation would truly reach him right now.

Nevertheless, Dansoo ahjussi smiled faintly, gladly accepting my poor consolation.

"I'm so glad I met you, Inho-ssi. If you hadn't saved me back then, I would have been dead already."

"That's not true."

Dansoo ahjussi was the first reader I had met, which was probably why I wanted him to meet his daughter and return to reality safely.

I dusted myself off and stood up, extending my hand toward him.

"I'll do my best to save you until you meet your daughter."

Ahjussi, who clasped my hand and stood up, nodded and said.

"Yes. I'll do my best to help you too."

Seeing his warm smile, I felt my heart warm.

The next moment, I heard a message.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' has sponsored you 100 coins.]

I looked up into the air and thought.

.....Why did she sponsor me?

---

Just before leaving the station, we said goodbye to everyone.

Bang Cheolsoo, who came to see us off, was the first to speak.

"Hyung-nim. Are you leaving?"

"Yeah."

"Isn't it dangerous? It's better to see how things go from here and move together....."

"I have to go. Do you remember everything I told you?"

"Yes."

The 'food acquisition' scenario only gave 500 coins, which would only last five days if you paid your daily survival fee.

"If you want to escape the survival fee penalty, you'll have to move eventually. Finish the sub scenario as soon as you can, and get the people to Chungmuro. I'll take care of the monsters on the way."

"Hyung-nim....."

The members of the Cheoldoo Group bowed their heads towards me. I felt like I really was the boss of the organization.

Bang Cheolsoo spoke up.

"To be honest, I was suspicious of you at first."

"What do you mean?"

"You know, there's such a thing as people-watching. You looked a bit cowardly and had a sly smile."

"..."

"I still don't fully trust you. I've lived in the underworld for a long time, so I don't trust people."

Bang Cheolsoo, unlike himself, rambled for a long time.

"Still, watching you made me reflect on myself a bit. On what makes a person. You really shouldn't judge someone by their appearance..."

I was about to punch him in the head, but then I stopped. Don't judge a book by its cover...

I wondered if I deserved to hear that.

After all, I had judged Bang Cheolsoo based on a few lines from 'Omniscient Reader'. Then I suddenly had a strange thought.

How much truth does Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint contain?

"Okay. I'll see you again, so don't talk too much."

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' admires your noir vibe!]

[100 coins have been sponsored.]

"And this."

"And this.....?"

"It's the Magic Power Stove we used earlier. You take care of it and use it to cook."

The 'Magic Power Stove', the only cooking utensil here.

Bang Cheolsoo quickly understood what I meant by giving it to him.

"H-Hyung-nim....."

I turned my back on them.

Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi had finished greeting the people and quickly joined me.

"Take care, hyung-nim!"

We walked through the chorus of the Cheoldoo Group and entered the Yaksu Station tunnel.

"What a bittersweet feeling."

Dansoo ahjussi kept looking back. Perhaps he had already gotten attached to the people.

Kyung Sein, who kept looking back at him, called out to me.

"Hey, Inho-ssi. By the way....."

I knew what she was going to say, so I simply replied.

"She'll be here soon."

Then I heard the sound of someone running after us. I didn't have to turn around to know who it was.

"I knew you'd come."

I turned around to see Jung Heewon standing there, pouting.

"Why didn't you ask me if I wanted to come with you?"

Instead of answering, I scanned our group. Two scrawny men and one girl with the soul of a muscular man.

Jung Heewon sighed heavily.

"Whatever, really."

"Thank you."

"It's not for free."

Jung Heewon hesitated, then added.

"You seem like a smart person, Inho-ssi, so I'm just trying to get some benefit by hanging out with you for a while."

"..."

"What are you looking at?"

"Nothing, I'm just a little moved."

"What moved..."

Jung Heewon pursed her lips and stared ahead, and for some reason, Kyung Sein looked at me with envy.

Dansoo ahjussi was walking a couple of steps away, looking at us with a warm smile.

Jung Heewon glanced over and asked to break the awkward silence.

"By the way, where are we going?"

The moment I heard that question, I suddenly had a question.

「How far can we really go?」

The darkness beyond the tunnel looked like a pitch-black snowfield.

Only Kim Dokja, who had read the entire story, knew what lay beyond.

"For now, let's go to Chungmuro."

It was time to meet the second member of <Kim Dokja's Company>.

[Main Scenario #2 - Meeting]

Category: Main

Difficulty: E

Clear Conditions: Cross the tunnel and meet the survivors in the first main base.

Time Limit: None

Reward: 500 coins

Failure: ???

[The next 'main base' is 'Chungmuro'.]

When we were about halfway through the tunnel, a new scenario window popped up.

The second scenario had finally begun in earnest.

We moved forward, lightly dealing with the occasional ground rats, and soon arrived at our first stop, Yaksu Station.

"I don't think there are any survivors here."

Just as it had been in the 3rd turn, Yaksu Station was empty in this one.

In the center of the platform, there were traces of corpses that had been collected and burned.

"Ugh, here..."

Through the scattered ashes and bits of clothing, I could see the words someone had written on the ground with charcoal.

—I miss my mom and dad.

Kyung Sein whispered.

"There wasn't anything like this in Omniscient Reader, right?"

I nodded.

Maybe it was left here by a reader.

Dansoo ahjussi stared at the words for an unusually long time.

After a quick check of the area, Jung Heewon said.

"It's all empty."

"Let's go straight to Dongdae Station, we'll rest there."

"Okay."

Jung Heewon took the lead, and we started moving again.

Kyung Sein whispered in a low voice.

"Inho-ssi, Dongdae Station..... You remember that?"

"Yes. I know."

After about thirty or forty minutes of walking, we finally arrived at the Dongdae Station platform.

There was no sign of life here either.

Perhaps because we had traveled through the two stops at a much faster pace than the original, Jung Heewon was a little tired.

"This is harder than I thought."

It was no wonder.

While passing through the two stations, she had single-handedly killed 150 ground rats.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is interested in the incarnation 'Jung Heewon'.]

This level of combat power without [Judgment Time] was phenomenal. At this rate, there shouldn't be any incarnation other than Yoo Joonghyuk who could defeat her.

"I'll take a break. I'll meet you here in 20 minutes."

"Is the restroom water still available? I'm just going to wash my face. Do you want to come with me, Sein?"

Kyung Sein shook her head in surprise. Jung Heewon nodded slightly and headed straight to the restroom.

"See you later, then."

After she disappeared, Kyung Sein and I glanced at each other.

"10 minutes should be enough, right?"

"5 minutes will do."

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is intrigued by your plan.]

Only Dansoo ahjussi, who had forgotten most of Omniscient Reader, looked puzzled, unable to understand our conversation.

---

A few moments later, we stood in front of Exit 6 of Dongdae Station.

[You have been exposed to a poisonous fog.]

We swallowed the Poison Rhino horn powder that remained after treating Killer King, then ran straight up the escalator leading to the exit.

"There it is!"

Kyung Sein was the first to spot our destination.

A bronze colored statue in the distance.

Dansoo ahjussi exclaimed as he realized.

惟政四溟大師像

Yujeong Samyeongdang.

It was unmistakable. It was the statue of Samyeongdang, whose modifier was 'Bald General of Justice' in the original story.

Here, Kim Dokja smashed this statue to get a hidden skill and an item.

"As expected, someone has already smashed it."

But the statue we found was already split in two.

[A constellation wearing a straw mat glares at you.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' chuckles at your misfortune.]

I smiled bitterly at the statue that had been cut exactly in half.

I didn't know who did it, but they had sliced it in half so neatly. Judging by the clean cut, it could have been Yoo Joonghyuk, Killer King, or some other reader.

The pale-faced Kyung Sein called out to me.

"Inho-ssi."

"I was expecting it."

"What?"

We weren't the only readers in this world.

There were people who had gone through a much more difficult ichthyosaur scenario than mine, people who couldn't get Broken Faith because of the queue, and people who had even had [Purest Sword Force] stolen from them.

So, naturally, I expected that someone would have claimed Samyeongdang's items first.

I slowly lifted the upper half of the statue from the ground.

[A constellation wearing a straw mat is puzzled by your actions.]

Still, with my level 20 strength, I could easily lift a weight that I normally wouldn't have been able to.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' has noticed your actions and is surprised.]

I pointed to the other side of the statue and said.

"Sein-ssi, could you please hold that for me?"

Kyung Sein hesitantly approached.

"L-Like this?"

"Yes. Lift it up to the top of your head like this."

"I'll try. Hop."

Together, we lifted the upper half of Samyeongdang's body above our heads.

While doing the scenario for a few days, I realized something.

You will never survive in this world by performing scenarios in the exact same way as in 'Omniscient Reader'.

"Dansoo ahjussi, get up on the stone and balance it!"

After a few minutes of struggle, we succeeded in barely balancing Samyeongdang's upper half back onto the lower half.

I cut off the clothes I'd brought in advance from Geumho Station and tied them tightly around the cracked area.

"There you go."

The statue looked like it had a bandage around its waist, but it still didn't look too bad.

Kyung Sein's mouth dropped open as she realized my intentions.

"Inho-ssi, this can't be....."

"Yes, that's right."

This world is the <Star Stream>.

A world where everything is a story.

You don't have to beat something up and break it to make a good story.

I smirked, looked at the two of them, and gave a short salute to the statue.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' is deeply moved by your sincerity!]

As I looked up, I saw something shiny fall from the sky.

For the sake of future transmigrated readers, I'll kindly point it out.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' is sponsoring you.]

This is how to survive in this damned <Star Stream>.

587 Episode 6. Star Relic (4)

---

A short while later, we descended into the subway and ate ground rat meat. This was to gain the 'contamination resistance effect' of the meat.

We had made ground rat jerky beforehand at Geumho Station, and it came in handy at times like this.

"What, are you eating alone?"

Jung Heewon, who had just returned from washing her face, took a big bite of the jerky I was holding and murmured,

"Did anything fun happen?"

"Why?"

"Because you all look like you're having fun."

"Hihihi."

Kyung Sein laughed strangely, and even Dansoo ahjussi had a subtle smile on his face.

I replied.

"We were doing some volunteer work."

"Volunteer work?"

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' praises the good deeds of the incarnations.]

Well, I wouldn't call it volunteer work, since we got paid.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' says that the spirit of the Korean Peninsula is not dead yet.]

At the constellation's sudden message, Jung Heewon stared at the air and tilted her head.

"Bald?"

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' warns her not to end that sentence.]

As it turned out, Jung Heewon was still unfamiliar with concepts like 'constellation' and 'incarnation'.

I briefly explained it.

"I understand roughly what a constellation is. It's like a god, right?"

"That's right."

"So that's why Inho-ssi and the others have repaired the bald..... god's statue?"

A disturbing spark fluttered over Jung Heewon's head, so I hastily added,

"He's not a bald god, he's the Bald General. His real name is Samyeongdang, and he was a great person in Korea. An excellent man."

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' calms down.]

"Samyeongdang is a Buddhist monk, right?"

Come to think of it, Jung Heewon didn't know much about Korean history.

I tried to think of a way to explain, but Kyung Sein replied instead.

"Samyeongdang was a monk in the middle of the Joseon Dynasty. During the Japanese Invasion of Korea, he defended the Korean Peninsula by leading monk soldiers against the Japanese troops."

Jung Heewon's eyes widened.

"Sein is smart."

"Hehe."

Kyung Sein winked at me.

In fact, her explanation was an imitation of Yoo Sangah's. It was a masterful response.

Jung Heewon asked,

"So these are all the items Samyeongdang gave you?"

I nodded.

"That's right."

Samyeongdang's 'sponsorship'. The shiny bag contained three items.

[Samyeongdang's Beads]

[Samyeongdang's Straw Mat]

[Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick]

'Samyeongdang's Beads' and 'Samyeongdang's Straw Mat' were items that also appeared in the 3rd turn. It was the last item, the 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick', that was important.

[Item Information]

Name: Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick

Rating: Star Relic

Description: A star relic of the 'Bald General of Justice', a historical-grade constellation of the Korean Peninsula. Unfortunately, it has been damaged due to poor storage.

As an add-on, it increases Physique by 1 and Magic Power by 1, and provides a significant boost to magic resistance.

It can deal additional damage to ghost species and other heteromorphic monsters.

This time, I couldn't help but gasp.

I never thought I'd get another star relic.

An item that even Kim Dokja thought about but never actually got.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' shrugs it off.]

I suppose that meant our actions pleased Samyeongdang.

I didn't know who had broken the statue, but I was grateful.

"Let's distribute the items."

The first thing I picked up was the Samyeongdang's Straw Mat. In fact, the owner of this item had already been determined.

"Me? Why?"

Jung Heewon, who received the straw mat, asked, tilting her head.

"I just thought it would look good on you."

Kyung Sein, who was beside her, nodded enthusiastically.

Jung Heewon looked down at the item hesitantly, but then made up her mind and put on the straw mat.

This completed her initial setup in the 3rd turn, which included 'Samyeongdang's Straw Mat' and the 'ground rat knife'.

Kyung Sein was impressed and whispered to me.

"I never thought I'd get to see Heewon-nim's 'early setup' with my own eyes..."

As if sensing something, Jung Heewon glanced over suspiciously. We quickly clapped our hands and cheered.

"It looks good on you."

"Unni, you look great!"

Dansoo ahjussi, who had been standing still, chimed in.

"You look just like an outlaw in the wilderness."

"Really?"

Jung Heewon looked back and forth at her reflection in the screen door in disbelief.

For reference, when Kim Dokja saw that scene in the original, he commented.

「Actually, no matter how you look at it, it looks like a beggar's blanket.」

He may have written that, but he had probably been smiling. We watched Jung Heewon's excitement for a moment before deciding who would own the rest of the items.

We decided that Kyung Sein would get the 'Samyeongdang's Beads', which has magic resistance, while Dansoo ahjussi would get the 'Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick', which increases magic stats.

Kyung Sein asked in an apologetic voice.

"If you give them all to us, what about Inho-ssi?"

"I'm okay. I already have a star relic."

Dansoo ahjussi was overjoyed to have his first star relic, swinging the bamboo stick through the air. He even gave it a name.

"Wilson."

That was strange. I thought the bracelet was named Wilson.

---

After completing the preparations, we entered the tunnel heading straight for Chungmuro.

While Dansoo ahjussi used his [Diverse Communication] to sense danger ahead, Jung Heewon and Kyung Sein talked in hushed voices.

"It's creepy here. A ghost might come out. I think I hear strange cries, too..."

"Don't say that. You can't kill ghosts with a knife."

Come to think of it, it was about time for that 'monster' to come out.

Just as I was wondering if I should warn my companions, I heard a welcome message in my ear.

—This guy closes his eyes every time he sees me.

It was Bihyung's 'dokkaebi communication'.

I looked up and smirked.

'I haven't seen you much lately, so I closed my eyes.'

—Are you being sarcastic? I only just managed to find some free time. The number of kids doing weird stuff has dropped significantly.

The number had dropped significantly. Normally, this would be good news, but this time, it felt ominous. I had a feeling who those 'kids doing weird stuff' were.

—And the constellations' situation is weird too..... And what have you done to get cursed by the constellations? Some of them are targetting you these days.

Constellations that are after me?

—Shit, there they go again. I'm leaving.

With those words, Bihyung cut off the communication.

Since we had a stream contract, he must have checked in on me.

Regardless, the constellations were cursing me.

I had a feeling what kind of people they were.

I guessed it was the 'Plague-Carrying Rat' we fought earlier. Maybe more people from the Misreading Association had possessed constellations.

"Stop it. I really hate ghosts."

"Do I still look like Sein?"

The two were still talking about ghosts.

By now, we were more than halfway through the tunnel. It was time to get ready.

I unwrapped the 'Thoughts of Almost Everything' from my wrist.

It was shaped like a bracelet now, but it had the ability to mimic any item it touched.

I opened the list of items that could be mimicked.

[Possible Mimicry List]

1. Magic Restoration Bracelet

2. Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick

.....

In preparation for this time, I put a few items on the mimicry list.

'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick' was a top-rated item, so it had a separate condition, but fortunately, the requirement was to 'have contact with the idea for at least 10 minutes', so I was able to meet it without any issues.

[You have selected 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick'.]

[The item is top-rated.]

[The item can be mimicked for 1 hour.]

One hour. That's more than enough.

The problem is.

['Thoughts of Almost Everything' refuses to mimic.]

This guy could refuse mimicry commands.

Two long, narrow eyes and a mouth appeared on the ring of the bracelet, emitting a small babbling sound.

"Si-jyo."

That was the only downside to the item ego, the 'Thoughts of Almost Everything'.

I couldn't transform it whenever I wanted.

Of course, I had a solution.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.4' is activated!]

"From now on, you are the 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick'."

[Incite is effective!]

"Jyo—jyo!"

With a mystic light, the bracelet's form began to change.

['Thoughts of Almost Everything' has become 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick'.]

[The duration of the mimicry is 1 hour.]

Sure enough, it looked exactly like 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick'. The performance was the same.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' is shocked!]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' asks if it's a scam.]

Surprised, Jung Heewon poked her head over my shoulder.

"Huh. That looks exactly like Dansoo ahjussi's bamboo stick?"

"I made it for you."

"What? For me?"

"I'm not giving it to you, I'm just lending it to you for a while."

Jung Heewon took the bamboo stick, swung it around, and tilted her head.

"It looks strong. But I have a knife already?"

"Hold on to that. You'll need it. You said earlier that you can't kill ghosts with a knife, but this can."

"What's wrong with you, Inho-ssi, really?"

"I'm not kidding, something is really about to come out. Hit everything you see with this."

In the original story, they had Kim Dokja and Lee Hyunsung to restrain her, but if Jung Heewon went on a rampage here, none of us would be able to stop her.

That was why the 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick' with its magic resistance was a must-have for Jung Heewon.

Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi already had a bad feeling about what lay ahead.

"Is everyone ready?"

Kyung Sein whispered as she shook the 'Samyeongdang's Beads' on her wrist.

"It's 'Phantom Prison' time now, isn't it? But what are you going to do, Inho-ssi? You don't have any magic resistance items."

"I don't need them."

"What?"

As soon as she spoke, something like a fog began to gather around us.

"Be careful, everyone. It's starting."

The final gateway before Chungmuro had finally begun.

[A new sub scenario has arrived!]

[Sub Scenario — Phantom Prison]

Category: Sub

Difficulty: D~F

Clear Conditions: Escape from Phantom Prison within the time limit.

Time Limit: 1 hour

Reward: 300 coins

Failure: ???

[Sub scenario — 'Phantom Prison' has begun!]

The rising fog quickly covered the tunnel.

My sense of space became disoriented, and Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi, who were right beside me, vanished.

I heard their voices from afar like hallucinations.

"Jiyoon?"

"U-uaaa!"

Phantom Prison is a space that touches the traumas of incarnations and leads them to madness.

Trapped in this fog, incarnations were forced to face their most horrific memories.

"Sein-ssi! Dansoo ahjussi! Heewon-ssi! Everyone, wake up, it's all an illusion!"

I shouted, but my voice only echoed hollowly through the fog.

The only reassuring thing was that everyone else in the group was wearing magic resistance items.

They would be panicking, but they should have no trouble escaping the Phantom Prison.

The problem was me.

I didn't have Samyeongdang's Beads or Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick.

I also lacked the [Fourth Wall] or the [破魔 (Destroy Evil)] skill like Kim Dokja in the original.

But I wasn't worried.

To be honest, I was almost curious to see what I would face.

['Phantom Prison' is experiencing a temporary error!]

Because I didn't have any memories that could be considered traumatic.

588 Episode 7. Trauma (1)

---

Would the 'Phantom Prison' work on people without any 'trauma'?

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' wonders about your trauma.]

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is looking at you.]

Time passed, yet nothing appeared in front of me.

As expected, I didn't have any trauma.

I was born into a normal family, had a normal childhood, and grew up without any incidents.

Although the long period of being an unknown writer was difficult, it was not traumatizing.

I made enough money to put food on my table by helping professors with their chores, and I didn't skip meals even if I had to survive on triangular gimbap.

If you considered that hard, then there was nothing in the world that wasn't.

So if I didn't see anything here, it wouldn't be too strange.

It was then that I heard a voice through the fog.

「"There is no one without a trauma."」

The fog parted to reveal a classroom scene.

Fresh-faced freshmen sat in an oval formation. Some whose names I no longer remembered, others I still kept in touch with.

Among them was I, looking at the professor with a blank expression on my face.

「"Well, let's each share a story."」

With that, the professor sat down and pointed to a student.

The student stood up and immediately began to share their trauma.

「"When I was a kid, my homeroom teacher once told me that my diary was great and read it out loud in front of my friends."」

They sounded strangely proud.

As I listened, it slowly dawned on me what kind of class it was.

The creative writing program I attended had a famous freshman initiation ritual.

It was where freshmen were brought together and forced to confess their traumas.

It was a ridiculously violent event in retrospect, but at the time, some believed that such vulnerability was the path to true literature.

Clap clap clap clap.

When one person finished, another began to speak.

「"My trauma is....."」

All the misfortunes in the world seemed gathered there. You could call it a 'misfortune contest'.

My parents' divorce, the disappearance of a grandmother with dementia, my family going bankrupt and receiving a foreclosure notice, going to the police station for stealing a motorcycle, having my house burglarized while I was sleeping...

They were all in their early twenties, so how did they have so many experiences?

It was a mystery to me.

What was even more mysterious was the professor scribbling in his notebook as if grading their traumas.

Finally, it was my turn.

「"I....."」

I thought to myself.

What was the biggest misfortune, the most traumatic event that had happened to me?

Being chased by a dog as a child?

That's too weak.

Being put in supplementary classes because of low math scores?

It would just be a laughingstock.

I couldn't think of any plausible experiences. Compared to my peers, I had no story.

Story.

At that moment, an idea popped into my head. Taking a deep breath, I spoke the first sentence as if opening up a new universe.

「"I stabbed my father to death."」

Once I spoke the words, the story began to unfold.

I spoke about my mother, who loved books, and my father, who became violent whenever he drank.

I spoke about my mother protecting me from my father, about the broken bottle rolling across the floor, about how it felt when I first grabbed it, and about the sharp glass digging into my father's back.

The story was so vivid that I suddenly felt as if it had actually happened.

Maybe not here, but somewhere in the universe, a part of me had lived that life.

I was the one who started the story.

But when the story ended, I was part of it.

「"That's it."」

The room was now silent. The students stared at me blankly, without any comments, and the professor opened his mouth, having forgotten to grade me.

It didn't occur to me until then that I had made a huge mistake, and in my panic, I blurted out,

「"Oh, it's a lie."」

Maybe that was my trauma.

「That I have no trauma.」

After that fake trauma fiasco, my classmates made comments like this every time they read my writing.

「"It's another one of those stories that don't make sense."」

「"It's not sincere."」

I wondered what sincerity was.

Even after writing web novels for years, I still don't know what it is.

To put it bluntly, sincerity to me was something like the ghost standing before me now.

I smirked and approached the specter.

[The 8th-grade ghost species, 'Specter' looked at you.]

I swung my thorn with all my might. Since my opponent was a spirit, the hit damage was low, but the Specter's face was slightly distorted.

The dying Specter spoke to me.

「"I don't feel you in your novels."」

Why did people want to tell their stories so badly when there was nothing interesting about them?

「"A writer should have a personality of their own."」

Puhwak, a hole appeared in the Specter's face. Through the gaping hole, a pitch black darkness stared back at me.

「"You don't have any."」

I stared into the empty hole of the Specter.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' looks at you with pity.]

There was no need for pity. There was no reason for it.

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier gives you a sad look.]

For in a world where nothing had happened, there was neither sorrow nor joy.

Splat!

Once again, the thorn struck the Specter, and it fell to the ground with a choked scream.

I grabbed the Specter by the nape of its neck and said,

"Don't die yet. There's someone I need to meet."

Then I leaned close to the hole in the Specter's face and called out a name.

I don't know if this will work or not.

But, if my guess is right.

—Who is it?

And after a moment.

I heard someone's voice through the fog.

—Yoo Joonghyuk? Is that you?

It was a voice I'd never heard.

—Are you.....?

But it was definitely a voice I knew.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.4' is activated!]

'I am Cheon Inho.'

I let go of the Specter's neck and stood up.

Through the hazy fog, a blonde foreign girl stared at me, her eyes wide with disbelief.

—It's you, 'The One Who Deceived the Stars'.

I nodded and opened my mouth to speak to her.

"Nice to meet you, Anna Croft."

> rlaehrwk61: Wow, so this is how they meet?
>
> rlaehrwk99: Come to think of it, it makes sense.

Yoo Joonghyuk said.

「"You must have met Anna Croft in the Chungmuro tunnel. You recalled the memories of the last turn..."」

The story gave me two hints.

One, there was a way to meet Anna Croft in the 'Chungmuro tunnel'.

Second, I could get the memories of the last turn from Anna Croft.

Anna Croft, who possessed [Past Sight], was the only person besides Yoo Joonghyuk who could obtain information about the previous turn.

Now that I was under suspicion from Yoo Joonghyuk, nothing could be better than hearing the details of the previous turn from Anna Croft.

It was for this very moment that I had faced the Specter without any magic resistance equipment or skills.

Just as Kim Dokja had, I used the 'Phantom Prison' mechanism to call out Anna Croft.

—How did you know my name? You can't possibly know it now.

"Yoo Joonghyuk told me about you."

—You've already met him?

"I met him by chance, though your reaction makes it seem like that wasn't supposed to happen."

Anna Croft's eyes shook slightly.

—He really does whatever he wants.

Looking at it, Anna Croft and Yoo Joonghyuk shared a connection.

I didn't know how these two former enemies had ended up working together, but now was the time to use what I had discovered.

"It's Yoo Joonghyuk, as usual. But I want to hear about it. What happened in the last turn? He said you would be able to tell me."

I tried to sound casual, but Anna Croft's eyes flared sharply.

—Last turn? What did you hear from Yoo Joonghyuk? How much do you know?

"Does it matter?"

—Answer.

[The character 'Anna Croft' has used 'Lie Detection Lv.6'!]

I sighed lightly.

This 'Lie Detection' thing.

"Did you forget that I can bypass 'Lie Detection'?"

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that the statement is true.]

Embarrassment flashed across Anna Croft's expression.

—You, how.....

"Let's not waste time fighting and get this over with. It doesn't matter who I heard it from. If you keep dawdling, I might change my mind. Right now, I'm here to help you, but in ten seconds, I might feel differently."

—.....You're going to help us? Are you serious?

I wondered if I'd said something wrong, but after a moment of silence, Anna Croft spoke up.

—Just before the end of the previous turn, Yoo Joonghyuk said that when I saw you in the 41st turn, I should show you your memories of the last turn.

As expected.

It was like that.

—To be honest, I had no intention of listening to him because I don't trust you.

"The villain is going to reform, so please help me."

—Cheon Inho, do you even know what you did in the previous turn?

"I don't know, I don't remember."

—I don't know what Yoo Joonghyuk is thinking. The two of you are just as bad...

Anna Croft sighed lightly.

The fog of the Phantom Prison was beginning to thin. There wasn't much time left.

"I'll ask you one last time. What happened in the previous turn? I need to know that much to decide if I'll help you."

Anna Croft hesitated for a moment, then spoke up, seemingly decided.

—Okay. If you want it so badly, I'll tell you.

"Be quick."

—I hope you have a shred of conscience left. I hope that when you see this story, you feel a fraction of that hellish pain.

As Anna Croft quietly closed one eye, I thought that this was not something the woman who had enslaved Yoo Joonghyuk in the 2nd turn would say.

[The character 'Anna Croft' has used 'Past Sight'.]

Past Sight. An unprecedented 'Prophet' OP skill that allowed you to glimpse your own memories from the last world line.

Tsuchuchuchut.

With a light spark, images and sensory information flowed into my head.

Acrid smoke made my eyes sting, and the heavy stench of blood made my head throb.

It didn't smell like the blood of just one or two people; it smelled like the blood of at least a thousand, turning the area into a crimson sea.

「"Are you satisfied?"」

A man stood in the center of the bloodbath.

A black coat and a sword stained with blood.

His entire body was stained with blood and dirt, but it didn't dull the glow in his eyes.

I looked up at the polar-night sky. I could barely see any stars. From somewhere, the cry of a dragon echoed.

「"You don't know what you have done."」

As if counting the few stars left, the man said in a calm voice.

「"You will never know what you have ruined, what doom you have brought."」

Anger at its peak, reduced to ash.

The emptiness and heartbreak in his voice.

My heart sank just listening to it.

「As always, he was a man who had walked through everything on his own all his life.」

Suddenly, the clouds parted, and a faint starlight illuminated his face.

「Yoo Joonghyuk, the Supreme King of the 40th turn, was there.」

Yoo Joonghyuk dropped his gaze and looked at someone.

A man stood opposite him, unperturbed by the overwhelming momentum of the Supreme King.

A blackish red coat fluttered in the ruins.

Black wings stretched out from the coat.

For a moment, my heart throbbed.

Because I thought he might be Kim Dokja.

「"That's a funny expression, Yoo Joonghyuk. I've already failed this turn, I should start over. Is that the face you make when you think about that?"」

But the voice wasn't Kim Dokja's.

「"That would be convenient. You can always press the reset button and start everything from scratch."」

The owner of the voice was laughing.

「"But remember. No master craftsman can make two identical dolls. The moment you press the reset button, the world doesn't just disappear, it becomes eternal."」

As if mocking everything in the world, the man continued.

「"This world will always be ruined, and I will forever remain in the deepest recesses of your memory as an immortal nightmare."」

Though he wore a pure white half-mask, it was not difficult to recognize his face.

It was not hard to recognize his face, for it was the face I faced when I first stepped into this world.

「"Now, go ahead and reset everything. Struggle and die a slow death, flailing in eternal nightmares, you damn regressor."」

And there was the 40th turn Cheon Inho.

589 Episode 7. Trauma (2)

---

I couldn't believe it.

I couldn't believe that's really the 'Cheon Inho' I know.

「"If you won't end it."」

Cheon Inho's figure, that was standing on a blood tomb, disappeared.

「"I will."」

Wings of pitch black feathers spread from his back. And the next moment.

[The story 'When All the Stars Close Their Eyes' has begun its storytelling.]

I felt goosebumps.

'Cheon Inho' used a story.

What on earth had happened, what had he eaten to grow up this much, to make him so strong at the 40th turn?

Kookookookookoo.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who grabbed the Splitting the Sky Sword, looked around. But there was no sign of Cheon Inho.

There was only pitch blackness around him. No starlight could illuminate Cheon Inho's figure.

There was no sign of him, no smell.

「It was as if Yoo Joonghyuk was alone.」

At that moment, something invisible slashed Yoo Joonghyuk's cheek, then his forearm, then his thigh.

Blood spurted everywhere, as if he was playing with him.

Yoo Joonghyuk didn't fight back, but waited, holding the Splitting the Sky Sword.

I watched the battle with sweaty hands.

Neither his five senses nor my vision could detect the figure of Cheon Inho.

But Yoo Joonghyuk's growing wounds spoke for themselves.

Cheon Inho is here.

Yoo Joonghyuk used the [Red Phoenix Shunpo] to start his movements. Cheon Inho's attacks became faster. The number of wounds quickly increased.

Shoulders, thighs, neck, calves.

But there were no fatal wounds.

Every time a blow touched his skin, Yoo Joonghyuk was controlling the depth of the wound with an amazing technique. It was almost a miracle.

Very slowly, Yoo Joonghyuk's lips opened.

「"Open your eyes."」

And then,

[The story 'The King Who Leads the Stars' has begun its storytelling.]

The unbelievable happened.

「"Open your eyes, damn constellations."」

With Yoo Joonghyuk's words, the stars in the far reaches of the night sky began to shine. The world's few remaining stars were burning themselves to create light.

[The constellation 'Lily Blooming in Aquarius' is looking at the incarnation of Yoo Joonghyuk.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is looking at the incarnation Yoo Joonghyuk.]

[The constellation 'Guardian of Youths and Travel' is looking at the incarnation Yoo Joonghyuk.]

Gabriel, Uriel and Raphael, the stars of <Eden> were shining.

But their light was not enough to dispel the darkness.

Still, Yoo Joonghyuk said.

「"It's enough."」

For a moment, the uniform darkness shook in disparate ways, and an aggressive energy boiled through Yoo Joonghyuk's entire body.

The slash on his side and the movement of his Splitting the Sky Sword happened at the same time.

Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship (破天劍道).

Destruction Technique (絶技).

Breaking the Sky Meteor Strike (破天流星決).

The sword force[1] that could split the night enveloped the tip of Splitting the Sky Sword's blade.

[NOTE 1]

Bright light cut through the darkness, and Splitting the Sky Sword slashed at something.

The blood bursting sound could be heard in the air, and for a moment, Cheon Inho's figure, who grabbed his chest, was revealed.

Yoo Joonghyuk didn't miss the opportunity to strike at Cheon Inho's abdomen.

Breaking the Sky Force Punch (破天崩拳).

Third Form (第三式).

Thousand Autumns Phoenix (千秋鳳凰).

A brilliant flame wrapped around Yoo Joonghyuk's fist, and an eardrum-bursting roar exploded from Cheon Inho's abdomen, sending him flying, his body hit a pile of ruins.

Tsuchuchuchut.

Next, the stars in the sky began to extinguish one by one.

The stars that lit up the night sky, fueling all his stories, were dying.

Raphael's star was the first to go, followed by Gabriel's.

The last one was Uriel.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' pays homage to incarnation Yoo Joonghyuk.]

Yoo Joonghyuk stared at the spot where Uriel's star had disappeared for a long time, and then muttered in a low voice as if talking to them.

「"I'm sorry."」

It was unbelievable.

Yoo Joonghyuk hated the constellations of the night sky more than anyone else in the world. In particular, before he met Kim Dokja, he was the embodiment of vengeance who would not stop regressing until he had knocked out every star in the sky.

And yet, he apologized to the constellations.

My head was spinning, I didn't understand what was going on.

Was this story in the 40th turn of 'Ways of Survival'?

If such a story existed, there's no way Kim Dokja wouldn't have known about it.

At that moment, the question arose for the first time.

「Did 'Ways of Survival' really record all of Yoo Joonghyuk's regressions?」

According to Kim Dokja's narration, yes.

Regressions where Yoo Joonghyuk went crazy and gave up quickly were gradually omitted, but there were no regressions that were not recorded in the 'Ways of Survival'.

Then what is this view I'm looking at.

In Kim Dokja's recollections, Yoo Joonghyuk was not this strong in the early rounds. It took at least hundreds of regressions for him to become strong enough to kill the constellations.

However, in the 40th turn, he seemed to be stronger than even the narrative-grade constellations in the sky.

Not only was Yoo Joonghyuk stronger, but so was Cheon Inho.

Spreading his demonic wings and using the power of stories freely.

There was no way that the meticulous Kim Dokja, who had memorized every single one of the 1,863 turns of Ways of Survival, could not have remembered Cheon Inho like that.

If Kim Dokja knew, he would have thought of the 40th turn Cheon Inho as soon as he saw him.

Therefore, there is only one reasonable explanation to this whole situation.

There is a world that Kim Dokja has not read.

「There are world lines that are not written in 'Ways of Survival'.」

But how?

It was like a big bang in my head, like the moment when I thought of the false trauma.

「In the '41st turn', Yoo Joonghyuk sent Shin Yooseung to the past world line, and Shin Yooseung became the 'Disaster of Floods'.」

The moment that thought popped into my head, I remembered the snowy landscape that I had walked with Kim Dokja.

「'Ways of Survival' is the story of Yoo Joonghyuk after he turned Shin Yooseung into the 'Disaster of Floods'.」

In the snowy field where I had walked with Kim Dokja, the footprints split in two.

「Then, where is the story of Shin Yooseung before she became the 'Disaster of Floods' written down?」

There were two footprints, one that went on indefinitely, and one that disappeared in the middle.

「The story of the 41st turn with Yoo Joonghyuk before Shin Yooseung became the 'Disaster of Floods'.」

The story remained only a brief flashback in 'Ways of Survival'.

It wasn't even properly recorded in the 'Ways of Survival'.

If I'm looking at the memories of that world right now.

「"Stop pretending, Cheon Inho, I know you're alive."」

At those words, Cheon Inho rose from the pile of ruins.

「"Now you've lost even your last colleague, Yoo Joonghyuk."
"....."
"No star is watching over you anymore."」

Two swords clashed in the air.

One was Yoo Joonghyuk's Splitting the Sky Sword. The other.

「"Black Heavenly Demon Sword, you have been in Murim."
"Not only in Murim."」

The black imprints on Cheon Inho's neck and the backs of his hands were smeared like blood.

Demon Force (魔氣).

Cheon Inho was using demonic energy.

The energy that enveloped the Black Heavenly Demon Sword formed into sword force, which then crashed down on Yoo Joonghyuk.

In response, Yoo Joonghyuk's entire body turned golden.

Transcendent Form (超越形).

Kookookookookoo!

It was a bloody battle.

Cheon Inho's and Yoo Joonghyuk's magical powers intermittently burned the darkness, and the blazing stories bit into each other's flesh.

Covered in blood, Yoo Joonghyuk shouted, and Cheon Inho's left arm flew through the air. Next, Cheon Inho's sword pierced Yoo Joonghyuk's side.

Finally, all the light around them disappeared. The two men's magic power was completely exhausted.

No stars shone upon them. No stories recorded their battle.

「Only I could imagine their fight in this darkness.」

A full night. Two men were fighting. Something was slashed, something was torn.

They didn't stop. The sound of stabbing and slashing echoed through the blackness of no conversation.

Blood dripping, blades breaking, and then, the sound of someone falling.

「"Are you satisfied now?"」

Yoo Joonghyuk asked.

「"Satisfied with what?"」

Cheon Inho replied.

The sound of someone falling was heard once more.

「"With ruining this world."」

Silence followed.

The hard breathing of the two men echoed intermittently.

A voice spoke again.

「"I should have killed you the first time I saw you."
"But you didn't."
"It was a mistake."
"Did you kill them all in the other turns?"
"I did."
"Then I've succeeded in avenging the last turn. Though I don't remember it anyway."」

I heard the sound of blood dripping out. It was impossible to tell whose blood it was.

「"I never asked you before."
"What do you mean?"
"Why you live the way you do."」

A laugh of disbelief.

「"I just lived hard. I've only lived a little longer this time."
"Honestly, I was surprised this time. I didn't think you'd take on all the Ten Evils."
"You underestimated the capabilities of this body."
"I admit it."
"You should have had me as a colleague sooner."」

They fought and fought and fought, finally reaching the end of this terrible war.

It was only at this moment that Cheon Inho's joke was possible.

Because he had fought as hard as he could.

And because they both realized that this moment was the end of this world.

After a pause, Yoo Joonghyuk's serious voice continued.

「"I should have. But it's too late for this life."」

A muffled laugh echoed in the darkness.

「"Do you mean to say that in your next life, you will have me as a colleague? The body of the Ten Evil, Evil Sophist, your arch enemy?"
"....."
"Why don't you answer me, Yoo Joonghyuk?"
"That wasn't enough to be my arch enemy."」

After a short silence, Yoo Joonghyuk spoke.

「"If the world were to repeat itself once more, would you be willing to live a different life?"」

Cheon Inho was speechless for a long time.

Just as I wondered if he was dead, the voice continued.

「"Are you serious? I killed your colleagues."
"I know."
"And you still want me as one of your colleagues?"
"Not quite a colleague, but close."
"......Are you out of your mind?"」

Cheon Inho's voice was filled with hatred for Yoo Joonghyuk and grief for this world.

「"Why would you need my help? You can repeat the world infinitely anyway. No matter how difficult the scenario is, if you try again and again, you'll eventually clear it."
"....."
"Don't think of making me your colleague. I will be your enemy in the next turn, and I will be your enemy again, and again, and again."」

As he spoke, Chen Inho's breathing became weaker and weaker. Little by little, his physical strength was declining.

「"Hurry up and press the reset button. Face me as an enemy forever."」

There are heroes and there are villains.

Cheon Inho chose the path of the villain.

He dismissed all the possibilities and declared that he would become a clown, a villain who was constantly resurrected.

Then the hero asked.

「"Why do you think resets are infinite?"」

I heard someone inhale. Maybe it was my breath.

「"Cheon Inho."」

For a moment, a nameless star twinkled somewhere in the deep night sky.

The moon, which had been hidden in the darkness, received the light and illuminated the ground once more.

「"I can only press the reset button once now."」

A chill ran down my spine.

In the dusky moonlight, Yoo Joonghyuk was looking this way.

He seemed to be speaking to me across a distant world line.

「"In the next turn, everything in this universe will be destroyed permanently."」

Note [1]: 검강(劍罡) is a martial arts term which roughly translates to 'high level swordsmanship' that is used by martial artists in Chinese fantasy novels. # 590 Episode 7. Trauma (3)

---

The 'next turn' that Yoo Joonghyuk was referring to was the one I was currently in.

「41st turn.」

Yoo Joonghyuk said.

In this turn, everything in the universe will be destroyed permanently.

My heart raced.

What the hell does that mean?

I couldn't stop thinking about the disconnected footprints in the middle of the snowfield.

[Your mental state is extremely unstable!]

['Incite' is shaking.]

With a light spark, the memory became noisy.

My normal vision scattered, and before I knew it, Anna Croft was standing in front of me.

「Who.....」

The Great Demon's Eye glowed in one of her glaring pupils. Something went wrong.

「.....are you?」

I was caught off guard. The power of the [Incite] had weakened, and my disguise as Cheon Inho had been shattered.

「You're..... You're not Cheon Inho.」

The fog around me started to disperse faster.

The moment Anna Croft reached out to me with an urgent look on her face.

「Anna, stop coming around.」

Along with the unfamiliar voice, I heard the snap of someone's fingers, and with that sound, my vision went black for a moment. And then.

Peok.

Something hit me in the back of the head. I turned around in dizzying pain, and there stood a woman holding the 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick'.

"Huh? Inho-ssi?"

It was Jung Heewon.

---

It was an unheard choice to give the 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick' which was cloned with the 'Idea' to Jung Heewon.

She was the only one of the group who didn't fall into the 'Phantom Prison'.

"The monsters were a little weird. They didn't attack me, they just stared at me....."

"What did you do?"

"I got creeped out, so I closed my eyes and swung at them, and they stopped....."

I looked down at the crumpled Specter and sighed. Jung Heewon scolded me.

"You could have told me more beforehand."

It would have been nice, but I hated the fact that the moment I told her, I would have to explain why I knew that.

Once again, I felt the wisdom of Kim Dokja's words.

"I didn't know for sure either. What about the others?"

"I laid them over there."

I turned my head and saw Dansoo ahjussi stretched out and Kyung Sein curled up in a ball.

"It's been like that since earlier."

I was surprised. Dansoo ahjussi was holding the original copy of the 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick', and Kyungsein was holding 'Samyeongdang's Beads'.

Even though I gave them each an item with magic resistance, it wasn't enough.

Still reeling from the shock of their Phantom Prison, Dansoo ahjussi grunted like a sick man, while Kyung Sein crouched down and repeatedly asked not to hit her.

I sat next to them and wiped their sweaty foreheads.

Kyung Sein and Lee Dansoo.

These were the people who proved their 'value' in the infamous first scenario.

They weren't afraid to look at the corpses of people, and they fought bravely against those terrifying ground rats.

Maybe that's why I vaguely thought they would be okay.

「They're just ordinary readers.」

It wasn't the monsters nor the killing, it was the reality they lived in that brought down those two who stood up to the scenarios.

「Ordinary people who were unfortunate enough to be transmigrated into this world.」

I felt my heart grow cold again.

What was I going to do with them? Was I going to raise them, soothe them, train them, and take them on some exciting adventure?

Kyung Sein slowly opened her eyes and looked up at me.

"U-uuh.....?"

He[1] sat up shakily and looked around anxiously.

[NOTE 1]

It was as if her tormentor was still lurking somewhere in the darkness.

I patted her on the back and said.

"Sein-ssi, we've got all the Specters. We've recovered the Specter's Stones. You're safe now, just breathe slowly."

Kyung Sein, who was breathing heavily, let out a slightly sobbing voice.

"Inho-ssi....."

"Yes."

"Kim Dokja..... went through something like this. He overcame something like this."

Clearly, Kim Dokja is a great person. The more time I spend in this world, the more I realize that.

"You overcame it too, Sein-ssi."

Kyung Sein shook her head helplessly and asked.

"Are you okay, Inho-ssi?"

"Fortunately."

"How did..... Do you really have a 'Fourth Wall' or something?"

"It's just that my life didn't have many ups and downs. Ahjussi, are you awake?"

Checking my face, Dansoo ahjussi burst into tears.

"Alive."

I don't know what he was dreaming about, but he grabbed my arm and wiped the tears away.

"Hurry up..... Let's go to the next station."

I don't know what he was dreaming about.

But I know what he wanted to find in this world when he woke up.

"We're almost in Chungmuro. You'll find her soon enough."

Going to Chongmuro would start the third scenario, and once that was over, we would be able to interact with the other stations in earnest.

We'll find out Jiyoon's news soon enough.

"Don't worry, I'll find her no matter what."

Ahjussi nodded weakly.

"Then let's get moving."

As I helped Dansoo ahjussi to his feet, Jung Heewon also helped Kyung Sein up.

Jung Heewon asked.

"Will it be okay? We should let them rest a little longer....."

"It's better to rest when we get to the station. The tunnel is dangerous."

After only three stops, the two were exhausted.

Jung Heewon, who was walking beside me, asked in a small voice.

"Inho-ssi."

"Yes."

"You're not overdoing it, are you?"

"No."

Dansoo ahjussi's arms were damp with cold sweat.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' looks at the group worriedly.]

[The constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' cheers you on.]

Some readers may have encountered Specter in other regions.

I wonder if they survived.

[The constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' watches you.]

If they died somewhere in this world, whose fault were their deaths?

Whoever brought them into this world's? Or—

「"There is no way such a villain exists in this world."」

I felt faintly dizzy, and I could smell blood somewhere.

Was this another Specter?

Or did I never escape from the 'Phantom Prison'?

"Wait. There's something..... wrong."

Dansoo ahjussi said hesitantly.

There was a squishy feeling on my toes. When the smartphone's flash lit up on the floor, it revealed a bloody railroad track. Strewn about were the bodies of neither man nor monster.

"Ugh."

Kyung Sein held back her nausea and raised her shield, while Jung Heewon's expression hardened and she grabbed the 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick' that was made with the 'Idea'.

But there was no sign of [■■] being triggered yet.

If the situation was truly dangerous, the color of the world would have changed first.

"Let's move forward slowly. It's not too bad yet."

I took the lead and began to move forward, clearing the railroad tracks.

Some of the dead outer species on the ground looked familiar. They resembled the Ratmen we'd encountered in the 'Edge of Darkness'. There were also some that resembled the reptilian creatures Bang Cheolsoo had mentioned.

There must have been some kind of war for so many of them to die at once.

Most of the bodies bore bullet holes.

"Mate."

Dansoo ahjussi called out to me.

A light was shining some distance away.

"Ugh, there."

As Kyung Sein spoke, a girl doll was seen under the dim light.

Long hair on a ponytail.

"Ah....."

The moment Kyung Sein saw her, she stopped dead in his tracks, as if she'd been electrocuted.

And for good reason.

Running into that little girl was proof that we had finally arrived at Chungmuro.

[The exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated.]

Overall Evaluation: A person who evolved into a 'Scarred Sword Demon' after killing her closest friend. The sponsor behind her doubts you.

* 'Starter Pack' is currently applied.

The second <Kim Dokja's Company> member I meet in the 41st turn.

Yoo Joonghyuk's first sword, and the incarnation of Maritime War God Yi Sunsin.

The only survivor of Daepong Girls' High School, Lee Jihye.

Wearing her trademark hood zipped-up, she stamped her foot on the railroad tracks and looked toward Chungmuro Station.

Jung Heewon whispered.

"Do you know her?"

Not yet.

If I had to say something.

"She's the disciple of a bastard I know."

It was then that the indirect message came to mind.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' is touched at meeting an old companion.]

I realized that the same message was in the main story of Omniscient Reader.

The problem was the message that came back.

[Lee Jihye's sponsor warns the 'Bald General of Justice' to go back quickly because it's dangerous here.]

Dangerous?

[Main Scenario #2 - Meeting has ended.]

[The compensation will be settled.]

I tossed the reward message aside and looked back at the group.

"I'll take the lead."

Neither Kyung Sein nor Dansoo ahjussi were in any condition to fight.

For now, I must take the lead.

Just then, Lee Jihye, who was crossing her arms in the distance, looked over.

"Oh? What's that?"

Lee Jihye gripped the hilt of her sword, and Jung Heewon stepped forward as if to protect me.

I approached with both my hands raised to show that I meant no hostility.

"Hello. We're from Geumho Station."

"You can't go through here, so go back."

Look at that.

Another twist from the original.

"We have no ill intentions. We'd like to join Chungmuro. Can you please accept us?"

At this point, Chungmuro would be in the middle of the third scenario, 'Green Zone'.

'Green Zone' is a scenario in which you must occupy a 'Green Zone' on the station or be hunted by monsters every night.

Since Lee Jihye is a rival of Gong Pildu, the ruler of Chungmuro Station, there was no reason for her to stop us.

"Master told me not to let anyone come here."

Yoo Joonghyuk?

"Is Yoo Joonghyuk in Chungmuro?"

"Do you know my Master?"

"I do."

"Then why didn't you say so earlier?"

As Lee Jihye's eyes widened, she smiled and took a step closer.

"Master told me to kill all the bastards who knew him."

"Heewon-ssi!"

At the same time I shouted Jung Heewon's name instinctively, Lee Jihye's figure disappeared.

Kagagagak!

Jung Heewon's ground rat knife, which was imbued with [Kendo], accurately stopped Lee Jihye's [Sword Training].

Surprised, Lee Jihye muttered.

"Wow, look at this unni."

Despite the fact that Jung Heewon's overall stats were higher than in the original, Lee Jihye and Jung Heewon were still neck and neck.

This meant that Lee Jihye was also stronger than at the same point in the original.

"Heewon-ssi! Buy me a few minutes! Please!"

At my shout, Jung Heewon threw something at me.

"Take this!"

It was the 'Damaged Samyeondang's Bamboo Stick' made by the 'Idea'.

I quickly snatched up the Bamboo Stick and said to the two people behind me.

"Stay here for a moment."

As I passed by, Lee Jihye shouted in a sharp voice.

"Hey! Stop!"

According to the original, Chungmuro is currently on Day 2 of the 'Green Zone' scenario.

It wasn't odd for Yoo Joonghyuk to be in Chungmuro.

The problem is that this is the unrivaled 41st turn Yoo Joonghyuk.

I could hear a light explosion coming from Chungmuro Station.

I sped up my pace, shrugging off the ominous premonition. A dozen steps later, the Chungmuro platform came into view.

The first thing I saw was a large hole in the center of the platform floor, and people hiding in the stairwells and other places.

The terrified citizens were all looking at the two men who were fighting on the hole in the platform.

One, needless to say, was Yoo Joonghyuk.

The problem was the person on the other side.

"Damn you. How dare you cross my land?"

You know the drill.

The short-tempered Yoo Joonghyuk has gotten into a fight with Gong Pildu.

Fortunately, the fight doesn't seem to be a full-fledged fight yet, so there's still hope.

"Ahjussi, kill him quickly."

A boy's voice came from behind Gong Pildu.

At the same time, Gong Pildu nodded.

"Yes. I was about to."

I wondered if he's already made this area his [Private Property]. Mini-turrets rose from his [Armed Zone] all at once.

Seven turrets in total.

It was two more than in the 3rd turn of Omniscient Reader.

But that's not enough to stop Yoo Joonghyuk.

Kooooo.

This is because in the 40th turn, Yoo Joonghyuk is a monster that has already surpassed the narrative-grade constellations.

The moment he holds the spear, Gong Pildu will certainly die.

[The character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' wants to do something unexpected].

[The activation conditions for the exclusive skill '■■' has been met.]

[You have entered the 'Snowfield'.]

Luckily, the 'Snowfield' was triggered.

In the image that went colorless, the mini-turret began charging, and Yoo Joonghyuk held the spear handle in his hand.

It was a close call.

I have to change the story somehow.

But.

[You have an absurdly low understanding of that character.]

[You can't intervene in the character's actions.]

Damn it.

I've seen this message before.

A few days ago, when the poisonous rhinoceros appeared, I entered the Snowfield, apparently because of that 'Yoo Joonghyuk's unexpected behavior.

Back then and now, I couldn't write a sentence.

I don't know what kind of person Yoo Joonghyuk is in the 41st turn.

All I know is that he was portrayed as an extremely vicious being in 'Ways of Survival'.....

[Do you want to check the reader's feedback?]

I checked the feedback.

> rlaehrwk99: But is the 41st turn Yoo Joonghyuk really that bad?
>
> rlaehrwk37: There is no such thing as a bad Yoo Joonghyuk in the world.

And the moment I read that comment.

[Your understanding of the character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' has increased slightly.]

Something strange happened.

Note [1]: Basically, they almost never use pronouns in Korean so until now Lee Hakhyun only called her by her name when talking about her or didn't use any pronouns. In this sentence, he used "he". Since he normally refers to her as a girl or only says she has a muscular man soul, and Kyung Sein didn't have any problems using female specific terms either, like calling Jung Heewon, I'll leave it as she/her.

591 Episode 8. Representative Kim Dokja (1)

---

My understanding of Yoo Joonghyuk has increased. It wasn't hard to find the reason.

Perhaps the comments left by kkoma Kim Dokjas had some kind of influence on me.

「Is the 41st turn Yoo Joonghyuk really a bad guy?」

The moment I heard those words, it was like hundreds of circuits in my head lit up at once.

「"I lost a bad shield."」

「"In the future, sea battles will be a bit difficult."」

In my head, the lines I had written for Yoo Joonghyuk popped up. In those lines, he was more of a villain than a good guy.

Moreover, Shin Yoosung from the 41st turn had also expressed her deep disappointment in Yoo Joonghyuk.

But what was the Yoo Joonghyuk I peeked at in the theater of my dream like?

「"The marginalized group can come out in peace. I'll show you how to get food from now on."」

And what about the 40th turn Yoo Joonghyuk I saw through Anna Croft?

「"If the world were to repeat itself once more, would you be willing to live a different life?"」

Can I really categorize Yoo Joonghyuk as a 'villain'?

In the slow-moving time of the Snowfield, I acknowledged that the words I read and wrote were only a part of the life Yoo Joonghyuk lived. This is especially true for the 41st turn Yoo Joonghyuk.

There was only one sentence I could write about him now.

「I don't know Yoo Joonghyuk.」

[Your understanding of the character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' has increased slightly.]

[You are now able to write about the character 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.]

I checked the window in front of me, like checking the first footprints in the Snowfield.

> # Protagonist's Choice
>
> 「At that moment, Yoo Joonghyuk ■■.....」
>
> * At your current skill level, you can write a total of 20 additional characters.

Only 20 characters.

That was all I could write about 'Yoo Joonghyuk' at the moment.

[Your understanding of the character is low.]

[The number of times you can describe this scene is limited.]

[You can only describe the scene once.]

I only had one chance.

I calmly closed my eyes and thought about the Yoo Joonghyuk I had seen with my own eyes.

The version closest to the current Yoo Joonghyuk was the Yoo Joonghyuk I saw in the 40th turn in the 'Phantom Prison', and the Yoo Joonghyuk who left two 'Elaine Forest Essence' beads at Geumho Station.

[Your understanding of the character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' has increased slightly.]

I thought.

[Your understanding of the character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' has increased slightly.]

I thought again.

20 characters. Barely enough to describe a single line of character behavior.

In those 20 characters, what can I express about Yoo Joonghyuk?

I often had this problem when I was writing Omniscient Reader—when I couldn't write the right line or action for a character.

「"Just write it."」

At such times, Ji Eunyu would say.

「"Trust the characters who have lived in the world you created, and just write it."」

Once again, all I could do was helplessly believe her words.

「Believe in Yoo Joonghyuk, who has lived in this world.」

I wrote a sentence for him.

It wasn't much, really.

But that one line was all I understood about him and all I could give him now.

[This story is plausible.]

[This story's reproduction success rate is 93%.]

[There's enough probability.]

[Do you want to check the reader's feedback?]

> rlaehrwk37: Yoo Joonghyuk is Yoo Joonghyuk

I read that feedback wordlessly. I couldn't tell from the feedback whether this 'reproduction' would be successful or not.

All I can say now is that I'm on the same page as KimDokja37.

[Successfully recreating the scene.]

[Leaving the 'Snowfield'.]

The colorless time scattered. The guns of the mini-turrets were about to fire.

「At that moment, Yoo Joonghyuk put down the spear.」

The faint spark in Yoo Joonghyuk's right hand was the effect of my sentence.

However, when he released the spear from his hand, he looked confused. He didn't understand why he suddenly did what he did.

From here, it was up to Yoo Joonghyuk.

The Yoo Joonghyuk I saw. The unfortunate protagonist who wanted to save the world, even by joining hands with a villain.

「In fact, Yoo Joonghyuk knew. He knew that he shouldn't kill Gong Pildu right now.」

「Because this would be his last turn.」

"Die."

The mini-turrets that had finished charging spewed out fire. It was a shell that even the Steel Sword Lee Hyunsung had trouble blocking. Even if Yoo Joonghyuk was a monster who slaughtered a 7th grade monster species, there was no way he would be safe if he was hit by a series of turrets like that.

「Seven turrets in total. If they all hit at the same time, even Yoo Joonghyuk will be in danger.」

But Yoo Joonghyuk didn't move. He didn't even hold his spear.

His expression was one of deep confusion. Maybe it was the sentence I wrote that shook his judgment.

But that was enough, Yoo Joonghyuk already did his part.

Then, this time,

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 4' has been activated!]

It was my turn to take responsibility for my words.

「Turn into an 'Old Iron Shield'.」

At the same time as I used Incite, 'Thoughts of Almost Everything' glowed.

When Yoo Joonghyuk looked up, the shells were already in front of him.

Kwaaaaang!

I blocked Yoo Joonghyuk's way by a hair's breadth. The impact felt like it would shatter my shield.

But I held on.

I was able to hold on.

Because my strength level was now higher than Lee Hyunsung's.

"Yoo Joonghyuk. Wise decision. You must never kill Gong Pildu to achieve what you want."

When I glanced back, Yoo Joonghyuk was looking at me in surprise.

"Why are you looking at me like that? You said we'd be on the same side sometime."

I don't know what the 41st turn Yoo Joonghyuk will go through in the future.

I don't know what tragedy he's been through, what despair he's been through, or how he's come to this conclusion.

But I can see it in his face now.

「This world may not end in tragedy.」

I smirked at Yoo Joonghyuk, ending the conversation.

"I'll show you how I was able to make the Ten Evils my allies."

---

Kwaaaaang!

A distant bang. Watching Cheon Inho take the shells, the woman in the white coat frowned in the darkness.

She bit the lemon candy in her mouth and muttered.

"The more I look at him, the crazier he is."

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' chuckles.]

"What did he think he was doing, running right up to him? Did he forget that he's Cheon Inho?"

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' says he misses him.]

The woman pursed her lips for a long time at those words, and then muttered through her teeth.

"......I don't miss him one bit."

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' says he never said he missed him.]

"Shut up."

---

My sudden entry caused a lull in the station.

Luckily, Yoo Joonghyuk stepped back as if to observe.

In the distance, Lee Jihye and the others were looking at me with wide eyes.

I was at my limit, guys.

Of course, they weren't the only ones who were surprised.

"You..... What?"

Gong Pildu asked, and I replied.

"I'm Cheon Inho."

"Who wants to know your stupid name?"

The growling Gong Pildu showed signs of charging his mini-turret again, so I quickly added.

"If you don't mind, I'd like to have a word with the person behind you."

"What?"

At my words, the boy who had been hiding behind Gong Pildu's back poked his head out.

I waved to the boy who made eye contact.

"Hello?"

The boy quickly hid again.

An unfamiliar face.

In the entirety of Omniscient Reader, there had never been a boy like him by Gong Pildu's side.

[Using 'Readers' Comments List' on this person.]

[Checking the reader's profile information.]

Just by looking at it, I already knew what kind of person he would be.

Hmm, so he's like that.

While I was quickly checking the reader's information, Gong Pildu looked back at the boy and asked.

"Do you know him?"

The boy shook his head.

"Wait. Think again."

That's not good enough.

Fortunately, a wonderful reader of mine once told me how to deal with a situation like this.

"Aren't we 'between friends'?"

"Friends.....?"

"Between friends."

Suddenly, the boy's expression changed.

Before I knew it, the rest of the party was standing next to me.

The boy looked back and forth between me and my group a few times, and his eyes widened when he realized that Jung Heewon was among us.

Slowly, the boy's small lips opened.

"9158.....?"

---

A moment later, I was grabbed by the nape of my neck by Yoo Joonghyuk and dragged toward the railroad tracks.

I was used to this by now.

In the distance, I could see the boy talking to my party.

A few steps away from him, Gong Pildu was staring in our direction with disapproving eyes.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at Gong Pildu and asked without even glancing at me.

"How did you convince him?"

"Because a villain knows best about villains."

"Cheon Inho....."

"I'm The One Who Deceived the Stars, and the Evil Sophist."

Yoo Joonghyuk looked back at me.

"What you need is not the human Cheon Inho, but the 'Ten Evils' that tormented you."

Yoo Joonghyuk suspected that I was not Cheon Inho. The best I could do now was to convince him of my usefulness.

"How can I trust you?"

"Weren't you the one who trusted me and asked me to be on the same side?"

"Did you recover the memories of the previous turn? Looks like you managed to meet Anna Croft."

Fortunately, he seemed to be able to communicate to some extent.

As expected, Kim Dokja was right. There was no such thing as a bad Yoo Joonghyuk in the world.

"But the situation has changed from the previous turn. It was a ridiculous idea to join hands with a Ten Evil after all."

Though there could be a lying Yoo Joonghyuk.

I quickly added before Yoo Joonghyuk could grab a spear and stab me.

"Don't think too much. This isn't the time to be picky with your companions. Are you thinking of hitting the reset button again?"

"You."

Unfortunately, I don't know everything that happened in the 40th turn. What I heard was only part of the conversation between Yoo Joonghyuk and Cheon Inho.

But for now, it's enough for me.

"Didn't you say yourself that this was the last time you could reset and that everything in the universe would be destroyed in this turn? Was it all a lie?"

Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes shook wildly.

"Honestly, you don't seem very desperate right now."

After a moment of silence, Yoo Joonghyuk stared into the darkness of the tunnel, as if there was a fierce enemy beyond it.

"I need a moment to think."

With that, Yoo Joonghyuk started to tap the railroad tracks with the tip of his spear and began to pace.

I left him alone with his thoughts and approached the others.

The boy from Chungmuro was already exchanging information with the others, especially Kyung Sein, whom he seemed to be extremely close to.

"This is the 41st turn?"

"Yes, that's right."

"Oh my God. So that's why that Yoo Joonghyuk..... No wonder he was such a scumbag....."

I had a general idea of what they were talking about.

Apparently, the boy didn't know how many turns Yoo Joonghyuk had passed through.

The mumbling boy spotted me and jumped up from his seat.

Kyung Sein introduced the boy to me.

"Inho-ssi! This is the 7th Apostle from the Seven Apostles!"

The 7th Apostle.

Like Killer King, this boy was also a member of the Seven Apostles. If he was the 7th Apostle, he had to be the last of the Apostles.

I extended my hand, and the boy nervously shook it.

"Oh, hello."

"Yes, it's nice to meet you."

"So this is what Cheon Inho looks like..... He's much more handsome than what I've read."

I grasped the boy's small hand and smiled bitterly.

It was the first compliment I heard since I possessed Cheon Inho.

"Thank you. Why don't we start by introducing ourselves? I'm Cheon Inho, as you know."

"I'm Ye Hyunwoo."

"That's your name, right?"

"Yes."

Ye Hyunwoo.

Listening to the name, I seemed to remember that there was a character with that name in Chungmuro's setting.

Ye Hyunwoo's sparkling eyes looked closely at my face, and then he asked.

"But how did you know I was an apostle?"

How did I know.

[NOTE 1]

I couldn't help but know.

Once I checked the platform, it was clear he wasn't an illegal reader, and more importantly, this boy had over 50 reads.

He wasn't like Killer King with 99.8 complete reads (almost 100 reads), but he was definitely like 0.5 of him.

So I thought.

Anyone who had read the novel this many times was 100% a member of 'that organization'.

"I recently met someone who seemed to have a similar vibe."

"Who?"

"Killer King."

"The 2nd Apostle? You're saying I'm like him?"

Ye Hyunwoo blushed as if he had heard something embarrassing.

Seeing him like this, I found him more likeable than that wannabe Yoo Joonghyuk.

"I actually heard from him. I heard there was a reader possessing a supporting villain. I guess it was Cheon Inho-ssi. Anyway, that bastard's always trying to act cool. Cheon Inho....."

"Killer King has been here?"

Ye Hyunwoo nodded.

"It's been a while. He even asked me to go with him, but I'm not the adventurous type."

Certainly, his choice to have Gong Pildu as his partner made that clear.

Safety first.

A wise choice in an apocalypse like this.

"By the way, thanks for stopping me earlier. If I had known that he was the 41st turn Yoo Joonghyuk, I would have never fought him. Damn Killer King, he didn't even tell me that."

Killer King didn't know that either, Reader-nim.

By the way, this reader wasn't very normal either.

Even if he didn't know it was the 41st turn, I couldn't believe someone who had read Omniscient Reader 50 times would think of fighting Yoo Joonghyuk.

"That part is a bit complicated."

Ye Hyunwoo said in a weak voice.

"I'm at the third stage of the tech tree[2] 「Plan to Raise an Invincible Castellan at Home」. I should have been able to handle Yoo Joonghyuk by now, according to my calculations....."

[NOTE 2]

What..... Plan?

After letting out a deep sigh, Ye Hyunwoo said an unexpected name.

"Fuck, if Jiyoon was with me, I wouldn't have made this mistake."

592 Episode 8. Representative Kim Dokja (2)

"D-did you just say Jiyoon?"

Dansoo ahjussi asked, and Ye Hyunwoo frowned warily.

"What?"

"Jiyoon! Do you know Jiyoon?"

"She's my friend, why?"

"Where is Jiyoon now?"

Ye Hyunwoo looked in my direction, startled by ahjussi's sudden outburst.

I tried to calm ahjussi down as he breathed heavily.

"His daughter's name is 'No Jiyoon'."

Ye Hyunwoo's eyes widened.

"No Jiyoon? Really?"

After looking back and forth between me and the ahjussi, Ye Hyunwoo muttered in a cautious voice.

"But it could be someone with the same name....."

"Hyunwoo-ssi, is your friend the same Jiyoon who said she's going to marry Yoo Joonghyuk in the future?"

In response to my question, Ye Hyunwoo nodded with a dazed expression.

"Huh? That's right. Wow, you really are Jiyoon's father. No, but if you're here, does that mean Omniscient Reader.....?"

"Where is Jiyoon now?"

This was the first acquaintance of his daughter he had met since crossing over to this world. Dansoo ahjussi was almost out of breath.

"I'm sorry..... I haven't met Jiyoon since I came here either."

"Ah....."

"But Jiyoon must be here somewhere too. I was dragged to the theater by her."

At the mention of the theater, Kyung Sein asked.

"Did you happen to be at 'Kim Dokja's Banquet' as well?"

"Yes. Were you too?"

"I was there too....."

As expected, most of the readers in the theater were transmigrated into this world.

Even Dansoo ahjussi chimed in.

"I was in the hospital when I was suddenly brought in....."

He was possessed even though he was outside the theater. Then maybe it wasn't just the people in the theater who came.

Ye Hyunwoo sighed and added.

"If I had known this would happen, I wouldn't have gone. I was in a really good mood until I got the quiz right. I was looking forward to the gift since I got the difficult quiz right....."

"What did you get right?"

"Well, the meaning of 1,863....."

"Oh, so that was the 7th Apostle."

I also vaguely remembered.

The person who, in a confident voice, correlated Yoo Joonghyuk's regressions with the year the first subway opened.

Maybe the girl sitting next to him was the one who asked if Kim Dokja was resurrected.

Then, was the girl who asked about Kim Dokja Jiyoon?

Ye Hyunwoo sighed as if it were already a habit and glanced in the direction of Yoo Joonghyuk, who was still pacing the railroad tracks.

"I haven't seen Jiyoon since we got separated at that time. Of course, I thought she'd be by Yoo Joonghyuk's side by now..... She doesn't seem to be possessing Jihye."

Dansoo ahjussi's expression darkened sharply at the offhand remark.

"Still, if it's Jiyoon, she's alive somewhere, so don't worry too much. There's no way such a tough girl could be dead, and she's read the Book of Revelation more than I have."

I paused when I heard that.

Jiyoon had read it more than 50 times?

As if to change the subject, Ye Hyunwoo smiled slightly.

"By the way, it's amazing that you've made it this far already. I've read it 50 times. I was lucky enough to start near Chungmuro, but you guys....."

"We started at Geumho Station."

"Wow, at 'Geumho Station'? Well, since you're 'Cheon Inho'..... So you met Jung Heewon there too, right?"

"Yes."

Jung Heewon was talking to Lee Jihye a dozen steps away. Apparently, Lee Jihye took the initiative to ask her questions.

"It's really unusual. Jung Heewon becoming companions with Cheon Inho... Is this development okay?"

When he asked me that, I was speechless.

I thought it was a novelty in terms of development.

"Anyway, I'm relieved to see other members of the Apostles. It was really hard to deal with Killer King when he came with a bunch of kids from the Misreading Association."

The moment I heard those words, I remembered the dead bodies of the outer species at the front of the tunnel. Apparently, it was the work of Ye Hyunwoo and Gong Pildu.

"Did the Misreading Association attack here as well?"

"You've already met them, right?"

"Thanks to Killer King."

"Eh, that asshole..... Anyway, they came here as well. It seems like they prepared a lot for this early rush. Of course, I think they definitely underestimated the third stage of my Invincible Castellan tech tree."

Ye Hyunwoo seemed to have a special attachment to Gong Pildu and talked to us about his Plan to Raise an Invincible Castellan at Home for a while.

I wondered how much he had talked.

"I want to go home."

I felt like I had been pricked by a thorn in the center of my heart.

I didn't know how long it had been, but Ye Hyunwoo had tears in his eyes.

It belatedly dawned on me that Ye Hyunwoo was Jiyoon's age.

On the surface, everyone seemed excited to be in a novel, but there was no way anyone would really want to be in an apocalypse like this.

Kyung Sein clenched her fists, and Dansoo ahjussi, who had stood up from his seat, reached over the boy's shoulder as if to comfort him.

It was then that we heard a voice from behind him.

"Stop talking and come here, kid."

Ye Hyunwoo rushed over and sat down next to Gong Pildu. Ye Hyunwoo whimpered, and Gong Pildu glared at me like he was going to kill me.

He was only in his mid-to-late teens. Such a child had endured the first and second scenarios and survived to this point.

I wanted to tell him anything. That he would make it home safely. That nothing would happen.

But who was I to say that?

Tsuchuchuchut.

Everyone's pockets vibrated with the same sound.

One by one, with a slight time difference, we pulled out our phones.

And then.

"Inho-ssi."

Kyung Sein's nervous voice.

She wasn't the only one. Dansoo ahjussi and even Ye Hyunwoo, who was next to Gong Pildu, had similar faces.

The same message appeared on everyone's phones' screens.

—It's been a while. Dear readers.

RepresentativeKimDokja sent a message.

"This, right now—"

I quickly looked around.

It was to see if we were the only ones looking at our phones.

"Let's check it first."

I opened the message.

—Hello, dear readers. By now, you're either on the second scenario or, if you're fast, already on the third.

—You've all survived well. Of course, some of you haven't, but what can I do? You should've read it harder.

The strange coolness in the way he spoke.

Was this really a message from the 'Representative Kim Dokja' I knew?

—I'm sure you're all wondering. Why me? Did I do something wrong to be transmigrated into this world? Was it because I read that damn novel? But I didn't even say anything bad about it. Who the hell put me in this world and why?

Suddenly, I had an ominous premonition.

"Everyone! If you haven't seen the message yet—"

But I didn't finish my sentence.

—I'm sure you're frustrated. So, for those readers who have made it this far, I thought I'd give a little presentation on why you were brought to this world, and.

Tsuchuchuchut— I saw Kyung Sein, Dansoo ahjussi, and Ye Hyunwoo collapse one after another like dolls with broken threads.

—What you must accomplish to return to your original world.

My vision went black as well.

—See you soon then.

---

A dark tunnel.

The woman in the white coat, who had been watching Chungmuro Station with a lollipop in her mouth, jumped up from her seat.

"Hey, remember all the guys whose phones just rang."

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' asks what's wrong with them.]

"They're all possessed. Also."

The woman added, checking the faces of Cheon Inho and his party who fell down one by one.

"Track the coordinates of the newly created subspace. Find out where their souls have been called. Quickly."

---

When I opened my eyes, I was lying in a large lobby. As I got up, I realized that my eye level felt strangely familiar.

Slowly, my eyes adjusted and took in the scene around me.

The unlit ticket office and unmanned ticket machine.

It was Chungmuro's theater.

As I approached the ticket machine, I saw a face on the black screen.

My face was reflected in it. Not Cheon Inho's face, but Lee Hakhyun's face.

I laughed out loud, and a sense of sadness crossed my mind. A deep sense of relief washed over me, along with an unexplainable sense of regret.

Maybe it was all a dream.

There was no such thing as transmigrating into a novel, after all. There was no way something like a web novel could suddenly happen to me.

It was then that the ceiling lit up.

A dazzling pillar of light descended from the surroundings, and people began to be summoned one by one.

"Uaaaah!"

"What!"

Some people screamed, while others looked around with calm faces.

They appeared in an instant.

I realized who they were.

「Readers.」

The readers who had been transmigrated into the novel with me. It wasn't until I saw them that I realized.

We had all been called here, just as we were in the real world.

I quickly counted the people. A number that seemed more than a hundred, even at a rough count.

Apparently, there were more possessed people from other places besides those in the theater.

I had counted about a hundred and twenty of them when I spotted a head that stood out from the crowd.

I didn't recognize anyone else, but I recognized them.

"Sein-ssi."

"Eh? Who?"

The surprised man turned his head toward me, and I saw his name tag.

[JudgeHeewon].

The man seemed to recognize my name tag as well.

"I-Inho-ssi? You must be Inho-ssi!"

"That's right."

"Uaaah! Inho-ssi!"

Kyung Sein swooped down and gave me a big hug.

I quickly pulled away from him and asked.

"Did you see the others?"

"Well, I don't know the others' real faces."

Well, that's true, too.

As if they had realized what was happening, the sounds of people searching echoed around the room.

"Mijin-ah! Seo Mijin!"

"JihyesLove-nim! Is JihyesLove-nim here?"

"NamwoonsMom-nim!"

Come to think of it, there was someone I needed to find too. Maybe this was my only chance.

"Sein-ssi. I have to go somewhere for a while too."

"What? Inho-ssi! Wait!"

I pushed my way through the crowd, checking people's faces one by one.

"Ji Eunyu-ssi! Is Ji Eunyu-ssi here?"

Ji Eunyu, my assignment editor.

The one who brought me to this theater. She must have transmigrated here too, because she read Omniscient Reader and answered the quiz correctly.

"Ji Eunyu-ssi!"

But there was no sign of Ji Eunyu.

Has she not been summoned yet?

Or.....

I bit my lip hard. It wasn't anyone else, it was 'Ji Eunyu'. The one who had probably read my novel more than me.

There's no way Ji Eunyu didn't survive.

It was then that I heard a familiar name.

"Jiyoon-ah..... Jiyoon-ah!"

A neatly dressed middle-aged man was crouched on the ground, calling for someone desperately.

"Ahjussi."

As I approached, the middle-aged man looked up at me. It wasn't a face I remembered, but the moment I saw those eyes, I was sure.

"Inho..... Mate?"

It was the unmistakable Dansoo ahjussi.

"Yes."

The real-life Dansoo ahjussi was just as handsome as the novel version.

The only difference was that this man looked so pale that it wouldn't be strange if he collapsed immediately, and his body was built like a dry tree.

"I'm sorry, mate, Jiyoon. Jiyoon, please....."

Dansoo ahjussi fainted on the spot leaving those words. His head was burning with fever. I hastily carried him on my back. His body was as light as a child's.

I looked around nervously.

Should I take him to the hospital?

But there was no way I could get there.

The theater's exits and elevators were blocked by translucent walls.

This wasn't the 'theater' we knew, but a subspace someone temporarily created.

There was no way to escape.

There was only one thing I could do now.

"Jiyoon-ah! No Jiyoon!"

I started shouting at the top of my lungs to the surrounding area. Kyung Sein, who hurriedly caught up, realized what was going on and shouted Jiyoon's name together with me.

"Jiyoon-ah, where are you!"

Time and time again, I saw children who looked to be Jiyoon's age, but I couldn't find Jiyoon.

Soon, all the pillars of light disappeared.

The summoning was finally over.

The next moment, I stopped dead in my tracks, feeling a strange sense of heavy pressure. It was hard to breathe, and my head felt dizzy.

「Something is looking at us.」

I lifted my head with difficulty, as if defying gravity.

Since when had they been there?

Someone was floating near the ceiling of the theater.

Wearing a white coat that resembled Kim Dokja's and his trademark sunglasses, he was talking to us.

【Welcome to 'Kim Dokja's Banquet'. Everyone.】

RepresentativeKimDokja.

The one who summoned us to this world.

593 Episode 8. Representative Kim Dokja (3)

---

At the sound of RepresentativeKimDokja's words, the chatter of readers calling each other's names and nicknames quickly died down.

As a heavy silence settled over the room, I could see the readers' appearances clearly.

They ranged in age from teenagers to people in their 60s.

Some looked like friends and siblings, others wore aprons as if they were cooking. Some were dressed in neat suits, while others were in their pajamas, shyly hiding by a pillar.

Apparently, this was a place where everyone would show themselves as they were 'just before they were transmigrated'.

No matter what kind of person the readers were, their demeanor was the same here.

A deep silence, not even the sound of breathing could be heard.

Eventually, RepresentativeKimDokja spoke again.

【I'm sure you all have a lot of questions, but you are not saying anything.】

All who had survived so far were veterans.

Old-timers who had survived the hell of the first and second scenarios.

【Certainly, the first person to step forward at times like this is bound to get their head cracked off. You all know the clichés very well.】

As if he understood, RepresentativeKimDokja's lips curled into a smile.

【But you can rest assured this time. I'm not here to harm you. The Banquet is short, so ask any questions you want.】

The readers looked at each other.

Even if RepresentativeKimDokja said that, it wasn't easy to believe him.

After all, he had the power to summon all the readers here.

He could probably kill everyone here with a snap of his fingers.

「That is, of course, if this guy can handle the 'probability'.」

In the beginning of the original scenarios, it was impossible for a high-grade constellation to descend in their true form or summon such a large number of incarnations.

That's why I was able to raise my hand.

Tsuchuchuchut.

A spark had been flowing faintly through his body since earlier.

There was no way a man who was already overdoing it would put on a show of killing an incarnation like a dokkaebi.

But there was a reader who raised his hand faster than I did.

RepresentativeKimDokja pointed to him and said.

【Oh, go ahead.】

He looked to be in his mid-to-late teens, and he was quite a memorable reader, with his unique serious eyes.

"Who are you, and where am I?"

【Curiosity about people and places. Good, that's how stories start. Who is the main character and where is this place?】

Inhaling lightly, RepresentativeKimDokja looked back at the other readers and said.

【But who I am and where this place is doesn't matter, because I'm not the main character in this story. I'm just—】

"Are you Kim Dokja?"

Several readers gasped at the boy's question.

That's probably the biggest question on most people's minds here.

Is this 'RepresentativeKimDokja' the 'Kim Dokja' we know?

RepresentativeKimDokja raised his eyebrows slightly.

【You can think what you want about me. I may or may not be Kim Dokja. But more importantly —】

"Come to think of it, I don't think you're Kim Dokja."

The boy's voice was subtly hostile.

RepresentativeKimDokja paused.

【What made you think that?】

"There is no way Kim Dokja would bring us to a dangerous place."

The boy's voice was calm and rational.

Next to him stood a girl who seemed to be related to him, but her eyes were unusually closed.

It didn't seem to be because she had narrow eyes like Cheon Inho, but because of other circumstances.

After staring at the two, RepresentativeKimDokja smiled.

【Are you two siblings?】

"That's none of your business—"

【That's sweet. The Kim Dokja you know would never summon your blind sister to this world. Did you come up with such a naive idea?】

As the boy clenched his fists and frowned, the girl tightened her grip on his sleeve as if to restrain him.

RepresentativeKimDokja laughed in satisfaction.

【Kim Dokja is not a character who sympathizes with anyone for just that reason; if he were, he wouldn't have let the old woman die in the first scenario.】

I thought the line was somehow familiar, and then I remembered that I had written a similar scene in Omniscient Reader.

【He led people to stab each other to death at Geumho Station.】

Maybe it was during the 'Duet Between Good and Evil'.

【In 'The Strongest Sacrifice' scenario, he sat on the sidelines and allowed tens of thousands of Seoul citizens to die.】

Everything RepresentativeKimDokja said was true.

However, the readers didn't seem to be shaken by his words.

【Do you really believe that such a Kim Dokja wouldn't bring you in for his own purposes?】

"He wouldn't."

【Why?】

"Because—"

"Because I am a fragment of that 'Kim Dokja'."

It was a girl across from him who cut the boy off.

A girl about Jiyoon's age.

"I know because I'm a fragment of Kim Dokja. Kim Dokja wouldn't do this."

The conviction in her voice was so strong that even I was stunned.

The girl really believed in Kim Dokja.

Maybe she wasn't the only one.

"Are you really 'RepresentativeKimDokja'?"

Even an ahjussi who had been watching the conversation.

"I've messaged RepresentativeKimDokja before, but you don't sound like him."

The others, who had been timidly backing away, also chimed in.

"What are you trying to say? We know what kind of person Kim Dokja is better than you do."

"Why are you dressed as Kim Dokja in the first place? Just reveal your identity."

As he listened in silence, RepresentativeKimDokja took a deep breath. When he drew in his breath, it felt like all the oxygen around us suddenly disappeared.

When I turned around, I saw that not only I, but also the others had turned pale.

【That bastard Kim Dokja.】

As I felt my breath return, RepresentativeKimDokja spoke.

【Kim Dokja, Kim Dokja, Kim Dokja, you're really loud. Why the hell do you like him so much?】

He sounded like he had a grudge against Kim Dokja.

【All he cares about is the life and death of <Kim Dokja's Company>. He's a heartless god who doesn't care how many extras die in his dreams.】

I felt like someone was poking me in the head with a needle.

Part of me knew that. In a way, I knew it was possible to think like that.

【In your favorite story, was Kim Dokja really a good person?】

A giant screen floated up behind RepresentativeKimDokja. The screen showed a scene from the scenario. Judging from the atmosphere, it wasn't the world line we were on a moment ago.

「"I wish to see the novel's epilogue."」

It was a story in a novel that I once wrote and the readers once read.

From the first scenario to the last. The long journey of the protagonist, Kim Dokja, and <Kim Dokja's Company>.

Kim Dokja's story, from Kim Dokja's point of view, for Kim Dokja.

RepresentativeKimDokja said.

【You've all thought about it at least once: In that world, what kind of life will those who are not chosen by Kim Dokja live?】

Beneath the feet of <Kim Dokja's Company>, who marched toward the end of the world, nameless corpses piled up.

Their souls cried out.

They were in that world.

They were part of this story too.

But Kim Dokja didn't look back at them.

【I believe you know the truth about what it's like to be an extra in this world.】

The readers were speechless for a moment. Even those who had been defending Kim Dokja were unable to say anything for once.

On the screen, a close-up of an incarnation dying alone in a scenario change. A lonely incarnation dying without the gaze of any stars.

He looked at me and said.

「"Save me....."」

Maybe someone between us is possessing that incarnation now. Death was no longer just an extra's story.

It was our story.

"What are you trying to say?"

It was I who spoke.

"Are you asking us to relieve some dead extra's resentment? That's why you dragged us into this damn world?"

RepresentativeKimDokja grinned from ear to ear, and then a message popped up in front of me. As if that was his answer.

[The <Star Stream> has agreed to register a new sub-scenario for you.]

[A new sub-scenario has arrived!]

<Sub Scenario(???) — Record Qualification>

Category: Sub (Personal)

Difficulty: ???

Clear Conditions: You have been transmigrated into the world line through an 'Outer World Covenant'. Work with the other transmigrated people to prevent its predestined destruction and develop a new story.

Time Limit: —

Reward: Return to the original world line and additional rewards.

Failure: Death

To a certain extent, this was expected.

We are from another world, just like Kim Dokja when he went to the 1,863rd turn.

It was only natural that there would be a scenario to return to the original world line.

The problem was the content.

「Prevent its predestined destruction and develop a new story.」

Prevent the predestined destruction.

In other words, RepresentativeKimDokja summoned us because he wanted to change the ending of this world line.

I could hear the boy who had first spoken to him earlier muttering.

"As expected, an 'Outer World Covenant'....."

I looked around and saw that some of the readers had already calmed down and started calculating.

The hope that if they could somehow prevent the destruction of this world, they could return to the original world.

As they gathered their thoughts, a few raised their hands and asked.

"Wait, you have to tell us where this world is. Is this Yoo Joonghyuk's '3rd turn'?"

"Is <Kim Dokja's Company> also here somewhere?"

"Where is Kim Dokja now? Is he with us?"

At that moment, everyone had a similar thought in their minds.

The surest way to prevent the end of the world.

Borrowing the power of those who had already 'stopped the destruction'.

But.

【Why do you want to know that?】

RepresentativeKimDokja didn't seem to like the question.

【Are you really planning to rely on <Kim Dokja's Company> here as well? Really, you still haven't come to your senses.】

The readers who had been asking questions shivered at the cold voice.

RepresentativeKimDokja sighed softly and shook his head.

【Keep this in mind. You are the protagonists of this world, and this world exists only for you.】

He swept his gaze across the room with a strange glint in his eye, then added with a slight smile.

【Please, make a story worthy of being written on the 'Last Wall'. That way, this world will not be forgotten in vain.】

For some reason, his last words sounded sincere.

【This is the end of this Banquet. See you next time.】

RepresentativeKimDokja's figure disappeared into thin air, and pillars of light began to appear everywhere. One by one, the summoned people were returning.

The surprised readers called out each other's names.

After regaining our senses, Kyung Sein and I looked at each other.

We hadn't found Dansoo ahjussi's daughter yet.

We hurriedly called out Jiyoon's name and searched through the rest of the crowd. Then, I bumped shoulders with someone. I turned around and saw the boy who had confronted RepresentativeKimDokja earlier.

The boy frowned and said.

"Hm? By any chance, you—"

The boy, along with the girl next to him, was engulfed in a pillar of light and disappeared.

In a matter of moments, the crowd had shrunk to less than half.

Now there were no readers who looked Jiyoon's age.

"Inho-ssi—"

A pillar of light rushed right next to me and then Kyung Sein's figure disappeared.

Almost simultaneously, the weight of Dansoo ahjussi on my back disappeared.

A deep sense of emptiness washed over me.

I didn't find anyone after all.

It was then that a familiar backside caught my eye.

A small back, light brown bobbed hair that fell to her shoulders.

For a moment, my heart beat wildly.

「The person who had made me a writer was there.」

The one who never gave up on me, even when everyone else in the editorial department did.

My editor.

"Ji Eunyu-ssi!"

She was alive.

I knew she would be alive.

The moment Ji Eunyu turned around, a pillar of light descended from thin air.

Ji Eunyu's surprised eyes looked at me.

I felt my breath catch in my throat.

There was no time. We couldn't even afford to ask each other who the other was possessing. All we could do was shout,

"Gwanghwamun!"

We could only agree on a meeting place.

Ji Eunyu was the last one, there was no one left in the theater.

I was left alone.

Soon, I would be gone too.

I sighed lightly and waited for my turn.

One minute, two minutes.....

I kept waiting.

Three minutes, four minutes.....

Something was wrong.

No matter how much time passed, my body was not enveloped in a pillar of light.

What was going on?

I absentmindedly looked up at the ceiling, where the lights were flickering intermittently.

"Excuse me?"

I asked, but no one answered.

"Hey!"

I called out a little louder, but still no answer.

I hesitated for a moment, then made a decision.

I decided to explore the area a bit more.

After all, there was something that had been bothering me since earlier.

.....

As I listened, I heard a faint sound. I hadn't heard it wrong.

There was someone else in this theater besides me.

The sound was coming from the entrance to the theater tucked away in one corner of the lobby.

In front of the theater's door was a sign that said 'playing'.

I wondered what was playing.

A movie?

As I cautiously opened the theater door, a feeling of anticipation flashed through my mind.

「"Inho-ssi? Inho-ssi, wake up!"」

The familiar voice triggered a series of memories. Slowly, a chill ran down my spine.

I knew this place.

「"Why is Inho-ssi the only one who didn't wake up?"」

The view of Chungmuro Station reflected on the vast screen, and there were my companions waking me up from my collapse.

And then.

The backs of countless 'kkoma Kim Dokjas' watching the scene.

It was the same movie theater I had seen in my dream.

The kkoma Kim Dokjas I met that day were not part of a dream.

The moment I took a stumbling step into the theater, a kkoma Kim Dokja looked back.

The name tag pinned to his left chest shook.

rlaehrwk37.

As soon as the kkoma Kim Dokja's eyes widened and he was about to say something to me, something grabbed me by the back of the head and yanked me hard.

It was a cold grip that sent a chill down my spine.

【You shouldn't have seen that.】

The voice was icy cold.

When I turned my head, RepresentativeKimDokja was looking at me.

Thank you.

594 Episode 8. Representative Kim Dokja (4)

【Hm? You.】

RepresentativeKimDokja grabbed the back of my head and looked into my face for a long time.

There was a strange tension in the air.

Thinking about it, this wasn't my first encounter with 'RepresentativeKimDokja'. I had met him once before at the Chungmuro Theater.

Back then, he had seen my face and even checked my name tag.

Was that all?

He gave me privileges to help me adjust to this world, and he read the entire Omniscient Reader I had written and left comments and impressions.

I wondered.

Would 'RepresentativeKimDokja' recognize me?

【Hmm.】

Or rather, he didn't recognize me, just as I expected.

【That's weird. How come you haven't gone back yet?】

RepresentativeKimDokja walked out of the theater, holding the back of my head like a cat clinging to a fish from a fish tank.

Yoo Joonghyuk had done the same. I didn't know why the hell everyone who saw me wanted to carry me around.

Anyway, he didn't recognize me after all.

I hesitated for a moment, then decided to implement the plan I'd been thinking about.

'Thoughts.'

As I said the name in my head, the bracelet on my wrist twitched.

I don't know exactly why, but unlike my other items, 'Thoughts of Almost Everything' had been summoned here with me.

Either way, it was a good thing for me right now.

"Wait, I don't like hanging like this."

I grabbed RepresentativeKimDokja's wrist, who gripped the back of my head while thinking. I could feel the surface of the bracelet resonating against his hand.

['Thought' is making contact with an unknown item.]

Look at this.

I'm clearly touching his skin, but you call it an 'item'?

[Beginning target analysis.]

[Target analysis will take 5 minutes to complete.]

[Maintain contact until the end of the analysis.]

RepresentativeKimDokja was deep in thought and didn't notice 'Thought'.

I spoke up again in a frustrated tone.

"I didn't go in there because I wanted to, I was just trying to find a way out of here."

【What did you see in there?】

"Little kids....."

[Someone has used 'Lie Detection'.]

'RepresentativeKimDokja' must be an 'outer god', and if you're an outer god, you're bound to have [Lie Detection].

That's a good thing for me.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 4' has been activated!]

"I saw some little kids watching a movie inside the theater. But it was dark, so I couldn't see much."

[You have incited yourself.]

I immediately opened my mouth.

"What movie were the little kids watching?"

【What kind of movie was it?】

"I couldn't look closely because it was dark."

[Someone has confirmed that the statement is true.]

【Hmm.....】

RepresentativeKimDokja glared at me with suspicion, then slowly loosened his grip on the back of my head.

But I did not let go of his wrist.

[Continuing the analysis of the target.]

"Wait, what are those kids, and why are there so many of them here?"

【Do you want to know?】

I couldn't see RepresentativeKimDokja's eyes because he was wearing sunglasses. However, I could clearly feel the life that radiated from them.

"Well, I'm not too curious."

【Good, because a story where you know the ending is boring.】

RepresentativeKimDokja nodded in satisfaction.

【Now, if you'll let go of my wrist, I need to find out why you didn't make it back.】

That's a problem.

I'm not done analyzing you yet.

"I still have one more question."

【Is that a question you can only ask while grabbing my wrist?】

Behind his sunglasses, I could see the murderous intent once again.

But this time, I didn't back down.

"Who are you?"

【Hmm? Like I said, I—】

"You're not the 'RepresentativeKimDokja' I know, because I've met him before I came here."

In reality, I had only met him once, but I had known him for a very long time.

He messaged me every day for the duration of the series.

I found 'RepresentativeKimDokja' to be a very serious and story-loving person.

But what about the 'RepresentativeKimDokja' in front of me now?

【That's some great insight. Even though our appearances should be exactly the same.....】

Unexpectedly, RepresentativeKimDokja readily admitted the truth.

【You're right. The 'RepresentativeKimDokja' who brought you here is a different being. Is that enough to answer your question?】

There were two RepresentativeKimDokjas.

Maybe more than two.

Is it a group?

If so, what does this group exist for?

[The analysis is more than 80% complete.]

【It's my turn to ask. You—】

"Why 'Kim Dokja'?"

【What?】

"If you needed to disguise yourself, you could have been Yoo Joonghyuk or someone else."

【No, this is just—】

"I thought you hated Kim Dokja?"

At my question, for the first time, RepresentativeKimDokja's complexion changed.

【Why do you think that?】

"Was it actually because you were envious of him? Is that why you took on Kim Dokja's appearance and you're imitating him?"

RepresentativeKimDokja's face slowly hardened. It was as if a vague clue had been unraveled.

[The exclusive attribute is activated!]

For a brief moment, the clues left by RepresentativeKimDokja at the previous Banquet branched out in my mind.

「Kim Dokja, Kim Dokja, Kim Dokja, you're really loud. Why the hell do you like him so much?」

He harbored a grudge against Kim Dokja.

「What kind of life will those who are not chosen by Kim Dokja live?」

He sympathized with those who were not saved by Kim Dokja.

「Are you really planning to rely on <Kim Dokja's Company> here as well?」

He wanted to complete the end of the world without <Kim Dokja's Company>.

So my reasoning went like this.

"Did Kim Dokja..... ruin your story?"

He is a 'character' who could not fulfill the story he wanted because of Kim Dokja.

That's why the readers of 'Omniscient Reader' have been kidnapped into this world.

「To create the story he wants.」

Who could he be?

I had a few characters in my head, but no names I was sure of.

【You..... Who are you?】

A sudden momentum began to emanate from RepresentativeKimDokja's entire body.

For a moment, I felt sick.

I was digging too deep.

Tsuchuchuchuchuchut—

Intense sparks began to fly around me.

In my head, I weighed the magnitude of the sparks against my life.

How much probability would it take for him to kill me?

And how much more probability was he willing to sacrifice?

[The item analysis has been completed!]

[The item is 'Ever-changing (千變萬化)[1] Stealth Suit.]

[NOTE 1]

[The item is S-grade.]

[You must be hit at least 10 times by the user of the item to obtain the item's form.]

Just in time, the analysis of 'Thought' had ended.

「Ever-changing Stealth Suit.」

An item of clothing that consumes a certain amount of magic to turn the user's appearance into the desired one.

In other words, he was using the item's power to hide his true self.

'Thoughts.'

I immediately changed the form of the bracelet.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 4' has been activated!]

「Turn into the Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick.」

I wielded the 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick' with all my might at RepresentativeKimDokja in front of me.

The corner of his lip twitching, RepresentativeKimDokja lightly stretched out his arm and grabbed the bamboo stick.

Of course, I didn't expect the attack to work. But it wasn't the strike I was aiming for in the first place.

Soon, a bright light emanated from the end of the bamboo stick.

[The hidden property of 'Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick' has been activated!]

As a damaged star relic, it was unable to produce its original power, but it had no problem triggering the hidden property.

[The stigma 'Skeleton in the Closet' has been triggered!]

If he's wearing the 'Ever-changing Stealth Suit', he'll have no choice but to reveal his true self in front of this stigma.

Patsuchuchut.

['Skeleton in the Closet' is affected by your status.]

[Your status does not allow you to determine the target's identity.]

Damn it, that was too much for my level.

But for the briefest of moments, I saw part of his cheek crack.

Beyond the crack, an unspoken tension pulsed. A flow of stories so dangerous as to be mind-numbing. An ominous sensation lurking beyond.

Demonic energy?

The moment I thought that, his fist slammed into my stomach.

【You must think I can't kill you.】

The feeling of my stomach being ripped open and pierced.

Even though I was a soul, my breath caught in my throat.

【In fact, you're right. I can't kill you directly. There are restrictions on that.】

My left and right arms snapped in different directions, and a painful sensation washed over me, as if my legs had been amputated.

As soon as I inhaled, something slammed into my stomach again.

For a moment, my consciousness slipped away and came back.

【But I can give you a pain worse than death.】

He held both my arms together and pushed me back against the wall, then put his magically formed thorns into my wrists and ankles one after another.

Pow. Pow. Pow. Pow. Pow.

In an instant, five or six thorns pierced my limbs.

I activated my skill just before the pain began to spread.

[The level of the exclusive skill 'Incite' has increased!]

「I am Kim Dokja who has the [Fourth Wall].」

【Certainly..... You're not like other readers. I can't believe you can endure this pain.】

He lightly lifted my chin with his long fingers, and then said with interest.

【Come to think of it, I did hear about a special guy from another Representative.....】

"If I'm a special guest, you should treat me specially."

I provoked him.

I had to provoke him further, push him over the edge.

"If you're only this good, you would have already lost to Kim Dokja."

The spark that had been running through his body earlier was getting stronger and stronger. Any moment now, he wouldn't be able to withstand the aftermath of probability.

【I'm getting more and more curious about who you are.】

But RepresentativeKimDokja was smiling subtly at me.

It looked like he was as pleased as angry.

【Suddenly, I feel very nostalgic.】

RepresentativeKimDokja's head turned slowly to an odd angle.

【Right now, you look like someone I hate more than anyone and wanted to eat at the same time.】

Pow.

I felt something dig into my stomach, and the next moment, my stomach was clutched in his grip.

A pain that even the level 5 [Incite] couldn't handle.

Tsuchuchuchuchut.

It was then that something began to ooze from the hole in my stomach.

Sentences, shimmering with golden light.

Stories.

RepresentativeKimDokja's eyes widened.

【This is..... No way? You.....】

The moment he reached out for the story that had fallen to the floor.

「■■■ ■■■ ■■」

The story began its storytelling.

The space around me ripped apart, and my ears rang like a storm was brewing here.

Then I heard a clear voice.

「I told you not to touch it.」

RepresentativeKimDokja's expression hardened. His eyes widened and he looked me in the eyes.

Something was speaking through my mouth.

「They are coming.」

With those words, the ceiling of the movie theater crumbled.

Within my blurry consciousness, I saw RepresentativeKimDokja look up.

Someone shouted, and something flew through the cracked ceiling.

A beautiful thread of light.

It caught me by surprise.

In my slowly fading consciousness, I heard the voice of the angry RepresentativeKimDokja.

It was probably,

「.....Kim Dokja's Company!」

He seemed to say something like that.

Note [1]: 千變萬化: Literally 'thousand changes, ten thousand changes'.

595 Episode 9. Words That Can't Be Said (1)

---

It was around the time I was writing the episode 'Disaster of Floods'.

When Kim Dokja was beaten and his intestines were torn out by the 41st turn Shin Yoosung, Ji Eunyu said something like this.

「"Author-nim, don't you think it's a bit unlikely that he's still in his right mind with a hole in his stomach?"」

I don't know what I said then.

I think I said something like this.

In fantasy, you can have your limbs cut off and a hole in your stomach, but your mouth is still alive.

And then I said.

「"Kim Dokja has the [Fourth Wall]."」

Even if you don't have the [Fourth Wall], the most important thing is mental strength.

At that time, I thought I could overcome anything with mental strength. I believed that if I couldn't overcome something, it was because I didn't have enough mental strength.

If I could go back to that time, I would slap myself on the back of the head.

I'm sorry. Kim Dokja-ssi.

I was wrong.

It hurts a lot.

I begged and begged and begged, in pain that felt like my body was going to break in half. I wondered how many times I had to beg until someone would answer.

「..... ..... .....」

It was a very faint voice. I couldn't hear what was being said, but I could clearly see that they were very compassionate and warm words.

The pain eased a little.

In my blurry vision, I could see a thread wrapped around my stomach. I brought my hand to the warm threads.

Beyond the fluttering thread, brown hair fluttered like flower petals.

「..... .....」

I wanted to ask.

Who are you, where am I?

Why did you save me?

「..... .....」

My consciousness continued to drift, the words slipping away.

I felt someone hold my hand, and something inside me stirred and rose. Like it was [Incite], it was like a weight had been lifted off me.

I wanted to say.

I can't do this alone.

I can't change the world, I can't protect people.

I wanted to say, please help me, protect the people.

Then the person on the other side of the thread spoke.

「I can't.」

---

"Inho-ssi! Inho-ssi!"

When I opened my eyes, Kyung Sein and Jung Heewon were in front of me.

"He's awake! Inho-ssi woke up too!"

Chungmuro.

It seemed that I had safely returned to the place where my body was.

I casually looked down at my stomach, which was safe and sound.

"What the hell is going on? Everyone suddenly collapsed, and Inho-ssi wouldn't wake up....."

Jung Heewon sighed heavily as she held my shoulder tightly.

No one had told Jung Heewon what we had been through, judging by the way Kyung Sein was avoiding my eyes. Perhaps it was a wise decision.

"Inho-ssi. Are you okay? Did you hit your head somewhere?"

"No. I'm fine, thank you."

Jung Heewon put her hand on my forehead and stood up.

"Stay here for a while, I'll get you something to drink."

While Jung Heewon was gone, Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi quickly sat down next to me.

"Inho-ssi, you've been there all this time, right?"

"Yes..... But wait a minute."

I closed my eyes for a moment and organized what had happened in my head.

There were four main pieces of information I learned from the 'theater'.

One, in the theater, the 'kkoma Kim Dokjas' are watching us.

Two, 'RepresentativeKimDokja' has a grudge against Kim Dokja.

Three, 'RepresentativeKimDokja' is a 'character'.

Four, someone saved me from 'RepresentativeKimDokja'.

Each piece of information was shocking and hard to put into context.

All I know is that 'RepresentativeKimDokja' is up to something, and he's using us to plan something.

And.....

「..... Company!」

After hearing that last part, I lost consciousness, and I don't remember exactly what happened after that.

I could barely remember that someone escorted me out of that space.

A few deductions flashed through my mind, then quickly disappeared.

「No way.」

When I opened my eyes, Kyung Sein chimed in as if she'd been waiting.

"Inho-ssi, he brought us here, right? RepresentativeKimDokja."

"Yes. It looks like it."

"I didn't see him like that, but I'm really disappointed. How many times did I read the 'Encyclopedia of Omniscient Reader' that he wrote—"

I was about to say that this RepresentativeKimDokja and that RepresentativeKimDokja must be different people, but I shut my mouth.

It didn't matter at this point.

"But he said that if we somehow prevented the destruction, he would let us go home....."

Will 'RepresentativeKimDokja' keep his promise?

I don't know.

If I had to guess, I'd say that since he was an 'outer god' and we had an 'outer world covenant', his promise was valid.

That is, if we somehow managed to prevent the scenario's destruction.

"I thought Inho-ssi was in trouble because you woke up late. Did anything happen?"

I kept the story short, leaving out the details. There were a lot of people around, and I didn't think it was the right time.

"I didn't know if it was a bug or what, but I was the only one there for a while, even after everyone else had disappeared."

"Inho mate, maybe."

At my words, Dansoo ahjussi squeezed my hand. I held his hand back lightly and shook my head.

"I'm sorry, I didn't find Jiyoon."

"Oh."

Dansoo ahjussi's expression quickly darkened.

"It's not time to give up just yet. There were a lot of kids around Jiyoon's age that I didn't get to talk to."

"Really?"

To tell the truth, there weren't that many people who were Jiyoon's age, but it wouldn't do any good to tell him that now.

Kyung Sein also helped.

"That's right, ahjussi. Plus, this world is Omniscient Reader's. Even if the worst comes to the worst, there's always a way out."

"You're right, Sein-ssi."

This world is Omniscient Reader's.

If someone dies here, it doesn't mean they're dead forever.

There are constellations in this world that rule the afterlife, and all dead souls go there.

But I wonder if my readers and I can go to the underworld.

Maybe, like the 41st turn Shin Yoosung, we will be lost in the world without going anywhere.

As I thought about it, I suddenly felt fear.

「Where did all the readers who have already died go?」

As I stared blankly at the stairwell leading upstairs, I saw the 7th Apostle Ye Hyunwoo descending with some people.

"Inho-ssi, are you up?"

I bowed slightly as he rushed over to greet me.

After glancing around, Ye Hyunwoo whispered in a low voice.

"Inho-ssi, you were 'there' too, right?"

"Yes."

"It's a pity. If I knew your face, I would have greeted you."

Perhaps Ye Hyunwoo was also in the theater. Which one of them he was, I don't know. Some readers would know.

"There will be another chance next time. What's going on?"

There was a bustle of people coming down from upstairs. Voices shouting with urgency. I could see them busily moving materials around.

"Oh, that."

Judging by the hardened expression on Ye Hyunwoo's face, something must have happened while I was asleep.

"Inho-ssi!"

Jung Heewon ran over with water from a distance, and her expression was grave.

I got up from my seat, wondering what was going on.

[All the 'green zones' in this region have been destroyed and the main scenario has collapsed.]

An unexpected message came through.

[The difficulty is automatically adjusted according to the remaining schedule of the scenario.]

This can't be happening.

This is starting now?

[The scenario content is updated!]

<Main Scenario #3 — Emergency Defense Battle>

Category: Main

Difficulty: B-

Clear Conditions: All the 'green zones' in the region have been destroyed and the monsters that were going to be created in the remaining days have suddenly run wild. Survive against the flood of monsters for the remaining time.

Time Limit: 8 hours

Reward: 2,000 coins

Failure: —

I recalled the description of 'Emergency Defense Battle' in Omniscient Reader.

「Once the 'Green Zone' scenario is bypassed, the monsters supposed to be created during the remaining time would emerge all at once.」

The timing was faster than when Kim Dokja fought the 'Emergency Defense Battle'.

In other words, we would have to deal with a much larger number of monsters than he did in Omniscient Reader.

A pensive Kyung Sein looked at me and muttered.

"I-Inho-ssi. What should we do?"

In the former Omniscient Reader, Kim Dokja and his group destroyed all the 'green zones', and an 'emergency defense battle' was held.

But now, there was no Kim Dokja in Chungmuro.

So why did the scenario start?

[The 'green zones' were destroyed too quickly.]

[The difficulty of 'Emergency Defense Battle' will be adjusted.]

[People will be banned from entering the station from now on.]

['Emergency Defense Battle' will begin in five minutes!]

Fortunately, we were given time to prepare.

I quickly looked back at my companions and said.

"It's okay. Everybody calm down."

Even if the scenario was more difficult than the original, in the end, the point of 'Emergency Defense Battle' was to fend off from a group of 9th grade underground species 'ground rats' and 8th grade underground species 'grolls'.

In that case, the situation was not bad.

Thanks to Ye Hyunwoo's performance, we had Gong Pildu's assistance, and most importantly, we had.....

"We have the strongest card, don't we?"

Ye Hyunwoo asked with a smile.

"Do you happen to have a hidden hand?"

"I'm talking about Yoo Joonghyuk."

The 41st turn Yoo Joonghyuk.

If the monster who could beat a poisonous rhinoceros from the beginning teamed up with Gong Pildu, 'Emergency Defense Battle' would be no problem.

Of course, whether or not Yoo Joonghyuk would help us was a separate story, but judging by the atmosphere so far.....

"Kids, get up! Now is not the time to play around! Dammit. This is why I was....."

Gong Pildu's shout rang out.

The people who had gotten the artillery from somewhere began to quickly build up a fort in the middle of the platform.

But..... Where did Yoo Joonghyuk go?

"Inho-ssi."

Ye Hyunwoo's expression was dark as he turned around.

"I didn't tell you earlier. Why I was fighting with Yoo Joonghyuk."

I didn't get to hear Ye Hyunwoo's story because we were suddenly summoned by RepresentativeKimDokja.

"I didn't fight him because I wanted to. As a reader who finished the story, there's no way I would choose to fight that monster."

"Then....."

"That bastard tried to destroy all of Chungmuro's 'green zones'."

I got a little goosebumps.

By the 41st turn, Yoo Joonghyuk should have known that 'Emergency Defense Battle' would start when all of Chungmuro's 'green zones' were destroyed.

"Where is Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"He went upstairs. When we were asleep, he smashed all the remaining green zones."

Ye Hyunwoo said through gritted teeth.

At that moment, someone tapped me on the shoulder.

"Uh, ahjussi. You woke up?"

It was Lee Jihye.

"Master said to tell you. Hmmmm."

Clearing her throat, Lee Jihye put her hands on her hips and mimicked Yoo Joonghyuk.

"If you're really Cheon Inho, you can do this alone."

I didn't need to ask what she meant by that.

['Emergency Defense Battle' has begun!]

Lee Jihye added with a smile.

"Then I'll be watching over there."

With those words, Lee Jihye jumped up to the top of the stairwell.

Honestly, I wanted her to help, but I didn't have time to convince her right now.

Gong Pildu called out in a loud voice.

"Here we go. Gather round, everyone!"

It was a relief to have him on our side.

Standing next to me, Ye Hyunwoo said in a low voice.

"Don't worry too much. I've been working hard since the first day to prepare for something like this. Although we're a little ahead of schedule....."

Ye Hyunwoo climbed onto the fort and stood tall like an experienced captain, instructing everyone.

"Take your positions! We'll go as we practiced this morning!"

Apparently, they had already practiced the formation, so they didn't panic and prepared to take cover behind the fort.

I was impressed again.

It was a different atmosphere from the one Geumho Station had when I left.

People moving in an orderly fashion, like a well-trained army.

I wondered what kept them so united.

"Who protects our land?"

"We protect it!"

I remembered in hindsight.

That's right. Chungmuro was like that.

A fortress of the 'Landlord Alliance', controlled by the landowner Gong Pildu.

It was Ye Hyunwoo who commanded the fortress now.

"According to my calculations, this is around the fourth stage of the Invincible Castellan tech tree, and with the synergy of the Invincible Siege Formation, we should be able to handle Emergency Defense Battle. We're still at the third stage of the tech tree, but at this rate, we'll be there soon—"

I don't understand why this guy is still only the 7th Apostle..

Killer King should immediately give up his 2nd place to Ye Hyunwoo.

"We'll help too."

Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi exchanged glances as they each grabbed their weapons.

"Inho-ssi."

And Jung Heewon, standing in front of me.

"Don't step up and recover, and stay well hidden behind me."

Kyung Sein stepped forward with her shield, and Dansoo ahjussi gathered the bugs with his bamboo stick.

And as I watched Ye Hyunwoo adjusting his formation next to Gong Pildu, I suddenly remembered RepresentativeKimDokja's words.

「"All he cares about is the life and death of <Kim Dokja's Company>."」

His words weren't entirely wrong. In the end, the only thing Kim Dokja was able to save was <Kim Dokja's Company>, and in fact, he couldn't even do that properly.

But his story was recorded and told. And there were readers who read the story.

People who remembered better than anyone else how they fought and what kind of life they lived.

「And so, the story is not over yet.」

In the distance, the cries of ground rats could be heard, followed by an ominous vibration coming from the tunnel side of the station.

Ye Hyunwoo shouted.

"Everyone, defend your land thoroughly! Gong Pildu ahjussi and I will take care of the rest!"

In the darkness, I could see the ground rats swarming like a flock of cockroaches.

After completing the inspection of [Private Property] and [Armed Zone], Ye Hyunwoo sent out the signal.

"Fire!"

Emergency Defense Battle began.

---

From downstairs came the sound of the firing of mini-turrets.

The woman bit the candy in her mouth with a crunch.

She dusted herself off and stood up.

"It's started. We should get going."

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' asks if you're really not going to help.]

"Why help them? Our purpose is not to help them, have you forgotten already?"

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' nods hesitantly.]

"We don't have time to help them in the first place, you saw where that sunfish bastard went."

The woman in the white coat glared up at the stairs to the upper level.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' says that sneaky bastard is a problem.]

The woman pulled out a new lemon-flavored candy and said, biting it.

"He's growing faster than I thought. If he gets stronger here, he could be hard to control."

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is in deep thought.]

"Our only chance is now. If he goes 'there', he'll surely show an opening."

The woman looked back down the stairwell one last time.

Cheon Inho and the people from Chungmuro were fighting a bloody battle.

The woman stared at the scene for a moment, as if trying to hold it in her eyes, before turning away and saying.

"This ends the 41st turn."

---

[Gong Pildu's stigma 'Armed Zone Lv. 5' has begun!]

A full level 5 Armed Zone.

With Gong Pildu's cool artillery barrage, all the ground rats in front of him were silenced.

Dududududu!

The ground rats stepped on the corpses of their comrades and continued to push forward.

"We're being pushed! Watch out!"

Less than ten minutes later, the front row of the fort collapsed. As the ground rats squeezed in through the gap, several panicked people screamed and broke ranks.

"No! Keep your place! Don't run!"

One man was bitten on the arm and dragged forward like a fish on a hook.

"Uaaaagh!"

He reached out belatedly, but was dragged into the swarm of ground rats. The screams didn't last long.

Kyung Sein's shoulders shook slightly as he[1] stood in the front row.

[NOTE 1]

"Inho-ssi."

She said, watching as someone else filled the dead man's place.

"Yes."

"To be honest, it didn't feel real until now."

There was blood spattered and screams everywhere.

People were still dying as we spoke. People who hadn't even been properly named.

"I couldn't believe it even when I saw people die after coming into the novel. In fact, I kept thinking maybe I was dreaming, and by the time I woke up, I would open my eyes again in my bed. That's what I thought."

Another person died, and another filled the void.

"But now I realize."

Kyung Sein said, shaking off a charging ground rat.

"I really don't want to die."

I thought I knew why he had suddenly changed his mind. Perhaps it was because things had changed.

"I want to survive..... I want to survive and I want to go back home."

It was because he had such hope that he could return to the original world.

「Prevent its predestined destruction and develop a new story.」

"I'm going to break all the scenarios somehow and go home."

He stabbed a ground rat to death with a thorn after it crossed the line of fire.

Killing, killing, killing again.

I don't know how many he's already killed in that short time.

Catching his breath, Kyung Sein said.

"As soon as I get back, I'm going to turn on my computer. I'm going to write on the bulletin board. I'm going to brag about it. In fact, I was transmigrated into Omniscient Reader."

"......That's what you're going to do as soon as you get back?"

"That's where I saw Jung Heewon, I saw Cheon Inho, I met Yoo Joonghyuk. No one will believe me, but one day I'll definitely tell them."

While he was still trying to figure out what to say, the man in front of him died. He didn't hesitate to fill the void.

"And I'll definitely read Omniscient Reader's extras too. The author-nim said he was going to publish a series."

I smiled bitterly.

I might be the first one to turn on the computer when I get back.

"We're being pushed again! Molotov cocktails ready!"

As the second line of the fort was gradually pushed back, Ye Hyunwoo gave the first signal.

Several men in the rear fished out empty soju bottles from their pockets.

"Throw them!"

At Ye Hyunwoo's command, Molotov cocktails flew through the air. Gasoline sprayed from the broken soju bottles and set the center of the platform ablaze.

As the panicked ground rats scrambled around, Gong Pildu's shells rained down on them.

He had prepared Molotov cocktails in such a short time. Indeed, the 7th Apostle wasn't a joke.

"Don't be pushed back! It will take a long time to rebuild the [Armed Zone]!"

The core of this siege was Gong Pildu's [Armed Zone].

If the line collapsed further, [Armed Zone] would have to be dismantled, but the current forces were not enough to fill the firepower gap.

As the ground rats slowed their advance, albeit slightly, the man guarding the front fort looked back and shouted.

"More Molotov cocktails! We'll push the line and burn them all to a crisp!"

Something burst through the man's stomach.

It was the horn of an 8th grade underground species, a groll.

"Keok, Keoheook! Kuaaaak!"

"P-pull it out! Quickly!"

"Elder Pildu! Help!"

"Everyone out of the way!"

Dudududududu!

The groll, with the man skewered on its horn, was shot and flew backward.

From the 8th grade species onwards, they were hardly knocked down by Gong Pildu's bullets.

A monster that needed at least four or five shots to fall.

There wasn't just one such monster. They were popping up all over the platform, racing toward the fort like heavy tanks.

To make matters worse, Gong Pildu's artillery stopped firing.

"Shit, I have to reload! Everyone, hold on for time!"

The line was about to collapse.

"Sein-ssi."

It was finally our turn to move forward.

"Yes!"

As Kyung Sein, who had the OP skill [Average Correction] and went all in on physique, held his fire with a cheer, Dansoo ahjussi sent a flurry of cockroaches over the groll's eyes.

Kuooo?

Jung Heewon's sword sliced through its back.

The groll's head snapped off.

As three or four grolls fell in quick succession, the reloaded bullets of Gong Pildu swept across the platform.

Dududududu!

The monsters in front of them were swept away by the firepower of the [mini turrets]. The people cheered.

"Those guys are pretty good, huh?"

"Everyone, protect Pildu hyung-nim!"

"We can do it. Hold on!"

The crisis had been averted for now, but the situation was far from optimistic.

Only thirty minutes had passed. Gong Pildu's face was already exhausted. He was running out of magic power.

In Omniscient Reader, Kim Dokja gave him a large amount of Intermediate Magic Power Recovery Potion to replenish his magic power, but now.....

[The constellation 'Defense Master' is making a worried face.]

As a little more time passed, the number of ground rats getting back to their feet after being hit by shells began to increase.

I wondered if I should open the 'dokkaebi bag' now.

"Kid."

Gong Pildu wiped the sweat from his forehead and called out to Ye Hyunwoo. Without a word, Ye Hyunwoo walked up behind Gong Pildu and stood with his hands clasped together, his small body enveloped in a brilliant blue light.

I immediately recognized the skill.

Instead of restricting one's movement, it speeds up the magic power recovery.

Immediately, I could feel the magic power boiling up from Ye Hyunwoo.

Uuuung.

At first glance, that was a lot of magic power, well over level 30.

That was a lot of magic power for just the third scenario.

It was clear that he had put aside all his strength, agility, and physique, going all in on magic power. It was a choice no one in their right mind would make.

"Here we go. Ahjussi."

The moment Ye Hyunwoo's small hand touched Gong Pildu's back, a faint string of magic formed between him and Gong Pildu.

It was the same way that Yoo Joonghyuk transferred his magic power to Kim Dokja when he fought the 'Disaster of Questions' Myung Ilsang in the original.

Soon, an abundance of magic power began to flow throughout Gong Pildu's Private Property.

The speed of the [mini turrets], which had been slowed down, returned.

Dudududududu!

Ye Hyunwoo was now using himself as a 'magic power tank'.

"This is the fourth stage of the 'Invincible Castellan at Home' tech tree."

After locking eyes with me, Ye Hyunwoo wiped the sweat from his brow and said in a confident voice.

"This is the 'Infinite Uroboros'."

A combination of high-level magic power, [Magic Power Recharge], [Magic Power Sharing], and [Armed Zone].

I was amazed at the precision of the mechanics, but I was also stunned that a human being could actually do this.

I'm sure Kim Dokja would have been just as surprised if he were here.

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is amazed.]

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' is aghast!]

[The constellation 'Dragon Lying Down' nods in agreement.]

Lee Jihye, who was watching us from the back stairwell, whistled.

"Wow, that's awesome? I wish I had one like that."

As the firing rate of the [mini turrets] increased, the battle gained momentum.

Jung Heewon and Kyung Sein were enough to fight the occasional grolls, leaving the remaining hands free to rebuild the collapsed fort.

The men working on the new molotov cocktails muttered.

"This is better than I thought?"

"Yeah, if it goes like this, it'll be a smooth ride—"

No, wait.

['Emergency Defense Battle' has entered a new phase.]

The message echoed in the air as if it had been waiting.

I wondered if the word 'smooth' should be banned from Omniscient Reader.

[A new monster species has appeared in 'Emergency Defense Battle'!]

A message that never appeared in the original. In the first place, the Emergency Defense Battle was not a scenario that had different phases.

[A 7th grade monster species has appeared!]

A huge shadow flickered from the railroad tracks. The sound of a subway car scraping across the ground. I could feel the ground shaking under my feet.

"What, what, what is that!"

It wasn't the subway that had emerged from the tunnel. It was a large monster, at least 15 meters long.

'Giant Centipede'.

At the sight of the hundreds of legs beneath its five-colored carapace, the men lost their fighting spirit and rushed toward Gong Pildu.

"Uaaaak! Crazy!"

"H-how am I supposed to catch that thing—"

It can be caught. Yoo Joonghyuk would be able to.

The only problem was, he wasn't here.

I glanced over and saw that Ye Hyunwoo's expression was also stony. It was natural to panic.

"Inho-ssi."

It seemed he was out of tricks.

I stepped forward.

"We'll take it from here."

"Do you have a plan?"

"We'll have to fight it head on and kill it, I guess."

"Like that? How?"

"I don't know..... By stabbing it?"

"I..... Inho-ssi. I don't know how many times you've read it, but that's not just a 7th grade monster species, it's a 'king'. It's a monster that even the 4th stage of my Invincible Castellan tech tree can't handle. I'm telling you as someone who read it 50 times—"

I glanced to the side instead of answering. Jung Heewon, who had just decapitated a monster, was approaching.

"Heewon-ssi."

Wiping the blood from her ground rat knife, Jung Heewon nodded.

"Hide well, I can't protect you this time."

She tapped me on the shoulder and walked away.

Ye Hyunwoo, who was looking at her blankly, smiled bitterly.

"Jung Heewon, I know, she's the best in Kimcom in terms of combat power, but even she can't do it now—"

"Well, I also have a tech tree that I've prepared."

"What?"

Actually, I didn't have anything.

But things didn't always go well just because you had something prepared.

It was the same when I was writing novels.

Sometimes the episodes I had written with thoughts I had in the spur of the moment were way more interesting than the ones I had planned a hundred days in advance.

"Let's see."

Jung Heewon was such a 'thought' for me.

[All of the constellations in the channel agree to the use of 'Hour of Judgment'.]

A 'thought' that came to me when I had given up on everything.

[The character Jung Heewon has used 'Hour of Judgment'!]

Scattering dazzling brilliance, Jung Heewon rushed towards the centipede.

Looking at Jung Heewon like that, I thought to myself.

If this whole scenario were to end and I could return to reality.

「Maybe I would be writing about this moment.」

That's when my phone rang.

[A new chapter of 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' has been updated on the platform.]

---

The timing was perfect.

[Enter the platform now to check the new chapter of 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.]

Anyway, I think this is the first time I've gotten an update message.

I was tempted to open my phone, but I couldn't afford to right now.

There was a bloody battle between humans and monsters going on a dozen meters away.

"No. What is that—"

Ye Hyunwoo's eyes widened at the sight of Jung Heewon's battle.

"Come to think of it, wasn't Cheon Inho originally killed by Jung Heewon? That's when she became the 'Judge of Destruction'."

"That's right."

"Then how did Jung Heewon awaken now?"

"It's a long story, so let's just watch for now."

Covered in crimson blood, Jung Heewon had already cut off more than a third of the centipede's legs.

'Demon Slaying Judge.'

The Judge's attribute of causing an explosive increase in combat power against monsters resonated with Jung Heewon's Kendo.

Sugagagagak.

With each swing of Jung Heewon's sword, half-dozen centipede legs were sliced off at once.

A precise and swift swordplay, dodging out of the centipede's line of sight, cutting only its feet.

Kyung Sein waved his shield and shouted.

"Uaaah! Heewon's the best!"

Lee Jihye, who had been lying idle in the stairwell, was also watching the battle with fascination.

"Wow, she's killing it....."

The majesty of single-handedly defeating a 7th grade monster species, a King at that.

It was a battle that only Yoo Joonghyuk was capable of, and now Jung Heewon was showing it in front of our eyes.

She was so focused on the battle that her inner voice echoed vividly in my ears.

「I will never lose.」

What was in front of her now was a monster.

But in a sense, it wasn't the monster she was fighting.

「Next time, surely.」

She was alone, fighting an imaginary enemy, a man who was better with a sword than anyone she knew.

Imagining his sword, she swung, and swung, and swung again.

「I have to be faster.」

Jung Heewon knew.

Yoo Joonghyuk's sword was the essence (精髓) of martial arts, forged by the time and effort of countless masters.

She couldn't follow its trajectory now.

However, she could see where it was headed.

A sword forged to shatter the heavens of this world and make the stars fall.

Breaking the Sky Swordsmanship (破天劍道).

[The character 'Jung Heewon's skill proficiency is rising rapidly!]

Her sword was blossoming from the bitter defeat. A bluish aura was now permeating her ground rat knife.

Dedicated Sword Force (罡氣功).

It was unmistakable. Though it was still faint, it was the Dedicated Sword Force used by the masters of Murim.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' is surprised by the talent of the incarnation 'Jung Heewon'.]

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' has entered the channel.]

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' is looking at the incarnation 'Jung Heewon' with interest.]

A technique that she learned on her own, without being taught by anyone, without even learning a superlative skill.

Come to think of it, Jung Heewon was also extraordinarily talented in the original.

Could she reach the level of Yoo Joonghyuk in this turn?

[Your 'Free Comments Daily Pass' will expire soon!]

Earlier, they promoted the new chapter, and now they're threatening me to take it away.

[You currently have a total of 6 'Free Comments Daily Pass'.]

[Free Comments Daily Passes accumulate up to a maximum of 2, and will expire if not used within today.]

My head spun. I looked at my watch and it was almost midnight. The pass cost a whopping 3,000 coins.

Just in time, Ye Hyunwoo signaled.

"Everyone in the front, except for Jung Heewon, please step back for a moment! Let's work on the line with concentrated fire from now on!"

With Jung Heewon and the giant centipede fighting it out, all the ground rats and grolls' formations in the area collapsed.

Ye Hyunwoo didn't miss the opportunity and ordered the fire.

Dudududududu!

There was a brief pause in the back-and-forth battle.

It would be fine to check the comments for a while.

I joined the crowd and slipped into the rear, then quickly opened my phone and turned on the platform app.

.....

That was a lot of chapters in a short time. At first glance, there were over 40 chapters.

What did I do to get this far already? I hadn't even finished 'Emergency Defense Battle' yet.

I still hadn't figured out who had written this.

"The people on the back, please check your equipment! We'll be back in action in five minutes!"

I was running out of time, so I decided to check out the recent comments.

Maybe they'd have some useful information.

Sunfish is the nickname of Yoo Joonghyuk, who often dies and regresses.

My head was spinning.

Did it mean that Yoo Joonghyuk was going to die?

But it couldn't be.

The Yoo Joonghyuk I saw in the 41st turn was more like a scumbag than a sunfish.

In the distance, I could see Jung Heewon, who had cut off all the legs of the giant centipede, delivering the final blow.

"Get ready to go in one minute!"

The five minutes were already coming to an end.

I hesitated for a moment and used up the last pass.

[You've used up all the free daily passes.]

I looked around with anxiety for a moment.

Gong Pildu was firing shells steadily, and the line of ground rats had been completely pushed outward.

After finishing off the giant centipede, I could see Jung Heewon running towards me, stomping on a ground rat's head.

There was nothing weird.

Time hadn't stopped, and the world hadn't turned colorless, so—!

———!

The floor of the platform exploded in front of me, sending me flying through the air as debris rained down and scattered.

With my ears ringing, I spit out dust and stood up. My vision hadn't recovered yet, so I couldn't tell what happened.

A man who had been catching the ground rats a few moments earlier was being torn apart by them, his body separated from the waist down.

Horrified people crawled on their asses.

The fort collapsed with a single explosion.

The ground rats had broken through the turret line and were tearing the incarnations apart.

"Help me! Help me!"

Gong Pildu's shattered turrets could be seen in the dust, his proud [Private Property] and [Armed Zone] both destroyed.

Ye Hyunwoo was shaking the bleeding Gong Pildu.

"Ahjussi! Ahjussi!"

What the hell had happened?

Surely everything was going well. There wasn't even a warning from '■■'.

What the hell?

Kkukukukuku.

A monster species emerged from the settled dust.

['Emergency Defense Battle' has entered a new phase.]

[An additional 7th grade monster species has appeared!]

Giant Centipede.

It was even bigger than the one Jung Heewon had caught. Jung Heewon stretched out her hand and called out.

"Inho-ssi!"

There was another explosion from the ground.

[An additional 7th grade monster species has appeared!]

The tail of the beast protruding from the ground collided directly with Jung Heewon.

I barely caught the body of Jung Heewon that was sent flying.

"Heewon-ssi."

Jung Heewon let out a painful breath. It seemed that she had received a heavy blow to her back when [Hour of Judgement] was released.

A middle-aged man crawling on the ground next to me shouted.

"E-everyone, run!"

The middle-aged man stepped on my phone, which had fallen to the ground. Above the cracked screen, the platform screen I was looking at floated.

| Episode 9. Words That Can't Be Said (3)+[34] |
| --- |

The comments grew in real time.

All I could see was the comments of my readers.

I don't know how the chapters are actually written.

「"You've all thought about it at least once: In that world, what kind of life will those who are not chosen by Kim Dokja live?"」

In the five thousand characters of text, I wondered if our story was being written properly.

How many people died in this 'Emergency Defense Battle' that Kim Dokja couldn't see until the end. How many suffered.

What stories were told.

Will the reader of this chapter know that now?

「"I believe you know the truth about what it's like to be an 'extra' in this world."」

Probably not.

Because their deaths are not stories people want to read.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' yawns and says he's getting a little bored.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' wants a novel scenario solution.]

Because a generic extra's death doesn't attract any of the stars' attention.

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is watching your choice.]

As I stood up with Jung Heewon in my arms, a ground rat pounced through the dust.

"What are you doing? Are you out of your mind?"

With a slash, it was sliced in half.

Lee Jihye was in front of me.

"Master told me to keep you alive."

She spat out the gum she'd been chewing, and didn't even look back at me as if she was bothered.

The giant centipede that had spotted us was coming this way.

"I can't catch that kind of thing either. I'll just buy time, so pull yourself together and go upstairs now."

Lee Jihye is strong. This kind of adversity won't kill her.

The writer of this story knows it, and the reader knows it.

Perhaps Lee Jihye herself knows this.

「But what about Cheon Inho?」

I slowed my pace and stood beside Lee Jihye.

Lee Jihye's eyes widened as she killed the approaching ground rats.

"What?"

"Please take care of Heewon-ssi."

Lee Jihye, who received Jung Heewon without hesitation, looked at me in surprise.

I ignored her and started walking forward.

I stuck a thorn into the head of an approaching ground rat and kept walking.

"What the hell! Ahjussi! Do you really want to die?"

Die?

"I won't die."

If this really was a life-threatening situation, time would have stopped and the world would have turned colorless.

And I would have a manuscript opening with all sorts of negative scene titles, like 'The Death of the Villain', 'The Villain's Crisis', 'The Villain's End', and so on.

So this silence was a clear opening line for me.

「Cheon Inho won't die here.」

"Ah, stop! You're really going to die!"

The platform was littered with the bodies of dead ground rats and humans.

I blinked slowly, as if taking a photograph.

[Describe your own behavior.]

It's the writer, not anyone else, who excludes the extras from the story.

「Because their stories are already written.」

An unnamed ground rat bit an unnamed man to death.

As I stabbed the nameless ground rats again, I thought to myself.

「These pages, which no one can read, are their story.」

What had been a gray, snowy world was now covered in red and blue blood.

Stories that are not told because they are everywhere.

Death in the middle of unwritten lines.

「There are no sentences for extras.」

It was a matter of course.

The moment you write a sentence for an extra, they become a protagonist.

When one person becomes the protagonist, the rest become extras.

"Help—"

"KKuaaak!"

I barely saved one person, and another died.

I never learned the names of the dead. Even though I was right next to them, I couldn't see how they died.

Dead people with their eyes open as if in mourning.

Damn it, even in this scene, I was a writer. An insensitive recorder, trying to write a sentence on the blank space created by their deaths.

「Nevertheless, someone has to make footprints in this snowfield.」

A ground rat nibbled at my thigh.

「Someone has to be the protagonist, after all.」

I swatted it away, and a second one bit my arm.

「That's what this snowfield is for.」

I slammed my arm down on its head. But when I killed one, two came, and when I shook them off, three came.

"N-no—"

"Inho-ssi! Stop! Inho-ssi!"

Looking back at the stairwell, I saw the faces of Kyung Sein, Dansoo ahjussi, and Ye Hyunwoo one after another.

Gong Pildu and Jung Heewon hadn't regained consciousness yet.

Lee Jihye was busy fending off the monsters coming up the stairwell.

"Ahjussi, what are you doing! Hurry up and come this way!"

There were still quite a few people who hadn't made it to the stairwell. The fort formations had all collapsed, and the people were cornered.

At this rate, Chungmuro Station would be wiped out.

I made a decision.

I don't know if this will work.

"Thought."

Still, I had to try.

"Let's go."

'Thoughts of Almost Everything' gurgled into the bracelet.

I commanded it.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 5' has been activated.]

「Turn into the Ever-changing Stealth Suit.」

Ever-changing Stealth Suit.

The disguise item that 'RepresentativeKimDokja' was wearing.

At the time, I had fulfilled the requirement of 'being hit 10 times' to obtain the appearance of the 'Ever-changing Stealth Suit', which allowed me to place this item on the mimicry list.

[Putting on the 'Ever-changing Stealth Suit'!]

「Transform into a ground rat.」

A moment later, with a blinding flash of light, my appearance changed to that of a ground rat.

The ground rats that had been pouncing on me stopped in their tracks.

They sniffed and hovered around me.

Some of them bared their fangs at me, showing their intense hostility.

I suppose it's natural for them to be suspicious, since they saw me as a human just a moment ago.

I used [Incite] on them.

「I am a ground rat.」

A few ground rats came up to me and sniffed, then one by one they scurried past me.

Luckily, the plan worked.

I ran backwards through the procession of ground rats and quickly made my way to the center of the platform.

I could see two giant centipedes roaring at the ceiling.

Before long,

Everywhere I looked, the ground rats let out wild cries.

And then.

「..... .....」

I heard a strange voice.

I turned around, wondering where it was coming from.

[Your exclusive attribute has been activated.]

[You are interpreting the language of the ground rats.]

「Go up」

The ground rat was speaking.

「Runrunrunrun」

「Stayclosetomommy」

「Justalittlebitjustalittlebit」

「Upupup」

A ground rat that was passing by me stopped to look at me.

「Notthatway」

It looked at me and added.

「Runthisway」

I asked it.

"Why?"

「BecausethatstheorderBecausethatstheorder」

The order. By who?

The ground rat shuddered, looked back toward the tunnel, and started running past me again.

I couldn't hear the answer, but I knew why it was running.

Humans are not the only participants in scenarios.

Everything in this world belongs to the 'scenario'. This was true even for the ground rats in front of me.

「Mommy」

「Helphelphelp」

「Cantbreathecantbreathe」

I looked down at the floor. There was a pile of bullet-riddled ground rats corpses.

Dozens of times more than the dead humans.

「The extras, they don't even realize they're extras.」

A huge shadow was cast over me.

「You」

Since when? A giant centipede was bending over my head.

「Why did you come this way?」

I looked around without answering.

This was the center of the station.

People were almost at the top of the stairs. The important thing is to stall the time from now on until Gong Pildu unleashes the [Armed Zone] again.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 5' has been activated!]

「Look this way!」

In response to my [Incite], a bunch of ground rats turned to look at me.

「Whatwhatwhatwhat」

「Wherewherewherewhere」

It wasn't enough.

I shouted again.

「This way!」

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 5' is being used to the limit!]

[The level of the exclusive skill 'Incite' has increased!]

Poosyuk, Blood trickled from my nose with the sound.

This time, more of them looked back at me. Some of the ground rats that ran straight ahead, others that jumped up to the stairwell and attacked people.

They were all looking in my direction.

「Whatwhat」

「Whowhowho」

「Whywhywhywhywhy」

I suddenly remembered the 'outer gods' from Omniscient Reader. They were extras who died as 'Nameless Ones' in the worldview of the 'Ways of Survival'.

I was not a Kim Dokja, so I did not have the power to save them.

Instead, I was forced to kill them all to end the scenario.

'Thoughts.'

I invoked it, and in my mind's eye, I could see the forms I had collected so far.

Magic Power Recovery Bracelet.

Damaged Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick.

Ever-changing Stealth Suit.

Magic Power Stove.

And.....

I didn't want to use these items until the end. Because, in return, the platform would be a dead zone for a while.

But now I had no other choice.

「Turn into a 'Poison Bomb'.」

Poison Bomb. It was an item they left behind when we fought the Misreading Association.

A biochemical weapon made from the anal sac of a poisonous rhinoceros.

I picked up one of the used bombs at the time and put it on the possible mimicry list.

[The consumed item is restored by the effect of 'Thoughts of Almost Everything'.]

[The rare occasion of shape evolution has occurred!]

[The form of the item has evolved to a higher level!]

['Thoughts of Almost Everything' has turned into 'High-Level Poison Bomb'.]

A moment later, a faintly glowing bomb appeared in front of me.

[This item is a consumable item.]

[When the item is used, you won't be able to use the form again.]

[The effect of the 'Ever-changing Stealth Suit' will be lifted.]

As I reverted to my normal form, the ground rats growled and showed their hostility.

But none of them pounced on me. Even the giant centipede kept a wary distance and glared at my hand for a reason.

They know.

If I detonate this bomb now, every monster in the station will be wiped out.

「Ohnomommyimscared」

「Hidebehindmom」

I stared at them for a moment.

「Whatsgoingon」

「Humanhumanhuman」

「IdontwanttodieIdontwanttodie」

I slowly opened my mouth.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 5' has been activated.]

「You don't have to die like this.」

I looked back at the ground rats, the giant centipedes, and the grolls.

「Don't hurt any more people and go back. Then I won't kill you either.」

[The constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' admires your boldness.]

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' opens its mouth at your suggestion.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' marvels at your integrity.]

I know the odds are slim.

But theoretically, the monsters and humans could resolve the scenario without harming each other.

[There are 7 hours and 12 minutes remaining until the end of the Emergency Defense Battle.]

I continued.

"Emergency Defense Battle is a scenario with a time limit. It will end at some point, even if they don't hurt each other."

I could feel the ground rats' agitation.

「A story where no one is the protagonist, maybe.」

The extras had died enough. Monsters and humans alike knew.

[The ground rats are confused by your 'Incite'.]

Monsters, too, are but incarnations. They also fear death.

They have families, they have friends.

They have lives.

Tsuchuchuchuchut!

It was then that sparks exploded in thin air.

[Some dokkaebis find your attempts to be a threat to the scenario.]

[Many constellations are eager to see the scenario unfold quickly!]

[The probability of the <Star Stream> is moving.]

[Your 'Incite' has been lifted.]

[Emergency Defensive Battle will resume.]

[A few constellations laugh at your reckless behavior.]

Looking at the message, I thought.

「After all, isn't this world one giant instigator?」

One of the ground rats looked at me and said.

「Thereisnosuchstory」

With those words, a swarm of ground rats pounced on me.

I replied.

"Yes."

There was a loud explosion. A blizzard of poisonous gas, accompanied by an unpleasant odor, swept across the platform.

I heard the screams of the monsters. The giant centipedes and ground rats dying, their bodies spewing black blood.

I could see the monsters from the tunnel falling to the ground as well. As I watched them die, I thought to myself.

「If only the monsters hadn't died here, this story would have been interesting.」

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' cheers for the mass murder.]

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says that monsters are best when they're dead.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' admires your idea.]

[The constellation 'Dragon Lying Down' appreciates your strategy.]

.....

I stumbled, barely able to catch my breath. I felt like I was going to collapse at any moment, but it wasn't time yet.

I swallowed the Poisonous Rhinoceros' Horn Powder little by little and turned around to start walking.

One step, two steps.

I walked and walked and walked through a landscape swallowed up by the dense fog, stabbing each approaching ground rat thoroughly, one by one.

I swallowed the nausea that rose. A few times I stumbled over dead bodies, and then got back up.

I heard a small cry in my ear. It was a dying ground rat. I was about to strike it down with my thorn.

Kking.

I realized that the ground rat was already dead. Instead, I found a tiny creature squirming in its arms.

It was a ground rat pup.

I stared down at it in disbelief.

「After all, every story has a protagonist.」

As if it wanted to live, the pup struggled to breathe and exhale with difficulty.

I could see the tip of its nose turning black from exposure to the gas.

I bent down and scooped it up in my arms. I poured a little of the remaining Poisonous Rhinoceros' Horn Powder into its mouth.

Its groans gradually ceased.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is watching your story.]

I walked across the platform with the pup in my arms. It was hard to see through the fog.

[The constellation 'Lotus Blooming Under the Moonlight' is watching your story.]

I walked and walked and walked, relying on the faint voices of the stars.

Little by little, my consciousness faded.

I could hear voices in the distance.

They were the voices of those looking for me.

The tip of my foot caught on something hard. It was the stairs. I had to go up.

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is watching your story.]

I glanced back absentmindedly.

The bodies of so many monsters and humans, now buried in the thick fog, were nowhere to be seen.

I took a step up the stairs, and a single footprint imprinted itself.

[You have achieved an impossible feat.]

It was a pitch black footprint.

[Your first 'story' is germinating.]

I went up the stairs.

599 Episode 9. Words That Can't Be Said (5)

---

Everything is white. An empty, blank space, like a manuscript page with nothing written on it.

My thoughts blinked like a cursor.

「"Inho-ssi, how did you become a writer?"」

Jung Heewon asked me that question when we were trapped inside the ichthyosaur.

Strangely, the answer didn't come to me immediately.

How did I become a writer?

The memory was distant and fuzzy.

「You're here?」

I forced my eyes open and saw a snowy sky.

I immediately realized where I was.

A snowfield covered in white.

As I slowly raised myself up, I saw the face of the protagonist I knew so well.

「Kim Dokja.」

Kim Dokja nodded. Just like the last time we met, he was still standing alone in the snowfield.

He waved lightly at me, then squatted down and stared at the ground. He was looking so intently at the ground that I couldn't help but approach and ask.

「Is there something there?」

Kim Dokja shook his head and smirked. His finger pointed down.

There was a pitch black footprint.

It wasn't the original footprint.

They were clearly recent.

I looked down at my feet, then back up at the print.

Then I slowly squatted down next to Kim Dokja.

「I wanted to be strong like you.」

I don't know why I said that, it just came out of my mouth.

「Like you.....」

「You know.」

Kim Dokja said.

「I'm not that strong.」

As he said this, he slowly turned around and saw the vague trail of footsteps behind him.

Kim Dokja, as if counting the footprints, said.

「I just kept walking.」

Keep walking.

Kim Dokja continued.

「It's going to be very hard from now on.」

「.....」

「It will be lonely.」

After hearing those words, I felt really lonely. I said.

「This story won't have a happy ending.」

Kim Dokja didn't answer for a moment.

We looked at the footprints. Footprints that had disappeared. Footprints that were being made. And footprints that would be made.

Kim Dokja asked.

「Will you be alright?」

I nodded slowly.

「As long as you keep reading.」

Kim Dokja's eyes were on me. I felt awkward and averted his gaze.

He said.

「Well, it's not supposed to be like that.」

He hesitated, rummaged through his coat pockets, and placed something in my hand.

「Take it. And.....」

---

I opened my eyes with a sigh.

It was Chungmuro Station.

"Inho-ssi!"

I put a hand on my forehead and raised my upper body. Kyung Sein's face came into view.

"Everyone....."

"It's okay, everyone's okay."

Kyung Sein squeezed my hand.

"Hey, Inho-ssi."

It was then that Dansoo ahjussi came to my side. He sat on his knees and stared at me.

His face looked like he was scolding me, or maybe he was worried.

But he didn't ask me anything, just hugged me quietly.

Then Kyung Sein next to us suddenly burst into tears and hugged us both.

In their arms, I looked out at the scenery of Chungmuro Station.

I could see the faces of the survivors.

Gong Pildu, Ye Hyunwoo and other people were building a fort at the foot of the stairs.

I could also see a large tarp over the entrance to the stairwell to prevent the poisonous gas from rising.

On the bench, injured people were tending to their wounds.

Some incarnations fell asleep after eating the [Elaine Forest Essence].

I could also see Jung Heewon lying on the ground and Lee Jihye sitting on the bench, staring at the tarp.

[There are 3 hours and 39 minutes remaining until the end of the 'Emergency Defense Battle'.]

[The 'Bureau' is currently considering an early end to the 'Emergency Defense Battle'.]

A faint cheer erupted from the people building the fort.

Early termination of the scenario.

It was an option the Bureau was considering.

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' grumbles about how long he has to watch the obvious.]

[Some constellations are asking if the results are out already.]

The constellations were getting tired of the scenario, and it was clear that more time here wasn't going to change the outcome.

Even now, behind that tarp, monsters were dying in real time from the poisonous fog.

I stared at the thin membrane that separated the life and death of humans and monsters.

"Ah, Inho-ssi."

Ye Hyunwoo spotted me and waved at me. I hesitantly waved back.

"You."

A large shadow fell over my head. I looked up and saw a head glistening in the fluorescent light.

Gong Pildu frowned and ran his eyes down my arms and legs, each one scarred with the bite marks of ground rats.

"What were you going to do if you died?"

"I thought I wouldn't die."

Gong Pildu stared at my face for a long time, as if he didn't like my answer.

"Thanks to you, we all lived."

I swallowed hard.

It wasn't anyone else, it was Gong Pildu. The Ten Evils of Chungmuro Station. The second most proud person in the entire Omniscient Reader.

He had just expressed his gratitude to me.

However, Gong Pildu's expression was a little strange.

"What is that?"

Suddenly, I turned around and saw a ground rat's pup with its nose stuck in my side, calmly breathing.

Several people freaked out when they saw it.

No wonder.

They had just been in a fight for their lives with the ground rats, and now they were seeing a baby monster right in front of them.

Apparently frightened by their stares, the pup scurried into my arms.

Gong Pildu asked.

"Why did you bring it here?"

I put my hand on the frightened pup's head and thought.

I could have said I did it out of pity, or I could have said I felt guilty.

I could have plausibly argued that there was no one here today who fought because they wanted to fight, and that would have been the same for the monsters.

"Do you like dogs?"

Gong Pildu was silent for a moment.

As if reading our minds, the pup stuck its head out and looked at him.

Gong Pildu stared at the pup, then asked.

"Will you raise it?"

I hadn't thought about it.

I wondered if I could raise him.

Gong Pildu slowly bent down and squatted.

"Max."

Gong Pildu said in a scary voice. He spoke again, with a slight pause.

"Max."

Then with a whimper and a small cry, the ground rat pup hesitantly crawled out. After a moment's hesitation, it scooted closer to Gong Pildu, sniffed, and wagged its tail.

Gong Pildu's pupils shook faintly. In his wrinkled face, the faintest hint of longing came and went.

I asked.

"Have you ever had a dog?"

Instead of answering me, Gong Pildu stared at the tarp-covered stairwell for a moment.

"A dog would be perfect for guarding the land."

---

After taking the ground rat pup away, Gong Pildu turned to the group and announced.

"We're going to raise this guy."

Max yawned loudly in Gong Pildu's hands.

"As you can see from the way those guys fought earlier, they're very tenacious and strong monsters. We're going to train him and use him as a guard dog. Anyone with a complaint, come out now."

One of the men, who had been glaring at the pup the whole time, held up a hand in frustration.

"What if it isn't well trained and attacks us?"

"In that case, I will be responsible for killing it."

Gong Pildu said firmly, and several men nodded. Some even hesitantly approached and took a closer look at Max.

"The pup is kind of cute in his own way."

"Huh, is that what he'll be like when he grows up?"

Dansoo ahjussi, who was watching the scene from the sidelines, said.

"When Jiyoon stayed in her room and read web novels."

"What?"

"I was in the living room watching old movies."

Dansoo ahjussi, who rarely talks about himself, brought up the topic for the first time in a long time.

"What kind of movies do you watch?"

"King Kong, Godzilla, King Kong vs. Godzilla....."

"Oh."

The daughter read Omniscient Reader in her room, while the father watched King Kong vs. Godzilla in the living room. With a firmly closed door between them.

"When you watch a monster movie, there's always someone who takes pity on the monster and tries to raise it."

"....."

"Every once in a while, Jiyoon would walk by and say something like, 'There are no humans like that. How could people who were about to be eaten a moment ago want to raise the monster'?"

In the distance, Gong Pildu was teaching Max, a ground rat, how to 'give the paw'. Max looked up at him and licked his hand.

"I wish I could have shown her this view."

Gong Pildu frowned, and the people in Chungmuro Station smirked.

People were laughing, like actors backstage after a curtain call. As if everything that happened under that tarp was a lie.

Some people got hurt, some people got killed, but some people laughed.

They know that if they don't, they won't get to play the next scene.

"Mate."

"Yeah."

"I don't want to watch a movie where my mate dies."

I stared at the people laughing and talking, unable to answer.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' has sponsored you.]

[500 coins have been sponsored.]

---

As a reward for risking my life, I was mentally attacked by Kyung Sein for a while.

"Inho-ssi, you're just like Kim Dokja."

"What?"

"No, I mean, who in their right mind would suddenly jump into a swarm of ground rats in that situation? Aren't you actually Kim Dokja? Do you have the King of No Killing or something?"

That comment complicated my feelings quite a bit.

I mean, I like Kim Dokja, but this was kind of.....

—Hey.

There was a small spark in the air, and Bihyung's voice called out.

—Are you up?

Apparently, Bihyung was also waiting for me to wake up.

'Yes, I'm awake.'

Bihyung cleared his throat several times, then continued with a solemn voice.

—I'm really surprised this time. I didn't think you'd start a story.

At the same time as he spoke, the logs that had been pushed aside suddenly appeared.

[You have accomplished an achievement that never existed before.]

[You are beginning your first 'story' in the 3rd scenario.]

[A few constellations doubt your accomplishment.]

[Some constellations are interested in your achievement.]

[A very small number of constellations have noticed your existence.]

[10,000 coins have been sponsored.]

It's an achievement that made the nebulae pay attention to me.

Considering this is only the third scenario, that's quite an accomplishment.

—Don't get cocky. Oh, do you even know what a story is?

'I kind of know. If you collect them, you get stronger.'

—Well, it doesn't matter if you know that now..... Anyway, don't get carried away. You don't have a story yet, just the germination of the first one, okay?

'Yes.'

I couldn't help but smile bitterly, it was as if he was trying to calm down a writer who was excited about an unexpected box office hit.

In fact, as Bihyung said, I couldn't get cocky.

My first story was still a seed, and I wasn't sure if it would ever bloom. And even if it did, there was a chance it would be a bad one.

—You're the worst because you look obedient on the outside. Damn it.

As I listened to Bihyung's rambling, I remembered the beginning of Omniscient Reader.

The novice dokkaebi Bihyung was surprised and horrified by Kim Dokja's behavior.

—Anyway, there will be additional rewards after the scenario is completed, since no other incarnation has solved the 'Emergency Defense Battle' like you.

What kind of ending will this world's Bihyung have?

Will he become the Dokkaebi King of this world?

—Ha, by the way, this is really unusual. I can't believe there are already three people germinating stories.

I paused for a moment, then asked.

'There's other ones?'

Who is it? Yoo Joonghyuk?

—Yes. They're pretty famous now. One dark person, one white person.....

The dark person is definitely Yoo Joonghyuk.

Who is the white one?

'Can you tell me who they are?'

—Naturally, I can't give you that kind of information, but I think they're a little crazy. They keep buying lemon candy from the 'dokkaebi bag'. It costs like 200 coins a piece.

'Lemon candy?'

—Anyway, I have to go. I've got a lot of other noisy places to be right now. Damn, I shouldn't have opened the Hidden Dungeon at a time like this.....

With those words, Bihyung disappeared.

I turned to Kyung Sein, who was still talking about Kim Dokja.

"Sein-ssi. Has Yoo Joonghyuk returned yet?"

"No, and you're still looking for Yoo Joonghyuk. Inho-ssi, you're really—"

"Sein-ssi."

"That bastard didn't even show his nose. Why?"

As far as I could tell, there was only one place Yoo Joonghyuk could have gone if he wasn't participating in the 'Emergency Defense Battle'.

「The Theater Dungeon.」

I had an ominous feeling.

Of course, Yoo Joonghyuk was strong in this world, so he wouldn't die in the 'Theater Dungeon'.

At least, that's how it was supposed to be.

「Yoo Joonghyuk is stuck on the sunfish route again」

That comment from a few hours ago stuck with me.

I glanced at my surroundings and secretly opened my phone. The battery was almost dead.

[A new chapter has been updated!]

A new chapter already?

I absentmindedly scrolled through the list and stopped when I saw the new episode title.

| Episode 10. Writer (1) |
| --- |

As soon as I saw the title, Bihyung's words ran through my head.

「They keep buying lemon candy from the 'dokkaebi bag'.」

I absentmindedly shoved my hand in my pocket.

Since when?

In my pocket, there was something I'd never put there before.

「Take it. And.....」

Too late, I remembered the words from my dream.

I took the object out of my pocket. Slowly, a chill ran down my spine.

A small candy wrapped in a yellow shell.

Surely, that's what Kim Dokja said.

「Give it to him.」

600 Episode 10. Writer (1)

Half an hour later, I hunted down the 'Giant Centipede' and organized the items I obtained.

[Giant Centipede Core].

[Giant Centipede Carapace Fragment].

I managed to grab these two items in a hurry.

I didn't have any use for them right now, so I put them up for sale on the exchange through Bihyung.

The centipede's core is used as an ingredient for the panacea, so there was a chance that Chinese incarnations like Fei Hu would buy them.

Come to think of it, I completely forgot about the overseas side.

There are translations of 'Omniscient Reader' in foreign languages, so maybe there are some transmigrated foreign readers.

"Inho-ssi, we're ready."

I turned around to find Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi waiting for me.

"Okay. Let's go."

We went straight to Ye Hyunwoo.

When we told him what we wanted to do, he had the expected reaction.

"You want to go to the Theater Dungeon now?"

Ye Hyunwoo thought for a moment, then asked Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi to leave for a moment.

When they stepped back, Ye Hyunwoo asked in a low voice.

"Does this have anything to do with Yoo Joonghyuk?"

As expected of the 7th Apostle.

I simply nodded and replied.

"Because the only place Yoo Joonghyuk can go right now is the 'Theater Dungeon'."

"Hmm, I guess so too."

Ye Hyunwoo's gaze drifted upward toward the top of the station.

Somewhere up there, Yoo Joonghyuk, who had entered the theater, was probably slashing at monsters.

"I heard from Sein-ssi last time. The Yoo Joonghyuk of this world is the 41st turn, right?"

"That's right."

"Which 41st turn?"

"If you ask me which one."

"There were two 41st turns. One before Shin Yoosung became the Disaster of Floods, and one after."

I smiled bitterly to myself.

This was no ordinary reader, indeed.

My expression must have been serious, because Ye Hyunwoo laughed.

"You can pretend like you don't know, and I won't bother using Lie Detection."

I felt a little numb as I watched him smile.

What a clever reader.

"Probably the former."

"Then it's the '41st turn' from Omniscient Reader. The one where he failed the scenario and turned Shin Yoosung into the 'Disaster of Floods'..... and you're still going to the 'Theater Dungeon'?"

I was at a loss for words.

"You saw him yourself, Inho-ssi. He destroyed all the green zones and tried to kill us."

It was true. We were almost wiped out in the Emergency Defense Battle because of Yoo Joonghyuk.

However.....

「"If you're really Cheon Inho, you can do this alone."」

If I think he did it because he believed in me that much, I wonder if I'm putting too much hope into it.

"If you go to the Theater Dungeon now, you might end up fighting Yoo Joonghyuk."

"I know, but I'm going anyway."

Ye Hyunwoo sighed and asked.

"Will the three of you be alright? Would you like some reinforcements?"

"Are you going to help me?"

"We can't afford to lose Inho-ssi in a place like this. And."

Ye Hyunwoo added hesitantly.

"I saw Inho-ssi talking to Yoo Joonghyuk on the railroad tracks. I don't know what happened between you two, but Inho-ssi seemed to be on the same page with Yoo Joonghyuk."

I've never thought about it like that.

"We're okay. I'm sorry if it seems like I'm leaving you to do the finishing touches, since the scenario isn't even finished yet."

"No, I was planning on passing on the Theater Dungeon anyway. It's hard enough to organize the rewards here, and..... I've already received enough support."

Apparently, Ye Hyunwoo has gotten quite a few coins with his new tech tree, 'Infinite Uroboros' or something.

Apparently, he hasn't even picked a sponsor yet, so he won't have to worry about sponsorship for a while.

I can't wait to see what he picks the next time we meet.

"By the way, I was surprised that Inho-ssi used the 'Poison Bomb'."

I didn't understand Ye Hyunwoo's words for a moment, as his voice lacked the slightest hint of hostility.

"I thought the recipe for that bomb was still only known to the Misreading Association."

Ye Hyunwoo's eyes were calm as he looked at me. I answered, pretending to be calm too.

"I picked one up the last time I was with Killer King against the Misreading Association."

Ye Hyunwoo smirked.

"It's not that I think Inho-ssi is from the Misreading Association, I just....."

I was a little nervous.

Did Ye Hyunwoo see me use the 'Thoughts of Almost Everything'?

Even though the 'Thoughts of Almost Everything' wasn't an item that appeared in Omniscient Reader, Ye Hyunwoo's perceptive mind could have picked up on something in that moment.

"Inho-ssi."

"Yes."

"If you don't mind, can you get me an item from the fifth floor of the Theater Dungeon? I'll buy it."

"What?"

Look at this.

"What item do you want?"

The fifth floor of the Theater Dungeon is the [rewards room] where the replica items are located.

After thinking for a moment, Ye Hyunwoo said.

"It's the 'Divine Weapon (神機箭)'."

Amazing. I know what it is.

The question is.

"But I don't know if that item is there....."

"I'm sure it does. It was in a movie too. It wasn't in Omniscient Reader, but there's no way it isn't there, it must be there."

Speaking seriously, Ye Hyunwoo glanced at the 'Thoughts of Almost Everything' wrapped in my arm and added.

"Because that's what I need for the '5th stage of the Invincible Castellan tech tree'."

What a clever reader.

---

"What were you talking about with the Apostle?"

"Nothing much. He isn't going to the Theater Dungeon himself, so we agreed to get some items for him while we're there."

"Aha."

I briefly recounted the story to Dansoo ahjussi and Kyung Sein.

"You did well, it can't hurt to have a good relationship with the 7th ranked."

"I agree."

My thoughts were the same.

After all, Ye Hyunwoo didn't seem like a bad guy.

"Okay, so now....."

I turned to my last colleague, who was staring blankly into space.

"Heewon-ssi."

Jung Heewon, who was sitting on a bench, looked up with difficulty. For some reason, her expression was strangely grim.

"Inho-ssi."

"Yes."

"I'm sorry."

"What?"

The sudden apology caught me off guard. The reason quickly became apparent.

"If only I was a little stronger."

Jung Heewon scratched the subway floor with the tip of her ground rat knife. She must have been doing it for some time, the bottom of the bench was all scratched.

"That's vandalism."

It was a joke, but it didn't work very well.

[The character 'Jung Heewon' feels guilty about you.]

Guilt. Perhaps she was blaming herself for not being able to save me.

"Heewon-ssi."

I knelt down on one knee and grabbed Jung Heewon's hand holding the sword with both hands. Her hand was rough and firm from who knows how many times she had swung the sword by now.

I carefully took the sword from her hand and began to draw on the subway floor. Using Jung Heewon's scratches as a guide, I drew a human face. I also drew a small speech bubble next to it.

「ㅠ ㅠ」

When I finished, you couldn't tell if it was a person or a dumpling.

Jung Heewon stared down at the graffiti and muttered.

"You said it was vandalism."

I looked at her and said.

"You're not the one who should feel sorry right now."

Jung Heewon did her best.

It was me who fell short.

「All '■■' tells me about is 'my danger'.」

Looking back on it now, it was a dizzying situation. What if there had been a more powerful beast than the giant centipede?

「Jung Heewon could have died.」

Just thinking about it made my heart go cold. Maybe I was getting too carried away by the story.

I'm not Kim Dokja.

I'll never be as lucky as he is, or as loved by the stars.

But I have to keep living on this story.

"We're colleagues."

"....."

"I'll be strong enough to not need you to protect me. I won't hide behind you forever."

Jung Heewon's eyes shook as she looked at me.

[The character 'Jung Heewon' is sad because of you.]

Sad?

I quickly added as I handed her back the ground rat knife.

"But this means that I'm going to hide behind Heewon-ssi for a little while longer until I get stronger."

Jung Heewon opened her mouth a little.

"....."

[The character 'Jung Heewon' is delighted by your words.]

[Your understanding of the character 'Jung Heewon' has increased.]

I understood Jung Heewon's situation.

Perhaps this is how she can endure this crazy world.

"So, this is why I need your help again, Heewon-ssi."

"Where else are you going?"

Jung Heewon asked as she wiped her ground rat knife clean with a piece of cloth.

She had just killed a giant centipede with that worn-out sword.

No matter where she is, Jung Heewon is Jung Heewon.

Come to think of it, she had switched to a new weapon around this time in 'Omniscient Reader'.

"I'm going to the theater upstairs."

"Theater? At this time?"

"You should change your weapon sooner or later. There are some good items upstairs, so why don't you come with me?"

Kyung Sein interjected and quickly changed the subject.

"Oh, that's why you're going? But I'm fine with my sword."

"Oh, that girl, Lee Jihye, was carrying a decent one too."

As we headed upstairs, a figure stopped us at the ticket gate.

I didn't have to ask who it was.

"Lee Jihye."

Lee Jihye, leaning against the vending machine, glared at me.

"Huh. What."

"Thanks for earlier."

Her eyes shook, as if she hadn't expected to hear that.

"I was just doing you a favor."

Then she turned away.

A child will be a child.

"You saved the others, too."

I saw it clearly, even in my desperation.

Lee Jihye, who acted as if she wouldn't do anything to help, was saving people from dying in the meantime.

Times change, world lines change, but the essence of a person doesn't change much.

"You should come with us."

"Where?"

"Where your master is."

"Master..... Do you know where he is?"

"I know."

Lee Jihye's eyes were filled with agitation.

"Yoo Joonghyuk didn't tell you anything?"

Lee Jihye didn't answer, but bit her lip hard.

「Yoo Joonghyuk went to the Theater Dungeon, but he left Lee Jihye behind?」

It's a decision I don't understand.

Lee Jihye's sponsor is the 'Admiral Yi Sunsin', and there are many places in the Theater Dungeon where naval battles are staged, but Yoo Joonghyuk left Lee Jihye alone.

It's not the 3rd turn, but the 41st turn.

Even when Lee Jihye died,

「"In the future, sea battles will be a bit difficult."」

Yoo Joonghyuk said that.

"Just..... He told me to stay here and make sure you don't die."

"Why?"

"I don't know. Maybe because he trusts me?"

That's what she said, but there was no conviction in her voice. I don't know the exact situation, but it was an opportunity for me.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 6' has been activated!]

I'll do my best villainous impression for a moment.

"So your mission is over at the end of the 'Emergency Defense Battle'."

"That's true, but....."

"Yoo Joonghyuk is so selfish, right? Treating you like a child, doesn't he?"

Lee Jihye tapped her tiptoes.

"Shut up. You don't know anything."

"Come with us."

"Why would I....."

"I have information on top-grade items. When I get it, I'll give it to you."

"....."

"Don't you want a new weapon? You've been using a sword too, but if you get a new one, maybe Yoo Joonghyuk will take you with him."

The mention of a sword made Lee Jihye pause for a moment.

"What?"

"It's the sword that's weak, not you."

Lee Jihye bit her lip.

"You're just going out for a while. We'll be back before Yoo Joonghyuk comes back."

The innocent girl nodded slightly.

[The character 'Lee Jihye' has a slight affinity for you.]

Maybe collecting <Kim Dokja's Company> is easier than I thought?

---

After a while, we arrived at the entrance of the theater.

"Where did unni learn to use the sword?"

"The kendo club at school."

"Wow, I'm self-taught. What do you learn in a kendo club?"

"How to win, but not kill."

Lee Jihye, who had joined our group on a whim, was chatting with Jung Heewon.

Jung Heewon mostly responded bluntly. Lee Jihye liked that bluntness and stuck by her side, unable to let go.

Come to think of it, the two of them had gotten along well in Omniscient Reader.

"We're almost there, everyone, get ready."

[You are approaching the outside region. Be careful not to leave the scenario area.]

The entrance to the dungeon, the first floor, appeared. Kyung Sein muttered.

"I didn't expect to come here again."

It was a strange feeling.

This 'theater' was the same theater where the real-life 'Kim Dokja's Banquet' was held.

[You have found a 'hidden dungeon'!]

[This dungeon has already been discovered by someone. You can't get the first discovery achievement.]

[A new hidden scenario has arrived!]

[Hidden Scenario - Theater Dungeon]

Category: Hidden

Difficulty: A-

Clear Conditions: Defeat the master of the Theater Dungeon.

Time Limit: None

Reward: 4,000 coins

Failure: —

[You have entered 'Theater Dungeon'!]

The scenario message sounded like it had been waiting for us.

We went straight to the dungeon entrance.

And the next moment.

"Stop."

Dansoo ahjussi stopped the group. His bugs must have told him something.

"There's someone else besides us."

Suddenly, my ears perked up.

It wasn't just the first basement floor.

I made my way upstairs.

I could hear people's voices on the first above ground floor as well.

Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi looked at me at the same time.

Only Kim Dokja, Yoo Joonghyuk, and some of the prophets entered this 'hidden dungeon' in Omniscient Reader.

Since the world we've been transmigrated to isn't 'Omniscient Reader's', but 'Ways of Survival's', there are naturally no prophets.

"Inho-ssi, are those people....."

"Yes."

At first glance, there were more than a dozen people hiding on the first floor of the basement alone. Counting the above ground floor, the number might be over thirty or forty.

I hardened my expression and said.

"They're all readers."

601 Episode 10. Writer (2)

---

I looked around the theater.

There were seventeen people waiting on the first floor of the basement.

At first glance, they were not ordinary people.

[Someone has used 'Sneak Peek' on you!]

[Someone has used 'Attribute Detection' on you!]

Detection skill messages flew in as if they'd been waiting for me.

They weren't as high-level detection skills as Yoo Joonghyuk's [Sage's Eye], but they weren't easy to get at this early stage. Readers, too, are out of the ordinary.

['Sneak Peek' failed for an unknown reason!]

['Attribute Detection' failed for an unknown reason!]

Of course, they didn't work on me.

I don't know why they didn't work on me. Come to think of it, I can't even see my own 'Attribute Window', so it would be odd if they could see it.

Maybe I do have a [Fourth Wall] after all.

'Fourth Wall.'

I called out inside, but there was no response.

I'm strong-minded, so maybe I just blocked them with my mind?

"Ugh."

Anyway, I noticed those who were affected by the rebound of the skills. There were two people who had strange reactions.

One was an old man leaning against a stall with a pipe in his mouth, and the other was a woman with a long cheolgon[1] on her back.

[NOTE 1]

Perhaps they were the ones who had just used the detection skills.

I quickly checked their information using the [Readers' Comments List].

[Checking the reader's profile information.]

Reader Level: 46

Number of Reads: 8

The old man is 0.06 of Killer King.

The woman is 0.08 of Killer King.

Somehow, I ended up evaluating all readers based on Killer King.

I looked at the other readers one by one.

The man standing over there is 0.005 of Killer King, the one next to him is 0.001 of Killer King, and the next is 0.0006 of Killer King..... There were quite a few people who didn't finish the novel.

Other than that, I didn't see anyone with a particularly impressive number of reads.

Everyone's working hard.

"Isn't that Lee Jihye?"

Someone muttered in a low voice.

I looked back at Lee Jihye with a sense of regret.

Lee Jihye couldn't help but stand out, even if they didn't know anyone else. She was described in the novel.

A hood zipped-up and a ponytail. She carried a long sword. Plus, she has a cute face, so they couldn't help but notice.

"Hmm?"

Lee Jihye glared in the direction of the sound, and people quickly averted their eyes.

Kyung Sein whispered to me.

"Do you want me to try talking to them?"

I shook my head.

Kyung Sein is a friendly person, so she wouldn't have a problem getting to know them, but.....

"We'd better be a little cautious here."

So far, I've been lucky. Kyung Sein, Dansoo ahjussi, and Ye Hyunwoo. They've all been good people.

But Killer King's advice is right. As he said, there was no guarantee that every reader would be a good person.

[Oh, that's a lot of people now.]

The theater doors at the back slammed shut, and the voice of a dokkaebi called out from the air.

[Now that the last of you have entered..... Those of you still in the basement, please come up to the first floor.]

'Theater Dungeon' is a hidden scenario.

Originally, the dokkaebi wouldn't intervene.

"There are more people upstairs. We should be careful."

At Dansoo ahjussi's words, we exchanged a quick glance and went up to the first floor.

As we entered the lobby, the first thing we saw was a dokkaebi in a suit.

[Welcome. My name is Paul, I'm an intermediate dokkaebi.]

The intermediate dokkaebi Paul.

He appeared in Omniscient Reader. Messing up the 'Disaster of the Floods' scenario, getting beaten up by Kim Dokja, and being exiled.

It felt strange to run into him in the 41st turn.

[Hmph..... So many people came here this time. We can't even call it a 'hidden scenario' anymore.]

By now, there were at least 40 people in the lobby on the first floor.

[And you guys are a little late. A few hours ago, the people who discovered this theater had already gone pretty far upstairs.]

A screen floated up on the lobby ceiling.

The screen showed the other incarnations attacking the upper levels of the theater dungeon.

—What the hell, it's no big deal, right?

A young man chuckling and slashing at zombies in the movie, his hair dyed white and a tattered school uniform. A dark aura wrapped around a sharp knife.

I realized who he was.

「Kim Namwoon.」

I wasn't the only one who recognized him. Some people covered their mouths to hide their surprise, others widened their eyes.

—Hey, soldier, hurry up and follow me. I'll go up before the captain. If you delay me.....

The 41st turn Kim Namwoon was still Kim Namwoon.

I could see some readers smiling faintly. Others stiffened their expressions.

Both reactions were understandable.

That 'Kim Namwoon' was definitely the Kim Namwoon we know, and therefore a Kim Namwoon that was extremely dangerous.

—Namwoon-ssi. This stage is not just about killing zombies.....

I could tell even though it was just a voice.

It was unmistakably Lee Hyunsung.

The readers' expressions changed one by one. They could finally meet another member of Kim Dokja's Company.

It was then that Kim Namwoon's scream rang out.

—Uaaaak! What!

The screen shook ominously.

A sharp series of squeals.

A white coat fluttering lightly at the end of the screen.

Immediately, the broadcast stopped.

[That's it for the preview.]

Paul laughed in amusement. There was a mild commotion in the lobby.

"Was that..... right?"

"As expected, yes. As long as you manage to get up there somehow....."

"It's a little different from the original development."

I could see where they were coming from.

The 'white coat' is too symbolic an item in Omniscient Reader.

"Inho-ssi. That's Kim Dokja, right?"

Kyung Sein whispered. Her eyes shook with anticipation.

[NOTE 2]

「There might be a Kim Dokja somewhere in this world.」

I can understand that. I don't think there's a reader here who doesn't expect that.

I steeled myself and said.

"This is the 41st turn."

"Well, but what if something happens that we don't know about, and there's a Kim Dokja here—"

"Maybe."

I replied, fiddling with the lemon candy in my pocket.

"And even if he came here like we did, it's not time to get the coat yet, you know."

"Ah. That's right, the Infinite Dimension Space Coat is....."

Kyung Sein's expression turned sour.

"Then who was that person just now?"

"We'll find out when we go up there."

Lee Jihye, who was looking up at the screen from the side, chimed in.

"Ahjussi. Let's go quickly. I don't want to lose to that guy."

I wondered who 'that guy' was and asked.

"Kim Namwoon?"

"What. How do you know his name?"

"He looks like that."

"No, what—"

I looked at Paul, the intermediate dokkaebi.

He had to show the video of the upper floors at this time.

And he's adding psychological pressure by emphasizing that we're 'late'. Normally, this would have been an unnecessary performance.

That said.

[As you can see, no matter what you do now, you can't keep up with the incarnations of the upper floors.]

Maybe there's a new scenario I'm not aware of.

[That's why I've organized an event specifically for the latecomers.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' wonders what that is.]

[A constellation who hasn't revealed their modifier is curious.]

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' worries about the incarnations.]

From the looks of it, I can guess what he's trying to do.

That damned intermediate-grade dokkaebi had started playing games with the owner of this 'Theater Dungeon'.

[Read the scenario description for yourself for more details.]

[A new sub scenario has arrived!]

[Sub Scenario — Departure of the Cinema Trip]

Category : Sub

Difficulty: B

Clear Conditions: The staircase of the 'Cinema Trip' will open in the Theater Dungeon. You can use the 'Cinema Trip' to quickly catch up to the starters. Roll the dice, clear the stages, and complete the 'Theater Dungeon' faster than the starters.

Time Limit: —

Reward: ???

Failure: —

* You can team up with up to 3 players to start your 'Cinema Trip'.

*From the 1st floor to the 8th floor, every 'staircase' you can step on hides a [Normal Stage], [Bonus Stage], and [Trap Stage] respectively.

* Each stage has a certain probability of a mission associated with a specific 'movie', and completing that mission awards a 'dice'.

* You can climb stairs equal to the number of eyes rolled on the 'dice'.

I roughly understood the scenario.

So, it's a kind of movie version of a 'board game'.

We're the pieces of the board game in groups of three, and we roll the dice, and if we get a high number, we go up the stairs. If you get stuck on a stage, you have to complete a mission.

If this is a scenario where you're trying to catch up to the upper incarnations, the stages will be much shorter than the movie.

"It's like Bl■Mar³, right? Ugh, the filtering."

[NOTE 3]

Both Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi seemed to have figured out what the game was about.

So did other readers.

After all, there's no one in Korea who doesn't know this game.

[I'll give you 10 minutes to form teams.]

The incarnations looked at each other in unison.

Those who already had teams seemed intent on participating as they were, while others looked around frantically.

—The two next to you. They're Jung Heewon and Lee Jihye, right?

A voice in my ear made me look around.

[Full Voice.]

I didn't realize that someone had already bought the skill.

—Don't look around.

A high-pressure tone.

I scanned the area out of the corner of my eye.

[Full Voice] is a skill that seals sound with magic and transmits it.

The user of this skill couldn't help but move their lips.

—I don't know how you got the S-grade characters already, but come join our group. There are three of us. Some of us have contracts with narrative-grade constellations, and some of us have S-grade items.

S-grade items and narrative-grade constellations.

Not a bad offer.

If only it hadn't been for the words that followed.

—You, Lee Jihye, and Jung Heewon. I'll take up to three. We can split into two teams and go up together.

It didn't take me long to find the user of [Full Voice], the woman with the cheolgon on her back who had used [Attribute Detection] on me.

—Please think about it and answer quickly. Remember, this is real life, not fiction.

Nickname strawberry1137.

8 reads.

I don't know how she could be so confident after reading Omniscient Reader 8 times.

But then I heard another [Full Voice].

—Do you want to team up?

This time, it was the old man. I could tell just by looking at him. He was the only one mumbling as if he were ventriloquizing.

Nickname barampoong.

6 reads.

—There are two of us. We're fewer in number, but as you can see, I have [Full Voice] and one S-grade skill. I think you're five..... Why don't you join forces with us?

Again, not a bad offer.

By the way, there was already a behind-the-scenes war of nerves; they were meticulous people.

However, they weren't the only readers.

"Excuse me....."

He raised his hand cautiously. He wore a faded sweatshirt and clutched a toothless sword. He looked around, wondering how he'd gotten here.

He glanced around and asked the innocent question I wished he hadn't.

"H-has anyone read Omniscient Reader?"

There was a collective sigh of despondency. Judging by the looks on people's faces, he was going to have a hard time finding teammates. It was then that a group of people walked out from the stalls in the back of the lobby.

"What are you all shaking about? I don't think there's anyone here who hasn't read the novel."

A group of five men and women.

They were the ones I hadn't yet used [Readers' Comments List] on.

The man who seemed to be the leader of the group spoke up.

"It's not a good time to be looking at each other like that."

Several of us gasped at the man's attire.

A white coat and long sword.

Obviously, he wasn't Kim Dokja.

"We're not here to fight amongst ourselves, are we? Isn't the purpose to work together to clear the dungeon? I'm sure you all received the scenario at the Banquet."

He used his deep voice to dominate the room. He was a good talker.

"I don't think you're all planning on getting blown to bits. Have you forgotten what kind of world this is?"

The mood turned sour, and the cheolgon woman, who had been listening silently, asked.

"What are you up to?"

"You mean me?"

The man smirked, as if he were Kim Dokja.

"I'm closer to being a 'Kim Dokja' than anyone else in the world right now."

The cheolgon woman smirked.

"You?"

"Yes."

"Are you that confident?"

Indeed, the cheolgon woman, who had read Omniscient Reader 8 times, arrogantly drew out her cheolgon.

Then the man laughed.

"I'm not just talking about skill."

He drew the sword at his waist.

I could feel Kyung Sein beside me breathing in. Perhaps anyone would have.

A sword broken in half.

A keen reader would recognize the item.

"Broken Faith.....!"

There was a commotion in the hall.

The cheolgon woman narrowed her eyes.

"You think a broken sword is enough to make you Kim Dokja—"

Wuuuuh.

A blue-white glow emanated from the man's sword.

An ether blade.

Someone cried out in surprise.

"P-Purest Sword Force?"

"It's the Purest Sword Force!"

For once, the cheolgon woman's expression stiffened.

The man smiled faintly at her, then slowly turned around.

"It's understandable that you're so frightened. But you don't have to worry."

"W-who are you. You're not even the real Kim Dokja."

"Of course I'm not Kim Dokja."

The man laughed, looking a little sad.

"Probably even 'Kim Dokja' wouldn't know more about this world than I do?"

The man, who had overwhelmed everyone in the room with his performance, casually revealed his identity.

"I'm the one who wrote 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』."

602 Episode 10. Writer (3)

---

The author of Omniscient Reader.

At his words, the room erupted in confusion.

"Really?"

"No matter how you look at it, he's not Han Sooyoung....."

"Then he's the writer of our world line?"

Jung Heewon and Lee Jihye looked like they didn't know what he was talking about.

Lee Jihye asked.

"What are they talking about? Is he famous?"

"I'm going to look around for a while."

"Oh, I'll go with you, unni."

Jung Heewon glanced in my direction and walked away as if she wasn't interested, and Lee Jihye followed.

Come to think of it, there was such a description in Omniscient Reader.

「"In fact, Sungkook and I tried to test some people by saying that this was a novel. But they didn't understand at all. It is like they're NPCs... No matter how serious I am, they just take it as a joke."」

When the prophets told the characters about 'Ways of Survival', they acted like they didn't understand.

Maybe that's why Jung Heewon and Lee Jihye aren't showing much interest right now.

Kyung Sein, who was watching, quickly came to my side.

"Is he really the writer?"

A man wearing a plausible white coat and carrying a sword that's supposedly 'Broken Faith'.

The white coat could have been picked up somewhere, and the sword could have been acquired quickly enough.

In other words, those items don't provide any guarantee that he's a writer.

But I wasn't convinced he was lying.

It's possible that I'm not the only writer who has been transmigrated. For example, he could be an 'Omniscient Reader' writer from another world line.

Luckily, I had a way to verify that.

[Using 'Readers' Comments List' on this person.]

At the next system window that popped up in front of me, I doubted my eyes.

Huh? Wait a minute.

This asshole.....

While I was checking his information with [Readers' Comments List], Kyung Sein unexpectedly stepped forward.

"Writer-nim, I sent you an article on how to stretch. Do you remember?"

Yes, he had sent me one of those.

The writer replied.

"That..... I don't remember all the messages either. It's only one message from you, but I have thousands of other messages to read."

It wasn't something I said that much, but if you send me something in a direct message, like how to do a stretch, I'll remember it.

I still do those stretches from time to time.

"I'm sorry I don't remember."

"D-don't worry."

Kyung Sein lowered her hand with a grimace.

The self-proclaimed writer added.

"But if I had known it was from such a beautiful woman, of course I would have remembered."

"Huh?"

Kyung Sein looked dumbfounded.

It gave me goosebumps in more ways than one. I should probably say something to save face.

"Are you really the writer?"

The cheolgon woman took the lead.

"How are you going to prove it? You don't have to be the writer to get something like 'Broken Faith'."

True. That's right.

"If you're really the writer, shouldn't you have at least created 'Unbroken Faith'?"

That's..... Not even the real writer could make it.

The asshole writer replied.

"Even if I'm the writer, I can't control every situation, which is why I didn't get the 'random item box'. Maybe one of you here used it."

Dansoo ahjussi and Kyung Sein glanced back at me at this logical statement.

"Wouldn't we be able to tell if we used [Lie Detection]?"

The person who said that was the one who shouted out 'has anyone read Omniscient Reader' earlier.

A few readers shook their heads.

"Oh, right. [Lie Detection]."

"But I wonder if anyone has that skill right now....."

Seeing as how no one else stepped forward, I don't think there's an incarnation with [Lie Detection] here.

That said, Apostles like Killer King and Ye Hyunwoo were the exception.

Normally, no one would have gotten [Lie Detection] at this time.

But the writer signaled to the woman beside him.

She had a big hood drawn and her face covered with a mask.

[Someone has used 'Lie Detection'.]

The message was heard by everyone.

There was a murmur of surprise.

The asshole writer opened his mouth.

"I'll prove it. I'm the one who wrote 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'."

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that the statement is true.]

The readers were stunned.

"Is it true?"

"You're really the writer?"

Excited voices asked.

But some readers still didn't believe it.

This time, it was the cheolgon woman.

"Wait. Are you really the writer who wrote for 'Sirius' and 'Textia'? Say it one more time."

But even the cheolgon woman's tone had changed; she was flustered.

"That's right. Verify it again!"

"She just verified it. I think he's really the writer."

Even the readers began to disagree.

In the center of the debate, I saw the writer with a sour look on his face.

"I know you won't believe me no matter what I say. There's no point in me proving it over and over again."

He sighed softly and slowly looked around.

If nothing else, he was a good actor.

I wonder where they teach how to talk like a writer these days.

"I can promise you one thing, though: if you stick with me from now on, I'll take you to the end of the story, no matter what it takes."

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that the statement is true.]

As if on cue, the asshole writer added.

"I have more complete information than anyone else about Omniscient Reader. If you will trust me, I will lead you down a path where there are no wrong answers."

There was a brief silence in the room.

Stirred, the readers looked at each other.

"He must be for real."

"Well, if it's [Lie Detection], I can believe it."

"Isn't that enough proof?"

"Wait, you believe that easily? [Lie Detection] isn't always accurate—"

There were still a few voices of disbelief, including the cheolgon woman, but the tide was slowly turning in the writer's favor.

Perhaps it was time to step in.

"I'm curious, writer-nim."

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.6' is activated!]

At my words, the readers turned to look at me at the same time. No wonder—my Incite was now level 6.

Even if I farted, everyone would stare at me.

"You're not even Han Sooyoung, do you really have 'perfect information' about this world?"

The readers suddenly had keen eyes as if they smelled a fart.

"Come to think of it—"

"Wasn't it a setting that you were just dictating what Han Sooyoung wrote about Omniscient Reader?"

The writer's complexion changed with the creeping public opinion.

I added, as if letting go of the leash.

"Oh, but since you're the writer, you might know something we don't, for example..... the identity of 'RepresentativeKimDokja'."

The sound of someone breathing in quietly.

The writer replied.

"Unfortunately, I don't know that much either."

That's good. He can say he doesn't know something he doesn't know.

Because you can't prove it with [Lie Detection].

But he made one mistake.

"Hmmm. You don't know that either. You do know more about 'Omniscient Reader' than us, right?"

I could see the corner of the writer's mouth twitch.

"Of course."

"Well, then, do you mind if I quiz you on a few quick Omniscient Reader trivia questions that I'm sure you'll know?"

Slowly, his eyes moved upward.

He was probably looking at 'the manuscript' in his head.

"Sure."

"Okay, here's the first question. In 'Ways of Survival', Yoo Joonghyuk regresses 1,863 times. What does the number '1,863' symbolize?"

"What?"

For the first time, the guy's complexion changed.

"What do you mean symbol, that's....."

"You don't know?"

Of course you don't. Because I didn't either.

"Since you don't know, I'll give you the answer: 1,863 is the year that the world's first subway opened."

I heard a muffled laugh nearby.

Presumably, some of them had attended 'Kim Dokja's Banquet' that day.

The writer protested.

"How do you get a question like that right?"

"Well, if that was too hard for you, I'll give you a second, easier one: How many times does ■ appear in total in the entire 'Omniscient Reader'?"

The laughter around us intensified.

Finally, the writer's eyes narrowed.

"Are you trying to play a joke?"

That's right. I've been making fun of him so far.

It's the last question that counts.

"Was that too hard for you? Then I'll give you one last question, and if you get it right, I'll acknowledge you as the writer. It's a really easy one, and the answer appears in 'Omniscient Reader'."

"I hope it's a proper question."

"Okay, third question. The rest of you may know the answer, but you're not allowed to guess."

I glanced around at the readers, then said the final question.

"How many turns does it take for Yoo Joonghyuk to realize that if he uses the 'Absolute Throne' even once, he will not be able to reach the end of the scenarios?"

A few readers looked like they knew the answer.

It was a question that the hardcore readers would know.

It was also a question that the author of 'Omniscient Reader' would never know.

The writer replied with a wry smile.

"14 turns."

I clapped my hands.

"Wow, that's great."

"So now—"

"I heard you."

A small chattering sound.

The asshole writer frowned and said.

"What..... it's really the 14th turn. I didn't hear it. It's from chapter 72 of 'Omniscient Reader'."

"That's right, it's from chapter 72."

I continued with a low sigh.

"Or, to be more precise, it appears in the 'unrevised manuscript' of chapter 72."

I could see his expression slowly harden.

"That information was a typo, and there was even a correction notice posted later. Yoo Joonghyuk learns the secret of the 'Absolute Throne' in the 41st turn, not in the 14th turn."

The mood in the room quickly turned cold.

"I'm curious, why do you remember it as an 'unrevised manuscript' version, when you even wrote the revision notice yourself?"

The white-faced writer twitched his lips for the umpteenth time before opening his mouth.

"Well, that was....."

At this point, it no longer mattered if he was the writer or not.

Because the pompous 'writer' didn't know any more about 'Omniscient Reader' than the average reader.

As soon as I saw the look in his eyes, I knew what was coming.

"How can you believe that? There's no one here who remembers such information, who are you?"

"I."

Why do I remember it? I could tell them right now, very simply, but I didn't want to.

Because this is not a 'writer's' story.

"I've read Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint over a hundred times."

The writer smirked.

As if no human being could be so ridiculous, he signaled to the woman beside him.

And the next moment.

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that the statement is true.]

Everyone opened their mouths in disbelief.

I opened my mouth to join in.

"You don't have any exclusive information, and even the information we've heard..... that makes me wonder."

I glanced at the readers, then at the writer, smirked, and asked.

"What the hell did you write?"

---

[The 'Cinema Trip' will begin in 1 minute.]

While I was checking the equipment, a few readers came over to greet me.

"You were amazing earlier."

"Did you really read it over 100 times?"

I responded with only a light smile.

In the distance, I could see the writer's face glaring at me.

I remembered the information from the list I'd seen about him.

My conclusion is this.

「That guy is from the Misreading Association.」

He wasn't even a normal member of the Misreading Association.

This is because what he said about being 'the one who wrote Omniscient Reader' was proven to be true through [Lie Detection].

In other words,

[The constellation 'Plague-Carrying Rat' glares at you.]

He was the one who uploaded the text to illegal sites.

603 Episode 10. Writer (4)

The person who uploaded illegal files pretended to be a writer.

I don't know what the hell this world has come to.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' encourages you anyway.]

The reason why he was able to avoid [Lie Detection] was probably because he directly typed "Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint."

Can he say he "wrote" that?

I thought the decision of [Lie Detection] was absurd, but I suddenly felt funny.

「Then what about me?」

Touching the lemon candy in my pocket, I thought about the real author of this story.

「How much can I say I wrote this story?」

[The 'Cinema Trip' will begin soon.]

Looking back, Jung Heewon, who had finished preparing, asked me.

"Are we going alone?"

"Yes."

I briefly looked at the other teams. Most of them had filled the three-person limit.

Until the very end, the [Electrical sound] filled with regret lingered in my ears.

—Are you really not going to join us?

—Sorry. Looking forward to the next time.

It was a woman with a steel helmet and an old man with a pipe.

Both teams had excellent power, but if they teamed up, problems could arise in the future scenario.

Above all,

"Let's see if we survive."

I can't take care of Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi.

"Take care of yourself too, ahjussi."

The two formed a team of three with Lee Jihye.

"If you can't follow me, I'll throw you away."

"Hey, I'll work hard to follow you!"

Lee Jihye was gruff on the outside, but had a lot of affection in her heart.

Just like in the "Emergency Defense Battle," Lee Jihye would not ignore the crisis between the two.

Of course, the skills of Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi are not weak anymore.

There is probably only one old man with a sacred relic of a constellation here.

[Hmm, it looks like everyone is ready.]

The dokkaebi Paul reappeared with the sound of tsutsutsutsu.

[But I see some people who haven't found their own team yet…]

Paul added, taking a light scan of the lobby.

[If you don't have a team, you don't have to worry too much because it's a random match.]

Random matching?

[Entry will now begin.]

[You have been appointed as the team's representative.]

[Jung Heewon has joined your team.]

[Jung Jaewoo has joined your team.]

I felt embarrassed. I deliberately didn't accept team members, but I never thought it would be a forced match like this.

"Um, excuse me... hello."

A man with a familiar face awkwardly lowered his head and approached.

Perhaps he is Jung Jaewoo.

"It seems like we're on the same team... I'll take good care of you."

Upon closer inspection, it was the reader who shouted to people earlier, "Has anyone read Omniscient Reader?"

I felt sorry for him, as if he was shouting out the same words alone, like Kim Dokja, who was always recommending "Ways of Survival."

Of course, you can't believe it just by looking at it.

—(Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, Chapter 50)

I've used up all the cookies I received~~ But I'll keep reading~~

—(Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, Chapter 102)

I was at a loss for words for a moment.

"Jaewoo-ssi, right? I look forward to it."

"Please take good care of me too."

Jung Heewon, who was watching from the side, also gave a short greeting.

Jung Jaewoo may have recognized Jung Heewon, and he lowered his head with a face of regret.

"Me too! It's an honor!"

Rather than teaming up with a stupidly dangerous person, a naive person like him might be better.

Then, a small dice appeared in front of my eyes.

[Roll the dice.]

I held the dice lightly.

The readers around me who threw the dice first spat out swear words.

"Ah, damn it."

"Is it 1 right from the start?"

A dark color hovered over the 10 dice that came out. As you can see, the color of the dice changed depending on the number on the dice.

I stared at the dice.

If the scenario had progressed further, I could get help by obtaining the [God of Dice], a narrative-grade story.

"I'll throw it at once."

After briefly exchanging glances with the party, I threw the dice.

"Oh?"

The dice glowed golden.

[The number on the dice is 6.]

Jung Heewon widened her eyes.

"Are you lucky?"

[Go up the stairs 6 steps.]

[Double Chance! You may roll the dice one more time.]

I threw the dice again.

[The number on the dice is 5.]

[Go up the stairs 5 steps.]

[You have reached the second floor!]

Is 10 steps equal to one floor?

I didn't expect to come to the second floor at once.

Even the luck didn't end there.

[Enter the bonus stage!]

[Each person gets a bonus of 1,000 coins!!]

[An additional dice chance has been obtained!]

The dice appeared again. I rolled the third dice.

[The number on the dice is 5.]

[Go up the stairs 5 steps.]

[Enter the normal stage!]

[There are no assignments for this stage.]

[After 3 minutes, an extra dice chance will be given.]

Does this make sense?

It was an incomprehensible level of luck. As soon as I started, I could roll the dice four times in a row.

Jung Heewon asked in surprise.

"Are you suddenly possessed? Are you good at this kind of game?"

In terms of luck, I was generally unlucky.

I had never won a common comment event or cash event once.

"Hmm… I think."

There are no incidental stories in the <Star Stream>.

In other words, if strange luck suddenly came to me in a row, there must be a probable reason for that luck.

So for example…

"Jaewoo-ssi."

"Yes."

"Do you have any passive skills?"

"Ah."

Jung Jaewoo slightly rolled his eyes and scratched his cheek awkwardly.

"That… can I tell you…"

"If that's a problem, you don't have to say anything."

Was he more cautious than I thought?

Seeing that he practiced Kim Dokja's maxim well, he may have read the entire novel pretty seriously.

"Oh, no. I'll tell you. It's not a skill… I have a trait called [Little Luck]."

I was surprised the moment I heard the characteristic name.

[Little Luck]

Needless to say, it was literally a trait that maximized trivial luck.

「Should I give even the smallest luck to Kim Dokja?」

It was a feature I was worried about.

There was a time when I thought what it would be like to let Kim Dokja grow while evolving his characteristics from [Little Luck] to [Compliant Luck] and [Extreme Luck].

「"Author-nim, there are so many main characters who solve it with luck these days…"」

It was discarded with one word of Ji Eunyu…

But I never thought there would be a reader with that characteristic.

"I don't know why, but I was originally a little bit lucky."

Jung Jaewoo smiled brightly and began to tell stories I hadn't asked about.

"When I go to buy bread, there is always one bread left that I want. Or, when I encounter a question I don't know the answer to, if I take it, I get it right… It's not that great, but small luck keeps following me."

With a shy face, Jung Jaewoo continued to speak.

"So, even after coming here, I was lucky enough to survive several times. I also found a bug on the subway…"

The story of how he evacuated to the ground to avoid a riot at Cheonggu Station, and the brother and sister he met there gave him Elain Monkey Lungs (probably the Killer King siblings).

"I asked them to come with me, but they refused."

He went to the basement of Yaksu Station with his lungs bitten and encountered alien species, and luckily escaped with someone's help (it seems that he met the Misreading Association).

"I almost died then."

After running away to the ground again, this time he met a rhinoceros in Sindang, and the story that someone killed the rhinoceros and left (Is it Yoo Joonghyuk?).

"The 4 knives were so fast that I couldn't see any of them."

Anyway, after running away so hurriedly, it was even said that when he came to his senses, he was at the Chungmuro Theater before he knew it.

"There are a lot of readers here, so I feel relieved."

I blankly looked at Jung Jaewoo.

There really are people like this.

A really lucky man.

"Hey, but can we just talk about this?"

Jung Jaewoo, who belatedly covered his mouth, looked at Jung Heewon.

Fortunately, instead of listening to Jung Jaewoo, Jung Heewon was scouting the empty second-floor lobby.

Jung Jaewoo, slightly relieved, asked again.

"That person… Is she the Jung Heewon I know? Right?"

"You're right."

"Omg!"

Jung Heewon, who was far away, looked over because he had screamed so loudly.

"What's going on?"

"It's nothing."

Jung Jaewoo could not calm down easily and gasped for breath. He asked:

"Have you met the other members of Kim Dokja's Company by any chance? I saw Lee Jihye as well. Did you see Kim Dokja and Yoo Joonghyuk—"

"Hey, Heewon might get confused, so let's not talk about this right now."

"Oh, sorry."

Jung Jaewoo lowered his head with a sullen face, and I felt a bit sorry for him.

[A new dice has been created!]

I handed him the dice to change the subject.

"Will Jaewoo-ssi throw it this time?"

"Um, is that okay?"

"Yes."

Jung Jaewoo nodded with a smile.

"Here goes, I'll throw it!"

Jung Jaewoo shouted vigorously and rolled the dice.

[The number on the dice is 5.]

[Go up the stairs 5 steps.]

I was expecting a 6, but a 5 wasn't too bad.

With this, the total number of dice rolls is 21.

Are we going to the third floor at once?

I might be lucky to have met Jung Jaewoo here.

[Fell into the 'trap stage'!]

[Go down the stairs by 3 steps.]

Huh?

[Enter the normal stage.]

Didn't [Little Luck] work this time?

"Get ready."

[You can clear this stage by watching the movie's ending.]

[The difficulty of this stage is high. Upon clearing the stage, a 'ladder' is provided.]

[This stage is shared with the first runners.]

In the blink of an eye, a landscape of greenery unfolded.

I thought I knew where this place was.

Looking around, Jung Heewon and Jung Jaewoo seemed to have noticed the general situation.

The cries of giant monsters could be heard from everywhere.

Somehow, it seemed to be the movie that Kim Dokja and his party cleared in Omniscient Reader.

Jung Jaewoo murmured.

"Oh my god. Hey, is this the movie? Tyranno comes out—"

"It seems so."

If it was really that movie, the difficulty level was high, but I could get quite useful items.

For example, the enhanced ampoule hidden in the central laboratory.

There was just one thing that stuck.

[Share the stage with the starters.]

Obviously, the system messages were phrased that way. In other words, it meant that there was a "starter" who entered this stage before us.

Who is it?

Is it Yoo Joonghyuk?

604 Episode 10. Writer (5)

It was then that a sharp dagger flew from among the grass.

Jung Heewon, whose complexion changed, pulled out her sword, and I reflexively lowered my back.

The dagger that had missed us by a narrow margin became lodged in a tree.

"I didn't expect you to come all this way already."

Three men and a woman appeared in the dense rainforest.

“Broken Faith” and a white coat.

It was an outfit that made me laugh out loud.

"You are indeed a reader who has read it 100 times."

The Misreading Association’s team of writers.

How did they come faster than us? I thought we were the fastest, but a faint aura swirled around the illegal writer.

[Incarnation, ‘Yeom Ilwoo’, has a proof of receiving the ‘King of Dice’ surname.]

The surname is “King of Dice.”

Apparently, he had the constellation “The King of Gambling” as his sponsor.

Indeed, in that case, it was understandable that he climbed the stage so quickly.

Excluding the illegal writer in the center, the two men and woman were also confirmed by using [Characters List] to confirm the identities of the rest of the gang.

[A large number of people have been browsed and temporarily changed to ‘Character Summary’.]

[Character Summary]

Name: Hamin

Sponsor: Snake That Cut Off Its Tail

Exclusive Attribute: Lizardman (Rare)

Overall Stats: [Physique Lv.14], [Strength Lv.13], [Agility Lv.16], [Magic Power Lv.7]

[Character Summary]

Name: Kim Jeonhwa

Sponsor: Plague-Bringing Rat

Exclusive Attribute: Ratman (Rare)

Overall stats: [Physique Lv.18], [Strength Lv.16], [Agility Lv. 11], [Magic Power Lv.6]

Both were alien species.

On the one hand, ratman, a member of the family of the “Plague-Bringing Rat,” whom I had dealt with before.

The other is a lizardman, a member of the tail-cutting serpent's family…

Looking at the situation, it was highly likely that the tail-cutting snake was a constellation on the side of the Misreading Association.

I lightly raised both hands.

"Wait. Do we need to fight among ourselves?"

Half of it was sincere.

The last time I met the Misreading Association was when a reader possessed a constellation, and what I killed was his incarnation, a “character.”

However, the member of the Misreading Association I have to deal with this time is a person who possesses a character. No matter how criminal he is for producing and distributing illegal texts, anyway, he is a person from the same reality as me.

I couldn't be comfortable with him being killed by my hands.

Above all, I thought that the punishment for his wrongdoing had to be paid in reality, not in fiction.

Whatever he thought of my words, the guy smiled mischievously.

"That's right. I don't have to fight with the reader who read my novel."

Still brazen.

Thinking about it, I think it would be okay if I just let them pay for their sins here.

"But a reader who has read it 100 times is a bit scary for me."

With a cool tone, the text writer sent a signal.

The two men and woman on both sides threw five or six daggers from their arms.

It looks like we were attacked like that before.

Looking at the blade flying with a clear killing force, I belatedly recalled Killer King's warning.

「"The members of the 'Misreading Association' deserve to die."」

I felt like I knew a little bit why he was so terrified.

As Jung Heewon slashed the flying dagger, the dagger was stuck in the floor oxidized while exhaling black smoke.

The floor in contact with the ammunition turned black. It was poison.

"Be careful! You can't even touch it!"

Last time it was a poison bomb, this time it was poison on weapons.

Tchiiit.

Jeong Heewon's poisoned knife was melting.

"Heewon-ssi!"

I threw the extra knife I had at Jung Heewon. Jung Heewon who received it well raised her sword with both hands and turned toward the front.

A sword wind blew in front of her eyes, and the trajectories of the additional daggers that flew were all broken.

Perhaps feeling that the situation was not going well, the script writer also jumped into battle.

[Incarnation, 'Yeom Ilwoo', activates 'Moonlight Steps Lv. 2'!]

The moonlight steps.

He was running while stepping on the steps with a pretty plausible name, but judging from his movements, his average ability was lower than mine.

The guy who rushed leaving a brilliant light every time was a god who was tamed with hot water.

I hit “Broken Faith” forcefully.

"Change into 'Old Iron Shield'."

At the same time as my command, “Thoughts of Almost Everything” changed into the shape of a shield.

Kagagagak!

The blade bounced off.

The text writer muttered in a surprised voice.

"It's a mysterious item."

The moment I made contact with his knife, a message came through “Thoughts of Almost Everything”.

[The target analysis begins.]

[Item analysis complete!]

[The item is Broken Faith (mass production type).]

[The item's grade is D.]

[The item is rated low.]

[Obtain the mimicry form of the item.]

What is it? “Broken Faith” is not real, but “mass-produced”?

Apparently, the mass-produced knife was no longer usable.

The durability of “Broken Faith” ran out due to the ”Blade of Faith” being activated in front of the readers before.

Perhaps the “Blade of Faith” can't be activated anymore.

The text book writer smiled brightly.

"If I did, would I die?"

A small pot was held by the text writer's side.

['Yongjun' demonstrates the mysterious power of regeneration.]

The Pot of Regeneration, Yongjun.

This time I couldn't help but be surprised.

[D-class item, 'Lesser Leather Greaves', has disappeared as a sacrifice.]

[D-class item Broken Faith (mass production type)'s durability has been regenerated.]

[Broken Faith (mass production type) responds to strong will!]

[‘Blade of Faith', is activated!]

Tchiiing!

A blue ether blade grew from the sword that touched the shield.

Almost reflexively, I dropped my shield and stepped back.

[The mimicry form of 'Old Iron Shield' has been destroyed!]

Both sides almost flew away.

As if he was already confident of winning, he let out a relaxed smile.

"Did you not know how to use this?"

Yongjun is a reward item that can be obtained at the National Altitude Area Museum. It was an item that could never be obtained in the current scenario.

Except in one way.

"It seems that your sponsor spent quite a bit of coins."

"My sponsor is a bit rich."

Towards the script writer who smiled confidently, I replied with a grin.

"How amazing. I don't think that kind of information was written on the illegal text."

The script writer's expression hardened. In the mass-produced “Broken Faith” swordplay, powerful etheric blades began to rage.

I hurriedly avoided the blade and carefully examined his skills.

[Incarnation, 'Yeom Ilwoo', is activating 'Wolyeong River Lv.1'!]

"Looking at it now, it isn't even the [White and Blue Steel]."

I expected that.

The last stock of white and blue steel was already bought by Killer King's younger sister.

The enraged text writer screamed and swung his sword.

[Incarnation, ‘Yeom Ilwoo’, activates 'Wolyeong Sword Technique Lv.2'!]

[Incarnation, 'Yeom Ilwoo', activates 'Weapon Improvement Lv.2'!]

[Weapon Improvement], [Wolyeong Sword Technique], and [Wolyeong River] were all skills that could be acquired in the early stages.

「But with that level of proficiency, it's worth fighting for.」

Along with the dazzling light, the “Thoughts of Almost Everything” had turned into a bamboo pole.

When “Blade of Faith” collided with the bamboo pole and went away with a metal sound, the script writer opened his eyes.

Of course I knew that my weapon would be cut off. “Ether Blade” in the beginning is that powerful.

But that's for a low-level item, and this is a star relic.

[The constellation, 'Bald General of Justice', nods happily.]

The man bit his lip hard and swung his sword right away.

Kagagakak!

The blade and the bamboo pole collided, making a sharp scraping sound.

Contrary to the fact that he was quite talkative, his combat sense was not very good.

Even though he has [Wolyeong River], [Wolyeong Sword Technique], and [Weapon Improvement], he doesn't have the slightest advantage over me.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' admires the poor sword fighting.]

It was natural.

This guy must have been killing enemies in one blow with the one-tool “Blade of Faith.”

[The constellation, 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon', advises that you should not pour in support from the beginning because of this.]

[The constellation, 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes', clicks his tongue and nods.]

The durability of “Broken Faith” ran out before I knew it, and “Blade of Faith” was broken.

I swung the bamboo stick at the guy's side without missing a chance. He narrowly escaped, but the hem of his coat was torn and flesh peeled off his side.

[The constellation, 'The King of Gambling', is disappointed with his incarnation!]

[The constellation who has not yet revealed his modifier advises you to choose your hand carefully from now on.]

He hurriedly backed away, holding back a high-pitched scream.

“What are you doing! Stop watching and help quickly!"

Along with his cry, the ratman and lizardman that Jung Heewon was dealing with began to react abnormally.

[The constellation, 'Plague-Bringing Rat', increases the synchronization rate with its incarnation.]

[The constellation, 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail', increases the synchronization rate with its incarnation.]

Jung Heewon, who was gradually gaining an advantage with the combo of [Ghost Killing] and [Kendo], closed her eyes.

Tsutsutsutsutsutsutsu!

Blue sparks covered the alien species.

The demonic energy of the alien species, which had been around the 9th level before, had risen to the level of a level 7 monster.

[Incarnation, 'Hamin', activates 'Cursed Dagger'!]

[Incarnation, 'Kim Jeonhwa', activates stigma' and accelerated attack'!]

Dozens of daggers fell like a waterfall from the arms of the two aliens.

Jung Heewon avoided the weapons with light movements.

But this time something was different.

[The special effect of 'Cursed Dagger' is activated!]

I suddenly recalled the effects of [Cursed Dagger].

"Heewon-ssi! Stop it this time!"

The [Cursed Dagger] is a stigma that, if you miss 20 dagger hits, you can definitely be hit by the “next one.”

A black dagger that followed Jung Heewon's movements finally reached her nose.

Jung Heewon swung her sword and slashed it. With the sound of metal, the dagger's blade began to melt.

"Aaaaaaa!"

Jung Jaewoo, who was hiding nearby, screamed as he saw the melted knife.

Jung Heewon, who grabbed Jung Jaewoo by the back, quickly retreated towards me.

"Inho-ssi."

I nodded in agreement.

If this is the case, there is no chance of winning.

Weapons are also weapons, but on the other side, two constellations clung to each other and divided their ranks.

"Jaewoo-ssi, do you have any hidden skills?"

Jung Jaewoo shook his head.

It must be difficult to trust the [Little Luck] this time as well. Because that's literally 'a little bit of luck'.

“Heewon-ssi.”

Jung Heewon nodded.

I gave Jung Heewon 'Samyeongdang's Bamboo Stick' that I was holding and said, "Please lend me your ear for a moment."

I didn't want to use this skill on Jung Heewon. But now there was no other way.

The text writer shouted as if he felt something strange.

"Kill them! Quickly!"

The aliens, whose bodies had more than doubled in size, roared and charged.

Aliens are not “humans.”

Then can you say that they are “monsters”?

I don't know. But what is certain is, "Every enemy you see in front of you from now on."

That it will be like that from now on.

"It's a monster."

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv.6', is activated!]

The ratman swung his claws that had grown long, and the lizardman swung his tail, aiming for Jung Heewon's back.

And.

[Incarnation, ‘Jung Heewon’, activates ‘Judgment Time’.]

Sparks lit up in Jung Heewon's eyes.

[The constellation, ‘Maritime War God’, doubts his own eyes.]

[The constellation, 'Bald General of Justice', admires the descendant's swordsmanship.]

[The constellation, ‘Abyssal Black Flame Dragon’ asks if the probability is okay.]

What was happening, I couldn't even track it with my naked eyes.

Amidst the rising dust, terrifying cracking sounds resounded in succession.

A flash of light soared with the sound of an explosion, and the severed lizardman's tail and ratman's arm rolled outside the dust.

Less than a minute later, a series of loud banging sounds came from the cloud of dust.

As the dust slowly subsided, only one person's shadow stood there.

I saw the corpses of the ratman and the lizardman torn apart.

It was expected, but the result was more than expected.

[The constellation, 'Plague-Bringing Rat', vomits blood and exits the channel.]

[The constellation, 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail', cuts its tail to avoid the probability aftermath!]

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail', stares dumbfoundedly at 'Jung Heewon'.]

Realizing that the battle was unfavorable towards him, the script writer had already broken through the rain forest.

He was just running away.

Jung Heewon picked up one of the dead ratman's daggers and threw it at him.

Whee-a-a-a-aek!

The weapon flew like a bullet and grazed the guy's shoulder.

"Aaaaaaaaaagh!?"

He screamed and fled through the rain forest.

I couldn't miss him like this.

He is a man who does not hesitate to stab people. Here, he must definitely stop breathing.

At that time, Jung Heewon fell forward. I could see the aura of judgment that had spread over her whole body fade rapidly.

"Heewon-ssi!"

['Incite''s effect has disappeared.]

['Judgment Time' is canceled.]

I hurriedly supported Jung Heewon.

There was no abnormality in her breathing or pulse. However, looking at the nosebleed, it seemed that the aftermath of [Incite] was strong.

"I'll finish him and come back!"

Seeing the situation, Jung Jaewoo jumped up and ran out, probably gathering his courage.

I shouted while carrying Jung Heewon.

"Wait a minute! Jaewoo-ssi!"

Soon, Jung Jaewoo disappeared into the rainforest in pursuit of the script writer.

Anxiety overtook me.

I followed the footsteps of Jung Jaewoo with Jung Heewon on my back.

Several times in the distance, piercing sounds rang out, and screams were heard. I continued to run after the source of the sound.

And… damn it.

"Jaewoo-ssi!"

Jung Jaewoo was lying between the trees.

[A constellation that has not yet revealed their modifier makes a sad face.]

I breathed in lightly and approached Jung Jaewoo.

「Jung Jaewoo has a little bit of luck.」

At least, he won't die of poison in a place like this. The wound must have avoided vital points.

Jung Jaewoo let out a moan as if in pain.

"Ugh."

I laid Jung Heewon on the floor and looked at Jung Jaewoo's wounds.

“Hey, Inho-ssi."

Jung Jaewoo was smiling.

"I… I got… a… shot… at him… He… didn’t… get… far…"

"Don't talk."

A dagger was stuck near Jung Jaewoo's heart. Upon checking his wounds, the poison had already spread from his chest, melting his skin and intestines.

The blood that fell on the ground soaked the floor.

"Stay still."

Why are you hurt so badly?

Jung Jaewoo must have had [Little Luck]?

Belatedly, it came to my mind that the script writer was the incarnation of the “King of Gambling.”

If the two people's luck collided with each other, the effect of the attribute was offset.

"Omg…"

Medicines that could cure this wound came to mind.

Elaine Forest Essence?

Too late to use.

Great Healing Elixir?

I checked the dokkaebi’s bag, but it was already out of stock.

Holy oil or something similar?

There was no way to get it now.

「I couldn't think of a way.」

If there was Lee Seolhwa, she would be able to save him. There’s the Life and Death pills she made.

「She isn’t here now.」

The pages of ORV went through my mind.

I wrote many sentences with my own hands. In the sentences I wrote, there must be a way to save this person.

"It’s alright. I can fix this. Don’t worry."

A person is dying right in front of my eyes.

My hands trembled and my head wasn't working well.

I squeezed out the “Elaine Forest Essence” I had and applied it to the wound along with an ointment cream.

In order to avoid the spread of poison, I cut ground rat jerky into small pieces and fed it to him with horn powder from the poisonous rhinoceros.

Jung Jaewoo's throat wriggled and he started coughing up blood.

Jung Jaewoo muttered while crying.

"I don’t want to die."

"You won’t die."

It's a lie. This person is dying.

My breathing was hoarse, and my voice trembled.

"I’ll save you."

Because of me, the reader who read my story was dying.

"I'll save you no matter what."

In the face of his death, all I could say was a lie.

You won't die.

Even if you die, I can definitely save you.

Jung Jaewoo's lips moved. He seemed to be trying to say something, but his voice was muffled.

He seemed to say he shouldn't have read it, and he seemed to resent the person who wrote it.

After a while. His breathing stopped and his pulse stopped.

[Team member, 'Jung Jaewoo', has died.]

I looked down at Jung Jaewoo's face for a long time.

I've definitely seen people die several times.

「Jung Jaewoo is dead.」

Still, I didn't feel it.

Really, I couldn't believe that the person who was alive a moment ago had passed away.

"Jaewoo-ssi."

The moment I grabbed his limp hand, I felt something transparent coming out of his body.

I realized that it was Jung Jaewoo's soul.

He definitely has a soul.

Then I might be able to save him. If we somehow find out where his soul is, then-

Tsutsutsutsutsu.

Sparks flew in the air, and for an instant the outline of the soul thickened.

There was a terrible scream.

A hand snatched his soul in an instant. It disappeared through the torn space and I watched the scene in a daze.

My thoughts didn't flow as if my head was out of order. I didn't quite understand what it was. The only thing I managed to get out of my messed up brain was a single sentence.

If I'm not mistaken, Jung Jaewoo's soul that disappeared must be—

「He was in the form of a kkoma Kim Dokja.」

605 Episode 10. Writer (6)

Feeling his heart rapidly grow cold, Jung Jaewoo trembled with fear.

「I’m scared. I'm scared. I'm scared. I'm scared. I'm scared. I'm scared.」

Dying. He was dying now.

[Oh, what a pity. It's okay. Don't worry.]

Someone was talking to him while holding the back of his neck.

[You're not going to die.]

A dark, bleak voice.

Jung Jaewoo realized whose voice it was.

It was 'RepresentativeKimDokja'.

[There's a story you need to see.]

A story. When Jung Jaewoo heard that, his heart suddenly beat.

His dying body was reviving.

Was this how Kim Dokja felt when he was resurrected with the power of the “King of No Killing”?

The thoughts that he shouldn't have read the novel disappeared.

I'm glad I read this story after all.

Then he felt his head, hands, legs, and body regenerate.

Jung Jaewoo opened his eyes as much as he could.

He was sitting in front of the movie theater screen.

For some reason, his mind was clouded.

The memories from a while ago flashed through his mind one by one.

The day he went to the theater dungeon, meeting the readers, meeting Cheon Inho and Jung Heewon.

He had a fight with a human claiming to be a writer.

And.

「"Jaewoo-ssi."」

A man's face appeared on the screen. And with his eyes closed, he could see his own body without any movement.

I’m dead.

Oddly enough, he didn't feel sad or distressed. Because the story was still going on in front of his eyes.

「"Jaewoo-ssi."」

Looking at Cheon Inho holding his hand and shaking his body, Jung Jaewoo thought.

As expected, this story is really great.

This story, I want to watch it a little more.

[Of course. You can do that forever.]

RepresentativeKimDokja tapped him on the shoulder and disappeared.

Jung Jaewoo blankly stared at the screen.

On the screen was a grieving Cheon Inho. As soon as he faced Cheon Inho, Jung Jaewoo felt the providence of faraway stories.

He lost himself little by little while swimming in that universe of stories.

Who was I?

But still, looking at Cheon Inho, who was sitting with a despairing face, he wanted to tell him something.

I'm okay. I'm still here, even though I've been dragged into a strange little space, I'm reading this story.

Then a small keypad appeared in front of his eyes.

He stared down at the keypad and wrote a word.

> rlaehrwk41: What kind of thing is this?

Then, a kkoma Kim Dokja, who was next to him, looked back at him.

> rlaehrwk37: New here?

On the chest of the kkoma Kim Dokja was a name tag with rlaehrwk37 written on it.

> rlaehrwk37: I worked hard to save you, but you died.

He casually looked down at his chest.

“rlaehrwk41.”

rlaehrwk41 looked down at his name tag for a while before asking.

> rlaehrwk41: Who are you?
>
> rlaehrwk37: Who is it? Everyone is in the same situation as you. Do you know ‘Daknunsam’ for newcomers?
>
> rlaehrwk41: What's ‘Daknunsam’?

Then rlaehrwk37 said with a serious face.

> rlaehrwk37 : Shut up and watch for three days until you figure out what’s going on.

---

It rained.

Under a dense broad-leaved forest that can escape the rain, I buried Jung Jaewoo's body.

[The constellation, 'Commander of the Red Cosmos', looks at you.]

At his moment of death, Jung Jaewoo was smiling mysteriously.

Why? He said he regretted reading this novel, so why did he die smiling like that?

Could it be the last amount of [Little Luck] influencing him?

[The constellation, 'Demon-Like Judge of Fire', comforts you.]

[The constellation, 'Lily Blooming In Aquarius', sponsors 100 coins.]

[The constellation, 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon', asks why you bury them when they’ll disappear anyway.]

The Abyssal Black Flame Dragon was right.

When this movie ends, this world disappears. Then Jung Jaewoo's body will also disappear.

I know that.

But it was the same everywhere, not just here. The earth, solar system, and the galaxy will disappear someday.

But we bury the dead in the ground. I don't know why.

All I can tell is a story about a novel. Some sentences only become meaningful when they are buried between sentences and not revealed.

Maybe that's what death is like.

Jung Heewon did not wake up right away.

I followed the footsteps of the script writer with Jung Heewon on my back. The footprints were cut off at some point.

There was a jar, “Yongjun”, which was dropped by the broken footprint.

I hung Yongjun around my waist.

If his injuries were enough to drop even his main item, he would be dead or dying somewhere by now.

I stopped tracking the script writer.

[Reach the end of the movie.]

Getting rid of him is important, but for now, escaping from this movie was the first priority. In the end, you have to see the end to return to the original world.

After losing Jung Jaewoo, Jung Heewon also passed out.

If I ever run into the “starter” who was hiding by himself, my team would be doomed.

「We must not lose anyone anymore.」

After covering Jung Heewon with my coat, I continued to walk in the rain. In the middle of the rain and sweat mixed, even the floor was muddy and my steps were heavy.

Groooh!

Occasionally, when I hear the roar of a giant monster, I lean for a moment under the trunk of a tree.

I caught my breath.

The film ends when we escape from this island.

I'll probably have to go to the research center in the center of the island this time too.

[The theater owner hates the mediocre ending.]

Sparks intermittently fell from the gloomy sky.

[The theater owner accepts the proposal of the constellation 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail'.]

[The constellation, ‘Snake That Cut Off Its Tail’, unravels its story.]

[The composition of the stage is partially changed]

[A black moon has risen on the stage.]

[Some monstrosities evolve under the blessing of the constellation 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail'!]

[The constellation, 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes', advises you to hurry.]

With an eerie feeling running down my spine, I hurried my steps. But the research wing was too far, and they were getting closer.

I could see the grass swaying in all directions as if chasing prey.

In the end, I put Jung Heewon down and took the damaged bamboo pole in my hand.

Grrr.

A group of red-eyed raptors emerged from the grass.

[The 8th-grade earth dragon, 'Raptor', reveals its intent to kill you.]

One two three four… eight in total. Each one is a level 8 monster, but when gathered together, they are monsters that can even hunt level 7 monsters.

[Activate the exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv.6'!]

"I am a raptor. I am not your enemy"

I tried telling it just in case, but it didn't work.

[The constellation, 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail', smirks.]

The power of someone stronger than the instigation was ruling them.

「I am Yoo Joonghyuk.」

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv.6', is activated!]

I smashed the raptor's head with the bamboo pole and amortized it.

「Seeing that '□□' didn't activate, I'm not in danger of dying.」

But what about Jung Heewon?

I aimed my bamboo stick at the surroundings, protecting Jung Heewon who leaned against the trunk of a tree.

Should I spend coins on stats?

Or should I buy a new skill?

[Possessed coins: 25,400 C]

No good method came to mind.

Even if I hunted all the raptors, it was a problem.

The raptors I'm facing now were weak even in this stage.

Quadduk!

Taking advantage of my carelessness, a raptor bit my arm.

I cracked the guy's head with the tip of the bamboo stick. Shaking off the dripping blood, I activated [Incite] once again.

"I am Tyrannosaurus Rex."

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv.6', is activated!]

"Hmm," I breathed in, and let out the loudest shout I could.

Whoaaaaaaa!

At that moment, the bodies of the raptors who were aiming at me stiffened.

I took a step forward and let out another roar.

Aaaaaaaa!

As the first raptor ran away, the second raptor immediately turned its back. Three, four, five… In an instant, all but the two fighters I knocked down ran away.

[The constellation, 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband', has sponsored you 100 coins.]

I internally let out a sigh of relief.

My throat was sore from the excessive roar.

Go go go…

It was then that the nearby ground began to vibrate.

I had an ominous feeling.

「Is it really because of me that the raptors ran away?」

The broad-leaved trees on the left collapsed, and the front claws of a giant terrestrial dragon appeared.

Oh oh oh oh!

[A 7th grade earth dragon, 'Tyrannosaurus Rex', has appeared!]

In the main story, Lee Jihye, Jung Heewon, and Kim Dokja worked together to catch the monster.

But now, Kim Dokja and Lee Jihye were not here, and Jung Heewon was also in a state of fainting.

Codedeuk!

A huge tail came flying, breaking all nearby trees.

I wrapped my body around Jung Heewon and rolled on the floor.

Blood continued to flow from the arm that had been hit by the raptor.

It was not an opponent that could be defeated in a one-on-one fight.

After all, my main skill is [Incite]. What should I do to [Incite] to scare him?

「How far can I [Incite] this world?」

With all my imagination, I recalled the most powerful dragon I know.

A monster that can't be compared to a 7th grade dragon.

Did they realize what I'm trying to do? There was already a sign of a probability storm throughout my body.

[The constellation, 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail', blinks.]

"I am."

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv. 6', is activated!]

I slowly opened my mouth.

[The constellation, 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon', realizes your intentions and is surprised.]

To save Jung Heewon.

And at the end of this theater, to meet Yoo Joonghyuk once again.

"Apocalypse."

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv. 6', is being pushed to the limit!]

There was a pain as if all my cells were being squeezed.

Now all I have to do is spit out the last word.

Last one, the last word.

The Tyrannosaurus Rex's front claws moved towards me.

Tsucheucheucheucheucheucheut!

My tongue stiffened as if something was covering my mouth. The last word was not uttered.

I closed my eyes tightly.

「If I die, will I become a kkoma Kim Dokja?」

A flash of light flashed in the pale darkness created by my eyelids. Then I heard a thump and something rolling on the floor.

When I opened my eyes, I saw a clear blue-white ether blade and the Tyrannosaurus, who fell down after losing his front foot.

"What?"

The familiar faces of the brother and sister were seen beyond the brilliant [Purest Sword Force].

Killer King, who had read ORV 99.8 times, was there.

"You, why are you here?"

| |
|---|
| rlaehrwk41: Those are the people who saved me. |

---

Yeom Ilwoo, the script writer, was running while swearing.

'Damn it! Damn it!'

The battle that had just happened was still vivid in his mind. From a madman who said he read ORV 100 times, to a crazy woman who killed a 7th grade alien species.

"Wow!"

A madwoman's throw tore his arm apart, knocking him down, and a newbie chasing after him thrusted his sword into his thigh, making his maneuver difficult.

He had made a hole in the newbie's heart, but thanks to that, he too was in danger of dying soon.

[The constellation, 'King of Gambling', bestows good luck on you.]

What saved him was his sponsor.

Yeom Ilwoo, the script writer, passed through a broad-leaved forest area with amazing luck, avoided a group of dinosaurs, and eventually succeeded in entering the "Central Research Building" first.

He even discovered a "hidden tunnel" that led directly from the research building to the upper floors.

[You are the first to enter the research building!]

[Do you want to enter the "Hidden Tunnel"?]

[When entering the tunnel, the stairs are randomly skipped.]

[50% chance to reach the 3rd floor, 40% chance to reach the 4th floor, 10% chance to reach the 5th floor.]

Yeom Ilwoo entered the tunnel without hesitation.

["King of Dice" is activated!]

[Enter the 5th floor!]

5th floor.

The place where the rewards were located.

Young Ilwoo stepped onto the fifth floor, unable to hide his excitement.

Although he lost two of his teammates and even dropped Yongjun on the way back, luck was still on his side.

Yeom Ilwoo found a woman who arrived on the 5th floor before him.

"Hey, look. Are you alone?"

A short woman in a white coat.

As soon as he checked the woman's face, Yeom Ilwoo's face brightened.

[The constellation, 'King of Gambling', says you can't go that way.]

Yeom Ilwoo ignored him.

No matter who it was, it was an 'incarnation' who was here anyway, and with a high probability of being a 'reader'. And he was confident in deceiving any reader with his words.

There surely can't be two crazy people who've read ORV 100 times.

Above all, the woman's face was beautiful.

"Let's team up together. I am the author of this novel! You heard it earlier, right? 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'—"

As soon as Yeom Ilwoo reached for the woman with a faint smile, an eerie sound split the air.

Yeom Ilwoo did not know what happened until the moment his neck rolled down.

[The constellation, 'King of Gambling', checks his eyes in astonishment!]

[The constellation, 'Sneaky Schemer', glares at the 'King of Gambling'.]

[The constellation, 'King of Gambling', hastily leaves the channel.]

The woman staring at Yeom Ilwoo's head rolling on the floor smiled.

"It's a little bit, but you can't use an avatar?"

The woman lightly brushed off the blood from her sword and looked back after she wiped the blade.

"Hey, you."

"…"

“Kim Namwoon, Lee Hyunsung, aren't you awake yet?"

Kim Namwoon, who was lying behind her, staggered and raised himself. And with a bizarre smile, he said.

"You're really strong. Kekeke. But compared to our leader– Keuhaha!"

Kim Namwoon, who was hit in the back of the head, instantly fainted.

"As expected, you were awake. Don't wake up."

The woman dragged Kim Namwoon, who quietly passed out, and Lee Hyunsung, who suddenly began to snore, upstairs.

"Hey, what floor is Yoo Joonghyuk on?"

When the woman asked, Lee Hyunsung's snoring stopped.

Then the woman said.

"Not you, Lee Hyunsung."

Lee Hyunsung began to snore again, and the answer came from the air.

[The constellation, 'Sneaky Schemer', says he is now on the last floor.]

The woman let out a light sigh, and once again a message was heard in the air.

[The constellation, 'Sneaky Schemer', says everyone is worried.]

"Don't worry."

[The constellation, ‘Sneaky Schemer', is…]

"It's noisy."

After receiving an answer, Han Sooyoung looked at the torn movie posters for a while. These are probably the films that Yoo Joonghyuk ripped up.

「Originally, she had never come to this theater.」

In the third turn, when Kim Dokja cleared the Theater Dungeon, she was somewhere else.

However, she knew what Kim Dokja said here.

「"I made a wish to see the epilogue of a certain novel."」

Did Kim Dokja, who said that at the time, know that this story would be so long?

「Are you still curious about the end of this world?」

Han Sooyoung left the torn poster and looked up at the ceiling.

Maybe Kim Dokja was still reading this story somewhere.

As if talking to Kim Dokja, Han Sooyoung muttered.

"You keep reading from there. Because I'll do my job."

Putting an end to the story, and bringing the reader back to reality.

That was the author's role.

606 Episode 11. Artwork (1)

These days, whenever I pass out, I have a thought. Maybe I will meet Kim Dokja again this time.

I was always thinking of questions to ask when meeting Kim Dokja.

Where are you now?

Why did you call me here?

What story are you reading right now?

[Current state of consciousness is unstable.]

Unfortunately, when I opened my eyes, it was not a snowy field.

I could see the dark scene of the theater around me. It was a theater where kkoma Kim Dokjas were gathered..

As soon as I woke up, I thought of Jung Jaewoo. At the last moment, Jung Jaewoo disappeared as a “kkoma Kim Dokja.”

Maybe he's here too.

People huddled around the theater and sat down. Small backs of heads were visible.

If it had been before, I would have thought of it as cute, but now a part of my heart felt cold.

Perhaps, aren't these "kkoma Kim Dokjas" all dead readers?

The moment I slowly opened my mouth and tried to call Jung Jaewoo's name,

「"Yoo Joonghyuk."」

Voices came from the speakers in front.

There were two people on the screen. One is Yoo Joonghyuk in a black coat, and the other…

「"Who are you?"」

Yoo Joonghyuk asked, and someone answered.

「"The one who came to finish your story."」

It felt like my heart was sinking.

It cannot be done.

Those two shouldn't fight now.

I have to get out of here right now.

I felt my body slowly disintegrate. My consciousness will be awakened again.

"Wow, the fight of the century!"

At the last moment, I heard the kkoma Kim Dokja beside me shouting like that.

---

When I woke up, Killer King was kicking me with his foot.

"You're a weakling. To think you've lost your mind with just such a wound."

I groaned lightly and got up.

It was a dark night. I could faintly feel the warmth of the bonfire.

It seems that I got help from the Killer King siblings.

"Please eat."

Killer King’s younger sister supported me and handed me a teacup. When I sniffed it, it turned out that it was someone who had put herbs in it and boiled it.

"Thank you."

Judging by the color and scent, it seems that Elaine's “Dawn Dew” or “Baekoncho” was added.

All of them were food ingredients that did not appear in the main story when reading.

"It's not poison, so there's no doubt about it. I won’t do that twice."

"I just smelled it because I liked the smell of tea."

"This is a newly discovered medicine. It's good for restoring mana and mental strength."

Killer King said that and drank it as if to demonstrate.

I felt a strange feeling when I saw a reader who naturally finds material that the author did not write.

Even if it leaves the hand of the writer, the story continues.

「Does Han Sooyoung know about this?」

Along with a faint headache, the dream I had seen before flashed through my head.

As I looked around in a hurry, Killer King said.

"Jung Heewon is over here."

Next to the bonfire, Jung Heewon was asleep under a light blanket. When I put my hand to the tip of her nose, I could feel her breath.

There doesn't seem to be any trauma, but I think it was a mental attack.

Jung Heewon still seems to have not recovered from the aftereffects of [Incite]. I briefly mentioned the situation instead of a detailed explanation.

"I met the Misreading Association."

As expected, Killer King's attitude changed.

"Tell me in detail."

I exhaled lightly and started talking about the gathering of readers under the theater dungeon.

Without even listening to a few words, Killer King quickly grasped the situation.

"Is it. The scenario has changed. Are they considerate of latecomers?"

Especially after hearing that a guy who called himself 'the writer' appeared, Killer King's eyes began to take on an eerie light.

"Author? You said he went with the Misreading Association guys?"

I don't know, but I wonder if Yoo Joonghyuk made that kind of expression when he was stabbed in the back by Anna Croft in the second round.

But Killer King quickly regained his composure.

"You don't know it, but [Lie Detection] can be cheated by adjusting to the speaker's beliefs, or the value of the information being said."

It's something I knew, but I nodded my head once.

"To say that he wrote the Book of Revelation himself… would mean that he wrote the 'illegal text' in the Revelation. In other words, it means that he is not a 'real writer.'"

I was amazed.

"By the way, if it's a illegal text writer… Is he the one after all?"

"Do you know who it is?

"It must be one of the executives of the Misreading Association. I have fought him before. How did it go? Are you sure he has stopped breathing?"

"He's probably dead. He was seriously injured."

Killer King nodded his head approvingly.

"I roughly understood the situation. You managed to survive."

"When did you two come here?"

"Half a day outside. Based on this stage, it was two days ago."

Perhaps this stage had a different time scale than the outside.

If it's half a day outside, did it come around the time the 'Emergency Defense Battle' started?

"With the two of you, it wouldn’t have been a movie that would have taken two days."

"We also met the Misreading Association."

"The Misreading Association?"

I belatedly realized my mistake.

Why did I think the Misreading Association would only be among the “latecomers”?

They must have read the exhibition through the illegal text, so the quick-witted ones among them must have infiltrated the theater dungeon beforehand.

"The number were five in total. As soon as I entered the stage, I met them. Two were rats, and three were snakes. I killed them all, but the problem was that the snakes bit me as they died."

Saying that, Killer King showed his arm.

There were traces of a snake's teeth on his pale arms, and a purple mark was engraved around the teeth marks.

"It's a curse."

"Right."

"What curse?"

"The Curse of Disorientation."

It reminded me of a setting I had memorized sometime.

A person with this curse is not only unable to judge the directions of north, south, east and west, but also unconsciously takes the path of the wind.

"Fortunately, it's a curse with a statute of limitations, so it seems to be lifted by simply escaping from this stage."

"I see. So two days… um? Wait a minute."

It's strange when you think about it.

Killer King must have been the only one who was cursed?

"Don’t you have a younger sibling? Your younger sister should take the lead."

At my words, Killer King's sister made a startled face.

Killer King looked at her blankly and said.

"Yerin is usually long."

Killer King's younger sister slept on Killer King's side as hard as she could.

Killer King, who frowned slightly, said with a sinister smile.

"Anyway, I have a favor to ask of you."

"A favor?"

"Take us to the central research building. Then I'll spare your life."

Killer King was once again kicked by his sister.

---

It was fortunate to meet the Killer King siblings on this stage.

Killer King is a bit strange, but he was a reliable ally on the same side.

"I think we'd better start right away."

"So far, since the curse effect is also bothering me, I think it would be better to move quickly, even to arrive a minute earlier."

I said while drawing a simple map on the floor.

"I know the location of the research building."

"Jung Heewon hasn't woken up yet."

It was definitely dangerous to carry Jung Heewon on his back. But there wasn't much time given.

"She'll wake up soon. I'm gone and I'll move."

"I don't think there's any ulterior motive. Being tricked by you once is enough."

Come to think of it, the last place I met this brother and sister was inside the Dark Edge.

"You gave us a 'Random Item Box' that had lost its effect at that time."

I answered honestly.

"It was."

"Did you use the box?"

I shook my head.

Of course, I thought he would use [Lie Detection], but I didn't hear the message.

After thinking for a while, Killer King asked.

"Why did you leave the note?"

At the time, I jotted down some useful information in the box I gave them.

If it's Killer King, you've probably got quite a few hidden pieces that are good from that note by now.

"You really don't know?"

Killer King glared at me for a moment, then turned his head away with a face that seemed to have hurt his pride.

"No. I think I know."

It seemed to be so.

If Killer King is curious, he is the type to find out on his own. Because he is such a person, he has read ORV 99.8 times. Ordinarily, I would have read a collection of ORV readings compiled by others.

"By the way, it's difficult to leave now."

The roar of the earth dragons could be heard intermittently. Killer King continued,

"I don't know what you did, but the monsters are going crazy right now because of you."

I remembered the Misreading Association constellations that hindered me.

The 'Plague-Bringing Rat' exited after being hit by a probabilistic aftermath, but one more constellation remained.

The Snake That Cut Off Its Tail.

Perhaps he is the culprit behind this situation.

Judging from the fact that there is no particular setting that comes to mind, it must be a nameless constellation.

Now that nameless constellation was a huge obstacle.

"There are two of them. I saw earlier that they are good at catching level 7 earth dragons."

"It was a surprise attack, so it was easy to catch. If we fight head-on, it will take us longer. And…"

[All paper rolls on the stage are affected by the 'Black Moon' effect.]

Killer King continued his words while glaring at the moon in the sky.

Since that moon rose, the power of the Earth Dragons has been getting stronger.

"If I meet the 7th grade dragon again now, even if I ambushed it, it won’t be easy."

"Fortunately, that 'black moon' has a fixed duration."

[The 'Black Moon' effect lasts for a total of 8 hours.]

It was clear what Killer King meant.

Even when I thought with common sense, it's right to wait here. After Jung Heewon wakes up, it'll be safe to move after the effect of the 'Black Moon' is over.

「That way, I won't lose anyone anymore.」

I already lost Jung Jaewoo because of my misjudgment. If I make a mistake here, other readers… Killer King or Killer King's younger sister may die.

"I still have to go."

I know it's not a realistic judgment. However, it is an impossible world to think realistically.

Because where we are is fiction.

「You have to think of it as novelistic in fiction.」

Guilt can't keep you from doing important things.

Jung Jaewoo is dead.

But he will be a little overseer and will be alive. Maybe other readers will too.

They didn't die.

And if he's not dead, there's a way to bring him back somehow.

I had to believe that now.

This was such a "story," and I had to think of the next development in such a nonsensical world.

「To prevent the planned destruction and pioneer a new story.」

Will I be able to reach the right ending?

"Yoo Joonghyuk may die."

Killer King paused for a moment before asking again.

"Is it true?"

I nodded.

Killer King did not use [Lie Detection]. Instead he looked at his sister.

"Yerin."

The sister quietly shrugged her shoulders, as if to do whatever he wanted. Killer King's troubles were not long.

"I'm going to the research building."

---

We made our way through the broad-leaved forest and headed straight to the central research building.

We often encountered an 8th grade earth dragon raptor, and even more rarely a 7th grade earth dragon, Tyranno.

It took some time, but we steadily moved forward.

The direction was not wrong. According to my thoughts, the research center was definitely over here.

Killer King followed me without a word. He sometimes pruned branches in advance to be considerate of his sister, or warned her to watch her feet.

To be honest. It was a bit incomprehensible to me.

Killer King heard only one word that Yoo Joonghyuk could die, and he was taking the risk with me.

How could that be?

"I have a question."

I asked Killer King, who broke off the protruding branches.

"Why is the name 'Seven Apostles'? At least in ORV, 'apostle' is not used in a very good sense."

In the entire novel, the “apostles” did not read the revelation to the end, but it was a word precisely referring to their executives.

Killer King glared at me for a moment as if asking me all that.

I thought I could hear a sound, and then the leaves swayed one by one.

The rain that had stopped for a while started to fall again.

Could it be because of the sound of rain?

"We are."

I didn't immediately understand what he said.

"I haven't read the story to the end yet."

Understanding came a little late.

I didn't even think of it. I thought it was the community name of readers who simply borrowed the name “Apostle,” but it wasn't.

「The “7 Apostles” was a group of people who believed that the “Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint” was not over yet.」

Since the novel was not over, they were defectors.

"That's why it's an apostle."

Because they are involuntary defectors, they call themselves “apostles.”

"But the story…"

It’s finished.

The moment I was about to say that, something blocked my mouth.

There were countless thoughts running through my head.

The reason I and the readers came to this world now. And an anecdote from Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint that is being serialized on my cell phone as it pleases.

In an instant, goosebumps went down my forearms.

Perhaps, the reason why this world has no choice but to exist is…

"Why are you asking that all of a sudden? Do you want to become an apostle too?"

Killer King was looking at me and asking.

"Even if I wanted to become it, I couldn’t accept it."

"Uh… Why?"

Then Killer King frowned his thick eyebrows and said.

"You act like a guy who knows the end all by himself."

Without realizing it, I burst out laughing.

But Killer King's expression was serious.

"You knew a hidden piece that I didn't know about."

"That…"

"If it's special like now, you’ll smile with a strange expression."

"It's just because I have narrow eyes."

Killer King, ignoring my words, concluded his words by looking at my wounded shoulder.

"In addition to being used to pain. Do you have a [Fourth Wall]?"

I didn't know what to say.

For a moment, such a temptation arose.

Maybe it would be okay to tell him that I am the writer.

But soon I got a thought.

Now that I am calling myself a writer, I am not responsible for anything about this story.

Maybe my expression was strange, Killer King added with a light smile.

"Don't take it seriously. It's just that I don't like you acting like Kim Dokja."

The building of the central research building could be seen in the distance. We had finally come close to our destination.

"I thought for a while that it would be nice."

Killer King's expression, saying that, seemed somehow lonely.

I thought for a moment about the other readers in the lobby of the theater. Maybe they're accepting the truth of the world by now, too.

「There is no Kim Dokja in this world.」

They read Kim Dokja's story, and were curious about Kim Dokja's story, but they were summoned to this world without Kim Dokja.

Then, for whom does this story exist?

"Get ready soon."

The younger sister of Killer King and Killer King stopped walking.

We all know that the real danger starts now.

Killer King said.

"As you may know, if it was as it should be, the ending conditions should have been met when we hunted the 7th-level Earth Dragon."

It was as Killer King said.

In the main part of the book, the ending message appeared at the moment of hunting “Tyranno,” but now it wasn’t the case.

"It must mean the ending of this movie is not like that."

Coo coo coo.

Right in front of the road leading to the central research building, something was waiting.

[The owner of the theater is looking forward to the ending you will make.]

A cry rang low as if scratching the ground. The ground around us began to shake violently.

The expression of Killer King and Killer King's younger sister hardened. Looking at the faces of the two people with a faint fear spreading, I felt an inexplicable sense of excitement.

Is this how I feel because I am a writer?

There is a guy stronger than 7th grade.

Or is it because I, too, am a first-time reader of this story?

[Grade 6 Earth Dragon, 'Cretaceous owner', roars!]

I thought maybe this theater might have the answer.

"Run."

With Killer King's signal, we ran in the rain.

"Five raptors ahead."

At my signal, Killer King's younger sister, Literature Girl 64 stepped forward.

[White and Blue Steel entwined in the claws of both hands, accelerating in an instant, she snapped the necks of the five raptors like millets.]

"A 7th grade ahead!"

Grade 7 Earth Dragon, Tyrannosaurus Rex.

The one who got stronger by receiving the power of the black moon knocked down all the hardwoods in front.

It rushed this way.

The literary girl didn't back down and ran to the front of Tyranno.

[Incarnation, 'Lee Seyeon', activates the skill 'Battle Action Mode'!]

Lee Seyeon. It was the name of the person possessed by Literature Girl 64.

Since I don't remember her name, this must be an ordinary extra.

The moment the T-Rex's paw fell on Literature Girl 64's head, she shouted.

"Brother, now!"

"I get it."

[Incarnation, 'Kang Ilhun', has spent 300 coins.]

[Incarnation, 'Kang Ilhun', has taken over the 'Command Controller'.]

A small controller appeared in Killer King's hand. As he entered the command in a flamboyant manner, a bright red aura exploded from Literature Girl 64's entire body.

Using her explosive power, she approached Tyranno's hind legs, and she stretched out her fist, which was raised strongly.

Bang!

With a roar, Tyranno's ankles staggered.

3 consecutive hits.

The enraged Tyranno cried out and swung its huge tail.

His sister exclaimed.

"Parring!"

"I get it."

When Killer King operated the controller, Literature Girl 64 crossed her arms and radiated magical energy at just the right time.

Tyranno's tail bounced off as if it had hit an invisible barrier.

It was a truly phenomenal level of connection.

I never thought I'd see that skill that only applies in games being actually reproduced.

[You have activated 4 Intermediate Commands in a row!]

[Penalties for 'Battle Action Mode' are activated!]

[Command input will be suspended for 30 seconds.]

"Yerin!"

"Don't worry."

The Tyranno, who had trodden its foot, stamped it into the ground at random. Literature Girl 64 jumped up the tree.

It wasn't a clean move like before, but an appropriate maneuver using innate physicality.

As the trees in the area were to be uprooted, Literature Girl 64, guessing, went around Tyranno.

"It's okay. Now!"

[The penalty for 'Battle Action Mode' is lifted!]

LiteraryGirl64, who caught the timing, got on the Tyranno's tail and started to run.

A strange smile crept onto Killer King's mouth as he operated the controller.

"Vision yes. Dark Spinning Breaker."

Literature girl 64's claw spinning like a top in the air is a dark red color.

She ripped out both of Tyrannosaurus' eyes as it turned back, then thrust the claw through the center of its skull.

With a thump, Tyranno's floor bones shattered and its blood spurted out.

[Successfully activated advanced command!]

[The battle action mode is canceled.]

[General Review: 91 points for linkage! Are you aspiring to be a pro gamer?]

The aura disappeared from Literature Girl 64's body.

With a sigh, she trudged down from Tyranno's gigantic body. A slight tiredness was felt in her gait.

"What is the linkage score?"

"91 points. Too bad."

"It's better than before."

"I still have enough coins left to play a few more times."

"What is that?"

"What do you mean?"

"You gave my technique a strange name."

"I don't remember."

Through that one fight, I got to know the fighting styles of the two.

[Battle Action Mode is literally a skill that allows you to manipulate your strengthened body as if you were playing a fighting action game.]

When LiteraryGirl64 activates her skill and passes the controller to Killer King, Killer King activates her skill by inputting a command.

It was a simple, but never easy connection.

A combat method that creates explosive synergies in an instant, with one person focusing on strengthening the body and the other focusing only on the movement of the body.

It was a battle method that was possible because they were two people who fully believed in each other.

Killer King said, perhaps conscious of my gaze.

"You seem surprised by the control of this body."

"Your sister is really amazing."

"If you've seen it to your heart's content, take out the secret weapon you've been hiding."

We continued running through the forest.

There was less than a hundred meters to the research building.

Oh oh oh!

Perhaps because of the influence of the black moon, the speed of the monsters chasing us is getting faster.

There were at least twenty hordes of raptors approaching from either side. There were over ten guys blocking the front.

The Killer King frowned and said.

"Yerin, what is the cooldown time?"

"There are still three minutes left."

Apparently, there is a cooldown for [Battle Action Mode].

I said, speeding up my steps.

"I'll try it this time."

I took a deep breath

[Incite with the “last dragon of the Apocalypse” earlier failed.]

Maybe it's because I'm not good enough. So, is the Abyssal Black Flame Dragon possible? I don't know.

Anyway, “Tyranno” was a success.

Then.

"I am."

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv.6', is activated!]

"I am the Snake That Cut Off Its Tail."

Tsutsutsutsutsutsutsu!

As expected, there seems to be a penalty for [Inciting] as someone with a higher rank than me. Pain surged through the blood vessels throughout my body, as if electricity were flowing instead of blood, and my consciousness flickered for a moment.

[The constellation, 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail', looks at you with astonished eyes.]

Still, it was probably because his level was low, and I was able to withstand this level of aftermath.

I swallowed the rising blood. I thought I could say at least one word.

"Go away!"

All the raptors in front of me were frightened by my cry and ran away.

['Incite', is canceled.]

My whole body trembled as if I had been electrocuted with the sound of Tsutsutsutsu and Killer King supported me as I stumbled and vomited.

"I didn’t know [Incite] could be used like this."

"Cheon Inho is more of a fraud than I thought."

We jumped right into the central research building. Fortunately, the 6th-level Earth Dragon hadn't moved yet, but there was a problem.

Upon entering, the central research building was divided into A and B.

"We need to secure an ampoule. You know."

I nodded.

The rewards you can get from this movie are various 'ability ampoules'.

Killer King moved to building B and said to us.

"You go to Building A with Yerin. I'll be in charge of Building B."

"Will you be okay by yourself?"

"Don’t care."

Maybe because I'm carrying Jeong Heewon on my back, a proper battle is impossible.

This time, I didn't hesitate to be considerate. I couldn't afford to think about that.

I searched Building A with Literature Girl 64, and found the place I was looking for within a few minutes.

[Embryology Lab.]

We immediately opened the door and entered.

Looking at the flasks and ampoules scattered throughout the laboratory, it seemed that we had come to the right place.

In a transparent incubator, a baby dinosaur was seen as an embryo.

While I was looking at the scene inadvertently, Literature Girl 64 approached me.

"They'll never be born."

Words that I don't know whether they're questions or self-talk.

I answered at random.

"I guess so."

This hidden scenario is just a virtual stage. The moment the movie ends, everything will disappear. The same would be true for these embryonic dinosaurs.

Literature Girl 64 said in a nonchalant voice.

"Maybe it's better not to be born."

Looking back at her absentmindedly, LiteraryGirl64 lowered her head as if avoiding my gaze.

According to my recollection, she had never read the entire book. It was only said that her brother, Killer King, had told her over and over again.

How does she feel about being drawn into this world?

"Is this it?"

"Yes, that's right."

When reading, we quickly found the ability ampoules that appeared in the main story.

Comprehensive stat ampoules that increase strength, stamina, sensitivity, and horsepower, respectively.

The total number of ampoules found was twenty-four.

We split the ability ampoules in half each. I decided to take the special ampoule I found additionally.

Tyrant T-Rex's DNA Ampoule.

An item that increases all stats by 10 for 30 minutes when consumed.

Considering the last floor of the theater dungeon, this ampoule was a must.

Koo-goo-goo-goo!

The whole building shook precariously as if it had been hit by an artillery shell.

"Let’s go straight to the roof."

Outside the window, I saw a huge earth dragon getting up.

The research buildings are connected to each other

If he has heard the commotion, the Killer King is probably coming up on the roof.

The 6th-grade Ji Yong-jong, the master of the Cretaceous period, roars!

[All living things in the area fall into 'predation fear'!]

The roar that roared through the entire building made me feel like my spine froze for an instant.

I quickly activated the skill.

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv.6', is activated.]

"There is no need to be afraid."

LiteraryGirl64, who had been frozen for a while, came back to her senses and climbed the stairs.

After a roar, the Earth Dragon swung its front paws around as if searching for its prey. All the windows in Building B were destroyed, and the building began to collapse from the corner. It was the same research building where Killer King entered.

Literature Girl 64 opened her mouth.

"My brother is strong."

I know. Killer King is clearly an excellent incarnation.

However, his areas of excellence were resourcefulness and fighting, not overall ability or physical abilities.

Above all, the character he possessed was Kang Ilhun, the vice president of the Dongdaemun Group.

No matter how much Jophiel acquired as a sponsor, the probability of surviving that collapse site considering the potential of his incarnation is-

"You are late."

The roof door burst open, revealing Killer King.

"Ampoules?"

"I got it."

When his sister answered, Killer King nodded.

"Leave right away."

The Earth Dragon, who had spotted us, was gathering his breath towards us.

[The owner of the 6th level Jiryonggun, the Cretaceous, prepares the Cretaceous Silk!]

It seems to use something similar to a breath that is a 6th grade earth dragon.

Fortunately, an escape helicopter had arrived on the roof of the research building.

"Get on!"

After Literature Girl 64 got on first, she accepted Jung Heewon, who was away from me. Jung Heewon seemed to take quite a while to wake up. As it was, there was no problem in escaping.

However.

[This helicopter is limited to 3 people.]

[A new helicopter will be created in 10 minutes.]

The noise of the helicopters deafened my ears.

I could see Literature Girl 64 shouting something.

There was no way this was it.

In the main story, it was clear that four people could board the helicopter.

[The 'Theater Owner' is satisfied with the ending condition change.]

The scenario has changed.

Maybe it's because the maximum number of people in a “team” is three.

Only up to three people can escape at once.

[The constellation, 'Snake Cutting off its Tail', protests!]

[The constellation, 'Snake Cutting off its Tail', claims an end to annihilation.]

[The 'Theater Owner' ignores the constellation's claim.]

[The 'Theater Owner' wonders who the final victim will be.]

I looked back at Killer King. He happened to be talking to his sister.

「If it’s these two.」

If Jung Heewon were added to the teamwork the two showed, wouldn't it be possible to prevent a showdown on the rooftop?

I took a step back from my blood and thought.

Ahhh, the chopper is coming again. You only need to buy 10 minutes while running away somehow. If I use [Incite] to the maximum–

"You ride it."

Turning around, Killer King was talking with his back turned.

Is it a hallucination created by an urgent situation?

It felt as if Yoo Joonghyuk was standing there.

I shook my head and stood next to him.

"I'll stay. You ride there."

The master of the Cretaceous Period's lungs swelled greatly. Its breath will pour out soon.

I'm ready to use [Incite].

Even if I overdo it, let's become the Snake That Cut Off Its Tail one more time. Then I might be able to pick up the direction of its breath a little bit.

"It's a 6th-level earth dragon. It's not an opponent you can do anything about with [incite].

"You have to do that to know."

"I know even if I don't try. I've read the Revelation 100 times."

"Wasn't it 99.8 times?"

"I reread what I knew in my head."

You don’t usually say you've read that?

Killer King asked without giving me a chance to tackle.

"How many times have you read it?"

"I–"

“You must have read it over 100 times. I can tell. But."

After saying that, Killer King put on the black half-glove he took out from his chest.

"I read it more diligently."

As he took a step forward, an unusual spark flew from his body.

[The constellation, 'Commander of the Red Cosmos', praises the courage of his incarnation.]

[The constellation, 'Commander of the Red Cosmos', bestows blessings on his incarnation.]

"I read it ten times, a hundred times harder than you."

There was no agitation in Killer King. Even so, at that moment. For some reason, I felt persuaded by Killer King’s words.

With those words, Killer King ran towards the “Owner of the Cretaceous Period.”

In an instant, I remembered ORV.

His sponsor is “Commander of the Red Cosmos,” Jophiel.

I remembered the way Jophiel fought in the 1863rd round.

「The whole sky howled in agony. At first glance, it was red fog, but if you look closely, each one was a large army of small soldiers. Unit 503 of <Eden> dyed the sky red.」

A bloody elite soldier who follows the “Commander of the Red Cosmos.”

The red mist that was now dwelling all over Killer King was neither as thick nor as wide as the one in the 1863rd round.

Just enough fog to barely protect one person.

Quadddeed!

The breath of the dinosaur from the Cretaceous period colliding with the red mist was dispersing.

"Get on! We don’t have time!"

When I turned around, Killer King's sister was holding me by the sleeve.

Without hesitating any longer, I boarded the helicopter.

The helicopter slowly rose from the ground. Killer King's appearance quickly began to recede.

The furious Earth Dragon raced towards Killer King. Unfortunately, Killer King's red fog had already disappeared. The monster's paws lightly grabbed Killer King's helplessly exposed body.

As I was about to stand up from my seat, Killer King's sister grabbed me.

"My brother is strong."

Two people had faith. The faith of a person who has read a certain novel a hundred times, and the faith of a person who has spent that time together.

「A reader who has read a story a hundred times might be able to find even the lost sentences of the writer who wrote the story.」

Looking closely, the item held in Killer King's right hand emitted a faint light.

I immediately realized what the item was.

「Petrified Dongja.」

Killer King safely got one of the hidden pieces that I wrote down on a note in the box.

「A disposable item that becomes “stone statue” for 4 hours after use.」

[Stone Statue status is not easily canceled unless it is hit by at least a constellation level being.]

If it was that item, it would surely be able to survive an attack from a 6th-level earth dragon.

I could see Killer King's body hardening into solid stone.

['Ending credit' reached.]

[Actors: Cheon Inho, Lee Seyeon, Jung Heewon.]

[You obtained 500 coins each as an appearance fee.]

The 2nd Apostle of the 7 Apostles, Killer King.

The man who still believed that this story was not over was looking up.

Waving his stiff hand, he seemed to be signaling something.

I couldn't figure out what he meant, but his sister listened to him.

"I’m curious about the next part."

Those were his words.

---

I got a new colleague.

['Lee Seyeon' has entered your team.]

ID: Literature Girl 64.

Killer King's younger sister, the fighting genius.

A temporary alliance was established to save Killer King.

[The starter has been recruited into the team.]

[An additional 500 coins are acquired.]

After assessing the current situation as calmly as possible, I opened my mouth.

"The [gargoyle] status ailment will last for four hours inside the stage. Time flows faster outside, so we have to move with the idea of finishing the dungeon in at least two hours."

Of course, there was a possibility that a miracle would happen and Killer King could hunt a 6th-class land dragon or escape on his own, but such a possibility was ruled out.

Realistically, the surest way to save Killer King is to clear the dungeon in the shortest amount of time and end the screening of the movie.

Literature Girl 64 asked.

"Is Yoo Joonghyuk upstairs?"

"Maybe."

"I wonder if Yoo Joonghyuk could clear the dungeon."

I felt like I sensed something in Literature Girl's way of talking about it.

"Is there a problem?"

I nodded.

Literature Girl 64 seemed to think for a moment about what the problem was.

She could just ask, but at times like this, the way the siblings acted was similar.

[Cleared the stage with adjusted difficulty!]

[You get 3,000 coins as an additional reward!]

[Additional dice obtained!]

[Additional dice obtained!]

Perhaps it was because we had cleared a fairly difficult movie, and we received up to 3,000 coins for five reward dice.

"I'll roll the dice first."

As I watched the dice spinning in the air, I thought of Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi.

How far have these two come?

Are they hurt?

Is Lee Jihye playing her role?

Just as Literature Girl 64 believes in Killer King, I wish I had strong faith. I want to believe that they will be safe.

[The eye of the die is 5.]

[Go up the stairs 5 steps.]

[You've reached the 3rd floor!]

[The eye of the die is 5.]

[Go up the stairs 5 steps.]

The value of the rolling dice was not bad.

We covered 24 steps in an instant.

And.

[You have entered the reward room on the 5th floor.]

Finally, the reward room.

The moment I was about to step out, Literature Girl 64 stopped me.

The reason was immediately clear.

A decapitated corpse was visible beneath a cabinet lined with reward items.

The hairs on my forearm stood out.

Literature Girl 64 looked around and said.

"I don't think there is anyone else."

We slowly approached and checked the body. A few steps away from the corpse's body, the man's head was rolling.

I said, suppressing the reflexive feeling of vomiting.

"This is the member of the Misreading Association. He was the one who claimed to be a writer."

The sharp cut on his neck was terrifying. Even so, he was a guy who had good luck, but he was killed in an instant.

If he's dead here, it must mean that someone has already gone upstairs.

There was no time.

"Get the reward first."

We each scattered and checked the items we wanted to collect as rewards.

[Reward items are limited to 2 per person.]

I chose a sword and combat uniform for her to use instead of Jung Heewon.

[Mikazuki Munechika – Replica: Class A sword.]

The first thing I chose was the sword she used in the main story. In addition, I picked out a combat uniform that seemed useful to her.

[Impossible Mission – Replica: Class A Armor.]

If this is enough, I won't have to worry about Jung Heewon's equipment for the time being. By the way, seeing that she still hadn't woken up, the aftereffects of [Incite] seemed to last quite a while.

I'll have to be careful when using it in the future.

After choosing Jung Heewon's equipment, I looked at the equipment I could use.

I had two pieces of equipment I could take with me, but one wasn't mine. It was because I had to keep his promise with the 7th apostle Ye Hyunwoo.

Let's see.

I wonder if I looked around for about 30 seconds like that. I found the item in question.

[Shingijeon Replica: A-class artillery.]

Wow, this is real.

Description: A speaker (X) made in the Joseon Dynasty, a kind of multi-launch rocket weapon.

It can fire 15 shots at a time, up to 100 shots in a row.

> The passive skill [Heavy Firepower] is built-in, greatly amplifying the ranged artillery fire ability of allies within 10 square meters when used.

Just looking at the description, I can understand why Ye Hyunwoo wanted this item. If you link the turrets led by Gong Pildu, there will definitely be tremendous synergies.

['Shingijeon Replica' is selected.]

[This item has a built-in 'reduced transformation' function.]

I was wondering how to take this, but fortunately it was an item that could be reduced and transformed.

I chose the new item and put it in my pocket.

And besides that, I looked for useful items while going around the whole room.

Like the replica version of “Molnir” that Lee Gilyoung used in the main story, or “Hercules' Shield.”

Thought of Almost Anything, who had turned into slime, was excited to see the items lined up.

It was clinging to all over the place.

The mimicry skill of [Thoughts of Almost Everything] increases!

[It learnt a new mimicry form!]

[It learnt a new mimicry form!]

Perhaps it was because its proficiency had risen, but now the conditions for collecting the shape of A-class or lower items were not so difficult.

About 5 minutes after that, I collected most of the weapon shapes in the [Room of Reward].

[‘Thoughts of Almost Everything’ is satisfied with its prey of forms.]

Although there were no imitations of S-class or higher, if I collected this much, there would not be a shortage of weapons for a while. I finally chose one protective gear.

Weapons can be summoned at any time using 'thought', but since protective gear must be worn at the same time, it was impossible to rely on the [Mimicry] function alone.

[External Reinforced Suit - Replica: A-class armor.]

And Kim Dokja also chose this suit.

In the current situation, I thought it wouldn't be bad to choose this.

Looking around, Literature Girl 64 must have had the same thoughts, and she had chosen the female version of the 'exterior strengthening suit'.

After we got ready, we stood in the aisle again going upstairs.

[This is the end of the trip together with Departure Cinema Travel.]

[There is no movement bonus for 'latecomers' from that floor onwards.]

[You are the first to complete the 'Departure Cinema Trip' scenario.]

[You will receive 2,000 coins as a reward.]

Now, it is no longer possible to skip the number of floors using the dice trick.

Instead, there was an advantage that from now on, you could move along the path that the 'first runner' had pierced in advance.

When we actually took the escalator to the sixth floor, we saw movie posters torn to pieces.

How many movies had been completed, the 6th floor was almost in a state of nothing but ruins.

Looking at the traces left here and there, it seemed that more than half of them were the workmanship of Yoo Joonghyuk.

Come to think of it, as soon as he returned, he was the one who killed the 7th grade monster species. I couldn't guess how much stronger he would have become now.

Can I really change the ending of this story just because I go up?

I lost my confidence a bit, but I wasn't depressed.

We got through the 6th floor without encountering any movies.

If we're lucky, we might be able to get to the roof as it is. Hurry up.

A little faster. A little bit more–

"Ah."

Was it too hasty?

[You have been hit by the projection beam.]

[The screening of that floor begins.]

I was shocked to hear the message.

Where?

It's all just torn movie posters?

"It's under your feet."

It was torn, but the poster was underfoot.

[The movie poster is broken]

[Only part of the film is reproduced.]

With the feeling of the floor sinking, we were sucked into pitch black darkness. And when we woke up, we were locked in a room with white walls on six sides.

---

rlaehrwk99 : Isn't that movie cube?

rlaehrwk124: How old is 99?

---

[The film is not in perfect condition.]

[You can escape from the movie when you complete certain conditions.]

Fortunately, we didn't come into the whole movie.

When I hit the inner wall several times with a white-blue steel machine, Literature Girl 64 said, "You can't pierce it by force."

I agreed with her.

"I know roughly what movie it is."

Cube controlled room, and a possible escape when the condition is fulfilled.

It was a film that the creators could not have known.

The problem is the “escape condition.”

Judging from the experience so far, there was a possibility that the owner of the theater did something annoying this time too.

However.

[The constellation, 'Demon-like Judge of Fire', is curious about your story.]

[The constellation, 'Demon-like Judge of Fire', presents conditions for escape from the room to the Theater Owner.]

Uriel?

[A constellation that has not yet revealed their modifier is curious about your story.]

[A constellation that has not yet revealed a modifier presents the Room’s Escape Condition.]

In addition, the constellations that did not reveal their modifiers?

[The Theater Owner accepts the constellations' offer.]

I wanted to have a premonition of something disturbing, but the escape conditions were soon revealed.

> Escape condition: Talk in the room for 30 minutes.

A clock appeared in the air.

[30:00.]

I looked up at the watch blankly and thought.

Really? Are these all the conditions?

Additional narratives followed.

> However, if silence lasts for more than 30 seconds, all personnel in the room will die.

I got goosebumps.

There are three people in the room right now.

Me, Jung Heewon, and Literature Girl 64.

Since Jung Heewon passed out, it meant that I had to talk with Literature Girl 64 for 30 minutes.

It wasn't an atrocious condition, but I thought it wouldn't be easy.

I'm not the type to be that good at conversations, and neither is that-

"Even if there are only some of them."

"Yes?"

"Can this be called a movie?"

Did you naturally bring up the topic first?

I was slightly moved by her consideration and replied with nothing.

"These days, the short form is the trend. Wouldn’t <Star Stream> also follow the trend?"

"What is the short form?"

"So, you cut or summarized the highlights of the video, so to speak-"

"Highlight."

Literature girl 64 thought hard and added.

"Anything with only highlights, it doesn't even have an e-light."

"Um... I agree."

Even though I agreed, I felt strangely stabbed by my conscience.

In fact, I thought the writing I was writing was similar.

Composing a compact plot with minimal build-up, and pushing the highlights every time.

[The constellation, 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon', is yawning as if bored.]

In a world where everything is a highlight, I have been writing with only highlights in mind. Is that why?

"Uh, can I call you Yerin too? Or..."

No matter how much I think about it, this moment, which is not a highlight, felt a little fresh.

"Yerin is my real name."

"Then...."

"Call me whatever you like."

"Yes."

“By the way, do you like novels?”

"Ah yes."

“Do you like this novel too?”

If this is a novel, then it must be referring to ORV. Can a novelist like the novels he wrote? Any novelist would do that.

Then what about me?

"My brother likes this novel."

"What about you, Yerin-ssi?"

Literature Girl 64 was silent for a moment.

[You must continue the conversation within 15 seconds.]

She wondered if she should turn to another topic, but she answered.

"I've never read it myself."

"Oh."

"My brother always read to me."

I had guessed her general circumstances.

Several clues came together naturally in my head.

Read ORV more than 10 times.

The habit of always wearing sunglasses.

The image of young siblings confronting RepresentativeKimDokja in the theater.

The figure of the girl holding the sleeves behind the boy naturally overlapped over Literature Girl 64's face.

"In real life, I'm blind."

This time it was a self-indulgence for me to be silent.

[You must continue the conversation within 10 seconds.]

Even though I knew that I would die if I didn't speak up within 10 seconds, I couldn't easily come up with the next words.

Fortunately, Literature Girl 64 continued.

"I am fine now."

"Okay."

"This is how the world my brother always talked about looks like."

"What do you think of this novel?"

Literature Girl 64, who hesitated for a moment and chose her words, opened her mouth.

"I think it’s a novel that lacks perfection."

I was caught off guard and hit to the bone.

"I felt that way the whole time I was listening to it. The characters are rather flat, and the story seems contrived."

"There is so much emotion in the directing. The further you go, the more monotonous the pattern of development is."

Perhaps it was an act, there was a strange rebuke in her voice. She seemed to be talking faster than before.

Are you actually someone who hates reading ORV?

It could be.

It is not strange that there are various readers in the world.

"Because web novels are serialized daily. I understand. But give me a hole to breathe."

I asked with a bitter smile.

"Do you often read web novels?"

"I sometimes ask my brother to read it to me, but it’s not my favorite genre."

"Which genre do you like? Or even a favorite writer..."

Her ID is Literature Girl 64.

If it wasn't an ID given by Killer King, she'd probably like novels too.

As if she had waited, she opened her mouth.

"Raymond Carver."

"…?"

“There is Haruki Murakami, Han River, William Faulkner, John Steinbeck...."

It seems that she has similar reading tastes to someone I know.

Literature Girl 64 nodded, probably reading my thoughts.

"I think Yoo Sangah's taste in reading is excellent."

"Oh."

I couldn't tell if it was a joke or not, so I laughed out loud.

Literature Girl 64 didn't laugh.

I got a little nervous and asked the question again.

“What is your favorite work?"

Anyway, I thought it was good.

A room where you have to talk for the next 30 minutes to escape.

It was a pleasure to have a topic to talk about after a long time. When it comes to novels, I have the confidence to talk about it for an hour or two. That was until I heard her next words.

"I like 『The Origin of Memory』."

For a moment, I thought maybe I had heard something wrong.

What kind of novel do you like?

"That… You're talking about a Korean artist's work, right?"

"Yes. You know."

I couldn't not know.

"I know, but do you really like the work?"

"Yes."

Because this novel…

"It is my favorite work."

It's mine. It was the debut work of “Lee Hakhyun.”

609 Episode 11 Artwork (4)

---

It was at the age of twenty-three that I made my debut in the literary world.

「Announcement of the winners of the 24th Rookie of the Year Award. “The Origin of Memory.” Writer Lee Hakhyun.」

It wasn't because I had some great talent that I made my debut early.

Honestly, at that age, how much did a young man know and write?

A sentence like a half-dried squid that awkwardly mimics an established writer.

There were writers who valued such things highly, and that year, I was the only one who was fortunate enough to be evaluated.

My luck ended there, and after that I was quickly forgotten by the world.

"That's how he walked towards his origins. I like that sentence."

I thought it was forgotten.

Until this person showed up.

"I also liked the works after that. [Origin of Faith], [Origin of Falsehood] ...The Origins Trilogy."

"How do you know these novels which are not well known?"

Exactly three.

Someone who has read all the stories I wrote.

It was so surprising that such a reader existed in the world.

"There were always out-of-season literary magazines among the books donated to the nursery school."

Nursery school.

At that word that came out naturally, I secretly inhaled.

"I asked my brother to read any novel in the library, and the first novel I heard was the one published in a literary magazine."

"I see."

"Have you read that novel?"

I nodded and replied.

"It's a story in which the protagonist lies about his childhood."

"That's the highlight."

"Because I can't tell you everything."

If I talked about it all here, all the constellations listening to it would fall asleep.

[The constellation, 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon', snores, asking what the hell you are talking about.]

[A Constellation that has not yet revealed their modifier is disciplined to listen to the story.]

Of course, there are constellations with maniac tastes.

After thinking about it for a while, I added a bit of flesh to the story for the maniac constellations.

"[Origin of Memories] is the story of a writer who fabricates his 'childhood' to sell books and give lectures. Can this be an explanation?"

It was the first time I was talking about my debut work to other people, so I felt a bit strange.

Literature Girl 64 said as if she was working hard.

"Tell me about the rest."

I don't know why you're asking me to tell you about a story you've already read, but I continued the story for now.

"Eventually, the main character's fraud is exposed to his alumni and exposed on the Internet."

"That's right. I found the main character's reaction interesting in that part. No one is harmed because I had a past like that. Everyone has the right to have their own story."

I replied in admiration.

"You remember the lines exactly."

"It was also interesting that the main character’s lie at the end was actually true."

"I remember that part was handled a little vaguely."

"It is not ambiguous. It turns out that the alumni who exposed the main character on the Internet actually mistook the main character for an odd person. Since only the main character remembers the story that no one remembers, pray for the origin of memory and the only person who deserves it is the main character."

As I listened to her clear impressions, I remembered the days when I had been writing that novel for a long time.

A time when I was always empty somewhere, wondering where I came from and what I exist for.

There was a time when I wrote sentences to know that.

"After that, the basic tone of the works was similar. They always dealt with the story of 'false' or 'origin', and that was interesting. It would have been nice if the writer continued to write.

I kept writing.

Literature Girl 64 who had been thinking about something for a while continued.

"I read all the webnovels novels written by that writer."

“A webnovel?”

"My brother was very bothered to read it to me… Later, he also read hard."

"That. A web novel."

"The Orc Philosopher."

The moment the title of my first failed webnovel flowed out of her mouth, I wondered if all of this was an illusion created by my paranoia.

"Now that I think about it, I think the author wrote it without knowing what a webnovel was."

There can be no hallucination that makes such an accurate assessment.

"『Infinite Prisoner』. This metaphor was a bit simplistic, but still…"

It felt like someone was cutting my neck and attaching it over and over again.

"The Magician of the Undying World. I trained hard in anticipation that the world's aspirations would come, but no matter how long I waited, the world would not perish, so I became a wizard who went to destroy the world myself… "

"…"

"And again…"

Literature Girl continued to appreciate the novels I wrote.

Sometimes I stop talking and choose my words

『Method Master』, 『System Breaker』…

I wonder if Kim Dokja felt this way after revealing his secret taste to his colleagues.

"How to Become a Star Writer…"

When even the title, which I had momentarily erased from my memory, popped up, I almost fainted.

"There was a part that felt like an experience story, but I liked it. I knew it would get a license in the end."

Surprisingly, most of my previous works were given good reviews.

Except for one piece.

"Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint... wasn't it?"

Why did I ask such a question?

I do not know.

Maybe I've been waiting for the moment to ask someone this question all along.

"Rather than not."

Literature Girl 64 chose her words seriously for about 20 seconds and continued.

"The novel didn't seem like it was written by the author."

I listened to her with my mouth closed.

"In all other works, I felt the author vividly, but only in that work, I felt like the author was just a spectator of the story."

In one moment, too many thoughts rushed in and out.

Only then did I realize that I had been preparing for this moment all along.

「As expected, this story is not written by me.」

It's just what I've been waiting for.

To hear the fact that I already knew from someone else's mouth.

I asked, hiding my discouragement.

"You must have been disappointed."

"I am not disappointed."

Literature Girl 64 said without any change in expression.

"It's just that my brother liked that story better, and I liked the other stories written by the author better. That's all."

"And then, my brother said that. Maybe the writer possessed this world like us."

Hearing those words spoken carelessly, I was taken aback and laughed nonchalantly.

"Maybe."

"I wish the author were still alive."

The long 30 minutes were already coming to an end. Looking up at the watch in the air, she concluded her words.

"I have to ask when he’s going to write the next story."

Maybe that expression right now is the highlight of this scenario. It's been a while, but I thought so.

---

[Entered the 7th floor]

We continued to climb up the cinema, watching our steps.

An hour passed by while I was going through this and that. The dungeon must be cleared within the remaining hour. Otherwise, Killer King will be in danger.

Judging by the atmosphere, it seemed that the fight on the rooftop hadn't been decided yet. How far had I moved past the torn posters?

We finally arrived at the door to the 8th floor - Sky Garden.

However.

"Uh?"

The exit to the place was blocked.

The exit was covered with pure white crystals, but I quickly realized what it was.

[Steelization.]

It was clearly a trace of [steelization].

Lee Hyunsung himself, or someone who borrowed Lee Hyunsung's skill blocked the door.

Judging by the degree of crystallization, [steelization] is in its very early stage. It was also thin.

Literature Girl 64 activated [White and Blue Steel] and knocked on the door as a test.

Kaga!

Even so, it was [White and Blue Steel], but she could only get a tiny blush.

Even in the early stages, the intensity of [White and Blue Steel] is extraordinary.

"There is a way."

Literature Girl 64 said in a calm voice.

"But I can't do it alone."

I wondered what that might mean. I don't think it will break if you knock it together.

"Are you good at games?"

Ah.

[Incarnation, 'Lee Seyeon', activates the 'Battle Action Mode'!]

Did you mean that?

[Incarnation, 'Lee Seyeon', temporarily transfers the 'Command Controller' to you.]

Soon after, a coin slot appeared in front of me. When I put in 300 coins, a controller with the same shape as Killer King used was implemented in front of me.

['Command Control' is activated.]

I gently put down Jung Heewon, who was not there, and held the controller in my hand.

"I don’t have confidence… Can I do the same as Killer King did?"

Literature Girl 64 shook her head.

"If you're that strong, you'll have to use a special move."

Literature Girl 64 gave me the command of the technique and added.

"My brother also practiced several times, but failed."

I could understand why he failed just by listening to the command. The timing was also difficult, but the command was too complicated.

"Did you memorize it?"

"Roughly."

"Not roughly. If you do it wrong, your qi and blood will be distorted and you will die."

She made something terrifying sound natural.

"Can I practice alone?"

"I’ll give you three minutes."

After saying that, Literature Girl 64 raised her cross-legged position and closed her eyes. She seemed to be concentrating her body's mana.

I sighed lightly and looked down at the controller.

Am I good at games?

I don't know. I think it's about average though. In terms of online game tier... I guess it's about gold.

Yes, I know. Of course it won't be that much.

Killer King had high-level control skills. There is no way I can succeed with a technique that even such Killer King couldn't succeed.

But.

「I know someone who can do that.」

Literature Girl 64 woke up and asked.

"Did you memorize everything?"

"I memorized it."

"Then let's begin."

The command was memorized.

The problem is the timing, and not making mistakes.

Literature Girl 64 took a preliminary action. She could feel the quiet energy gathering in her right fist.

I focused on the flow of the magical power she radiated, and memorized the deadly command.

「From now on, I am.」

I imagined.

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite Lv.6', is activated!]

A person who is better at games than anyone I know.

「I am pro gamer Yoo Joonghyuk.」

At that moment, in my head, a new world was opened. The world changed like a simulation, and the flow of time slowed down slightly.

[Your imagination is activated to the limit.]

As if peeping into the future, all the variables around me came into view at a glance.

Of course, it's not as good as real pro gamer Yoo Joonghyuk, but am I still good enough to imitate him?

The flow that dwells in her fist, and the place where her fist is headed. And from the point of impact to the release of exploding magical power.

I was able to get a zoom, and I was able to get a flower.

Literature Girl 64's fist moved. Swirling white-blue magic power. Her fist, penetrating space like a flash war, exploded at the center of the door.

I didn't ask for the name of the skill, but I thought I knew what the King might have called it.

「White Blue Fist.」

Obviously, that would be the name.

In the roar, crystals of ironization were seen shattering.

Through the broken door, the scenery of the rooftop was peeped out.

[The special move command has been successfully activated!]

[The battle action mode is canceled.]

[Review: 92 connection points! Are you a pro gamer hiding your powers?]

Along with the message I heard, Literature Girl 64 grabbed my shoulder.

"Wait."

The moment I saw her pale complexion, I knew what was going on.

The technique succeeded, but her spirit and blood were twisted. Maybe it’s because I wasn’t really 'Pro Gamer Yoo Joonghyuk'.

"It's okay if I rest. But from now on, it's hard to help."

She took a deep breath and looked at me.

[Incarnation, ‘Lee Seyeon', has activated the skill 'Vision transfer Lv.1'.]

Vision transmission.

A skill that allows you to learn one S-rank or lower skill from someone else, just once.

"I was originally going to give it to my brother. I think you'd better take it."

[You received the skill from Incarnation: Lee Seyeon.]

"Save my brother."

"Wait a minute. This is–"

I hurriedly grabbed Literature Girl 64. She had already passed out.

I laid her on the ground, then slowly turned toward the door.

Beyond the broken door, I could feel the waves of unusual tales. My limbs were tingling, and my backbone was aching.

As when writing the first sentence on a blank sheet of paper, deep fear and anticipation rushed at the same time.

I knew it instinctively even before '□□' was activated.

「I could die on the other side of that door.」

My fingertips felt warm. I remembered the skills, items, and sentences I had before the warmth disappeared.

「Although knowing the truth, Lee Hakhyun moved forward.」

That was the only sentence I could write now.

I took one big step and entered the roof.

[You have entered the 'Sky Garden' on the 8th floor.]

The eighth floor was exactly the same scenery as described in the main part of the book.

A small dome reminiscent of an opera house surrounded by an opaque dome.

「What I saw as soon as I stepped onto the rooftop covered with green grass was the back of the regressor I had been looking for.」

"Yoo Joonghyuk?"

Unbeknownst to me, my steps quickened.

Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round.

The main character who hunted a 7th-class monster at the beginning and even surpassed a narrative-grade constellation in the previous round.

That Yoo Joonghyuk was stiff like a mannequin.

Yoo Joonghyuk's pupils, as if sunk in a deep abyss, passed out. I realized the moment I saw the bloodless lips.

「Yoo Joonghyuk lost.」

When I put my hand to the tip of his nose, his breath was stuck. No major injuries were seen. It is a injury that he suffered from a mental skill.

Tsutsutsutsu...

Sparks were popping up everywhere.

I looked around the edge of the "sky garden."

As expected, the owner of this "Theater Dungeon" was sitting there.

['Theater Owner Simulation' has appeared.]

The theater's dungeon boss specialized in mental skills.

But something was strange.

Yoo Joonghyuk is weak against mental attacks, but if he came around the 41st round, he wouldn't be weak against the theater's dungeon boss.

When I looked closely, the theater owner sitting on the bench also looked like a broken toy.

Story. Story. Story. Story.

Like an old movie projector, the Theater Owner's mouth rattled.

Looking closely, in the backlight, someone was holding his head.

Their shadow permeated like deeply pressed type.

I completely moved my gaze following the shadow.

A feast of power that oppresses the surroundings.

I didn't have the confidence to face the owner of the shadow.

「Some books are overwhelming before you even open them.」

I bit my lip as hard as I could. I slowly raised my head. I have already come this far. If you don't open the book, the story won't begin. I barely lifted my head amidst the pressure, and there was the first sentence.

"Are you here already?"

Her tone was lofty, as if she had no interest in the story of this world.

"I looked down on it because it was only the 41st round. It’s pretty good."

Through the flickering backlight, there was the face of a person I had imagined for a long time.

「She is the author who wrote all the sentences of this world.」

I called the author's name.

"Han Sooyoung."

610 Episode 12 □□ (1)

---

"Stories are not subject to the rules of time. They just flow towards an empty place."

—Dokkaebi King

---

How is 'Han Sooyoung' here?

Is that person really the Han Sooyoung of 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 that I know?

My intuition said yes, but my reason demanded verification.

[This is a target that you cannot use 'List of Reader Comments' on.]

['Character List' is unavailable.]

Target unavailable.

"Really, are you Han Sooyoung?"

I've never had such a message pop up before.

「I didn't expect it.」

When I found out that this world was the 41st turn not in the original work.

After seeing kkomas Kim Dokja at the theater.

And when I met Kim Dokja in the snowfield in my dream.

Maybe, I've been imagining that this moment would come.

Han Sooyoung looked at me blankly and said, "Yes. I'm Han Sooyoung."

[Someone is activating 'Lie detection'.]

['Lie detection' has confirmed that the statement is true.]

Up to authentication with lie detection.

Even the thorough appearance was exactly the Han Sooyoung I knew.

The other thing is that the present Han Sooyoung is more believable than the Han Sooyoung I remember.

It gives off an indescribable atmosphere.

It felt like facing some kind of great person.

"Don’t you need to introduce yourself?"

"I am-"

"I know who you are, Cheon Inho. No..."

Han Sooyoung slightly tilted her head.

"The author of the ‘Omniscient Reader’ of planetary system Z865123."

I unknowingly clenched my fist.

"How did you know?"

"You keep stealing the items I wanted. How could I not know? As for if you’re a reader or a writer... The way you behave is a bit different from the reader's."

Seeing Han Sooyoung smiling, my fists lost their strength.

"You’re good on your own, right? I guess you read intently…"

'Read intently', those words stuck in my ears like thorns.

"It seems that other guys besides you do it quite a bit… You can’t even compare to the 'prophets' of our world line."

A face that seems to know everything.

There was no hostility in Han Sooyoung's tone. Rather, it was a tone that seemed to encourage me from the bottom of her heart.

"I guess the novel sold quite well in that world line? In some world lines, it was completely ruined."

"The reaction wasn't bad. It was a success."

"Okay?"

Han Sooyoung smiled lightly.

"I'm glad."

What is it that makes you happy?

I giggled and said.

"Until I met you, I thought I wrote the whole story."

Han Sooyoung looked at me with regret.

"Okay. But I wrote it."

I couldn't help but admit it.

The tale that ran through her body spoke.

That person is real.

It’s not me who wrote it, it's that person.

"If you wrote a story, you know. All the sentences you came up with are from the cloud."

"The sentences in the cloud were passed on in the form of inspiration. I believed it was my idea."

"That's right."

Really. Did I really not write a single sentence in this world?

As if dismissing the question, the original author of the story said.

"So, just stop here and get out of here."

Before I could even walk, one of my knees felt bent.

But on the other hand, I felt a strange sense of relief.

"You don't have to take responsibility. I'll do the rest. Stop down and rest."

Why do I believe in these words and want to quit everything?

I stumbled and asked.

"Doing something… what do you mean?"

"Are you a writer too?"

As if she didn't already know the answer, Han Sooyoung asked.

Her vague premonition came to a certainty, and her fingertips trembled anxiously.

Han Sooyoung spoke as if driven by a premonition.

"The end of this turn has already been decided. I'm just trying to speed it up a little."

The 'end of the 41st turn' I remember flashed through my mind.

「The bequest power using the 'absolute throne' fails to proceed with the scenario.」

「After losing all his comrades, he contracts with a demon to send 'Shin Yoosung' to the world line of the past.」

「Shin Yoosung' wandered around the world for over a thousand years.」

「She descended as the 'Disaster of Floods' in the world line of the past.」

At the end of this story, nothing good came of it.

It was such a world in the first place.

Han Sooyoung said as if to comfort me.

"No need to continue, no need to be sad. There are just stories like that."

I know.

This world was already over.

Through the conclusion of the 41st turn, the next incident has already 'occurred' and the 'end of the incident' must be fixed.

Only then, for the first time, does『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 begin.

I understood that too.

I understood, so I didn't understand.

"Then why were we called to this worldline?"

It was unfair.

Clearly 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』, the story written by Han Sooyoung is correct.

But.

"Ordinary people were suddenly summoned to this worldline and had to fight for their lives."

Can I say that all the moments that I and the readers endured in this world are also her sentences?

"Fighting monsters you've never seen before, struggling to get food, killing others to survive."

I thought there must be a reason we came here.

It's just that we weren't chosen by chance. I believed that there must be a tie in which we, as we ought, must contribute to this story.

"Not only me, but everyone along with me did that. So I think we deserve to know why."

I thought of doing squats Kyung Sein in the corner of Geumho Station, and I remembered Dansu Ahjussi, who had nightmares calling his daughter's name.

I thought of the Killer King left in the movie to send me upstairs, and I thought of Literature Girl 64 who believed in such a Killer King and helped me.

All of them were possessing readers in this place just because they had read the Omniscient Reader.

"There are even people who have been brought here and died."

"They’re not dead. You know."

Han Sooyoung sighed lightly and added a word.

"They just returned to being 'Fragments of Kim Dokja'. They are back to their original form."

"They are no longer Kim Dokja. They are people who have already lived in another world. They each had their own lives."

"You called us."

"I didn’t call you?"

Of course, it was 'RepresentativeKimDokja' who kidnapped us, not Han Sooyoung.

However, can we really say that Han Sooyoung is irrelevant?

"I saw a video of you."

"A video of me?"

"Didn't you say, 'So far it's just a taster. A side story will start soon'?"

The memory of the theater where <Kim Dokja's Banquet> was held was still clear.

RepresentativeKimDokja, who kidnapped us, played a video of Han Sooyoung on the screen.

"I don’t know what you mean?"

Han Sooyoung narrowed her eyes, as if she didn't understand.

"I've never done anything like that. What are you talking about?"

Looking at her expression, it seems that the video was not Han Sooyoung herself.

If so, did someone disguise themselves as Han Sooyoung?

It wasn't impossible.

Because RepresentativeKimDokja had the 'Ever-changing Stealth Suit'.

RepresentativeKimDokja knew information about Kim Dokja and 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint', so it would not have been impossible to imitate Han Sooyoung's tone.

But there were still unanswered questions.

"Then you have nothing to do with us coming here?"

Han Sooyoung hesitated for the first time.

"I may not be completely irrelevant, but... Anyway, I wasn't the one who called you to this world line. I didn't mean to."

"Then why are you here?"

As Han Sooyoung said, this story has already ended. Those words were more applicable to Han Sooyoung than anyone else.

"『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 is a story that has already ended. Why did you come back to this story?"

Countless universes bloomed and lost to complete a story.

There have been countless tragedies, and they have seen the end. The world line is closed.

Originally, she shouldn't have been able to come here now.

"I am."

Han Sooyoung's eyes shook. For the first time, agitation rose up in the expression of the author.

"I am a Kim Dokja-"

Sparks exploded all over her body with a sound like tsutsutsuchut.

An aftermath of probability.

The reason was simple.

「That's information she can't mention.」

Han Sooyoung's expression hardened. She looked down at the sparks running through her hand and said in a much cooler tone.

"I am under no obligation to tell you the details."

"Wait a minute."

"Hey."

I felt my blood run cold.

"I am really tired right now?"

Both of her eyes were staring at me.

"Do you know what I went through to get here?"

Seeing the cool emotion in those eyes, I took a step back without realizing it.

"I feel sorry for you, too. I feel bad for being called to a place like this, and do you think I haven't experienced a scenario? I'll find a way too, so just stay still for now."

I felt overwhelmed just by hearing the story.

It was as she said.

Han Sooyoung was someone who had already experienced scenarios. Even at the end of the scenario, a person who has reached it twice.

She said that no matter how much I and the readers knew about her story, there was no way we could do better than she did.

「Wouldn’t it be wise for me to entrust everything to Han Sooyoung?」

A weak thought appeared in my mind.

If you think about it, even when I first possessed this world, wasn't I thinking of meeting and relying on Kim Dokja or Yoo Joonghyuk?

Even if it changes to Han Sooyoung, nothing will change.

So even now, I want to believe in her and quit.

How many steps did I take back without even realizing it? I felt something touch my back.

When I turned around, Yoo Joonghyuk was standing there.

I stared blankly at Yoo Joonghyuk's still hardened face.

And at that moment.

「What I want to protect.」

I heard the story of Yoo Joonghyuk.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who is not the Yoo Joonghyuk of the Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint I know, nor Yoo Joonghyuk of the Ways of Survival read by Kim Dokja.

「Do I still have something I want to protect?」

I could tell just by looking at his face.

[The character Yoo Joonghyuk is suffering from 'regression depression'.]

Han Sooyoung's method of overpowering Yoo Joonghyuk.

She wrote the method used by Kim Dokja in the 1863rd turn.

"You mean you’re going to do something like this?"

Unbeknownst to me, something suddenly soared inside me.

I couldn't stop talking, wondering if I deserved to say that.

"Isn’t this Yoo Joonghyuk doing nothing wrong?"

"I would have told you not to mind."

I also wanted to believe in Han Sooyoung.

However, I couldn't understand Han Sooyoung's current behavior to just ignore it.

Why didn't Han Sooyoung kill the Theater Owner?

[Your exclusive attribute effect is activated!]

Why did Han Sooyoung subdue Yoo Joonghyuk here?

I looked at the simulation controlled by Han Sooyoung and Yoo Joonghyuk connected through the Theater Owner.

「"Kim Namwoon, you can't follow me with that kind of effort."」

Yoo Joonghyuk was dreaming.

「"Lee Hyunsung. Sometimes think for yourself, act and decide."」

Even in his dreams, he was carrying out the scenarios with the determination to die.

「"Stand back, Lee Jihye. From here on out, I'm in charge."」

Losing colleagues and failing the scenario.

Not knowing that all the stories were false, Yoo Joonghyuk struggled.

Perhaps Yoo Joonghyuk will not be able to see the 'end' of the 41st turn in the future.

The moment I thought that far, I knew Han Sooyoung's plan.

In this world, there were too many variables that would hinder the 'end of the 41st turn'.

Me. Readers. And even Yoo Joonghyuk, who has abnormal power compared to when reading the main story.

What if there was a way to remove all those variables at once?

"You're not going to clear this theater dungeon."

611 Episode 12 □□ (2)

---

I continued to speak to Han Sooyoung, who did not answer.

"Aren’t you going to tie Yoo Joonghyuk here and lock him in a movie that repeats forever?"

Then, only a small part of the tragedy that will happen in this world due to Yoo Joonghyuk will occur.

If it were Han Sooyoung, she would have already sent her [Avatar] outside.

Under her plan, the world will quietly perish, and Shin Yoosung will become a lost child of the worldline and embark on a journey to become a 'disaster'.

That is the complete ending of this 41st turn designed by Han Sooyoung.

After thinking for a moment, Han Sooyoung opened her mouth.

"Yeah, right."

"Why do you have to go this far?"

"If it's a world that's going to perish anyway, why don't we reduce the pain of destruction?"

As if deciding the end of a world, Han Sooyoung continued speaking.

"You know what kind of guy Yoo Joonghyuk is in this world."

Han Sooyoung was looking at Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Not all versions of Yoo Joonghyuk are good. Yoo Joonghyuk is also human, and he makes mistakes. Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st turn is a guy who will make a lot of mistakes."

But what she was seeing was probably not the legacy of this world.

A distant shadow of a tale passed over her eyes.

From the 0th turn to the 1865th turn.

To Han Sooyoung, who wrote 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』, 'Yoo Joonghyuk' may not be a character, but a phenomenon and concept.

"It's a mistake that hasn't happened yet."

I thought of the Yoo Joonghyuk who had talked to me, and the Yoo Joonghyuk who had confided in Cheon Inho during the 40th turn.

Yoo Joonghyuk wanted to see the end of this world, even by borrowing the hands of the wicked.

Yoo Joonghyuk tried to teach the people of Geumho Station how to hunt.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had left 'The Spirit of Elaine Forest' for me.

Was Yoo Joonghyuk really a bad guy?

"We can change it."

"If you do that, something worse will happen."

Something worse.

"If you change the story, another worldline will be born starting from this turn. Also, a universe of countless scenarios will be born."

I felt my heart tightening.

"You asked why I came here?"

There was quiet anger in Han Sooyoung's voice.

"I have come to bring this whole story to its conclusion. To stop this damn tragedy that never ends, no matter how many times I close it."

When I heard that, I felt sad for some reason. Maybe it was because I remembered Han Sooyoung's sentence.

「I'll keep writing the epilogue for you until the end of time, for eternity.」

Han Sooyoung, who had written that sentence for the young Kim Dokja, was now trying to write the last sentence that would end this entire world.

Maybe that was it.

I benefited from her doing that.

But I was curious about one thing.

Why did her face look so sad as she tried to write the last sentence?

"This kind of ending is unacceptable."

"Who are you?"

"I am."

Who am I?

"I am the one still writing 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』, the story you started."

Han Sooyoung was silent for a moment, as if she understood what those words meant.

And she asked.

"Are you sure?"

"I am not confident."

I had never written a story because I was confident.

"But there is still a story to be told."

The moment Han Sooyoung was about to open her mouth, I kicked off the ground and ran toward her.

Whatever Han Sooyoung's purpose was, I couldn't just sit by and watch the situation.

「I must clear the 'Theater Dungeon'.」

Only then could I save Killer King.

Only then could I free the other readers who might be in danger.

Only then could I save Yoo Joonghyuk.

Han Sooyoung's left hand moved with a crackling sound like chi-chi-tsu. The [Black Flame] in her hand flew toward me, scorching the rooftop.

I breathed in as hard as I could and cried out.

"Turn into the Shield of Hercules!"

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 6' is activated!]

'Thoughts of Almost Everything' turned into a replica version of the 'Shield of Hercules' obtained from the reward room.

[Special skill 'Area Defense' is activated!]

A translucent barrier spread around the shield.

Han Sooyoung's [Black Flame] melted more than half of the shield before dispersing.

My hands and feet were searing hot, and my breathing was labored by the heat that burned all around me.

I endured the heat and opened my mouth.

"Heewon-ssi, are you there?"

Then, a voice came from behind.

"How did you know?"

Holding 'Mikazuki Munechika' in her left hand and wearing 'impossible mission' on her body, Jung Heewon was standing behind me.

I said without looking back.

"I thought it was time for you to wake up. When did you wake up?"

"From the white room earlier."

Jung Heewon chuckled. Standing beside me, she added,

"You were saying something important, so I figured I shouldn't interrupt."

"What about now?"

"I thought you would die if I didn't step in."

We smiled at each other briefly. As if her physical condition had fully recovered, Jung Heewon's whole body surged with a deep blue magical energy.

"That person is very strong."

Jung Heewon glanced at Han Sooyoung and nodded.

"I see."

I pointed to the Theater Owner in front of Han Sooyoung and said.

"The target is not her. It is the old man in front of her."

"If we get rid of that, this dungeon will end too, right?"

I nodded.

Han Sooyoung listened to our conversation in silence from a distance.

Her expression seemed to assure us that things wouldn't change no matter what we did.

As if she didn't like that attitude, Jung Heewon stepped in front of me.

"Do you remember what you said to me before I passed out? Say it one more time."

I knew what she meant and said,

"You might pass out again."

"It's frustrating, but right now, I feel like I won't be able to win unless I hear it."

Sparks flashed in Jung Heewon's eyes.

Her voice was that of someone who had already made up her mind.

If I was ever going to use it, now was my only chance.

While Han Sooyoung was slightly off guard, I opened my mouth to play the strongest card we had.

"Every enemy in front of you from now on."

Now, it was our turn to tell our story.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 6' is activated!]

"is a monster."

With those words as a signal, a wave of magical power exploded from Jung Heewon's body.

[Character Jung Heewon requests the activation of 'Hour of Judgment'.]

Then, the indirect messages from the constellations echoed in my head.

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon'.]

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon'.]

[The constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon'.]

[The constellation 'Primordial Cow' agrees with incarnation 'Jung Heewon'.]

And.

[Hour of Judgment has been activated.]

Jung Heewon ran up the roof with a roar. The acceleration was enough to make Han Sooyoung widen her eyes.

Han Sooyoung's left hand moved hurriedly and emitted [Black Flame].

['Mikazuki Munechika's' special option 'Traces of the Four Gods' is activated!]

Jung Heewon's new weapon, which is as dark as a shadow, reached right in front of Han Sooyoung, avoiding the flames of [Black Flame].

Movements that show no hesitation.

The magical power in her right hand dyed Mikazuki Munechika's blade.

It was a perfect strike.

Jung Heewon's sword, imbued with a deep blue energy, aimed exactly at the neck of the Theater Owner.

"It's rare. This isn't the [Hour of Judgment] I know."

With the voice, Jung Heewon's sword stopped.

As if there was an invisible force of repulsion between Han Sooyoung and Jung Heewon, Jung Heewon's sword trembled in the air and was pushed away.

I belatedly realized what had happened.

[The Theater Owner attempts 'Mental Erosion'!]

During that short interval, Han Sooyoung borrowed the skill of the Theater Owner and attacked Jung Heewon.

Dammit.

"Heewon-ssi! Step back!"

Jung Heewon's eyes slowly grew cloudy.

Jung Heewon once said that among the members of <Kim Dokja's Company>, she is especially vulnerable to mental attacks.

From the beginning, there was no way she could withstand the attack of the Theater Owner.

The moment I hurriedly ran and reached out my hand toward Jung Heewon.

"Stay right there."

With Han Sooyoung's words, my vision flipped.

Han Sooyoung, who grabbed my wrist, turned me over and pinned me to the floor. An excruciating pain ran down my back, and I was choking on my breath. I could feel the story flowing through her fingertips, disrupting my energy and blood.

A level of power difference that made it not even a fight.

Blood gushed from my mouth, and my consciousness went out for a moment and then came back.

"This, that thing."

I heard Jung Heewon's voice.

When I slowly opened my eyes, I saw Jung Heewon staggering forward.

"This is—"

Blood vessels burst from her eyes, and Jung Heewon took a step forward, bleeding from her bitten lips.

Han Sooyoung had an admiring look on her face.

"You. You're a bit different from the Jung Heewon I know."

Something immediately came to mind.

Come to think of it, something similar happened in [Illusion Prison].

Even though she received the item's equipping effect, Jung Heewon defeated the specters without suffering any trauma.

「The Jung Heewon of this world has no trauma associated with the villains of Geumho Station.」

It wasn't her hatred of the bad guys that awakened her.

The Jung Heewon of the 41st turn is a person who became a 'judge' only to save me.

Han Sooyoung muttered in a low voice.

"It's surprising that this Jung Heewon is still alive... Why is the 41st turn so interesting?"

With just a moment of encounter, Han Sooyoung seemed to be blinded by the new history of Jung Heewon.

"But to think that Inho is on your side, the Jung Heewon whom I know would be sad to see this."

"What?"

"Jung Heewon. Aren't you curious what the original story was like?"

The tip of her white finger touched Jung Heewon's forehead in a magical trajectory.

[Giant Story 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' begins its storytelling.]

I could see Jung Heewon's pupils widening. I also got goosebumps on my forearms.

It wasn't clear what exactly Jung Heewon was looking at, but it wasn't hard to imagine what it was.

"See? That's the true identity of that person you believe in."

Jung Heewon was watching the story of the 3rd turn.

「"My name is Cheon Inho."」

To be precise, she was looking at the Cheon Inho of that world.

「"You're right. Scouts receive more rations. So, if you want to get food, please join the scouting party."」

The villain of Geumho Station. The one who bullied people and put Jung Heewon in danger of dying.

Cheon Inho, the leader of the Cheolsoo group.

「The guy's words did not continue. It's because Jung Heewon, who appeared from behind, pierced Cheon Inho's face from the top of his head.」

In that world, Jung Heewon killed Cheon Inho and regained her life.

The story did not end there.

Blood flowed from Jung Heewon's nose and mouth as she watched the stories of the third turn flowing like a panorama.

"This."

Looking at Jung Heewon, Han Sooyoung was making an unknown expression.

At that moment, Han Sooyoung was like a demon king, a dokkaebi, and a constellation. Han Sooyoung looked like a god.

The story of her life explained her.

The stories gathered one by one while overcoming the risk of dying countless times.

She was standing on the accumulated stories where the daily lives of <Kim Dokja's Company> and Han Sooyoung were gathered.

She was unreachable.

A story that leaves you in awe just by looking at it. At the top of the story, Han Sooyoung was omnipotent.

Like a child who effortlessly knocks down a poorly built Jenga, she was destroying Jung Heewon with her nonchalant fingers.

It felt like all the strength was draining from my body.

She said, "Look carefully at who you are trying to be loyal to. See what life you should have had."

The history of this world, our lives, built up with my crude sentences, were collapsing.

"Hallucination…"

"It's not a hallucination."

"Even if this is true."

Jung Heewon stuttered and said.

Her eyes were glistening with a terrible light.

"This world is… not that… world."

The moment she heard those words, her eyes flashed as if she had been bathed in cold water.

Power returned to her fingertips. My dizzy vision returned to its place. I fumbled on the floor and stood up.

「This world is not 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.」

Jung Heewon was right.

「Because this world has never been properly described.」

I stumbled and took one step, then two again.

Han Sooyoung turned to me as if warning me.

"If you come any closer, you will die."

I asked Han Sooyoung.

"Were you originally going to save me?"

Han Sooyoung's hand, enveloped in [Black Flame], slowly aimed at me.

Looking at her like that, I thought.

「Really, this world is not the 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 that I know.」

What I can and cannot do now. Sentences I can write and sentences I cannot write.

「A new sentence is needed in this world now.」

And a piece of blank paper, needed to write a 'sentence'.

The moment Han Sooyoung's [Black Flame] shot at me.

[You want to do something unexpected.]

I decided to write her 'sentence' against her.

[Describe your actions.]

[Consumes 5 points of probability.]

[The activation conditions for the exclusive skill '□□' have been met.]

The color of the world changed to achromatic and time stopped.

[Entering the ‘Snowfield’.]

And in the next moment, something that had never happened before happened.

[An error has occurred in 'Snowfield'!]

**[#□□]

「□□?□□?□?□□?□□□?□□□□□□□?□□□?□□□?□□?□□□□□?□□□?□□□?□□…」

*Based on the current proficiency, a total of ? additional characters are possible.

[The total amount of time you can stay in 'Snowfield' is ? minutes.]

The manuscript paper in front of my eyes was all broken. Neither the remaining time nor the limited number of characters were indicated.

I blankly stared at the blank space, then suddenly smiled.

「Suddenly, Lee Hakhyun felt that everything had become free.」

As if rejecting the rule of time, only I was awake in a world where everyone stopped.

A feeling that whatever sentence I write will come true. A feeling that I can write whatever sentence I want to my heart's content.

I remembered the first sentence.

「Lee Hakhyun moved his hand.」

This snowfield was a world between the lines where all time and space were frozen. So I couldn't be physically free either.

「Then his hand moved.」

But strangely, my hand moved.

「When I took a step, my foot fell; when I clenched my fist, it clenched.」

I don't know why this happened, but maybe this was an opportunity.

If only I could use this situation to kill the Theater Owner.

This world is between the lines where only I can stay. If this is possible, I would do it without anyone interfering—

Tsutsutsutsutsutsu!

It was then that intense sparks flew in the air.

Through the sparks' bright light, someone was looking this way.

"Interesting. So this is what happens?"

The moment I heard her voice, I felt my heart sink.

Han Sooyoung was there.

"Is this your ability?"

As if protecting her, I could see the flow of letters coiling around her. She, like me, defied the restraints of time, standing freely in the center of the snowfield.

「Above the lines and sentences, only two writers have escaped the rule of time.」

At that moment, I felt the gaze of a very faintly shining star on the far side of the snowfield.

「And one reader watched it.」

I blankly looked up at the sky, then lowered my head to look at Han Sooyoung.

The stage was set, and what I had to do was clear.

There are two writers here now.

But in the end, what is recorded here.

"There is only one story."

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

612 Episode 12 □□ (3)

In a face-to-face confrontation with Han Sooyoung, there was no chance of winning. The level of proficiency in scenarios, the amount of stories accumulated, and their experiences as human beings were all completely different.

「But the sentences lingering at my fingertips were telling me otherwise.」

That here, it would be different. The disadvantage remained the same, but here, it was worth a try.

As I focused my mind, I felt the pulse of the letters floating around me.

The sentences written by Han Sooyoung and rewritten by me.

The moment I reached out my hand into the air, I felt the story wrap itself around my fingertips.

「Maritime Admiral Lee Jihye, smiling brightly, was aiming her Twin Dragon Sword at me.」

The instant I grasped the sentence, a sword appeared in my hand along with a bright light.

It was the holy relic of the Maritime War God.

Lee Jihye's exclusive weapon, the Twin Dragon Sword.

「"Exterminate them, Twin Dragon Sword!"」

Lee Jihye of the 1863th turn had finally reached the edge of the scenarios after surviving hellish ordeals and undergoing training in Murim.

「She who survived up to the 95th scenario is, without a doubt, one of the top 100 strongest in 『Ways of Survival』.」

The stories Lee Jihye had accumulated were now surging in my mind.

"Lee Jihye."

Han Sooyoung, who was watching the sentence in my hand from afar, said nonchalantly.

"Okay, come on."

I took a step forward without hesitation.

Bluffing against Han Sooyoung does not work.

I immediately activated Lee Jihye's strongest skill from the 1863th turn.

「Instant Kill.」

I became a flash of lightning and rushed toward Han Sooyoung.

Quadddeuk!

A violent recoil slammed into my right arm.

Pitch-black [Black Flame] soared from Han Sooyoung's left hand, striking back against the sword strike of [Instant Kill].

As if she were the real Abyssal Black Flame Dragon, the entire floor burned black from the [Black Flame] she unleashed.

Even though a collision of power of this magnitude occurred at the very beginning of the scenarios, no probability storm was felt.

"I see what kind of world it is."

As if she had the same thoughts as me, Han Sooyoung smiled.

"Probability, huh? It doesn't matter here, right?"

In the next moment, the brilliance of pure white flames shone from Han Sooyoung's right hand.

「A sword shimmering with white flames appeared in her hand.」

I glared at the sentences wrapped around the white-flamed sword.

「Before her sword, all the surrounding flames extinguished in homage.」

Cold sweat ran down my back.

It was because I realized what sentence Han Sooyoung was trying to summon.

「Infernal flames.」

「Hellfire.」

I hurriedly came up with a new sentence, leaving Yoo Joonghyuk and Jung Heewon behind.

「"Lee Hyunsung doesn’t need a sword. Because that guy is a sword."」

The most important thing in this world was imagination.

The power of a sentence is determined by how high, sharp, and elaborate the intensity of the imagination constituting the sentence is.

「True steel will be born from tens of thousands of hardenings.」

[Steel Sword, the stigma of Steel Sword Emperor Lee Hyunsung, flooded around me and covered the entire area.]

However, with my inexperienced imagination, I could not fully protect Jung Heewon and Yoo Joonghyuk.

In the end, the pouring flames hit the frozen Yoo Joonghyuk. The flames of [Hellfire] melted the steel exterior, and I groaned as I absorbed the heat.

Han Sooyoung's [Hellfire] was much stronger and more severe than the [Steel Sword] I imagined.

When the heat subsided a bit, I caught my breath and looked back at Yoo Joonghyuk, who was covered in flames.

Yoo Joonghyuk was not hurt at all.

The flames of [Hellfire] passed by Yoo Joonghyuk in reality and burned only the armor I created.

As if my reaction was funny, Han Sooyoung said.

"You don't seem to understand the rules of this world."

An understanding came to my mind belatedly.

This is the snowfield, the space between the lines of the story.

All sentences present here are 'words not yet recorded'.

So until the record is decided, our fight has no effect outside the snowfield.

After catching my breath, Han Sooyoung asked me.

"Why are you protecting that guy? You don't even know him properly."

"This Yoo Joonghyuk..."

Why do I protect this Yoo Joonghyuk?

"...is different from the one you wrote."

Han Sooyoung wrote about Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st turn and his heartlessness.

However, the Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st turn I saw was a little different from Han Sooyoung's description.

"Aren't you also vaguely aware of it? I don't know why, but this Yoo Joonghyuk is not a villain. He is not the kind of man who would abandon his comrades."

"I already wrote that, and that's what he will do. Stopping him here will avoid unnecessary sacrifices."

"Are you serious?"

Han Sooyoung answered with a short silence.

"Yes."

"I know what kind of person you are."

There comes a moment in everyone's life when you have to defend yourself by saying, "I'm not a bad person."

That's pretty exhausting.

As the history of one's life grows longer, it becomes difficult to make excuses for everything that's happened so far, and you think, what's the point anyway?

I wondered if Han Sooyoung was thinking like that.

"It doesn't matter who I am. It matters what kind of story I write."

I understood Han Sooyoung.

Han Sooyoung was a writer who had written stories solely for one person.

If she had treated all of her characters as real people, she wouldn't have been able to get to this point.

"If you want to convince me, write a sentence worthy of it."

I remembered the combat power rankings ranked by readers.

At least those who are strong enough to subdue the present Han Sooyoung.

The Oldest Dream.

Indescribable Distance.

The Apocalypse Dragon.

However, it was difficult to precisely specify their strength.

I imagined images and came up with sentences, but the sentences were rarely reproduced.

The same was true for other deities from different worlds, or even for 'Great Sage Heaven's Equal', the strongest among the myth-grade constellations.

At that moment, I met eyes with Yoo Joonghyuk, who was staring blankly into space.

Ranked by eyes filled with the black night sky.

I grabbed the sentence that came to me almost reflexively.

「Ways of Survival: The most righteous and loneliest Constellation of all.」

I could hear the black night on my back.

"The darkness that had been silent for a long time was waking up."

How about a sentence about him?

The stepfather of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

If I borrowed the power of one of Olympus' strongest three gods...

「One of the three gods of <Olympus>, 'Father of the Rich Night'.」

I felt a pitch-black darkness envelop my whole body, and my right hand began to tremble madly.

Even in the 'Snowfield', where everything was possible, it was a difficult existence to realize with my imagination.

The scythe of Hades descended in my right hand, black as if it had been carved out of the abyss.

Almost at the same time, Han Sooyoung's left hand also wrote a sentence.

「Where his spear touches, there shall be the sea's boundary.」

I felt my ankles get damp, and the snowy floor was filled with waves in an instant.

['Sea God' Poseidon.]

The black night and the vast sea collided.

As if the horizon were a boundary, my vision felt torn apart, and the world spun several times over.

When I woke up, I was on my knees on the floor gasping for breath.

"Let's just end it here. You can't beat me."

Han Sooyoung was looking down at me.

"If you leave now, I'll let you go. You don't seem to have the qualifications anyway."

Qualifications?

"Can you use [Avatar]?"

Along with Han Sooyoung's words, countless dolls appeared by her side.

Lee Jihye.

Yoo Sangah.

Lee Hyunsung.

Lee Gilyoung.

Jung Heewon.

Shin Yoosung.

Gong Pildu.

I stared blankly at those faces. Even though I knew those dolls were just Han Sooyoung's [Avatar] fakes, I felt like I was going against the entirety of <Kim Dokja's Company>.

"If you had obtained the 'Writer' attribute, you should be able to use it. You don't seem to have it."

I didn't want to admit it.

So, over and over again, I shouted inwardly.

「Avatar.」

However, [Avatar] did not activate.

Why can't I use [Avatar]?

In this world where everything is possible, why isn't that sentence mine?

"It means you're not a proper 'writer'."

I screamed and ran towards Han Sooyoung.

The bullet shot by Gong Pildu pierced my shoulder with a sharp hiss.

Spinning twice in midair, I grasped new sentences in my hands.

「Shooting arrows like rain and shooting various gun barrels, the chaos was like a thunderstorm.」

「"This is why I curse this land, but I can’t leave."」

「Therefore, Taejo is a dot, so the smallest is the greatest.」

Maritime War God.

Goryeo's First Sword.

Kyrgios.

The Maritime War God and Lee Jihye's Ghost Fleet exchanged artillery fire at the same time. A hazy sea fog obstructed the view from the continuous shelling.

I approached Han Sooyoung in an instant with Kyrgios's [Transcendence].

The moment Han Sooyoung's shadow swayed through the fog, Cheok Jungyeong's [Three Sword Style] was activated from my right hand.

「This is a sword made to deal with the sea.」

However, before it could be activated, something grabbed my ankle. It was Yoo Sangah's [Arachne's Web].

Subsequently, Lee Hyunsung's [Mountain Breaker] struck my shoulder, and Shin Yoosung's 'Chimera Dragon' breathed fire at me.

I threw myself into the sea and rolled over several times, vomiting blood.

Is this blood really my blood? Or was even this blood just letters in the story?

I heard Han Sooyoung's voice.

"Stop it. It's amazing that you, who aren't even a writer, came this far."

I looked up at her, wiping my mouth with my sleeve.

There was still a way.

A fairly effective way to persuade her, too.

My hand drifted toward my pocket, then stopped. Using it felt somehow cowardly.

I have my own way.

If I am also a writer, I have to compete with only my own sentences.

"No matter what method you use, it is useless. It's obvious what sentences you're going to write."

Han Sooyoung's eyes were shining brightly.

「Nothing new under the sun. Everything that will be written in the future is a transformation of what has already been written.」

Han Sooyoung's main stigma was finally showing up.

「Predictive Plagiarism.」

There was nothing in this world that Han Sooyoung did not know. Because she actually went through all these sentences, and she wrote them down.

"This world doesn't need a new sentence."

Watching Han Sooyoung approaching step by step, I thought of Kim Dokja.

If I could become that guy, wouldn't I be able to break this situation?

However, the sentence about Kim Dokja never came to mind. If you think about it, even if it worked, it would have been difficult to change the situation because Kim Dokja was not particularly good at fighting.

Is there really no way left for me?

In this world, isn’t there a sentence that Han Sooyoung doesn’t know about?

"Take a rest."

The moment Han Sooyoung's left hand pointed at me once again, and the gun barrels of Lee Jihye and Gong Pildu moved toward me.

There is. A sentence she doesn't know.

Like a thunderbolt, a memory was planted in my head.

It took time to put the plan into action.

I caught my breath and opened my mouth.

"... Didn't Kim Dokja come back?"

Han Sooyoung's expression hardened.

Neither of us spoke, but I could tell we were both thinking the same sentence.

「The ending of 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.」

The moment when Kim Dokja's story came back, the system was revived, and Han Sooyoung laughed openly at the hospital room door.

In the meantime, I believed that Kim Dokja would return.

It was an open ending, but every sentence in the climax pointed to Kim Dokja's return.

The return of Kim Dokja was in the reader's imagination, out of reach of the author's sentences.

That's why the scene is not described.

That's why I couldn't understand why Han Sooyoung was here right now.

If Kim Dokja had returned safely, there would be no way Han Sooyoung would be here right now.

"That..."

Han Sooyoung's lips, which slowly opened, spat out strange words.

"It hasn't been decided yet."

Not decided?

I couldn't understand Han Sooyoung's words.

But at least one goal was achieved.

I bought enough time with this.

"He's—"

With a crackling sound of probability sparks, Han Sooyoung's whole body was once again engulfed in sparks. And at that moment,

「A dark red coat amidst the ruins.」

I grabbed the hidden sentence.

「Black wings protruding through the coat.」

A sentence that even Han Sooyoung, who wrote this whole world, does not know.

This was a story that did not appear in the Ways of Survival she wrote.

「'The One Who Deceived the Stars', and the 'Evil Sophist'.」

I activated [Incite], recalling the stories of the 40th turn I had seen.

「I am Cheon Inho of the 40th turn.」

Han Sooyoung looked at me with her eyes wide open.

Formidable power welled up in my whole body.

The villain who threatened Yoo Joonghyuk in the 40th turn and drove the stars to ruin.

The unprecedented Ten Evils who fought the final battle with the protagonist while holding Yoo Joonghyuk's weapon, the Black Heavenly Demon Sword.

Han Sooyoung sent me a signal as if she felt something out of the ordinary.

Gong Pildu's turret embraced fire, and Lee Jihye's [Ghost Fleet] opened fire. Yoo Sangah's threads twisted the space, and Lee Hyunsung's [Steel Sword] exploded at me.

[Story 'When All Stars Close Their Eyes' begins its storytelling.]

All the stars closed their eyes.

「The main theme is pitch-black darkness. No starlight could illuminate Cheon Inho. No miracle, no light.」

Flustered, Han Sooyoung hurriedly looked around.

「It was as if Han Sooyoung was alone.」

The moment Han Sooyoung, taken aback, raised her left hand wildly.

「The Black Heavenly Demon Sword slashed her back.」

With an intense spark, she felt the tip of her sword and came to her senses. The sword made of sentences shattered, and I rolled across the floor in a mess.

It was shallow.

However, there was a sense that it was clearly cut.

When I hurriedly got up from the floor, Han Sooyoung was looking at me with her blank eyes.

"You. What—"

A cracking sound was heard somewhere.

[Giant Story 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' shakes uneasily.]

There were fine scratches on the surface of the sentences that protected her.

「"Sooyoung-ssi! Over there!"」

It was a sentence I knew.

「I could see Lee Seolhwa's hospital room in the distance. The leisurely flowing stories did not bring them down. Stories were pouring in from the wards they knew.」

The scene drawn by the sentence was vivid in front of my eyes.

The people of <Kim Dokja's Company> were rushing to the hospital.

Their story of waking up again.

The last story of <Kim Dokja’s Company>, which has been struggling to revive just one reader for such a long time.

「The door creaks open. Faint sunlight was coming in through the wide open window.」

「The manuscripts she was editing all night were blown away by the wind and scattered dazzlingly.」

「The story she hadn't finished was there.」

A story written by Han Sooyoung, written down by me, and read by readers.

「A sentence that she definitely wanted to write someday, even if not now. Thinking of that sentence, Han Sooyoung laughed like an idiot.」

It was the 'final scene' of the 『Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint』 we know.

「This is a story for only one reader.」

"Wait. Stop! Stop!"

With the image of Han Sooyoung stretching out her hand while shouting. A bright light flowed from the snowflake.

And the next moment.

「Lee Hakhyun finally reached the end.」

613 Episode 12 □□ (4)

---

I now realize what I am looking at.

[The Giant Story 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' begins its storytelling!]

It is a story after the ending that is not yet known to the world.

The scenery, which was possible only in the readers' heads, was finally unfolding in front of my eyes.

The first sentence of the story was:

「Han Sooyoung blinked blankly.」

---

Han Sooyoung blinked blankly.

What the hell happened?

「This is a story for only one reader.」

In front of her eyes, the sentence she had just thought of was floating around. Han Sooyoung recalled the events that had happened just a moment ago.

Yoo Joonghyuk had returned from his long space journey, and their stories, which they thought had disappeared, had returned.

The system had been revived.

<Kim Dokja’s Company> had reunited.

They stood in front of Kim Dokja's hospital room, which they had visited every day for the past four years.

Everyone opened the door to the hospital room.

She remembered everything up to that point.

So what the hell is this all about now?

Han Sooyoung was thrown into the middle of the snowfield out of nowhere.

What you can see from the front and back is a far-flung snowfield.

Once, during the 'Group Regression' with Yoo Joonghyuk, she had visited a place similar to this.

The memory came back, but she couldn't tell if this was the place.

"Where are we?"

Jung Heewon’s voice.

When she looked back, she saw the companions who had visited the hospital room with her sprawled on the floor.

"Wow. What? It's snowing all of a sudden."

Surprised, Lee Jihye stood up, rubbing her backside, while Lee Gilyoung looked around, his sharp eyes scanning their surroundings.

Shin Yoosung asked.

"What about Kim Dokja?"

"I don't know. I was suddenly here when I woke up."

"Could it be another scenario?"

Several years had passed since the end of the scenarios.

But was a new scenario beginning?

Yoo Sangah, repeatedly clenching and opening her fists, added.

The scent of lotus flowers came from her white fists.

"My skills are back."

Han Sooyoung also realized it.

Just like in the days when they were actively performing scenarios, her five senses were returning sharp and alive.

After already looking around, Yoo Joonghyuk landed in the air, blowing a blizzard.

"I don't feel anything. There are no enemies around."

Had the power of the Transcendents returned? A faint golden glow radiated from Yoo Joonghyuk's body.

Han Sooyoung glared at Yoo Joonghyuk secretly.

"How can you look excited?"

"Noona, Biyoo isn't here."

At Shin Yoosung's words, the companions looked around. Of all those who had gone to the hospital room together, only Biyoo was missing.

How did it happen?

They were definitely together until they opened the door to the hospital room.

Tsutsutsutsut!

It was then that sparks flew out of the air.

As if a system message was heard.

[Congratulations.]

[You have cleared all scenarios.]

[You deserve to see the ■■ of everything.]

With the message, two portals appeared swirling in front of their eyes.

Lee Gilyoung asked.

"Huh? A portal?"

"Gilyoung-ah, step back."

Lee Hyunsung, who stepped forward as if protecting the children, took the lead and inspected the entrance to the portal. Beyond the two portals, the landscape swirled and shook.

The flickering landscape resembled the hospital room they knew.

The only difference was that a person's shadow could be seen in only one of the two hospital rooms.

Lee Hyunsung muttered in confusion.

"That shadow..."

"No way."

The moment Lee Gilyoung approached the portal with a bewildered face.

[Baat!]

Biyoo, who had disappeared into thin air, reappeared. Biyoo pulled Lee Gilyoung's hair and hurriedly spoke to him.

[Baaat! Don't just go in blindly! Listen to me first! There's a problem!]

"Problem?"

Biyoo, who had caught the companions' attention, sighed softly. Looking at the portal with complex eyes, she said something shocking.

[The 'end' of the universe has been split into two.]

Hearing Biyoo's explanation, the group stood blankly. The first to react was Han Sooyoung.

"So, to sum up what happened now, it would be something like this."

Han Sooyoung looked up at the snow pouring from the sky and started talking.

"One. Yoo Joonghyuk spread the novel I wrote across the universe."

Han Sooyoung recalled the memory of the day she first wrote 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.

Together with the companions, she had remembered and recorded their old stories, writing a story of mourning for Kim Dokja.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who received the story, crossed the worldline and finally succeeded in telling the story to the fragments of Kim Dokja in other worlds.

"Two. The fragments of 'Kim Dokja' scattered throughout the universe began to read our story, and they even imagined an ending that I did not write."

The efforts of the party reached the end of the universe safely. Kim Dokja's fragments have recovered the story she wrote and the memories they had lost.

"Third, the portals in front of us are the 'endings'."

The fragments of Kim Dokja scattered across the worldlines are the 'Oldest Dreams' who imagined the ending of 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.

Up until this point, there had been no problems, rather, it was as planned.

The problem is this.

"Why are there two endings?"

Biyoo let out a low sigh and replied.

[Because there are two 'endings' they imagined.]

Biyoo pointed to the first portal.

[One is the ending of ahjussi returning.]

In the hospital room inside the portal, a shadow resembling Kim Dokja was floating.

[The other is the ending where ahjussi did not return.]

She said, this time pointing to the other portal.

It was obviously the same hospital room as the first one, but there was no shadow of Kim Dokja on the bed.

The companions did not speak for a long time.

"Why..."

Han Sooyoung muttered.

"How could that be?"

How can you imagine 'two endings' after reading all the stories?

Despite knowing the answer, Han Sooyoung had to ask. Then the answer she expected came back.

[The fragments of ahjussi scattered across the worldlines are not the 'Dokja-ahjussi' we remember.]

Countless readers read the story and imagined the ending.

One is the ending in which 'Kim Dokja' returns.

And the other is the ending where 'Kim Dokja' cannot return.

[They are free to imagine what they think, even if they read the same story. It is a miracle that the ending is compressed into two.]

Biyoo was right.

Even though so many people have read and imagined the story, they can only see the endings right in front of them. Even the word miracle is not enough.

Jung Heewon opened her mouth.

"It's been hard getting here."

She said again, shaking her head.

"I wonder if I should have done this much."

Two endings were given to them.

At least one of them had an obvious happy ending.

Jung Heewon looked up.

"I'm going through the first portal."

She looked at her companions as if to confirm her choice.

"No one's having any strange thoughts, right? If I go through the first one, I can meet Dokja-ssi again. Right, Biyoo?"

[Probably.]

"Is the Kim Dokja in there the 'Kim Dokja' that we remember?"

[I don't know.]

"You don't know?"

[Because I'm not the 'Oldest Dream'.]

Biyoo said, then thought for a while and added.

[But it's the 'Kim Dokja' of your fragments that brought him back, so it must be the 'Kim Dokja' we remember.]

"Good, now that we're in agreement."

Jung Heewon gestured to others, as if afraid to continue thinking about it.

"What are you all waiting for? We can meet Dokja-ssi again and the Dokja-ssi we remember is on the other side."

Shin Yoosung looked up with tears in her eyes. Lee Gilyoung, Lee Hyunsung and Lee Seolhwa.... Everyone seemed to have made up their minds.

"I'm not going."

Han Sooyoung said.

Jung Heewon narrowed her eyes and looked at Han Sooyoung: "You, what...?"

"The first portal must be a trap, it's too strange."

"It's not a trap..."

"Have you forgotten what happened on the subway?"

Han Sooyoung's words made Jung Heewon stop.

"At that time, it was also like that. We were deceived by a fake Kim Dokja."

Han Sooyoung's words changed the facial expressions of the group.

As she said, they had been tricked by Kim Dokja's avatar once before.

On the subway ride back from the final scenario, he had left his avatar with 49% of his memories in the hands of his companions and set out on his journey as the 'Oldest Dream'.

"What are you going to do if you go through the first portal and it ends up being an incomplete Kim Dokja again? Are you going to believe that this time it is Kim Dokja?"

"Do not talk to me like that, will you?"

Jung Heewon spoke in a voice that sounded as if she was holding back anger.

"I have said it before, no matter how much he remembers, Kim Dokja is still Kim Dokja, and even if it repeats, it's still his choice."

"You're being ridiculous again..."

"What if you are wrong?"

"What?"

"What if you choose the second portal, and you never get to see Dokja-ssi?"

"That's not going to happen."

"Han Sooyoung."

Jung Heewon let out a deep sigh, and then spoke in a determined tone:

"We aren't going to find him. We cannot have '100% Kim Dokja'."

Han Sooyoung's expression hardened.

"No one can have everything from another human being."

Han Sooyoung pursed her lips in a small smile. She had a little tic.

Who doesn't know that? Who doesn't understand such an obvious statement?

"I can't admit it."

Han Sooyoung's clenched fists trembled.

"How dare he read everything I wrote, and not come back?"

"Hey, you..."

Han Sooyoung said, shaking off Jung Heewon's grip on her shoulder.

"If you want to go to the first portal, it is your choice."

Han Sooyoung knew.

The choice she was making, perhaps, was the worst.

But she had always lived like this.

No matter how many dozens or hundreds of times she was asked to choose, she made the same decision over and over again.

Taking a slow step, Han Sooyoung said.

"If he didn't come back, there must be a reason why he didn't. I need to know why."

She stepped forward.

"I'm going to find him and bring him back one way or another. I am sick of playing this game of numbers, whether it's 49% or 51%, I need 100% or nothing."

And she took another step.

"And I'm going to go after each and every one of you, 'Kim Dokja's fragments,' who imagined that shitty ending, and I'm going to torture you until you write a 'proper ending'."

"Han Sooyoung! What the hell...?"

"What I am saying is."

Han Sooyoung looked back.

The story she had lived, the story that had accompanied her, was there.

From the first scenario to the last, she and her life together with everyone.

Her companions, whom she would not change for anything.

That is why she understands their happiness.

"Take care of yourselves."

She smiled and walked through the portal. The letters swirled in the air and soon she merged with them.

Perhaps her assumptions were wrong.

Maybe readers weren't imagining a tragic ending, maybe something had gone really wrong and Kim Dokja hadn't come back because she hadn't been lucky.

In any case, Han Sooyoung was not worried.

She would write again.

She's a writer and writing is her job.

As long as there is someone who reads it, she can write forever.

Now that she has regained the power of the system, she can write again and convince the 'fragments of Kim Dokja'.

None of the fragments of Kim Dokja scattered across all world lines will imagine an unhappy ending.

When Han Sooyoung woke up, she found herself in front of a hospital room door.

As she blankly lifted her head, she heard a voice beside her.

"How long are you going to be standing there?"

When she turned around, she saw Yoo Joonghyuk standing by the closed door of the hospital room.

"What? When did you arrive?"

"When you were still talking nonsense."

Something moved on Yoo Joonghyuk's shoulder, and Biyoo poked her head out.

[Baat.]

Han Sooyoung opened her mouth in a daze.

She wasn't alone.

These two had crossed the portal with her.

614 Episode 12 □□ (5)

Han Sooyoung asked.

"Why did you come?"

It was a chance to finally make up for their long years.

Nevertheless, Yoo Joonghyuk abandoned the opportunity and came here with Biyoo.

"If he’s here."

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at the door of the hospital room and continued.

"And I had a hunch that he was going to do something strange."

"You know you can’t return, right?"

A regressor who has lived for a long time.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who had stopped even regressing, made the same choice as her at the end of this story.

Han Sooyoung couldn't help but open her mouth.

"Well, even if you go through the first door, you'll end up unemployed again. You say you don't even play games anymore?"

"I will open it this time."

Yoo Joonghyuk's rough palm touched the doorknob of the hospital room.

The moment the door moved slowly, Han Sooyoung grabbed Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Wait for a sec."

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at Han Sooyoung and said.

"Anyway, there will be no one."

"I know."

This is a world where 'Kim Dokja' never returned. So even if he opens the door to the hospital room, Kim Dokja will not be there.

After completing her mental preparation, Han Sooyoung sighed lightly.

"Open it."

In the end, in order to get Kim Dokja back, they had to start by 'losing Kim Dokja'.

Even so, Han Sooyoung could not completely abandon hope.

Maybe Biyoo had been wrong. What if all this was just a cruel prank by Kim Dokja?

Like a sentence forgotten and added belatedly, what if the person she'd long been looking for was within the unfolding scenery...?

The wind blew through her hair through the open window.

As expected, no one was on the bed.

But it wasn't anything.

Han Sooyoung, like someone who spilled something on herself, approached the bed with Yoo Joonghyuk.

A small note was left on the sunken bed, as if someone had been sitting there a while ago.

A memo neatly written in a familiar handwriting.

—There's a story I haven't read yet. I'll be right back.

Han Sooyoung read the note over and over again.

This sentence was not a lie.

She heard Yoo Joonghyuk breathe lightly.

Han Sooyoung sat down holding the memo in her arms without even realizing it.

Kim Dokja did not return.

Even so, Han Sooyoung seemed to forgive him.

"You damn child..."

He was obviously alive.

They can't see him, but somewhere far away in the universe.

Kim Dokja is still reading an unfinished story.

---

In the faint sparks, I read the story of Han Sooyoung.

「"I will find him with Biyoo. Now that the system is open, I can search the bottom of the world line again."」

Stories that are heard in sparsely fragmented forms.

Among them, there was the voice of Yoo Joonghyuk, the voice of Han Sooyoung, and a voice whose identity was unknown.

「"Then check the world line over there..."」

「"If he's the real Dokja, he'd definitely be on this side, right?"」

.....

「"If it's the price for telling you where Kim Dokja is, how about it?"」

Han Sooyoung's hardened face could be seen over the flowing story.

Listening to the gradually fading voices of the story, I opened my mouth.

"It would have been fine if you had chosen the first 'portal'."

She could have been happy.

She could have met Kim Dokja again and had the long-awaited ending.

"There must be an ending like that somewhere."

Han Sooyoung answered as she watched the disappearing sentences.

A 'happy ending' already existed.

However, she did not choose that option.

"There are two options. One is the end for anyone to see, and the other is somewhat suspicious. In such a situation, it is obvious what the real Kim Dokja would choose. Because that damn guy likes 'stories' more than anyone else."

In a sense, her choice was not wrong. She eventually found the traces of Kim Dokja and came this far.

"Kim Dokja can make his imagination real. His dreams become reality. The Kim Dokja in the 'First Portal' must have been real too."

"Maybe he was."

Han Sooyoung nodded.

Since she acknowledged that possibility as well, she probably did not force her choice on Jung Heewon or the other members of <Kim Dokja's Company>.

However, Han Sooyoung must have come up with another possibility.

A possibility that Kim Dokja was alone with the tragedy of the far-off universe, while <Kim Dokja’s Company> was confined in happy memories.

She, with her great imagination, couldn't bear to turn away from that possibility.

"I just picked the one I thought was more like Kim Dokja."

I was a bit envious of Kim Dokja at the upright confidence felt in her tone.

"Is Kim Dokja in this world?"

"I don't know either, but... at least he can see this world."

At last, her Giant Story stopped its storytelling. The wound I had inflicted on the story had been repaired.

"I don't like it. Because this isn't a story I wrote."

Her story, which she once started, is now flowing into a development she does not know.

Han Sooyoung and I looked up at the sky at the same time. The color was slowly returning to the sky of the 'Snowfield', which had been entirely achromatic.

The skill's time limit was already running out.

"For him to come back, this story must end."

Because it was right after seeing her Giant Story, I could agree with her words to some extent.

But that wasn't the end, at least not now.

That's why I constantly wrote sentences in my head.

An enormous amount of probability was consumed.

[You have described content lacking in probability.]

[The success rate of reproducing this description is 8%.]

[The success rate of reproducing this description is 1%.]

Throughout the fight with Han Sooyoung, I repeatedly wrote and erased sentences.

In order to find a 'sentence' that would convince the Han Sooyoung in front of me.

How many sentences did I edit and rewrite?

[Possible contents have been described.]

[The description has a 78% success rate of reproduction.]

I gambled to increase my success rate. Just like the day I first met Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st turn, I raised my probability by sacrificing my arms.

[The title of the scene is changed due to the sentence you added.]

I bet everything I could write.

[The success rate of reproducing this description is 95%.]

[You can no longer increase your success rate.]

[Read reader feedback.]

[No reader feedback exists.]

[Every 'reader' in the theater checks out your story.]

[You have secured additional probability with more than a certain number of recommendations.]

I said while looking at the sentence of the snowfield I wrote.

"Kim Dokja may want to continue watching the story."

"Maybe, but this story is not worth it."

"What if Kim Dokja’s taste has changed? What if the story you wrote is no longer interesting?"

"That."

Han Sooyoung smiled and asked.

"Are you serious?"

The scenery of the snowfield collapsed with a cooing sound.

[Exiting the 'Snowfield'.]

The stopped time started to flow again.

Taking advantage of Han Sooyoung's surprise, I shouted at Jung Heewon.

"Heewon-ssi!"

Jung Heewon, who was still resisting the mental attack, turned to me with a creak.

I wasn't sure if I could give more mental load to a target who had already been affected by [Incite].

Jung Heewon's lips said.

'Inho-ssi. Hurry.'

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 6' is activated!]

I took a deep breath and spoke all at once.

"You are unaffected by mental attacks from now on!"

[Incarnation 'Jung Heewon' receives the effect of 'Incite'!]

[Incarnation 'Jung Heewon' is already under the effect of 'Incite'!]

[The effect of 'Incite' is multiplied and the penalty is raised!]

[The duration of 'Incite' is extremely short!]

Jung Heewon, who vomited blood from her mouth, swung her sword forward again.

The mental attacks from the Theater Owner could no longer affect her.

"It's amazing. Can you do something like this with 'Incite'?"

Han Sooyoung said while blocking Jung Heewon's sword with her left hand wrapped in [Black Flame].

"But this is going to kill Jung Heewon, you know?"

Jung Heewon, whose complexion turned pale, growled.

"I'm not dying."

Perhaps realizing she couldn't approach the Theater Owner without dealing with Han Sooyoung, Jung Heewon's [Kendo] shifted its trajectory.

[Hour of Judgment] poured out explosive fighting power in a short period of time. In addition, her refined [Kendo] was added to the mix.

Her sword, capable of cutting even 7th grade monsters in an instant, launched an all-out offensive at Han Sooyoung.

"Look at this."

It's good that Han Sooyoung was pushed away for a moment by that non-stop offensive.

I ran quickly and shouted.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 6' is activated!]

"Turn into 'Broken Faith'!"

Along with my words, 'Thoughts of Almost Everything' emitted a bright light and formed the shape of a sword. It was the mimicry form obtained when defeating the script writer.

['Thoughts of Almost Everything' mimics Broken Faith (Mass-Production Type)!]

Before I knew it, the simulation was right in front of me.

Han Sooyoung, who found me belatedly, narrowed her eyes.

"I—"

Broken Faith's special option was 'Blade of Faith'.

But I didn't have strong qigong skills, so I couldn't use 'Blade of Faith'.

If it was before, it would have been the case.

I raised the mana of my whole body and focused it on my broken faith.

「"Please save my brother."」

It is a skill that Literature Girl 64 passed on to me.

[Exclusive skill 'White Blue Steel Lv. 1' is activated!]

[Activates 'Blade of Faith'!]

The ether blade surged, scattering dazzling white light, and the Theater Owner reflexively crouched.

With a bright flash, both arms of the Theater Owner flew in the air.

I continued to wield my sword while reciting an incantation.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 6' is activated!]

"...am Yoo Joonghyuk."

The moment the trail of the sword finally reached the neck of the Theater Owner, someone pulled my back strongly.

When were they summoned?

Two of Han Sooyoung's [Avatars] were holding onto my shoulders. What followed was a strong jolt in my side and shin. The blade flew through the air in an instant, and I knelt on the floor.

As I collapsed with dizziness, I saw Jung Heewon, who had also vomited blood, lose consciousness and pass out.

[The effect of 'Incite' ends.]

An enormous recoil engulfed Jung Heewon's entire body.

"It was a failure," she muttered.

Despite fighting against her strong limitations, it was not enough to defeat Han Sooyoung.

Han Sooyoung let out a light sigh and said.

"It was a little dangerous."

I realized how big the difference between her and my capabilities was.

Feeling her victory, Han Sooyoung looked down at me and said.

"Now you know the difference, right?"

I knew from the beginning.

I probably won't be able to beat Han Sooyoung even if a truck comes.

So I thought.

"It doesn't have to be me who wins."

An enormous reverberation felt from behind. Han Sooyoung, her eyes wide open, looked behind me.

A man in a black coat was waking up from his deep depression.

"The person who ends the story is the protagonist of this story."

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 6' is activated!]

「"You are Yoo Joonghyuk."」

The effect of [Incite], used earlier when cutting off the arms of the Theater Owner, was finally activating.

Yoo Joonghyuk started running. He didn't seem to be completely out of his 'Regression Depression' yet, but he knew what he had to do.

The spear held in his hand drew destructive magic in a straight line.

Han Sooyoung, in a hurry, pulled out her sword for the first time.

I admired the pure white sword in her hand.

Han Sooyoung also made that.

'Unbreakable Faith.'

I don't know how it was made.

However, unlike me, her sword was neither mass-produced nor fake, but real.

The moment I saw the dazzling brilliance of the sword, I shuddered.

「The author of this story is also Han Sooyoung.」

Perhaps I will never become a writer like her in my whole life.

I let go of the [Avatar] that was holding me back, exploding my whole body's mana. Then, holding onto the 'Broken Faith' that had fallen on the floor, I ran towards Han Sooyoung.

Han Sooyoung, locked in a fierce clash with Yoo Joonghyuk, looked back at me in surprise.

"You were supposed to try to convince me, right?"

The two blades of faith collided fiercely.

"Are you ready to be convinced?"

Han Sooyoung's eyes shook.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who did not miss the opportunity, leisurely passed by us and moved to end the Theater Owner.

Tsutsutsutsutsutsutsu!

Embarrassed, Han Sooyoung shouted at me.

Usually, Han Sooyoung would be able to shake me off easily and stand in Yoo Joonghyuk's way.

But this time, it was impossible.

「Because this is such a story.」

Han Sooyoung finally realized what was going on.

"You, please."

Perhaps my role in this story is, at best, a bridge.

"If you're a writer, you'd know."

But even that was enough.

If only one more reader could survive. If they can see the end of the story after going through the 'main story' and the 'side stories'.

"You're not trying to finish the story, you're giving up."

I am willing to be broken to complete this story.

Han Sooyoung's 'Unbreakable Faith' spat out a violent [Black Flame], and I desperately blocked its path.

The blade of 'Broken Faith' crumbled helplessly, and soon I felt the 'Blade of Faith' disappear.

「There is no such thing as one magic sentence that will convince someone.」

Like a writer refining the end of a pre-determined story, I smiled at Han Sooyoung.

「Because all miracles require the price of probability.」

The sound of Yoo Joonghyuk's spear piercing the head of the Theater Owner echoed.

Suddenly, Kim Dokja's face came to mind.

Is that guy still reading this story?

Come to think of it, I always envied him.

「Then, did I get a little closer to him?」

Reflecting on those thoughts, I realized my limits.

[Succeeded in reproducing the scene.]

The moment the sharp blade pierced my chest, I remembered one thing I had forgotten.

「Tell that guy.」

I managed to get my hands into my pockets, but my arms weren't strong.

In the distance, the Theater Owner dissolved, and Yoo Joonghyuk collapsed.

The dome surrounding the rooftop garden was lifted.

[Someone has cleared the Theater Dungeon.]

My vision was blurred.

My heart grew colder and my whole body lost strength. I just fell to the floor.

The sound of Han Sooyoung shouting something came like an echo.

「The readers died and became 'little Kim Dokjas'.」

In the slowly fading consciousness, I saw the scenery of the night sky.

「Then what will I become after I die?」

What came to my mind at the last moment was, unexpectedly, the last sentence of my debut work.

「He walked towards his origin like that.」

I closed my eyes, holding the item in my pocket that I couldn't deliver.

There seemed to be a lemon scent somewhere.

615 Episode 12 □□ (6)

Han Sooyoung could not understand the situation unfolding before her eyes.

"What the hell?"

She looked down at Cheon Inho, collapsed on the ground.

Blood poured relentlessly from his chest, where 'Unbreakable Faith' had pierced straight through.

It was an irreversible wound.

There was already too much blood pooling across the floor. Whether it was the 'Ellain Forest Essence' or anything else, nothing she could do now would bring him back.

"You, why the hell?"

The writer of ORV from another worldline, wearing Cheon Inho's face.

Han Sooyoung understood his cause and his desperate desire to save his readers.

"I... I said I would do something, didn't I?"

This world was the Star Stream.

Once a scenario began, someone's sacrifice was inevitable.

The outcome of 'Destruction' was predetermined, so Han Sooyoung had decided to end it as quickly as possible with minimal sacrifice.

She knew it would be harsh on the characters.

However, leaving things as they were would lead to an even greater tragedy in this round, and trying to change the ending could cause a catastrophe across all worldlines.

Han Sooyoung took on the role of a villain once again.

She designed an ending with minimal pain.

Her plan was to retrieve the souls of the possessed individuals caught up in the scenarios and return them to their original worldline with minimal loss.

Everything went smoothly until that guy appeared.

「If you are a writer, you would know.」

The words he'd left behind echoed endlessly through her mind.

「You're not trying to finish the story, you're giving up.」

Han Sooyoung gasped for breath as she felt the probability.

Why did he say that? Why did he jump in front of her?

「You were supposed to try to convince me, right?」

She never intended to kill him. If that had been her plan, she would have severed his neck right away.

Leveling a path of tragedy, her 'Unbreakable Faith' pierced right through his chest.

She tried to alter the sword's trajectory mid-strike, again and again, but her muscles wouldn't obey, as if the world itself were demanding his death.

'No way.'

Han Sooyoung recalled the achromatic landscape that had unfolded moments before.

What if that was this guy's 'skill'?

What if he had a skill that created the events he desired, but at the cost of probability? What if, as the price of that probability, he sacrificed himself?

「Han Sooyoung knew someone who had sacrificed himself in this way.」

Han Sooyoung staggered in the rising dizziness, slowly bending down toward the fallen Cheon Inho.

She wanted to ask him a question before he died. Why the hell did he do this?

Then, Cheon Inho's hand slipped out of his pocket with a thud. In his hand was a lollipop of a somewhat familiar shape.

As if she had stumbled upon an inexplicable sentence written in the most unexpected place, Han Sooyoung stared blankly down at the candy.

Slowly, she reached out her hand.

Sparks flew with a crackling sound of 'Tsutsutsu'. Stories spilled from the lollipop in his hand, like something long sealed finally breaking open.

A story?

It couldn't be. The third main scenario was only just about to end.

Unless he's a special case like her, there's no way an incarnation could have already acquired a 'story'—

「"What are you doing? Hurry up and get ready! Did you forget where we're going today?"」

Something incomprehensible happened.

Those were definitely her words, her voice.

But why did this guy have a story related to her?

「"Is this pizza?"」

「"It's chicken, idiot."」

「Today was the first day of <Kim Dokja's Company>'s outing.」

The voices flowing out were familiar. All of them were voices she knew. These were sentences she knew.

「"It's so cold, do we really have to eat by the Han River?"」

Her mind grew increasingly confused.

「"Kim Dokja."」

「"Huh?"」

「"You don't read it that much these days."」

A memory vividly surfaced in her mind.

She had definitely had that conversation with Kim Dokja before.

「"Oh, yes. I have to read it."」

An outing to the Han River some time ago.

Huddled together with her companions, she had a conversation with Kim Dokja about TWSA. She had asked Kim Dokja something about Ways of Survival.

「"But Kim Dokja."」

「"Huh?"」

「"That kind of thing doesn't come up in the 3rd round of Ways of Survival."」

Kim Dokja couldn't answer.

「"Hey. Who the hell are you?"」

Slowly, a chill ran through her heart, and she struggled to breathe. From the first moment she saw him, she had thought something was off.

Who the hell is this Cheon Inho?

She knew that he was an author of ORV from another worldline, but there were too many strange things to ignore about him to simply dismiss it like that.

「"If you have 'Avatar', isn't there a very easy way to check it?"」

Han Sooyoung reached for the lemon candy with trembling fingertips.

「"The person who will read my novel... is not you."」

Stories flowed like blood from a burst wound.

It was a story that even Han Sooyoung, who wrote 『Ways of Survival』, did not know.

「He walked toward his origin like that.」

It was a story no one had ever read, existing between the lines of the sentences she had written.

---

Few people remember the moment they were first born.

For me, it was the same.

「Kim Dokja.」

People called me that, and I introduced myself that way too.

An only child.

Bearing the name my father had given me, I lived a life of living up to it.

I have always done everything alone, eating alone, working alone, sleeping alone.

Perhaps that was why...

When I was no longer 'alone' for the first time, I heard strange words.

「"Hey. Who are you?"」

A colleague I had always trusted, the person I thought maybe who could understand me best in the world.

It wasn’t true.

She easily overpowered me and threw me onto the cold floor.

Then she told the others that I was an ‘avatar’.

I didn't understand.

Surely, just moments ago, we ate together, laughed, and chatted. Why are you suddenly saying such things to me?

The reason was simple.

I couldn't properly remember a certain novel.

Thinking it was a trivial misunderstanding, I smiled as usual and said,

「"Han Sooyoung. I'm sorry, but I don't really remember it well. I haven't been reading 'Ways of Survival' lately."」

The woman's dagger flew through the air, and blood burst from my shoulder blades.

The companions criticized her.

They defended me, saying I wasn't fake. Avatars don't bleed.

Still, she did not back down.

「"If I cut your throat, I'll know. Avatars keep moving even after their throats are cut off."」

The moment my eyes met hers, I felt a cold chill run down my spine.

And I thought.

「Maybe, I'm really not Kim Dokja after all.」

My memory of that day isn't clear.

Only that the wound hurt quite a bit.

That even though it was a shallow wound, the blood wouldn't stop flowing.

That I collapsed right there.

Only those facts remain vaguely in my mind.

「"Dokja-ssi, are you okay?"」

Even after that day, the group continued to call me 'Kim Dokja'.

But every time I heard that name, I felt myself drifting further away from my own identity.

「"You probably just lost your memory because you were tired. Don’t worry too much."」

Even as I was being comforted, I felt confused.

「What on earth did I forget?」

I couldn't tell.

People who forget their memories don't remember what they've forgotten.

But the moment I realized I 'forgot something', things started to feel wrong.

My complexion grew worse by the day, and my vivid memories were fading away.

I became increasingly afraid.

「"Yoo Sangah-ssi, I am not a fake."」

「"Yes. I know."」

My companion held my hand with a warm smile. But for some reason, that smile felt unfamiliar to me.

The companion's smile was not directed at me, but rather seemed to be accidentally placed on the empty seat where the 'real Kim Dokja' was.

The time I slept became longer, and I often listened to my companions in my hazy dreams.

「"Dokja-ssi, can you stand up for a second? If you keep lying down, your back will get ruined."」

「"How about doing some gymnastics with me?"」

「"Will he be okay like this? I’ll bring a story pack just in case."」

The party members did not interrogate or accuse me.

Rather, they were discussing a possibility.

「"Heewon-ssi, have you heard of Sooyoung's plan?"」

「"If Dokja-ssi's memories truly split apart... and if the real Dokja-ssi is still out there somewhere..."」

「"Do you think that is possible?"」

The companion who first suspected me also visited my hospital room. Most of her visits were late at night.

In my languid consciousness, I often felt a hand pulling up the blanket.

She stared at me for a long time in the dark, then quietly disappeared from my hospital room by the time dawn came.

「"It's rice, Kim Dokja."」

Sometimes, when I woke up, there was someone who brought me food.

I thought as I hurriedly finished my meal in extreme hunger.

I must have eaten this kind of dish a few times while going through the scenarios.

Why do I have no memory?

「"Someone once said this."」

The man glared at me with his sullen face and said.

「"Every human being suffers from amnesia."」

After saying that, the man stared at the clock hanging in the hospital room for a long time.

I watched the clock with him. I watched the second hand move, then the minute hand follow.

「"You don't have to be anything. It only matters what you want to be."」

I don't know if the words affected me or not. However, when I woke up the next day, I said something strange to the group.

「"I also want to help find the 'real Kim Dokja'."」

「"Dokja-ssi, don't say that. There is no such thing as real or fake. You are—"」

Of course, I didn't come to believe that there was a 'real' one.

I just wanted to know.

If the 'real Kim Dokja' did not exist, the fact that I was real would naturally be proven.

The idea that I was only an [Avatar]... that the real Kim Dokja was still trapped in the subway of the final scenario, dreaming... all those ridiculous hopes would eventually vanish from the companions' minds.

「"Please let me join the plan."」

<Kim Dokja's Company>'s journey to recover the lost 'Kim Dokja'.

And so, I crossed over with the companions into the worldline of the 1865th round.

I didn't do a great job, but I watched my companions throughout the scenarios.

Seeing my companions carry out hellish scenarios from scratch, I often felt an indescribable emotion.

「"Wow, is that the method Dokja used?"」

My companions silently performed the scenario.

As the scenario progressed, they each found the 'Kim Dokja' they were looking for.

「"This recipe was told to me by that ahjussi."」

In every moment of theirs, there was a 'Kim Dokja' I couldn't remember.

「Did he always do all this alone?」

While watching their story, I naturally realized a certain fact.

「This wasn't my story.」

It wasn't up to me to decide whether I was real or fake.

「"Dokja-ssi, are you okay? Stay right behind us. Leave this to us."」

They were sympathetic.

「"We'll be fine on our own this time."」

I was taken care of.

「"Now it's our turn to give it back."」

Even that, perhaps, was not what I deserved.

After so many years, the party finally faced the end of the world.

Something in me knew. And for the first time, I put that feeling into words.

「"The other me might not want this. The story... ended there..."」

It was my last struggle and plea.

Please don't open it.

Please don't open that door, the last car of the subway.

Then the woman answered.

「"Let's meet that other you and ask him."」

In that moment, I sensed my role in the story.

「"If this is the story you all want..."」

Finally, the last subway car door opened, and I finally faced the sight I feared.

「There was Kim Dokja, whom the party had been looking for.」

Kim Dokja who had become like a child.

Kim Dokja, losing his memory just like me. But the moment I saw Kim Dokja, I realized.

「That Kim Dokja is the real Kim Dokja.」

「"Ah... Ah, I..."」

Like a satellite drawn by a star’s gravitational pull, my body moved towards Kim Dokja.

The memories I held shattered into pieces, and were sucked into the Kim Dokja in front of me.

As I felt my body vanish, I thought:

Then who was I?

「Dokja-ssi!」

I was Kim Dokja.

「"Kim Dokja!"」

But not the Kim Dokja this world wanted.

「"Kim Dok...!"」

In the final moment before my consciousness faded, I thought:

「If I could be born again.」

A delusion, or so everyone believed. An impossible wish that only the real Kim Dokja could dream of.

「At least, I hope it's not as Kim Dokja.」

I imagined a distant universe, utterly unreachable in this world, and an unnamed being born within it.

A creature that no one in <Kim Dokja’s Company> would recognize, one that had nothing to do with Kim Dokja.

「I also want to have my own story.」

There was a sound like something exploding, and in the next instant, my consciousness shattered into fragments and scattered across the universe.

However, the largest fragment of consciousness that formed my core did not completely dissipate, ultimately becoming a meteor.

The meteor set out on a very long voyage. Crossing the edge of the worldline again and again, it drifted into the unknown depths of the universe.

How much longer did I sail like that?

The meteor stopped its journey.

「There was a planet that looked just like I imagined.」

The meteor fell toward the planet, shattering into even smaller fragments of soul.

Then it entered the body of a newborn baby at the planet's edge.

「"Why isn’t our baby crying?"」

A voice came, muffled and distant. I squeezed out my last strength and burst into a weary cry.

Then someone hugged me tightly.

「"Oh, he cried!"」

I was quietly wrapped in a blanket and placed on the bed.

Maybe it's because I lost all my memories.

Or was it because the long journey was exhausting? I immediately fell into a deep sleep.

And when I awoke again, people called me by a name I had never heard before.

「"Lee Hakhyun. Your name is Lee Hakhyun."」

Finally, my wish came true.

616 Episode 12 □□ (7)

Han Sooyoung collapsed to the ground.

The man's hands were drained of all color, and the sentences, crumbling like dust from his fingertips, whispered in her ears.

「He was once Kim Dokja.」

It couldn't be.

Yet no matter how many times she shook her head in denial, the reality before her eyes did not change.

「The 49% of Kim Dokja she had cut down with her own hands.」

When the fragments of Kim Dokja scattered across the universe, she had considered the possibility that such an existence might exist.

That the Kim Dokja she had thought was a mere [Avatar] might also have been reborn somewhere far beyond the distant reaches of the cosmos, reduced to a tiny fragment.

「"Oh my, our son is so impressive."」

In that universe, he would live a new life under a new name.

「"Honey, I guess he likes books. He will become a scholar, right?"」

Unlike Kim Dokja, he would have grown up in a warm family, cherished by his parents.

「"Waaaaah—"」

Maybe he cried after losing his first love.

「"Kuu. Kut. Kut. Love... only makes people weak."」

He would have indulged in youthful recklessness, creating embarrassing memories.

「"Hakhyun, what's your dream?"」

Maybe he even found that new dream he had longed for so deeply.

「"A writer."」

And worked towards that dream.

[Announcement of the Winner of the 24th Rookie of the Year Award. Winning Work: 'The Origin of Memory'. Author: Lee Hakhyun]

At times, he would have hit the limits of reality and fallen into despair.

「"I'm sorry, Writer. As you know, the print book market isn't doing well these days..."」

「"How about writing a web novel? These days, that's..."」

But he never abandoned that dream.

「"Writer, you can't write like this. Did you even read the dialogue you wrote out loud?"」

「"Um... do you think I can really make a living by writing?"」

As a reward for not giving up on his dream, he faced the man from his dreams.

「"You look like a web novel writer."」

Finally, he reached the origins of his lost self.

「"Editor. I might have an idea."」

「"What is the title of this new work?"」

「"It's 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』."」

Han Sooyoung read and re-read his stories that were infrequently cut off.

He is the one who refused to be reborn as Kim Dokja.

The one who helped his comrades recover his lost memories.

That man, once a 'reader' who had forgotten this story,

「"I also want to have my own story."」

had returned to the story as a 'writer'.

Han Sooyoung held his hand for a long time.

"Wake up."

His limp body swayed helplessly.

"You didn't come here to die."

It was not a wound that could be healed.

"After everything you went through, you left to live the life you wanted."

Why did he have to come back here again?

Han Sooyoung did not know the answer. Perhaps Lee Hakhyun himself would have to find it.

Instead, Han Sooyoung recalled all the sentences she knew of 'Ways of Survival' and 'Omniscient Reader'.

However, no matter how much she thought about it, there was no way to heal his wounds in this world now.

After taking a light breath, Han Sooyoung lifted her head. Like someone searching for stars in the night sky, she stared into the darkness for a long moment, then slipped her hand into her coat.

Tsutsutsutsutsutsutsu.

[The Star Stream is watching you.]

[Some nebulae are watching your actions.]

[Some constellations are wary of your actions!]

[The Administration Bureau is determining the 「Probability Conformity」 of your actions!]

The channel fluctuated violently, and the approach of a probability aftermath could be felt.

In the Star Stream, saving someone requires far more probability than killing someone. Moreover, if death is already certain, there's no need to say more.

Moments later, a small pill was held in Han Sooyoung's hand.

The Life and Death Pill.

It was the ultimate medicine created by Lee Seolhwa, and an item that did not yet exist in this world.

She hadn't expected to use the emergency medicine she had brought along just in case here.

[Many constellations doubt the existence of the item you took out.]

[The Bureau prepares for scenario intervention!]

If she used this item, a probability aftermath would inevitably strike her.

Because it was an item that should not exist in this world.

"This wasn't the [Avatar] meant to be sacrificed here, but..."

Han Sooyoung pushed the Life and Death Pill into Lee Hakhyun's mouth. Along with the cozy warmth, soon his whole body was dyed with a soft light.

There was something she wanted to ask.

But now she had no time. With white sparks, her avatar faded little by little. The aftermath of probability began to roll in.

At the last moment, she squeezed the lemon candy in Lee Hakhyun's hand and said.

"Tell him that I received it well."

---

Soft snowflakes brushed against my cheeks.

When I opened my eyes to a pure white sky, I immediately realized where I was.

「Kim Dokja!」

As I jumped up and shouted, a familiar voice answered from behind me.

「I'm here.」

In the middle of the snowy field, Kim Dokja was crouched down, reading something.

Ways of Survival? Or had someone written a new novel in the meantime?

The moment that thought crossed my mind, I felt like I wanted to die.

「The lemon candy.」

"Sorry, I couldn't keep my promise."

Kim Dokja laughed wordlessly.

I looked around with a feeling of embarrassment.

But I couldn't help it. My pride as a writer was also hurt.

「How was Han Sooyoung?」

I thought for a while and replied.

「She was strong.」

Kim Dokja fought against such a Han Sooyoung several times. After fighting again and again, they eventually became friends.

「And, she was an excellent writer.」

Feeling a bit relieved, I added a word.

「Honestly, it felt like that worldline would be fine even without me.」

The theater dungeon had been cleared, and my role was finished.

That 'Han Sooyoung' wouldn't insist on the same ending after witnessing my death.

If it's her, she would find a way somehow.

An ending that won't seal Yoo Joonghyuk or sacrifice the readers.

A method I couldn’t find, she would find.

「Han Sooyoung doesn’t seem to think so.」

Huh?

I wondered what that meant. Was it the fatigue? My head wasn't working properly.

「Because this is your story.」

My story.

I suddenly felt dizzy.

「I’m just an extra villain. All I've done this whole time is incite myself to be someone other than myself.」

Throughout the scenarios, I became Kim Dokja again and again, and Yoo Joonghyuk as well. I forced my way through the scenarios like that, and in the end, I died.

Perhaps, it's because I wasn't the real Kim Dokja or Yoo Joonghyuk.

「You are Lee Hakhyun.」

I don't know why, but the moment I heard those words, I felt like crying.

「As well as Cheon Inho.」

「...」

「The name isn't important. What matters is that you were telling your story there.」

It felt like I'd heard something similar before.

But I couldn’t remember who had said it to me.

My consciousness slowly began to fade.

Maybe because I was about to die.

Struggling against sleepiness, I asked Kim Dokja.

「You...」

I wanted to ask him something, but I didn't know what. There were too many I wanted to ask.

Weren't you tired?

Enduring that long scenario, that story, all those years... didn’t you ever want to give up?

Why didn't you go back to your party members yet?

Kim Dokja opened his mouth.

「There’s a spell I recite when I’m struggling.」

I knew what the spell was.

We spoke at the same time.

「I am Yoo Joonghyuk.」

The name is not important.

For a moment, I felt like I could understand what he was saying.

In the first place, hadn't we endured life by borrowing each other's stories over and over again?

「I tried that too, but it didn’t really make me become Yoo Joonghyuk.」

「That's right.」

I couldn't forget the look on Kim Dokja's face as he said those words and nodded.

「But after saying that, I felt a little more like Kim Dokja.」

With a dizzying pain radiating through my entire body, I snapped my eyes open.

It felt like I should use that phrase I'd just heard.

"I am Yoo Joonghyuk."

No incite was used. Even so, I felt a little energized.

Breathing out and raising my upper body, I saw the roof of the theater dungeon in ruins.

I felt a faint magical power swirling near my heart. New flesh had sprouted on my chest, where a hole had clearly been pierced, as if nothing had ever happened.

「I'm alive.」

I couldn't figure out how this could be possible.

Obviously, I fought with Han Sooyoung and died from being pierced through the chest.

The last sentence I wrote ended with my death. The scene was titled 'Death of the Villain,' making that outcome irreplaceable.

「Still, I was alive.」

Something slid down my shoulder with a gurgling sound.

The white coat Han Sooyoung had been wearing.

Holding onto the coat, I stood up and looked around.

I saw Yoo Joonghyuk and Jung Heewon lying unconscious. Their breathing was steady, so it didn’t seem like their injuries were serious.

Where did Han Sooyoung go?

The dawn was slowly breaking.

A meteor shower streaked across the sky's horizon.

It belatedly reminded me that this was the theater dungeon.

Kim Dokja and his companions must have seen that scene too.

The words of Kim Dokja, who had been watching the meteor shower with infinitely cold eyes, were finally felt through my skin.

「The scenario has just begun.」

I had already lost my life on only the third main scenario.

The chilling sensation of death was still vivid in front of me.

I was lucky enough to survive this time, but will I be able to do that again next time?

The scenarios to come were so terrifying that they could not even be compared to the theater dungeon.

Will the readers who came with me be able to endure all the trials and survive?

「Because this is your story.」

Can I protect them?

I pressed my hand to my forehead, trying to fend off the dizziness.

I could hear people's footsteps in the distance. After the scenario ended, the people who escaped from the movie were climbing up to the rooftop one by one.

Finally, the door on the roof burst open, and someone took the first step and asked me.

"Kim Dokja?"

I glanced around absentmindedly, but Kim Dokja was nowhere to be seen.

Understanding came a little too late.

Behind me, the strong backlight of dawn cast deep shadows across my face. My hand pressed against my face as a wave of dizziness washed over me, and I realized the exterior reinforced suit worn by the original Kim Dokja was still with me.

And the white coat clutched in my hand made everything clear. I knew what they had seen and how they had misunderstood.

I laughed and wanted to say I wasn’t Kim Dokja, but seeing the faces of people on the verge of collapse, every word inside me lost its strength and vanished.

People who read stories and loved stories.

They watched the stories of their favorite characters and endured life with joy or sorrow.

I heard people behind me asking the people who came through the door first.

"Hey, Kim Dokja?"

"Kim Dokja? Really?"

Desperate words from deep despair.

Beyond the door they opened, they hoped that there would be the Kim Dokja they were looking for.

「That moment. I understood Kim Dokja.」

The sound of a small meteorite falling in the distance was heard.

I quietly looked down at the coat Han Sooyoung had left behind.

「I am writer Lee Hakhyun and instigator Cheon Inho.」

Perhaps this is something only I can do.

['Thoughts of Almost Anything' transforms into 'Ever-changing Stealth Suit'.]

I quietly closed my eyes and recalled a man's face.

[The effect of 'Ever-changing Stealth Suit' is activated!]

A man who grinned at people with a blank face.

A person who wanted to see the epilogue of a novel while knowing the end of this world alone.

The protagonist of this story.

A white coat fluttered in the wind that blew over the building.

When I completely removed my hands from my face, the people who saw my face burst into tears.

"So he really, really existed."

"I told you! I knew he would be here!"

Just by confirming someone's existence, hope was blooming on people's faces.

"Kim Dokja!"

At one time, when I heard that name, one side of my chest hurt.

But now it wasn't like that.

「Still, this world needs Kim Dokja.」

I don't know if there really is Kim Dokja in this world or not.

「Nevertheless, this is still a story about Kim Dokja.」

Fortunately, lying is what I do best.

I smiled bitterly and waved at people.

「However, it is not a story about only one Kim Dokja.」

617 Episode 13 King (1)

---

「A throne is still needed in a 'kingless world'. It is to let people know that there was a king there.」

—Mass-Production Type Maker

---

Exactly three days had passed since the incident in the Theater Dungeon. During those three days, the name that hit Chungmuro Station was as follows.

「"Kim Dokja!"」

Although some people just tilted their heads upon hearing his name. Some could not contain their joy.

「"Really? Is there really Kim Dokja here?"」

「"I lived. We're alive now."」

Of course, not everyone who remembered his name was happy.

「"Is he really Kim Dokja? Doesn't it just become more dangerous if we get entangled?"」

「"Would anything change if Kim Dokja appeared now? To be honest, we all know what Kim Dokja knows."」

Some people doubted the reality of the rumors, while others dismissed them as not a big deal.

However, whoever stood on either side, those who remembered 'Kim Dokja' would have thought of him and looked up at the sky for a moment.

「And with that, Lee Hakhyun thought it was enough.」

The roof of the theater dungeon.

After sighing lightly, I looked up at the sky, and the sun was setting.

Until all the scenarios were over, how many times did Kim Dokja look up at the sky?

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' is looking at you.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' is looking at you.]

Watching the stars in the sky decrease, what did Kim Dokja think until the end?

"Inho-ssi."

When I looked back, Kyung Sein and Lee Dansu were waiting for me.

I nodded and asked.

"Is the dungeon cleanup over?"

"Yes. It seems there are no people left now."

Right after the theater dungeon ended, we cleaned up the acquired items and transported the injured readers to the bottom of the theater.

Kyung Sein added.

"There are no posters left, and the dungeon errors seem to be almost normalized."

There were some people who couldn't get out of the movie even after the dungeon was cleared, perhaps because of the probability aftermath that occurred on the roof of the theater.

Fortunately, some readers, including Kyung Sein and Lee Dansu, actively cooperated with me, and after a few days of desperate struggle, we succeeded in rescuing all those trapped in the dungeon.

"How is the status of the 2 apostles?"

"Fortunately, Killer King fell asleep after eating 'The Spirit of Elaine Forest'."

Killer King, whom I had been worried about, was also in good shape. I sighed softly as I recalled Killer King fighting against the 'Lord of the Cretaceous Period'.

"Are you okay, Inho-ssi? You used more than ten pills of The Spirit of Elaine Forest this time..."

'The Spirit of Elaine Forest' was an item that cost 500 coins each. It wasn't a small expenditure for me either, but it was well worth the money spent saving the readers.

Anyway, this kind of expense comes back with sponsorship.

"Are you okay? Aren't you two hurt?"

"As you can see, I'm safe."

Kyung Sein gave strength to her small biceps.

Dansu-ahjussi asked.

"Is your friend okay?"

"Hey, what... I haven't done anything in particular."

Officially, I was known to have passed out and woke up in a corner of the rooftop garden.

Of course, it was officially said that it was, and unofficially, it was as follows.

「I became Kim Dokja for a while.」

I don't know why I did that.

But at that moment, I couldn't help but do it. Maybe not me, but anyone else.

There were people thrown into the perishing world, and there was a person they had been waiting for.

And only I knew the secrets of this world.

I had no choice but to lie.

Because I don't want them to give up on life. I'm not saying it's for anyone else's sake, but because I want them to continue to endure this hellish scenario with me.

I needed readers, and I wanted them to live on. That's all.

"Did you find anything on the roof? I heard that the battle was here."

Currently, it is known that there was a confrontation between Kim Dokja, Yoo Joonghyuk, Jung Heewon, and the owner of the theater in the 'theater dungeon' around Chungmuro Station.

"Yeah, well... nothing special."

It was fortunate for me.

It was because my head hurt to explain the things I met and fought with Han Sooyoung here one by one.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' asks what the hell happened.]

[Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' asks if anyone has secured the video.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' asks what the dokkaebi was doing.]

It seemed the constellations were unable to properly grasp the situation, perhaps due to the influence of the probability aftermath that swept the rooftop at the time. To think that no one had really seen that great battle, I felt a bit regretful.

It was a clash with 'Han Sooyoung', not another person.

[A constellation that has not yet revealed their modifier smiles lightly.]

You never know.

Has anyone seen this guy?

"Really… Was Kim Dokja here? Did you see him, Inho-ssi?"

I inadvertently looked back at the place where I fought with Han Sooyoung.

Thinking back, it was a dizzying battle.

I was defeated by her sword, and pierced through the heart.

I definitely remember dying there.

When I woke up again, I was lying on the roof with my wounds fully healed.

Perhaps Han Sooyoung brought me back to life.

Why did she treat me?

And where did she go?

"Inho-ssi?"

I could feel the eyes of two people looking at me behind my back.

Wouldn't it be nice for these people to be sluggish?

In fact, there was no Kim Dokja here. Being here was just that.

"Yes, I saw him too."

I looked back at the two of them with a grin.

「Obviously, Kim Dokja was there.」

Honesty isn't always a good thing. We often have to let go of life with lies. Maybe that's why you read the story.

Suddenly, I felt like I knew a little bit why Han Sooyoung brought me back to life.

"Come down."

I walked with my hands on the shoulders of the two of them. I looked back to where I had been standing for the last time.

I really wish it had been you who was there.

---

Two blue eyes appeared from the pitch-black darkness of space.

【They are here.】

Starting with him, other eyes appeared all over the universe.

Red or blue, eyes engraved with a story of their own. A majesty that swept from beyond the void permeated every one of those eyes.

The pupils were all looking at one world.

The worldline they had watched for a long time.

It was the forgotten 41st world, and the last 'blank space' allowed to be modified by the 'Final Wall'.

【Those who saw the Oldest Dream.】

An electric sound was heard from the other side of the universe. The light of thought resounding in a place where there is no medium.

The nameless ones howled in pain, and the enraged deities of the other world roared with hateful rage.

The Outer Gods representing all the abandoned things in the world were speaking.

【Kim Dokja’s Company.】

The universe vibrated ominously. The Outer Gods' eyes turned to Earth. The far-off stories in their gazes engulfed the entire galaxy.

【Calm down. It is not yet time for you to move.】

Someone interrupted them.

A being wearing a white coat was holding back the pressure of the Outer Gods on behalf of Earth.

【Are you going to ruin the final chapter?】

It was Representative Kim Dokja.

The Outer God who recognized him spoke in true voice.

【You promised.】

【Kim Dokja’s Company should not exist here.】

Then, Representative Kim Dokja shook his head.

【I am the one who called <Kim Dokja’s Company> here.】

As if he couldn't understand the words, the intensity of the story bent once again in the space.

Even in the midst of suffocating sparks, Representative Kim Dokja continued with a calm expression.

【This story can only be completed without them, did you forget? As long as they exist, the universe you want will never arrive.】

For the first time, the momentum of the Outer God slowed down at his remarks.

【They will all die here. Along with the Oldest Dream they loved.】

Representative Kim Dokja, with a sweet smile, continued speaking while appeasing the Outer God.

【So please wait a bit. The final chapter will be prepared for you soon.】

The eyes of the Outer Gods trembled slightly, and one by one, they closed their heavy eyelids.

The turbulence of the stories, which had shaken under the gazes oppressing the Earth, calmed down little by little.

The moment the eyes closed for the last time, a voice as deep as the deep sea resounded.

【The unrecorded story will watch over you.】

---

As soon as I went down to Chungmuro Station, a message appeared in front of my eyes.

[Main Scenario #3 - Emergency defense battle has ended.]

[You got 2,000 coins as a reward.]

I had forgotten about the 'emergency defense battle'. The third scenario, which was about to end early due to the 'venomous fog' that had been sprayed.

[You have made a decisive contribution to the 'emergency defense battle'.]

[You got an additional 2,000 coins as a reward.]

[Your first story related to this scenario is germinating.]

First story.

I saw the message last time, but I was nervous.

This is because it was very important what one could gain from a birth story in this world.

Kim Dokja's first story was 'The King of a Kingless World'.

What is my first story?

When I checked the message log, there were a lot of unread messages piled up.

[The progress of the main scenario is being delayed due to the aftermath of probability.]

[The fourth main scenario will be announced in an hour.]

[Currently, there are 48 unread messages.]

From scenario delay messages to indirect messages from various constellations.

Anyway, it seems that the aftermath of the probability that blew into the rooftop garden was great.

It's to the extent that the progress of the 'main scenario' is delayed.

If that were the case, the Administration Bureau would have been talking about it—but no, it wasn't just the Administration Bureau.

[The Nebula <Tamra> is paying attention to you.]

I laughed bitterly inwardly.

I don't know if I should like this kind of message or be anxious.

"Wow, Inho-ssi. Now..."

Kyung Sein gasped. Apparently, the message was public.

"As expected, Inho-ssi went to the final floor, so it must be different. Ahjussi and I couldn’t go that far…"

She said, "What floor did he say you went to?"

"The 7th floor."

In fact, the 7th floor was also a great result. That's because it's almost as if it's been uploaded.

Wait a second. By the way, what was on the 7th floor?

"Did you go into 'that movie' by any chance?"

Kyung Sein, who knew what the movie was about, nodded as if she had been waiting.

"Yeah! Inho-ssi should have seen it too! Being summoned! Load! Launch! Ku Kwa Kwa Kwah! Two-quake-quake-quawa!"

How can you describe the legendary Battle of Myeongnyang in that way?

Aside from Kyung Sein’s vocabulary, honestly, I was a little envious seeing her in front of me.

"It must not have been easy to convince Lee Jihye."

"Ah, that's right. Ahjussi and I worked hard to encourage her. You know what Kim Dokja did."

"You did that?"

From what I remember, I don't think Kim Dokja did 'encourage' Lee Jihye. Rather, didn't he awaken her in a very dangerous way?

Perhaps conscious of my gaze, Kyung Sein smiled and looked back at me.

"Hee hee, I didn't do it exactly, but you... My words didn't work."

It was as if I had a vague idea of what had happened.

Dansu-ahjussi might have thought of his daughter Jiyoon while looking at Lee Jihye.

"I didn't say anything. I stayed by her side until she regained her heart."

"Ah, you said a word."

"That…"

Dansu-ahjussi evaded her words as if he was embarrassed, and Kyung Sein cleared her throat and raised a solemn voice.

"It’s okay to live."

Dansu-ahjussi, who became contemplative, hurriedly added words.

"Anyone could say that!"

What anyone can say.

But there is also a person who lives without ever hearing what anyone can say.

Maybe Lee Jihye was similar.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' pays favor to the incarnation.]

It seems that the role of the ahjussis is quite important in this world line.

I had a hunch.

It was then that a small monster came running with a light barking sound from afar.

We reflexively tried to pull out a sword, but when we realized the guy's true identity, we were delighted.

"Oh, Max."

It was the landlord's rat, Max, whom I had saved in the emergency defense battle not too long ago.

It must have become friendly with humans in three days. Max played around us, sticking out its tongue.

[Constellation 'Dog Who Threw Himself into the Flames' nods to the loyalty of the landlord.]

As I carefully stroked the rat's head, I saw a boy waving at me from across the turnstile.

"Everyone is here."

The 7th apostle, Ye Hyunwoo, was waiting for us.

"Is the dungeon cleanup over?"

"Yes, it is over."

"This side has just been cleaned up. All the injured have been moved downstairs."

Ye Hyunwoo took turns looking at me and my party for a while before opening his mouth.

"Inho-ssi, let's talk for a moment…"

After asking for the understanding of the party for a while, I followed Ye Hyunwoo.

The place Ye Hyunwoo headed to was an unexpected place. The simple sign indicating gender felt somehow unfamiliar. I was reminded of the fact that the civilization I knew had been destroyed.

"I didn't know you could still use the bathroom."

"Yes. Electricity comes on. Water comes out. It's like nothing has happened yet when I'm here."

The toilet of the destroyed world.

I didn't really feel the need to urinate, so I stood there for a while, staring at the bathroom mirror.

All I can see is Cheon Inho's face, pretending to be calm, narrowing his eyes, but since I'm still looking at this face, it seems like it's worth looking at.

Ye Hyunwoo, standing next to me, asked while washing his hands.

"Are the constellations looking at the bathroom too?"

"It's written."

Restroom. A place where you can do your business out of sight, wash your hands, and groom yourself.

[Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says that he is a constellation who knows manners.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' says he won't stop looking.]

[Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' warns everyone to leave the channel.]

Perhaps, such 'privacy' does not exist for mankind anymore.

I realized what the characters in this world are dealing with.

Now, the word 'alone' does not exist.

"I heard that Kim Dokja appeared."

A natural voice, like turning off the faucet in the bathroom.

I answered a beat late.

"Ah yes."

"He suddenly appeared on the roof of the dungeon and gave people instructions. Thanks to those instructions, quite a few readers survived."

"Yeah, I heard that too."

"Aren't you curious?"

"What do you mean?"

Suddenly, the boy's face reflected in the mirror seemed as unfamiliar as the symbol of the toilet.

For a moment, I wondered how much I knew Ye Hyunwoo.

I don't know who he really is. Whether he is a man or a woman, how old he is, what he has been doing.

No, maybe all that information is meaningless.

"None of the survivors of 'Theatre Dungeon' saw Kim Dokja go up to the roof."

I recalled one after another the tragedies that took place in the 'Theatre Dungeon'.

I thought of the readers pointing their swords at each other, and the Misreadings Association who killed people without hesitation.

Before entering the 'Theatre Dungeon', I had some trust in the 7th apostle, Ye Hyunwoo.

"Kim Dokja appeared 'suddenly', as if he literally fell from the sky. You know what's even more amazing?"

Then what about now?

Is Ye Hyunwoo still a trustworthy person?

Ye Hyunwoo, lightly wiping off his hands, looked in the mirror and said,

"Even the constellations in the sky don't know exactly what happened on the rooftop."

For a moment, I felt a chill.

How could Ye Hyunwoo, who is just an incarnation, already know the public opinion of the constellations?

"Inho-ssi."

Beyond the mirror, Ye Hyunwoo's eyes were looking at me. At that moment, I felt the presence of several people in the compartment inside the bathroom.

The moment I sang 'Thought' in my head, Ye Hyunwoo asked me.

"Are you 'Kim Dokja' by any chance?"

618 Episode 13 King (2)

"Are you Kim Dokja?"

I repeated Ye Hyunwoo's question in my mind.

Well, it wouldn't have been hard to notice if it was someone as smart as Ye Hyunwoo.

Ye Hyunwoo probably thought the following.

「There is a possibility that another incarnation pretended to be Kim Dokja. In other words, in the same way as Representative Kim Dokja.」

Ye Hyunwoo pointed me out as the culprit.

"I'm not sure what you mean."

I shrugged. Just in case, I was preparing [Incite] at any time, but unexpectedly, Ye Hyunwoo did not use [Lie Detection].

"Is that so."

Rather, he merely nodded his head with a calm face.

At the moment when I was wondering about the laxity that was not like Ye Hyunwoo, I heard a creak from inside the bathroom.

"Look at that, I didn't say that."

With a familiar voice, a man with a smoking pipe appeared. Almost at the same time, the door to the next compartment opened, and the woman with the iron rod also poked her head out.

"It's strange. I said that he was my direct attendant."

I feel like I hear that intuition every time.

"What are you talking about? I'm the one who guessed that the Secretive Plotter is Yoo Joonghyuk from another regression."

"At first, you said it was the Kim Dokja of the future. Do you think I forgot how you subtly changed it?"

The two people conversing were readers who had cleared the theater dungeon with me.

The old man with the smoking pipe and the woman with the iron rod.

According to my memory, the old man with the smoking pipe had read the entire 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 six times, and the woman with the iron rod had read it eight times.

Ye Hyunwoo said with a smile as if he was in trouble.

"I'm sorry. The two said they wanted to see Inho-ssi separately, so the old man with the smoking pipe stepped forward first."

"Nice to meet you. My name is Kim Kyungsik. Do you remember I sent you a message before?"

"I remember, but you spoke differently then."

This old man had sent me a message from the theater dungeon lobby.

Apparently, he had used honorifics at the time.

At my words, Kim Kyungsik scratched the back of his head and added,

"Ah, I’m an old man here, so I’m talking like an old man."

Something doesn't seem normal.

The woman with the iron rod, who pushed Kim Kyungsik aside, also introduced herself.

"I'm Goo Seonah. Of course, it's not my real name, but the name I'm using here."

A simple self-introduction. She was someone who somehow reminded me of Jung Heewon.

"Nice to meet you. I'm Cheon Inho."

"Cheon Inho? Wow, that ruined character has become so strong?"

Ruined character.

Goo Seonah let out a light sigh, and she said.

"As expected, I should have recruited you in the Theater, but it's a pity. You were the only one of us to make it to the rooftop, right?"

"I did, but I didn't catch the boss."

"Who caught the boss? You? The Kim Dokja you said you saw? Or..."

"Well, I passed out right away so I couldn’t see it well."

"Really? You're not lying?"

Perhaps showing signs of being persistent, Ye Hyunwoo intervened with good timing.

"Seonah-ssi, don't make things too difficult for Inho-ssi. He's not the kind of person who would lie."

"Please understand, Inho-ssi. She is just a bit mischievous..."

Goo Seonah frowned and said.

"No, I said I asked something great. It is possible to share information with the same Apostolic Society, right?"

Same apostolic society.

Apparently, these two, like Ye Hyunwoo, were also members of the 'Seven Apostles'.

Anyway, I also suddenly became a member of the apostolic society. At first, I used Dohee's secret phrase to fool Ye Hyunwoo, so now I can't say no.

Ye Hyunwoo sighed lightly and said.

"Sharing information is good, but that's not what brought you all here in advance."

After all, even if they got off the Chungmuro platform, they could say hello as much as they liked.

The reason why this place was created in advance must be that there was another intention.

"Is the next scenario delayed?"

"Eh. That's right."

I thought so.

Ye Hyunwoo looked back at me, Kim Kyungsik, and Goo Seonah and asked.

"Everyone should know the contents of the fourth scenario."

"Isn't it capture the flag?"

If a cataclysm did not occur in the main scenario, the contents of the next scenario were fixed.

'Capture the Flag'.

The prelude to a full-fledged group competition leading to a war to steal each other's stations and flags at each subway station in Seoul.

Ye Hyunwoo opened his mouth again.

"Those who are sitting here now are the strongest readers in the Chungmuro area."

I looked at Kim Kyungsik and Goo Seonah once again.

Both of them were hiding their powers, but at first glance, they seemed to have higher overall abilities than Dansu-ahjussi or Kyung Sein.

Goo Seonah asked.

"There must be some incarnations who are stronger than us, right?"

"As you know, in this world intelligence is also part of combat power."

"Are you looking at the long term?"

"You're right."

Readers right now rather than the characters. Even if they were weak, in the end, they had no choice but to become stronger by overeating their talent.

In addition, they survived until the third scenario and their ability to survive was verified.

Among them, the four with the most powerful abilities.

"Let's choose a representative among us?"

At Goo Seonah’s words, Ye Hyunwoo nodded his head.

"Yes. Exactly."

The reason why they brought up this story in a place where there are no characters.

"I will elect a king."

Ye Hyunwoo was thinking of electing the leader of the readers now.

---

To begin with, we have not been able to reach an amicable agreement. There were many reasons, but Goo Seonah's answer was the most effective.

"You know that when you become a representative, you can force other members, right?"

"I do."

"Even if it's the same Apostolic Society, it's a little uncomfortable to entrust someone else to be the representative. To be honest, we don't know each other well, do we? We're not enemies, but we're not trusting each other and entrusting our lives to each other."

Even if I ask other readers, it seemed that they would give a similar answer as Goo Seonah.

To sum it up, it feels like this.

I want to be the representative.

"We just compete fairly, right? As long as we don’t harm each other, if we become the representative of the role in any way, we should recognize that person…"

Surprisingly, Ye Hyunwoo obediently understood the words, and we descended to the platform in heavy silence.

It's already such a war of nerves. I'm sure the fourth scenario won't be easy.

Around the time I put the platform in front of my eyes, Ye Hyunwoo, who was walking side by side with me, spoke to me in a low voice.

"Inho-ssi."

"Yes."

"You said you weren’t Kim Dokja earlier."

Suddenly, I wanted to say something, but Ye Hyunwoo was smiling incomprehensibly.

"I hope you're not Kim Dokja."

My heart sank coldly.

As expected, Ye Hyunwoo seemed almost convinced that it was me who appeared on the roof.

I replied with a cheeky smile.

"Of course. I'm definitely not Kim Dokja."

Ye Hyunwoo looked at me like that and said.

"You sound like the real Kim Dokja."

"Ah, I’m Cheon Inho. I’m too villainous to be the main character."

"That's right. You have to do that in the future. Otherwise... I'm going to be in trouble too."

Getting into trouble?

I was about to ask what that meant again, but I met eyes with Literature Girl 64, who was carrying the meat from a few steps away.

"Ah."

She looked at me with her characteristic cool gaze, and she asked.

"Are you not hurt?"

LiteraryGirl64.

The reader who read my novel, Lee Hakhyun's short story.

Looking at her with the trace of a sword cut on her cheek from her arduous battle, I felt like I could understand why Han Sooyoung had searched so desperately for Kim Dokja.

If Literature Girl 64 is in danger, I will save her at all costs.

Because she was proof that I once survived as 'Lee Hakhyun'.

"Thanks. How is Killer King?"

"Seeing him talking in his sleep, I think he'll wake up soon. More than that... the atmosphere has changed a bit."

"Yes?"

LiteraryGirl64, who had been looking at my face for a long time, shook her head and passed by.

"Is it an illusion?"

What has changed?

Maybe my face is a little more handsome?

I looked into my face on the subway screen door.

Suddenly, my head throbbed, and strange memories came to my mind.

「When I take selfies in the bathroom sometimes, I don't think I have an ugly face...」

What?

That wasn't the sentence I was thinking of.

I stood blankly in front of the screen door and groped for my face. It was clearly the usual narrow-eyed Cheon Inho.

However… Do I really think he's a little handsome? Is it because of the mood?

"I heard that the scenario will come out soon?"

As I passed by, I heard the voices of the incarnations talking.

"What scenario?"

"They're going to pick a station representative."

Rumors about the scenario seemed to have spread.

[20 minutes left until the start of the main scenario.]

As soon as he returned to Chungmuro Station, Ye Hyunwoo called people to the center of the platform.

About 100 people survived at Chungmuro Station.

I checked the number of 'readers' who had survived by using [List of Reader Comments] on each of them.

A total of twelve readers remained.

The number is much smaller than what we saw in the lobby of the Theater Dungeon.

There was no need to ask what would have happened to readers who were not here.

"Inho-ssi."

Kyung Sein and Dansu-ssi also had sad expressions, probably noticing that fact.

"Do not worry. It will be fine."

What is okay?

If I die here, I will become a Kim Dokja kkoma, so is it okay to be taken to the Bureau by Representative Kim Dokja?

You two will support me no matter what.

I didn't even know what I was talking about, I thought while holding the shoulders of the two of them.

I will definitely protect these people no matter what.

"We will start an emergency meeting from now on."

Ye Hyunwoo immediately proceeded with the story. The content itself was straightforward.

"Until now, everyone had a lot of trouble completing the scenario. In the future, we will enter into a full-fledged collective survival. And for that, it is first necessary to determine the representative of this district."

Ye Hyunwoo, who continued to speak with dazzling eloquence, took a moment to catch his breath, looked around him, and suddenly changed the tone of his voice.

"But before we talk about it in earnest, I have something to confess to you all."

I realized who he was looking at. He was looking at the 'readers'.

[Incarnation 'Ye Hyunwoo' activates 'Lie Detection'.]

"I am an apostle."

Some readers caught their breath at the unexpected declaration.

But most of the incarnations who don't know what apostle means had puzzled faces.

"What?"

"I mean I know the future of this world."

['Lie Detection' confirms that the statement is true.]

The sudden remark made the crowd silent for an instant.

"Uh, what does that mean?"

"Do you know the future?"

Ye Hyunwoo replied.

"Those of you who have been with me since the beginning of the scenarios will know how I did it."

Some incarnations nodded. All of them were members of the building owners association who had been through the Chungmuro Station scenario with Ye Hyunwoo.

"Certainly, Hyunwoo was special. As soon as the scenario started, he also caught bugs."

"That's right. Even in the second scenario, if Hyunwoo wasn't there, everyone would have died. Isn't that right, elder?"

Then Gong Pildu, who was petting Max at the center of the platform, spoke.

"Hyunwoo did a great job. He certainly knows information about the future."

People looked at each other and whispered. How on earth does that boy know the future, what the hell is an apostle, and so on.

It was exactly the confusion Ye Hyunwoo intended.

Ye Hyunwoo gave a calm voice to the people who were embarrassed.

"The reason I know the future is simple. I read the 'Revelation'."

"The Revelation?"

"The Book of Revelation is a book that contains the story of this world."

[Lie Detection confirms that statement is true.]

As if dismissing people's confusion, Ye Hyunwoo went all the way to the heart of the platform.

"I've been thinking for a long time whether or not I should share this information. But I guess I should clarify now."

I noticed Ye Hyunwoo's design.

Now, this world is the 41st turn of 'Ways of Survival'.

This was a completely different world from the 'Omniscient Reader' we know.

The world was twisted because of the readers, and some scenarios were twisted at the cost of the twist.

It was more difficult than the 3rd round.

That's why Ye Hyunwoo thought.

「I can no longer watch innocent people die.」

He decided to recreate the method used by the villains and prophets.

"I will share all the information I know of 'The Book of Revelation' and save all of you. I will definitely protect you no matter what."

[Lie Detection confirms that the statement is true.]

Revealing the existence of the 'Apostles' to the world and informing the world of the existence of the Book of Revelation.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' is shocked by the existence of the Book of Revelation.]

[The constellation 'the two-legged expert' doubts that there really is such a record.]

[The constellation 'Nail-Eating Rat' feels heavy.]

[The constellation 'King Heulmu' makes an interested expression.]

[The constellation 'The Last Hero of Hwangsanbeol' says that something has come.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' informs the Star Stream of this fact.]

[The Bureau begins discussing the Probability Fit Decision.]

With this, the constellations that had lost interest and chattered about now would become interested in the story of this peninsula again.

With this, this world would become a little closer to the 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 we know.

"Let me introduce myself again. My name is Ye Hyunwoo. I am a person who has read the 'Revelation' 50 times and remembers almost everything in the 'Revelation'."

And in this new 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 world, the role Ye Hyunwoo wanted was clear.

[The 'representative election' will begin in one minute.]

Ye Hyunwoo was looking at me from afar.

I hope you are still not Kim Dokja.

Now I understand why he said that.

"I want to be the representative of Chungmuro Station."

Now he is trying to become the Kim Dokja of this world.

619 Episode 13 King (3)

Suddenly, I recalled the day when I boldly started my first web novel.

My first work was 『The Orc Philosopher』.

At the time, editor Ji Eunyu said after reading my novel:

「"Let’s leave aside the fact that the main character is an orc for now."」

Being an orc is a dislike. Check.

「"I'll leave aside being a philosopher."」

Philosophers have problems too. Check.

「"The important thing starts here. The protagonist created by the writer is too inflexible."」

「"He’s not flexible?"」

「"Look at episode 2 here. As soon as he starts, he foolishly deals with a crisis that he can avoid without getting hit in the back of the head."」

I asked again while re-reading the sentence I had written.

「"But all the other novels also started with a blow to the back of the head?"」

「"If you get hit in the back of the head, you have to get up right away. Awaken, regress, or possess! But what if he doesn't do anything? What if he just keeps on despairing? We have to show unconventional development."」

「"This protagonist is a schoolboy. Isn't schooling originally started out of despair?"」

「"And here is episode 6. Same thing. The main character is trying too hard."」

「"It's good to work hard, right?"」

「"If you go this far, there should be a reward."」

「"It's only been 30 years since then..."」

「"The average hero works 30 years and gets something!"」

「"He has come to the realization that there are things that can't be done even after 30 years."」

Ji Eunyu ignored my words and pointed out the next episode.

「"And here, episode 15 is also a problem."」

「"There is a scene in which the main character saves the weak... Can’t this be done?"」

「"It's okay to save the weak, but if you helped the weak, the main character must also be rewarded. The main character also helped because he knew that implicitly. But look! Right now, the author's main character saves the weak, but is only misunderstood and pointed at!"」

I thought for a moment and asked.

「"Does it matter?"」

「"If you help in hopes of getting something in return, you're not really helping, right?"」

Ji Eunyu looked at me curiously, and she replied:

「"But this is the 'normal protagonist's' way."」

「"Shouldn't the main character be normal?"」

「"There was a time when an extraordinary protagonist was the norm. The boys' cartoons of the 90's were like that. A noble and sublime protagonist. Protecting the weak, fighting against villains, deeply despairing, sometimes being captured and losing everything. Look at the other works these days. Are there many protagonists like that?"」

I thought.

Certainly, Ji Eunyu seemed to be right.

「"Times have changed. Even if the genre is a delusion, it is a story that is one step further into the realm of reality."」

Ji Eunyu continued as she looked down at the mixed coffee from the tearoom.

「"Readers now prefer ordinary people to become heroes. Because they can identify with them. A protagonist who carries out their petty daily revenges for them. A protagonist who isn't frustrating, has the right amount of flexibility, and is rewarded for his efforts. A protagonist who knows how to get a proper reward. Most people can't even do that right."」

Now that I think about it, maybe it wasn't just about a novel.

It was because Ji Eunyu's expression, as she said that, looked strangely tired.

「"If you just listen to the story, it seems that you are just a calculating person rather than a main character."」

「"Even if it is calculated, where does anyone do good things? In today's world, that's enough to qualify you as a main character."」

Ji Eunyu's advice, like ready-made mixed coffee, had a sweet but bitter aftertaste.

「"It's the writer's job to make the misunderstood main character look likeable."」

The reason why the conversation at that time came to mind was probably because of the question Ye Hyunwoo received in front of him.

"I know you're talented. But do you really deserve to represent us?"

Ye Hyunwoo answered people's aggressive remarks without losing.

"There is no such thing as qualifications. But if you acknowledge it, a qualification will be created."

Ye Hyunwoo, who said that, was looking at the 'readers'.

He is talking to us - to me now.

He asked to be chosen as the protagonist of this stage.

「Is Ye Hyunwoo qualified to be the main character?」

I recalled the qualifications of the 'main character' listed by Ji Eunyu.

1. Awaken, regress, or possess.

Ye Hyunwoo was possessed.

2. Be flexible.

His flexibility is overwhelming no matter how I look at it.

3. Be prudent.

Ye Hyunwoo did not seem like a person who would make a losing trade.

You can tell just by looking at him that he demanded a 'new age' in exchange for hiding my secret.

4. Move for the weak and get paid.

Ye Hyunwoo definitely moved for the weak.

Even in the 'emergency defense battle', without Ye Hyunwoo, there would surely be a greater loss of life.

Is he all there is? Even Ye Hyunwoo declared in front of everyone that he would protect everyone while using [Lie Detection].

He won't have [Incite] like I do, so the declaration must be genuine.

In return, he became a leading candidate for Chungmuro.

Up to this point, he had satisfied all the conditions of a protagonist these days that Ji Eunyu said.

Besides, there must be a piece of Kim Dokja inside him.

There was no reason why he couldn't become the 'Kim Dokja' of this story.

But why?

A corner of my heart continued to ache.

[The 'representative election' will begin in 30 seconds.]

It was then that Dansu-ahjussi grabbed my collar.

"Inho-ssi, Hyunwoo-ssi can't. That kid is Jiyoon's friend."

Ahjussi's daughter, Jiyoon, was not yet an adult. She's probably a high school student.

If you were a friend of such a child, Ye Hyunwoo would also be a teenager.

Thinking like that made Ye Hyunwoo even more amazing.

A boy in his teens survived this far on his own and was challenging the representative of 'Chungmuro Station'.

However, just because the boy's ability is outstanding, am I willing to entrust the heavy burden to him?

[The Administration Bureau withdraws the probability suitability decision.]

Just in time, the administration also expressed its intention.

[The Administration Bureau determines that there is no major problem with the probability of its existence.]

Suddenly, Kim Dokja's words came to mind.

That age and gender don't matter in this world.

But is it really okay? Is it really okay for this world to be like 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』?

"Don't worry, ahjussi."

I opened my mouth as if reassuring Dansu ahjussi.

"I won't let him do so."

It wasn't because I didn't trust Ye Hyunwoo.

The boy will keep his promises, and he will keep people safe.

The problem was then.

All enemies coming forward will aim for Ye Hyunwoo's life. Just as Kim Dokja in the main story made so many sacrifices.

[The constellation 'Red Mountain Army' is glaring at the incarnation 'Ye Hyunwoo'.]

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Off Its Tail' snorts at 'Ye Hyunwoo's' remarks.]

[Very few constellations think that the incarnation 'Ye Hyunwoo' is arrogant.]

Maybe it had already started.

A group of people who are hostile to Ye Hyunwoo.

Constellations of the Misreading Association and nearby historical-grade constellations were baring their teeth at him.

Ye Hyunwoo's complexion turned slightly pale at the threats coming from everywhere, but he did not back down.

[Incarnation 'Ye Hyunwoo' activates 'Lie Detection'.]

Rather, he took a step further toward the center of Chungmuro Station and made a deal.

"For those who first agree to me becoming the representative, I will give that kind of benefit. And to those who do not agree with me becoming the representative—"

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that the statement is true.]

"There will be absolutely no disadvantages. I will protect everyone here no matter what."

Ye Hyunwoo would know.

If he makes a mistake here, he could die.

He could be hated by the constellations and betrayed by people.

However, Ye Hyunwoo did not give in and took courage.

It is probably because he read Kim Dokja’s story as hard as he did.

[Sub Scenario - 'Representative Election' begins.]

But he still doesn't feel it properly.

This world is no longer the 'Omniscient Reader' he knew.

<Sub Scenario: Election of representatives>

Category: Sub

Difficulty: C

Clear condition: Occupy the 'white flag' installed in the center of the platform.

Time limit: 30 minutes.

Reward: 1,000 coins

Failure: —

* The representative of the station can exercise strong control over all members.

Along with the message, a 'white flag' appeared in the center of Chungmuro Station.

Up to that point, the development was the same as in the main story.

"Hey, it really showed up!"

The problem with the people who were surprised was the message that followed.

[If the flag's owner is not changed 5 minutes after the flag is acquired, Chungmuro Station will come under the control of the flag owner.]

['Capturing the flag' changes the owner and resets the 5 minutes timer.]

['Capturing the flag' is recognized by killing the owner of the flag.]

For a moment, even my heart was thrilled.

A message that was not in the main story was added.

'Capture the flag is recognized by killing the owner of the flag'?

Of course, the location of the flag was right next to Ye Hyunwoo.

Ye Hyunwoo stretched out his trembling hand and said.

"If there is no objection, I will take it."

If you see a message like that, you might be intimidated enough, but Ye Hyunwoo was indeed determined. Probably because he has nowhere to back down.

"If you touch that now, we are enemies now."

As expected, the woman with the iron rod—Goo Seonah, came forward. Next to her was Kim Kyungsik, the old man with the smoking pipe.

"We haven't agreed to you being the representative yet."

They judged in an instant. At this rate, Ye Hyunwoo will become the representative of Chungmuro Station.

I just wanted to block that.

"Others, please say something!"

The people led by Goo Seonah and Kim Kyungsik also helped. Kim Kyungsik, who took a sip of his smoke pipe, opened his mouth.

"I heard your speech. But you left out an important part. That you are not the only one who is an 'apostle'."

Kim Kyungsik's words once again threw the hall into confusion.

"There may be friends I don’t know well yet, but there is not one 'apostle' in this world. Even if a few people like that boy know the future, there are more than a dozen of them. And I am one of them."

[Constellation 'Bald General of Justice' opens his mouth.]

[Constellation 'Heungmu the Great' asks if that is really possible.]

Kim Kyungsik continued to speak without missing the timing when the incarnations were agitated.

"I know that Ye Hyunwoo has excellent qualities. But you are especially young among us. How can you become the representative of a group with a short social experience?"

For the first time, Ye Hyunwoo made an angry face when he talked about his age.

"Elderly people, I don’t think the original age is too much."

"Hum. What are you talking about? I'm on the younger side of my mental age, but I'm older than you."

"There's no law that says you're wiser just because you're older. And the important skill in this world is how well you can remember and use 'Revelation'."

"I also read Revelation six times—"

"Only six times."

Kim Kyungsik's face turned red.

"I've read it fifty times."

To that number once again, some readers exclaimed.

Certainly, fifty is an insane number.

You could say it's crazy to read a single novel 50 times, but it's a novel that reaches 551 chapters in its entirety.

"Wait, if it's the order of reading a lot..."

It was then that the reaction of readers became strange. A few people's eyes moved slowly towards us.

Something came to mind later.

Come to think of it, among them, there were those who saw the confrontation between the uploaders of the Misreading Association and me from the 'theater dungeon'.

Kyung Sein, seizing the opportunity, raised her hand.

"Hey, if the number of times you read the Book of Revelation is the condition for being a representative, then I have something to say."

"Kyung Sein, you are not on the level to be here."

In response to Ye Hyunwoo's unusually cold voice, Kyung Sein nodded and replied.

"Yes. But that's not what I'm talking about."

"So?"

Kyung Sein hesitated and continued talking.

"As far as I know, there are people here who have read the book of Revelation over a hundred times."

"What nonsense are you talking about?"

Ye Hyunwoo had a strangely angry tone.

Well, according to the information obtained so far, for the apostles, the number of complete readings was their pride.

Perhaps the standard for ranking the 7 apostles is the number of times the story has been read.

"I've read the book of Revelation 50 times. People who have read more than me are—"

"There are a few, you know."

Officially, the 7th Apostle, Ye Hyunwoo, is a first-class member of the Apostolic Society.

It meant that there were six people who had read all the novel more than him.

"There is, but not here."

Among them, only the 2nd Apostle Killer King is at Chungmuro Station now.

However, Killer King is in a state of rest after eating the 'The Spirit of Elaine Forest'.

"But there is one person here."

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that the statement is true.]

"Who the hell?"

Then, Kyung Sein took a fancy pose and pointed at me with both hands.

Suddenly receiving everyone's attention, I lightly bowed to those around us with an awkward smile on my face.

Ye Hyunwoo looked at me in disbelief.

"Inho-ssi."

"Yes."

"Is that statement true?"

There's no need to lie here.

I nodded.

"Please answer honestly. Inho-ssi, how many times have you read the 'Revelation'?"

[Incarnation 'Ye Hyunwoo' is activating 'Lie Detection'.]

"That’s a hundred times—"

At my words, Ye Hyunwoo laughed.

"You must be kidding. No matter how much you read, I can’t believe that much..."

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that the statement is false.]

Ye Hyunwoo looked at me as if to see that.

I continued, trailing off.

"More than a hundred times. One hundred and ten times? One hundred and twenty? To be honest, I’m not sure because I didn’t count."

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that the statement is true.]

Ye Hyunwoo’s expression hardened.

A heavy silence swept through Chungmuro.

He was silent, partly because he did not understand what I meant, and partly because he understood what I meant.

The first to speak was the group in the back.

"That rumor... was it true?"

"Is there really a madman who has read it over a hundred times?"

Several readers who already knew the number of times I had read the book trembled, and Goo Seonah and Kim Kyungsik also shook their heads.

"He's not Kim Dokja, but I'm sure he's just as insane as Kim Dokja."

"It's a strange number of times to hear it again. But did Kim Dokja read 'Ways of Survival' that many times?"

Ye Hyunwoo, who had maintained his composure from beginning to end, could not hide his agitation this time.

He opened his mouth in a trembling voice.

"There is only one person in this world who has officially read the Book of Revelation more than a hundred times. Inho-ssi, maybe you..."

For the first time, faint agitation was shown in Ye Hyunwoo's eyes.

"The head of the Apostolic Society... Are you the 'First Apostle'?"

It seems that this is the start of an unwanted illusion.

620 Episode 13 King (4)

"Inho-ssi, please tell me. Are you the 'First Apostle'?"

There were a total of two of the 'Seven Apostles' that I had seen so far.

The 2nd Apostle Killer King who finished reading ORV 100 times.

The 7th Ye Hyunwoo who finished reading it 50 times.

Killer King showed tremendous growth along with his sister, Literature Girl 64, and signed a contract with the Archangel 'Jophiel', while Ye Hyunwoo quickly conquered Chungmuro Station by utilizing Gong Pildu.

If these two were already at this level, what kind of person was the First Apostle?

Looking at the expressions of Ye Hyunwoo and the other apostles, they seemed to have no idea who the 'First Apostle' was.

The person who had read the novel at least a hundred times and created the community known as the '7 Apostles'.

Who has been reading this story with readers from places I don't know.

At first glance, someone's face came to mind, but I shook my head.

No way. No, that person.

How did they accept my silence? The apostles who exchanged glances in the meantime began to express their own opinions.

It was Ye Hyunwoo who lit the fire first.

"Even if... even if you say you are the 'First Apostle', I can’t give in this time. In the first place, the Apostolic Society is not a ranking system."

Goo Seonah frowned and said.

"Hey, didn't you say earlier that we should decide the representative based on the number of readings?"

"I didn't say that."

"Huh? Stop. As soon as you hold the flag, we will attack."

Goo Seonah, holding her iron rod, and Kim Kyungsik, holding his smoking pipe, approached the flag.

A distance that everyone can reach in one step if they set their minds to it.

In the fiercely heated atmosphere, Ye Hyunwoo sighed.

"In the end, let's decide by force."

The atmosphere was on the verge of an immediate battle.

But why?

Even in the suffocating confrontation at the risk of each other's lives, Ye Hyunwoo, Goo Seonah, and Kim Kyungsik seemed strangely excited.

It wasn't just them.

Kyung Sein and other readers were also making the same faces.

It wasn't hard to figure out why.

[Many constellations are looking forward to a bloody battle in Chungmuro Station!]

[Some constellations start betting coins!]

[A very small number of constellations declare that they will sponsor 1,000 coins to incarnations who refrain from serving as Chungmuro's representative.]

It was because the constellations began to take an interest in this place.

So far, the constellations had not properly understood the story of Chungmuro Station.

An important theater dungeon: the relay of the battle was canceled due to a 'probability aftermath', and as readers talked about information related to 'Omniscient Reader' without even trying, all the constellations had to listen to the conversation intertwined with filtering.

The constellations must have been similar, as few readers would be interested in a story they couldn't quite understand.

"It was like that a little while ago."

Now readers were fighting with each other, but at the same time they were collaborating.

With the word 'Revelation' as the cornerstone, the readers visualized the fight in this world in earnest.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' says that he finally understands what they're talking about.]

[The constellation 'Great King Heungmu' wonders where 'The Book of Revelation' came from.]

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says he has a clue.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' says to talk.]

To create a narrative for the constellations, using as much unfiltered terms as possible.

Claiming to be an apostle, making his existence known to the world, and arousing the interest of the Star Stream.

[A very small number of constellations announce the outbreak of the 'Apostle War'.]

At the center of this edition, created by the power of pure readers, even I was a little thrilled.

「This was a story they hadn't read yet.」

A new stage of the original work, created by readers, but everyone here knew this was a play, but in the end, everything on the stage becomes reality.

"Inho-ssi."

I nodded at the voice of Dansu ahjussi.

"I know."

If this is the case, people will die.

Goo Seonah's iron rod appeared, and white smoke rose from Kim Kyungsik's smoking pipe.

Ye Hyunwoo, whose expression hardened, slowly raised his right hand.

It wasn't just them.

Other incarnations were also stealthily reaching for weapons.

[Some constellations avow the danger of 'apostles'.]

[A handful of constellations watch the bloody battle in Chungmuro Station.]

[A very small number of constellations want them to destroy themselves by fighting each other.]

The stars watching this story now wished for their destruction.

Just as readers once watched these stories, so now the constellations watch their stories.

Still, I wasn't worried.

Because there was something to believe.

"All ready for battle."

With Goo Seonah's declaration, nearby incarnations grabbed their weapons at once.

An imminent situation in which a battle seems to be about to break out at any moment.

A roar erupted from one corner of the station, accompanied by the sound of something exploding.

「He’s here.」

I thought he would come by now.

There's no way he, not another guy, will ignore this important scenario.

"Everyone back off!"

The moment Gong Pildu, surprised, jumped up from his seat, a man in a black coat appeared.

I smiled and looked at the owner of that coat. However.

"How dare you choose the 'representative'?"

There was something strange about the way he spoke.

"It's because you didn't invite Killer King to a place like this."

A sloppy black coat blew in the wind.

Judging by his energetic expression, it seemed that the wounds he had sustained in the Theater Dungeon had completely recovered.

Kyung Sein, who was very excited about the appearance of the new face, whispered.

"Inho-ssi, were you waiting for the 2nd apostle?"

I shook my head.

Killer King ambled through the crowd, then slowed briefly as he passed me.

"Thanks to you, I lived. I will pay off the debt."

Killer King lightly put his hand on my shoulder. At first glance, you'd think it was the real Yoo Joonghyuk.

Behind Killer King, I could see Literature Girl 64 sighing while holding her forehead.

Literature Girl 64, who found me, asked.

"Are you okay?"

"That's what I want to ask."

"It's okay if it's my brother."

Killer King is strong.

But no matter how strong Killer King is, will he be able to deal with Ye Hyunwoo, who has joined Gong Pildu?

"Shut up, Killer King."

Ye Hyunwoo warned Killer King, who was approaching without hesitation.

"What if I don't like it?"

"I'll shoot."

"Then shoot."

Killer King smiled and added.

"You were talking about the number of readings before, but try talking again."

Ye Hyunwoo bit his lip at Killer King's provocation.

If you think about it, Ye Hyunwoo felt like he was holding Killer King in check from the first time he met him.

"You don't deserve to be here. You only played solo from the beginning. A guy who has never saved a person will shamelessly represent us?"

"I also saved people. Do you think it would have been possible to clear the scenario if I hadn't gone up to the Theater Dungeon?"

"It's not like you cleared it."

"Thanks to me, one guy went up to the roof, so it's the same as if I cleared it."

"What nonsense—"

"If I can't do it, then you and the other apostles are not qualified. And Chungmuro Station should have a fixed owner, so why are you greedy?"

The original owner of Chungmuro Station.

Needless to say, he was referring to 'Kim Dokja'.

Ye Hyunwoo shook his head and said.

"There is no Kim Dokja here. I heard that he was found on the roof, so I searched for him, but I couldn't find him no matter how much I searched. Now, one of us has to become 'representative'."

"There is no Kim Dokja..."

Killer King looked at me for a moment and then turned his head.

"Then I guess I should be the representative."

"Ahjussi, Armed Zone!"

[Incarnation 'Gong Pildu's' 'Armed Zone Lv. 6' is activated!]

Gong Pildu's stigma [Armed Zone] does not activate without [Private Land].

In other words, in preparation for this battle, Ye Hyunwoo said that he had made the area into a [Private Land] in advance.

Killer King laughed coldly.

"Hyunwoo-yah, can you handle it?"

Unusual magic flowed from Killer King's body. Just by checking the amount of magic power, I was able to detect a change in Killer King.

He’s got a chance.

On the 4th floor of the 'Theater Dungeon', Killer King fought against the 6th grade Earth Dragon on behalf of me and Literature Girl 64.

When we found the stunned Killer King again, it was after the monster that was attacking him had disappeared somewhere.

It was unknown whether Killer King had defeated the Earth Dragon or not. What is certain, however, is that he has grown even further there.

A red aura rose from Killer King's body, which was blessed by Jophiel.

"They don't really look at you. You know it's different from fighting over comments, right?"

Without being weighed down in the slightest by Killer King, Ye Hyunwoo stood next to Gong Pildu. [Mini Turrets] rose all at once and aimed at Killer King's body.

"This is what I'm talking about."

It was a battle that could not be easily predicted. The combination of Ye Hyunwoo and Gong Pildu's turrets, an almost invincible synergy in the beginning of the scenarios.

And Killer King too. The incarnation of 'Jophiel', a legendary warrior.

I called out to Literature Girl 64.

"Yerin."

"Yes."

"What do you think?"

Even though it was a question without an object, Literature Girl 64 answered right away.

"My brother is strong."

The same answer as always.

But that wasn't all of the answer.

"But you are a strong man by yourself."

I too had the same thought.

No matter how you look at it, Killer King didn't jump there because he wanted to be a real representative.

He just wants to stop the 'Apostles' from going to war.

And he is, foolishly, a man who does not know how to deal with anything other than that.

"Could you help me?"

"How?"

"It will just take a little bit of time."

I have no intention of killing anyone here.

I quickly explained the strategy to Literature Girl 64.

"I'll give you 5 trillion. Go away."

With Ye Hyunwoo's warning, Gong Pildu's [mini turret] started loading.

"Everybody get out of the way! Attack before the load runs out!"

Goo Seonah and Kim Kyungsik ran toward the flag.

The moment when Killer King—who had given a rough blow—joined the front line, Literature Girl 64 knocked down Killer King from behind and fell to the floor.

"Go."

I nodded and ran straight to the flag.

After Killer King was taken away, there was no one with higher agility than me right now. Goo Seonah, who spotted me, opened her eyes wide.

"What—"

I used [Incite] to activate 'Thoughts of Almost Everything'.

Goo Seonah screamed and fell over at the quick strike of the thoughts.

"Sein-ssi."

At about the same time, I threw the shield on my back to Kyung Sein.

"This, this?"

It was the 'Shield of Hercules', although it is a replica.

Kyung Sein, who brightened, immediately put on the shield and followed me.

[The special skill 'wide area defense' is activated!]

Soon after, a translucent barrier spread around the shield.

The incarnations that rushed in were blocked by the barrier and screamed.

"What, what!"

Dansu ahjussi didn't stand still either. The cockroaches that had been wandering around the station in Chungmuro began to scatter and disturb the vision of the incarnations.

"Waaaagh! What!"

In an instant, the whole area became a mess, and Ye Hyunwoo and the other apostles were greatly embarrassed.

"Inho-ssi, I must have warned you."

Ye Hyunwoo's cold eyes were looking at me.

"Shoot at him. Don't let him get close to the flag."

As if he had made up his mind, Gong Pildu's [mini turret] opened fire on us.

With each hit, the translucent barrier began to crack.

Kyung Sein became contemplative and shouted.

"Inho-ssi! It's breaking!"

I could have died here if I hadn't scanned the shield beforehand.

I used [Incite] to transform the shape of [Thoughts of Almost Everything] into [Shield of Hercules].

[The special skill 'wide area defense' is activated!]

Despite activating two layers of wide-area defenses, the firepower of the [Mini Turret] was formidable.

As soon as the first barrier collapsed, Kyung Sein looked back at me.

"Inho-ssi! Hurry up!"

The second barrier also began to crack.

I glanced around to see the white flag blowing in the wind.

A distance that can be reached with just a hand.

If I hold this flag and hold on for five minutes, Chungmuro Station will be mine.

Perhaps, Kim Dokja would have done that.

「I must not hold this flag.」

But why? I kept thinking like that.

「That's not the 'correct development' of this story.」

It was at that time that whitish tobacco smoke flowed in through the cracked defenses. In an instant, the smoke took on a human form and reached out toward the flag.

The old man with the smoking pipe, Kim Kyungsik.

"Sorry, but I'll take this."

I never thought he had the [Smoke Human] skill.

The moment Kim Kyungsik's hand almost touched the flag, one side of the defense wall broke and someone burst in.

"Hey!"

Kim Kyungsik, whose stomach was kicked, rolled on the floor helplessly. He didn't even have time to recover, and the wind blew his hair back as he was swept away by a blast.

"Heewon-ssi."

"I'm late. I'm sorry."

It seemed that the wounds of the Theater Dungeon had not yet healed, and Jung Heewon's complexion was not good. However, I had to borrow the hand of the wounded now.

"Please."

"Leave this to me."

Jung Heewon blocked the gap, and Dansu ahjussi, who approached us with his mouth closed, also helped her.

Me, Jung Heewon, Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi.

The four of us each stood guarding the north, south, east and west sides of the white flag.

Kyung Sein asked in a nervous voice.

"Inho-ssi, didn’t you want to have the flag?"

"No. If we take this, it will become a real war."

Ye Hyunwoo was shooting cannonballs, and the apostles were also wielding weapons, but they weren't serious yet.

Because we haven't gotten our hands on the 'white flag' yet.

But if you hold the flag, the 5 minutes timer runs from then on.

Goo Seonah and Kim Kyungsik, who have been watching all the time, will also attack with all their might.

Ye Hyunwoo and Gong Pildu will also pour more powerful shells.

'No matter how strong we are, we can’t deal with the entire Chungmuro Station with just four people.'

"Inho-ssi, I can’t—"

In the end, Kyung Sein, who was in charge of the main course, also reached her limit. A shell that flew through a gap in the defense wall hit Kyung Sein's shield directly. With a loud sound, Kyung Sein's knee broke.

I supported her and bit my lip.

It’s about time.

With this level of commotion, no matter where he is in Chungmuro Station, there's no way he hasn't heard it.

So-so-so-so!

Finally, the wide-area defenses collapsed and shells started pouring in.

The moment Kyung Sein screamed and raised her shield, a thick, dark shadow blocked their path.

Tuquaang!

A man, who seemed to be two or three times as big as her, stood in front of her, blocking the shells.

"Are you okay?"

A strong and honest voice.

Among the readers here, there was no one who did not know his name. Because he was a member of Kim Dokja's company, and he was the shield Kim Dokja trusted more than anyone else.

"Do not worry. You're safe now."

Steel Sword Emperor Lee Hyunsung looked back at us with a smile.

And that wasn't all.

"Mister. Don't overdo it."

Maritime Admiral Lee Jihye.

Next, standing next to Jung Heewon was a man with white hair.

"There, woman. You look strong, shall we fight later?"

Delusion Demon Kim Namwoon.

Ye Hyunwoo, who was surprised by the sudden appearance of the trio, also stopped shooting.

"What…"

And somewhere I heard footsteps.

The only one person in this world.

For a moment, I felt like I could understand Kim Dokja's feelings. The reason Kim Dokja had no choice but to overcome his life by repeating his name at every juncture in his life.

「There is an incarnation that can fight the entire 'Chungmuro Station'.」

In the distance, the group of avatars could be seen parting.

They weren't really overpowered, but people ran away or collapsed in their seats like gazelles encountering a beast.

It had to be.

The feeling that flowed from the body of the approaching man was simply because the strength was different.

「"The protagonist created by the author is too inflexible."」

Perhaps Ji Eunyu was right.

Clearly, such characters are not popular.

It's so unpopular that only one person in the world has read the whole story about him.

Look at him.

[A constellation that has not yet revealed their modifier is watching your story.]

Maybe, he is still reading it.

「A man who foolishly copes with avoidable crises.」

「A man who is constantly in despair.」

「A man who has rolled through decades to arrive at an answer that it is 'impossible'.」

The character I wanted to write so much was probably already in this world. After going through hundreds of betrayals, despair, and realizations; the reason Ye Hyunwoo, who satisfied all the conditions of being a protagonist, could not become the protagonist was simple.

「This is because a 'protagonist' already exists in this story.」

He walked silently through Chungmuro Station, where silence fell.

Ye Hyunwoo, Goo Seonah, Kim Kyungsik, and even Killer King held their breath and stiffened.

Jung Heewon was the only one who glared at him with her head held high.

I didn't move, holding onto her collar tightly just in case.

While no one dared to open their mouth, Yoo Joonghyuk passed me leisurely through the forked road.

Standing quietly in front of the flag as if reaching his throne, Yoo Joonghyuk looked down at the flag for a long time with his hands in his pockets.

At that moment, everyone in the station realized. If someone had held that flag, they would have been decapitated by Yoo Joonghyuk’s great spear here.

Looking at the 'white flag' that no one was taking, Yoo Joonghyuk's bright eyes slowly turned to me.

"This is mine."

It was the main character's words.

621 Episode 13 King (5)

No one dared to object to Yoo Joonghyuk’s declaration.

That was only natural; the moment they raised an objection, they would find their necks on the line.

Both incarnations who knew Yoo Joonghyuk and incarnations who did not knew him could only accept it.

With this, the owner of Chungmuro Station was decided.

Some incarnations trembled, and I saw readers making complicated expressions.

A few frightened people whispered.

"Is this okay?"

"But if it's Yoo Joonghyuk..."

"It's a problem because it's that Yoo Joonghyuk."

I seemed to know what they were thinking.

—Were you aiming for this from the beginning?

Ye Hyunwoo was glaring at me from a distance of ten steps away.

Instead of making a fuss, I spoke to the crowd.

"A new representative has been elected. Let's all celebrate."

Clap clap clap.

As my shameless applause echoed through the station, everyone looked at me as if I were a madman.

I looked around.

Goo Seonah and Kim Kyungsik also glared at me.

Everyone wondered why I didn't take the 'white flag' and waited until Yoo Joonghyuk came.

It was written all over their faces.

「At this point, Yoo Joonghyuk is the most suitable representative for Chungmuro Station.」

I calmly endured the gaze of the readers and kept the future of Chungmuro Station in my head.

「If Yoo Joonghyuk becomes the representative, it is not impossible for him to bring Chungmuro's readers together.」

Yoo Joonghyuk is the main character of 'Ways of Survival' and currently the strongest incarnation.

If Yoo Joonghyuk was the representative and no one else, readers would not be able to vote against it.

「This was the 'Chungmuro Consolidation Operation' planned by Lee Hakhyun.」

What is my role there?

"Come on, take the flag."

What is it?

"Everyone is waiting."

I could see some readers frowning at my brash tone.

But I can't help it. Right now this is the best choice.

Didn't I tell you?

Originally, my first survival plan was to stick close to Yoo Joonghyuk and then transfer to Kim Dokja.

I didn't think it would happen like this...

"My mind has changed."

It was then that Yoo Joonghyuk said something strange.

"Yes?"

Yoo Joonghyuk, who was looking at me blankly, instead of holding the white flag, pushed it over with his foot.

The flag rolled right to my feet. Yoo Joonghyuk, who looked down at the flag for a moment, said to me:

"Take it."

---

"Inho-ssi. What happened?"

Things got weird. For the confused readers, here's a summary of the situation in Kyung Sein's version:

1. The main character Yoo Joonghyuk appears cool and claims that the flag is his. (possible)

2. The main character, Yoo Joonghyuk, looks around the station with a look of agony. (can be)

3. The main character Yoo Joonghyuk passes the flag to the suspicious Cheon Inho (???) ⋘ New!

Jung Heewon asked curiously.

"Did you give that person money?"

"He’s not the type to do this for money."

Yoo Joonghyuk walked away, stepping on the flag he had knocked over, and sat on a bench far away, staring at me.

It seemed like he would wait and see what choice I would make.

[The constellation 'Cavalier Commander' admires incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk's' spirit!]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' asks what the hell incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk' is doing.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' purses his lips while looking at incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' asks what the hell is going on.]

I wanted to ask too.

Why did this happen?

"But touching it with your feet doesn't seem to qualify for ownership. Shall I touch it for a bit?"

"Sein is also right. Then, what are you going to do when you become a representative?"

"Hehe."

While Kyung Sein and Dansoo ahjussi were hanging out across the flag, I looked down at the fallen flag and lost myself in thought.

「If it were the Yoo Joonghyuk I knew, he would never leave the flag to someone else.」

The moment a 'flag' is owned, everyone in the station becomes a group member of the flag's owner.

Nevertheless, instead of taking the flag himself, Yoo Joonghyuk handed it over to me.

Why?

There are two hypotheses.

One hypothesis: Yoo Joonghyuk has regressed.

The guy suffering from regression depression has gone mad, so he surrendered the flag to me and made a showdown to come in as my roommate.

No matter how much I thought about it, I couldn't afford it.

Just looking at those splendid eyes, he is extremely sane.

Hypothesis 2: He noticed that I was using him for the apostles' fight.

But even if he found out about it, there was no reason for Yoo Joonghyuk to hand over the flag to me.

In the first place, if it's Yoo Joonghyuk's personality, it's not even a matter of caring about one or two apostles.

Seeing that I was being watched by an obsessive guy, I suddenly remembered what had happened in the theater dungeon.

「"You are Yoo Joonghyuk."」

Wait a minute, maybe?

The third hypothesis, 'Yoo Joonghyuk who repaid the favor', appeared.

I assisted Yoo Joonghyuk in the 'theater dungeon'.

My [Incite] woke up Yoo Joonghyuk, who fell into 'regressive depression', and Yoo Joonghyuk took the opportunity to defeat the boss of the theater dungeon (it can be said that it is entirely thanks to me).

So, is this also the third hypothesis?

But, is 'Yoo Joonghyuk' who repaid the favor a story that exists in this world?

If it was possible, I wanted to go to the snowfield and ask Kim Dokja.

"Excuse me."

"What are you going to do?"

The incarnations cautiously raised their hands and asked me.

I haven't officially taken the flag yet.

Ye Hyunwoo, Goo Seonah, Kim Kyungsik, and even Killer King and LiteraryGirl64.

Suddenly, all the incarnations of Chungmuro Station were looking at me.

「Yoo Joonghyuk entrusted the disposal of this flag to me.」

I don't know why he gave me this flag.

However, it was me from now on who decided who owned this flag.

---

[The representative of Chungmuro Station has been elected.]

Just as if the fight over the representative seat was a lie just a little while ago, the incarnations cooperated with each other to help fix the broken station.

"We have to use this place as a base for the time being. Seonah noona, please secure food for the people to eat. Kyungsik ssi will ask you to form a detached unit to scout nearby stations. Representatives for other stations will have been elected by now. There may be people from the Misreading Association."

“Leave it to me."

People moved in perfect order according to Ye Hyunwoo's words.

"And....."

Ye Hyunwoo, who met my eyes from afar, lowered his head subtly. It was still awkward.

Someone beside me spoke up.

"You really are a weirdo."

When he turned his head, he saw Gong Pildu with a disapproving face.

He was petting Max, a short-haired pup, and watching Ye Hyunwoo as he moved supplies.

"You could have been the representative. Hyunwoo wouldn't have had any complaints either."

"It's really annoying to do so."

"Why?"

Most of the incarnations here were members of the building owners association who had solved the scenario together with Ye Hyunwoo.

If I had been the representative, they would have complied reluctantly, but they would not have expressed their allegiance to me from the bottom of their hearts.

In fact, even when 'Kim Dokja' took over Chungmuro Station, there were some breakaways from this group.

And.

"Above all, they look very good together."

[Currently, the representative of 'Chungmuro Station' is incarnation 'Gong Pildu'.]

One of the Ten Evils, Armed Fortress Master Gong Pildu.

He is the backbone of Chungmuro Station and an incarnation with the power and personal connections to lead this station without being a 'reader'.

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' is disappointed with your protective behavior.]

[The constellation 'Heungmu the Great' asks if they're not fighting then.]

Several Constellations expressed dissatisfaction with my decision. I understand them.

Still, it wasn't a losing business from my point of view.

[The constellation who has not yet revealed their modifier is interested in your choice.]

[The constellation 'Flying Dragon' praises your judgment.]

[The constellations of absolute good admire your wisdom.]

[The constellation 'Master of Defense' supports your judgment.]

[2,000 coins have been sponsored.]

I continued stroking Max, who was rubbing against my calf.

"I gave it to him because Pildu agreed to my terms."

[You are not subject to Chungmuro Station.]

[Currently, you are not affiliated with 'Chungmuro Station'.]

The contents of the contract between me and Gong Pildu were simple.

I, the apostles, and those who refuse to be ruled by the representative are to not be placed under the control of Chungmuro Station and not forced to act.

Form a temporary alliance with me, but do not have enmity with our party until the end of the scenario.

Pledged all these issues with the 'Oath of Existence'.

[The 'Oath of Existence' has been activated.]

The Oath of Existence. An oath of an incarnation whose heart is burned with blue magic when the specified conditions are violated.

Readers who watched from afar were exchanging opinions.

"Seonah, are you really going to stay here?"

"What?"

"As long as the representative has no compulsory power, there is no rule that we cannot be together."

"Yeah, then I'll be in Chungmuro too."

What the apostles are afraid of now is that one representative wields 'unlimited power'. If that was the solution, there was nothing they couldn't cooperate with.

The reason readers couldn't come up with this simple answer was probably because they couldn't afford it.

Because they had been reading this story alone a while ago.

But the readers I knew were never the ones who read stories alone.

> strawberry1137: Didn’t I tell you before? Secretive Plotter is the protagonist! It's Yoo Joonghyuk from another world line! I thought so!
>
> barampoong: You said it was Kim Dokja before?
>
> killer_king: I'm Yoo Joonghyuk.
>
> Princemaker77: He always makes the same comments.

Reading the comments written by readers, I briefly reminisced about the old days.

"Please. Just like you protected Hyunwoo, please protect those people."

"I didn't protect Hyunwoo. Hyunwoo protected me. I'm just paying off the debt."

I already knew that Gong Pildu had a special regard for Ye Hyunwoo.

Because I knew that, I entrusted Gong Pildu with the burden of being the representative.

「This Gong Pildu was different from the Gong Pildu I used to know.」

I don't know what Ye Hyunwoo did to change Gong Pildu like that.

Did the setting value of 'goose father' evolve, or was he originally this kind of person but he didn't have any luck in the main story?

Either way, it was great.

In a sense, Ye Hyunwoo had accomplished something that no one else had ever done before.

"Are you leaving? You'd be safer here too."

Surely I'll be safe here for a while.

But.

"Yes."

There is one thing I realized after meeting Han Sooyoung in the theater dungeon.

To reach the end of the scenario in this 41st turn, it is not possible with ordinary determination.

If I just follow the path Kim Dokja walked, I will never survive when I meet her again.

"I must become strong. Perhaps, even more so than Kim Dokja from the 3rd turn."

"Tell me if you need help."

"I hope that never happens."

I saw Yoo Joonghyuk, who was sitting on the bench, get up from his seat.

It was time for him to leave.

---

I packed up with Jung Heewon, Dansoo ahjussi, and Kyung Sein and got ready to leave Chungmuro.

Some people came out to see us off. Among them, there was also LiteraryGirl64.

"What about Killer King?"

"He's in shock and won't get up."

"In shock? Why?"

"He’s looking up at the ceiling and muttering 'I was a fake'."

I seemed to know roughly what state he was in.

"Please comfort him."

LiteraryGirl64 nodded her head.

"We can meet again."

"Sure."

"We’ll talk a lot about novels again."

Lastly, I also exchanged greetings with Ye Hyunwoo. Seeing as he was still hesitant, I felt awkward.

There are people of that kind in the world. A person who commits more sorry things because he can't stand being sorry.

"If you're going to apologize, this is your last chance."

Fortunately, Ye Hyunwoo was still a boy, and he was not old enough to be reprimanded for not being familiar with various kinds of social etiquette.

"If you get hit by a shell, you usually die."

Ye Hyunwoo, his face reddened, lowered his head with his eyes wide open.

"Sorry. Sorry, Inho-ssi... I didn't mean to kill Inho-ssi. I couldn't think of a better way..."

I looked at Ye Hyunwoo for a while, then took out one of my items from my arms and set it down on the floor.

['Miniaturization' is deactivated.]

As the manuscript, which had grown in an instant, revealed its true form, Ye Hyunwoo's complexion changed.

"This is..."

"This is the 'new manuscript' you asked for back then."

Ye Hyunwoo opened his mouth as he inspected it.

"Really, really."

Judging by the twinkling of his eyes, Ye Hyunwoo is also a reader.

"But why give me this?"

I answered in a confident voice toward Ye Hyunwoo, who bowed his head.

"You did it to save people."

"Oh, no. I... I just—"

"Did you want to become Kim Dokja?"

Ye Hyunwoo's eyes suddenly turned round as he raised his head.

The expression of 'how did you know' was on his face.

I had no choice but to know.

['Readers' Comments List' is activated.]

> I don't know if the author will see it. I'll try it once though. There is a spell that I sometimes memorize when I am having a hard time. "I am Kim Dokja." But my friend said I look more like an octopus than a squid. I just wanted to say thank you. In a few days, I'll come back for a regular drive.
>

> (Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, chapter 551)

I just couldn't help but know from the moment I saw it for the first time.

So I wanted to tell him.

"Hyunwoo-ssi is not Kim Dokja. He is strong enough and cool enough without being Kim Dokja."

Not everyone has to be unhappy.

This world is a story created by just one person's misfortune, not a story written for everyone to be unhappy.

"Don't become Kim Dokja. Don't sacrifice yourself for someone. Survive no matter what. By all means."

Sacrifice is not the only way to save someone.

Just a single word can save a person from the danger of death.

The readers have taught me this.

So now, this may be the author Lee Hakhyun's old reply to those days.

"But I also memorize that spell sometimes."

"Yes?"

"I am Kim Dokja. I don’t really want to become Kim Dokja, but when I say that, the things surrounding me just feel like a story."

I lightly patted Ye Hyunwoo on the shoulder, who had blank eyes, and turned away.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' nods.]

I saw a group of people waiting for me from afar.

A step later, I heard Ye Hyunwoo's voice calling me.

"Wait! Inho-ssi! You are -"

I am not Kim Dokja.

I know, the readers know, and Yoo Joonghyuk, who is walking ahead of me, knows.

Staring at the protagonist's handsome back of the head, I thought of my old readers.

[The fourth main scenario is in progress.]

[You are currently not affiliated with any station.]

Chungmuro, a solid castle built by Ye Hyunwoo and readers.

I thought of the high fortresses they had built and the empty thrones for the vanished kings.

There will be no king in Chungmuro now.

Strangely, though, I still had the feeling that someone in a white coat was sitting there.

[You have become a 'Wanderer'.]

[A hidden scenario has begun.]

622 Episode 14 Hunting (1)

---

Yoo Joonghyuk strode ahead without hesitation. He didn't say where he was going.

Lee Hyunsung, Kim Namwoon, and Lee Jihye followed close behind, a step or two behind him.

We kept a certain distance and pursued Yoo Joonghyuk and his party.

How much time did we spend like that?

Kyung Sein, who was walking beside me, quietly raised a worried voice.

"Can we keep following him?"

"He didn't tell us to follow him. Instead of belonging to 'Chungmuro Station', we chose to become 'Wanderers'."

It was a risky decision, so before making this choice, I sought the opinions of Kyung Sein, Dansoo ahjussi, and Jung Heewon in advance.

—Chungmuro should be safe right now, but I think Inho-ssi will be the one who will save me when I am really in danger.

Kyung Sein.

—Can I go and look for Jiyoon?

Dansoo ahjussi.

—I think you'll die somewhere if left alone.

Lastly, Jung Heewon.

At this point, I thought that we might have been together in our previous lives.

"Thank you for the new sword, Inho-ssi. I'm sorry for the late thanks."

"Do you like it?"

Jung Heewon swung Mikazuki Munechika into the air.

"Very."

Even so, she did not take her eyes off the back of Yoo Joonghyuk's head.

Only Jung Heewon could still burn with fighting spirit even after witnessing Yoo Joonghyuk's power.

Excluding special cases like regressors or reincarnated people, the strongest among the ordinary people is probably Jung Heewon.

Right after leaving Chungmuro Station and coming completely to the surface, Yoo Joonghyuk stopped his steps.

He looked around the ruined city with cold eyes and brought his party to a halt.

"Wait."

Yoo Joonghyuk, who stuck his great spear into the ground, looked back and forth between the western and northern streets in contemplation.

West and north from this point.

Something vaguely came to mind, but there was not enough information to confirm it.

I wish I could find 'Ways of Survival'.

All I have now are comments from readers and memos that come to mind from time to time.

As we settled down at a distance, Kim Namwoon noticed us.

The moment the grinning guy was about to come this way, Lee Jihye let out a chilling voice.

"Don't pick a fight for no reason. Unless you want to get hurt by me."

"Huh? Yes."

The person who approached us instead of the hesitantly muttering Kim Namwoon was the most moderate and kind man in Yoo Joonghyuk's party.

"Hello, are you hurt?"

"Ah, no. Thanks."

"Sorry. Our captain tends to be quiet."

"No. We're following on our own."

Lee Hyunsung, with his honest eyes, smiled, showing off his strong chest muscles.

Looking at his naive expression, I realized once again that I had really entered Omniscient Reader.

The real 'Steel Sword Emperor' Lee Hyunsung.

I didn't have time to appreciate it because I was in the middle of the battle earlier, but seeing it this way made me thrilled.

Suddenly something came to my mind and I looked back at Jung Heewon.

However, Jung Heewon, who met Lee Hyunsung, did not seem to be particularly impressed.

What seemed strange was the other side.

"Sein, do you work out?"

"Yes? How did you know?"

"Your posture is clean. You seem to use a wide squat for the hold and a hammer curl for the upper block, is that correct?"

"Wow, you noticed!"

[Character 'Lee Hyunsung' feels favorable toward incarnation 'Kyung Sein'.]

Is this okay?

I looked back at Jung Heewon.

"Why?"

"It's nothing."

Well, if you think about it, there is no law saying that Jung Heewon and Lee Hyunsung must be connected.

Because the 41st turn and the 3rd turn are different.

But, anyway, this...

[A constellation who likes to change genders is excited.]

I decided to just ignore it.

Now, the first step is to check the newly shown scenario.

<Main Scenario #4 - Capture the Flag>

Category: Main

Difficulty: C+

Clear conditions: (The window is hidden because there are many contents.)

Time limit: 14 days

Reward: 2,000 Coins

Failure: ???

As expected, the fourth scenario was a 'flag battle' like the main story. When I clicked the clear conditions, a window with a long description appeared.

[Clear Conditions]

1. Every station representative has a 'flag'.

*Flags can only be carried by station representatives.

2. When you capture another group's flag, you can steal all stations owned by that group. Conversely, when the 'flag' is captured, all stations owned are taken away.

3. Even if you fail to capture the flag, killing the station representative will count as a successful capture, and you will receive bonus points in this case.

A new rule has also been added.

You don't have to take the flag, just kill the representative, and it even gives bonus points.

I felt it during the 'theater dungeon' scenario as well, but there was a strange sense of incongruity in the scenarios of the 41st turn.

It felt as if someone had read the entire story and modified the scenario to suit their taste.

...But that was probably just overthinking.

4. There are hidden 'white flags' in some places on the surface.

Second new condition.

A white flag is also hidden outside the station.

It is probably the hidden piece of this scenario.

5. You must obtain the flag of the 'target station' within 14 days. Failure to do so will result in the death of all members of your group.

* Currently, your 'target station' does not exist. You are unable to perform that scenario.

The conditions for the last task were almost identical to those I remembered.

[Currently, you are a 'Wanderer' without a station.]

[You cannot participate in 'Capture the Flag'.]

[A hidden scenario has been imposed.]

I checked the 'Hidden Scenario' window that followed.

<Hidden Scenario - Wanderer>

Category: Hidden

Difficulty: C

Clear Condition: Join a new group or kill the group leader and capture their flag.

Time limit: 3 days

Reward: 'Capture the Flag' Scenario participation ticket.

Failure: ???

Wanderer Scenario.

It was a scenario that could be called a kind of wild card round for the defeated.

I called Dansoo ahjussi, Kyung Sein, and Jung Heewon and started talking.

"Did you all read the scenario?"

"Yes."

"For now, there are three possible options. The first is to go to another station and ask the representative to accept us."

In any case, it was not difficult to clear the scenario itself, since you can get away from the Wanderer's penalty by just finding a 'group'.

Kyung Sein shook her head.

"If that was the case, I would have just joined the Chungmuro group. What about the second one?"

"The second is to raid another station and capture the flag. And the third is…"

"Finding the hidden white flag. Right?"

"Yes. You're right."

"Then it must be the third, right? Usually the third is the correct answer."

It was. In the Omniscient Reader for 'Kim Dokja'. Kyung Sein, who had been watching quietly, asked in a whisper.

"Do you know the location of the hidden white flag? Just like Kim Dokja knew the location of the hidden 'Green Zone'."

It would be nice if things went smoothly like that.

"No, I don't know."

"Then what are you going to do?"

"We have to take the flag of another station."

In the end, no matter what, the 'flag fight' was a fight to hold each other's flag.

Confrontation is unavoidable, and we must take over other stations. Only then will the hidden scenario 'King's Road' be opened, and we will be able to gain the right to challenge the 'Absolute Throne' in the future.

Dansoo ahjussi spoke in a solemn voice.

"Looks like it's going to be a tough fight. I wish we could just capture a flag, but it won't be that easy."

The station whose flag is captured loses control to the station that captured it.

Even at Chungmuro Station, a fight broke out because of this, but in other stations, I wonder.

Jung Heewon also added:

"If I had to kill them anyway, I'd feel less guilty if they were people I didn't know well."

Dansoo ahjussi and Kyung Sein were surprised at the murderous intent contained in her cold tone.

I said to comfort the two of them:

"It would be nice not to kill them if possible, but there will inevitably be situations where we can’t help it. Everyone, prepare your hearts."

Thinking of future fights, the battle we went through at Chungmuro Station was nothing more than child's play.

Our enemies will be more clever than Ye Hyunwoo, more inconsiderate than Han Sooyoung, and more brutal than Gong Pildu.

Just looking at the Misreading Association, whom I met a while ago, that is the case.

They were tenacious, immeasurable in number, and a group of criminals who did not abide by social common sense.

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' is smirking at you.]

An indirect message that was chilling to contemplate.

They were the Constellations of the Misreading Association.

[The constellation 'Rat That Spreads the Plague' tells you to try your best.]

I remembered that little mouse that Asmodeus used last time, and it seemed that bastard had crawled back in again.

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' warns you that even in death, you will never reach the ranks of the constellations.]

It was an unfair fight from the start.

The members of the Misreading Association could spy on us anytime during the channel broadcast and leak information to their incarnations.

After thinking for a while, I called Bihyung through 'Dokkaebi Communication'.

—Why. What is it.

"I have a favor to ask of you."

I enumerated the list of constellations from the Misreading Association that I had discovered so far, and asked Bihyung if he could track their position on the channel.

—Are you out of your mind? To constellations of our caliber! How dare an incarnation...!

"Listen. I understand that the channel's finances have weakened a lot recently. Is that correct?"

At the sudden financial talk, Bihyung swallowed his words for a moment.

—It’s none of your business.

"It's all because of sponsorship. The support amount must be much lower than before, right?"

—It was reduced, but... I'm also looking for the cause.

The channel's finances weakened because the apostles were all talking about filtered conversations.

It was because the constellations had escaped.

The stupid Bihyung didn't seem to know that fact yet.

"Have you looked at the list of constellations I mentioned? They probably don't have a record of sponsorship."

—Certainly they are the ones with no record of sponsorship.

Just as I thought.

"Shouldn't we start managing the quality of the channel soon?"

—Hmm. Well, it's not wrong, but it's a bit…

"Of course. You can't punish them for that reason. The only thing I'm worried about is... There are rumors that the Bureau's channel was recently breached."

—Where did you hear that again?

There were facts you could gather no matter where you listened.

"I don't think those guys entered through normal means."

---

623 Episode 14 Hunting (2)

Oddly enough, I felt that way.

I was sure that the guys who committed illegal acts in real life would do something similar here.

—That can't be. How tight is the security of our Bureau...

Even as Bihyung said that, he seemed to notice that there was an uncomfortable corner somewhere.

—Stay still. I'll find out and return shortly.

Even after Bihyung disappeared, the provocations of the constellations of the Misreading Association continued.

[The constellation 'Rat That Spreads the Plague' says it's useless no matter how much bug-like humans struggle.]

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' says it's very amusing.]

[The constellation 'Rat That Spreads the Plague' says that the illegal stream is the best.]

Seeing the messages resounding loudly, Kyung Sein frowned.

"Those bastards."

"Never mind them."

Seeing them suddenly so noisy, I thought it would be safe for the time being.

In retrospect, the 'Rat That Spreads the Plague' was severely damaged by Asmodeus, and the 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' must have used too much probability to bestow protection on the '6th-grade lizardmen' in the theater dungeon.

In other words, there wasn't much room left for them anymore.

"The Snake That Cut Its Own Tail."

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' is glaring at you.]

"I heard that Killer King sent his regards. Did you receive them well?"

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' is exerting its status over you!]

Sparks faintly wrapped around my body.

Still, just hearing the threat of a constellation and an indirect message sent chills down my spine.

I would never have thought that this degree of probability would still remain in the 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail'.

It was the moment when I was suffocating little by little due to the pressure that was slowly rising.

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' says that if they don't shut their mouths, he will rip them open.]

The message that flew through the air blew away the pressure as if it had been washed away.

It was indeed Cheok Jungyeong.

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' is flustered.]

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' warns him not to meddle in other people's business.]

Wait a second. Are you going against Cheok Jungyeong?

Are you crazy?

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' warns him not to mess with the grand status.]

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' tells them to keep talking if they want to die.]

Or are those the eyes of someone who hasn't finished reading the novel yet?

[The constellation 'Rat That Spreads the Plague' sneers at the threat of 'Goryeo's First Sword'.]

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' is silent, claiming the old man has lost his mind.]

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' warns them that if they say one more word, he will throw his sword.]

[The constellation 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' tells him to cut it if he can.]

[The constellation 'Rat That Spreads the Plague' sneers, asking if he even knows where they live.]

Indeed. Maybe it was because they used to only write malicious comments in real life, but their aggro skills were excellent.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' scratches his ears, complaining that it is noisy.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' warns them to fight with their fists like men instead of barking.]

That's how the constellations in the channel frowned one by one, and the moment Cheok Jungyeong finally made a decision.

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' draws his sword.]

A faint sound of electric sparks resounded in the sky, and the disappeared Bihyung returned.

[Please calm down, Constellations. I will adjust the channel settings for a moment.]

The guy who was gasping for breath seemed to be exhausted.

—You... How the hell did you know?

Bihyung, who revealed a translucent shape in the air, spoke to me in a disbelieving voice.

—These bastards, they are the ones who went through the illegal route created by the Six Beaks.

I knew that.

These guys were committing illegal things here too.

"So it seems. Are they going to be penalized?"

—A notice will come out from the Bureau soon. These bastards have been watching the channel without paying a single fee until now.

After a while, a system message was heard in the air.

[The Bureau's sanctions list has been updated.]

[The channel access of the constellation 'Snake That Cut Its Own Tail' has been temporarily restricted.]

[The channel access of the constellation 'Rat That Spreads the Plague' has been temporarily restricted.]

Apparently, there were other guys besides them who were subscribing to the channel illegally.

I admired the excellent and prompt action of the Bureau. It would have been nice if sanctions were done this quickly in real life.

—This time, the matter was serious, so the Bureau decided to add a tracking request. I'm going to hire a fixer to collect the fine.

"Who are you going to send?"

I didn't even have to ask.

It was because a message from the Bureau came straight away.

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' has accepted the Bureau's request to be the cleaner.]

Misreading Association guys, you're going to have a hard time for a while.

It was then that Yoo Joonghyuk, who had been looking up into the sky, opened his mouth.

"Lee Jihye. Kim Namwoon."

It seems our protagonist has finally finished organizing his thoughts. The Misreading Association wasn't even there anymore; it was really good timing.

"Go to Myeongdong Station. When you arrive near Myeongdong Station, you will see a large cathedral. Retrieve the holy relic in the cathedral."

"Okay, Captain. What's the name of the relic?"

"You'll know when you see the Saint's Smile."

There was a memory that came to mind the moment I heard the name.

「The Saint's Smile. A holy relic found in Myeongdong Cathedral, containing the protection of an archangel. If you set Jung-gu as the early farming route, make sure to secure this relic first.」

It was strange.

This is an item that doesn't even appear in Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

Have I ever written a note like this?

Yoo Joonghyuk continued to speak.

"Lee Hyunsung, go southeast along the road to Seoul Tower. There is an empty lot at the top. Your mission is to retrieve the meteorite that fell there."

"Yes, I understand."

Meteorite that fell on Seoul Tower.

[Dark Iron, the material for the Dark Sky Demon Sword. Often found in the rainbow meteorite.]

As expected, the sentence came naturally this time too. I was nervous, but there was no time to think about the sentence.

It was because Yoo Joonghyuk immediately looked at our group.

"Dansoo."

He didn't expect him to remember his name, so he was a little surprised.

"You follow Lee Jihye and Kim Namwoon."

"Come quickly, mister. If you're late, I'll leave you behind."

Dansoo ahjussi turned around as if asking if it was okay, so I silently nodded.

To maximize growth at the beginning of the scenario, splitting the party here was the right choice.

Moreover, if his companions were Lee Jihye and Kim Namwoon, there was nothing to say.

"Please take good care of ahjussi."

At my words, Lee Jihye winked at me as if telling me to stop worrying.

Yoo Joonghyuk then looked at Kyung Sein.

"You."

"Yep!"

Kyung Sein, who was in high spirits as if she were a private soldier, stood upright.

"You move with Lee Hyunsung."

"All right!"

"Thank you, Sein-ssi."

"Me too! I really want to be like Hyunsung-ssi!"

"Yes? Like me? Why?"

Kyung Sein, who was next to Lee Hyunsung, laughed hysterically.

That person obviously had a favorite Jung Heewon, but what happened?

In any case, Yoo Joonghyuk's judgment of dividing the party was excellent.

Dansoo ahjussi has good application skills, but lacks actual combat experience with other people.

Putting Lee Jihye and Kim Namwoon together, who are strong in interpersonal battles, must mean that he should watch and learn from them.

It was the same in the case of Kyung Sein. Kyung Sein had a natural physique and a good sense as a fighter, but she was not as quick to switch offense and defense like Lee Hyunsung.

It was clear.

The reason why the two were paired was that Yoo Joonghyuk highly praised Kyung Sein's growth potential.

Yoo Joonghyuk stepped forward one last time and looked back at Jung Heewon.

"The two of you, follow me."

---

After Dansoo ahjussi and Kyung Sein left with the party, Jung Heewon and I followed Yoo Joonghyuk.

Jung Heewon had a lot of hostility from earlier, as if she didn't like the way he arbitrarily split and gave orders to the party.

"I don't like it, but should I go with you?"

"Be patient. He's not doing it with bad intentions. Rather, it's a positive sign."

The mere fact that Yoo Joonghyuk naturally included us in his party was enough to touch me.

Who is this Yoo Joonghyuk? It's not another Yoo Joonghyuk, it's Yoo Joonghyuk from the 41st turn.

If I meet Kim Dokja later, I will definitely tell him about what happened today.

"Are you going north?"

Because Yoo Joonghyuk sent a wary look, I laughed shamelessly.

"Don’t you have a younger sister in the north? Are you worried?"

"You bastard."

"If you don't get her right now, the timing will be difficult."

As I said it, I wondered what I was talking about.

Because I was Cheon Inho.

And Cheon Inho, in the 40th turn, had killed all of Yoo Joonghyuk’s acquaintances.

Even if Yoo Joonghyuk pulled out a great spear and stabbed me to death, I had nothing to say.

Yoo Joonghyuk stopped walking, glared at me for a moment, and then said to Jung Heewon.

"Is your name Jung Heewon?"

"So what?"

"A sniper is hiding on the ninth floor of the building ahead. Eliminate them and return."

Jung Heewon looked carefully at the building Yoo Joonghyuk pointed at.

"Looks like nothing is there?"

"Go."

At Yoo Joonghyuk’s words, a fiery heat and bloodthirstiness radiated from Jung Heewon's body.

I quickly interjected.

"Heewon-ssi."

"Are you okay?"

Jung Heewon and I both know that there are no snipers in that building.

"It’s okay."

Jung Heewon sighed lightly, and eventually shook her hand and stepped forward.

"Don't die before I get back."

"I don't die that easily."

"Then why do you keep dying?"

"Go ahead."

With the sound of the cool wind, Jung Heewon disappeared into the building. Even after her figure disappeared, Yoo Joonghyuk did not open his mouth for a while.

He was looking at the distant sky with solemn eyes. I could see the dark sunset dwelling in his pupils, burning red.

"Cheon Inho."

"Yes."

"Are you really Cheon Inho?"

As expected, Yoo Joonghyuk seemed to have noticed.

"That is a philosophical question. How do you see it?"

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at me quietly and then spoke.

"If you play the role of 'Cheon Inho', you are still Cheon Inho."

"Then I am Cheon Inho."

I don't know if he liked my answer or not. However, Yoo Joonghyuk just looked at me with the same eyes as usual.

From the side of the building, the sound of thrashing was heard. I don't know, but it seemed that Jung Heewon was beating everything up.

How much time has passed?

Yoo Joonghyuk opened his mouth with a voice that seemed to spread ripples on the calm surface of the water.

"Then, to Cheon Inho, I'll ask."

Yoo Joonghyuk was watching me.

No, it was more like looking at the empty space between me and him.

As if he could sense the invisible wall there.

"Who the hell is 'Kim Dokja'?"

624 Episode 14 Hunting (3)

---

The moment I heard that name, my heart sank.

「Yoo Joonghyuk knows Kim Dokja.」

But how did he know his name? Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st turn must have never seen or met Kim Dokja.

He may have met Kim Dokja in the 0th turn, but Yoo Joonghyuk did not know that he was Kim Dokja, and all his related memories were lost in the next turn.

Then how…

「"There were a lot of weird guys from the beginning of this turn."」

Come to think of it, Yoo Joonghyuk must have heard the name from the beginning of this conversation.

「"I'm sure they were nothing until the last turn, but they suddenly came up to me and said strange things as if they were writing something."」

There must have been readers who approached him, referring to themselves as Kim Dokja. It's obvious what those readers would have said, but..

「"Someone said he needed a companion to pass the 46th scenario, he said he was a prophet. There was also a guy who said he would take me to the end of this world."」

At first, he might have thought they were ignorant people, but now, of course, he must have changed his mind.

He must have known of the existence of the apostles by now.

Maybe he overheard the fight between me and Han Sooyoung while suffering from 'regressive depression'.

Even if he hadn't heard, the timing was enough to overhear what the apostles were saying.

「"Is there really Kim Dokja in this world?"」

「"I don't know. But I heard he was on the roof of the theater dungeon?"」

The roof of the Theater Dungeon. The only people there were me, Yoo Joonghyuk, Han Sooyoung, and Jung Heewon.

"Are you 'Kim Dokja' by any chance?"

I shook my head hurriedly as I saw Yoo Joonghyuk having a big misunderstanding.

"Absolutely not."

Yoo Joonghyuk’s expression became even more serious.

"Then, who the hell is Kim Dokja? What the hell is he doing so everyone is talking about his name?"

"That..."

Who is Kim Dokja?

I couldn't come up with an exact sentence as to what kind of answer I should give.

"Kim Dokja... It’s just the name of a person who likes stories more than anyone."

"Stories?"

"He's been reading a single story for a very long time."

"What do you mean? Are you talking about a constellation?"

"Therefore—"

When I said one or two sentences, sentences came to my mind like firecrackers exploded in my head.

「"What kind of person is ahjussi? Ahjussi is..."」

A girl's voice echoed in my head. Her nostalgic blonde hair rippled like waves.

「"The strongest constellation in the universe."」

The boy's brown hair playfully scattered beside her.

「"What? Don't ask me difficult questions. But after talking about it, I suddenly have a craving for squid. Master! Where is Master!"」

Along with the faint smell of the sea, my mind became more and more confused.

「"I found that expression in a book I read a while ago. He's like a childhood friend I've never met."」

It seemed like there was a mild library smell coming from somewhere.

「"The world I want to protect."」

It seemed like there was a bloody smell mixed with the smell of iron.

「"Are you talking about Kim Dokja? That's... um, did I mention I lost my bulletproof helmet before?"」

「"Hyunsung-ssi, please do it in only one paragraph."」

A familiar joke leaked. Then came a sweet typing sound, like a soft crack.

「"The child who decided to read more than three thousand chapters."」

It wasn't a sentence I wrote. So what are these sentences? These sentences,

「"A stupid bastard."」

Where did these memories come from?

The world was dizzy, as if somewhere the blood vessels in my head were clogged. My irregularly beating heart hurt.

I staggered while covering my head.

「Who is Kim Dokja?」

Along with a throbbing headache, sentences were erupting like a volcano.

「Why is he still reading this story?」

When I came to my senses, blue sparks swirled around me.

When I raised my head in a daze, I saw Yoo Joonghyuk. Yoo Joonghyuk was shouting something.

「Don't listen.」

But no voice was heard.

Instead, what I heard were words from the far side of time.

「You should be happy.」

My head was covered with pure white lines like volcanic ash, and I lost consciousness.

---

A light traditional sound coming from the distant sky.

Han Sooyoung realized that the sparks surrounding her had opened up.

'The aftermath of probability has weakened.'

Looking at the traces of the probability aftermath that shimmered faintly at her fingertips, Han Sooyoung remembered what had happened on the roof of the Theater Dungeon a few days ago.

She went there to finish this story, where she met Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st turn.

Yoo Joonghyuk was strong.

It wasn't just strong, he was incredibly strong.

At this point in just the 41st turn, it's to the point where she can't understand how strong he has become.

She fought to the best of her ability and even managed to subdue him with expedient methods.

Up until there it was as planned.

Afterwards, Jung Heewon came out and it was fine until an unknown writer from another world line appeared.

It was a common occurrence when she was writing.

A forgotten foreshadowing pops up, or a character does something different from what the author thought.

Her writing was always about judging her raging unconscious, so she was used to dealing with unpredictable situations.

This is because she was a professional writer who had already completed numerous stories.

However, the story of the man who came to her was something she could not handle.

「Another Kim Dokja she forgot was there.」

Han Sooyoung stumbled at her momentary headache and placed her hands on the outer wall.

There was twilight beyond the shady alley. She saw the landscape of Seoul through the alleyways, as if the horizontal map of Seoul had been cut into a single section.

Bodies of people scattered all over the place. People who died while running away from a fight. The familiar smell of blood.

It was a story she never wanted to go through again.

Nonetheless, she returned to this story once again.

She had no choice but to do so.

Because this story was for her only reader.

"I’m tired."

She knows that the scenery is not all of this world. The line spacing is always wider than the sentence. Therefore, there will be precious stories left between the lines that this alleyway did not contain.

But she didn't have the energy to read between the lines now.

She told herself that the world right now is just one hell of a reflection at the entrance of an alleyway.

"How's the year, Kim Dokja?"

Kim Dokja, who would answer the question, was not there.

Han Sooyoung, who had been looking up at the sky in a daze, took a deep breath and stood up from her seat.

"After..."

Terrible muscle pain spread all over her body.

Her incarnation body was greatly damaged.

It must be so.

It was a miracle that she was still sane after wasting so much of her probability on the rooftop.

Thanks to the temporarily weakened probability aftermath, it was now barely possible to maneuver.

"Someone is having an accident somewhere."

Seeing the sky twinkle in the distance, maybe someone is doing something great to steal <Star Stream>'s attention.

"Lee Gilyoung."

She called his name, but there was no response. Han Sooyoung pressed her lips together once, and then began to slowly move her steps while holding on to the outer wall of a nearby building.

She couldn't stay here.

She has to move.

[The constellation 'Lotus that blooms under the moonlight' looks at you.]

Han Sooyoung hesitated for a moment, then she moved her steps again.

[The constellation 'Lotus that blooms under the moonlight' advises you to rest now.]

"Noisy."

Sparks flickered lightly in the air at that bluntness. It's her star getting mad at her.

"Don’t waste your chance on something like that, Yoo Sangah. Where are Lee Gilyeong and you?"

[The constellation 'Lotus blooming under the moonlight' says that Lee Gilyoung is eating now.]

Someone is about to die here, but someone seems to be able to eat well.

[The constellation 'Lotus that blooms under the moonlight' asks if you are okay.]

What?

[The constellation 'Lotus blooming under the moonlight' says that your complexion looks bad.]

For Han Sooyoung, it was a small burden.

Perhaps Yoo Sangah would not have seen the roof of the Theater Dungeon because the relay channel was closed at the time.

Han Sooyoung was about to say something, but shut her mouth again.

What would Yoo Sangah look like if she knew that 49% of Kim Dokja, whom they had turned away from at that time, was now here?

"What world line did you go on? Are you done recovering Kim Dokja’s fragments already?"

[The constellation 'Lotus Blooming Under the Moonlight' says that she is roughly finished.]

"Then, now really only this place is left. How about Yoosung?"

[The constellation 'Lotus that blooms under the moonlight' says that Yoosoung is preparing to deploy soon.]

"Are there any other kids? Aren't Lee Hyunsung and Jung Heewon all over?"

[The constellation 'Lotus blooming under the moonlight'...]

It was then that Han Sooyoung turned her head. The moment she reflexively bent her back, a dagger flew and pierced the spot where she was standing.

A blade filled with pitch black magic.

Han Sooyoung asked, frowning.

"What kind of bastard… Come out."

Then black figures appeared simultaneously on both sides of the alley.

They weren't human.

Shepherd-like dogs, three or four times her size, bared their fangs at her.

Monstrous species?

No. It was different from the usual monster species.

[A 7th-class demon species, 'Keeper of Cognition' reveals its teeth.]

Demon species.

Han Sooyoung bit her lip secretly.

"Demons, it's not the time for hell magicians to appear yet."

Then the dog in the middle of the pack opened its mouth.

[It's been a while, Han Sooyoung]

The moment she heard its voice, Han Sooyoung got goosebumps from it.

It was a mantra with a lot of noise, but it was a tone she had heard somewhere.

"You know my name?"

[Whoops, is there anyone in this universe who doesn't know you?]

Han Sooyoung did not hesitate and brought out an Unbreakable Faith.

'I don't know who he is.'

A blade of white light that burns white. As it was, she stepped on the wall of the alley and leaped like a shot, decapitating the demon dog in front of her.

'It's over in no time.'

No matter how demonic it is, there is no 7th grade monster in the scenario that can deal with the current Han Sooyoung.

Surely it should be.

Tsutsutsut.

With a light spark, the head of the demon dog that had been severed was reattached.

Han Sooyoung did not miss the unprecedented story.

"A deity from another world?"

The dogs looked up at the sky and let out a long cry at the same time.

The sky around the area was dyed black, and one of the lights around it was turned off and darkness flowed.

Something bit her calf in the dark with a gurgling sound.

Followed by arms and waist, Han Sooyoung thought as she calmly blew off each of the devil's heads.

'Someone else.'

A deity in another world who commands demon species and knows her name. Can such an existence exist in this 41st turn?

'Must I use the Giant story?'

If I borrowed more tales from here, she would be hit with a probability aftermath again, but there was no other way for now.

In order to deal with the divinity of the other world, she had no choice but to pay the price.

[Are you going to use the Giant story?]

As if it had read her thoughts, she heard an eerie laugh.

Han Sooyoung started acting without answering.

[The Giant story 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 begins its storytelling.]

But at that moment, a sudden light flashed before her eyes, and the story was interrupted.

She spit out the rising blood. Regurgitated stories mingled with her breath. Once again, a shady voice was heard.

[Unfortunately, that ability won't be usable here.]

An unbreakable conviction wielded reflexively, it came up with something.

It was impossible. The activation of the tale wasn’t confirmed?

Why?

In the pitch black darkness, she was called once again.

In an instant, Han Sooyoung had a strange feeling. She knew the owner of this laugh.

[Did you forget?]

"You-"

[You know that I have a stake in <The Kim Dokja Company>'s proud story.]

Ominous flow of magic. In that madness, a story she knew well was wriggling.

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint]

…How?

The dogs around her burst into her tune. They seemed to welcome her back to this hell once again.

[You are no longer the author of this story.]

In an instant, a hand made of stories appeared in the darkness. Before she had time to escape, a hand gripped her neck.

With the light of 'Unbreakable Faith' fading, the shadow of a swimmer floating in the air was reflected on the wall of the alleyway.

As if fixing a struggling shadow, a voice came to put an end to a story.

[Please die here, Han Sooyoung.]

625 Episode 14 Hunting (4)

The old stories that choked Han Sooyoung were talking.

The sentences you write end here.

You are no longer the author of this story.

Did you know that you would be able to reach an end even if you forgot about us?

[Looks like you can hear those words now.]

These stories of another world were all sentences written by her at one time.

Forgotten sentences.

Fragments of a story created by the words of promises that were not kept.

Like babies searching for their mother, forgotten stories burrowed into her throat.

Han Sooyoung activated her magic.

If she couldn't use her 'Giant story', her first priority was to somehow escape.

Fortunately for her, she had one skill that suited her.

Her specialty is that she is a writer.

Even when she was struck by an unexpected blow while trying to stop the fight between Kim Dokja and Yoo Joonghyuk, she survived thanks to this skill.

However.

[Do you want to use an avatar?]

One of the "Hell's Sentinels" rose completely from its seat, and then took on a human appearance.

He took out a sword from his lofty arms covered in black robes.

Han Sooyoung immediately recognized the item.

'Criminal Disaster Sword'.

The constellation engraved on the death sword burned brightly. It was the man who manifested the authority of the 'Sword of Death' in his own story.

The moment his sword's trajectory cut through the air, Han Sooyoung was overcome with pain as if her mind was being split in half.

'Cut off.'

The link with the dummy [Avatar] that she had maintained all along was broken.

The Power of the Death Sword. The power that cuts the ties of her horoscope cut the ties between her and [Avatar].

In this case, it is impossible to escape using [Avatar's Memory Transfer].

If she dies here, she will really die.

[You will die here.]

For the first time, cold sweat hit Han Sooyoung's forehead.

She was strong, meticulous, and cunning.

If she had just entered the 41st turn, she would not have suffered so badly.

But now she had used too many stories.

[If you hadn't met him. If you hadn't wasted your stories to revive him... Do you regret it now?]

Han Sooyoung's lips tingled.

[You couldn't have abandoned him. Because he is in this world because of you. Because the ending you wanted to see ended up ruining the whole story.]

The power of stories exploded in Han Sooyoung's body.

The Giant story couldn’t be used, but that didn't mean she couldn't use her stories at all.

[Story 'The False Savior' begins its storytelling]

Blood trickled down Han Sooyoung's mouth. Her arms, which slowly regained strength, tore appart the stories' grip on her neck.

Snow flakes dissipated from her breath, and the muscles all over her body were squeezed in pain.

Even in the midst of fainting, Han Sooyoung focused on the enemy in front of her.

"You...."

She was used to that magic that swayed in the dark.

An enemy who could corner her so much that she was caught off guard.

The ability to command demons as subordinates.

A deity who knows her and shares her story with <Kim Dokja’s Company>.

Even after searching through the entire universe, there were only a few such beings.

"I heard you were dead. How did you get here?"

[Are you recognizing me now?]

In the dark, the appearance of the Hell's Keeper began to change.

[Obviously I was dead. In 'The Story You Wrote'.]

The dog's muzzle shortened completely, and then the human face was revealed.

[You think you know the whole story?]

Taking off his robe with a white smile, he had an appearance resembling Kim Dokja.

[My new name is RepresentativeKimDokja. Isn't that interesting? In the story you wrote, there was no existence like this.]

Han Sooyoung grabbed the Unbreakable Faith that fell to the floor.

Along with the sound of 'Gi-i-i-i-i', the sword containing the legend spewed out brilliance.

She said, "I didn't write it because I didn't have to."

Han Sooyoung's sword strikes poured out at the running dogs.

"I'll kill you again."

She had such a feeling.

She must not let the guy in front of her live at all costs. Even if she and all her stories are finished here, she must kill him right here.

She has to do it for Kim Dokja, not for anyone else.

[It can't be done by you now.]

Han Sooyoung swung her sword without answering.

No matter what anyone says, she was the writer of Ways of Survival and Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

She has seen the end of the scenarios twice, and is the one who has knocked down countless stars from the sky.

Ha-ska!

The dazzling white light of long-held beliefs illuminated the darkness.

The second and third sword attacks continued before the devil's throat even regenerated.

Cut off his arms and break his legs. The fragments rolling on the floor are burned with black flames so that they cannot be reproduced.

Han Sooyoung proceeded to thoroughly defeat the demons one by one.

Dogs kept appearing out of nowhere.

Tenacious demon dogs.

As if they had been trained to hunt only her all her life, the dogs gnawed at her arms and legs in sync with her movements.

Nevertheless, Han Sooyoung was optimistic about the situation.

She who used her power of storytelling was also in danger, but the other side in front of her was also sacrificing his formidable probability. There was no way that the <Star Stream> would allow such a large amount of power to be summoned in the initial scenarios.

In other words, this was a game of probability, and when it came to such a fight, Han Sooyoung was confident.

If she holds on a little longer, the other side will lose their strength too.

However, no matter how much she blew the heads of the dogs that were charging at her, there was no harbinger of a probability aftermath.

Why?

Koo-goo-goo-goo!

Belatedly, the 'Great Hall' shimmering in the sky caught her eye.

Prelude to the fifth scenario.

The moment she saw the sparks flashing near the 'Great Hall', Han Sooyoung's hairline became soft.

The unknown deities on the other side of the hall shared the probability of this battle.

"Why?"

Why do the Outer Gods help him?

At that moment, a hypothesis flashed through her mind.

「It wasn't <Kim Dokja’s Company> that crossed through the world lines.」

Tsutsutsutsutsutsutsu!

The balance of the body that was barely holding on collapsed. When the power of the story was cut off, the aftermath of probability began to eat away at her as an incarnation.

Han Sooyoung looked up at the sky resentfully.

No matter how much Outer Gods helped, in the end, it was only possible with the permission of this world.

Everything is possible with the connivance of the stars.

The <Star Stream> of the 41st turn made the decision to exclude her who intervened in their scenario.

"…The <Star Stream> as well."

Han Sooyoung’s arm fell, powerless, and the light of her Unbroken Faith went out.

'This far.'

Han Sooyoung does not like developments where everything flows in a pre-determined sequence. A story without surprise is obvious and lazy.

Her readers will soon notice that she's playing her tricks.

「Nevertheless, Han Sooyoung couldn’t come up with a sentence to break this situation.」

With that, Han Sooyoung felt that she had fulfilled her role.

Perhaps even Kim Dokja somewhere in the sky might not be curious about the story she wrote.

Even in this world.

「"You're not trying to finish the story, you're giving up."」

Because there are already other writers.

However, thinking that the ending was right in front of her eyes, she felt regretful.

She might still have more sentences to write, but there must be something she couldn't say to him.

"Really, it's a very difficult world to be happy in."

Her knees bent.

In her last moment, Han Sooyoung moved her trembling hand and pulled something out of her arms. Her little hand held a lemon candy.

Stories were flowing in the small candy.

A very old story. Old and missed sentences loved by only one reader.

Han Sooyoung stared at the candy for a long time, then she fell down, as if her energy had run out.

Seeing Han Sooyoung like that, RepresentativeKimDokja laughed.

[Great last sentence, Han Sooyoung.]

A black claw protruded from the darkness towards the neck of the unconscious Han Sooyoung.

[What happens to a writer who has no more stories to write, after all.]

It was then that a star twinkled across the sky.

As the dazzling sunlight illuminated the alleyway, 'RepresentativeKimDokja' looked up with a frown.

[Have you come to disturb me again?]

[Constellation, 'Lotus blossoming under the moonlight' is glaring at RepresentativeKimDokja.]

[If you want to intervene, come. But it will be different from last time.]

Despite the terrifying starlight swirling in the sky, 'RepresentativeKimDokja' was not shaken.

[Do you think you, who do not even have a proper incarnation, dare to manifest directly here?]

In the next moment, the entire alley was bathed in bright light.

[The constellation 'Lotus that blooms under the moonlight' blooms white.]

Surprised, RepresentativeKimDokja looked around.

Hopefully it can't be.

No matter how much it is, 'Lotus that blooms under the Moonlight' can’t dare to go against the law of the <Star Stream> and manifest in the beginning scenarios—

[The constellation 'Lotus that blooms under the moonlight' smiles.]

An arrow flew out of nowhere and grazed his cheek.

The 7th grade devils who were guarding him screamed and crouched down.

"Shoot!"

A cry from the other side of the alley. Incarnations dressed as government soldiers were shooting arrows toward the alley.

"Kill the demons!"

When RepresentativeKimDokja, frowning, waved his hand, the rain of arrows that flew in disappeared in an instant.

[Foolish-]

Then, the new model of Han Sooyoung, who was in the middle of the alley a while ago, was not visible.

The sound of wires came from somewhere. An incarnation, carrying the fallen Han Sooyoung, was already running away.

"Shoot! Keep shooting!"

Hearing the wrath of the gods, RepresentativeKimDokja held back his accusations.

[Oh, really.]

It wasn't difficult to hit the flying arrows. However, he was also in a position where he could not attack the incarnations.

It is because the size of the 'Great Hall' was gradually shrinking, and the foreboding of a probability storm has been lingering in his entire body.

It was natural.

He is the deity of the lofty otherworld.

Attacking 'Han Sooyoung', an irregular from another world line, and dealing with the incarnations of the beginning scenarios are not likely to be equal.

RepresentativeKimDokja said after staring at the twinkling stars in the sky for a while.

[Kim Dokja’s Company. A story where no one dies, how long do you think this will be possible?]

With one last question, his new model disappeared into the darkness.

"He ran away!"

Eventually, the rain of arrows from the incarnations stopped.

"It's an item! It's the skin of a demon!"

The incarnations who discovered the body of the dead demon species cheered.

Moments later, the incarnation, who was running with Han Sooyoung on their back, stopped walking on the roof.

"You’re safe now."

A soft, gentle voice. Han Sooyoung, who came to her senses, lifted her eyelids in confidence. She could see the scenery around her through her gloomy vision.

In the landscape of the night where the moonlight descended on her, she saw the embodiment of the small body holding her.

"Yoo Sangah?"

No. Although the atmosphere was touching, it was definitely different from Yoo Sangah.

But at first glance, a familiar face was shown. More than anything else, she couldn't tell who it was if she looked like that.

[The constellation 'Lotus that blooms under the moonlight' tells the incarnation 'Han Sooyoung' that it's okay to rest.]

Han Sooyoung glanced blankly at the sky and slowly closed her eyes. The stars in the sky twinkled once again.

[The constellation 'Lotus that blooms under the moonlight' expresses gratitude for your help.]

Then, the incarnation carrying Han Sooyoung said.

"We have to help each other and live. By the way... It's amazing. I didn't know this person really existed."

[The constellation 'Lotus that blooms under the moonlight' asks if you know her.]

"Should I say that I know… I think it’s a bit complicated."

[The constellation 'Lotus that blooms under the moonlight' asks if you can take care of her.]

"Sure."

[The constellation 'Lotus flower that blooms under the moonlight' looks at Han Sooyoung with pity.]

The incarnation also nodded her head as if agreeing with her.

"Anyway, writers are all the same."

She poked at the sleeping Han Sooyoung's cheek as if it were strange, and said.

"The manuscript she was asked to write is unwritten and wasteful of energy, and her health care is a mess..."

[The constellation 'Lotus that blooms under the moonlight' asks how you know it so well.]

The incarnation, who looked down at Han Sooyoung's face, smiled bitterly.

"My writer did the same."

626 Episode 14 Hunting (5)

rlaehrwk37: But isn’t he passing out too often?

When I opened my eyes again, it was night. In the faint hunger and thirst, I blinked my eyes, then raised my upper body.

How many times have I fainted?

At this point, it was not the time to tease Kim Dokja by calling him a 'fainting man'.

Kim Dokja.

I didn't get to meet Kim Dokja this time. Usually, whenever I passed out, I met him in the snowfield.

An old table and countertop were visible in the dim darkness.

I wondered what kind of kitchen it was, but it seemed to be inside a nearby restaurant.

"Woke up?"

In the darkness, Jung Heewon's face appeared.

"Ah yes."

Jung Heewon, who had her hair done with pride, was sharpening her knife under the moonlight.

While I was feeling something eerie, I held out the temperance pot that Jung Heewon had placed next to me.

"Would you like to eat this?"

Inside the pot were several grains of gourd crops and roasted foreleg.

"I'm not good at cooking, so I only seasoned it. There was some seasoning left in the restaurant."

"Oh, thank you."

Come to think of it, I haven't eaten anything all day.

When I ate food rich in seasoning after a long time, the taste buds on the tip of my tongue went cold.

It was a melting feeling.

As the hunger and thirst subsided, I thought that I would live a little longer, and I was on the verge of fainting.

The situation came to mind spontaneously.

I was having a conversation with Yoo Joonghyuk. Jung Heewon was away for a while to catch the sniper.

Yoo Joonghyuk asked me who Kim Dokja was, and I thought about it… and passed out?

Jung Heewon held out water to me as I choked on food.

"Thank you."

Looking back, I couldn't understand the last situation.

Why did I faint while thinking about Kim Dokja?

Wait, other than that.

"Where is Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"He went alone."

Jung Heewon answered, changing her words indifferently.

"Leaving us?"

Jung Heewon only nodded. But why do you keep being like that?

With a thud, Jung Heewon put down the clean knife.

I had a feeling that something wasn't right.

I think she’s going to get mad.

"I thought I told you not to die."

A strangely sparkly voice.

"Did you know how surprised I was?"

Jung Heewon glared at me with her eyes narrowed. I hurriedly narrowed my eyes and apologized.

"I-I'm sorry. But I don't know why that happened either. I passed out all of a sudden."

"Really?"

"Yes, really."

"It can't be. Were you threatened by that man?"

"No."

"Weren’t you beaten or mistreated? Take off your shirt."

"I'm not, really."

I answered while sneaking away from Jung Heewon, who reached out.

"I didn't really do anything. I just passed out while talking. I guess I'm a bit tired."

Jung Heewon blinked in disbelief and sighed.

"My God. It was real."

When I saw the expression on her face, there was a situation that was drawn in my head belatedly.

No way?

She dismissed the sniper at the request of Yoo Joonghyuk. The situation where we were away, but I was lying on the spot when she returned.

"Did you fight?"

"We were about to fight."

Jung Heewon pursed her lips and said.

"But he said he felt a bit unfair. He said he didn't do anything, but Inho-ssi collapsed by himself."

"So what?"

"Of course I didn't believe it. Does that make sense?"

It makes no sense.

"I almost got into trouble."

"I was almost on the verge of drawing a knife, but the words of Dansu-ahjussi came to mind."

Dansu-ahjussi?

"Before we broke up, the man said that, if I go out with that man, there will be a situation where I will get angry all of a sudden, and then go to sleep."

"Oh."

I really appreciate Dansu-ahjussi’s wise judgment.

"He said there could be a misunderstanding."

Even in the past, the Dansu-ahjussi was misunderstood alone when everyone thought of Yoo Joonghyuk badly.

He said it might be.

Ahjussi’s wisdom is really amazing.

"The misunderstanding is correct. I really fell alone."

"Then I'm glad."

By the way, Yoo Joonghyuk and Kim Dokja became a company at most, but he went away like this.

"Where did Yoo Joonghyuk go?"

"To the north."

If it's in the north, he must have gone to rescue his younger sister, Yoo Mia.

Because right now is the right time.

"Do you have anything else to say?"

"He said he wouldn’t go out with you anymore."

"Yes?"

"He doesn’t need a weak guy who faints all the time…"

It was embarrassing, but it was right.

"The current Inho-ssi cannot properly play the role of Cheon Inho, and he told me to tell you that."

Yoo Joonghyuk said, if I could play the role of Cheon Inho, he would believe that I am Cheon Inho.

In other words, it means that I am now disqualified.

Damn it.

Of course, to miss Yoo Joonghyuk at such an important moment.

My mind was complicated.

Soon, the battle for the flag will be over, and the 'King's Road' scenario will begin.

Then, going to the 'absolute throne' will be in an instant.

"But Inho-ssi, why do you want to hang out with him?"

Jung Heewon asked as if she did not understand.

"You haven't forgotten what kind of person he is, right? Me and Inho-ssi, we were in danger because of him."

Hearing that, I remembered that I hadn't explained anything to Jung Heewon until now.

Jung Heewon could not understand this situation, because that Yoo Joonghyuk was a human who threw me and Jung Heewon as food for sea monsters.

"Is there a reason you have to be with that person all this time?"

"Yes."

In the end, it was Yoo Joonghyuk who held the key to this world. He is a regressor of the 41st round.

The strongest incarnation.

However, that Yoo Joonghyuk eventually met a tragic ruin at the end of the 41st turn.

In order to prevent that ending, I had no choice but to correct his risky behaviors one by one.

Jung Heewon opened her mouth after a while.

She said, "I heard that Inho-ssi is also an apostle. Is it a problem related to that?"

I involuntarily stopped breathing. When I raised my head, I saw Jung Heewon with a dark complexion.

How long did Jung Heewon ponder over it before asking that question?

"You're right."

A feeling of late guilt came over me.

As Yoo Joonghyuk said, if I was 'Cheon Inho' now, it was Jung Heewon in front of me who protected me.

I could not have survived at Geumho Station and Chungmuro Station without her help.

And to her, I left out important explanations.

「Throughout the scenario, Jung Heewon would have been confused.」

For her, who was an ordinary person, the cataclysm of her world, the scenarios and the constellations as well. It must have been a difficult story.

But in the meantime, the apostles who knew her future appeared, and even those apostles were her own companions.

"Sorry. I haven't told you anything for too long. Where did you hear that I'm an apostle?"

"Just all over the place. I heard people talking."

Even if she pretended not to hear or not see, it seemed that she was actually listening. Even so, Jung Heewon waited for me to speak all along.

"Do you know the 'future' of this world, too?"

"Yes. I know."

Now is the time to talk to Jung Heewon. Just like Kim Dokja did in the main story, I also have to break through this head-on.

I slowly got up from my seat and bowed my head to Jung Heewon.

"Sorry for hiding it for so long. I won't make excuses. I know the future of this world, and I knew of Heewon-ssi's existence from before."

"Oh."

Embarrassed by my sudden apology, Jung Heewon stood up from her seat.

"To prevent the destruction of this world, Heewon's help was absolutely necessary. Actually, that's why I tried to become friends with Heewon-ssi."

Since Jung Heewon had come this far, I couldn't hide it any longer. Because that’d be deceiving her.

"So you were trying to be friendly with me?"

"Yes."

She shuddered and thought there was nothing she could do. But some relationships can't go forward unless they're particularly weak.

I bit my lip and quietly lifted my head. Of course, I thought Jung Heewon would have a disappointed face.

Rather, she had a puzzled expression.

"But... I didn't really feel that way. I was the one who went and talked to you first when I was alone, wasn't it?"

I pondered.

"That… I guess I was lucky."

"If I hadn't been Jung Heewon, wouldn't we have become close?"

I thought for a moment.

If Jung Heewon wasn't Jung Heewon, would I have been close to her?

"No. I think we wouldn't."

The person I liked was Jung Heewon, and the person I needed was also Jung Heewon. She may be angry, but it was a meaningless assumption to me in the first place.

"As expected, Inho-ssi is honest."

"Sorry."

"What do you have to be sorry about? Thank god, because I am Jung Heewon."

"Yes."

"Because I am Jung Heewon, Inho-ssi risked his life for me. It was the same on the bridge and the Theater Dungeon back then. If Inho-ssi wasn't there, I would have died that day."

How is this person…

A sentence came to mind with a momentary sense of tingling.

「That I was able to come this far thanks to her.」

I unknowingly bit my lip. Why does that sentence come to mind now?

「"Thank you for finding me. I'm not being sarcastic, I mean it."」

How can this person be so consistent even though the speaker is different?

"I'm going crazy too. I am alive here thanks to Heewon."

Even knowing that the sentences in my memory do not explain the Jung Heewon in front of me, it was hard to hide my excitement.

Jung Heewon said with a smile.

"Actually, I didn't want to ask until the end. I wanted you to tell me someday. But, on the roof of the Theater Dungeon, I had a rather strange experience. From then on, I was a bit confused."

The roof of the Theater Dungeon.

I belatedly remembered what had happened with Han Sooyoung.

["This world, that, no…"]

There, Han Sooyoung showed Jung Heewon the story of Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

"What was the story about?"

How else am I supposed to explain that?

"It's a story from a different world than this one."

No matter how much I thought about it, it was best to return Jung Heewon's answer as it was.

"Then all the stories she told me really happened."

"Yes, that's right."

I thought for a moment about the story of that world.

The world where Kim Dokja and <Kim Dokja Company> existed. A world where Jung Heewon became the judge of destruction and Cheon Inho died at her hands.

"In that world, Inho-ssi was a complete badass."

In Jung Heewon's hand was a well-forged Mikazuki Munechika.

I thought of Cheon Inho, who was killed by her sword.

Cheon Inho, the villain of 'Geumho Station' who instigated, killed, and extorted coins at will.

Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint. Even though it was Han Sooyoung who first wrote it, I certainly wrote a sentence about it with sincerity.

I fiercely wrote sentences that harass, kill, and torment people.

Because it's villainous, because it's more violent, brutal, and probable.

If so, this moment may be the moment when I get back the 'probability' I used at that time.

"Is the Inho-ssi in front of me the same person as Inho-ssi over there?"

627 Episode 14 Hunting (6)

"I am."

I couldn't answer right away.

Obviously, I wasn't that 'Cheon Inho'. Their way of thinking was different, and their likes and dislikes were different.

Their soul was different.

But can I really say that I have nothing to do with that 'Cheon Inho'?

I possessed his body, and before I possessed it, I wrote a sentence about him.

I made 'Cheon Inho' with my own hands.

Even if Han Sooyoung wrote the first draft, I had plenty of opportunities to change the sentences.

If so, maybe I—

"You are a different person."

Jung Heewon frowned as if she didn't understand why I was taking so long.

"No matter how you look at it, you're a different person. I also saw that world. You have different personalities, and you look closely... Cheon Inho here is more attractive."

I couldn't figure out what the hell she was talking about.

"Inho-ssi said, 'Another world'. Then, isn't it a world that doesn't exist on this side? It's like a world in a novel."

A world of fiction.

"The reason I asked is because I just wanted to hear a set answer. That's all. So tell me. Inho-ssi, are you the same person as Cheon Inho in that world?"

I suddenly came to my senses.

The hand that Jung Heewon reached out to first. If I didn't hold this hand, that wasn't polite either.

"I'm not like him. At least I think so."

"Yes?"

But is that really enough?

Will she be able to understand and move on with that alone?

"The Cheon Inho I believe in is only the Cheon Inho in front of me right now."

As if [inciting] herself, Jung Heewon said.

"So Inho-ssi too."

Jung Heewon, who came towards me, said while putting the blade on the floor.

"Think of the me in front of you right now as Jung Heewon. Except for Jung Heewon from 'The Future You Know'."

Only then did I know why she brought up this topic.

「The Jung Heewon in front of me is not the Jung Heewon of 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.」

Jung Heewon, who was the sword of Kim Dokja.

Jung Heewon, who killed Cheon Inho.

Jung Heewon, the only incarnation of the Demon-like Judge of Fire and the guardian of <Kim Dokja's Company>.

That Jung Heewon is not here.

As I am not 'Cheon Inho', she is also in the stories of the apostles.

She is not that 'Jung Heewon'.

[There is only one Jung Heewon in the 41st turn.]

I sincerely nodded.

Jung Heewon smiled.

"If I fall off a bridge again, will you save me?"

"A few times."

Jung Heewon sighed lightly, bent down to pick up her sword from the floor, and lightly tilted her head.

"I said something too complicated, not like me. Actually, I don't want to think difficult things right now. I like simple things."

Certainly, the Jung Heewon I knew wasn't one to talk about things like this.

"I just want to cut, stab, and somehow survive. That's all I want to do."

"That's enough for now. Instead, please do it by my side."

At those words, Jung Heewon lifted her head at a subtle angle and looked at me.

"I could stab Inho-ssi by mistake?"

"Then I'll die."

Jung Heewon thought it was a joke and laughed.

"That can't be done. Inho-ssi, please come so that I don't stab the wrong person."

"Of course. By the way."

As I slowly looked around the restaurant, I asked a question I had been wanting to ask all along.

"Haven't you already stabbed one?"

There was only one other person in the restaurant besides us.

To be precise, at Jung Heewon’s feet.

---

The man was still breathing.

He was a man whose peculiarities were hard to find except that he was pretending to be homeless.

Well, even that is a feature that has little meaning at this point when everyone is homeless.

"The sniper you just caught? Was there a real sniper?"

"There is."

The man, whose whole body was tightly bound, let out intermittent moans as if he were trying to detach himself.

"Even though the gun was a toy gun."

I checked [character list].

Although he didn't have any particularly great stats or characteristics, there was one skill that stood out.

[Strengthen bullets.]

A skill that changes toy bullets into power comparable to normal bullets. It seemed that he was targeting us with this skill.

After hitting the man on the cheek several times, the man who suddenly came to his senses began crying and begging her.

"Sa-save me! Please!"

"Which group do you belong to?"

I slammed the pot on the floor next to the man's head and asked. After all, this guy is the one who tried to shoot on us.

I was wondering if I should pretend to torture him, but the man shouted in a fit.

"Damn, Beggar! Beggar Sect!"

He spit it out easier than I thought.

By the way... Beggars?

Jung Heewon asked if she had read my expression.

"A group you know?"

I subtly nodded.

There is probably no web novelist who is unaware of the concept of the Beggar Sect.

Because it is the name of the Bangpa that appears regularly in martial arts novels.

The Beggar Sect was a place that represented 'one of the old sects' in Murim.

That is to say, if it was set at a normal time, it was like that.

If there's a problem, I know that the 'Beggar Sect' doesn't come out in Omniscient Reader.

"Where are your headquarters?"

"That, that's..."

Jung Heewon, who was by his side, picked up a knife.

"Above, the location! It's hard to tell because it's so wide, but the main base is on the Seoul Station side!

"Who is the head of the group?"

"It’s Cheongae!"

Opening, Cheongae, Seoul Station.

The first two were never described in detail even when reading the book, but it was different for Seoul Station.

According to my memory, it is because Kim Dokja once monologued as follows.

「Still, that's cute enough. Compared to those in Chungmuro or Seoul Station.」

That was the only description of 'Seoul Station' I read in all of the novel.

I tried to think of other notes, but nothing particularly came to mind.

This is because the vicinity of Seoul Station was only mentioned, but no specific framework was established.

In other words, it means that Han Sooyoung did not convey it to me.

"Why were you spying on us?"

"Chew, the commander told me to keep an eye on the road to expand our power. That's really all. I didn't mean to hurt you!"

Looking at his expression, I thought it was real. After thinking for a while, I suddenly looked down at the man's waist.

Three knots hanging from the waist.

Look at this.

Looking at the knot, I pondered and asked the man.

"Can you specify?"

---

The man could only be released from us after repeated [oaths of existence].

The specifications were simple.

「About us, don't report it to the representative no matter what.」

The leaving man kept bowing his head this way and repeating his thanks.

[Currently, a number of targets have contracted the 'Oath of Existence'.]

[As the number of targets of the 'Existence Specification' increases, the power of the 'Oath' weakens.]

This is another penalty I didn't know about.

Maybe that's why they didn't make the 'Oath to Existence' often in the main story?

Jung Heewon, who watched him walk away, asked.

"Can we let him live?"

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' is startled by your behavior.]

"Do you think my judgment is wrong?"

"I just think it's Inho-ssi."

"There is a reason I saved him."

Perhaps that group has already obtained permission for [group chat].

In other words, there was a high possibility that the man did not give information to nearby group members the moment he was caught by Jung Heewon.

In other words, in some way, the information has already been passed on to the other group.

"It's not an ordinary group. The hierarchy within the organization has already been established."

"A hierarchy?"

I explained about the knot tied around the man's waist.

Originally, the group called 'Beggars Sect' is the group of 'beggars' in martial arts novels.

Unusually, they reveal their rank with a 'knot' on their waist. For example, regular members have one 'knot'. Buntaju-class knot 'three'. Dangju's level is the same as 'five'.

"That person had three knots. That means he's on the Buntaju level."

"What is Buntaju?"

"That… In terms of a company, you can roughly think of it as an assistant manager or a manager."

"Isn't it high?"

"Yes, but it is important that there is a rank."

As far as I know, there are up to nine open knots in total.

Just now, since that guy was in the middle ranks, it means that there are six more levels above him.

It's only in the early stages of the scenario, but it was truly surprising that they had already created a group of that size.

"Is this a group created by people who like martial arts novels?"

"It could be that way, or-"

It could be that the constellation is related to Murim.

Either way, it was an opponent that could not be good because we were now hostile.

Above all, 'Kim Dokja' had a group comparable to Chungmuro, so it must be judged that they have at least ten medicines.

Of course, this side has Jung Heewon, but Jung Heewon's real skills are displayed when dealing with monsters rather than people.

"What if he brings a gang? He said he swore, but you never know."

"It'll be all right if he comes."

"Yes?"

If they still come to attack us, then it is a war with clear intentions.

"At that time, you'll be free to kill them."

I wondered if I had made a great remark, but Jung Heewon smiled.

"I like that."

Somehow, it felt like a very bloody duo was created.

I replied with a wry smile.

"Then let’s set off. Did you say Yoo Joonghyuk went north?"

"Well, there’s one thing I didn’t tell you about earlier," Jung Heewon added, scratching her cheek.

"That person, Yoo Joonghyuk, said one more word before he left."

I thought it might be. Yoo Joonghyuk looks cool on the outside, but he is secretly a guy with a lot of lingering feelings.

"The current Cheon Inho cannot be recognized as Cheon Inho. But-"

"But?"

"If we recruit a person as a colleague, he says he will think about recognizing you as 'Cheon Inho'."

It's not about acknowledging me, thinking about acknowledging me is also good.

"The mad butcher... he said you would understand."

"A mad butcher?"

A sentence came to mind.

Apparently, there was one incarnation with such a nickname.

["One of the 100 strongest people in Ways of Survival, the 'Mad Butcher', eventually evolved from the 'Crouching Figure'.]

Surprisingly, however, this person was only mentioned once and passed by. After that, it is not even mentioned whether he is dead or alive.

It's the 100 strongest people in Ways of Survival...

After all, Han Sooyoung didn't tell me this, so there's probably no mention of it.

By the way, Yoo Joonghyuk is looking for that mad butcher...

The story turns out in a fun way.

"Anyone you know?"

"That's what I've heard of."

As soon as I was about to say, "I don't know him," I felt a slight pain in my head once again.

[A new skill is active]

New skill?

「'Mad Butcher' was born at 'Seoul Station' that day.」

A thought that came to my mind.

Since when was it?

Goosebumps slowly formed on my forearms.

It wasn't a sentence that I came up with in particular, nor was it a sentence that originally came out in 'Omniscient Reader'.

It wasn't even a setting I made, and it wasn't a sentence I would write in the future.

[Exclusive skill, 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World' is active.]

That is the story that Kim Dokja loved more than anyone else.

It was a sentence of 'Ways of Survival'.

628 Episode 15 Doorbell (1)

「Baekindohae No.89. 'The Mad Butcher'. Full name unknown. Age unknown. From Korea.」

'The Mad Butcher' has been active in a variety of ways, from <The Devil's Tournament> to <Gigantomachia>. Some nebulae tried to recruit him several times, but it is known that he worked solo to the end, and disappeared in the 90's scenario.

His combat power, which entered the 'state of madness', competes for the top among incarnations, and there is also a record that he clashed with Ranbir Khan of India and engaged in a bloody battle when the giant tale <Mahanaraka> was opened.

The Mad Butcher, who haunts the scenarios like a ghost in search of the enemy who killed his comrades, always wore a 'skeleton mask'. It is said that no one knows the true face of the butcher behind the mask.」

—Bicheonhori 『The 100 Strongest』

---

We went straight to Seoul Station.

There were two main reasons.

One is to find the 'mad butcher' mentioned by Yoo Joonghyuk.

And the other.

[You are currently in the 'Wanderer' state.]

[You must obtain a flag within the next two days.]

Because it was the timing to acquire a new 'flag'.

If I wasn't going to participate in 'The Battle for the Throne', I would have maintained my status as a wanderer and searched for other ways to survive... But since this world was in the 41st turn, I had to prepare for it just in case.

Suddenly, Yoo Joonghyuk could do something strange, or strange guys like the Misreading Association could appear.

If they ever claim the 'absolute throne', this turn will be ruined.

"Are you sure the butcher or something is in Seoul Station?"

I nodded my head at Jung Heewon's question.

"Yes. And there are probably hidden flags around here."

How did I know that?

「Near Seoul Station. There are hidden 'white flags' around Huamdong and Namyeongdong.」

The moment I made up my mind to 'go to Seoul Station', the above sentence naturally came to my mind.

All of them were the effects of the newly acquired skill 'Ways of Survival'.

[Exclusive skill 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World' is activated.]

I hadn't figured out the exact way to use it yet.

I knew how to turn the skill on and off, but there was no function to find the content I wanted or to read a specific conversation of 'Ways of Survival'.

It was just that whenever I thought of something or did a certain action, a specific content of 'Ways of Survival' came to my mind like a game help. Of course, even that alone was a great help.

Seeing how I started to hear the sentences of 'Ways of Survival' right after I met Han Sooyoung, I wondered if Han Sooyoung had given me this skill.

But for what reason?

I don't know.

What is certain is that I now have the information of 'Ways of Survival', and because of that, I have an overwhelming advantage over other readers and apostles.

That's it.

We quickly descended southwest to Seoul Station.

Foreigners can often be found when passing through Myeongdong, which is famous as a tourist destination.

It was not exactly foreigners, but the bodies of foreigners.

Most of the scattered corpses were devoured by lower monstrous species and couldn’t be recognized.

We walked, trying to avoid the scenery.

"Wow, this street has changed like this. Have you been to Myeongdong often?"

"A few times when I was in college."

"I used to work part-time at the theater over there."

Jung Heewon pointed to the half-collapsed building and said.

"I'm sure there was..."

In less than a month, Seoul as we knew it was now erased from the world.

As if a new story could only begin when that world collapsed.

"This is where whirlwind potatoes were sold at a really high price. And lobsters."

"Have you ever eaten them?"

"Never. How can you buy something so expensive?"

Streets filled with stalls and crowds of merchants were now covered with corpses of monsters and humans.

"It smelled good, though."

"I know, right?"

The Myeongdong that Jung Heewon remembers and the Myeongdong that I remember will be different.

But now we are standing together in the ruins of Myeongdong, yearning for the street food we thought we would never be able to buy and eat.

"Inho-ssi."

"Yes."

"If you are going to Seoul Station, can I stop by Huamdong for a while? It's right nearby."

Huamdong.

According to 'Ways of Survival', there is a hidden place with a white flag there.

I nodded and asked.

"Do you have anything to see there?"

"There's a place I'd like to stop by."

Places that survivors of the coveted world might want to visit.

I knew where it was without even asking.

---

The past history of Jung Heewon does not appear in 'Ways of Survival'. To be precise, even Jung Heewon is not mentioned. Because she wasn't the main character.

However, the past history of Jung Heewon was not properly dealt with even in 'Omniscient Reader', where she was a leading role in her own way.

Well, it wasn't just Jung Heewon.

The story of Lee Hyunsung's military service was not mentioned, the story of Lee Gilyoung's mother was omitted, the dead puppy of Shin Yoosung was hidden, and the story of Lee Jihye's friend was minimally described.

After all, if it was Han Sooyoung who wrote this story, and <Kim Dokja's Company> was the one who told her story, then why aren't their stories introduced in Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint?

It wasn't hard to guess why.

Perhaps <Kim Dokja's Company> is from Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

Maybe they thought this wasn't their story.

After all, that story was Kim Dokja's story.

"It's here."

The place she guided me to was an apartment for a military unit facing a back alley.

"How many years has it been? It's very old."

"Did you come after a long time?"

"I left home when I was in high school. Didn't I tell you?"

It may or may not have been heard.

"Actually, I didn't want to come, but... I was on my way to Seoul Station."

Did someone remove the bodies? The entrance leading to the parking lot of the apartment was left with only bloodstains.

The apartment security room was smashed as if a monster had pushed it through. The windows on the veranda were broken as if they had been shelled.

Watching the curtains sway through the cracked glass, I thought about the things that had disappeared.

What happened to all the people who originally lived here?

Did they also go through the first scenario? Had they gone through the first scenario, would they have killed their own family, or would they have knocked on the door next door and put a knife in the neighbor?

I don't know what tragedy happened here.

I was afraid to find out.

「There is a 'white flag' nearby.」

But there is a white flag here, and we must take it. Yes, we will be able to buy tomorrow and the day after tomorrow.

We'll see the end of this damn world.

"This is the house."

Jung Heewon's house was on the 5th floor of the apartment.

I said to Jung Heewon, who was giggling in front of the front door.

"You don't have to go in."

She said she didn't like her family. But even such a family is, after all, a family.

"Heewon-ssi has done enough to come this far."

Old-fashioned sense of duty and guilt. Somewhere in between, Jung Heewon had a lost expression.

Then, for an instant, a firm determination appeared on Jung Heewon's face.

"I'll at least check."

She is also a strong person.

She knocked on the front door a few times and thought for a moment, then she raised the door lock cover and started typing her password.

Beep beep beep. Beep beep beep.

When it was wrong three times, the door opened.

"It's still there."

As soon as she opened the door, I could feel the damp, stagnant air. The smell of a house that hasn't been ventilated for over a week.

Jung Heewon did not take off her shoes as she entered without hesitation. She didn't ask who was there, she didn't even call their name.

I followed her, but after thinking about it for a while, I took off my shoes at her front door.

I took off my shoes next to other shoes, neatly arranged like a towel in a royal palace.

Sneakers were visible.

Probably no one is in this house. I had such a feeling.

Jung Heewon returned with a slightly relieved face, as if she had already looked around her house.

"I don’t think you were both at home."

Was that fortunate or unfortunate?

I do not know.

Perhaps Jung Heewon doesn't know either.

I don't know who the people who lived here were. However, it seemed that they were not the ones who cooked food at home.

I couldn't find food waste in the sink, and I didn't even see a garbage bag.

Jung Heewon stood at the living room window and looked out of her window for a moment.

"You can see the apartment across the street. I lived there when I was young."

"Then, I moved to a mountain village across the street. I've been to the front line, and I also lived in Yongsan for a while. Soldiers move apartments regularly."

Jung Heewon's father was a soldier.

When I was young, I had a friend who had a military father in Jingu, and I had heard a similar story.

"When the place of dispatch changed, I moved to a new neighborhood, and my younger brother and I worked hard to follow my father. If we could adapt, he would move, and if we couldn’t adapt, he would move. After my mother ran away, the cycle accelerated."

Jung Heewon drew a circle on the foggy, dusty window.

"Speaking of, the atmosphere of the neighborhoods is all similar. There is a military base nearby, and there is a unique refugee-like smell of families following soldiers. It is a site where soldiers live, so the government does not give expensive land. If it's Seoul, I wonder if there's a place like this in Seoul... That's why I left the house. I was so bored."

The circling finger stopped.

"I'm tired of those people."

Jung Heewon slowly turned her head and looked around her.

Above the calf-length living room cabinet, I saw a framed family picture. In the photo, there was a middle-aged man in military uniform, a young Jung Heewon, and a boy who appeared to be her younger brother.

Seeing that he was wearing a graduation cap, it was probably a photo taken at the boy's primary school graduation ceremony.

Jung Heewon took out the picture in the frame.

"But when I went out, society was the same."

Looking at that picture reminded me of my parents' faces.

My parents were good people.

They were really good people that I can't describe.

「But Lee Hakhyun didn’t miss them that much.」

I don't know why.

Is it because it's strange that I was born as the child of such good people, or...

「It must have been because I had the impression that it didn’t feel like my life.」

It may be due to the influence of reading too many novels since childhood.

I always read books when I open my eyes, and I lived writing stories.

The place I've lived all along is the world inside the text.

It was a world of light and darkness ruled by dragons, swords, and magic.

「Is that why? Lee Hakhyun has always lived his life with the feeling that he is living someone else's life instead.」

Cheon Inho's narrow eyes were visible on the pitch-black screen of the TV, which was turned off.

A face that is not my face.

Even now I am living someone else's story.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' looks at your face.]

[Constellation 'The Prisoner of the Golden Headband' is curious about your thoughts.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' warns you to stop doing nonsense and go kill other people.]

I put my hand on my face reflected on the screen.

Was the Cheon Inho that I now possessed once someone's child?

Was his family there?

I first thought about the life of a villain who messed up the 40th turn and disappeared.

Where did Cheon Inho's original soul go?

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' feels sorry for you.]

Jung Heewon finally raised her head.

"That's okay. Let’s go now, because this is not our purpose for coming here."

I nodded.

Jung Heewon must have been listening to the message that was ringing in my ears from earlier.

[There is a 'white flag' hidden nearby.]

[The closer you get to the location of the white flag, the shorter the message sending interval.]

There is a 'white flag' somewhere in this apartment.

"I don't think it’s at home."

First of all, it is not in Jung Heewon's house.

By measuring the dispatch interval of the message, it is possible to locate the flag.

At this close distance, the only place I could immediately suspect was... next door.

"I think this is this house."

We stood at the old front door and looked at each other for a moment.

Jung Heewon asked first.

"Should I ring the doorbell? Or should I break it?"

"If there were people inside, they would have captured the flag right away and this message wouldn't ring."

"I see."

"But just in case."

"Which one is it?"

We rang the doorbell of an empty house at the same time.

Of course, there was no reaction from people.

We thought together with a wry smile.

Still, isn't this the humanity we can find in this apocalypse?

But the next moment.

Click.

Someone opened the door from the inside.

629 Episode 15 Doorbell (2)

---

We tensed and exchanged glances.

The sound of hinges resounded ominously. The door was open, but no one came out to greet us.

What lies beyond may be a terrified family member, or a neighbor with a knife trying to harm us.

If that's not the case.

"Who are you?"

The voice of a nervous child. We immediately opened the door.

Through the wide open front door, I saw a scruffy boy. He had a short stature and plump body and cheeks.

He was a kid with a big mole on the bridge of his nose, who looked like he was about 13 or 14 years old.

"Ahhh."

The child, startled to see us, backed away.

Jung Heewon lightly raised both of her hands toward the child.

"Hey, it's okay. We don't want to harm you."

After saying that, she whispered a little to me.

"Probably the kid who went to the same school as my brother."

"How do you know?"

"Dots... No, I remember seeing him on SNS."

She probably recognized the boy by the mole on his nose.

Hearing that, the boy's eyes widened. In an instant, the grouchy boy glanced back and asked us.

"Do you know me? Who are you?"

"Where are the adults? Are you alone?"

"All adults…"

The spotted boy cried and approached step by step. Perhaps feeling sorry for such a boy, Jung Heewon bent down and looked at the child.

Is it because I am Lee Hakhyun or Cheon Inho that I wasn't agitated throughout the entire time I looked at the scenery?

「How on earth did this child survive the first scenario?」

With five steps left, I opened my mouth.

"Little boy."

The boy looked up at me.

I kindly narrowed my eyes and asked.

"Can you not do that?"

Before I could finish my words, the boy dug into Jung Heewon's arms. I reflexively pulled Jung Heewon and stepped forward.

Fortunately, the boy's kitchen knife was blocked by my 'reinforced exterior suit'.

Seeing the kitchen knife lying on the floor, the frightened boy banged his butt.

"Ah, aaaaa! I-I didn't do that on purpose! I was ordered to! I did it because I was told to do it!"

Was it a trap too?

Jung Heewon asked.

"Inho-ssi, are you okay?"

"It's okay, Heewon-ssi."

"Why don’t you listen?"

I said, looking at her right hand, which was already touching the hilt of her sword.

"At least you have to hear the story."

If I hadn't stopped her, the boy would have been cut.

Realizing that fact belatedly, the boy sat down on the floor and stepped back, dragging his butt.

I laughed and bowed like a good cheater.

"So, who made you do this?"

I didn't even have to ask.

No matter how you look at it, it really didn't look like someone ordered it.

To be precise, "Shoot! hurry!"

It looked like 'the one this guy ordered'.

Bang! Bang!

At the same time as the spotted boy's command, a gunfire was heard.

A menacing warning shot. Pieces of broken concrete fell from the ceiling.

Three boys and girls stood beside the spotted boy who quickly stepped back.

Two of them are holding guns.

It was the K-2 used by the military.

The proud spotted boy opened his mouth.

"Did you see it? It’s real weapons."

When I smiled at the threat that continued like a flow of liquidation, the boy warned me with an expression of silence.

"Five counts from now."

Count to five.

And my questions are four.

"One."

Where the hell did these kids come from?

"Two."

I'm self-sufficient, why didn't even Jung Heewon notice the children?

[The consonant tone method (breathing concealment) is activated in the area.]

It's the consonant method. Alright, the second question is solved.

"Three."

How did these kids dig these traps?

"Four."

So far, how many people have you killed?

"Five. Just kill them."

I activated [Incite] and converted 'thought' into 'Hercules's shield'.

[The special skill 'wide area defense' is activated!]

The barrels of K2, which had been turned into continuous fire, spewed fire all at once.

Too-ta-ta-ta!

It is a wide-area defense that has withstood even Gong Pildu's [mini turret], why can’t it just block a normal bullet?

When the bullets fired in succession began to bounce off the shield and make the wrong place in the house into a beehive, the startled children stopped shooting with a scream.

I rushed over and took the guns from the kids. Even if you look at it, it was not difficult to subdue them because they did not have high overall abilities.

The spotted boy shouted as the situation turned against him.

"Hey, now! Get rid of him!"

For an instant, the back of my neck felt cold.

There was something flying fast through the air. It wasn't as fast as the bullet, but I raised my head reflexively to avoid the attack with unusual energy. The attack that pinged and brushed the ball was embedded in the wall and vibrated violently.

It was a chopstick filled with magical power.

When I turned my head, I saw a fifth boy with a spoon holder there.

The boy was unusually wearing a skull mask.

Skull mask?

Perhaps he did not know that I would avoid the attack, but the boy stared at me with agitated eyes and stood firm.

The spotted boy said in an annoyed voice.

"Can't you get that right too?"

"Sorry."

"Throw it back!"

"…There's a cooldown."

Hearing that, the button must have been pressed, and the spotted boy huffed and cursed.

The spotted boy approached with excited steps and struck the skull boy in the stomach and face.

Even then, as if his anger was not resolved, the spotted boy looked back at me.

"You're being kind. But this time you picked the wrong person. Do you know who we are?"

At the words of the spotted boy, the other children, who were shivering with a lot of shrinking, changed their expressions one by one.

As if the words were a 'wide-area defense' to protect them.

"That's right."

"Even the soldiers can't touch us! My sisters and brothers are all dead now!"

Where the hell do these kids come from?

The first question I had was now to be resolved.

A spotted boy with a dark smile waved a knot hidden around his waist.

It was the same knot as the sniper Jung Heewon subdued at the Complaints Building a few hours ago.

The sniper's knots were three, but the spotted boy had five.

Feeling Jung Heewon approaching, I opened my mouth.

"These kids, they’re from the Beggar Sect."

I don't know if she heard me or not. However, Jung Heewon passed by me and walked away.

"That's right. It's our Beggar Sect. Do you know who I am? It is said that I am at the level of the head of the Beggar Sect. You're dead now-"

"Get out of the way"

Jung Heewon, who pushed the spotted boy as if he was in the way, opened her mouth as she walked toward the skeleton boy.

"Jung Eunho."

The moment I heard the voice, the atmosphere went cold.

Is the Jung Heewon I know right there right now?

Was Jung Heewon a person who could make such a bloody expression?

"Take off the mask. Are you Eunho?"

It was the children who reacted first.

Contemplative boys and girls looked at each other with anxious eyes and muttered.

"Who, who are you?"

"Do you know Eunho?"

The boy wearing the skull mask stared at Jung Heewon stiffly.

He twisted his head slightly in disbelief and shook his hand holding the spoon holder.

The boy's eyes reflected through the mask shook violently. Then the boy's hand moved slowly to remove his mask.

Then there.

"...Sister."

There was a boy who looked very much like Jung Heewon.

---

rlaehrwk37: Oh shit.

rlaehrwk99: Is it real?

---

A miraculous reunion of two siblings who survived the hellish apocalypse.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' nods at the tearful sibling reunion.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' observes the situation with a complicated expression.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' says that the spots should be matched.]

If it was normal, it was the timing for the planned new wave to unfold. Tears and runny nose spilled out, the brother and sister hugged each other, brushed off old love and hatred, and realized true family love.

It should have been, but Jung Heewon's family was a bit unusual.

"What the hell have you been up to?"

In spite of Jung Heewon's insistence, Jung Eunho silently lowered his head.

I carefully looked at the skull mask in Jung Eunho's hand.

「The butcher, who searches for the enemy who killed his comrades and went through the scenario like a ghost, always wore a 'skeleton mask'.」

Does that mean that Jung Heewon's younger brother was the 'mad butcher'?

In theory, it was plausible.

'The Mad Butcher' is one of the few incarnations with the characteristics of 'Crouching Figure' mentioned by Kim Dokja.

Jung Heewon also had the 'Crouching Figure', so it was no surprise to me that her younger brother had the same attribute.

Then let's check it out by myself.

[Currently, the skill 'Character List' is being updated.]

[Currently, the skill cannot be used.]

No, at least now?

"Who made you do this? Can't you speak sooner?"

Jung Heewon's cool eyes turned to the spotted boy.

The spotted boy was struggling on the floor with his hands, feet and mouth bound.

Impressed by the reunion of her brother and sister, there were tears and a runny nose on the guy's plump face.

"Sister."

Jung Eunho, who glanced at the spot with an indifferent eye, asked.

"Why are you here? Are you here to check if I'm dead?"

"What?

"Don’t come back. This is no place for sister."

A faint sense of rebellion and emptiness coexisted in Jung Eunho's face, who slowly raised his head.

"It's a different situation than when my sister ran away after beating up my father. Do you still think that sister is the boss of the house?"

"Hey, what are you doing now?"

Jung Heewon, taken aback by her brother's bombshell remarks, suddenly looked back at me.

"No, Inho-ssi. This... it's not that."

I smiled and shook my head as a sign of ok.

Looking at the situation, I seemed to know what had happened.

Of course, children shouldn't hit their parents.

However, I also thought that if someone like Jung Heewon had done such a thing, there must have been a reason.

Jung Heewon sighed lightly and asked.

"So. Where is daddy now?"

"Dad."

Jung Eunho hesitated for a moment before saying with a sigh.

"He’s in the Beggar Sect."

"Beggars?"

"That's the name of the organization I belong to."

"It's strange."

"That person is not a person who will readily join any organization. How's the army doing? What about the apartment people? Dad was a soldier. There must have been subordinates."

At the word 'military', Jung Eunho’s eyes flashed a dark light.

"All caught in the Beggar Sect."

"My father is not a man to be easily caught."

"My original dad would have done that."

Original dad. The nuances in those words were peculiar. However, Jung Eunho's continued words were even more bizarre than that.

"It's as if he is already dead. He's not my dad anymore."

Not his dad?

"The world was destroyed, and the sick suddenly became like a different person."

"What do you mean? Did that person hit you again?"

"No. It's not like that."

The figure of Jung Eunho sighing lightly with Jung Heewon was like a brother and sister.

"Daddy went mad all of a sudden."

"Crazy?"

For a moment, I thought I knew what had happened to Jung Heewon's family.

Jung Eunho, who slowly turned his head toward the window, saw the ruined apartment building in his eyes.

It rained.

Traces of the scenario that left this world in ruins.

However, it may not be the scenario that destroyed Jung Heewon's family.

"Did the novel become a reality, or was it impossible for something like this to happen... He said strange things. Until then, I just thought that my father had gone out of his mind for a moment."

The scenario was brutal, but at least kind.

Like a visitor who rang a doorbell, he introduced who he was, told them what was to come, and taught them what to do.

But he also had unfriendly guests.

Those who came to this world without any kindness or knocks.

"But when the scenario started and I met dad again, dad abandoned me and ran away alone. I cried and chased after him, but I will never forget what my dad said then."

His face rubbed against the cracked veranda window.

I turned my gaze completely to see the boy's face smoldering on the edge of the glass.

A boy wearing a skull mask.

"Everybody saw him."

A boy who had lost all of his family's history in an instant was talking.

"He said he had to find 'Kim Dokja' from now on."

Apparently, a 'reader' possessed Jung Heewon's father.

630 Episode 15 Doorbell (3)

---

"Kim Dokja?"

Hearing the words 'Kim Dokja', Jung Heewon glanced back at me.

She must have remembered me and the other apostles saying that name.

「Jung Heewon doesn't know that we are possessed.」

Jung Heewon only knows that the apostles and I know the 'future'.

But she, too, seemed to have noticed our quirks, instinctively.

He said, "Do you know that name?"

At her brother's question, Jung Heewon shook her head.

"No, just. Did Dad say anything else?

"Even I don't remember everything. Things like knowing the future, saying that this world is about to end... There's no time to take care of me, so he told me to survive alone somehow. The uncle from the next door and the soldiers from the house below also followed my dad. Do you remember Sergeant Kim and Sang Hyun? In fact, some of my dad's predictions were right."

I thought about a reader possessing Jung Heewon's father.

That, too, would be the result of trying to live elsewhere.

There was no way he could have realized that he was someone's father when he was suddenly thrown into the world of a novel while reading it.

Even so, the boy in front of him lost his father because of it.

Kim Dokja once said something like that.

Great destruction is not the only destruction. What really kills someone is a small destruction.

Perhaps, for me and the readers possessing this place, it may already be a disaster for the natives of this world.

"Then, in the second scenario, he was caught by the Beggar Sect. I haven't seen him again since. I heard that he was locked in the basement of Seoul Station…"

Jung Heewon's father struggled hard in his own way, but in the end it seemed that he was defeated by the indigenous forces.

Perhaps it was a natural result.

Even this is an area that is not even properly introduced in Omniscient Reader.

It was a miracle that he managed to pass the first scenario and survive.

Jung Heewon asked.

"So, why are you in the Beggar Sect? You said they took dad? But why are you under that organization..."

Seeing Jung Eunho hesitant to answer, Jung Heewon's eyes narrowed.

"You can't."

"Because that kind of dad is also my dad. I don't abandon my family like my older sister."

In a voice tinged with faint anger, Jung Eunho continued to speak.

"Maybe one day his memories will come back. Maybe being my dad again might not be such a good thing."

Only then did Jung Heewon, who understood her younger brother's words, click her tongue.

"So you went in there and killed and looted other people? Are you really sane?"

"It was the only way. Sister must have killed someone to survive the first scenario."

Only choice to survive.

Who can confidently refute this scenario in front of the boy's justification?

"Me and everyone else here. They're all just struggling to survive."

The children knelt down and huddled in the back while sobbing.

"Sorry. Please forgive me."

"I won't. I won't do that anymore."

I know that it’s a lie.

If we leave, the children will plunder and kill people again using the message of the 'White Flag' as bait.

Jung Heewon sighed lightly and asked.

"Where's the flag?"

Then Jung Eunho sighed as well and pointed to the master bedroom.

"There."

The looting of the children ended here.

The children also bowed their heads as if they knew that fact.

"Look after the children. The next time they get caught, I’ll really kill them."

With her warning, the children's shoulders trembled.

As Jung Eunho said, when I opened the door to the master bedroom, I saw a white-colored flag planted in the center of the room.

[You found a hidden white flag.]

Taking that, we can now create a new group.

"Hey! Stop it! You can’t take that away, you all go for it!"

It was the spotted boy wriggling on the floor who said those words. The boy shouted desperately as if he had managed to remove the towel put on his mouth, and the boy exclaimed desperately.

"Stop! Stop it quickly!"

"Wonshik-ah."

"Shut up! You ten years old!" cried the struggling, agitated spotted boy.

"Release this right now. I'm going to kill you. Have you forgotten who my father is? Do you guys think everything will be alright? Hey! Jung Eunho!"

"Wonshik. Let go of this once. She’s my sister."

"What are you saying, because she’s your sister?"

Unheard of by Jung Eunho, he urged Jung Heewon.

"Sister. If you're going to take it, take it quickly. In a little while, people will come up."

"Who will come?"

"I don’t know who they are, but it’s the Beggar Sect’s place here. Wonsik has already called the beggars. Even if he looks like that, that bastard is the son of Ark and in charge here."

"It doesn't matter who comes."

"I know that you are strong, but... It is impossible for even you to deal with the entire Beggar Sect. And Ark is a really ridiculously strong person. He is truly a master of martial arts that can fly through the sky."

A real martial artist.

I suddenly became curious.

It's not some kind of Yoo Joonghyuk, and common sense says that there wouldn't be such an incarnation at this time.

Why are there Murim people in Korea in the first place?

"Inho-ssi."

I was troubled.

Curiosity aside, it was not the right choice to collide with them here.

We have two purposes for coming here.

One is to find the 'mad butcher'.

The second is to get the white flag.

At the point where the 'Mad Butcher' was presumed to be the younger brother of Jung Heewon, we could see that our goal had already been achieved.

"Let's take the flag first."

"Inho-ssi should take it."

"Are you okay though?

"Anyway, I don’t even know how to use it."

This time, I did not refuse Jung Heewon's concession.

This is because the flag was an item that must be obtained in order to perform the 'King's Road' scenario.

"Then I will have it."

It was the moment when I entered the living room with Jung Heewon that I got a strange feeling.

The place changed to an achromatic color with a cool sensation.

It was the snowfield.

[The activation conditions for the skill '□□' have been met.]

It's been a while since I've seen it.

Time stopped. I reflexively looked around, but I didn't see anything strange. Jung Eunho and the other children did the same.

So what?

It was then that I noticed a red line coming through the crack in the window of the broken room.

A laser scope.

Someone is sniping here.

Fortunately, there were no major concerns.

I had the remaining probability points, and I had the confidence to write a plausible sentence necessary for escape.

Getting out of this kind of crisis...

[The state of the exclusive skill, '□□', is unstable.]

[The 'Snowfield' cannot be activated.]

[The skill is locked.]

What?

The scenery around me changed, and I heard the sound of something being fired in the distance.

Shit.

Reflexively, I hugged Jung Heewon and laid her aside.

But there was someone who moved before me.

"Sister!"

Jung Eunho, who discovered the laser scope, threw his chopsticks in the exact direction where the red line flew.

[Incarnation 'Jung Eunho' activates 'Throw Lv.2'!]

[Incarnation 'Jung Eunho' activates 'Attack Enhancement Lv.2'!]

As soon as the chopsticks were pulled out of the window, the entire building shook with a deafening roar.

It was no ordinary sniping.

Someone fired an anti-battery rocket that was at least equivalent to an RPG.

When we barely opened our eyes in the acrid dust, we could see the landscape of the horribly broken inner room.

The frames of the broken windows were jagged, and the floor of the soft master bedroom on the window side was completely smashed.

On the roof of the building on the opposite floor, we saw a sniper aiming at us. The moment our eyes met, I was startled.

It was a familiar face.

「"Chew, the deployment manager told me to keep an eye on the corner of the road to expand Bunta's power. That's really it. I didn't mean to hurt you!"」

Before coming here, the sniper, who had been released near Chungmuro, made it impossible to speak about us due to the [Oath of Existence], so he decided to kill us instead of returning to Seoul Station.

It was a mistake.

I wasn't letting go of him by trusting a clumsy [Oath of Existence].

"Heewon-ssi, it’s okay."

Red light flowed from Jung Heewon's whole body after shaking off the dust.

She was looking at her own brother who had fallen to the floor.

Jung Eunho collapsed while holding onto his stomach.

I quickly checked Eunho's wound and stopped the bleeding. His bullets must have been poisonous, and the skin that the shrapnel passed through was stained with a dark red light.

[The character 'Jung Heewon' activates 'Ghost Slayer Lv.4'!]

Jung Heewon ran downstairs like a roaring master.

Shortly thereafter, screams rang out from the ground in the opposite building.

"Uh-uhh-!"

A completely different movement than when dealing with the children. As their limbs were severed and blood spurted out, the man roared at her.

"Here, here! Kuaaaa!"

As if they had already called in reinforcements, dozens of beggars appeared near the entrance of the apartment. It looks like a reinforcement who ran after receiving [group chatting].

Jung Heewon's eyes, burning red due to the effect of [Ghost Slayer], looked back.

It was then that a barrage of bullets flew from somewhere.

Doo doo doo!

Threatening shots directly directed at the beggars.

"Aagh!"

The beggars who had been hit by the bullets were frightened and secretly bit the battle line, and soon a signal was sent.

"Retreat!"

Let's lead the dead beggars and quickly retreat out of the apartment.

A group of our soldiers appeared on the road leading to the underground parking lot.

"Stop shooting!"

All of them must have been camping for a long time, their faces guilty.

Jung Heewon, who had just finished off the sniper, landed on the first floor of the apartment. The moment the soldiers and Jung Heewon were about to engage in a fierce confrontation, a man came forward when he called the soldiers from the front.

It was a man with a red flag tucked in his waist.

"You... aren't you Jung Heewon?"

Jung Heewon's eyes softened a little as she looked back at the man.

"Sergeant Kim?"

---

The group of soldiers was the remaining troops led by Jung Heewon's father, Jung Moonho.

They said that they were carrying out guerrilla activities to rescue Jung Moonho, who had been captured by the Beggar Sect, and were wandering around the apartment where Jung Heewon was staying.

"You're alive. I'm so glad."

Sergeant Kim held onto Jung Heewon's hand with one hand and wiped his eyes several times.

"Sorry. Mr. Jung is..."

"I've heard about it."

Jung Heewon withdrew her hand with a confident face and immediately asked the necessary question.

"How is Eunho?"

He was shot by the sniper.

Jung Eunho was still unconscious.

Although I hurriedly fed him with 'Ellain Forest's Spirit' and applied short-changing medicine, it wasn't a wound that could be healed to that extent.

A medic had been attached to him since earlier, supplying him with a constant supply of mana.

However, as time passed, Jung Eunho's complexion only worsened.

"Sorry. I don't think he'll be able to survive today at this rate." The voice of a helpless medic.

My thoughts were similar.

For a wound like this, he needed to borrow the help of someone like Lee Seolhwa or use Murim's elixir.

Even if it wasn't Shaolin's Great Rejoice, it was a wound that could only be healed with a summons level.

[This product is out of stock.]

Is this out of stock again?

I searched the 'dokkaebi bag' and looked for other elixirs.

If it's a summons level, there should still be quite a few products.

[This product is out of stock.]

[This product is out of stock.]

All of them were out of stock, as if they had made a promise.

Come to think of it, even Kim Dokja in the main story rarely purchased elixirs through the 'Dokkaebi bag'.

Usually, these elixirs are occupied by incarnations with a constellation of narrative grade or higher as their background.

The ambiguous level of elixirs are already used by constellations who want to raise their incarnation.

After flipping through the purchase pages for a long time, I was able to find a low-grade elixir.

| |
|---|
| *Mine Team - Inventory 3 |

After reading the description, I found that it is a replica of 'Mahondan', one of the three great elixirs of <The 1st Murim>.

First of all, it bothers me that it is a replica, but if it has the same side effects as the real Mahondan, that is also a problem.

「If you eat it as it is, you'll get choking fever and all the blood vessels in your body will burst and you will die.」

This is because Yoo Joonghyuk had made this warning in Omniscient Reader.

In other words, if this is fed incorrectly, Jung Eunho will end up bleeding from poison rather than being cured.

"There is no way right now. I wonder if the blessings of the constellations are there?"

Listening to the medic's words, I stared blankly up at the sky.

The sky, which would normally have been noisy, became deserted today.

Damn, I think there were still a lot of viewers when Yoo Joonghyuk was there.

There might be constellations watching, but I knew without asking that they wouldn't help this boy.

A star who would sacrifice his probability to bring back a boy they had nothing to do with does not exist.

The only thing worth looking forward to was his sponsor, but no matter how I looked at it, Jung Eunho seemed to have no sponsor.

"Inho-ssi."

"I'm thinking about it."

What is needed to save Jung Eunho is the 'Summoning Squad'-class medicine.

If I cannot purchase it from the 'Dokkaebi bag' and cannot expect support from the constellations, there is no other option than to visit <Murim> directly.

However, the minimum condition to enter <Murim> is to acquire a 'Personal Scenario' after breaking through the 10th scenario.

In other words, it was impossible to do anything as of now.

However.

That <Murim>. Maybe it's closer than I think.

"You there."

I called the children who were trembling in the corner.

"Is it true that there is a Murim master in the Beggar Sect?"

"Is there a master of Murim?"

"I heard he flies in the sky and uses martial arts?"

"Ah! That's right!"

The children looked at each other and nodded.

Then Sergeant Kim, who had been listening to the story, spoke up.

"It's true. There are people like that."

"Are you sure?"

"I've even seen them fight. Especially Ark and the three below are monsters. Those farmers dealt with monsters with their bare hands and smashed dunks with their fists. Bullets don't work at all. Our unit was also devastated by the beggars."

A person who could tear monsters to shreds with his bare hands and not work as a gunsmith could definitely be called a Murim man. It is also of a high level.

With common sense, I can’t understand why there are such people in the current scenario.

I didn’t, but…

"They might know how to cure Eunho."

"Let’s go to them right now."

Jung Heewon spoke with the momentum that would destroy <The 1st Murim> as well.

"If you go, you will fight."

"I'm going to fight."

Certainly, Jung Heewon was strong.

It's because she's strong enough to hunt even 7-th grade monsters by herself.

However, the opponent was not a monster, but a human, and even a group.

"Heewon-ssi! You must never go. If you go, you will definitely die. Sergeant Jung was also caught in the same way. Those guys aren’t human."

Sergeant Kim said in a terrified voice.

Jung Heewon made an impression.

"I can't give up Eunho like this. If no one goes, I'll go alone."

Right. That's Jung Heewon, but I can't leave her like that.

"Let's negotiate."

"Negotiation?"

"We can hand over our hostages and get what we want."

At the word hostage, the children's shoulders trembled.

Jung Heewon asked.

"Do they care about the hostages? They're only kids."

"At least one will care."

I watched the spotted boy crawling on the floor behind them.

"You there. You said you were the son of Ark, right?"

I remembered Jung Eunho's words.

["Even if you look like that, that is the son of Ark. He’s in charge here."]

Then the trembling spotted boy shouted.

"I, I, I can't! Oh, if I go to Daddy, I'll die. Please. Please."

I slapped him on the back of his neck and stunned him, then lightly put him on my shoulder. I don't know why this guy is so afraid, but anyway.

"Let's go to Seoul Station."

Even if it wasn't because of Jung Heewon's younger brother, I had to go to Seoul Station.

[You have become an unknown representative!]

The Beggar Sect.

An unknown group occupied the Seoul Station area at the same time as the scenario started.

Seeing that they did not appear in the 'absolute throne'’s war of 'Omniscient Reader', they are probably a group that was wiped out while fighting other kings.

By who? I don't know that.

But one thing is for sure.

[Currently, your target station is 'Seoul Station'.]

Even in this 41st turn, their end will not be very different.

631 Episode 15 Doorbell (4)

To put it simply, the Beggar Sect is the name of the organization where beggars gathered.

Usually, in martial arts novels, they are regarded as a group that symbolizes the best information power.

There was no way to know how it was described in 'Ways of Survival'.

So, all the way to Seoul Station, I repeatedly turned the skill 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World' off and on.

[Deactivates the exclusive skill, 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World']

[Activates the exclusive skill 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World'.]

If you look at it like this, you never know how the skill would react.

How many times did I repeat the same thing like that?

[The skill 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World' is irritated.]

The skill finally responded.

It was a bit of a strange reaction, though.

「...In the early days, the Beggar Sect was one of the strong organizations as one of the old sects of Murim, but it was swept away by the scenario area of the <Star Stream> and tilted a lot...」

Even the contents of Ways of Survival related to the Beggar Sect began to flow.

I think it's a bit deaf, but I wondered where it could be heard.

「New masters who learned the basics of martial arts accurately and quickly through the <Star Stream> quickly took control of Murim, and the 'Beggar Sect' was naturally pushed to the backwaters of the Yangtze River as it was weeded out of the competition.」

Huh. This is a story I know, but the story continued.

「The Beggar Sect, which originally reigned as the old sect of the <1st Murim>, eventually had to move to the <2nd Murim>, and then to the 3rd Murim>, and there are several secret stories related to this.」

Is it the feeling of moving from a large square to a small square?

I read on and on.

「At the time of <The 2nd Murim>'s relocation, the dragon's ark of the Beggar Sect and the elder, Sageol, gathered beggars and made a resolution to engrave the true spirit of Jungwon in a new place.」

Even if it wasn't for the 'little master' who appeared in front of the signboard that day. Also, the three-gyeolgae of the Beggar Sect who rolled the gatekeeper that day made rude remarks after seeing the height of the master. Even if they didn't, their window method would have ended safely.」

Little master?

「On that day, all the doors of the Beggar Sect were opened by the white-blue Kyrgios. The surviving dragon head ark and the elder envoys grabbed the flowing Betga porridge and fled to <The 3rd Murim>.」

The story did not end there.

「After that, the dragon head ark and the envoy led the ruined breakwater and settled down in <The 3rd Murim>. Having lost even the morality of the political faction due to the shock of Kyrgios, they turned to Sapa, which was ruined anyway, and tried to make a new start.」

Unfortunately, even if the pacheon swordsmen who appeared in <The 3rd Murim> hadn't started 'death swordsmanship', they would have managed to be reborn as useful sappers.」

At this point, I wondered if the place called Beggar Sect was a bit pitiful.

To sum up, it was broken by Kyrgios in the 2nd Murim, and had their sword castle broken in the 3rd Murim...

After that, there is no record of what happened.

I beat the skill and turned it on again to find additional records.

「Yoo Joonghyuk replied as if he was bothered by Kim Namwoon's request. "If you want to know more, find out for yourself."」

An odd sentence came out.

Why are you doing this all of a sudden?

Is it broken?

"What's wrong?"

Jung Heewon asked with worried eyes as if my expression was strange.

I added quickly.

"It's nothing."

I thought that perhaps the 'Beggar Sect of the Murim area' could be related to the Beggar Sect of this place.

Due to the structure of the scenario, there was little chance of real Murim people here, but if there were still descendants or related constellations...

I caught a glimpse of the soldiers following us and the children on their backs.

The one I particularly paid attention to was the spotted boy.

Even if the other guys are like that, what is he so afraid of when his father is the ark of the Beggar Sect?

"I can see Seoul Station."

Well, we'll find out soon.

---

Goh Jangwon was sitting on the stair landing of Seoul Station. Looking at the beggars lined up in front of him, the village official wondered why he had become like this.

Age twenty three.

My favorite thing is to read martial arts webcomics.

I have a girl I love.

Apparently, until a few weeks ago, the sentences describing him were those things.

He had taken a leave of absence before enlisting in the military, and was an ordinary college student who was contemplating whether or not to confess to his classmate, whom he secretly had a crush on for three years.

—Uh, I like webtoons too. What do you read?

—I like web novels more than webtoons.

—A web novel?

—Do you know Omniscient Reader?

So, that was the reason he read the novel.

—Omniscient Reader?

—It's Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, a novel I read these days. I read it 8 times.

—I like novels too.

A novel he read to share even more words with the girl he had a crush on.

A week before his enlistment, he went straight through Omniscient Reader from chapter 1 to chapter 551, and the next day he fell asleep with a thrilled heart, delusional that he would confess to a girl using the words of the novel he had read. He also decided on a message.

"Youngin, we can date, you know?"

And when he opened his eyes again, he was enlisted in the army.

—Gaaaaagh!

Screams and roars of monsters roared everywhere. Gojangwon cried, trembled, barely remembered the story in the novel, and luckily survived..

—Dad. Where are you? Dad!

He threw away the boy who called him daddy.

He felt remorse, but it was restrained for him.

When he suddenly opened his eyes, he was a soldier, an old man in his late 50s, and even a daddy.

There were enemies aiming for him everywhere, and monsters popped out.

It was a daunting situation to protect his own body.

Fortunately, he knew the contents of this novel.

In order to somehow survive, Goh Jangwon recalled the sentences he knew.

Coincidentally, people nearby followed him, and his personal connections worked effectively.

Thanks to this, he became the commander of an army with Mipil's soul.

"I need to meet Kim Dokja."

From the moment he realized his possession in the novel until now, Go Jangwon's goal has been one.

You must meet the main character of this story.

Only then can you get out of this story and can return to reality.

So, the chieftain went around spreading information that he knew the future.

It was because of the calculation that Kim Dokja would surely return.

—You know the future?

However, there were people who came to him before Kim Dokja.

A group that introduced themselves as the Beggar Sect.

ORV is not a martial arts novel, and he wanted something else, but when he woke up, the soldiers who followed him were beaten in an instant by the masters of the Beggar Sect and were in a desperate state.

It was the first time he knew that a staff was such a formidable weapon.

The beggar holding a baton smeared with human blood and flesh placed his hand on the chieftain's shoulder and declared his affiliation.

—This is the place of the 'Beggar Sect' from now on.

Exactly that far, the content of Omniscient Reader Viewpoint was a failure.

"That's why the soldiers took Wonsik with him. He was also shot by a sniper and he's coming this way now."

The beggar prostrated himself in front of him, trembling.

Watching that scene, Go Jangwon felt like he had become an obvious abbreviation in an obvious story.

Before, these villains all ran away because of Kim Dokja or Yoo Joonghyuk.

But as of now, there was nothing else I could do.

If you do something stupid, you will be killed by the open ark before you even meet Kim Dokja.

Because this was the place to run away from.

"If it is Wonshik, is it the son of the Ark?"

"Yes!"

"The one to fight."

The assistant manager remembered the spotless little boy who didn't talk dirty.

Come to think of it, he also had a son. Although he wasn't his real son, he was the son of the person he possessed.

"Sergeant Jung Munho."

"What happened to that guy?"

When he thought of the boy who was running towards him, he belatedly felt guilty.

He wasn't ignoring the boy back then.

It was then that the shouts of beggars were heard from the entrance of Seoul Station.

"They're here!"

He could hardly guess who the people who came were.

Probably his subordinates, Sergeant Kim and the remaining troops.

Kidnapping the son of the ark must have been done out of anger, and it was highly likely that he had come to apologize.

Soon after, soldiers with familiar faces appeared.

"Sergeant Jung!"

"Chief Kim."

It was these guys too.

Go Jangwon… No, Jung Munho opened his mouth with the expression of a newly solemn Sergeant Jung.

"Long time no see."

"Are you okay? You must have been caught by the Beggar Sect-"

"I'm fine. More than that, do you have the son of the Ark?"

"Yes? Yes."

"Then give him back quickly and stop fighting."

"Yes?"

"It's scary when the ark gets angry. Didn't you see it too? They are masters who fly in the sky and beat people like dogs. We can't help it."

Sergeant Kim looked at Jung Munho and stuttered.

"Munho, did you really enter the Beggar Sect?"

Jung Munho nodded heavily.

"Okay. Come in here before it's too late. I have already prepared a place for you myself."

"How, no matter how…"

"Shouldn't people live and see? It's the yard where the president and the prime minister both died. Don't burn useless patriotism, and plan for the future here with me."

“No, why did you change your tone again!"

"My tone..."

He was going to tell him that if he were tortured by the Murim people for three nights and four days, this would happen, but there was someone who stepped forward, bypassing Sergeant Kim.

The moment he wondered who the striking woman with long hair and long swords was, a deep part of his chest was tingling and painful. Clearly he knew that woman. Not exactly him, but his previous body knew her.

"Dad. What are you doing there?"

Looking closely, behind the woman was the boy who called him daddy a while ago.

His stomach was rumbling, and his head was dizzy. What should he say?

Is he the reader Goh Sangwon or the character Jung Moonho? Why do they call him daddy and he should feel guilty?

"Hey, what's going on?"

A group of beggars were coming out of Seoul Station. Jung Moonho, who identified the leading beggar among them, jumped up from his seat.

They must not meet with the samurai.

"Heewon-ssi. Wait a minute."

It was then that a man stepped forward.

A man with a strangely smiling face in a white coat. The moment he looked into his eyes, Jung Moonho thought of his unrequited love, Lee Youngin, and a novel she liked, and he remembered a character drawn on the cover of the novel.

"Hey, hello. You're Heewon-ssi's father."

Exactly as he imagined.

Jung Moonho blankly listened to the man with his mouth open.

"If there is the Ark inside, please tell me."

It must have been.

"The disciple of Baek Cheongmoon came to visit."

Kim Dokja, whom he had been waiting for, finally came to the Beggar Sect.

632 Episode 16 Mad Butcher (1)

---

「"I'm not a mad butcher. But someone has to wear this mask. People want it."」

—The Mad Butcher

---

To begin with, my party and I bloodlessly entered Seoul Station without any restraint.

The open-air Seoul Station building had collapsed in the center and the ceiling was flat.

Perhaps a flying monster had appeared, or that something had fallen from the sky.

"Let's talk for a minute."

The one who guided us was Sergeant Jung Moonho, the father ofJung Heewon, who is now a guardian of the Beggar Sect.

He left the rest of the party at the shelter and led me to a small room inside the shelter.

"You worked hard to get here."

"No."

I don't know if my bluffing as a disciple of Baek Cheongmoon worked.

The only thing that is certain is that just before the Beggar Sect and I collided, Sergeant Jung Moonho and I intervened.

"First of all, I did not pass on the words of 'a disciple of Baek Cheongmoon' that you mentioned earlier to the upper ranks."

Jung Munho, who started the topic with those words, looked outside with nervous eyes.

"If you do that, we will start a real war, you know?"

A real war.

I don't know what kind of person Jung Moonho was in reality.

But with this, I can get a little idea of what kind of person our reader is.

[Exclusive skill 'List of Reader Comments' is activated!]

| |
|---|
| ID: rhwkd1123 |
| Platform: Series |
| Total number of comments: 2 |
| Reader Level: 4 |
| Number of complete readings: 1 time |

I knew it.

The father of Jung Heewon was a reader.

That's also a reader who read the novel completely 1 time.

However, this person managed to read only once and live up to this point.

Maybe it's because I've only seen monsters like Killer King and Ye Hyunwoo, but those who read one time look cute now.

What kind of words did he use?

It wasn't difficult to check because there were only two comments anyway.

> I'm enlisting soon, so will I be able to read it all?
>
> —Recommended 0/ Disliked 0
>
> (Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, chapter 1)

He read this novel right before enlisting?

So, was this person possessed prior to enlistment?

I thought he was a little pitiful, but when I thought about it, he was better than being possessed just before being discharged.

I also read the following comments.

> I read this novel because of the girl I like. I'm going to confess tomorrow.
>
> —Recommended 4/ Disapproved 3
>
> (The omniscient Reader's Viewpoint, chapter 551)

I seemed to know roughly what was going on.

To sum it up, he was going to confess to a girl he liked right before he enlisted, but he suddenly possessed a character in a novel that the girl was reading. It does feel the same.

"Isn't there already a war?"

But unfortunately, the world he possessed was not a suitable place for such a sweet title.

"Capture the Flag is such a scenario. People won't hesitate to fight with each other. They'll do anything to get what they want. That's acceptable in this world."

Saying it with my own mouth. I also thought that a lot has changed in that short time.

Only three scenarios made me this way.

Now, without using [Incite], I can state the reality shamelessly like Cheon Inho.

"The strong group will exploit the weak group, and the defeated group will be subjugated. People will die endlessly, and the scenario will flow. It becomes a world of entertainment, and the stars shine in the sky.

[The constellation 'The Prisoner of the Golden Headband' says that's the scenario.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' knows that anyone can ascend if they do not give up until the end.]

[A constellation that has not yet revealed their modifier smiles bitterly.]

For the stars who have lived in the world of scenarios, this logic is very natural.

But to the reader who was at peace until a month ago, this will not be the case.

"I, I, I can't. I can't watch people die anymore. This thing, this thing is so ridiculous."

Sergeant Jung Munho must have witnessed his subordinates being brutally beaten by the masters of Beggar Sect right in front of his eyes.

He must have felt that he would struggle to live. He would have made a choice he didn't want.

"Did you hide in the Beggar Sect because you were afraid of that?"

"It's not because I want to fight either. I..."

Sergeant Jung Munho shivered as he wrapped his arms around his shoulders.

I looked at him blankly and said.

"Slowly tell me what you really want to say."

"Yes?"

"Didn’t you set [Block sound wave] at most? Is there anything else you want to say?"

This is the place where 'block sound wave' is activated.

He must have something to say to me before the open ark finds out about this.

Jung Munho looked at my face blankly, and suddenly started to shed tears.

I said a little flustered.

"Don’t cry."

"Do you know how hard it was for me?"

Not all readers adapt to this world as brilliantly as Killer King or Ye Hyunwoo.

There were probably many more readers than that, and they would have died. And most of the survivors are probably in the same condition as Sergeant Jung Munho in front of them.

Sergeant Jung Munho, who managed to swallow his tears, asked in a trembling voice.

"K-Kim, Kim Dokja... is that right?"

"Yes?"

In an instant, I realized what misunderstanding he had.

Wait for a sec.

But how can such a misunderstanding be possible?

I didn't really use [incite], and I didn't even use 'Ever-changing Stealth Suit' with 'Thought'.

"Mmm, I knew it right away the moment I saw you from a distance. The white coat and the darkly smiling eyes! Plus the courage to confidently lie that you're a disciple of that man..."

"Uh…"

"You look a little different from the one on the cover, but... The cover of a novel is originally drawn differently from the truth. But was your hair color originally that flashy?"

The moment I saw Sergeant Jung Munho's earnest eyes, I realized what state he was in.

「However you look at it, I wasn’t Kim Dokja.」

Different hair styles and different appearances Even though my outfit is similar, it's easy to see that I'm not Kim Dokja after a little observation.

A reader who had read the novel properly couldn’t have not known it.

「But Jung Munho thought I was Kim Dokja.」

That's exactly what he decided to think.

For him, it was because I had to be 'Kim Dokja'. He lost the world he lived in while experiencing a sudden possession, and saw countless deaths. He lost his subordinates and abandoned even the children who called him father.

In order to survive, he betrayed his remaining comrades and surrendered to the enemy.

Somehow he managed to maintain a barely normal life, but that was the limit.

He was completely broken inside, and he needed someone to tell him that all this tragedy that beset him now was 'fake'.

He said he did nothing wrong, so let's get out of this terrible abuse.

A magic word that will return him to the position of 'Kim Dokja'. He wanted to hear that word from 'Kim Dokja'.

I slowly opened my mouth while looking at my reader.

"Jung Munho, please listen carefully to what I will say from now on."

Instead of telling him that I wasn't Kim Dokja, I briefly explained to Jung Munho what was happening in the world right now.

It was because he seemed to know nothing.

"T-there are other readers besides me who are possessing characters?"

Jung Munho, who opened his eyes wide, muttered 'Youngin' in a dazed voice, then suddenly raised his head and asked.

"Then have you met other readers?"

“Of course I saw them. Weren’t you invited to Kim Dokja's banquet too?"

"What banquet?

"Hosted by a guy named 'RepresentativeKimDokja'..."

"RepresentativeKimDokja? Who is that? Does he represent Kim Dokja?"

Judging by the look on his face, it didn't look like he was lying.

I wondered if there might be some readers who were not invited to the banquet, but Sergeant Jung Munho suddenly said with a small exclamation.

"Well, come to think of it, I've had dreams of going to the cinema all of a sudden..."

He must have been summoned while sleeping.

"Was that not a dream?"

"Yes, it's not a dream."

Sergeant Jung Munho, whose complexion was bluish, touched his face.

"So what am I going to do now? Do I have to live here?"

Was he going to die of old age after becoming a military grandfather?

Watching Jung Munho shed tears, a part of my heart felt salty.

If someone asks if this man is innocent, I can't help but nod my head in conviction. Anyway, he killed people, and he even ruined Jung Heewon’s younger brother...

"I-I now..."

I held onto the shoulders of Sergeant Jung Moonho, who was crumbling.

"Calm down. Please stop crying."

"Yes. Yes."

"Jung Munho, listen to me carefully from now on."

I am not Kim Dokja.

Therefore, I would not be able to do what Kim Dokja did.

"Soon there will be blood in this station. If the conversation goes well, it may not happen, but there is a very high chance that it will not work out."

But at least, wouldn't it be possible to save one reader in crisis?

"Shit, are you going to fight? But you're still in the early stages. You're not even a constellation yet. The open ark is really strong."

"Don't worry, I'll take care of that."

Looking at Sergeant Jung Munho's swaying eyes, I activated [Incite].

"Jung Munho doesn't have to fight anymore. He doesn't have to kill people or face monsters. Jung Munho just needs to play one role."

"That. What is that role?"

"Jung Heewon and Jung Eunho's father."

Sergeant Jung Munho paused at my words. And exactly after 10 seconds, he spoke up.

"I-is it Jung Heewon? Jung Heewon? That Jung Heewon?"

It seems he didn't know anything either.

"Yes, it's that Jung Heewon."

"Then what should I do now?"

Perhaps Sergeant Jung Munho of this turn was destined to die by Jung Heewon's sword.

But fortunately, 'Jung Munho' is a fake, and since he is a fake, there must be things that can be done.

"Do your best to be a 'good father'."

"A good dad?"

"Yes."

"That... how am I supposed to do it? I'm not married yet…"

A good father.

I don't know that either.

Such a story does not come out properly in 'Ways of Survival' or 'Omniscient Reader'.

I remembered the memories of Lee Hakhyun's days.

The people who made me, who had always wandered without being able to apply it to reality, live as 'Writer Lee Hakhyun'.

My parents, who helped me to turn a child's delusion into a work of art.

"No matter what she does, praise her for doing well."

---

While Sergeant Jung Munho practiced saying 'Good job' into the air, a rather unpleasant atmosphere began to flow in Seoul Station.

Hearing all the gossip everywhere, I feel like something is going to happen soon.

One of the members of the Beggar Sect that had been wandering from afar came up to me and asked.

"Are you a disciple of Baekcheongmun or something?"

Sergeant Jung Munho's face turned white at that question.

My words, which he did not report, seemed to have spread among the beggars.

The Beggar Sect seems to also be the best information power here.

"Follow me. The Ark is looking for you."

633 Episode 16 Mad Butcher (2)

Anyway, since I came this far, I had to meet the ark of the Beggar Sect.

Our goal is to find a cure for Jung Eunho.

If this place is really the Beggar Sect of Murim, no matter how degraded it may be, there will be some useful spirits.

Jung Heewon said.

"Let's go together."

"I'm going alone now. Please take care of Eunho in the meantime."

"If anything happens, call me right away, you know?"

I nodded.

If it was normal, of course I would have moved with Jung Heewon.

But this time it was difficult.

Because now I'm someone’s disciple, and Kyrgios's disciple isn't frightened by the Beggar Sect.

[NOTE 1]

"I'll take this guy with me."

I said, pointing at the spotted boy, our hostage.

The guy seemed to have resigned himself, but now he was in a compliant state.

"Go all the way over there."

At the end of the opening, I started walking along the path to the waiting room.

It was then that the spotted boy on my back opened his mouth.

"Mister."

"Uh."

"It's useless even if you take me. A person like me is worthless as a hostage."

I paused, then put the spotted boy on the floor and untied the knots from his hands and feet.

The puzzled boy looked up at me.

"Are you freeing me?"

I replied with a grin.

"You said you weren't worth being a hostage."

"I. Can I run away?"

"Do you want to?"

The spotted boy bowed his head.

After all, this boy knows it too. There is no place in this world for children to run away to.

Scenarios are hell everywhere.

The only thing this boy who didn't have great abilities could do was to dig a trap using his fucked up appearance.

"Your father, I heard that person suddenly changed."

The startled boy raised his head.

"How has it changed? Please explain."

"Just. All of a sudden, he was a completely different person."

"His appearance has changed?"

"His appearance is the same. The behavior of the homeless is the same."

The boy hesitated and continued.

"My dad was homeless, but he wasn't a bad guy. He ruined his business and went bankrupt and lost all of his money, but he wasn't one to hurt anyone."

The closer he got to the waiting room, the more the spotted boy stuttered.

"It all changed by touching that strange stone…"

Strange stone?

Soon after, the waiting room at Seoul Station, covered with a huge cloth, appeared.

It looked as if a relief camp had been set up in the center of Seoul Station.

Therein lies the Ark of the Beggar Sect.

I went inside and into the tent with the shivering spotted boy.

In the center of the tent, there was a huge stone on the floor, and just below the stone were the tables and chairs of the broken waiting room.

The ark of the Beggar Sect was sitting in one of the chairs drinking tea.

As if someone is enjoying this cataclysmic time leisurely.

Even knowing that I had appeared in the tent, he continued to sip his tea without being conscious of me.

"There's something strange about the tea here."

Then the four beggars who were guarding him bowed their heads.

"The tea I used to know doesn't taste like this."

"I'm sorry. That was all I could get here."

"It can't be helped."

The Ark sniffed once again.

"Just as the Murim we remembered has disappeared, the scent of the tea that people talk about has changed."

I felt like I was suddenly in the middle of a martial arts novel.

Obviously, the place and time are different. This place was far from Murim.

Even so, the moment he opened his mouth, this place became Murim.

No matter where he is, he is a being who can change the scenery around him with just his words.

"Don't stand there, come over and sit down. Welcome to the Beggar Sect."

This place is truly the 'Beggar Sect'.

I felt that way all over again.

"Excuse me."

I sat on the opposite side of the ark with a nonchalant look.

As I sat down, Ark asked, sipping a sip of tea.

"Why did you bring that child?"

The spotted boy who caught his gaze shook his shoulders.

I said as I lightly wrapped my arms around the child's shoulders.

"Ah. A hostage."

"Hostage?"

After all, no matter how you look at it, it wasn't the way he looked at his own child.

I added a word.

"You have a brave son."

Only then did the Ark's eyes change.

The Ark looked at the spotted boy carefully and said.

"All the children of the Beggar Sect are brave. Even with their grandparents and begging for food on the street, they take care of themselves."

"..."

"I don't know what you expected, but I don't think I'm going to give you any special treatment just because you're my son. From the moment you enter this group, the distinction between a child and an adult is meaningless. We're just beggars living under the same sky as a roof."

I said while holding the spotted boy's shoulder.

"Beggars are children, and adults are adults."

"From the point of view of the universe, the two are not very different."

It was a plausible statement to hear.

But that was not something that could be said from a human's point of view.

"From a star’s point of view, that might be the case."

The spotted boy said that his father suddenly became 'another person'.

[Exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated!]

<Character information>

Name: Myung Sewoon

Age: 44

Sponsor: The Last Ruler

Exclusive Attributes: Homeless (Normal), Murim (Rare)

Exclusive Skills: [Camping Lv.3], [Fishing Lv.3], [Verse Lv.3]...

Stigma: [Punching stick Lv.3]...

Overall stats: [Stamina Lv.25], [Strength Lv.25], [Agility Lv.25], [Magic Power Lv.25]

Comprehensive Evaluation: This person acts as a proxy for the will of the last ruler.

An incarnation with decent overall abilities.

However, what really bothered me was the comprehensive evaluation, not the comprehensive ability.

「A proxy of the constellation's will is.」

Is it some kind of possession? But can it?

There's no way a constellation-class existence could possess an incarnation from the beginning of the scenarios.

I tested my luck.

"Why is a constellation here? The last ruler. This place is not Murim."

Constellation 'The Last Ruler'.

If the record of 'Ways of Survival' is correct, the Beggar Sect was kicked out of Murim after being defeated by Kyrgios and the Pajeon Swordsman in <The 2nd Murim> and <The 3rd Murim>.

Then, the 'last ruler' refers to the last 'Ark' of the Beggar Sect.

There was no mistake.

In other words, what is controlling the incarnation in front of me right now is.

「The leader of the Beggar Sect that became a constellation.」

The Ark completely opened his mouth.

"You are an interesting young man. Did you find out that far already?"

The moment the Ark put the teacup down, the air around him changed.

I knew it instinctively.

The pressure I felt from the Ark right now was at least a '6th-grade monster'.

"Yes, I am the dragon head ark of the Beggar Sect."

Is it an illusion? With that declaration, it really seemed like the signboard of the Beggar Sect could be seen behind him.

Perhaps that is his story.

Murim's prestigious political faction, which has been around for over a thousand years, is the Beggar Sect.

I saw a flag flying behind his back.

A purple flag.

The flag of 'Capture the Flag' starts with white, passes through red, indigo, brown, and purple, and finally ends in black.

However, the ark in front of my eyes obtained a purple flag not long after the scenario began.

I don't know, but all the representatives of the Seoul Station area must have died at the hands of the Beggar Sect.

It's such a horrifying growth that even Yoo Joonghyuk would be wary.

I was genuinely curious.

If he appeared in 'Ways of Survival', then by whom did he change his name?

I spoke calmly.

"I don't understand. Why did you rush into the incarnation's pastime with the stature of a great star?"

In fact, from the existence of the possessed body of the constellation in this initial scenario, the probability of the scenario should not allow this to happen.

"It's a great star. You seem to know a lot about constellations."

The Ark laughed.

"Are you also a being who knows the future?"

I wanted to faint for a moment.

Come to think of it, Sergeant Jung Munho was caught and said that he blew on this and that.

"That friend told me an interesting story. This world is actually in a story, and we are all characters in that story."

No, what are you talking about, dear reader.

"I thought it was an interesting analogy. I've often had similar thoughts."

Fortunately, the famous ark of the Beggar Sect seemed to accept reality as it is as a metaphor.

"If this is really a story, what kind of story will remain of my 'Beggar Sect'? Is the history of the 'Beggar Sect' over now? Is it remembered as a den of mere beggars that is no longer talked about by people?"

It was a voice of deep remorse.

A faint scent wafted from the half-remaining dragon's teacup. It had such a faded scent that it was hard to tell what kind of tea leaves it was made from.

"I just took a chance. A chance to start over again. A chance to stir up the narrative once again and the Beggar Sect to be remembered in the <Star Stream>."

Got a chance. By whom?

Who can provide the probability that the existence of a constellation class can interfere at the beginning of the scenarios?

I don't know.

All I know is that I have to stop this crazy beggar.

"Then you came to the wrong place."

"I also gave up a lot in return. Can you feel the status of a constellation from me now?"

I thought it was strange.

The Ark was obviously strong, but he wasn't comparable to a constellation.

If he really had the status of a constellation, the moment I met him, I would have burst out of my limbs, unable to withstand the pressure of the story.

"Let's get to the main topic. Hey, I heard you're a disciple of Kyrgios."

The Ark's eyes sank coldly. I knew it instinctively. This confrontation is real from now on.

"Can you prove it?"

Of course, I am not his disciple, so there are no mortuary tablets or holy relics to prove it.

But.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.5' is activated!]

Fortunately, I know a real disciple of Kyrgios.

「I am Kim Dokja.」

The moment I thought that sentence, I felt like I had truly become a disciple of Kyrgios.

I was not afraid of anything.

The smallest is the greatest.

And I want to hit Yoo Joonghyuk in the back of the head. Perhaps they felt the atmosphere, and the complexion of the beggars lined up behind the Ark changed.

The last point was [White and Blue Steel], which LiteraryGirl64 passed on to me.

[The exclusive skill 'White and Blue Steel Lv.1' is activated!]

Sensing bluish magic flowing from my body, Ark opened his eyes wide.

He said, "You really were Kyrgios’s disciple."

The beggars who were guarding him from behind were also greatly agitated.

"Really, his apprentice came here... do you know what that means?"

A subtle sense of intimidation spread subtly.

I grinned.

"I know. And I know that my acquaintances have been strengthened through your actions."

"So?"

I wanted to be able to say this.

But my mouth is already out of my control.

Because I was that Kim Dokja now.

"Give me the Summoning Team Sirog."

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' is amazed at your spirit.]

Kim Dokja, the living voice of Omniscient Reader.

"Summoning team? Why did you come to the Beggar Sect to find Shaolin's Elixir?"

"If there is no summoning group, the suicide squad or whatever is fine. In any case, give me an elixir that can heal internal wounds."

The ark opened his mouth as if he was dumbfounded by my words.

"Is that all?"

"No, I have one more business."

I also wanted to cover my mouth.

What was in front of my eyes was a crazy constellation turned into a beggar, and my head could burst if I kept talking.

However, I was very firm.

"Give me that flag, too."

Because I was a crazy Kim Dokja now.

"Otherwise, next time our master will find this place himself."

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' nods happily.]

Note [1]: Let’s change the strange name from before to Kyrgios. Lee Hahkyun is now pretending to be Kyrgios’s disciple.In other words, there is no need for an escort.

634 Episode 16 Mad Butcher (3)

---

If you don't give me what I want right now, I'll call my master.

At my simple declaration, the stars in the sky could be heard chattering.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' smiles at your courageous spirit.]

[The Constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' nods intriguedly.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' asks who the teacher is.]

[A constellation that has not yet revealed their modifier makes an interested expression.]

[A constellation sensitive to the fashion of Murim is excited about the return of Kyrgios.]

Of course, everything I said was bullshit.

Because I wasn't really his disciple.

But now I was in a state of [inciting] myself to be Kyrgios's disciple, Kim Dokja, so I was confident in avoiding any [Lie Detection].

But instead of using [Lie Detection], the ark of the Beggar Sect sent me a silent gaze.

"Are you threatening me now?"

"I'm not threatening you, I'm telling you the truth."

"If I don't give you the elixir, will you call Kyrgios?

"I'm sure you didn't hear me, but I'll say it again."

I answered in a high-pitched voice.

"One summoning class elixir and your flag. Please give me both."

"..."

"If that's the case, I think you've enjoyed the early scenarios. At this point, let the incarnations on the stage and return to the audience."

"..."

"The era of the old faction is over. This is not the stage you lived in."

There must have been a change of emotion because of my words, but I didn't see any emotion on the face of the ark of the Beggar Sect.

To be honest, I was a little surprised.

No matter how great a person is, even if they lose all of their status, is a constellation still a constellation?

A being who has built up a story by defeating countless competitors and enduring distant scenarios.

Angry on his behalf were the four men staring at me from behind the ark.

It was the beggars.

Apparently, they also knew the secret story between Kyrgios and the Beggar Sect.

There was a sentence that came to mind out of nowhere.

「There was always an elder 'envoy' by the side of the deployment of the Dragon's Head Ark.」

Maybe they are the things recorded in Ways of Survival.

Apparently, they don't seem to be possessed by a constellation, and if the envoy's story was put in with some kind of secret technique—

"You're Kyrgios's disciple."

As I kept silent, the ark finally opened his mouth.

"I also know that my stage is over. This era is not my era, and the Murim I remembered is nowhere. The Beggar Sect of the most brilliant era was destroyed just before by your proud teacher."

Unexpectedly, he readily acknowledged his situation.

"I'm still afraid of your master. The level he reached will never be reached even if I die and wake up again and again."

I thought of Kyrgios Rodgrim.

「A being born as a mortal and attaining great status after ceaseless diligence. A man who refused the seat of a constellation and achieved transcendence by confronting the sky.」

Although I had never seen him before, just thinking about that sentence gave me a little sense of the despair that the Ark in front of me would have faced.

In an instant, a circuit of hope began to turn in my head.

Maybe with one shot of this lie, I can get the elixir and the flag smoothly.

Could it be?

"But that's why your threats don't work."

Damn, then it is.

"Kyrgios can never come here."

"Why do you think so?"

The Ark smiled. It was a melodious smile that covered the surroundings like unpleasant moss.

"Because he is too strong."

Kyrgios is too strong.

It was a fact I knew too.

Indeed, because of that, Kyrgios couldn't defend 'Peace Land' in the sixth scenario, and had to watch his own planet be destroyed.

"All beings with mighty personalities have powerful stories. However, to intervene in the scenario here, they must let go of the stories they have lived through. But no being in the world dares to make such a choice. Except for me."

Only then did I find the reason why he, who is a great person, can maintain his possession on an incarnation.

I seemed to know.

In order to come here, he sacrificed the stories he had accumulated over many years.

Just as Yoo Joonghyuk chose to regress, the ark laid down all of his history to start the 'scenario' once again.

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' grabs his tongue.]

[Constellation 'Bald General of Justice' goes to the place where the children play and asks what the senile Byul is doing.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' shakes his head.]

I could see the fiercely twinkling stars through the open ceiling of Seoul Station.

However, despite the scoldings from the constellations, the ark remained calm.

"That's funny. Are those who are afraid to put down the story they have, and don't have the confidence to create the next story, so they just stay there, have the right to criticize me?

[Some of the historical-grade constellations criticize the attitude of 'The Last Ark'!]

[A small number of great people-class constellations hold their tongues at the idea of 'The Last Ark'!]

"If you are dissatisfied, come down here too. If you have the courage to drop everything you have and start over from the gutter of the scenario."

[The constellation 'two-legged expert' laughs at the guy who doesn't even have a few stories for talking fluently.]

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' points out that honestly, it's like reincarnation.]

[The constellation 'Flying Dragon' declares that courage is praised, but don't expect coin sponsorship.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband watches the battle of nerves of the great constellations.]

Just as the audience on the stage becomes a spectacle for other spectators, the Ark has now become a prey for other stars.

Still, the Ark was smiling.

As if he was much prouder of himself on the ground than the stars in the sky.

"It's okay to criticize me. I will start anew here. Once again, I will regain the Murim of that time and the Beggar Sect of that time. I am still 'The Last Ruler' and my story will continue here."

[NOTE 1]

Perhaps it is to abandon the status of an omniscient reader and become a character.

It could be something similar.

I heard his story flowing quietly into my ears.

「"Kyrgios. I will meet him again someday, and I will surely be recognized."」

「"The Beggar Sect is still strong. It's not a group weak enough for you to ignore."」

The three waves of history he lived through were felt intact.

A story no one has ever read.

It was the story of an extra who was pushed to the periphery by the main characters of Murim.

「"Why can't we be like them? Why did heaven allow only Kyrgios and Namgung Minyoung to exist in a special way?"」

「"I will become a constellation. I can sell all my martial arts. If only I could stand side by side with the stars in the sky."」

「"Stars of the great nebula. I will gladly become your servant, so please give me the blessing to ascend to the throne."」

Just as Sergeant Jung Munho committed himself to the Beggar Sect to survive, the Ark threw himself into a giant nebula to survive.

But he realized too late that it wasn't the story he wanted.

「"Have you endured that humiliation just to be at this height?"」

He even broke the beliefs of his time as a human and became a constellation. However, when he became a constellation, there was a scenery that could be seen.

Above the historical-grade was the narrative-grade, and above the narrative-grade was the myth-grade.

Even though he had finally risen to the top of the sky, the end of the universe could not be seen.

The Ark, who had lived only looking at the sky, looked down at the ground for the first time at that time.

Becoming a constellation, forgotten human dreams came to mind.

The time when he interacted with and chatted with people who were thrilled by small incidents, thirsty for small enlightenment, and who live at most 100 years. He recalled the dazzling and suffocating mortal history.

"It's amazing."

The ark was watching me.

"Do you understand me? You’re a disciple of Kyrgios."

He was right. I understood him now. As a constellation, he understood another sense of helplessness and the deep emptiness he faced through thorough sentences.

His eyes drew a soft arc at me.

"How can you understand internal narrative, having lived through a short history of only a few decades?"

Words that seemed to have received some kind of consolation.

I laughed bitterly and shook my head.

"I know that threats don't work. You came back here to be that person."

The Ark nodded his head.

"Yes."

"It won't be easy. Just because you put down an enemy, doesn't really mean all the stories you've had are gone."

"What do you mean?"

"Even if you start all over again, the history of losing to my master or the Pacheon Sword Saint will not disappear."

Even if he makes a new Beggar Sect, the stars will not forget the old Beggar Sect.

They would only remember the miserable state of the Beggar Sect, being pushed to the periphery after being defeated by Kyrgios and the Fallen Swordsman.

The ark frowned for the first time.

"I can change it. I can make great achievements here and receive the attention of more stars."

The ark was uplifting like an old actor who was blinded by the scenario.

Certainly, given the circumstances, he deserved his confidence.

He had already achieved the 'Purple Flag' and had the 'King's Road' just around the corner.

The new Beggar Sect has grown steadily with Seoul Station as its base, and has already become an influential group.

But I knew.

「His failure was already recorded.」

He will not be the protagonist of the new world, he will fail to take revenge, and he will be forgotten.

It will be a story no one reads.

"At first, you were told I knew the future."

That's why, I.

[The exclusive spell 'Incite Lv.5' is activated!]

I decided to try what I do best.

"The reborn Beggar Sect will be a win-win in the early scenarios."

At this rate, the Beggar Sect was over.

The star that fell to the ground with a grand meaning will eventually be teased by the constellations and self-inflicted.

Beggars are displaced, only plunder and lies with left.

Children will die brutally to adults who are no longer fooled.

"The Beggar Sect will have an advantage over the other groups and end the 'Capture the Flag', and you will finally follow the 'King's way' and participate in the Battle for the 'Absolute Throne'."

"Of course it is."

As if he knew that, the ark nodded his head.

My story started here.

"But your luck ends there. You, who have to fight as an incarnation, suffer the penalty of not being able to borrow the power of a stronger background. It may seem like you're ahead of other incarnations right now, but before the fight of the Absolute Throne is over, you and the Beggar Sect will reach their limit."

"It can't be. The Constellations participating in this war are only great-"

"Among the participants in the War for the Absolute Throne is the disciple of the Pacheon Sword Saint."

At my words, the eyes of the ark shook profoundly.

"Is that true?"

I nodded and continued.

"You will be defeated by him. The Beggar Sect will fall, and you will end up in pieces. And beheading your broken body is an unknown incarnation waiting for you to fall."

I thought about the Beggar Sect that disappeared without a word in 'Ways of Survival', and imagined the 'mad butcher' who might have been here.

"Like that, the Beggar Sect will perish forever."

"It can't be! You're-"

"If you don't want to face that future, you have one option."

The ark’s eyes trembled. Even if he was calm, he seemed impatient in front of the word extinction.

"Do you mean to bow my head to Kyrgios’s disciple?"

"No."

I said with a grin.

"Do you want to make an alliance?"

"An alliance."

"Pass the flag to me and we'll be a group."

Sparks flew in the eyes of the ark that was blankly staring at me.

"To me now, you dare…"

The waiting room began to vibrate faintly. A spark that bounces thinly. Even though he played around like this, he was still a constellation in the sky.

I cut him off before his anger took over.

"You said you wanted to build a great story that would suit the new Beggar Sect."

I know what he really wanted.

「"Kyrgios. I will meet him again someday and I will surely be recognized."」

The Constellation that wanted to surpass Kyrgios more than anyone else, wanted to be acknowledged by him.

So now he will have a hard time resisting this temptation.

"If you hand over the elixir and flag of Murim that you have to me."

All I can give you is a lie that's nothing.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.5' is activated to the limit!]

But if he believes me.

"The 'disciple of Kyrgios' that brought you down will gladly be defeated by the Beggar Sect here today."

This will be a new story.

Note [1]: 'Ark' ≈ 'ruler'.A constellation that puts down all their stories and returns to the beginning of the scenarios.

635 Episode 16 Mad Butcher (4)

---

The disciple of Kyrgios would be willing to lose to the Beggar Sect here today.

That word brought a heavy silence in the waiting room.

The Ark's pupils trembled with deep agitation, and the beggars guarding the back also widened their eyes.

The spotted boy who was sitting next to me holding his breath looked up at me wondering what was going on.

I still do not affirm the 'Beggar Sect'.

Still, I was moved by their stories.

I felt a certain charm in this material that was abandoned without being read properly. At least as a writer who read, wrote, and helped with the sentences of this world, I wanted to write their story because even one line would be good.

The Ark, which pondered the meaning of my words for a long time, asked.

"Will you lose? What does that mean?"

"Let’s fight."

"Fight?"

"Yes. In the way of Murim."

The Ark nodded.

"You mean you're going to lose to us in the fight?"

"I didn't even say that."

The ark narrowed his eyes at my whirling answer.

But looking at me like that won't really look inside me.

Because that's the advantage of a narrow-eyed character.

"What are you…"

The moment the Ark, who had bitten his lips, was about to open his mouth again.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' says it’s an interesting idea.]

The stars of Seoul twinkled.

[The constellation 'Two-Legged Expert' sarcastically says that the Great Beggar Sect will reject the offer.]

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' is interested.]

[The constellation 'Marine Admiral' feels nostalgic for old martial arts.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' likes to see the baton method after a long time.]

[The constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' says that he also likes martial arts.]

[A few constellations who remember Murim recall the Beggar Sect and the Kyrgios’s fight.]

[A bounty scenario has arrived.]

<Bounty Scenario - Fight>

Classification: Sub

Difficulty: C+

Clear condition: Win by fighting against the Beggar Sect that appeared in the 8612 planetary system.

Time limit: 3 hours

Reward: Murim's Lesser Elixir

Failure: —

I saw a scattering of emotions in the Ark's expression, the feeling of being back on this terrible stretcher once again. The feeling of helplessness that the coffin of the stars became a distance. And the old nostalgia that comes from the old tradition of the stars.

Now the table is set, and all that remains is his decision. Counting the stars in the sky, the ark, who had been raising its head in awe, finally opened his mouth.

---

In conclusion, the ark accepted the proposal to fight.

With the constellations even offering a bounty scenario, he must have had no justification for refusing.

"We'll start in five minutes."

While the beggars were pushing the tables and chairs in the waiting room, I was re-reading the bounty scenario I received earlier.

Originally, it was a scenario that I would not have paid much attention to, but this time, the problem was the compensation for the scenario.

The reward for completing the bounty scenario is 'Lesser Elixir'.

The question is to what extent this 'lower' is 'lower'.

If it was a demon-level elixir full of impurities, even if it was received, it could not be used to heal Jung Eunho.

「Perhaps the Ark has a hidden elixir.」

Taking an elixir at the start of a scenario and securing a certain level of magical power is an old cliché in martial arts.

The problem is that getting the elixir from him is much more difficult than simply defeating the Beggar Sect. What would Kim Dokja do?

Perhaps, again, he said plausible nonsense, and the profit was taken as it was, and the Ark flowed to the plate of self-heating by eating the bone.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' expects your strategy.]

I'm not Kim Dokja, so I don't have the confidence to go that far.

I am the author Lee Hakhyun, and in the end, I have to solve this problem in the way of Lee Hakhyun.

"Good job. Good job."

When I turned around in shock, Sergeant Jung Munho was still walking around repeating the same words.

"Reader-nim."

I called Sergeant Jung Munho, thinking it was all right.

Sergeant Jung Munho, startled, looked at me.

"Yes."

He looked like a private in full military discipline.

"I think I need some help from you, reader-nim."

"Are you talking about the father role?"

"Please continue with that. This time, I'm asking you something different."

"What..."

"Are you good at fighting?"

Sergeant Jung Munho quickly hit the hammer, perhaps feeling an ominous feeling.

"It's not good. It's really bad."

"Good."

"Yes?"

"Soon there will be a fighting competition against the Beggar Sect."

"So what?"

"Please, reader-nim, be the first contestant."

"No, I can't fight?"

I said while lightly holding Sergeant Jung Munho's shoulder, who seemed to feel absurd.

"It's okay. You won't die. It's not a matter of life and death, so don't be nervous and try to get hurt as little as possible."

"No, if I lose then—"

"You can lose. Please lose."

"Yes?"

Early on, I saw Jung Heewon, Jung Eunho, and Sergeant Kim's party approaching.

After briefly exchanging glances with Jung Heewon, I looked around the waiting room.

The beggars who had heard the rumors were also gathering in the waiting room one by one.

The Ark stepped forward and said.

"Let’s start slowly."

Finally, the preparations of the beggars were over. A simple stage was installed in the center of the waiting room. The beggar in charge of being the referee went up to the center of the stage. It was about to start.

"There are three players each. It is a one-to-one game, and the first player to win twice wins. Any objection?"

"I don’t."

"You will regret it."

I laughed silently.

The Beggar Sect will do their best.

In order to defeat the proud pupils of Kyrgios and to avenge their past.

"You'll know when you see it."

"The first player on our side is one of the envoys."

After all, the beggars behind the Ark were the 'death'.

"I don't think it's the real deal."

"Yes, you are a sharp child."

Cheongae said as he watched Sageol go up the stage.

"He took the Fragment of the story that I had. I gave him the memory of one of the gangs, the Boggle Dog."

"You know he's not really a braggart."

"I know."

The ark nodded his head, and added after a brief pause.

"But if I believe so, he's a real braggart."

When the beggar in charge of being the referee raised his hand, Jung Moonho, who was in charge of our selection, went up to the main stage.

"The first match begins."

I was curious about the skills Sergeant Jung Moonho had.

Anyway, he is Jung Heewon's father.

Still, he must have at least one useful skill if he survived.

“Now, wait a minute. I really intend to fight him."

The beggar, who said he had received the memory of a braggart dog, rushed at him with a quick sound, ignoring Sergeant Jung Moonho's hand.

"Now, wait! Time!"

The stick he swung in an instant aimed at Sergeant Jung Moonho's head. Embarrassed, Sergeant Jung Moonho hurriedly withdrew his cup and waved his hands. Perhaps the beggar noticed the level of his opponent, but the beggar did not spread a vicious spray.

However, he overwhelmingly made fun of him, and when he was hit, he only picked and hit the sore spot.

"Ah! Aaaagh!"

Every time he was hit, Sergeant Jung Moonho jumped up and down like a rabbit. The beggars giggled at Sergeant Jung Moonho, who was beaten one-sidedly.

When Sergeant Kim cursed at the beggars, the beggars on the other side made mocking gestures.

I glanced back at Jung Heewon.

She silently watched her father fight. With her face devoid of any emotion, she put her hand on the hilt of her sword so she could get out at any moment.

"Ha, surrender! Surrender!"

In less than a minute, Sergeant Jung Moonho, who was black and bruised all over, surrendered.

The referee raised his hand.

"Stop the match! The first fight is the victory of the Beggar Sect!"

When the beggar smiled and lightly waved his stick toward the audience, the beggars onlookers cheered.

I jumped onto the stage and helped Sergeant Jung Moonho, who had fallen.

"Are you okay?"

"Ugh…"

"You're not hurt."

Sergeant Jung Moonho looked at me as if he was making a fuss. But you can't escape my eyes. In fact, he was barely injured.

I estimated what characteristics and skills he had through the information of Ways of Survival.

「[Strong Bone] and [Heavy Bone].」

After all, there was a reason this reader survived until now.

Obviously, his fighting ability itself is not outstanding, but one of the cool things is so outstanding that Lee Hyunsung is delighted.

As expected, I thought it was Jung Heewon's father, but suddenly the sentence of 'Ways of Survival' came to mind again.

「84th turn. Yoo Joonghyuk murmured as he watched the 'mad butcher' who did not collapse even after being hit by his sword.」

"You seem to have gotten bigger than the last time. Is it someone else?”

But he couldn't be sure. Strangely, his [sage's eye] did not work on that Mad Butcher.」

Sergeant Jung Moonho, feeling my gaze, asked.

"Why?"

"No, nothing."

After putting him on the bench, I went up to the stage, where the second contestant was already waiting.

"Are you second?"

"Is ark the second?"

The second contestant was the Ark.

He was, of course, an opponent I did not want to fight. Even with my eyes, I can see he is a stronger incarnation than me.

Even before the fight, the specs had improved, and the average overall ability had risen significantly.

I asked without showing any tension.

"How was the first match?"

From the moment the first match started, I couldn't take my eyes off the Ark's every move.

"You must have been disappointed. You probably didn't expect a performance like this."

To him, who was a master of Murim, all of this felt like child's play.

"It must be wrong to expect it."

But the Ark would not know.

That disappointment is also an intended emotion in this story.

"It can't be helped. The form of martial arts cannot be fully reproduced by a weak incarnation of the early stage of the scenarios."

"Of course it is."

"In that sense, why don't we change the way we fight the second match?"

"Change the way? How?"

"Since ancient times, there has been a fighting method that does not use internal energy at all. It is literally a fight to compete in the form of pure martial arts."

[The constellation 'Flying Dragon' is listening to your story.]

As if he hadn't expected me to make such a proposal, the Dragon Head Ark opened his eyes wide.

"You're quite an expert in martial arts. Did Kyrgios teach you?"

"I haven't heard it from Master, but I've heard that it's a fighting method that martial artists often prefer."

Of course it was bullshit.

If I had been the incarnation of a munchkin who drank the elixir from the beginning of the scenario, I would of course have chosen a melee battle using magical powers.

"How about it. If this is the way to fight, the weak incarnations of the early stage of the scenarios will be able to compete with the depth of the martial arts."

Even a comment that appropriately stimulates the nostalgia of the Dragon Head.

After thinking for a moment, the dragon-headed ark nodded.

"Okay. I accept the offer. I won't use my strength in this confrontation."

Watching the referee's hand slowly go up, I finished my preparations in my mind.

In fact, the reason I chose this fighting method was simple.

If it was a confrontation using my inner strength, I would lose quickly without even competing with the Dragon's Head Ark.

[Strength Lv.25 -> Strength Lv.40]

[Strength level greatly increases!]

[Agility Lv.25 -> AgilityLv.40]

[Agility level greatly increases!]

[Stamina Lv.25 -> Stamina Lv.40]

[Stamina level increases significantly!]

[Magic Power Lv.20 -> Magic Power Lv.40]

[Magic level increases significantly!]

[A total of 36,500 coins have been used.]

[A phenomenal coin usage achievement has been achieved!]

[15,000 coins will be refunded.]

However, the story is a little different if it is a confrontation that competes for 'pure physical ability'.

As if he knew my intentions, the dragon head ark held a sneer.

"Do you think you can beat me just because your overall stats went up a bit?"

"Yes. This alone will be difficult."

No matter how much I had the [White and Blue Steel], my skill level was only 1. However, if this wasn't a battle of inner strength through magical powers, I also had a good chance of winning.

If there is no barrier of mana management, it is because I can mimic the 'depth' of the person I want with a high degree of Probability.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.6' is activated to the limit!]

I slowly closed my eyes and thought of the person I wanted in my head.

And the next moment, my sense of awareness of my surroundings began to expand rapidly.

I recognized Seoul Station, Yongsangu with Seoul Station, the Korean Peninsula with Seoul, and the planet Earth with the Korean Peninsula.

I recognized the solar system, dreamed of the galaxy, and furthermore, an infinite universe without trillions of senses.

In a pale blue dot smaller than a speck of dust, I imagined the existence who imagines an infinite universe.

[The smallest is the greatest.]

As I slowly opened my eyes, the darkness of the universe lifted.

The dragon head ark was glaring at me with strange eyes.

"You bastard-"

Maybe he's seeing a vision of a familiar man in me right now.

「That day, a very short man appeared in front of the Beggar Sect.」

"Is this place the Beggar Sect?"

「The man opened his mouth in a low-pitched voice, as if he were appreciating his high education.」

"You look shabbier than I heard."

From now on, I am Kyrgios Rodgraim.

636 Episode 16 Mad Butcher (5)

Of course, just because I [incited] myself to be Kyrgios didn't mean I could freely use the real Kyrgios's skills. [Incite] is different from [Bookmark].

However, [Incite] had a more outstanding part than [Bookmark].

「While 'Bookmark' borrows only one skill from the person in question, 'Incite' could really become the character itself depending on the use.」

As long as I can fool everyone who sees me.

[The Exclusive skill 'Incite' is affected by the attribute!]

I thought of 'Kyrgios Roadgrim'.

A small race born on the planet 'Peace Land'. The strongest of the <First Murim>, the Transcendental person who the stars fear.

The person who became too strong to save his hometown...

With a tingling feeling, the image of Kyrgios in my head became blurry.

The amount of text I had was absurdly insufficient to become 'Kyrgios Rodgraim' with this alone.

Fortunately, I had good materials to stretch my imagination.

[The Exclusive skill 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World' is activated!]

[Skill synergy occurs!]

[The effect of 'Incite' is rapidly increasing!]

The sentences of 'Ways of Survival' began to flow into my head. Kyrgios's habits, hobbies, and things that he didn't even know were left as text. The expression he makes when he's angry. The gaze when looking at his disciples. The look in his eyes when he trains martial arts seriously. The smile he makes when he climbs high and plays the viola alone.

「Kyrgios Rodgraim.」

Everything written about Kyrgios was reproduced in my head, and the Kyrgios I understood was expressed again in my physical body.

「Kyrgios silently drew his sword.」

Unfortunately, what I did not have was his exclusive equipment, the Pure White Sword.

[Thoughts about almost everything mimicked the 'stick of Samyongdan'.]

But for now, this was enough.

「On the day when all the masters of the Murim were brought to their knees, the weapon Kyrgios was holding was a wooden sword for practice.」

The dragon head ark saw me, and I also saw the ark.

We lunged at each other almost simultaneously.

Kagagagak!

Two weapons colliding in the air.

Holding the old shotgun barrel, the Dragon Head Ark tilted its head and asked.

"You have a strange holy relic. Which star used to use the bamboo stick?"

"It is a Korean constellation called 'The Bald General of Justice'."

"It's a bit of a modifier, but the relic is excellent."

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' shrugs.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' wipes his head.]

"Now, show me Kyrgios's skills."

The baton of the ark moved.

Even though he didn't use his inner power at all, the batting stick wielded by the ark overflowed with sensible energy.

2nd baton method.

Dangdu Bongal.

The ark's exclusive unofficial baton method. Originally, the first batting stick, as the name suggests, was made to catch wild dogs.

「The beggars' nemesis was the dogs that fetched the discarded rice, and the beggars made a martial art to efficiently hit wild dogs to protect their rice bowls.」

Spot!

I twisted my body wide and avoided the batting stick falling on my head.

"It's quite good, but it's still clumsy."

The eyes of the ark wielding the batting stick were shining brightly. I was struck by those eyes with a wry smile that said that he would thoroughly tear down and evaluate each and every one of my movements.

The power of [Incite] spread throughout my body, and a clear sentence came to mind.

「Kyrgios's disciple starts training by sleeping on a bracelet at the same time as initiation, and learns introductory swordsmanship from the second year of wearing it correctly.」

In 'Omniscient Reader', Kyrgios's martial arts rarely appear. The only ones that appear are [Baekcheongganggi] and [Jeoninhwa]. It was because the others were meaningless to him, who had already risen to the ranks of the transcendental throne.

However, before transcending, Kyrgios also used numerous martial arts.

「Introductory Swordsmanship, White Blue Swordsmanship.」

I took a deep breath and sighed.

「Just pointing to a point in the universe.」

1st white-blue sword method.

One point.

At first glance, it was a simple stab. However, those who know the absurdity of this stabbing will never say that it is 'a simple stab'.

This is because Kyrgios's disciples repeat the same training for thousands of days for this one stab.

Only, to acquire a single sense.

「"It should literally feel like you're making a dot."」

Marking a single dot in the vast universe.

「"That way, the opponent will be able to appreciate the true value of this skill."」

My level 40 strength was condensed and I let out a scream.

One point is the beginning and end.

On top of that paradox, Kyrgios's question about the universe begins.

Little by little, a different color appeared in the eyes of the ark that greeted the point.

"It's clumsy, but it's definitely Kyrgios's swordsmanship."

As if the ark had waited, the shotgun barrel rotated. Even though he didn't use his inner energy, the shadow of the shotgun rose like a cloud.

Clouds of countless rising shadows buried a weak point of light.

Truly the pinnacle of the batting stick method.

But the stars didn't seem to think so.

[The constellation 'King Heungmu the Great' laughs.]

[The constellation 'The Two-Legged Expert' yawns at the boring confrontation.]

I know.

In the eyes of the constellations, our fight will be nothing more than a trivial clowning game.

For the super-strong who have mastered the subtleties of form, herbivory is nothing more than a standardized calculation method.

Nevertheless, the Dragon Head Ark was sincere.

He swung the batting stick with all his might, as if this insignificant fight was the life-and-death decision of a lifetime.

6 seconds of the baton method.

Foot structure.

A batting stick that ends up on the floor and is pushed up towards the sky.

I knew it the moment I saw this movement.

Whether it's a dog, a porcupine, or a groll, the representative of another station. Any creature hit by his baton would have died.

Then, as if performing a trick, the ark hit the fragments on the floor that floated in the air.

He hit it with a stick and sent it flying.

Sieeeeek!

Fragments of the broken floor shot at me like sharp arrows.

4th white-blue sword method.

Blue wheel.

Hold the sword positively. A technique that gently rotates a wheel to heat space.

Kyrgios’s defensive move to defend against flying arrows.

Several fragments that could not be fully blocked quickly grazed my forearms and thighs.

"That's funny. Kyrgios’s martial arts weren't like this at all."

However, contrary to what he said, a small smile was forming from the corner of the Ark's mouth.

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' makes an interested expression.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' feels an unknown charm in your battle.]

The constellations in the sky were watching our fight.

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' picks his nose, asking why they are so eager for such a trivial fight.]

[The constellation 'King of the Evil Stage' snorts.]

Of course, not everyone was in favor of this confrontation.

But there were definitely people watching this messy fight.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' is cheering for your fight.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is watching you.]

I realize that there are many stars in this world all over again. Perhaps there is no story that can satisfy them all.

But in the first place, this story was not for them.

[A constellation that has not yet revealed their modifier is watching your story.]

"Where do you take it!"

The bamboo stick and the dragon constantly collided. I was pushed back without even taking a deep breath at the series of consecutive attacks that flowed like water.

「"Walking is literally a way of walking. Keep in mind where you will and will not set foot. At one step that you think is nothing, someone dies and someone lives."」

In the midst of the sentences of 'Ways of Survival' that rushed in, I couldn't even tell if they were the words of Kyrgios or the words of the white and blue master who was older than Kyrgios.

「"The important thing is to know the weight of your steps. The lightest can be the most mirrorless. That is the paradox of lightness spoken of in Baekcheong."」

Only I heard the steps and walked.

"It's really strange. It's unlikely that it's the footsteps of an educated person."

A sloppy, incoherent backward step. But even with that step, I evaded the baton of the ark.

I swung the bamboo stick as best as I could. It wasn't important to move well.

Just as every sentence contains context, the movements are just a vessel that holds meaning to Murin.

For example, it is like a finger pointing at the moon.

Ark said, narrowing his eyes.

"It is a skill that you cannot use today. You are-"

Most of my beginnings were full of failures. That should be the case at the current level of [ Incite] now.

There was no way it could be reproduced at the same level as Kyrgios.

The Kyrgios I read was perfect, but my physical abilities were infinitely poor.

But now, the gap has actually reduced.

"Why—"

Now the ark was watching. The one man on the other side that my stick pointed to.

"No. He was faster than that. It was heavier and more terrifying."

The ark, repeating his monologue, brandished a batting ball at me as if possessed.

Every time my bamboo stick collided with his baton, it seemed like there was a knocking sound from somewhere. The landscape of the world changed along the trajectory of the weapon that cut through the air.

「The man he wanted to fight for a long time was beyond that.」

The Ark swung his baton again and again like a man trying to follow that fantasy.

Despite the dizzying pain that pierced my shin and torso, I gritted my teeth and accepted his attacks.

I wanted to protect his fantasy.

The expression on the ark's face was filled with joy.

If someone had seen it, it would have been a terrible performance. There is no place to run away to, so there is no place to run, and there are times when I stumble and hit the floor with a weapon.

However, the scene of rain unfolding in the head of the ark right now is a bit different from that.

It would have been different.

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' opens his mouth blankly.]

[Constellation 'Maritime War God' nods.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' doubts his own eyes.]

Some stories are only open to those who understand the context.

For some, sentences that are useless at all, for others, draw a desperate landscape.

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' asks what the hell is everyone looking at.]

The utterly bewildered Ark murmured like a madman.

"Were you there, Kyrgios?"

「Then Kyrgios's dot split the sky.」

The fight that ends is an illusion built up with lies.

「The batting stick of the ark against him hit the ground.」

Even so, the moment the ark believed it. It became a reality.

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' clenches his fist.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' exhales a sad breath.]

[The constellation 'Last Hero of the Yellow Mountain Bee' is immersed in the confrontation.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' is breathing heavily.]

[The constellation 'King Heungmu the Great' reluctantly licks his lips.]

The warriors who once roamed the battlefield holding their weapons silently watched our fight.

They knew too.

This story is fake.

There is no Kyrgios here, the Beggar Sect is ruined, and Murim is no longer great.

「Murim in the Dragon's Head Ark has already disappeared from this world.」

Nonetheless, some stars who lived uninhabited for a time recalled their own landscapes that they remembered from our fight.

I could feel their emotions in the shimmering starlight.

They were envious.

They were truly envious of the Dragon Head Ark who was allowed to drop everything and go down to earth to experience this story himself.

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' sponsors 100 coins.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' sponsors 100 coins.]

[The constellation 'The Last Hero of the Yellow Mountain Bee' sponsors 100 coins.]

All those stars can do is support this fight.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' sponsors 100 coins and says that he seems to be seeing a bit.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' sees it, but he denounces what he can see.]

"Come! Kyrgios!"

The last herb of the ark unfolded, and I, too, squeezed all my strength as if I swung a sword.

The batting stick of the Ark broke with a loud sound. At the same time, my mimicry was also lifted.

We looked at each other with bated breath.

It was hard to breathe because I didn't use magic at all. [Incite] was released, and the recoil of my body pushed me away.

['Incite' is canceled.]

The Ark was staggering and watching me. His dreamy eyes returned.

As the scenery of Murim was cleared, the truth of the story was fully revealed. There was no Kyrgios who had suffocated him. I made him dream again.

Murim, his season is now gone forever.

"You…"

What remains here is a lonely star that has not forgotten the remorse of the past.

And it's just a shabby tale that can't even become a story.

"You're not a disciple of Kyrgios."

A sweet story written only for him. The star that woke up from that terrible dream was crying like a child.

"Why did you show me this scenery?"

637 Episode 16 Mad Butcher (6)

The ark's eyes were full of confusion. The reverberations of the scenery that enveloped him until the end still lingered.

Blinking slowly, a piece of the reverberation brushed the tip of his nose.

「When Murim was still alive, Kyrgios, the white and blue gatekeeper, and the dragon-headed ark met.」

The Ark was defeated, and he desperately vowed revenge, but in the end he never met Kyrgios again.

What he wanted was to fight Kyrgios once again in Murim.

However, Kyrgios achieved transcendence and went beyond the distant sky, and he chose the path of a constellation, abandoning most of his human emotions.

That's why I made this story.

To release the long-cherished wish of a star that could not be fulfilled.

Where the ark wants, in the form the ark wants. To meet Kyrgios and have him fight once again.

The ark, who had come all the way, aimed a broken batting ball at me.

"Tell me, why did you show me this scenery?"

If he hits with the baton now, I won't be able to avoid it.

Outside of the stage, Jung Heewon was seen putting her hand on the hilt of her sword.

I tried to dissuade her with the look in my eyes and then told the ark.

"You already know, don't you?"

"I know?"

The ark stared blankly at me.

"There was a story, and now it's over. That's all I have to say."

His baton was pointed at me and trembled faintly.

[The constellation 'Last Hero of the Yellow Mountain Bee' is silent. ]

[The constellation 'King Heungmu the Great' sighs.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' wipes his head quietly.]

His lips opened slowly.

"I am..."

[The constellation 'Goryeo’s First Sword' asks The Last Ruler to show the dignity of the stars.]

The ark suddenly raised his head at the indirect message that came from the air.

There was deep resentment in his eyes as he gazed up at the sky.

"Personality? Is it quality?"

A mournful voice.

Looking at that ark, I thought about the reason why he decided to come down to this earth.

「What is the reason why the last ark came into the scenarios?」

Did he come down only to resurrect the Beggar Sect?

Maybe.

This naive star might have believed that he could become stronger if he really started from the beginning of the scenarios.

So, it may be that he participated in this ordeal in order to develop his strength to once again challenge Kyrgios and the Slashing Swordsman in the sky.

「"The paradox of white-blue and the Pacheon Swordsman. I will meet them again someday, and I will surely be acknowledged."」

But there was a contradiction in his story.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' says it's okay to be honest.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' shakes her head slowly.]

Why did he bother to start all over again?

If the purpose was simply to meet Kyrgios or the celestial swordsman and seek revenge, it would have been possible while maintaining the status of a constellation.

"What do you know about talking like that? I am different from you. I mean, I'm right here. Unlike you who watch from across the sky—"

The gaze of the ark, who had been looking around wildly, stopped. Following his gaze, I saw a spotted boy near the stage.

「The possessed body of the 'ark' right in front of me is the father of the spotted boy.」

[The constellation 'King Heungmu the Great' says that if you really wanted to be proud, starting with 'Possessed Body' is a mistake.]

[Very few constellations point out the contradiction of the ark.]

This time, the stars were right.

If the ark was really proud, he should have been reincarnated as an ordinary incarnation.

In other words, he didn't really risk his all.

The sparks bouncing out of the air right now were proof of that.

Tchutsutsutsu.

He came down to the ground for a while, but he was still a spectator of this story, just a momentary happening, and he was just a spectator on the stage.

The spectator opened his mouth to the other members of the audience.

"Yes, you guys are right."

A light thunderclap could be heard from across the distant sky, and rain poured through a hole in the ceiling of Seoul Station.

As the entire curtain began to get wet, the outline of a huge stone covered with a cloth was revealed on the side of the stage.

I immediately recognized the stone.

「A meteorite.」

Perhaps that meteorite was the culprit that made a hole in the ceiling of Seoul Station.

The Ark looked at the meteorite for a moment.

That meteorite that suddenly fell from the sky, as if it were him.

The rain-soaked head of the ark slowly fell to the floor.

"I just ran away."

One thing he knows, I know, and the constellations know is that he didn't come here for an honorable cause, nor did he come here for the solemn carpenter.

He was just running away from the context of the constellations.

Despairing at the height of the sky he had to climb, he was just a star that had fallen to the ground.

Even in the midst of that, leaving behind a rope to return to the sky.

"I... just."

"You must have just wanted to see the story. Just like other constellations do."

The ark lifted his head and saw me.

"Just a little closer."

You could call him cowardly.

You could say it was pathetic, it was lousy, it was just an escape from reality.

But everyone dreams of vicarious satisfaction and catharsis.

Just as Kim Dokja reads 'Ways of Survival' featuring Yoo Joonghyuk, the constellations watch the stories of the Star Stream.

Just as Uriel and other constellations had no choice but to watch the story of Kim Dokja.

A being reads a story and becomes someone other than itself several times.

Because without that, you can't live in this crazy world.

"Do you see this story well now?"

There are those who want to run away but do not have the courage to run away.

The reason why the constellations envied him was probably because at least the ark had the courage to run away.

As if dizzy, the ark put his hand on his head and asked me.

"Who the hell are you? What do you want, why do you do this to me..."

"What I want is."

What I want has already been said.

A summons level elixir and the purple flag he possesses.

But that's probably not the answer he's looking for right now.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice is waiting for your answer.]

[Very few constellations listen to you.]

The constellations were watching over me.

Everyone is waiting for the point of this story.

I opened my mouth.

"A discussion."

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' groans.]

Ark's eyes slowly widened.

"I am a member of the political faction, and I want an agreement of the Beggar Sect, which was an old faction."

Righteousness.

It is the old banner of Murim, and a word that no one speaks anymore.

The ark's lips twisted slightly.

Was it funny that I said such a thing when I was wet in the rain? Or was it that he was miserable when he heard those words?

However, the voice that came out of his mouth after that, as if it was okay now, was released.

"You're a disciple of Kyrgios."

Very slowly, I felt something tickling in my heart.

It was a feeling I felt after a long time.

「No one here died, and we came all this way.」

Was this how I felt when you stayed up all night writing a chapter and finally got the end right in front of me?

The Ark sighed lightly and opened his mouth.

"You said you wanted an elixir."

The beggars around us could be seen cheering at the sudden declaration of the ark. The owner of the ark restrained such beggars with his hand and continued.

"And the flag."

I nodded.

"Don’t you think that greed is excessive?"

"It's because I can't go on without being greedy."

"Arrogant guy. Keep it in mind, you've been overly lucky today."

As he muttered that, he moved to the edge of the stage and approached me holding the purple flag erected there.

"Are you confident? Receiving this flag means that you have to take responsibility for the 'Beggar Sect' I created. There are three hundred beggars following me here."

I followed the gaze of the ark and slowly looked around. The beggars surrounding the stage were watching us, their eyes filled with fear and horror.

Three hundred.

It was more than all the incarnations in Chungmuro Station put together.

"Are you ready to accept them as your family?"

Honestly, I wasn't sure.

I am a person who has never been a class leader even when I was young, but in order to become a 'king', I have to eventually have a group and grow my power.

I know. This will eventually become my homework.

"All I can do is try my best to get you out of here."

The Ark cast a fierce glance at me.

"That's not enough."

"I'm the disciple of the Kyrgios. Don't expect more than that."

"How long will you be-"

The Ark, who was still glaring at me, added with a light sigh.

"If you aren’t really Kyrgios' disciple, you will be killed by him a hundred times more."

I guess so.

It may already be over at the point of impersonating Kyrgios’s disciple.

Anyway, there's something I want to make clear about this.

"By the way, when you say I accept the Beggar Sect as family members, does it include you?"

In fact, it would be all the better for now if he would just come under my command.

No matter how great a Constellation is, he is a 'constellation', so I somehow managed to throw it away because it was a fight that didn't use my inner power, but if it was a real confrontation, I wouldn't have lasted more than thirty seconds.

「But is that an ending suitable for the end of this turn?」

I know I shouldn't say this. Still, I couldn't help but open my mouth.

"I want you to go back to your original place. You still have a place in the sky. You came here not as an incarnation, but as a possession."

After all, all stories exist to return readers to their original world.

"I am—"

Just as he read my story, I also read his story.

Only those who have lived splendid stories like Kyrgios, Pacheon Swordsman, or Yoo Joonghyuk can talk about 'the best life'.

Even if he lived this way and that way and lived a pitiful story, the ark in front of me was also a star in the sky.

"You finally got there through your efforts. Even if you lose the Beggar Sect, lose Murim, and even lose your vengeance, the story you built up to get there doesn't become meaningless."

"You arrogant incarnation bastard. How dare you teach a constellation?"

Did I cross the line too much?

But the ark didn't look very angry. He looked at me once, then looked up at the sky again.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' nods.]

Then he said in a weary voice.

"Take the flag. And, the elixir-"

It was then that sparks flew out of the air. At first, I thought it was just an effect of excessive use of the probability of the possessed body.

"The medicine."

The ark's expression was strange.

Instinctively, I jumped up from where I was standing.

"The original price is wrong."

Amidst the sound of rain hitting my ears, I heard the sound of something ominous opening its mouth. When I raised my head reflexively, I saw a blackish-swaying portal above the sky over Seoul Station.

The Great Hall!

However, the fifth scenario had not yet started, and only monsters of a lower species could cross over that 'hole', so—

「Wrong. There was one more thing that could come over.」

I reflexively looked at the meteorite that fell in the center of Seoul Station.

An ominous feeling flickered in my mind.

「Where did 'The Last Ark' borrow the probability of the possessed body?」

If that meteorite.

「What constellation dares to lend probability to him?」

If it flew from the 'other world'.

Tsutsutsutsutsutsutsu!

The dark red magic that flowed from the meteorite wrapped around the dragon head ark and the dead.

The ark floating in the air was talking to me.

"Don't interrupt the story."

A voice that gives goosebumps just by hearing it. It was not the ark that dwelled in it. The eyes of the eroded dragon head ark were dyed black.

"You foolish world recorder."

It wasn't a mantra. Even so, hearing that voice made my stomach rumble and turn over.

I now realize who is saying it.

'An Outer God.'

When you think about it, it was natural.

No matter how much he put down his rank, what 'constellation' could possess an incarnation in the early scenarios?

Of course, I was expecting something like this to happen.

When I looked back, Jung Heewon was running toward me. I could see Sergeant Jung Moonho behind her, and her younger brother Jung Eunho on her back.

「How was this story originally destined to end?」

It seemed like a pitch black story was flowing from the whole body of the ark, but it soon covered the entire stage.

"That kind of story."

The black-stained floor boiled over as if to swallow me.

"We don't go along."

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' warns you of danger!]

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' is screaming!]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice'...]

[The constellation 'The Last Ruler' apologizes to you.]

I ignored the messages from the constellations and ran forward.

Dangerous or not, the only chance was now.

If I was really destined to die, the snow field would have already been activated.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.6' is activated!]

When [Incite] was activated twice in a row, the muscles of my whole body seemed to be torn apart.

My eyes were bloodshot, and a stinging pain arose in my heart.

But I didn’t stop.

['Thoughts of almost everything' mimicks 'Broken Faith (mass production type)'!]

'Thought' was changed to 'Broken Faith'.

[Exclusive Skill 'White Blue Steel Lv.1' is activated!]

I activated the special option of [Broken Faith] learned from LiteraryGirl64.

[The Blade of Faith activates!]

The strongest anti-personnel weapon that I can use now.

「Now, the power to control the body is flowing from that meteorite.」

In other words, if only the meteorite is removed, the ark will no longer be able to use his power.

"No use."

The new model of the dragon head ark blocked the front as if he had been waiting for it.

I swung my sword without hesitation.

Kuddudd!

The blow of my conversion was blocked in vain by the sword wielded by the Dragon's Head Ark.

I expected it.

No matter how strong the combo of [White and Blue Steel] and 'Broken Faith' was, the enemy now was a crazy monster mixed with the spirit of the constellation and the divine protection of the other world.

Tsutsutsuchu!

At least while he was able to throw away that probability, even if Yoo Joonghyuk came, it would be difficult for him to deal with him, let alone me.

But I laughed.

"It's no use."

Because I have already achieved my goal.

[You have obtained the 'Seoul Station Group' flag.]

My purpose from the beginning was not to remove the meteorite.

[Your 'white flag absorbs the cumulative achievement value of the 'purple flag'.]

[Your 'white flag' evolves into a 'purple flag'.]

It was to pick up a flag that had fallen on the floor.

「With the effect of the purple flag, we have gained control over the Seoul Station group.」

I've always been curious.

Is the 'god of another world' existing outside the scenario strong, or is the probability of the system constituting the scenario in this world stronger?

I could see the eyes of the dragon head Ark staring at me slowly widening.

I smiled at the guy and opened my mouth.

"Kneel down, you motherfucker."

['Punishment' is used.]

638 Episode 16 Mad Butcher (7)

Punishment.

An authority that a station leader can use to control his or her group members.

['Discipline' is affected by the flag level.]

[Currently, your flag rank is 'Purple'.]

The higher the grade of the flag, the higher the power of the authority.

Perhaps the ark gave to me in advance knowing how things would turn out.

Maybe.

For me now, 'the system' is the only weapon against them.

Tsutsutsutsuchu!

At the same time as the punishment was activated, pure white lightning flashed across the entire body of the ark in front of me.

"That, that, that...?"

The dragon-headed ark with his eyes wide open trembled as if in pain. A rustling sound came from his half-open lips.

"Buy! Girl!"

At the same time, standing by his side, four beggars each pulled out their batting balls.

But I was neither surprised nor embarrassed.

"You seem to be misunderstanding something."

[Use 'discipline'.]

"They are now my 'family' too."

Electricity raged, and the envoys who rushed towards me knelt on the floor. As if the pain was severe, some of them even missed the mallet and were complaining of pain.

"Ugh, ah, ah, ah."

I wonder if it's still bearable, the ark still glaring at me was not on his knees.

I breathed in lightly and used 'punishment' once again.

[Increase the level of 'punishment'!]

The purple flag sucked my mana, and an even more powerful electric shock burned the whole body of the ark.

Eventually, the knees of the ark bent down.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' admires your base!]

It was natural.

Unfortunately, this world was not a favorable place for an Outer God.

They were the beings who were abandoned in the 'scenario', and this was the world of the scenario.

A world with fixed stories, roles, and main characters. Like minor actors who are no longer used, this world doesn't want a 'god from another world'

[The constellation 'King Heungmu the Great' orders a stronger punishment.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' shouts, saying that miscellaneous things from the other world are being installed.]

[The constellation 'Flying Dragon' says he needs to taste some bitterness.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' licks his lips.]

I smiled bitterly at their reaction.

Indeed, when a truly terrifying deity from the other world descended from the 'Dark Castle' or the 'Pandemonium', none of them helped Kim Dokja.

That meant that the Outer God in front of me right now was not a high-level Outer God like 'The Nameless Mist'.

When one of the old beings, 'Eater of Dreams', descended in 'Omniscient Reader', the entire Dark Castle was almost destroyed. However, this guy didn't have the momentum to overwhelm the whole area.

Probably a sub-species equivalent to 'nameless things', among them, those with a rank similar to or lower than that of the constellation.

I spoke to the deity dwelling in the ark.

"What are you? Why are you here?"

Ordinarily, it was impossible to even talk to an 'Outer God'.

Because the moment they hear their voices, ordinary mortals lose their reason in madness and fear.

But the guy in front of me was different.

Perhaps because it coexists with the soul of a constellation in a human body, it was possible to speak and listen to it through human voice.

The next moment the guy opened his mouth.

"We are."

Vomit poured out of the mouth of the ark with the sound in Seoul Station. Black blood vessels stood out all over his body.

I rushed to ask.

"You saw me earlier and called me the world's recorder. What does that mean?"

The man raised his head again and said each word clearly.

"Recorder."

Now, the guy with blood vessels sticking out to his lips vomited out his words as if it were difficult.

"Recorder of Fear."

In an instant, goosebumps appeared on my forearms.

Recorder of Fear.

Certainly, there were beings with such a title in 'Omniscient Reader'.

「Recorder of Fear. The first humans to meet the Outer Gods, and the writers who spread their existence.」

However, there was no description of who they were or what kind of existence they were.

"You smell like them."

"Tell me more. What kind of people are the 'recorders of fear'?"

But instead of answering, he just stared blankly at me.

Somewhere, I heard the sound of a small bird chirping.

「Savemesavemesaveme」

「Weareinnocentweareinnocentweareinnocent」

「Don'tforgetdon'tforgetdon'tforget」

The distant universe, the sound from beyond the 'Great Hall'.

The ark opened his mouth again with eyes looking for sympathy.

"Recorder of Fear."

「Writeitdownwriteitdownwriteitdownwriteitdown」

"Forgive me."

I was immediately taken aback by the tone that seemed to be praying for a mistake. Perhaps it was because of the screams of the stories that resonated in my head, but my heart weakened for a moment and I lowered the level of 'punishment'.

"Ark. Calm down. Are you intending to have your possessed body stolen by the Outer God?"

If the punishment continued to intensify like this, it seemed that the ark's possessed body would not be able to withstand it. Then the spotted boy would lose his father.

The Ark seemed to have heard me, but his eyes returned in an instant.

"Punishment."

But the ark couldn't speak any further. I don't know if he meant to make the punishment stronger or weaker. The eyes of the ark were completely black, and both hands of the ark on his knees touched the floor.

The moment when a bleak sensation rose up my spine.

I looked back and cried.

"Everybody cover your ears!"

MurimMurimMurimMurimMurimMurimMurimMurimMurimMurimMurimMurimMurim
MurimMulimMurimMurimMurimMurimMurimMurim」

At the same time, nearby beggars collapsed with blood flowing from their ears.

I too stumbled and knelt down.

[Exclusive skill 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World' is strongly activated!]

If it wasn't for the 'Ways of Survival' that was activated just in time, I would have become a chisel like them.

「Yoo Joonghyuk knew. There is only one way to get out of the spiritual soak when you meet an 'Outer God'.」

「Only believe in the story you have.」

I didn't have a story.

「Yoo Joonghyuk thought.」

However, there was the story of 'Ways of Survival'.

「'I am a regressor, my time is infinite. I will become infinitely stronger, so the day will surely come when I become stronger than I am. The definite future is soon a fact. Therefore, I am already stronger than the Outer God.'」

It was painful to listen to Yoo Joonghyuk's bizarre logic, but I was able to stay sane anyway thanks to 'Ways of Survival'.

Fortunately, the mantra of the 'Outer God' did not continue.

Instead, the darkness covering the ground around the area began to radiate strange energy.

[A world view check occurs.]

A worldview invasion?

[Anomalies from another world rise in the dark.]

Strange creatures crawled out of the unarmored floor.

In an instant, my heart skipped a beat.

「If a monster like the 'Nameless One' pops up here, we will die.」

Fortunately, what came out of the darkness was not the 'Nameless One'.

It is the main scenario after the 90th scenario where the 'Nameless One' is on the ground.

Right now, the Earth is only in the fourth scenario.

Then what are those?

The smell of old books flowing around the unarmed ground, and the smell of grass and soil that can only be rolled in deep mountains.

There was something that jumped out at me.

After the fourth scenario, 'Capture the Flag', the 'Fifth Scenario' begins.

Once opened, the invasion from Kronos's world begins.

However, those monsters were not the creatures of 'Kronos' no matter how you look at them.

[The 8th grade alien species, the Jiangshi, stand up in the dark.]

Beggars screamed and whipped batons against them. Jung Heewon, Sergeant Jung Moonho, and Sergeant Kim also shouted while protecting their colleagues.

Even with my width, I could see several Jiangshi turning around.

It was difficult to understand the situation.

I know the worldview invasion has begun.

But why did it suddenly appear here?

The 7th level extraterrestrial wind, 'Reduce City', reveals its hostility towards you!

As I dodged the attacks, I recalled the contents of the 'invasion of the world view' in my head.

「The fifth scenario is a confrontation between worlds. Humanity fighting against the attacking other world. Just as Seoul is being eroded by Kronos, China will be eroded by the 3rd Murim World, and Japan will be eroded by the White Yo World.」

The 3rd Murim Realm.

Only then did it feel like everything was connected as one.

Of course, the dragon head ark from Murim appeared here. Everything made sense, even the sudden appearance of a group called 'Beggar Sect' in Korea.

「'The 3rd Murim World' is a world view where the development of the Dragon's Head Ark ran away with the Beggar Sect.」

In other words, that meteorite from another world that can be seen right in front of me is...

「Originally, a meteorite that should have fallen in China.」

Did it all start with this meteorite?

A sigh came out inside.

I don't know which dokkaebi didn't do things right, but-

—Hey, are you alive?

An inconsistent voice. The dokkaebi, gasping for breath in the air, continued.

—Damn it, a low-class dokkaebi set the meteorite's fall point incorrectly... can you handle that?

I know very well how the public situation is going.

'No problem.'

-Really?

I nodded.

We've come this far, but if the administration suddenly intervened and took away the reward, that would be a bigger problem.

'Please prepare the reward right away.'

Rather, it is an opportunity.

It happened that the ark didn't give me the summoning class elixir, so if I deal with that godhead, I might be able to receive a reward equivalent to that from the administration.

If only there was one problem.

"Go go go go go go go..."

In order to prevent this situation, the ark had to be killed.

[The 7th grade alien species 'jiangshi' is roaring at you!]

My forehead was cut by the long fingernails of the jiangshi.

Unfortunately, with my current abilities, I can't take down many of the 7th class.

But they were Jiangshi, and I had a holy relic.

I called up the bamboo pole with 'thought', and immediately injected magic power into it.

['Bamboo pole' demonstrates powerful anti-demon powers!]

This bamboo jang is a holy relic with the strongest anti-demon function on the Korean Peninsula.

In other words, it was a perfect match for Jiangshi, a type of devil.

[The 7th grade alien species, 'jiangshi' feels fear and backs down.]

I ran past the Jiangshi without missing the timing.

[Activate 'Discipline' at full output!]

Aaaaaaa!

The authority of the system began attacking the Outer God. The area of invasion of the worldview that had been spreading blackly shrank in an instant.

"Die, Ark!"

I swung the bamboo stick straight at the guy.

Of course, I didn't really mean to kill him.

If this vessel dies, the spotted boy's father will die too.

What matters is the gesture.

A gesture that at least I will definitely end this situation.

[The incarnation 'Myung Sewoon"s being dwells all at once canceling the possession!]

Also.

Right before the bamboo shard touched it, the 'Outer God' turned into a whitish spiritual body and came out of the body. In an instant, it circled the ceiling of Seoul Station, and soon found a new object of possession and rushed at it.

「IwantyouIwantyouIwantyouIwantyou」

I knew exactly where he was going.

「Writeitdownwriteitdownwriteitdownwriteitdown」

That was me.

Tsutsutsutsutsutsu!

When the aura of divine power that flew in an instant struck me directly at the top of my head, the world went completely dark.

It was a feeling I had never experienced before, but I knew a sentence to accurately describe it.

「It's like when Kim Dokja was swallowed by the 'dream eater' in the 'Dark Castle'.」

When I fully opened my eyes, I was in my spirit body.

What I see around me is a pure white field of snow.

【Stupid recorder】

Here is my 'inner world'.

【Cross-clap-clap】

I turned my head to the place where I heard the strange laughter. I saw a guy who had infiltrated my world.

The shape of a cephalopod about ten meters long. That seemed to be his body.

It's smaller than the 'Dream Eater' that Kim Dokja dealt with, but at least he didn't seem to be an ordinary guy as he signed a contract with a constellation.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' asks what happened.]

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' says that it seems that a monster from the other world entered the body of that incarnation.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' sponsors you with 100 coins and asks if you're okay.]

I heard a message from the stars who couldn't look inside me.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' worries about your safety.]

[The constellation 'The Prisoner of the Golden Headband' asks the Administration Bureau to send out the screen.]

It's a shame that I can't show the scenery here to those stars, but maybe one of them can see this scenery.

"Ark."

[The constellation 'The Last Ruler' watches your battle.]

It seemed so.

Since the development of the Dragon's Head Ark has been contracted with that 'Outer God', he will probably be able to watch this story.

"From now on, I will show you the story you want."

This is a story for only one spectator.

[The skill 'Incite Lv.6' is activated!]

In the reality outside, I disguised as Kyrgios with [Incite]. However, I lacked magic power and lacked proficiency in martial arts, so what the Ark and the constellations actually saw were just weak illusions based on their memories.

But here it is different.

[Scalar's penalty in that area is temporarily lifted!]

Here, neither physical fatigue nor probability affects us.

[Enter the snow field.]

[Describe your actions.]

[5 probability points are exhausted.]

This space is pure white paper. The only power to rule this space is imagination.

「Writer Lee Hakhyun started writing a sentence.」

Just like when I fought with Han Sooyoung.

[The constellation 'Last Ark' sighs and breathes.]

The magic of the [White and Blue Steel] that fills my whole body. As I slowly blinked, I could feel the energy of Kyrgios that brightly colored the surroundings.

My magic-powered hair was dyed azure and swayed in the wind.

「Kyrgios Rodgrim was there.」

Perhaps realizing that something was wrong, the Outer God panicked and backed away from the floor, then started running away.

【Kak Kak Kak Kak Kak Kak Kak Kak】

White-blue, the word that perfectly suited Kyrgios blossomed into a tale in my hands.

Kyrgios's exclusive weapon.

「Pure White Paradox.」

When I laughed, Kyrgios laughed.

「"Get out of here, monster from the other world."」

A speed with no time to follow with the eye.

The wave of lightning that erupted from the tip of the blade burned the fleeing Outer God and cut it in two.

639 Episode 16 Mad Butcher (8)

The deity of the other world who was struck by lightning groaned as it poured out fragments of stories.

Fragments of stories that had lost their context were split into words and then disappeared into consonants or vowels.

[Constellation 'The Last Ark' has achieved its longing.]

[Constellation 'The Last Ark' is released from the contract with the Outer God.]

As expected, the ark was bound by a contract with the Outer God.

[The constellation 'The Last Ark' expresses his gratitude to you.]

[The constellation 'The Last Ark' tells you his story.]

I was surprised.

No matter how much I did, you're already giving away your own story?

However, there was no time to check what story I had received.

【Go each go ah no kid】

The 'Outer God' that had not yet disappeared dragged its upper body and howled.

【Gear▪You are g▪▪… will be angry】

Anyway, it has to end.

I am ready to activate [All-In-One] once again.

【You are not a recorder.】

He looked back at me with his cunning eyes.

Hwa-ah-ah, and the whole story of that guy was scattered like sand blowing in the wind. I couldn't feel his energy.

I had an ominous feeling.

Where did he go?

Just in time, the space spun once, and I was also forcibly thrown out of the snowfield.

I came out.

As soon as my blackened vision returned, what I saw was an old unarmed floor. The scent of blood hung on the tip of my nose.

I staggered and looked around.

How are the others?

My hearing returned, and I heard the voices of people buzzing everywhere. The sound of sharp bouncing weapons brought me to full reality.

The fight was still going on.

"Everyone stand back!"

Fortunately, the other world’s invasion seemed to have stopped.

Dozens of Jiangshi left.

It was also a sign that it was being organized smoothly under the leadership of Jung Heewon.

Where did that guy go?

He must have escaped here, but there was no trace of the Outer God anywhere.

My eyes met Jung Heewon’s, who was watching this from afar. As I was about to open my mouth, Jung Heewon opened her eyes wide and cried out.

"Avoid!"

When I turned around with a chilly feeling, something attacked from behind.

Among the 7th grade, it was jiangshi.

Damn, was there still one left?

However, the condition of the monster was a bit strange.

[A 7th grade alien species, 'jiangshi' attempts : Explosion of blood points.]

Blood points. The dark red aura that wrapped around his whole body was expanding as if it would explode. I can understand what kind of technology it is without having to explain it.

I lightly moved my feet and tried to run away from him. However.

[Physical ability has been drastically reduced due to the penalty of 'incite'.]

The recoil of the [Incite] I used earlier has finally returned. My feet didn't move on my own. For an instant, a cold sweat broke out on my back.

"Get out of the way!"

Fortunately, Jung Heewon was faster. At this rate, Jung Heewon will save me before jiangshi explodes.

However, the price was strange. A chilly feeling, as if I left out an important sentence on the page I just wrote.

Behind Jung Heewon's back, squeezing between the ranks of Jiangshi, another jiangshi was running.

[The 7th grade alien species, 'jiangshi' attempts a 'Blood Point Explosion'!]

Damn.

There was one more.

And where the Jiangshi was headed.

「You aren’t a recorder」

The last words left by the Outer God rang in my ears.

I cried reflexively.

"Heewon-ssi! Block it from behind!"

Realizing something, Jung Heewon looked where my gaze was heading.

[The activation conditions for the exclusive skill '□□' have been met.]

[Entering the snow field.]

The world quickly turned achromatic. Fortunately, the skill was activated in time.

[Exclusive skill '□□' has been activated.]

[A branch of an important event has occurred.]

I quickly looked around in the still landscape.

Skill '□□' is activated only when a character wants to do an 'unexpected action' or when an 'important event' divergence occurs.

This time, it was said to be a branch of 'important events'.

In other words, it means that an event that will become a turning point in the development of this world will begin right here and now.

#Mad Butcher

「At that moment, Jung Heewon □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□…」

*You can add up to 300 characters based on your current proficiency level.

[You can stay in the 'Snowfield' for a total of 8 minutes.]

I blankly stared at the title of the scene.

'Mad Butcher'.

Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st turn said.

If I want to be his ally, recruit the 'Mad Butcher' as an ally.

It wasn't difficult at this point.

Soon, I will be able to gain Yoo Joonghyuk's trust and plan my survival in this turn. That's it.

Certainly, when I first possessed a character in this world, I was a person who just needed that.

「But now, Lee Hakhyun didn't know if that was the right thing to do.」

I was out of breath. Space and time stopped, and even though my body was stiff, my heart was beating without rest.

「Lee Hakhyun didn't want to bring 'Mad Butcher' to Yoo Joonghyuk.」

There are stories I don't want to write about as a writer. I also have the freedom not to write a story I don't want to write.

Because now I knew who the 'Mad Butcher' was.

However, when I realized that the ending of a dazzling turn was right in front of me, and that the story would be completed with just one more sentence, how many writers could reject the last sentence?

[The protagonist of this stage was Jung Heewon.]

Jung Heewon, who was running toward me, was looking back.

I was in front of her, and her younger brother Jung Eunho was behind her.

It was fine until there.

The problem was that two Jiangshi in both directions were each targeting us.

They were running towards me in one way, and running towards Jung Eunho on the other.

Both Jiangshis are preparing for a self-destruct attack.

Those she doesn't save will die with a high probability.

After calming down, I organized the sentences in my head.

The title of this scene is 'Mad Butcher'.

However, it was not written who it was or what it was about. It is me who writes it down. It is also me who completes this story.

I started writing sentences.

Sincerely, with dense sentences. With the best expressions I can write.

「So, Jung Heewon miraculously saved both of them. (Total 297 characters)」

Even though I wrote that.

[This is absolutely impossible.]

[The success rate of reproducing this description is less than 0.01%.]

[You lack the probability allowed.]

[Read reader feedback.]

0.01%.

> rlaehrwk37: …
>
> rlaehrwk78: Honestly this is far-fetched

I knew that too.

It was physically impossible for the current Jung Heewon to save both me and her brother.

Still, until now, how many times have I made a similar argument?

On the bridge where I met Yoo Joonghyuk, just as I sacrificed my arms to save the others.

I wrote the sentence over and over again.

If this is not possible, I can give up a few things. Her younger brother is somehow saved, and I am severely injured, but I have to write it in the form of surviving.

[The success rate of reproducing this description is less than 0.01%.]

[You lack the probability allowed.]

[The success rate of reproducing this description is less than 0.01%.]

[You lack the probability allowed.]

It was strange.

No matter how it was used, the success rate of reproduction was absurdly low.

[Check reader feedback]

> rlaehrwk99: Are important people unconditionally saved?
>
> rlaehrwk141: Then that's a bit obvious

A storm rose in my head.

I knew it was a story lacking in probability. However, the reaction of readers was shocking.

> rlaehrwk41: Didn't Omniscient Reader explode people's heads from the beginning?
>
> rlaehrwk37: Be quiet newbie
>
> rlaehrwk124: Bittersweet but that's what makes it fun

In the feedback from the following readers, it was seen that the time of the timer was decreasing.

[The time limit is 2 minutes.]

I saw Jung Heewon, and I saw Jung Eunho. I don't have time anymore. There were not many sentences to write.

In a world where everything I write becomes reality, what sentence should a writer write?

What sentences can he write?

What does it mean to write a good work as a writer?

I still don't know the answer.

[You lack the probability allowed.]

Allowed probability.

Fortunately, I had the probability points I had accumulated so far.

Can 'probability points' make the impossible possible? As with Jung Heewon’s awakening, if I use the collected probability once again—

[Currently, 'probability input' is impossible due to a skill error.]

Skill error.

Come to think of it, since the last fight with Han Sooyoung, the skill [□□] has gone sour.

[You have 1 minute left on the time limit.]

My head started going blank.

If this continues, either I or Jung Eunho will surely die.

「At that time, someone came into Lee Hakhyun’s field of view.」

I blankly opened my mouth.

Perhaps.

「There was only one way that Jung Eunho and I can both live.」

I looked at one person.

It was like lightning flashed in my head. Even though I knew I shouldn't use it like that, I couldn't stop my hand. As if my hand existed to complete that sentence.

And.

「… It was the end of the story that the reader wanted. (Total 297 characters)」

[The success rate of reproducing the description is over 90%.]

[You have described plausible content.]

Surprisingly high reproduction success rate.

The skill was talking, and readers were talking.

> rlaehrwk37: This is how it ends
>
> rlaehrwk99: (tears)
>
> rlaehrwk41 : Sniff

My writing hand trembled

Readers were right. If Jung Eunho and I were to survive at the same time, this was the only way.

But this was a story that shouldn't be written.

No matter how perfect a story is, there are definitely stories that shouldn't be written.

That was the story for me now.

I erased all the sentences I had written and started writing again.

「Lee Hakhyun has made up his mind.」

Even if the reproduction success rate is 0.01%

[The time limit is 30 seconds.]

[This description is absolutely impossible.]

[The success rate of reproducing this description is less than 0.01%.]

This time, impossible.

Let's write a good story.

[There are 20 seconds left.]

[This is absolutely impossible.]

[The success rate of reproducing this description is less than 0.01%]

Never give up, over and over again.

Again and again.

[This is absolutely impossible.]

[The success rate of reproducing this description is less than 0.01%.]

Why can't I just write this story?

[Exiting from 'Snowfield'.]

The colors of the world were returning. In the midst of that soaring landscape, I thought maybe I was not qualified as a writer.

I wrote what I wanted to write, not sentences to complete the work.

The success rate was slim, and the reproduction success rate was close to zero.

Still, I prayed.

If anyone is reading this story, please add some Probability to it.

[Failed to reproduce the scene.]

The first message I heard.

A feeling of desolation flooded into my lungs.

The sentences I wrote were not reproduced. They did not become a reality.

However.

「Does the failed sentence remain in the story?」

The moment I heard the sentence that followed, goosebumps ran through my body.

Because I knew that sentence.

「Lee Hakhyun screamed.」

That sentence is a sentence I wrote and then erased.

"No! Go back! Hurry up!"

「In an instant, Jung Heewon made a choice.」

But actually, it was a story that I didn't even want to write.

"Inho-ssi!"

「'Saving Cheon Inho.'」

Jung Heewon, holding me, kicked at jiangshi, who rushed towards me.

The moment this sound floated in the air, Jung Heewon activated [Ghost Killing] and [Time of Judgment].

She threw the knife with Kwon Nong's sword directly into the monster at the time of reduction.

With the overwhelming cutting power of the blade, jiangshi could not attack and was cut in two on the spot.

The problem was the opposite.

"Jung Eunho!"

I saw the jiangshi running toward Jung Eunho, who had collapsed on the floor.

I could feel the disquieting legend of 'Outer God' in the whole body of the monster. At the last moment, the jiangshi was smiling at me.

「Why are they doing this?」

I actually know the answer.

「They want to be recorded in this story.」

It felt like everything in the world was flowing slowly, in slow motion.

A jiangshi that runs while blowing smoke from its head. People's screams. Sergeant Kim shouting. Jung Heewon hurriedly turned around. In order to prevent the jiangshi reaching out toward Jung Eunho from happening again, I changed the order of the sentences, changed the words, and wrote new sentences over and over again.

And I thought.

How many times did this incident happen in 'Ways of Survival'?

How many times did Jung Eunho die here, and how many times did Jung Heewon lose her younger brother here?

And.

「How many times did Jung Heewon have to become a 'Mad Butcher'?」

As I moved my gaze, my eyes met someone who happened to be standing near Jung Eunho.

In this eternity, only the two of us were looking at each other and thinking the same thing.

I don't know him.

How old he is, where he lives, what he likes.

I don't know anything.

All I know is he read this story

I reached out for him.

I wanted to shout. Tried to tell him to stop.

An explosion occurred with a roar, and people around the stage flew through the air and fell to the floor.

With the sound of heavy breathing, the speed of time returned to normal.

「This story is still 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.」

And Jung Heewon and I ran towards Jung Eunho at the same time.

「Therefore, written for only one reader.」

In the white dust, I saw Jung Eunho's skull mask that had fallen to the floor.

Jung Heewon called Jung Eunho by name.

「It was completed at the sacrifice of only one reader at the same time.」

A man was holding Jung Eunho tightly. The man's face was covered in blood.

All the flesh on his back had been ripped off, and the organs that had been burned to expose the bones had already run out of function. It was a wound that he could not survive.

Jung Heewon slumped on the ground.

I staggered over and shook him.

It can't be like this.

There is no reason why you should be like this, not anyone else.

He won't die. He has [strong bones] and [heavy bones].

The man who raised his head with difficulty was looking at Jung Heewon.

I remembered the comments he had made belatedly.

He was a man about to enlist and decided to confess to his crush.

I also remembered what I saw of him.

He was a man afraid of death.

He was a man who betrayed his fellow kinsfolk and committed himself to the Beggar Sect, and he was a sergeant who suddenly abandoned his children.

He was not Jung Heewon's father.

He just read the story, and the audience was drawn to it.

Nevertheless, on the stage of this tragedy, he said a single line he had been practicing.

"Good job, Heewon-ya."

640 Episode 17 A Storm in a Teacup (1)

---

「Anna Croft said.」

"Yoo Joonghyuk. Maybe the regression turns you and I built up were just like a storm in a teacup. Our years of struggling for dozens of rounds couldn't change a single sliver of the night sky."

Then, Yoo Joonghyuk looked down at the stars in the night sky reflected on the teacup with silent eyes.

"One day, the moment will come when all the stars in the sky will fall and I will be left alone in this world. Even then, if I'm holding this cup."

Yoo Joonghyuk emptied all the remaining tea as if swallowing the night sky reflected in the tea water.

"At that time, the world would have changed."」

—Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World

---

This was the second time I had seen someone die right in front of my eyes.

Whoever reads this story dies.

The brilliance in his eyes dimmed, and his body temperature cooled. It becomes an eye that can no longer read anything.

Spirit of Elaine Forest, Holy Oil, Summoning team or whatever.

There’s no use. It's too late.

It was a wound that could not be revived even if I had an elixir.

I know.

Even so, I couldn't stand it if I didn't even think about it. If I don't think like that, I will think of something else.

I blankly looked down at my hands. Just before, when I wrote a sentence, my hand was stained red.

"Dad."

Jung Heewon said. Jung Heewon spoke in a low voice while holding Sergeant Jung Moonho's hand, which was cold.

"Wake up. This isn't it."

If you say that, it's as if he'd really wake up again.

However, Sergeant Jung Moonho could not open his eyes again.

The story with a 90% success rate of reproduction was reproduced that way.

「Sergeant Jung Moonho is dead.」

All I could do was record this moment.

「Jung Heewon was crying.」

The body of Sergeant Jung Moonho, who had passed away, melted into the demonic energy of the defect explosion and was completely crushed.

I wanted to ask.

Why did you risk your life for this child?

Maybe I know the answer to why you jumped in for a character you have no connection with.

「Because he is a fragment of Kim Dokja.」

In the place where Sergeant Jung Moonho's body disappeared, I saw a slowly emerging soul.

「Kkoma Kim Dokja.」

I witnessed a similar phenomenon when Jung Jaewoo died in the theater dungeon.

Even then, the pitch-black space split, and the white hand snatched Jung Jaewoo's soul.

However.

What appeared this time was a black hand.

The black hand that jumped out in an instant seized the soul of the kkoma Kim Dokja as it is, leaving the space.

It disappeared through the cracks of the space.

A white hand last time.

A black hand this time.

I couldn't understand. What kind of beings take away the souls of dead readers?

Is this the RepresentativeKimDokja I saw at the banquet then? Or is it the Outer God that appeared this time?

Why were we brought to this world?

「It was finally the ending of the story the reader wanted.」

This kind of story that no one would want, why the hell did it have to continue? My vision flickered as if it was dark, and the swirling emotions were sucking me in like sand.

[Exclusive skill 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World' is activated!]

And there was a story that still protected me.

「Yoo Joonghyuk said. "Okay."」

Yoo Joonghyuk of 'Ways of Survival' was talking. Listening to Yoo Joonghyuk's voice, which I don't even know how many times I heard, I managed to get rid of my stomach-churning feeling.

「"If you don't give up, there is a way."」

Reading and re-reading that sentence, I muttered to myself as if brainwashing myself.

Yoo Joonghyuk is right.

Even if their soul is kidnapped by an Outer God, there is a way to get it back.

「Like Kim Dokja, who was kidnapped by a 'Secretive Plotter', returned.」

Jung Heewon, who had stopped crying before I knew it, was collecting all the belongings of Sergeant Jung Moonho.

"Inho-ssi. Is there any way to save him?"

An infinitely calm, still, high-pitched voice. I also gathered my energy and answered her words.

"Yes."

As I looked up into the air, a message flew in as if it had been waiting for it.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' sponsors you 100 coins.]

[The constellation 'King Heungmu the Great' sponsors you 100 coins.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' sponsors you 100 coins.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' sponsors you 1,000 coins.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' asks what happened to the Outer God.]

[Your first story is about to bloom.]

[The <Star Stream> is evaluating your first story.]

['Bounty Scenario - Fight' has ended.]

[You get a low-grade elixir as a reward.]

The reward of the 'Bounty Scenario' that came with a huge coin sponsorship.

I immediately opened the wooden box that came down from the air.

The elixir contained in the wooden box was something I was familiar with.

'Manindan.'

Will this elixir work even if I give it to him?

I immediately called Bihyung via Dokkaebi communication.

'Is the reward worth it? Honestly, it wasn't a scenario that would end with such a reward.'

It was not a different existence, it was a scenario completed by defeating an Outer God. However, it doesn't make sense to say that the only reward is a 'manindan'.

Fortunately, the answer came right away.

—It's already being discussed at the management bureau. I also put a word in it. I guess it will take some time.

It seems that Bihyung is also having a lot of trouble with this 'Outer God' situation.

Heck, since the Outer World appeared before the fifth scenario even started, there must have been an uproar in the management office by now.

Jung Heewon, who saw the manindan, asked.

"Is that a cure?"

"This alone is not enough."

Manindan is a low-grade elixir of the 'Forty Dan', a product of the Murim tournament.

The efficacy of the elixir itself is reduced, but if he eats it as it is, Jung Eunho will literally go crazy and become a demon.

In order to neutralize the demon corps, at least a mild elixir equivalent to the demon dan's performance was needed.

"Sister..."

Jung Eunho, who came to his senses, struggled to open his eyelids. Jung Heewon held his brother's hand.

"Eunho-ssi, it’s okay."

"Dad…"

"It's okay, breathe. Don't think about anything else."

Reaching out her hand and covering her brother's eyelids, Jung Heewon looked back at me. Now I really don't have much time left. If it's delayed here, Jung Eunho won't be able to heal even with the magic medicine.

I got up from my seat and went up to the rain stage.

There was still a way.

I had coins left over, and if I had to, I could have bought the elixir even with a higher amount by opening the 'Exchange' instead of 'Dokkaebi bag'.

If fewer constellations were watching me, I would have thought of that method.

[The constellation 'Shi Huangdi, who dreamed of immortality' proposes a contract with you, he can give you a simple elixir.]

[The constellation 'A Loan Shark Aiming For The Heart' says that you can exchange 100,000 coins for a summons' class elixir.]

Damn kids.

If I use the 'exchange' now, I will be able to buy elixirs at ridiculous prices.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' argues that he is such a ridiculous profiteer.]

[The constellation 'Merchant of the Daedong River' holds his tongue saying that there are people worse than him.]

Fortunately, the worst was not assumed.

I climbed onto the stage and looked at the dragon head ark and the meteorite guarded by the envoys.

「Green.」

As mentioned in the ORV, meteorites have different contents depending on their color.

The 'yellow meteorite' contains a guide to prepare for disasters, the 'bright red meteorite' contains weapons, and the 'black red meteorite' contains material resources.

However, this meteorite from another world had a faint bluish-green color.

As I remember, the green meteorites contain return items related to the 'scenario'.

I once again reviewed the contents of 'Omniscient Reader' and ordered the 'Thought' to change into 'Broken Faith'.

['Thoughts of almost everything' defies your command.]

Maybe it's because it was overworked today?

This guy didn't listen.

[You can't use Incite for 10 minutes as a penalty.]

Due to the penalty, [Incite] is also unusable.

I picked up an abandoned baton on the floor and blew into it.

Can I break a meteorite with this?

I honestly had no confidence. It was because my limbs were in a state of not listening to the reaction of [Incite].

"Can I break it?"

When I turned my head, Jung Heewon who had approached me was standing next to me.

"I will do it."

Before I could nod my head, Jung Heewon picked up the 'Mikazuki Munezika' that had fallen on the floor.

Soon after, an unusual magical energy began to run through Jung Heewon's body.

[A deep madness overflows from Jung Heewon.]

A strange heat radiated from her calm expression. Eyes that give you goosebumps just by looking at them. Without any hesitation, her blade cut down the meteorite vertically.

Kagagak.

Even though it was a meteorite of considerable size, her swordsmanship neatly cut the meteorite in two.

Looking closely, a black and faint aura flowed through her whole body.

[A new characteristic of the character Jung Heewon is wriggling.]

She has already awakened as the 'Judge of the Ten Demons'. However, another characteristic evolution was taking place inside her.

It was clear what she would become as a result of this evolution.

'The Mad Butcher.'

In the end, Sergeant Jung Moonho's death left a deep scar in Jung Heewon's heart. That was a bad sign.

「While Yoo Joonghyuk's return was repeated, 'Mad Butcher' never made a friend. She was always alone, and in the end she died alone. No one in the world tried to understand her madness, and no one understood her either.」

I don't want Jung Heewon to be like that. To do that, I must save Jung Eunho.

Passsss.

At the spot where the meteorites had scattered, a black wooden box was raised.

A wooden box made of much better material than the one received as a scenario reward.

As soon as I opened the lid, a brilliant golden light flowed out.

Inside the meteorite, there were three eggs of 'Summoning Team'.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is relieved by your luck.]

[The constellation 'Emperor Shi Huang, Who Dreamed of Immortality' is protesting to the Administration, saying that something is wrong!]

Shaolin's Arcane Elixir, Summoning Team.

If you think about it, the luck that came from the <3rd Murim>.

Since it was a meteorite, there was nothing strange about this amount of compensation.

"Inho-ssi."

"Yes. I think this will work."

Together with Jung Heewon, I immediately helped Jung Eunho and made him sit up on the floor.

"It might be uncomfortable, but bear with it."

Jung Eunho's condition was more serious than expected. All the skin and organs through which the bullet fragments penetrated were poisoned, and some tissues had already suffered severe necrosis.

It was amazing that this little child had suppressed the pain until now.

It was the application of Kim Dokja's mixing of 'Forty Dan' and 'Daehwandan' in 'Omniscient Reader'.

[Some of the medicinal ingredients are mixed to neutralize the toxicity.]

With the dim light, Jung Eunho's complexion began to quickly return.

No matter how severe the wounds are, it is eventually a physical wound.

If the basic story wasn't damaged, there was a possibility that he could fully recover with the power of the elixir.

Did it last like 5 minutes?

Jung Eunho's body suddenly began to convulse.

I hurriedly checked Jung Eunho's veins.

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' is silently gazing at the incarnation 'Jeong Eunho'.]

Belatedly, I thought I wanted to go to sleep.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' says that the boy is not yet ready to accept the elixir.]

It was a symptom commonly referred to as schizophrenia.

「In the case of the intoxication caused by the side effects of the elixir, there are two solutions. One is that, according to heavenly luck, the person involved in the orgasm will attain enlightenment. The second one is to deal with the runaway magic.」

A phrase from the 'Ways of Survival' that came to mind naturally.

"Heewon-ssi. It seems that I and Heewon-ssi will have to help."

I briefly explained the situation to Jung Heewon.

In fact, the solution introduced in 'Ways of Survival' was possible only for the masters of Murim.

But as of now, there was no other master.

We held each other's hands tightly, and each held onto Jung Eunho's hands.

And.

Deed deed deed.

Just as an ocean current flows into a river through tributaries, Jung Eunho's magic power rushed wildly through my fingers.

It felt like the clogged blood vessels had been released, and all the mana in the body that had not been used was boiling.

I instinctively sensed it. If we can overcome this difficulty, I, Jung Heewon, and maybe Jung Eunho will be much stronger than before.

The problem is, if we don't get through this, all three of us will die.

I endured the pain that pushed through my teeth.

Koo-goo-goo-goo!

We didn't say anything to each other, but we didn't let go of our hands until the end.

The complexion of Jung Heewon, whose magical power level was low, was getting tired.

I too was a little nervous. Jung Eunho's mana, which I thought would calm down quickly, was tireless.

Cold sweat broke out all over my body, and my vision darkened as if mold had grown in my eyes.

A reality I did not want to admit raised its head.

「Jung Eunho cannot be saved.」

It was brief, but a dazzling temptation arose. If we let go even now, we will suffer serious internal injuries, but we may be able to save Jung Heewon. However, Jung Eunho and I will die.

It was absurd when it came to this.

It is as if some great destiny is at work.

「It seemed that someone was somehow trying to turn Jung Heewon into the Mad Butcher.」

As if she had read my thoughts, Jung Heewon held my hand tightly with her demon-like eyes shining.

I regretted it belatedly. If only I had learned at least a basic healing skill...

Jung Heewon's body was leaning as blood poured from her nose and mouth.

The moment I became desperate and tried to extend my hand to save Jung Heewon.

[Your new story will emerge!]

[Story, 'the tenacious Murim master' begins the story.]

Just as a real Murim master uses his own magic, Jung Eunho's magic was put on hold. The skill of controlling the flow of magical power with a strong spirit. Following the story told by the tale, magic began to flow through the energy and blood.

I quickly figured out whose story this was.

「It was the story given by the ark.」

A story of the essence of martial arts experienced by the Ark, from being a human to becoming a constellation.

The flow of mana, which had been racing like a runaway engine, gradually calmed down, and the complexions of Jung Heewon and Jung Eunho gradually became more comfortable.

As the flow of magical power subsided, Jung Eunho's agony could be heard.

"Sister. Sorry."

Jung Heewon replied.

"Are you okay."

What is sorry and what is okay? I don't know, but the two of them crossed a boundary with it. He lost his father and accepted the fact that he had to live in this world.

「And writer Lee Hakhyun recorded all these stories.」

I suddenly became curious.

These sentences that I often think of, where the hell do they come from?

Could it be the 'Ways of Survival'? Is it 'Omniscient Reader'?

Could it be the 'Fourth Wall'? Will it be the 'Last Wall'?

If not that.

I would like to know.

Even though I thought I shouldn't lose consciousness, little by little my eyes darkened.

I fell into a deep drowsiness, and after a while I heard the sound of someone waking me up.

And when I opened my eyes again.

「You're here again.」

I was lying on the white snowfield.

I saw a person wearing a pure white coat.

I called his name.

「Kim Dokja.」

As if he knew what had happened, he looked down at me with a somewhat forlorn look.

「Drink.」

He held out the teacup he was holding. Warm steam was rising from the teacup.

「It was prepared by Yoo Joonghyuk from the 81st round.」

Yoo Joonghyuk of the 81st turn.

As I remember, Yoo Joonghyuk is good at cooking.

I got up and took the teacup. I drank a sip.

It's good.

My stomach warmed up, my anxious heart subsided little by little, and peace came to me.

He can make something like this.

I guess so. Because Kim Dokja is 'The Oldest Dream'.

He is the god of this world, and whatever he imagines becomes reality, so the hand holding the cup trembled lightly.

Kim Dokja looked at me without saying a word.

Clearly everything was peaceful.

Even so, in this peaceful world between the lines, I felt a slightly different feeling than usual.

The water in the teacup shook.

People could be seen above the shaking tea water. Someone screamed, someone howled.

Among them was Jung Heewon's face, and Jung Moonho's face. There was the face of Jung Jaewoo, and there was also the face of the Ark.

I asked Kim Dokja, holding the teacup with both hands, fearing that they would spill over.

「Why on earth are you… still having dreams like this?」

641 Episode 17 A Storm in a Teacup (2)

In response to my reply, Kim Dokja was silent for a moment. I felt strange.

Was there ever a time when Kim Dokja felt unfamiliar like now?

He has always been a friendly protagonist.

He represents the readers, defeating villains, fooling enemies with overwhelming information, and sacrificing himself to protect his comrades.

He became a constellation by collecting five stories, and he was the one who saw the end of the scenario by collecting all the 'great stories of victory and battle'.

A man who chose eternity himself to protect the world and became 'the oldest dream'.

He was talking.

「Can you dream when you want to dream?」

I was speechless for a moment.

Is there anyone who can dream when they want to dream?

When I shook my head, Kim Dokja said.

「So neither can I.」

The Oldest Dream, an all-knowing but incompetent God. I remembered the words Kim Dokja expressed when he was young.

「I am not a person who dreams only of what I want. I just dream of everything in the universe.」

Having said that, Kim Dokja turned his head and looked at the scenery of the snowy field.

I was looking at the same scenery.

For a moment I was scared.

Kim Dokja, is he really seeing the same scenery as I am? How many years have passed since the day he first became the Oldest Dream?

Is the Kim Dokja in front of me really the Kim Dokja I remember?

「You don’t have to deal with that.」

I was talking involuntarily.

「That’s why Han Sooyoung wrote the novel. To make everyone dream the dream you dreamed. So, to free you from this eternity.」

Kim Dokja nodded meekly.

「But I'm the only one watching this 'world' right now.」

This world.

That must be the meaning of the 41st turn of 'Ways of Survival'.

Kim Dokja asked me.

「Do you think it would be better for this world to disappear?」

In the world of the <Star Stream>, stories that no one reads disappear.

Just as an incarnation that has not received the gaze of any star dies alone.

「I…」

It was a question that was not easy to answer.

Is it right that the world where tragedy is predestined does not begin in the first place?

After thinking for a while, I came up with an answer.

「I don’t know if it was really a convolution, but it’s a world that actually exists. If it's a world that's destined for destruction, if it's a world where sorrow outweighs joy—」

「Isn’t it better not to?」

I couldn't help but nod my head.

Even if the end is a tragedy, there will surely be various joys and sorrows in that world.

Someone will find their own happiness in that world of destruction.

I know. I know, but I also had something to say.

「Someone is dead. There are people who died because of this story.」

Readers who were outside the story were drawn into the story. Even now, the faces of Jung Jaewoo and Sergeant Jung Moonho, who were dying, were not forgotten.

Then Kim Dokja replied.

「But someone might have lived thanks to that story.」

It felt like having cold water poured over my head.

Kim Dokja, who was telling the story, was definitely on the 'alive' side.

Because he survived by reading Han Sooyoung's 'Ways of Survival'.

「Should this story still not have started?」

I couldn't say anything.

Anyone would have been the same.

No one can say to the boy who grew up through that misfortune, "You were the one who had to die."

I thought about Han Sooyoung, who wrote the 1,863 turns in 'Ways of Survival' and the dokkaebi king. She said the story will begin even if she doesn't write it, but the Dokkaebi King didn't tell her how the story would begin.

And Han Sooyoung most certainly knew a story that could help 'Kim Dokja' survive.

She wrote it, and Kim Dokja read it. Yoo Joonghyuk lived the story and the three people met.

A world where the beginning, the middle, and the end interlock. A circular universe where it is unknown who existed first.

In front of a chain of causes and effects that seemed to bite their tails as if it were natural, I didn't know where to begin and how to cover the wrongs.

When I raised my head, I saw Kim Dokja's face.

「Some stories are sad, some stories are funny. There are heartbreaking stories, and there are stories that I can't stand because I'm curious about the next chapter.」

As if a story only he could see was embroidered in the distant sky.

Kim Dokja was looking up at the sky.

「Is a sad story bad, and a happy story good? How about a sad and happy story? Is a story of predestined destruction meaningless?」

I blankly listened to that.

「In a universe that was born of tragedy from the beginning, it would have been better if it did not exist.」

Only then did I seem to know a little bit of what Kim Dokja was talking about.

Maybe it wasn't just the story of the <Star Stream>.

The universe I lived in was the same.

No one in the world knew the birth and end of the universe. Even in a world without scenarios, people suffered. They died of war or starvation, hated each other or killed each other. People were either happy or sad, and found hope in despair.

And everyone met their own demise.

How can we say that the universe is different from this universe, and how and to whom should we ask the sins that the universe started? Is it possible to ask such a thing in the first place?

As if to answer me, Kim Dokja said.

「We are all in longing. Life and death are just stories in it. It's like a starlight shining in a distant universe for an instant.」

I know what that means.

But I was too ordinary a human being to accept that. I am afraid of death. I hate being sad. It's scary when someone disappears, so i wanted to run away from the coming destruction. From the fact that neither this universe, nor the <Star Stream>, nor anything else is eternal.

「There is no unfinished story.」

Unlike me, Kim Dokja accepted and understood that fact. To him, the three ways were just stories.

Happy or sad, it was all just stories to him.

He has read the story and is reading. He existed like that.

For so many years I can't possibly imagine.

「You… Are you really the Kim Dokja I know?」

Maybe he wanted Kim Dokja to lie.

I wanted him to still be the main character of this story.

He grins as usual, hoping he'll tell me that he'll figure it out somehow, so we'll see the end of this scenario together.

「If you think so.」

My stomach rumbled. Could it be because of dizziness? Kim Dokja, who was standing in the snowy field in a clear shape, looked somewhat blurry. There was the feeling of darkness lurking deep in my head wriggling.

I stumbled and asked.

「Why did we come here? Me and the other readers , for what reasondid we come?」

Kim Dokja did not answer.

Just like the first time I saw him, he just stared at me with a sad smile.

I couldn't express it well, but I knew it the moment I saw that smile.

My question is a question that Kim Dokja cannot answer.

「You can’t tell me?」

There will be several reasons. It could be because of probability, or it could be because of the specificity of this space.

In the first place, something was strange about this snowy field.

When I came here, I felt like I was in a fairy tale.

Fairy tales had a way of speaking suitable for fairy tales, so I used to speak like a character in a fairy tale.

A world where accurate stories cannot be exchanged. A place where everything exists as metaphors and symbols.

I remembered that 'snowfield' was a metaphor for 'between the lines'.

Although nothing is written, in fact, it’s the place where all the truth is revealed, Kim Dokja said.

「Everything I know is a story you know too.」

「…You who are now in front of me are not the real you, right?」

Kim Dokja smiled silently.

When you think about it, it was a story that made no sense.

Kim Dokja was the Oldest Dream, and he was scattered as fragments of the universe.

Even if he had come back, it would not have been possible for me to face such a great person and speak properly.

So Kim Dokja met me through an expedient.

Kim Dokja replied in an ambiguous voice.

「We are the ones who create the stories, but at the same time, the stories are also using us. The answer you want will be revealed when you complete your story.」

「What was the answer you found? You've already read 'Ways of Survival'.」

「I have read all of it, and I have not read all of it.」

I blankly opened my mouth.

All stories have already been written, and are being written at the same time. If that is Kim Dokja's answer, I might have something left to say.

「You asked me earlier if there is no meaning to a story in which the end is fixed.」

Kim Dokja nodded his head. I looked down at my feet and said.

「I don't know the answer to your question yet. But I know at least one thing.」

The tragedy of the 41st turn was written in 'Omniscient Reader'. This world ends in misfortune, and it is said to be one of the most terrible worlds among Yoo Joonghyuk's numerous rounds.

「I will stop the tragedy of this world.」

I thought of the readers who entered this world. I thought of Dansu ahjussi, Kyung Sein, Killer King and Literature Girl 64, Ye Hyunwoo, Goo Seonah, and Kim Kyungsik.

「I will see the end of this world.」

Jung Heewon, who lost her father at the same time. It reminded me of Yoo Joonghyuk who felt that pain resembled in the terrible regressions.

「Even if that results in more world lines being changed, I will struggle to the end no matter what.」

I understand the feelings of Han Sooyoung, who had no choice but to use the 'Ways of Survival' to save Kim Dokja.

Perhaps my choice may lead to a greater cosmic tragedy. Some people will criticize and point fingers at me. Maybe those people will cry.

However, since I am not the Oldest Dream, I cannot dream and worry about such a big universe.

All I can see is the world in front of my eyes. People who read my story and live this story. Just a small happiness in front of their eyes that will disappear like a thread.

「Cheon Inho.」

Kim Dokja said.

「No, Lee Hakhyun.」

I raised my head involuntarily.

There was Kim Dokja.

The Kim Dokja I knew.

The person who loves stories more than anyone else was talking to me.

「This time, tell me a happy story.」

---

[Exiting from the snow field.]

As soon as I opened my eyes, what I saw was the sky over Seoul Station. And for me, there have been some changes.

[The <Star Stream> noticed your presence.]

[Your '□□' skill is subject to probability restrictions from now on.]

[Some functions of the skill will be sealed until your qualifications are met.]

[The 'failures' you collected have been recorded on the final wall.]

[Failures collected so far: 2.]

['The Final Wall' recognizes your contributions.]

[Your exclusive skill evolves!]

[You will receive additional benefits whenever the number of 'failures' increases.]

[You have achieved an achievement that does not exist.]

[Your new story is created.]

Feeling the power of the rising story, I looked up at the night sky of Seoul Station.

A myriad of stars and darkness were mixed in the night sky. Watching the scattering of light, I involuntarily opened my mouth.

This world was written and not written at the same time.

The starlight in the sky came from a distance of hundreds of millions of light years. Among them, the most dazzling star might have already disappeared a long time ago. The death of the brightest star right now may not yet be visible to me.

The original light that clearly exists, but has not yet been recorded in this sky.

As Kim Dokja said, the ending of this universe may be predetermined.

Even so, this story has only just begun, and I have a sentence left to write.

So I will write.

[Fable, 'Recorder of things that will disappear', has been born.]

「This world hasn’t ended yet.」

Even after all that, I still liked this story.

642 Episode 17 A Storm in a Teacup (3)

The next morning, I called the people of Seoul Station together.

In a cluttered atmosphere, people were looking up at me as I stood on the stage.

The beggars who followed the ark, and the soldiers who followed Sergeant Jung Moonho.

The spotted boy and the boy's father, Myung Sewoon, were also seen.

Myung Sewoon was now completely freed from the restraints of the ark.

—Thank you very much, Inseok-ah. How should I repay this favor?

—Thank you, brother.

They were greeted early in the morning.

The Dragon Head Ark was still behind him, but he wouldn't abuse him as a possessed body like before.

Because he saw the story he wanted here.

[In the middle of the night, 67 incarnations left your group.]

[With the power of the purple flag, you can trigger 'punishment' on those people.]

Looking around, the overall number of people was much lower than yesterday.

I didn't bother punishing the fugitives. It was because I wondered what would be the point of holding on to people who would leave anyway.

I looked around at each of the people gathered and slowly opened my mouth.

"I'll tell you frankly."

There were still around two hundred incarnations left here.

I gave a plausible answer to the Ark, but honestly, I didn't have the confidence to lead them all.

"I can't be responsible for all of you. I can't even tell you that it's safe to stay with my group. If you want to leave, you can go. There will be no separate [punishment]. If you wish, please leave the station right now."

People were very upset by my remarks. I could hear the beggars openly giggling.

"Let's go. I don't think it's here."

"I heard that there are good groups in Dongdaemun and Dobong Station right now. All the beggars in that area have fallen for Dobonggu."

I don't know about Dongdaemun, but if it's Dobonggu, I can guess.

That is where the tyrant king is.

"The new ark is pretty strong too."

"It was just luck. My sponsor said that the skill he saw was just like that."

"Wasn't the woman with the sword quite strong then? That person seemed like an underling."

Jung Heewon, who had not yet regained consciousness, was asleep in the tent provided by Sergeant Kim.

Fortunately, Jung Heewon's internal injuries were not serious. Rather, since she absorbed the energy of the elixir, she will be much stronger than before when she wakes up.

Jung Eunho, who woke up earlier than his sister, could be seen sticking his head out of the tent.

"Even if you stay here, you'll just die like a dog. Leaders are more important in an era like this."

"That's right. You have to be under someone who is strong and has leadership. That young man... Honestly, he looks a bit like a cheater."

Public opinion at Seoul Station was gradually divided. About half of the total number of beggars decided to leave.

Among them, their representative smiled and bowed her head.

"Representative, then we're done..."

I nodded lightly and let them go.

Most of them were middle-aged men. The incarnations with the strongest fighting power at the present time. It was a power that could be regretted if it was regrettable.

On the other hand, those who remained were mostly young people or old people who had no place to rely on.

In a sense, these were the real 'Beggar Sect'.

"What about the remaining people...?"

It was the girl who was with Jung Eunho who raised her hand and asked.

Children who plundered adults.

Kids with nowhere to go were watching me.

"The remaining people will become members of my group. The name of Seoul Station group was originally the Beggar Sect, so those who are here can continue to work under the Beggar Sect."

The Beggar Sect created by the ark will continue to exist in this scenario.

A faint look of disappointment spread in the children's eyes.

"Then, again we—"

"However, the new Beggar Sect will no longer turn children into predators."

At my words, the children's eyes widened.

"The new Beggar Sect will not continue the old way. The Beggar Sect is no longer a beggar's organization. If there are people who remain thinking about the old Beggar Sect, I hope they will leave the station immediately."

Another dozen people left the station.

I opened my mouth to the rest.

"As you are probably aware, you cannot survive by begging in this new world. The constellations do not give anything away for free."

"So, what do we do now?"

"Build your own story."

The group members looked puzzled, as if asking what that meant.

Well, these people still don't even know what a 'story' is. In the meantime, building a 'story' would be no different from advising young children who don't know anything to 'have your own dream big'.

They need to slowly learn what it means to build a story and what it means to have your own story.

What I can do now is teach them how to hold a pen so they can write their first sentence.

"Let's start by eating rice."

At my signal, Sergeant Kim and the soldiers appeared at the entrance of Seoul Station. They were carrying food made outside. It was 'Tangkangju Barbecue' and 'Soup' made with the heat of the magic furnace.

Fascinated by the smell, people flocked with exclamations. Everyone probably hadn't had a proper meal since the beginning of the scenario.

"We'll distribute meals, so everyone line up at the front!"

Under the direction of Sergeant Kim, the cooks began distributing rations.

I also received a barbecue and a plate of soup from Sergeant Kim.

"You're good at it."

"No. Originally, I did some cooking."

Sergeant Kim laughed as if he was embarrassed, and he also picked up a piece of meat and mumbled.

It was this morning that I asked Sergeant Kim to cook.

As soon as I woke up, I bought monster parts that were on the market at a low price through the exchange, and asked Sergeant Kim and the cooks to make breakfast for people.

"Rather than that, how did you know this recipe?"

"A kid I know told me."

The recipe for the monster followed the recipe of Yoo Joonghyuk, the best cook in 'Ways of Survival'. Indeed, like Yoo Joonghyuk, who was sincere in cooking, a great dish was born with only the basic ingredients.

"Jam, did you put the elixir I gave you in the cooking?"

"Yes, of course."

The peculiarity of this dish is that the sauce is mixed with Murim's Elixir.

"But those elixirs... are they left by the ark?"

"Yes that's right."

Myung Sewoon is the father of the spotted boy who came to visit me early in the morning.

'100 Years of Roots' was handed over.

I recognized right away that this was the elixir the ark originally intended to give me.

However, Jung Eunho's internal injuries have already been cured.

After thinking about it for a while, I decided to put all three roots of the 100-year-old sewage plant in a dish and feed it to the group members.

"Wow, it's really good. Can I have another bowl?"

"President Park. It seems that your biceps suddenly got bigger."

“Heh heh, I’m kidding."

The faces of the chattering people were much brighter than before.

'100 Years Old Root' is the elixir that the ark left for the Beggar Sect. I also had two summoning pills left, so I wanted to use these elixirs to improve the survivability of the group members.

[The constellations from Murim admire your actions.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' nods at your thoughtfulness.]

[1,000 coins were sponsored.]

The group members who ate a hearty breakfast after a long time looked more comfortable than before.

When everyone had properly emptied their bowls, I opened my mouth again.

"To all of you who are left here, I will teach you the skills and hunting methods necessary for survival."

Of course, I didn't mean to teach my skills. I had no skills to teach in the first place.

Fortunately, the Beggar Sect possesses skills at Seoul Station.

The room's skills were stockpiled in large quantities.

It seems that he tried to teach it in earnest when the degree of the Beggar Sect grew a little more.

Although the Beggar Sect’s martial arts were a few steps behind Kyrgios's [All-In-One] or the Impenetrable Swordsman's [Pajeon-Geomdoe], they were still skills that could reach the pinnacle of <Murim> with constant training.

"Sergeant Kim."

"Yes."

Sergeant Kim, who learned martial arts from the skill book given to me in advance, showed a light demonstration of martial arts while holding a baton.

Then, the people sitting in the front row vomited exclamations.

The martial art used only by the Ark.

Now everyone can learn that martial art.

Sergeant Kim cleared his throat lightly and opened his mouth.

"From now on, I will become a martial arts instructor and teach you skills, or help you learn skills."

People looked at each other in disbelief. It was a look that somehow lacked confidence.

"We… Can we really learn something like that?"

"No problem. I got used to it in one day."

Both children and the elderly can become strong in this world if they set their minds to it.

The beggars, who have lived their lives entrusted to a group, needed the conviction that they could change themselves if they worked hard.

「Soon there will be a war for the absolute throne in Gwanghwamun.」

When the time comes, they must be at the forefront of the scenario, whether they like it or not.

I don't know how many of them will be able to live in that world, but I still wanted to leave a little spark here.

Of course, this story won't change much if there is one Beggar Sect.

Just because a few of these people practice martial arts, learn skills, and gain mastery, there is no way that an impossible scenario will suddenly become possible.

Everything is just a storm in a teacup, and the ending of the 41st turn may not change.

"One! Two! One! Two!"

Nonetheless, watching the children imitate the moves, I thought for a long time about the waves swirling in the empty teacup and Yoo Joonghyuk who had repeated his life over 1,863 times.

Obviously, the lives of the characters in the story may not ultimately change.

But anyone who reads their story will have their world changed.

At least I believe so.

---

"For the time being, I will leave Seoul Station to Sergeant Kim."

"Are you sure you're okay with me?"

I nodded.

"Sergeant Kim also trusted me and entrusted his flag to me."

Sergeant Kim handed over the 'red flag' he had to me.

[Using the representative's own authority.]

[Seoul Station representative Cheon Inho transferred part of the authority to group member 'Kim Heonyeol'.]

[Group member 'Kim Heonyeol' became the 'sub-representative of Seoul Station'.]

[In the future, group member 'Kim Heonyeol' can punish group members on behalf of the representative.]

From the purple flag, you can appoint as many deputy representatives as you want.

If Sergeant Jung Moonho were alive, he would have been entrusted with the role, but for now, this person was the best.

<Character information>

Name: Kim Heonyeol

Age: 33

Sponsor: None (currently, 1 constellation is showing interest).

Attribute: Righteous Soldier (Rare)

Exclusive skills: [Swordsmanship Lv.3], [Camouflage Lv.1], [Sense of Justice Lv.2], [Comrades in arms Lv.1], [Leadership Lv.1]

Stigma: None.

Overall stats: [Stamina Lv.23], [Strength Lv.21], [Agility Lv.20], [Magic Power Lv.19]

Overall assessment: A comprehensive assessment has not yet been described.

Righteous soldier. Somehow, that characteristic reminded me of Lee Hyunsung, which made me choose this person as the vice-president.

Sergeant Kim should be able to manage the station well until Jung Heewon wakes up.

"Are you really going to leave like this? Wouldn't it be nice to go with Heewon-ssi when she wakes up?"

Originally, I waited a bit before moving on.

However, the delay near Seoul Station was long, and above all, the hidden scenario had already arrived.

[Hidden scenario has arrived!]

['King's Road' begins!]

<Hidden Scenario - King's Road>

Category: Hidden

Difficulty: A

Clear conditions: Reach the 'Black Flag' within the time limit.

Time limit: 10 days

Reward: King's qualifications.

Failure: If the conditions are not fulfilled within the time period, you and all members of your group will be killed.

The content of the scenario are slightly different from the main story of 'Omniscient Reader'.

To be precise, I would say that the difficulty has become higher than it was then.

From now on, not only my life but also the lives of my group members were on my shoulders.

[A new king candidate has started walking his own path!]

Fortunately, the number of stations occupied by the ark and those occupied by Sergeant Kim were quite large.

[Current occupied areas: Seoul Station (main camp), Chungjeongno Station, Aeogae Station, Namyeong Station, City Hall Station, Samgak Area, Hyochang Park Station, Sookmyung University Station...]

[A total of 12 stations are occupied.]

It has already occupied as many as 12 stations.

And yet, the color of my flag was still purple.

How many more flags must be acquired in the future to create a 'black flag'?

I do not know either.

In any case, I now have to contend with the role of a representative.

And for me, the final destination was decided.

「Gwanghwamun.」

I'll have to go quickly.

Above all, there was someone who I was supposed to meet there.

"Hyung."

When I turned around, Jung Heewon's younger brother Jung Eunho was looking up at me.

I lightly tapped Jung Eunho on the shoulder and said, "Take good care of your sister."

The point is, Jung Eunho looked at me with an expression that he didn't know what to do, then silently nodded and let go of his hand. Behind him I could see the spotted boy and other children coming out to see me off.

I waved lightly at the children.

Jung Eunho and the children will be the protagonists of future scenarios.

I just hope that the aspirations of this world will be delayed even a little so that they can explore their own stories for a little longer.

After saying goodbye like that, I was walking around Seoul Station when the cell phone in my arms suddenly rang.

—Inho-ssi. Where are you?

When I opened my phone, I saw Ye Hyunwoo's name. We exchanged numbers when we parted just in case, but it seemed that the Internet had somehow stopped working.

Just as I was about to reply, I heard an explosion from afar.

A roar like a huge building collapsing.

I quickly jumped up to a nearby high-rise building to assess the situation. Smoke was billowing in the distance.

Gwanghwamun’s side. To be precise, it was in the direction of the National Palace Museum of Korea.

—Failed to secure the 'Sword of Death'. Probably no one will be able to use the sword this time.

I blankly looked down at Ye Hyunwoo's text message.

'Failed to secure the sword of death.'

The sword of death is the sword that Kim Dokja used to destroy the 'Absolute Throne'.

Kim Dokja knew that, using the 'Absolute Throne', he would not be able to reach the correct ending. So he broke the 'absolute throne' and became himself the 'King of the Kingless World'.

However, in this turn, there is no weapon that can break the 'Absolute Throne'.

When I raised my head, the stars in the sky were swirling and brightening.

「The demise of the 41st turn begins when the owner of the 'Absolute Throne' is born.」

This story wanted the birth of a king.

643 Episode 18 Father (1)

---

「"Dad's face? I can't remember it anymore. It seems like he hasn't been there from the beginning. What about it? We have Ahjussi."」

—Beast Lord Shin Yoosung.

---

If possible, I wanted to hear more about the situation from Ye Hyunwoo, but I couldn't ask because the communication was cut off immediately.

I went straight to Gwanghwamun. Fortunately, Seoul Station and Gwanghwamun are two stops by subway.

It was a distance that could be reached in thirty minutes.

Grrr.

If only I hadn't run into that group in the middle.

Gee ying!

I mimicked the 'thought' into Broken Faith and activated 'Blade of Faith'.

Being able to regenerate such consumable items over and over again thanks to 'thought' was a big advantage.

Aaaagh!

With the lightly wielded blade of faith, the crowd quickly was cleared.

I definitely felt stronger than before.

Although there was a sudden increase in overall ability, the opportunity gained while treating Jung Eunho was great.

[Attribute 'circulation delay' is activated!]

Characteristic circulatory retardation.

In the process of enduring Jung Eunho's coin incubation together, unexpected new things were obtained.

It was a good income.

Unfortunately, it was not a well-known martial arts characteristic like the Cheonmujiche or Thai Yin-Yangjiche, but it was a useful trait for me now in terms of increasing the efficiency of magic circulation.

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword' is interested in your growth rate.]

Thanks to the efficiency of the circulatory delay, it is now possible to maximize 'Broken Faith' until it is broken.

Even if I maintain the 'blade of faith' as an output, there was no lack of magic power.

After sweeping through the crowd, I looked around and spoke in a loud voice.

"Come out! You can take these!"

Then, some incarnations hiding between the building and the smoking booth secretly stuck their heads out.

As I inserted my weapon as to reassure them, a relieved incarnation approached me and asked.

"Can I really take it?"

He looked down at me with suspicious eyes.

At the beginning of the scenarios, monsters were a very useful material.

In particular, their bones can be used as a weapon that can be shot quite well if processed, so it was a monster welcomed by wanderers.

"Yes. Take it."

"Thank you..."

As the man gestured toward the back, three men appeared out of nowhere and quickly began dismantling the monster.

Even while Kim Dokja and his colleagues broke through the main scenario, most of the incarnations would have lived their lives this way.

While watching their monster dismantling process, I pointed out some dismantling points from 'Ways of Survival'.

"This place? Ah."

The man immediately nodded his head several times as if he understood what I was saying.

The man who looked at the monster’s neatly trimmed horns and said in admiration.

"You're familiar with monsters."

"I've been grooming it a few times."

Hearing that, he hesitated for a moment as if he was thinking, then looked back and cried out.

"Come out here everyone! Say hello!"

It seems that the group of men was not all three young men.

The women and children who appeared hesitantly belatedly bowed their heads in this direction.

"Thank you!"

All of them were guilty of the hard homeless life.

I wonder if there are readers among them. Should I say it was fortunate that there were no readers?

"Hey, can I ask for your name?"

"I am Cheon Inho."

"I am Kim Nakmoon. The people in the back are my friends and cousins."

"I see."

Judging from the line of movement, these are obviously incarnations from Gwanghwamun.

Maybe they know about what's going on in Gwanghwamun.

Kim Nakmoon hesitantly checked my appearance and asked in a cautious voice.

"By the way... Are you a 'king'?"

The unexpected insight surprised me a little.

"Why do you think so?"

"Aside from their ability to defeat monsters, ordinary incarnations rarely travel alone. More than anything... it seems like you're heading to Gwanghwamun."

You inferred that I was a king based on that information alone?

Did you say this person's name was Kim Nakmoon?

No matter how much I think about it, he is a character who has never appeared in the book.

「Inspector Kim Nakmoon.」

The information of the Ways of Survival naturally followed.

「The Inspector acted at Yoo Joonghyuk's subordinate in some turns with Bicheonhori.」

The text flowed in my head like a video in front of my eyes.

「"I'm sorry, Captain. I don't think I can be with you this time. I have to protect my family."」

Apparently, the man was Yoo Joonghyuk's subordinate in a certain round.

The reason why he was not chosen by Yoo Joonghyuk in this turn was probably because of his family.

"I don't know if you know, but kings from all over the world are gathering at Gwanghwamun. We're from there too."

As expected, it seemed that the kings had already begun to riot.

There were many readers who knew the future in this world.

Perhaps the kings who heard the information spread by the readers are gathering in Gwanghwamun one after another.

"I'm only saying this to my benefactor, but if possible, don't go there. The atmosphere in Gwanghwamun is unusual."

Kim Nakmoon touched the back of his trembling hand as if he was afraid of something.

"A powerful king from the Gangbuk area has united his forces. He's plotting to annihilate the rest of the kings in one fell swoop. It should have started now."

A mighty king.

I said the first name that came to mind.

"Is the king's name Yoo Joonghyuk by any chance?"

"Yoo Joonghyuk…?"

Looking at his expression, it doesn't look like it.

Well, because Yoo Joonghyuk's solo play is the rule.

Then who is it?

"I'm sorry, but I can't tell you the king's name."

Only then did I notice the faint purple sparks running through his body.

It was not a probability spark.

"Have you escaped from that king’s group?"

Traces of 'punishment' left all over the body.

These are the fugitives who took the punishment and broke away from the king's group.

Perhaps the 'King' put a special kind of restriction on the fugitives to not say his name.

Looking at Kim Nakmoon, who bowed his head in silence, I opened my mouth.

"If you have nowhere else to go, go towards Seoul Station."

"Seoul Station?"

Kim Nakmoon raised his head suddenly and asked me.

"Are you… the king of Seoul Station?"

I added my contact information—actually Cheon Inho’s contact—so that he would not be frightened.

"All you have to do is say that you came with my introduction. If you don't feel like it, you don’t have to join the group. The people there will definitely accept you without discrimination."

Kim Nakmoon, who was hesitant, bowed his head and expressed his gratitude.

Inspector Kim Nakmoon.

I don't know if he will join the Seoul Station group or not.

Either way, it wasn't a bad thing to have a relationship with this character now.

---

About 20 minutes later, I arrived safely at Gwanghwamun.

I was amazed at the scenery of the city, which was reminiscent of my memory.

I also remembered the memories of the days when I was Lee Hakhyun.

When I was majoring in literature, I often visited a large bookstore in Gwanghwamun with my university classmates.

I wonder if there are friends among my classmates who have possessed this world.

I smiled bitterly to myself and shook my head.

Probably not.

I can still vividly remember the look on their faces when I told them I was writing a web novel. They wouldn't have read it, so naturally they wouldn't be here.

Looking at the scenery in front of my eyes, I'm rather glad they're not here.

The main streets of Gwanghwamun, where protesters and riot police once stood, were now full of bloodstains from incarnations and monsters. Vehicles were lined up all over the boulevard, broken in a mess, and corpses that had not been cleaned were often seen.

There were many people killed by the monsters, but as we got closer to the center of Gwanghwamun, we could see more corpses.

After passing through the plaza and entering the road leading to the National Palace Museum, large tents began to catch my eye.

Above the tent, makeshift flags fluttered in the wind, presumably a temporary shelter built by King Magak's forces.

"What, that bastard."

The incarnations near the curtain sent a wary look toward me.

As Kim Nakmoon said, the atmosphere is flimsy.

Among them, at first glance, there were incarnations who seemed to be quite talented.

Could it be because of the awakening of the circulatory system?

Even though [Character List] was not used, I could feel the energy of the incarnations.

In particular, the incarnation who was sitting on the bench over there had an unusual energy.

A huge bow on his back and a sword on his waist.

The moment our eyes met, I realized who he was.

[The constellation 'The last hero of the Gyebaek' is watching you.]

The incarnation of Gyebaek, King Chu.

In Omniscient Reader, he was an incarnation who lost his life to Kim Dokja, but in this turn, he managed to save his life.

In addition to that, I looked at the power of the kings who had settled in various places in Gwanghwamun.

I'm sure Ji Eunyu is somewhere around here.

At the banquet, I made an appointment with her to meet her at Gwanghwamun.

But when I thought about it, Gwanghwamun was too wide.

We should have decided to meet in front of a bookstore or something specific.

I was about to call Ji Eunyu's name, but instead I thought of shouting out a password that only the two of us knew.

But what do we know?

After thinking about it for a while, I decided to give it a try.

"… Genius editor!"

For reference, genius editor is the nickname Ji Eunyu used at Kim Dokja's banquet.

Was my shout heard?

A response came from several groups who heard me.

Among them, there was one group that showed a peculiar reaction.

The man who had walked along with his gang spoke to me with a stern expression on his face.

"There bro."

Feeling a bit afraid, I asked the man.

"Ji Eunyu-ssi?"

"Hmm? What are you talking about?"

Fortunately, it wasn't Ji Eunyu.

"It's nothing. What's the matter?"

"Which group do you belong to?"

"Seoul Station."

In response to my answer, the man looked at my behavior as if he was surprised.

"Seoul Station. Where that group of beggars is located?"

The man lightly touched his chin, and he continued as if he had made up his mind.

"Come under us. You look like a runaway. With our group, we can push around Seoul Station."

"Who is the leader of your group?"

"It's King Maitreya. You must have heard of him."

King Maitreya.

Of course I know.

The incarnation of 'one-eyed Maitreya' and one of the '7 kings' of Seoul.

"What if I refuse?"

"The number of corpses will increase by one."

The men surrounded me with great momentum.

If you can't have them, you'll kill them right away.

Indeed, by the fourth scenario, is everyone saying that murder is nothing?

In the past, I would have backed away, but now I don't have any particular intention of avoiding it.

At least now, I had the confidence to fight and defeat Kim Dokja.

Since the fourth scenario has already begun, it might not be a bad idea to get the head start.

"There, wait."

It was then that a low, thick voice was heard among the men.

The man who was intimidating me muttered, "What kind of guy are you?" and turned around.

The first thing I saw was a purple flag fluttering splendidly. There were also incarnations lined up to protect the flag.

And one of them, running round and round by their side.

The puppet rat hovered around the incarnations for a long time, as if it were a joke, and then rubbed against the middle-aged man's leg near the flag.

The men who confirmed the middle-aged man's face soon shouted in frightened voices and scattered

"Bald King."

I can tell what kind of group it is just by hearing the king's name.

As I waved my hand in welcome, Ye Hyeonwoo, who was next to the bald king, ran towards me.

"Inho-ssi!"

Chungmuro Group. Fortunately, our reader seemed to have settled down safely in Gwanghwamun.

[The 'Character List' has been updated.]

The moment I saw Ye Hyunwoo, a strange message came to my mind.

[The corresponding person's update has been completed.]

[Do you want to check the person's information?]

Originally, until now, it was impossible to use [Character List] for characters possessed by readers.

"Inho-ssi. Are you okay?"

Ye Hyeonwoo, who had fully adapted to this world, was holding my hands and making a worried face.

But I couldn't help but smile at him.

Since when was it?

['List of characters' is activated]

The 7th apostle Ye Hyeonwoo became a character.

644 Episode 18 Father (2)

---

What does it mean to be a 'character' in a story?

Even in 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' there were some who suddenly became 'characters'.

For example, Lee Seongguk and Jung Minseop, who were prophets.

Together with Kim Dokja, they were characters from outside the novel, but over time they became 'characters'.

The point at which the two became 'characters' was right after the development of the scenario overtook the development of the novel they knew.

In other words, they became 'characters' the moment they passed the section where they knew what would happen.

Then, what about Ye Hyunwoo?

Unlike Lee Seongguk or Jung Minseop, he was a reader who had read 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' completely as many as 50 times.

Nonetheless, characterization occurred.

What on earth is the mechanism of characterization?

First of all, I checked Ye Hyunwoo's 'character information'.

<Character List>

Name: Ye Hyunwoo (???)

Age: 17

Sponsor: None (currently, 7 constellations are showing interest in this person).

Exclusive attributes: Leader of the Silver Screen (Heroic), Marksman (Rare), Seeker (Rare), ▪▪▪▪▪ (???)

Exclusive Skills: [Weapon Improvement Lv.4], [Mental Barrier Lv.5], [Leadership Lv.3], [Horsepower Sharing Lv.5], [Lie Detection Lv.4].

Stigma: None.

Overall Ability: [Stamina Lv.35], [Strength Lv.30], [Agility Lv.28], [Magic Lv.40]

Some Constellations expressed displeasure at the strange airflow felt from him.

It was a list window that looked exactly like the characters, except for three question marks next to their names and some of their characteristics filtered out.

Perhaps the question mark next to the name is Ye Hyunwoo's real name, and the filtering of the characteristics is a characteristic related to 'reader'.

Just by looking at his overall ability and skill level, he could tell how hard Ye Hyunwoo had grown.

While I was genuinely delighted with the fact, I couldn't hide my slight concern.

Why did Ye Hyunwoo become a 'character' at this point?

No matter how much I think about it, I don't know.

If you think about it, the exact mechanism of 'characterization' has not been revealed in the end.

Lee Gilyoung and Yoo Sangah were also prominent figures 'outside the novel', but since the collection of information on the list of characters began much later than Lee Seongguk or Jung Minseop, I took a breath and called Ye Hyunwoo's name without expressing my emotions as much as possible.

"Hyunwoo-ssi."

"Yes?"

"Do you remember the contents of 'Omniscient Reader'?"

Ye Hyunwoo, who was staring at me, lowered his voice and asked.

"Are you talking about the Book of Revelation?"

"Ah, yes."

Come to think of it, the apostles called the novel that way.

"Of course I remember. You know how many times have I read it."

Without realizing it, my heart was beating fast.

“Inho-ssi? Your complexion is not very good..."

"Do you remember what our goal is?"

"Our goal? Seeing the end of this world, right?"

"And?"

"And..."

Why did I ask that?

I do not know.

However, I just wanted to check.

That even if he became a character, he is still the Ye Hyunwoo that I remember.

That he still remembers the story we had together and recognizes that this world is a novel.

I just wanted to check.

However.

"To be happy?"

I was dazed for a moment.

「This time, tell me a happy story.」

Suddenly, Kim Dokja's words came to mind. Ye Hyunwoo was laughing with an embarrassed face.

"Are you all right, Inho-ssi? Why are you suddenly asking such a thing?"

"Inho-ssi."

"Ah, yes."

Ye Hyunwoo reached out and grabbed my shoulder.

"You're in a strange condition. You seem to have a fever. You're breaking out in a cold sweat. Let's go into the tent for a while and talk."

I was dragged along as if being supported by Ye Hyunwoo and sat down on a chair provided in the tent.

"Eat this."

As I drank the warm leaf tea that Ye Hyunwoo gave me, I felt my breathing calm down a bit.

Anyway.

"How did you get this?"

"I acted a little cute to the constellations."

Ye Hyunwoo's grinning expression somehow resembled the Kim Dokja I remember. Does Ye Hyunwoo likes tea because he is also a fragment of Kim Dokja?

「What happened to the other fragments of Kim Dokja?」

I decided to get straight to the point.

"I would like to hear briefly about the current situation."

The reason I came to Gwanghwamun was because of Ye Hyunwoo's message.

'Failed to secure the sword.'

Considering the end of the fourth scenario, it is now necessary to secure the 'sword of death'.

What the hell happened that they didn't get the sword of death?

"First of all, I think I should inform you about the situation after Inho-ssi departure?"

When I nodded, Ye Hyunwoo briefly explained what had happened over the past few days.

It is said that right after I left, the Chungmuro Group started to expand its influence. Anyway, the battle for the flag must have begun. There was no reason to take any more time.

Clear minor sub-scenarios, capture the flags of other stations,

"In the process, Seonah noona and Kyungsik helped me a lot."

Goo Seonah and Kim Kyungsik. Incarnations who have read the whole novel 8 times and 6 times, respectively.

Once again, I realized the potential of the Chungmuro Group.

Considering the combination of Gong Pildoo and Ye Hyunwoo, Chungmuro was, in fact, a group with the strongest fighting power at the moment.

"What about Killer King and his sister?"

"They left the station right after Inho-ssi left."

Well, Killer King will only hang out with his younger sister like Yoo Joonghyuk.

Yoo Joonghyuk must be on the move with Yoo Mia by now.

"After that, a war broke out with the neighboring stations, and I benefited from the 'Singijeon' that was given to me at that time."

Class A Replica Singijeon.

It seems that it was worthwhile to pass it on.

"Everything went smoothly until we ran into the coalition forces at Gwanghwamun Station."

"A union?"

"Yes. Allied forces, including the tyrant king, were waiting."

The Tyrant King was one of the most powerful kings in Omniscient Reader.

"No matter how good the Tyrant King is, it would be difficult to deal with the current leader and Hyunwoo-ssi."

I don't know if it's Gong Pildu or Ye Hyunwoo, but these two are a combination that more than doubles their synergy when they're together.

If Gong Pildu's [Armed Zone] and Ye Hyunwoo's [Magic Sharing] unite, there would be virtually no opponent to fear in the early stages except for Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Haa… Actually, I was thinking that too, but I was caught off guard."

To start with the conclusion, Ye Hyunwoo and Gong Pildu did not even have a proper fight with the Tyrant King.

"It was a mistake to divide the forces. Some of our main forces were ambushed inside the Palace Museum."

"So now the Palace Museum is…"

Before entering the tent, I saw the Palace Museum completely collapsed.

The building collapsed as if it had been bombed.

"Yes. That's right. Even if the entire building collapsed as an explosion occurred inside, it's impossible to enter the interior at all because of that."

There might be a way to blow up the building parts with Gong Pildu's turret and enter, but in that case, colleagues inside could get hurt.

Perhaps Ye Hyunwoo called me because of such a dilemma.

"The fact that he set a trap in the Palace Museum means he knows about the Death Sword."

"Yes, it seems that someone knows the information of the Book of Revelation."

I don't know if it's a reader or a member of the Misreading Association, but I understood the situation anyway.

"Who are the people who entered?"

"Seonah noona and Kyungsik..."

"Isn’t the old man able to get out?"

Reader Kim Kyungshik had the [Smoke Man] skill. [Smoke Man] is a skill that allows you to vaporize your body using smoke from a smoking pipe.

If it is unclear whether even Kim Kyungshik is alive or dead, then a serious problem must have occurred inside the building.

"We are also suffering from it. Originally, if something happened, Kyungshik Ahjussi was supposed to escape alone and inform me of the situation, but we lost contact..."

"Are there any other people inside?"

"There are a few other members of the group, but they are not very talented. And.."

Ye Hyunwoo hesitated a little before saying the last words, then added.

"Dansu-ssi also entered."

"Dansu Ahjussi?"

I asked in surprise.

Dansu Ahjussi must have followed Lee Jihye and Kim Namwoon to Myeongdong Station.

"I saw him leaving with Lee Jihye too. They came here alone last night."

For a moment, I thought I knew what had happened, even though I hadn't heard anything.

If ahjussi gave up on the mission he was talking about and came back, there is only one reason.

"They said that Jiyoon is in that museum."

---

After completing my simple preparations, I stood at the entrance of the collapsed National Palace Museum.

"Inho-ssi. Are you really going to be okay by yourself?"

"I have to go alone anyway."

If it were me in the past, I would have entered with an escort.

But I couldn't bring an escort with me now. It was because I had to use a special item I had to enter that abandoned building.

"Change into the Ever-Changing Stealth Suit."

When I gave the command with [Incite], 'Thought' turned into translucent clothes that covered my entire body.

One of its features is to change your appearance you want.

['Ever-Changing Stealth Suit' is activated!]

My body shrunk in an instant, and it shrunk to about the size of a thumb, as if I had used miniaturization.

[The change limit has been reached.]

[You can’t get any smaller.]

Surprised, Ye Hyunwoo looked at me and exclaimed.

[The constellation that has not yet revealed their modifier says there is a problem with your item usage.]

It was fortunate that I got the 'Ever-Changing Stealth Suit' in the decisive battle with RepresentativeKimDokja. First of all, the goal is to go down among the piles of abandoned buildings and infiltrate the dungeon of the Palace Museum.

I was about to go right through the collapsed stones, but Ye Hyunwoo called me.

"Inho-ssi."

When I glanced around, Ye Hyunwoo was looking at me with a complicated face.

Somehow, I seemed to know what Ye Hyunwoo was going to say.

"Inho-ssi… Are you really a reader?"

He must have some idea of who I am now.

So I didn't lie this time. Whatever he meant by 'reader'.

"Yes, I'm not."

"You must come back."

I nodded and went straight into the abandoned building. I quickly ran through the empty space between the stones. Shortly after, a collapsed marble lobby appeared.

I looked at the dead bodies of people who had been stretched out among the collapsed rubble. There were often familiar faces, but there were no Dansu ahjussi or readers' faces.

I raised my head and looked ahead.

The lobby to enter the dungeon.

[A new hidden scenario has arrived!]

What I'm looking for lies deeper.

645 Episode 18 Father (3)

<Hidden Scenario - Relic of Trials>

Category: Hidden

Difficulty: F~A+

Clear conditions: Clear the 'Relic Dungeon' for the right number of people.

Time limit: None.

Reward: 500~5,000 coins

Failure: Death

[Select the type of dungeon to enter.]

* 1-person dungeon - Field of Nagak

* 3-person dungeon - Acupuncturists' Field

* 5-person dungeon - Donguibogam

* 7-person dungeon - Yongjun's Jang

The group of three, including Kim Dokja, arrived here in the main part of the book, and they chose the '3-person dungeon', the 'Acupuncturists' Field'.

Anyway, since I was alone, I had no other options.

"I will choose the one-man dungeon, the Field of Nagak."

[You enter the 1-person dungeon.]

Little information was known about the Field of Nagak.

I checked the 'Ways of Survival' skill and the notes I had written, but nothing came to mind right away.

I can’t help it.

This time, I have to experience it for myself.

[You are the 5th to enter the single-person dungeon.]

At the same time as entering, the 'Ever-Changing Stealth Suit' was deactivated. Because from now on, there was no need to make my body smaller.

The Nagak's field was like a huge terrarium that someone artificially decorated.

The rocky land rose between the puddles that submerge people up to the chin.

Hermit crabs about 1 meter tall were also seen creeping and crawling over the land.

Those must be 'Nagaks'.

[If you defeat more than 100 'Nagak', you will be eligible to escape the dungeon.]

[Obtain 2 Sangpyeong Tongbo as a basic reward for every 100 Nagak hunts.]

In order to enter the 'Chapter of the Big Dipper' where the sword of death lies, you must collect 10 Sangpyeong Tongbo.

In other words, I have to catch at least 500 Nagaks.

As I moved slowly, the nagaks who felt my presence turned their antennae all at once.

[The 8th grade sea species 'Small Nagak' has noticed your presence!]

I still don't know the attack pattern of these guys.

However, I know what kind of instrument a 'Nagak' is. A brass instrument made from conch shells.

According to my guess, their attack method is-

[The Nagak Ensemble begins.]

Ugh, I feel like the air is boiling.

I instinctively looked left and right, then took about twenty steps to the left.

And after a while.

Woo woo woo woo.

There was a deafening roar as if dozens of herds of bison were vomiting at once. I could see the floor on which I had been standing until the moment it was turned into clay with a sound.

As expected, it was an attack using sound.

Fortunately, they did not continue. The monsters stopped crying all at once, probably sucking in their breath to make the sound again.

I started hunting them.

When I approached in an instant and took out 'Broken Faith', the surprised hermit crab tried to defend itself by sticking out a small claw crab.

[The 'Blade of Faith' is activated!]

However, there is no way that an ether blade can be blocked with only a 8th class sea monster's carapace.

While the Nagak, whose claw had been cut off, vomited a sound, I inserted a new sword into the gap in the Nagak.

[You have hunted 1 'Nagak'.]

After learning how to hunt one, it was easy.

Avoiding the 'Nagak ensemble' pouring out at regular intervals, I ran between the conch shells.

Every time I swing the Blade of Faith, one Nagak loses its life.

[You have hunted 23 'Nagaks'.]

[You have hunted 24 'Nagaks'.]

If I feel a little bit out of magic, I bought from the dokkaebi’s bag in advance.

I also used an intermediate magic recovery potion.

[You have hunted 152 'Nagaks'.]

[You have hunted 153 'Nagaks'.]

I didn’t forget to look around to see if there were other incarnations around me.

There weren’t.

Occasionally I could see gear or clothing dropped by people, but I couldn't find a living person.

It was definitely difficult for a single player dungeon.

Defeating hundreds of Nagak and obtaining a notification of the award must be a formidable task for ordinary incarnations.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' rejoices in your growth.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' says that he has caught on to his income.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' says he heard that the horn meat is good for hair loss and strengthening stamina.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband asks if that's true.]

The messages of the constellations came into my head.

After defeating the ark at Seoul Station, I felt that the number of constellations permanently residing in the channel increased.

Of course, not everyone in the neighborhood cheered me on, but...

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' complains that it is not fun because there is no crisis.]

In any case, it was around the time that the number of Nagaks I hunted exceeded 400.

[The constellation that has not revealed their modifier warns you that it is not going to be an easy dungeon.]

With a somewhat ominous message, a light vibration occurred throughout the terrarium.

[The number of slaughtered 'Nagak' in the 'Nagak's Field' has exceeded 400!]

[Someone is very angry at the Nagaks' death!]

[Higher seawater species appear!]

I saw something rise up in the huge puddle that occupied the center of the 'Nagaks' Field'.

It was a huge conch shell with a height the size of a small house.

[6th sea species, Ancient Nagak has awakened!]

It's not even 7th grade, it's suddenly 6th grade?

At this point, if it was a 6th sea species, it was not easy to deal for even Jung Heewon who has activated [Time of Judgment].

A tingling feeling of life was transmitted through the hair on my forearm.

Should I run away now?

[Penalty for high-ranking sea species is activated!]

[You cannot escape from the dungeon for the next 10 minutes.]

Unable to escape for 10 minutes.

In other words, if I manage to survive for 10 minutes, I can escape.

[A handful of constellations are now licking their lips saying that it will be a little fun.]

The ancient Nagak twisted its massive body, and before I knew it, his antennae was pointing toward me.

[6th sea species 'Ancient Nagak' has noticed your presence.]

I swallowed lightly and thought.

「To what extent can I fight now?」

Come to think of it, I wasn't that weak.

I got my first story just before the fourth scenario was over, and I raised my overall ability to the limit of the scenario.

There is no 'Unbreakable Faith', but there is 'Broken Faith' that can be infinitely regenerated with 'Thought', and I can use [white and blue steel]. The 'outer suit' obtained in the theater dungeon is still intact.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' says that the meat of the Ancient Nagak is in the limelight as a food to prevent hair loss.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' asks if it's real.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' bets his hair and says it's real.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' says that this 'Bald General of Justice'has never eaten Nagaks' meat.]

[A new bounty scenario has arrived!]

<Bounty Scenario - Precious Hair>

Classification: Sub

Difficulty: B+

Clear Condition: Hunt the Ancient Nagak and donate the Ancient Nagak to the Prisoner of the Golden Headband.

Time limit: 1 hour.

Reward: 2,000 coins, ???

Failure: —

I stared blankly at the newly appeared scenario window and suddenly came to my senses.

It was an unexpected opportunity.

Even a 'Bounty Scenario' directly imposed by the Prisoner of the Golden Headband.

If it was Kim Dokja, he would never have missed this opportunity.

After making a light call, I fixed my 'Broken Faith'.

Let's try it.

Because I already know how to attack Nagaks.

Without giving me more time, I ran towards the 'Ancient Nagak'. The plan was to activate the 'blade of faith' with maximum output immediately, and cut down its skin at once.

However.

Quadddeuk!

Surprisingly, the shell of the 6th grade Sea Species deflected the 'Blade of Faith'.

Strong enough to block the ether blade. The moment I took a few steps in my panic, I heard an ominous vibration.

The 'ensemble' of the ancient Nagak is about to begin.

I quickly stepped back and searched for a place out of reach of sound waves.

A cold sweat ran down my back.

I could feel it instinctively. The ensemble of the 'Ancient Nagak' had a different attack range than the other Nagaks.

I could see the Ancient Nagak tally swaying as if mocking me.

Whoa! Whoa! Whoa! Whoa! Whoa! Whoa! Whoa!

A huge circular sound wave was emitted from the Ancient Nagak as the center. I reflexively turned my back and ran away.

I had to run as far as possible, to a place where those sound waves couldn't reach.

Bubbeobuck!

But the sound was faster than my steps.

Even though I retreated to the point where the sound wave weakened, it felt like I was getting a concussion the moment I got hit. I felt sick to my stomach and felt nauseous. In the distance, I saw two Ancient Nagaks swaying.

[Exclusive skill 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World' is activated!]

This time, Ways of Survival was activated just in time.

「"There’s an easy way to hunt ancient nagak."」

Those were the words of Yoo Joonghyuk, without a doubt, another sentence of 'Ways of Survival' came to mind next.

「"You can't avoid his ensemble attack even if you cover your ears."」

I already know. I just had my ears covered.

「"The attack method is simple."」

As expected, our regressor protagonist seemed to know the strategy of hunting an 'Ancient Nagak'.

「"Just before he opens his mouth for an ensemble."」

Before opening its mouth?

「"Run faster than the speed of sound and cut it in half with a powerful punch."」

Did I hear it wrong?

I rolled on the floor mindlessly avoiding the 'Nagak's Ensemble'.

「"There is an easier way."」

Fortunately, that was not the end of Yoo Joonghyuk's words.

「"All you have to do is hit its shell with the [Pacheonbuk Fist] that has reached its climax. No matter how hard the shell is, it can't handle the impact of the mesosphere."」

Yoo Joonghyuk's unlucky smile came to life before my eyes.

「"It's a basic strategy that anyone can do."」

I can understand why Kim Dokja hit Yoo Joonghyuk in the back of the head at every opportunity.

When I came to my senses, I was surrounded by miniature Nagaks.

There is no place to avoid the next attack.

In the distance, the second ensemble of 'Ancient Nagak' was about to begin.

What should i do?

Can I use the 'Shield of Hercules'? [Air Area Defense] works against sword attacks. Can I defend?

Or not-

"This way."

A human voice came from somewhere.

When I turned my head, a small hand was fidgeting between the shells of the 'Nagak' from a few steps away.

The owner of the hand raised the shell while walking, and poked her head out through a small gap.

"Here. Come in here."

The moment I checked the child's face, I felt like my heart stopped.

Why is this child here?

Yoo Joonghyuk’s voice echoed in my head.

「"Of course, I don’t bother to get my hands dirty hunting something like 'Nagaks'."」

In the distance, the ancient trumpets of horns resounded, and the wind blew the wavy hair of the child.

Brilliant light brown hair.

It was a child I knew well.

"Ahjussi."

The fifth member of <Kim Dokja’s Company> I met.

The first incarnation of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

"Quickly. Come in!"

A child who will go through the most terrible things in this 41st turn.

An incarnation that finally becomes a disaster in another world line.

「"Take care of it, Beast Lord."」

Disaster of Floods—Shin Yoosung was there.

646 Episode 18 Father (4)

---

Why is Shin Yoosung in this dungeon now?

I put my rising doubts behind and moved my body as if sliding to enter the Nagak where Shin Yoosung was hiding.

Doo doo doo!

A sound like a rapid drumming rang out, and I felt the air pressure in my ears change. But other than that, there were no other hits. This shell prevented the ensemble attack of 'Ancient Nagak'.

"You won't get attacked if you're inside. I'm not sure why..."

It was a way I hadn't thought of.

Come to think of it, the Nagaks here would also listen to each other's ensemble, but they weren't hurting each other.

We held our breath as we lay on our stomachs inside the narrow shell. When the sound had quieted down a bit, I lifted the shell slightly and explored the surroundings.

In the distance, an Ancient Nagak could be seen pacing the terrarium.

Apparently, they hadn't found us yet.

"I feel safe now."

When the faint light came through the cracks in the shell, the face of Shin Yoosung, whom I had seen before, came into my eyes once again.

「It was a magical moment.」

Shin Yoosung stuttered in embarrassment at my gaze.

"Well, he was originally a child who had almost reached the end of his lifespan. By chance, he communicated with me, and he said he wanted to give me a house of his own..."

It was only belatedly that I realized that Shin Yoosung was talking about this shell.

There must have been a hermit crab in here too.

However, the guy seemed to have passed on this shell to Shin Yoosung.

It was something that could have happened to Shin Yoosung, not to anyone else.

Because she is an incarnation that can communicate with monsters.

<Character Summary>

Name: Shin Yoosung

Age: 11

Sponsor: None (currently, 1 constellation is showing interest).

Exclusive Traits: Beast Tamer (Rare), Reflective Murderer (Normal)

Exclusive Skill: [Tame Lv.5], [Multispecies Sympathy Lv.6], [Agile Feet Lv.5], [Heterogeneous Favor Lv.3].

Stigma: None.

Overall stats: [Strength Lv.15], [Stamina Lv.12], [Agility Lv.18], [Magic Power Lv.27]

> Overall evaluation: This incarnation has decent Magic Power, but overall stats are low. She has outstanding talent and rare traits, but has not bloomed due to environmental reasons.

I recalled the contents of the main story while reading and compared the abilities of Shin Yoosung in front of me with the main story.

I don't know what the difference is, but some skills and overall stat levels were a little different from what I knew.

The question I had been thinking of for a while popped into my mind once again.

Why is Shin Yoosung here?

According to my memory, Shin Yoosung became a wanderer for a long time, and it was after the 'fourth scenario' that she met Kim Dokja.

I sincerely bowed my head.

"Thank you for saving me."

"Ah, yes..... no!"

In any case, if it weren't for this child, I would have fallen prey to the 'Ancient Nagak' without moving here.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' admires the actions of this incarnation.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is moved by the good deeds of incarnation 'Shin Yoosung'.]

A message from the constellations flying in the air.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' sponsors 100 coins to incarnation 'Shin Yoosung'.]

"Ah. Ah..."

Shin Yoosung, who received a sponsorship, looked back at me with a confused expression. I nodded my head as a sign to accept it quickly. Shin Yoosung, blushing, bowed her head to the air.

"Thank you. Thank you."

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is impressed by the incarnation.]

[An anonymous constellation says that these are all tricks to extract coins.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' laments that the constellations have lost their innocence these days.]

I felt strange.

Was this Shin Yoosung before meeting Kim Dokja?

I opened my mouth in a low voice so as not to be noticed by other monsters.

"I'm late to introduce myself. My name is Cheon Inho."

"I'm... Shin Yoosung."

Shin Yoosung said that and added hesitantly.

"You're an adult, so you can talk comfortably."

"No. You are my benefactor."

Shin Yoosung opened her eyes wide and rolled only her pupils.

"But I feel like I'm doing something wrong because I'm being treated with respect by an adult…"

Apparently, Shin Yoosung felt uncomfortable hearing respectful words from adults.

After hesitating for a moment, I replied:

"You don't know what type of person I am yet."

"A little... I know."

You know?

Shin Yoosung wriggled her hands for a moment as if she was embarrassed, then pointed to my coat pocket and said,

"You took care of the belongings of the dead."

When did you come to that conclusion?

In fact, I took the belongings of the dead incarnations while hunting Nagaks.

It was to check if there were any incarnations I knew, including Dansu ahjussi, and to inform the people of the Chungmuro group if there were any faces they knew.

"You're going outside to let others know... right?"

Those who entered the one-man dungeon, 'Nagak's Field', were more likely to be in a relatively isolated position in the group.

If there was a party, of course they would have entered a 3-person, 5-person, or 7-person dungeon.

Choosing one person must mean that there was a reason why they had no choice but to come in alone.

"I just packed the items. Why did you come in alone, Yoosoung-ssi?"

"Oh, I am..."

When our eyes met, Shin Yoosung hurriedly lowered her head and stammered.

"Because grown-ups don’t like teaming up with me…"

I knew it.

In a word, everything made sense.

The reason Shin Yoosung was here alone, and the reason why she was hiding and observing my actions...

"They are bad adults."

"Ah, no. But he said that if I clear this place and get a 'commentary notice', he will go with me. He said he would accept me into the group."

Did they even ask a child who hadn't even joined the group to do that?

"They are really bad adults."

"Oh, oh, not really. It's a natural choice for them."

"A natural choice?"

"Someone said that adults and children are equal in this world. Now, children are not children… But things like me aren't very helpful… Rather, giving me an opportunity like this… I should be thankful..."

I was extremely confused.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' lights a double wick in her eyes.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' laments that the virtues of the Korean Peninsula have fallen to the ground.]

As Kim Dokja once said, in an apocalyptic world, there was not much difference between children and adults.

Children can also become stronger by raising their abilities with coins.

Therefore, Shin Yoosung, a child, could say things like that as if she understood the circumstances of the adults.

But is it really okay?

Just because a new world has begun, is it okay to suddenly leave such a burden on the children?

Is it okay to treat children and adults as completely equal just because they have the same physical abilities?

"Which group of people said that?"

Children in this world are scary.

Like the children of the Beggar Sect, there are even children who specialize in hunting adults.

So, while asking that question, I didn't miss the possibility that it was Shin Yoosung's acting.

Even when she actually met Kim Dokja, Shin Yoosung was a child who could use the sympathy of adults.

But if all this was this little kid's design, it was fine as it was.

Knowing a child's desires but turning a blind eye to them.

Because that might be the only gift you can give a child as an adult living in this crazy world.

"That... I can't remember their name... It's a group that belongs to a place called the Union."

Union.

It was a name I had heard from Ye Hyunwoo.

Did you say it was a group of kings, including the tyrant king?

"Let's escape from here together."

We have to somehow get Shin Yoosung out of here.

And, unlike the main story, I must see the faces of the proud adults who drove the child to death with my own eyes.

[You have hunted 504 Nagaks.]

[Dungeon escape will be possible after 1 minute.]

The time to escape was drawing near.

I had finished hunting 500 Nagaks, which was my target, so all I had to do was wait. However, Shin Yoosung muttered weakly.

"I can't go. I haven't met my quota yet."

Well, it's a dungeon that even adults couldn't clear. Even if she was talented, there was no way Shin Yoosung, who was only a child, couldn’t clear it alone.

"I'll help you."

If you hunt only 100 Nagaks, you can meet the escape condition of the 'Nagak’s Field'.

The problem is that the Ancient Nagak is looking for us from afar.

But while I'm wasting my time, if Shin Yoosung just hunts Nagaks one by one-

[The character 'Shin Yoosung' feels extreme mental pain.]

Watching Shin Yoosung tremble with her arms wrapped around her, I realized that I was one step closer to the Shin Yoosung Kim Dokja met.

"I'm sorry. I can't."

Shin Yoosung's first scenario flashed through my mind.

She is a child who had to survive by killing her dog.

Shin Yoosung's trauma was still vivid.

"I'm sorry. You can go alone. I can stay here, so-"

I thought it didn't matter whether it was acting or not.

If that's acting.

[Some constellations are curious about your next choice.]

That's what's wrong is this world that made Shin Yoosung act like that.

"I'll die if I'm here alone."

"You don't want to die. You don't have to say that."

Shin Yoosung still hung her head.

"The school teaches you what to do in dangerous situations."

However, not everyone can do what they are taught at school.

Everyone knows that you should be considerate of the elderly and that you shouldn't hurt people.

I know that when I need help, I have to tell someone to help me.

But some people can't tell even if they know it.

There are people who have become like that.

"Shin Yoosung helped me even though I didn't ask for help. So, I will help you too."

It's not because I'm an adult. It's not because Shin Yoosung is a child.

I’m just helping, because she's the one I can help right now.

Shin Yoosung, still unable to meet my eyes, opened her mouth.

"But I don't have the confidence to kill the monsters..."

"Killing is not the only answer."

I checked the number of monsters scattered throughout the terrarium.

Is it because I slaughtered quite a few of them?

Now, there were not that many living monsters in this 'Field of Nagak'.

There is no sign that Nagak's numbers are increasing.

If so, there is one way to try it out.

"You don't have to kill them. Instead, it can be a little painful."

However, in order to use this method, Shin Yoosung’s help was needed.

"Maybe it's harder than killing. It's hard on the body, not the mind."

"If that's the case."

Shin Yoosung raised her head and looked up at me.

"I'd like to. If I don't have to kill anything."

She is a determined child.

I nodded and said.

"Then let's try it."

"By the way, are you okay? If you're in trouble because of me—"

"No problem. And don't worry too much."

I smiled lightly as if to calm a frightened child.

"No matter what happens, I will protect you."

I briefly explained the operation.

Shin Yoosung, who has a good brain, understood my words right away.

"Can I really do that?"

"It will be."

This operation relied entirely on Shin Yoosung's talent.

Shin Yoosung must believe in me to make this method possible.

"Start."

I flipped the cudgel cover and started running.

I must have walked dozens of steps after stepping on a puddle, and the monsters around me, noticing my presence, all looked at me in unison.

[Nagak ensemble begins.]

The sound waves inadvertently pouring behind my steps.

I gave a signal to Shin Yoosung, who was looking at me from a distance, while running.

[The character, 'Shin Yoosung' activates 'Tame Lv.5'!]

[The character 'Shin Yoosung' activates 'Multispecies Sympathy Lv.6'!]

The purpose of this operation was simple.

While I was attracting the attention of the Nagaks, Shin Yoosung, who activated [Tame], tamed the Nagaks in the terrarium.

This operation was conceived from Shin Yoosung's status window.

[The character 'Shin Yoosung' is currently hunting 1 Nagak.]

Clearly, Shin Yoosung was in a state where she couldn't kill even a single Nagak. Nevertheless, Shin Yoosung already has a record of killing a Nagak. From this record, I can infer two hypotheses.

One, Shin Yoosung can actually kill Nagaks.

Two, simply 'taming' them is recognized as hunting.

Whichever hypothesis is correct, the operation was well worth a try.

Even if this operation fails-

「"I will send Shin Yoosung. It's an opportunity to increase her monster army."」

At the very least, Shin Yoosung will be able to secure monsters to protect herself from adults.

[Character 'Shin Yoosung' failed to 'tame'!]

The problem is that 'Shin Yuseung''s skill proficiency is too low.

From a distance, I could see Shin Yoosung's face stained with faint despair.

"Oh, Ahjussi—"

I cried out in a loud voice.

"Calm down, try again one by one! You can do it!"

In fact, it was difficult for Shin Yoosung at this point.

Even in the main story, Shin Yoosung tamed sea creatures of 7th or higher after growing up under the special training of Kim Dokja.

And unfortunately, there was no Kim Dokja in this world.

But.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.9' is activated!]

Shin Yoosung now has me.

647 Episode 18 Father (5)

---

「"You're useless."」

A sentence came into my mind.

「"If I take you with me, isn't it just a food bug?"」

「"Let’s send you to the dungeon. If you survive and come back, we’ll accept you in the group."」

I don't know if this is a sentence from 'Ways of Survival' or the voice that comes from within Shin Yoosung. What is certain is that Shin Yoosung, who is shouting from afar, is gradually losing her confidence.

"Don't listen to other people!"

No matter what I do now, I cannot change the history that has already been written for that child.

Even if I delete a sentence that has already been read once, it will not be deleted.

What I can do is to write the next sentence that the child will read darker and clearer.

[The attribute effect activates!]

And in that case, I was more confident than anyone else.

"You can do whatever you want! You don't have to kill monsters! If you think you can be friends, believe it!"

This world will not be as easy as the sentence I wrote.

There are monsters you can't be friends with, and monsters you can't tame.

Even a monster whose goal is to destroy this world like the 'last dragon of the Apocalypse'.

But.

"It's okay to fail!"

What was in front of Shin Yoosung now were 'Nagaks'.

Just because the cruel truth of the world exists in a faraway place, there is no need to trample even the smallest hope in front of you.

Nagaks can be tamed.

Shin Yoosung can do it.

"I'll buy you time, so try slowly again and again!"

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.9' is strongly activated!]

A whopping level 9 [Incite].

After obtaining the first story, my [Incite] became much stronger than before.

[The person's talent is temporarily enhanced by 'Strong Incite'.]

I tried to help Shin Yoosung [Tame] with my support. How much time passed?

A thread made of light flowed from Shin Yoosung's fingertips, and was soon connected to a Nagak.

[Character 'Shin Yoosung' succeeded in taming a 'Nagak'!]

As if she couldn't believe what she had done, Shin Yoosung widened her eyes.

"Good job! Continue!"

Shin Yoosung, who exchanged glances with me, nodded her head with a slightly confident face.

I avoided the Nagak's ensemble attack, and when I thought there was no place to escape, I hid myself using Nagak's shell.

Doo doo doo!

This attack was also easy to avoid because I memorized the pattern.

As Kim Dokja said, there is a breaking law in every scenario.

[Character 'Shin Yoosung' succeeded in taming a 'Nagak'!]

[Character 'Shin Yoosung' succeeded in taming a 'Nagak'!]

In the meantime, Shin Yoosung was steadily taming Nagaks.

I was just dragging time like this.

But there was one problem.

[The 6th-grade sea species 'Ancient Nagak' shows strange movements.]

The 'Ancient Nagak' was watching Shin Yoosung repeat [taming].

"Hide!"

Surprised, Shin Yoosung quickly dived into the shell of the Nagak without breathing.

Subsequently, the ensemble attack of the 'Ancient Nagak' swept near the Nagak where Shin Yoosung was hiding.

[6th-grade sea species 'Ancient Nagak' is indignant!]

After staying in the puddle all the way, he moved a heavy note for the first time. The claws caught on its long legs rolled across the terrarium floor.

It moved its long, tall legs to crush the dead bodies of Nagak one by one.

Kwajik!

Even without the ensemble, the Ancient Nagak’s physical ability was quite threatening.

I guess so.

If it's 6th-grade sea species, it's a monster on the same level as the 'Titano' that Lee Gilyoung tamed.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' makes a sad face.]

I lightly loosened my wrists and activated the [White and Blue Steel].

['Blade of Faith' is activated!]

With a gigiing sound, a blue blade rose from the Broken Faith.

I couldn't break its shell with the 'Blade of Faith' made with my magical power.

But what about its legs?

I ran toward it in a straight line and immediately swung the 'Blade of Faith'.

[Story 'The tenacious Murim master' speaks hesitantly]

The historical level story received from the ark.

Subsequently, the Ark's [Bong method] came into my mind, and the familiar movement of the Ark entered my fingertips in a story.

The strangely sluggish and awkward movements changed to those of a top-notch master the moment the story

Sugak!

The blow didn't cut it off, but the Ancient Nagak’s leg was cut in half.

It stumbled and screamed in pain.

I realized how amazing the skills of the Murim people are.

Humans who polished a single skill again and again.

I suddenly became curious.

The people stronger than the ark, what kind of training did the pajeon swordsman and Kyrgios go through to reach such a level? What kind of scenery is the world they see?

「I want to see and write all those stories.」

I swung my sword again. One of its legs was completely cut off and it rolled on the floor.

I was awakened by the sound, resounding like a bloody spirit. When the sea species mouth was released, I was already covered in the blood of a marine species.

[6th-grade marine species prepares for the Ancient Nagak's 'single ensemble'!]

The guy who sucked in his breath in an instant prepared to emit sound waves.

Almost reflexively, I fell on my stomach, covering myself with the shells around me.

But why?

I couldn't hear its ensemble.

Moments later, a hole opened through the top of the shell with a sound like a crushing sound. The antennae of the guy, visible through the broken back, were hoarding at me as if mocking me.

[The 6th-grade sea species, the Ancient Nagak, starts this short ensemble!]

It was too late to avoid it.

The shell no longer served as a protective film.

It had been aiming only for this moment all along.

"Ahjussi!"

I saw Shin Yoosung screaming at me from afar.

Nagak's grass flute was raised and spread.

「I'm going to die.」

If I die now.

「Shin Yoosung will also die.」

It can't be like that.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.9' is activated!]

"I am a 'Nagak'."

Perhaps it was momentarily confused by my [Incite]. However, some of the sound waves apparently flowed through the cracks in the shell and crashed into my eardrums.

My head spun around with a gigiing sound.

I was bleeding from my ear, but fortunately it was an internal injury that I could deal with.

"It's okay! Go ahead!"

Shin Yoosung confirmed my state and nodded her head with a relieved expression.

[Character 'Shin Yoosung' succeeded in taming a 'Nagak'!]

Perhaps because of the influence of [Incite], the Ancient Nagak was confused about whether I was a human or a Nagak.

But soon, as if it didn't matter, it came back to swing its claws toward me.

I dodged its claws and rolled across the floor.

After playing the ensemble in succession, the guy's music skills became a little sluggish.

I swung the sword once again without letting go of that gap.

Sgarack.

One more leg was cut off. At this rate, there would be no sudden attack. Instead, the guy's anger was now completely on me.

Kunauuu.

The tropical air was drawn into the ancient Nagak's mouth.

After a while, the ensemble will begin again.

['Broken Faith' disappears.]

[The 'thought of almost everything' refuses to imitate.]

Finally, the imitation time limit was over.

It was possible to regenerate it by using [Incite] again, but the problem was that it was difficult to maintain the 'Blade of Faith'.

I looked back at Shin Yoosung repeating [taming] from a distance.

「Eventually, she will become the Disaster of Floods.」

Even if I save Shin Yoosung here, she will cross over to another world line and become the Disaster of Floods.

I know.

That is the fate of this 41st turn.

「In a universe that was born of tragedy from the beginning, it would have been better if it did not exist.」

Kim Dokja's words echoed in my head.

I changed the 'thought' to a magic recovery bracelet and wore it on my wrist.

[Magic recovery bracelet's magic regeneration ability increases.]

I looked up at the Ancient Nagak.

Kim Dokja promised. He promised to watch my story. He told me to do what I want.

[The 6th-grade sea species 'Ancient Nagak' is preparing for a 'wide ensemble'!]

So I'll tell you what I want.

Even if the end of this world is destruction, even if it's an operation that I can't change.

Feeling the air around me thinning, I clenched my fists as if clenching the sides.

[The exclusive skill '□□' is activated!]

[Due to the probability restrictions of <Star Stream>, the skill cannot be activated.]

In the process of obtaining my first story, I lost a skill.

I heard the message a while ago, so it wasn't something I didn't know at all.

[This skill cannot be activated with your current skill.]

It was bittersweet for me, who had passed through countless crises thanks to '□□'. Being unable to use that skill was as if I wasn't qualified as the author of this story yet.

But then.

[Some of '□□''s functions are converted to sub-skills.]

[The sub-skill 'Sentence Enhancement' is activated!]

Sentence reinforcement?

「Cheon Inho is □□...□□.」

The moment I saw the sentence inside the message window, I had a sense of what kind of skill this was.

[You can enter your actions.]

[The action you enter is 'reinforced'.]

[The current enhancement level is level 1.]

[You can increase the level of reinforcement by injecting stocked probability.]

[Currently possessed probability: 515.]

Simply put, it felt like a simplified version of '□□'.

I tried writing a sentence to test it.

「Cheon Inho used 'Incite'.」

For a moment, I felt someone staring at me from behind my head. Immediately, vitality surged through my whole body. Someone who seemed to be able to do anything was born. To be precise.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite' is enhanced!]

I felt like I could [incite] anything now.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite' is temporarily awakened.]

[You can incite yourself to steal the person you want.]

Is that even possible?

[Instigating yourself as a different person has a chance to imitate that person's skill or surname.]

[However, if you incite yourself as a person of a higher rank than you, you will fail with a high probability and receive a penalty.]

[The recurrence rate of Incite increases according to your level of understanding of that person.]

I was surprised.

[Incite so far was a kind of self-suggestion skill.]

It's a little different when I'm in the 'snowfield', but in reality, I can only copy the character's behavior, tone, and personality.

However, according to the description of the skill now, through this [Incite], I will be able to really use that character's power.

Without waiting any longer, I activated [Incite].

A person who can overcome this crisis without difficulty. A person who could have escaped this dungeon without killing the Nagaks.

I thought while watching Shin Yoosung repeat [taming] from a distance.

[I'm Shin Yoosung, the 'Disaster of Floods'.]

Tsutsutsutchut.

I could tell without even trying.

This [Incite] is impossible.

In other words, it meant that 'Shin Yoosung, the Disaster of Floods', was a much higher-ranking being than I am now.

Still, I thought it would be worth a try since I got two stories.

[6th-grade sea species 'Ancient Nagak' starts wide-area ensemble!]

I couldn't take the risk here. If I don't succeed, Shin Yoosung will die.

This time, I have to overcome the crisis by [Inciting] myself as an existence of a lower rank than me.

The Ancient Nagak, who took all his breath, started playing an ensemble toward me.

I thought as I hid myself in the shells around me.

Shin Yoosung, the Disaster of Floods, failed. However, what if Shin Yoosung is from a different time period?

For example, if it were Shin Yoosung, who was of a lower rank than me. The pages of 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' began to turn over clearly in my head.

「"Ahjussi! Don't go! Please! Don't go!"」

Shin Yoosung was chasing after Kim Dokja, who had become an Outer God.

「"The person I like has also appeared like this."」

Shin Yoosung, who participated in 'Journey to the West', the grand story of the <Emperor>.

「"Uh, uh. So... I'm grateful... for receiving this award..."」

Shin Yoosung, who participated in the 'War of Good and Evil', was talking about her acceptance speech to Kim Dokja.

「"...Ahjussi."」

Shin Yoosung, who was the first to recognize Kim Dokja, who became a giant squid.

The emotions rushing along with the sentences made my head feel like it would explode for a moment.

I went against it and traced the history of Shin Yoosung.

「"Ahjussi."」

The voice of Shin Yoosung calling Kim Dokja over and over again.

Is it because of the Ancient Nagak's sound?

Even though I knew it wasn't me she was calling, strangely my heart beat.

I read and re-read a story I once wrote.

「"Ahjussi, but this… can only be used against monsters?"」

And finally.

「"Shin Yoosung, whose eye color has slowly returned, was looking at me."」

The horn shell was crushed by the front legs of the 'Ancient Nagak', and the sound of the ensemble rushed in.

At the same time, I felt that my frequent sentences were nesting in me.

"I am—"

「As if it was nothing, the guy who had a nosebleed said.」

"I am the 'Shin Yoosung' who tamed 'Queen Mirabad'."

「"Let's go, Ahjussi."」

[The effect of 'Incite' activates!]

648 Episode 18 Father (6)

In the <Star Stream>, everything exists as a story.

[Incite was a skill that imitated the shell of such a story.]

What kind of tone he uses, what actions he does, and what kind of expressions he makes.

A skill that deceives the incarnations by copying the shell, and even deceives the <Star Stream>.

However, this skill ultimately failed to follow the essence of the story.

[The skill is linked with your memory.]

However, the awakened [Incite] made that impossible possible to some extent.

The skill I'm using now was proof of that.

[The exclusive skill 'Tame Lv.9' is activated!]

「Following the path of the aura that extended to Queen Mirabad, Shin Yoosung completely approached the body of the queen.」

Reading the story of someone's life, internalizing the story, and calling myself 'that person' with [Incite].

In other words, it was close to a kind of [stage painting] with my body as the background.

The sentences Shin Yoosung endured flowed through my head in real time, and I was living the scene once again.

「The Queen looked at Shin Yoosung, and Shin Yoosung looked at her fist.」

The difference is that it is not 'Shin Yoosung' and 'Queen Mirabad' who are reproducing the story now, but 'I' and the 'Ancient Nagak'.

Blood poured from my nose with the feeling of a push shot.

This was the feeling of connecting with the monster. The sense [taming] that Shin Yoosung always repeated.

Oh oh oh.

The Ancient Nagak resisted by waving its legs randomly, and I did not let go of the bond of sympathy while avoiding its attack.

[Exclusive skill 'Advanced Multispecies Sympathy Lv.3' is activated!]

「Stopstopstopstopstop」

It felt like one mind had differentiated into two bodies.

At that moment, I was the Ancient Nagak, and the Ancient Nagak was me.

My heart that wants to tame the Ancient Nagak and the Ancient Nagak that fears me.

Two hearts were coexisting.

Like when I heard the language of the puppies one day, countless sentences rushed into my head.

「Aaaaaaaaaaaaaaa!」

Words that are more like screams.

「Dokkaebiscarydokkaebiscarydokkaebiscary」

It was only then that the expression on the boy's face, which I could hardly read, caught my eye.

I've always thought he was laughing at me or being dangerous.

「Do not come」

But he was afraid of me. Not exactly me, but Shin Yoosung.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' is curious about the taste of 'Raw Horn Meat'.]

6th-grade monsters are scary to early incarnations. However, from the point of view of the constellations, incarnations and 6th-grade monsters were the same bugs.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' says that when he was born, it was easy to have about 100 horns.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' says that there was no 'Field of Nagaks' at that time.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' makes fun of the conversation between the stars.]

A constellation is, after all, a constellation.

They are here to see the story. I and the Ancient Nagak had to spend our lives for them to survive.

We were the same.

「Don'tcomedon'tcomedon'tcome」

It seemed that it would finally understand.

[Exclusive skill, 'Taming Lv.9' is activated!]

Blood came out of my nose once again. My head felt like it would explode from the intense fear felt by the monster, and my breathing became rougher and rougher.

Shin Yoosung has continued [taming] in this compulsory sympathy hell every time.

By listening to them, understanding them, and finally becoming them in order to tame beings different from herself.

「Beast Lord, Shin Yoosung.」

The only thing that can understand a monster is the same monster.

Even though she was a child, Shin Yoosung understands monsters better than anyone else.

Perhaps it was only natural that she recognized Kim Dokja, who had become a disaster, before anyone else.

"Don't worry."

As if imitating Shin Yoosung, I spoke to the Ancient Nagak.

"Because it won't work."

No matter how much I [incited] myself to be Shin Yoosung who tamed Queen Mirabad, I don't expect that I will be able to tame the Ancient Nagak.

[The character 'Shin Yoosung' has succeeded in taming a 'Nagak'!]

[The character 'Shin Yoosung' has succeeded in taming a 'Nagak'!]

All I want is to buy a little more time and have Shin Yoosung tame 100 Nagaks.

So, to escape this dungeon together.

[Taming failed.]

['Advanced Multiplespecies Sympathy' is preserved.]

He didn't easily tame me, and I didn't tame him either.

But that's how we confronted each other.

Neither friend nor foe.

[The 6th-grade sea species 'Ancient Nagak' is glaring at you.]

Because this confrontation is the only way to endure this moment without hurting each other.

How many minutes had we stared at each other like that?

[The 6th-grade sea species 'Ancient Nagak' does not show hostility towards you.]

For the first time, a change occurred in our tense relationship.

[The 6th-grade sea species 'Ancient Nagak' is curious about you.]

Did he feel relief from my attitude? The lumbering guy's dwelling landed on the floor as if he had lost his will to fight. I could feel the air in preparation for the ensemble escaping from his body.

In an instant, a small glimmer of hope rose up.

Maybe it's possible?

[Your magic power is running low.]

But my mana was running out. It would have been a little better if I had consumed a magic recovery potion, but it was not possible.

I just had a hard time maintaining this [Incite] state.

「What Ahjussi is doing right now.」

At some point, the sentences that came to my mind changed.

「Should we think about it?」

Shin Yoosung's height, weight, what she likes, what she wants to eat, and what she dislikes, hobbies or specialties, favorite cartoon, favorite novel, person she likes, what she thinks when she looks at a person.

The more the [Incite] continued, the more I felt like I was being eaten up little by little by the value of that information.

Tsutsutsutsut.

Eventually, my magical power disappeared, [Tame] and [Advanced Communication] were canceled at the same time. On the other hand, [Incite] was still unresolved.

「Ahjussi.」

I couldn't stop thinking about something else.

This [Incite] was not a skill I could handle.

The Ancient Nagak, whose sympathy had been released, was approaching in front of me.

「You know.」

Is this the inside of Shin Yoosung?

「I really want to see you.」

Or is it an unwritten story?

「But.」

What happened to Shin Yoosung?

Is [taming] over?

Can we escape?

「I really hate you.」

Shin Yoosung.

「I really, really hate you.」

I.

[6th-grade sea species Ancient Nagak prepares for a 'wide-area ensemble'!]

I thought I should stop it, but my voice won't come out.

My body doesn't listen.

My thoughts do not flow normally.

My body, unable to overcome the Incite, was collapsing.

I thought someone was approaching me, but I heard a voice.

"Ahjussi, I did it. I tamed them all."

I turned to where the voice came from and asked.

"Who…"

There stood a child with a smile.

"Me? Shin Yoosung!"

"Shin Yoosung... Me?"

The child tilted her head.

[A side effect of Excessive Incite has occurred!]

"…Ahjussi?"

The child looked at me for a long time, then she smiled faintly.

[6th-grade sea species 'Ancient Nagak' starts 'wide ensemble'.]

"Ah. You tried to tame him."

The child said, "Hey," and she snorted, then stretched out her hand toward the Ancient Nargak with the back of my hand clasped.

"But that's not how you do it."

A thread of dim light stretched out from the child's fingertips, and was soon connected with the Ancient Nagak.

I stared blankly at the scenery. I couldn't figure out what was going on.

[The character 'Shin Yoosung' has tamed the Ancient Nagak!]

[There are no Nagaks left in the 'Field of Nagak'.]

[After a while, the dungeon will be forcibly closed.]

[After a while, all personnel will be banished to the lobby.]

How did she do it?

I couldn't believe it.

What I couldn't do, how can you do it so simply?

I'm sure she was a kid who had a hard time taming 'Nagaks' until a little while ago.

My mouth moved on its own.

"Shin... Yoosoung..."

The child happily nodded her head.

"Yes! It's me."

"You are...Shin Yoosung."

"Are you Ahjussi?"

Shin Yoosung tilted her head once again, then gave a small smile. Then she reached out her hands and cupped my cheeks, and she began to slap me from both sides.

"No! I'm Shin Yoosung! Take care of yourself!"

[The influence of Incite gradually weakens.]

I blankly looked down at the child and asked.

"Then... who am I...?"

Who I was.

Surely, it must have been something, but why can't I remember it?

I am.

"Who is your ahjussi?

The child held my cheeks tightly with both hands. The child's eyes were shining gold.

The child who slowly brought her lips to my ear whispered in a disturbing voice.

"My ahjussi is Kim Dokja."

['Incite' is canceled.]

I lost consciousness.

"You still faint every day, ahjussi."

Shin Yoosung laid Cheon Inho neatly on the floor and gently brushed his ragged hair.

"But why do you have to be Cheon Inho?"

Shin Yoosung took a look at Cheon Inho's face and then licked her lips.

"Is it because of ahjussi's body? I think he's a bit handsome."

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is glaring at you.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' asks when did you possess it.]

"I hear an insect crying somewhere."

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is indignant!]

[The constellation ' Sneaky Schemer' says this is unfair!]

Shin Yoosung smiled.

—Then, do you want to be a character too?

[The constellation, 'Sneaky Schemer' says he can't go because he doesn't have someone to possess.]

"It is very noisy. Don't these dokkaebis manage the channel?"

When the child lightly looked up into the air, to her surprise, there was a faint spark.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' is complaining that the screen transmission has been cut off from a while ago!]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' says he thought only he was broken!]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' threatens to request a refund from the administration if this continues.]

[The management bureau is checking the local channels.]

While noisy messages were scattered all over the place, Shin Yoosung looked quietly at the fallen Cheon Inho.

Cheon Inho's face looked very tired.

Cheon Inho was even talking in his sleep, as if he was having a bad dream.

After hesitating for a moment, Shin Yoosung put her ear closer.

"Please help me, Yoo Joonghyuk-nim."

Shin Yoosung's expression darkened.

"Is this Yoo Joonghyuk-nim a bit violent?"

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' says he is violent anywhere.]

Shin Yoosung looked down at Cheon Inho, who was talking in his sleep, and wore a bitter smile.

"It looks like a lot has happened."

There will be many incidents with him in the future.

Events that are more impressive than the stories he accumulated together may fill his life.

Shin Yoosung felt that way and she hated herself.

"Ahjussi."

There are many things she wants to ask.

But she also knew that she couldn't get an answer.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' says that this man is not the Kim Dokja we know.]

Shin Yoosung nodded her head.

"I know, I know."

Shin Yoosung always thought of him when she watched the sky, and imagined dreams when he dreamed.

"This person is also ahjussi."

The two children looked at the fallen Cheon Inho for a long time.

At that time, something sparkling flowed from the Ancient Nagak towards Cheon Inho's body.

[A new 'Failure' is recorded.]

Something very faint and insignificant, but still shining softly.

Shin Yoosung realized what it was.

"What?"

Clearly, it was a story. Shin Yoosung, her eyes wide open, looked down at Cheon Inho.

"The reason ahjussi came to this world…"

「'Failure' is recorded on the 'last wall'.」

Shin Yoosung's expression froze.

Something was watching them. A solemn and distant wall on which everything in this world was recorded looked down on them.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' growls.]

As if to protect her, Lee Gilyoung stepped forward. The world spoke to them.

「This is not a place assigned to you.」

The dungeon collapsed, and everything faded into the light.

649 Episode 19 People of the Past (1)

---

rlaehrmk37: These days, I like old stories.

---

Tsutsutsu. Shin Yoosung suddenly opened her eyes.

The last thing she saw was the scenery of the dungeon scattered in the light.

Her heart sank.

Maybe something is wrong.

How is ahjussi?

She blinked several times, but all she could see was darkness.

[Connection Lost]

Shin Yoosung exhaled lightly and reached out her hand to take off her goggles.

Then, she saw a pure white circular device and patients rotating violently around the device.

[Part 41: The connection error is being corrected.]

[Searching for a new access point.]

"Hey! It bounced because of you!"

Looking around, Lee Gilyoung was annoyed and took off his connection. Shin Yoosung narrowed her eyes and said:

"What nonsense. It must be because of you."

"It bounced because you used your abilities excessively. Sooyoung-noona told you not to use skills recklessly in the 41st round! No, and why did you log in together!"

Shin Yoosung shrugged her shoulders, refusing to listen to him.

"Who was the one who recklessly send indirect messages? Isn't that what caused the probability error?"

"That—"

"But you're good at making that formula? Are you a Sneaky Schemer?"

Lee Gilyoung, his face reddened, screamed.

"Call Seolhwa noona quickly. I need to fix this!"

"You do it. I could have talked to him more, but you turned me down."

"Didn't he say he wasn't Dokja-ssi?"

"You are right, Dokja-ssi. Dokja-ssi was reincarnated."

"Hyung doesn't have any memories, but what?"

How many minutes had they been bickering like that? Lee Seolhwa's voice flowed from the speaker installed on the top of the connected device.

—Did you break it again? I'll fix it, so stop fighting. Go out and take a look outside for a while.

To the voice that came from the air, the two children answered "Yes".

—And I definitely told you not to connect at the same time, right? The device is still incomplete, so if you connect at the same time…

The two children rushed out of the room. Lee Gilyoung asked while walking down the long corridor.

"Where is Sangah-ssi?"

"Room 3. She’s still online."

Yoo Sangah could be seen through the glass of the door with the number 3 written on it.

Yoo Sangha was wearing goggles sitting in front of her device, the same one they connected to.

Her eyes were obscured, so they couldn't get a good look at her face, but with her lips she seemed to be saying something intently.

Shin Yoosung said in a worried voice.

"You have to eat."

She pays for it, and she has already been online for thirty-six hours. On the screen that floated in front of her, the screen she was looking at was reflected.

A view of Gwanghwamun in ruins. The National Palace Museum of Korea collapsed. Lobby engulfed in flames. Among the incarnations busy running away, They could see a incarnation of the beautiful type shouting something.

There was also a familiar face beside her, secretly darkening the surroundings.

Lee Gilyoung, who recognized the face, opened his mouth.

"Would Sooyoung noona be okay?"

"…"

"She went herself. I heard she already used a lot of probability."

Unlike them, who can indirectly interfere with the 41st turn only through the 'Seolhwa Connector' made by Lee Seolhwa, Han Sooyoung infiltrated the story directly.

To be precise, she used [Avatar] to transmit some of her memories, but thanks to that, she was more free than the other members of <Kim Dokja’s Company> in terms of the probability of the scenarios.

—Never connect directly. okay? The 41st turn is different from other world lines. I am the only one who enters that world directly. Do you know what happens to the constellations that descend into the beginning scenarios? Don't even possess incarnations. Save the most probability. I'll save Kim Dokja somehow, so you guys just watch from here.

A method that only writer Han Sooyoung can do.

She made her own [avatar] participate in her 41st turn's scenarios.

In order to get Kim Dokja back, she once again jumped into the hell of the scenarios.

—Never come in. If you really want to see it, just look around like the constellations, okay?

They understood Han Sooyoung's heart, but they couldn't stay still because of the other party.

It was for this reason that Yoo Sangah and Lee Gilyoung entered into a 'behind the scenes contract' with the incarnations in the 41st turn, and Shin Yoosung intervened in the 41st turn through 'possession'. Lee Gilyoung opened his mouth as if passing by.

"You were possessed."

Among the members present here, Shin Yoosung was the only one who could possess the character of the 41st turn using the 'broken film theory'.

"How was it?"

Lee Gilyoung didn't ask specifically, but Shin Yoosung understood.

"You saw it too."

"Because what you see and what you experience are different."

"What do you know?"

She had a lot to say.

The <Star Stream> was still the <Star Stream>.

Scenarios worse than anything they've been through were playing out everywhere.

The goddamn constellations and dokkaebis laughed at the desires of the incarnations, and scorned humans.

Many people died.

Shin Yoosung knew better than anyone why Han Sooyoung had not allowed the group to come there.

"It was a world I never wanted to return to."

Apparently it was. Even so.

"I missed it."

Shin Yoosung answered like that. Lee Gilyoung thought for a moment and then asked.

"Why don't I just come to the 41st turn and descend?"

"Do you want to die? Even now, the probability is already dangerous."

Lee Gilyoung and Shin Yoosung were incarnations who cleared the last scenario.

Their true rank already surpasses even the stars in the high sky.

In such a situation, if he descended into a beginning scenario in another world line, it was obvious what kind of goal he would score.

"I heard that even if Dokja-ssi gets hit by an aftershock, he will hit the ground a couple of times and end up."

"That's ahjussi."

Even Kim Dokja, who is strong in probability, would find it difficult to do such a thing. Lee Gilyoung grumbled.

"Sheesh, I want to have some fun too."

"Fun? Are you doing this for fun?"

Shin Yoosung, furious at Lee Gilyoung's words, frowned. Then Lee Gilyoung asked again.

"Don't you have fun too?"

"I am—"

It's fun, can it be expressed with the same word?

Shin Yoosung bit her lip at the feeling of guilt and guilt that she could not do anything about.

Even so, if she could deny Lee Gilyoung's words now, she didn't have the confidence to do so.

"Going back to the scenarios, honestly, it was fun. Just admit it."

To be thrown into a terrible world, to carry out a life-and-death scenario under the gaze of the constellations.

The moment she was thrown back into the time she never wanted to go through again, Shin Yoosung strangely felt her heart race and blood circulate throughout her body.

Maybe they have become that kind of humans now.

The two looked out the window of the [Industrial Complex]. A cool breeze blew through their hair.

Lee Gilyoung spoke first.

"Sometimes it just doesn’t feel real."

"Huh."

There was a white landscape spreading out of the window.

A world that seems to have been drawn by someone.

Staring at the unfinished landscape, Shin Yoosung recalled the moment they entered this world.

「She thought she could finally get Kim Dokja back.」

Finally reaching the end of the story, <Kim Dokja’s Company> opened the door to the hospital room.

Beyond that door, there were two endings.

One is the world where Kim Dokja exists, and the other is the world where Kim Dokja does not exist.

In front of the two endings, the party chose the latter.

This kind of option is a trap.

The members sensibly thought so.

Just as he did on the subway someday, Kim Dokja will be wandering on the far side of the scenario alone, leaving only sweet illusions for his party.

「Maybe Kim Dokja didn't know that his party would make such a choice.」

The latter would.

This world without Kim Dokja was not a proper world. The world that Kim Dokja's gaze has not fully reached.

A dream that even the oldest dream has never dreamed of.

"It's already been half a year."

Over the past six months, a lot has happened here. The <Kim Dokja's Company> members each embarked on a plan to retrieve Kim Dokja.

—You can connect to all world lines here.

The first to find out this fact was Yoo Sangah, the third person to come over.

Yoo Sangah, who possesses the authority of the 'Guardian of Mandala'', straightly stretched the [thread of bond].

She searched for the soul of Kim Dokja, who was scattered all over the world.

However, the world line was too wide, and there were too many fragments of Kim Dokja scattered.

The party decided to collect the fragments of Kim Dokja who has not yet been reincarnated.

Some fragments were on a world line they knew, and some fragments were on a world line they had never seen before.

All those fragments were traces of Kim Dokja's stay.

Yoo Sangah said.

—If you collect all the fragments, the Kim Dokja we know won't come back.

If you collect someone's footprints, the person who took the footsteps will not come back. Their friends also knew.

Jihye Lee replied:

—But if we don't do that, what's left for us?

Even if this is just the way to mourn Kim Dokja, even if the Kim Dokja they know will never come back.

Like the days when they waited for Yoo Joonghyuk to leave for space someday, they wanted to continue their eternal hope.

So, the party continued to collect fragments of Kim Dokja's stories.

The fragments gradually grew in mass, and when they reached a certain level, they began to move somewhere as if they were attracted by gravitational force.

The party searched for the direction the story was headed and finally found a world line.

'41'.

That world was not the world recorded in Ways of Survival. A world that has not been recorded like Yoo Joonghyuk's 0th turn.

The companions instinctively realized.

Maybe there is Kim Dokja here.

"Did the sooty bastard contact you yet?"

"Not yet. And stop calling Yoo Joonghyuk-ssi that way. It’s arrogant." Shin Yoosung said, staring blankly at the scenery outside the window.

She stared and stared again. Looking at it like that, Lee Gilyoung asked as if his white coat would flutter in that white landscape.

"Can we find him?

"Yes. We already found one."

"That's not hyung."

"...Then who is ahjussi?"

"Hyung..."

What is Kim Dokja?

Shin Yooyoung and Lee Gilyoung knew the answer.

They were familiar with Kim Dokja.

Kim Dokja's likes, dislikes, dishes he can't eat, height, age, weight, facial expression and smile he made when seeing them.

But if they collect all of them, will he become Kim Dokja?

If they collect all of Kim Dokja's memories, will it become a being that can be named Kim Dokja?

One day, Lee Seolhwa asked,

—Do you remember the lunch we had a week ago?

Shin Yoosung shook her head. Then Lee Seolhwa asked again.

—I don't remember either. So, am I no longer Lee Seolhwa?

That question shocked Shin Yoosung. The disturbing questions she had been harboring all this time swirled in her head.

Perhaps the 'Kim Dokja' she knows does not exist in the world anymore.

As the 'Shin Yoosung' from 1 year ago, 2 years ago, and 3 years ago is no longer in the world.

They definitely existed once, but aren't they only left in the story now?

She didn't want to think about anything complicated.

Even so, thinking of Kim Dokja, Shin Yoosung couldn't help but think of such a thing.

What is Kim Dokja?

「There is a story I haven’t read yet. I'll be back soon.」

Kim Dokja left such a note. Therefore, Shin Yoosung already knew Lee Gilyoung's answer.

"My hyung is a person who likes stories."

As if satisfied with his answer, Lee Gilyoung nodded his head several times and added.

"Hyung likes my story."

"Wouldn’t he like my story better?"

"No. He prefers my story."

The two started arguing again.

Shin Yoosung thought.

In this world, conflict soon becomes a story. And stories are Kim Dokja's favorite things.

If Kim Dokja really likes stories, he will definitely see them now.

No matter what he looks like, if he sees this story, Shin Yoosung will surely get her star back.

How long had they been talking like that?

Lee Seolhwa's voice was heard through the broadcasting in the industrial complex.

—He’s back.

He’s back. At those words, Shin Yoosung and Lee Gilyoung held their breath.

No way.

However, there is no way that Kim Dokja has returned. That means—

Along with a beep, they heard someone grab a microphone.

—Gather. I have something to say.

Yoo Joonghyuk is back.

650 Episode 19 People of the Past (2)

A total of three responded to Yoo Joonghyuk's call.

They were Lee Seolhwa, Shin Yoosung, and Lee Gilyoung.

"Sooty bastard! Where have you been wandering around now?"

As soon as he entered the conference room, Lee Gilyoung pointed with his finger.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked down at Lee Gilyoung and muttered as he turned his head.

"This guy is becoming more and more like Kim Namwoon."

"Hey, what did you just say!"

Shin Yoosung gave a bad look to Lee Gilyoung, who was fighting back.

"Stay still."

Lee Gilyoung shouted as if it was unfair, and Shin Yoosung admonished Lee Gilyoung.
Lee Seolhwa looked at the two kids and asked with a sigh.

"But where have you been?"

"Another world line."

"Which word line?"

"I went outside of the <Star Stream>."

Outside of the <Star Stream>

I had never heard of a place like that.

"Is there a place like that?"

"I can go from here."

This world is 'a world without Kim Dokja'.

Therefore, the Oldest Dream and the binding power of <Star Stream> are weak here.

Yoo Joonghyuk frowned for a moment as if thinking about a troublesome problem, then asked,

"Where did Han Sooyoung and Yoo Sangah go?"

"They are in the 41st turn."

"What about Lee Jihye?"

"She’s in a different world line. There are fragments of Kim Dokja that I could not collect."

"There is no need to collect the fragments anymore, right?"

"Of course not."

<Kim Dokja Company> toured the world lines and collected the fragments that remained in the state of a story that could not be reincarnated.

Each had their assigned area, and the device created as a result of the harvest was the 'Story Connector'.

A device combining the stories left by Kim Dokja to track the real Kim Dokja.

Of course, the term 'the real Kim Dokja' was somewhat ambiguous. No one knows what the real Kim Dokja is.

What is certain, however, is that there is a 'main theme' that is the core of Kim Dokja in the direction this story connector is heading.

"It would be better to ask for Lee Jihye to come back. It's not good to stay outside the world line too long."

Among the members of <Kim Dokja Company>, Lee Jihye was especially free.

She had a lot of emotional ups and downs, and a bit of a wanderlust.

"She's an adult now. She must be thinking a lot."

Yoo Joonghyuk thought about Lee Jihye for a while.

Fragments of Kim Dokja are literally scattered all over the world line, and some of them are where the scenario is in progress.

Perhaps Lee Jihye is watching one of those world lines.

Her goals that she did not achieve. Her friend she couldn't save. The constellations.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk knew very well what the constellation buried in such remorse would end up experiencing.

"In case you don't know, it would be better to trace the world line Lee Jihye went to."

"All right."

"Lee Hyunsung and Jung Heewon?"

"They didn't come this way."

At Lee Seolhwa's words, Yoo Joonghyuk and Shin Yoosung and Lee Gilyoung, who had been quarreling, also shut their mouths.

Jung Heewon and Lee Hyunsung.

<Kim Dokja Company>'s sword and shield.

The two people who always protected the party did not make the same choice this time.

"But I don't think they've chosen another portal."

"How do you know?"

"You can observe the possibilities of all world lines here, right?"

In other words, if Jung Heewon and Lee Hyunsung entered the 'World with Kim Dokja', they could know that fact here as well.

However, the possibility of such a world scenario was not observed.

"The two of them haven't chosen yet."

Who in <Kim Dokja Company> did not choose the 'world where Kim Dokja returned'.

Perhaps everyone instinctively realized it.

This world can't be happy that easily. It is because the 'simple happiness' that has tempted them so far has been a trap. They didn't even know if the happiness they were looking for was at the end of the road.

But they kept walking and finally came to this place.

Jung Heewon and Lee Hyunsung must have been a little tired on the road.

"Who are the others"

"I don't know yet. Maybe the constellations will come. They may have already come."

If it was a constellation that would come over that portal to help <Kim Dokja Company>, the list was obvious.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk did not expect any help from the constellations.

"Don't trust the constellations. They're only attracted to fleeting stories and drawn around like moths."

"But without them, we wouldn't have seen the ending."

"How is the progress of the 41st round?"

Lee Seolhwa silently presented the scenario record and access log.

It contained the events that had happened from the start of the scenario for the 41st round until now, as well as the access records of Kim Dokja's Company.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who read the full text obsessively, said with a cold expression.

"You're doing something pathetic. You had a chance to end the world line. Why didn't you actively intervene?"

When she pointed to a part of the scenario record, a scenario screen floated over the text. Cheon Inho's face appeared on the screen.

Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes widened momentarily.

"This guy is—"

"Who does he look like?"

To Lee Seolhwa's question, Yoo Joonghyuk did not answer. As if checking weathered memories over time, he just stared at that face for a long time.

Slowly turning from the screen, Yoo Joonghyuk from the 41st round appeared.

A being who hates constellations and dreams of the destruction of the <Star Stream>.

The culprit who sent Shin Yoosung to the past in the 41st round to become a disaster.

"The 41st round must end. That's how it's meant to be."

"…That could change."

It was Shin Yoosung who said that.

"Both Dokja-ssi and we have changed the story several times. Without the 1,863 times that have been changed, we wouldn't be here."

"You should know. If you change the 41st round, the divergence of the world lines will increase more."

If you save a few people in front of you, another world that existed only as a possibility will be born. A world where more deaths and tragedies are confirmed.

"The law that that world must be unhappy is-"

"This is the world I came from."

Everyone shut up.

No one here could raise an objection to Yoo Joonghyuk.

He had been repeating the scenarios longer than anyone else in the world, and he knew the world's tragedies better than anyone else.

"It's better to end it as soon as possible. Only then can a bigger tragedy be prevented. If the world line diverges further here, the balance of the universe will collapse. Too many derivative world lines have already been created in this universe."

"But whether we intervene or not, anyway, more world lines are being created since you're a regressor."

Yoo Joonghyuk's regressions.

And with his regression, a new 'world line' is born.

That is the tragedy and absolute law that is the foundation of this <Star Stream>.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk shook his head.

"The 42nd round of that guy doesn't exist."

"What? How do you know?"

"If he continues to regress, then the world line after it must continue to exist. Just like the Secretive Plotter did."

Secretive Plotter.

After 1,863 regressions, Yoo Joonghyuk found the reason behind him.

If Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round had continued to return even after sending Shin Yoosung to the past, he would have been reborn as an absolute god like Secretive Plotter.

"However, his next world line is nowhere to be found."

The world line that Yoo Joonghyuk continued to regress from the 41st round could be found nowhere in the universe.

After that, the world line of 'Ways of Survival', derived by Shin Yoosung, who went back to the past in the 41st round, continues.

"Then what happened to the Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st round?"

"My conclusion is this. The 'I' of the 41st round stopped regressing on his own."

"But how? I can't believe he reached the end of the scenarios in the 41st round."

"It can't be. The record of failure is too obvious."

He recalled of the words of Shin Yoosung in the 41st round, who descended as the Disaster of Floods.

"I, in the 41st round, was in deep despair during the scenario, and realized that the end could not be seen as it is. That's why I sent Shin Yoosung to the past."

The 41st round's Yoo Joonghyuk tried to reach the end of the scenarios by sacrificing his peers, but in the end he failed to achieve his goal, and he knew that he would never be able to achieve that goal.

So, he sent Shin Yoosung to his past self before his mind was further damaged.

That is how the 'Ways of Survival' began.

"Then it makes no more sense. The man in the 41st round did not reach the end of the scenarios, how did he stop the regressions?"

"I don't know that either."

Yoo Joonghyuk thought for a moment and then looked at the window.

"Maybe that's why Kim Dokja is there."

A person who loves stories more than anyone else in this universe, he is there to find this forgotten world line and see its end.

"However, there is a way to guess."

The surprised party widened their eyes.

If you think about it, it might have been a natural thing.

He could have been the only one who knew the secret of Yoo Joonghyuk who does not return anymore.

"I will go to the 41st round myself."

He is a regressor who has seen the end of the scenarios.

The strongest incarnation on earth who cleared the 1,864th round and 1,865th round, and defeated even those mythical constellations.

Because it was 'Yoo Joonghyuk' and not another person, the party had no choice but to believe his words.

But there was one problem.

"Joonghyuk-ssi can't go to that world."

"Why?"

Lee Seolhwa let out a light sigh and laughed at Yoo Joonghyuk.

His muscles much tighter than before. A far-off gap that naturally oozes out between those muscles.

"Joonghyuk-ssi is too strong."

The current Yoo Joonghyuk consumed enormous probability just by existing.

The 41st round is now only in the early scenarios.

Even if only a historical-grade constellation descended, a storm of probability would come, and if Yoo Joonghyuk descended in the 41st round, a global catastrophic aftermath would blow.

As a result, Yoo Joonghyuk himself would not be able to avoid extinction, and Yoo Joonghyuk nodded as if he knew.

"I have no intention of entrusting Han Sooyoung with that work forever."

"Joonghyuk-ssi and Sooyoung-ssi are doing their best right now-"

"Did the guy who was doing his best make such a pathetic mistake? He let go of the opportunity to finish the 41st round."

The video remaining in the machine began to be output in real time.

"Tell me that you received it well."

The roof of the theater dungeon. After Han Sooyoung glanced back at Yoo Joonghyuk and Cheon Inho of the 41st turn who had collapsed, they were disappearing over the land.

"Tell Han Sooyoung and Yoo Sangah that they have only one job to do."

As if there was no need to look further, Yoo Joonghyuk looked away from the log and walked to the long family behind him.

"Creating the conditions for me to descend."

Standing tall in front of a large window, Yoo Joonghyuk looked out the window with his unique gaze.

The companions watched his back in silence.

Is it because of the pure white background outside the window?

His figure looked like a single letter written on a wide blank sheet of paper.

"I will personally bring back Kim Dokja."

651 Episode 19 People of the Past (3)

I thought about my parents.

When I was young, I was given homework to draw a picture under the theme of 'family' at school.

I remember it as being a pretty embarrassing homework assignment.

Because at that time, I was not good at drawing people's faces. When I tried to think of someone's face, strangely, only a pale mosaic face came to mind.

So instead of my parents, I drew myself standing under the deep dark night sky.

「"Why did Hakhyun draw only himself?"」

When the teacher asked me that, I replied that I drew my parents.

Looking back now, it might have been the manifestation of my literary talent.

A deep, warm night sky with a few twinkling stars

A cozy darkness that seems to embrace me no matter what I do.

Although there are no detailed shapes or faces, the people who were clearly there and cared for me.

Looking back, I wonder if it wasn't because of my parents that I first started writing a novel.

「"Why do stories exist?"」

To that question, my mother replied:

「"Hmm. Stories are for world peace."」

A story for world peace.

「"If everyone would read the stories and talk about the stories, there would be no wars or strife."」

「"Because the story is fictional."」

For the world to be peaceful, everyone must read novels.

At first I didn't understand what that meant.

「"Lee Hakhyun. Don't play with your phone, come here."」

But going to school and meeting my friends

「"Why do you keep talking to the dog?"」

「"But isn’t Lee Hakhyun also a bit gloomy?"」

Being bullied for not bullying someone else together.

「"Lee Hakhyun. I'll have to bring your parents tomorrow."」

As I listened to the teacher's criticism for not clearing up the misunderstanding even though I hadn't done anything wrong, I understood my mother's words for the first time.

「"Hakhyun's parents are a bit peculiar."」

「"Tsk. Anyway, son and parents are the same."」

People really like stories.

In a place where an incident does not exist, they create an incident, exaggerate it, and even distort it to develop a story.

They are enjoying the process of someone in front of them getting hurt and falling apart.

And all of that is quickly forgotten.

Perhaps it was at that time that I began to write novels.

Instead of hating people, let's write novels.

Let's write really interesting novels, and let the whole world talk about my novels all the time.

I wrote and wrote like that.

Finally, around the age of 23, I made my debut.

When I visited my parents with the news of my debut, the first expression my parents made.

My memories were hazy like a pale mosaic, but the emotion contained in that expression came to mind clearly.

「"Yes, that's how it happened."」

Why?

The faces of my parents who read my novel looked somewhat sad.

Naturally, I knew they would be happy, but I was confused. What did I do wrong? Did something in my novel make them sad?

My parents hugged me silently. I couldn't understand that feeling, so I left the house that way.

It's funny when I think about it now.

Perhaps my parents were worried about how I would make a living as a pure literature writer.

As a result, I met Ji Eunyu and became a web novel writer, so my parents' concerns may have been correct.

「"Author-nim. You can't start the intro like this."」

Ji Eunyu was a patient editor.

「"What if you unravel the main character's past for such a long time?"」

The correction was basic, and she spared no criticism when the development was strange or when there was an utterance that did not suit the character.

Hundreds of manuscripts were rejected, and dozens of other works were returned for thousands of reasons.

I wrote it, and she edited it. So one or two works piled up.

「"Writer! It's done! It's a success!"」

One day, a story came to us.

「"Did you know? This is the first time! It's the first time in our management that we won a promotion like this!"」

It was her first successful work that she and I created together.

Even Ji Eunyu, who has been calm throughout the writing, couldn't hide her excitement in front of her sales index she had never seen before.

On the day the work began to be paid for, we sat side by side in the management chair with the lights off and read readers' comments together.

Not all of the comments were comments of support, but we were happy that day.

Although I didn't know it, I must have been as trembling as Kim Dokja at the moment he first became a Constellation.

「"Editor-nim. By the way."」

But why am I remembering the story of that day now?

As Ji Eunyu advised, it would be difficult to talk about this for a long time.

「"People keep asking if Kim Dokja is me. What does that mean?"」

"Huh!"

When I jumped up with a strange scream, my surroundings were covered in pitch black darkness.

I had a strange dream.

I think it was a dream about my parents and Ji Eunyu.

As I relaxed my shoulders lightly and looked around me, I felt a heavy sensation in my right thigh.

When I turned on the light on my smartphone, I saw Shin Yoosung leaned over who fell asleep.

Several memories came one after another.

In order to collect Sangpyeong Tongbo, I entered the 'Field of Nagak', and met Shin Yoosung there.

There, I helped Shin Yoosung to deal with the Ancient Nagak.

I used [Enhance Sentence] to tame the Ancient Nagak. I even remember that I [incited] myself as Shin Yoosung'…

My memory after that wasn't clear.

Is it a side effect of [Incite]?

"Shin Yoosung, are you okay?"

When I lightly shook Shin Yoosung's shoulder, the child quickly opened her eyes.

"Ah, you're awake...!"

Looking at Shin Yoosung's smiling expression, I felt chills.

Why?

Fortunately, that feeling quickly dissipated.

"Yes. Are you uninjured?"

"Yes, thank you!"

Fortunately, it seems that we cleared the 'Field of Nagak' without much trouble.

In the meantime, the message log was pushed back for a long time.

[You are the first to hunt more than 500 'Nagaks'!]

[Cleared the 1-person dungeon.]

[You have obtained 2 tokens as a basic reward.]

[We have acquired 8 additional Sangpyeong Tongbo as a mass slaughter bonus for Nagak.]

[As a special reward, you acquired the exclusive skill 'Breath'.]

Exclusive Skill [Breath].

Although it is a full-time skill that makes you hold your breath for up to 30 minutes with a single breath, it is a useful skill when you have to go through a contaminated area or engage in underwater battles.

[You have succeeded in hunting down the 'Hidden Boss' in the 1-person dungeon.]

[You will receive an additional reward.]

Even got an additional reward by hunting the hidden boss of the 'one-person dungeon - Ancient Nargak'

[Obtained the 'Provocation Fire Flute'.]

The flute of provocation. An item that greatly reduces the enemy's mental strength when used, and gathers scattered enemies in one place.

I honestly don't know where to use this.

It's not like I'm strong, and if I had to drive normal monsters to one place, I'd die like a dog.

I'll have to give it to Kyung Sein later.

The messages weren't over.

There was still a bounty scenario left.

[Sub scenario 'Precious Hair' is done!]

[You have obtained 2,000 coins as a reward.]

[Additionally, when you offer 'Ancient Nagak's Meat', 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' will give you a special reward.]

Come to think of it, this scenario ends when you give that constellation the ancient Nagak's meat.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' is expecting the 'Ancient Nagak's Meat'.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' looks at the 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' pathetically.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' says he would like you to cook it for him if possible.]

I hesitated for a moment, then muttered into the air.

"It's going to take a few days to do it. Is that okay?"

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' says he can wait that long.]

This bought me some time.

By the way, when I got out of the dungeon, the Ancient Nagaks disappeared, so how do I consecrate the meat of the ancient horns?

While I was lost in my thoughts, Shin Yoosung brushed her butt and stood up.

"Thank you, Ahjussi. Thanks to that, I can now do it for one person."

Shin Yoosung smiled brightly as she looked down at Sangpyeong Tongbo, which she had acquired herself.

But I couldn't laugh.

"Are you going back to your original group?"

"Ah yes… I decided to do that with the adults..."

The reason Shin Yoosung entered the 'One-Man Dungeon' was to prove her worth to the adults in her group.

Now that the proof is complete, Shin Yoosung will be able to become an official member of the group.

"I'm not asking the grown-ups' opinions, but Shin Yoosung's intentions. Do you really want to be in that group?"

A smart Shin Yoosung would have understood the meaning of my question. However, some children are so smart that they come up with answers that others don't even have in mind.

"The adults in the group said. They say that they don't discriminate based on their age, but if they have ability, they're people who treat them as much as they have ability-"

I know what you want to say, but I don't need to hear more.

"Shin Yoosung."

"Yes, yes?"

"Would you like to come with me if it's okay?"

Shin Yoosung looked up at me with her eyes wide open. I gave the child enough time to think. After a while, Shin Yoosung asked in a small voice.

"Can I?"

"Yes, of course."

"But I won't be of much help."

"If it wasn’t for Shin Yoosung, I would be dead."

"That helped me…"

Shin Yoo-seung bit her lip and murmured while lowering her head.

"You don't even know who I am..."

What drove this child to this extent?

「"Something like a devil."」

「"These days, young children are more toxic. They are kids who survived after killing people in the first scenario."」

「"If you can’t trust her, she should be useful. Put her in the dungeon. If she survives, let's take her."」

「"Poisonous things should be caught properly from an early age."」

Even without [The Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint], I could read the words echoing in the child's head.

I opened my mouth as if in protest.

"No, I do."

"Yes?"

"I know what kind of person Shin Yoosung is."

"How..."

If you ask me how I know, there are no words to explain.

「"Ahjussi."」

「"I will not give up. Just like Ahjussi saved me time and time again."」

「"My name is Shin Yoosung. Shin Yoosung from <Kim Dokja Company>."」

I've read and rewrote a lot of sentences about you, I can answer that.

But that wouldn't be an appropriate thing for Shin Yoosung now.

Who is in front of me right now is not 'Shin Yoosung in the 3rd round', but 'Shin Yoosung in the 41st round'.

「"What were we to the captain?"」

「"I hate you for living alone in the world."」

「"There is only one thing I can tell you now. The captain can't save anyone."」

She was the one who followed Yoo Joonghyuk more than anyone else.

That's why she couldn't stand the feeling of betrayal.

She is someone who has grown with hatred by wandering around the world lines for thousands of years.

A person who appeared as a disaster in the third round.

「"Baat!"」

The person who became Kim Dokja's daughter.

The person who was reincarnated as a dokkaebi and told the story of <Kim Dokja's Company> to <Star Stream>.

「However, it was a story that hadn't happened yet.」

That's why I know Shin Yoosung well, but I don't know much about Shin Yoosung in front of me.

"Even if I don't know who you are, I'm going to trust you."

So that was all I could promise.

Shin Yoosung looked up at me blankly, then she averted her gaze and said:

"… I think I can trust you too."

[The character Shin Yoosung shows strong trust in you.]

Shin Yoosung, who had been twitching her little hand for a while, asked.

"Then… Do you have a group too?"

"Would you like to join my group?"

"That, is that okay? But to join the group, you have to get permission from the king…"

"I am the king."

At my words, Shin Yoosung sighed and took a small breath. Then she took a couple of steps away from me and started shaking her shoulders.

I know very well what kind of being the 'king' of the last group was.

"There is nothing to be nervous about. As you can see, I'm just an ordinary ahjussi. I just picked up a flag by accident."

If Cheon Inho looked a little nicer, my words would be more persuasive.

I used my narrow eyes to draw as good an arc as possible.

"It's scary because you smile like that."

"Sorry."

"Can I really join?"

"Sure."

When I agreed, Shin Yoosung, who was briefly thinking about something, said in a determined voice.

"Then I want to join."

[Incarnation 'Shin Yoosung' has become a member of your group.]

I couldn't turn a blind eye to Shin Yoosung…

I may be beaten to death by Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round later, but I believe this is the right decision for now.

"The other group members haven't joined yet, so it looks like we'll both be four for the time being."

Shin Yoosung nodded her head vigorously as if she liked it.

After clearing the 'One-Man Dungeon', what's left is the 'Sangpyeong Tongbo' we collected to enter the 'field of the Big Dipper'.

Looking for a seat in the lobby, I thought for a moment about Shin Yoosung.

This is the 41st round not recorded in 'Ways of Survival'.

In this round, Shin Yoosung, the 'Disaster of Floods' who went to Kronos won't appear.

Then, who will be the disaster of the 'fifth scenario'?

As soon as the 10 Sangpyeong Tonggi were inserted into the entrance of the lobby, a dim light began to permeate the lobby.

"I'm going to enter the Hidden Dungeon. It could be dangerous, would you mind?"

Since the entrance to the National Palace Museum had collapsed anyway, I couldn’t try to escape.

I had no choice but to clear the dungeon.

If even one person clears this dungeon, the remaining members will be automatically summoned out of the museum.

"It's okay. I was prepared for that much."

As I looked at the child who spoke resolutely, a corner of my chest was sore.

I didn't wait any longer and used the Sangpyeong tongbos.

[You can advance to the hidden chapter by using 10 prize reports.]

[Would you like to enter the hidden chapter, 'Field of the Big Dipper'?]

"Enter."

I couldn't find any traces of other kings either in the National Museum of Korea or in the 'Field of Nagaks'.

In other words, other kings have already collected 10 pieces of Sangpyeong Tongbo and entered the field of the Big Dipper.

"The culprit who destroyed the museum must also be in this dungeon."

I blinked and my vision wavered.

I imagined the scenery that would soon unfold.

「The white lobby has been transformed into a wide, open waiting room. There were seven doors at the end of the waiting room.」

After a while, an open waiting room appeared as explained in the main story when reading.

However, there was one thing that was different from the main story.

With a cool sense of tension, I narrowed my eyes even more.

In the 'Field of the Big Dipper', we have collect all the star jewels scattered across the seven gates to summon the 'Death Sword'.

So the waiting room had to have a total of seven doors according to the number of star jewels.

「But now, there was only one door visible in the waiting room.」

The scenario had changed.

652 Episode 19 People of the Past (4)

I stared at the door created at the end of the waiting room.

There was only one door when there should have been seven.

Is this the original progression of the 41st round of Ways of Survival, or is it because something has changed as I and the readers intervened?

If it was the original development of 'Ways of Survival', it was normal for the 'Ways of Survival' skill to activate at this point. However, the 'Ways of Survival' skill was quiet.

That means that the readers intervened and the scenario changed.

「Someone deliberately changed the plot.」

But did the readers I know carelessly intervene in the scenario?

Dansu ahjussi, Kyung Sein, Ye Hyunwoo, Killer King, Literature Girl, Koo Seonah, Kim Kyungsik.

Calmly recalling the list, it never occurred to me that any of them might have been involved in the cataclysm of the scenario.

What readers are ahead of the characters is 'information', and they will not try to change the future too much in order to actively utilize the development of the original story.

In other words, the readers are not the culprits.

If so, who changed the scenario and caused the event of ‘the' collapse of the museum' that did not exist in the original story?

I made a hypothesis.

「Somewhere in this world, if there are people who don’t want the development of the scenario to go the way it was written.」

What if there are people who are at a disadvantage as time goes by when following the development of 'Omniscient Reader'?

Once the hypothesis was established, it felt like the outline of the culprit became clearer.

But it wasn't quite yet certain.

"Ahjussi."

With a trembling voice, Shin Yoosung joined me.

There were so many corpses on the floor of the waiting room that there was no place to step on.

It seemed that a fight had already taken place.

I wrapped my arms around Shin Yoosung’s shoulders and walked forward cautiously. I didn't forget to look at the faces of the people around me. I was afraid that there might be a face I knew among them.

Dansu ahjussi.

Kim Kyungsik and Koo Seonah.

And someone I don't know who they possessed, my editor.

In an instant, the back of my neck went cold.

Reflexively, I bent down and wrapped my arms around Shin Yoosung.

Three daggers grazed my neck and flew to the other side of the waiting room.

When I narrowed my eyes, I saw assassins rising among the corpses.

"Jet, did you miss it?"

They were new hunters.

Instead of entering the dungeon, they hid in the waiting room and killed new recruits.

There were people similar in 'Omniscient Reader'.

Hiding Shin Yoosung behind me, I activated the tale of the Beggar Sect.

[Story, the tenacious Murim master' stutters.]

The spirit of the master of Murim rose sharply, and the number of enemies hidden among the corpses were transmitted through my skin.

A number over twenty.

It was a level of troops that could be called a 'small group'.

"Hmm? That kid…"

I could see some of them exchanging whispers, as if they recognized Shin Yoosung.

I asked Shin Yoosung in a small voice.

"Are they people you know?"

"Yes."

A small tremor came from Shin Yoosung, who grabbed my sleeve.

I asked again.

"Looks like people you don’t want to know anymore."

The answer came back after a while.

"....Yes."

I changed 'thought' to 'Broken Faith' in preparation for an emergency.

Meanwhile, the assassins exchanged opinions quickly.

"Could it be that you went through that series of battles alone?"

"Didn’t I tell you? These days, kids are more toxic."

Right.

These people were the adults of the 'union' that tried to put Shin Yoosung in the group.

One of the assassins, who had been watching us closely, came forward with a dagger.

"You. Do you have a group?"

"I do."

To say that I have no group here would only make me be looked down on by them.

However, even when I said that I had a group, they didn't seem to care.

"You came here by yourself when you have a group?"

"I am confident in my skills."

It was a provocative answer, but several assassins unexpectedly nodded.

"If you came over with a kid, there's a high possibility that you're from a one-person dungeon."

"The single-person dungeon difficulty is more difficult."

"It's worth having as an ally."

The Assassin Leader, who quickly gathered opinions, nodded.

"We respect talented people. Please leave your group and move on to this group."

Suddenly, Shin Yoosung's words came to mind. If 'union' is unconditionally skill-first, this…

"I'll accept both you and her. It looks like you've developed a special relationship."

Speech that seems to be condescending.

I glared at him with my eyes narrowed.

[The exclusive skill 'Character List' is activated!]

First of all, it is not a 'reader'.

<Character Summary>

Name: Perjury

Age: 35

Constellation support: Legendary Assassin

Exclusive Attribute: Assassin (Normal)

Exclusive Skills: [Ambush Lv.3], [Gidobinic Lv.3], [Weapon Improvement Lv.2]

Stigma: [Scheduled Special Lv.1], [Silver Bullet Lv.2], [Shadow Stealth Lv.2]

Overall stats: [Health Lv. 20], [Strength Lv.25], [Agility Lv.25], [Magic Power Lv.21]

Comprehensive evaluation: It is an incarnation of the union. He is active as one of the 7 kings of Seoul.

He was the first person I saw. He must have been one of the extras in 'Ways of Survival'.

His supportive Constellation is...

...Legendary Assassin.

It was a constellation that had never appeared in 'Omniscient Reader'.

Fortunately, the 'Ways of Survival' skill was activated in time.

「Legendary Assassin, the modifier is grandiose, but among those who have become constellations, there is no Constellation without Legend. In other words, it's an ordinary historical-grade constellation.」

Huh. Right.

「This is a sponsor that is common among assassins, and like the 'Monarch of the Small Fries', random incarnations are sprinkled with background selection and then reaped as assassins. They often lend their grown incarnations to other constellations as mercenaries.」

I know who his sponsor is.

I was thinking of saving myself a bit if there was an Myth-grade constellation behind him, but I think I can go out strong with this level.

"I'm sorry, but I have no intention of joining your group."

"Even though we're a group of 'Seoul Gwang'? You've probably heard of the union, right?"

The union.

Could it be that the group that Ye Hyunwoo was talking about were these guys?

I nodded and asked.

"This is where the Tyrant King resides, right?"

The man who subtly frowned at the name of the Tyrant King said.

"We are under the command of the 'Assassin King'."

Assassin King?

There is no such name among the 7 kings of Seoul I know.

"You don't seem to know how big of an opportunity this is, but we will soon retrieve the 'Sword of Death' and obtain the 'Absolute Throne'. I don't know where your group is, but at this point there are no forces greater than ours. You'd better make a wise choice."

I replied with a dry nod.

"I hear you. But it doesn't go below that. I have no intention of fighting, so please pass on your troops."

It was half sincere.

There was a bit of fatigue left after passing through the 'Field of Nagak', and even if it were me, it was not easy to subdue twenty assassins without a single wound. And above all,

「I didn't want to kill people if possible.」

Even if I control myself with [Incite], there is a limit. Killing people for whatever reason is never a pleasant experience.

The reason why Kim Dokja at the beginning of Omniscient Reader chose to become the 'King of no killing' seemed to be understood a little now.

Of course, the assassin who didn't even know who Kim Dokja was wasn't going to listen to me.

"Then die here."

I smiled with my eyes wide open.

"No compromise? Aren't we members of society?"

"Society has already perished."

I don't know who is in charge of the alliance, but why did they make all the members of the group look like Kim Namwoon?

"I'm still a member of society."

"Then die as a member of society."

It can't be.

I made a quick calculation in my head.

Should I use [Incite]?

Or, should I start by eliminating that guy with the 'Blade of Faith'?

As I secretly tried to carry out a strategy with a way to wipe out these people at once without hurting Shin Yoosung, Shin Yoosung pulled my sleeves.

"Ahjussi."

Looking back, Shin Yoosung's eyes shimmered with golden energy. My head throbbed, and a sense of dizziness passed through my head.

I think something similar happened before.

"I'll just finish it."

Why? At that moment, Shin Yoosung seemed like a completely different person from the Shin Yoosung I knew.

"Finish it... how?"

"Therefore…"

It was then that a roar rang out from inside the waiting room.

"Get out of the way!"

Suddenly, the door to the waiting room opened. A crowd poured out.

"What…"

With a booming sound, the assassin's head shattered. The astonished assassins screamed.

"What, what is it?"

The assassins wandered around and raised their swords.

But whenever the sound of wind was heard in the air, the number of assassins was steadily decreasing. The awe-inspiring assassins clung to the walls and shouted loudly.

"Who! Who dares-"

A series of group members appeared through the pouring pit.

Leading the group members was a giant.

There was an iron pipe embracing the dazzling light of the giant's fish, and at a glance it was an S-class item.

"King of gangsters!"

King of gangsters?

No matter how much I searched in my head, there was no king with such a nickname.

「A person who did not appear in Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.」

I was nervous and watched the development of the situation. Looking closely, the wind was blowing from the right side of the group.

Four kitchen knives that moved in a zigzag pattern cut through the air.

"Ah! Heartless Mother!"

Heartless Mother. This was also the first time I had ever heard this nickname. A dazzling passing technique performed by a mother and daughter each holding a pair of kitchen knives. It was a terrifying sight just to look at from a distance.

However… What?

I was used to the mother and daughter's faces.

"Inhopa group! Inhopa is back!"

Inhopa?

"Aaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa-"

A few terrified assassins tried to run screaming into the dungeon, but their lives were lost.

Now, the number of assassins left in the waiting room was less than five.

The assassin who was threatening me earlier growled.

"King of gangsters! We are an alliance. Do you think you'll be safe after doing this to us?"

"If you all die, who will know what I did?"

"Ooh, there are those who watched us suffer."

Then, the gangster king's party looked around the edge of the waiting room.

Some of the incarnations who watched the situation with a bonfire were there.

"Are you going to tell about it?"

The incarnations all shook their heads at the gangster king's despair.

"We didn't see anything."

"Yes, you guys-"

Before the bewildered assassin could shout anything, an iron pipe shattered his head.

Watching the assassin collapse powerlessly, the king of gangsters spat out curse words.

"Eh, wicked bastards."

"Looking at it, it seems that he was persecuting newcomers again."

"Anyway, that's what all the alliance scum do."

I was honestly surprised. Anyway, I heard that the 'Union' is the strongest force at the moment.

But is there a rebel group that fights against the alliance with only a single force?

I saw the gangster king who spotted us and was approaching us.

"Boss, are you okay?"

It was difficult to immediately recognize his face as it was soaked in blood, but the man's long, rough, all-back hair caught my eye immediately.

When I saw it up close, I laughed out loud.

No wonder. So, was it Inhopa?

"Uh?"

The gangster king, who had approached us, opened his eyes wide at me. I was wrong in my guess that he was a person who did not appear in the 'Omniscient Reader'.

Because the man was someone I already knew.

A person who changed the scenario but is neither a reader nor a member of the Misreading association.

In 'Omniscient Reader', he was just an extra villain, let alone a king, and a man who died tragically as a petty gangster.

"It’s you, bro?"

I nodded and replied.

"Bang Cheolsoo."

The action leader of Geumho Station.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' welcomes you.]

People who knew me came running to welcome me. Incarnations of Geumho Station, including Dayoung and Dayoung's mother.

Those who had killed each other for their own safety now formed a group to help the weak.

Once again, I realized that this story is not the 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' that I knew.

[A new loss is recorded on the 'last wall'.]

Shin Yoosung, who was standing next to me, was looking at the same scenery with blank eyes.

"Brother! Uuuuuuuuu! You’re alive!"

"Inho ahjussi."

Looking at Dayoung and her mother waving their hands and people shouting at me, I thought about the story.

"Do you know how much we found!"

I no longer believe that stories can keep world peace like my parents said.

No matter how many funny stories there are in the world, people will still start a war and hate someone.

But, nonetheless, I continue to think.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' nods.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' sometimes says that this kind of story isn't bad.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' agrees with his lips twitching.]

Because at least someone reads the story and changes.

[The losses you recorded will come to fruition.]

[You acquired a new attribute!]

653 Episode 19 People of the Past (5)

Finally got a new attribute.

[Acquisition of a legendary Attribute!]

It was even a legendary attribute.

I muttered 'attribute window' in my mind, and almost simultaneously.

[Attribute window cannot be activated due to current system error.]

It reminded me of the fact that I, like Kim Dokja, have limited access to my system window.

[Acquired the attribute 'Record Repairer'!]

But fortunately, this time the name of the acquired attribute immediately came to mind.

'Record repaired'.

It was a feature I had never seen before.

[The attribute 'Record Repairer' is activated!]

['Record Repairer' is affected by the losses you have acquired'.]

[The 'Record Repairer' begins mending your lost records.]

Mend my missing records?

[1 hour and 30 minutes to complete record repair.]

I don't know what it means, but after an hour and thirty minutes, something will change.

[Someone noticed that a new record-repairer was born.]

[The 'Recorders of Fear' have recognized your existence.]

Then came a suspicious message.

As far as I know, a 'Recorder of Fear' is a writer who left a record of the divinity of the other world.

It was their common name.

But did they recognize me?

Could it be that the 'Recorders of Fear' can also see incarnations like the constellations?

[Some 'Recorders of Fear' consider your existence a threat.]

Am I a threat?

I don't know.

The information available at this time was too limited.

All I can know now is that the people of Geumho Station who died in the third round survived here.

"Inho-ssi! Were you alive?"

"Keuheuk! Brother!"

Shin Yoosung, whose golden eyes disappeared before I knew it, asked me.

"Are these people you know?"

I nodded lightly

By the way, Bang Cheolsoo, this bastard, has been grossly attached to me for too long.

I lightly smacked the back of the head of the water-proof man who had buried his head in my arm.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' sponsored 100 coins.]

It's still there.

---

Have there been many things accumulated in the past? Bang Cheolsoo grabbed me and talked about what had been going on all along.

"So suddenly the tunnel collapsed and my brother couldn't go to Chungmuro, Gaesin. Ugh, I thought I was really dying at that time-"

From tunnel collapse accidents to sudden scenario changes.

Even if I listened roughly, it sounded painful.

Because it's a round with so many variables. It was only a matter of luck that they survived.

I listened to Bang Cheolsoo's story and observed the people of Geumho Station looking this way from a distance.

The first thing that caught my eye was Dayoung and her daughter, who were called Moojung mother-daughter.

Dayoung's mother. In the third round, she struggles to save her daughter, but in the end she is the one who became the nutrient of Paradise.

"What is your overall ability level?"

"Don't tell me."

"You look lower than me."

Dayoung and Shin Yoosung were talking about their skills.

I looked back at Bang Cheolsoo, who was still talking.

"Brother, that’s why I sent them to-"

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' wants you to hang out with his incarnation again.]

I said, looking at the flag affixed to his waist.

"Bang Cheolsoo."

"Yes?"

"You've become a king."

"Ah."

Bang Cheolsoo, who opened his mouth slightly, scratched the back of his head and laughed shyly.

"Whoa, I'll give you the flag if you want. I had it for you anyway."

I looked down at the flag Bang Cheolsoo had outstretched.

It was lighter in color than mine, but it was a purple flag.

If I have that flag, I will achieve 'Black Flag' right away, then I can complete the 'King's Road' scenario and formally receive the 'King"s traits.

Of course, that was the easy way.

But.

"It's yours."

I didn't like it.

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' asks why you don't accept it.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' nods to your judgment.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' admires your camaraderie.]

[500 coins were sponsored.]

I don't know why, but I didn't want to take that flag.

It might be because Dayoung, who is looking at Bang Cheolsoo from a distance with her mother, and other people's eyes.

I don't know.

Maybe it's a selfish wish as a writer.

The desire to see Bang Cheolsoo and the people's stories a little longer.

"Bro."

Bang Cheolsoo's eyes widened.

[The constellation 'Monarch of the Small Fries' is impressed by your spirit.]

[300 coins were sponsored.]

I said with a quick wave of my hand before the atmosphere got more serious.

"Rather than that, I'd like to hear something about the dungeon."

---

Thirty minutes after that, I stood at the entrance to the dungeon.

Do you want to enter the [Labyrinth]?

It was different from the dungeon in the main story, starting with the entry notification sound.

"If we go in here, there must be a star jewel, right?"

Bang Cheolsoo nodded his head at my question.

"Yes, sure. I also saw those who collected star jewels."

"They must be the 7 kings of Seoul."

"Oh, how did you know?"

It was obvious.

Even in the main story, only the 7 kings of Seoul were able to obtain the 'star jewels' here.

"No matter how strong my bro is, if you run into the 7 kings, you should avoid them. They really aren't normal guys."

"I guess so. Anyway, because they're kings."

This turn is the 41st, not the 3rd. It was seldom possible to know how high the level of the 7 kings would have been.

Still, I can't back down from here.

Whether it's the 7 kings or the Misreading association, if I can collect 'star jewels', then I should go in.

This is because the star jewel is an essential material for summoning the 'Sword of Death'.

"Brother, can't you really wait? In three hours, we can go back in."

"Three hours is too long. See you later."

Apparently, in this dungeon, once you exit, there is a waiting time for re-entry.

It would be nice to wait for the group at Geumho Station and enter together, but now was not the time to do that.

According to my thoughts, it is because the readers and Dansu ahjussi are definitely in that dungeon.

"I'm ready, ahjussi."

And fortunately. I wasn't even going alone.

"Are you really okay?"

"Yes. I'll go too."

Shin Yoosung said that and looked back at Dayoung, who was about ten steps away.

I saw Dayoung, who had opened her eyes, slashing her hand menacingly towards me.

"Dayoung, you can't do that."

When Dayoung's mother opened her mouth in a tone of admonition, Dayoung licked her lips. Shin Yoosung looked at Dayoung and continued.

"You have to become stronger, so you won’t be afraid even if you meet scary adults."

I wonder if she was stimulated by seeing a child her age. There was a certain determination in Shin Yoosung's voice.

It was a determination that somehow made me a little sad.

"There are also ways to meet good adults."

"Good adults die quickly."

As I was listening to those words that gave me a strange sense of déjà vu, a headache arose again deep inside my head.

I advised, rubbing my temples lightly.

"If it seems dangerous, we will escape immediately. You know?"

"Yes!"

It hurts my heart, but it was also true that Shin Yoosung's help was essential to clear the final chapter of the scenario.

Was Kim Dokja always with Shin Yoosung in this mood?

"Please be careful, brother!"

Leaving behind the group of Geumho Station, who bowed their heads in unison, I entered the labyrinth with Shin Yoosung.

[You have entered the 'Star Labyrinth'.]

As soon as I opened the door and entered, what I saw was a dark hallway reminiscent of a dungeon.

Fortunately, there seemed to be no 'new hunter' like before.

Just in case, I continued to be vigilant and looked around, but a series of system messages flew in.

[A new sub-scenario has arrived!]

<Sub Scenario - Star Labyrinth>

Category: Sub

Difficulty: A++

Clear Condition: Explore the Star Labyrinth and acquire the hidden 'Star Jewel'

Time limit: —

Reward: 3,000 Coins

Failure: There is no failure penalty for this scenario.

* There are special rules for this scenario.

It's a star labyrinth.

I checked the 'Special Rules' that followed.

1. The Labyrinth Keeper appears in the Labyrinth.

Keeper?

Are there even minotaurs?

2. The labyrinth is relocated every 3 hours, and when relocated, the entire labyrinth is engulfed in flames and the internal structure is changed.

3. You can avoid the flames by entering the nearby 'Safe Area' when 'relocating'. You can choose to escape the labyrinth when entering the 'Safe Area'

Then, a timer appeared in front of my eyes.

[1 hour and 54 minutes left until relocation.]

[Look for a 'Safe Area'.]

Although this was tricky, the pattern itself wasn't difficult.

You can survive if you somehow find a 'safe area' within the time limit.

The question is, how many more of these rules are there?

> 4. 'Dust Man' is provided to all incarnations who have entered the Labyrinth.

Then a small lump of dust appeared in the air above my head.

The lump of dust with small eyes looked around, then opened its small mouth and made a sound.

—Byeolbyeol

As it was, it circled over my head and started to devour the shiny pieces of gold that were scattered on the floor.

[Your 'Dust Man' has acquired 1 Star Powder.]

Only then did I feel like I was getting a little bit of a sense of what the rules of this dungeon were.

"Wow, ahjussi! Look at this!"

Before I knew it, a small dust man had been created beside Shin Yoosung.

The dustman, who was circling around us with a 'byeolbyeol' sound, greedily opened his mouth whenever he saw gold dust glittering on the floor.

[Your 'Dust Man' has acquired 1 star dust!]

Seeing the scene, Shin Yoosung opened her mouth.

"I know what this is."

> 5. 'Dust Man' creates star jewels when acquiring a certain amount of 'star dust'.

Rules revealed as if they had been waiting.

As expected, the goal of this dungeon was to raise the 'Dust Man' and obtain the Star Jewels.

6. 'Dustmen' in the same group can be combined through [Fusion].

Shin Yoosung asked.

"Shall we put it together?"

"Great."

After all, we're in the same group.

There was no need to waste efficiency by raising several Dustmen.

When I selected [Fusion], my dust man opened his mouth wide and ate up Shin Yoosung's dust man.

[Incarnation Shin Yoosung's 'Dust Man' has been absorbed.]

[The 'Dust Man' of the Seoul Station Group is growing.]

Is it because they are combined? The speed at which he collected star dust was much faster than before.

"It keeps moving."

We continued to explore the labyrinth, calmly maintaining the boundaries of the sandbar.

Traces of a gruesome battle remained at every corner of the road.

The corpses stabbed and cut each other without hesitation, clinging to each other like stains.

Near the corpses, the star dust they had acquired during their lifetimes fell sparsely.

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' says it's going to be fun now.]

[Some constellations are looking forward to your performance]

We picked up the star dust silently, as if we were collecting remains.

Why did these people have to come to this place and die?

Most of these people probably don't even know what the 'death sword' is.

[A small number of constellations hold their tongues.]

No, maybe I know why they died. They died to be a story.

"As expected, good adults die quickly."

When I looked around, Shin Yoosung was staring down at the dead woman's face.

I also stopped beside Shin Yoosung and looked down at the dead woman.

An unfamiliar face.

I don't know who this person is.

I probably won't know in the future.

But Shin Yoosung seemed to know.

"Do you know this person?"

"She's the one who stopped me when I tried to enter the single-person dungeon."

I put my hand on the shoulder of Shin Yoosung, who was standing blankly.

"Shin Yoosung."

"Yes."

"Are you okay?"

After hesitating for a while, Shin Yoosung nodded her head.

I couldn't read the child's expression, so I couldn't tell if she was okay or not. But at that moment, Shin Yoosung's retina looked strangely deep.

"People always died even before the scenario."

"That's true."

"It just didn't happen right in front of me."

I didn't expect to hear such a story, so I was a little surprised.

Shin Yoosung quickly shook her head.

"Sorry. I said something too cheeky. Sometimes I say strange things without even realizing it."

"No. I also agree with you. Death has always existed. It's just that it wasn't so explicit."

People died even before the scenarios started.

Men killed men.

They killed each other and talked about each other's death. It's a world where it's okay to talk like that.

"Are you all right?"

"I'm fine."

Since it was a world where all gods could exist as 'constellations', there was nothing strange about killing people.

However, in a world like that, I rather didn't want to believe in anything.

"Do people have souls?"

"They do."

Was it because I answered too confidently? Shin Yoosung asked with her eyes wide open.

"Then where will the dead Younghoon go?"

"She will go to the underworld."

"Are there scenarios there?"

"There might be."

"Then, even if I die, it won't be any different from here."

"In a sense."

Then Shin Yoosung looked up at me.

"Still, ahjussi, don't die."

I nodded.

"Shin Yoosung as well."

We prayed for the woman's rest in silence. The ashes scattered on the floor looked like the scattered soul of a woman.

[Dust Man's 'star dust' has exceeded 100!]

[Only in the Star Labyrinth, your physical strength will increase by 1.]

Even in the midst of that, we were getting stronger at the cost of surviving.

I ran into other incarnations several times, but as soon as they saw my 'Blade of Faith', they got scared and ran away.

Somehow, it was a day when I didn't want to kill anyone, so I thought it was fortunate in my heart.

[Star dust obtained so far: 302]

Shin Yoosung said while looking at the star dust that had already exceeded 300.

"Ahjussi, if it's like this-"

"Don't say it will go smoothly."

"Yes?"

It was then that the empty Dustman stopped.

-Star?

[Currently, there is almost no 'star dust' remaining in the 'Star Labyrinth'.]

Damn, then it is.

There's no way the 'scenario I knew' would go so smoothly.

[Hunt other incarnations to obtain 'star dust'.]

After all, this labyrinth is a stage created to induce the incarnations to fight.

How many incarnations must I hunt to collect seven star jewels?

I didn't want to guess.

It was then that the additional rules came to mind.

> 7. Incarnations that have acquired 'Star Jewels' will have their overall stats rise dramatically.
>
> 8. Every time you acquire 1 'Star Jewel', the 'Madness' level increases.

…Madness?

—Star!

Suddenly, the Dust Man above my head started shaking like crazy.

The reason was immediately clear.

[There is an incarnation with a star jewel nearby.]

"Ahjussi."

I nodded.

A slight vibration was felt on the floor.

Something was coming this way.

"There is one of the 'Seven Kings of Seoul' around here."

654 Episode 19 People of the Past (6)

With Shin Yoosung, I held my breath and hid between the underground passages.

Then, a group of people jumped out from the opposite street corner.

"This way!"

Did they notice us?

Looking at the movement, there is a feeling that they are intentionally directed this way, but the target is us.

I used 'group chat' with Shin Yoosung.

—Shin Yoosung. You should run away immediately.

I felt that no matter what happened, I had to save this child.

If Shin Yoosung dies here, the 41st round will end with the worst ending I can think of.

—If ahjussi runs away too.

A formidable answer came back.

I hesitated to answer, but Shin Yoosung sent another message.

—But maybe we can win?

—It could be.

Maybe it's because of 'Beast Lord? Shin Yoo-seung seemed to be able to know the talents of incarnations just by looking at them.

[Story, 'the tenacious Murim master' shudders.]

The number and skill of the running enemies were excellent. It is only natural that they are the elite of the 7 kings of Seoul.

But do you think I will lose? If you ask me, I wouldn't.

Does that mean I've become stronger?

At first glance, I thought that I was stronger than Kim Dokja of the same period, but I hadn't had a chance to properly check my skills in the meantime.

However, it wasn't just that we were talking about the enemies.

—Those two over there are strong.

I could feel it too.

Two extraordinary auras were felt among them.

"Gu Taesung! This way! Move!"

Gu Taesung.

One of the 7 kings of Seoul. A person who has Gyeonwon, the king of Later Baekje, as his background.

He was a man called 'The Dragon King'.

Next to him was an incarnation wearing a black night suit, but I couldn't guess who it was just by looking at his face.

"Assassin King. What's the target?"

"Now it's intelligent."

Assassin King.

At the entrance to the dungeon, the assassins who tried to harm us told us this name.

Somehow, that man in the night suit seemed to be the leader of the rookie hunters.

[The exclusive skill 'reader comment list' is activated!]

[This reader took an abnormal path .]

['Omniscient reader's viewpoint was used.]

A message I've seen before.

It was the same case as the text book writer I met in the 'Theatre Dungeon'.

「It's the Misreading association.」

Those who possessed characters here after illegally reading the novel.

From what I could see, both Gu Taesung, the Dragon King, and the Assassin King were all on that side.

—big star.

The Dustman's reaction also changed.

It probably means that the two of them have a 'star jewel'. Shin Yoosung, who was by my side, turned to the Dustman, placing her finger on her lips as if telling him to be quiet.

—Ahjussi, what should I do?

—Let's observe the situation for a moment.

Bang Cheolsoo's warning came to mind.

「"Brother, if you meet the 7 kings of Seoul, you must avoid them unconditionally."」

Until now, I thought so. It was important to collect star jewels, but I had no intention of taking unnecessary risks with Shin Yoosung.

However.

「Isn't that worth fighting for?」

When I asked why that thought came to my mind, I was comparing them to someone without realizing it.

[The constellation 'The Last Ark' laughs.]

Come to think of it, the king of beggars I faced at Seoul Station was the body of a constellation.

No matter how strong the 7 kings of Seoul are, they are only the incarnations of a great constellation.

In a sense, I've already had a record of dealing with a first-class incarnation.

I was thinking about whether to attack now, but I decided to eavesdrop on their conversation.

"What about troop losses?"

"There were a few minor injuries, but no fatalities."

"No fatalities?"

Intermittent murmurings could be heard from a distance.

It was a vibration I had heard before.

"Did you not hear? He said he doesn't kill anyone."

"He’s not killing anyone."

"There are rumors that they are members of the apostle side."

Apostle?

"I don't like their hypocrisy. It's just like them and us who read a damn novel anyway."

"That's true. What's the point of spending a few hundred won on that?"

I resisted the urge to go right away and slap him in the back of the head.

By the way, are you insane for talking about things like that?

[A few constellations protest why there are so many filtered conversations these days.]

It's a conversation that is filtered anyway, so they don't have any intention of hiding it.

"What happened to the possessed constellation? Have you been contacted?"

"No. Not yet. It looks like it's been a bit of time."

"You damn bastards. Then why mess with the Goryeo's First Sword?"

"They don't even know the contents of their novels. We should have done the constellation possession."

As the vibration that resonated with the labyrinth approached, the two men shut their mouths at the same time.

"It’s coming."

The faces of the two people had a strange tension. Then came the sound of flesh being torn from the aisle and an horrible scream.

Then, with the sound of gasping for breath, incarnations appeared. An incarnation with one arm ripped off. An incarnation with a broken shin. The incarnations who lost all their weapons ran this way in a hurry.

Even seeing the injured men, the two did not look too surprised.

As if they had foreseen this situation.

"Is that what happens when you collect three star jewels?"

"If you're jealous, I'll hand over my star jewel to you."

"I decline."

A gigantic figure swayed behind the avatars.

At first glance, a gigantic creature that appears to be twice the size of an ordinary incarnation.

Could that be the Labyrinth Keeper?

The Dustman, who was spinning around, couldn't control himself and shivered.

—Big star!

Not a Labyrinth Keeper.

In other words, that monster is also an 'incarnation' like us.

However, was there such an incarnation in Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint?

Shin Yoosung, who was next to me, was also holding on to my sleeve, as if surprised.

A slight tremor passed through the child's fingertips.

"That can't be won."

The hairs on the backs of my hands were warning me.

I couldn't see the form properly yet, but the giant in the darkness was stronger than Gu Taesung and the assassin king combined.

Who the hell is it?

At this point, if it is an existence with a level of combat power that exceeds the '7 kings of Seoul'.

"Light!"

Along with Gu Taesung's cry, someone lit a light in the darkness of the underground passage.

The giant's face was revealed to the whole world.

Arms filled with strong muscles.

Empty pupils as if he had lost his mind. Lips moving repeatedly as if chanting Buddhist prayers.

"I will not kill you. I won't kill you."

The moment I heard the voice, I got goosebumps.

—Ahjussi?

I forgot to reply to Shin Yoosung and ran out.

"Wow! What is it?"

One of the incarnations that spotted me jumping through the aisle brandished a blind knife.

After receiving the blade as it was, I tripped the incarnation.

The incarnation let out a small scream and fell down on the back of his head before making a pack sound.

Did he die? I don't know.

However, now was not the time to be immersed in sentimentality.

I was looking at a giant.

"Looking for someone. I'm looking for someone."

Why is that person here?

I could see her man's thick hand poking through the air.

It was a different size, but it was a hand I knew well.

The person who asked me where the bugs were. With that hand, he found the bug under the vending machine.

"Find someone."

It felt like a part of my chest was about to collapse.

The first reader I met after possessing someone in this world.

A man who was brought into this world for reading a novel his daughter was reading.

"Noh Jiyoon. Noh Jiyoon."

Jiyoon's father.

"Dansu ahjussi!"

However, as if he couldn't hear my voice, he only repeated vain gestures toward the air.

If you look closely, you can see that the old man's eyes are black.

My breath choked, and deep anger and sorrow rushed at once.

What the hell happened in the meantime?

Why did Ahjussi become like that?

What the hell kind of people made you like that?

Could it be because of the life that flowed out in an instant? A group of incarnations looked back at my width.

I could see Gu Taesung and the Assassin King frowning at me.

I saw them face to face.

Are these guys the ones who made you that way?

"Are you a hindrance?"

The assassin king who found me muttered in a calm voice.

At the same time, the sound of flesh breaking was heard from the front of the aisle.

[The incarnation 'Dansu' has currently acquired 3 Star Jewels.]

Every time Dansu Ahjussi swung his giant hand. The incarnations were helplessly swept away.

"I'm sorry. I'm sorry."

The incarnations who were hit by ahjussi were injured, but did not die. Moderate to minor injuries that do not end life.

"I won't kill you. I won't kill you."

Come to think of it, Dansu ahjussi was like that from the first scenario.

The man who killed a bug in the first scenario has never killed a person.

「"It's just because I'm weak."」

That's what he said, but I knew why the old man didn't really kill people.

A man who is always looking for his daughter.

There is only one reason why such a man does not kill people.

「"I want Jiyoon to be proud of me."」

"Dansu ahjussi! Calm down!"

He looked around as if he still couldn't hear me.

One of the incarnations that had been paying attention suddenly attacked me from behind. However, the incarnation was struck in the neck by a dagger flying from the side and fell down.

"Ahjussi."

It was Shin Yoosung. I nodded and looked around at the incarnations around me. No matter how I look at it, these guys are the ones who are aiming for Dansu ahjussi, so it was urgent to deal with these guys first.

It was then that Gu Taesung, who was checking his watch, raised his head.

"I think you misunderstood. We don't intend to fight."

You don't want to fight?

The guy looked back at the members of his group who had fallen to me and Shin Yoosung, then clicked his tongue and said.

"You don't know what's going on right now?"

"Old Taesung. Don't talk nonsense."

Despite the Assassin King's warning, Gu Taesung looked at my width and continued.

"Looks like you're on the edge. Let me give you a piece of advice. You'd better get away from here quickly. Or you'll get run over by that monster too."

"Gu Taesung. He's here."

With those words, Gu Taesung and the Assassin King moved. I nervously grabbed the hilt of my sword. If I had to, I was thinking of cutting the backs of the kings to save ahjussi.

However.

"Just throw food and it will fall."

Instead of grabbing weapons, Gu Taesung and the Assassin King reached out for their own Dustmen.

—Light up.

Two shining white jewels protruded from the little Dustman's mouth.

It must have been. It was the 'Star Jewel' that we had been looking for all along.

It was the continued actions of the guys that made it happen.

"Eat it, you bastard!"

They threw their star jewels at Dansu ahjussi.

"I'm sorry. I'm sorry."

A star jewel flew towards the man who was repeating his apology into the air. After that, the Dustman, who was flying near ahjussi, opened his mouth wide.

[Incarnation 'Lee Dansu' gets 2 additional 'Star Jewels'!]

At the same time, cracks began to appear all over ahjussi’s body.

With a crackling sound, ahjussi’s muscles were torn and swollen.

The Assassin King let out an unpleasant laugh.

"It's a success."

"Now just feed two more and we’re done. Everyone withdraw!"

The Assassin King and Gu Taesung's group seemed to have finished their mission and didn't look back.

I heard it everywhere in the labyrinth.

As if, from the beginning, they had no intention of hunting him.

I couldn't understand what the hell was going on.

I sorted out the situation in the confusion.

One, Dansu ahjussi already had three star jewels.

If I were to simply summarize the situation that was happening right in front of my eyes, that would be it.

"They gave the star jewel to Dansu ahjussi on purpose."

Why? He already had three star jewels.

If he gets two more star jewels in that situation, the old man will only become ridiculously strong.

"By the way, was that all?"

Belatedly, the rules of this dungeon came to mind.

> 8. Every time you acquire 1 'Star Jewel', the 'Madness' level increases.

No way.

I approached Dansu ahjussi who was kneeling.

"Ahjussi! It's me! Ahjussi!"

Dansu ahjussi, who had grown even bigger than before, had now grown to the point of being reminiscent of a small giant.

I could feel his presence just by getting close.

As if reminiscent of Yoo Joonghyuk, a sense of heavy pressure that chokes your breath.

To the old man who was crying and scratching the floor as if in pain, I stretched out my hands and shouted.

"Me, Cheon Inho! Take a seat!"

At the word Cheon Inho, the man raised his head. For an instant, hope welled up.

Does he recognize me?

Ahjussi’s lips were saying something.

Jiyoon.

The next moment, ahjussi’s huge palm flew towards me. It was a relentless blow with no chance to escape. If Shin Yoosung hadn't pulled my back just in time, I might have been crushed by it.

I looked down at the floor where Dansu ahjussi’s palm had been planted. The floor was severely cracked with the palm at the center.

Cold sweat ran down my back.

I was about to die. Really, I almost died.

Shin Yoosung, holding onto my sleeve, was shouting something, but I could only hear what ahjussi said.

"I'm sorry. I'm sorry."

A man who repeats an apology. The man who had lost both eyes looked at me with wide open pupils.

[Incarnation 'Lee Dansu' has fallen into 'Madness Level 5'.]

Madness level 5.

| |
|---|
| 9. Every time the 'Madness' stage goes up, the overall ability increases greatly and you lose your sanity. |

Only then did I understand why the 7 kings abandoned the star jewels and fled.

The tenth rule came to mind soon after.

| |
|---|
| 10. If someone collects 7 Star Jewels, the Death Sword will be summoned. |

Goosebumps ran down my spine.

「The goal of this place was not to collect 7 jewels.」

The 'star jewels' in this dungeon were a trap.

'Star Jewels' that made one lose their reason in return for gaining strong power.

In other words, in order to properly collect 'star jewels', you should never collect 'star jewels'.

Therefore, the goal of this dungeon was as follows.

「To make someone other than yourself collect '7 star jewels'.」

Dansu ahjussi, who became a monster, slowly got up and started walking towards me.

655 Episode 19 People of the Past (7)

"Ahjussi. Run away. Hurry."

Shin Yoosung urgently pulled my sleeve. The child's eyes blinked intermittently with a golden light.

"Quickly!"

Today's Dansu ahjussi is dangerous.

"I will not kill you. I won't kill you."

[The story 'Relentless Murim Master' warns you.]

The spirit of the Murim people was warning me. If I deal with Dansu ahjussi now, I will die.

"Ahjussi! Wake up! Please!"

He did not respond at all to my calls. He just came towards us step by step, with heavy steps.

"I'm sorry. I'm sorry."

Dansu ahjussi wasn't looking at me. In the place where ahjussi's eyes had been, only pitch-black darkness swayed emptily.

[Someone activated the 'trap switch'.]

[The dungeon rearrangement time will be readjusted.]

[Dungeon relocation will begin in 10 minutes.]

To make matters worse, the relocation time was advanced.

Maybe it was the work of the 7 kings of Seoul who ran away earlier.

[After a while, the entire dungeon will be engulfed in flames.]

[Find the 'Safe Zone'.]

The dungeon floor vibrated lightly, and I felt faint heat at my ankles. If 5 more minutes pass like this, the whole area will be covered with a hot fire.

When I thought so, my mind went dark.

Let's assume Shin Yoosung and I manage to escape. Then, what happens to the Dansu ahjussi?

[Participants with Star Jewels are immune from the flames caused by 'Rearrangement'.]

A sigh of relief came out.

Now, Dansu ahjussi has absorbed five star jewels.

At least this relocation will not change the life or death of ahjussi.

—Ahjussi.

Shin Yoosung shook me once again.

I had to make a decision.

"Dansu ahjussi. I'll be back soon."

"Looking for someone."

Now things have changed.

It is said that he is immune from the flames, but Shin Yoosung and I were not.

Still unable to hear me, Dansu ahjussi pursed his lips.

"Jiyoon."

"Yes. We decided to find Jiyoon."

Jiyoon. Ahjussi steps slowed down for an instant.

I continued to speak with clenched fists.

"I told you I would definitely find her. Do you remember?"

Dansu ahjussi, who had been hesitant, moved his head very slowly. I couldn't tell if that meant he understood what I was saying or if it was just a coincidence.

I suppressed my surging heart and grabbed Shin Yoosung's hand.

"I'll definitely be back."

I just started running.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' mourns the tragedy of the incarnation Lee Dansu.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' laments the cruelty of the scenario.]

[Constellation 'Bald General of Justice' wipes his head.]

I will never let you die like this.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' supports your fight.]

Dansu ahjussi didn't come after us.

[After 8 minutes 'Rearrangement' will begin.]

We immediately set out to search for a safe area. To save Dansu ahjussi, we must first survive.

Shin Yoosong, who was looking at the left and right aisles with me, opened her mouth.

"Ahjussi."

"Yes."

"Is that person close to you?"

Without a moment to think, my mouth answered first.

"Yes."

I also let go.

Close person.

That's what I was thinking of Dansu ahjussi.

For a moment, a weak spark flowed from Shin Yoosung's body. I looked back in amazement.

Shin Yoosung avoided my gaze and lowered her head.

"I see..."

Shin Yoosung's eyes briefly shimmered in gold.

What are these gold eyes?

Did Shin Yoosung in the main story have such an ability?

I couldn't remember it well. As far as I know, the gold eyes are a characteristic of Yoo Joonghyuk, who has [Sage's Eyes].

Come to think of it, where is Yoo Joonghyuk now? It was time for him to save Yoo Mia and return to Gwanghwamun, but there was no news yet.

['Rearrangement' will begin after 7 minutes.]

Damn, now is not the time to think about Yoo Joonghyuk.

Little by little, my mind was quickened. If I stayed like this, I was going to die before I could meet Yoo Joonghyuk again.

However, no matter how much I searched, I couldn't find a 'safe area'.

In 'Ways of Survival', it was written to take an incarnation with the [Guide] attribute or the [Find the maze] skill in preparation for such a situation.

But neither I nor Shin Yoosung had those characteristics or skills.

['Rearrangement' will begin in 6 minutes.]

I quickly checked the stardust we had.

[Star dust obtained so far: 314]

If you get a 'star jewel', you can endure the hellfire of 'rearrangement'.

If I collect additional star dust and make a star jewel, at least Shin Yoosung might be able to be saved.

The problem is that there is only one way to quickly obtain dust powder.

[The other incarnations must be killed.]

[After 5 minutes 'Relocation' will start.]

It was then that Shin Yoosung's voice was heard.

"Ahjussi. Over there."

About ten paces ahead, from the inside of the aisle on the right, a faint stream of light was pouring out.

We ran straight to the corner of the road where the light came out.

[A safe area has been found.]

Fortunately, there was a safe area left.

However, there were those who occupied the 'safe area' before us.

"Oh, we met again."

A troubled voice.

It was Gu Taesung, one of the 7 kings of Seoul, whom I had met earlier.

"I'm sorry, but there aren't enough seats here. Find another place."

Gu Taesung was in a safe area with two of his subordinates.

A green circle in the size of 1 pyeong, reminiscent of the 'Green Zone of Chungmuro'.

At the top of the circle, the currently accessible places were marked.

[Available capacity: 3/4]

One place left.

There are five people in total, including us.

It was then that Gu Taesung's eyes changed.

"Hmm? Hold on."

His eyes were looking at Shin Yoosung. When I reflexively hid Shin Yoosung behind my back, he moved his lips slightly and started talking to someone in a 'group chat'. Then he asked with a smile on his face.

"What's that kid's name?"

Did he know Shin Yoosung?

"I have no obligation to inform you."

Then, Gu Taesung smiled.

"I don't think it's a situation to be so bold, right?

[After 4 minutes 'Relocating' will begin.]

4 minutes left.

Gu Taesung opened his mouth first, as if he had made up his mind on something.

"I will take the child."

For a moment, my head went blank.

Where did I hear that line?

Gu Taesung chuckled and looked back at his subordinates.

"Didn't I just act like Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"Yoo Joonghyuk? Are you talking about the king?"

"No. What do you guys know?"

Gu Taesung, slightly frowning, looked back at me. A completely different look from before.

"Kill him. And bring the kid."

As if he had waited, each of his subordinates handed over a sword and a spear.

I looked at the dangerously approaching guys for a while and asked.

"Did you guys make Dansu ahjussi like that?"

At my question, the subordinates turned to each other.

"Dansu ahjussi? Who is he talking about?"

"Isn’t he talking about the old man who was talking about his daughter?"

"Ah, you mean the sacrifice."

Sacrifice.

"Well, we did feed him star jewels. It's honestly not our fault. We only gave it to him because he wanted a star jewel, right?"

"That's right. Anyway, if a person has a lot of greed—"

The moment I heard the voice full of ridicule, I felt something cut off inside me.

The [Blade of Faith] is activated!

"What is that?"

The radiance of conviction that illuminates the darkness.

Gu Taesung seemed to have noticed what this item was.

"No way…"

I swung my sword without hesitation. Surprised, the subordinates swung their swords at me.

[Story, 'The Tenacious Murim Master' stutters.]

However, to me who has the legend of the ark of the dragon, their trajectory was as easy to avoid as a child's toy knife.

The blue, white and blue sword cut through the air. With the sound of the cross section being neatly cut, the two men fell to the floor without even leaving a final word.

However, thanks to his subordinates buying a moment, Gu Taesung seemed to have finished his preparations.

[Incarnation 'Gu Taesung' activates 'Weapon Improvement Lv.4'.]

[Incarnation 'Gu Taesung' activates 'Advanced Swordsmanship Lv.3'!]

[Incarnation 'Gu Taesung activates the characteristic effect!]

['King's Spirit' effect activates!]

Gu Taesung's sponsor is 'the founding of Hannam-gun'.

In other words, he is the incarnation of Gyeonhun, the king of later Baekje.

However, despite the pouring skill activation message, I was calm.

「I didn’t feel like I was going to lose at all.」

"How do you have Broken Faith?"

"I picked it up."

"What?"

I immediately started pushing him. The batting stick of the Dragon Head Ark unfolds through 'Broken Faith', and in the magic of 'Circulation Delay' [Baekjeong Ganggi], I launched a wave of attacks.

Gu Taesung, who had been taking backward steps in succession, spat out an astonishment.

"Who are you? How can you be like this…"

He might be surprised.

Because there's no one like me among the characters he knows.

[Incarnation 'Gu Taesung' activates 'Relentless Guts Lv.3'!]

But surely the 7 kings are the 7 kings.

As the battle lengthened, he was following my movements little by little.

It was because of his skill, [Relentless Guts].

The longer the battle drags on, the worse it gets for me. In the end, I too have to throw the odds.

"I heard you were imitating Yoo Joonghyuk earlier."

"What?"

[The sub-skill, 'Enhance Sentence' is activated!]

[You can enter your actions.]

[The action you enter is 'reinforced'.]

[The current enhancement level is level 1.]

I entered the sentence without hesitation.

「Cheon Inho used 'Incite'.」

[Exclusive skill, 'Incite' is enhanced!]

[Incite is temporarily awakened.]

[You can incite yourself to imitate any character you want!]

I remembered 'Yoo Joonghyuk' in the 3rd round that Kim Dokja met.

The strong and ruthless king of the 3rd round.

I know.

Now, I will not be able to absorb the skills of Yoo Joonghyuk, but 'Omniscient Reader' is a very long novel, and among them, there will be a Yoo Joonghyuk that I can imitate.

「Finally, the sleeping prince has awakened from a deep sleep.」

Gu Taesung gave orders, probably feeling something out of the ordinary.

"It's here! Everyone come this way! Kill this guy!"

At the same time as he said that, more than a dozen incarnations appeared from the back of the aisle.

All of them were subordinates of Gu Taesung.

Apparently, they were the ones who called over the group chat earlier.

Gu Taesung's lips seemed to be filled with a smile once again.

Seeing that guy, I opened my mouth.

"I am."

A sword of old age falling over his head.

"I am Yoo Joonghyuk from the 3rd round, who cut down the apostle."

The moment Gu Taesung opened his eyes in surprise, a faint spark flowed through my body.

Goosebumps ran down my spine, and my sense of time and space slowed down.

「Uncomfortable feeling, like wearing ill-fitting clothes. The height of the line of sight that is subtly different from usual, and the five different senses.」

This is Yoo Joonghyuk's view.

I could feel my muscles contracting strongly. A power beyond the limits of my body was stirring within me.

[Incite activates!]

Only the 3rd round.

It was also Yoo Joonghyuk, who had a lower overall ability than me in the early days and now, but it was so difficult to imitate him.

「"Don't rest and move."」

The voice of the pajeon swordsman echoed in my head.

「"Is a guy who wants to acquire the Fiery Sword of the Underworld broken down from just that much?"」

Perhaps this is Yoo Joonghyuk's memory.

「"Fifty years, if not ten years. If you can't do it in 50 years, work hard with the spirit that you will cut it in 100 years. Build up over the years. Engrave in your body and mind the memories that no star can destroy you."」

Maybe it was natural.

Even if it was only the third round, Yoo Joonghyuk lived an overwhelming time that was incomparable to me.

He is the incarnation of the highest peak who has already risen to the Transcendental Seat in the second round.

He was a being who had trained for a hundred years in 'Time Fault' .

Blood gushed out of my nose with the sound of a push shot. It was as if a book's worth of type had been crumpled into a sheet of A4 paper, and it felt like my brain, unable to withstand the pressure, would explode.

But I persevered.

I know that it is impossible to truly become that 'Yoo Joonghyuk'. But.

「At that moment, 'I' realized who I was.」

At least for a moment.

「My hand grasps the hilt as if doing something that has been repeated a million times over. The feeling of the fingers wrapped around the grip was unfamiliar.」

If it is 'Yoo Joonghyuk' in a single moment when he killed the apostles in Chungmuro.

「"I am Yoo Joonghyuk."」

Murderous intent and anger welled up in my head. Resentment towards the people behind and hatred towards the constellations.

The dead comrades.

The world that was abandoned by Yoo Joonghyuk and could not be saved was entangling my entire body like a chain.

This is the curse of the regressor.

Yoo Joonghyuk has always lived through these things.

I could feel Shin Yoosung's gaze from behind.

I said without looking back.

—Get down, Shin Yoosung.

Shin Yoosung reflexively lowered her waist and my sword moved at the same time.

[The constellation 'Hannam County Founder' shouts to avoid!]

There is no way to avoid this sword.

「One step was so natural, even beautiful.」

Because it was the most perfect swordsman Kim Dokja knew.

656 Episode 19 People of the Past (8)

---

「The silent blade moved, and no one could see it.」

The extremely compressed sense of time slowly returned, and a light spark flew from the right hand holding the sword.

[A constellation that has not yet revealed their modifier is looking at you.]

I couldn't hear the screams of the incarnations or the sound of weapons clashing anymore.

All the signs that were running towards me also disappeared.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' opens his mouth.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' says, that the incarnation Cheon Inho is actually hiding his power, and his eyes light up.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' feels deep sadness from your sword.]

While the sound of something falling on the floor echoed one after another, no one shared the same eye level as me.

I was alone.

Probably like Yoo Joonghyuk always did.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' is amazed at your martial arts.]

[The constellation 'Goryeo's First Sword'...]

[A handful of constellations sponsored 1,000 coins for your action.]

A sense of limitless omnipotence and superiority dwelling in the body.

This was Yoo Joonghyuk.

For a moment, I felt someone in the distant sky watching me.

[A constellation wrapped in a veil slows down.]

When I suddenly raised my head at the unfamiliar hostility, my eyes disappeared somewhere.

A tingling feeling of fatigue.

I have already experienced the side effects of [Incite] through [Sentence Reinforcement].

If I procrastinate here any longer, I'll be eaten up by [Incite] like last time.

Tsutsutsutsut.

['Incite' is canceled.]

A terrifying recoil rushed through my body. Blood trickled down from my mouth.

It was a really grueling experience. It's just the weight of Yoo Joonghyuk in the very beginning, and that's a momentary [incite].

Even if it was, is it this much?

Even after the skill was unlocked, I felt something like Yoo Joonghyuk’s remnant in my head.

It was a joke.

I lightly wiped my lips with one hand and looked down at the floor.

"Uh. Aaaaaaaa!"

A scream that rang out a beat late.

Gu Taesung was lucky. The legs of the guy were rolling on the floor. Stopping the pouring blood, he was looking up at me with red eyes.

The emotion in his eyes quickly turned to fear.

Gu Taesung, perhaps forgetting the pain, began to servilely pray.

"Save me! Save me!"

I approached the guy.

Looking at his terrified face reminded me of Dansu ahjussi's face. Dansu ahjussi, who had blank eyes.

Gu Taesung was full of wounds, and a man who lost his mind was looking for his daughter.

"It's all because of Dansu ahjussi."

They made Dansu ahjussi that way. They ruined the life of an innocent ahjussi who was searching for his daughter in this world.

「They must be killed.」

The remnants of Yoo Joonghyuk inside of me were saying that.

"Ho, are you by any chance a reader?"

Gu Taesung suddenly lifted his head and said while holding onto my trousers.

"Save me. Please, please save me! We're from the same world."

The moment I saw the trembling face looking up at me, I realized who this man was.

This man is not 'old-fashioned'.

"I am also a person who has read 'The Book of Revelation'. I really enjoyed it."

"…"

"It's all a misunderstanding... It's a misunderstanding! I'm different from the others! I didn't read all of them illegally, and I paid for a lot of them!"

Like a condemned prisoner confessing his sins for the last time before he dies, he continued to talk.

"I want to live. I want to live. Please. I want to go back home. I didn't want to come to a place like this."

As he said that, he shed tears as if he was overwhelmed.

"Uh, I miss Mom and Dad. Fuck. I didn't want to do this either. Just, just to survive somehow..."

How old was this man?

Where did he live and what did he do?

I do not know. Then and now, this man was a complete stranger to me.

「So maybe, this is the last chance to kill this man.」

The moment I make up my mind and fixed 'Broken Faith' again.

"I will do it."

Shin Yoosung passed me by and said.

"I have to practice too."

Practice.

"To survive."

Shin Yoosung's voice was low when she said that. I couldn't see the child's expression, but I could see why.

Shin Yoosung's eyes would be golden now.

"You don't want to do that, ahjussi."

Is it small? Shin Yoosung's small back as she spat those words made me feel the years I did not know. She must have been a child who had only lived for ten years.

I grabbed Shin Yoosung's shoulder.

"I'll do it."

In the meantime, Gu Taesung dragged his butt and retreated to the edge. But he had nowhere to run.

['Relocate' will begin in 1 minute.]

If he gets out of this 'safe area' anyway, he will be burned to death.

Gu Taesung, perhaps realizing his situation, began to pray again.

"Please help me. I really didn't want to do this either. They said that if I just performed my role well, I would be sent home."

"What do you mean by that?"

The one possessed by Gu Taesung was a member of the 'Misreading association'.

But I don't know how the 'Misreading association' came to this world.

They were not readers who purchased and read the entire book, nor were they participants in 'Kim Dokja's Banquet'.

Then, how did they possess this world?

Gu Taesung swallowed his breath at the sharpness of the blade pressing down on his throat.

"Who brought you here?"

"That, that's…"

Gu Taesung opened his mouth again, as if he had made up his mind on something.

"Kim Dok—"

Tsutsutsutsutsutsutsutsu!

Suddenly, his whole body jumped up like an electrocuted fish. The boy's lips were on fire.

Something was controlling the guy's right to speak.

['Relocate' will begin in 30 seconds.]

Gu Taesung, who twisted his body as if in pain, managed to part his lips.

"I'm sorry. I can't tell you that. I'll do anything else instead. Anything I can—"

I looked down at such a man, and the remnants of the Yoo Joonghyuk that remained in my head did not speak to me anymore. Maybe it was because my heart was a little weak, but what came to my mind instead was the memory of Dansu ahjussi.

「"No matter how much it is in a novel, I don't want to kill anyone."」

After the scenarios started, ahjussi hadn't killed anyone until now. Even now, when he lost his reason and became a monster, he kept repeating the words "I won't kill you".

Obviously, the fragment of Kim Dokja inside ahjussi must be the best and purest piece of Kim Dokja.

「"Because it's a novel that my daughter liked."」

I slowly lowered the sword that I was raising.

[After 20 seconds, 'Rearrangement' will begin.]

Gu Taesung's complexion brightened.

"Thank you! Thank you!" Gu Taesung shed tears of relief and put his hand on his chest.

"I-I don't have much, but even this-"

The moment I tried to say I didn't need it, I felt my bones soften.

Something was approaching at great speed.

Shin Yoosung caught me as if she felt something strange, and I also covered Shin Yoosung as if to protect her.

The magic wave that flew in with a squeaking sound.

I reflexively grasped 'Broken Faith'.

[Broken Faith's durability has run out.]

In an instant, I realized something.

「This is not an attack aimed at us.」

The magic wave passed me and Shin Yoosung, and blew Gu Taesung's neck.

It was a tragedy that took place without a chance to stop it.

The magic, that came into the safe area in an instant, turned Gu Taesung's hair into a green circle.

"It’s still backing down." A familiar voice said.

A man in a black coat was there.

Quite a handsome face for an extra.

A unique way of speaking that imitates Yoo Joonghyuk.

The king of kings doesn't act that way. What's the point of worrying about killing the wicked?

I saw a woman standing next to him as if in trouble, nodding at me.

I remembered the last conversation I had with her.

There was a calm turmoil in my heart.

[Safe area is activated]

[Entrance capacity: 4/4]

['Relocation' begins.]

The apostle siblings.

The 2nd Apostle Killer King and Literature Girl 64 participated in the War of the Absolute Throne.

---

The relocation lasted exactly one minute or so.

As the raging fire burned everything in the 'safe zone', the maze moved and the composition of the passage changed.

As soon as the relocation was over, Killer King found the body of Gu Taesung, who was rolling nearby.

"Look. This guy had other plans."

In Killer King's hand, there was a 'poison bomb'

I remembered the expression on the face of Gu Taesung as he put his hand in the customs for the last time.

Was it really a bomb that Gu Taesung was trying to take out?

Killer King added, as if he had read my expression.

"Don't feel guilty. Just think that a person you don't know is dead. You don't grieve over someone dying on the other side of the globe."

Clearly he was a stranger to me. I don't know his name, his face, or where he lives.

"They used anonymity to commit crimes. No need to sympathize."

Is it really a problem that can be overcome?

What would you say if you were Dansu ahjussi?

I pursed my lips in search of words several times, but I did not know what to say.

Perhaps, it's because I don't have a fragment of the real Kim Dokja'.

"Have you been doing anything in the meantime?"

Instead of talking about strangers, I decided to talk about people I knew.

"Hmm."

Killer King, who picked up the items in Gu Taesung's arms, stood up.

A flag was tied to his forearm like an armband.

Black flag.

As expected, Killer King has completed all of the 'King's Way' scenarios.

It was natural.

He is the second apostle who has read the 'Omniscient Reader' over a hundred times and his sponsor is the archangel Jophiel.

"It was a lot of work."

As expected, Killer King, who checked my flag, was looking at Shin Yoosung.

"Looks like there's been a lot going on there too."

We briefly shared what had happened so far.

Things after clearing the theater dungeon and being scattered in Chungmuro.

There were places I didn't know about at all along Killer King's route, and there were hidden pieces that I hadn't even thought of.

I also briefly described the events that had occurred.

Things from going to Seoul Station to meeting the Beggar Sect, coming to Gwanghwamun and entering the dungeon.

When I finally brought up the story of Dansu ahjussi, Killer King let out a short sigh.

"If it's Dansu, you mean the old man who was looking for his daughter."

"You're right."

“It's difficult. The scenario is very different from the original."

"..."

"In order to obtain the death sword, seven star jewels are required. But if the man has five…"

When he brought up the story, I wondered if I done anything wrong.

It reminded me of Killer King who killed Gu Taesung without hesitation.

"As a reminder, if you're thinking of attacking Dansu ahjussi—"

"Why do you think I would?"

Killer King frowned as if slightly offended.

"The only enemy of the Seven Apostles is the Misreading association. I won't attack anyone else."

It looked like he had already killed a lot for that kind of thing, but there was no need to make useless tackles right away.

"Anyway, at this rate, there's a high chance that guy will collect all seven star jewels."

I think so too.

Even now, the Misreading association, who is scattered all over the maze, is trying to feed the man with the remaining star jewels.

They will be looking for opportunities.

"The guys from the Misreading association must be planning on summoning the death sword with the man as a sacrifice and only steal the item."

"We have to find ahjussi before they do."

[2 hours and 58 minutes left until the relocation.]

There was still a lot of free time until the next relocation.

The problem is that the entire 'labyrinth' is reset, making it impossible to know the location of Dansu ahjussi.

"I need a guide. Do you have any related skills or attributes?"

However, neither Killer King nor Literature Girl 64 had the relevant skills or characteristics.

Literature Girl 64 and Shin Yoosung were looking at each other a few steps away.

Killer King licked his lips.

"The composition of the party is really bad. At this time, Yoo Sangah or Lee Gilyoung should have been there."

Surely that was right.

In <Kim Dokja's Company>, there are two incarnations that can find a way in a maze.

But now, neither Yoo Sangah nor Lee Gilyoung were here.

Dansu ahjussi, who was able to play the role of Lee Gilyoung, is wandering around the labyrinth as a monster.

We have to find a way.

A way to find Dansu ahjussi before the guys from the Misreading association.

I thought about it.

"What would Kim Dokja do?"

It was then that the message resonated in my head.

[All repairs from Record Repairer have ended.]

Finally, the repair of the 'record repairer' is over.

But I didn't have high expectations.

The person I possessed now is Cheon Inho, and even if Cheon Inho's records were corrected, it didn't seem like there would be any major changes.

However.

['Record Repairer' repairs skills that were inactive.]

An unexpected message came.

[Exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' has been activated.]

---

[CLICK TO READ CHAPTER COMMENTS]

---

657 Episode 19 People of the Past (9)

---

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint was an exclusive skill mainly used by Kim Dokja. This skill consisted of a total of 3 stages, and each stage had different abilities.]

The first step was to read 'simple actions and emotions of the characters'.

The second step was to listen to the character's inner thoughts.

Finally, the third step is to share the character's vision or immerse yourself in the character themself.

It was a skill I knew very well. The problem is why the skill was activated only after the 'record repairer' repaired it.

「There is no way that Cheon Inho has [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint].」

If so, it means that this is a skill created in the process of repairing my records.

Come to think of it, it wasn't too outrageous.

It was because there was a possibility that I might have at least one such fragment, just as Dansu ahjussi and other readers have a 'fragment of Kim Dokja'.

In a sense, a writer is also a 'reader' who reads his own writing.

If I have a fragment of Kim Dokja who has learned [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint], it'll give me luck.

Let's not think complicated.

For now, I need to think about how to use this skill.

"Shin Yoosung."

I called Shin Yoosung who was by my side.

According to my memory, there are three conditions for using [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint].

One, the subject must be a 'character'.

Two, the 'understanding' of the subject must be above a certain level.

Third, the subject and I should be thinking about each other at the same time.

Now, if I talk to Shin Yoosung, the above three conditions are likely to be fulfilled at the same time.

At my call, Shin Yoosung looked up at me. I could see the child's little eyes roll back and forth.

But why?

No matter how long I waited, [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] did not activate.

Is it because of a lack of understanding?

Or, is Shin Yoosung not thinking of me right now?

Shin Yoosung, who was staring at me, asked.

"You called me differently earlier."

Differently?

There was a memory that came to mind later.

「"Get down, Yoosoung."」

When I [incited] myself to be Yoo Joonghyuk a while ago, I definitely said that to Shin Yoosung.

It wasn't intentional.

Because at that time, I really thought that I was Yoo Joonghyuk, and [Incite] is such a skill.

"You didn't even use honorifics."

"That… sorry, it’s a kind of side effect."

"You can just call me comfortably."

Hearing the voice of a child looking at me in anticipation, I didn't know what to say for a moment.

"I'll try."

"Really?"

It was at best not to use honorifics. Calling out the child's name as it is.

Although it was a very simple task, it was seldom easy for me.

I know why. It was because too many memories flooded in when I saw Shin Yoosung in front of me.

Shin Yoosung of the 41st round.

To me, this Shin Yoosung has wandered for thousands of years in the labyrinth of the world line. It was Shin Yoosung, who was reincarnated as a dokkaebi after descending as the Disaster of Floods.

What I see is a grand tragedy that has yet to come to this child.

If so, am I not seeing the current Shin Yoosung properly?

"Did you find a method?"

It was Literature Girl 64 who spoke.

"Not yet. Yerin-ssi."

After a while, I called her by her real name.

Literature Girl 64 was the only reader I knew of by her real name.

The person who read writer 'Lee Hakhyun'’s book.

Even though she doesn't know that I'm Lee Hakhyun, I still feel affinity when I see her.

Shin Yoosung pulled on my sleeve and asked.

"Is it a friend of yours?"

"Yes."

"Are you close?"

Why does Shin Yoosung ask such a question about everyone?

Maybe it's because I have a borderline personality.

"Yes. We're close."

Those words came from Literature Girl 64, not me.

When Shin Yoosung looked at Literature Girl 64 with strange eyes, Literature Girl 64 also looked down at Shin Yoosung with an unfamiliar look.

LiteraryGirl64 spoke again.

"We both like books."

"Books."

Shin Yoosung's golden eyes blinked violently.

I could see the expression of Literature Girl 64 hardening. And the next moment.

「Strange.」

For a moment, I felt a tickle in my ears, and then I heard a soft sound.

「Shin Yoosung in the third round does not have golden eyes. The 41st round will be the same. That’s right, this Shin Yoosung now—」

"Yerin."

"Yes."

['Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is unlocked.]

As Literature Girl 64 looked at me, her voice also cut off.

What I just heard was the inner thoughts of the literary girl.

But can it?

「'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is a skill that can only be used on 'characters'.」

However, Literature Girl 64 was a reader, not a character.

The cool realization came to mind as a clear sentence.

「[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] could be used on 'readers' as well.」

I immediately looked back at Killer King. Coincidentally, Killer King was also looking at me.

「Are you staring at me?」

A voice that sounds like he’s been waiting for it.

[Now Cheon Inho is closer to 'Kim Dokja' than anyone else among the apostles.]

「Then, if I beat that guy, does this mean I will become the closest to Yoo Joonghyuk?」

Seeing him having absurd delusions, it must have been Killer King’s inner thoughts.

I then thought of Dansu ahjussi.

However, the thoughts of the old man were not heard.

It could have been because his mind was too frozen, or it could have been because Dansu ahjussi wasn't thinking of me.

If only Dansu ahjussi could think of me.

If that's possible, it's possible to determine the ahjussi’s position in the labyrinth.

I immediately took out an item that did not bounce the wind speed.

'The horn of provocation.'

Spoils obtained from killing an ancient Nagak.

By using this item, I will be able to spread my voice throughout the labyrinth.

If ahjussi heard my voice, wouldn't he think of me even for a moment?

It was a gamble worth taking.

The problem is that ahjussi is farther away than expected, so the [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] step 2 didn't activate.

"Yerin."

"Yes."

"You have the iron fist you used before."

The question mark was omitted.

Killer King, who was brushing his sword while imitating Yoo Joonghyuk, spoke.

"It looks like you're talking about Vision Oh's Dark Spinning Breaker."

I guess that was the name.

Anyway.

"Use that on me now."

If step 2 doesn't work, use step 3.

---

In the dark, the man thought.

"Who am I?"

The man was thinking about himself.

Who am I.

The man thought it was an invincible philosophical question.

No human being knows what he is. He is only called by his name from birth.

He pondered what he was called.

「Lee Dansu.」

Right.

Lee Dansu was called that.

That was his name

"No."

No. Actually, that wasn't his name. That name was someone else's.

The name of the one who was once the master of this body.

He was just borrowing his name.

Then what was his name?

His name is.

"Noh Jiyoon. Noh Jiyoon."

There were memories that came one by one in the voice that came out of his mouth.

Right. He is Noh Jiyoon's father.

「Noh Gyeonghwan.」

That was his name.

「My father gave me such a name so that I could live vigilantly against even the slightest trouble. Thanks to the name my father gave me, I managed to live without much trouble.」

If you think about it, Noh Gyeonghwan's life was smooth and peaceful.

He's been like that since he was a kid.

Noh Gyeonghwan was born with a handsome face.

He never caught the flu, which everyone else gets, he studied well, and his friendships were good.

Luckily, he entered a prestigious university, and he also had a good random number draw in the military, so he was assigned to a comfortable place.

He obtained a small but cozy home with subscription bankbooks he had collected since childhood, and met his beautiful and wise wife like fate.

The daughter born between them was also very lovely.

Because he was so lucky in life, Noh Gyeonghwan often wondered if he was borrowing someone's luck.

Maybe the reason he is happy in this world is because somewhere in the distant universe someone else is unhappy.

Noh Gyeonghwan often imagined someone who might have been unhappy because of him, and he sang a short song for them every time he got home from work.

His wife loved his songs.

「Then one day, misfortune came to him too.」

Maybe it wasn't even a big deal. A tragedy that happens to everyone. It was just that the tragedy befell him.

「His wife was dead.」

The problem was the cause.

If it was a traffic accident or myocardial infarction, he doesn't know if he would have been able to understand it even though it was difficult. He was out of luck, and might have let go of his beloved wife, bursting into tears at his exasperation.

But his wife was killed.

「This is a stone.」

It was a stone. A very small stone that even a child can carry.

「"It seems that it fell from the sky. There was a meteor warning the day before, but it's a very rare thing. Our country wasn't even an alert area...」

It was a meteorite that flew from the other side of the universe.

A small meteorite that flew through the darkness of hundreds of thousands of light years and burned the heat of the atmosphere. His wife was hit by the stone and died instantly as it went through her body.

「"It is a disaster. Really, you're out of luck—"」

Can it really be explained with the word 'unlucky'? Noh Gyeonghwan did not understand.

He suddenly thought of 'someone' who was unfortunate beyond the universe.

Is this really a disaster?

Could it be that someone from far beyond the universe, envious of his happiness, threw a stone at him?

「From then on, Noh Gyeonghwan often looked up at the sky.」

He thought of an unprecedented meteorite that had flown in from beyond the sky.

His father was right.

You should be vigilant even for small troubles. Even now, he has to live up to his name.

From then on, Noh Gyeonghwan lived for the survival of his daughter.

He took his little daughter to school himself. He even wrote a flexible chapter for his daughter, fearing that even he himself would leave in a sudden accident.

He always kept his daughter by his side and kept out any danger.

His little daughter loved and understood Noh Gyeonghwan.

And after understanding so much, she started to hate him.

「"Can you please stop?"」

At some point, the daughter stopped eating her rice well. She stopped going to school.

It was fine though.

You can study later.

At least the house was safe.

If you are at home, you will never die from being hit by a meteorite.

However, Noh Gyeonghwan did not know that he could be hit by a meteorite even at home.

「"Yoo Joonghyuk."」

It was a name like a meteorite that flew from an unknown place.

「"I will marry Yoo Joonghyuk."」

---

['Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is unlocked!]

"Uweak!"

I jumped up from my seat with a feeling of vomiting.

Looking at the timer in the air, the time I fainted was only about ten minutes.

Killer King supported me and asked.

"Did you find him?"

"I found him."

"How?"

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint was indeed activated.]

A little while ago, I became Dansu ahjussi and peeped into his memories.

I explained to Killer King and Literature Girl 64 the approximate location of Dansu ahjussi and then said:

"I don't have time to explain in detail. Since we used 'Devaal's Fire Flute' earlier, the enemies must have noticed our presence."

Busy footsteps were heard throughout the dungeon. I'm sure the other the guys from the Misreading association are also looking for Dansu ahjussi.

"We have to find ahjussi first."

There is only one way to do that.

I gulped up blood and looked at the Literature Girl 64 once again.

"Hit me one more time. This time, to the point where I'll really die."

658 Episode 19 People of the Past (10)

---

「"I will marry Yoo Joonghyuk."」

Noh Gyeonghwan's life changed after his daughter was taken away by some fictional character.

He had neither the energy to be angry nor the energy to be sad.

He just quietly accepted that his entire life had been destroyed by a meteorite that flew for no reason.

But even after his life was destroyed, life continued.

Noh Gyeonghwan lived.

He somehow lived a day, ate rice. He did his job and got paid.

He was the head of the family and had responsibilities.

But at that time, Noh Gyeonghwan did not know.

Just as his wife and daughter were hit by a meteorite, there was a meteorite left in this world that was assigned to him.

「"It's cancer."」

It was a medical examination he had given without much thought.

Noh Gyeonghwan thought he had heard it wrong. He asked again and again.

「"It's cancer."」

It was a much more probable event than a meteorite. But probable events are not always easy to accept.

「"There are often cases like this. Some people hardly feel the signs. Aren't you usually very tired?」

Is there anyone who is not normally tired?

However, listening to the doctor's words, it seemed that he had been more tired lately.

「"You'd better prepare your mind."」

How to prepare my mind?

I will die soon.

Is accepting that fact a mental preparation?

"I won't kill you. I won't kill you."

If he prepares with such a heart, what will become of his daughter now?

"Noh Jiyoon. Noh Jiyoon."

I don't know.

Where did it go wrong?

"Find someone."

Why are these things happening to him? What the hell did he do wrong?

It was a meaningless question.

He knew that too.

This was a normal human life, and there is no reasonable probability in ordinary human life.

Because it's not a story about his life.

—Ahjussi! Dansu ahjussi!

No one is watching his life, and that is why there is no one to point out the probabilities.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' looks at his incarnation.]

Noh Gyeonghwan did not tell his daughter about his illness.

His words became less and less familiar, and instead, the time spent talking alone in the room increased.

It was more like he was talking to his internet friends rather than talking to himself.

When he was always alone, he thought that he was fortunate to have a channel of communication with his daughter, but on the other hand, he was worried that bad people would attack her.

But he couldn't interfere with what was going on inside his daughter's room.

All that Noh Gyeonghwan could do was prepare meals for his daughter and carefully ask questions he would not normally ask.

「"When are you going to school?"」

Jiyoon's expression as she pouted her lips.

「"You said I don’t have to go?"」

Was his method right?

Did he raise his daughter properly?

In fact, he was trying to prepare for a destruction that would never come, but rather destroyed his daughter's life.

Looking at the half of the sandwich his daughter left behind, Noh Gyeonghwan suddenly thought of that.

「Actually, it wasn't the meteorite that ruined his daughter, but it was him himself.」

It was then that he started secretly reading the novels his daughter was reading.

Before he died, he wanted to understand his daughter at least a little. He even wondered what kind of guy his daughter liked, Yoo Joonghyuk.

「There are three ways to survive in a destroyed world.」

The novel was bizarre from the first sentence.

「I have forgotten some of them now. But one thing is certain. It is the fact that you who are reading this now will survive.」

In some way, he wondered if he started reading this story because he wanted to live.

Can he really survive by reading this novel?

Even though he knew it sounded like a dream, he started reading the novel.

However, to him, who has become somewhat of an 'old person' now, the contents of the novel were embarrassing.

「"Kim Dokja. My father gave me that name so that I could be a strong man by myself."」

Kim Dokja.

It was a strange name.

Even for a man who is not well versed in literature, the name has a rather contrived symbolism.

「"Even if everyone didn’t say it, I believe you would have noticed what the situation was. Exclusive skills and a system window. Game-like interface. Is there anyone who still hasn’t mastered games?"」

Even the character told a story he was unfamiliar with. System window. Game-like interface. Regression, reincarnation, possession... Strange and absurd materials.

Do kids these days like this?

As he scrolled down like that, he sometimes came across a story he knew.

The Shang Dynasty and the Later Three Kingdoms period. Kim Yushin and Yi Sunshin.

Even though he wondered if this was a distortion of history, when a story he knew came out, he turned the page excitedly.

When he liked the Olympus Myth or Journey to the West, he thought that they were fairly educational novels, and when complicated settings or worldviews came out, he wondered if Jiyoon knew all of them.

When a cruel description related to the Apocalypse came out, he was worried and wanted to leave a comment, but he held back.

As he read it like that, one line became one page, and one page became another chapter. Two, three, four, he read the story.

All stories have a strange power.

The main character has nothing in common with him. Nevertheless, while reading the story, Noh Gyeonghwan felt connected to the main character.

He became Kim Dokja, cleared the scenarios, ventured the world, and built up stories.

He gradually understood why his daughter liked the character 'Yoo Joonghyuk'.

「Perhaps Jiyoon wanted to go back.」

Even if it revolves hundreds or thousands of times, even if it means destroying this world for just one person.

「She would have wanted her mother back.」

Now Jiyoon is alone.

What story can he leave to his daughter?

「"Dad."」

What kind of story will be written about the only daughter of the human Noh Gyeonghwan?

「"Give me a ride."」

Jiyoon said she had a place to go with her internet friend.

After dropping off his daughter in front of a theater in Chungmuro, Noh Gyeonghwan headed to the hospital. Because it was the day he was given a check-up.

He remembered arriving at the hospital safely and going to the reception desk. But his memories after that were sparse.

Collapsed with vertigo, what a gentleman in a bowler hat lacked him for. And… It's over now, he thought.

If only they had a little more time.

If he could talk to his daughter one last time.

'I read your favorite story too.'

It would be nice if he could say that.

「There are three ways to survive in a destroyed world.」

In the midst of his increasingly blurred consciousness, Noh Gyeonghwan wanted to believe in a fictional story.

「This is a story for only one reader.」

If there really is such a story, he wanted to ask for a miracle for him too.

"I won't kill you. I won't kill you."

The voice that came out of his throat was unfamiliar.

"I won't kill you."

—Ahjussi!

The fog in his head cleared, and Noh Gyeonghwan regained consciousness.

But his vision turned black and he couldn't see anything.

Instead, certain memories came to mind.

「He entered Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint. Did someone grant his wish at the last moment?」

He entered this world and was still alive. He was still alive and searching for his daughter.

"Run away!"

"Crazy, crazy—"

"Everyone, don't be fooled. You won't die even if you get hit by that nerd! They say he won't kill you either!"

In his messy mind, pictures gradually came to life.

The tragedy at Geumho Station.

He also remembered meeting Cheon Inho.

「Inho-ssi.」

What happened to Inho-ssi?

The only trustworthy man he met after coming to this world.

He saw him for the first time, but it doesn't seem like the first time he has seen him.

"All right. Throw it! Feed him another one!"

"Now!"

I felt like something was flying, and then he heard a pop in his ear.

[You have acquired an additional 'Star Jewel'!]

[A total of 6 star jewels have been obtained.]

[Step 6 of Madness!]

I vomited blood.

Flooding memories ran through my mind at random.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' shouts to wake up!]

Why did it have to be like this?

He just wanted his daughter back.

He would do anything to get his daughter back.

「"Can you really do anything?"」

So he gave in to temptation.

「"There is a way to find your daughter."」

The scenery of the theater that dyes his mind.

A fluttering white coat.

Representative Kim Dokja.

「"Bring the [Death Sword]. Then I will tell you where your daughter is."」

The Death Sword.

Right. He came to this dungeon to get it.

"Noh Jiyoon. Noh Jiyoon."

In a hazy memory, Noh Gyeonghwan asked Representative Kim Dokja.

「"Why did you bring me to this novel?"」

He wanted to know.

"Why did the meteorite fall? Why did my wife have to die? Why did I get cancer?"

He didn't expect an answer.

However.

「"Do you want to know?"」

The answer came back.

「"Why did a meteorite fly to your family that day? It had to be you and not someone else. Are you really curious?"」

「"Is there really a reason for my unhappiness?"」

「"If you bring the 'Sword of Death', I will tell you all the reasons."」

Representative Kim Dokja provided some equipment and skills, and even gave him the coordinates of the 'death sword'.

「"Why are you helping me?"」

「"Because there is someone who comes to mind when I see you."」

For the first time, something similar to emotion appeared on Representative Kim Dokja's face.

「"He was also a father who cared very much for his daughter."」

What that meant, Noh Gyeonghwan could not understand.

All he could know was that there was a cause for all his unhappiness.

"What, what. These bastards. Where did they come from?"

“It’s an apostle! They are apostles!"

"Ahhh!"

"White and Blue Steel! Ki, Kim Dokja?"

That someone made him suffer this way.

—Ahjussi! Calm down!

A distant voice as if coming from the other side of the universe.

"I won't kill you. I won't kill you-"

Noh Gyeonghwan thought.

I will not forgive you. If anyone has a cause that made his life this way.

"I'll kill you."

His hand held something on fire.

Quadduk.

A voice came along with the sound of his muscles bursting.

"Ahjussi."

It was a voice he knew, but he couldn't remember whose it belonged to.

"I don’t want to do this either. However."

The owner of the voice spoke while enduring the pain.

"I'll fool you just once."

His voice at that moment.

"I am."

It sounded like the first sentence of a novel.

"Noh Jiyoon."

At that moment, the vision in front of his eyes suddenly opened.

A white page appeared in the darkness where nothing could be seen.

Someone was writing a sentence on the blank page.

「There was a girl there. Small stature with a round face. Eyebrows slightly more open than others. Plump cheeks that haven’t lost all of their meat.」

The sentence soon became a person's face.

Noh Gyeonghwan reached out his hand toward the girl's face.

Jiyoon-ah.

「The daughter he loved said.」

"Pass the star jewel to me."

659 Episode 19 Reader (1)

---

I didn't plan to use [Incite] from the beginning.

If ahjussi's reason still remained, I intended to use [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] to stop him somehow.

"I won't kill you! I won't kill you!"

Dansu ahjussi, who could be seen from afar, repeated the same words as if screaming.

Even though I knew it wouldn't work, I shouted again.

"Ahjussi! Calm down!"

I managed to find the location of Dansu ahjussi using [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint], but that was it.

My [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] could see the world through that person's eyes and read their memories, but I couldn't empathize with that person.

「Is it because my understanding of him is not enough?」

A man who has lived his entire life for his daughter.

A man who lost his wife and fell ill himself.

Now I understand why the man was wearing a hospital gown at the last 'banquet'.

Perhaps that was the last appearance of Dansu ahjussi before he was possessed.

"Dansu ahjussi! I'm Cheon Inho."

I had to stop Dansu ahjussi somehow. However, ahjussi had already absorbed the five star jewels and was in the 5th stage of madness.

Aaaaaang!

The labyrinth vibrated violently. Killer King, who was watching the situation from the side, said a word.

"What great physical abilities. If you get close, you'll be crushed to the bone."

The incarnations brushed by ahjussi’s fist swung and splattered blood.

"Are you going to do it anyway?"

"I have to."

However, the road to ahjussi did not seem easy.

The reason was that the provocative fire flute I used attracted not only Dansu ahjussi but also others.

The wild beasts from all over the labyrinth are aiming for ahjussi.

Most of them were the embodiment of the Misreading association.

"It's the Misreading association."

Not all members of the union are from the 'Misreading association'.

"Kill the Misreading association."

I was about to ask if there was even a radar in the back, but something like a small hal protruded from Killer King's arm. A bow gun with a black sheen.

Even looking at it, it was an S-class item.

Shush shush.

Every time an arrow is fired, an incarnation is knocked down as it runs out in the passageway.

Given the high level of fire rate and accuracy, [Improved fire rate] and [Improved aiming power] were used.

There was no doubt that it was an item with this dwelling place.

The incarnations who were hit by the arrows that flew in rapid succession groaned and screamed.

"The second apostle."

The name of Killer King was called everywhere, as if he had already become a celebrity there.

[A small number of constellations pay attention to 'Incarnation Kang Ilhun'.]

Who would have known that extra Kang Ilhun would become this strong?

Maybe it's because he's attracted the attention of the constellations, but his expression is strangely excited.

"I'll tell you the little ones."

"Catch the second apostle first."

As if they thought the Killer King's existence was threatening, the incarnations of the Alliance started running toward it all at once.

Killer King did not panic and invoked the holy spirit.

A red mist rolls over his whole body.

I immediately recognized what the Holy Spirit was.

Great Warrior Jophiel's '503 Unit'.

When Killer King drew the bowstring, the roasted mist wrapped around the tip of the arrow as if it were alive.

"Everybody, die."

The arrow flew like a shot and caused a dust explosion when it hit the target.

The elites of the '503 Corps', who bounced in all directions like a grenade burst, pierced five or six incarnations nearby at breakneck speed and turned them into beehives.

"Uh. Aaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa!"

Frightened, several of members of the union fell.

I hate to admit it, but it was a great sight.

The way he speaks is like Kim Namwoon, but his skills are astonishing even to Yoo Joonghyuk.

Killer King nodded his head with an inexplicable smile, as if he had read my eyes.

"Go. Kim Dokja."

"I’m not."

"I believe."

I don't know what you're talking about, but it seemed like this was the only chance.

As I ran to the floor, Literature Girl 64 followed my steps.

"It's a game my brother often plays."

"I know roughly."

Just like Yoo Joonghyuk and Kim Dokja formed a duo in the main story, let's fight together.

"Then what is Yerin’s role?"

"It changes every time."

Literature Girl 64 added while blowing away one of the incarnations that rushed at her with her elegant feet.

"Isn’t it Han Sooyoung now?"

Kim Dokja, Yoo Joonghyuk, and Han Sooyoung.

Wouldn't it be nice if the people here right now were the real them?

[A constellation that has not yet revealed their modifier is watching you.]

If they had turned the impossible into possible, they would have found a way to save Dansu ahjussi.

"Yerin-ssi."

At my words, Literature Girl 64 nodded her head.

An incarnation of powerful energy could be seen right in front of Dansu ahjussi.

The brightly shining Dustman was definitely different from those of other incarnations.

"It's the king."

"I will take care of it."

[Incarnation 'Lee Seyeon' activates 'battle action mode'!]

Literature Girl 64's main skill, which is to enter a command and unfold a continuous skill, was displayed.

However, the king's actions were a little faster.

"Get out of the way everyone!"

I have to stop it somehow.

However, the passage was once again blocked by the members of the union that came from the side passage.

Killer King's support shots, which flew in from time to time, were also gradually delayed.

It was because of the appearance of long-distance power over there.

"Shoot!"

Troops of arrows holding each bow were lined up on the other side of the aisle.

I reflexively swung my sword while supplying magic power to the broken faith.

['Blade of Faith' is activated!]

I barely managed to remove the single arrows, but the destructive power of each arrow was heavy.

It seemed that there was an incarnation with specialized archery skills.

Can I break through?

It wasn't impossible if [Incite] was used.

Like when dealing with the ark of the Beggar Sect, if I borrow the power of Kyrgios, I can break through the arrows and reach Dansu ahjussi's nose at once.

The problem was then.

When I have already exhausted my strength with [Strengthen Sentence], will I still have the energy to stop Dansu ahjussi?

It was then that I got a message from the group chat in my ear.

—Ahjussi, get down.

I reflexively grabbed Literature Girl 64 by the shoulder and made her get down.

Looking back, I saw Shin Yoosung touching the ground with her palm. At the same time, portals swayed in the maze.

[Monster Gate.]

I was surprised.

Was Shin Yoosung able to open the gate at this point?

Beyond the gate, dozens of Nagaks, who had been tamed by Shin Yoosung, were creeping over.

"What, what! Where did you appear from?!"

The incarnations shot arrows toward the monsters in the air.

Not to be outdone by them, the Nagaks with their mouths wide open began to sing in chorus.

[Nagak Ensemble.]

Even that mighty strong king got thrown in the air and stuck in a stupid place by the bombardment of the pouring sonic waves.

While the surprised incarnations wandered around, Shin Yoosung's voice was heard.

—Go, ahjussi.

Light sparks flew from the body of Shin Yoosung, who was manipulating the Nagaks.

—You said he was close to you.

Shin Yoosung's golden eyes flickered. The eyes of a child who is looking at me but not looking at me at the same time.

—You must never die.

I ran while infusing [Broken Faith] with the [White and Blue Steel]. Cutting off the limbs of the incarnations with the new soldier's blade, I ran towards ahjussi.

"Okay, throw it! Feed him another one!"

But they were faster than me.

The star jewel that flew through the air reached the dust man of Dansu ahjussi. With a whimpering sound, ahjussi’s whole body began to flatten once again.

[Incarnation 'Lee Dansu' acquired 1 additional Star Jewel'!]

[A total of 6 star jewels have been acquired.]

[Incarnation 'Lee Dansu' enters 'Madness Stage 6'.]

"Yerin!"

The moment the king opened his eyes and turned around, Literature Girl 64's weave hit the boy's face.

I didn't let go of his back and arrived right in front of Dansu ahjussi's nose.

Once again, the giant Dansu let out a painful groan.

Tears flowed non-stop from the old man's eyes.

Now, just by going near Dansu ahjussi, I felt creepy.

An alarm bell rang in my head.

Was this how I felt when I first met Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st round?

I know how to feel when faced with a different species with different physical abilities.

[The overall stats of 'Incarnation Cheon Inho' have exceeded the scenario limits.]

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint is not deterred. There is no chance of winning in a head-to-head fight.]

「There is only one way left.」

I didn't want to write this way.

"I won't kill you. I won't kill you."

The old man held out his hand towards me. It was in slow motion, so I could have avoided it if I wanted to.

But I didn't escape.

So to speak, this.

"I will kill you."

It was my small atonement for Dansu ahjussi.

My one arm twisted with a groaning sound.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.9' is activated!]

[I am Yoo Joonghyuk.]

As the steel-like sensation of Yoo Joonghyuk penetrated into my brain, I was able to barely keep my senses even in the distant pain.

"Ahjussi. I don't want to do this either. But."

He looked at me as if he was really listening to me.

"I'll fool you just once."

I breathed in as hard as I could to contain the pain.

"I am."

This is a lie that shouldn't be.

Even so, this was the only way to save Dansu ahjussi.

"I am Noh Jiyoon."

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv. 9' is activated!]

At the same time, ahjussi moved a few times.

The face of the old man with black bloody tears was fixed on me.

The man who can't see anything.

Even so, at this moment, Dansu ahjussi was looking at a certain scenery.

In this world, a scenery that only you and me can see.

「There was a girl there. Small stature with a round face. Eyebrows slightly more open than others. Plump cheeks that haven’t lost all of their meat.」

Dansu ahjussi's cheek muscles moved and the corners of his mouth twitched slowly. In these spasms of subtle emotions, I read the old man's heart in it.

"Pass the star jewel to me."

In this Star Labyrinth, there are a total of two ways to steal someone else's Bell Powder.

One is to become the same group and unify 'Dustman'.

The second is to kill others to get star dust from the dust surface.

But as I guessed, those two methods are not the only ones.

If that were all, other 'kings' would not be able to throw star jewels at Dansu ahjussi.

My guess is this.

If [Dust] is made into a 'Star Jewel', the 'Star Jewel' will become tradeable!

Burrr.

The dust side of Dansu ahjussi in the air is painful.

He shuddered as if he was embarrassed, and soon he made a profit with a wok.

A piece of shiny five-colored stone.

It was a star jewel.

Ahjussi handed me a star jewel like someone would give his daughter his birthday present.

"Ji… yoon… ah."

[You have acquired 1 'Star Jewel'.]

[Entering 'Madness Stage 1'.]

The dustman that was standing above my head ate the star jewel as if it had been waiting for it.

The operation was successful.

The incarnations of the Union, who had been paying attention to the surroundings, were agitated.

If they risk their lives right now, it could be dangerous for both me and Dansu ahjussi.

But as I expected, they wouldn't move.

"Um, that bastard is going through the star jewels?"

"It's okay. Leave it alone."

"It's like he’s indulging in his own greed."

Also, I knew that.

Their goal is the 'death sword'.

It didn't matter to them who collected the 7 star jewels.

8. Every time you acquire 1 'Star Jewel', the 'Madness' value increases.

They clearly understood the 8th rule of the Star Labyrinth.

Due to the 'Madness Penalty', no one can collect '7 Star Jewels' while remaining sane in this labyrinth.

So, it would be their plan to collect 7 star jewels for the sacrificial lamb and take only the summoned death sword.

"Ha ha ha! Eat a lot!"

The ruse was noticed early on.

If this continues, I will become a madman like you.

[Entering 'Madness Stage 2'.]

Every time I acquired a star jewel, I felt my body change.

The overall concentration increased explosively, and the cohesion increased in real time. The dragon's blood vessels cut with a special sound.

[Entering 'Madness Stage 3']

There is a feeling that the volume of the brain is expanding to a size that the skull cannot handle.

But I bit my lip and held on.

I can do it.

I also have equipment with strong anti-magic abilities, and most of all, I have [Incite].

So I was confident.

Even if I fell into madness, I would be able to endure it.

Without losing my sanity, I will be able to collect 7 star jewels, summon the Death Sword, and destroy the absolute throne.

「There is no Kim Dokja in this world.」

That's why I have to.

Only I can block the aspirations of this world.

I saw Killer King and Shin Yoosung shouting at me from afar.

I smiled at them as a sign that I was okay.

[You have acquired 5 star jewels.]

[Entering Madness Stage 5.]

It was dangerous. My eyes hurt as if they would burst, and my vision was stained red.

The hold of reason in my head was weakening.

Now, Dansu ahjussi's overall ability was much weaker than before. I released 'Noh Jiyoon''s [Incite] and showed my final concentration.

What I need now is someone who can withstand this terrible madness.

There were candidates that came to mind.

Yoo Joonghyuk, Jung Heewon, Han Sooyoung, and Lee Hyunsung.

But it didn't seem like they could easily endure this madness.

Now, I needed a person with 'strong mental strength'.

And no matter how much I thought about it, there was only one such person.

A man who has loved only one story for over ten years.

Even after dying several times, he is the main character who never gave up on the ending he wanted.

"I am Kim Dokja."

This is something only Kim Dokja can do.

It was then that an unknown sentence popped up in front of me.

「At that moment, Lee Hakhyun did not know.」

A sentence that comes to mind without a chance to react. It was a phrase I had seen somewhere before.

「The fact that he will never be able to go back to the way he was before.」

The moment I intuited that something was wrong and hurriedly canceled the skill.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.9' is activated!]

I heard something breaking inside me.

660 Episode 19 Reader (2)

---

"Ahjussi! Wake up! Ahjussi!"

Shin Yoosung shook the fallen Cheon Inho. However, no matter how much she shook him, Cheon Inho did not respond.

[Incarnation 'Cheon Inho' is in 'Madness Stage 5'.]

Two times larger than before.

Dark red veins stood out all over Cheon Inho's body, with both eyes closed.

Shin Yoosung thought while suppressing her breathing.

Is he dead?

No. He didn't die. His heart is beating, and he is breathing.

It just doesn't happen.

"He’s still alive. Don't make a fuss about it."

At Killer King’s words, Shin Yoosung narrowed her eyes. Shin Yoosung's eyes blinked violently with golden light.

"Shin Yoosung."

It was Literature Girl 64 who held Shin Yoosung's shoulder.

"It's okay. Inho-ssi isn't dead. He won't die."

As if to reassure Shin Yoosung, Literature Girl 64 repeated the same words over and over again.

Literature Girl 64 confirmed that Shin Yoosung's breathing was gradually stabilizing and she glanced at Killer King.

Killer King, who took a step forward, raised the sitting Lee Dansu.

"Are you okay?"

Lee Dansu staggered and froze..

Is it because the madness state had been lifted? Lee Dansu had a face that had found reason.

He looked around with a guilty expression and asked.

"What happened to Inho-ssi?"

"All right. Not yet."

Cheon Inho, who had fallen into the 5th stage of madness, had black smoke coming out of his body.

Lee Dansu, who was blind, couldn't see the scenery, but he knew what to do from now on.

"We have to share Inho-ssi's star jewels. A person who has acquired more than two star jewels will never be able to stay sane. I can say this because I have personally experienced it."

But Killer King shook his head.

There is no time right now. There is no way.

Cheon Inho must wake up to share the star jewel. But now, Cheon Inho is in a state of fainting.

Even if Cheon Inho was awake, it was questionable whether he would be able to share a star jewel in the current situation.

Killer King counted the number of enemies encircling the front. The number of incarnations of the Alliance remaining was about thirty.

Some of them were incarnations that Killer King was familiar with.

The Assassination King was a face he had never seen before, but the other two were part of the '7 Kings of Seoul' in orv.

If there is a difference from the main story, it seems that other souls have possessed them as well.

"Illegal reading."

Despite Killer King's provocation, there was no reaction from the alliance.

They were arguing over Cheon Inho's condition.

—Why didn't he become a monster?

— Mental strength is strong and can be enhanced.

—Who is that guy?

—The constellations say 'Cheon Inho'.

— Cheon Inho, the role of the agitator in Geumho?

—Who is that? Was there ever such a strong person?

The three kings glared at Killer King at the same time.

—The opponent is second apostle. Can we get rid of him?

—The person possessed by him is 'Kang Ilhun. This incarnation’s natural talent is terrible, but the problem is Jophiel. The woman next to him is said to be the holder of the 100 Cheongganggi.

—There is also a kid who looks like Shin Yoosung. It's going to be tough.

— Shall I call the tyrant?

—If you call it, you can hunt without damage, but you don't have to go that far here. In any case, the summoning of the 'Sword of Death' has been confirmed. We just need to take it away.

As they kept quiet, Killer King opened his mouth.

"Boring. Are you done talking now?"

The three kings, startled by those words, all turned to Killer King.

Killer King said with a dark smile.

"[Translation] is a skill that seals and transmits words with magical power. A super high level like me can destroy the condensed magic."

It was a lie, of course. Killer King was not a super master of Murim, and he didn't even have that kind of sponsor.

However, the Killer King was able to vaguely guess the contents even without listening to the conversation.

It was the power of Killer King's skill, [Juron].

It won't turn out the way you think. Because Kim Dokja is strong, Kim Dokja?

"This guy is Kim Dokja."

Killer King covered Cheon Inho with his finger.

The reactions of the incarnations were different.

A golden light flickered in Shin Yoosung's eyes once again, and Lee Dansu tilted his head. Literature Girl 64 touched her forehead as if thinking it was starting again.

The kings of the union looked confused.

“That guy is Kim Dokja?"

Killer King shook his head as if they were pathetic.

"You sound stupid. If you narrow your eyes, everyone becomes narrow-eyed."

"I didn't even hear that he was blonde."

"It seems that you don’t know Kim Dokja had a blonde hair in 'Kaizenix' and 'Journey to the West.'"

The kings looked at each other as if embarrassed by Killer King's eloquence.

King Sosim belatedly refuted.

"Whatever you say, you guys are doomed. A human who falls into the 5th stage of Madness will inevitably become a monster. The blind guy earlier didn't kill people, so it took a long time to collect the star dust, but that guy will be different. He will soon kill all the incarnations around him, including you."

"Kim Dokja is a non-killer. Have you forgotten?"

"Immortal...?"

"And Kim Dokja has a [fourth wall]. It's just 'Madness'. It means you won't get hit by anything."

Killer King looked at Cheon Inho like a man who really believed in his words.

"The fourth wall is invincible. Kim Dokja, who has it, is a god, this girl is actually Han Sooyoung, and Yoo Joonghyuk is the strongest."

"What are you talking about-"

"Anyway, there's a deep secret hidden in this story that you guys don't know about."

Killer King talked nonstop and exchanged glances with Literature Girl 64.

—You must take your time.

The number on this side was a total of five, one of which was a Cheon Inho who was incapacitated.

On the other hand, there are only three kings and a number of over thirty.

If they open an all-out war with them right now, even if they win, the damage won’t be minimal.

[After a while, the entire dungeon will be engulfed in flames.]

[Explore the 'Safe Area'.]

Fortunately, time was on their side.

When the 'Safe Zone' is activated, they will be engulfed in flames and the maze will be relocated.

Belatedly noticing Killer King’s strategy, the kings hardened their complexions.

—Damn it, it was just a waste of time.

[Relocate in 5 minutes]

5 minutes left. The kings had to choose.

Are they going to take the risk and fight Killer King's party now? Or will they explore the safe area?

['Safe Area' is activated.]

The worry didn't last long.

It was because a huge 'safe zone' had appeared nearby at just the right time.

"Everyone get into the safe area!"

Two safe areas appeared.

It was a size that could accommodate both the incarnations of the union and Cheon Inho in each.

Literature Girl 64 and Shin Yoosung moved to a safe area due to lack of space with Dansu.

Killer King also dragged Cheon Inho to a safe area.

Cheon Inho, who acquired the star jewels, did not have to enter the safe area, but the decision was made considering the relocation of the labyrinth.

At least if they're together, they won't be swept away by the relocation and the party won’t be scattered.

The Assassination King, who was glaring at Killer King, asked.

"Is he really Kim Dokja?"

"Yes."

"I can't believe it at all because it's crazy."

The Assassination King shook his head in disgust, then added.

"Whether he is Kim Dokja or not, you will have no choice but to give him a star jewels."

"What?"

"Only then will all of you guys survive."

Before he could ask what that meant, the entire labyrinth was covered in flames.

[Safe Area is activated.]

[Rearrangement begins.]

The bright fire burned everything nearby.

In the place where the flames that had been burning for a while disappeared like an illusion, the power of the kings and the alliance were nowhere to be seen.

"They ran away."

Why? The union did not pursue them and chose to leave the dungeon.

It was an incomprehensible choice.

This is because if they leave the dungeon, they will lose all the 'star dust' they had.

In fact, a large amount of star dust fell where they disappeared.

Killer King looked at the fallen Cheon Inho.

Cheon Inho was still in a state where he is not in progress.

If Cheon Inho wakes up and steals the star jewels from Lee Dansu then picks up all the star dust that has fallen on the floor, he will be able to collect all 7 star jewels.

Killer King and Literature Girl 64, who exchanged glances with each other, approached to take star dust at the same time.

This was to prevent any catastrophe from happening.

[Incarnation 'Kang Ilhun' acquired 1 additional 'Star Jewel'!]

The dust man in the air hummed, and the last star jewel was born.

They finally collected all seven star jewels.

The problem is how to summon the 'death sword' with this.

An ominous feeling passed through Killer King's mind.

—Whether he is Kim Dokja or not, you will have no choice but to give him star jewels.

Killer King's [Recommendation] has been activated.

The union’s plan is to summon the 'Sword of Death' by driving 7 Star Jewels into 'one place'.

However, there was a loophole in their plan.

'How did they plan to kill the incarnation who obtained the 'Death Sword' by collecting 7 star jewels?'

"Yerin."

Since when was it?

A red meteorite fell where the stardust that had been piled up was gone.

"Flee."

Literature Girl 64 instinctively stepped back and looked at her brother's complexion.

He was Killer King who wasn't nervous even when he was fighting against a 6th grade monster. However, sweat was forming on Killer King's neck.

"It's a disaster."

Light from a red meteorite began to cover the maze.

---

When I woke up, I was being pulled into the cold deep sea.

I looked back at my previous memories.

I was in a confrontation with Dansu ahjussi and used [Incite].

I remember going there.

But why did I suddenly fall into the sea?

No, is this really the 'sea' in the first place?

I blankly looked down at my feet.

Endless depths.

There was an abyss with a black mouth open.

I could feel it instinctively.

"I shouldn’t go there…"

If I go there, I can never come back.

「However, even knowing that fact, Lee Hakhyun felt a strange curiosity.」

A strange impulse arose.

I think I want to stop being comfortable. The thought of wanting to throw everything away and go inside.

A vague expectation that the truth I was looking for would be found in that abyss.

The secret of this world that I wanted to know so much. A strange belief that every story has an ending gripped me.

The limbs that were vigorously stirred are slowly gaining strength lost.

Would it be okay?

「If I go over there.」

If I had done this, I would have worked hard enough that anyone would admit it.

So stop.

「What about other 'readers'?」

The moment I remembered that question, my mind flashed.

I reflexively raised my left hand up. Even though I knew there was nothing there, I struggled with my hands and feet like someone trying to grab something.

At that moment, something touched my fingertips.

I knew that feeling.

I suddenly got out of breath.

That's the feeling when you just put your hand on the keyboard.

The senses of a living patient, fluctuating like a freshly caught fish.

[The exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is activated!]

I grabbed that sentence as best I could.

Then the sentences began to speak.

「Kyung Sein thought…」

Kyung Sein.

The second reader I met.

ID JudgeHeewon. Complete reading 1.8 times. Among the characters, she likes Jung Heewon the most.

It was as if I could catch a glimpse of Kyung Sein's face through the intertwined typefaces.

When parting ways in Chungmuro, Kyung Sein followed Lee Hyunsung.

「Is Inho-ssi okay?」

I see you're thinking of me right now.

A corner of my heart was touched and a strange power welled up.

I can't give up here.

There are readers out there.

There is a story that has not yet been told to them.

I grabbed the sentence and held out my hand once again.

Then another sentence came into my hand this time. It was a sentence with a much sharper sense than a moment ago.

「Goo Seonah thought.」

I don't want to die.」

Goo Seonah. A reader I met in the theater dungeon.

ID strawberry1137. Completed 8 times.

「Gu Seon-ah thought. Shed too much blood.」

Kim Kyung-shik bastard. Why is there a pig there?」

Goo Seonah seemed to be in a crisis. I could see her back as she wandered through the labyrinth, bleeding.

Apparently, Kim Gyeongshik, whom he was traveling with, is dead.

Another reader died somewhere I don't know.

「Damn members of the Misreading association...」

Her voice was getting weaker and weaker.

I wanted to help.

I wanted to tell her that she shouldn't die there, that she should come to her senses. But my voice didn't come out.

「I can't die here.」

Goo Seonah's breathing slowed down. Her staggered vision shook greatly with every limp.

「The bastard must have possessed someone. I won't die until I find my son. Never...」

After saying those words, Goo Seonah sat down on the floor.

The sound of her footsteps running in the distance.

She squeezed the last of her strength and pulled out her rebar, but her fighting strength was no longer there.

The voices of people crying urgently.

Fortunately, it was not the enemies who came running.

「"—Are you okay?"」

I don't know who. But strangely, I felt a longing from the voice I heard.

I caught on to the next sentence without pause.

「Ye Hyunwoo thought.」

'It can't be okay anymore. I have to enter the dungeon.」

Ye Hyunwoo. Completed the novel 50 times.

The 7th apostle is still safe.

「You pitiful bastard. Calm down. If he is Kim Dokja, he should overcome this level.」

Killer King. Completed 100 times. This friend is still the same.

「Wake up.」

Literature Girl 64. Completed 12.8 times...

Stretching out and extending my hand, I listened to the stories of my readers.

It should have been me telling the story, but rather they were telling me the story.

However, there were also stories I had never seen before.

「"Dad…"」

I got goosebumps for a moment.

I hurriedly grabbed the sentence.

But that sentence didn't say anything to me.

I couldn't see any scenery beyond the crest.

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint didn't activate. Maybe.]

All the readers I've seen so far have been 'readers I've met'.

「"Dad."」

But at that moment, I began to see this difficult landscape.

It was impossible.

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint is activated only for the 'characters' I know and only for the 'characters' who think of me.]

That is.

「If I had met Dansu ahjussi's daughter without knowing it, and Dansu ahjussi's daughter was thinking of me right now.」

It was impossible.

However, there was one hypothesis that would make the impossible a reality.

[The exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is strongly activated!]

「"Dad."」

Before long, the owner of the voice appeared.

A gloomy landscape felt beyond the sentence. A gloomy darkness.

It was a place I had been to before.

「It was a theater.」

A theater where countless little Kim Dokjas sit and watch the screen.

Kim Dokja who is dazed, Kim Dokja who is having a good time dozing off, Kim Dokja who is grumpy.

Among such Kim Dokjas, there was the Kim Dokja I was looking for.

「Rlaerhwk37.」

Why does this person have to be here?

「"Dad."」

For what purpose should this have to happen?

As if dismissing my doubts, the little Kim Dokjas were just staring at the screen.

「The man with the bleeding from both eyes was there.」

ID wldbsdldkQk80. Read once.

Towards her own father who was engulfed in flames. Jiyoon, who became a kkoma Kim Dokja, reached out her hand.

「"Please save my father, Kim Dokja."」

661 Episode 19 Reader (3)

---

Fiction and reality are different.

Immediately after possessing Kang Ilhun, the first thing Killer King did was to change 'image' into 'text'.

[Incarnation 'Kang Ilhun' activates Observation Lv.4!]

Killer King was not conceited that he knew the future scenarios.

He calmly stored the images he observed in his mind, and transformed the stored images into sentences and converted them into information.

Read. Report. Compare.

He went on to build his own huge database.

[Signs of the fifth main scenario appear.]

The 'database' that had been built up was now warning Killer King.

"That's dangerous."

Killer King instinctively walked away from the meteor, protecting his sister.

Cracked red meteorite.

It was a meteorite that was mentioned in the main part of the book.

It is unknown whether the color and shape are exactly the same as what Kim Dokja saw. However, if you look at the cracked state and the light pouring out, there is no doubt that it contains a monster equivalent to a 'disaster'.

Even in an imminent situation, Killer King did not neglect observation.

First, a green liquid pouring from the stone.

The liquid was causing corrosion as soon as it hit the floor.

The strong acid created a cloud of steam.

Between the thick vapor, something larger than the size of a meteorite was rising.

The sound of heavy footsteps that resounded proved his presence. Immediately, Killer King put his hand into his arms and set off a flare into the darkness.

Then, two sharp blue eyes flashed from the ceiling of the pitch-black labyrinth.

It was a monster species that was about ten meters tall.

[Level 3 poisonous dragon species (lower), 'Lesser Dragon Poisoner' has appeared!]

A giant lizard whose entire body is covered in green scales.

It was a monster comparable to the 'S-class Fire Dragon'.

"Was this the operation of the members of the Misreading association?"

Killer King bit his lip secretly.

The Misreading association’s operation was simple.

First, gather seven star jewels into one person and turn them into a monster, solve a disaster in front of the monster-turned Avatar, and make them fight each other.

The assassin king who was running away said: if you don't give the star jewel to Cheon Inho, everyone will die here.

Oh oh oh!

People all over the place sat down at the poisonous ring of dragon bells.

In the past, there were more Avatars who did not escape using the 'safe area'.

"Crazy. What is that!"

"So, I told you to go out earlier, right?"

"But the star jewel—"

It seemed that they were not incarnations of the Union’s side.

"Sa, save me! Help me!"

"What is this? There was no mention of something like this in the scenario!"

Small and medium-sized groups that are neither on the union’s side nor on the apostle’s side. Among them, there were also images of kings holding brown or purple flags. [Inference] was activated in Killer King's head.

'They were always looking for an opportunity and joined the battle as soon as the alliance left.'

'They will be aiming for the star jewels, so it is impossible to join hands with them,' Killer King quickly concluded, taking a deep breath and looking around.

The modified maze was in the shape of a large clearing centered around the Lesser Dragon Poisoner.

Although there were passages at the edge of the vacant lot, they were all blocked by translucent walls.

"It’s blocked this way too! Damn it!"

Same as in the first scenario.

A 'closed scenario' that controls a certain area.

Killer King was convinced.

"A hidden Scenario will activate."

As if waiting, a dokkaebi appeared in the air with a small spark.

[This. That's really troubling. You're summoning a disaster from the stars!]

Killer King recognized the dokkaebi right away.

「It was not a low-level dokkaebi like Bihyung. Wearing a neat suit, it had two small horns on his head.」

Intermediate dokkaebi Paul.

A dokkaebi who sabotaged Kim Dokja's script from the beginning, but was eventually taken to the executive branch by Kim Dokja's scheme.

[Recently, there have been a lot of incarnations that are overly aggressive, but I never thought they'd do something like this inside a dungeon... What are you going to do if you wake up 'Material Disaster' when you can't even finish the fourth scenario?]

It was a line that was almost similar to the main story.

This means that although the type of disaster has changed, the major trend has not changed.

Paul looked around at the incarnations.

Cheon Inho, Lee Dansu, Literature Girl 64, and Shin Yoosung. Finally, Paul made eye contact with Killer King and smiled inexplicably.

[It's no fun if everyone dies, so I'll try to change the scenario at my discretion.]

<Hidden Scenario — United you die, scattered you die>

Category: Hidden

Difficulty: A

Clear Condition: Hunt the Lesser Dragon Poisoner within the time limit, or survive its attacks.

Time limit: 20 minutes

Reward: 3,000 Coins

Failure: Death

*There is a hidden piece hidden in this mission.

As expected, the scenario is the same as the main story.

Killer King sighed in relief.

It wasn't the worst yet.

The situation would have been better if it weren't for the incarnations who were fussing over there.

"Attack! If we all hit it together now, we won’t die!"

"There's no need to be scared! Kill it and share the hidden piece!"

[The king's shout boosts the morale of the Avatars!]

The Avatars burst forth and charged. One of the bravest incarnations even inserted a weapon directly into the body of the poisonous dragon.

"Look at this! This guy gets hit too-"

The upper body of the talking incarnation was blown away by a simple slap of the tail. Afterwards, the incarnations in front collapsed as if something had broken, leaving only their lower bodies intact. The incarnations in the rear screamed at the sheer horror.

"Ooh, wow!"

However, as if that was expected, there was also a group that overcame sacrifices to move ahead.

It was a group led by a king with a purple banner.

"Aim for the weak spot! Attack the eyes and nose!"

The king shouted and at the same time threw the spear imbued with magical power with all his might.

A direct attack method to attack monsters with hard shells. If the enemy wasn't an S-class monster, Killer King would also have lost out to their strategy.

Quaaaaa!

Bright green venom was flowing from the poisonous dragon’s mouth. The polearm wrapped in magical energy melted in the air.

The embarrassed king took a step back and muttered.

"Last match."

The poison that melted the spear spread radially and fell on the heads of the incarnations.

The king, covered entirely in poison, screamed and struggled. It took less than ten seconds for him to turn into green muck.

"Crazy! Run!"

The group members lost control and became a ragtag group and began to run away.

What descended before their eyes was not an enemy that they could deal with.

[A few constellations let out a small laugh!]

At that time, several incarnations found Killer King’s group as they ran away.

"There! What are you doing? Help me quickly!"

"Aren’t those guys the ones with the star jewels?"

"Star jewel! Give me the star jewels!"

If you eat star jewels, you become stronger.

As you become stronger, your survival rate increases.

Perhaps even a 'disaster' can be defeated.

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint. Their thoughts are clearly visible even without it.]

Killer King silently aimed his bowgun at them.

"Hate."

In hands without any mercy or hesitation.

Those who were hit by Killer King started running in the opposite direction again, swearing.

Killer King did not use arrows on the fleeing incarnations. This is because bait was needed to divert the attention of the poisonous species.

Killer King thought to himself as he watched the incarnations being torn apart by the poisonous dragon's claws.

This cold iron scent has protected him and his sister until now. It will probably remain the same in the future.

[A very small number of constellations hold their tongues at the cruelty of the incarnation 'Kang Ilhun'.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' frowns at incarnation of 'Kang Ilhun'.]

Even if it was heartless, there was nothing he could do about it. That 'disaster' was not an enemy that could be easily dealt with, even if one knew the scenario that would unfold in the future.

If Kim Dokja were here, he would come up with a plan.

'Kim Dokja.'

Killer King unconsciously looked at Cheon Inho, who had collapsed.

Aside from his white skin and slim figure, the man certainly looks different from Kim Dokja.

But why does this guy keep reminding him of Kim Dokja?

"I can do it."

Brilliantly swaying brown hair. A subtle glow came from Shin Yoosung’s eyes.

"Everyone, step back. I’ll handle it."

[Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' looks at the incarnation 'Shin Yoosung'.]

[Constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' looks at the incarnation 'Shin Yoosung'.]

[Constellation 'Maritime War God' looks at the incarnation 'Shin Yoosung' and tilts his head.]

[Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' looks at the incarnation 'Shin Yoosung' with suspicious eyes.]

[A few constellations doubt the possibility of the incarnation 'Shin Yoosung'.]

As the eyes of the constellations gathered one by one, faint sparks began to bounce from Shin Yoosung's whole body. Shin Yoosung frowned as if the spark was painful.

Killer King's eyes narrowed.

Killer King read the entire novel 100 times. The 100th time he simply read it with his eyes, tearing open, tasting, and chewing everything in the text.

He imagined the novel and read it with insight into the blank spaces that the author did not write. Like Yoo Joonghyuk, who lived 1863 times, he also read with the determination to share the 100th time with Kim Dokja.

[Incarnation 'Kang Ilhun' Activates 'Observation Lv.4'!]

He could tell because he was such a Killer King.

'Golden radiance of eyes.'

'Superior growth potential compared to 3rd round.'

'[Gate] that can be freely used.'

'The appearance is abnormal.'

A series of information filled the gaps in his mind. Information that was understood and information that was not understood were classified.

All of that happened in the blink of an eye, and Killer King came to a conclusion.

"What I'm talking about from now on is about a certain 'novel'."

Shin Yoosung looked back at Killer King.

Eyes flickering with faint agitation.

Killer King continued speaking without looking at Shin Yoosung.

"The main character of the novel had colleagues."

The roaring tail of a poisonous dragon flew nearby.

Killer King wrapped his arms around Cheon Inho, who was lying on the floor, and avoided it.

The tail of the poisonous dragon species began to rotate. The same pattern as the Fire Dragon species in the main story.

"Some of his colleagues were regressors."

Killer King gave a signal to his companions and started running counterclockwise, avoiding the poisonous dragon's tail.

"There were excellent swordsmen and great swordsmen. There were admirals who ruled the sea, and there were reincarnated people who could read fate."

Killer King looked behind him as he said those words.

His younger sister and Lee Dansu, who had trouble walking, were following him.

"There was also a boy who treated insects well."

Killer King raised his head calmly and finally looked at Shin Yoosung.

"There was also a girl who was good at handling animals."

Eyes with a faint sparkle.

Killer King said while looking into those eyes.

"As far as I know, the story is over."

"…"

"But why hasn't the girl left the story yet?"

Shin Yoosung didn't say anything. As if the answer was not allowed in this world.

The child simply held Cheon Inho's thin hand and repeated the same words.

"Ahjussi, wake up. Ahjussi!"

Killer King watched the scene silently, then turned her back and looked at his sister.

"Yerin. Analysis."

“It’s the same as the main story. It’s a deteriorated version of the dragon."

"Weakness."

"Because it is a poison attribute, earth attribute and fire are effective. All attacks that caused even a small amount of damage earlier were of the fire attribute."

"Goes to the fire attribute."

"Instead of inviting you, you have to get a red wreath."

"Fire resistance is also necessary."

"I have the resistance skill. My brother got the red wreath."

"For now, let’s move on to the next phase."

Shin Yoosung’s eyes widened as she watched the siblings having a quick conversation.

[Grade 5 monster 'Lesser Dragon Poisoner' prepares 'Death’s Hianhwa'.]

Poisoner, one of the poisonous dragons that had recovered its tail, roared into the air, and red flower buds began to bloom on the floor of the area.

The attack used by it in this round is Flame of the file.

On the other hand, the entire attack aircraft used by the poisonous dragon species was 'Hianhwa of Death'.

If it is similar to the development of the main story, this phase was an instant death.

Nevertheless, Killer King stepped forward without hesitation.

Shin Yoosung said as she grabbed Killer King’s wrist.

"Wait."

"I know you can kill that thing."

"…"

"But after killing that thing, will you be safe?"

Even the constellations in the sky do not dare to interfere with the early scenario.

If a miracle that is enough to defeat such a disaster is accomplished, no matter how divine Yoosoung is, she cannot be safe from the aftereffects.

Killer King silently released Shin Yoosung's hand and was about to reload his arrow.

"The main character of the novel."

A voice came out from Shin Yoosung's mouth.

Surprised, Killer King looked back.

So far, Shin Yoosung has not given any answers to his questions. Because probability did not permit that answer.

"He was always alone. Even though he had so many colleagues, he was always alone."

Cheez. A spark that bounces. Killer King looked at Shin Yoosung in silence.

He asked. Why is this story continuing? Shin Yoosung had just answered his question in her own way.

Shin Yoosung said with red eyes.

"So you can't do it alone."

Killer King nodded slowly and answered with a sigh.

"Don't worry."

Shin Yoosung knew a man who was good at making that kind of expression.

He was a shabby person compared to the terrible poisonous pain. A man so fragile that he feels as if he will fly if he gets hit with a single blow.

A lonely person fighting against the ending of a single world.

"To know the ending of this story."

Two people stood side by side next to the man.

"I am not alone."

662 Episode 19 Reader (4)

---

Ja Sungwoo had a good memory since he was young.

It was so good that he could completely remember the moment when his parents abandoned him and his younger sister in front of the orphanage when he was four years old—the snowy streets, his mother's expression, his younger sister crying, and the cold of the dawn that struck him every second.

These were memories he would like to forget if he could. Since his memories could not be erased, he decided to make them meaningless by accumulating more memories.

—You really like books. Are you going to be a writer when you grow up?

The words of the daycare teacher who was stroking his head.

—I'm just going to be a person who reads a lot of books.

He also remembered the expression the daycare teacher made right after hearing those words.

Read, read, read again.

While he was reading it like that, sometimes he would also read it to someone else.

—I have all the books.

His sister had no recollection of the time she was abandoned.

It could be because she was too young, or it could be because she was blind from a young age. Either way, Ja Sungwoo was a little jealous of his younger sister who couldn't remember what happened.

Maybe that's why he deliberately chose books that seemed boring to read to her.

—Literary magazine.

—Read it to me.

Looking back, it was his younger sister who made him read that novel.

He was reading books by his younger sister's favorite author as usual, but suddenly his younger sister said she wanted to read the author's new work.

So he looked up the author's new work on the daycare teacher's computer.

「Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint.」

It was a strange title.

The first web novel he read. He thought it was good because there was a lot of it. The more texts he reads, the more distant his childhood memories will become.

It was a novel he read with that in mind.

—Brother.

But when he came to his senses. He was reading the novel over and over again dozens of times.

—Why do you like that novel?

When his younger sister asked that question. Ja Sungwoo answered this way.

—No matter how much I read it, I don’t understand the ending.

All novels are fiction.

In other words, it is the author's lie.

Ja Sungwoo also knew.

He is not Kim Dokja. He is not even a 'fragment of Kim Dokja'. It makes no sense both probabilistically and chronologically.

Nevertheless, Ja Sungwoo often thought like that.

In fact, if there really is a 'past' that he cannot remember.

If there is a <Star Stream>, Yoo Joonghyuk, and Han Sooyoung somewhere in this universe, it is the story he forgot, the image he loved. Not his parents who abandoned him.

What is his origin? If only he existed there.

"I am Yoo Joonghyuk."

Killer King Ja Sungwoo, who suddenly opened his eyes, analyzed the situation with his cold eyes. A world that only existed in print. The fiction that existed as a lie from the author unfolded vividly before his eyes.

「The Lesser Dragon roared into the air.」

The world he dreamed of has now become a reality.

[The phase 'heat' is beginning.]

He was confident that he understood that world better than the author who wrote it.

"Finding your footing."

The Disaster episode.

It was something he had already read a hundred times.

"The monster species has changed, but the scenario content has not. There will be a hidden piece that can activate the shield when the heat phase begins."

Poisonous lesser dragon.

It was a disaster that was well within the expected range.

"It’s over there."

Literature Girl 64 Cha Yerin found a foothold.

As the group stood on the scaffolding side by side, a series of messages appeared before their eyes.

[Hidden piece is activated.]

[Numerical steps are activated.]

[If the right number of people enters the platform, 'Absolute Shield' can be activated for 10 people.]

[When the number of people below or exceeding the number is on the scaffolding, the 'Absolute Shield' does not activate.]

The foothold the group found was '5'

Killer King looked at his companions.

'It’s me, Yerin, Lee Dansu, Shin Yoosung. There are a total of five, including Cheon Inho, who fainted.'

The scaffolding soon turned green.

['Absolute Shield' can be activated.]

In the distance, he could see the Avatars struggling to find their footing. Some of them even had flower buds blooming on the ground.

"What is this-"

Even before the incarnation finished speaking, the flower buds on the floor were in full bloom.

Killer King immediately activated his shield.

[Activate Absolute Shield!]

[Level 5 poisonous dragon species, Lesser Dragon Poisoner uses 'Death’s Hianflower'.]

A bunch of wildflowers in full bloom all at once. The green spores spread in an instant, leaving no trace of the labyrinth.

Flower buds sprouted from the spore-covered skin of the incarnations, and the dragon quickly shrunk.

"Keuyeok."

The mummified incarnations passed away one by one.

The spores of the wildflowers grown as fertilizer invaded the area.

The only safe place was where Absolute Shield was activated.

[The 'Absolute Shield' is released.]

['The Hianhwa of Death' disappears.]

In the empty space where the spores disappeared, the stems of dead plants and the incarnations that became corpses rolled around.

With a single attack, all the incarnations except them died.

It was a terrifying attack, but it could be easily avoided if he knew the pattern.

It was an attack.

The problem is that the 'number stepping stone' cannot be luckily matched forever.

The subtle smile of the intermediate dokkaebi floating in the air was the evidence.

If the number step '5' does not appear again next time, a casualty among the party members will arise.

[After 1 minute, the position of the footrest will be regenerated.]

In other words, they had to see the outcome before the next 'Annihilation' began.

"Jophiel."

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' looks at his incarnation.]

"Is it still possible to sponsor relics?"

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' replies that your rank is not yet sufficient.]

"In that case, I would like to receive divine protection and support."

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' demands payment.]

"I will hand over half of the shares of 'King's Tale' that I will acquire for the first time to <Eden>."

[Constellation 'The Commander of the Red Cosmos' accepts.]

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' grants 'Valkyrie's Protection'.]

Valkyrie's protection.

[Valkyrie's protection has been temporarily activated.]

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' adds that this protection can only be used in the beginning scenarios.]

Killer King felt a faint warmth spreading throughout his body.

An unmistakable 'fire attribute' buff.

He immediately took out a bright blue bead from his chest.

"I will exchange this for 'Red Wreaths'. You can use the exchange or go through 'Dokkaebi Bag'. As soon as possible. I will pay the fee."

As he took a breather in the center of the clearing, a poisonous dragon species looked back.

[The constellation 'Commander of the Red Cosmos' accepts the incarnation's request.]

[5 items, Red Wreaths have been acquired!]

The poisonous dragon's tail, spinning brightly, swung towards them.

Killer King ran with his companions and threw the wreaths at his sister.

"Yerin!"

The key to this operation was his younger sister, Cha Yerin.

Cha Yerin immediately swallowed the wreaths. At the same time, a faint flame began to glow throughout her body.

She frowned slightly.

She ate as many as five pieces of red wreath, so his sister’s stomach must be boiling like hell.

"40 seconds," said Yerin.

This means that the limit time for dissipating heat through [fire resistance] is 40 seconds.

Killer King looked back at Lee Dansu.

"Now."

Lee Dansu, who was running on the right, nodded his head and pointed at the wall of the maze.

At the same time, black dots began to gather from somewhere around the bag.

The wheels were nothing special.

A swarm of cockroaches flew up like dust and stuck to the head of the poisonous dragon.

As if it was annoyed, the poisonous dragon sprayed radial breath into the air, and the bugs that were blocking its view melted away helplessly. The moment when the poisonous dragon snorted triumphantly and roared once again.

A white light flashed before his eyes.

The sharp claw tore off one of the poisonous dragon's eyes. It was Yerin's white and blue flag filled with the flames of a red wreath.

It was an effective blow, but it wasn't enough to defeat the dragon.

In the main story, Kim Dokja received the help of the master of Unbreakable Faith in order to defeat the disaster.

The fortress effect and stigma [Song of the Sword] were activated.

However, for Cha Yerin, there was neither 'Unbreakable Faith' nor [Song of the Sword].

'This is [Valkyrie's remorse] that I received to replace it.'

As Killer King stretched out his hand towards his sister, the effect of the blessings flowing from his body transferred to Cha Yerin.

It was the effect of [Heartless], a dedicated skill that allows them to share buffs with each other.

[Baekjeonggi, Valkyrie's Protection, and even the supernormal ability of 'Red Wreath'.]

Nevertheless, the attack power was still insufficient.

Even if it were Kim Dokja who was here, this combination alone would not be able to ward off disaster.

However, the person who was there was not Kim Dokja.

"Go, Yerin."

His younger sister, Cha Yerin, is different from Kim Dokja. Unlike Kim Dokja, who was not talented in skills, Cha Yerin was full of talent.

The mastery of the skills she learned rose quickly, and her overall ability level was higher than that of Kim Dokja.

[Incarnation 'Lee Seyeon' activates Skill 'Battle Action Mode'!]

A controller appeared in front of Killer King.

Memories of daycare came to mind. Memories of fighting with kids over the controller to play a game.

Killer King won the fight and held this controller longer than anyone else.

"Dark Spinning Breaker."

[The advanced command was successfully activated!]

Cha Yerin's claws, burning dark red, quickly fertilized the entire body of the poisonous dragon.

Quad deud deuk!

The poisonous dragon's thick carapace could not withstand Cha Yerin's attack strengthened by [Battle Action Mode].

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is amazed by the wit of the incarnations!]

[The constellation 'The Prisoner of the Golden Headband' admires the power of the incarnation 'Lee Seyeon'.]

[A few constellations are donating 500 coins to incarnation Lee Seyeon!]

Exclamations of constellations erupted from everywhere. Killer King watched his sister's actions while holding the heated controller.

Just a little more, just a little more—

And.

[The fighting action mode is canceled.]

[Overall review: Linkage score 91 points! Are you an aspiring professional gamer?]

Finally, the fighting action mode was released and Cha Yerin's movements became sluggish.

Then, the large body of the poisonous dragon species collapsed to the floor.

Joy went up his spine. He did it. His operation was successful.

However.

Purr.

The next moment, the venomous dragon species suddenly stood up and started devouring the surrounding plant corpses.

He had a feeling something was wrong.

'Why?'

Poisoner, a poisonous dragon species, should have died in the attack just now. Everything was under his calculation.

The poisonous dragon species that ate the flowers was recovering some vitality at the end of its death.

Killer King instinctively started running towards his sister.

"Yerin!"

Cha Yerin, who mustered all the magic of her body, moved once again. Although it was not as bad as when she activated [combat action mode], her claws were steadily accumulating blows to the poisonous dragon species.

However, the poisonous dragon roared into the air, not caring about the small wounds.

[Level 5 poisonous dragon species 'Lesser Dragon Poisoner' prepares 'Bamboo Dragon’s Hianhwa'.]

Red flower buds were starting to appear on the tropical floor.

"Yerin! Come back!"

Cha Yerin did not stop her attacks. With her determination to defeat the poisonous dragon species without fail, she continued her attacks while staggering.

Killer King hugged his sister's waist and fell behind her.

Cha Yerin said, struggling.

"Let go"

Now, blood poured out of Yerin’s mouth. The flame of the red wreath had burned her insides.

Cha Yerin could no longer fight.

Killer King said this even though he knew that fact.

"You can kill him in the next phase. Just be patient. There’s still a chance."

Cha Yerin, who spit something out of her mouth, fell limply in his arms. Four undigested red wreaths fell to the floor with sparking flames.

Killer King thought as he picked up the red wreath.

His sister couldn't fight, but even the poisonous dragon species was now at its limit.

All he has to do is deliver the final blow.

He could probably do it on his own.

There are still Valkyrie's relics and red wreaths.

He just has to endure it this one time.

[Numerical scaffolding is created.]

Luckily, a platform was created nearby.

Killer King immediately checked the number on the footrest.

And he froze in his place in a daze.

4.

There were no additional footholds anywhere to be seen.

Killer King looked at the faces of the remaining people. Cheon Inho was collapsed, Shin Yoosung was taking care of him, and…

"Brother."

His staggering sister shook her head. As if she knew what he was thinking.

Killer King laid Cha Yerin down and then slowly stood up.

"Oppa, please."

"It’s okay."

Killer King looked back at the poisonous dragon species.

The flower buds on the floor were increasing. The attack would begin soon.

The floor covering had not been activated yet.

What was the problem? Was it because his strategy was sloppy? Or was there a sentence he couldn't read? The number on the step is 4. And the number of people left now is 5.

'I am.'

Kim Dokja would have moved forward without hesitation.

But Killer King did not give up easily. Why? He knows even without asking.

'Because he is not Kim Dokja.'

A field of wildflowers filled the floor.

"Brother."

He wanted to become Yoo Joonghyuk, he thought like that. He wanted to become a reader. The moment he took a step forward, he thought like that.

[Numerical footpad is activated.]

The scaffolding turned green.

[You can activate 'Absolute Shield'.]

He didn't know what had happened. He was still in the scaffolding.

Nevertheless, the scaffolding was activated. That means.

[Someone other than him became Kim Dokja.]

When he raised his head, he saw the face of a blind man.

He was probably the person who was the furthest from Kim Dokja here.

A man who always wandered around looking for his daughter, and who only read 'Omniscient Reader' once.

"Don’t feel guilty."

Killer King could tell what he was thinking.

Lee Dansu had already lost his eyesight, and his body was almost destroyed. Even if he uses the 'Spirit of Elaine Forest', his body will not recover.

"I have nothing to lose now."

Killer King was unable to catch Lee Dansu, who was walking sloppily.

Lee Dansu’s choice was right.

Everyone except him were talented people who were absolutely necessary to see the end of this damned world.

With nothing to lose, it was right for him to go.

'But, if it were Kim Dokja, he might have said this.'

At that moment, a thought crossed Killer King’s mind.

His eyes gave off a dazzling light.

[Eyes of sin.]

Jophiel's Stigmata. Killer King, who measures the 'sin karma' of all incarnations, was momentarily dazed after checking Lee Dansu's soul.

A pure white soul, as if it were wearing a white coat. Killer King had never seen such a soul before.

'One thing, there might be a way for him to live!'

But Killer King couldn't immediately think of the method.

It was natural. Because it was a sentence that had not been written yet.

It was the writer's job, not the reader's, to write the next sentence.

[Stage 3 of 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' is being activated.]

So, me.

"The scenario isn’t over yet!"

I thought as I looked at the man named Dansu walking towards the poisonous dragon.

There is a way for no one to die.

But if I use this method.

[Level 5 poisonous dragon species, Lesser Dragon Poisoner, uses 'Death’s Blood'.]

Lee Dansu must die 'once'.

663 Episode 20 Reader (5)

---

Noh Gyeonghwan moved forward one step at a time. Since he couldn't see in front of him, the world's scenery was complete darkness.

Noh Gyeonghwan muttered as he stretched deeper into the darkness.

"What is the scene like now?"

He didn't ask expecting an answer. But someone answered.

—It’s a flower arrangement, ahjussi.

The sound was so distant that he couldn't tell who it belonged to.

Noh Gyeonghwan heard that voice and imagined an invisible landscape. Then, one by one, flowers bloomed in the darkness.

Red marigolds blooming everywhere.

It was the flower that would kill him.

Noh Gyeonghwan said:

"It’s beautiful."

Noh Gyeonghwan thought about his wife who died after being hit by a meteorite.

He thinks about his wife who died in the flower garden and he dies.

If his life were a novel, wouldn't this be the place where his last sentence would be written?

Novel.

Noh Gyeonghwan recalled his daughter’s favorite novel.

He wishes this was also a story. He hopes someday his daughter reads this story and laughs. He wishes he could say something like that to his daughter.

See, this dad also appears in your favorite novel.

Noh Gyeonghwan smiled bitterly.

Jiyoon was probably dead.

He would have died in this life, just like his wife did.

He thought about his daughter's last days.

How painful was it? How lonely she must have been.

Noh Gyeonghwan gathered his strength once again and took his steps. Now he will soon be able to meet his wife and daughter.

To do so, he must end the story of Lee Dansu, not the human Noh Gyeonghwan.

'I am Lee Dansu.'

The name he received in the new world. What kind of life did the original owner of this body live?

He does not know.

However, his body was now at its limits and his consciousness continued to blur. It must be because too much blood was shed.

[The power of the star gem strengthens your body!]

If there weren't one star gem left, it wouldn't have been surprising if he didn’t collapse right away in this state.

The sound of the Lesser Dragon's breathing was getting closer.

A dizzying flowery scent reached the tip of his nose.

Lee Dansu finally remembered the name of one man.

'Inho-ssi, I'm sorry.'

And that moment.

The voice became clearer.

—I see you can hear me now.

The voice that said earlier that this place was a flower garden. Lee Dansu knew the owner of that voice.

"Inho-ssi?"

I answered.

—Yes, it’s me.

Lee Dansu looked around even though he knew he was blind. The man’s voice was trembling.

"How did you wake up? You shouldn't be here. If you don't get back on the scaffolding-"

—I am safe. The important thing now is you.

"I’m done now."

The voice of someone who has already let go of life.

Lee Dansu's eyes were blind, and every part of his body was necrotic. The muscles in his limbs fell into clumps.

But the reason he wants to give up on life may not be because of his crippled body.

"Why is the world killing my family?"

I didn't know what to say.

What would Yoo Joonghyuk have said?

「"As soon as the scenario begins, there is a dead boy. Are you more unhappy? Or is the boy more unfortunate? What is the meaning of fighting over misfortune in this world?"」

What would Han Sooyoung say?

「"All misfortunes are ordinary. It looks special because it was captured in a story."」

But I couldn't talk like them.

Those words weren't what he needed.

"I don’t want to live anymore."

The reason I want Lee Dansu to live longer here is probably just my greed for liking him.

—Ahjussi.

I know. Even if he survives here, his misfortune will not go away.

He will have to endure life.

He will have to live in a world without his wife and daughter.

What does it mean to him? Can I make that meaning? How dare I do something like that?

Even though I was thinking about that, I couldn't suppress this greed.

Sitting in an unknown theater, I wanted to show the next story to readers who, like me, were hoping that the man would survive. I started writing sentences.

「What kind of person was my father?」

Lee Dansu trembled with excitement and looked up into empty space.

「My mom died after being hit by a meteorite and my dad got cancer.」

The man's lips closing again and again.

「Are we a cursed family?」

Even a man who can't see anything will hear that sentence.

"Who just said that…"

The uncle stuttered in disbelief and then he asked:

"Is it Jiyoon?"

—Yes.

"Jiyoon, is she alive?"

I hesitated to answer.

If I answer honestly, the truth will take away his last hope.

But if I tell a lie, is it a lie that can be forgiven?

I blinked slowly.

And I thought about a person's heart, not about truth or lies.

「"Please save my father, Kim Dokja."」

A daughter's wish for her father to survive. I thought of a sentence that would represent that feeling.

—Yes.

This world is the <Star Stream>.

A world created by the author, readers, and protagonist together.

A world where it is possible for dead people to come back to life, to go against time, and to be reborn as a different person.

At least in this world.

-Yes, she is alive.

This is not a lie.

—For that to happen, you must survive first.

Spores were spreading rapidly in the air. It will now take less than 30 seconds for spores to cover the entire area.

"B-but how…"

The voice of an impatient man.

I possessed the man's body as if I would jump into the ocean behind him if I calmly took a breath.

[Stage 3 of 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is strongly activated!]

The man’s eyes shone brightly. In the place where his eyes disappeared, pupils formed from clusters of light appeared.

"I can see it!"

It was my eyes.

—Run!

Ahjussi and I ran to avoid the spores. I continued running, being careful not to step on the flower buds on the floor.

—Coat!

The man picked up the coat that had fallen on the floor. It was my white coat that fell off while dodging the attack of the poisonous species earlier.

—There’s a brown bottle in my inner pocket!

The man immediately found the item I mentioned.

Sideuk Kobulo's Horn Powder.

A consumable item with a poison neutralizing effect.

—Spores ahead! Dodge to the right! Pick up a book next to it!

There was something that looked like a small booklet rolling around on the floor where I pointed. It was an item dropped by the men of the king who died earlier.

[Item 'Donguibogam Miscellaneous Soldiers' was acquired.]

The groups gathered here are probably the ones who cleared the 5-person dungeon 'Donguibogam's Field'.

[Item 'Donguibogam Bedding' was acquired.]

A total of 9 books by Donguibogam fell on the floor.

[Item 'Donguibogam'. The effect of 'incomplete version' is in effect.]

And Donguibogam is an item that activates poison resistance when you collect more than 8 pieces.

[Your body has temporarily gained the Poison Resistance ability.]

I could feel the man's breathing getting easier. But this is nothing more than buying time.

Even if 'Sideuk Kobulo's Horn Powder' and 'Donguibogam' create synergy, not even 30 trillion antibodies will be able to withstand these spores.

The man's body was turning brown after being touched by the spores.

Grrrr…

At that moment, the dragon, who sensed something unusual, also looked this way.

An additional phase is triggered when the man does not die despite its attack.

The poisonous dragon species let out a harsh cry into the air and let out its breath.

"Hey, Inho-ssi."

The man's complexion turned pale as he watched his breath fall like acid rain.

I reassured the man.

—It's okay. Run, hurry!

"Can I continue living?"

—We must meet Jiyoon again!

The man gasped without answering. That short silence was telling me.

Ahjussi already knows everything.

"Even if I survive, I will continue to be a burden to Inho-ssi."

A burden. Lee Dansu thought of himself that way.

—Ahjussi.

Killer King looked at him with [eyes of sin].

It is said that Lee Dansu had a pure white soul, as if he were wearing a white coat.

I could read the footsteps of the pure white soul.

「"Could you please tell me how to catch bugs?"」

A person who has completed 'Proof of Worth' by killing bugs on the subway.

「"Do you really have to kill others?"」

Lee Dansu, alone, defended his beliefs in a scenario where everyone was killing each other.

「"I won’t kill you. I won’t kill you."」

A person who ate the 'star jewel' and became a monster, but did not kill anyone in the end.

—None of us lived like you.

In this world, one person's life soon becomes a story.

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' looks at incarnation 'Lee Dansu'.]

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' watches incarnation 'Lee Dansu'.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' supports the history of incarnation 'Lee Dansu'.]

However, in order to prove the story, a 'qualification' is needed.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' nods.]

A 'qualification' to prove that ahjussi’s story is worth recording.

That qualification was rolling around on the floor.

—Run! Pick it up! Hurry!

With my shout, the man picked up the 'brown flag' that had fallen on the floor.

A soft light shone all over Lee Dansu’s whole body.

[Incarnation 'Lee Dansu' took the 'brown flag'.]

[The King's Road begins!]

Acidic liquid fell from the air and poured down on the man's head. An attack that cannot be neutralized even with 'Donguibogam' or 'Sideuk Kobulo's Horn Powder'.

[The shield is activated by the effect of the 'brown flag'.]

A shield stretched out in the air blocked the acid breath.

I quickly looked around.

A total of eight flags fell to the ground. They were all dropped by dead kings.

In order to complete 'King’s Path' in this world line, we must achieve the 'Black Flag'.

—Pick it all up!

Every time a new flag is picked up, the color of the man's flag starts to change.

Dark brown, heat purple, purple, dark purple, and-

The man's body, caught on a stone, rolled on the floor. The sound of a flower bud bursting as it is crushed. The thick spores began to stick to the man's entire body.

"Ah."

Flowers grew on the man's skin. The wildflowers were blooming continuously, giving off a strong scent. The man’s magic began to disappear rapidly.

[Incarnation 'Lee Dansu' achieved the 'Black Flag'.]

The sound of breathing coming slowly.

I could feel the man’s fear.

Now even ahjussi knew.

What will happen from now on?

And what was my plan?

[The key conditions for 'The King's Road' are unlocked.]

I don't know whether this operation will succeed or not.

"Thank you."

The man covered in red petals smiled as if he knew how I felt.

「This is a path that only Lee Dansu can take in this world. And for this method to succeed, ahjussi must die once.」

Death.

I don't know what that is. Maybe I don't even want to know.

Is that something that can be 'experienced'? What happens after you go through that?

—Ahjussi, don't worry.

No one knows that except Kim Dokja.

—I will be with you.

We will soon find out.

"Friend."

With the man's last words, my vision darkened completely.

A pitch-black void has arrived. A phrase with nothing written in it.

I called ahjussi over and over again. But Lee Dansu had no answer.

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint has an abnormal reaction!]

Am I alive now or am I dead?

If it's none of the two.

Am I just looking at a huge wall?

I fumbled along the endless wall, searching like a madman for print that I could read.

And the next moment.

Black. With that feeling, the darkness sucked me in. The surroundings became brighter. I was in the labyrinth again.

[A new king was born.]

[You made a decisive contribution to the birth of a new king.]

[The <Star Stream> reassesses your story.]

[A new 'loss' is recorded on the 'Final Wall'.]

A dazzling light was shining through the fluttering red flower petals.

Inside, the body of Lee Dansu was being reconstructed.

「Now, it was the moment when a new 'King of No Killing' was born.」

664 Episode 20 Reader (6)

---

The King of No Killing.

In the original work, only Kim Dokja and Selena Kim had this characteristic of a 'king'.

「Dansu ahjussi became the 'King of No Killing'.」

Dansu ahjussi has the characteristics that Kim Dokja had in the original work.

I was extremely happy for ahjussi’s survival, but at the same time, I felt empty and lonely.

What is Kim Dokja doing now?

Is he standing in that snowy field?

Or somewhere I don't know, still reading this story?

If he looks at this story now, what will he say?

"Wake up! It's not over yet!"

The man who was awoken by Killer King's cry opened his eyes.

Killer King suddenly ran over, hugged the man's waist and rolled over.

With a loud noise, the sole of the venomous dragon's foot hit the spot where the man was and crushed it.

"Hey, Inho-ssi! Where are you, Inho-ssi-"

The man looked for me, but I couldn’t answer.

[First-person perspective cannot be activated on this character.]

Perhaps because of the septum from before, it was now impossible to transfer to the man. From now on, Dansu ahjussi must overcome this alone.

"Cheon Inho hasn’t woken up yet. We have to figure it out ourselves."

No, not alone.

Because there are now three complete readers of Kim Dokja’s story.

As if representing my thoughts, Killer King looked around at his companions and opened his mouth.

"We are not Kim Dokja, but we at least have one of Kim Dokja’s attributes."

Killer King added as he glanced at his younger sister and Dansu ahjussi.

"Yerin is [Baekcheonganggi]. You are the [Immortal King]. I have Kim Dokja’s cool-headedness and intelligence."

The last one was a bit strange, but Killer King is definitely the only one I can trust now.

"You can still do it."

The condition of the group was a mess.

Cha Yerin, who had vomited blood several times, could barely stand, and Lee Dansu, who had just been revived, was still unable to come to his senses.

Still, they didn't give up.

"That monster has already recovered a lot of its stamina."

After catching her breath, Yerin opened her mouth.

Could it be that eating the petals of the marigold flower earlier had an effect? The condition of toxicosis, which seemed like she would die soon, had improved considerably.

[After 1 minute, the position of the footrest will be regenerated]

Yerin bit her lip as if she was angry.

"It’s hard for us alone."

Lee Dansu cannot run in one direction, and Cha Yerin can no longer use the [Battle action mode].

Now the only person I can trust is Killer King.

However, Killer King's stamina was also greatly reduced, and he did not have enough strength to finish the fight properly.

"No, there is still a chance."

I also had the same thoughts as Killer King. There is still one more chance left for the party.

The evidence from before was the intermittent vibrations beneath my feet.

The poisonous dragon species that was glaring at my companions also looked around with wary eyes, as if they had noticed it.

The vibration echoed once again.

Then, with a sound as if the edge of the maze was collapsing, a monster reminiscent of a black bull appeared.

[The 6th grade guardian species, 'Labyrinth Sentinel', has appeared!]

The monster with the face of a minotaur and a huge execution axe in one hand was the very monster that Bang Cheolsoo had warned us about before entering the labyrinth.

Judging by the energy it gives off, it is a monster that ranks high among level 6 monsters.

Any number of incarnations would be cut in two just by being touched by that axe.

It was obvious why it had been called here.

'The full flute of provocation'.

An item that provokes all types of monsters.

The grass flute I used earlier even summoned the watchman of the labyrinth at the edge of the maze.

Goooooooo!

The Labyrinth Sentinel let out a harsh roar and broke through the barrier of the closed area.

[6th grade Guardian Bell, 'Labyrinth Sentinel' has recognized the disaster!]

[5th grade poisonous dragon species, 'Lesser Dragon Poisoner' recognized 'Labyrinth Sentinel'.]

The eyes of the two monsters became intertwined in the air.

One side is a fresh grade 6 type. And on the other side a grade 5, that has a deep wound.

In the moment of tension, it was the labyrinth sentinel who rushed in first.

The huge execution ax dug into the poisonous dragon's wing scales, and at the same time, the poisonous dragon's elongated neck bit into the watchman's forearm.

Coo coo coo coo!

The two monsters grabbed each other and rolled around in a cloud of dust.

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' is curious about the clash between the monsters.]

[A few constellations are amazed at your wit that made the war happen.]

[Some constellations who like monsters' wills sponsor you with 500 coins.]

Killer King said in a heavy voice.

"It bought us some time. But the dragon will win in the end."

In fact, the monsters' grappling was quickly gaining momentum.

The entire body of the labyrinth sentinel, who seemed to have an advantage at first glance, was instantly covered in the claw marks of the poisonous dragon species, and soon after, green fluid oozed from the wounds.

The poison of the poisonous dragon species began to eat away at the sentinel's entire body.

"The 'Annihilation' will be activated soon."

Even if the Labyrinth Sentinel holds out, the annihilation will activate after one minute.

In other words, the party must somehow take advantage of this opportunity to defeat the disaster.

Magical power began to gather in Killer King's bowgun.

The supernormal abilities of 'Valkyrie's Protection' and 'Red Wreath' were fused, and the tip of the arrowhead gave off a red glow.

"All you have to do is hit this one shot."

The three began to approach while the two monster species were fighting.

Their goal is to finish off both monsters with low health at the same time.

And I was watching everything from behind their backs, unable to do anything.

I want to see you a little more.

Even if I can't help their fight, I want to continue to see it, if only to watch it from afar.

「Perhaps Kim Dokja also looks at the world with this feeling.」

But now I had little time left.

The time limit for '3rd person observer view' is approaching.

My body convulsed as I lay on the floor.

A body that has ingested six star gems and is barely able to suppress its transformation into a monster.

When [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] is over, I will be swept up in [madness] again.

Even if the dragon dies and the sentinel dies, the fight will not end.

This fight will only end when someone collects the '7 Star Jewels'.

"Ahjussi."

I looked back for a moment. Shin Yoosung was talking as if she could see my soul.

"Can I help you?"

The golden glow flowing through Shin Yoosung's eyes.

[Incarnation 'Shin Yoosung' is activating 'multi-species communication'.]

"Say it, ahjussi."

Shin Yoosung's small hand was on my chest. Shin Yoosung's intentions were being conveyed to me through a faint light.

"If you say one word, I will kill them all."

Now I know too.

Shin Yusung can really do that. Because, [now this 'Shin Yoosung' does not exist in this world line.]

Shin Yoosung, who has now been possessed in the 41st round, is the Shin Yoosung from <Kim Dokja Company> that I know.

But why is 'Shin Yoosung' trying to help me?

'No.'

Shin Yoosung's body trembled.

"Why? Aren't they important to you?"

'I don't want to see you die here.'

I remember every sentence of this story. I know better than anyone else what kind of place the <Star Stream> is and what the aftereffects of probability are.

In the novel, Kim Dokja goes against probability several times and withstands the odds.

But even after Kim Dokja did such a ridiculous thing, he was able to survive.

The reason he did it was because he was the main character.

「If Shin Yoosung uses her power now, Shin Yoosung will definitely disappear.」

'Please take out the pills in your pocket.'

Shin Yoosung took out a golden pill from her pocket.

It was a medicinal herb obtained as a reward after defeating Yongdu Ark at Seoul Station.

"Would you like me to feed you?"

Shin Yoosung crushed the pills with her small hands and put them in my mouth.

Let the pharmacological action of the hwandan occur. My dull face became a little brighter.

My body is now at its limit.

Even if it was this, it was impossible to suddenly improve my state.

But it might give me some energy.

Shin Yoosung asked with a trembling voice.

"Ahjussi. We're not going to fight, right? You can't do it in this state. Your body is already gone."

Then, a sound was heard and the labyrinth sentinel was seen falling in the center of the clearing.

The battle between the monsters is over and the winner has been decided.

The poisonous dragon that bit off the sentinel's body roared into the air.

[Level 5 special species, 'Lesser Dragon Poisoner' prepares to attack!]

And the group moved.

Cha Yerin, who had squeezed out the last of her magical power, cut the Poisoner's ankles with [White Blue Steel].

Lee Dansu who activated [Taming] cleared the cockroaches and disrupted the special attack's vision once again.

Killer King aimed his bowgun at the Lesser Dragon, who lost its balance and collapsed.

"Finish."

Red Wreath and an arrow wrapped with the Valkyries' supernormal abilities. At the tip of the arrowhead was the 503rd unit that Jophiel was proud of.

An arrow fired leaving a red solid line.

As if waiting for the attack, the poisonous dragon's head was tilted at a strange angle.

Killer King expected even that.

"Scatter away."

The arrowhead exploded right in front of the dragon's head, and the 503rd unit dispersed.

Unit 503, which was fired like a grenade, dug into the dragon's wounds with fire-attribute energy.

Push shoo shoo shoot!

Drops of green blood burst out like a fountain from the dragon's entire body. The poisonous dragon let out a painful cry.

However, even after receiving the attack, the poisonous dragon did not fall down.

"...Was it not enough?"

I realized how amazing Kim Dokja was when he caught the lesser dragon. Kim Dokja hunted it alone, a disaster that could not be caught even if all of them gathered together.

"Everyone get back!"

As the breath poured out from the poisonous dragon, Killer King also vomited blood from his mouth. Undigested red wreaths littered the floor.

[The 5th level poisonous dragon, 'Lesser Dragon Poisoner' activates 'Death's Blood'!]

"Find the rash! Quick!"

Flowers began to bloom on the floor.

A hint of despair flashed in Killer King's eyes.

Even if they survived this turn, there was no chance for the party to win now.

Even Dansu ahjussi's characteristics, Cha Yerin's [Battle Action Mode], and Killer King's stigmata cannot kill that disaster.

However.

「"Hakhyun."」

I might be able to do it.

「"No matter what, this time tell me a happy story."」

Kim Dokja said so.

A story that makes me happy.

What do I want to talk about?

「"Well done, Heewon."」

Is that a story for the 'extras' who were ignored in the main story?

「"Someone died. Someone died because of this story."」

Or is it a story about as many people as possible surviving?

「"I will prevent the destruction of this world."」

Or, is it a story that does not destroy the 41st turn?

「"Are you really Cheon Inho?"」

I don't know.

Why and for whom am I continuing to tell this story?

「"Why did you decide to write a novel?"」

Someone's voice suddenly came to mind.

That wasn't my memory.

A memory that seems to have flowed from a source older than me.

In that memory, Han Sooyoung was speaking.

「"I don't know. I'll know when I'm done."」

I slowly opened my fist.

Shin Yoosung realized what I was trying to do and grabbed my wrist.

"Ahjussi, stop. Right now…"

With the sound of tsk tsk tsk, the golden light in Shin Yoosung's eyes went out.

In the end, the <Star Stream> intervened. It was expected.

It was unusual that a strong being like Shin Yoosung intervened in the early part of the scenario in the form of 'possession'.

I muttered to myself towards the fallen Shin Yoosung.

'Thank you.'

Shin Yoosung did her job well enough.

From now on, it was up to me.

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.9' is activated!]

'Wake up, Cheon Inho.'

Currently, I have activated [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint]. Although I am chained in a soul state, it is possible to use some skills.

Tsutsutsu.

My body stretched out—Cheon Inho's fingers twitched.

'Wake up. Right now.'

[Incite is a skill that moves the target's unconsciousness.]

In that case, my body may be able to move even without my consciousness.

[The power of the 'star jewel' erodes your body.]

[' Monsterization' occurs.]

['Stage 6 of Madness' is encroaching on you.]

Because my soul was outside my body, I was able to move my body without being affected by [Madness].

Cheon Inho's body staggered and he stood up. However, Cheon Inho did not take a step straight away. It was as if it was resisting my will.

The pure power of [Incite] alone was not enough. So I decided to do what I always do.

[The sub-skill, 'Sentence Enhancement' is activated!]

[The actions you enter will be reinforced.]

[The current enhancement level is level 1.]

[You can increase the reinforcement level by investing stock probability.]

[Current probability: 480.]

Writing sentences.

「Cheon Inho stood up from the floor.」

[10 probability is consumed.]

「The power of 'six star jewels' rose from Cheon Inho's whole body.」

[10 probability is consumed.]

「Cheon Inho began to stagger and move.」

Every time I added a single sentence, my head felt like it was going to explode.

I don't know how long the [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] state can continue. So I had to get the job done before my body woke up and before I fully regained consciousness.

「Only, Cheon Inho's body was falling apart little by little as he ran with the goal of killing the poisonous dragon species. Signs of becoming a monster appeared and muscles exploded in various places.」

I heard people around me shouting when they found me.

I ignored it and kept moving.

「Cheon Inho risked his life.」

What happens to a soul that loses a body to return to?

Maybe I, too, will go to that theater like other readers.

Or, it may literally become infuriating.

I was scared, but not as scared as I used to be. It may be because I had a glimpse of 'death' with Lee Dansu.

I could see the group finding a foothold in the distance.

A man wearing a white coat was shouting at me.

Ahjussi was not Kim Dokja.

Killer King too. Cha Yerin was also not Kim Dokja.

But if they all work together, they will be able to do what Kim Dokja can do.

They will be able to do things that I cannot do.

「They will see the end of this world.」

My body, which had broken through the rushing breath of the poisonous dragon head on, threw out its fist.

The mighty power of 6 star jewels burrowed into the poisonous dragon's chest.

「Cheon Inho thought.」

I knew it instinctively. Now I only have one sentence to write. Probability cannot bear any more sentences.

And the words to use were already decided.

「It's over.」

A probability that you risk your life for.

If this is the case, the <Star Stream> will be satisfied with the story.

[The constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' sighs.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' cries out!]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' cannot take his eyes off you!]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' turns his gaze.]

[Many constellations are truly surprised by your choice.]

If I go back to the snowy field, will I be able to tell Kim Dokja?

「It's over.」

This is him in my story.

「The end.」

For a moment, it felt like time stopped. The surrounding scenery was turning colorless. And.

「The end.」

I closed my eyes.

「It's not the end.」

Something strange was happening.

Someone in front of my eyes.

「It's not the end.」

…was correcting my sentences.

I looked at that sentence and repeated it blankly.

It's not the end.

[Someone edited your sentence.]

[Someone shares your probability.]

Only then did I realize what had happened.

「"But, author. I know this is a meta novel."」

A memory came to mind amidst the throbbing headache.

「"Do readers really want to become Kim Dokja? Isn't that just the writer's greed as a 'writer'?"」

In that memory, she was looking at the manuscript I had written.

「"So, my opinion as a reader."」

Maybe someone who understands this story better than me.

「"As expected, Kim Dokja must be revived."」

My editor.

「"The Kim Dokja we know."」

['Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' is unlocked.]

With terrible pain, my soul was sucked back into Cheon Inho's body.

My heart was beating rapidly, and my mind, swept away by the effects of [madness], swayed precariously like a sailboat on the waves.

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' looks to you.]

With deep breathing, the terrible pain subsided little by little. Someone was alleviating my pain.

Who is it? I can't see their face.

"Author."

However, someone was holding me in their arms and talking. I heard that voice in my consciousness that was gradually becoming distant.

"Write again."

Yes, I will. I answered.

665 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (1)

---

「"Why is Joonghyuk-ssi so harsh to Anna?"」

Lee Seolhwa asked in passing. It was a question that normally would not be asked. Because she knows very well how much Yoo Joonghyuk hates Anna Croft.

Still, she wanted to ask today.

Maybe it's because tomorrow is the final battle of the 'Holy Demon War'.

After tomorrow, Yoo Joonghyuk might be alone again.

"How about getting along with Anna?"

"She betrayed me."

"It was in an old round."

"She took over the memories from the last rounds."

"Didn't she just receive memories? Anna in this round didn't experience it herself."

The 'Anna Croft' of this round was not the 'Anna Croft' of the last round.

She just read the memories of the last rounds as if she were reading a novel.

Is it right for Anna Croft to receive the wrath of Yoo Joonghyuk?

"She went through the last round."

Lee Seolhwa closed her mouth for a moment.

Normally, the conversation would have stopped at this point. No matter what anyone says, Yoo Joonghyuk was a part time of 'regression'.

"In the last round, was it really Yoo Joonghyuk? This Yoo Joonghyuk is different from 'Yoo Joonghyuk' of the last round. Lee Seolhwa' from the previous round is different, just as this round's story is different."

Every human being is defined by the world around him.

Whether it's the 1,600th or 1,700th, he was still called 'Yoo Joonghyuk', but the meaning behind that name changed every time.

She was surprised.

This is because the people in rounds 1,600 and 1,700 are different people.

People with different memories, different experiences, and different times spent with them.

Because the world around him has changed, Yoo Joonghyuk is also a different person from the last round.

That is what Lee Seolhwa meant. Now let's get away from the past. Stop now and release the curse you have placed on yourself.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked up at the sky without answering. Lee Seolhwa also looked at the sky with him.

The deep and distant <Star Stream>.

A world where everything under the sky becomes a story.

When she glanced at Yoo Joonghyuk's profile, he seemed lonely, sad, and maybe he understood everything.

He is a man who has lived one story for a very long time.

At that moment, Lee Seolhwa realized.

Yoo Joonghyuk is the only force; everything else is just a phenomenon.

Lee Seolhwa, Lee Hyunsung, and Lee Jihye. All of his other companions are nothing more than one line of sentences written and erased in this repeated story.

"Before and even now, I am 'Yoo Joonghyuk'."

Hearing Yoo Joonghyuk's words, Lee Seolhwa opened her mouth slightly.

His name is not his own.

Because someone calls him Yoo Joonghyuk, he becomes Yoo Joonghyuk.

"It will continue to be Yoo Joonghyuk in the future."

Calling his own name.

It was about remembering the people who called his name.

In order not to leave the people he met as phenomena, to remember the meaning in that name.

[The story of eternal immortality is dreaming.]

And unfortunately, by saying that name, he will once again become the protagonist of the story.

A light was shining in the distance. Beyond the beam of light that erased the pitch-black night, Seongyun's army was approaching.

Lee Seolhwa watched the scene and asked.

"Are you going to come look for me in the next round?"

Yoo Joonghyuk silently searched the wind speed and took out the attack and defense unit.

The weapon left behind by his teacher. It was an item that had never been used in this round.

Yoo Joonghyuk held the end of a gombangdae in his mouth and let out his words as if smoking light smoke.

"Of course."

---

Tyrant King Jung Yonghu is a member of the Misreading association.

His hard disk contained dozens of fantasy novels, and the novels he had collected were the very history of his illegal activities.

He shared and re-shared files without any guilt.

Of course, there were times when he also bought books. He wanted to produce text by scanning or typing.

He knew that his actions violated copyright law. But he doesn't know anything about copyright law. After all, he was the one who purchased the book, so he is entitled to use its contents.

He thought so.

[Activates the exclusive skill 'Illegal Library'.]

His long history of illegal activities greatly helped him survive in this world.

There were thousands of fantasy novels in his head, and 'Ways of Survival', which was the basis of this world, was a world like a compilation of fantasy clichés. Whenever something happened, he took out the novels he had read illegally and reviewed them, and as a result, he was more knowledgeable than anyone else. He quickly achieved the qualifications to be a king and was crowned one of the 'Seven Kings of Seoul'.

"Is everyone gathered?"

The black flag fluttering behind his back proved his qualifications.

Jung Yonghu slowly turned his gaze and looked at the National Palace Museum.

Inside there lies the fatal accident site they were looking for.

"Why don’t you wait a little longer and go in? Are you planning to rush in now?"

The King of Assassins next to him let out a voice filled with concern.

"We still don’t know how the situation inside has developed. Since the 'disaster' has been unleashed, it must have become hell. We should send a scouting party to find out the situation inside first."

"Everyone would be dead. Unless Kim Dokja is inside."

Kim Dokja.

After hearing those words, the King of Assassins made an uneasy expression.

"That’s true, but wouldn’t it be a good idea to check anyway?"

"The 'fight for the throne' will soon begin."

Battle for the throne.

The main event of the fourth scenario, fighting for the only absolute throne on the Korean Peninsula.

<Qualifications for King>

1. 「The owner of the throne should be braver than anyone else.」

—The throne never wants a weak king. To challenge for the throne, you must be a king who possesses at least a [Black Flag].

2. 「He who dreams of the throne is also qualified for that desire.」

—There is a certain number of 'kings' who can challenge the absolute throne. To win the challenge, you must eliminate other kings around you.

The number of remaining kings was not yet indicated, but the number had been reduced in advance so there was nothing to worry about.

"Eliminate them all before the last condition opens. It would be better if you can also get the 'Death Sword'."

Just as they were preparing to rush in. A messenger shouted urgently.

"A group is approaching."

Along with the report, a group of incarnations were seen approaching from the opposite direction.

Chungmuro Group.

It was a group led by the Seventh Apostle Ye Hyunwoo and the military commander Gong Pildu.

One of the most powerful forces at the moment, possessing the 'black flag', but the king of their side seemed completely unconcerned.

"He looks confident."

"Of course. There is no problem with at least one of the seven apostles."

A powerful wave of magical energy pulsated from the tyrant king's entire body.

"Because I am not the 'tyrant king' of the original."

If you think about it, the Tyrant King in the original was a king who used the 'prophets' to gain power.

A powerful incarnation that uses the prophets as its background castle and uses the S-class item 'Three Rings' as his main weapon.

But now he had knowledge not of Ways of Survival, but of Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

From the beginning, he acquired all kinds of hidden items and absorbed elixirs to increase his polymerization ability.

"Even if the third round's Yoo Joonghyuk is empty, I am confident that I can kill him."

It was possible for him now. Even if that 'Supreme King' appears, he won't be able to defeat him now.

As if representing his confidence, a tradition struck from the distant sky.

The tyrant king looked at the sky and dressed in triumph.

"It looks like <Star Stream> also knows who the strongest king is."

It sounded like an obvious villain's line. Maybe it was because he had read too many fantasy novels. The Tyrant King smiled bitterly. Once again, it was traditional. Lightning struck the ground intermittently. Even between the lightning strikes, something black was flying towards them.

What?

The Tyrant King frowned and held his weapon, and the shield soldiers guarding around him stepped forward.

The first to sense something strange was the Assassin King.

"That…"

When the Tyrant King turned around, the Assassin King, whose complexion had turned white, was already running away.

The moment the Tyrant King was about to shout something at the Assassin King, a black lightning bolt fell on their heads.

Jung Yonghu wielded a three-wheeled ring and released his magical power.

"This is it-"

There's just no way he could get hit by lightning. He was the Tyrant King Jung Yonghu.

"This is it-"

But something was strange. The moment he was struck by lightning, his three-wheeled ring was broken. It wasn't just the three-wheeled rings. Arms, legs. To be exact, everything in his body was falling apart.

"What is this-"

Leaving behind the final lines of a mass-produced villain, his soul was erased in a black lightning strike. Along with the fantasy novels he collected illegally.

As the thick dust settled, a landscape as if a meteorite had fallen unfolded.

The only thing that existed inside the deep crater was a man holding a pitch-black spear and looking vaguely at the sky.

The man swung it around as if testing his new acquisition and muttered.

"I felt like I felt energy from here. Was it an illusion?"

Then the little girl hanging on his back came down to the floor and asked.

"Brother. Who are you looking for?"

"There is such a guy."

The man carrying the girl on his shoulders again jumped lightly to the top of the crater.

Now, the incarnations nearby cried out in astonishment.

Ye Hyunwoo, who was at the head of the incarnations, muttered.

"Yoo Joonghyuk?"

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at Ye Hyunwoo.

Looking at those cool eyes, Ye Hyunwoo quickly raised both of his hands.

"I didn’t come here to fight."

Yoo Joonghyuk glanced at Ye Hyunwoo for a moment as if he was not interested, and then went to the collapsed building.

He looked towards the 'Palace Museum'.

"The scenario has changed again. Why did the museum collapse?"

"Who’s in there?"

Ye Hyunwoo, who was smiling, nodded his head.

"Is it Cheon Inho?"

Ye Hyunwoo didn’t know what to answer.

Now, there were quite a few powerful people inside the museum.

Moreover, if it was 'Cheon Inho', there was no need to worry much about whoever the opponent was.

That was until he saw Yoo Joonghyuk in front of him.

'It doesn't make sense.'

He was surprised when he saw it before, but not to this extent.

It was only 41 times.

It wasn't even 1,863 rounds, it was 41 rounds, which is the early part of the regressions.

But what on earth is this strength?

Ye Hyunwoo thought, salivating at his enthusiasm that made his neck feel like it would fly off just by getting close to him.

'If Yoo Joonghyuk is targeting other 'kings'…'

The second qualifications for the king had already been announced.

Yoo Joonghyuk will reduce the number of kings.

If he is moving to win, it could be dangerous to reveal Cheon Inho's whereabouts.

When Ye Hyunwoo didn't answer for a long time, Yoo Joonghyuk's eyebrows twitched.

The moment when the angle of the spear he was holding slowly changed.

[Hmm, I didn't know that the number of kings had already decreased so much.]

Tsutsutsu-

A dokkaebi appeared in the air making a sound.

[I guess it's time to start the final task.]

'Paul', a mid-level dokkaebi who appeared at the right time, announced the final task.

<Qualifications for King>

3. 「Therefore, the only king is the one who stands alone without anyone's help.」

—A king who can challenge the absolute throne must be able to prove his strength with only his body.

[Qualifications of the Last King begins.]

[Qualified kings move to the final battlefield's location.]

Finally, it was time to determine the owner of the throne.

666 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (2)

---

[You have hunted a 'Disaster' for the first time in the scenario.]

[You have achieved something no one else has achieved.]

[Payment of compensation related to the scenario is being delayed.]

[Payment of core rewards is determined based on contribution.]

[10,000 coins were obtained.]

Killer King, Cha Yerin, Lee Dansu, and the others looked blankly at the messages pouring out of the air.

[The reward for defeating 'Labyrinth Sentinel' has been obtained.]

[You have won 10,000 coins.]

[You have achieved a non-existent achievement!]

[Many constellations admire your achievements!]

[Someone recommended your story to the <Star Stream>]

In only the fourth scenario, they achieved the feat of defeating both level 5 and level 6 species.

Each person's contribution was different, but the reward was greater than any other scenario so far.

But no one in the group was happy about that.

"What is Cheon Inho’s condition?"

"Not good."

Yerin, who had taken a look at Cheon Inho, shook her head.

Killer King looked down at Cheon Inho, who was still unconscious, and saw the poisonous dragon species fall.

He recalled the last moments.

"If it weren’t for this guy, everyone would have died."

He could never have imagined that Cheon Inho would appear there. With a body that didn't even seem to have regained consciousness, Cheon Inho ran straight towards the dragon and ripped out its heart.

If it weren't for the woman who is taking care of Cheon Inho on the floor right now, Cheon Inho would have died.

Cheon Inho's face, poisoned by the poison of the poisonous dragon species, was the color of earth.

"Do you have any medicine?"

In order to neutralize Cheon Inho's poison, the party shook out all the elixirs they had. Although it was not a summoning level elixir, it was still a high quality medicine.

In addition, the core of the 'venomous dragon species' that just died.

The woman gathered her medicinal herbs, poured them into Cheon Inho's mouth, and cast a strange spell.

After a while, something like a small gold frame appeared on Cheon Inho's head, and his complexion began to improve.

Killer King asked.

"Do you know Cheon Inho?"

"Yes."

"Right."

The woman who suddenly appeared was not only the person who saved Cheon Inho, but said that she knew Cheon Inho.

Even though the situation was sufficiently strange to raise suspicion, Killer King did not bother to question it.

Because there were more urgent problems than that right now.

[The final king's qualifications will soon begin.]

Qualifications of the last king.

The main stage of 'Battle for the Throne' was finally upon them.

"We need the Death Sword."

'Death Sword' that can only be obtained by collecting seven star jewels.

Coincidentally, all seven jewels were gathered here now.

The problem is that, unlike the original story, the person who collects seven jewels is swept away by [madness] and becomes a monster.

Cha Yerin said as if holding back.

"It’s still dangerous. "I don’t know what will happen if he absorbs all seven star gems."

"I guess so."

Killer King looked down at the fallen Cheon Inho for a moment.

Cheon Inho risked his life to save them. But will he use Cheon Inho as a sacrifice to obtain the 'Death Sword'?

"Yoo Joonghyuk doesn’t do such cowardly things."

Lee Dansu sighed in relief, and Cha Yerin, who looked nervous, also stepped away.

But the crisis started now.

[The Last King's Qualifications begins.]

Killer King's expression hardened at the message coming from the air.

"It has begun."

The stage for 'Last Qualifications' had already opened.

Killer King looked back at Lee Dansu and said.

"I'm leaving without the Death Sword. All we have to do is somehow block Yoo Joonghyuk."

Behind the destruction of the 41st round of the original story was the 'absolute throne'.

"It would be the best if we could destroy the throne with the Death Sword, but even if it's not the best, there's no need to despair."

Even if they don't have the Death Sword, all they have to do is prevent anyone from taking the 'absolute throne'.

"We just have to hold out until the scenario changes. It prevents anyone from sitting on the throne."

Is the <Star Stream> looking for fun? There is a tendency to move towards more 'plausible' stories.

So as long as they make the scenario interesting, they will have a chance.

"Brother, the coins are…"

"I've collected enough."

"Take mine too."

To defeat Yoo Joonghyuk in 'The Last Qualification', you must use the method that Kim Dokja used.

And that method required a huge amount of coins.

Lee Dansu, who was watching the scene, asked.

"Isn’t Yerin the king?"

"Yes."

"Then..."

Killer King, who received Cha Yerin's gaze, responded.

"I am the king."

"Is that so."

"Immortal King. Are you curious about what kind of king I am?"

"Yes?"

Lee Dansu asked back blankly. He didn't know what to say, so he just muttered, but Killer King answered as he pleased.

"I am the 'Lonely King'."

"Lonely..."

Lee Dansu wondered if he had heard wrong. Come to think of it, when he was choosing the 'King Options', he remembered seeing an option with that name.

But he didn't know that there would be someone who would bother to choose a name like that.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' shakes his head.]

Even Cha Yerin secretly turned her head.

Killer King continued speaking with a shameless expression, as if he did not really understand such a reaction.

"If you include you, me, and Ye Hyunwoo outside, there are a total of three 'kings' who can attend the final stage. It would have been better if Cheon Inho was also here."

Cheon Inho, who fell to the floor, showed no signs of regaining consciousness.

In fact, just being alive was a miracle.

"For now, we have no choice but to try it on our own."

[Qualified kings move to the final battlefield’s location.]

That's right. The summoning was beginning with a sound.

Sparks flew through the bodies of Killer King and Lee Dansu.

"Yerin, please take care of Cheon Inho."

"Don't worry."

Killer King looked back at the woman one last time. The woman was still reciting her spell with her hand placed on Cheon Inho's forehead. That spell seemed to be suppressing Cheon Inho’s [Madness].

Killer King spoke to that woman.

"7942."

Then the woman slowly opened her eyes and answered.

"9158."

"You remember it well."

"Of course. This is the password I created."

Killer King nodded his head.

"First Apostle, are you going to participate in the war?"

Then the first apostle shook her head.

Killer King looked at the first apostle as if he was surprised, then turned his back and said.

"When Cheon Inho wakes up, tell him. I will protect this world."

---

In my hazy consciousness, I had a dream.

「"Author, but…"」

I realized it the moment I heard the voice.

I see.

This is Ji Eunyu’s dream.

「"Yes."」

The me in the dream answered.

I was afraid of what Ji Eunyu would say, and I was also looking forward to it.

「"In the last scene, Kim Dokja came back."」

Last scene.

I immediately realized what Ji Eunyu was talking about.

The moment the door to the hospital room opens and Han Sooyoung and Yoo Joonghyuk return. At the moment when the readers who had become 'the oldest dream' were wishing for Kim Dokja's resurrection, Ji Eunyu was talking about that last scene.

I cautiously opened my mouth, looking around in case anyone heard me.

「"He’s back. You don't know that, it's an open ending."」

Then Ji Eunyu frowned.

「"Do you really think so?"」

「"It has to be an open ending to increase the level of completion-"」

「"I don’t think the author has anything to say about the degree of completion."」

I thought for a moment and then hesitated.

「"To leave a deep impression on readers, like a spinning top that seems to never stop..."」

「"Would you like to get your head stuck with a top?"」

I frowned as I watched Ji Eunyu’s fist spinning like a top.

「"I don't know. Han Sooyoung wrote it. Ask Han Sooyoung."」

Ji Eunyu sighed lightly while looking at me and said.

「"Great. Let me ask you this. What if the author is the reader? What do you think when you see the last scene? Has Kim Dokja returned?"」

If I were a reader.

Actually, there is no need to ask that.

Because all the sentences in the last chapter refer to a single sentence that is not written down.

A puzzle with only one empty piece.

A unique non-existent sentence stands out more than any other sentence that exists.

「"Maybe he didn’t come back?"」

「"You will say that right away."」

「"Don’t go somewhere else and say I did that."」

「"Why did I do that? Rather, in what form did Kim Dokja return?"」

What shape is it?

「"That’s the ending. There are countless Kim Dokjas scattered throughout the universe, and isn’t it because their wishes came true that Kim Dokja came back to life?"」

Hearing it from someone else's mouth, it somehow feels like the ending of a children's fairy tale.

「"I guess so?"」

「"Then there must have been Kim Dokjas who each had their own thoughts. What would happen if those readers thought at the same time, 'Dokja Kim is back'?"」

「"Uh..."」

I hadn't thought of that.

I felt scared for a moment and asked.

「"Maybe I should write it again?"」

The moment I blinked and thought, "Please, I can’t do that," the scenery around me changed.

A ceiling blocked by a familiar stone wall.

The dimly shining light.

With the feeling of the floor, all the memories slowly came back.

Memories of entering the labyrinth to find the 'Death Sword'.

There, Killer King and others met Dansu ahjussi, absorbed the Star Jewels, a disaster was summoned, and the Labyrinth Watcher died...

I almost died too.

As my thoughts reached that point, someone suddenly came to mind.

Ji Eunyu.

[Currently you have acquired a total of 6 Star Jewels.]

[The power of the 'Star Jewel' erodes your body.]

[The 6th level of madness is encroaching on you.]

[An unknown force is suppressing your 'madness'.]

[An unknown force is interfering with the erosion of the 'Star Jewels'.]

I slowly got up. I felt a throbbing pain as if someone was squeezing my head.

There was no one around.

What happened?

Clearly, the disaster and the watchman have fallen.

Where have the other party members gone?

What happened to the scenario?

[The owner of 'Absolute Throne' has been chosen.]

At the momentary system message, I blinked blankly.

I thought I heard wrong.

'The owner of the absolute throne has been identified?'

The information in my head was sorted in an instant.

The owner of the throne has been decided. That means the 'fight for the throne' has already begun and is over.

「The fourth scenario has ended.」

I looked at the small star gem rolling around on the floor.

I have six star gems. And there's one rolling around over there.

「There is no Death Sword in this round.」

My fingertips were shaking. Something that shouldn't have happened happened.

I felt the dungeon vibrating.

I felt sick. I knew it instinctively. Something sinister is about to be born in this world.

[The owner of the 'absolute throne' is...]

A light came on in the distance and I heard someone running towards me.

[It is 'Incarnation Yoo Joonghyuk'.]

The destruction of the 41st round was decided.

667 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (3)

---

I immediately activated [Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint].

I'm sure there are people thinking of me right now.

If just one person thought of me, they would know what's going on.

[The skill cannot currently be used.]

My head was pounding.

Is it that no one is thinking of me, or is it the aftereffects of using my skills for too long?

A light swaying in the distance illuminated this direction.

"Author?"

A woman was standing in the dark. She is a woman wearing a royal hanbok with rich brimstone colors and a crown on her head.

Such a person called me Author. Suddenly my head couldn't turn properly.

"Who are you?"

She looked at me as if she were disappointed and asked in a voice like her glass beads rolling.

"You don’t know who I am?"

Actually, I understood it in My head. Of course, there is only one person in this world who can call me 'author'.

Still, verification was necessary.

"When was the first serial published from Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint?"

"January 2nd, the second year since I joined the company."

"What does 1,863 mean?"

"You use it without even thinking about that."

"How many rounds will this world line be in?"

"The 41st rounds."

I felt like crying a little.

It is certain. It's definitely true.

This person in front of me is my one and only editor.

"Editor."

"Author."

We held each other's hands for a moment with tears in our eyes.

---

When the serialization of ORV was just beginning, I once received such a question from a reader.

—If you were to possess a character, what character would you want to possess?

Now that I think about it, I don't know if that comment was written by Representative Kim Dokja.

—Well, there are people I want to possess... If I were to be honest, there are people I don't want to possess. For example...

At that time, I wrote a reply but did not click the OK button.

I didn't want to disturb the readers' appreciation by adding the author's personal opinion.

So, 'Shall we think about it until it’s finished?' I just answered.

Ji Eunyu, who read the comment at that time, said this.

—First of all, I will not possess Kim Dokja.

—Because you keep dying?

—Yes.

—Then what...

— Jung Heewon or Lee Hyunsung...

—They almost died too. Doesn’t Lee Hyunsung die once too?

That's right.

If you think about it, among the characters in ORV, there is only one person who remains sane until the end.

—The best character is one who survives until the end as quietly as possible, as if they were not there.

It was indeed a remark befitting a veteran web novel editor.

Maybe the reason Ji Eunyu is now possessed by that person is because of that comment at that time.

So, is Ji Eunyu satisfied now?

"Anyway, Min Jiwon is a bit..."

I don't think so.

The person that Ji Eunyu possessed was: Min Jiwon, the King of Beauty.

In the original work, the incarnation of Silla's King. In terms of appearance, she is one of the best in the entire 'Ways of Survival', and even briefly shows interest in Kim Dokja.

"I think she’s the person the editor wanted to possess so that you survive as quietly as possible, as if you don’t exist."

"No. Who would have said that, knowing that I would actually possess someone? This isn’t the author’s doing, is it?"

I protested to Ji Eunyu, who glared at me with a coy look.

"If I had taken the lead in this situation, would I have bothered to possess Cheon Inho?"

"But."

Ji Eunyu nodded meaningfully and added.

“But does Cheon Inho look like that? It looks like he’s had some cosmetic modifications done."

"I didn’t specifically say that Cheon Inho was ugly."

As we stared at each other for a moment, I suddenly remembered what kind of person Ji Eunyu was.

She was someone who would debate with me for 30 minutes over a single sentence. She was a person who did not tolerate sentences that did not fit the context or rhythm.

She supported my story more than anyone else, but did not go away when the plot was uneasy or the balance of the story was shaken.

"Anyway, I’m glad you’re alive, author."

The person who always says what I have to say first.

"Editor."

"There are a lot of things I want to ask, but I don’t think now is the time to clear things up among ourselves, right?"

I nodded.

But I couldn't figure out what to do first.

Fortunately, Ji Eunyu is the person who knows best what to do in times like this.

[Incarnation: Min Jiwon activates Cannery Factory Lv.3.]

The surrounding scenery swayed as if it had been filtered, and soon changed into a familiar space.

"Here-"

"It's been a while?"

I never thought I would see this scenery again.

A reading room desk packed in a space of about 8 pyeong. There is one computer on each desk. Coffee mix and biscuit bags piled on the table in the center.

This was the 'writing room' of Ji Eunyu's company.

"Maybe it's because I'm an editor, so I have this skill."

Also known as 'cannery factory'.

A place to capture writers whose serialization cycle is erratic or who have abandoned the deadline and run away.

I, too, have been caught here several times to write when I was planning a new work.

"Time passes slowly in this space. One second in real life is about 10 minutes here."

It was a ridiculous time multiplier.

"Instead, the skill cooldown is long and the duration is short. Currently, it is only about 10 minutes. In real time, it would be about 1 second."

10 minutes.

It was a short time, but it was the time I really needed right now.

I thanked Ji Eunyu for her consideration and organized the situation in my head before opening my mouth.

"Then can I ask you a few questions?"

"Yes."

"What happened to the people who were with me?"

Obviously, right before I met Ji Eunyu, I was with the Killer King's group. But now these companions are nowhere to be seen.

"The apostle."

As expected, Ji Eunyu also knew about 'Apostles'.

"He went to participate in the 'Last King's Qualification'. He appeased them by telling them that he would prevent the destruction of the world."

I didn't have to ask who said that.

I looked again at the message log I received earlier.

[The owner of the final absolute throne is incarnation Yoo Joonghyuk.]

Even though the apostles participated in the 'struggle for the throne', that message came to mind.

Then the situation was clear.

[Killer King and the apostles were defeated.]

None of them could stop Yoo Joonghyuk. Suddenly, my mind seemed to turn white.

「What happened to the apostles? Killer King, Cha Yerin, Dansu ahjussi, Ye Hyunwoo...」

「What if Yoo Joonghyuk killed them?」

「What will happen next?」

「The Absolute Throne is an item connected to the Other World. Now Seoul is-!」

"Author, you don't like the current development."

"Yes?"

Even in this situation, Ji Eunyu still spoke like a pen holder. Is that why? I also started thinking like a writer.

"I don’t like it, Yoo Joonghyuk has the 'Absolute Throne'."

"Then why not?"

"If he uses his legacy to secure the 'absolute throne', this world will fall into ruin. You know that."

"But that’s the original story."

I was silent for a moment.

She was right.

This was the development of the 41st round of the 'predetermined' Ways of Survival.

Yoo Joonghyuk takes the absolute throne and the world heads toward destruction.

Shin Yoosung becomes a wanderer in the world line.

"Are you doing this because you feel sorry for the characters? Are you trying to save them by changing the plot?"

"…"

"Is that really the right choice? Maybe this is just the right thing to do. In the 41st round, Yoo Joonghyuk perishes as planned, Shin Yoosung goes to the past, and that’s how the Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint we know begins."

"…"

"The author knows very well the kind of catastrophe that a story altered by excessive greed can lead to."

At least Ji Eunyu was always right about the manuscript.

In some stories, if you change one thing, the whole story collapses. Trying to protect one world line. The entire world line of the universe may collapse.

But this time, I had a reason.

If this were a simple novel, I would have accepted Ji Eunyu’s words. But this world was not just a 'novel'.

"There are readers who are possessed in this world."

"I know. So do I."

Even though her life was at stake, Ji Eunyu responded calmly.

"But this isn't something the author started. Did the author make the readers possess characters here?"

"No."

"Then it's not the author's responsibility."

Was Ji Eunyu such a cold-hearted person?

"I guess I can say it this way. Now that it's clear that this world is not 'yours', the tragedies that occur in this world are not the author's responsibility."

Responsibility.

"The author always joked that this was written by Han Sooyoung, which means it's not our job to put us back in our original positions or end the story."

Ji Eunyu was speaking.

The responsibility for the story lies with the person who started the story.

So who started this story?

Is this Han Sooyoung? Is it Representative Kim Dokja?

I stared blankly at the computers in the writing room. No one was sitting in front of the computer.

Without realizing it, I reached for the chair and Ji Eunyu added something.

"If you change the plot, this really becomes the author's story."

My story.

"If someone dies or gets injured due to the changed plot, it will all be the author's responsibility. Can you handle it? You had a hard time even reading a single bad comment. This is a different matter than that."

"But the possessed readers…"

"Whether they are possessing characters in a novel or not, humans will die someday."

Ji Eunyu said as she pushed the chair back.

"I think it's a bit unlucky, but since I've already possessed someone, I just have to live as I possessed them. You never know. It might be a happier life to somehow survive here for a long time rather than living as 'editor Ji Eunyu'."

I looked at Ji Eunyu.

"There is no guarantee that the story the author changes will be better."

Ji Eunyu was speaking.

Don't start this story.

I was reminded of the countless stories I worked with her on that I could tell the ending of a story before it even started.

Numerous works that started excitingly but were never completed.

"This time, we can’t just do it all year round and run away because it’s not popular."

Nevertheless, I keep being drawn to such stories.

Even though it is painful to read the story I wrote, I still write the next sentence.

I spend my time writing stories about the lives and deaths of beings other than myself.

"Don’t write this story?"

"Yes."

"Then why do you still call me Author?"

Ji Eunyu’s eyes looked at me.

I continued to say.

"I already wrote the story."

At Geumho Station, Chungmuro, and Seoul Station, I wrote stories.

"Someone has already died and someone has survived because of me."

There is no excuse for that fact.

"So I have to write it to the end somehow. Even if it’s not interesting or popular, even if only one person reads it. So please help me, editor."

Ji Eunyu looked at me like that.

It was a look I knew well.

Every time I put out a new work without a solution. Ji Eunyu always reviewed the manuscript with the same gaze.

Is the material novel, is the plot detailed, and does it fit the trend? After completing such a short review, Ji Eunyu would always ask me in the same tone.

"Do you really want to do it?"

"Yes."

I don't want to destroy this world.

I want to save people.

I will return readers to their original world.

I want to give this poorly written story a full ending.

Ji Eunyu sighed lightly and said.

"The owner of the throne has been identified, but it may not be too late."

It's not too late.

"King of a kingless world… Don’t you remember when you wrote the round?"

A pile of short memories flowed through my mind.

“Until Kim Dokja sat on the throne, the 'Absolute Throne' was not activated."

Ji Eunyu’s words naturally brought up a scene in my mind.

Kim Dokja, who proved his 'final qualifications' and became the 'only king of Seoul'.

However, because Kim Dokja refused to sit on the throne, the 'absolute throne' was not activated.

That is to say,

"If only you could prevent Yoo Joonghyuk from sitting on the throne."

If only we could stop the 'coronation ceremony'.

[If only we could cut off the constellation of the 'Absolute Throne' before he sits on the throne.]

There were two things to do for it.

First, get out of this dungeon.

And the second is,

[Obtaining the 'Death Sword' that will destroy the throne...]

[Exclusive skill, 'Cannery Factory' is unlocked.]

I looked down at the 'last star gem' rolling around on the floor of the star labyrinth.

There are a total of six 'star jewels' I currently have.

「If I collect seven star gems, I can summon the Death Sword.」

However, in order to be summoned, I must endure '7 levels of madness'.

[Stage 6 of madness is eroding you.]

[An unknown force is suppressing your 'madness'.]

I looked at Ji Eunyu.

The heat that gripped my head, the pain, and the strange feeling of dizziness felt throughout Ji Eunyu's whole body. The things that Ji Eunyu didn't say and the things that I didn't ask about formed a series in my head.

Ji Eunyu said as I picked up the star gem that had fallen on the floor.

"If you write it, please show it to me."

I nodded.

I don't know if the story we changed will be successful.

[Incarnation Cheon Inho has acquired all seven star gems!]

However, I am writing a story, and…

[Stage 7 of Madness is eroding you!]

She will fix this story.

Along with Ji Eunyu's spell, something strongly clamped down on my head.

[The supernormal ability of 'Gingoa' controls your 'madness'.]

I stretched out my hand toward the emblem shining brightly in the air.

A sword hilt that fits gently in the palm of your hand. The sentence I had rewritten several times was finally becoming reality.

[Incarnation 'Cheon Inho' has summoned the 'Death Sword'!]

Now, it is time to go face the King of Seoul.

668 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (4)

We left the dungeon right away. Once we acquired the Death Sword, there was no longer any reason to stay in the 'Star Labyrinth'.

[Escape from the 'Star Labyrinth'.]

As we came out of the labyrinth, a collapsed waiting room appeared. Has the nearby terrain changed because of everything outside?

Even if I didn't have to use the 'Everchanging Stealth Suit', it seemed like a way out could be opened by clearing away a few piles of rocks. Since I didn't have much time, I started working right away. And as if passing by, I opened my mouth.

"But editor."

"Yes."

"That one from earlier is 'Gingoa'."

Ji Eunyu answered, digging in the field with me.

"It’s the power of my constellation."

Ji Eunyu suppressed my [madness] by borrowing the spell of 'Gingoa'. If it weren't for her, the summoning of the 'Death Sword' would have been impossible to even attempt. However, a constellation of that level did not have the virtue to cause such a miracle.

[The constellation 'God of Alcohol and Ectasy' looks at Min Jiwon.]

[The constellation 'Liar With a Long Nose' asks, isn't that the constellation Gingoa?]

[The constellation 'Reclining Dragon' is handling its ink.]

[Some constellations are astonished by 'Gingoa's' supernatural abilities!]

[Some Holy Sees request a probability check from the Administration!]

Gingoa's holy relic.

[The constellation 'The Prisoner of the Golden Headband picks his ears.]

To be exact, it was from the 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband– a relic of the Great Sage, Heaven's Equal.

So, is Ji Eunyu's background character Jecheon Daeseong? Or is it Shakyamuni or Buddhist Master Sanjang who gave the Great Sage, Heaven's Equal that relic?

If not that too.

"There is a price, right?"

Ji Eunyu's pupils briefly wavered at my question.

I expected it.

It was not a power that could be exercised in only the fourth scenario. It was a transfer that was enough to neutralize one of the core conditions of the initial scenario. Even if her constellation was the Great Sage, Heaven's Equal, it would not be easy.

One step later, Ji Eunyu's head moved.

"I cannot participate in this scenario as a 'king'."

I knew it. Perhaps her constellation negotiated with the administration on the condition that their own incarnation did not obtain the 'King's Tale'.

After digging through the last remains of the museum, we saw Gwanghwamun in the distance. Dark red clouds were swirling above the pitch-black sky.

It was a precursor to the 'Great Hall'.

"Go quickly."

I nodded.

Maybe it's already too late.

Yoo Joonghyuk has already sat on the absolute throne, and this world's destruction may have been confirmed.

Even so, I have to see it with my own eyes. At least, I have an obligation to do so now.

"I'll be back."

After catching a glimpse of Ji Eunyu for a moment, I ran straight toward the square.

---

Ji Eunyu saw the back of Lee Hakhyun walking away.

She wanted to let him know he could stop it.

This isn't a novel, it's real life. If he dies there, he'll really die.

But just as she couldn't stop Lee Hakhyun's novels from failing, she couldn't stop Lee Hakhyun this time either.

Ji Eunyu thought of the face of Lee Hakhyun she knew. For some reason, his face could not come to mind clearly, but she clearly remembered what kind of person he was.

'Love for stories.'

There are many people who like stories.

But in her opinion, Lee Hakhyun was especially special. He's been like that since they first met. He was always writing sentences, wherever he was.

It was as if he was afraid of all the 'space' that exists in this world.

Blood flowed from inside. As she lightly bent down and spat out blood, a message rang in her head.

[You have used power that has surpassed its limits.]

As expected, it was unreasonable to use 'Gingoa' for the beginning scenarios.

If it weren't for her constellation in the first place, she wouldn't have been able to even try.

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' looks worried.]

Ji Eunyu could feel the gaze of the constellation behind her watching her from the sky.

Lotus flower blooming under the moonlight.

Her constellation was a well-known leading role in 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint'.

The person who protected Kim Dokja in the closest place to Kim Dokja.

In a sense, she is a being who understands human beings better than anyone else.

"Yoo Sangah."

Light sparks flew in the air, and her reply was answered.

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' says it is not too late.]

It's not too late.

She knew that Lee Hakhyun's 'It's not too late' and her constellation’s 'It's not too late' had completely different meanings.

"Do you think the author is wrong? Do you still think this story shouldn’t be changed?"

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' says that it does not matter whether it is right or wrong.]

It doesn't matter whether it's right or wrong

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' says that all stories just flow towards an ending.]

"If you become a constellation, will everyone talk like a constellation?"

She did not say anything.

Ji Eunyu added, looking up into space with a bitter expression.

"The author probably knows, too, that my constellation is you."

Lee Hakhyun is not an idiot.

Probably, the moment Lee Hakhyun witnessed the power of 'Gingoa', he would have already realized everything.

Throughout 'Omniscient Reader's , there are only a handful of beings who can cause such a miracle.

"What do you want?"

[The constellation 'Lotus Blooming Under the Moonlight' answers the 'end'.]

"You just want to get 'your Kim Dokja' back."

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' is silent.]

"What will happen to this world if the ending you wish for comes true? Will it be destroyed as planned?"

[The constellation 'Lotus Blooming Under the Moonlight' hesitates to answer.]

Ji Eunyu did not dig further. Perhaps this is an unanswerable question for her constellation.

And maybe that wasn't really what she was curious about.

"Are me and the author... one of those 'fragments'?"

Before she knew it, the back of Lee Hakhyun's head was far away.

She could see his white coat shaking from the rain.

Ji Eunyu thought that the coat looked good on him. Still, she also wished he didn't wear that coat.

Her constellation did not reply for a long time.

A note was heard from far away. It seemed like the fight had started again.

When Lee Hakhyun finally disappeared, her constellation opened her mouth.

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' says that the ending of this story is fixed, but no one knows the ending of “this” story.]

Those were strange words. Those strange words were somehow familiar to Ji Eunyu.

She said, "That sounds exactly like the first sentence of a novel I know."

Probably because she already knows similar sentences.

She said, "There are ways to survive in a ruined world, and now I've forgotten some of them."

After hesitating for a moment, Ji Eunyu added her words again. She edited a story for a long time, sentences she read and reread.

"But one thing is certain. That is, if you are reading this right now, you will stay alive."

Ji Eunyu prayed that the sentence was true.

---

Rain fell from the sky over Gwanghwamun. The rain mixed with blood and dyed the floor red. A man's face was reflected in the pool of blood.

Looking at that unfamiliar face, Killer King swallowed a sigh.

'How can this happen?'

Everything was calculated.

'The Last King' proceeded as he expected, and so did the content of the scenario.

> 3. 「Therefore, the only king is the one who stands alone without anyone’s help.
>
> —A king who can challenge the absolute throne must be able to prove his strength with only his body.

[From now on, no king will be able to receive support from their constellation.]

[From now on, the attack and defense power of all items will be limited.]

[From now on, all skills, stigma, and special options for items will be sealed.]

[From now on, all kings' overall stats will change to 10/10/10/10/10.]

[The 'Qualification of the Last King' continues until the last person remains.]

The 'last king's qualification' was a 'raw battle' in which no equipment, skills, or stigma could be used.

An ordeal in which everyone has the same level 10 overall abilities and must defeat all other kings with just one body.

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' sighs and monitors the situation.]

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' congratulates the new owner of the throne.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' asks if that makes sense now.]

[Many constellations are astonished by the results of 'The Last Qualifications'.]

Killer King has been steadily preparing for this ordeal ever since he possessed a character.

The key point of 'Qualifications for the Last King' is to collect as many 'coins' as possible. In the main story, Kim Dokja used coins in this battlefield to temporarily increase his overall abilities to the limit, and used a trick to defeat Yoo Joonghyuk.

[83,000 coins were consumed.]

So Killer King did the same. He collected more coins than Kim Dokja in the main story, and poured out more coins generously. It was capital that would disappear when the scenario ended, but he didn't care. This is because it was more important to stop Yoo Joonghyuk in front of him.

In fact, the operation worked. He strengthened his overall abilities to the limit and gave Yoo Joonghyuk a hard time with his strength exceeding 100.

Until then, the operation was effective. He thought it was valid.

"It looks like you used all your coins."

That was until Yoo Joonghyuk stopped him.

"Where did you get this information?"

Is it simply because his abilities were high?

It wasn't. His abilities were his abilities, but the Yoo Joonghyuk in front of him had a different cost.

Softness that controls strength. There was an unprecedented energy spreading from Yoo Joonghyuk's palm. It was neither a skill nor a power. Nevertheless, the power that is the 'source of all power'.

He felt goosebumps running down his spine.

'There were no restrictions not to use stories.'

But this realization came too late. His vision became dark and he fell to the ground.

He couldn't understand what was happening.

When he opened his eyes with a feeling of nausea, he saw the Immortal King Lee Dansu and Bald-headed King Gong Pildu lying on the floor.

The Assassin King was also seen absconding immediately and hiding among the crowd.

A late sigh came out.

[Incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk' has passed all the tests of 'Absolute Throne'.]

Finished.

Killer King lifted his head in a daze and watched the back of Yoo Joonghyuk moving away.

They lost.

As Yoo Joonghyuk took one step, the crowd retreated like waves. Even those who were overwhelmed by his spirit bowed to their knees.

There was.

"Supreme King…"

Someone called him by a nickname.

"Supreme King! The winner is the Supreme King!"

"The only king of the Korean peninsula!"

The commotion then turned into cheers. Some were afraid of him, some were jealous of him.

And everyone was in awe of him.

An overwhelming force that single-handedly defeated all kings.

Looking at Yoo Joonghyuk like that, Killer King thought.

「I am not Yoo Joonghyuk.」

He stumbled and got up from the floor.

He knew he couldn't fight. He was really feeling this. Even if all the possessed readers gather together, it will be impossible to stop Yoo Joonghyuk.

Nevertheless, Killer King promised.

'I am Ja Sungwoo.'

I will stop the world's destruction.

There was no hesitation in Yoo Joonghyuk’s steps. There were now less than thirty steps left to the 'Absolute Throne'.

"Brother!"

When did she escape from the dungeon?

Yerin, who had recovered from her internal injuries to some extent, was running towards him, releasing her magical energy from all over her body.

[Incarnation 'Lee Seyeon'’s 'Battle Action Mode' is activated!]

Battle action mode.

Killer King looked at the controller that appeared in front of him.

There is no other way.

They have to stop Yoo Joonghyuk somehow. And this skill was the strongest skill that the siblings could use together.

A special move that can inflict fatal wounds on even an S-class poisonous dragon.

With this, it was theoretically possible to deal with Yoo Joonghyuk.

But why does he have this ominous feeling?

"Is it a game?"

The moment Killer King heard Yoo Joonghyuk's muttering, he felt like he had been doused with cold water. Why did he forget it?

"Yerin!"

He grabbed the controller and ran.

This fight can never be won.

The opponent is none other than the 'Supreme King'.

And the Supreme King's previous occupation was—

[Incarnation's 'Yoo Joonghyuk'’s characteristic is activated!]

Kwaaaaaaaa!

With a loud noise, Cha Yerin's body crumpled after activating the skill.

Killer King barely caught her sister as she flew away, coughing up blood.

His younger sister was screaming and coughing up blood.

He could see traces of the [Hundred Steps Divine Fist] that had passed through her waist.

A blow that accurately predicted the preparatory movements just before death. In that short period of time, Yoo Joonghyuk realized the weakness of [Battle Action Mode].

"Do you want to die?"

Killer King slowly looked around.

No one has died yet.

That fact reassured him and despaired him at the same time.

The Supreme King had been looking after them until now.

They can't win.

His body was giving in before his mind.

He thought he knew Yoo Joonghyuk well until now. He read the entire novel 100 times and believed that he understood him more accurately than the author who wrote the story.

But this is something else.

The moment he met Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes, Killer King became distant, like a person facing a book whose thickness he could not guess.

The life he lived is so different.

No one can stop him.

No one can understand him.

No one in this world-

"Until there."

A small grumbling voice.

"Damn it. I never wanted to go through this scenario again."

Someone blocked Yoo Joonghyuk's path.

A blue combat uniform made of elastic material.

The 'Blade of Faith' spits out brilliant white light from its blade.

"Aren’t you tired too?"

The person standing there was not Kim Dokja. But in a sense, she was a person who understood this world better than Kim Dokja.

Everyone in the place, including Killer King, Cha Yerin, and Lee Dansu, looked at the same face in fascination.

It was their first time seeing this face.

But it was a face that they all could not help but recognize.

The person who summoned the 'Death Sword' before anyone else in the original story. The one who went beyond the king and called herself the Black Flames Empress.

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

A writer in this world.

"Can you stop writing your story now?"

Han Sooyoung.

669 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (5)

---

The 'Absolute Throne' was shining in the distance.

A seat where only one king can sit.

At one time, Han Sooyoung also wanted to sit in that seat. She believed that if she sat down there, she would be compensated for all the sorrow she had endured.

That was until she realized that even that desire was nothing more than a play for the constellations.

[A significant number of constellations are aware of your presence.]

[Very few constellations are concerned about your intervention.]

[Some constellations are requesting the Bureau to review your probability.]

She could feel the gaze of the stars across the distant sky.

Will the stars understand her story now?

[A constellation that has not yet revealed its modifier is looking at you.]

What she wanted was farther and farther away than that throne.

It was so distant that she couldn't quite tell what it was.

「She had no reason to intervene in this situation.」

This was the 41st round's normal development.

Yoo Joonghyuk, in the 41st round, will take the 'absolute throne' and walk the path of a supreme king who rules over everything.

No one will be able to stand on the same level as him.

No path will arise for him.

「Just leave it alone.」

If she just sat back and watched, the 41st round would end up in failure.

At the end of this story, Yoo Joonghyuk, in despair, will send Shin Yoosung to the past.

That ends the story of this world line.

Kim Dokja will return to her again after reading all of her stories.

He has to come back.

For his sake, she must not move. Not write even a single sentence.

She has to let the characters move and flow. She knew it well. But why?

"Yoo Joonghyuk. If you sit over there, it's all over."

Did she finally pick up the pen?

"You guessed it too, right? What the absolute throne is."

Of course, she knows the answer.

Even now, when she closes her eyes, the memory comes to mind clearly. It may be because she saw something she shouldn't have seen.

「"What you're trying to do is not end the story, but give up."」

Kim Dokja, whom she ignored. Kim Dokja, who did not want to be reborn as Kim Dokja again.

Nevertheless, Kim Dokja had to return to this story again.

She found Kim Dokja and that's why she's here now.

"Are you Han Sooyoung?"

Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round was looking at her.

Han Sooyoung asked bitterly.

"Who told you my name?"

Han Sooyoung quietly stared at the Yoo Joonghyuk from the 41st round.

"I owed you a beating last time."

This was her second fight with Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st round.

"Do you think this time will be different?"

"It will be different."

"It looks like your learning ability is poor. If you've ever fought, you'd know that, right? It's not for me."

On the rooftop of the theater dungeon, she bumped into Yoo Joonghyuk once.

She risked the odds and drew on her story, and she took advantage of the weakness of 'regressive depression' to subdue Yoo Joonghyuk.

But is that possible this time too?

She couldn't figure it out.

"Well, you must have regressed more than 40 times."

She didn't know, so she deliberately provoked him. She tried to spy on the guy's reaction, but Yoo Joonghyuk didn't come over. His eyes, deep as the sea of silk, just stared at her.

All surrounding sounds disappeared.

Tension weighing heavily on the area. Silence where not a single insect cries.

The one who moved first was Han Sooyoung.

The sound of something being pushed away was heard one step later, and his black spear and her white sword clashed in the air.

Her magical power and his physical power intertwined, and a tearing sound rose through the rain clouds.

She lost.

Kaaaaang!

A lightning-like dramatic impact weighed heavily on Han Sooyoung. Let's believe in her spirit and her skills. Yoo Joonghyuk opened his mouth.

"It seems you also know about regression."

"So are you surprised?"

"I expected it."

Yoo Joonghyuk spoke without even raising an eyebrow.

"Because there were a lot of strange people in this round."

Strange guys. Han Sooyoung knew who he was referring to.

"Everyone said they knew me."

Her sharp emotions were buried at the end of her words. The anger of the returner who had been forged again and again was condensing.

[Incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk''s 'Spiritual Soul Height Lv.10' is activated!]

Black magical power swirled in the gravitational force of the spear.

Han Sooyoung's expression hardened at the creepy waveform of magical power.

From now on, it's real.

Han Sooyoung took her chances and opened up her own stories.

With the sound of her striking the black flame dragon's holy soul drum, which made her called her special flame black dragon Emperor, the pole pole filled with her [Earth and Soul Field] and the dot pole filled with [special flame] collided.

She was Han Sooyoung and she was confident.

Even though Yoo Joonghyuk was a powerful martial artist, there was no way he could stand up to her.

Coo coo coo coo!

A magic wave that turns one side of the sky pitch black.

The first to be pushed out was Han Sooyoung. Han Sooyoung's expression was so disgusted that she cried and swallowed the blood that came up her throat.

'Nonsense.'

No matter how the aftereffects of probability were, she was the one who saw the end of the scenarios twice.

The Yoo Joonghyuk floating in the sky right now was only Yoo Joonghyuk from the 41st round.

But how?

「"Don’t underestimate me in the 41st round."」

One step too late, the advice of her fellow regressor came to mind.

「"It’s only the 41st round, so what?"」

「"His character may be different."」

This world was not even recorded in Ways of Survival.

In a sense, it is a world line that writer Han Sooyoung does not really know.

Yoo Joonghyuk lived a 41-rounds life that no one recorded.

That Yoo Joonghyuk was speaking.

"Do you know me too?"

Han Sooyoung bit her lip.

「She said, "You are the one who sent Shin Yoosung to the past because you thought you couldn’t do it alone. How strong can a guy who gave up so easily be?"」

「"That’s the problem."」

「"What?"」

「"There is no way I could have collapsed that much in only the 41st round."」

Han Sooyoung looked at Yoo Joonghyuk. He was telling the story embedded in his whole body.

That story is proof of his life.

Han Sooyoung slowly felt a chill go down her spine.

「"In that world line, I have given up on the possibility of the next round. I probably saw a despair that I couldn't overcome no matter how hard I tried. I concluded that I, who can return on my own, cannot see the end without sending Shin Yoosung to another world line."」

Looking at Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes, Han Sooyoung thinks about the regressor.

the world, excluding the regressor, regresses.

The soul of the regressor continues to age and memories accumulate.

Touching and sick heart.

Endless depression and madness.

Han Sooyoung also knew.

Regression was not a curse that an ordinary human could bear, and Yoo Joonghyuk was not an ordinary human.

Steel-like mentality and unwavering spirit. Yoo Joonghyuk is a person who is so strong that he cannot be described simply as 'strong'.

A protagonist created to endure a number of 1,863 regressions.

「"If I made such an extreme judgment in only the 41st round."」

The 'main character' gave up his future in only the 41st round. And he tied the future to his past self.

「"That guy did his best to the point where he couldn’t survive his next life."」

"It seems you don’t know."

A story arose.

It's an endlessly cancerous and ominous story that they don't know when or how it was acquired.

Han Sooyoung thought.

Really strong. It's hard to believe that it's the 41st round. He seems stronger than any other 'Yoo Joonghyuk' who lived through the fourth scenario.

If she uses Kim Dokja Company's story, she can win. But if she does that…

[The <Star Stream> is reacting to your choices.]

This time, the probability of this world will not forgive her.

Ga-ga-ga-ga-gak!

Seeing Yoo Joonghyuk's sword flying, Han Sooyoung also swung her sword in front of her.

Once, twice, three times.

Every time her spear and sword clashed, the sound of her grip being torn apart could be heard.

Her blood flowed and her nerves became numb little by little.

Four times.

Han Sooyoung finally lost her sword.

'Unbreakable Faith' broke and fell to the ground.

A moment's gap.

Yoo Joonghyuk did not hesitate. As if there was no place for her in this world, Yoo Joonghyuk threw out his spear with a cold motion.

A slow blow to the heart.

Han Sooyoung looked down at her own wounds as if she couldn't believe it, and then looked up at Yoo Joonghyuk.

That was the last time.

It was a life-threatening wound that did not need to be repeated twice.

Yoo Joonghyuk retrieved his own spear the moment after seeing Han Sooyoung had disappeared.

"It hurts, kid."

A voice came from behind.

Yoo Joonghyuk, startled, immediately tried to swing the spear backwards.

"Do you know how much memory loss there is once your avatar dies?"

Two small, soft hands wrapped around his head.

Tsutsutsutsuchut!

A dazzling spark and a terrible shock engulfed Yoo Joonghyuk's mind. Unable to withstand the aftermath, Yoo Joonghyuk's whole body trembled like an aspen tree.

The story in Han Sooyoung's hands burrowed into Yoo Joonghyuk's head.

「"The stronger the guy, the heavier the weight of his despair."」

This is what her colleague told her.

「"Probably, he will easily sink to just one feather."」

Han Sooyoung knew better than anyone else what the weakness of a regressor who experienced deep despair was.

[The gaint story, 'Kim Dokja's Company' begins.]

His stomach churned and his whole body trembled as if he had been shocked.

"What do happy memories taste like, you bastard?"

Memories of <Kim Dokja Company> flowed from her fingertips.

「"Why is that kid so good at cooking?"」

Memories of Kim Dokja and her stealing Yoo Joonghyuk's dishes and eating them.

Memories of the picnic where <Kim Dokja's Company> gathered together and left. In their story that had not yet ended, Kim Dokja that she remembered was speaking.

「"Next time, let's bring more beef."」

Han Sooyoung looked at the story blankly. The fact that such a time even existed now seemed unrealistic.

A person who can exist only in sentences.

The stories that were clearly her memories now seemed like lies in a novel written by someone else.

Han Sooyoung smiled as she looked at Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes that had turned white.

"I'm about to die of happiness."

Happiness. As she pronounced that word, Han Sooyoung momentarily tilted her head.

What was that?

Is it because the avatar died and lost some of her memories? Han Sooyoung couldn't immediately remember the meaning of that word. Perhaps that wasn't all she had lost.

However, she trusted Han Sooyoung.

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' is watching you.]

Her companion who would remember those words for her.

「"I told you I'd try to persuade you. Are you ready to be persuaded?"」

Find a writer to write her story for her.

"You damn son of a bitch."

Han Sooyoung finally understood her own actions, muttering a phrase that she would never use.

All writers were readers before they were writers, and Han Sooyoung was the same.

I'm curious about the story he makes. Even after all that hardship, he came back to this world, and the story he wanted to tell was.

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' looks at you with sad eyes.]

So she stopped Yoo Joonghyuk.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' bows his head.]

She acted arbitrarily without consulting with other members of <Kim Dokja's Company>.

"You think so too, Yoo Joonghyuk?"

Maybe because of her choice, she knew that all the plans she had made could go wrong.

Taking a light breath, Han Sooyoung lifted the stunned Yoo Joonghyuk onto her shoulder.

She didn't have much time left now.

Yoo Joonghyuk will wake up soon.

In the meantime, she must destroy the 'Absolute Throne'.

Only then will this scenario end.

「But there was something she didn't know.」

Han Sooyoung suddenly felt the hairs on the back of her hand stand up.

With a deafening sound, she heard the strange sound of a huge scale tipping from somewhere.

Han Sooyoung immediately realized what was happening. She has participated in this scenario on other floating ships, so it is unlikely that the abnormality she caused would lead to a riot, but she did not expect the fallout to take this form.

The probability was running wild.

Han Sooyoung opened her mouth without realizing it. She knew this feeling well.

"The 'Great Hall' opens."

A huge hole was opening beyond the black swirling sky.

[The gods of this world have noticed your presence!]

[The scales of probability are in equilibrium.]

The owner of the 'Absolute Throne' was appearing beyond the 'Great Hall of the Sky'.

670 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (6)

A shadow lingered across the swirling Great Hall.

[The constellation 'Bald Commander of justice' wipes his head in astonishment.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' opens its eyes to the god of the other world.]

[The constellation 'Pig in a Brick House' hides in a brick house.]

[The constellation 'Dog that Threw Itself into the Flames' gasps and retreats.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' frowns.]

[Multiple constellations are astonished by the intervention of the outer gods in the scenario!]

The constellations of the channel were agitated just by the flickering of a shadow.

[A few constellations prepare to leave the channel.]

There were even constellations preparing to flee.

It could have been so.

The outer god who has now revealed his presence in the sky is not a nameless one.

It was clearly 'named'.

[The constellation 'Jejeon Daeseong' stares at the founder of this absolute throne.]

The first owner of the absolute throne and the creator of the throne.

At one time, Kim Dokja swung the Death Sword against outer god and destroyed the absolute throne.

'Was that kind of guy that Kim Dokja was dealing with?'

Han Sooyoung also does not know specifically about the 'founder of the absolute throne'.

More exactly, she knew but she forgot.

Not long ago, when she met Lee Hakhyun,

she gave Lee Hakhyun the Ways of Survival she knew.

'That bastard. I don't know if he'll be alive.'

Lee Hakhyun wants to write the story of this world on her behalf.

Therefore, she gave him the most important story she knew.

Ooooooooooo-

The fear of something once known becoming unknown.

But Han Sooyoung was not affected by that fear. Even if she forgot the story, she was still a great writer.

The air rang menacingly. Looking at the shadows swaying beyond the hall, Han Sooyoung was vaguely able to gauge the level of 'God of the Other World'.

It wasn’t as crazy as the 'indescribable distance ' or the 'disaster' of the 999th round.

It was clear that it was at least at the level of the dream eater, and perhaps it was more than that.

Coo coo coo coo coo.

If that thing descends over Seoul, the Korean Peninsula will be destroyed. It's not just the Korean Peninsula. Maybe the Earth will become a ruin.

Nevertheless, Han Sooyoung made a shameless voice.

"Don’t bluff. You won’t be able to get over it."

As if, of course, such an ending would not come.

"Yes?"

The question was not directed to the constellations of the Emperor, nor to the incarnations on earth.

"Are you going to let it destroy your playground?"

The next moment, a portal was created in an ambiguous space neither on the ground nor in the sky.

What appeared beyond the comma-like portal was a gentleman in a black suit.

A being who refers to himself as 'Representative Kim Dokja'.

Han Sooyoung knew his true name.

"Asmodeus."

Representative Kim Dokja frowned with a light spark.

Han Sooyoung's eyes showed a strange light.

[Predictive plagiarism.]

Every sentence she read and wrote was projected onto her eyes, telling her who the being in front of her was.

"How long do you plan on playing Kim Dokja?"

The 32nd master of the demon world, Asmodeus, the demon king of rage and lust.

In Han Sooyoung's world line, he is clearly the demon king who was destroyed by Kim Namwoon in the 999th round.

【It looks like you've already lost a lot of your memory, but my name must have been quite important, right?】

Asmodeus looked at the sparks flowing through Han Sooyoung's whole body.

Her memories were shattering through the sparks.

"I remember it well."

【You are no longer the Han Sooyoung I met before.】

Han Sooyoung held out her hand.

"Shut up and give me the 'Death Sword' you have."

She doesn't know which world it is from, but in the last fight, Asmodeus used that sword to cut her avatar link.

"If you give it to me, I'll give you what you want."

Han Sooyoung thought. All she has to do is somehow take away someone else's sword and cut off the Constellation's link that is bound to the 'Absolute Throne'.

Then, the 'God of the Other World' will lose its connection with this world, and its descent will naturally be cancelled.

To do this, she first had to persuade Asmodeus in front of her.

【Do you know what I want?】

"You don't want this world line to proceed as it should."

From the first time she faced Asmodeus, Han Sooyoung kept scoring goals.

「Why did Asmodeus move from the 3rd round to the 41st round?」

Why did he find an unrecorded world line, rather than another world line, and live as a parasite?

「Asmodeus wanted Kim Dokja, but was never able to obtain it.」

「Asmodeus used Han Myeongoh's daughter as his incarnation.」

「Asmodeus wanted to leave his name in the great legend.」

「Asmodeus was a seeker of the end.」

Countless information related to Asmodeus flowed through her mind in real time. [Predictive plagiarism] was triggered, and her consciousness flooded her mind, analyzing, synthesizing, and mixing the information.

「Asmodeus is a character who read 'Ways of Survival'.」

Han Sooyoung blinked slowly and asked.

"How did it feel to find out the identity of the world?"

Asmodeus' expression gradually hardened.

The moment she saw that expression, Han Sooyoung read the other side of that expression at once.

"You didn’t just read Ways of Survival."

Eyes that are slightly but clearly shaking.

Han Sooyoung was sure.

Asmodeus didn't just read Ways of Survival. This guy read up to Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint.

He read every sentence written for Kim Dokja and even confirmed his own death written there.

Of course, Asmodeus was not the only one who experienced such a thing. <Kim Dokja’s Company> also went through all of that.

However, Asmodeus was not <Kim Dokja’s Company>.

【What does that mean?】

He has never valued Kim Dokja, and has never dreamed of ending up with him. If such a demon king came to this world line, the reason was clear.

"You want to get out of our story, don’t you?"

"But if you stop me here, this world line will be doomed."

The course of this world is not written down, but the future is certain.

In the 41st round, Yoo Joonghyuk fails and the world line is destroyed.

And the incident in which Yoo Joonghyuk took the 'absolute throne' was the beginning of that destruction.

"You don’t want that either, do you? So help me. Let’s cooperate for a moment and I will destroy that throne, so give me the Death Sword you have."

【I don’t know what your plan is.】

After a while, Asmodeus opened his mouth.

【Why are you changing the plot now? Your purpose was to 'make this world met it’s end'.】

"…"

【Only then will your world line be safely preserved, because what you are looking for is 'Kim Dokja''s return.】

Han Sooyoung was surprised. Because she never thought that Asmodeus would already know this far.

【Is it because you saw that fragment? It is the 'fragment of Kim Dokja that you have ignored and thrown away'.】

"You are a bit noisy today. So are you going to give the sword to me or not?"

【That's funny. Why are you now paying attention to Kim Dokja, whom you abandoned? It wasn't the 'Kim Dokja' you wanted, was it?】

"If you say one more word-"

【Isn’t the Kim Dokja you want, the Kim Dokja who was the 'Demon King of Salvation'?】

With the words of Asmodeus, stories arose around him.

【He is the watcher of light and darkness.】

Kim Dokja ended the Holy Demon War and became the 'Watcher of Light and Darkness'.

【He was the successor to 'The Prisoner of the Golden Headband'.】

【And finally dreaming of this world. He has become this world itself.】

Kim Dokja, who remained in the subway when everyone else had left, became the Oldest Dream.

【Are you going to gather all those Kim Dokjas? Do you think such a thing is possible?】

"…"

【Since you use avatars, you probably know this better than anyone else.】

Han Sooyoung closed her mouth.

The ones who got angry on behalf of Han Sooyoung were the other members of <Kim Dokja's Company>.

[The constellation 'Lotus Blooming Under the Moonlight' glares at Asmodeus.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' spits out quiet anger.]

Asmodeus spoke as if mocking <Kim Dokja's Company>.

[Are you still willing to face Kim Dokja's illusion?】

Kim Dokja of one hundred percent cannot exist. Just as she is not a 100% person now.

It wasn't a matter of whether she used an avatar or not.

All humans lose their memories every moment and become slightly different beings. The very word 100 percent was an illusion from the beginning.

So what exactly is the 'Kim Dokja' they are after?

【Or is it the will of the story that lies within you?】

Han Sooyoung looked down at her palm. It was the hand who wrote the story.

There was a story embedded in that hand.

【How are you different from the constellations you hated so much now?】

It continued to tell her story on her behalf.

[The story 'Kim Dokja's Company' looks at you.]

<Kim Dokja’s Company> was a story of people who loved Kim Dokja.

It was a story about people who gathered together for Kim Dokja and were happy only because of him.

Therefore, those who had this story inevitably had no choice but to find Kim Dokja.

"It’s already past the point where we have to consider such things."

Han Sooyoung clenched her fist filled with stories.

"Of course I know that there is no such thing as a 100% Kim Dokja."

There is no way she wouldn’t know that.

There is no way that the woman who wrote this story, and her colleagues who lived the story together, did not know that fact.

【But why do you repeat such foolish things? Why are you continuing a story that will fail?】

When they lose someone, humans go through several stages to accept the loss.

They despair over the fact that that person will never come back, but they soon come to accept that fact, and eventually live a life after his absence.

They understand that this is the natural order of the world.

That's what ordinary mourning is like.

The problem is that neither Kim Dokja nor they were ordinary human beings.

"Because I know Kim Dokja’s story."

Kim Dokja has been brought back from the dead several times.

Was the revived Kim Dokja really the same Kim Dokja as before?

If a human being, once disassembled into particles, is reassembled, will he or she be the same person as before?

Han Sooyoung did not know the answer to such a philosophical question.

However, Kim Dokja died for his companions, again and again.

He survived to protect his companions.

That “will” was Kim Dokja.

It was a story called Kim Dokja.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' nods.]

The story lacked probability. There were many loopholes and the flow was not smooth. It was full of holes here and there.

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' closes its eyes.]

Such stories protected <Kim Dokja’s Company>.

He gave everything of himself and completed the ending in which everyone in the group survived.

There was no way that those who had been saved like that would be able to do anything like ordinary mourning. Those who had witnessed miracles before their eyes over and over again, and those who had survived through such stories, had no intention of meekly accepting the end.

Just as Kim Dokja tried to protect all of <Kim Dokja’s Company>, <Kim Dokja’s Company> has no choice but to find all Kim Dokja.

"Like you said, we might fail in the end."

Even if their choice now means entering a never-ending cycle.

Even if the story for only one person continues far away

If it is for Kim Dokja,

"Then we will continue to fail. That is how we honor Kim Dokja."

They will be the 'characters' of this story forever and ever.

671 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (7)

Asmodeus, who heard Han Sooyoung's words, laughed as if it was absurd.

【Do you know what you are talking about?】

Han Sooyoung did not answer. This is because it was not something she expected him to understand in the first place.

【Are you collecting Kim Dokja's fragments for such a ridiculous reason? Trying to get 'Kim Dokja' back, who may or may not come back?】

Asmodeus sounded strangely exasperated.

【Have you ever thought about the extras who were messed up by you?】

Trampled extras.

Han Sooyoung frowned at him.

【Think about the people who sacrificed their lives for the humble cause of finding Kim Dokja. I mean, have you ever seen it?】

Asmodeus added mockingly in a somewhat theatrical tone.

【You have already distorted the world line several times. Do you really think that was the right thing to do?】

It is true that they twisted the world line several times, but the worlds they left behind were places where their destructions were all predestined, and they moved in the direction of reducing the planned great tragedy into a possible small tragedy.

That was the general principle they set.

【Does the Kim Dokja you are looking for think the same way as you? Do you think the countless Kim Dokjas who lost their sense of self in the process of collecting the fragments will support you?】

Han Sooyoung could not understand Asmodeus's words.

While collecting Kim Dokja scattered across the world, <Kim Dokja Company> never once touched a living Kim Dokja fragment.

The only things they collected were fragments wandering the universe after failing to reincarnate, and fragments of the story dropped by Kim Dokja.

"I don't know. Because I'm not Kim Dokja."

Nevertheless, Han Sooyoung did not particularly defend herself. She wondered if there was any use in saying such things. She was already used to being misunderstood.

「"You're afraid that people will still criticize you even after you defend yourself?"」

Kim Dokja was the only person who accepted Han Sooyoung as a person.

「"I'm generally a really bad person."」

「"Who decided this?"」

What would Kim Dokja say if he saw her now?

Asmodeus spoke as if he knew the answer.

【If you're going to say something so shamelessly, you have to be shameless until the end. At first, you said you would make the world be destroyed as planned, but now you're going to change the planned development?】

"That-"

【Have you changed your mind after seeing 49% of Kim Dokja?】

49% of Kim Dokja.

Han Sooyoung's eyes slightly wavered because she didn't know that Asmodeus knew that.

【Did you feel sorry for Kim Dokja, whom you abandoned?】

Even Han Sooyoung, who rarely gets embarrassed, couldn't help but be shaken by that one word.

Two other people got angry in her stead.

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' what you know…]

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' with a beautiful expression…]

"Lee Gilyoung. Yoo Sangah."

At Han Sooyoung's words, the constellations' indirect messages faded away.

Han Sooyoung continued speaking.

"Yes, you're not wrong. In the end, I couldn't save that guy."

Han Sooyoung remembered the story of 49% Kim Dokja.

She wondered if he was born as something other than Kim Dokja.

In the end, the guy who got his wish and got a new name, 'Lee Hakhyun'.

For some reason, he returned to the world that made him 'Kim Dokja'.

「"This kind of conclusion is unacceptable."」

This time, not as a 'reader', but as a writer who writes stories.

"What has already happened cannot be undone. All I can send now are lame excuses."

【I am not curious about your circumstances.】

"But I'm still the author of this story."

What does it mean to write a 'story' in this world?

By changing one line, what is it like to handle the responsibilities that follow?

Because she understood the weight better than anyone else, Han Sooyoung decided to pick up the pen before Lee Hakhyun.

"I will destroy the absolute throne."

At least so that Lee Hakhyun does not feel guilty for causing the tragedy.

"Whether the world line is twisted or the universe is destroyed, I take responsibility for that too."

That was the only gift she could give to 49% Kim Dokja and writer Lee Hakhyun.

【Hmm, I can't give you the Death Sword as expected.】

Asmodeus shrugged his shoulders at Han Sooyoung as if mocking her, then turned around gracefully and said,

【Because this story is no longer your story. Now, don't you think so too?】

Han Sooyoung furrowed her eyebrows.

Either way, Asmodeus continued to talk loudly. It was as if someone was listening to him and his next words.

【Do you want to know now? What kind of person is 'Han Sooyoung'? How arbitrary and selfish you are. How deadly a being is in this universe.】

The space behind Asmodeus began to tremble.

As the space swayed like a silver screen in the wind, it soon illuminated the audience seats of the theater.

Auditorium that can seat hundreds of people

"You-"

Kkomas Kim Dokja were sitting in the audience.

"Are you collecting living souls?"

Asmodeus answered Han Sooyoung, who was swallowing her burning anger.

【Alive? Aren't these all the readers you killed?】

"What nonsense-"

Han Sooyoung looked at the kkoma Kim Dokja in the audience. A number so large that it cannot be contained at a glance. The number was greater than all the readers in this world combined.

No way?

The moment when Han Sooyoung, who was in great shape, was about to open her mouth to Asmodeus.

「"What are you going to do if you go through the first portal and find Kim Dokja again, who is not good enough? Are you going to believe that the dog is Kim Dokja this time?"」

A familiar story was heard from somewhere.

「"And the fragments of Kim Dokja who imagined that kind of ending, I will go to each and every one of them and torment them until they come up with a proper ending."」

These were all things she said.

「"I'm going to catch that guy somehow and bring him back. 49%, 51%, I'm tired of playing games of numbers. I have to get 100% now."」

After hearing her story, kkomas Kim Dokja were asking her questions.

「Why did you throw away 49%?」

Her hair stood up. A chill that feels like it's freezing to the bone. It seemed as if the entire world was against her.

Han Sooyoung resisted the fear and opened her mouth.

She didn't give up.

She wanted to say that. But she couldn't write down her words.

The probability of the Star Stream was holding her back.

Asmodeus laughed.

【Do you understand now?】

Amidst the sound of the projector running, the questions of kkomas Kim Dokja resounded like a spinning song.

「Why did you throw him away?」

Han Sooyoung realized.

'It seems that they have the same thoughts as him.'

This story has been going according to Asmodeus's script for a long time.

「"They are no longer Kim Dokja. They are people who were living in a different world. They each had their own lives."」

「"You called me."」

「"I didn’t call you, though?"」

What she didn't do.

「"Do you think the countless Kim Dokjas who lost their sense of self in the process of collecting Kim Dokja’s fragments will also support your cause?"」

What <Kim Dokja Company> did not do.

「"That guy can’t be the Kim Dokja we know."」

A piece of truth cleverly mixed on top of lies. The story is complete.

"What on earth have you done?"

Han Sooyoung stumbled and looked at her audience.

[The story 'Kim Dokja’s Company' begins its storytelling.]

She wanted to let them know.

What you saw wasn't everything. All those words probably didn't mean what you understood.

「"That guy can’t be the Kim Dokja we know."」

Han Sooyoung clearly said that.

「"Just as the 1,863-round me is not the Han Sooyoung you all know."」

In order to properly face the 49% Kim Dokja, they had to admit that he was not the Kim Dokja they knew.

Han Sooyoung said that was the way to treat 49% Kim Dokja as a proper person.

She believed it.

She wrote it from the perspective of an Omniscient Reader. These were sentences that were not written in.

1%, 49%, 51%.

As long as they are <Kim Dokja’s Company>, there is no Kim Dokja who is not precious to them.

She could have said that over and over again. The fact that there is a Kim Dokja in this world that they are looking for does not mean that they are turning away from other Kim Dokjas.

An 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint', she didn't write those words down.

This is because it was not a sentence for just one person, Kim Dokja.

And 49% of Kim Dokja said,

「"I’m sorry."」

Kim Dokja wanted to be the one and only Kim Dokja.

「"I’m sorry, Han Sooyoung."」

Since that couldn't happen, he left them.

He quit being Kim Dokja.

"Kim Dokja, I-"

Han Sooyoung opened her mouth for the first time to defend herself.

They too would understand if they were 'Kim Dokja'. They will understand.

After listening to her story, they will definitely change their mind.

Tsutsutsutsu.

She had to tell a story. She had to write here some sentences that she didn't write down back then.

But she couldn't think of anything.

Han Sooyoung looked blankly at the place where the story existed.

Memories that disappeared when her [Avatar] disappeared.

The only sentences that could persuade readers.

She has now lost those sentences forever.

【This world is such a story. Do you understand?】

Asmodeus was laughing.

【This world does not want you. Because you are the villains of this world.】

It was all viewpoints.

Kkoma Kim Dokja is a very small fragment of 'Kim Dokja'. In other words, the stories they read and believe in become the power of this world.

It becomes probable.

Tsutsutsutsutsu-

The brilliant aura that flowed from the center of the theater was the right hand of Asmodeus.

【So, please stop and die.】

Han Sooyoung saw Asmodeus like that, and saw the readers beyond him, and she thought of the one person who would be watching this whole story.

"Good."

Han Sooyoung laughed.

"After all, I've always been the villain."

As she took a deep breath, she could feel her broken body. Now, the probability that was given to her was limited.

[The constellation 'Lotus Blooming Under the Moonlight'...]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer'...]

But she was still a writer, and she still had stories to tell.

「"Maybe Kim Dokja's tastes have changed? The stories you wrote are no longer interesting."」

Remembering Lee Hakhyun's words, Han Sooyoung held on tightly to the Unbreakable Faith left behind by Kim Dokja.

What kind of story did Kim Dokja want to see when he came here?

She does not know.

Perhaps even Kim Dokja himself doesn't know.

He is the most helpless god in this universe, unable to do anything but read and reread one story.

"Go for it, Asmodeus."

Han Sooyoung decided to begin her final story for her god.

She said, "Because this time I will take your breath away."

rlaehrwk37: Save me Kim Dokja

---

I ran through the wind and rain.

Black and blue lightning struck continuously in the dark cloud-covered sky.

All kinds of thoughts ran through my head.

Maybe it's already too late.

If it is not too late, what can we do to stop Yoo Joonghyuk?

As I ran until my thighs exploded, I thought of the 'Ways of Survival' in my head.

Just as Kim Dokja came up with the 'Ways of Survival' whenever he got stuck in a scenario.

[The skill cannot currently be activated.]

Ways of Survival was blocked. Why?

I had an ominous feeling. Deafening thunder shook the entire area.

Bright blue thunderbolts falling one after another.

A huge and probable aftermath was brewing.

There was an incarnation glimpsed in the center of the storm.

I muttered her name absentmindedly.

"Han Sooyoung?"

Her body, which had turned pitch black, was falling to the ground.

672 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (8)

---

With the explosion, thick dust rose from the ground.

"Han Sooyoung!"

I ran to the center of Gwanghwamun where Han Sooyoung fell. No matter how many times I shouted, there was no answer from Han Sooyoung.

Coo coo coo coo.

The 'Absolute Throne' at the center of Gwanghwamun was rising into the air.

【Ooooooooooooo.】

A faint cry was heard from far away.

It was undoubtedly a deity from another world.

Fortunately, the sound was too far away so I didn't vomit blood or faint, but the seriousness of the situation was clear.

「This is something that did not happen in the previous 'Absolute Throne''s scenario.」

The outer gods' intervened.

Did Han Sooyoung fight something like that?

Why?

Hasn't she been trying to destroy this world?

"Han Sooyoung!"

I shouted once again, but Han Sooyoung was still nowhere to be seen. When the dust cleared, I saw the figure of Yoo Joonghyuk in the distance.

The guy was in a limp state, as if he had fainted.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

Yoo Joonghyuk's whole body was connected to a red thread extending from the 'Absolute Throne'.

The soaring Absolute Throne and the fallen Yoo Joonghyuk.

Very slowly, the distance between Yoo Joonghyuk and the throne was narrowing.

[The 'Throne Succession Ceremony' begins.]

The series of constellations continued.

Founder of the Absolute Throne. It was the will of that outer god.

"Hey, look at that!"

"It’s Yoo Joonghyuk!"

The surrounding incarnations, who discovered the sight belatedly, shouted loudly.

["Wow, things are getting fun. Then, we will come to the finale of this scenario."]

To make matters worse, the dokkaebi Paul appeared and activated a sub-scenario.

[A new sub-scenario has arrived.]

<Sub Scenario - Stealing the Throne>

Category: Sub

Difficulty: A

Clear Condition: A new king will soon be born on the Korean Peninsula. Subdue Yoo Joonghyuk, the incarnation who is trying to sit on the throne, and usurp the 'absolute throne'.

Time limit: 30 minutes

Reward: 7,000 coins

Failure: —

[Now, everyone. This is your last chance. Will you witness the king's coronation, or will you become the usurper of the throne?]

The intermediate dokkaebi burst into laughter as if enjoying this whole situation.

[The constellation 'Bald General of Justice' diligently wipes his head.]

[The constellation 'Maritime War God' sighs and looks at the throne.]

[The constellation 'Founder of Hangul' is silent with a sad face.]

[The constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' stares at the god of the other world.]

[The constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' mocks that no one has courage!]

Although the constellations were afraid of the scenery, they did not take their eyes off it.

Even though the scenario was presented, none of the incarnations moved easily.

It was natural.

The person who inherits the throne now is the supreme incarnation, Yoo Joonghyuk.

There was no one who could challenge him, who single-handedly overthrew all kings.

Only one person.

"Yoo Joonghyuk!"

Except me.

"Yoo Joonghyuk! Get some sleep! If you sit there, it’s all over!"

I headed toward the throne, defeated the crowd, and approached the throne.

It must be stopped. It can be prevented. It is not too late.

"Ahjussi."

What held me back was that.

"That’s it."

A slender girl holding a long sword.

"Lee Jihye."

Yoo Joonghyuk's royal guard was blocking the path leading to the throne.

"Now, if you cross this line, you’ll die, you know?"

Delusion Demon Kim Namwoon.

In addition, there were groups of people who followed the king.

"The king! Supreme King!"

"He is the new king of the Korean Peninsula!"

A woman with her white hair disheveled was also seen in the center of the group.

Incarnation Lee Seolhwa.

I realized it again.

Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round has already gathered so many colleagues.

This guy didn't rest for a single moment, and was steadily taking steps toward the end of this world.

"I said you couldn’t go."

As soon as I took a decisive step, Lee Jihye pulled out her sword. It wasn't just a threat. If I go one step further now, I will definitely get cut.

Lightning struck from the sky, revealing the appearance of Yoo Joonghyuk, who was much closer to the throne.

Han Sooyoung probably fought to stop it on her own.

The last time I met Han Sooyoung, I spoke smugly to her.

I am also the author of this story.

I'll try to convince you.

I will complete the story you wrote.

So what was the story I wrote?

I looked around Gwanghwamun.

Everything was in ruins.

Dying incarnations wriggled on the floor. The stars in the sky twinkled as if they were mocking me.

I thought I could do well.

I believed I knew the whole story too.

[The exclusive skill 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World' activates intermittently.]

Sentences of 'Ways of Survival' heard rarely.

Perhaps this skill is a memory Han Sooyoung gave me.

I smiled bitterly out of frustration.

If I didn't have this skill, I would have died early.

As I slowly took another step forward, Lee Jihye’s sword, which had been pulled out at the same time, reached me.

"If you move any further, I’ll have no choice but to cut you down."

While Yoo Joonghyuk was building his story, where and what was I doing?

「Obviously, there were a lot of stories I wanted to tell.」

I wanted to talk about characters who didn't receive attention in the main story. The lives of extras. I wanted to write a story for those who were forgotten in Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint and could not leave a single line of sentences.

I wanted to save Yoo Joonghyuk from the 41st round.

「Was any of them correct?」

For the first time, I realized my lack of talent as a writer.

"I am."

「I couldn't change this story.」

I took one more step, looking straight at Lee Jihye's sword.

「If this is my karma for ruining the story.」

Lee Jihye's eyes, having decided on something, were colored with a harsh light. The moment when the girl's sword rushed towards me with the sound of cutting the wind.

"Jihye-ssi."

Someone grabbed Lee Jihye's blade.

"Please let Inho-ssi pass."

She was a woman shorter than me.

"Inho-ssi has work to do."

The moment I heard her voice, a small warmth lingered deep in my heart.

[Fable 'Recorder of things that will disappear' begins its storytelling.]

Warmth soon became a sentence.

「The reader who was more scared than anyone else was there.」

Kyung Sein. The second reader I met. Among the characters, the person who likes Jung Heewon the most. He is someone who grew up because he wanted to become strong like Lee Hyunsung.

He must have suffered so much during this time that his body was full of wounds.

"Sein-ssi."

With a trembling body, Kyung Sein looked back at me.

"Inho-ssi."

No matter how strong Kyung Sein became, his opponent was the protagonist of this story.

There is no match for him physically.

Nevertheless, Kyung Sein did not back down.

"I don’t want to see this world destroyed."

Lee Jihye's expression hardened towards me, who listened to those words blankly.

"Are you going to fight us now?"

Her cold magic boiled over in her swordplay. This sword of wisdom, imbued with a deep blue sword, moved.

"Do you know how strong I am?"

If you get hit by something like that, no matter how powerful you are, you cannot avoid fatal injuries.

The moment Kyung Sein, embarrassed, hugged me and bent down, someone struck Lee Jihye's sword and derailed its trajectory. Someone kicked Lee Jihye’s blade.

"What-"

Lee Jihye stepped away while holding her wrist. Kim Namwoon, who was watching the scene, smiled with a happy attitude.

"Oh, what? This is getting fun?"

「There was a reader there who had read more novels than anyone else.」

Literature Girl 64.

Cha Yerin activated [combat action mode] and struck down Lee Jihye's sword.

"Yerin. What is the time limit?"

"3 minutes."

"We have to finish it within that time."

"That’s enough."

「There was a reader there who wanted to be Yoo Joonghyuk more than anyone else.」

Killer King Ja Sungwoo stretched out his hand to me who was sitting on the floor and said.

"Wake up, Kim Dokja."

Even during this time, I stood up while holding his hand, who did not lose sight of the concept.

Lee Jihye growled.

"Are you serious? Do you all want to die?"

"No one wants to die."

「There was a reader there who wanted to see the ending of this world without sacrificing anyone.」

Lee Dansu, who was carrying Shin Yoosung, put his hand on my shoulder and said,

"Everyone gathered here so that no one would die."

What was so funny about those words? Kim Namwoon, the delusional demon, burst out laughing.

"Hahaha! That’s fun! It’s something you often see in novels."

For a moment, the delusional demon’s sword made a sharp sound and looked at us. Magical power overflowed throughout his body.

"Tell me some great lines like that too, huh?"

As the delusional demon approached in an instant and stretched out his fist, Yerin's body floated in the air.

Kim Namwoon laughed after blocking the arrow fired by the enraged Killer King with his forearm.

"That toy looks fun."

Black Flame stretched out from Kim Namwoon's hand and burned Killer King's bowgun. What saved the siblings, who were suddenly in danger, was a bullet flying from somewhere.

"Second apostle! Get down!"

「There was also a reader there who was more rational than anyone else, but was actually more passionate than anyone else.」

The smoke from the cannonballs covered the area along with the sound of doo-doo-doo-doo.

Ye Hyunwoo ran through the dust and supported his companions. Gong Pildu covered behind him. I also saw Max the dog barking next to me.

"Pierce it! You must never give up the throne!"

With Ye Hyeonwoo's command, the troops of Chungmuro ran shouting.

But the opponents were Lee Jihye and Kim Namwoon.

"Let's go!"

"Kaaaaaaak!"

People who lost limbs in a single slash screamed. Cha Yerin and Killer King. Lee Dansu and Kyung Sein also joined.

However, they have already overcome the scenario and have exhausted a lot of their stamina.

There was no way they could properly deal with Lee Jihye and Kim Namwoon.

"Inho-ssi, run!"

I ran on the path that they had made for me.

Lee Jihye shouted.

I left behind the dizzying fear of life and quickened my steps. Even though I broke through the two lines of resistance, there were still many troops protecting Yoo Joonghyuk.

All of this was the history built up by Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round.

"Stop him."

Following Lee Seolhwa's self-righteous command, Yoo Joonghyuk’s followers waved their military flags.

"Kill him! He’s trying to assassinate the king!"

Even if [Incite] was used, it was a difficult number to handle. To force these people to step down through [Incite], I may not have enough magic power to destroy the 'absolute throne'.

It was then that a disturbing noise was heard from the left side of the troops.

"Kaaaaaaaa! What!"

A crowd was running, breaking the ranks of followers.

"Aaaah! Brother Inho!"

A man who bumped his body here and there and pushed in like a tank.

A mother and daughter were also seen swinging kitchen knives to the left and right of the man.

"Bang Cheolsoo!"

As if responding to my shout, Bang Cheolsoo opened the road with a loud shout.

"Go!"

The way to the absolute throne was opened.

「The people that Lee Hakhyun saved were there.」

I ran the road they opened for me.

「As if to say that his story is not wrong.」

The people who lived such a sloppy story. Those who willingly accepted the clumsy changes I wrote, opened the path for me to run.

It was then that something crashed into the center of the road.

A spirit that takes your breath away just by looking at it. A huge shadow as if Mount Tai was blocking my view.

"Inho-ssi. I can't allow you to advance any more."

Yoo Joonghyuk's strongest shield, Lee Hyunsung.

His large right hand moved towards my head. It was [Smashing Mount Tai].

I instinctively raised my magic power. If I am hit by that attack, I will be at least seriously injured.

I quickly lowered my head to avoid his right hand. But his left hand was waiting below him. The [Taesan Push] embedded in the shield was pushed exactly in the direction I was avoiding. It was an unavoidable blow. The moment I opened my mouth to activate [Incite].

A loud noise exploded before my eyes.

When I rolled on the floor and looked forward, the first thing I saw was Lee Hyunsung's shocked face.

"How-"

The steel shield that Lee Hyunsung was holding was split in half and rolling on the floor. Something had pushed Lee Hyunsung's attack and shattered his shield.

I also understood his feelings.

At this point, the only incarnation with that level of power is Yoo Joonghyuk.

「And there was a sword protecting him.」

However, in this 41st round, there was another incarnation with such power.

"Look at this. This is what happens when you leave me and go alone."

The only incarnation in this world who is not afraid of Yoo Joonghyuk's sword.

「The only sword that protected Kim Dokja in the third world line.」

I said her name.

"Heewon-ssi."

"I'll ask you what happened later, so get up first. There's something you have to do, right?"

Jung Heewon, the judge of destruction, raised me up and spoke.

"Do your job. I will deal with that big guy."

"Stop!"

Lee Hyunsung stretched out his hand in embarrassment, and Jung Heewon swung her sword at him.

The strongest sword and the strongest shield collided, causing harsh vibrations to echo throughout the area.

After leaving the fight between the two behind, I looked up into the sky.

The distance between the absolute throne that was soaring high into the sky and Yoo Joonghyuk was not much now.

There was no time to hesitate.

"I will receive a hidden scenario reward."

[Pending 'Hidden Scenario' rewards will be paid.]

[You have hunted a disaster for the first time in a scenario!]

[An incredible achievement has been achieved!]

[90,000 coins were obtained!]

[The management bureau grants you a scenario privilege.]

[You can choose one of the items below as a reward.]

[Black Flame Half Armor: SSS grade]

[Sylphid's Leaping Boots: SSS grade]

[Fire Dragon Egg: SS grade]

A mental list of perk items.

I answered without even reading the entire list.

"Sylphid’s Leaping Boots."

An item that Kim Dokja did not choose. But for me now, it was an item I needed more than anything else.

[Obtained 'Sylphid’s Leaping Boots '!]

My toes felt cool and a gentle breeze wrapped around my ankles.

[Special option: Activates leap.]

I just stepped into the air with all my might. As I rose all the way to the sky, Yoo Joonghyuk was finally right in front of me.

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

Now I have arrived.

However, I was not yet ready to crush the absolute throne. This was because there was no one to speak up for the proclaimers.

So, for now, I grabbed Yoo Joonghyuk. I thought it was distance that separated him from the throne, but the moment I held on to the guy's arm with all my strength, the space in front of my eyes suddenly shuddered.

[The 'Theatre of the Beginning' is activated.]

My vision swirled as if I was being sucked into a wall. When I came to my senses from dizziness. I was thrown into an unfamiliar place.

—Yoo Joonghyuk! Yoo Joonghyuk!

—Now the era of supremacy begins!

People's shouts heard through old speakers. I blinked and saw a huge screen. The scenery of Gwanghwamun was projected on the screen.

I looked at the scene blankly and slowly turned my head.

The familiar darkness of the theater captivated me. Hundreds of seats that glow in the dark. Hundreds of readers occupied those seats.

【You've finally arrived.】

The kkomas Kim Dokja were looking at me. Some have a flushed face, some have a sad face.

In the center of them, someone was talking and clapping his hands at the wall.

【Our abandoned protagonist.】

As expected, he was someone I knew well.

Representative Kim Dokja stood up with a face full of joy and said.

【Let us welcome '49% Kim Dokja' with joy.】

673 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (9)

I stared blankly at the audience, like an actor who forgot his lines.

What did I just hear?

【I can't tell you how fortunate I am that you came to this world line. Don’t we all think so?】

The kkomas Kim Dokja didn't answer anything. Just looking at me without saying anything positive or negative.

Representative Kim Dokja laughed as if he was happy about that.

【Could it be that he still doesn’t know who he is?】

At Representative Kim Dokja's words, languid sighs came from all over the audience.

[The story 'Recorder of Things that will Disappear' begins its storytelling.]

I looked back at the screen. The stories of the lives of myself and the readers were displayed on the screen.

But that wasn't the whole story.

Like the shadows reflected on the cave walls, some scenes were abnormally exaggerated and others were cut out.

The story on the screen was more exciting than the reality I felt, and the target of my anger was clear.

A narrative of good and punishment with clear good and bad roles.

"Has our story been shown this way all this time?"

The image on the screen stopped along with my question. While the kkomas Kim Dokja were talking loudly, Representative Kim Dokja took a step forward.

When I think about it, I still don't know Representative Kim Dokja's purpose. I didn't really know why he brought the readers here or why he was confronting <Kim Dokja's Company>.

【You're right. Because I have to write a 'new story'.】

New story.

Representative Kim Dokja was looking at Yoo Joonghyuk who had fallen on the floor.

【And a 'new story' needs a 'new protagonist'.】

With a beeping sound, the image on the screen changed.

【I remember the first time I saw you.】

What was shown on the screen was the scenery of Geumho Station.

The first scenario, which I also know well - the scene of 'proving our worth'.

「Kim Cheolyang's head exploded with the sound of bub bub buk.」

The people of Geumho Station, Kim Cheolyang and the Life Church were dying after being deceived.

The screen showed a close-up of my facial expression as I smiled in inexplicable joy at the exact moment they died.

For a moment, I had nothing to say.

Clearly the story on this screen has been edited. Nevertheless, that expression was clearly mine.

【Your arrival wasn't something I had planned, but now I think it worked out well.】

The screen kept changing.

A scene which development changed when we met Bang Cheolsoo's gang at Geumho Station.

「"Prove it once."」

The scene where I met Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round and fell into the Han River.

「"It’s definitely Cheon Inho. Then it won’t matter if this woman dies."」

The scene of escaping with Jung Heewon, who has awakened as judge.

[Incarnation 'Jung Heewon'’s characteristics blossom into the character Destroying Judge (Hero).]

The scene where I met the Killer King siblings, defeated the 'Dark Sentinel', and gained 'thoughts of almost everything'.

「"Cheon Inho!"」

When I met Anna Croft in 'Welcome Prison' and confirmed the past of Cheon Inho from the 40th round.

「"The moment you press the reset button, this world does not disappear, but becomes eternal."」

The scene where I met the Seven Apostle Ye Hyunwoo and Gong Pildu in Chungmuro.

「"Cheon In-ho looks like this... He's much more handsome than what I read."」

In the 'Emergency Defense Battle', saving Max by pushing him to the ground.

「"If the monsters hadn’t died here, would this story have been really interesting."」

While clearing the scenario of the theater dungeon, the reader Jung Jaewoo was lost.

「"I don't want to die."」

Until I finally got to the rooftop of the theater and came face to face with Han Sooyoung.

「"Really, is it Han Sooyoung?"」

For a moment, I even forgot about my situation and was absorbed in the memory. It occurred to me that a lot had happened in a short period of time.

There were memories missing between scenes. Memories that are not written down anywhere but remain intact in my head.

The video stopped again and Representative Kim Dokja opened his mouth.

【Because you are the one best suited to end their story.】

I couldn’t figure out who 'they' was referring to.

Did it refer to the characters who died in this rounds, or —when I turned my head, the kkomas Kim Dokja were looking at the screen with their mouths open.

What is written is not everything.

But that doesn't mean that what they saw was a lie.

The kkomas Kim Dokja had a somewhat nostalgic look in their eyes.

I took a deep breath and opened my mouth.

"I’m the main character."

It was a funny story.

If they make a movie with me as the main character, it will 100% fail.

"If you were secretly filming a movie like that, shouldn’t you have gotten my permission first?"

Representative Kim Dokja’s eyes widened at my obvious voice.

"If you’re going to do something like that, first pay the price."

I don't know what they plan to do with me as the main character, but from my point of view, it was best to take advantage of this situation as much as possible. My goal now is to destroy the 'absolute throne.' If I can-

【Haha-】

"…?"

【Ahaha. Ahahahahah!】

A sound of laughter that seems to be driven by mania. Representative Kim Dokja was not the only one laughing.

A few kkomas Kim Dokja were also smiling as if they were having fun.

【Sorry. It's such a hateful and nostalgic reaction.】

"What?

【Great. I'll pay the price. Is this enough?】

[You have won 300,000 coins!]

Coins suddenly poured out of thin air. I looked up into space blankly as golden waves scattered out of nowhere. I had a feeling that something was going wrong.

【By the way. I need to make sure I hired the right actor.】

After a moment of hesitation, his cool tone penetrated my heart.

【Kim Dokja.】

Just a three letter name.

Why does that name that I have called, read, and used countless times sound so painful?

[The attribute 'He who peered into the abyss' is activated.]

I felt dizzy for a moment.

It felt like my body was being sucked down, as if someone had grabbed my ankle and pulled me down.

Not long ago, a memory came to mind when people incited me to be 'Kim Dokja'.

I had a similar experience back then as I do now.

My soul was sucked into the depths of the ocean, like an abyss, and there I heard the stories of readers.

But what I heard there weren’t just readers’ stories.

The image on the screen changed.

「"The person who will read my novel... is not you."」

Kim Dokja spoke in his memory, along with the painful voice of a familiar person and blood drops bouncing on the screen.

「"Han Sooyoung. I'm sorry, but I really don't remember. These days, I also haven't read Ways of Survival."」

'Maybe I really thought, 'maybe it’s not Kim Dokja'.'

<Kim Dokja Company> said.

「"Dokja, can you stand up for a moment? If you keep lying down, your back will be ruined."」

「"How about doing gymnastics with me?"」

「"Is it okay, Ahjussi? I'll at least bring a pack of stories."」

Memories with them.

「"Wow, that's the method you used?"」

「"This recipe was taught to me by a man."」

「"Did you always do all this alone?"」

At the end of the scenario, Kim Dokja was speaking.

「"The other me might not want this. The story... that's where it ended..."」

I was thinking again.

「If I could be reborn, I hope I won’t be Kim Dokja.」

A distant meteor flew with a halo of light. The world became wider and narrower in an instant.

A pale, blue planet.

A meteor fell.

「"I also want to have my own story."」

A child born where the meteor fell burst into tears.

I watched myself crying in my parents' arms for a long time.

【Are you still going to deny who you are?】

"…"

【Aren't you angry? Why did you have to suffer so much?】

【Why did you have to be denounced as a 'fake' and have your position taken away?】

His voice was like a narration heard among distant stars.

【Don't you think we should take revenge on them?】

Memories that come to mind even if I try to deny them.

As several kkomas Kim Dokja shook their heads, sparks flew in the air.

Representative Kim Dokja spoke.

【Now it's your turn.】

His eyes were burning, as if he had been waiting for this moment.

【Prove that you were real. Defeat Kim Dokja's Company and free this world line from their long and boring story. It's about creating the extra paradise you've dreamed of.】

Just then, Yoo Joonghyuk, who had fallen to the floor, wriggled slightly. It seemed like he was slowly regaining consciousness.

【Please stop Yoo Joonghyuk. I will lend you the probability that you are lacking.】

I came here to stop Yoo Joonghyuk. To prevent him from attaining the 'absolute throne' and thus prevent this world's destruction.

【This is your last chance to change the foundation of the universe that oppresses you.】

The foundation of the universe.

The moment I heard those words, I slowly came to my senses. Han Sooyoung's words came to mind.

「"I have come to the 'conclusion' of all these stories. To stop this damn tragedy that won't end!"」

At that time, I was angry after hearing Han Sooyoung's words.

I wanted to ask her why she was stopping me, since they were the ones who twisted the world line of the 'Ways of Survival'.

The people of this world line also deserve to be happy.

Extras in this world also deserve to live their own lives.

Even if the end of this world is predetermined, I wanted to say that it is not a world that she can destroy without care. However,

「Why did Han Sooyoung try to destroy this world?」

The events of this world line occurred but were not recorded.

Everything that happened in this world serves to fill the empty link between 'Ways of Survival' and 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

But what would happen if the ending of this world line changed?

【Now, we are destroying the universe of Kim Dokja's Company.】

I looked down at the theater floor. The floor is tangled with countless footprints of kkomas Kim Dokja.

【The basis of the <Star Stream>, which ruled your fate. It will destroy the ending of the world that only Kim Dokja knew.】

In a corner of my heart, this feeling grew stronger.

Maybe I'm wrong.

Even if the ending of this world changes, the world of <Kim Dokja's Company> may be safe.

Just a branch of a new parallel universe will be born.

It may end with this.

But if that's not the case.

If in return for changing the ending, all the world lines of 『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』 are destroyed.

「What if that was the reason Han Sooyoung tried to stop me?」

When I suddenly raised my head, Representative Kim Dokja was approaching in front of me.

Above his outstretched hand was a sword emitting a dazzling fan.

【Please take it.】

A sword that will change the ending of this world.

It was not the non-awakened 'Death Sword' that I had, but a holy relic Death Sword that had fully awakened.

An item with a medium-sized story shining above the engraved constellations, which can take down the 'absolute throne' right away.

【It's time to end their story with your own hands.】

674 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (10)

"I am."

A thought suddenly occurred to me.

This world is a huge mess.

Depending on who the speaker is, this world becomes a different story and a different reality. And I,

"I cannot receive that sword."

Unfortunately, the reality I believed in was different from that of Representative Kim Dokja.

Representative Kim Dokja's eyebrows furrowed greatly at my reaction.

【That's strange.】

An expression that seemed either puzzled or expected.

【Haven't you always wanted to have your own story?】

In a way, he was right.

Because I am a person who wants my own story, both as a writer and as a reader.

However, right now, I needed to put the boiling memories to rest for a while.

"Why is Representative Kim Dokja trying to make me take this role now?"

I looked at his whole body with fixed eyes. Even at a glance, the level of dignity emanating from him was at an unusual level. If he wanted to, he could destroy the 'Absolute Throne' himself.

But he didn't do that.

Exactly, it cannot be done.

This is probably because, like other constellations, he is affected by the aftereffects of probability.

Even 'Representative Kim Dokja', who has such a powerful status, intervened in the scenario and to destroy the 'absolute throne'.

I can't break it.

So he lends me his power.

It was clear what he wanted in return.

「A story.」

A story that is completed by destroying the absolute throne. This guy is trying to get his share of the story.

Now that I think about it, there was a person similar to him in Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

A being who helped Kim Dokja and received a share of the huge story 'Spring of the Demon World' in return for lending his power to him.

【Hmm.】

The demonic energy flowing from his entire body became hostile for a moment.

I reflexively pulled Yoo Joonghyuk, who had fallen to the floor.

Coo coo coo coo.

As soon as I used his body as a shield, a surge of demonic energy shook the entire theater. Yoo Joonghyuk's whole body trembled like an aspen tree as he was struck by the wave of demonic energy on my behalf.

Yoo Joonghyuk, whose eyes were wide open, glared at me with astonished eyes and then fainted.

Representative Kim Dokja stared at us closely and then laughed.

【No matter how you look at what he's doing, it's Kim Dokja.】

"I'm sorry."

There was no need to show courtesy any more. Because I fully knew that his intentions were impure.

Now I was ready to tell my story.

"I am not Kim Dokja."

I looked at each of the kkomas Kim Dokja and said,

"My name is Lee Hakhyun."

Kkomas Kim Dokja looked at me and tilted their heads and nodded as if they understood. Some showed no reaction at all.

Representative Kim Dokja said.

【That's not the answer we wanted.】

"I guess that's not the answer you wanted."

Representative Kim Dokja twitched the corner of his mouth as if he was interested.

I didn't miss the opportunity and spoke.

"Is it real or fake, revenge or liberation? The words are plausible. But."

I also knew the story of 49% Kim Dokja.

Among the memories I saw, there were also memories that Representative Kim Dokja did not show.

But even if those memories were suddenly my past life, it doesn't feel real.

It was true.

Just as Kim Dokja cannot become Yoo Joonghyuk just because he read a lot of 'Ways of Survival'.

To me, 49% Kim Dokja's story had a distant corner, like a story beyond a wall.

And even if my past life was really that of Kim Dokja—

"Why are you angry on behalf of Kim Dokja?"

The thing that represents that will should not be the thing in front of me.

"Whether he blames <Kim Dokja's Company> or gets angry and takes revenge, that's up to Kim Dokja to decide, at least not for you.

Besides, you don't really sympathize with Kim Dokja. You just want to steal Kim Dokja's story. Just like you did in the last world, in this world you just—"

The demonic energy that slowly flowed out of this guy climbed up the top of my foot like a bug.

But I didn't stop talking.

"You just want to remain as the main story of this world."

Perhaps it was a switch, but the smile on his lips became clear. It was a smile when I felt something different from before.

【Still, I had expectations from you...】

My body stiffened and did not move.

I couldn't tell if it was because of the man's terrible murderous intent or because of his selfishness.

【Let's resume screening.】

The kkomas Kim Dokja who were watching me were suddenly looking at the screen behind me instead of at me.

As I moved my creaking neck and followed his gaze, I saw my image reflected on the screen.

I spoke on the screen.

「"I will accept the Death Sword."」

With a faint sigh, I held the Death Sword on the screen. When I looked forward again, I was actually holding the 'Death Sword' held out by Representative Kim Dokja in my hand.

My body was moving against my will.

[The 'Beginning Theater' resumes screening.]

Only then did I realize the rules of this 'theater'.

Representative Kim Dokja's ability is editing and manipulating images on the screen. And the power of this theater was to develop the story.

However, this level of abnormal coercion clearly defies probability—

[You have received 300,000 coins in return.]

[Your body follows the narration’s commands.]

Damn it. Was it something like that?

【The scenario has already been completed. Please accept your role obediently.】

My joints creaked like a broken doll.

I looked down at Yoo Joonghyuk, who had fainted.

The sword held in my right hand cried. The story of the other world embedded in the sword was giving orders.

「Cut it.」

I held the sword with both hands.

「The air.」

A faint string of constellations was visible above Yoo Joonghyuk's head.

That thread would be the link to the 'Absolute Throne'.

【It's for the future of this world.】

Both hands were shaking violently. My strength to not cut and the power of the story to cut were clashing.

If I relax now, many people in this world may be saved.

Not everyone will survive until the final scenario, but at least we will not live in a world where the 'end' is confirmed.

But if that happens, what happens to the characters in other universes?

<Kim Dokja's Company> has repeatedly made a long pilgrimage looking only at Kim Dokja.

What happens at the end?

Is this really the story everyone wants?

The muscles all over my body throbbed as if they were being twisted. Blood appeared in both eyes, and it hurt like someone was squeezing my abdomen. The magic flowing through my veins was boiling as if it were expanding.

「Cut it.」

I was seeing myself moving in real time on the screen.

All the stories shown in this movie theater are fabricated according to Representative Kim Dokja's wishes.

However, he did not have the power to make that story a reality.

I mustered the last of my strength and looked back at my audience.

There were readers there.

The readers all had the same face, but wore different name tags.

Among them, there must be Jung Jaewoo, whom I could not protect.

There will be Jiwoon, the daughter of Lee Dansu, and there will also be a reader who possessed Jung Moonho, the father of Jung Heewon.

They were innocent people.

People who became the audience just because they read this story.

In return for simply learning Kim Dokja's story, they are now deprived of the freedom to see what they want.

「Perhaps there is only one way to solve it.」

I slowly opened my mouth, twisting my twisted lips.

"Really."

I don't know if my story will be heard or not. Still, I didn't stop talking.

"Is this the story you want to see?"

Just like Kim Dokja that day who persuaded the constellations.

"No."

In the deep darkness of the theater, the readers still see Kim Dokja on the screen, not me.

They were watching 'Kim Dokja'.

But I felt they heard my voice.

【Wait. you.】

Representative Kim Dokja, who sensed something was going on, reached out to me and took my hand.

But it was already too late.

"As you all know, this world is a novel."

At that moment, I was grateful that this was a theater. I was grateful that readers gathered here.

I was grateful that I was Cheon Inho.

"A novel that you all know and I also know."

This is a complete fiction that everyone believes to be true.

And if this is fiction.

[The skill 'Incite Lv.10' is activated!]

I had the confidence to tell that fiction better than anyone else.

"From now on, I will tell you the story you want."

When I closed my eyes, memories came to mind.

Memories I ignored.

「Cheon Inho.」

Stories beyond the wall that felt distant, like stories in a novel.

「How long has it been?」

「Very long.」

I collected the stories sentence by sentence.

「I will keep watching.」

It felt like warm snow was piling up every time the sentences touched me. The snow soon piled up on the ground, forming a snowy field.

I now know who Snowfield Kim Dokja was.

「But still, shouldn’t this story not have started?」

The person who read my story. The person who waited for this story to begin more than anyone else

"Well, it shouldn’t be like this."

Preparing a candy to give to Han Sooyoung.

「I am Yoo Joonghyuk.」

Someone who already knew what I wanted to say.

「All the stories I know are stories you also know.」

「The person in front of me right now is not the real you, right?」

Those memories were there all along.

「Hakhyun-ah.」

Kim Dokja in my dreams.

My vague, distant, longed-for origin.

Just as <Kim Dokja's Company> collected fragments to find the one Kim Dokja, I also did the same for my past life that I had forgotten.

「No matter what, this time tell me a happy story.」

If I collect all these memories, will I become myself?

['Incite' exerts powerful power under special conditions.]

I do not know.

All I can do is lie.

A lie that will deceive me, deceive you, and ultimately deceive the world.

「If you believe that lie.」

I felt completely out of breath, and old sadness filled my mind.

Who am I?

Why did I come to this world?

I can now answer that question. My story was answering the question.

"I am 49% Kim Dokja."

My whole body trembled and sparks flew as if I had been electrocuted. Sparks soon flowed to the floor, and then spread like flames to the screen, following the countless footprints left by kkomas Kim Dokja.

The bright blue sparks spread white and colored the entire screen, stained white.

The screen looked like a dazzling snowfield.

One by one, the kkomas Kim Dokja who came to their senses began to look at me. Kim Dokja was reflected in those small eyes.

Kim Dokja was standing in the snowy field that day.

"So I."

49% Kim Dokja was saying this.

"I want to decide my own story."

There was silence, as if heavy snow had fallen. In that silence, Representative Kim Dokja smiled and opened his mouth.

【What on earth are you talking about? Now you think that anyone will believe you when you say such things—】

[rlaehrwk37 supports your story.]

As if taking my first steps on a pure white snowfield, someone looked at me. A very small but definite light. The light was shining towards me.

[rlaehrwk41 supports your story.]

Representative Kim Dokja immediately looked back at the decision.

【What now—】

Like the film in a projector running backwards, the scale of probability was changing.

The restraint of the theater that oppressed me weakened.

If I move my hands, the probability becomes weaker.

[rlaehrwk213 supports your story.]

As I tightened my legs, the possibilities became blurred.

[rlaehrwk99 supports your story.]

[rlaehrwk124 supports your story.]

[A temporary error occurred in the 'Beginning Theater'!]

I slowly turned around and looked at Representative Kim Dokja. Then the kkomas Kim Dokja also saw him and I called him by his real name.

"Asmodeus."

Sensing something was wrong, Asmodeus hardened his expression and lightly snapped his fingers.

[You broke the rules of the theater!]

[The props given to you have been recovered!]

The awakened Death Sword held in my hand disappeared.

But there was one more Death Sword for me.

Although it was not an awakened version of the item obtained as a reward after clearing the Star Labyrinth with the readers, it was nevertheless composed solely of the story of this worldline.

【No one is curious about your story. A crude story about you who has lost your memory and strength—】

In the main story, Kim Dokja borrowed the power of the Bukdu God Army to transform the Sain Tram Point.

But there was no constellation here to help me.

Perhaps no constellation will lend me their strength.

Just one thing,

「There is a constellation connected to me through 'story'.」

He was the constellation that all the stars ignored.

The man who laid down his authority and descended to earth, intending to play out the whole scenario once again.

A star who wanted to change his story more than anyone else.

[The story 'A Persistent Martial Arts Expert' begins its storytelling.]

The story he left behind is embedded in the sword body of 'Sainchamsagum'.

At best, it was a probability of a great person level constellation. A power that can only reveal one of the seven constellations of the Death Sword.

But that power was enough. This is because I now have the potential of readers.

Perhaps I can only use this sword once.

I decided to use that one opportunity here.

When I looked back, I saw a screen containing our story.

I swung my sword straight at the screen.

675 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (11)

Sparks flew out and the screen was torn lengthwise.

[A fatal error has occurred in the Beginning Theater!]

Beyond the torn screen, the darkness of space shimmered pitch black.

A portal that leads to nowhere.

I looked back at the audience one last time. I saw rlaehrwk37 standing up and looking at me.

The Kim Dokja that was the first to support me.

Lee Dansu ahjussi’s daughter, Noh Jiyoon.

"I’ll definitely come back to get you."

Leaving behind Asmodeus' shout, I jumped into the torn screen with Yoo Joonghyuk.

[An error occurred temporarily in the 'scenario'!]

It felt like time and space were swirling and my body was disintegrating into cells.

Nevertheless, I did not let go of my grip on Yoo Joonghyuk.

I thought it was funny.

Yoo Joonghyuk from the 41st round and 49% Kim Dokja. Is there another worst combination like this?

"Don’t die, you bastard."

Once again, my vision fluctuated and I felt like my body was being thrown somewhere.

The transfer was complete. I hit the floor, swallowing the pain that felt like every bone in my body was breaking.

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

Yoo Joonghyuk still said nothing.

Is it because something happened to this guy and he still can't wake up?

"Haven’t you been passed out for too long?"

I managed to catch my breath and looked around. It was good that I escaped from the theater safely. But...

Why did I come to a place like this even though I was away?

A chill slowly seeped into my entire body. Even my breath seemed to freeze. No matter where I look, all I see is pitch black emptiness.

[The area is not a scenario area.]

A world where no stars shine on us. Through the darkness of the universe swallowed up by the distant void, I felt unknown gods looking down on us.

I lifted my head to look up at the sky, mocking our fate that cannot be recorded anywhere.

I saw it all.

[You have been kicked out of the scenario.]

It was like that.

We fell into the 'Great Hall'.

Someone was calling me in the darkness.

[Scenario departure penalty begins.]

---

Han Sooyoung sighed in disgust and looked at her whole body. It was hard to breathe, as if her hand was full of hot water. Blood was constantly leaking from her punctured abdomen, and her left optic nerve was damaged, limiting her vision. Her right shoulder was completely shattered and unusable, and her kneecap was deeply wounded.

It was a wonder that her heart was still beating.

When was the last time she suffered such a serious injury?

She thought that was probably the case in the 1865th round.

When she was hunting the iron-blooded dragon with Yoo Joonghyuk and was waiting for Lee Seolhwa to arrive, exhausted.

When she raised her head, it seemed like she could see the night sky that day. Lying side by side on the tail of the dead dragon, Yoo Joonghyuk spoke in his usual unlucky voice.

「"I should have said I would give the item to you."」

「"That’s not what I’m talking about."」

Han Sooyoung sighed lightly and added her words.

「"I was wondering who would know that we fought here like this."」

After saying that, Han Sooyoung regretted it. Because she was complaining, which was not like her. Han Sooyoung quickly shook her head and opened her mouth.

「"What's the use of telling you this-"」

「"Is that why you were writing a novel?"」

Han Sooyoung was surprised by Yoo Joonghyuk’s calm question.

She knows that she is secretly leaving her records everywhere except to Kim Dokja.

She never spoke.

But it seems like Yoo Joonghyuk already knew .

「"I can’t write everything down."」

The record of 1,865 rounds was incomplete.

She was losing her memories while using [Avatar] in real time, and her colleagues were not in a different situation.

In order to clear the scenario with minimal sacrifice, her companions fought with all their might, and in return, they each lost their stories.

Constant repetition of recording and disappearance.

「"There is no need to record everything."」

The words of a man who remembered more and forgot more than anyone else. Han Sooyoung spoke as if she was resisting.

「"Still, some very important things."」

「"When I repeat regression, I often forget my memories."」

These were the words of Yoo Joonghyuk, who rarely talks about himself. Han Sooyoung listened to him without even realizing it.

「"But memories from previous rounds are not always helpful."」

Han Sooyoung understood what that meant.

She must have many memories that she would like to forget, as she has repeatedly returned over the years.

Some memories would have tortured his emotions, while others would have interfered with his objective judgment.

「"I don’t remember anything. There were times when I found a better way."」

One day, Han Sooyoung may have decided to forget a disturbing memory. In order to clear the scenario, she did not even know how precious that memory was to her.

「"Don’t you want to regain your lost memories?"」

In response to Han Sooyoung’s question, Yoo Joonghyuk thought for a moment and then said.

「"Just because the memory has disappeared, it does not mean that the place where the memory was located has disappeared. And there is a guy who has a better memory than me."」

There was no need to ask who it was.

「"Weren’t you writing the story for him?"」

「"That's right."」

「"Do you think he’s going to blame you for not writing everything?"」

Han Sooyoung could not answer at that time. The answer that she couldn't give back then has now been given to Han Sooyoung.

"If it’s Kim Dokja."

Han Sooyoung thought about Kim Dokja.

Kim Dokja loves stories more than anyone else in the world.

If it were that guy, he would be focusing on the plot that she didn't write about in one way or another.

He will be able to reason between events and discuss the network of meaning on his own.

One day, he might argue with her.

Kim Dokja, who had been complaining for a long time, asking why she wrote it like this and wondering if it was plagiarism from the previous 'Ways of Survival', will finally read the story that she did not write.

He will finally fill in her own sentences, a story better than the words she had to write.

[The constellation 'Lotus Flower Blooming Under the Moonlight' says it would be better to stop coming in.]

[The constellation 'Sneaky Schemer' is worried about you.]

Han Sooyoung slowly raised her body.

She can't fight anymore with this body.

She knew instinctively, the damage was too serious. Not only was it impossible to proceed with a normal scenario, but complete recovery was also impossible without long-term treatment.

So, it was at this point that she left this world. Her foolish obsession is to quit and go back the way she came with her companions.

Finding a way to go back to the first portal prepared by Kim Dokja is also difficult.

It'll be fine.

Tsutsutsu-

A light spark flew as she put her hand in her pocket. When she took out her hand, she was holding a lemon candy that Kim Dokja had given her.

Han Sooyoung looked down at the candy, opened her wrapper, and put the candy in her mouth.

The moment she felt the sweet scent of lemon filling her mouth, Han Sooyoung suddenly understood why Kim Dokja had come to this world.

She understood why this world should exist.

「"There were times when I couldn’t remember something and found a better way in the next round."」

At the same time, she also realized why she had to come to this world.

Han Sooyoung looked up at the night sky.

Swirling Great Hall.

Her star didn't really look like they had disappeared somewhere, but she could imagine her own star.

She felt the star's gaze.

Han Sooyoung thought about the last sentence she would write.

---

How on earth can we return to the original scenario?

No matter how much I thought about it, I couldn't think of a way.

Probably the reason why Yoo Joonghyuk and I ended up here is because of Representative Kim Dokja.

It must be revenge.

The problem is that because of this, we could both end up dead.

A chill overtook my entire body. Cold sweat kept running down my spine.

My heart was pounding like it was going to explode.

Tsutsutsutsu-

A feeling of fear as if my existence would disappear at any moment. All I could do was close my lips and hold my breath.

[You are currently outside the scenario area.]

[Your body is currently in a very critical state.]

I knew very well what this was foreshadowing. It was like this when Kim Dokja was first thrown into the demon world.

—Damn! Butter for just 10, no, 15 minutes. Got it?

Is it a miracle?

Bihyung’s voice echoed distantly from somewhere.

—I'll connect the channel somehow and summon you again, so just wait...

But the voice quickly stopped and the cold came again.

I looked back at Yoo Joonghyuk in a spasm of consciousness.

I'm like this too, but what about Yoo Joonghyuk?

[The 'Tales of the Other World' protects this incarnation.]

Should I say it's a blessing among misfortunes?

Yoo Joonghyuk, who is about to ascend to the absolute throne, is temporarily connected to the 'Divine God of the Other World'.

It was in a state of being done.

In other words, the 'Divine God of the Other World, which was connected to him, was also bearing the penalty for leaving the scenario.

How many minutes passed like that?

[A temporary channel has been created.]

I heard a short message in my head.

Has Bihyung returned?

A picture of hope sprang to life in my head.

All I have to do is somehow receive a sub-scenario. If I only receive the scenario, I can prevent the collapse of my existence, just as Kim Dokja maintained the legend in the demon world.

[The constellations of the Nebula <Asgard> are looking at you.]

...Asgard?

[The Nebula <Asgard> says they will provide you with a sub-scenario if you join as an incarnation under Asgard.]

I dreamed of sudden luck.

[If you accept this offer, you will not be able to refuse 'Asgard's' orders for the next 200 years.]

I opened my mouth in a daze, even forgetting to close it.

There wasn't even one suggestion.

[The constellations of the Nebula <Olympus> are looking at you.]

[The constellations of the Nebula <Olympus> will help if you become an incarnation of Olympus.]

[If you accept this offer, you will become the slave incarnation of the Nebula 'Olympus' for the next 50 years.]

I laughed out loud.

I felt like I finally understood Kim Dokja's anger towards the Nebulae.

"I refuse."

In my arrogance of having read all of this story, I had momentarily forgotten what the constellations were.

These were the constellations.

A tribe that exploits the lives of incarnations for their own pleasure, regardless of means or purpose.

[The constellations of the Nebula <Asgard> are ashamed of your refusal.]

[The constellations of the Nebula <Olympus> sigh at your foolishness.]

Is it a penalty for rejecting the offer?

Suddenly, the chill that I felt throughout my body became even stronger.

I activated [Incite] while tightly hugging my trembling shoulders.

Somehow.

All I have to do is hold out until Bihyung returns.

"I am Kim Dokja…"

Is it because of the wildly bouncing sparks? [Incite] did not activate properly.

Instead, Kim Dokja's memories came to mind in the movements of my closed eyes.

「"Two years is longer than amortization."」

I couldn't tell when that memory was from.

Memories that do not exist in ORV.

Someone said in my memory.

「"In a little while, I will spend more time with you than with the Kim Dokja I know.」

I guess I'll lose."」

I looked around, gnawing away at that memory.

「"If the real 'me' returns, what happens to 'me' now?"」

In my memories, I was both happy and unhappy.

「"Just because another I exist does not mean that 'I' disappear."」

「"You can believe that there are 1,864 more of those bastards!"」

The reason I am happy is because it was Kim Dokja, and the reason I am unhappy is because it was Kim Dokja.

I muttered as I held my hand toward the blurry memories.

"I am..."

It was then that someone shook my shoulder.

Little by little, warmth spread throughout my body, and the cold that surrounded me gradually subsided. The memories that had swirled like a fierce snowstorm calmed down.

When I opened my eyes, someone was looking at me.

"Are you okay?"

I looked up at her blankly.

Is it a dream? I shook my head several times, but it wasn't a dream.

The story was being told through a small hand holding my shoulder. The warm and gentle sentences written by someone who loves this world were being conveyed to me in their entirety.

"Han Sooyoung."

Han Sooyoung looked at me blankly.

"You..."

Just as I read her story, she also read mine.

She muttered for a while and then opened her mouth.

"…Kim Dokja?"

I understood the faint anticipation and despair contained in that question. So my answer was decided.

"It’s been a while, Han Sooyoung."

676 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (12)

Han Sooyoung looked at me. And she smiled and answered.

"You’re good at lying, you."

It doesn't work after all.

Well, there is no way that Han Sooyoung, who is not just anyone else, would not recognize 'Kim Dokja'.

Stories constantly flowed from Han Sooyoung’s fingertips, warming the surroundings. I felt as warm as when I was handed a cup of warm tea by Kim Dokja in the snowy field.

"How did you get here?"

There was only one way to get here from the scenario area on Earth.

"Have you crossed the Great Hall?"

Risking her life to cross the 'Great Hall'.

But why would she? For what reason?

Instead of answering, Han Sooyoung looked up at the sky.

Something like an opaque barrier appeared between the pitch-black sky. There were things shaking as if they were walls.

I immediately realized what they were.

A deity from another world.

These are also higher-level beings that I had never seen before.

It wasn't even just one.

A number so big that it covers the entire sky.

If just one of them lands in front of me, it will be fatal.

"Don’t worry. They can’t get over."

Han Sooyoung added without the slightest trace of fear.

"Even though this is an area on the outskirts of the scenario, those with a certain level of status will never be able to cross that 'Void Curtain'. And-"

The moment she finished speaking, I felt like something was trying to break through the curtain.

The moment a long tentacle pushed out the periphery of the curtain and popped out like a lump of water, a roar rang out from beyond the curtain.

A wave of magical power was seen crossing the opaque curtain.

A trajectory reminiscent of a meteor shower.

The gods of the other world that touched the trajectory were making loud noises and retreating or oxidizing.

"Because there is someone blocking it."

The infinitely deep trust felt in Han Sooyoung’s voice.

I know who is dealing with the gods of this world beyond the veil.

It was the same.

"You said your name was Lee Hakhyun."

I nodded and said.

"Did I make a full introduction?"

"Do you really have to tell me? You know my name too."

That's right.

We've never told each other our names.

Still, I knew hers.

We were telling each other's stories.

"Names are important. All stories are complete only when they are named."

[The story 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' resonates.]

The sentences she wrote and I wrote were chattering in the air.

「"A writer does not have complete control over his novel. When I suddenly look back, there are many holes here and there. In the end, reading is the work of connecting those irregular holes in one's own way."」

The sentences burned in the air and gave off a gentle energy. In this place without any scenarios, only the story was protecting us from the cold.

「"I don't know what you're talking about."」

「"…It means that over time, you can see what you wrote as if it were written by someone else. All humans are ultimately others to themselves."」

Han Sooyoung lit up her stories one by one, as if burning her matches, to provide warmth.

I couldn't ask if she was okay.

Of course she won't be okay.

I said something else.

"I had fun back then."

What did my answer mean?

Han Sooyoung's eyes briefly wavered.

"You remember?"

"How could I forget?"

In a way, that was my memory.

In my past life, I lived those times, and in this life, I wrote about those times, so I have lived them and lived them twice. And now, by reading them, I am living my third life.

I asked as I watched the story unfold in silence.

"Isn’t it a waste?"

Han Sooyoung pursed her lips and said.

"It’s okay now. You read it."

I nodded.

"Because Kim Dokja has a good memory."

"Huh."

We become readers once again, sentences that disappear in flames watched.

In those sentences, Kim Dokja was the king of a kingless world, the one who stood against miracles, the one who killed the king of disaster and the god of the other world, and the demon king of salvation.

"What salvation. Damn salvation."

I burst out laughing without realizing it. Han Sooyoung also smiled.

Regardless of our laughter, Kim Dokja’s story continued.

Liberate the industrial complex, confront the zodiac, confront the constellations of the Gourmet Association, visit the island of the reincarnated, liberate forgotten stories, and be acknowledged by the Last Dragon of the Apocalypse.

In it, Kim Dokja was called by various names.

Muttering the names that were on the tip of our tongues, we told the whole story together as if we were readers of the same person.

"Lee Hakhyun."

Suddenly, when she turned her head, a story burning like a fire was fluttering in her eyes.

「"Kim Dokja! You too, say something! When will I feel like this again?"」

I knew what she was going to say.

She said, "Can I call you 'Kim Dokja' one more time?"

I smiled bitterly.

I was going to say so.

Because lying is what I'm best at in the world.

However.

"Kim Dokja, I'm sorry."

I was suddenly speechless.

Why is this person apologizing to me?

For a moment, a feeling of dizziness struck my head. The box of memories that had been locked deep in the deep sea was opened, and scenes from the past came to mind one after another.

「"Kim Dokja, I'm sorry."」

In 49% of my memories, Han Sooyoung was speaking.

I was going to ask if this had been said before.

But Han Sooyoung was faster.

"I've wanted to tell you several times, but as you know, I'm not good at apologizing."

I looked at Han Sooyoung like that.

"In the 1865th round, it took the group two years to see the end of the scenarios."

During those two years, a lot happened to us while we were overcoming numerous scenarios.

「"What are you sorry about?"」

「"That is."」

「" About you trying to cut my head?"」

My former self said to Han Sooyoung, who lowered her head.

「"I don't mind. When did we stop trying to kill each other?"」

「"That was back then. Now—"」

「"If I were you, it would be the same. If Han Sooyoung had suddenly said that she actually plagiarized 'Ways of Survival', she would have been beheaded right away."」

「"Ah, if you still say that..."」

2 years is not short. We talked a lot during those two years. I have come close to death several times. We ate the dishes prepared by Yoo Joonghyuk together.

「"But I’m sure I almost killed you."」

In that world, 49% of Kim Dokja received what the original Kim Dokja should have received.

I went to the Han River and the sea with my group and ate chicken and pizza.

Although we did not live together in a very large house, we lived in that world together in a clear form. With them, I saw the completion of another world.

Han Sooyoung was speaking at the end of the world.

「"I will die for you at least once."」

The girl from the past who spoke as if she had multiple lives was now in front of my eyes.

"Sorry."

She was repeating the same apology again. As if she had never apologized before.

Why?

Didn’t the whole story end at the 1865th round?

「"I had an alter ego that I created when I first used [Avatar]... I guess I gave away too many memories, but it suddenly became out of control and I couldn’t retrieve it."」

It was only when I saw the story disintegrating into flames before my eyes that I suddenly realized it.

I see, she is.

「"I don’t know. But seeing as I'm fine now, it must have been a trivial memory."」

She has lost her memory.

「It’s because of Kim Dokja.」

Thus, she became a person who could never forgive herself.

I was trying to say something but was hesitant.

The me of today and the me of yesterday are different. Moreover, between 49% Kim Dokja and me, there was a much thicker wall of today and yesterday.

As time passed, Kim Dokja became me.

To what extent can the person I am now represent the person I was in my past life?

"I’m not asking you to forgive me, you know. That’s the kind of person I am."

If Han Sooyoung doesn't remember the story, wouldn't staying quiet do it for now?

"I’m sorry about that too."

We paused for a moment and looked at the burning waterway of the snowflake.

Suddenly everything seemed funny.

She has forgotten her own memories and I cannot fully remember my past life either.

We, who are strangely similar, are speaking on behalf of our past selves who no longer exist.

"You tried to kill me."

Can one human being truly forgive another human being?

"I did."

Can past mistakes be forgiven in the future?

Can Kim Dokja from a past life become Lee Hakhyun now?

"That."

Perhaps it was a very easy forgiveness.

Just as Yoo Joonghyuk, who tried to kill Kim Dokja, was forgiven. I could have moved on as if nothing had happened.

But I could tell.

That's not what Han Sooyoung wants now.

"I can’t forgive it, you know?"

Han Sooyoung smiled.

As if she was finally satisfied with never being forgiven.

「"Do you really think I’m an emotionless monster?"」

Han Sooyoung was seen running towards the Demon King of Salvation amidst the flames.

I was starting to get worried.

No matter how strong Han Sooyoung is, it would be dangerous if she lost stories anymore.

"Excuse me."

Cuckoo goo goo.

It was then that this happened in the sky.

Something was popping out near the void curtain that had been shaking earlier.

Han Sooyoung shook her head and reassured me.

"Don’t worry. Like I said before-"

There was a very faint sound of the curtain being torn, and something really came out.

Too small for a 'god from another world'.

I saw something resembling a human spreading black wings in the air.

"Han Sooyoung."

Han Sooyoung’s expression hardened.

"That’s—"

The humanoid god spread its wings in the sky and descended towards us.

Its form was small, but it didn't feel weak.

However, the ´Void Curtain' is a barrier that is affected by probability. Absolute beings of overwhelming status can never overcome that wall.

「What if there was an entity that could control its status enough to pass through the 'veil'?」

【Ooooooooo】

A cry that gives goosebumps.

I had no idea that I would even meet a god from another world in a situation where there was no scenario.

"I know what kind of guy he is."

Appearance of a human skeleton.

If you look closely, you can see the high neck and arms.

The backstory of various cultures was being shut down. Mold decorations that change every time the wings move.

Tsutsutsutsu!

A diamond shining brightly at the center of the crown on his head

Only then did I realize his identity.

"He is the one who created the absolute throne."

The reason why he came directly under the Void Veil was clear. It must be to find an 'agent' to inherit his throne. As it were,

"Yoo Joonghyuk."

It felt like the puzzles scattered around my head were coming together in an instant.

No way, the reason this person was so eager was.

"You."

Han Sooyoung stepped forward and said.

"You said you wanted to prevent the destruction of this world."

I could hear a strange heat in her voice. As I stood next to her, an unknown smile appeared on her lips.

"Even if Yoo Joonghyuk sits on the 'absolute throne', there is a way that this world will not be destroyed."

In the 41st round, Yoo Joonghyuk spoke through disaster Shin Yoosung.

If you use the 'Absolute Throne', you will never see the right ending.

This is because the 'Absolute Throne' is the passage that connects to the 'God of the Other World'.

Then,

"Is that possible?"

What would happen if we eliminated the reason why the 'absolute throne' is the 'absolute throne'?

"It’s possible if I help."

I slowly grasped the hilt of the sword as I watched the otherworldly god coming down from the air.

There are two authors here.

But there is only one sentence to write.

"Here we'll kill the 'founder of the absolute throne'."

677 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (13)

Two men stood in the pitch-black darkness. The corpses of the miserably severed tentacles were floating around them.

They were all otherworldly gods floating on the void veil.

Yoo Joonghyuk said after wiping away the black blood on the Black Heavenly Blade.

"You missed one guy."

A somewhat disapproving, scolding voice.

Then the man standing on the other side frowned.

"I guess I missed it."

The man wearing rags looked down at the empty curtain, calming the excitement flowing from his body.

The one who just ran away is now under that curtain.

"It’s hard to tear it open even with my stab."

The Void Veil.

The <Star Stream> was created to protect the scenario area from foreign interruption.

Only the Outer God who laid down his status by paying a great deal of probability is the only one who was able to go down.

The man looked down at the curtain and lightly pursed his lips.

"If you really want to destroy it, there's nothing I can't do."

"Then there will be hunting dogs targeting you."

"Do you think I'll be scared of hunting dogs?"

Yoo Joonghyuk did not answer.

Because the man in front of him was fully qualified to say those words.

There are probably not more than ten beings in the entire universe who can match him.

"Anyway, did you bring me here just to deal with these guys?"

"There are stronger gods. You know the <Star Stream> too much."

"I came along expecting to find a place to destroy. If it continues like this, I will leave first."

After the man muttered that, he closed his eyes with his arm as a pillow, as if he was annoyed.

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at the man for a moment and then found sparks that faintly gathered around them.

Tsutsutsutsu-

Outside the Void Veil, the influence of Probability is lowered.

Nevertheless, the signs of probability aftermaths showed that the <Star Stream> recognized them as a great threat.

'It will be difficult to descend on this world line for the time being.' Yoo Joonghyuk glared at the void curtain.

Although he couldn't clearly see beyond the opaque curtain, there were definitely two people he knew underneath it, and he could hear the sound of another god from another world from the distance.

After grabbing the hilt of his sword, Yoo Joonghyuk muttered something quietly, not knowing to whom he was addressing it.

"Don’t die."

---

I don't know about other writers, but the first thing I consider before writing a story is one thing.

Is this a solvable case or an impossible case?

Most of them create incidents that can be solved somehow. Otherwise, long-term serialization will become difficult.

However, for any writer, there comes a moment when they have to take on an 'impossible event'.

【Ooooooooooo-】

For me, it was now.

Someone who makes my stomach tingle just by looking at him from afar.

There was no way I could face such a monster with a sober mind.

"You can do it. The main character grows up fighting things like that."

I nodded.

Perhaps Han Sooyoung has already faced numerous otherworldly gods. So, a guy like that-

"I’ll tell you in advance, I can’t be the main character."

Han Sooyoung's incarnation body was definitely a mess. Even at a glance, I could see that the bones all over her body were elaborately twisted or broken.

"Instead, I will lend you my story. Now, go and fight, protagonist."

I looked at her in bewilderment.

The 'God of Another World' currently descending from the sky was a high-level entity I had never met before.

But you want me to fight that thing alone?

It was absurd.

"It is possible."

[The story 'Predictive Plagiarism' resides in your incarnation.]

The next moment, numerous Lee Hakhyun thoughts began to appear in my head.

「If the god of the other world came down from under the veil, it would mean that he sacrificed his 'status' to that extent.」

「There is a possibility that it is a clone and not the main body.」

「It might be the strongest enemy I've ever encountered, but that doesn't mean I can't deal with it.」

Han Sooyoung's story that flowed through my body gave me strength.

Now that I think about it, I forgot. The god of another world is strong, but Han Sooyoung is also strong.

Moreover, if it is an area outside of the scenario, as it is now, her original story will also exert a power that transcends probability.

Coo coo coo coo coo.

I applied my thoughts to my whole body as if testing a medium-sized story.

'Thoughts.'

The appearance of 'thought' changed with my command.

['Blade of Faith' is activated!]

I swung my sword at the 'founder of the absolute throne' who had approached me pointedly.

A strike that is dozens of times faster and more accurate than my usual attack. It felt like the Sword Master I had only heard about had possessed me.

Is that why?

Suga garak.

It was shallow. Although it was shallow, it definitely felt like something was being cut by the tip of the knife.

【Oooooh-】

The guy let out a loud cry. It felt deafening and nauseating. My entire body's hairs rose, and the goosebumps that ran down my spine did not stop.

The cause was obvious.

「The King's Tale.」

The story of a king who subjugates all living things was pouring out from his entire body.

My legs were shaking. The compulsion to kneel down immediately took hold of my mind.

This is the power of the founder of the Absolute Throne.

But I threw it away. I was able to endure it.

'I don’t know why.'

It may be because of Han Sooyoung’s story. It may be because the one who crossed the veil was considerably weakened, or it may be because I have already experienced hunting a god from another world once.

Either way, what is certain is that we need to make this situation 'solvable'.

【Dare】

When I did not kneel easily, a dazzling blade appeared in the founder's hand. At first glance, it was a dangerous relic that had the shape of a great sword.

"Watch out! It’s Excalibur!"

With Han Sooyoung’s warning. A storm of terrifying stories raged before my eyes.

Oh oh oh oh oh-

The souls that died under the sword screamed horribly. Normally, it was a terrifying blow that would have made me part of them too.

But now I am different.

[The story 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' continues.]

The stories we wrote were protecting us.

「"Kim Dokja! Damage!"」

I saw the trajectory of the attack that would normally be invisible.

Sugagak!

Having narrowly escaped the storm of stories, I held onto my sword and slashed horizontally.

"Keep going! Don’t give him any time to rest."

Sparks flew from its shins and a roar erupted. It worked.

"He is a god from another world, but his attribute is undead! Change the 'Blade of Faith' to the divine attribute!"

I did as she said without hesitation.

When the magic power that had been transformed into divine attribute mixed with the magic power of the butcher and created a sword storm, the god of the other world took a step back for the first time.

I can fight.

The magical power of my entire body was running wild as if it would explode, and my muscles were screaming like crazy. The story of Han Sooyoung, whose bones were throbbing with reaction, was not at a level I could handle.

[Your incarnation’s body is in critical condition!]

I grabbed the elixir in my pocket and swallowed it as much as I could to delay internal injuries.

We fought against each other.

Every time the swords clashed, my grip was torn and blood flowed. Every time a scar was left on his body, a long stab wound was left on my body as well.

It was the price of dealing with a god from another world in only the fourth scenario.

But I didn't think I couldn't win.

【Ooooooo-】

New bone joints sprouted from the angry founder's waist, forming two arms. Each arm held a sword that radiated an insidious energy.

Han Sooyoung shouted.

"Arondite and Gallatin! Do you know what they are?"

I knew it. In particular, Arondite is a famous sword that appeared in Yoo Joonghyuk's 1,863rd round.

These were all related to the story of King Arthur.

"Don't stop and fight! Looking at its performance, it might be a replica!"

The heavily secreted adrenaline and Han Sooyoung's [Predictive Plagiarism] made me forget the pain.

I predicted this guy's attack.

Arondite's sword slashed and cut off his left arm, and then he lifted Gallatin, who flew in with his waist, and I struck the guy's shin again.

Is it because of Han Sooyoung's story? It all felt so natural.

The indignant guy started spewing out harsh stories explosively. A half-moon-shaped force covered the entire area.

I took Han Sooyoung's story to the limit and exploded it at the end of the sword.

[The Fable 'Omniscient Reader' increases the appeal of the story.]

I hacked and hacked away at the creature's endlessly regenerating arm.

【Oh oh oh?】

That mighty god of another world was perplexed. Every time the sword flew through the air, Han Sooyoung's stories ran wild in my head.

[The story 'Predictive Plagiarism' speeds up its storytelling.]

An incredibly powerful and dynamic story. It's an incredible story that one individual built up.

I felt like I was a god.

The scenery seen by someone who completed a story was in front of me.

It was indescribably overwhelming, meaningless enough to be fleeting, and dizzying enough to make me vomit.

A future where sentences are written everywhere in the world.

A world where what happens next is determined by the trajectory of the sword I cut.

I was living in such a thorough web of stories.

I wanted to see what came next.

What is at the end of this road?

Ultimately, what will I face at the end of this story?

「"The story was good."」

I was intoxicated by that story and swung my sword again and again.

「"I just came here because I liked the story."」

It didn't matter anymore whether it was my sentence or Han Sooyoung's sentence. Even if I just transcribed her story.

It didn't matter.

If she helps this world line.

If we can fight together now, we might be able to put this terribly broken world back on track.

We may be able to reach the perfect ending to this world.

The moment I thought about it-

Tsutsutsu-

I quickly felt my strength drain away and quickly backed away from him.

Suddenly my stomach turned and I felt nauseous.

I spat out the story as if I was regurgitating what I had eaten. Something inside me was rejecting Han Sooyoung's story.

Someone was saying that Han Sooyoung's story was not mine.

「"Was there ever a time when Kim Dokja was happy to receive the heart he deserved?"」

Accompanied by dizziness, pitch-black darkness poured ceaselessly from my mouth.

「"What are you talking about? You're Kim Dokja too."」

「"Have you ever felt reassured even for a moment by those words?"」

I shook the memories away.

「"Like someone who intercepts and reads a letter sent by mistake, just a name like that."」

「"Didn't you enjoy a lot of things just because you had them?"」

I heard the sound of a wall shaking somewhere.

「"I guess I filled it all out of fear because I didn't want to share it with a real Christian."」

I held my head and shook my head.

Someone was talking.

There is no need to force a fight.

There's no need to face it.

It's been hard all this time.

I just receive warm comfort.

Living again under a different name in a new world.

"Hey! Wake up."

I saw the sword of Excalibur flying in front of me.

I cannot avoid it. There is nowhere to escape.

I'm in a place like this.

I fell to the floor with the feeling of something pushing me hard. A loud noise exploded in front of me.

A powerful storm of stories blew in.

The founder was seen being thrown away with a strong aftereffect.

When I took a deep breath and raised my head, Han Sooyoung was standing in front of me.

「That was the price she paid to change this world.」

When did the scenery change?

What is the reason that the number of story fragments floating around has decreased?

「"The story is told from the perspective of an omniscient reader."」

A huge hole opened in Han Sooyoung’s chest.

Through the hole, the white-burning sentences turned into ash and flowed down.

"Han Sooyoung!"

A gray snow field was created where the ash flowed.

Han Sooyoung stood above me and looked at me, wiping the blood from the corner of her mouth.

Grabbing her left breast. She was laughing, blood pouring from her ears.

"From the “Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint that I wrote, colleagues do not die so easily."

Her whole body was shaking.

[The story 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' temporarily stops its storytelling.]

The heart that excitedly shouted that she would write my story disappeared somewhere, and an intense fear took hold of my head.

"I-"

I don't want to be left alone again.

Han Sooyoung, who had been coughing several times, fell forward.

As soon as I ran out to her, Han Sooyoung looked up at me and said,

"You know because you’re a writer too. Telling the story you want to say isn’t always a happy thing."

The color was draining from her face. I hurriedly covered her wounds, catching the pouring blood with my hands.

Han Sooyoung was looking up at the sky.

I must find an elixir. Whether it's a summoning corps, a demon corps, or anything.

「Han Sooyoung let go of her old home at that moment.」

It was only after I saw the sentences flowing out of her that it dawned on me that this was not just a trauma.

「The last sentence she will write is one she has never written before.」

The original story has been damaged.

"Wait, wait!"

I shouted as if denying that fact.

"This is an avatar, right?"

There is no way that 'Han Sooyoung', no one else, could die like this.

She is the smartest person in 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

Isn’t she a writer who finds a way out in the face of any adversity?

But Han Sooyoung seemed not to be able to hear my voice, so she just looked up at the pitch-black sky.

As if there was something she was looking for there.

I followed her gaze and lifted my head. Someone was still fighting beyond the Void Veil.

The trajectory of a pouring meteor shower and the screaming gods of another world.

There were questions that came to mind only later.

How could Yoo Joonghyuk arrive beyond that curtain so timely?

Was it?

Where on earth did the probability to summon him come from?

Tsutsu-

The aftermath flowing through Han Sooyoung's body were breaking her, her body was disappearing. Her legs and torso were falling apart in the aftermath.

Han Sooyoung knew it from the beginning.

What she must do to change her established history.

「The margins of this world are limited.」

What do you have to sacrifice to push the button to fool the world line?

「Some sentences can only be written after erasing other sentences.」

Every time I hear a line story, Han Sooyoung also disappeared just like that one line. The sentences she wrote were falling apart in the air. The characters, events, and themes were scattered.

I shook Han Sooyoung’s shoulder.

Han Sooyoung's eyes, which were losing their light, turned towards me. Those eyes seemed to be looking at me, or they seemed to be looking into distant eternity.

It's like staring into a distant, beautiful snowy field where no sentences have been written yet.

I prayed.

She asked me.

"Why did you want to become a writer?"

I pursed my lips foolishly.

I thought I should give some kind of answer.

I wanted to find something to say to catch Han Sooyoung.

But no words came to mind. Even though I wrote so many sentences, not a single word came to mind.

Han Sooyoung’s hand brushed my cheek.

"I’m sorry I couldn’t tell you the story you wanted."

That was the last time.

I opened my mouth.

"I, I-"

「Han Sooyoung disappeared.」

It would be an avatar. The avatar disappeared.

There is no way Han Sooyoung could die.

Han Sooyoung-

[The story 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' ends its storytelling.]

And one by one, the stories that were being told in my ears stopped talking. The endless chatter and unstoppable conversation came to an end.

[The story 'Predictive Plagiarism' concludes its storytelling.]

After the whole story was over, I was left alone again.

Han Sooyoung's 'Unbreakable Faith' was seen as it fell to the floor.

「Why did you want to become a writer?」

Only after every sentence was erased, after I lost every story I loved, did I finally find the answer.

"I want to know who I am."

I heard the walls inside me collapsing.

678 Episode 21 Kim Dokja (14)

---

As the wall collapsed, memories came flooding in from beyond.

Memories that I didn't believe were mine.

Sentences that were as distant as the author and the characters seeped into my skin, blood vessels, and brain.

I could see the founder of the Absolute Throne coming towards me in the distance. Although he lost one wing, he survived the explosion.

He was not dead, but was walking to destroy this world.

「So who am I.」

In the creeping cold, I thought about my arrogance. The arrogance that tried to contemplate this story, that dared to write about this world.

"Han Sooyoung."

Han Sooyoung’s miracle could not be felt anywhere. I didn't feel her story.

「"Why did you want to become a writer?"」

Holding Han Sooyoung's sword, I stood up slowly. Now there was no more Han Sooyoung's story that protected me. 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' stopped its storytelling and 'Predicted Plagiarism' failed to predict the future.

It came running high and far away, and I also ran towards it.

We cut each other's flesh with each other's swords. I thought about the living pain of the blade cutting into my body.

「You can't just be a writer.」

To see the ending of this story, you shouldn't be in such a presumptuous position.

「I have to live in this world properly.」

We have to face it.

We must live in this clear world that exists through blood and swords.

It has to be a unique character.

A person who knows this story better than anyone else. The only person who has the potential to clear this scenario.

The founder of the Absolute Throne asked amidst a storm of magical power.

【Who are you Who are you】

"I am Kim Dokja."

It was not [Incite].

The guy tilted his head. It seemed like he didn't know who Kim Dokja was.

"I am."

So I did it one more time.

"Kim Dokja."

I said that cursed name.

[The story 'Recorder of Things that will Disappear' begins its storytelling.]

A story that was about to disappear stayed with me.

As I felt the narrative gripping a pen, I recalled the moment I first entered this world.

I thought of a story I wanted to write. I wanted to write about extras, about things that are forgotten, about things that go unnoticed.

I had to admit it now.

Actually it was all a lie.

I just wanted to tell my story.

[The story 'Recorder of Things that will Disappear' sucks up the scattered fragments of the story.]

The sentences floating around radiated bright light and seeped into me. The fragments were randomly mixed together, telling me between the lines.

「"Don’t run away, Kim Dokja."」

I didn't want to admit it. I wanted to run away. So I set up a lie.

I am a writer. This is someone who can look at this story objectively.

With those words, I ran away from my past life.

I didn't want to become Kim Dokja, so I was reincarnated as myself.

However, the reason why I did not want to become Kim Dokja in my past life was because I wanted to become Kim Dokja more than anyone else.

Because I thought I couldn’t become Kim Dokja.

I gathered all my courage and ran to the god of the other world.

The brightly shining 'Unbreakable Faith' exuded the strength of a butcher.

Almost at the same time, the guy's Excalibur also spewed fire.

At the same time as the sharp blade pierced my skin, the sword I swung also cut into its torso.

【Ooooooo-】

Through the pitch-black dust, I could see him staggering back a dozen steps.

At first glance, it was a fatal wound.

Its arm no longer regenerates and its only weapon is Excalibur. At least it felt like it was difficult to hold the Excalibur.

I stumbled closer.

All I have to do is deliver the final blow. With just one final blow, I can begin to change this world.

Tsutsutsutsu-

For a moment, my vision flickered.

When I opened my eyes, my eye level had changed. I realized I was on my knees. The 'Unbreakable faith' that had lost its shine was rolling around on the floor.

A bright blue light was shining in the eyes of the founder, who was glaring at us from afar.

It was a king's tale.

Tsutsutsutsutsu-

I had no strength to resist anymore.

The founder, who was watching my movements from 20 steps away, slowly did it as a test.

He took a step.

Now nineteen steps.

[The temporary channel will be restored!]

Just then, the channel opened.

It was Bihyung.

—It's out, you bastard! Damn, what is this again! No, what the hell…

Sixteen steps.

—Hey! I'll summon you right now-

"Don’t do it."

—What?

I took a deep breath, and grabbed the sword that was lying on the floor.

"I’m not going back."

At least I can't go back until I kill that guy.

I corrected myself and looked down at the floor covered in pure white snowflake ash.

I couldn't feel her story anywhere else in the world. Nevertheless.

「Alive.」

I wanted to believe that. She must be alive and not dead somewhere. I couldn't bear to not believe that.

「Han Sooyoung is alive here.」

Between all the lines she wrote and then erased, she remained. I said, sweeping between the lines with my palm.

"Bihyung."

I sent a short message through 'Dokkaebi Communication'. After hearing my story, Bihyung opened his mouth.

—I can't help it. It's a violation of the contract, but I'll just ignore it once. As of now, there is no big solution.

Bihyung accepted my offer.

—Instead, I will charge you twice the commission from now on.

Next, a scenario came down from thin air.

[A new sub-scenario has arrived.]

Warmth began to return to the place where the story blossomed.

[The 'scenario area departure penalty' is lifted.]

The cold went away and I returned to the scenario.

<Sub Scenario - Founder of the Absolute Throne>

Category: Sub

Difficulty : ???

Clear conditions: Kill the founder of the Absolute Throne

Time limit: —

Compensation : ???

Failure: —

The moment I read the scenario, I realized how ridiculous the fight I had been in was.

A nonsensical enemy that was not listed on the level of difficulty was pushed to the brink of death.

He was now eleven steps ahead.

Right now, I don't have any magic left.

Since he knows that fact, he must be secretly approaching me.

But there was one last way left for me.

Now that the channel has opened, the stars will be watching me.

"I will sign a sponsor contract."

The stars in the night sky did not respond to my declaration.

The reason was quickly apparent.

[The Nebula <Asgard> laughs at your judgment.]

Asgard, who had a grudge because of the previous incident, interfered.

[The Nebula <Olympus> declares that if it makes a behind-the-scenes contract with the incarnation Cheon Inho, it will be hostile to some constellations.]

I smiled into the air.

Right.

Is that your choice?

Before I knew it, the god of the other world had taken nine steps forward and called my name.

【Kim Dokja.】

「The name is important. All stories are complete only when they are named.」

Everything in this world is made up of stories, and every story is complete only when it is given a name.

Coordinates that designate only one constellation in that vast universe. The only language that can gather the scattered light in the pitch-black night sky.

「At least in this world, there is only one star that can guide me.」

A constellation that will not contain the stories I will build and will not force me into unfair contracts.

He had many names.

Eight steps.

The first one was so loud and distant that I couldn't tell exactly what it was called.

The founder's steps began to speed up.

The second name was not something I could fully accept yet.

Seven steps.

He did not exist where the third name was.

Six steps.

And there is only one last name left that I can call.

Five steps.

The moment I entered the attack radius, the founder swung Excalibur at me.

He decided that I no longer had the strength to fight back.

I opened my mouth.

[Sub-skill 'Sentence Strengthening' is activated!]

[You can enter your actions.]

[The actions you enter will be reinforced.]

[You can increase the reinforcement level by investing stocked probability.]

[Current probability: 580]

Using all the probability I have.

「"I will make a contract."」

He will definitely read these words.

I swung my sword with all my remaining strength.

Wow!

'Unbreakable Faith' collided with Excalibur and flew through the air.

The moment the god of another world twisted his trajectory to aim for my waist, I jumped up and swung the sword I had taken out of my back bag.

Just in time, my sword cut into his side first.

The founder looked surprised, as if he thought I had almost no energy left. His guess was true.

But he won't know. From now on, what will happen before his eyes?

【Oooooh-】

The guy must have sensed something strange and walked back, gesturing at his skull.

I got sick.

I will take a step forward and take a breath. The story of the ark, overflowing from my entire body, were gathering in my blade.

「That's my favorite story.」

Without hesitation, I swung my sword at the screaming guy.

The shank was trained much more neatly than the [Baekcheonganggi] I use, and it was very good on the guy's upper abdomen.

【Gooooooooo-】

The confused guy was trying to communicate with the other side of the veil through a link in the air.

But I had no intention of allowing that.

"Death Sword."

As I said those words, the constellations engraved on the body of the Death Sword sword began to glow one by one.

Originally, to reveal all the constellations of the 'Death Sword', seven great-level constellations were needed.

But now, it was limited to just one constellation.

The startled outer god screamed and trembled.

He is a great god of another world.

This guy wasn't afraid of the relics of the great constellations.

He recognized the story behind this sword.

[The story 'King of a Kingless World' begins its storytelling.]

I cut the sword stuck in the guy's chest and split off his head.

Its body split in half and scattered with a scream.

The link was broken.

Sparks emitted in the air, and eventually the wick touched and burned like a candle with only a few moments remaining.

[Sub-scenario cleared!]

[The fourth main scenario has ended.]

[You have achieved an achievement that does not exist]

[A significant number of constellations have entered the temporary channel.]

Stars were rising one by one above the pitch black curtain.

The constellations took risks and came to the 'Great Hall' to see me.

[The 'Administrative Bureau' praises your achievements.]

[The 'Management Bureau' is preparing a reward appropriate for your achievements]

[A new story has been acquired.]

Stars appeared in the night sky when the king disappeared. Looking up at the stars, I thought of a man who had seen the same scene as me a long time ago.

「The story is still Kim Dokja's story.」

A name I hated, hated, and loved.

「But it's still not a story for just one Kim Dokja.」

[A constellation that did not reveal their modifier reveals their modifier.]

[The constellation contract has been completed.]

I looked up at our star while carrying the fallen 41st Yoo Joonghyuk on my back. There were so many stars that I thought I wouldn't be able to find it

The star that Yoo Joonghyuk so desperately wanted to find, and the star that Han Sooyoung so desperately wanted to meet.

679 Episode 22 Name (1)

---

「One day, an incarnation asked their sponsor.

"You are one, so why are there multiple nicknames for you?"

Then the sponsor answered.

"Why do you think I am one?"」

---

She began writing her first novel when she was about thirteen.

It's like that for everyone, but the beginning was usually similar.

She happened to write, win awards, and get compliments from people saying she was good at writing.

"Sooyoung. What happens next?"

She found it fascinating that someone was curious about the story she wrote.

"Are you curious?"

A universe the size of a notebook. In the small world created by her, she was a god.

Her characters live or die depending on the sentences she writes. Friends who read her story also laughed with her.

The problem is that it is difficult to have class time.

"Sooyoung."

The homeroom teacher called her during recess.

Although she was young, Han Sooyoung, who was quick to notice, realized how her work was going, so she bowed her head first.

"Sorry."

Her homeroom teacher nodded at her as if he was impressed by her, then handed her back her notebook and said,

"Be careful during class."

He then scratched her chin for a moment as if he wanted to say something.

Looking back now, the young teacher may be conscious of a certain congressman, Han Sooyoung's father.

"It’s not just your fault. It’s also the kids’ fault for reading in class."

Anyway, the young teacher proudly picked up a passage from a book she was reading and said,

"There is a saying that a work becomes the reader’s the moment it leaves the author’s hands."

That obvious and cliché sentence sounded a little strange to thirteen-year-old Han Sooyoung.

"Why?"

"Huh?"

"I wrote that, so why does it belong to the reader?"

The teacher laughed at the bold and childish question.

Was it because he wanted to leave his influence on a child who might one day become a writer?

The young teacher added a word without expecting the child to understand.

"Some writings are only completed when the writer dies."

Some writings are only completed when the author dies.

Young Han Sooyoung pondered those words several times and then asked back.

"Then what is left for the writer who has completed the work?"

"Well, you can make money and gain fame."

"Is that all?"

The young teacher felt embarrassed by young Han Sooyoung's disappointed expression, and concentrated on finding a better answer.

But he couldn't find the answer.

It was natural. After all, the words he picked up weren't his sentences either.

So the teacher quickly ended the conversation.

“Well, if Sooyoung finds out someday, will you let the teacher know?"

The following year, the teacher was transferred, and Han Sooyoung was never able to see him again. Although it was not necessary to give the teacher the answer, Han Sooyoung continued to write after that.

As it turned out, she was lucky, and her writing became known to the world early on.

Many loved reading her novels.

She wrote like she was truly a character living in that world.

When she came to her senses, Han Sooyoung was also in that world.

「What remains for the author who has completed their work?」

Living in that world with her colleagues, laughing, crying, and overcoming the danger of death.

Han Sooyoung felt like she was getting closer to the answer little by little.

Maybe she met someone who seemed to know the answer.

In order to get that person back, Han Sooyoung sat in front of the keyboard again.

But she didn't know what to write. She didn't know what should be done in this blank space. It's as if she went back to her childhood when she first picked up a pen. What and how should she write to get that guy back?

As she was contemplating for a while with her head in her hands, someone who came to visit was in front of her.

"If you want to save Kim Dokja, you have to die."

He was the Dokkaebi King of the 1863rd round.

---

The Dokkaebi King came right after Han Sooyoung, Yoo Joonghyuk, and several colleagues from <Kim Dokja's Company> reached the end of the story.

The end of『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.

The colleagues who opened the door to the hospital room where Kim Dokja was hospitalized faced two endings.

One is the ending where Kim Dokja returns.

The other is the ending in which Kim Dokja does not return.

Han Sooyoung and her colleagues, who wanted to bring back all of Kim Dokja, said, 'If Kim Dokja does not come back, I can't accept the possibility that there could be a bad ending.'

However, they didn't know what to do to get Kim Dokja back in the world after the ending.

"It's so pathetic. You too."

The Dokkaebi King muttered as he drank Americano through a straw. Han Sooyoung made a protest.

"Who are you here to tease?"

A colorless landscape that seems to be made of plaster. Sitting in a cafe made of spiritual structures. The two people drank coffee and iced chocolate, respectively.

"Damn, it tastes like boiled newspaper."

"It’s a world that no one has ever written about. The taste has never been properly described."

The Dokkaebi King looked around with leisurely eyes.

He wasn't just at the cafe. No matter where he looked, this world was not normal.

A world filled with sparse blank space, like scribbles on a childhood notebook.

"It seems like you had a hard time imagining this world."

"Of course I believed that Kim Dokja would come back."

While saying those words, Han Sooyoung looked at the Dokkaebi King’s attire.

A white coat and a deep felt hat.

There was no mistake. This 'Dokkaebi King' was the same 'Dokkaebi King' who was with Han Sooyoung in the 1863rd round.

"Why are you dressed like Kim Dokja?"

"It’s because it’s popular to dress like this in the world line I recently traveled to."

"I thought you were still on the subway."

"The main body is there. But sometimes I also want to go outside."

"What kind of Dokkaebi are you? Come to think of it, the way you speak is different from back then."

The Dokkaebi King lightly cleared his throat and opened his eyes with cool eyes.

【Shall I say it this way, Han Sooyoung?】

Han Sooyoung threw the straw on the floor, took a shot of iced chocolate, and slammed it down on the table.

"Hey."

"Yes."

"Where is Kim Dokja?"

The Dokkaebi King muttered as if he was in trouble.

"A similar thing happened before."

Han Sooyoung also remembered it.

There was no way she could forget it.

Memories of the 1865th round.

They attempted a 'Group Regression' using Yoo Joonghyuk's power to retrieve the lost Kim Dokja.

"Are you going to repeat that mistake again?"

Then they failed once.

The person who announced its failure was the Dokkaebi King right in front of her.

The Dokkaebi King who protected Kim Dokja who became 'the Oldest Dream'. A being who assisted the young god for a long time and transformed into the [Fourth Wall].

"Do you think we had any other choice?"

Han Sooyoung said, suppressing her anger.

"Kim Dokja, who was left behind in our world line, was dying."

In a world where the system disappeared, 49% of Kim Dokja created with [Avatar] lost his power and was dying.

In order to save either side of Kim Dokja, the party had no choice but to cross world lines.

"Kim Dokja didn’t want you to come. It was his happiness to watch your stories."

"Did my reader say that with his own mouth?"

"..."

"Look. You don’t even know."

"You speak like you know."

"I don’t know. So I’ll ask when we meet."

"Do you really believe you can meet him again? Why don’t you give up?"

Han Sooyoung searched through her pocket and took out a lemon candy.

"He risked his life to save us."

"Isn’t that common in the world of the Star Stream?"

"He really died for us, time and time again."

Han Sooyoung still remembered all of Kim Dokja's deaths.

She never forgot a single moment.

The same will be true not only for her but for everyone in <Kim Dokja’s Company>.

"I know that Kim Dokja comes back to life when he dies, but how many people do you think would actually risk their lives for others just because they have the power of resurrection?"

"How many people do you think will repeat such crazy things over and over again throughout their lives?"

Are resurrected humans really the same as humans before they died?

Isn't a human being, in which all the cells that make up the body have been analyzed and reloaded, simply a duplicated being, like a text that has been repeatedly copied and pasted?

No one knows the right answer.

It was probably the same for Kim Dokja. Nevertheless, he was willing to die for his companions. Then he came back to life.

"I was saved by a guy like that. I saw him die before my eyes several times. I clearly remember the pain, the suffering, the smiling face until the last moment with my own eyes."

"..."

"He suffered something like that. Do you think it’s possible to think that enough is enough?"

The Dokkaebi King looked at Han Sooyoung for a long time and then quietly sighed.

"Everything is already written down and is being written down at the same time."

"Are you going to help me?"

The Dokkaebi King paused at Han Sooyoung’s soft voice.

The Dokkaebi King is one of the few beings who can move to another world line at will.

If he helps, they may be able to trace the missing traces of Kim Dokja.

Unexpectedly, the Dokkaebi King obediently nodded his head.

"As I said before, if you want to save Kim Dokja, you have to die."

Han Sooyoung frowned and asked back.

"You said that a little while ago. What are you talking about?"

Han Sooyoung thought for a moment and added.

"Is my death also written on your 'wall'?"

"The memory of meeting me now will be erased from the wall."

"Because it goes against probability."

"Yes."

"Don’t worry. I won’t die. So feel free and help me."

The Dokkaebi King looked at her with sad eyes and then looked up at the empty space.

"Your story will soon be over."

Snow was falling from the sky.

Pure white snow that covers everything, living and dead, written and unwritten.

"What's left for you now, Han Sooyoung?"

What is left for her? Han Sooyoung opened her mouth, taking in a breath of cold air.

She was going to answer.

But her voice didn't come out.

Time froze as well, with the snow touching her cheek.

When she blinked, the Dokkaebi King had disappeared. The Dokkaebi King was not the only one.

The surrounding scenery, her arms, legs, torso, and organs that could speak had already disappeared.

Ah.

Memories came flooding back later.

Memories of finding the 41st round using the equipment left behind by the Dokkaebi King.

There, she remembered meeting Lee Hakhyun, the reincarnation of 49% Kim Dokja.

Memories of damage to the incarnation while fighting Asmodeus.

Memories of joining forces with Lee Hakhyun to defeat the Outer God.

Finally, the memory of her incarnation disappearing.

Was it a flash of light?

A distant cold hugged her in the darkness.

Her soul was slowly disappearing from the edges. She could feel the end of her life steadily approaching. She knew it without anyone telling her.

This death has already been recorded.

It cannot be avoided with [Avatar] or anything else.

In her darkness, she felt the story she had written leaving her.

Han Sooyoung recalled a sentence she once wrote with her own hand.

「The moment the world is completed. The writer must step down from the position of creator.」

That is the fate of all works.

「For readers to be born, the writer must die.」

Han Sooyoung now understood the Dokkaebi King’s words. She laughed while feeling the flesh of a god into the pitch-black darkness of the universe.

Somewhere in this universe, there is a being reading this story with her, obviously.

So, if this can be a 'probability' for him to survive.

Soon, darkness, like dense print, swept in, and Han Sooyoung's soul disappeared into the abyss.

---

And in the pitch-black darkness, a man, who had once been the protagonist of this story, realized that she was dead.

"Han Sooyoung?"

Yoo Joonghyuk looked down under the void curtain and muttered.

It was strange.

He definitely felt Han Sooyoung's story a little while ago, but suddenly he couldn't feel anything.

It was as if the entire story about her had been erased from this world.

What that meant was obvious, but Yoo Joonghyuk could not admit it.

As much as Han Sooyoung knew Yoo Joonghyuk, he also knew Han Sooyoung well.

There is no way Han Sooyoung could die like this.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk's colleague, who does not know Han Sooyoung well, did not think so.

"It’s time to go back."

The man who was repeatedly stabbing and defeating the abyss hounds said.

"It doesn’t matter to me, but if we keep fighting here, the entire area will be caught up in it. For their safety and also for the safety of the 41st round, we have to leave quickly."

Yoo Joonghyuk also thought so.

That was until a small beam of light passed under the void veil.

"Hey."

Meteors that fell down from far away in space passed them by and created a void curtain.

"Yoo Jong-"

Before the man could finish speaking, Yoo Joonghyuk's incarnation, moving like a flash, collided with the void curtain.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who let the meteorite go as is, did not allow it. The moment he touched the curtain, a terrible electric shock struck Yoo Joonghyuk's whole body.

Even as his flesh burned black, Yoo Joonghyuk stretched out his hand toward the veil.

As if there was something beneath that veil that he had been searching for all along.

"Are you crazy?"

In the end, the man stepped forward and pulled up Yoo Joonghyuk.

Even as he was grabbed and dragged by his man, Yoo Joonghyuk did not look away from the veil.

"There was…"

"What?"

He saw it, even though it was only for a moment.

A faint ray of light that appeared as soon as Han Sooyoung's story disappeared and appeared for a moment before disappearing.

He doesn’t know why that light twinkled there.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk recognized the light.

Because that light was the light of the star that protected him for a very long time.

"Kim Dokja."

680 Episode 22 Name (2)

Hello everyone.

This is Lee Hakhyun.

In the meantime, things have escalated.

You've probably all forgotten my name. Of course. It's not a very cool name.

If you're the main character, I guess you would be named Yoo Joonghyuk.

Shouldn’t it be a name like that? Suddenly, it’s Lee Hakhyun.

In other words, it feels like a person from the real world has suddenly possessed someone in a web novel.

But as you all know, I am truly possessing a character in a web novel.

I wasn't even just possessing someone, it was a shabby villain—

—Cheon Inho.

You're right. That name.

Cheon Inho.

This is the name of the villain I possessed.

—I haven’t woken up for quite some time.

—They said it was a miracle that I was alive.

I don't know who you are, but you are telling me what I want to say.

That's my life after possessing Cheon Inho.

Being alive is a miracle.

Even at Geumho Station.

Even in Chungmuro.

Even in the theater dungeon.

Even at Seoul Station and Gwanghwamun.

I really almost died.

I don't know what's going on these days, perhaps because I've been at risk of dying so many times that I've lost my mind.

In particular, I don't know who I am.

It sounds like something a second year middle schooler would worry about, but I'm serious.

Is it because I used [Incite] too much? Or is it because I didn't think enough about my own identity in my second year of middle school?

Either that or—

【How long are you going to talk like that?】

Oh, that's right.

You can't take such a half-hearted attitude anymore.

Please forget all the self-introductions I’ve made so far.

We'll do it right again.

Hello everyone.

My name is Kim Dokja.

It's really awkward to say this, but I'm serious.

I am the reincarnation of 49% Kim Dokja.

By the way, everyone.

I'm a little scared.

Everyone, think about it too.

One day, I suddenly possessed a character in a novel, and it became 'the reincarnation of the main character in my novel turns out to be me'.

Does such a light novel-like development make sense?

If Ji Eunyu, the editor in charge, heard about it, she would make fun of it forever.

Ji Eunyu would definitely say this.

"Wow, author-nim! Readers made fun of Kim Dokja, saying he was the author's own character, but it wasn't his character, it was him. Wow, wow."

Ji Eunyu.

I feel really unfair.

First, let me make one thing clear: I didn't actually write that novel.

The writer who wrote that story is Han Sooyoung...

Han Sooyoung?

...

I jumped up from my seat with a hysterical scream.

My heart was pounding like crazy and my breath was pouring out all the way to my chin.

Someone's shadow glimmered through my hazy vision.

"Inho-ssi?"

Sensation slowly returned from my fingertips. The feel of the soft bed and blanket. A hospital-specific disinfectant smell.

My mind was confused.

What happened?

What about Han Sooyoung?

What about the Outer God?

What about Yoo Joonghyuk?

Did we succeed?

When I opened my eyes with difficulty and looked ahead, I saw the shape of a familiar person.

Kind eyes shining beneath the devoted eyebrows.

"Inho-ssi!"

Lee Dansu who no longer called me a friend hugged me tightly.

Why? The moment I was hugged helplessly by Lee Dansu, without realizing it, my body lost strength and tears poured out.

"Thank goodness. I'm so glad."

There were so many tears that it was surprising that even a villain had so many tears stored up.

As I listened to the man repeatedly saying that it was fortunate, I thought again that this was a fortunate thing.

"Ahjussi."

That's how I survived again.

This time, I sacrificed someone on my behalf.

There were people who were the first to run when they heard my news.

These were people I knew well.

It feels like it's been a while, so I'd like to briefly introduce them.

"Aaaah! Inho-ssi!"

The name of the girl running towards me over there is Kyung Sein.

Although she appears to be a woman on the outside, she is actually a reader with the soul of a man.

"You're awake, Kim Dokja."

The man in the black coat standing proudly in the doorway of the hospital room is the second apostle, 'Killer King'.

Even though he looks like that on the outside, he is a crazy person who has read 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' over a hundred times.

He has a habit of constantly calling me 'Kim Dokja', but I don't know if he does it knowingly or not.

For reference, he has a younger sister who uses the ID 'Literature Girl 64'. Yerin is a very normal person, unlike her older brother, Killer King.

"Inho-ssi, how do you feel right now? Do you see these fingers and a dog? Can you tell me your name? How old are you? What is your real name in real life?"

The name of the boy who took advantage of my confused state of mind to get information from me is 'Ye Hyunwoo'.

This boy, who looks just like today's gifted child from a gifted education program, is the commander of the Chungmuro Group and the brain that leads the readers.

"Yes. I'm fine."

"You still have a bit of a fever, so I think it would be better to rest more."

Lastly, the name of this handsome man who took my temperature is 'Lee Dansu'.

He is the first reader I have ever met, and he is a man living in this world trying to get his daughter back.

The rest of the party... hasn't arrived yet.

I tried to name them one by one in my head.

Jung Heewon, Cha Yerin, Ji Eunyu, Koo Seonah...

"Inho-ssi."

Amidst a light silence. It was Lee Dansu who opened his mouth again.

Why? The eyes of people looking at me were different.

It seemed like he was trying to figure out what to ask, or he seemed to be having trouble deciding what to say.

I smiled lightly and opened my mouth first.

"Can I ask what happened so far?"

---

"I was unconscious for 45 days?"

While listening to Kyung Sein's fussing voice, I could think in my head how long 45 days.

No, wait a minute.

So what scenario is this now?

"The seventh scenario is currently underway on the Korean Peninsula."

I couldn't believe my ears.

"Not the fifth?"

"Hey, when did the fifth scenario end?"

The last scenario I remember was the fourth scenario, 'the King’s Qualifications'.

"Wait a minute."

I rested my head for a moment and thought about the development of 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

The fifth scenario in the original Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint was 'Disaster of Floods'.

'Disaster of Floods' is a scenario that ends only after defeating as many as four disasters, even excluding the main Disaster of Floods.

Even if I killed one at the National Palace Museum, have they already killed the remaining four?

"The fifth scenario was solved by Yoo Jung-hyuk himself. And the main character was the main character."

"How did he clear it? Could it be that he killed Shin Yoosung—?"

"Have you forgotten that this is the 41st round?"

A vivid feeling rose up.

Right.

This is the 41st round of 'Ways of Survival'.

That was also the world line before 'Shin Yoosung' returned to the second round to become the 'Disaster of Floods'.

In other words, there is no 'Disaster of Floods' yet in this round.

But the disaster was not only the Disaster of Floods.

"The Disaster of questions was quite formidable. However, I easily defeated it with the help of this body."

"The 2nd Apostle was not active, and Yoo Joonghyuk killed him."

I roughly understand the situation.

I don't know what kind of disaster occurred, but in any case, it seems that Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st round suppressed it with terrifying force.

"Speaking of the fifth... What happened to the sixth scenario? That must have been tricky too."

The sixth scenario is 'Peace Land' with Japanese incarnations.

In some ways, it was a scenario that could be more difficult than the 'Disaster of Floods'.

"Yoo Joonghyuk went and finished it himself."

“Yoo Joonghyuk?”

I asked in a doubtful voice.

Not like any other scenario, 'Peace Land' is a scenario where Disasters and Inhabitants take sides and fight.

"Could it be that Yoo Joonghyuk became a disaster?"

I asked, assuming the worst outcome first.

If in the 41st round, 'Yoo Joonghyuk' had chosen the side of disasters, 'Peace Land' would have been—

"Don’t worry. Yoo Joonghyuk took the inhabitants’ side."

Yoo Joonghyuk? really?

"We arrived faster than expected and the damage was greatly reduced. We cooperated well with the Japanese incarnations. Asuka Ren and Izumi are both safe! Isn’t that surprising?"

Asuka Ren and Izumi, the king of Japan, are safe..

If you just listen to the story, the situation wasn't that bad.

"What about Kyrgios?"

"I didn’t meet Kyrgios. I guess the events in this round were divided."

After all, if one thing goes well, the other thing goes wrong.

My original plan was to meet Kyrgios Roadgrim in Peace Land and train to become a Transcendant.

But I was passed out, and Kyrgios didn't even visit 'Peace Land'.

"The seventh scenario is still in progress. Actually, Yerin and Heewon are in the scenario area because of that. Oh, and Jiwon too…"

Is it because the words I heard earlier were so shocking? It was difficult to concentrate and listen to what was being said.

During the 45 days I slept, the world of the 41st round was thrown out of the orbit of the 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' I knew.

But if you ask me if it was bad, it wasn't all that bad.

'Disaster Scenario' and 'Peace Land' are scenarios that are difficult to clear smoothly even if I participated in person.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk cleared both scenarios perfectly on his own without any help.

Is this a development that also occurred in the original 41st round?

Or, is this a phenomenon that occurred because Han Sooyoung and I killed the founder of the Absolute Throne?

Kyung Sein added, perhaps because my expression seemed serious.

"Anyway, don't worry. The 41st round wasn't as bad as I thought. As expected, the 'Absolute Throne's' effect is good."

"Absolute Throne?"

Kyung Sein nodded at me as I asked in a stupid voice.

"Yes. Absolute Throne."

"Do you still have it?"

"Huh? Well… It didn't break in this round."

That couldn't have been possible.

Clearly, the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne' is dead.

I saw it clearly with my own eyes.

"Who is the king? Is he among you?"

At my question, my companions turned to each other.

Kyung Sein smiled bitterly, and Lee Dansu shook his head.

Killer King looked proud, and Ye Hyunwoo burst into laughter.

"That can’t be possible, Inho-ssi. How can we become kings? The real king is alive and well."

I slowly got up from the bed. Perhaps because I had not moved my muscles for the first time in a while, my legs were shaking precariously.

I stood up unsteadily and saw the window of the hospital room beyond eye level.

It was.

「The tragedy of the 41st round begins with the 'Absolute Throne'.」

The scenery of Gwanghwamun unfolded outside the window.

An Absolute Throne occupying the center of the square. Who on earth could have occupied that throne in that chaos?

No matter how much I thought about it, there was only one person who had that possibility.

"Is it Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"Yes. He has taken the 'Absolute Throne'."

With Ye Hyunwoo’s low answer, I felt like something was falling apart.

What and where did it go wrong?

Did Han Sooyoung and I ultimately fail to change the development of this world?

"Fortunately."

Ye Hyunwoo said, squeezing my shoulder as if to reassure me.

"It’s a little different from the 41st round we expected. Although Yoo Joonghyuk won the 'Absolute Throne', he was unable to exercise the power of the ‘Absolute Throne."

Was the throne unable to exercise its power?

I suddenly turned my head and my eyes met Ye Hyunwoo's.

The moment I saw his calm eyes, I felt like I knew why he came here.

"So... that's what we're curious about. Inho-ssi, what on earth happened that day?"

Kyung Sein, Killer King, and Dansu ahjussi. Everyone was looking at me as if they had agreed to do so.

"On the day the 'Great Hall' opened, it was Yoo Joonghyuk who brought Inho-ssi back. But even when I asked Yoo Joonghyuk what happened, I couldn't get an answer."

It was natural.

Because he doesn't really know what happened that day.

"That day, Inho-ssi was wearing the 'Death Sword'. Did Inho-ssi cut down the link of 'Absolute Throne'?"

"I-"

I tried to speak.

It wasn't me who did it.

There was one more person there that you and I both knew.

"It's not me, it's Han Soo—"

[You can no longer use the 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World'.]

The moment I heard the message, my tongue stiffened before I knew it.

『Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World.』

A skill that protected me after entering this world, and a novel that underpins the foundation of this world.

Kim Dokja's favorite story.

[You can no longer use 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World'.]

There was someone who gave me this skill.

Someone who felt guilty about me.

The person who gave up all of her stories to save me.

I tried activating the skill again and again.

[You can no longer use 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World'.]

The skill did not activate.

[You can no longer use 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World'.]

The story that once protected Kim Dokja has now left me.

Probably with the writer who was trying to give me the story.

"Inho-ssi?"

Lee Dansu, who realized that my condition was strange, grabbed my shoulder and said,

"Everyone, Inho-ssi doesn't seem to be in good condition, so it would be better to ask later—"

"No, you have to ask right now. We've already waited a long time. 'That phenomenon' has been happening for 45 days."

The conversation between Ye Hyunwoo and Killer King could be heard through the buzzing of my ears.

"Dansu ahjussi, you know what the situation is right now. The only clue to the recent events is Inho-ssi."

"It's an oddity that even I, who've read Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint 100 times, can't figure out. The only person I can trust is that guy."

I don't know what's going on. But there was no answer I could give.

"I..."

The story I know is just the story you all know.

I am not as great a person as everyone thinks.

This is because although I am clearly the reincarnation of Kim Dokja, I am not the real Kim Dokja who read 'Ways of Survival'.

The real Kim Dokja.

Memories slowly returned with a slight headache.

Memories of the very day I killed the 'God of Another World'.

The reason I live here now.

「"I will make a contract."」

It slowly dawned on me.

In order to kill the 'God of the Other World', I made a sponsorship contract with that Constellation.

However, I could hardly feel his presence.

Even when I looked up into space or clenched and opened my fists, I didn't feel like anything had changed.

Tsutsutsutsu.

It was then that the smartphone on the table vibrated.

A message appeared on the smartphone screen.

[Someone requested a 'midday secret meeting'.]

At that moment, I realized something.

This was not the smartphone I had.

But I already knew who this smartphone belonged to.

[Applicant: Demon King of Salvation]

Perhaps this was the 'star relic' of my sponsor.

681 Episode 22 Name (3)

As I was looking at the conversation request message that appeared before my eyes, I felt something strange.

Clearly, I have entered the world of 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint'.

I went through scenarios and met other characters from <Kim Dokja’s Company>.

[Applicant: Demon King of Salvation]

Nevertheless, the moment I saw that message, I felt like everything was losing its sense of reality.

I don't know why.

Actually, I guess I didn't believe that the real Kim Dokja existed in this world.

Maybe that's why I was so strangely shaken by the fact that Kim Dokja really exists.

Why on earth am I agitated?

With such complicated thoughts, I hesitantly touched it.

However.

[The sender has not paid the coins required for 'Midday Tryst'.]

I didn't understand what it meant, so I read the message over and over again. At first, I thought no way, but after a while I thought, damn it, and finally, I let out a hollow laugh.

Little by little, I felt a sense of reality coming back to life.

It's definitely true.

[A toll-free fee will be charged for 'Midday Tryst'.]

This kid is definitely Kim Dokja.

My hunch says so.

I sighed lightly and pressed the 'Confirm' button. Okay.

[The recipient has paid the fee.]

['Midday Tryst' has been linked.]

But nothing really changed.

Since he requested a conversation first, I thought he would say hello, but Kim Dokja was silent the whole time.

"Inho-ssi?"

People who felt something strange were looking at me.

I suddenly woke up and started fiddling with my smartphone like a crazy person, so it was natural.

I hesitated for a moment and then said this.

"Actually, I just got a text from Kim Dokja."

The four people stared at me at the same time. Their eyes were filled with different thoughts.

Eyes that wonder if I'm crazy (Ye Hyunwoo), eyes that are worried I may have hit my head (Kyung Sein), eyes that think it's a joke for young people these days (Lee Dansu), eyes that ask isn’t Kim Dokja me (Killer King)...

If it were 45 days ago, everyone would have been interested in what I said and would have asked questions.

Is it real? Did you really get in touch with Kim Dokja? Can we all live together now?

But they didn't.

It was proof that they had completely adapted to this world.

「In this world, there is no 'Demon King of Salvation' to save us.」

In order to survive in this world, readers have decided to forget the name of the greatest hope they know.

And it happened by itself.

That fact was somehow sad, so I had no choice but to make a joke out of the hope I had raised.

"I'm just kidding. What did you say you were curious about?"

Ye Hyunwoo, whose expression softened slightly at my words, began talking again.

To summarize, the four people's questions were simple.

"How did the fourth scenario end that day?"

After gathering my thoughts for a moment, I started talking.

First, when Han Sooyoung appeared.

"I guess that was Han Sooyoung?"

Kidnapped by Representative Kim Dokja along with the unconscious Yoo Joonghyuk.

"Was that Asmodeus?"

"Damn, that snarky tone was strange."

"I already knew."

And how I became convinced that 'Representative Kim Dokja' was Asmodeus; escaped from this guy's space using the 'Death Sword'; being thrown into the breakaway area; fighting with Han Sooyoung against the 'God of the Other World', 'the Founder of the Absolute Throne'...

"An Outer God?"

"Was it really an Outer God who created the 'Absolute Throne'?"

"If Kim Dokja says it’s like that, then so be it."

Lastly, I even used stories to kill that guy.

Except for a few incidents that I can't tell them about yet, I briefly told my companions what happened that day.

"You killed the Outer God? So you also got the story?"

"Maybe."

While saying that, I opened the previous message log.

There was quite a backlog of logs that I had not been able to check for 45 days. Among them, there was also something about 'stories'.

[A temporary error has occurred in the <Star Stream>’s system.]

[The name of the new story has not been decided yet.]

[The management bureau is closely reviewing your story achievements.]

I still couldn't confirm the name or grade of my newly acquired story.

Is it because I fainted?

Or is it because I have achieved such unbelievable achievements?

If you think about it, I defeated the 'God of Another World', who had a wonderful name, in the early scenarios.

Since I achieved an unusual feat in only the fourth scenario, the Management Bureau and the <Star Stream> may also be embarrassed.

I don't know, but if it's about eradicating a 'God from Another World', it would be at least a 'semi-mythical level' story.

As soon as I receive the story, something will go wrong in the early scenarios ecosystem, so the Management Bureau may have noticed this and is intentionally putting the brakes on it.

Anyway, I have no choice but to give it up in the end.

"You have accomplished a great feat, Kim Dokja. Now you will become a little more like Kim Dokja."

"Wow... with that level of achievement, what kind of story would they give?"

Following the admiring Killer King and Kyung Sein, Dansu ahjussi also nodded as if he understood now.

"Then I guess that's why the power of the 'Absolute Throne' doesn't activate."

"I guess so."

After thinking about it for a while, I decided to postpone the story that there were readers in the theater's audience, and that among them was the man's daughter, Jiyoon.

The last question was asked by Ye Hyunwoo.

"What happened to Han Sooyoung."

"I don't know. She disappeared after that."

I didn't want to say that Han Sooyoung was dead. Because although she was definitely seen disappearing, it was entirely possible that it was an avatar.

The Han Sooyoung I know would have definitely prepared a way out somewhere.

"Hmm... First of all, I understood everything you told me."

After hearing my answer, Hyunwoo glanced at Killer King, and he disappeared out of the hospital room, saying he would talk for a while.

What happened in the meantime to make their faces look so serious?

I also had a lot of questions to ask.

What is the 'phenomenon' that occurred 45 days ago?

Is the seventh scenario the same as the 'seventh' I know?

What is Yoo Joonghyuk doing now?

What happened to 'Shin Yoosung' who was with me?

Clearly, that 'Shin Yoosung' was not the Shin Yoosung of this 41st world line.

Perhaps, like me and other readers, she is a being possessed from another world line that we know.

And that world line was most likely the 1,864th round when Kim Dokja was alive.

If I can meet Shin Yoosung again, I might be able to find out Han Sooyoung's whereabouts.

"Ugh."

Maybe it was because I suddenly moved my body, but belated pain came to all of my joints.

I asked for understanding with a bitter smile towards Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi, who were surprised and helped me.

"I'd like to take a look outside first."

---

After Yoo Joonghyuk gained the Absolute Throne, Seoul was completely pacified.

Of course, there were still those who did not sympathize with Yoo Joonghyuk, but at least the groups that had been torn apart and fighting against each other became one under the rule of the King.

"Where was this raid area?"

"Yeongdeungpo."

"I heard there were quite a few items?"

After listening to the stories of passing incarnations, the theme of the '7th Scenario' seemed to be 'Raid'.

This is a scenario where there are monsters designated as targets in each area, and the incarnations designated as raiders gather together with their allies to hunt the monsters.

The original seventh scenario was also 'monster hunting', so there was no major change in content.

I wondered if there was a monster designated as a target for me, too.

[There is currently no main scenario assigned to you.]

[The main scenario is being reassigned to you.]

Perhaps because I had been knocked out for so long, there were no separate scenarios assigned.

"So that meteorite—"

"Is it true? You found a meteorite there?"

I heard that the fifth scenario is finished, but there is still a story about meteorites now?

I don't know what is what.

I'll have to ask other people a little later.

"I'm going first this time, ahjussi."

"Come!"

In the square in front, Kyung Sein and Dansu ahjussi were sparring. I wondered why these people were suddenly sparring...

[Incarnation 'Kyung Sein' uses 'Tekken Lv.8'!]

When I saw it, I couldn't close my mouth.

Kyung Sein, who jumped up in the air, rained down heavy strikes, causing a cloud of dust to form on the rubbled floor.

Kyung Sein was not the only one who became stronger.

[Incarnation 'Lee Dansu' activates 'Cryptic Flower Lv.6'!]

Both of Dansu ahjussi's legs were covered with chitin like those of a grasshopper, and with his agile movements, he avoided all of Kyung Sein's iron fists.

"Wow. Are you used to it now? That's the evolution you got this time, right?"

"I got it from a grade 6 servant last time."

The gap of 45 days was large.

45 days ago, I was clearly at the forefront of the incarnations, but watching the battle between the two, I felt like I had no chance of winning if I clashed with my bare body.

How long have they been training?

No, who treated those two like that?

"Isn’t it amazing?"

When I turned around in surprise, there was an unexpected person standing there.

"Those two people had a really hard time working under Yoo Joonghyuk."

A unique, soft and calm voice. The woman's white hair was blowing in the wind.

"They’ve been training every single day since the day you were hospitalized."

I suddenly got up from my seat and bowed to Lee Seolhwa.

Lee Seolhwa smiled and held out her hand, as if she already knew me.

I smiled lightly and took her hand.

"You are Cheon Inho, right? I heard the story from people."

"Yes, that’s right."

"People say that if it weren’t for you, I would have been dead already."

Lee Seolhwa slowly looked around Gwanghwamun while speaking.

When I looked closely, I saw some familiar faces.

Dayoung and her mother from Geumho Station.

Sergeant Kim Heonyeol and Jung Heewon's younger brother Jung Eunho, who fought together with me against the Beggar Sect.

There was also Kim Namwoon, an 'insighter' whom I met on the way to Gwanghwamun.

"I wish I could hear those words from someone someday."

It seems that Lee Seolhwa in this round did not become an enemy.

Lee Seolhwa's voice as she expressed her honest impressions was clear.

I said, "I heard that you took care of me. I am late to greet you. If it weren't for Lee Seolhwa, I would probably have died."

"Do you know my name?"

"Of course."

"I made a bet with Jihye on whether Inho-ssi knows my name."

Lee Jihye from the 41st round was seen waving her hand in this direction from afar.

I said as I too shook her hand.

"There’s no way I wouldn’t know. You’re my benefactor. I’ve heard a lot of rumors about you."

"Rumors? I haven’t done much external activities."

I was sorry to say it.

Since Lee Seolhwa did not become evil in the 41st round, her name may not be known yet.

After thinking about it briefly, I said this.

"I’m a fan of Donguibogam."

"Do you know my sponsor?"

"How can you not know the best doctor on the peninsula?"

[The Constellation 'Donguibogam' greatly appreciates you and sponsors 100 coins.]

Once again, this is the feeling of having read 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' fully.

Lee Seolhwa, who was looking at the message in the air, said with a bitter smile.

"I think I understand why people like Inho-ssi."

"I will take it as a compliment."

"May I ask what Inho-ssi’s sponsor is?"

"My sponsor is-"

Originally, I had no intention of revealing my sponsor here, but I felt like I wanted to test it out.

I have expectations that the 'Lee Seolhwa' before my eyes might be a special Lee Seolhwa, like the Shin Yoosung I met.

"It is the 'Demon King of Salvation'."

At that moment, Lee Seolhwa’s expression changed strangely.

Although it was a little bit, I couldn't help but feel nervous.

In only the 41st round, and at such an early stage, Lee Seolhwa chose the path of good rather than evil.

If she responds to this modifier—

"The Demon King of Salvation? Hmm, this is the first time I’ve heard of this Constellation..."

Looking at her expression, it didn't seem like she was lying.

"This modifier... feels a bit similar to the Constellation that Namwoon signed with..."

She even seemed to think that I had signed a contract with a strange Constellation.

For me, it was a little unfair.

I admit that the modifier is a bit formal.

Still, he's the main character... he's a Constellation... but he's Mythical grade.

"The Demon King of Salvation... The Demon King of Salvation... Hmm... I think something comes to mind..."

What?

"Salvation... Salvation... Church of Salvation. Ah, now that I think about it, among the medicinal herbs I obtained from the Church of Salvation this time..."

Lee Seolhwa, who was mumbling something to herself, passed by me and walked briskly toward the hospital.

I didn't know it when I was writing the novel, but when I saw her in real life, she was a character with a slightly four-dimensional side.

Lee Seolhwa, who looked like a mad doctor, suddenly turned her back to me after walking away.

"By the way, since you're still a patient, you know you shouldn't move too much, right?"

"Ah yes."

"Even though everything looks better on the outside, it's really damaged on the inside. If you don't treat it properly, you'll get seriously ill later."

The friendly Mad Doctor left those words and walked away.

I looked back at the people training.

People sweating profusely and devoting themselves to training.

What Lee Seolhwa said was right.

Even those who look fine on the outside are probably festering on the inside.

How many times have they lost their beloved family and precious friends?

「"All misfortunes are ordinary. They seem special because they are captured in stories."」

When I thought about it that way, the way people wielded swords and spears looked a little different.

A scene that probably could not have been captured in 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint'.

Like the people in front of me right now, the characters in 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' must have been desperately grieving in an unseen place.

What was Kim Dokja like?

Perhaps Kim Dokja, whom I read and wrote about, had many times that I was unaware of.

Hum.

It was then that the smartphone rang in my arms.

Has the time finally come?

I cleared my throat slightly and opened my mouth.

"Can you hear me?"

And finally the long-awaited moment came.

[Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' has accessed 'Midday Tryst'.]

As I read that message, I thought back to the past two years of writing and reading Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint over and over again.

Is the person floating in the sky right now the Kim Dokja I know?

I don't know. But,

—Hello.

That was my first encounter with the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

"Hello."

It was our first greeting.

682 Episode 22 Name (4)

---

After saying the first word, I suddenly became nervous.

Kim Dokja gave a very rigid first greeting even though he was not my boss.

Maybe?

No. Still, it's a hint.

It's a Constellation.

"Um, hey, nice to meet you."

Without realizing it, another polite word came out.

Anyway, since this is my first time seeing him in real life, it would be right to be respectful.

But is this really my first time seeing him?

Come to think of it, I met Kim Dokja a few times in the 'Snowfield'.

What was Kim Dokja like? Did Kim Dokja also say 'hello'?

I thought about Kim Dokja’s face, who talked to me with a sad face in the Snowy Field.

—Oh yeah. Nice to meet you.

The moment I heard the first words, the image of Kim Dokja changed in my head.

His eyes, which were filled with faint sadness, became strangely lazy, and his friendly expression changed to that of an office worker exhausted from work.

—But is it okay if I contact you through this? 'Indirect messages' cost too much coin.

What?

"Oh, yes. Of course."

Even though I was thinking that, I ended up answering like that.

—Thank you.

Then there was silence for a moment again.

I waited.

One minute, two minutes, three minutes...

I wondered what kind of situation this was.

"Hey...?"

—Uh, wait a minute. What are you doing now?

It seems like he's somewhat cold-hearted, or his mind is preoccupied with something else.

What is certain is that he is different from the Kim Dokja I know.

"I guess you are doing something important..."

No. Come to think of it, 'Kim Dokja' might be busy.

Kim Dokja is an observer of this world.

Because if he wants to maintain this world, he'll have to be watching this world all the time.

Therefore-

—I’m looking at Ways of Survival.

Yes, Ways of Survival.

—This is a fun part.

Ways of Survival... TWSA?

—Now Yoo Joonghyuk...

—He had a fight with Poseidon...

For a moment, I thought I had read it wrong.

I narrowed my eyes even more and concentrated, reading the message that Kim Dokja had sent me.

—I was really surprised. Joonghyuk, this kid has already grown so much. So, in this round...

I read and reread.

So, Kim Dokja's message was roughly as follows.

Yoo Joonghyuk, that bastard. In the early rounds, the guy who was so scared of the Constellations and ran away has already grown so much.

...

Was it because he got spanked so many times by Pacheon Swordsman in the last round that he turned around, or was he hit in the back of the head again by Anna Croft and his head got a little weird?

...

So, the child who has just become a Transcendental Constellation is finally ready to take on Poseidon, a Mythical Constellation. What should I say about this? Should I say that his chest feels magnificent?

...

I felt like I was losing my mind.

Who am I talking to now?

—Anyway, that’s why Yoo Joonghyuk is in crisis...

It was me, not Yoo Joonghyuk, who was in crisis.

I know that Kim Dokja likes TWSA. But no matter how much Kim Dokja does, this is not the case. He couldn't have lost his social skills to this extent—no.

Since he is 'Kim Dokja', isn’t this correct?

I decided to calm down and revise my conversation strategy.

The opponent is Kim Dokja.

He is crazy about Ways of Survival.

Then.

"Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World is fun."

—Do you know TWSA?

"Sure."

—Oh?

It worked.

—You know something, huh? Anyway, when I wrote a recommendation like that, no one read it...

All Constellations are crazy about 'stories'.

After loving a story for a long time, the stars finally became the story itself.

Perhaps the story of Kim Dokja becoming a Constellation will be destroyed.

—What is your favorite episode of Ways of Survival.

"The episode where Yoo Joonghyuk dies."

—Yoo Joonghyuk dies all the time.

"That’s the fun part. Even though he always dies, he always decides to start living again."

Actually, I have never properly read 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World'.

That's right, although I know 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint', I don't know the contents of 'Ways of Survival'.

Because I never wrote it.

Therefore, my answer just now was not from 'Ways of Survival', but the crudest and slyest reply that a person who knows Yoo Joonghyuk could give.

—Well, that makes sense.

"Yes?"

—But he wasn't always so strong.

You don't know if you haven't read 'Ways of Survival'. I was silent for a moment and then asked bluntly.

"...Do you find it fun to tease me?"

It seemed like a mischievous laugh could be heard from somewhere.

It was a bit of a sigh, but it seemed like he was ready to start a full-fledged conversation.

"Are you aware that this is our first encounter as Constellation and incarnation?"

—Um, well.

"But from the first greeting, do you start talking about Ways of Survival? We introduce each other and say simple first names. That’s the normal, social way of communicating."

—It's social... It's been a while since I heard someone say that.

I felt a strange sense of longing in his bitter tone.

Is he thinking of someone?

If you think about it, it was right after the apocalypse began that Kim Dokja became a social person.

—Good. Well then, let me introduce myself first.

As if stretching, Kim Dokja introduced himself.

—I am the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

A simple and clear introduction.

The Demon King of Salvation.

That was the modifier of someone called 'Kim Dokja'.

"I am..."

—Now Cheon Inho. Your real name is Lee Hakhyun. A person from another world line possessing someone.

"You know very well."

I said in a shaky voice.

But. It's strange that he doesn't know, since he’s probably been watching me all along.

"Then I guess you know what the current situation is."

-What is the situation now?

"You were watching. No, we met and talked in a dream last time. Have you forgotten?"

—Dream? Isn’t this my first time talking to you?

I paused. As expected, this 'Kim Dokja' who spoke to me was not the Kim Dokja I met in 'Snowfield'.

Then who is 'Kim Dokja'?

And this 'Kim Dokja' I am talking to is someone else,

"Then, Kim Dokja, who talked to me in the 'Snowfield'..."

—What does that person look like?

"He just looks like Kim Dokja."

—There must be an atmosphere or something like that.

"I guess I should say he feels a bit sad."

—He’s sad... Is it the Second child? Or not...

Second?

—Anyway, he's not me. It's my first time meeting you, and honestly, I'm not that interested in you.

Yes. You are so cold-hearted.

—Your story is honestly not interesting.

It's not fun.

I was a little taken aback because I never expected to hear such words from Kim Dokja.

—It is too heavy and dark. As for your actions and judgments, it feels like something that befits the main character is missing.

"Well, I—"

I wanted to protest.

It's natural because I'm not the main character.

But am I qualified to say that now?

Even though I have no complete memories of my past life, I am here now because of my past life.

I came here only because I wanted to have my own story and find out who I was.

What remains is that I have the right to say such things on such a topic.

Do I?

—If you drag along the stories attached to you like shackles, one day you will be weighed down by those stories. You’re the Youngest.

After reading the message in a daze, I suddenly looked up.

"What did you just say?"

—You’re going to die from being crushed by stories.

"Not that, what you said after."

The Youngest.

Apparently he called me that.

—Ah.

The Demon King of Salvation spoke in a bored tone, as if he were counting the numbers of rounds of 'Ways of Survival'.

—That’s because you are the 'last Kim Dokja'.

---

From the moment I found out I was part of Kim Dokja, I had an idea.

"Perhaps there is more than one Kim Dokja in this world."

If you think about it, it wasn't an impossible story.

I am the reincarnation of 49% Kim Dokja.

If so, other Kim Dokjas also exist in a similar form.

There is a good possibility that it can be done.

And perhaps one of those 'Kim Dokjas' is ripping me off right now.

—Hey, just give me 500 coins.

"No."

—If you just pay 500 more coins, I can switch to voice chat. It's inconvenient to send and receive messages through messages, so hurry up.

[500 coins were used.]

[The convenience feature of Midday Tryst has been added.]

I saw that my coins were being extorted. It occurred to me that I may have been mistaken about Kim Dokja all this time.

Wasn’t Kim Dokja originally a bad guy?

"So you are the 'First'?"

—Yes.

The clear voice of Kim Dokja echoed in my head. Right. It's definitely the voice of Kim Dokja that I imagined.

—You called me.

"Who I called is 'Kim Dokja'."

I miss Kim Dokja in the Snowfield.

Where did the kind and handsome Kim Dokja go, and why did a gangster appear wearing Kim Dokja's mask?

—No. You called the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

Yes, that's right. What's the difference?

—You don't know what that means?

There was a memory that came to mind at that moment.

At the time when I was fighting with the God of the Other World, 'the Founder of the Absolute Throne', I called Kim Dokja for a sponsorship contract.

To be precise, I called 'Kim Dokja’s modifier'.

As far as I know, Kim Dokja has a total of four names.

And the only one that responded to me was the Demon King of Salvation in front of me.

"Wait a minute, then what you mean by 'First' is..."

—That's right. 'The order in which the modifiers were created'.

Kim Dokja's first modifier is the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

He is a being who was reborn as a Constellation by having the story of 'King of a Kingless World' as his birth story and obtaining the story of 'Demon King of Salvation' on the last floor of the Dark Castle.

The story that made up him began to become visible. Little by little, I began to guess his identity.

"So, 'Kim Dokja' is divided by modifiers?"

—Well, excluding the small fragments, I guess the big chunk was broken up like that. I am the first among them.

Seeing that he put a lot of emphasis on being the firstborn, it seemed like he was quite proud of it.

Anyway, it was a disappointing situation for me.

"Then you are not 'Kim Dokja'."

If this Kim Dokja is the 'Demon King of Salvation', there is a high probability that he only has memories related to the story of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

According to his self-introduction, he is not Kim Dokja but the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

—It's not? I am not Kim Dokja?

"You are the Demon King of Salvation."

— Kim Dokja, the 'Demon King of Salvation'. If I don't have all the stories related to Kim Dokja, does that mean I’m not Kim Dokja?

"Not really."

—I am Kim Dokja. If I'm not Kim Dokja, who on earth is Kim Dokja?

Who is it?

I thought I was jealous of that confidence.

Perhaps what makes Kim Dokja Kim Dokja is not Kim Dokja's memories but his attitude.

—By the way, I didn’t know you would call me. Should I say I'm lucky or unlucky?

"What does it mean?"

—This isn't the first time I've been involved in a 'sponsorship contract' with you.

This time too, a memory came to mind.

When the 41st round had just begun and the first scenario named 'Proof of Value' was over, I found a rather unusual modifier in the 'sponsorship list'.

"Surely that was you?"

The only three question marks that came up on the list of hints.

As expected, it seems Kim Dokja was right.

—To be exact, it was me and other Kim Dokjas.

Other Kim Dokjas?

—There was no separation back then.

Kim Dokja grumbled slightly and continued.

—Anyway, what went wrong then? In the process of contacting you, a separation occurred. I also left at that time.

In other words, at the beginning of this round, Kim Dokja was not several, but one.

"Why on earth did that happen? Who made you-"

—I don't know. Because I don’t have detailed memories of that time.

Anyway, he was torn apart and now exists as the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

Kim Dokja yawned lightly as if it was no big deal and continued.

—By the way, you are the youngest. Isn’t there a reason you called me?

The reason for calling Kim Dokja.

"Yes, there is."

But when I tried to open my mouth, no words came out.

What should I ask first?

Should I ask for advice on how and what I should do from now on to reach the end of the scenarios?

Should I ask why the 41st round started and if he knows anything about Han Sooyoung's whereabouts?

No. Maybe what I really want to ask is-—It seems like you have all the frustrating aspects of 'Kim Dokja'.

Hearing those words not from anyone else but from Kim Dokja makes me feel like I'm losing confidence.

Perhaps Kim Dokja didn't like the sight of me like that.

I sighed.

—Ugh, yeah. First, let's look at it from the beginning. What are your specifications? What are your overall abilities? What are your characteristics? There are no people around to listen, so you can speak comfortably.

"That is..."

The answer came out of nowhere to a sudden barrage of questions.

What are your overall abilities and what characteristics do you have...

"I don't know all the characteristics. I also can't see my Attributes' Window. Ah, I recently acquired the trait called [Circulatory Retardation], but-"

—What skills can you use?

"Not that many. With [Sentence Strengthening], [Incite]..."

Kim Dokja listened to my story in silence. Perhaps I was overwhelmed by his calmness, but before I knew it, I was continuing the conversation in a calm voice.

"And..."

As I continued to talk, my mind cleared up little by little.

It felt like the time I had crossed into this world and lived as 'Cheon Inho' unfolded clearly before my eyes.

—What are your items?

"My main item is this bracelet. It's an item called 'Thoughts of Almost Everything', and it can be transformed into a weapon of my choice using the mimicry function.

—What about the stories?

"I have two."

—What?

I recited two stories I had.

One was obtained by defeating the 'God of Another World' at Seoul Station called 'Recorder of Things That Will Disappear'.

And the second was 'Tenacious Martial Arts Master' received from the Ark of the Beggar Sect.

"There will be one more soon. I have dealt with a fairly high-ranking god from another world. Even if it isn’t mythical, I will receive a 'semi-mythical grade' story."

Once again, I thought that these were not bad specs.

In the seventh scenario, there are already three stories.

Even though I was unconscious for 45 days, this is enough.

It's an achievement.

Maybe I was looking at the situation too pessimistically.

Actually, Kim Dokja's tone wasn't that bad.

—Well, that's about it for the seventh scenario.

Kim Dokja's signature smile flashed across my eyes.

I felt like an aspiring writer whose work was being appreciated for the first time.

How does my sponsor, who loves stories more than anyone else, evaluate the time I have lived?

—Are you by any chance an 'Immortal King'?

"I am not."

In this round, the 'Immortal King' was the characteristic of Lee Dansu.

—What about 'Eight Lives'?

"I haven’t even been near Peace Land."

'Eight Lives' was an attribute that could be obtained by defeating Yamata no Orochi in Peace Land.

—Have you signed a resurrection contract with <Eden>?

"Is it possible that such a large contract would be possible at such an early stage?"

—Okay. I didn't ask because I was expecting it either.

"Then why did you ask?"

Actually, why did he ask? There was no need to ask why.

—I thought I was going to fall asleep soon.

That was the 'Demon King of Salvation'’s first evaluation of me, Lee Hakhyun.

683 Episode 22 Name (5)

---

At first, I wanted to argue.

After falling into this world out of nowhere, I lived quite diligently.

In order to survive, I risked my life and nearly died.

Even though I couldn't live like Kim Dokja, I thought I still had something to say.

—Do you know what [Circulatory Delay] is?

I thought about it.

—Why can’t [Incite] be used like that?

It was like that until Kim Dokja, the Demon King of Salvation, started like rapid-fire.

—There is a good item like 'Thought', so why can’t you use it so much? What do you do when you rest? Didn’t you register the mimicry shapes of other items?

—Do you know how to use other stories besides [Persistent Murim Master]?

—And that's not all the skills you've gained. Why don't you use them? Can’t you practice skill linking?

—Why didn’t you learn any other combat skills besides [White Blue Energy]? Does it make sense that there is no [Weapon Polishing] right now?

I feel like I'm losing my mind.

Who said he was a living snout?

—I feel angry while talking. I know why I wasn't looking at you.

"No, don’t be so angry."

—Why are you calling me now? You want me to restore the mess you made?

Every word is painful. Perhaps because what he said was true.

What was I thinking when Yoo Joonghyuk fainted in the 41st round and even Han Sooyoung, whom I trusted, disappeared?

"I was shameless."

A sponsorship contract was the last option I could make.

In the spirit of grasping at the last straw to save this world, I called one person's name again and again and again.

I can offer anything in return, so please save this world.

I said.

"Help me. You can do it."

He is Kim Dokja.

The main character of this story.

"I don’t want to ruin this world anymore."

Even if I can't, he can. He could probably rewrite the story I ruined.

"I want to save people."

There were still many people left in Gwanghwamun.

People from this world that I was lucky enough to save, including readers like Dansu ahjussi and Kyung Sein.

Bang Cheolsoo and the mother and daughter at Geumho Station.

Sergeant Kim Hyunyeol and Jung Eunho at Seoul Station.

Jung Heewon and other colleagues who are probably executing a scenario somewhere.

And.

"Everything, including the dead people."

Even the readers I couldn’t save.

"You can do it."

It would be possible for Kim Dokja, an observer of this world.

As he proved in his previous life, he may be able to change the sentences already written on the 'Final Wall'.

—Why don’t you just ask for a regression?

—Of course I won’t let you do it. I can't let you do it.

"I don’t even want it. What I want to protect is this world."

This '41st round' only happens once.

If I return, I will be the only one who disappears from this world.

A new 42nd round will just be born.

"I hope this world doesn’t end."

—It's a destroyed world.

I know. But.

"It’s not written down."

—What?

"Nowhere in the novels you and I have read does it mention the destruction of this world line."

Of course, that doesn't mean it isn't written down at all.

Only once, in the 41st round, is the story told. By Shin Yoosung herself from the 41st round.

"Shin Sooyoung's statement is only a 'statement'. What really happened in the '41st round' is not recorded anywhere in the 'Ways of Survival'. Isn't that right?"

—You... That's an interesting story.

"Now you seem to be having fun."

It is interesting. It's a painful expression, but it's nice to have that feeling now. It doesn't matter if this world is someone's interest or entertainment. I was prepared to do anything if it could save this world.

—But in order to carry out what you think, you will end up having to do something in this world. You have to reach the end. You know what that means, right?

The end of the world. A place where there is the 'Last Wall' where everything in the universe is written.

To get there I have to clear all the main scenarios.

"I do."

—Can you do it?

I shook my head.

What can a person who faints for 45 days after only passing four scenarios do? But.

"I can't do it alone."

My sponsor is the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

The master of the [Fourth Wall] and the greatest deity in the universe.

"Please join me at the end of the scenarios one more time."

I trusted Kim Dokja.

If it is Kim Dokja, who loves stories more than anyone else in the world, I once believed that I could wonder about the end of this world.

So I gave up becoming a Constellation and signed a contract with him.

—That’s easier said than done, man. It gives people trouble.

"Is it because of probability?"

Clearly, probability was an important issue. No matter how strong Kim Dokja is, the <Star Stream>'s probability system is something that cannot be ignored.

—No, I have to read Ways of Survival.

"What the hell are you..."

I was so dumbfounded for a moment that I tried to say something but held back.

Why on earth does he keep reading about these damn Ways of Survival? Is it because of the attributes of the 'Demon King of Salvation'?

I don't know.

However, seeing as he is so obsessed with reading, there may be an inevitable reason for him.

I took note of that.

"If we are to be honest, this world is also part of 'Ways of Survival'."

—Not really.

"Are you just going to watch the world of Ways of Survival become ruined? You already signed a contract with me."

—Hmm.

"Please help me. I will do anything as long as you help me."

I said all I could out of anger, but after saying it, I felt a little embarrassed.

The opponent is the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

He is a being who has already seen the end of the world, and is a great person whose name was included in the 'Mythical grade Constellations'.

There was no way I could convince such a being that I would do anything.

Should we instead use other incentives related to the 'Ways of Survival'?

I thought.

—You will do anything?

Kim Dokja showed an unexpected reaction.

I asked with urgency.

"Are you going to help me?"

Kim Dokja was silent for a moment, as if he was worried about something.

Also, did he go to read Ways of Survival?

"Hey, Inho-ssi."

It was then that someone called me.

When I looked back, I saw someone who looked a head taller than me. It was a face I knew well.

"Oh, hello."

"Yes. Are you feeling okay?"

Lee Hyunsung, wiping the sweat from his forehead, was smiling his signature gentle smile.

By the way, it seems like his body had grown again in 45 days. How could a person, not even in his growing phase, do this?

"Yes, thank you."

Did he come because he was worried about me?

I don't know. Lee Hyunsung may have a friendly personality, but does he care enough about me as a member of the group?

It was then that my sponsor, who had disappeared for a while, returned.

—Uh? This is Lee Hyunsung.

Although he didn't say anything specific, I could tell what he was thinking just from the tone of his voice.

—Hmm, look at this.

Kim Dokja was currently analyzing Lee Hyunsung.

—In the seventh scenario, how much must Lee Hyunsung have to do to get to that point... Does Yoo Joonghyuk here also have a story about the [Crazy Soldier Yoo Joonghyuk]?

I left the 'Demon King of Salvation' alone and asked Lee Hyunsung.

"Hey, what’s going on?"

Then Lee Hyunsung, who hesitated, slowly nodded his head.

"The Captain is looking for you."

Yoo Joonghyuk? Me?

Lee Hyunsung must have read my expression and quickly opened his mouth.

It's probably not a big deal and he’ll tell me to take it easy.

"I... But I think it would be a good idea to be a little more careful."

Huh?

"The Captain seemed very angry."

"Angry? At me?"

"I don’t know about that, but if things continue like this, he’ll definitely kill you... You’ve been saying strange things to yourself."

Suddenly, my mind went blank.

In hindsight, I thought carefully about what I had been doing 45 days ago.

However, it didn't seem like I had done anything majorly wrong to Yoo Joonghyuk.

Although I had confrontations with Yoo Joonghyuk several times during the scenario...

Although I prevented Yoo Joonghyuk from taking the 'Absolute Throne'...

There was also a time when I used a fainted Yoo Joonghyuk as a shield to block an attack from Asmodeus...

"Can I not go?"

Then Lee Hyunsung laughed bitterly.

"He said 'Be sure to bring him'..."

Fuck.

—Good.

A voice calmly says that it is not his business.

I frowned at the sky and muttered with my mouth.

'What's so good about it?'

—The main character is calling you personally.

'They say if I come, he'll kill me.'

—At least until you die, you still have some usefulness left in this world.

Is this what Kim Dokja meant when he said that I would soon fall apart?

If I could read 'Ways of Survival' like Kim Dokja, I would be able to get at least a hint on how to survive in a situation like this.

[You can no longer use 'Three Ways to Survive in a Ruined World'.]

But I no longer have 'Ways of Survival'.

—Why is Ways of Survival necessary?

"Ah."

For a moment, I forgot who I signed with.

Yes.

Now that I think about it, I no longer need Ways of Survival.

—Now, let’s go take a look at the back of Joonghyuk’s head in the 41st round.

Because right now, my Constellation knew Yoo Joonghyuk better than anyone else in this world.

---

Inside Gwanghwamun. Yoo Joonghyuk was sitting cross-legged, shirtless, in a temporary shelter created by remodeling the inside of Gyeongbokgung Palace.

On Yoo Joonghyuk's back, where his sculpted muscles were exposed, several engravings reminiscent of tattoos were engraved.

「Redemption of truth」

「Restraint of Emotions」

「Redemption of Life」

These were the imprints of the story that were sequentially engraved on his body as he entered this round.

The more his body accumulates, the more powerful he becomes.

Carving three stories into a body that had not yet passed the tenth scenario was tantamount to suicide, but he did not hesitate.

Shoooooo.

After a while, pure white steam rose from Yoo Joonghyuk's upper body. The process of gradually settling the imbalances in the body, eliminating waste from the body, and advancing to a higher state.

The road to Transcendence.

It was a transcendental leap that he would not normally attempt at this stage, but this time, Yoo Joonghyuk was anxious.

[The Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' is looking at you.]

[The Constellation 'Lilies in Aquarius' covers the eyes of the 'Demon-like Judge of Fire'.]

[The Constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' picks his ears with his headband.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' says that if he takes off his clothes, he will be like that.]

His concentration was scattered because of the noisy Constellations. He tried to endure it several times, but hewas now at his limit.

"Shut up."

The magical power that had been neatly refined was absorbed in an instant, and Yoo Joonghyuk let out a deep breath.

He frowned as he picked up his clothes and coat from the floor.

His clothes were scattered in a mess, just like this round.

Because.

Even thinking about it again, there was something strange about this round. The Constellations in the sky, the incarnations that follow him, and.

'Cheon Inho.'

That strange guy and the name they keep muttering.

'Kim Dokja.'

He didn’t know why, but the incarnations of this world kept saying that name.

This was especially true for incarnations that had not been active in previous rounds.

For example, that idiotic incarnation of Jophiel who keeps imitating his way of speaking.

—What do you usually eat?

—At what time do you usually go to bed and at what time do you wake up?

—Do you also do intermittent fasting or something like that?

If Lee Hyunsung hadn't stopped him, he would have smashed the head of the guy who kept asking about pointless things multiple times.

—But really, doesn’t anything come to mind when you hear the name 'Kim Dokja'?

A throbbing pain rose in his temple, and memories of 45 days ago suddenly flashed through his mind.

With the 'Absolute Throne' in front of him, he fought with an incarnation.

A woman named Han Sooyoung.

She knew he was a Regressor. A being stronger than any other incarnation encountered in this round.

When he came to hissenses after the fight, Yoo Joonghyuk realized that she had disappeared from this world.

What was left behind when she disappeared were the memories she had planted in his head after delving into his mind.

「"Just let go already and get lost, you damn bastard."」

「"I am Yoo Joonghyuk’s colleague who came back alive."」

A face that was hard to remember, as mushy as dough that has been rolled out.

「"Hello, Joonghyuk. How are you? Your face looks nice."」

In the process of recalling that memory again and again, Yoo Joonghyuk realized that these memories were not his own, but memories of another world.

Normally, he wouldn't have been so agitated just because such a world existed.

If only he hadn't heard those words in his memory.

「"Yoo Joonghyuk. Come to your senses. Don’t be mistaken in thinking that it will get better if you repeat it a few times."」

A voice that resonates loudly as if cutting out his entire life.

「"Even if you save the world, you will not be saved. The moment you save the world, the worlds you abandoned will come upon you. Even if you save one world, all the other worlds you abandoned will drag you to hell."」

「"Don't be fooled into thinking that throwing away this round will make the next round better. Maybe the round you are trying to throw away is the only round where you can see the end of this world as a 'human'."」

While living in the 41st round, no one had ever said anything like that to him.

And luckily, the Yoo Joonghyuk in his memories was able to hear words he had never heard.

And in only the 3rd round.

In a state of innocence unpolluted by the tragedies of this world.

He doesn't know what happened to Yoo Joonghyuk of that world line after that.

But one thing is certain. Something must have changed about that Yoo Joonghyuk. And if he was lucky, he might have seen the end of the world as a true human.

The bitter smile on his lips right now was probably self-deprecation about the years he had lived. A mockery of the time when he endured tragedy more desperately than anyone else.

「"In return for enduring that long time, he was no longer 'human'."」

He was Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round.

The only round where humans could see the end of the world.

Now all that was left in his life was tragedy.

Eternal punishment given to him who chose to [Regress].

The world he abandoned will continue to haunt him like a curse.

Even if all scenarios are cleared, salvation will not be given to him.

The moment he thought like that.

"Yay!"

As if to punish his thoughts, someone hit him on the back of the head.

684 Episode 22 Name (6)

---

At first, of course I thought it was a joke.

—Hit Yoo Joonghyuk in the back of the head.

"Huh?"

Because no sane person would make such a suggestion.

—Then I will help you.

No, seriously?

Why?

—Because I miss it.

"Why do you want to see that?"

It was a difficult question to ask.

I guess he said he wanted to see it because it was fun. The 'Demon King of Salvation' is a Constellation after all.

No, before he was a Constellation, that person actually liked hitting Yoo Joonghyuk in the back of the head.

Not only in the 3rd round, but also in the 1,863rd round, he was a heinous great man who hit Yoo Joonghyuk on the back of the head and made him eat dirt.

If you think about it, it was a strange thing.

Why did Kim Dokja do such a thing?

Is he naturally a bit sadistic?

—Why? Can't you do it? Did you ask for help without that much courage?

"No, being courageous and being crazy are different."

—If you can’t do it, quit. You don't need my help, right?

"No! I need it! I need it!"

I calmed down and thought about this proposal again.

If you think about it, Kim Dokja’s actions were thoroughly calculated throughout the scenarios.

From an item picked up during a scenario to a paving stone laid in advance, Kim Dokja was the person who prepared for the very distant future.

That guy told me to hit Yoo Joonghyuk in the back of the head.

If so, there must be a reason.

Tak!

I believed so. Until I heard a clicking sound from my palm.

The moment my eyes met with Yoo Joonghyuk’s, who slowly turned his head. I realized what I had done.

A terrifying look that seems to freeze even your heart. Pupils glowing with terrible heat glared at me.

First of all, to make the facts clear, I did not properly hit Yoo Joonghyuk in the back of the head.

To be exact, I just hit the magic barrier between the back of Yoo Joonghyuk's head and my palm.

[Incarnation 'Yoo Joonghyuk''s skill 'Self-Defense Lv.10' is being activated.]

In the seventh scenario, the self-defense level is as high as level 10.

This was an opponent on whom an attack from the back of the head would not work.

'What should I do now?'

Anyway, I kept my promise to Kim Dokja.

From now on, it's up to Kim Dokja.

—You really did this.

'Huh?'

—I didn't know you would really do it.

Are you crazy?

Lately, another piece of information about Kim Dokja came to mind.

Clearly, Kim Dokja plans everything thoroughly.

However, did this person have a plan when he hit Yoo Joonghyuk?

"What are you doing?"

My back straightened and my spine went numb. It became clear to me that if this continued, I would die.

What on earth have I done?

Why did I hit Yoo Joonghyuk in the back of the head?

To the guy who already has a grudge against me-

[Exclusive characteristics are activated!]

Is it because I was in danger? Suddenly, my head became clear and my mind became clearer.

This became clear.

Let's live. I have to survive somehow.

To Yoo Joonghyuk, I am now Cheon Inho.

If I were Cheon Inho, what would I say to Yoo Joonghyuk now?

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.10' is activated!]

Equipped with the special Cheon Inho mode, my narrowed eyes twirled in a gentle arc.

"Your skill proficiency is amazing. I wouldn’t have been able to stop you in my last life."

Yoo Joonghyuk's expression, who had been rolling his eyes at my shameless tone, changed completely.

"Did you regain your memories from the last round?"

I just shrugged my shoulders without answering. However, Yoo Joonghyuk’s answer was unexpected.

"Stop acting. I already know that you are not 'Cheon Inho'."

I swallowed my embarrassment.

I knew that Yoo Joonghyuk was suspicious of me.

But I never thought he would bring that up out loud.

"Why do you think that?"

"If you were really Cheon Inho, you would have aimed for a more obvious vital point."

"Then let’s use the fake Cheon Inho. After all, who I am doesn't matter, right?"

"It wasn’t important. Originally."

With those words, Yoo Joonghyuk put on his coat.

After that, he sat down on a chair and started gulping down the drink on the table. Even as he drank his drink, he did not take his eyes off the clear sky outside the window.

I could see what Yoo Joonghyuk was looking at.

In the center of the cloudless sky, there remained traces as if someone had grabbed the space itself and ripped it away.

This was from the award ceremony 45 days ago, when the 'Great Hall' disappeared.

Beyond the sky, me and Yoo Joonghyuk fought Asmodeus, then I faced off against the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'.

Does Yoo Joonghyuk remember what happened that day?

—Also.

Kim Dokja, who was watching Yoo Joonghyuk with me, said.

—He’s not killing you.

I was dumbfounded. Did he make me hit the head of Yoo Joonghyuk just to test it?

—You've learned that he won't kill you anyway. This is important. I don't know how many more times I'm going to have to hit that guy in the back of the head from now on.

'I won't hit him anymore.'

Yoo Joonghyuk, who must have sensed my gaze, put down his glass and opened his mouth.

"Fake Cheon Inho."

"Yes."

"Why did you stop me from taking the Absolute Throne?"

"You took it in the end."

"I know what you did."

Yoo Joonghyuk's whole body slowly looked back at me, showing the power of a king.

But that was only a matter of momentum, and it didn't actually have any influence on me.

In this round, it was proof that the 'Absolute Throne' was not functioning properly.

"How did you kill the 'God of Another World'?"

"I was lucky."

"Why on earth did you do that?"

"You will never see a proper ending if you take the throne."

"How do you know that?"

"You're a Regressor and you still don't know that?"

In the meantime, did the 'Demon King of Salvation' Kim Dokja's tone affected mine? Without realizing it, I came up with a sharp answer.

Yoo Joonghyuk's reaction was clear.

"You."

Yoo Joonghyuk acted as if he was going to kill him this time.

I started gulping on my saliva without realizing it.

—Don't be scared. He won't kill you.

I also agreed with what Kim Dokja said.

Yoo Joonghyuk can't kill me now.

In fact, Yoo Joonghyuk's murderous spirit, who was glaring at me, slowly subsided. Yoo Joonghyuk made his decision.

Rather than killing me here and now. It's better to use me.

—It's not a very bad situation. You have been recognized by Joonghyuk, right?

Recognized by Yoo Joonghyuk.

That sounds like I haven't lived very wrongly.

I didn't feel bad inside.

Yoo Joonghyuk continued speaking.

"That day, there was someone other than you who stopped me."

I could immediately tell who Yoo Joonghyuk was talking about.

That was a story about Han Sooyoung.

"She planted a memory in my head."

"What memory?"

"A memory from another world line."

Even though it was something I expected, I got goosebumps again.

Not another Yoo Joonghyuk, but Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round learned about the world line of『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.

I was curious about Kim Dokja's reaction, but he didn't say anything.

"Do you know that world line too?"

"I do."

I became curious for a moment.

How does Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st round view the world of『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』?

What did he feel when he saw the story of that world?

"Can you do something similar as that woman?"

"Huh?"

"I'm asking if you can plant the memories of that world line in my head."

Like Han Sooyoung, I did not have the complete story of Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint.

But if I were to simply inject what happened in that world line, I might be able to imitate it similarly.

Because I have [Incite].

"If you turn off [Mental Barrier], I can do it, however clumsily. Are you curious about the story of that world line?"

I was worried for a moment.

If Yoo Joonghyuk says he wants to know that world line, should I tell him the story?

If that happens, what will happen to this 41st round?

"I’m not curious about the story."

Yoo Joonghyuk said that and frowned again, I wondered what he was thinking. Then he opened his mouth as if sighing lightly.

"I received a call from Anna Croft a little while ago."

It was a name I hadn’t heard in a long time.

Anna Croft.

The representative incarnation of <Asgard>. She is the representative of the American group.

"That woman’s group will join the final battle of the seventh scenario."

"You mean Zarathustra?"

"It seems like you know."

I nodded.

In fact, I had used the Specter's Stone to meet Anna Croft.

I had a brief conversation with her.

"Are you planning to join forces with her?"

To be honest, I was surprised.

I don't know what happened in the 40th round, but the Yoo Joonghyuk I know was never the type of person to join forces with 'Anna Croft'.

Of course, things will change when we enter the later episodes of 'Ways of Survival', but this is only the 41st round.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who has not forgotten any of the tragedy that occurred in the last round... will he be able to cooperate with that 'Anna Croft'?

"If I ever meet Anna Croft, I'll probably kill her."

With those words, a strange sensation arose throughout Yoo Jonhyuk's body.

It was a sense of an unsettling story.

At the same time, Kim Dokja's voice was heard.

—Damn, that kid got that tattooed on his body in only the seventh scenario?

Kim Dokja seemed to recognize what Yoo Joonghyuk's story was.

"Anna Croft is still useful. She has work to do, at least until the world ends. So if I'm going to kill her..."

Yoo Joonghyuk took a slow breath as if to calm himself down.

"You should stop it."

"Huh?"

"Infuse me with memories of another world line."

"What... if I do something like that?"

"Then I can stop."

Goosebumps slowly appeared down my spine.

Only then did I start to understand why Yoo Joonghyuk kept me alive.

"I don't really know why, but when I receive these memories, I stop acting."

「Happy memories.」

I don't know what happened to Yoo Joonghyuk's inner self after receiving his memories.

However, Yoo Joonghyuk was speaking.

"I don't know if you are Cheon Inho or not. But you will stay next to me and stop me when I give you an order."

Stop him when he orders me to.

"That’s your usefulness."

I understood what Yoo Joonghyuk meant. That's why I couldn't believe it.

—Congratulations, Youngest. Looks like this is going to work out well.

Just now, I was officially recognized by Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round.

"This is an order. Join this scenario."

Become his companion to prevent the destruction of this world.

'Constellation-nim.'

—Huh.

The moment when the first ray of light shone in the 41st world, which was filled with all kinds of gloomy prospects.

Maybe it is not too late for the 41st round. This story can still be changed.

As expected, Kim Dokja spoke in an even more excited voice as if he was moved.

—Next time you hit him in the back of the head, let’s inject a memory where I made him eat dirt.

I ignored Kim Dokja’s nonsense and checked my smartphone. That was because a vibration rang at that moment.

[A new episode of 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' has been updated on the platform.]

And then I realized I had forgotten I had this ability.

The ability to check 'comments' on episodes posted on the platform. If I used this ability, not only what happened in the last 45 days. I may also be able to get hints about future events.

With that in mind, I clicked on the platform app... How did this happen?

The series from the last 45 days in which I fainted did not exist.

685 Episode 22 Name (7)

"Departure is in one hour. When you are ready, come to the throne room in Gwanghwamun."

After completing the one-sided notification, Yoo Joonghyuk sat cross-legged again and closed his eyes.

I immediately left Yoo Joonghyuk and headed to the Gwanghwamun tent village where people were gathered.

While moving, I had a brief chat with Kim Dokja.

—That’s an interesting ability. You mean you can only read the comments and not the text?

'Yes.'

Kim Dokja, the 'Demon King of Salvation' who shared my vision, was busy looking at the platform app linked to his smartphone.

Episode 22. Name (3) +[8]

Episode 22. Name (2) +[11]

Episode 22. Name (1) +[14]

…

It appears that the app can be shared on the smartphone received as a relic.

Just by looking briefly, Kim Dokja seemed to realize what the situation was.

—Your story is being serialized here in real time.

'I think so.'

If you think about it, Kim Dokja also experienced something similar.

At that time, it was not a Side Story, but a revised version of Ways of Survival.

—There was quite a long break from the series between episodes 21 and 22.

The break period between episodes 21 and 22 is exactly 45 days.

'It’s the same amount of time I was unconscious.'

That means that this 'serialization' is recorded only when I am awake.

'Who is serializing it?'

The original author of 'Ways of Survival' and 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' was Han Sooyoung.

So, is it her who is writing this series?

Of course, Han Sooyoung died right before my eyes.

But... there's no way she really died. The Han Sooyoung I know would definitely survived that.

—How do I know that?

'You can observe the whole universe.'

—That's what the Oldest Dream does.

When I think about it, his current identity was the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

I had a strange feeling.

What was his Constellation level?

'What grade are you: historical-grade, narrative grade, or mythical grade?'

In the original work, Kim Dokja's final grade was 'myth level'.

However, according to Kim Dokja, the Demon King of Salvation, the Kim Dokja I know was divided around 'modifiers'. That means...

—Let’s read the comments first. Try a free ticket.

Looking at the way he was changing the subject, I guess he wasn’t a mythical grade.

[One free daily pass will be deducted.]

Anyway, the suggestion to read the comments itself wasn't bad. Because I needed as much information as possible right now.

I clicked on the comments for the most recent episode.

[Regardless of the order, one comment from that episode will be revealed at random.]

> —The Demon King of Salvation! The Demon King of Salvation! The Demon King of Salvation!

I saved the person who wrote the comment as a fan of the 'Demon King of Salvation' and checked the next comment.

> —Zeus, Poseidon, Jecheon Daeseong, and... the Demon King of salvation.

Is he also a fan of the ' Demon King of Salvation'?

I felt Kim Dokja grinning in my head and wondered what was so funny.

I immediately checked the third comment.

> —That is not the Demon King of Salvation I knew...

"Finally a normal comment."

I don't know who wrote the comment, but he is truly a wise friend.

I thought I had finally hit Kim Dokja, but unexpectedly, his reaction was calm.

—What. Because each person’s idea of 'me' will be different.

'You admit it easily?'

—Me too, my impression of Yoo Joonghyuk was different when I first saw him and when I saw him later.

'Are you talking about Yoo Joonghyuk again?'

—Joonghyuk is soft now, but there are times in the second half where he really seems like a psychopath. Especially when his coins decrease, that child becomes very sensitive...

Certainly, this 'Demon King of Salvation' was cynical.

He looked a lot like Kim Dokja.

An office worker who was afraid to even buy a lunch box from a convenience store. A man who lived a simple life of happiness, whose daily pleasure was to get off work early and read Ways of Survival.

—Still, Joonghyuk is somewhat loyal. From what I've seen, it doesn't seem like there was anything wrong with the 41st round...

He was saved by the story of 'Yoo Joonghyuk' and loved 'Ways of Survival' more than anyone else.

A person who was often selfish and sometimes played mischievous pranks, but still had a shred of warmth towards humans.

—If you take advantage of that and roll well in the 41st round, no matter how bad your situation is…

Kim Dokja does not have a great sense of justice, but he protects those close to him at all costs.

—Are you listening to me?

'Yes. 'I'll look at the last comment.'

I used my last free pass.

> —He's in danger of dying again. At this point, I feel pity. Well, his Constellation is also the Demon King of Salvation...

We were silent at the same time. This was because it was very clear who was in danger of dying.

'What is it? This.'

—Hmm.

Is it related to the seventh scenario?

Yoo Joonghyuk said: 'The end of the 'seventh scenario' will be with Anna Croft.'

That means the final chapter of this scenario is 'Peace Land'.

It means that it will be a kind of national cooperative war...

What happened there?

Kim Dokja, who was thinking deeply about something, asked.

—How much of a difference is there between this point of view and our point of view now?

'It will be almost the same. I think the latest version depicts the near future a little ahead of time.'

—It has the same effect as Anna Croft's short-term future vision. Since you have to guess from the comments, the accuracy of the analysis is somewhat low.

'Yes. Well, that's right.'

—What is the speed of development per episode?

'It's not that fast in my opinion.'

—Then it may not be a crisis related to the scenario.

That is correct.

So what is this crisis?

First of all, I think I avoided being beaten to death by Yoo Joonghyuk.

—Have you felt anything strange since you woke up?

My sponsor seemed to have something to do with it.

'Is there something strange?'

—Suddenly, I thought 'that' would start.

'…Can you please stop using ominous expressions? You just have to tell me exactly.'

—I thought so too when I was an incarnation, but if I say it this way, the probability cost is low.

'Does talking also cost money with Midday Tryst?'

—Do you think it's easy for a Constellation to convey information? I think by now you...

'Yes?'

A swooshing sound was heard in Kim Dokja's voice, as if there were noise, and then a light spark flew out of the smartphone.

['Midday Tryst' was interrupted due to a temporary error.]

I immediately checked my smartphone. I thought the relic was defective, but it didn't seem that way.

"Hello?"

Kim Dokja said nothing. No indirect message was heard.

Has he suddenly been hit with a probability aftermath?

That may be so.

Even if the 'Demon King of Salvation' is not a mythical grade Constellation, it’s still a Constellation.

Worst of all, why would we waste all the probability just by calling their names and refer to them with modifiers?

However, I had a real-time chat with a Constellation.

Even if the relic shared the probability, it would certainly not have been an easy task for Kim Dokja.

Anyway, things got awkward.

It seemed like he was trying to say something important at the end...

While I was thinking about this and that, I entered the tent village.

"Ahjussi?"

There was a girl waiting for me at the entrance.

"Ah."

It was Shin Yoosung.

---

I remember the last time I met Shin Yoosung.

Shin Yoosung, whom I met in the solo dungeon 'Nagak’s Field' and explored the Star Jewel Dungeon together.

「"If you say one word, I will kill them all."」

Shin Yoosung at that time was definitely not the Shin Yoosung of the 41st round.

"It’s been a while. How have you been?"

"Fine!"

I looked at Shin Yoosung, who was shouting brightly, and stared at her secretly. A unique white and bright face. I could tell with just a quick look.

It doesn't feel the same as before.

Just looking at each other made me feel cold.

The golden glow is no longer detectable.

So, is Shin Yoosung’s possession now over?

If it's over, why?

An ominous thought rushed into my mind.

Maybe something bad had happened to <Kim Dokja’s Company>.

"Do you remember what happened in the Star Jewel Dungeon?"

I didn't ask with high hope.

However, I was curious about this child's condition.

If this child was possessed by Shin Yoosung of the 1,864th round, what state was this child in during the possession?

"Of course. I remember everything."

She remembers?

"Do you also remember taming the ancient Nagak?"

"Of course! But…"

Shin Yoosung, who paused for a moment, continued.

"That wasn’t me."

"Yes?"

“No, it was me... I guess I should say it was a slightly different me..."

My heart was beating slowly.

She has memories of being in a state of possession.

"What do you mean?"

Shin Yoosung hesitated for a while and explained, as if she had trouble expressing it.

"Well, do you know a skill called [Taming]?"

"No."

"If I had to express it, ... it feels like this. It seems strange that I, from another world, must have tamed me and moved on, doesn’t it?"

Shin Yoosung, who was twisting her hair with her fingers, glanced at me and lowered her head.

I said, holding the child's small shoulder.

"No. It’s not strange at all."

"Really?"

"Yes. I believe you, Miss Yoosoung."

Shin Yoosung’s eyes shone brightly. Her eyes were not as golden as when the 41st round Shin Yoosung possessed her, but in some ways, her eyes were clearer than before.

Shin Yoosung, who was faintly embarrassed, opened her mouth again.

"Ah, I thought you might believe me. My other self also said that."

"What did she say?"

"I can trust you, ahjussi."

"…"

"And now she said she won't be able to come for a while. So she said I should take good care of you…"

I don't know why Shin Yoosung's possession ended. However, she was worried about me until the last moment when the possession was lifted.

Shin Yoosung looked up at me and asked cautiously.

"Ahjussi? Are you okay?"

"It's okay."

She hurriedly lifted her head and closed her eyes.

Shin Yoosung asked in an innocent voice.

"Ahjussi, but can I ask you one question?"

"Yes. Just ask."

"Who is Kim Dokja?"

Where did this child hear that name?

"Kim Dokja…"

The name rang in my ears and my head became dizzy.

"Ahjussi?"

Shin Yoosung hurriedly caught me as I stumbled.

What is it? Somehow my limbs felt weak.

"Ah, ahjussi! Blood…!"

Shin Yoosung, who hurriedly called me, pointed to my neck. I unconsciously brought my hand to my neck.

When did it happen?

Blood was flowing from a minor wound on my neck.

When I looked closely, I saw that it wasn't blood. The blood on my fingers was breaking into pieces.

A story?

"Get away!"

As soon as I reflexively pushed Shin Yoosung away, sparks started flying from my whole body.

[The <Star Stream> has determined the grade of the story that will be given to you.]

Kim Dokja's words came to mind.

Advice that 'my crisis may not be a scenario'.

「I was in a 'scenario departure area', when I was weak, I killed the 'God of the Other World' with the 'Demon King of Salvation'.」

45 days ago, the accomplishments I had achieved were truly unbelievable.

And now, that achievement was coming back to me as a story.

However, not all 'stories' always bring only beneficial effects to their owners.

[A new story related to you is born!]

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' was born!]

Heir of the Eternal Name.

That was the name of my new story.

[The temporary grade of this story is 'semi-mythical level'.]

[The grade of this story may be reevaluated in the future.]

[Your current level cannot handle this story.]

One day, on the 'Island of Reincarnation', Yoo Hoseong, the invincible warrior, said something like that.

Those who cannot control the story will eventually be eaten by the story.

For a moment, I remembered what 49% Kim Dokja was like.

He is an [Avatar] Kim Dokja with 49% of his memory.

51% left paving stones for the happiness of his companions.

Wait a minute, no way.

In the 1,864th round, 49% Kim Dokja suffers from a disease that gradually causes his stories to collapse.

[Your physical condition is extremely unstable.]

[The durability of the body decreases rapidly!]

This was the price I paid for declaring that I would become 'Kim Dokja'.

[Currently, you are an imperfect Kim Dokja.]

[You must acquire additional Kim Dokja Fragments to survive.]

I saw my companions running after spotting me from afar. Dansu ahjussi, Kyung Sein, and even Killer King.

But I couldn't welcome them.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal name' is craving it.]

The story inside me was commanding me.

[If you do not acquire a new 'Kim Dokja Fragment' within 50 minutes, you will die.]

To become the one and only Kim Dokja. To destroy all other Kim Dokjas.

[Time left until death: 49:51]

686 Episode 23 Fragments of God (1)

---

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' begins its storytelling!]

A strong feeling of a foreign object in my head. In the place where my consciousness should be, there was something—a story—sitting there.

It was ordering me.

「I am the only one」

The moment I heard the first syllable, I got goosebumps. Because I knew what kind of sentence it was.

「who knows the ending of this world.」

The introduction of『Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint』.

The sentence I once wrote has now returned to me and become a curse.

It has been done.

「I am the only Kim Dokja.」

The universe opened up before my eyes, and an image of dozens, hundreds, and thousands of meteors scattering all at once came to mind.

「If I can't be Kim Dokja,」

「I would rather Kim Dokja did not exist in this universe.」

Whose wish is that? I didn't know where the sentence came from.

What is certain is that I never wrote it and there is no way Han Sooyoung wrote this sentence.

The fact that this story has this sentence probably means that this story also originates from 'Kim Dokja'.

"Inho-ssi!"

I saw Lee Dansu approaching nearby.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is craving it.]

The 'Thought' that were in the shape of a bracelet soon changed into the damaged bamboo suit of Master Samyeong.

The hand holding the bamboo pole was shaking.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' commands feasting.]

I said, grabbing the wrist holding the bamboo pole with my other hand.

"Shut up."

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is glaring at you.]

I declared that I would definitely become Kim Dokja. However, that meant that I would shoulder Kim Dokja's duty, not that I would listen to the unreasonable orders of the story.

"Ahjussi—"

Maybe I, too, changed after meeting Kim Dokja, the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

Even if the world grabs me and shakes me, I will not be swayed by this irrational story.

If I don't control the story, the story will control me.

"You are my story. Listen to me."

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is laughing at you.]

I bit my lip as I looked at the readers running towards me.

This story was something I couldn't handle right now.

Kim Dokja's name was too heavy and the person I am now is too me.

I was weak.

"I."

But I swore. I made a promise to Han Sooyoung, who wrote the story.

"I am Kim Dokja."

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' controls your right arm.]

As if it couldn't hear me, my right arm began to gain magical power.

The story was controlling my right arm. I guess it's planning to kill and take the readers with my right hand.

"I warned you."

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' frowns.]

[The story says that if the successor of the eternal name does not eat another 'Kim Dokja', you will disappear.]

I don't want to survive that way.

I'd rather—

"Oh, ahjussi! No! Ahjussi."

Shin Yoosung seemed to have an ominous premonition and clung to my waist.

"It's okay."

I used [Incite] to change the 'damaged master's bamboo pole' to 'Broken Faith'. The blade was activated with shining light.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is staring at you!]

As if it was trying to control me, the sparks sparked by the story tightened my entire body. I resisted it with all my magical power.

Okay, let's fight.

Either you win or I win.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is astonished.]

I held back my 'Broken Faith' and stabbed the knife straight into my stomach.

---

Even in the distant pain, I did not lose consciousness. This is because if I let go of my consciousness, the story could control my body.

"Did he harm himself?"

"Stories are runnung wild all over his body."

"Please bring me a blood transfusion pack quickly!"

"A blood transfusion is not enough. Use this."

"This—"

"It’s my story."

Voices were heard above the surface of my fragile consciousness.

"Inho-ssi! Inho-ssi! No, why did Inho-ssi become like this!"

Okay?

"Save him right now. If you can't save him, I'll kill you all."

The sound of an explosion was heard intermittently.

"What's the matter? Suddenly—"

"Damn, an emergency scenario has begun!"

"Oh my god. Monsters—"

"There is not much power left here. The main focus of the seventh scenario is the United States."

"Then what should we do!"

"Let’s go to Gwanghwamun."

"But Inho-ssi—"

---

['Midday Tryst' has been restored.]

—Stand up, Youngest.

When I opened my eyes, an excruciating pain came from my lower abdomen.

I exhaled several times, enduring the feeling of my stomach turning.

My mind slowly became clearer.

I felt that the presence of the story that had been controlling me until a moment ago had disappeared.

A sense of liberation slowly bloomed in my heart.

[Your sponsor is looking at you.]

Kim Dokja's voice sounded as if he was dumbfounded in the air.

—Yoo Joonghyuk also doesn’t control the stories in that way.

"This was the only way."

The only way to stop the story.

Although it was a bit unconventional, it was the most powerful action I could take right now.

Considering that the story is quiet, it seems like it was successful anyway.

"What about other readers?"

—They're safe. But did you really have to use that method? You could have just used [Incite].

"Because it might not work."

—After thinking that far, you made a hole in your stomach?

"Now I'm a little bit like Kim Dokja."

—What the hell.

Kim Dokja's voice sounded like he was having fun. I also smiled bitterly.

When I slowly looked around, it seemed like I had been admitted to a ward in a temporary shelter. As I pulled out the IV in my arm, my fingertips trembled ominously. It feels like it will break into pieces if someone touches me.

The status of my being was shaking.

Was this how 49% Kim Dokja felt?

A thumping sound echoed from afar. The sound of a building collapsing. People were screaming and moaning. I walked through the tent of my temporary shelter and looked outside.

People who had been practicing repeatedly until the end were scattered throughout Gwanghwamun along with all kinds of monsters.

I quickly gathered my thoughts and asked.

"What happened?"

—The scenario has begun.

Almost immediately, a message log appeared in my mind.

[A sub-scenario is currently in progress.]

<Sub Scenario — Monster Invasion>

Category: Sub

Difficulty: A++

> Clear conditions: The Balaur tribe, who have a deep grudge against humans, have invaded the Korean peninsula. Stop the invasion and protect your world.
>
> Timeout: —
>
> Reward: Lesser Dragon Heart, ???
>
> Failure: —

It wasn't the main scenario.

It's probably one of the derivative scenarios of the 'main scenario'.

"If it’s a dragon, what level is it?"

—Minimum 5th grade.

My heart sank.

This is because in the fourth scenario, the memory of almost dying when hunting a '5th grade Poisonous Dragon' came to mind.

But the surprise quickly subsided.

Now that I think about it, it's the 'seventh scenario'.

During the time I was unconscious, my companions must have already faced 'Catastrophe level' monsters several times.

In other words, the current group might be able to handle 5th grade or so.

—There is also a 4th grade one.

"4th grade?"

4th grade was a monster I had never faced before. Even if we say that it is up to 5th grade, 4th grade is on a different level. But.

"Where is Yoo Joonghyuk?"

I remembered Yoo Joonghyuk from the 41st round.

A monster with more overwhelming force than in the 3rd round.

Anyone who cleared all of the disaster scenarios while I was away would be able to deal with even a 4th grade species.

However.

"Aaaah! Stop it!"

"Save me! Please help me!"

"Aaaahhh!"

No matter where I looked on the battlefield, I could not see Yoo Joonghyuk.

—That guy was forcibly summoned to the final field of the 'seventh scenario' a little while ago.

"Ah."

Now that I think about it, the hour I promised with Yoo Joonghyuk has already passed.

Fortunately or unfortunately, the faces of the readers were not visible.

Dansu ahjussi, Killer King, Ye Hyunwoo, and Kyung Sein.

Yoo Joonghyuk's colleagues, such as Lee Jihye, Lee Hyunsung, Kim Namwoon and Lee Seolhwa were also nowhere to be seen.

It seemed like everyone had moved to the main scenario area.

"Then the people left here—"

—Only selected incarnations can participate in the main event of the seventh scenario. Those people...

People who were not chosen.

The problem was that it wasn't just one or two.

"Aaaahhh!"

Among them were some faces I recognized. For example, Bang Cheolsoo and the mother and daughter.

"Aaaah! Push on! If it continues like this, it will break through!"

"Dayoung! Stick this way!"

Sergeants Kim and Jung Eunho, who fought with me at Seoul Station, were also seen.

"There! There's a hole over there!"

"I'll take care of it!"

A pair of chopsticks thrown by Jung Eunho caused them to scream and fall down. Behind them, Shin Yoosung was also seen summoning Nagak troops to cover the people.

"Fight! Keep fighting!"

They fell helpless before the fire of the monsters.

However, there were more groups running after their own people. At the center of the group of monsters was a dragon that controlled the monster species.

"You can't let them go to the shelter! Stop them!"

A woman stood in the center of the battlefield, confronting the dragon tribe.

After possessing a character in this world, it was the first member of <Kim Dokja Company> I encountered.

[Incarnation 'Jung Heewon' activates 'Kendo Lv.10'!]

Every time Jung Heewon swung her sword, five or six cherubs died.

I watched Jung Heewon's fight, even forgetting to breathe. Over the past 45 days, I could see how hard she had trained.

One step. The balance of the battlefield seemed to be shaken every time the magic power contained in one trajectory caused a ripple.

Krarar La La Lag!

The panicked 5th grade monster swung its tail and counterattacked, but Jung Heewon's momentum showed no signs of stopping.

In an instant, Jung Heewon climbed up the tail and struck with a sword strike.

A sword equipped with strong magical power.

In less than five seconds, dozens of consecutive strikes pierced the 5th grade species' eyes and forehead.

Ahhh!

As one 5th grade species fell with a roar, the expressions on the incarnations' faces changed.

They got brighter.

"It fell down!"

"We can win! We can win!"

As the morale of the incarnations rose, the monsters hesitated and cried out in fear.

Jung Heewon ran toward the next dragon without hesitation.

What stopped her advance sweeping the battlefield was a monster the size of a 10-story building.

[4th grade monster 'Earth Python'’is roaring!]

Howling, all the incarnations in the area screamed and fell down at once.

Even Jung Heewon stumbled, bleeding from her ears.

But Jung Heewon didn't sit down.

[Madness]

A destructive glow flashed in her pupils. The unique characteristics of the 'Mad Butcher' were protecting her consciousness.

"Everybody wake up."

At the sound of Jung Heewon's voice, people who had been rolling around on the floor stood up as if they were infected with madness.

They were all people who couldn't fight any longer.

I couldn't understand.

Why don't you run away?

There is no penalty for failure in this 'sub-scenario'.

That meant that they could let Gwanghwamun be destroyed without having to fight back.

Perhaps Yoo Joonghyuk knew that too, so he left here without taking any action.

"No way..."

—That's right.

Before I knew it, people were forming a circle around my temporary shelter.

—They’re protecting you.

I looked closely at the faces of all the remaining people.

Geumho Station, Chungmuro, Seoul Station. Faces that I have passed by at least once somewhere.

"Hey, Inho-ssi!"

A middle-aged man who spotted me exclaimed with joy.

"Everyone, look! The captain—"

Yes. With a sound, the man whose neck had been bitten by the monster fell down.

"Kim ahjussi!" A woman cried.

Before I could say anything, a crowd of people rushed in and covered the two of us. I held 'Broken Faith' in my hands.

Let’s use [Incite].

Let’s incite me to call myself Yoo Joonghyuk. No, Jung Heewon, and Kim Dokja. Anyone is good.

Anything is fine—

[This skill cannot be activated.]

It felt like someone was hitting a gong in my head.

[Your incarnation body is currently unstable.]

[Achieve 'Kim Dokja's fragment' within 5 minutes.]

[If the new 'Kim Dokja Fragment' cannot be acquired, you will die.]

I was dying.

Maybe faster than them.

[Time left until death: 4:49]

The flood of stories has subsided, but the penalty has not disappeared.

Yes.

I wanted to save them, but I couldn't think of a way.

I cannot do it.

Even though the people protecting me are dying before my eyes, there is nothing I can do.

—Yoo Joonghyuk made you his colleague.

My constellation's voice came to my ear.

—And yet he left you behind. Why did he do that?

I slowly raised my head.

The reason Yoo Joonghyuk left me here.

"Did he think I could solve this scenario?"

Kim Dokja did not answer.

As my emotions slowly subsided, I could see the situation clearly.

There is no Yoo Joonghyuk.

People are dying.

[Time left until death: 3:08]

I have 3 minutes left to live.

To activate a skill. I had to remove the penalty for this story first.

「Only me」

A penalty that only disappears if I eat 'Kim Dokja'.

Then, there was only one way to tell this story.

"Heir of the Eternal Name."

Giving Kim Dokja, the only person in this world who I can use as 'fodder' for my story.

I raised my right arm to my mouth and ordered the story.

"Eat 'me'."

687 Episode 23 Fragments of God (2)

If I really am the reincarnation of 49% Kim Dokja, and therefore have a fragment of Kim Dokja, then there is no way this method would be impossible.

「It feeds me and runs the story.」

If what you want to eat is 'Kim Dokja', I'll eat it as much as you want.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is looking at you intently.]

Kim Dokja’s voice rang in my head.

—Hey! Wait for a second!

I pretended not to hear him and bit my forearm as hard as I could. I wasn't sure if my actions would lead to predation on stories. But...

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is interested in your story fragment.]

A kind of showmanship to lure the guy.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' bites off your right arm!]

Tsutsutsutsu!

I felt something like fangs biting into my forearm muscle and a terrible pain.

The blood that spurted into the air soon became sharp pain.

I smiled even through the pain.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' feasts on a part of your story!]

As I blinked, the scenery of the snowy field filled my vision.

I don't want to forget anything.

Tsutsutsutsutsu.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is nauseated!]

Huh?

—Is it like this?

I heard Kim Dokja click his tongue in my head.

As if he had foreseen this situation.

The Heir to the Eternal Name who ate my story is in pain.

I was crying.

[The fragment crazy soldier Yoo Joonghyuk refuses to be absorbed!]

[The fragment of the story crazy soldier Yoo Joonghyuk goes on a rampage!]

Crazy soldier?

No, why do I have this fragment?

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is staring at you!]

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' has absorbed the wrong fables.]

[The corresponding 'Story Fragments' cannot be eaten normally.]

[Incomplete predation will result in 10 minutes of extra time!]

[Time remaining until death: 12:59]

Anyway, I bought some time.

[Skill seal penalty is lifted.]

Plus, the penalty is lifted.

I immediately activated 'Blade of Faith' and lightly cut down a few of the attacking creatures.

I heard someone buried in a pile of monsters crying.

Removing the mountains of their corpses, I could see one human hand sticking out.

"Catch it!"

I held her hand and pulled her out with all my might, and the woman was dragged out, shedding tears.

She was crying while holding the dead uncle.

"Go inside, I will block this place."

"But—"

"Hurry!"

The woman quickly nodded her head and ran into the living room.

I piled up the monsters' corpses to block the entrance to the shelter and then turned around.

In the distance, the battle was still in full swing.

A group led by Bang Cheolsoo and the mother and daughter was continuing the melee nearby, and on the front lines, the siblings Jung Heewon and Jung Eunho were dealing with the dragons together.

—One 5th grade and one 4th grade. Can you do it?

"What does a guy who has been lying down for 45 days do?"

Most incarnations now have as high a level of overall ability as me.

There was no way the situation would change just because I jumped in.

Just hearing the howling of the dragon clan roaring from afar makes my stomach tingle.

In my current physical condition, it would be difficult for me to break through the crowd and enter the front lines.

"Please help me."

—You’re shameless, you bastard.

"Now you have to act like a Constellation."

Even if he is not Mythical grade, the 'Demon King of Salvation' is a Narrative grade one.

A Constellation with the highest rank among its class.

"Please give me some coins. Let me increase my stats."

—Where are my coins?

"Why does my Constellation not have any coins?"

—If there was such a thing, would you have made a collect call?

Come to think of it, this person was a collect call from the first contact.

I thought it was just because he was a salty idiot, but he really did it because he had no money?

"You had a lot of coins when you were an incarnation, right?"

—Because of you, I spent everything, I don’t even have a few pennies left. Did you forget?

There was a scene that came to mind later.

When I first signed a contract with the 'Demon King of Salvation', I borrowed his story, 'The King of a Kingless World'. Did he pay the probability cost with coins at that time?

"But you only lent me one story..."

—It was my birth story, right?

"Anyway, so you don’t have any coins?"

—I said there isn’t any.

I feel like I want to use [Lie Detection].

"Then what can you do?"

—Well...

Suddenly this thought occurred to me.

What are the advantages of becoming Kim Dokja's incarnation?

If you think about it, didn't Shin Yoosung, who was the incarnation of Kim Dokja in the main story, grow up on her own without much support?

—Cheering?

I blew off the head of a Groll, who was running at me, without a word.

—Hey, you Don’t kill him like that.

"Please don’t talk to me because it will disturb me."

—If you look closely, isn’t there something like an incision on the neck? If you stab it and kill it, you can catch it without much effort. Joonghyuk only realized this after the 40th round…

I stabbed one in the neck as it inadvertently ran towards me.

But did I accidentally stab it in the spot Kim Dokja mentioned?

The groll just went limp without even putting in much effort.

"What about the incision line?"

—There, look carefully! A little further inside!

When I squinted and looked closely, I saw that there were faint incisions on each of the grolls’ necks. When the force was adjusted and the shot was fired in a precise trajectory, the group was killed in an instant.

Two, three, four...

After killing as many as sixty in less than a minute. The number of nearby groups has decreased significantly.

—How is it?

It's more helpful than I thought.

As expected, knowing 'Ways of Survival' is different.

As they were quickly cleared from the rear, the fierce struggle continued.

The Geumho Station group also seemed to be taking a breather.

"Hyung!"

Bang Cheolsoo found me and waved his hand.

Fortunately, the damage to the Geumho Station Group was not significant yet.

The problem is what to do with those dragons that occupy the center of Gwanghwamun.

[4th grade Earth Dragon species 'Earth Python' roars!]

The people's complexions turned pale as they heard the roar again.

"Everyone cover your ears!"

With Shin Yoosung's sharp shout, the small Nagak ensemble began at the front.

As the dozen or so Nagak troops poured out their ensemble at once, some of the howling directed at the incarnations was cancelled out.

Some Nagaks created a barrier with their shells to block the attack.

However, the small Nagaks are only 8th grade marine species. In the end, the shells that could not endure it burst into pieces.

Shin Yoosung, who was hiding in one of the shells, stumbled and fell.

"Yoosoung-ssi!"

I hurriedly ran over and hugged Shin Yoosung. When I checked her pulse, I found that her magic circuit was already completely damaged.

I left the fainted Shin Yoosung in the care of Bang Cheolsoo.

"Hyung?"

Bang Cheolsoo, who accepted Shin Yoosung with a dumb expression, looked at me.

In the past, I would have never entrusted Shin Yoosung to this guy.

['Geumho Station Group' unites around the incarnation 'Bang Cheolsoo'.]

But it's different now.

You can tell just by looking at the people at Geumho Station that they still follow him.

"Bang Cheolsoo. No matter what happens, protect her."

"Oh, it’s dangerous to go forward! Let’s run away! While Heewon takes time—"

"Bang Cheolsoo."

Bang Cheolsoo looked at me with trembling eyes and nodded his head with difficulty.

"Yes, I understand."

"It’s a request."

I started running straight to the front line where Jung Heewon was.

There are now 6 minutes left.

Sergeant Kim, carrying the exhausted Jung Eunho, was running away in a huff.

"Inho-ssi! You must not come this way!"

Now, the only one guarding the front line was Jung Heewon.

Jung Heewon continued to fight against the 4th grade earth dragon species and the 5th grade gold dragon species.

As she activated [Demon Slayer] and [Madness] at the same time, her entire body was filled with incredible energy.

It was like watching Yoo Joonghyuk.

But it was clear to anyone that that situation would not last long.

Blood was flowing continuously from her nose and ears.

The dragon tribe also did not take active action, perhaps because they noticed Jung Heewon's condition.

I asked as I slaughtered the monsters blocking the path one by one.

'Do you know the weaknesses of the dragons?'

—I know, but. It's hard to deal with them for you right now with your overall abilities.

'All I have to do is to have high overall stats.'

—Do you have any coins?

I don't know anything else, but there is one thing I am more confident about than other incarnations.

[Coins held: 418,000C]

This time, even Kim Dokja looked surprised.

—What, did you cheat a Constellation?

'I did defeat a demon lord.'

Apparently, the 300,000 coins I received from Asmodeus at the theater were big.

That bastard. He probably didn't know that his own money would be put to such good use.

—Then it's time to sell the full profit.

'It’s been a while since I heard that line.'

I opened my wallet without hesitation.

[You invested 24,000 coins in strength.]

[Strength Lv.40 -> Strength Lv.70]

[Your power has attracted the attention of the giants.]

Muscular strength.

[You invested 24,000 coins in stamina.]

[Stamina Lv.40 -> Stamina Lv.70]

[Your physical strength stimulates the curiosity of the heroes.]

Durability.

[You invested 24,000 coins in agility.]

[Agility Lv.40 -> Agility Lv.70]

[The Miao people are amazed at your agility.]

Agility.

[You invested 24,000 coins in magic power.]

[Magic Lv.40 -> Magic Lv.70]

[Your talent has begun to attract the attention of the Magic Tower.]

And even magic power.

[Your overall abilities have almost reached the limit for this scenario.]

As I instantly raised all my abilities to the limit, my whole body began to overflow with vitality.

Even though I was destined to die in 6 minutes, I wasn't afraid at all.

Was I influenced by Kim Dokja?

—Then it looks like we are ready to return to broadcasting.

'Return to broadcast?'

Now that I think about it, I have barely heard any broadcast messages from the moment I woke up.

It was natural.

I signed a sponsorship contract with the 'Demon King of Salvation' and terminated the exclusive contract with Bihyung.

Although I didn't suffer any significant penalty due to Bihyung's consideration, I was no longer of interest to the Constellations of the 'Finding Incarnations' group.

This means that I have lost my marketability to the Constellations.

—If you spend money, you have to earn back the amount you spent.

I said while dodging the magic wave of the flying Earth Dragon species.

'Now that's a bit difficult. Moreover, my contract with Bihyung has ended—'

—I know. You can do it again.

What am I doing again?

In the first place, the contract between me and Bihyung was possible because I had no sponsor. In the current situation, there was no reason for Bihyung to agree to renew his contract.

It was then that a light spark appeared in the air and a Dokkaebi appeared.

[Now, it’s been a while since we’re broadcasting from the Korean Peninsula, Constellations!]

Indeed, even Dokkaebis will come if you tell them what to do.

Bihyung, who was two times bigger than before, was talking to the Constellations, showing off his white and plump belly.

[A few Constellations say that the Korean Peninsula channel is no longer interesting.]

[A very small number of Constellations are asking whether there are no usable incarnations on the Korean Peninsula channel anymore.]

It was true.

The Korean Peninsula is already in its seventh scenario.

All the incarnations that are strong enough have already signed a sponsorship contract.

But in the midst of all this, there was one idiot who was promoting his own incarnation.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' calls out for you to come see his incarnation!]

It was my cabbage sponsor.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' wonders why no one sees this interesting story.]

I felt a strange sense of déjà vu.

Could it be that Han Sooyoung, who wrote 'Ways of Survival', felt the same way?

'Hey, Kim Dokja-ssi. There's no need to go that far—'

[A very small number of Constellations are annoyed, asking why they should look at other people's incarnations.]

[Very few Constellations say that their good incarnation was lost to that idiot.]

[A very small number of Constellations show hostility to the 'Demon King of Salvation'!]

I didn't want to see my sponsor being criticized anymore.

'As expected, it would be better for you to quit—'

But Kim Dokja's words continued.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' says that incarnation 'Cheon Inho' is not his incarnation, even though it is his incarnation.]

…?

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' declares that the contract he made with his incarnation 'Cheon Inho' is 'temporary'.]

What does that mean?

I pricked up my ears to understand Kim Dokja's nonsense.

[The incarnation 'Demon King of Salvation' declares that incarnation 'Cheon Inho' will be trained harshly for the next two years and then sent back to the sponsorship contract market!]

[A very small number of Constellations are glaring at you, asking how they can believe such a lie.]

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' swears to the <Star Stream>.]

It was absurd.

I wanted to ask what would happen if I took that kind of oath on my own.

But

coo coo coo coo—

Lightning struck in the air.

The sky over the Korean Peninsula was turning red as if a 'Great Hall' had opened.

The light emitted by the Constellations temporarily changed the color of the sky.

[Multiple Constellations have entered the channel!]

[The Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' asks if he has finally awakened.]

[The Constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' picks his ears, saying he has been bored.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' grumbles that the Korean Peninsula channel is still small.]

[The Constellation 'Maritime War God' congratulates you on your return.]

[The Constellation 'Queen of the Darkest Spring' is interested in the 'Demon King of Salvation'’s words.]

[The Constellation 'God of Wine and Ecstasy' asks how much he will be sold for in two years.]

[The Constellation 'Tiger Eating Rice Cakes' sheds tears, saying it has been a while.]

I wondered what on earth was happening. The incarnations and even the dragons were startled and stopped moving.

But that wasn't the end.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' has signed a 'stream contract' with the Dokkaebi 'Bihyung'.]

What on earth have you done to already renew my contract?

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' has modified the terms of contract conditions.]

Contract conditions.

Belatedly, I remembered the details of the contract I had signed.

'Bihyung' in this round is a formidable guy. He agreed to a donation distribution ratio of 7 to 3.

Since this is a contract renewal, these conditions are bound to become more unfavorable —

[The donation distribution conditions have been modified to 10 to 0.]

688 Episode 23 Fragments of God (3)

My open mouth could not be closed.

10 to 0?

Really? You won a 10-0 contract against that Bihyung?

When I looked up into the sky, I saw Bihyung sweating with a troubled expression on his face. It felt like he was having a conversation with someone, but it was obvious who it was.

—The conversation is over. Of course you know we are 10, right?

A hollow laugh came out.

Right.

Kim Dokja was this kind of person.

'What on earth have you done?'

He placed me in the center of the battlefield, opened the Seoul Broadcasting channel, renewed the <Stream Contract>, and invited Constellations to this channel.

[A significant number of Constellations are watching your movements!]

[300 coins were sponsored.]

All of this happened in less than 5 minutes.

—Are you ready?

I realize once again who I signed with.

He was once the swindler of this <Star Stream>.

The devil who mocked, despised, and saved the Constellations.

"Yes."

I have 5 minutes left to live.

Again, I wasn't afraid.

Now I know why I am not afraid.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' is with you.]

Perhaps I have been waiting for this moment all along.

—Let’s begin the return stage.

As I ran with all my might, my 70-strong strength condensed and my acceleration increased.

[The story 'persistent martial arts master' begins its storytelling.]

As the story of the Ark was wrapped in my hands, my magic power, which had matured even further, drew blue in the air.

The monsters' heads were blown away like toys in a straight trajectory.

[The Constellation 'Goryeo’s First Sword' nods to your martial arts.]

Somehow, I felt like I was more accustomed to dealing with stories than before.

Is this also the influence of my sponsor?

Oooooh!

In the distance, an angry dragon howled and let out a bright red breath.

[5th grade monster dragon species, 'Variant Imoogi Bracky' prepares 'breath'!]

It was a monster species that did not appear in the main story.

—It’s literally just an Imoogi. Strictly speaking, it's not a proper 'dragon'.

But I have Kim Dokja.

—The breath pattern is vertical. Looking at the pattern on its back, it appears to be a lower class of the Fire Dragon and Earth Dragon. Maybe there are rocks mixed in between the breaths?

[5th grade monster dragon species 'Variant Imoogi Bracky' uses 'breath'!]

In fact, large chunks of hail were mixed in between the flying breaths.

While watching the flying fireball, Kim Dokja calmly continued his explanation.

—The flames are clustered around the boulder, so you only need to dodge the big ones. Open your eyes straight, have you ever played a rhythm game?

'I know what you want to say.'

—Think you're in the game now.

It was nonsense, but I actually did it.

I bent down just in time for the hailstones to fly in, and I swung my [Unbreakable Faith] to blow up the small lumps that I was unable to avoid. Even though the heat exploded right in front of me, I didn’t look away.

I thought I could do it.

—Okay, next!

The moment I kicked off the floor at the signal and flew up, my eyes met in the air with Jung Heewon’s, who was dodging the breath.

"Inho-ssi?"

Before Jung Heewon, who was surprised to see me, could shout out anything, I pointed behind her.

"Heewon-ssi! Behind you!"

The tail of the 4th grade dragon, who was looking for an opening, flew straight towards Jung Heewon. It was an attack with no apparent angle to avoid.

—Don't worry.

At the same time as Kim Dokja's words, a dazzling aura rose from Jung Heewon's whole body.

[Incarnation 'Jung Heewon' activates 'Judgment Time'!]

A super-powerful skill that demonstrates omnipotent combat power against monsters.

「Judgment Time, which only the 'Judge of Destruction' can use, has demonstrated its supernormal ability.」

"Hold on tight!"

Jung Heewon, who snatched my hand, made abnormal movements in the air and fell to the ground.

As the monster's tail narrowly passed by, Jung Heewon sighed and shouted while holding onto my wrist.

"When did you wake up… No, rather, why did you come here! Do you know what the situation is now—"

"We'll talk about that later. Heewon-ssi, if it were the current Heewon-ssi…"

I continued speaking as I caught a glimpse of the 4th grade dragon, who was glaring at us after retracting his tail.

"Can you deal with that guy?"

Even if Kim Dokja was with me, it was impossible to hunt a 4th grade monster with my current specs.

But for Jung Heewon, the story is different.

She is a specialist in hunting big monsters.

Now that [Judgment Time] has been activated, I might be able to fight against a 4th grade monster species.

"With that one thing, there's no chance of winning."

"The other thing is the problem."

I said while looking at the 5th grade monster running towards me.

"I will deal with the 5th grade. Heewon-ssi, please hold back the 4th grade."

"Wait a minute, you're so arrogant—"

"Heewon-ssi, you know very well what's more important right now. If we don't catch those monsters, everyone here will die."

At my words, Jung Heewon hurriedly looked behind her.

Sergeant Kim retreated to the rear with Jung Eunho on his back. Bang Cheolsoo's group was also seen protecting him.

Jung Heewon, frowning, let go of my wrist and said.

"I have a lot of questions to ask later."

She ran straight towards the 4th grade monster. An Earth Dragon also swung its huge front paws at her as if it had been waiting.

Immediately afterwards, a deafening roar erupted. If she were a normal incarnation, it would have been a blow that would have crushed her to the ground.

But Jung Heewon endured.

Oooooh!

Body specifications increased significantly while passing through the seventh scenario. Plus the buffs of [Judgment Time] and [Demon Slaying].

If she was like that now, she wouldn't be defeated even if her opponent was Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round.

I called out to Kim Dokja in my mind.

'Hey, Kim Dokja-ssi.'

I know it's a fight so exciting that he won't be able to take his eyes off it, but he still has to do what he has to do.

—Oh sorry. It reminds me of the old days.

Old days.

It wasn't that difficult to think of what Kim Dokja, the 'Demon King of Salvation', might have thought while looking at Jung Heewon.

'But now I have just three minutes left to live.'

—Don't worry. You won't die here.

'Do you really have to speak so ominously?'

The 5th grade dragon species that had prepared its attack rushed towards me once again.

If it was 5th grade, it was a level that couldn’t have been killed even if the readers and I launched a joint attack 45 days ago.

I used the 'Labyrinth Watcher' to buy time, and I was able to hunt the monster only after Dansu ahjussi died once and I also risked my life.

Would I be able to kill such a monster alone?

—Strictly speaking, it’s not a major character. At least it can't use techniques like 'total annihilation'. That's because it only activates in disaster scenarios.

'Even if there's no such thing as annihilation, it doesn’t change that it’s strong.'

—You said your specs are enough for now? There's no time, so let's go quickly.

I nodded.

I had a clear idea in my head of what to do even if no one told me to.

—Sylphide's Leaping Boots.

[The special option 'Leap' is activated.]

I soared up the body of the dragon in one go.

—Now.

When I activated the 'Blade of Faith' through 'Thought', the sword strike, which became even sharper due to the acceleration of [Leap], pierced the guy's spine.

The sensation of the blade entering was definitely different from the fourth scenario.

I guess it's because my physical stats have improved significantly.

Ahhh!

But this one blow wasn't enough to take him down.

A more certain shot was needed.

—Use [Incite] and [Sentence Enhancement].

A combination of [Sentence Enhancement] and [Incite] that reinforce behavior. It was one of my few talents that [incited] me to become a specific character and used that character's power.

'Can I use Yoo Joonghyuk?'

—How do you imitate Yoo Joonghyuk at your level now?

'There have been times when I did it.'

It was true.

It was short-lived and didn't go very well.

—The opponent is a monster species that evolved from an Imoogi. It’s obvious who to imitate, right?

'Ah.'

I nodded.

Now it’s the seventh scenario.

The number of stories I have is three.

Considering that one of them was 'semi-mythical', there was a character who I could have attempted to incite as even at my level.

Even more so if that guy's body is an Imoogi.

Ahhh!

The tip of its sharp claws scratched my thigh.

I suppressed the pain and activated [Sentence Enhancement].

[The sub-skill 'Sentence Enhancement' is activated!]

[You can enter your actions.]

[The actions you enter will be reinforced.]

…

[An error occurred!]

[Currently you cannot activate 'Sentence Enhancement'!]

[All probabilities needed to strengthen sentences have been exhausted!]

I belatedly remembered the last time I activated the skill.

At that time, I had wasted all probability in signing a contract with the 'Demon King of Salvation' to kill the 'Founder of the Absolute Throne'.

'I think I'm screwed.'

—It’s okay. You can at least use [Incite]!

'[Incite] cannot even imitate the character's skills.'

—It doesn’t matter, trust me! Hurry!

[Exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.10' is activated!]

"I am-"

In my head, the pages of Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint began to turn.

He is a being who can easily subdue the Imoogi in front of me.

The Constellation that defeated Yamata no Orochi in the 'sixth scenario' in Peace Land.

"I am Kim Dokja, who defeated the 'Eight-Headed Snake' in 'Peace Land'!"

['Incite' is pushed to its limit!]

With the activation of [Incite], strong faith surged deep into my cells.

“I am Kim Dokja. I am the same Kim Dokja who hunted Yamata no Orochi."

Then, the dragon species in front of me actually looked like nothing.

That's right, I hunted Yamata no Orochi.

What's so scary about that 5th grade?

I swung my sword at it with overflowing confidence.

I can win. I can kill—

Kagaga!

'Blade of Faith' was easily blocked.

The guy's huge maw opened before my eyes.

Quaaaaa!

I screamed as I hurriedly dodged the pouring breath.

If I had just been hit by that, I would have died.

I would’ve been really dead.

—Are you crazy? What are you doing rushing in just like that?

'No, you said to believe it!'

—There’s no way you can win with just [Incite]! Give me 20,000 coins quickly.

'Yes—no, how much?'

Kim Dokja had no answer. And.

[Sponsor contract provisions is activated!]

[Your Constellation is extorting a portion of the donation amount scheduled for you.]

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' acquired 20,000 coins.]

No, this guy.

Kim Dokja opened his mouth as if satisfied.

—Good. Let's get started.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' uses 20,000 coins.]

At that moment, I realized what Kim Dokja was trying to do.

He has now paid the directing fee.

20,000 coins is the minimum probability to put my 'fake acting' on the 'real stage'.

[The story 'The One who Hunted the King of Disasters' begins its storytelling.]

The One who Hunted the King of Disasters.

Kim Dokja's legendary story, a story obtained by cutting down Yamata no Orochi, who possesses the power of an Outer God.

That story was embedded in my whole body.

[「Staging」 begins.]

The stage before my eyes began to change according to the influence of the story.

A part of Gwanghwamun's scenery was momentarily transformed into 'Veronica Castle', which was the stage of 'Peace Land'.

[Currently, the reproduction level of 'Staging' is low.]

Although the level of reproduction was low because the opponent was not 'Yamata no Orochi', this was enough for now.

Grrrr—!

As evidence, the momentum of 5th grade dragon species had clearly changed. Unlike before, its eyes showed a strange sense of fear.

It was natural.

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' is surprised by your story!]

This story is a story of the murder of the 'King of Imoogis'.

[The Constellations of the Balaur lineage are doubting the probability of the 'Demon King of Salvation'!]

[The Constellation 'Demon-like Judge of Fire''s eyes shine at your performance.]

I ran out as if I were Kim Dokja from 'Peace Land'.

A 5th grade dragon species opened its vicious maw as if it was about to bite me.

—Jump in!

With Kim Dokja's signal, I performed the mimicry of [Leap] and 'Thought' at the same time.

'Change into the Everchanging Stealth suit.'

[The effect of the 'Everchanging Stealth Suit' is activated!]

Just like when I entered the 'Star Jewel Dungeon', I used the 'Everchanging Stealth Suit' to reduce the size of my body.

The moment the panicked monster dragon species opened its mouth, I burst into its mouth like a small shooting star. As soon as I passed through the uvula and into the esophagus, Kim Dokja gave a signal.

—Now.

I took off my stealth suit and put my hand into my chest. There was a real 'Unbreakable Faith' left behind by Han Sooyoung, who disappeared there.

'Help me, Han Sooyoung.'

I held the handle of the sword as if praying.

It's impossible on my own.

I also came here because of the story you wrote.

[The story 'The One who Hunted the King of Disasters' roars!]

Shamelessly, I needed the power of that story one more time.

Giiiiiiing!

Light exploded from 'Unbreakable Faith' and a powerful 'Blade of Faith' emerged.

The characteristic of [Circulatory Retardation] was activated and magical power was released like a waterfall.

Stronger, faster.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' nods his head.]

I can't be Kim Dokja, who killed the King of Disasters—but if I have the qualifications to be 'Kim Dokja' at all.

If only I was still allowed that name.

「At that moment, I will not doubt that I am Kim Dokja.」

The deep blue, white-blue magical power drew a dazzling trajectory.

689 Episode 23 Fragments of God (4)

---

A huge amount of magical power was flowing out through my right hand, and a bright light appeared above my head.

Dizziness that comes with a feeling of exhaustion.

I could feel the gaze of stars in the sky.

The severed head of the 5th grade dragon species was looking up at me in disbelief.

[You have defeated the 5th grade dragon species mutant Imoogi Bracky!]

[The Constellation 'Maritime War God' is astonished by your action!]

[The Constellation 'Goryeo’s First Sword' praises your courage.]

[The Constellation 'Bald General of Justice' gives a thumbs up, saying he is also a descendant of the Korean Peninsula.]

[The Constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband' is interested in your fighting style.]

[Some Constellations are interested in the proposal of the 'Demon King of Salvation'.]

[A total of 5,000 coins were sponsored!]

From afar, I could see Bang Cheolsoo and the people of Geumho Station cheering in this direction.

[30 seconds left until death.]

It occurred to me that dying like this wasn't that bad.

[The synchronization rate with the sponsor increases.]

[The possibility of a new story germinates.]

—Youngest.

'Yes.'

—You don’t really want to die, do you?

'There are now 20 seconds left.'

Is there any way to survive right now?

Honestly, I don't know.

Should I once again feed myself to the 'Heir of the Eternal Name'?

Will that method work this time too?

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' refuses to prey on you.]

It doesn't work either.

Then there is no way for me.

Now I only trust Kim Dokja.

—Let’s see. It should be somewhere around here... Uh, over there! The head!

'The head?'

—Falling head! Hurry!

When I looked closely, I saw that items had fallen between the monster’s head that had fallen on the floor.

One was the 'core of a 5th grade monster dragon species', and the other was...

"This…"

I was startled and picked up the item that had fallen on the floor.

To be precise, it wasn't an 'item'. It is a fragment that looks like a crude collection of very small letters.

[Fragment of the story 'For a reader, a reader’s life' has been acquired.]

Why on earth does the dragon have this?

—Phew, it was there as expected.

No, why is this—

—Just feed it quickly. If you're being foolish, you'll really be in trouble.

'Do you want me to feed it this?'

—That’s also 'Kim Dokja’s fragment'.

Just by looking at the name, it was clear that it was a fragment of Kim Dokja.

[5 seconds left until death.]

I really don't have time anymore.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is interested in the story fragment you have acquired!]

'Want some?'

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' opens its mouth greedily.]

Immediately, a sound like biting into a piece of soft meat was heard, and smoke rose from the palm of my hand.

[The time limit has elapsed.]

Was it successful?

Can I keep living?

A series of sentences flowed through my mind as if answering my questions.

「"It's okay, Yoo Sangah."

"Yes?"

"Even if you tell me about the app, it won't help."

The genre of my life now is clearly 'realism'.

"Because readers have their own lives."

And in this genre, I am not the protagonist but the 'reader'.」

This scene seems to be a fragment of the story, 'For a reader, a reader's life'.

Eventually, the sound of the tale burping lightly after finishing its feast was heard.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' succeeded in predation.]

[The status of the story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' has slightly increased.]

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is somewhat satisfied.]

[1 day time limit has been added.]

1 day!

My life expectancy increased by a whopping day.

—Look at that. I said you wouldn't die here, right?

I was dumbfounded and looked up into the air.

How did Kim Dokja know that this dragon species had 'Kim Dokja's fragment'?

"Is it possible that this dragon species also appears in Ways of Survival?"

—It does come out, but not like this. No matter what events exist within 'Ways of Survival', this monster cannot be here.

The monster in front of me is a 'dragon species that should not be here right now'.

—However, in this '41st round', an incident occurred that did not appear in any episode of 'Ways of Survival'.

I immediately understood what Kim Dokja said.

In this world, there was only one incident that had nothing to do with 'Ways of Survival'.

Me and the existence of other readers who have read 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint'.

I looked down at the dead monster's head and muttered.

"No way…"

Perhaps this monster has eaten and erased 'readers' that I do not know.

If it has evolved beyond its original level through the fragments obtained in that way.

If that's the case, how many fragments of readers exist in this world? And in the process, how many readers...

—Now, let’s not think about the complicated stuff. It could just be a fragment that fell on the road and was picked up by chance.

'There's no way something like this is just lying on the street.'

—Well, it's a shame.

From a distance, the 4th grade monster could be seen fighting to the death with Jung Heewon.

—That guy over there has a 'large fragment'.

'Really?'

—I’m sure. I can feel it now.

A larger fragment.

In other words, if I deal with that guy, I can live longer.

[4th grade Earth Dragon species 'Earth Python' activates 'Annihilation Footprints'!]

The entire area shook violently, and a huge seismic wave was generated centered around the guy's feet. Bright red lava overflowed through the cracks in the cracked ground.

As I soared into the air using [Leap], the bloody battle between Jung Heewon and the 4th grade Earth Dragon species was visible at a glance through the clouds of dust and steam.

Jung Heewon injured her thigh and shoulder.

However, the Earth Dragon species also had both wings cut off and one ankle was seriously injured, so it seemed difficult to move.

Strong magical power trembled from Jung Heewon's blade as if trying to determine a match.

Ether Blade.

The blade of pure magical power created through persistent training stretched out, and in an instant, Jung Heewon's divine form disappeared.

[Incarnation 'Jung Heewon' activates 'Kendo Lv.10'!]

Jung Heewon, who appeared from the sky, drew a horizontal trajectory toward the monster's neck.

Even if it is 4th grade, it is an unavoidable blow with injuries like that.

It was the unstoppable victory of Jung Heewon.

However.

—Of course, it’s not an ordinary 4th grade monster.

With a sound like a swoosh, the incarnation of the 4th grade Earth Dragon species dispersed like smoke.

Jung Heewon made an embarrassed expression.

Before I could warn her, the Earth Dragon species that took over Jung Heewon's rear struck her with its huge tail.

Bang—

With a sound, Jeong Heewon plummeted to the ground.

The clever Earth Dragon left his last move until the last moment.

"Heewon-ssi!"

I repeatedly [Leaped] with all my might and held Jung Heewon as she fell to the ground. Dark red blood leaked out from Jung Heewon's mouth.

"Heewon-ssi! Come to your senses!"

She still seems to have not lost her fighting spirit as the aura of [Judgement Time] and [Demon Slaying] flowed out of her body.

But I could tell just by feeling her pulse.

Jung Heewon was no longer in a state to fight.

I looked back at the rear battle line, which had been sorted out to some extent.

Fortunately, there is no penalty for running away in this scenario.

She needs to run away now.

When it is difficult for the 4th grade Earth Dragon species to move, we should run away as soon as possible—

—No. Catch that guy.

Those were Kim Dokja's words.

—You don't know when you'll find fragments again. The only chance is now.

I know. That now is an opportunity.

But can I do it?

Will I be able to kill that guy who even Jung Heewon couldn't defeat?

—There is a chance of victory. [Staging] is not finished yet.

As the hazy dust cleared, the brilliant eyes of the 4th grade Earth Dragon species were revealed.

Kim Dokja was right.

A faint fear reflected in its eyes.

It’s afraid of me now.

[The Constellation 'Maritime War God' is watching your courage.]

—Fight to the death, Youngest. If you want to become the real 'Kim Dokja' you want to be.

At that moment, I saw Bang Cheolsoo and Dayoung's mother running from behind.

"Hyung! Heewon-ssi!"

Instead of Bang Cheolsoo, who was carrying Shin Yoosung, I looked at Dayoung’s mother.

"Please take care of Heewon-ssi."

Dayoung’s mother didn’t hesitate and carried Jung Heewon.

Jung Heewon, who seemed to be still conscious, opened her eyes wide.

I smiled lightly at Jung Heewon and then spoke to my companions.

"From now on, do your best to leave Gwanghwamun."

"Hyung! You too should leave with us—"

"Bang Cheolsoo. I can save myself somehow. Protect the people who trust you first."

Bang Cheolsoo, his eyes red, eventually lowered his head. He also knows that there is no way.

"Withdraw! Everyone, withdraw!"

After Bang Cheolsoo and Dayoung's mother ran away, I looked back at the Earth Dragon.

He too was looking this way, growling as if he was ready for a decisive battle.

[The time limit for 'Staging' is approaching.]

[The power of 'staging' weakens.]

It is difficult.

We can't end the stage already.

"I am-"

As I was preparing for [Incite] once again, I heard Kim Dokja's words.

—Reproducing the same scene continuously is not effective.

I knew. The stage once recreated through「Staging」 does not have the same level of impact on the Constellations.

[A very small number of Constellations ask if you are telling the same story again.]

In other words, this time, like before, it was impossible to confront him just by borrowing the power of 'Kim Dokja who hunted Yamata no Orochi'.

'I know.'

But it didn't matter.

Because-

"Because the person I wanted to recreate this time was not 'Kim Dokja'."

Even if the story has the same content, the main character of the story is different.

If it's another person, it's a different story.

The person I will recreate now is—

"I am."

In some ways, that protagonist surpasses even 'Kim Dokja'.

"I am 'Yoo Joonghyuk' who defeated the 'Eight-Headed Monarch' in 'Peaceland'."

As the pages turned in my head, the image of Yoo Joonghyuk and Yamata no Orochi fighting came to mind clearly.

[Fragment of the story 'Crazy Soldier Yoo Joonghyuk' squirms.]

Accordingly, the unidentified story of Yoo Joonghyuk, who I do not know when I acquired it, began to move within me.

[The story 'The One Who Hunted the King of Disasters' responds to the story fragment 'Crazy Soldier Yoo Joonghyuk'.]

I thought I could do it.

It’s Yoo Joonghyuk in the moment when he was dealing with Yamata no Orochi.

Goooooooo!

The aura of Yoo Joonghyuk’s mentor, imbued with the power of stories, was carried on the clear, burning trail of Unbreakable Faith.

The Earth Dragon, startled by the subversive force, hesitated and retreated.

This guy.

I leapt in the air, slashing my sword again and again as if struggling. The magic wave that imitated Yoo Joonghyuk's [Stage Transfomasion] grew around 'Unbreakable Faith'.

It wasn't easy. Even if I tried my best, reaching Yoo Joonghyuk felt like a long way off.

—I!

'I am.'

But at least I wasn't the only one shouting these words now.

—I am Yoo Joonghyuk!

'I am Yoo Joonghyuk.'

[The synchronization rate with the Constellation is increasing!]

[The reproduction rate of the story increases slightly!]

The yellow pupils of the Earth Dragon species became vertically elongated.

The guy was truly shocked. He was so overwhelmed by the story that he began to believe the scenery before his eyes rather than the actual damage he would receive.

Eventually, when the guy's fear reached its peak. The frightened monster's new form scattered in the air.

The technique used on Jung Heewon.

[Fog ability.]

—You got caught, you bastard.

[The special option of 'Unbreakable Faith' is activated.]

The fog's weakness is 'elemental attacks'.

[Ether attribute is converted to 'Flame'.]

I used [Nagak Breathing] to hold my breath and spin like a top, swinging the blade of flame. The particles that came into contact with the flames suffered a crushing blow and began to melt.

Woo!

The Earth Dragon species regaining its form crashed to the ground with its half-burnt body.

At the same time, I was like, wow. And I vomited out the things inside me.

Following the overlapping [Incite], it was the price of enduring the story of my sponsor for too long.

[「Staging」 ends.]

The stage ends and the actor leaves.

[The story 'The One Who Hunted the King of Disasters' ends its storytelling.]

I barely raised my head with my hands on the floor. The Earth Dragon species that had collapsed was seen standing up again.

That's it.

The [Fog] ability could no longer be used, but it was still alive and well.

I felt like the atmosphere around me was opening up. He is preparing his final [Breath].

[Fragment of the story 'Crazy Soldier Yoo Joonghyuk' looks at you pitifully.]

Yoo Joonghyuk’s contempt woke me up.

I didn't fall. I can never die here.

I must protect people.

Jung Heewon, Jung Eunho, Sergeant Kim, and the people who saved me. I must buy time for them to escape.

[The synchronization rate with the sponsor is increasing!]

At that moment.

—Good job, Youngest.

A warm feeling began to circulate deep within my heart.

[The synchronization rate with the sponsor has reached a certain level.]

[A new 'stigmata' has been acquired.]

The power of my Constellation spread throughout my body.

[The stigma 'Sacrificial Will Lv.1' is activated!]

Finally, Kim Dokja's first stigmata bloomed.

690 Episode 23 Fragments of God (5)

---

[Sacrificial Will.]

Since Kim Dokja had so few stigmata, I knew very well what this stigma was.

'Surely this is a strategy?'

—Okay, just trust me now.

[Breath] is coming right in front of me, so what am I supposed to believe?

'This is just the stigma of sacrificing oneself.'

—Yes.

I could no longer trust the crazy Constellation.

[4th grade Earth Dragon species 'Earth Dragon' shows its hostility toward you.]

Even if we die, let's kill that guy and die.

The one who helped me wake up was again Yoo Joonghyuk's fragment.

I was angry.

[Fragment of the story 'Crazy Soldier Yoo Joonghyuk' is staring at you.]

I slowly stood up from my seat, holding my 'Unbreakable Faith' I picked up on the floor.

[Understanding of the character 'Yoo Joonghyuk' increases!]

[Fragment of the story 'Crazy Soldier Yoo Joonghyuk' is resonating with the skill 'Incite'!]

[The effect of 'Incite' becomes stronger!]

"Kim Dokja, I will kill you."

—Ok?

"Didn’t you tell me to only trust you? Why did the situation become like this?"

My mouth started chattering arbitrarily, and I was overcome with a feeling of unfairness.

—Hey. It’s [Incite]. Untie yourself and come to your senses! You are no longer Yoo Joonghyuk!

Kim Dokja noticed my condition and urgently shouted.

"Kill you! I’ll definitely kill you!"

As if I were Yoo Joonghyuk, I did my best to maintain 'Unbreakable Faith'.

And with the other hand, I activated 'Thought'.

Normally, there would be no good result from [Incite] running rampant like this.

But this time was different.

The moment the breath of the Earth Dragon Species came in front of my nose, 'Thought' glowed brightly and mimicked the 'Shield of Hercules'.

[The special skill 'Wide Area Defense' is activated!]

Wide Area Defense.

However, there was no way that the replica item's special skill could block the 4th Grade Earth Dragon's breath.

Along with the fierce wind pressure, fine fragments were lodged on the surface of the shield.

The shield cracked in an instant and was shattered before it could last even a second.

But when the breath hit, I was no longer there.

—Oh...

"Kill! Kill!"

Unlike my mouth, which foolishly repeated the same words, my body moved nimbly. As if I really was Yoo Joonghyuk who used [Recovery].

[Fragment of the story 'Crazy Soldier Yoo Joonghyuk' nods.]

My legs, which had pushed my muscles to their limit, were shaking.

When the Earth Dragon species that had missed my new form cried out and changed the direction of its breath, I was already behind it.

"Kill!"

The 'Unbreakable Faith' that poured all its magical power flew through the air.

Ahhh!

The 'Blade of Faith', which spun like a top, hit the monster's feet, and at the same time, a feeling of helplessness flooded through my whole body once again.

['Incite' is lifted.]

Incredible recoil. Now I really couldn't move a finger.

The monster with its feet tied was spitting out its final breath at me.

—Good job. Now it's perfect.

The faint light flowing from my whole body was flowing somewhere. It was the light of [Sacrificial Will].

[Sacrificial Will.]

When the caster risks his life for his comrades. The problem with that skill, which greatly amplifies the attack power of the entire party in proportion to the desperation, was that I had no friends at the moment.

—This skill is the one who can bring even the dead Joonghyuk back to life for a while.

That can't be possible.

No, even if that were the case, Yoo Joonghyuk isn’t here now—

—There is no Yoo Joonghyuk, though.

With those words, an explosion was heard from afar.

A faint thread of light extended from me and led towards the epicenter of that explosion.

—Because that person exists.

Jung Heewon, tears of blood flowing from both eyes, was running towards us.

[Stigmata 'Sacrificial Will Lv.1' is activated to the limit!]

---

Jung Heewon remembers the moment she met that first man.

—I like Jung Heewon.

A person who suddenly smiled strangely at Geumho Station, where the scent of blood was in the air.

—Heewon-ssi... I love you... I'm so sorry...

A person who said strange things.

—There is a character named Jung Heewon in the novel I wrote.

He likes to talk nonsense with a grumpy face.

—She looks very strong on the outside, but in reality, she is a soft person. Because she's such a tough person, she doesn't avoid fights, so she breaks often.

The one who risked his life to save her time and time again.

—I left home when I was in high school. Didn't I tell you?

He was the one who made her talk about her family for the first time.

"Family."

It was throbbing and her head hurt.

—Jung Heewon. Aren’t you curious what the 'original story' was like?

The voice of a woman in a white coat. She had her memories floating around with her.

It was like a 'novel''s story he was talking about.

Jung Heewon in that novel was someone similar to her, but a little different.

—I don't always want to step forward.

A person who is strong on the outside but soft on the inside.

—But since that person keeps jumping forward, there’s nothing I can do. A stronger me must step forward.

A person who had to muster up courage every time and become stronger.

Jung Heewon was curious.

Why did the self in that world have to become so strong?

Did she want to become stronger?

—Don't talk nonsense! I can't stand it! Don't go alone again! Please!

Jung Heewon of that world called a certain name a lot.

—Dokja-ssi!

A name she has never called before.

—Kim Dokja!

Is it family?

Or is it someone she loves?

She doesn't know.

However, Jung Heewon felt like her heart would break when she thought about that name.

Even though she knows this is just a story from a novel.

"Also."

When she thinks of that name.

"I can’t let you die."

She felt angry, sad, and heartbroken.

And she doesn't know why.

['Demon Slaying' runs rampant!]

Right now, Jung Heewon was feeling the same way about that man.

Explosive magical power flowed from her entire body. Munechika Mikazuki, held in her right hand, trembled violently. Her heart rate was abnormally high.

"You can’t die, you can’t die, you can’t die."

Her muscles contracted and expanded repeatedly. With each step, tens of meters of scenery rushed by.

['Madness' is affected by 'Sacrificial Will'!]

[The owner of the skill risked their life for others.]

[The party's attack power increases significantly in proportion to the desperation of life.]

Even as the surging breath completely covered her.

Jung Heewon did not miss the surprised face of this man.

Strangely, the moment she saw him, Jung Heewon felt like she had found something she had been searching for her whole life.

---

I could not come to my senses as the sword fight unfolded before my eyes.

I don’t know if Yoo Joonghyuk is capable of such amazing feats.

Kwa-kwa-kwa-kwa-kwa!

Jung Heewon's sword, which was spinning so fast that it could not be seen, was removing all the breaths of the flying Earth Dragon species.

Oooooh!

The surprised Earth Dragon let out an even more intense breath, but Jung Heewon was not pushed back at all.

Every time Munechika Mikazuki shone bright blue, it was the Earth Dragon who was pushed back.

As Jung Heewon, who was not afraid of death, took a step forward, as if she were a ghost, the Earth Dragon, a 4th grade monster, hesitated and took a step back.

"Heewon-ssi?"

As if she couldn't hear me, Jung Heewon was just repeating the same actions and repeating the same words.

"You can’t die, you can’t die, you can’t die."

I got a little goosebumps.

'Why is she doing this all of a sudden?'

—That...

Kim Dokja hesitated for a moment, as if he had something to point out, and then continued speaking in a shameless tone.

—I don't know either.

The breath of the 4th grade Earth Dragon species stopped suddenly. The moment the pale-faced monster took a deep breath, Jung Heewon's new form disappeared from sight.

Faster than me using [Leap].

The 4th grade Earth Dragon, whose feet were tied by my blow, now had no way to escape.

The monster's claws moved dully, tracing the air, and at the same time, a bloody line appeared on the monster's neck.

Jung Heewon, who sliced the monster's neck in one motion, only glanced at it.

In the blink of an eye, it landed next to me.

Then it fell forward like a doll whose strings had been cut.

[4th grade Earth Dragon species 'Earth Dragon' has been defeated!]

[A wonderful achievement has been achieved!]

[Contributors: Jung Heewon, Cheon Inho]

I quickly helped Jung Heewon up, who had fallen.

"Heewon-ssi!"

At the same time, all kinds of messages started pouring into my head.

[As a reward, you have received a 'Lesser Dragon Heart'!]

[150,000 coins were obtained!]

[The Constellation, 'Demon-like Judge of Fire' sponsors 2,000 coins for your battle.]

[The Constellation 'Prisoner of the Golden Headband'… ]

I couldn't help but not smile despite the feast of coins pouring in. This is because Jung Heewon was looking up at me with her eyes wide open.

"Don’t die."

Jung Heewon's hands went limp, as if she had lost her mind.

I looked up into space as I quickly pushed the 'Elain Forest Spirit' into her mouth.

It was only then that I realized what Kim Dokja had done and what stigma his [Sacrificial Will] was.

"You, you really—"

I couldn't bear to continue talking.

—I’m a bad person.

However, Kim Dokja was a person who read what was not said better than anyone else.

Kim Dokja must have known from the beginning.

What happens if you use [Sacrifice Will]. How his colleagues are hurt.

"I-"

—Didn’t you want to become Kim Dokja?

I was speechless for a moment. What does it mean to be Kim Dokja?

I am increasingly unable to understand what it means to be Kim Dokja.

[The synchronization rate with the sponsor increases.]

My rough breathing gradually calmed down.

Kim Dokja was silent for a moment, but then spoke in a calm voice.

—Now, let’s check the reward.

"You mean the Dragon Heart?"

—That's good too, but start with that first.

Faintly glowing fragments were visible where the body of the giant Earth Dragon had fallen. However, the shape of the fragment was a bit unusual.

'Sponsor-nim, that...'

—That's right.

There was something reminiscent of a small doll lying there.

A doll whose left arm and right leg are missing.

It was much smaller and patchier than I remembered, but it was unmistakable.

It's clear.

It resembled 'kkoma Kim Dokja'.

I stretched out my trembling hand and picked up the doll. Then the doll slowly opened its eyes and looked at me.

No. Maybe it's not me—

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' looks at his fragment.]

At that moment, the kkoma Kim Dokja doll trembled slightly. Maybe it looked like it was crying.

It wasn't crying because it was scared.

—Okay, can you see me?

A cry that sounds like it missed him a lot.

Kim Dokja spoke in a sweet voice, as if comforting the doll.

—It's okay now. Rest assured.

After hearing Kim Dokja's voice, the doll slowly closed its eyes.

As if waiting for an important choice.

—Hakhyun-ah.

I took a deep breath. I knew what to do, but my feelings were complicated.

—Hold the sword. Hurry.

'Huh?'

—Hurry!

It was then that a crack appeared in the air. A black hand appeared through the completely torn space.

The hand that appeared when Sergeant Jung Moonho died at Seoul Station.

The hand rushed towards the kkoma Kim Dokja doll in my arms.

When Sergeant Jung Moonho was in there, he was helplessly taken away, but this time it was different.

—Now!

At the signal, I cut down the hand rushing towards the fragment.

The hand that touched the blade crumbled into dust. Then a painful cry rang out from beyond the crack, and the crack closed in an instant.

Kim Dokja sighed and opened his mouth.

—I guess there are people other than us who collect 'fragments'.

I think there is.

I remembered the theater of Asmodeus where 'kkoma Kim Dokjas' gathered.

—It's not him this time. That one...

I knew it the moment I heard his voice. If Kim Dokja were in front of me right now, he would definitely be frowning.

—They are probably the ones who killed 'me'.

691 Episode 24 Expert (1)

---

After the hunt for the Earth Dragon species ended, the survivors of Gwanghwamun began maintenance.

There were quite a few people who were injured or died during the scenario. If this were the beginning scenarios, it would have been natural to see some people panicking, but people were calmer than expected. As if we were already used to tragedies like this.

"Come on, all the injured people this way!"

"There are only regular supplies left of Elaine Forest, so bring the seriously injured here!"

"We are going to start dismantling the 5th grade dragon species, so if you have any remaining stamina, please help!"

Under the leadership of gangster king Bang Cheolsoo, people dispersed in an orderly manner to find their respective roles.

It didn't seem like people were simply influenced by Bang Cheolsoo's leadership. This is because many of the people who remained here were not part of the Geumho Station group.

The incarnations were being controlled by the shadow of a person who was not here.

[Fragment of the story 'Crazy Soldier Yoo Joonghyuk' nods.]

This scenery was created by Yoo Joonghyuk over the past 45 days.

A Regressor who values efficiency.

A person who believes that survival is better than death, and that it is better to swing a sword once during a time of sadness.

I suddenly became curious.

What kind of ending is Yoo Joonghyuk dreaming of in the 41st round?

Come to think of it, I never once asked.

What is the scenery he wants to see at the end of this world?

"Hyung! Are you okay?"

At that moment, Bang Cheolsoo came over and spoke to me.

"I'm okay. What about you?"

"I'm fine."

Contrary to his answer, Bang Cheolsoo's injury was not light at all.

A long stab wound extending from the neck to the chest. Additionally, there are bandages wrapped around his thighs and arms.

Nevertheless, Bang Cheolsoo's eyes were courageous without deceit.

—That's great. He got [Accelerated Recovery] and [Burning Battle] in only the seventh scenario.

Meanwhile, Kim Dokja seemed to have observed Bang Cheolsoo's condition through [Character List].

—It would be useful as a large shield when Lee Hyunsung is not around. I guess I'll have to redraw the power balance table for the 41st round.

'When did you make something like that again?'

"Is it really okay to share the 5th grade dragon species parts with the group?"

"Do it that way."

"Thank you so much, hyung!"

I willingly gave the 5th grade dragon species to the Geumho Station group.

I could have had it, but I thought it wasn't humanly right.

—Did you know that the 5th grade monster species obtained in the beginning have quite a good price tag?

'I know. But they are the people who stayed to protect me. Besides, we still have some parts of the 4th grade Earth Dragon species left.'

—Of course, 4th grade is much more valuable.

'I may need help again in the future, so I have to look far ahead. Bang Cheolsoo and Dayoung and her mother have high growth potential. If I equip them with new equipment like a 5th grade dragon, they will become quite strong.'

—Bang Cheolsoo… I didn’t know there would be an episode using the tech tree, but... yeah, it’s not a bad choice for now.

Fortunately, Kim Dokja seemed to agree with my thoughts.

'Would it be a good idea to exchange the 4th grade Earth Dragon species parts on the Dokkaebi bag?'

—Leave that to me.

With those words, a message appeared in the air.

[Your constellation is requesting a solo treatment from the Dokkaebi 'Bihyung'.]

[Dokkaebi 'Bihyung' agrees.]

It seemed that Kim Dokja had begun negotiations with the Dokkaebi to dispose of the parts of the Earth Dragon species.

I don't know anything else, but I believe in my constellation when it comes to transactions.

Kim Dokja is the person who won the 10-0 contract from Bihyung.

Kim Dokja came back sooner than expected.

—I'm done talking. Coincidentally, there were kids in the U.S. who wanted parts for the 4th grade Earth Dragon species, so we decided to negotiate with Bihyung and make it an exclusive deal.

It's America.

There were a few faces that came to mind.

—That's right. It's who you think. Since it is an individual with a record of evolution, it will be sold more expensively than expected. You can easily get more than 300,000 coins, right?

300,000 coins.

Considering the future scenarios, it was an amount that would be of great help.

Suddenly, it occurred to me that it was a good idea to have Kim Dokja as my sponsor.

'How do I store it? Should I dismantle it myself and upload it to the exchange?'

—No, they said they would visit in person today to appraise and dismantle it. Just have the kids cover up for the public.

Coming? Are they going to pick this up themselves?

—Because it is an expensive item. Have you checked the scenario rewards?

"Ah yes."

Jung Heewon and I, the main contributors to this scenario, received special compensation.

The reward is 'Lesser Dragon Heart'.

—That's a good thing. It only had qigong characteristics that had no basis.

'My [Circulatory Delay] is also a good trait…'

—It’s okay. Even if you achieve a great awakening with that characteristic, it will only be at the level of the Ark of the Beggar Sect.

'No, he was also a great constellation.'

—Then why didn’t you sign a contract with that constellation?

'Should I use the Dragon Heart now?'

—You can use it right away, but I don’t recommend it. Even if it's a low-level dragon heart, it's hard to find. It would be better to absorb it with the help of an expert.

The help of an expert...

'Dragon Heart' literally means the heart of a dragon. It could be seen as a kind of spiritual entity.

And when it comes to absorbing spiritual entities, there are probably many people who are well-versed in the 'Murim' field.

'Shall we ask the Ark for help?'

—He's busy these days. Because of you, they have lost so much money that they must be busy repaying their debt.

For some reason, I haven't seen him in the channel lately.

‘Then go to Murim...'

—'Murim' is the 20th scenario area. It's a waste to wait until then, we have to resolve it here.

'Here? Are there any elixir experts in Korea?'

—There’s a person you can meet soon who isn’t in Korea...

As if there was some confusion, Kim Dokja's words were cut off. It felt like he was talking to someone other than me.

I instructed Bang Cheolsoo to store the 4th grade Earth Dragon species parts and moved to the ward to check on Jung Heewon's injuries.

Fortunately, the injuries were treatable with 'Elain Forest Spirit'.

[The character 'Jung Heewon' is relying on you.]

[The target's 'madness' is currently calm.]

In the end, Jung Heewon became a 'Mad Butcher'.

Even the death of Sergeant Jung Moonho could not change this development.

However, in this round, Jung Heewon is not the Mad Butcher I know.

It was strangely different from the setting of 'TWSA'.

Originally, the 'Mad Butcher' was a person obsessed with her lost family.

But this Jung Heewon...

"Ehw..."

Is she having a nightmare?

I wiped away the sweat that had formed on Jung Heewon's forehead.

While I was wondering if it would be a good idea to give her another dose of 'Elain Forest Spirit', a message appeared before my eyes.

[One 'exclusive transaction' was concluded through the 'exchange'.]

[150,000 coins were obtained as a down payment.]

A sudden shower of coins.

Next, a message was heard.

—Hey, who on earth did you sign with?

Dokkaebi communication. It was Bihyung's voice that I hadn't heard in a long time.

—How can a sponsor be like this? With your... Constellation-nim. Lol. That's not it. As you said, the transaction is... Oh no. Please leave that matter to the higher-ups...

Just like that, the Dokkaebi communication was cut off.

What on earth are you being threatened with?

—Did you receive the deposit?

'Yes.'

I wanted to ask what on earth he was doing, but I held back. Because there were more important things left to do now.

—Then the scenario rewards have been sorted out and now that’s dealt with. Let's do it.

'Do we do it now?'

—Uh.

I took a quick look around.

The hospital room was a single room, so there was no one there except for me and Jung Heewon, who had fainted.

"All right."

With a light sigh, I took out the 'Fragment of Kim Dokja' from my pocket.

It was the same doll I got after defeating the Earth Dragon species earlier.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' looks at the 'Fragment of Kim Dokja'.]

I knew it without anyone telling me.

This 'doll' can absorb the fragments in the same way I absorbed them.

—Do it faster. It's not even the first time. You've already collected six fragments.

'Me?'

I wondered when on earth I had collected so many fragments.

[Disappearances collected to date: 6]

There were scenes that suddenly came to mind.

When I rescued Max at Chungmuro Station.

When the fate of Bang Cheolsoo and the people of Geumho Station changed.

When I met Shin Yoosung in the 41st round.

When we had a battle with the Ark of the Beggar Sect at Seoul Station.

When I made Lee Dansu into an 'Immortal King'…

Disappearances

I definitely heard the message that 'Disappearance' was recorded at that time.

Could it be that 'disappearance' is everything?

—Did you remember?

'Are those all fragments of you?'

—Our fragments, to be exact.

Only then did I feel like my mind was putting things in order, one by one.

—Because it’s not necessarily just the fragments absorbed by the monster species. Some fragments are nestled among the stories. They’re falling asleep in a story they want to read.

A story they want to read.

Without realizing it, my hand holding the doll became tense.

—Has anything changed every time you collect fragments? Your abilities have increased.

'The instigation skills have been strengthened.'

My [Incite] skill gained proficiency at a truly abnormal rate.

I've already surpassed level 10.

Aside from that, there was a change every time I collected the small pieces.

Like when I got [Sentence Enhancement], and when the [Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint] skill was suddenly activated.

—Of course. The more fragments you collect, the closer you get to becoming a complete 'Kim Dokja'.

A complete Kim Dokja.

Does that mean that if I collect all the fragments in this way, the 'Kim Dokja' I remember may return?

—First, absorb it. If we continue to wait, they will come again.

Those guys.

Now that I think about it, Kim Dokja said.

They are those who killed 'me'.

If you think about it, it was incomprehensible.

'The Oldest Dream' is no different from the <Star Stream> itself.

Who on earth could kill Kim Dokja in such a state?

'Does that black hand have something to do with your current condition?'

—Maybe. I don't know because I don't remember exactly.

With those words, I could feel Kim Dokja's gaze looking down at the doll.

—If you absorb it, it might come to mind.

I pursed my lips and looked down at the Kim Dokja doll.

Normally, I wouldn't have hesitated this much. If it's a fragment, I already absorbed it earlier.

The problem was the form of the 'fragments'.

A doll that clearly resembles 'kkoma Kim Dokja'.

I hesitated and then slowly extended my hand towards the doll. Then a story came out of the doll.

「'Let’s meet and go, Kim Kyungsik. Do you remember sending me a message before?"」

A voice I already know well.

「"Ah, I’m an old person here so I’m talking like an old person."」

I said, hastily taking my hand away from the doll.

"Wait a minute, this is—"

It was definitely true. Even though it was damaged in some places, this 'kkoma Kim Dokja' was someone I knew.

Kim Kyungsik.

An old man I met in the theater dungeon. He read the novel completely 6 times. A reader with an unusual way of speaking.

I knew that he had gone missing from the Palace Museum, but I had no idea he would end up like this.

If I retrieve the fragment here and now, what will happen to this person?

—Youngest.

Light sparks were seen flying in the air. They were signs that the cracks were about to open once again.

—If you wait any longer, they will come again. If it is taken away this time, there is really no way to get it back.

'But—'

If we absorb Kim Kyungsik now, what will happen to Kim Kyungsik?

—That friend. Don’t you want to save it?

'Is there a way?'

—Perhaps. It's hard right now, but... To do that, you first have to reap his soul. That's the only way to revive him.

My feelings were complicated, but for now I had no choice but to believe Kim Dokja's words. If we delay any longer, a fragment will be stolen by the Black Hands again.

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' opens its mouth.]

The story moved like it did when it absorbed the fragments before. However, it was different from the last time when it greedily absorbed the fragments of the story. The feeling of wrapping the doll very gently, like swallowing a fragile cookie.

At the last moment, the doll slowly opened its eyes and looked at me.

「"Finally."」

The fragment seeped into me along with the voice.

[A new 'Disappearance' has been acquired!]

[Fragment of the story 'Kim Kyungsik' was recorded.]

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' succeeded in predation.]

[The status of the story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' increases slightly.]

[The story 'Heir of the Eternal Name' is satisfied.]

[Time limit of 20 days has been added.]

20. I acquired a lifespan that was incomparably longer than when it absorbed small fragments.

That wasn’t even all.

[The exclusive skill of the story fragment 'Kim Kyungsik' will be transferred to you.]

Unlike when I simply absorbed 'fragments', this time there was a definite reward.

[The exclusive skill 'Acting Human' has been acquired.]

Kim Kyungsik’s skill, [Acting Human].

An evasion skill that allows you to transform into a gas at any time and avoid danger as long as you have the Gombangdae item.

It was then that I heard someone's voice behind me.

"What have you done just now?"

Since when did it start?

Someone was standing beyond the wide open hospital room door.

692 Episode 24 Expert (2)

"Seonah-ssi."

Goo Seonah.

A reader who joined Kim Kyungsik from the 'Theater Dungeon'.

Number of complete reads: 8.

Her nickname is Lady Cheolgon.

She was last heard of in the Palace Museum's Star Jewel Dungeon and fortunately appears to be safe.

"I asked… what did you do just now?"

The problem is that she witnessed a very embarrassing scene.

My mind was confused.

How far did Goo Seonah see?

I took a deep breath and thought over and over again.

Looking at it calmly, from someone else's perspective, it would have seemed like I had just broken a doll that resembled Kim Dokja.

It's a bit of a suspicious scene, but it makes me look like that.

Is it serious enough to be questioned?

"How did you get that skill-"

Skill?

Belatedly, I looked down at my fingertips.

The surface of the nails that came into contact with the steam from the humidifier installed in the hospital room.

It was shaking subtly.

The characteristic of the skill [Acting Human] was revealed naturally.

"This."

It was definitely a situation that could have been misunderstood.

If Goo Seonah saw me using the skill of Kim Kyungsik, who died as soon as I absorbed the doll.

Then suddenly a thought occurred to me.

But can we say that it is a misunderstanding?

Anyway, we have to talk.

I need to explain what is happening to me and what the situation is.

[Exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' is activated!]

[Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint activated at will.]

Then, I began to hear someone’s true thoughts.

「Obviously, Kim Kyungsik was dead at that time.」

It was clear even without asking whose true thoughts these were.

「I clearly saw him die. I definitely saw it.」

"Seonah-ssi?"

As I took a step closer, Goo Seonah took a step back with a fearful expression.

Her memories were flooding through her mind.

A place surrounded by damp stone walls. In the dungeon of the collapsed National Palace Museum, she was surrounded by the Misreading Association.

「"Kill her. This is an opportunity to kill an apostle."」

I couldn't tell whose voice it was among the members of the Misreading Association.

What is certain is that in the dungeon she was surrounded and her life was on the line.

「"Recover the fragments! Never miss it!"」

That she was not the only apostle in this place.

「"Seonah-ssi. Roll up the front!"」

The two fought brilliantly. It was only natural since both of them had completed Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint. However, the number of enemies was too high, and they even encountered a dungeon guard along the way.

Just as there are scenarios that even Yoo Joonghyuk, who has gone through countless regressions, cannot handle, there is bad luck that even readers who read Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint completely cannot avoid.

It was a blind arrow that they normally wouldn't have paid attention to.

Goo Seonah, who had high agility, easily dodged the arrow.

The problem was Kim Kyungsik who was behind her.

With the sound of something being pierced, Kim Kyungsik fell to his knees. It was the timing when his specialty, [Acting Human], reactivated.

「"Grandpa!"」

Kim Kyungsik, who coughed up a handful of blood, smiled bitterly and said.

「"Shit. It's wrong."」

「"What are you talking about, you can still buy 'Ellaine Forest's Spirit'—"」

「"I'm poisoned. I won't be able to last even 10 minutes at most."」

Kim Kyungsik must have read her expression and smiled brightly.

「"It's okay."」

Goo Seonah doesn't know what kind of person Kim Kyungsik is. What was his real name, where did he live, how many people were in his family.

She doesn't know anything.

All she knew was that her friend Kim Kyungsik had read and liked the same story as her.

「"You promised. I said we'd see the end of this world together."」

「"I did. So run away. Then I too will survive."」

Goo Seonah couldn't bear to ask what that meant.

Because she was afraid of the approaching enemies. Because she didn't want to die.

Goo Seonah ran away alone. She continued to run away without even looking back.

Kim Kyungsik's last words were like the lingering scent of an extinguished cigarette.

It stuck in her head.

「"Didn't we all in this world originate from one person?"」

I took a step closer to Goo Seonah. Goo Seonah cried out in frustration.

"Oh, don't come! Don't come!"

Goo Seonah's bloodshot eyes were frightened.

"I-I didn't kill him!"

Goo Seonah wasn't surprised because she thought I had absorbed Kim Kyungsik. Now she is faced with her own guilt that she had been ignoring.

"I didn’t kill him! It's not because of me... It's not because of me!"

Goo Seonah turned her back on that path and started running away.

The moment I tried to call her again.

—Don't chase her.

Kim Dokja stopped me in a calm voice.

—That's not something you can solve.

As Goo Seonah's back moved away, even though I know what he said was right, I couldn't take my eyes off it.

Someday, there will be a chance to explain today's events again.

Until then, I could only hope that her heart would recover safely.

—Let’s prepare for the next scenario. You have to chase after Yoo Joonghyuk.

In the midst of the urgency, I had forgotten for a moment.

Originally, I had planned to participate in the final part of the 7th scenario with Yoo Joonghyuk.

But midway through, I got a 'Story Penalty', and Yoo Joonghyuk abandoned me and left.

—You know that that kid is not in a normal state right now, right?

'It felt like regression depression.'

I don't know the reason, but Yoo Joonghyuk's regression depression in the 41st round appeared to be in severe condition.

That's probably why he tried to use me as a kind of suppressant.

—If you go too late, that bastard might kill Anna.

If that happens, things will get messy.

'Anna.'

—Let’s leave as soon as Jung Heewon wakes up, understood?

Jung Heewon. Anna, Lee Hyunsung...

When I think about it, Kim Dokja, the 'Demon King of Salvation', is their leader.

He did not call them in a friendly tone.

That's because he doesn't consider this world his own.

Or is it that he intentionally wants to keep a distance?

'Constellation-nim.'

Although I am Kim Dokja, I do not know Kim Dokja’s heart.

I don't know why he's helping me or what he expects of me.

So I had to ask.

—Huh.

'Now tell me.'

Why couldn't Kim Dokja return to his companions?

Why did all this start?

'Who on earth are the people who killed you?'

---

To conclude, I could not get a proper answer from Kim Dokja.

—First of all, it is clear that the Giant Nebula guys are involved.

'In this worldline, are there any major events that do not involve a 'Giant Nebula'?'

That wasn't what I wanted to hear.

'No matter how huge the Nebula is, can they kill you? It would be impossible for even Mythical Constellations.'

Even thinking about it again, I still don’t understand.

'Able to kill Kim Dokja, who has the status of the 'Oldest Dream'.

Is there a being in this universe that can even touch the tip of his hair?

How many will there be?

—Something complicated happened in the middle. It's long to explain and my memory isn't perfect.

"You said earlier that if I eat that fragment, you'll remember it."

—I thought so, but I can't remember properly. Okay, but let's talk about it...

After speaking up to that point, Kim Dokja didn't answer for a long time.

I wondered why.

[There is too much usage of 'Midday Tryst' today.]

[Excessive probability has accumulated in the relic.]

Tsutsutchut. The smartphone rattled with a sound.

Well, no matter how much it is [Midday Tryst], it is not normal to share so much information and messages with your sponsor from the beginning.

Fortunately, the probability issue was quickly resolved.

[Please pay additional coins.]

After all, there is nothing that cannot be done with coins.

I waited for a while. I thought that Kim Dokja would soon start talking again.

"Constellation-nim."

But no matter how long I waited, Kim Dokja didn't continue the conversation.

"Hey."

Could it be that you don't want to pay with coins so you're not saying anything?

Should I pay again?

[Your Constellation is looking at you.]

As a test, I tried doing nothing and staying still.

[Your Constellation is looking at you.]

Let's pretend not to know.

[Your Constellation is looking at you!]

[Your Constellation is looking at you!]

[Your Constellation is looking at you!]

The moment I finally decided to put in the coins thinking that it really wouldn’t work with this person, a portal was seen swirling in the center of Gwanghwamun in the distance along with the sound of ki-ee-ing.

At this time, I wondered what kind of portal it was, but when I looked, people who were not Korean came out of the portal.

"I’m here to purchase the 4th grade monster parts! Is the seller here by any chance?"

The one who shouted was a woman with brown hair in the lead.

Even though it was my first time seeing this face, I knew immediately who it was the moment I heard her neat tone of voice.

Selena Kim.

It must have been Anna Croft's right-hand woman, Selena Kim.

As expected, it appears that Anna's group 'Zarathustra' was the one who applied for the purchase of the 4th grade Earth Dragon species parts, as there would be only a few groups willing to pay more than 300,000 coins at such an early stage.

"Cheon Inho-ssi! Are you there?"

By the way, does Selena Kim's arrival mean that Anna Croft also came?

People started buzzing, so I decided to make my presence known.

"That's me!"

Selena Kim spotted me as I approached and waved my hand.

She bowed her head and said hello.

"Cheon Inho-ssi?"

"Yes, that’s right."

"Nice to meet you. I’m—"

"Selena Kim, is that right?"

"Do you know me?"

My eyes widened and my heart pounded as I saw her.

I never thought I would see Selena Kim in person.

The feeling is new.

I survived this far.

"It is. The king’s guardian."

"Ah."

"Nice to meet you."

Selena Kim, with her cheeks blushing, bowed her head to express her gratitude.

"Thank you. That’s very kind of you. I’m a little surprised."

"No, as far as kindness—"

"The King is a very scary person, so I was honestly nervous."

It seems that Selena Kim has already made contact with Yoo Joonghyuk. Does that mean she was in a hurry to make time during the scenario?

As if my prediction was correct, Selena Kim quickly got to the point.

"Where is the 4th grade Earth Dragon you registered for sale—"

"Did you catch the '4th grade Earth Dragon Species'?"

It was then that the woman in the back stepped forward.

A voice I heard for the first time and a face I saw for the first time. Her hair had a hint of pink. She is one hand shorter than Selena Kim.

She had funky makeup, but she was a woman in a neat suit.

"Who are you?"

"I asked if you caught it."

Was there anyone in Anna's group who was this rude?

I answered in a voice with a twisted judgment.

"Such a deb show."

The woman didn't seem at all embarrassed by my response.

"Okay?"

Her eyes shone brightly as if she was having fun.

"Yes, this is it."

There was a pocket watch in her hand.

For a moment, an alarm bell rang in my head.

I instinctively activated [Incite] and held 'Unbreakable Faith' with my right hand.

"You’re quick to notice."

But that one was faster.

A pocket watch that moves in both directions.

I thought I should take my eyes off the clock, but my pupils didn't listen.

Because that was that kind of item.

Yeongmyeon’s pocket watch.

Only then did I realize who the incarnation in front of me was.

In the entire Ways of Survival, there is only one incarnation with that pocket watch.

Finger snapper, Christina Page.

The incarnation of America who cleared the first scenario by achieving the achievement 'Demagogy Killing' incitement like me.

[Your total magic power is lower than that of the caster.]

[Due to the effect of Pocket Watch of the Immortal Face, your skills will decrease for 2 seconds.]

It was only 2 seconds, but it felt like eternity.

"From now on you will."

Christina's smile sent a chill down my spine.

It burned and spread.

"You'll fall into a terrible sleep."

My consciousness went off with the sound of someone snapping their fingers.

---

Christina thought as she looked at the man with his head bowed in front of her.

'I was worried after hearing it from Anna, but it turned out to be nothing more than I thought.'

It seemed like he was quite quick to notice, but she took him by surprise.

It was impossible to avoid her hypnotism in the first place.

"Christina, what on earth is this?"

"What?"

"There was no plan like this! How could you be so rude— Our purpose is to purchase parts of the 4th grade earth dragon species..."

Christina, seemingly tired of hearing Selena's nagging, responded while rolling her eyes.

"You really don't know anything, kid."

"What do you mean?"

"Why do you think Anna sent me with you?"

"..."

"If we're only going to buy parts for the 4th grade Earth Dragon species, all she has to do is send the innocent you. Why would she send this body along with it?"

When Selena Kim hesitated, Christina seemed like she couldn't do it.

She shook her head.

"Damn, if you have brains, think about it. Since there are no items for sale, what kind of person would buy parts for a 4th grade Earth Dragon species? Sell it for 500,000 coins?"

Christina said, tapping Cheon Inho's frozen forehead with her fingertip.

"If you work at the FBI for a few years, you can get a feel for what happens. A slim figure with a sly look. Especially these narrow eyes."

"If the FBI's investigative method is to judge only by appearance, then I will no longer trust the FBI."

"No. Of course, I'm not saying that's what the FBI says—a Korean colleague of mine once said that in Korea, a face like this is: a scammer..."

"Christina."

Christina felt like she was hearing another sound, so she quickly added.

"Anyway, the payment amount still exceeds the pre-deposited 150,000 coins. Now let's get our things together and leave. Since it's a shameful crime, I'll take some bonuses in moderation—"

"Christina!"

"What again?"

Selena Kim's expression hardened as she turned her head to look at her annoyed face.

Christina later realized that something was off too.

Something was holding her fingers.

"Wow, I’m trying to save coins, but I end up doing all sorts of things for it."

Only one of her fingers was caught. But her body seemed frozen and did not move.

'How—'

She tried to say that it couldn't be possible.

Clearly her hypnosis was successful. He had to remain unconscious and be unable to move for at least a full day.

"It’s overflowing with 150,000 coins… How do you know the market price for the 4th grade Earth Dragon species, since you started the scenarios only two months ago?"

But he moved.

He was even talking.

That wasn't the only problem.

What on earth is this feeling?

Even after her fingers were released, her body did not move.

Her shoulders were shaking like aspen trees, and her lungs felt like they were shriveling, making it difficult to breathe.

The feeling she felt when she faced a Constellation one day.

No, it felt even scarier and more distant than before.

[The Constellation 'Demon King of Salvation' is glaring at you.]

She couldn't turn her head. It seemed like if she turned her head, something terrible would be facing her.

His white, cold hands gently squeezed her shoulders.

"I was only planning to take 500,000 coins... but you can’t do that, you guys."

With a light spark, a cold breath, like a devil's whisper, reached her ear.

"Go tell Anna I want to see her face."

693 Episode 24 Expert (3)

Selena Kim couldn't understand what was happening in front of her eyes.

Is this really the proud Christina Page she knows?

"Again. How much?"

"It’s 500,000 coins!"

"Just give it to me."

"Yep!"

Former FBI forensic hypnosis expert and the brains behind 'Zarathustra'.

Is that really the Christina Page she knows?

"I’m giving this to you cheaply. You know it, right?"

"Of course I know!"

"I heard it’s more expensive than the market price?"

"When I looked into it again, the price wasn’t that high! If there is demand but no supply, it’s natural for the price to go up!"

"It makes sense now. Then let’s make it 650,000 coins."

"Yes?"

"Let’s increase the price. According to the law of supply and demand."

"B-but 650,000 is too expensive—"

"You dont need it? Then just end the transaction."

"It’s not a matter I can decide on my own... Can I contact the higher-ups for a moment?"

Is this also part of the FBI investigation?

Selena Kim, who was dumbfounded, asked what the hell was going on in the group chat, but Christina just rolled her eyes and said nothing.

She said, 'Don’t think nonsense and just stay still. Please.'

It almost seemed like that kind of look in her eyes.

The reason Christina makes such a fuss is that it was the first time since the symbol of the Demon King descended on the American continent.

In fact, there was something even more bizarre than that.

"Selena Kim."

"Yes? Oh, yes."

The man who was so cruel to Christina was kind to her.

"Aren’t you thirsty?"

With a grin on his face, the man had one of his associates serve her a drink.

"You seem tired, so please recharge."

A sweet-smelling drink with rice grains in it.

"Ah... This drink. I've heard of it."

If you think about it, it could have been nothing special.

But when was the last time she received such consideration in this world?

"Thank you..."

Selena Kim drank her sikhye with great emotion. The sikhye was sweet, the scenery of Gwanghwamun was old-fashioned, and the stars in the sky were clear.

[The Constellation 'Bald General of Justice' says that a glass of sikhye is the best when times are tough.]

[The Constellation 'Maritime War God' nods.]

Korea is good.

---

As I watched Selena Kim calmly drinking sikhye from afar, I wondered if I was still under hypnosis.

For your information, the following message appears in my head every time Selena Kim takes a sip of her sikhye.

[Old Constellations from the Korean peninsula watch polite Selena Kim eat.]

[The Constellations of the Korean Peninsula are proud of you for promoting the culture of the Korean Peninsula.]

[The Constellations of the Korean Peninsula will sponsor you with 1,000 coins.]

And the coins are shamelessly being deposited to the person who has now entered my body.

'Look. Dokja Kim-ssi.'

Kim Dokja did not answer.

['Midday Tryst' is extended.]

'Here.'

—Oh, did you extend it? You should’ve done that sooner.

'...'

—It’s Zarathustra. I warned you that it was going to happen, but is that really what you wanted?

Was that why he sent a series of indirect messages?

I knew he did that to save coins.

'Please switch now.'

—I want to do that too... Is it okay? You'll be like this for a whole day.

Christina Page's exclusive hypnosis skill, [Daily Invoice].

Anyone hit by this skill falls asleep and literally looks like a corpse for a day.

In other words, if Kim Dokja leaves my body now, my body will just go limp.

'But are you okay? Even if you descend like this—'

—Who said it was a descent? Are you going to suffer from the aftereffects?

When I thought about it, it was like that.

Now it’s the seventh scenario.

No matter how high the level of the Constellation is, it is impossible to descend directly into the scenario even if they throw away all their stories like the Ark in Seoul Station.

I don't know if he borrowed the power of an Outer God and possessed me.

I don't think Kim Dokja would have done something like that.

'Then now this is...'

A hypothesis suddenly popped into my head.

'Did you use [Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint]?'

Kim Dokja’s exclusive skill, [Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint].

—Yes.

'But how?'

As far as I know, for Kim Dokja's [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] to activate, there are three prerequisites.

One, the target must be a character.

Second, the caster and target must be thinking about each other at the same time.

Three, he must have an appropriate level of understanding of the subject.

A question arises here.

Even if we overcome the second condition of thinking about each other and the third condition of understanding, how did we satisfy the first prerequisite, 'characters'?

'If...'

I had an ominous feeling.

It's as if the other 'apostles' have become characters.

Have I also become a character?

If that's why Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint was activated...

—Have you forgotten who you possessed?

'Ah.'

The body that Kim Dokja is now possessing from [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] was not originally mine.

'Are you possessing Cheon Inho?'

—That's right.

A sigh came out belatedly.

Certainly, if the target is 'Cheon Inho', the prerequisite of 'character' can be satisfied.

'Then what about the condition of thinking about each other? How was it satisfied?'

—I don't know about that. Weren't you thinking about me right before you passed out?

'That's true. But I'm not Cheon Inho, am I?'

—It was a thought you had while possessing Cheon Inho.

Is it?

There's something suspicious about it, but anyway, Kim Dokja's plan was successful. I couldn't deny that much.

'Anyway, thank you. Thanks to you, I survived.'

—By the way, you too have possessed a truly unique body. Of course, Cheon Inho...

'What... It's weak, though.'

—No, it's not that problem. Doesn’t this body seem a little strange? If you really look at it, neither you nor I are the original owners of this body.

'That's right.'

—Then where is this child’s soul now?

'Uh...'

It was a problem I had never thought deeply about.

I suddenly remembered Shin Yoosung from the 41st round.

When the spirit of the possessed Shin Yoosung escaped, the 41st round Shin Yoosung regained her body.

If that were a normal phenomenon, Cheon Inho's soul should have returned immediately after my soul escaped.

But Cheon Inho’s spirit did not return.

"Here, 650,000 coins."

As if she had just finished the phone call, Christina, who was back, handed me the coins.

"The parts of the Earth Dragon species are over there."

Kim Dokja coolly grabbed the coins and pointed at the corpse of the 4th grade Earth Dragon with his chin.

Christina checked the body without saying anything and nodded her head.

"Confirmed."

Subsequently, a 'subspace warehouse' appeared in her arms.

Portable storage space used when transporting large parts.

Of course, it’s 'Zarathustra'.

Perhaps because they are a group sponsored by <Asgard>, all the items they use are of high quality.

"Then we’ll just leave."

"Okay, let’s go."

"Yes?"

"We should go meet your boss. I said I would see Anna’s face."

Christina and Selena Kim looked at each other with puzzled faces.

It was an expression that would never have occurred to them that he would put such thoughts into action.

"Didn’t you hear from Joonghyuk? I decided to go to America too."

"Joonghyuk... are you talking about the Supreme King?"

Was she very impressed by the fact that King Yoo Joonghyuk was called that?

Selena Kim thought about something for a moment and opened her mouth.

"Okay, let’s go together."

"Selena?"

"Christina, we are in dire need of just one helper. There is no reason to refuse if he is coming to help."

"No, wait—"

"Then I guess the conversation is over."

Kim Dokja wrote a simple note and handed it to Bang Cheolsoo, who was waiting behind him.

"Bang Cheolsoo, please give this to Heewon when she wakes up. In the meantime, please guard Gwanghwamun well."

"Yes!"

Of course, Bang Cheolsoo, who had no idea whether it was me or Kim Dokja, just saluted repeatedly with a blank expression on his face.

"Okay then, let’s leave."

---

After a while, I entered the flickering portal and asked Kim Dokja.

'But Constellation-nim.'

—What?

'Have you ever been to the United States?'

The United States of America. The land of freedom.

'I’m nervous because it’s my first time.'

I lived my whole life in Korea, speaking only Korean.

I never thought I would go on my first overseas trip like this.

In a world where everything has been destroyed.

—Once you get there, it won't be a big deal.

Well, once you become a Constellation, overseas travel will be nothing.

What is everything about overseas? These beings are capable of interstellar travel, and then a thought occurred to me.

In this round, has Kim Dokja ever been to the United States?

"We’re here."

Is it because it is not an interstellar portal? The space transfer ended in an instant.

Kim Dokja and I slowly looked around. A desolate sandstorm blowing from all directions.

Selena Kim must have read Kim Dokja's strangely disappointed expression, and quickly added,

"This is outside Las Vegas."

Anyone who knows it knows that Las Vegas is a city built in a desert.

In other words, it is not difficult to encounter desert terrain with few people even if you go a little bit outside the city.

"The headquarters is located downtown. Anna and the King will be there too. I'll take this to the city center."

Selena Kim pointed to the boarding vehicle next to the portal.

It was not a vehicle from Earth and I thought it was probably an item purchased with coins.

—Hmm. Is this a small Asgardian mobile?

Kim Dokja quickly scanned the inside and outside of the vehicle and nodded.

It was.

—For a supply item, it was made quite well. Did the Mass-Produced Manufacturer tinker with it?

'Have you ever ridden it?'

—The story is that they are making an entry-level model for Ferragini.

I heard it. Looking at it, the inner tube looks similar.

Kim Dokja got into the back seat of the mobile.

"How long will it take?"

"We have about 30 more minutes to go."

"Can I take a nap?"

"Yes? Yes. Of course."

Christina, who was sitting in the driver's seat, nodded her head with a nervous expression.

I asked on their behalf.

'You're sleeping?'

—Huh. Wake me up later.

'No, are you really sleeping?'

—Do you think [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] is free? This too has a time limit and is subject to probability. You can't maintain it for 24 hours a day, so you have to divide it up appropriately. There are no coins to waste here.

What I heard was true.

'But, Kim Dokja-ssi.'

Kim Dokja's words should have been right.

'What did you do with the coins that were stolen from me?'

—Huh?

'From the Earth Dragon species, you said I'd earn about 300,000 coins. But 500,000... No. You sold it for 650,000 coins. Not only that—'

[The exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' ends.]

'Kim Dokja-ssi?'

No reply came back.

In fact, haven't I signed a contract with the '9 Won Demon King'?

It seemed like I could hear Kim Dokja snoring somewhere.

When I looked closely, I saw that my body was snoring.

Selena Kim, who was sitting in the passenger seat, turned around and asked.

"Cheon Inho-ssi?"

Selena Kim waved her palm over my face several times and sighed with an incredulous expression on her face.

I was dumbfounded too, but I thought Selena Kim would be outraged.

"Oh my god, Christina. This guy really fell asleep. It looks like your hypnosis is finally listening."

"Congratulations. This was the most annoying nagging I've ever heard from you."

"Why did you do that earlier? That wasn't like you."

As if she was about to talk about the past, Selena Kim carefully brought up the topic.

Actually, it was a topic I was curious about too.

In my opinion, Christina was overly scared of Kim Dokja.

If I had been possessed through [Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint] rather than [Descent], the status of the 'Demon King of Salvation' would not have been fully conveyed.

Moreover, Christina Page, like Anna Croft, was an incarnation of <Asgard>.

She said, "I haven't been able to contact <Asgard> at all since a while ago."

"It happens often, doesn't it?"

"Even for the Historical-grade Constellations, if you contact them, they will accept it. They are on standby 24 hours a day."

This was a bit of an interesting story.

Lost contact with all of <Asgard>?

If everyone from the Nebula to the Great Constellations have been summoned, something big has definitely happened internally...

After checking something, tension appeared on Selena Kim's face.

"I can't contact them either. What's going on..."

"Actually, I managed to get in touch with a high-ranking person just before departure, but he asked me something strange."

"Something weird?"

The moment I heard the next words, I felt my heart cooling down.

"He wondered if an incarnation smelled like a 'Demon King'."

The Nebula <Asgard> knows about the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

---

How is the <Asgard> in the 41st round related to the 'Demon King of Salvation'?

Do they know?

Did they find out the information through readers?

There was little chance of that happening, as most of what the readers say from 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' has probably been filtered.

Or the Giant Nebula that killed Kim Dokja some time ago.

There is a possibility that it was <Asgard>.

However, even if Odin, the 'One-Eyed Father', is the strongest in <Asgard>, would it be possible to kill Kim Dokja?

Shit. You must have seen a Mythical Constellation.

To be honest, I don't understand either hypothesis right now.

In the first place, I was convinced that the 'Demon King' they were talking about was Kim Dokja.

I held my breath and focused on the conversation between the two people.

"Christina, so that’s why you were so polite to Cheon Inho-ssi—."

"That's right."

Christina, reflected in the rear-view mirror, twitched her lips as if disapproving.

"He smells like a Demon King. I didn’t feel it at all at first, but after he fainted and woke up, I definitely sensed it."

"So, does this mean that incarnation Cheon Inho is a member of the Demon King’s family?"

"Probably. Not long ago, when the Demon King’s symbol appeared in Las Vegas, I faced one. The same goosebumps I felt back then were conveyed to me."

By nature, hypnotists and other psychics have a much better sense of energy than other incarnations.

It wouldn't be strange to say that Christina Page, who considered herself to be the best among them, could read the Demon King's unique energy.

Anyway, Kim Dokja is also half a Demon King.

"If it is a Demon King, which of the 72 Demon Kings would it be?"

"I don’t know that."

"Have you had any other contact from <Asgard>?"

"Not at all. After that question, the messages stopped."

The two people glanced in my direction and from then on continued their conversation without speaking.

[Group chat.]

It looks like there's a story that no one should hear.

In the silence that follows, all that is visible outside is a barren desert landscape. I spent my time thinking about future scenarios in my head or observing my sleeping face while snoring.

As I keep looking at this face, it now seems like my real face.

But does It look like a fraudster like that?

But Yoosoung told me I was handsome...

Would it be a good idea to buy a skill like [Humidity Preservation] like Kim Dokja, or to change the atmosphere a bit by obtaining story fragments such as [Casanova's Face]?

Come to think of it, it seems like Kim Dokja is also secretly very thorough in self-management.

You can tell he was concerned about the turtle neck just by looking at the fact that he put a pillow on his neck for a short period of time.

...Neck pillow?

I felt a strange feeling for a moment, so I looked up the item.

<Item information>

Name: SSS grade neck pillow

Grade: SSS

Description: This is a 'neck pillow' made by the Mass-Produced Manufacturer. It is characterized by a cute Dokkaebi face drawing.

Users of this pillow do not have any dreams and can enjoy a recovery effect comparable to consuming the essence of Elaine Forest at bedtime.

When a dangerous situation occurs, the [Alarm] function is activated to force the user to wake up.

*This item belongs to incarnation Cheon Inho.

It was obvious with whose coin this person bought the pillow.

Even though it was just a pillow, I looked up the price thinking how much it would cost and my eyes almost popped out.

[The price of this item is 10,000 coins.]

After thoroughly checking the refund policy and return procedures for the Dokkaebi bag, I decided to charge Kim Dokja the amount.

[Exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' is activated.]

—Phew, I slept well.

What amazing timing.

I fired off questions in quickly.

'When did you buy this pillow?'

—Just before I went to sleep.

'Try to convince me. Before I get really angry.'

Kim Dokja, who had already finished understanding the situation, rolled his eyes.

He started talking.

—Humans spend one-third of their day sleeping.

'Now we don’t have to sleep that much.'

—This is an item that Yoo Joonghyuk and Yoo Sangah also used.

Yoo Joonghyuk used this item?

This item with a cute Dokkaebi face drawn on it?

—That kid is so popular that someone must have given it to him as a gift. Anyway, it's a useful item for us. We faint a lot.

'So?'

—Be sure to support your neck before you fall. If you get a concussion, it's a big deal.

'...'

—And read the options carefully. It is said that it has a similar effect to consuming the essence of Elaine Forest when sleeping.

I calculated it in my head.

'Elain Forest's Spirit' costs 500 coins each.

That means.

—Even if you use it just 20 times, you get your money's worth.

'How many times can I use it?'

—Well. If you use it sparingly, wouldn’t it be able to be used for quite a long time? It says here that after-sales service is also provided.

'I admit. I forgive you for your sins.'

This was a very efficient item, right?

I feel good knowing that I once again made a satisfactory purchase.

After sleeping well, Kim Dokja stretched lightly and looked out the window.

I turned around.

Slowly, the city of Las Vegas was appearing.

[The seventh 'main scenario' is currently in progress.]

[The eighth 'main scenario' is currently in progress.]

A series of system messages appeared.

I was puzzled.

The seventh scenario hasn't even been completed, but the eighth scenario is in progress?

—There was something like this in the 3rd round too.

I remember too. While the fourth scenario was in progress, part of the fifth scenario, the 'Disaster' scenario, was solved.

However, it was a temporary situation at that time, and the two main scenarios did not unfold simultaneously like they do now.

Something seems wrong.

Kim Dokja also nodded in agreement.

'The seventh would be a monster invasion scenario, what would the eighth be?'

For reference, Korea's eighth scenario in the third round was 'The Strongest Scapegoat'.

—That was the third round in Korea. I don't know what it's like here.

'That's right.'

The 'Strongest Sacrifice' scenario is an extreme scenario that ends only when half of the incarnations in the area die or when the strongest incarnation dies.

I hope it will be a smooth scenario in the 41st round.

"We've arrived. You're already up."

"Thanks to you, I slept well."

Selena Kim laughed at Kim Dokja's sly answer.

The entrance to the casino hotel, the symbol of Las Vegas, began to be visible in the distance.

I guess it's because it's still daytime. The hotel street, with the lights off, had a somewhat eerie atmosphere for a gambling mecca.

[The Constellation 'Bald General of Justice' wipes his head with a curious expression.]

[The Constellation 'Maritime War God' shakes his head saying that these buildings are not clean.]

[The Constellation 'King Heungmu' boasts that they cannot imitate the architectural style of the Korean Peninsula.]

[The Constellation 'Abyssal Black Flame Dragon' holds his tongue as he looks at the Constellations on the Korean Peninsula.]

Well, the whole world has already become a gambling den for Constellations, so how meaningful is it to see a human gambling den?

Christina parked her car in front of the largest hotel on Casino Street.

This is the home of Zarathustra.

When the doorman who came to greet us opened the car door, a crowd of people gathered at the entrance of the casino hotel was noticed. A mixed group of people of various races, each with their own weapons.

Kim Dokja asked with a grin.

"Am I not a welcome guest?"

"It’s not our group."

Selena Kim and Christina stood in front of Kim Dokja as if guarding him.

When I saw it, I was a bit puzzled because the local situation on the American side was never revealed in the main story.

But Kim Dokja already knew who they were.

—It looks like the Las Vegas civil war is not over yet.

'Do you know who it is?'

—Las Vegas gang.

Is it like the American ironclad faction?

—It's a much more elite organization than those guys.

'But there is an absolute throne in America too, right? The unification of forces would have been achieved.'

—Have you already forgotten what we did?

It occurred to me later that Kim Dokja killed the founder of the absolute throne.

What if America’s 'absolute throne' also lost its effectiveness like the one in Korea did?

Now that the throne's absolute power has disappeared, it is naturally useless.

—Anna must be having a headache too.

Naturally, it is a powerful force that fills the place where the throne has disappeared.

A powerful force that can claim to be the king.

Before we knew it, the leader of the group approached us.

A long fur coat and a T-shirt with a skull on it. A cross necklace shining in silver. A Hispanic man wearing a cowboy hat that looked like something out of a western movie. Even at a glance, he was giving off an unusual vibe.

"Who are you?"

When Kim Dokja asked, Selena Kim answered.

"Jacob Martinez. King of North Las Vegas."

When the man got close enough, Selena Kim took a step forward and said,

"Mr. Martinez."

The man responded, nodding his head towards Selena Kim.

"It’s been a while. Guardian of the King."

"What’s going on here?"

"I came to see the Prophet."

It looks like Anna Croft has some business to do over there, just like us. Judging by the ghastly atmosphere, it didn't seem like the visit was for good reasons.

Christina, who was watching the situation, intervened.

"I’m sorry, but Anna has plans today. Why don’t you come next time?"

"Get out of the way."

"If it’s urgent, tell me what you want. I’ll tell her."

Martinez glared at Christina with a cold gaze.

"We have come to demand compensation."

"Compensation? What compensation?"

"Our group suffered too much damage during the subjugation of the 4 grade monster species. We demand compensation for that."

4th grade 4. It seems that a similar level of monster species has appeared in the United States as well.

"The damage was all the same."

"We lost our entire home. It’s because your masterful touts guided the direction of the 'disaster' to the northern part of Las Vegas."

"It’s not Anna’s fault. Even Anna can’t do anything about a natural disaster."

"Are you saying the Prophet couldn’t read the future?"

"Hey."

"She must have seen the northern part of Las Vegas flying away with her vision of the future. Yet the Prophet did not give us any indication."

"..."

"If the response had been a little late, all the women and children would have been swept away to death."

Before I knew it, Kim Dokja and I were listening attentively to the two people's argument.

Anna must have had her own reasons for not telling them everything about the future.

But if someone else dies in return, whose responsibility is it?

How much responsibility does a Prophet who knows the future bear for not telling the future she knows?

Christina answered with a frown.

"I'll discuss compensation and coin support. So, leave at this point. Unless you want to make a big deal out of it."

"I guess I need to meet the Prophet."

With a clanking sound, Martinez pulled out his pistol from its holster. At the same time, the group guarding him also pointed their weapons in this direction.

If this continues, a large-scale armed conflict is expected.

But Christina didn't look nervous. There was already a pocket watch in her right hand.

Martinez said.

"I already know about your hypnotism skills."

"..."

"Would it be faster for your watch to tick? Or would it be faster for my bullet to blow a hole in your head?"

"You can try it now—"

Everything happened in an instant.

Was it first that I heard the sound of a fur coat flapping, or that the person who had been the doorman a moment ago transformed into Martinez?

Front and left. The two Martinezes opened their mouths at the same time.

"You seem to have forgotten who I am, hypnotist."

Before we knew it, Martinez's pistol was touching Christina's left eyebrow. Biting her lip, Christina slowly dropped her watch, holding both of her hands above her head.

I asked, somewhat impressed by Martinez's skills.

'How did he do it? Avatar?'

「Avatar is the author's unique skill.」

So, is Martinez also a 'writer'?

—That guy is a 'magician'.

Magician?

"Hypnotist, I am going to kill you from now on."

"Martinez, wait a minute."

"If anyone moves, I will shoot immediately."

Martinez, who glared at Selena Kim, added as if warning.

"I'll count to three. If your leader is really a 'Prophet', she will come out on her own. She would have read the future where her subordinates will die."

Martinez immediately started counting to three. A cold count without any hesitation.

However, even when the count reached 1, Anna Croft did not appear.

"It seems the Prophet's name was fake. Otherwise—"

The trigger was pulled.

"She didn't value you at all."

And there was someone who moved a little faster than the trigger.

"Anna won't come out."

As expected, everything happened in a split second.

No, it was probably a long and leisurely time, even though it only lasted a moment.

Kim Dokja slowly raised his arm and gently wrapped the end of the pistol as if holding a teacup.

"She can't see the future right now."

Nevertheless, no one except me could witness his actions.

Christina, Selena Kim, and Martinez all looked shocked.

A face of disbelief as to how on earth this was possible.

[The Constellation 'Humanity's First Magician' is astonished.]

Only I knew the method used by Kim Dokja.

It was neither skills nor magic.

[The story 'The Stone and I' ends.]

Martinez came to his senses late and urgently pulled the trigger.

Click. Click.

But the pistol did not fire.

[The story of 'The Pistol and I' continues.]

Kim Dokja snatched the pistol at once and pulled the trigger into the air as if he was joking.

"Because I came."

With a bang, a congratulatory shot rang out announcing our debut in Las Vegas.

695 Episode 24 Expert (5)

---

We sat in the lobby of the casino hotel and waited for Anna Croft.

Christina, who hesitantly brought out refreshments, lowered her head when she made eye contact with Kim Dokja. Apparently, she had learned her Korean greeting from her 'Korean colleague'.

She said, "I was indebted to you a little while ago. Thanks to you, I survived."

"Congratulations on your survival."

"I’m serious."

"I sincerely congratulate you on your survival."

Christina nodded her head as if it was somewhat strange to hear his sincere tone.

"Thank you. Anna will be here soon."

"Tell her to come quickly. I don’t like waiting."

"Hey, can I ask you a question?"

"No."

"Did you happen to know the King of the North?"

"I saw him for the first time today."

Even before coming to Las Vegas, I had a premonition that Kim Dokja would have an accident.

I felt it was right since I signed a contract with the 'Demon King of Salvation'.

There is a magician performing dazzling tricks in front of him, and that magician happens to be an 'obstacle' that stands in the way of his meeting with Anna Croft.

But if he happens to have the power to remove obstacles.

Kim Dokja was not one to miss that.

[Some Constellations are amazed at your feat!]

[You received 500 coins.]

Because this world gives coins to such shows.

The problem is that the 'obstacle' that was removed showed an unexpected reaction.

—Are you... Korean?

—And?

—Your name?

—Cheon Inho.

Why? The moment he heard the name, Martinez's expression changed.

—Look at that friend, let’s go back now. I will come back in half a day.

That was all about the 'magician incident' that happened a little while ago.

Kim Dokja destroyed Martinez's magic and took away his pistol.

After hearing my name, the magician realized something and disappeared.

'No matter how much I think about it, there's an important thing I’m missing.'

Perhaps my fame has spread to Las Vegas without me knowing?

But no matter how much I think about it, there’s no way that’s possible.

—There are more famous Koreans other than us.

'Ah.'

Yoo Joonghyuk must have started talking about it as soon as he arrived, so it was understandable that he was afraid of Koreans.

However, I don't think Yoo Joonghyuk would have told him not to touch other Koreans, but he walked away much more obedient than expected.

—I don't know that much either. Do you know what kind of god I am?

That's right, God.

—And it's more fun not knowing.

'It’s the same when you’re sightseeing.'

While Kim Dokja and I were exchanging opinions, Christina and the men began carrying the parts of the Earth Dragon species.

I could feel the passing incarnations observing us with curious eyes.

Young men carrying whole wyrm bones and children hiding behind the reception desk and spying on us.

Probably all of them are Anna's 'Zarathustra'.

Selena Kim, perhaps embarrassed by the gaze of her colleagues, spoke to her.

"I’m sorry, Cheon Inho-ssi. The headquarters is still a little messy."

"It’s okay."

That's not just a polite thing to say, it's really okay.

The 'Demon King of Salvation' usually likes to receive attention.

[The Constellations of Las Vegas pay attention to the appearance of the incarnation 'Cheon Inho'.]

Of course, it also depends on the type of interest.

Kim Dokja was also observing people with interest, perhaps because it was his first time seeing 'Zarathustra' during this time.

"It looks like they just settled here."

Selena Kim slightly nodded her head, as if surprised by Kim Dokja's observation skills.

She said, "Yes. We just moved to the Las Vegas Dome."

"I guess you were originally at the 'Washington Dome', right?"

"Yes, that's right."

"How’s the situation in Washington?"

The main scenario revolves around the capital 'Dome' of each country.

Just as Korea has the 'Seoul Dome', the US scenario would have developed around the 'Washington Dome'.

However.

"Washington is already..."

Selena Kim's expression was dark.

What on earth has happened to America in the meantime?

And why did they leave the Washington Dome and go to Las Vegas?

Did they move to a 'Dome'?

'Constellation-nim.'

—Huh.

'Will the Las Vegas Dome actually open at this timing?'

—The building itself is not the problem.

According to the settings of 'Ways of Survival', additional domes are created or additional people are summoned for certain countries as the scenario progresses.

Considering that additional people were summoned to Korea as well starting from the 'seventh scenario', it was not surprising that a new 'Dome' was opened in the United States, which has a larger population than Korea.

The problem was this.

—The problem is that restrictions on movement between countries have been lifted.

Originally, 'Dome' area restrictions were not lifted until the tenth scenario was cleared.

Of course, there are global scenarios like 'Peace Land' where you can meet incarnations from other countries, but in that case, the stage was likely to be another planet, not Earth.

However, the target region for this scenario was 'the United States'.

[Limited to this scenario, 'zone restrictions' will be temporarily relaxed.]

[You are participating in this scenario as a 'mercenary'.]

[You will be assigned a new seventh main scenario.]

A scenario that requires 'mercenaries'.

This meant that the management office also acknowledged that this 'main scenario' could not be cleared by American incarnations alone.

"Where is Yoo Joonghyuk?"

"He will be near the scenario area. The King and his party headed to the scenario area as soon as they arrived."

Judging from the fact that he said he was a 'party', it seems that Yoo Joonghyuk did not come alone.

Lee Hyunsung, Lee Jihye, Kim Namwoon, Lee Seolhwa... Perhaps other readers, including Ji Eunyu, also came.

What happened to other people?

Will Dansu ahjussi or Kyung Sein be safe?

Selena Kim asked in a curious voice, perhaps because the story of Yoo Joonghyuk came up.

"Are you close to the King?"

"We are life and death companions."

Selena Kim seemed to be thinking for a moment about what that meant.

Kim Dokja didn't seem to be expecting much of an answer either. His gaze was focused on the parts of the Earth Dragon species that were being transported inside the hotel.

She said, "The parts of the Dragon species will not be easy to process."

"We can. If you want, I can show you."

"Good. Let’s take a look while we wait for Anna."

We walked along the marble hallways inside the hotel.

This would definitely be 5 stars.

If it had been before the destruction, I wouldn't have even dared to enter a place like this, but I thought life was really strange.

When I opened the door at the end of the hallway and entered, a huge hall appeared.

"Bring the head this way!"

"Starting with bone number 4, one by one!"

"Gather the leather in front of shelf 8!"

"Eyeball! Where is the eyeball?"

Craftsmen who dismantle parts of the Earth Dragon species in real time and artisans who process the dismantled parts.

At first glance, they were all elderly incarnations.

Selena Kim introduced them.

"These are the 'supporters' that 'Zarathustra' is proud of."

Even in the <Star Stream>, where anyone can become stronger if they work hard, there are definitely innate abilities.

As evidence, older incarnations inevitably have lower initial abilities, and there is a high possibility that they will naturally fall behind in the scenario or be eliminated from the competition.

There are also incarnations who do not want to fight, even if it is not necessarily because of their age.

"Not everyone can participate in a combat scenario. Each incarnation has a specialty, and some are better suited for support."

I was a little impressed. Selena Kim's words were obvious, but some 'obviousness' is not as obvious as you might think.

'Zarathustra's reputation is not false.'

No matter how weak the incarnations are, the group's strength is clear.

It was not an easy decision to train their support abilities despite the recent loss of power.

Nevertheless, Anna Croft boldly bet on a future that never came.

There must be confidence that someday their usefulness will yield greater benefits.

However, it seems that we Korean con artists are not very happy with the Las Vegas gambler's decision.

Kim Dokja was staring at the pile of dirt that occupied one corner of the excavation with incomprehensible eyes.

People were sprinkling something that looked like fertilizer on top of a bowl-shaped pile of waste.

"Are you growing crops?"

"Yes. We need to prepare food for the future soon."

Selena Kim continued speaking as if reciting lines that had already been prepared.

"One day, when the scenarios are over, humanity will have to grow its own food again. Anna is preparing for that time."

The plants that grew in the field were species that did not grow naturally on Earth.

A plant from another planet, like 'Yanaspleta', which appeared on Earth during the Kronos erosion.

Kim Dokja looked down at the plant stem, then bent down and lightly grasped the gray soil. As soon as the soil touched Kim Dokja's hands, it quickly rotted and crumbled.

—It's not the dirt of the earth.

'Dirt from another world.'

Currently, there is only one condition for the existence of 'dirt from another world': 'planetary invasion'.

In other words, this soil was created when the fifth scenario, the 'disaster scenario' occurred.

'It's strange. If the fifth scenario was cleared normally, all of this dirt should have disappeared as well.'

Why does this 'dirt' still remain in the United States?

Kim Dokja lightly waved his hand and looked back into the hall once again.

The parts of the Earth Dragon species, which had already undergone basic processing, were being transformed into blunt-looking weapons.

Looking at weapons that were questionable as to whether they could be used, Kim Dokja sighed.

"I don’t know if you know, but 4th grade monsters’ parts are not cost-effective materials. They are difficult to process compared to parts of the same class, and their sharpness after processing is somewhat inferior. Actually, it’s not something worth buying for 630,000 coins at this early stage."

Suddenly, Kim Dokja confidently confessed that he had committed fraud.

"Normally, it is normal to purchase the bones of the highly efficient '5th grade fire dragon species' even if the grade is low. However, you purchased the 4th grade earth dragon species. You even had to waste money."

However,

"I know. Anna said so too."

Being aware of a fraudster's scam means that it is no longer a 'fraud'.

Kim Dokja, who was accidentally cleared of being accused of being a fraudster, continued.

"If you bought it knowingly, it means that there was a reason why it had to be 4th grade. I think."

As Kim Dokja said those words, he picked up a handful of the powder that had fallen during processing.

"I think it’s probably because of this."

He then sprinkled the powder on the contaminated soil.

['Purification' effect occurs.]

[The eroded soil has been purified.]

At that moment, everyone in the hall stopped their actions.

The craftsmen who were cutting bones and the craftsmen who were tanning leather all stopped their work and were looking at Kim Dokja.

Some incarnations were also seen secretly grabbing the weapons they were wearing around their waists.

"Selena Kim. I think you’re a good person."

Kim Dokja's eyes were already showing a cool aura.

"I’m going to ask a few questions, and I hope you’re still a good person, and nothing will go wrong here."

Several artisans jumped up from their seats. Selena Kim lightly raised her hand and blocked the artisans.

Kim Dokja asked.

"Selena Kim. Anna is not at the 'headquarters' right now. Is that correct?"

"..."

"You brought me here to kill time, because I shouldn’t interfere with your plans."

Selena Kim lowered her head and said, as if she realized she couldn't hide it anymore.

"That’s right. I’m sorry."

"Is it true that you cleared the fifth scenario normally?"

"That—"

"Where is Anna now?"

It was at that time that a small roar was heard from the hotel entrance.

[The Constellation 'Ender of War' enters the channel.]

[The Constellation 'Thursday Thunder' enters the channel.]

[The Constellation 'Guardian of the Big Horn Bridge' enters the channel.]

I could feel the Constellations of familiar modifiers entering the channel.

Outside the window, I could see a portal created at the hotel entrance.

A portal to another area.

There was a doll slithering through the portal.

We went straight down to the hotel entrance.

When I arrived at the first floor, I saw dazzling blonde hair flowing outside the lobby.

Aloof red eyes shining through blonde hair.

The Prophet Anna Croft was there.

She must have been injured during the scenario, and blood was constantly flowing from her left arm.

Anna Croft opened her mouth to Selena Kim, who quickly took care of her tourniquet.

"What about the parts of the Earth Dragon species?"

"I brought it. A small amount can be put in right away. Even now—"

Anna Croft shook her head.

"It’s too late."

Selena Kim's face turned pale.

"No way—"

"The operation failed. I don’t know why, but I can’t see anything in [Future Sight]. I guess I’ll have to give up on the Washington Dome."

Several pieces of information were quickly combined in my head.

4th grade Earth Dragon species and [Purification] characteristic.

Washington Dome.

Disaster scenario.

And... companions.

My heart began to beat loudly.

I guess not. Probably not.

「"He smells like a Demon King. I didn’t notice it at all at first, but I definitely smelled it after he woke up from fainting."」

Why did Anna Croft return 'alone' from that portal?

With Christina's voice passing through my head, an ominous feeling arose.

I wasn't the only one who got that premonition.

"Anna Croft."

The moment she heard that voice, Anna Croft's expression hardened.

With her stiff neck she slowly turned around.

"You... how are you here?"

"Where is Yoo Joonghyuk now?"

The 'Demon King of Salvation' that I knew until now felt more like a neighborhood unemployed brother than a Constellation.

He hates being boring, isn't very serious about everything, and is busy making fun of people whenever he gets the chance.

Now that guy,

"I’m asking. What happened to Yoo Joonghyuk?"

He was truly angry.

696 Episode 24 Expert (6)

Why is Kim Dokja, the neighborhood brother, so angry?

The first word that came to mind was 'colleague'.

He saw the end of the scenarios with Yoo Joonghyuk in the third round.

Watching Yoo Joonghyuk in the 41st round, the neighborhood brother may have recalled memories of those days. Even though he knew that the Yoo Joonghyuk of this world line was not the 'Yoo Joonghyuk' he remembered, the neighborhood brother became shaken by his crisis.

「Is that really the reason?」

It was a very romantic reason, but honestly, it didn't make sense to me.

This is because Kim Dokja, the neighborhood older brother I observed so far, had a corner that was tightly twisted.

I don't know if all the separated Kim Dokjas are like that, or just the 'Demon King of Salvation'...

「He resembles Kim Dokja in the early days of 'Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint' a lot.」

Kim Dokja, who likes 'Ways of Survival'.

Kim Dokja, who thought Yoo Joonghyuk was a psychopath and kept a strange distance from the characters.

Kim Dokja, a scenario expert.

If my assumption is correct, this is why Kim Dokja is angry now.

「Now he doesn’t like this 'story'.」

Sparks bouncing lightly in the air. Even though it was a possession through [Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint], the level of emotion was revealed in blue.

Anna Croft's pupils shook in surprise.

[Eyes of the Great Devil.]

The moment I saw Anna's burning red eyes, I wondered if I should stop her at this point.

If I leave it like this.

[The exclusive skill 'Fourth Wall' is activated!]

[The activation of 'Eyes of the Great Devil' is canceled due to the effect of the 'Fourth Wall'.]

Because Anna Croft will die before we can confirm whether Yoo Joonghyuk is alive or dead.

"Tsk—"

With a crackling sound, blood vessels burst from Anna's eyes. Anna, holding one of her eyes, took a step back.

"How could you—"

"I’ll ask you one more time."

Kim Dokja's hand slowly moved to the hilt of his sword.

"Where is Yoo Joonghyuk now—"

Lights in the area flickered as if there had been a power outage. And in the next moment, the light disappeared from Kim Dokja's eyes as if the factory's power was turned off.

I immediately realized what was happening.

[The exclusive skill 'Omniscient Reader’s Viewpoint' is deactivated.]

—Oh, I forgot the duration.

'Constellation-nim?'

—I'll exchange some coins for you. Hang in there.

'Kim Dokja-ssi! Kim Dokja! You bastard!'

Kim Dokja had no answer.

If you disappear like that, what are they going to do to me?

Before we knew it, the forces of 'Zarathustra' were gathering one by one, centered around Anna Croft.

The tense expressions of the incarnations showed an evil and murderous look, and Selena Kim was also watching the confrontation with a troubled expression.

And my body stood tall, unconscious.

'Shit.'

It was also surprising that the fainted body was able to stand still.

Does Kim Dokja have a story like 'balance artist'?

To make matters worse, because my eyes were narrowed, she didn't even notice that I had fainted.

"You... what the hell are you?"

Anna glared at me and continued her words.

"It definitely didn’t feel like this before... Are you really Cheon Inho? Even then—"

"..."

"Are you going to continue to be silent?"

Despite Anna Croft's questions, my body remained silent and motionless.

Anna Croft's expression hardened, as if she thought that was some kind of answer.

Because I fainted while holding the hilt of my sword, it seemed like I was contemplating whether or not to kill the incarnations in front of me.

Anna Croft spoke again with a determined voice.

"I don’t know what you’re thinking, but this place is Zarathustra. If you try to destroy this place—"

"Anna!"

Selena Kim, whose complexion turned pale in real time, eventually intervened.

"You shouldn’t fight with Cheon Inho-ssi. He is not a bad person."

"Selena?"

"This person... served me a Korean drink. It was delicious."

"What on earth are you talking about?"

Selena Kim, who had been rolling her eyes nervously, turned to look at me.

I wondered why she was so nervous, but when I thought about it, there was a good reason.

"Cheo-Cheon Inho is the Demon King."

Shit.

"Demon King?"

"Well, Christina…"

A commotion spread throughout the hall, and several people sat down and screamed.
They only heard one word, 'Demon King' (마왕), but the panicked people looked at me and took a step back.

It was a situation that could not have happened under normal circumstances.

There is no way that the incarnations of the seventh scenario would know what the 'Demon King' is.

But they were different.

「"...I also faced the Demon King's symbol when it appeared."」

There was something I could guess about this.

But no matter what they went through, I am not the Demon King.

My sponsor is a Demon King, but I am not one anyway.

The smart Anna would of course know this.

Probably, 'I am the Demon King' is an impossible story at this point.

However.

"Did you ultimately choose 'that path' in this round as well?"

The Prophet suddenly started talking frantically.

"Everyone, step back. As of this time, we are abandoning Zarathustra's temporary headquarters."

The hall became a chaos. People running out of the hotel screaming.

"Selena Kim. Put on level 1 alert. I'll buy you some time. In the meantime, you—"

I couldn't wait any longer for Kim Dokja to return. But what can I do after being thrown out of the body?

'No.'

When I thought about it, there was a way to move my body even while unconscious.

A method I have used before.

[The exclusive skill 'Incite Lv.10' is activated.]

「Incite on myself who has fainted.」

「Cheon Inho let go of his hand holding the hilt of his sword.」

Fortunately, the body listened.

As I let go of the hilt, I saw Anna Croft, who had been leading the people, stop.

But this alone is not enough.

Would more specific incite be possible?

For now, I had no choice but to give it a try.

「Cheon Inho opened his mouth.」

The next moment, a voice miraculously came out of my stunned body.

"I can’t believe the mere word 'Demon King' is enough to make you go crazy. That’s where Zarathustra’s fame ends."

Anna Croft looked at me with an expression of disbelief on her face.

Squinted eyes with a subtle smile. Distinctive smirking lips.

Anna Croft asked.

"Cheon Inho. Could it be... your memories have come back?"

---

This wasn't the first time I encountered 'Anna Croft'.

At the beginning of the scenarios, I had already met Anna through 'Phantom Prison'.

「Who is it? You... are not Cheon Inho.」

If I think about it, Anna doubted me even back then. Perhaps because she is a Prophet and has a great sense of insight?

Anna, who was sitting on her chair in her living room and glaring at me, opened her mouth again.

"The one who deceived the stars. Is it really you? Please answer clearly."

The one who deceived the stars.

Even hearing it again, it is still a grand nickname. What did Cheon Inho do in the 40th round to be called that?

"Is it really that important who I am?"

Anna Croft frowned at me as I whirled around.

"How did you get your memories back? There’s no way Yoo Joonghyuk shared the story..."

I received a fragment of the story, but it wasn't the story.

I answered honestly.

"I am not the 'Cheon Inho' you remember. All memories were reset with Yoo Joonghyuk’s [Regression]."

"That..."

"Isn’t it the same for you? You will not be the Anna Croft from the previous round, but the new 'Anna Croft' who has taken over the memories from the previous round through [Past Sight]."

"I guess it’s you, seeing as you’re coming up with plausible sophistry."

Anna Croft shook her head as if she had a headache and drank the tea on the table in one go.

From afar I saw Selena Kim watching this way with worried eyes.

I waved my hand in that direction as if to reassure her.

"What is this about the 'Demon King'? Why do Selena and Christina think you are a Demon King? Did you really make a contract with a Demon King?"

He's a Demon King, but if you ask if he's really a Demon King, it's a bit ambiguous.

"Did you choose 'that path' again like last time?"

That path?

"Are you sure you want to talk now?"

Since the conversation was likely to be tense from the start, I decided to lighten the mood a bit.

"Just calm down and think of me as the 'new Cheon Inho' from now on."

"New Cheon Inho?"

"Not all evil people are evil from the beginning, you know?"

"You are a villain."

"By stigmatizing them like that, the world’s evil-doers cannot be rehabilitated."

"What..."

"From now on, think of me as a newborn. Depending on your choices, this newborn may later become a vicious killer or a good deceiver."

"You are not a newborn."

I thought about inciting myself as a 'newborn', but instead I said this.

"But Yoo Joonghyuk must have thought that every time he saw me."

"..."

"Should I kill this guy or save him? Which one will be more helpful to the future of this world? If I make the wrong choice, how much tragedy will happen in this world?"

I looked out the window at the streets north of Las Vegas.

A desolate city swept away by a disaster.

Anna jumped up from her seat and drew the curtains on the window.

I said this to Anna.

"Just knowing about some futures is a sin. In that case, I will just live as a newborn who knows nothing."

"Why on earth did you come here?"

Anna said without looking at me.

"If you got your memories back, you can live your life as you please. The intention is to make this round a mess—"

"I came because Yoo Joonghyuk called me."

"Why on earth are you saying such a blatant lie...?"

[The character 'Anna Croft' is activating 'Lie Detection Lv.7'.]

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that what you said is true.]

Anna Croft's expression became strange.

"You said you came because the King called you?"

"Yes."

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that what you said is true.]

"Why?"

"Because we're on the same side."

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that what you said is true.]

"You're on the same side as the 'King'?"

I turned to Anna Croft, whose lips were quivering, and nodded my head with a shameless face.

"If your curiosity has been answered, I will now ask a question. There must have been other Koreans besides Yoo Joonghyuk, but what happened to them?"

"Why are you asking that?"

"Because they are my colleagues."

['Lie Detection' has confirmed that what you said is true.]

"Colleagues?"

Anna Croft looked like she was about to lose her mind.

"You care about your colleagues?"

"Of course I’m worried."

"Cheon Inho, who on earth are you?"

Anna Croft's face, distorted with anger and sadness, she looked almost like that of a madman.

"I can’t trust you. I just don’t understand the King. How could something like that happen and he hires you?"

"I don’t think that’s what you want to say."

Anna Croft's eyes slightly widened at my words.

"As expected, you obtained the memories from the 'previous round'."

I gave up denying it and decided to adjust to Anna Croft's misunderstanding.

Anna said, taking a moment to gather her thoughts.

"The King is still safe. And so are your comrades."

"Are they safe?"

"For now."

I nodded, somewhat relieved.

"Are they in the 'Washington Dome' now?"

Anna nodded with a miserable face.

"That's right."

I knew it. I immediately checked the scenario log.

<Main Scenario #7 – ???>

Category: Main

Difficulty: ???

Clear conditions: Go to the scenario area.

Time limit: ???

Reward: ???

Failure: ???

From the moment I checked the seventh scenario, I thought it was strange.

Even when I arrived in Las Vegas, a message appeared telling me to move to the 'scenario area'. This meant that the actual setting of the seventh scenario was not 'Las Vegas'.

"The seventh scenario is underway in Washington."

"What kind of 'disaster' is this?"

"...It looks like everyone already knows."

"Did you fail the fifth scenario?"

"I hate to admit it, but I do."

As expected, the United States failed to hunt down the final disaster of the 'fifth scenario'.

And in return, the 'Washington East' was lost.

The 'Management Bureau', which judged that the American incarnations could not hunt down the disaster on their own, must have moved the probability of the <Star Stream> to stimulate the interest of the Constellations.

As a result, the disaster scenario was extended to the 'seventh scenario' and transformed into a global scenario.

[New incarnations have entered the seventh scenario area!]

By now, incarnations from all over the world are probably moving over to the American scenario.

If we do something wrong, a world war could break out in Washington.

"It’s pathetic. You couldn’t properly deal with a disaster with [Future Sight]?"

If nothing else, this disappointment was real.

I didn't know 'Anna Croft' was going to fail the fifth scenario.

Moreover, in the '41st round', every character exceeded my expectations.

"It’s annoying to hear that from you, but something was different about this world line. Things that I couldn’t figure out even with my [Future Sight] kept happening."

Something that cannot be known even with [Future Sight].

In the main story, such things usually occurred when Kim Dokja intervened in the scenarios.

However, in this round, Kim Dokja was a Constellation, and he never intervened in the story until he signed a contract with me.

But at that moment, a hypothesis popped into my head.

Why didn't I think of that?

Come to think of it, it exists in this world line.

People who can change the future of the world even if they are not Kim Dokja.

"Cheon Inho. Have you ever heard of a group called 'Apostles'?"

Even on this continent, there were readers who read Kim Dokja's story.

697 Episode 24 Expert (7)

---

An hour after Cheon Inho fainted, Yoo Joonghyuk went to Las Vegas.

The group that came with him was as follows.

Steel Emperor Lee Hyunsung.

Maritime Admiral Lee Jihye.

Delusion Demon Kim Namwoon.

Doctor Lee Seolhwa.

Beast Tamer Shin Yoosung.

The five incarnations who have been by his side for the past dozens of rounds.

If you look closely, they were all people with at least one flaw.

Lee Hyunsung was too foolish, and Lee Jihye was too simple. Kim Namwoon was a crazy person, and Lee Seolhwa was often bitter. Shin Yoosung was weak-hearted.

He repeatedly changed the main members or formed new parties several times.

But in the end, these are the five that remain. They were the only ones who stayed by Yoo Joonghyuk's side until the very end.

"Ugh, this is my first time in America. Has Seolhwa unni ever been here?"

Lee Seolhwa answered Lee Jihye's question with a faint smile.

"When I was young."

"Tsk. I know a lot about America. Jihye ya, are you curious?"

"No."

"I'm nervous because the only time I ever deployed troops was to Iraq."

"Hyunsung, you're always nervous."

Compared to the previous round, the mood among the group was brighter.

Yoo Joonghyuk found Shin Yoosung remaining silent alone in the midst of a lively conversation. Although she originally had a dark personality, the shadow that now fell on Shin Yoosung's face was not just due to her personality.

As Yoo Joonghyuk was about to approach Shin Yoosung, a voice was heard from behind.

"That's amazing. Is that the status of the 'Five Heavenly Emperors' who protect the Supreme King?"

Yoo Joonghyuk frowned and thought. Looking back, there was another 'party that came with him'. He just didn't consider them his companions.

"Five Heavenly Emperors? Was there a nickname like that?"

"I attached it."

"Do not pollute the Book of Revelation."

A beautiful woman sighed lightly behind two bickering young men.

Yoo Joonghyuk knew who they were.

Kang Ilhoon, although his tone is harsh, is believed to be the incarnation of an Archangel.

Ye Hyunwoo, the de facto leader of the Chungmuro Group and the teammate of Armed Castle Lord Gong Pildu.

Lee Seyeon who possesses strong interpersonal fighting skills and is armed with S-class or higher items.

They were the incarnations who quickly emerged as new powerhouses in this round.

Although he never told anyone, Yoo Joonghyuk knew one thing the three had in common.

'They are past evil-doers.'

Their names remained in his memories of the last round that came to mind.

Small villains who were major thieves, betrayed their party, or became looters.

These little villains were proudly leading the incarnations to the forefront of the main scenario this time.

To be exact, it wasn't just them.

"Dansu ahjussi, why are you sighing like that?"

Another man and woman followed behind them.

Yoo Joonghyuk even knew their names.

"As expected, I’m worried about Inho-ssi. I should have stayed too."

Although not as strong as Lee Hyunsung, Kyung Sein is the second-strongest tanker after Lee Hyunsung.

Although his fighting skills are not outstanding, Lee Dansu reminds him of 'Selena Kim', who was the Immortal King in the previous round.

If he remembers well, he also had a minor dispute with these incarnations in a certain round.

'Is it a coincidence? Or not...'

Even if it was a coincidence, there was nothing particularly strange about it.

In the countless rounds of his life, every human being, including Yoo Joonghyuk himself, became a villain at least once.

What Yoo Joonghyuk learned through this was that humans are just empty vessels.

All humans become completely different beings depending on what kind of 'tale' they face and what kind of story they live.

He knows it's true.

However, it was not easy to admit the truth that just one man instigated it.

'Cheon Inho.'

So far, without a single exception, 'Cheon Inho' has been a villain in all rounds. Whether small or large, he became a villain and blocked Yoo Joonghyuk's path.

As if that was his absolute mission.

However, 'Cheon Inho' in this round has not yet become a villain.

Yoo Joonghyuk found that fact very strange.

"What are you thinking about?"

Yoo Mia, who was walking next to him, squeezed his left hand. Yoo Joonghyuk spoke without shaking her hand.

"It is nothing."

"You thought of the man with narrow eyes."

"He is dangerous."

"He looks like that old swindler."

"Right."

"But if you listen to what people say, he seems to be a good swindler."

'Good swindler.'

While Yoo Joonghyuk was surprised that young Yoo Mia knew such an expression, he wondered whether he should correct the contradiction in the expression.

But he couldn't think of anything to retort.

Instead, Yoo Joonghyuk decided to recall the memories of the last round.

What a bad guy he was in the last round and how dangerous it is to trust him...

['The Redemption of Truth' controls your memory.]

Redemption of Truth.

One of the three stories he engraved.

This imprint seals some of the memories in exchange for great power.

Although he was a little concerned that this memory had been sealed, Yoo Joonghyuk didn't really care.

In any case, the 'memory' that would be the key to clearing this round was remembered by someone other than him.

"It’s been a long time, King Yoo Joonghyuk."

Across from the casino hotel stood the person whose memories he wanted.

Zarathustra's representative and his old enemy.

"Anna Croft."

---

While heading to the Washington Dome, Yoo Joonghyuk tried to avoid eye contact with Anna Croft as much as possible.

['Emotional restraint' stirs.]

This is because it was difficult to handle the growing excitement in real time.

He wanted to bring Cheon Inho to prepare for this kind of situation.

But it might be too late to turn back now.

"Prophet. There is a memory I need. Use [Past Sight]."

"I exhausted all my reps today."

[You are using 'Lie Detection'.]

['Lie Detection' confirmed that the statement was true.]

Anna Croft's expression hardened at the message about using the skill.

"Lie Detection, do you not have the minimum level of trust?"

"I'd rather trust a good swindler than trust you."

"Who is the good swindler?"

"Don't pry into unnecessary things."

"You brought it up first—"

"I'll tell you in advance, I don't have much patience in this round."

Instead of answering, Anna Croft glared at him with disapproving eyes.

At that moment, Yoo Joonghyuk felt the urge to pull out his spear and hit her on the head.

This was because dozens of past tragedies caused by Anna Croft came to mind all at once.

[Exclusive skill 'Redemption Lv.5' is being activated.]

[The influence of 'Redemption' is temporarily weakened by the effect of 'Three Persons'.]

But he had to endure it.

At least she'll be useful until all the Constellations in this world run out.

However, the moment Yoo Joonghyuk checked the local situation, he began to doubt Anna Croft's 'usefulness'.

"Why did the scenario end up like this?"

In only the fifth scenario, the entire Washington Dome was eroded.

The surviving incarnations make up about 5% of the entire population of the dome.

This was something that had never happened in any round before.

"An unexpected situation occurred."

"There’s always something like that."

"I had a plan."

"A plan that cannot be kept is useless. If you cannot come up with a convincing answer, you will die here."

Anna Croft let out a deep sigh at his threat. It was a strangely despondent sigh that he had never seen before in any round.

"Yoo Joonghyuk. Have you ever heard of a group called 'Apostles'?"

Yoo Joonghyuk nodded his head.

"As expected... it looks like they were in Korea too."

Judging by the way she spoke, it seemed that Washington's downfall had something to do with the 'Apostles'.

"Could it be that Korea also failed to kill the disasters?"

"I am in Korea."

"Of course it is. I was just asking just in case."

Yoo Joonghyuk ended the fifth scenario in Korea.

A disaster that was different from his memories appeared and the method of dealing with it was a little different from the previous round, but the scenario itself went smoothly anyway.

"It hasn’t been smooth sailing for us."

"I guess I know roughly what the situation is."

Yoo Joonghyuk also heard something about the 'Apostles'.

Beings who know the 'future' of the world.

"That’s what happens because you rely too much on things like [Future Sight]. You probably know that there is no such thing as a fixed future."

"The future was written. Until they showed up."

Anna Croft has been clearing the scenarios by reading the future and preparing for it.

However, in this round, the variable 'Apostles' intervened and all her plans went awry.

"If you help me with this matter, I will definitely repay your debt, King."

"I hope you can continue to be useful until the debt is paid."

The moment they entered the portal, the surrounding scenery changed into waves.

Yoo Joonghyuk had his companions wait for a while and then went up to a nearby high-rise building to check the view.

This was not his first time visiting the Washington Dome.

But it was his first time seeing a scene like this.

It seemed as if the entire city was buried in pitch-black ashes.

There was no sight of living incarnations anywhere.

All the high-rise buildings that made up the skyscrapers were in ruins, and the sky was covered with fog that obscured even the light of the stars.

On the roof of the building, black roots reminiscent of a tree growing upside down were sprouting.

Yoo Joonghyuk tore off the root without hesitation.

Then, a roaring black ether poured out between the torn roots.

A 'dark root' that vomits demonic energy.

It was definitely true.

'The Demon Realm.'

He doesn't know what number this demon realm was, but the 'Washington Dome' was invaded by a demon realm.

Yoo Joonghyuk, who landed lightly on the ground, asked Anna.

"Have you secured the parts of the Earth Dragon species?"

"I’m trying."

In order to fight in an invaded demon world, [Purification] work is essential. Otherwise, you will be cursed.

[Currently, the 'Washington Dome' has been eroded by the demon realm.]

['Local curse' is activated!]

[Spiritual power decreases slightly in the area!]

[Comprehensive stats are partially reduced in that area!]

Judging from the extent of the invasion, it was not yet at an irreversible level.

However, if the scenario proceeds like this, leaving Washington alone, the city will truly become part of the 'Demon Realm'.

As time goes by, the Demon Realm will expand and eventually the entire Earth will fall under the Demon King.

That must be prevented at all costs.

“What kind of Demon King is it?”

Now, let's go to the seventh scenario, the Washington Dome.

The Demon King will not be able to descend in person.

Therefore, there was a high possibility that the owner of this dome was a subordinate of a specific Demon King.

"It was the first time I have ever heard this Demon King."

"Was it your first time hearing about it?"

Yoo Joonghyuk knew the true names of all the Demon Kings who ruled the 72 demon worlds.

The same would apply to the prophet in front of him.

Nevertheless, if a Demon King with a name they had never heard of appeared, the implications of that fact were clear.

"Christina confirmed—"

A new 'Demon King' has appeared in the Demon Realm in this round.

"They called their master the 'Demon King of Salvation'."

698 Episode 25 Demon King (1)

---

「There are three ways to become a Demon King. I forgot some of them. But at least one thing is certain. It is to kill another 'Demon King'.」

---

"Demon King of Salvation?"

When Yoo Joonghyuk paused after hearing the modifier, Anna Croft immediately asked.

"Do you know that Demon King?"

I do not know.

Yoo Joonghyuk tried to say that.

This is because among the 72 Demon Kings he knew, there was no Demon King with the same modifier. Nevertheless, the moment Yoo Joonghyuk heard that modifier, he got a headache and remembered someone's voice.

「"There's another sunfish!"」

A mischievous voice, as if calling a close friend.

Friend.

It was strange. Such a concept did not exist for him during his 41 rounds repeated life.

So where does this voice come from and who does it belong to?

He quickly found the answer.

'Memories of another world line.'

It must be a memory that the woman named Han Sooyoung put into his head.

「"Demon King of Salvation."」

He couldn't tell if it was the name of the man in his memory or not. However, in his memory, the emotions of the people who used that modifier were clearly visible.

Some people were happy calling that name, some were sad, and some missed it.

It was a feeling he no longer had.

Yoo Joonghyuk tried to recall the man’s face. However, his face was barely visible as it was cleverly obscured by a pale white space.

What came to mind instead were the items he used.

White coat.

A sword with three properties.

The smartphone he carried around like a talisman…

The moment he thought about it, he got goosebumps.

This is because Yoo Joonghyuk already knew an incarnation who used exactly the same items.

"King?"

Hearing Anna's voice ask again, Yoo Joonghyuk returned to reality.

"It’s an unknown Demon King."

Anna Croft looked at Yoo Joonghyuk for a moment and then said.

"I won’t use [Lie Detection]. I don’t think you’re the kind of person who would lie with something like that."

"You talk like you know me well."

"Of course I know, my lord. Because I inherited all the memories from the last round—"

"I said that I don’t have much patience for this round."

Anna closed her mouth and Yoo Joonghyuk closed his eyes and asked, trying to control his emotions.

"What more did you find out about the Demon King?"

"He is not a high-level Demon King."

"How do you know that?"

"None of the 72 Demon Realms has changed places."

Typically, the strength of a Demon King is determined by the order of the Demon World that the Demon King rules.

For example, 'Andro Mallius', the master of the 72nd demon realm, is weaker than 'Dantalion', the master of the giant devil world.

However, if the existing rulers of the demon realms are alive and well, this means that this Demon King has not yet made it into the rankings.

'Is it luck among misfortunes?'

The Demon King's descendants are influenced by the status of the Demon King they each worship.

For example, in the case of 'Dark Sentinel', a 7th grade demon species, it may rise to 6th grade or drop to 8th grade depending on the type of Demon King it worships.

If the 'Demon King of Salvation' is a low-level Demon King, then his descendants will not be high-level individuals either.

"What kind of guy is the one who took over the East? Still, he must have been at a significant level to the point where he descended as a disaster."

If it's a disaster level, it can't be just a 6th grade or 7th grade demon species.

A demon species of at least 5th grade or higher.

There was also a possibility that he was a fallen aristocrat of a demon realm who was sold as a disaster due to debt to the Management Bureau.

Perhaps a demon baron, a viscount-level demon, or if they're unlucky, a count. If they are really unlucky, it may be at the marquis level.

Anything more than that will not descend due to the influence of probability.

"The only thing I found out was that it was a humanoid. Although there was a harvest where I came face to face with the symbol of the Demon King—"

"The Demon King’s symbol?"

Yoo Joonghyuk's expression hardened for the first time. He hurriedly looked around. There have been no significant signs yet.

"Why didn’t you tell me about that first?"

If the possibility of the Demon King’s symbol appearing here was acceptable, it would have been better to give up the 'Washington Dome'.

Anna, who read Yoo Joonghyuk's thoughts, hastily added.

"I didn’t see it in Washington. It was in Las Vegas that Christina came face to face with the Demon King’s symbol."

"Las Vegas?"

The Las Vegas Dome is an early scenario area where demonization has not yet occurred.

No matter how symbolic their body is, no Demon King will be safe from the aftereffects of probability if it appears in such a place carelessly.

Then.

"Did you come into contact through the hypnotist’s [Nightmare]?"

Anna nodded her head.

The hypnotist’s exclusive skill, [Nightmare].

If you use that skill, you can create a 'dream' with a low probability cost and encounter a high-level being even if it's only for a moment.

"They told me not to mess with Washington."

"I need to hear more from the hypnotist. Where is she?"

"I called her, but even if you met her, it would be difficult to hear the details. Even if she did use [Nightmare], the other person was the symbol of a ' Demon King'. It was a difficult opponent for the current Christina. She couldn't sleep for two days right after waking up from the dream. She couldn't do anything, and for a while, she had a seizure every time she talked about it."

If it's that level of fear, there's a high possibility that it really is the symbol of a 'Demon King'.

If a symbol appeared directly as a warning, it means that this is an important area for the 'Demon King'.

"Maybe we should consider the worst."

"If it's the worst..."

Yoo Joonghyuk looked down without answering.

Yoo Mia, who was drawing on the floor, looked up at him as if asking what was going on.

Yoo Joonghyuk twitched one eyebrow and opened his mouth.

"Yoo Mia."

"Huh."

Yoo Joonghyuk looked at his younger sister's face for a long time.

Even now, after his repeated regressions had touched his heart, there was a very faint sense of warmth when he looked at his younger sister.

His only family given by this world.

When the disaster first began, Yoo Joonghyuk made a decision. He will protect this child at all costs. That is all the mission given to him.

There was definitely a time like that.

Afterwards, he lost Yoo Mia.

Lost her once, lost her twice, three times, four times, five times.

After screaming and crying at the sight of his sister's death for more than a dozen times, Yoo Joonghyuk arrived at one truth.

He cannot save his sister.

Until he ends this damn world with his own hands.

"Take this."

A pitch black circle was placed on Yoo Mia’s small palm.

Yoo Mia said.

"This is that thing? That gives a good dream."

Yoo Joonghyuk did not answer, but Yoo Mia seemed to already know everything.

Yoo Mia looked at her brother silently and used a sad voice.

"I just need you to protect me."

"I will lose you."

Both the child and Yoo Joonghyuk knew. Yoo Joonghyuk will risk his life so that this child will never have to use this medicine.

Still, this medicine was necessary.

"When did I tell you to use it?"

"At the end of the end."

"When was that?"

"When all the people you mentioned are dead and there is no one to help me."

"And."

Yoo Mia lowered her head and muttered.

"I don’t like it. I won’t say anything."

Then, she ran towards where Lee Seolhwa was and hugged her.

As Lee Seolhwa consoled Yoo Mia in her arms, she bowed slightly towards Yoo Joonghyuk

Yoo Joonghyuk also nodded his head.

Anna, who had been watching the situation with her mouth shut, eventually said something.

"There’s no need to do that to a child, right?"

"…"

"Do you think you might fail?"

Yoo Joonghyuk looked up at the sky for a moment. If he is right, this round will be his last.

Since he will never get another chance, he must do his best more than ever before.

Nevertheless, a tragedy that exceeds his best can happen at any time.

Just as it has been the case for the past 40 rounds of his life.

Coo coo coo coo.

He could hear monsters moving in the distance.

Yoo Joonghyuk observed the movements of the demon species using a skill.

Devil species and their eggs are spread out in the city center.

It seems that they have already finished breeding, and the low-level demons born in real time have already formed a large army.

Yoo Joonghyuk asked, counting in his head the individuals with high combat power.

"What happened to other countries? You probably didn’t just contact us."

"We also contacted Japan, China and India."

India's Ranveer Khan.

China's Feihu.

Japan's Asuka Ren.

"Japan said that its own scenario was too daunting, and that it would consider China and India."

There are not many countries that can help other countries from the beginning.

They had to take into account the interests and losses of their own country's incarnations, and above all, the risk of recklessly interfering in another country's scenario was high.

Therefore, the judgment of those who did not come here was, in a sense, very wise.

"Shall we wait a little longer?"

Nevertheless, Yoo Joonghyuk came here.

"No."

The reason was simple.

"If more time passes like this, clearing the scenario will become impossible."

Once the Demon Realm decoration in Washington Dome progresses to a certain level, the entire American continent will soon begin to be decorated.

Once the American Constellation dominated, it was only a matter of time before the entire Earth turned into a demon realm.

When that time comes, no one can stop it.

What happens on the streets of Washington will happen around the world.

Demons will overflow, and the Demon King will descend.

Then humanity will end.

[The Constellations of Nebula <Eden> are watching your choice.]

"I will stop it."

At the same time as Yoo Joonghyuk's declaration, the roar of a demon bell was heard from afar, as if it had read his will.

[The demons of 'Washington East' recognize your presence.]

A message floating in the air. The contents of the seventh main scenario were displayed clearly.

<Main Scenario #7 – Demon World Invasion>

Category: Main

Difficulty: SS+

Clear conditions: Defeat the ruler of the 'Washington Dome' and liberate the 'Washington Dome'.

Timeout: —

Reward: Liberation of Washington East, 300,000 coins, ???

Failure: The fall of Washington.

[You participated in this scenario as a 'mercenary'.]

[When you clear this scenario, you can obtain the same rewards as existing participants.]

[The 'Scenario Mercenary' achievement has been achieved.]

[The army of the 'Demon Realm' is coming!]

Yoo Joonghyuk, who pulled out a spear from his back, gave an order.

"Everyone ready for battle."

Lee Hyunsung, Lee Jihye, and Kim Namwoon came to the front.

The apostles who had been searching the area from the rear also quickly formed a battle line.

"Dansu ahjussi, please take the rear. Sein and Yerin are at the front. The second apostle and I will cover in the middle."

Looking at Ye Hyunwoo's control skills, it seemed like at least they wouldn't be a hindrance.

After a while, behind the ruins of the buildings, demonic species appeared.

Most of them are 8th grade or 9th grade entities. What particularly stood out were the dozens of 7th grade demon species that took the lead.

'Dark Sentinels.'

Monsters that would have annihilated them in an instant if they were ordinary incarnations.

But those here now were not 'ordinary' incarnations.

"Lee Hyunsung."

At the same time as Yoo Joonghyuk's command, Lee Hyunsung shot out like a cannonball.

"Hwaaaaaap!"

Lee Hyunsung, who ran bravely, knocked down the leading Dark Sentinels all at once with [Pushing Mount Tai] and then crushed the ground in the area with [Breaking Mount Tai].

The screams of the demon species rang out through the thick dust.

Yoo Joonghyuk gave an order once again.

"Kim Namwoon. Lee Jihye."

Kim Namwoon burst into unpleasant laughter, swinging the daggers in both hands at random and moving across the battlefield.

"Tsk tsk tsk! Get rid of one tentacle bug!"

Kim Namwoon, who had taken out one of the Dark Sentinels in an instant, let out a strange laugh and accelerated his magic circuit.

The energy of [Black Flame] steadily radiated from the dual-wielding daggers.

Kim Namwoon roamed his battlefield wildly, running wild like a crazy clown.

"You idiot! Back!"

Lee Jihye assisted to fill Kim Namwoon's gaps with a chain of [Ghost Killing] and [Ghost Walking].

Kim Namwoon, who had already suffered stab wounds here and there, smiled brightly and shouted.

"You came to save me as expected!"

"Shut up!"

Shin Yoosung, who was waiting in the back, also summoned Nagak troops to assist in the battle.

['Nagak Cry' is activated.]

The Nagak wailing wave, which shot out like ultrasonic waves, struck the central ranks of the lower-level demon species.

As the demons, blood pouring from their ears, staggered and sat down, Kang Ilhoon took the opportunity and stepped forward.

"Come on, it’s time to go back to hell."

Kim Namwoon glared at Kang Ilhoon with an expression that asked, "What is that guy?"

Kang Ilhoon didn't care and fired the bowgun repeatedly.

Doo doo doo doo!

Archangel Jophiel's [503 units] contained in arrows.

Subsequently, the demon species touched by the arrows exploded into dust, completely destroying the leading ranks.

A force that wipes out a company of the devil species in an instant.

Anna Croft couldn't keep her mouth shut.

"Are you sure you have the incarnation of 'Jophiel''with you?"

"Yes."

"He wasn't there in the previous round—"

The main members of the Dome have not yet appeared. If the other side had the advantage in numbers anyway, it was best to push through quickly before the other side's troops could fully gather.

"Everyone get out of the way."

Magical power reminiscent of cold moonlight appeared around Yoo Joonghyuk of the 41st round.

[The exclusive skill 'Breaking the Sky River Lv.10' is activated!]

Breaking the Sky River, which had already reached level 10, cut the battlefield horizontally with his ferocious magic power, and the heads of the demon species flew through the air as if they had been cut off by an invisible guillotine.

A gap in the battlefield that occurred for a moment.

Yoo Joonghyuk did not miss the opportunity.

His thigh muscles, wriggling like a wild leopard, pushed the ground with explosive force, and the surrounding scenery was instantly pushed back.

Only Anna, who had the ability to fly, chased after Yoo Joonghyuk some distance away.

"It's over there!"

The [Eyes of the Great Devil], which emitted bright light, read the near future. The path that the demon species was unable to defend was clearly visible before her eyes.

"Right! Next, turn left!"

How long did he run while cutting down the demon species like that? The Capitol building, occupying the center of the village, appeared in the distance.

The moment he discovered the Capitol building with a huge pond in the center, he instinctively realized the power of gravity.

Very disturbing and shady.

He knew it without anyone telling him.

The owner of this 'dome' is over there.

As Yoo Joonghyuk stepped forward without hesitation, air bubbles bubbled up from the center of the pond.

The head of a demon species with long hair slowly emerged.

The pressure that could be felt even just by looking at it was on a completely different level from that of the Dark Sentinel.

It was at least a noble-level demon species.

Without the slightest hesitation, Yoo Joonghyuk swung his spear and split the devil's head. However, there was no feeling of cutting.

Then, the demon species head scattered like a spray of water, and a demon species of the same shape appeared a few steps away.

The demon spoke first.

[As I heard, you are a short-tempered guy. Are you 'Yoo Joonghyuk'?]

With an ominous smile, as if he knew he was coming.

[Come in. 'The Demon King of Salvation' is waiting.]

699 Episode 25 Demon King (2)

As if he had been waiting for him, the demon noble calmly turned toward the entrance of the Capitol.

But Yoo Joonghyuk did not move a single step. His past lives were talking to him.

That's a trap.

Even if it wasn't a trap, he didn't believe anything the Demon King's liaison said.

"Prophet."

Anna Croft had no answer to Yoo Joonghyuk's call.

When he glanced over, she saw Anna Croft staggering around, her complexion pale.

"I don’t know why, but [Future Sight] doesn’t work."

「Future Sight doesn’t work. Even in his last round, Anna Croft's skills often broke down.」

But it was such an odd timing.

Yoo Joonghyuk analyzed Anna Croft's condition with calm eyes and made a quick decision.

"You’re useless whenever it’s important."

Before he knew it, the demon noble was more than twenty steps away.

Yoo Joonghyuk had already obtained information about this guy through [Sage's Eyes].

'It's Viscount Nikhteri the Devil.'

This guy was a 'self-made devil'.

Based on the original scenario difficulty, this guy should only appear in the eighth scenario.

That guy said, 'The Demon King of Salvation is waiting'.

Inside the Capitol, there is a real agent of the 'Demon King'.

Probably, the probability that there is an incarnation capable of being possessed by the Demon King is higher than the possibility that there is a symbolic body.

In that case, he must be considered to be at least an earl-level Demon King.

Yoo Joonghyuk took a deep breath. With each breath, the magical power condensed in his entire body continued to rotate.

In general, 'First cycle of Sky' refers to the circulation of the magic power contained in the Danjeon to all microscopic blood vessels.

However, with his master, 'First cycle of Sky' was used with a different meaning.

Only when the circulating magic draws a complete circle does the body become an eye in itself.

Eyes that perceive the world through expanded five senses.

Through those eyes, humans see the sky. You realize that the sky, which seemed beautiful and wide, was actually a prison in a terrible scenario.

「"In fact, it is to recognize that this whole world is just a joke in the sky. That is First cycle of Sky, the entrance to Breaking the Sky."」

At this point, it was still difficult to count the stars in the sky. However, it was not difficult to count the demon species on earth.

"A total of four?"

Shocked, Viscount Nihterida looked back.

Next, three stone statues radiated a gloomy light from above the stone building of the Capitol.

[The evil Viscount 'Bricolakas' is hostile towards you.]

[The evil Viscount 'Scupedia' is showing hostility towards you.]

[The evil Viscount 'Myrmicoleon' shows his hostility towards you.]

As many as four demon viscounts.

In no round did he face four self-made demons at the same time in the seventh scenario.

Coo coo coo coo coo.

Anna Croft bit her lip as she felt the pressure of the demonic species pressing down on the area.

"They are the demons who killed my comrades."

Perhaps these demons were summoned in the fifth scenario. Starting from only the fifth scenario, it was obvious that no country could handle this level of difficulty.

As Yoo Joonghyuk's eyes gave off a sharp light, the viscounts looked at each other as if they were curious.

Coo coo coo coo.

If it had been the previous round, or if it had been the round even before, Yoo Joonghyuk would never have confronted them. Fighting with four viscount-level fighters in the seventh scenario is tantamount to suicide.

But Yoo Joonghyuk did not back down. Because this round was neither the 39th nor the 40th.

This world is the 41st round.

The moment Yoo Joonghyuk's body disappeared, the three Viscounts simultaneously drew their weapons towards Yoo Joonghyuk.

Brycolakas held the long incense stick that was his main weapon, Scoupedia held the dual-wielding daggers, and Myrmicleon held the swollen drumstick.

Magical energy containing deep evil karma burst out in a semicircle around the three demons.

At that moment , Yoo Joonghyuk's agility had reached the limit of the scenario. However, in the eyes of the demonic viscounts, it was a speed that wasn’t desirable.

The viscounts' eyes were simultaneously nailed to a single point in the air.

"Is it there?"

The spear, dual-wielding daggers, and the drumstick struck a point in the air at the same time. The demonic viscounts laughed along with a cruel explosion sound. They thought Yoo Joonghyuk would have been crushed mercilessly.

However, when the black ether that dyed the air black disappeared, Yoo Joonghyuk was not there.

"What—"

That couldn't have been possible. There was no way just one incarnation could avoid the eyes of a demon noble who had evolved.

The moment when the demon Viscount Myrmicoleon sensed something was wrong, he opened his mouth.

Skag.

With a sound as if the world was splitting in two, the head of Demon Viscount Myrmicoleon was blown off.

For the first time, agitation spread across the demons' faces.

Let's say he’s just out of their sight. However, a viscount-level demon was killed in one blow.

"It does not make sense—"

But to the current Yoo Joonghyuk, it 'made sense'. The power he now manifests was obtained at a high price.

['Restraint of Truth' is activated.]

One of his three story imprints, 'The Redemption of Truth'.

[Some of your memories are sealed.]

'Story Engraving' that unleashes power in exchange for some of the memories from the previous round being sealed.

[All your overall abilities will temporarily exceed the scenario limit!]

[Explosive power surges from your entire body!]

In Yoo Joonghyuk's mind, a memory he cherished was fading away. It was a memory he dedicated.

「"Captain. This is a birthday present. It's my favorite toshi..."」

Lee Hyunsung in the 22nd round, smiling with a simple face. The old toshi he handed him was disappearing from his mind. The temperature of his heart decreased and his heart became infinitely cold.

Perhaps Yoo Joonghyuk will never remember that smile again. Instead, Yoo Joonghyuk will remember something else.

His long journey of regression has finally come to an end, a memory that will not disappear until the end of his life.

「"Captain. Will you please take revenge in the next round?"」

"I will grant your wish, Lee Hyunsung."

He will remember only sorrow.

I will fight against the sky of this world using the hatred born of that sadness as my driving force.

"You! How dare you!"

The demonic Viscount Scoupedia charged at him, brandishing his dual daggers. The pitch-black river that formed at the end of his weapons streaked Yoo Joonghyuk's cheek.

But even faster than that, Yoo Joonghyuk had already pierced Scoupedia's heart.

Deep.

Scoupedia, who vomited black blood, died. Vrycolakas and Nihterida, enraged, joined forces and rushed forward.

It was an attack prepared to defeat Donggui.

The Ammu created by Nihterida covered the field of vision, and Vrykolakas' long spear split into a dozen pieces and flew in from all directions. Several polearms grazed Yoo Joonghyuk's thighs and waist.

Skag.

Vricolakas' head fell.

Now all that remained was the demonic Viscount Nihterida.

Nihterida, who hesitated and retreated, said,

"What are you doing? Why are you opposing us? The Demon King has no hostility towards you!"

Nihterida, who had even thrown away his pride as a demon species, shouted in a panic.
